'NURSE LADY' WINS ELECTION — "You kiss the babies. I change their diapers. You work from one end. I work from the other," was the campaign slogan of Mrs. J. McW. Retail Prices Slump During Trade Holiday

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Feb. 12. — Soap and more grain products joined the growing list of shopper items on the price cutting parade today.

The noise of falling U. S. commodity prices still-echoed around the world.

Major U. S. exchanges were closed today for the Lincoln Day holiday and traders in most foreign markets will take Friday. Exceptions were Singapore and Manila. There prices dropped sharply on the stock exchanges. Many foreign markets declined earlier in the week in sympathy with falling American quotations.

Prices of all grains skidded downward in Winnipeg, only grain exchange open. Closing prices were at the day's lows.

Cotton prices slumped at Alexanderia, Egypt, only cotton exchange operating.

Three major soap companies—Proctor & Gamble, Lever Brothers and Colgate-Palmolive-Peet— announced immediate wholesale price cuts of 5 per cent on all soap products. The downward trend in fat and oil prices prompted the move, the companies said.

Food Prices Drop

The A. E. Staley Manufacturing company of Decatur, Ill., announced it was cutting prices at once on soybean meal and oil, corn meal and refined corn oil, industrial starches and bulk corn syrups. The cuts ranged up to 35 per cent on the soybean products and between eight and 10 per cent on the starches and syrups.

More New York food retailers followed the big chains in cutting prices on some foods. Food prices also dipped slightly in Boston.

The National Association of Retail Grocers said a survey it made of independent retail food stores showed prices had fallen on flour, bacon, ham, lard, vegetable shortenings, eggs, butter, pork and in some cases beef. The association said its survey covered key states in every geographical area and that the cuts resulted from declining commodity prices. It said the cuts were not "leaders," an item sometimes sold at no profit to attract buyers to the stores.

Truman Says Inflation Still Major Threat

By MORGAN REYNOLDS
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12—President Truman said today the drop in commodity prices is a step in the right direction. But he declared inflationary dangers have not been removed by the market decline.

Mr. Truman told his news conference he feels as strongly as ever Congress should give him legal powers to curb the cost of living.

At the same time he urged all Americans to join in a new savings bond drive, April 15 to June 30. He said every dollar saved is a weapon "in the fight against inflation."

Situation Under Study

The president did not elaborate on his remarks about the sharp slump on the markets. But he said the administration is studying the situation closely.

In saying that the market break had not affected the need for his 10-point control provision, Mr. Truman stressed that he had asked standby authority—to be used if necessary.

He replied with a firm yes to each of these two questions:

Delay In Congress Seen

Is the danger of inflation still a major economic threat despite the market break?

Is the major economic problem inflation, and not deflation?

Meanwhile Chairman Wolcott (R-Mich) of the House Banking committee proposed that Congress take a two-weeks' recess in considering anti-inflation legislation.

"We cannot legislate on economic questions until we know what is happening," he told reporters. "We shouldn't do anything in the sphere of price, wage or any controls until we know where we are going."

Price Effects Awaited

"If this (price decline) goes too far we may have to give our thoughts to supporting markets," Wolcott said.

He proposed Congress "mark time" for two weeks on proposals dealing with: Allocation of grain to distillers, meat rationing and consumer credit controls. He suggested a month's extension of rent controls so Congress can judge the

Area Residents Urged To Conserve Gas To Avert Danger Of New Shortages; Heavy Industries Are Still Closed

By BILL CLARK
Avalanche Staff Writer

ENDING of the emergency business holiday on the South Plains was declared late Thursday night after officials of 44 towns served by West Texas Gas company were informed that pressure on the gas pipelines was being restored.

At the same time the Weather bureau station at municipal airport had good news—the wind shifted to the south just before 11 p. m., and fair skies and rising temperatures are expected today, probably reaching a maximum of 35 degrees or above this afternoon.

Only public schools and a few heavy industrial users, including cotton oil mills, will remain closed today. In addition, the company's large consumers who have standby fuel oil facilities will remain on oil today.

Conservation Still Necessary

Mayor C. A. Bestwick of Lubbock immediately issued a proclamation ending the emergency shutdown for most businesses after the gas company's announcement at 10:15 p. m. had indicated pressure was being restored in the company's mains, after having taken an alarming drop as much as 10 pounds per hour during the afternoon and until 8 p. m.

The mayor's proclamation stated that the business holiday had ended, and that businesses may resume using gas sparingly after 7 a. m., but that continued economical use of gas today was requested.

The decision was made possible by two factors:

1. "Splendid cooperation of the people" in curtailing use of gas Thursday.

2. A hoped-for but unexpected change in weather conditions, particularly the cessation of strong north winds that had blustered down on the South Plains Wednesday.

Alarming Drop Halted

The temperature at 1:30 o'clock this morning was steady at 14, but Weather bureau officials said that after an expected minimum of about nine degrees early this morning the trend should start upward to reach a maximum of possibly 35 degrees or above this afternoon. The low for Thursday was nine degrees, set shortly after midnight Thursday morning.

Gas company officials in Lubbock, from cold offices in Lubbock National building, late Thursday night were still checking system data and advising their representatives over the area of the emergency's end. They watched the pressure slowly build up, beginning about 8 p. m.

Earlier in the day, alarming drop in the gas pressures had threatened "serious suffering in Lubbock" and other South Plains points, and had resulted in appeals from the mayor and Earl B. Collins, president of Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, to conserve gas by all possible means.

Following the decision late last night to reopen most business firms in Lubbock and over the South Plains, gas company officials notified city officials in the area. However, because of a previous announcement that it was believed likely that the shutdown would have to be continued today, many stores likely will be a bit late in opening.

Schools in Lubbock and over the South Plains will remain closed until Monday, it previously had been announced.

Gas company officials urged that conservation of gas be emphasized wherever it might be used and for heavy users to wait until after the peak demand around 7 a. m. before using too heavily. An announcement will be made when heavy industrial users will be permitted to resume normal use of gas.

Although news of clearing skies today was welcomed by South

Five Are Dead In Cold Wave

(By The Associated Press)

SNOW-BOUND, ice-locked Texas counted five persons dead Thursday night from causes traced directly or indirectly to the latest bitter siege of winter, now entering its third day.

Two children and their grandmother died of exposure after being trapped in a stalled car on a blizzard-swept Panhandle prairie near Stratford. A woman died of asphyxiation from gas fumes in a Brownfield hotel and a Sherman druggist was killed by an automobile after his own car had skidded off an icy highway near Dallas.

The cold blast accompanying the Panhandle blizzard swept on to the Rio Grande from El Paso to Brownsville. Sleet and icy rains fell east of the snow area, producing in many sections the most paralyzing ice conditions of the winter.

Travel was stopped or delayed in both the ice and snow sections. Many schools were closed and fuel conservation or travel hazards cut deeply into industrial and business activities.

The Panhandle storm victims were Mrs. Booker Toon and her grandchildren, Robert Wayne Reynolds, two years old, and Juanita Reynolds, four. Sam Wohlford, former Sherman county commissioner, saved the lives of the children's father, Robert O. Reynolds, 24, and his 15-months-old son in an almost super-human, all-night rescue effort.

The woman asphyxiated was Mrs. E. W. Vogler, about 45, of Carbondale, Ill. Her son, Donald C. Vogler, an Air Forces captain, was found unconscious near her bed and was treated at a Brownfield hospital. The two entered the hotel at about midnight Wednesday.

Farmer Walks Nine Hours In Blizzard

Heroic Rescue Saves Two In Panhandle

(By The Associated Press)

DUMAS, Feb. 12—A blizzard claimed the lives of two children and their grandmother but two others were saved today by the spectacular heroism of an elderly Sherman county farmer.

Mrs. Booker Toon and her two grandchildren, Juanita Reynolds, 4, and Robert Wayne Reynolds, 2, died after exposure to cold in a stalled automobile. Another child, 15-months-old Kenneth Ray Reynolds and the father of the children, Robert O. Reynolds, 24, were saved, thanks to Sam Wohlford, a farmer in his fifties, who trudged many miles through a blizzard to get help.

Started For Ranch

Wohlford, a former Sherman county commissioner, is recovering from prolonged exposure.

Yesterday, Reynolds, his children and his mother-in-law drove from their home on the Pronger Brothers ranch near Stratford to the Cactus Ordnance Works hospital, near Dumas, to visit Mrs. Reynolds and the youngest Reynolds child, born four days ago. In the early afternoon, they started out for their home on the Pronger ranch.

The temperature was near zero and a 38-mile wind drove blinding clouds of snow and sleet. Eight miles south of Stratford, on a country road, the car drove into a big snowdrift and stalled hopelessly. Soon the gasoline was used up and the car heater went off. Desperate, Robert Reynolds got out and began walking to find assistance. A mile away, he found the Wohlford farmhouse.

Wohlford started his tractor and

GOP Spends Holiday Blasting Democrats

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

REPUBLICANS lashed out at administration foreign and domestic policies in Lincoln day speeches Thursday night, but divided over funds needed for the European recovery program.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, two of the leading candidates for the Republican presidential nomination, differed over Marshall plan appropriations. They previously had taken opposite stands on universal military training, with Dewey for it and Taft against.

Taft Scores Foreign Policies

Speaking in Boston, Dewey said President Truman's foreign policies "should be thrown overboard —lock, stock and barrel."

As for the Marshall plan, he said, no one knew how much it would cost in the end. But he said he would rather provide the full sum requested "than so limit it with an amount which might fail to do the job."

The administration has asked $6,800,000,000 for the first 15 months.

Slash In Aid Urged

Taft, speaking in the home state of a third GOP aspirant, Harold E. Stassen, advocated at St. Paul, Minn., a "hard boiled plan" to give Europe aid for "only those projects of clear economic value" to the beneficiaries.

He urged a cut in the 15-months' proposed outlay to limit assistance to essential food and pump-priming industrial aid.

Dewey proposed that the Marshall plan be used to promote a federation of free European nations.

Russian Policy Hit

"Our aid should be given in proportion to European effort to achieve unity," he declared. He proposed that western European

Ashes Of Gandhi Cast In River

ALLAHABAD, India, Feb. 12—The ashes of Monhandas Gandhi were dispersed in the holy waters of India today in one of the largest funerals of all times.

While about 3,000,000 watched from the banks, a white-painted amphibious army craft—a lowly "duck" churned to the middle of the confluence of the Ganges and Jumna rivers. Gandhi's son Ramdas kissed the copper funeral urn, touched it with his forehead, then poured the ashes mixed with milk of a sacred cow into the water.

Oration Is Given

Similar ceremonies were performed at about 50 places throughout the wide sub-continent while about 10,000,000 of all religious communities — rich and poor, prince and beggar, old and young —watched.

Premier Jawaharlal Nehru, who assisted in the Allahabad ceremony, in an oration immediately after said:

"Here now has ended the journey of the father of the nation. He no more is among us but his light will ever live in and among us and nothing, neither time nor distance, can quench it. We must take up where our fathers left it and work unceasingly for Hindu-Moslem unity, social and political equalities. We must not rest until the people's rule has been established in India with the meanest and humblest having equal rights with the most exalted without distinction of race, religion, caste or creed."

British Deny Secret Deal With Hitler

LONDON, Feb. 12 (AP)—Britain today denied Russian charges that she had a secret anti-Soviet "deal" with Hitler in 1938.

A foreign office spokesman termed the Soviet charge "quite obviously unfounded." He said it hardly required a denial.

That constituted the central theme of Britain's answer to Russia's assertion that captured German documents showed the existence of a pre-war British-French policy aimed at directing Hitlerite aggression eastward against Russia.

Wheat Peg Near Parity Planned

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—The government is ready to support prices of wheat at not less than 90 per cent of parity if market prices drop that low.

There is a mandatory requirement in farm prices support legislation that this be done, an Agriculture department official said today.

Parity is a standard used by the government for measuring farm prices. Parity prices are declared by law to be equally fair to producers and consumers.

Parity Is $1.82 For Farmer

In the case of wheat, 90 per cent of parity, for price support purposes, is $2.08 a bushel at Chicago. Wheat closed considerably above this level at Chicago yesterday. Markets were closed today.

On a national basis, the support program is designed to assure farmers an average of about $1.82 a bushel for wheat.

The government supports prices of grains by means of both loans to growers at rates equivalent to 90 per cent of parity or buys it from them at the same rates.

Prices Frozen In Britain

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Feb. 12—The government backed up its hold-the-line wage policy by freezing prices on practically everything Britons buy.

Sir Stafford Cripps, Britain's economics minister, told the House of Commons the government's board of trade would order prices of all goods covered by existing price controls to be held at the December-January level.

The government's action obviously was in response to trade union opposition against limiting the laborer's pay envelop to its present size without a compensating check on profits and prices.

Sir Stafford coupled the new move in the government's battle against inflation with this warning:

"Unless we exercise restraint, the sheer facts of the case will demand compulsion which this government is anxious to avoid."

Urging that labor and industry curb wages and profits by voluntary measures, he asked, "can we take them in a democratic way by free choice, or are we to demand the imposition of them by force?"

He indicated that the government was standing fast in its appeal, voiced last week in a white paper, for no wage increases except when justified by increased production.

Unions representing about 5,000,000 workers in the engineering and shipbuilding industries, railways, coal mines and civil service already have indicated revolt against the policy by going ahead with demands for higher wages.

Cripps made these further announcements:

1. The manufacturers' ceiling prices on all goods covered by price controls will be frozen at the December-January level effective as soon as possible — probably in about a month.

2. Distributors' profits on controlled goods will be frozen at the same levels.

3. Manufacturers and distributors have been asked to submit voluntary plans within a month for "price and profit decreases."

Two More Persons Charged In Poison Death Of Abilene Woman

LITTLE ROCK, Feb. 12 (AP) — State Police Capt. J. Earl Scroggin said a 71-year-old woman was arrested here late today on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the poison death of her son's bride.

The woman was identified by Scroggin as Mrs. Jewel Robbins, mother of Lonnie A. Robbins, 49, who was arrested on a similar charge after the former Mrs. Sadie Sue Dudley of Abilene, Tex., died at Robbins' farm home near Scotland, Ark., Dec. 31, of what physicians said was strychnine poisoning.

Scroggin said also a warrant had been issued charging Henry Petty, a 50-year-old former hired man on the Robbins farm, with being an accessory after the fact of murder.

Basis for the charges against Mrs. Jewel Robbins and Petty was not disclosed.

$40-Tax Cut Bill Pushed By HST

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP) — President Truman still believes his $40-for-everybody tax cut plan is feasible, despite the break in market prices.

He so told a news conference today at which he declined to discuss varying opinions that (A). The price break might mean no tax cut because of shrinking government revenues and (B). That a sizeable reduction still was in order.

Mr. Truman then was asked whether he thought his idea of reducing 1948 income taxes a flat $40 for every taxpayer and dependent was still a good one. He said he did, he certainly did.

Inflation Still Dangerous

(The President's plan called for increased taxes on corporations to make up the revenue loss. The House ignored his plan by passing a $6,500,000,000 individual income tax cut, with no increase in corporate taxes; the Senate has taken no action on the subject.)

Mr. Truman briefly discussed taxes at a conference in which he said he still thinks that inflation, rather than deflation, is the No. 1 danger. He said that, of course, price cuts were a step in the right direction.

Other matters included:

Taft-Hartley law — Mr. Truman said his only comment on the indictment of the CIO on charges of breaking the laws' ban on union political action was this: He is here to enforce the law (passed over his veto) and is going to do

Three Snowbound Boys Reached In Second Try Near Texhoma

TEXHOMA, Okla., Feb. 12 (AP) —Three boys snowbound in an Oklahoma Panhandle farmhouse 14 miles southeast of here were reached late today in a second attempt to get them food.

The boys were cut off yesterday when the blizzard isolated Vernon Courter, father of two of them, in Texhoma.

Courter was going to use a light airplane to drop food today but found he was able to carry supplies by road in his second try in a jeep.

The boys are Billy and Jerry Courter, aged 11 and 8, and Charles Searle, 18.

Hollywood Composer Is Ordered Deported

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 12 (AP)—Hans Eisler, Hollywood composer, today was ordered deported by the Immigration and Naturalization service.

A spokesman for the agency said an order had been signed, giving Eisler voluntary deportation to any country of his choice except to contiguous countries.

Eisler, brother of Gerhart Eisler, once described as the "No. 1 Communist in the United States" has been ordered to leave the country as soon as possible, the spokesman added. In Washington, the Justice department said it understood he is leaving Monday, Feb. 16.

The brothers are natives of Germany.

Kansas Snow Storm Causes Three Deaths

MEADE, Kas., Feb. 12 (AP)—A western Kansas snow storm brought death to two young sisters and their escort, a searching party learned today.

The frozen bodies of Phyllis Moler, 19, and her sister Louise, 16, were found under snowdrifts less than half a mile from their farm home near here. Melvin Miller, 20, with whom the girls had attended an entertainment Tuesday night at nearby Fowler, Kas., also died of exposure. His body was found a short distance from his stalled motor car, a mile from the Moler home. All three had tried to follow a wire fence to the house. Heavy snow had hidden the bodies and wiped out their foot prints.

Miller was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Miller, former residents of Borger, Tex., for many years. They moved to Kansas three years ago.

Weather Blamed For Restricted Freight Movements In East

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—The Association of American Railroads today restricted freight movement into New York state and New England due to severe weather conditions.

It directed its members not to accept any freight shipments—except certain vital necessities—which will require movement east of Buffalo, N. Y., by way of the New York Central railroad system or the Boston and Albany railroad.

Exempted from the order are livestock, perishable freight, petroleum fuels and coal required to operate the railroads.

BAD LUCK RUMORS TO FLY TODAY

Friday The 13th Has Its Bright Side--Warmer Weather Is Seen

BLACK Friday is here again, but slightly warmer weather may do a lot to ease the terrors of the superstitutious.

However, there'll be plenty of "bite" left by the blizzard.

So if you don't feel so lucky, you'd better just stay in bed this morning and avoid all the bad luck rumored to be abroad today.

For that matter, with the cold weather and gas shortage as it is, staying under the blankets sounds like a good idea anyhow.

But if you want to tempt fate and wander forth into the wintry blasts, the odds are that you won't run into too many jinxes in your travels. All the black cats in Lubbock are probably curled up under the house trying to keep warm.

And the ladders which people try to avoid walking under are probably hard to find in this weather. Anyone outside on a ladder today would be having all the bad luck one ladder could produce.

Otherwise, the usual bad luck omens may be in full effect. A broken mirror not only brings seven years bad luck, but you'll probably have to pay twice what it's worth to replace it. Of course, a broken water pipe could prove just as costly. And a lot of Lub-

Lubbock Assessed 10 Per Cent Penalty On Fire Policy Rates

LUBBOCK will be penalized 10 per cent on its fire insurance rates while many other Texas cities receive credits, but if serious fires are prevented this year the city's penalties should be lessened somewhat in 1949.

The 10 per cent penalty for Lubbock was announced by State Fire Insurance Commissioner Marvin Hall in Austin Thursday, The Associated Press reported. Four hundred ninety Texas cities and towns received credits, while 118 received penalties.

Lubbock's fire standing improved during 1947 in spite of one major fire, the Texas Tech stadium, which accounted for more than two-thirds of the total estimated 1947 fire loss of $300,000.

The 1947 loss was less than half of the 1946 loss, which totaled some $675,000, according to Bradley Black, city fire marshall.

The 10 per cent penalty is 5 per cent less than last year's penalty of 15 per cent. But in 1946 Lubbock enjoyed a 15 per cent credit and a 10 per cent "good fire record" credit. So in

Post-War Issues Cause Decline In Diplomatic Social Activity

By DONALD J. GONZALES
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 — The tea-sipping, top-hatted, striped-trousered, cane-twirling men who formerly handled international affairs are on the way out. Their successors are diplomats trained in the problems of food, fuel, fiber, and fertilizer.

The change has been rapid since the end of World War II. It has been brought about chiefly by austere world conditions which rule out most of the pre-war diplomatic customs, and have cut down on lavish banquets and cocktail parties.

Changes Are Noted

Washington has seen the decline of social diplomacy on a greater scale than most world capitals. It would be most inappropriate and undiplomatic for the once lavish functions to return to foreign embassies and legations when most of them are seeking dollar help. Hence, guest lists have been trimmed. So have the food and liquor budgets.

Daily duties of State Department officials have undergone similar changes. Nowadays, they receive more callers and notes concerning food allocations than treaties.

Whales Are Problem

In a routine day, a department officer may meet up with the problem of recommending the number of whales that might be caught in the Antarctic during the next whaling season, or:

What are the proper cost-of-living allowances for American embassy personnel in Moscow now that the ruble rate has been altered?

Should tobacco be shipped to Western Europe as an "incentive" commodity under the Marshall Plan?

What would be a fair proportion between the United States and India for shipment of raw cotton to Japan under present controlled trade conditions?

And, should French demands for coal be filled before Italy's?

If any one post-war date could be set as the one which contributed most to the changed approach to diplomacy, it probably would be June 5, 1947. Secretary of State George C. Marshall on that date made his now-famous suggestion that European countries get together to figure out their aid requirements.

Work Longer Hours

The "figuring" on economic matters consumed thousands of man hours in Europe. But that effort has been far eclipsed by planning on this side of the Atlantic.

First, the interim aid program had to be drafted by the State Department and other governmental agencies. Second, work had to be started on the 51-month, $17,000,000,000 Marshall Plan.

The projects threw out any eight-hour day, five-day week that might have been in effect. Lights began to burn around-the-clock at the State Department, the Marshall planning headquarters.

Old-timers at the State Department have found it difficult to adjust themselves to the knotty economic problems. But they are convinced that the former days when straight international politics were of prime importance are gone.

Does Stomach Gas and Bloat Make You Feel Miserable?

If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in freeing your stomach from this nervous distress. It works this way:

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalisers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Young Man Follows Theory Of Starting At Bottom—Briefly

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 12 (U.P.) —Young people today lack the drive of their forefathers, says Mary Sachs, the owner of a women's clothing store here.

Too many of them, she said, would rather make their business debut at the top. They forget that the training for success begins in the cellar.

She said that recently one young fellow almost shifted her sentiments. He accepted a job at her place sweeping floors — "because he wanted to start at the bottom and work his way up."

The "dream" didn't last long, Miss Sachs said. He quit after only a short time.

Seattle Judge Uses Church 'Sentences' On Law Violators

SEATTLE, Feb. 12 (U.P.)—Seattle motorists, if they aren't careful about traffic laws, may find themselves writing a 200-word essay or be under orders to go to church every Sunday for six months.

It has happened to several drivers, convicted of major traffic violations in traffic court here.

Judge Roy DeGrief ordered a motorist convicted of reckless and hit-run driving either to write a 300-word thesis on "Reasons for stopping and identifying yourself after hitting another car" or serve a five-day jail sentence.

The driver wrote the thesis.

Another driver, convicted of drunken and reckless driving, escaped serving a 30-day jail sentence by promising to attend church every Sunday for six months. He was required to present an affidavit attesting to his attendance.

But Judge DeGrief believes the penalties are valuable.

"Writing as essay or going to church makes a driver think more about the seriousness of his violations than if he pays a fine or receives a suspended jail sentence," the judge said

Cabbage Gets Folding Stuff From Buddy For 'War Debt'

NEW CASTLE, Ind., Feb. 12 (U.P.) —Art Cabbage received a check for $5.52 in payment of principal and interest on a loan he made to a war buddy in Paris in 1944.

Cabbage, a chain store manager, got the check from Kenneth Dean, Philadelphia, Pa. He recalled that he lent Dean 770 francs while both were spending a weekend leave in Paris.

Later, both were wounded in the Battle of the Bulge. They never met again and lost track of each other.

Dean explained in a letter that he had been trying to locate Cabbage for three years so he could pay him the money.

He said the initial outlay for new equipment would be about $200,000. The station also planned to increase its power to 5,000 watts upon FCC approval.

Family Life In U. S. Found Not Up To India's Level

BOSTON, Feb. 12 (U.P.) — Three Indian students at Boston University believe family life in America is less satisfactory than in India.

Jesse Cornelius, Rajappan Immanuel and Sunderay Raichur, theological students, said "we don't have career women in India" and agreed that it was one of the factors leading to the high divorce rate in the United States.

"A woman should be the source of inspiration, not of competition," they say in explaining what they believe is the source of trouble.

Furthermore, they said, "In India, cooking is an art; in America the women just open cans."

Liver will be more tender if it is cooked at a low, even temperature. Rapid cooking hardens and toughens liver.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Solon Says Prospects Are Bright For Okay By Congress On Long-Range Housing Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP) — Prospects very bright: That's the way Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) today summed up chances that Congress will pass a long range housing bill this session.

McCarthy said he came to that conclusion after talking the matter over with Republican leaders.

But he would like to see any general program to encourage home construction stripped of plans for government owned or operated public housing projects.

McCarthy placed emphasis on that in submitting a report to the House-Senate Housing committee. The committee is required to report to Congress and recommend legislation by March 31.

Provision for public housing in other bills generally has been assailed by the construction industry.

McCarthy commented it would be well to handle this issue in separate legislation, if at all, to avoid "emotional controversies."

Senators Buck (R-Del), and Sparkman (D-Ala), also members of the joint committee, agreed.

The Senate Banking committee approved a long range housing measure—the Taft-Ellender-Wagner (TEW) bill—last April. It has been in a pigeon hole ever since, apparently because the Senate Republican leadership doubts it could pass the House. That bill provides for public housing.

Among other things, McCarthy's program provides for:

1. A government insurance plan to assure a profit to investors in rental housing.

2. Development by the federal government of a uniform building code, to be used as widely as possible.

3. A long range slum clearance plan.

4 Extension of the government's authority to guarantee housing loans, especially for rental dwellings.

DOGS JOIN STAFF

The average American's diet in 1948 will be lower in iron and calcium because of the low meat, poultry, milk, canned fruit and vegetable supply, reports the Department of Agriculture.

Take Off Ugly Fat With Grape Fruit Juice Recipe

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy — no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of Liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears — how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

U. S. Urged To Use Caution In Attempting To Change Islanders

By WILLARD D. EBERHART
United Press Staff Writer

HONOLULU, Feb. 12—Leonard D. Mason, an expert on Micronesia, has warned the U. S. Navy to go slow in trying to bring the natives of the former Japanese mandated islands around to the American way of life.

Mason is associate professor of anthropology at the University of Hawaii. He is the scientist chosen by the Navy to tell it what to do about the 165 natives transferred from Bikini, site of the 1946 atomic bomb tests, to barren Rongerik atoll.

In a paper written for the Institute of Pacific Relations, Mason asked: How can such standards as the American way of life demands be achieved in an area as poor as Micronesia?

He said a congressional subcommittee revealed two common blind spots in recommending recently that "the natives of these islands should be indoctrinated to the American way of life as soon as possible without infringing upon their customs and institutions."

Two Blind Spots

The first of the blind spots, he said, was insufficient understanding of the complexities of cultures and geography of the islands making up the trust territory of the Pacific.

The second, he said, is "imperfect understanding of the processes by which customs are altered under the impact of western civilization."

He pointed out that the trust territory is composed of the Marshalls, the Carolinas and the Marianas, other than Guam. There are 2,174 islands scattered over 2,000,000 square miles of Pacific Ocean.

Some, like Saipan, Ponape and Jaluit, have been in close contact for years with Japanese or Americans and have grown away from traditional customs.

Some Untouched

Hundreds of others such as Kapingamarangi, between the Carolines and the Solomons, have been left relatively untouched.

Some are lush in resources; others are little more than coral outcroppings. Some have been feudalistic for centuries; others have tried a communal economy.

No one yardstick can apply, Mason emphasized, and the individual needs in each local group must be considered.

"In certain groups," he said, "a tendency in the direction of isolation may prove the happiest course of action; in other groups, the pendulum of change has already swung too far in the other direction.

Problem Stated

"Considering the inevitability of culture change, our problem in the trust territory would seem to be:

"1. To know the freely expressed wishes of Micronesians as to the speed and direction of that change.

"2. To aid the native populations in their adjustment to western civilization as it impinges on their island world.

"3. To ease the shock which has been characteristic of most culture-contact situations in the sad history of dependent people everywhere."

In solving the problem, Mason said some seeming inconsistencies probably would result—but necessarily so if the administration is to succeed.

Charter Quoted

"By the terms of the United Nations charter, we are committed to respect the 'freely expressed wishes of the peoples concerned'," he said. "We may often find ourselves in the position of a democratic people giving support to a Micronesian feudalistic system in which inequalities abound.

"Yet if that is the desire of the people concerned we have no choice but to respect the situation."

Mason knows Micronesia intimately and is soon to spend two weeks living with the displaced Bikinians on Rongerik. The Navy has asked him to determine if they can ever make a go of it there, or whether they should be moved to a more fruitful home.

Five Texas Tech Engineering Graduates Receive Recognition

Five graduates of Texas Technological college were recently voted registration by the Texas State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers and will be issued certificates, O. V. Adams, dean of engineering announced Thursday.

When issued a certificate of registration, they will be authorized to practice professional engineering and to affix their seals to plans and specifications in accordance with the state law. Such laws are now in effect in all 48 states.

Those voted registration are: H. H. Hinson, a graduate of 1934 and now employed by the Bureau of Mines at Amarillo; L. J. Powers, a 1939 graduate and now a professor of mechanical engineering at Texas Tech; Homer Ray, date of his graduation and his present position are not available; B. A. Schmidt, a graduate of 1929 and now an electrical engineer employed by the government; and T. C. Williams, jr., a 1941 petroleum engineering graduate. His present position is unknown but it is believed that he may still be in the service.

In order to be voted registration, the candidate must practice engineering for a period of four years and successfully pass certain conditions and specifications laid down by the government.

Blaze Causes $104,000 Loss To Corsicana Glove Factory

CORSICANA, Feb. 12 (AP)—A loss estimated at $104,000 was caused by fire which burned the new Tex Sun glove factory here to the walls.

Firemen fought the blaze three hours in below-freezing temperatures last night. An adjacent metal warehouse containing finished gloves escaped damage. The blaze threw between 85 and 90 workers out of employment.

The long, one-story building was built early in 1947. Plans were being made to house the factory in another place until the factory can be rebuilt.

MYSTERY SOLVED

Cold Causes Blast In Borger Section

BORGER, Feb. 12 (AP)—Borger's mystery explosion has been solved, and of all things it was caused by the cold.

After an all night check Sheriff Hugh Anderson learned today it occurred on the Continental Oil lease six miles west of Borger, and this was the explanation:

A 12-inch water line which fed an oil wash tank apparently froze, after which heat from the tank backed up and let go with a bang that vibrated buildings and rattled windows and dishes here. A large section of the pipe was ripped from the ground.

No one was injured.

Dental Professor Says Teeth Decaying From Excess Sugar

CHICAGO, Feb. 12 (AP)—A University of Illinois dental school professor today declared that the teeth of Americans are decaying six times faster than they can be filled and that eating of too much sugar is the major cause.

Dr. Robert G. Kesel, professor of therapeutics at Illinois and president of the Illinois state dental society, made the assertion in a paper prepared for the 83rd midwinter meeting of the Chicago Dental society.

He said that nine out of ten children in the United States have dental caries (decay) and estimated that the average American eats about his own body weight in sugar yearly.

Dr. Kesel and his associates have been making clinical studies for several years of the effect of ammonia in reducing tooth decay.

They are currently making a long range study of 2,000 sixth grade children who are using a dentrifice and mouth wash containing ammonia.

Hospital Drive Given Good Start With Big Donations

ABILENE, Feb. 12. (U.P.)—The drive to raise $75,000 for a new wing of Hendrix Memorial hospital was one-third accomplished today.

When civic leaders gathered at an instruction session in the campaign yesterday, names of prospects were being distributed.

Suddenly, Harry Fulwiler interrupted the proceedings. He wanted to offer $1,250 to the campaign.

That was the tipoff.

E. P. Mead followed with a similar gift. George Anderson offered $2,500.

Within a few minutes $26,000 had been collected.

Disputes Threat To Labor Drive

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Organized labor's drive to swing the 1948 elections ran into double trouble today.

The two big complications seemed to be:

1. The possible chilling effect of a grand jury indictment on union political spending.

2. Divided political loyalty within the ranks of both AFL and CIO.

The indictment was returned by a federal grand jury here yesterday. It cited the CIO and its president, Philip Murray, under the section of the Taft-Hartley act which bans use of union money for political purposes.

A CIO strategist said privately the indictment is bound to discourage unions from campaign spending.

The CIO contends the section of the law involved is unconstitutional.

Both the AFL and CIO have as their aim the defeat of congressmen who voted for the Taft-Hartley act. But both are finding it hard to make their members stay hitched to a single line of political action.

Top AFL officials failed, at their recent executive council meeting in Miami, to agree on a league director. There is more turmoil about this than appears on the surface.

Bill Hutcheson, head of the AFL carpenters and a lifelong Republican, has declined to go along with the others. There are reports that Dan Tobin, one of the staunchest Democrats among the AFL leaders, may make his own separate political plans, too.

As for the CIO, a group of its unions representing about 1,250,000 of the CIO's claimed 6,000,000 members have indicated they may support Henry Wallace's third party. Murray and the rest of the CIO have come out against a third party this year.

Corpus Christi Lad Dies From Injuries In Vernon Explosion

VERNON, Feb. 12 (AP)—A 13-year-old boy, Billy Gene Haskins, died here early today of injuries suffered when a pressure tank on a water pump exploded.

Haskins, a sixth grade student, was working in a shallow pit late yesterday trying to make the pump operate when the blast occurred.

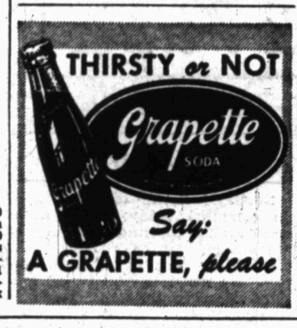

Haskins was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Haskins of Corpus Christi.

Your share, $1,782,472,718

For your livestock and your dairy and poultry products, soybeans, cottonseed, etc. . . . you ranchers and farmers of America received in 1947 almost thirty billion dollars, a new high.

Out of that amount, $1,782,472,718 came to you from Swift & Company in payment for the products you sold to us. Of every dollar that we took in from the sale of our products, we paid to you an average of 79.3¢ for your products.

Together we are doing a big, vital job of helping feed millions of families in America and in many foreign lands. Neither of us can do that job without the other. Since we are in this together and dependent upon each other, we feel that you have an interest in knowing how we have handled our end of this "joint operation." This page is our way of telling you. It shows you how we handled, in 1947, our business of processing and marketing. It shows how much money we took in, where it went to, and what services we performed to earn our 1¢ profit per dollar of sales.

HOW SWIFT'S DOLLAR WAS DIVIDED

79.3 Cents to Producers—Swift & Company, during 1947, returned to millions of producers of agricultural products an average of 79.3 cents out of each dollar received from sales. We provide a daily cash market for your livestock, dairy, poultry and other products.

9.7 Cents to Employes—In 1947, Swift's 73,000 employes earned $217,072,169 in wages and salaries, or an average of 9.7 cents out of each dollar of Swift sales. It takes many skilled people to process livestock and other raw agricultural products into Swift's quality foods.

3.8 Cents for Supplies—Last year, out of each dollar of sales, Swift spent an average of 3.8 cents, or a total of $86,005,885, on supplies of all kinds—mountains of salt and sugar; trainloads of boxes, barrels, other containers; miles of twine, tons of paper; fuel, electricity, etc.

1.8 Cents for Transportation—Swift's transportation bill was $41,053,244 in 1947, or an average of 1.8 cents of each sales dollar. Approximately ⅔ of the livestock is produced west of the Mississippi River, ⅔ of the meat is eaten east of it. Swift service bridges this average 1,000-mile gap between America's producers and consumers.

1.3 Cents for Taxes—Our total tax bill in 1947 was $25,915,888. This averaged 1.3 cents out of each dollar Swift received for the products it sold. In addition to federal taxes, Swift & Company paid taxes during 1947 in each of the 48 states, and in hundreds of municipalities where the company owns plants or other property.

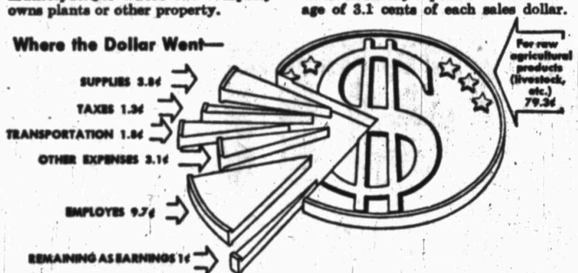

2.1 Cents for Other Expenses—Among other necessary business costs are depreciation, interest, employe benefits, sales promotion, rent, research, insurance, development of new products, advertising, stationery, postage, telephone, telegraph, passenger travel, etc. These necessary expenses took an average of 3.1 cents of each sales dollar.

1 Cent as Earnings—The Company's 1947 net earnings were $22,334,977, after provision of $12,000,000 for high cost additions to fixed assets. This represents an average of only 1 cent of each sales dollar. Swift & Company is owned by 64,000 stockholders, whose savings provide the money for capital, plants, equipment, tools and raw materials. Of the net earnings, the stockholders received $12,436,612 in dividends. The balance has been kept in the company as a reserve for future needs of the business.

Where the Dollar Went—

Here is a quick "picture" of how Swift's average sales dollar was divided in 1947. Smallest slice is Swift & Company's net earnings for many essential services in the processing and marketing of the agricultural products you produce. It averaged a fraction of a cent a pound on the millions of pounds handled.

How We EARN Our Profit

In addition to providing a market for livestock and many other agricultural products, Swift performs many essential services for producers and consumers. Most people can't go to farms to buy their meat—neither can retail dealers. Swift brings the meat to them. We have been doing this big, necessary job for 62 years, efficiently and economically.

Here are the services Swift & Company performs to earn its small profit:

1) We buy livestock and many other products that farmers and ranchers raise; then process and distribute them.

2) We process, brand, and perform all the many necessary operations to prepare our products for market and consumption.

3) We utilize all by-products. Every part that can be used is processed and sold in various forms. The income from this source increases the price of livestock to producers, decreases the cost of meat to consumers.

4) Our research finds new uses and new markets for farmers' and ranchers' products.

5) Our Martha Logan experimental kitchens test foods under home conditions, so that Swift products may give consumers the greatest possible satisfaction and value per dollar.

6) We pay transportation charges on our finished products, delivering them to dealers in all parts of the United States. This makes a broad, nationwide market instead of a limited local market for the products of livestock producers.

7) We provide employment and a livelihood—good wages, good working conditions and security—for 73,000 people who work for Swift & Company.

Our earnings for all this were one cent on each dollar of sales.

Conservation of Our Land Resources

by H. H. Kildee, Dean of Agriculture
Iowa State College

H. H. Kildee

During recent years we have become increasingly conscious of the importance of conserving our land resources. Accordingly, we have initiated conservation programs and practices which are sound and logical. Such action was and is urgently needed, not alone for the current generation, but as an obligation to generations yet unborn. As one result of the programs adopted, much land (which because of its character and slope was being destroyed by erosion) has been turned back to grass. Thus, expanding livestock production has become an increasingly important part of the program of conserving our natural resources.

Continual sale of crops off a farm or ranch results in serious loss of plant food. But the maintenance of plant food elements in the soil is urgently needed if our crop land is to continue to provide adequate quantities of human food. Livestock farming is helping accomplish this. For when land is used for grazing, rather than for crops, soil erosion ceases and the unnecessary loss of plant foods is checked.

ROMAN HOLIDAY

VALENTINE day is tame now, but it wasn't always that way! The day reserved as the appropriate time to send sugary and sentimental messages of love to those held dear was once a Roman holiday in every sense of the word. We mean it was a pagan festival replete with all the licentious practices that so characterized the fall of the Roman Empire.

The holiday which young and the young in heart will celebrate Saturday is the outgrowth of the old Roman feast of Lupercal, the celebration that heralded the arrival of Spring. Officially, the time fell on Feb. 15, but festivities began on the eve of the holiday and continued for days and days.

When Christianity came to Rome, the Church frowned on such activities and used its influence to suppress the celebration.

VALENTINE Day, as we know it today, achieved popularity throughout Europe, becoming more widely accepted in England than anywhere else. Although at first sentimental and lavishly decorated, the Valentines later were supplanted by comic verses and drawings which were so vulgar that people soon found them intolerable. Valentine Day itself fell in disrepute and for a number of years almost died out completely. Lately it has been revived, but with no great success.

Commercially, the occasion ranks second only to Christmas in America in volume of trade in greeting cards and novelties and here is its last strong hold. When Valentine day rolls around, Cupid will reign for a day—Cupid, Roman god of love, the only vestige that remains of the old Roman feast of the Lupercal.

SHORTENED SKIRTS

IN Paris the other day Christian Dior, the designer who introduced the look that last year was called "new," crossed up the fashion world again. He's shortened skirts this year.

Not much, mind you, but enough to trick the Paris experts who had quite frankly expected him to lengthen them some more. To be exact, the difference this year amounts to only an inch, or from 13 inches above the ground to 14.

Well, we know something that might startle Dior and that is that American women and their men are not accepting the extreme styles of the "new look" decreed by Paris fashion experts. This is corroborated by Ted Malone, the radio poet and philosopher, who took a radio poll and received 97,432 letters on the subject. Only five in 3,000 were in favor of it.

Dominant complaints in the letters were: (1) The timing of the fashion trend is diabolical. It forces women to buy new clothes, throwing budgets out of line when the government is asking for conservation; (2) Long skirts (and extremely full skirts, coats and jackets) call for too much fabric at a time when Europe is in tatters; (3) Long skirts, along with other style features, age women; and (4) Long skirts can't be worn by women who are chasing around after small children.

WOMEN IN SLACKS

SPEAKING of feminine apparel, a poll directed recently by George Gallup indicated that public opinion okays slacks on women at home but not in public. What is probably more important to style conscious women, however, is the fact that more men disapprove of slack-clad women in public than approve.

Age has a lot to do with one's attitude toward feminine slacks. The younger a person is the more inclined he or she is to be open minded on the subject. Qualified answers suggested such possibilities as these: "All right, if they become the wearer;" "if they fit;" "if the wearer is not too fat" and "it depends on both the occasion and the lady."

Both men and women, probably feeling that a woman's house is her castle, say that slacks are an appropriate garment around the home.

MR. TEMPLETON

SNOW, sand and wind slowed down the party of Mr. and Mrs. Alec Templeton and Stanley North, business manager, as they drove here from Phoenix Wednesday but the elements failed to keep them from being here in time for the concerts which were cancelled due to the fuel shortage.

Mr. Templeton doesn't mind cold weather, according to Mr. North. In fact he played a concert in Winnipeg, Canada two weeks ago and the temperature there is something below zero. The trip here, while taking 15 hours and putting 815 miles on the car, was uneventful except for a flat tire which the business manager explained happened early in the day when his disposition was at its best.

The Templetons and Mr. North left Thursday afternoon for El Paso and will return here Tuesday. The business manager, who is driver, says he doesn't mind the drive over Guadalupe Pass and why should he, or did you see the snazzy car in which they are riding? The state of Connecticut is so proud of its resident they yearly issue the Templeton car with a license consisting of the letters A-L-E-C.

Lubbock was fortunate that the famous pianist, who is booked almost solidly on his present tour, has two days open next week. He is to be presented in concert in Abilene Thursday night.

Stratospheric Chamber Will Test Conditions Of New Era

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 (U.P.)—Great Britain is about to pull the wraps off the world's largest and most modern stratosphere chamber, British Information Services announced here today.

It will be able to test flying conditions for planes in the era now unfolding of supersonic flight far above the weather.

The chamber, now almost finished at Vickers Armstrong, Ltd., Weybridge, Surrey, England, consists of an all-steel cylinder 50 feet long and 25 feet in diameter. It will be able to reproduce temperature and pressure conditions up to an altitude of 70,000 feet.

The complete structure, built and welded throughout with half-inch thick plate, weighs 215 tons. It is reinforced with external rings six inches deep and three-quarters-of-an-inch thick.

Temperature Range Wide

A powerful refrigeration plant can reduce the temperature inside the test chamber to 70 degrees Centigrade below freezing point (equals 94 deg. Fahrenheit) and even lower. Special fans within the chamber can raise the temperature to at least 70 degrees Centigrade (159 degrees Fahrenheit).

The vast range covered by the test chamber can be gauged from the fact that the lowest temperature ever naturally recorded in the world was minus 56 Centigrade (approximately minus 67 degrees Fahrenheit) at Verkhozansk, Siberia, in February, 1892.

The highest world temperature on record is 58 degrees Centigrade (approximately 136 degrees Fahrenheit) registered at Azzizzia in Libya in September, 1922.

Vacuum pumps driven by a 140 h.p. motor can reduce pressure in the stratosphere chamber to one-twentieth of an atmosphere in exactly 90 minutes.

Britain's top aviation experts will use those artificial conditions for exhaustive tests on cabin pressurizing and heating under all kinds of world conditions. Technicians also will be able to study the behavior of aircraft structure, controls and engines under extreme and rapidly changing climates.

Mechanism Complicated

The chamber's circular steel walls bristle with complicated mechanisms inside for creating a vast range of flying conditions. One of these is an ingenious "dryer" that absorbs moisture from air entering the chamber. It prevents icing when the chamber is operating at sub zero temperatures. The 40,000-cubic ft. chamber will be powered by its own electric sub-station capable of supplying up to 1,750 h.p.

When completed, a unique "tea cosy" structure will protect the chamber, its walls and roof covered with 12 inches of insulating material. The unit's concrete floor will be raised on brick piers eight feet above concrete foundations to avoid frost-heave under the building. Free air will be able to circulate through this "cellar."

Two airlock compartments afford access to the chamber. Whole air-frames can be inserted into the chamber through the door end which contains four ducts for spraying hot or cold air. The massive assembly door is built to slide aside on a wheeled cradle. The end plate is sealed by sponge rubber and is closed securely by a 40-ton hydraulic jack.

Britain's aircraft designers of the future will be able to study their newest models undergoing rigorous tests through glass observation panels in the top and bottom walls.

Texas Tech Directors Scheduled To Hold Meeting Here Saturday

The current cold wave may prevent attendance of several members of the Texas Technological college board of directors, scheduled to meet in Lubbock Saturday.

It is hoped that a quorum may be obtained for the meeting for there is an accumulation of matters since last September to be acted on by board members, Dr. W. M. Whyburn, Tech president, said this morning.

An effort was made to hold a meeting last Nov. 29, Homecoming day, but not enough members showed up for a quorum.

Harold Stassen To Be Honored During Brief Tour Of Valley

McALLEN, Feb. 12 (AP)—Harold Stassen will be honored at a public reception here on February 27 during a one-day tour of the valley, chairman Robert N. Clarke of the Hidalgo county executive committee anounced today.

Clarke said Stassen will arrive at Brownsville February 27 by private plane, address a noon luncheon at Brownsville, tour the valley in the early afternon, attend an hour's reception here, then speak at 8 p. m. at the Harlingen municipal auditorium.

Student Will Speak At Church Sunday

Speaker for the night service at First Presbyterian church Sunday will be Harry Smith, senior student at the University of Texas and an American degelate last summer to the World Conference of Christian Youth in Oslo, Norway.

Bill Rogan, director of Presbyterian student work in First Presbyterian church and at Texas Tech, said that Smith would speak before several groups that day in addition to the appearance at the church.

He will lead devotions in the Tech Presbyterian class at 9:45 o'clock Sunday morning; will speak at the All-College Vespers in the recreation hall on the Tech campus at 4 p. m. on "There is a World Church," and will lead a roundtable discussion at the Presbyterian Student Vespers at 6 p. m. at the First Presbyterian church on "The Place of the Christian Student in Today's World."

At the 7:30 o'clock church service, he will discuss the Oslo conference and show film strips made at the conference and in other parts of Europe.

Open house is to be conducted at the new Presbyterian student center, which will be called Westminister House, at 2414 Thirteenth from 3 to 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Dr. Jack M. Lewis, chairman of the joint local committee for Presbyterian student work of the U. S. Presbyterian and U.S.A. Presbyterian, will have charge of the open house, which will be open to the public.

Bill Henderson Wins First Round Knockout; Gene James Decisions Army Sergeant

Local Team Now Holds Wins In Four Of Five Meet Fights

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Editor

WILL ROGERS COLISEUM, FORT WORTH, Feb. 12—Featherweight Bill Henderson won his second bout and Heavyweight Gene James made his debut a victorious one as the only two Lubbock fighters scheduled for action tonight took easy decisions.

Henderson was by far the most impressive, scoring a knockout over Howard Van Winkle of San Antonio in 1:24 of the second round. James had a little more trouble in scoring an unanimous decision over Tech Sgt. Relius Broussard of Temple. The bouts left Lubbock with four tournament wins here.

Henderson Near Perfect

Henderson tonight displayed the same near-perfect form that sent him to an early victory over Charles Neff in the Lubbock tournament.

The Levelland Larruper came out cautiously, parried a few experimental lefts that Van Winkle threw and studied his style for almost half a minute.

Finally, after chasing his opponent over to the far side of the ring near a neutral corner, Henderson took over the offensive. Ducking under a left, Henderson opened up with a barrage of lefts and rights to the head and midsection that had Van Winkle gasping.

The San Antonio boy clinched and, when the referee broke them, Henderson moved in for the kill. A solid right, one of several punishing blows, keeled over the Santone fighter. He took a count of eight, then climbed to his feet.

Henderson drove Van Winkle into the opposite neutral corner and began the same punishing attack that had popped the Santone boy's eyes the first time. After driving a flurry of blows at the head and midsection, Henderson brought up a right cross that dropped Van Winkle for the count.

James Fight Draggy

The former Texas Tech student displayed sparkling footwork, continually bored in and carried the fight from the start. He weaved, bobbed and ducked with his customary skill, showing entirely different form than he did Wednesday night. Tonight he was the Henderson of old, dangerous with either hand and faster than lightning.

James won his bout, but was far from impressive in waltzing three rounds with the tech sergeant from Camp Hood. Even though he scored a knockdown in the second canto, Broussard showed no inclination to get close to James, swinging occasional pooping rights that did not land.

The first round was particularly draggy, neither fighter throwing much leather and clinches being frequent. James stalked Broussard around the ring, jabbing with flicking lefts that more often than not failed to land.

The second round was little better with James still too tense, too tight and apparently afraid to move in for the kill, even after he had backed his man into a corner, or had him on the ropes. The crowd started up a bored handclapping in protest to the lack of action. The round ended with James finally landing a flurry of left and rights to the head that partially dazed the Army man.

Barely Miss Knockout

James clearly won the third round, scoring a knockdown and softening up his opponent to the point that the bell saved him from an impending knockout in the following stanza. At the same time, James never did loosen up and failed to show the ability which he possesses.

Friday night Lightweight Frank Telles makes his debut against Weldon Arbuckle of Wichita Falls and Middleweight Lonnie Balch takes on Defending Champion Tommy Barron of Dallas.

Both Telles and Balch have drawn byes for the first two nights of the tourney and are in excellent condition. Telles went three fast rounds today in practice and looked sharp, while Balch was hitting hard and getting his timing down to perfection.

SPORTS Spotlight
By Bob Cone

We, naturally, were very much in sympathy with the two man campaign by Supt. Fred Miller of the Abernathy schools and Supt. O. W. Marcom of Levelland to bring the Region 1-A basketball tournament onto the South Plains.

But, as usual, the hands were stacked in the Canyon-Amarillo-Panhandle sector, and a good stand by two South Plainsmen went by the boards . . .

We have it that Supt. Miller dangled a lucrative offer in front of the other powers that be in the Amarillo conference at which the region tourney site was selected . . . But, no . . . The Abernathy super offered that center's spacious gym, one of the best, and largest, in the section, for the tourney . . . The Levelland school chief swung to his side . . . There were too many from up-the-country, and Canyon got it . . .

We have, from time to time, run across Superintendents Miller, Marcom and a third, Vernon Brewer of Levelland, who are Johnny-on-the-spot when their school's teams are in action . . . They love their sports . . . They love, and promote, sportsmanship . . . And through their efforts much has been done to sell the public on sportsmanship . . . Their coaches sell their players on it daily, in each and every work out . . .

When a crowd boos as lustily as that one did at Fort Worth Wednesday night over a decision which eliminated Earl Pollard, jr., from the state Golden Gloves tournament, then, the combined opinion of those judges must assuredly have stunk to High Heaven . . . We have it from Joe Kelly, who was at the ringside, that the derisive outburst continued long after Pollard and Jack Woodruff, the Dallas welter winner, had left the ring, and the other fighters had come on the scene . . . Yes, all "Big D" fighters won Wednesday night, but Woodruff shouldn't be very boastful . . .

They've done some odd things in Fort Worth for this 12th annual Golden Gloves state tournament . . . First off they set the semi-finals and finals for the same evening, Monday . . . That means a winning fighter must fight twice Monday night . . . Argument was that any of those fighters going that far could easily fight six rounds in an evening . . . They'll fight twice in a night at Chicago, they argued . . .

Then, there was the aw-shucks-why-not change in a rule to fit Charlie Simmons' case so the Dallas heavy could defend his title without bylaw interference . . .

"A Golden Gloves state champion may defend his title in the same weight division only once. If a boxer fails to keep his title he can seek it the following year in the same weight . . The principal behind this rule is to remove boxers likely to dominate the class division and thereby discourage youngsters . ."

Simmons won the heavyweight title in 1946 and 1947 . . .

Discourage youngsters?

Lobos, Hornets Tangle Tonight In Cage Battle

LEVELLAND, Feb. 12 (Special)—It takes more than a blizzard to stop those two super basketball rivals of the South Plains Class A realm.

Meaning that, come what will in the way of frigid weather, the Levelland High school Lobos and the Sudan high Hornets feel duty bound to carry out their schedule, and meet here in a Friday-the-13th duel which winds up their part in the District 4-A cage campaign.

Both Are "In"

Both Lobos and Hornets have, to this point, clinched the opetwo spots in the north zone, but where rivalry is as regular as it is in that area the schools, the coaches, the players, and fandom all want to know "who won it."

Levelland will still go into the District 4-A championship tournament next week should Sudan's unbeaten Hornets hand them another backset. The Lobos lost their only conference game to these Hornets early, much earlier in the season by six points. The last time they tangled Levelland narrowed the margin to two points.

If the Lobos should trip Sudan in Levelland Friday night then these two rivals will go into the district tourney co-holders of the north zone championship.

Levelland high's gym will hold possibly 1,400 to 1,500 fans, but it will bulge at the seams in so doing. Championship fever is just about as high over this cage campaign, and this crucial contest with Sudan, as it was back in the football season. Any meeting between Lobos and Hornets always packs 'em in.

Tahoka Wins Title

In the south zone, from which annually come two teams to meet the north zone fives in tournament play to determine the pair of quintets to represent District 4-A in the regional meet at Canyon, Tahoka high is the winner. Abernathy and Sundown must play off for the runnerup spot.

The Hornets and Lobos met seven times last season, and that included district and regional tournaments, and the Lobos came out with a 4-3 lead in the way of floor triumphs.

Sudan edged Levelland for the District 4-A title, and the Lobos came back in the regional to trip the Hornets for the regional crown.

Both teams' attacks this season have been spearheaded by a pair of uncanny goalers and fast floor leaders. For Sudan Bob Bouldin and Jim Eddins have been unusually consistent while the Lobos looked to Bobby Hart and W. A. Wise to put punch into their attack.

Jackie Robinson Signs Dodger Contract With Salary Boost

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 (AP)—President Branch Rickey of the Brooklyn Dodgers announced today that Jackie Robinson had signed his 1948 contract.

Terms were not announced but it was believed that Robinson, the first negro ever to play in modern organized baseball, will receive between $12,500 and $15,000 for the coming season.

Big Spring Golf Go Postponed Again

Winter, teeing off on a West Texas Pro Amateur Golf association meet twice in less than a month, has caused indefinite postponement of the Big Spring tourney which had been reset for Friday.

Morgan Hampton, program chairman, announced from Abilene that the 18-holes of medal play, originally booked for last month over the Big Spring course, and reset for Friday, had been postponed indefinitely.

Too much wintry weather was given as the cause.

Grove High Pointer With 21; Harkins Sparks Pioneer Play

By EARL SCUDDAY
Avalanche Sports Writer

Three net-swishing set shots by Center Ed Long in the final 90 seconds of play gave the Sun Devils of Arizona State at Tempe a hard-earned 55-53 Border conference cage triumph over a battling Texas Tech quint Thursday night at the Red Raider gymnasium.

A capacity crowd of Tech students and Lubbock fans cheered wildly as the Raiders surged from behind late in the tussle to deadlock the count at 49-49, then saw the rangy Long connect with the game-winning field goals from far out toward the center stripe. The defeat was Tech's fourth in conference play, against five victories, and dropped the Raiders far behind the loop-leading Arizona university Wildcats.

Grove Meshes 21

Big Don Grove set a sizzling scoring pace for the Techsans, copping individual honors for the tilt with 21 points on eight field goals and five charity tosses. Guard Verl Heap topped the visiting Sun Devils with a total of 17 points on eight field goals and a single free throw.

It was Guard Ardis Barton who grabbed a major share of the spotlight for the Raiders, however. The scrappy little veteran turned in a brilliant offensive exhibition in chalking up 14 points, as well as sparking the Tech defense. The diminutive speedster was a thorn in the side of the Sun Devils all night.

Tech jumped into the lead early in tussle on a push shot by lanky Gene Gibson, then increased the margin as Grove connected with two quick two-pointers. Long and Heap narrowed the tally to 11-9 mid-way in the first half, but Barton and Grove hit the basket for an additional 10 points. The Sun Devils forged ahead two minutes before halftime on tosses by Heap and Forward Ches Cook and held a 28-24 edge at the whistle.

The Raiders, fighting desperately to protect their undefeated record on the home court this season, stormed back in the second half to tie up the score at 30-30 on a pivot shot by the sharpshooting Grove. Barton sank a free toss to put the Techsans ahead, then Grove dropped in two more field goals to increase the margin to 35-30.

Heap and Guard Charles Beall sparked a rally by the Tempe five late in the clash, first narrowing the Tech lead to 41-40 then moving ahead at 43-42 on a free toss by Forward Carl Heath. Heap, Heath and Larsen dropped in goals to bring the count to 47-44, but Grove swished in a free shot and Gibson dropped in a two-pointer to challenge the visitors' margin. Big Wayne Bowles gave the Techsans a 49-49 deadlock with a long set shot, then Long sank his three long throws to win the tussle for the Sun Devils despite last-minute goals by Grove and Barton.

In the initial tilt on the program last night the potent Wayland college Pioneers from Plainview, paced by the deadly shooting accuracy of D. W. Harkins and Leon Burch, blasted the Tech freshmen, 56-39. The Pioneers battled to a slender 23-18 halftime margin, then stepped up the pace in the final period to coast to the win. Rangy Verdell Turner topped the Tech frosh with 13 points on six field goals and a charity throw.

The Red Raiders face their second Arizona foe at 7 o'clock tonight at the Tech gym when they tangle with the highly-rated Lumberjacks from Arizona State at Flagstaff.

The Lumberjacks won two home games last weekend, defeating the New Mexico Aggies and New Mexico university, but were defeated last night by the West Texas State Teachers college Buffs.

Probable starters for Coach Nick Ragus' squad are Wayn. See and Larry Baroldy, forwards; Vince Cisterna, center; and Sharol Buck and Dan Yurkovich, guards.

Westerners To Meet Cub Five

Lubbock High's Westerners enter the last lap of the District 1-AA basketball title chase tonight when they invade Brownfield to battle the always-dangerous Cubs.

The cold weather and gas shortage have resulted in some doubt as to whether or not the game will be played, but last night officials said the tussle was still scheduled "as far as we know." Lubbock High Mentor Harvey Dunn reported that he has not been notified of any cancellation and that he plans to take a full squad to the Terry county city this afternoon for the district clash and a "B" team encounter.

Hold Third Place

The Westerners hold third place in the conference chase and are driving determinedly toward the runner-up post. A victory over the Cubs tonight, combined with a Pampa defeat by Plainview or Amarillo, would give the Lubbock crew a deadlock for the second spot.

The Brownfield five is the "tough luck" quint of the district, having failed to register a victory during the 1948 season. The Cubs have pressed some of the top teams in several tussles, including Pampa and Plainview, but have always failed to clinch the win. The Cubs have been erratic in district competition showing a potent offense in one tussle and ragged play in the next game.

Coach Dunn plans to start his regular five in tonight's clash, with Virgil Johnson and Jack Alderson at forward posts, Bob Schmidt at center and Charles Galey and Billy Max Henry at guards.

Bears Trounce Steers, 48-39; Cop Loop Lead

WACO, Feb. 12 (AP)—Baylor's Bears jumped into the lead in the Southwest basketball race tonight, handing previously undefeated Texas a 48-39 licking.

The victory left the Bears undefeated in conference play with nine straight wins. It was the first defeat for the defending champion Longhorns since 1946.

Texas and Baylor were tied for the lead until tonight.

Big Don Heathington poured in 24 points to pace the Bruins in the hectic game.

Baylor held the lead most of the first half but the Longhorns tied the score shortly before the half. Heathington sank a goal and the Bears held a 22-20 lead at the half.

Al Madsen sparked Texas' offense with 11 points, while Slater Martin, Texas' floor ace, was held to eight points by the close guarding of Jackie Robinson and Bill Johnson.

Hockley Girl Cagers In County Tourney

LEVELLAND, Feb. 12 (Special) Six sharpshooting Hockley county girls basketball teams had anything but a holiday here Thursday as they opened the annual county cage tournament.

Anton high's rangy sextet breezed through two contests to take over the role of favorite.

In the first game of the afternoon Ropesville edged Smyer, 23-20, and in order Sundown won from Pettit, 24-11, and Anton beat Whitharral, 31-28.

Anton came back strong in the night round to defeat Pettit, 33-16, while Smyer shaded Sundown, 20-19, and Whitharral trounced Ropesville, 31-9.

Play will be resumed Friday afternoon and will continue through Saturday afternoon and night.

4-A Cagers To Play Off Tie Tuesday

Abernathy, Sundown Set Tech Gym Game

Sundown and Abernathy high school basketball teams, deadlocked for second place in District 4-A's south zone, Thursday agreed to a one game playoff in Texas Tech gym here Tuesday night.

Both teams were listed as early favorites in the south zone race, but Tahoka High school's Bulldogs, gaining poise and punch as the campaign progressed, finished out front as the winner with only one loss.

Sundown High's Roughnecks fashioned that triumph over the Bulldogs, a two-point margin win, while Abernathy was not near so fortunate against Coach Jake Jacobs' Tahoka five. The Bulldogs took both their loop frays with Coach Purvis' Abernathy Antelopes.

Abernathy and Sundown have each lost three conference games. O'Donnell came through with a mild upset to down the Antelopes in O'Donnell. Abernathy has previously beaten Sundown.

All plans hinged on the outcome of the Abernathy-Post game which is scheduled for Friday night. If weather doesn't permit the teams to play this postponed game in Abernathy Friday night the standings would be unchanged.

The one game playoff will determine which, Abernathy or Sundown, accompanies Tahoka into the District 4-A championship tournament against Sudan and Levelland in the north zone.

Date and site of the tournament will be decided during a Saturday afternoon meeting of school officials from Sudan, Levelland, Tahoka, Abernathy and Sundown, beginning at 2 p. m.

Lockney-Tahoka Fight Tourney Put Off Until Tuesday Night

TAHOKA, Feb. 12 (Special)—A boxing meet between the Tahoka and Lockney High school teams was ordered postponed for the second time Thursday as it became obvious that weather conditions, and the gas shortage, would not permit holding the fights.

The meet, originally scheduled for Thursday night, was first reset for Friday night. School officials then agreed to again postpone them until Tuesday night.

Mississippi Demos Hint Backing From Other States In Revolt

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 12 (AP)—At least three other southern states were represented at today's statewide meeting here in protest against the national Democratic party.

Governor Fielding L. Wright referred in his address to the visitors. He said they were as interested as the Mississippians are in opposing anti-southern legislation.

Judge Merritt Gibson of Longview, Tex., told the Mississippi meeting, attended by approximately 5,000, that "you can lead the way for the people of other states."

Others Assail Truman

"I shall go back to Texas," he continued, "with this thought: that the hope of constitutional government rests way down south in Dixie."

W. L. Thompson of Baton Rouge, retired state employe, described himself as a friend of the late Senator Theodore G. Bilbo of Mississippi.

He spoke out against President Truman, who, Thompson said, seeks to "cram his policies down our throat."

A. W. Bethea of Dillson, S. C., told the Mississippians that "South Carolina will be with you."

He said the head of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People gets more attention than the south in Washington.

MISSISSIPPI SOLONS STOP WORK FOR PARTY MEET

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 12 (AP)—The Mississippi legislature was too much concerned with the possible Democratic party revolt to attend to much legislation.

The Senate met briefly this morning and passed five bills before adjourning until 10 a. m. tomorrow.

The House did not meet at all as its usual meeting hours conflicted with those of the statewide meeting of Democrats held to consider action against party leaders who foster "anti-southern legislation."

Passed and sent to the governor were house bills appropriating $57,000 to cover a state tax commission budget deficit and to allow the Mississippi commission hospital care to expend $40,000 unexpended funds for administration.

Great Grandfather Turns To Painting At Ripe Age Of 82

MALDEN, Mass., Feb. 12 (U.P.) — A great grandfather, who started painting at the age of 82 to take his mind off family troubles, has attracted the attention of art teachers and students.

Now 83, Everett C. Rea has produced more than 100 paintings in a year. Several of his water-colors have earned the plaudits of the critics.

Rea retired from work in the cutting room of a knitting mill 15 years ago.

Most remarkable, according to the critics, is Rea's ability to depict the coldness of a stone house in a wintry setting and the swirling of water around rocks along a stretch of typical New England coastline.

Vet's Energy Beats Housing Shortage In Massachusetts

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Feb. 12 (U.P.) —Take an old barn. Add about 3,120 hours of work and $7,000 and you may beat the housing shortage.

That's what ex-GI George B. Horner is doing on a rolling 65-acre tract of land here. His big, clean-looking two-story house is nearing completion.

The 32-year-old electric company employe has averaged about 20 hours a week on his one-man building job since he started razing the 60-year-old barn in June, 1945. He expects to move in with his wife this June.

The project started when Horner decided he "couldn't see buying an $8,000 house for $12,000."

When the crocodile dives, he closes his eyes and looks through his eyelids.

Three Families Ponder Request Of Aid From German Relative

WABASH, Ind., Feb. 12 (U.P.) — Descendants of three Valentine Matterns faced a problem.

A German woman appealed for old clothes from relatives of her late "Uncle Valentine." The three Mattern families couldn't decide which of them should contribute.

A further look at the letter disclosed she had mentioned her uncle had a son, John. But that helped only a little because two of the Valentines, both now dead, had sons with that name.

The score or more of Matterns here finally decided it didn't matter, anyway. They all will send their clothes to Frau Ida Bernd of Schmittweiler, Germany.

Consisting of five separate suges, the bolt contained an estimated 345,000 amperes of electricity, which is equal to the current flowing into 300,000 homes.

Students Label High School Social Clubs 'Snobbish' At Meet

BY DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 12.—Plain talk from a panel of youngsters labelling high school social clubs, fraternities and sororities as "snobbish" stole the show at the opening session of the Texas Committee for Children and Youth today.

The conference also heard demands for more action and less discussion and planning about all the many related problems of children and young people.

Clubs Are Defended

Only one of the high school students attending the panel arose to defend high school social clubs. He was Hilmer Lassberg of Austin who said the clubs were not only social in nature but promoted such humanitarian projects as supporting children in war-torn Europe.

Gloria Tharp of San Angelo bluntly answered a question from an adult member of the conference, who wanted to know whether clubs promoted organizations which might include non-club members.

"They don't at San Angelo," she said. "They just make hateful, snobbish remarks about students who are not members."

She added that in her opinion the majority of students were opposed to such clubs, but that the mothers opposed abolishing them.

"What happens to children who are not voted in?" another adult asked. Jim Mabe of Fort Worth answered that one:

Students Give Ideas

The discussion of high school fraternities and social clubs was not a formal part of the program of the child and youth conference, an organization to coordinate all welfare work for children in Texas.

The nine youngsters on the panel had given their candid ideas of their leisure time and recreation problems in their home communities when questions boiling from the floor brought up the club matter.

The last legislature passed a bill abolishing high school sororities and fraternities. Gov. Beauford H. Jester vetoed it, saying court opinions had left the question as a matter for local school boards to decide.

Youngsters on the recreation panel were Lassberg, Mabe, Miss Tharp, Elizabeth Blank of Bryan, Emma Lu Garrett of Dallas, Mary Elizabeth Lewis of Austin, Richard Bright of Gonzales, Stanley Parker of Austin.

There is one chance in 20,000,000 years of a comet striking the earth, according to astronomers.

Rockefeller Grandson To Wed Divorcee In Ceremony In Florida Late Saturday Night

A spokesman for Rockefeller explained since Florida laws require a 72-hour waiting period, counted from midnight to midnight, they would be unable to marry until Saturday, Feb. 14.

Brother In Ceremony

The wedding will be held in the lakehouse on the estate of polo player Winston Guest.

About 50 guests have been invited to attend a reception in the early evening and the wedding which will follow after midnight.

Lawrence Rockefeller, brother of the bridegroom, will fly from New York to serve as best man.

Isabel Paul, sister of Mrs. Barbara Sears, who is here now, will be maid of honor.

The Rev. Winslow S. Drummond, pastor of the Presbyterian church in West Palm Beach, will read the ceremony.

The newlyweds will leave shortly afterwards for an undisclosed place. They will not honeymoon here.

Mrs. Sears, former wife of Richard Sears, jr., third secretary of the American Embassy in Paris, and Mrs. Guest are longtime friends, having known each other in Boston where the Sears resided.

The hour of the ceremony was kept a secret. But the Guests issued invitations to an informal reception at 5 p. m. (CST) and it was generally believed that Rockefeller and Mrs. Sears would appear as man and wife. Unconfirmed reports set the ceremony for 3 p. m.

Frenchmen Are Living Longer Despite Many Years Hardship

PARIS, Feb. 12 (U.P.)—Despite eight years of food shortages, lack of heat and grave financial worries, Frenchmen are living longer than ever before.

The ministry of public health announced that the death rate hit a new low in 1946: 13.4 out of every 1,000. This compares with 16.8 in 1945 and 20 out of every 1,000 in 1944, the year of the invasion.

The country of 90-year-old Philippe Petain and other aged ex-statesmen and general also is producing more children than ever before. The birth rate is 38 per cent over the pre-war one, the ministry announced. Yet although more children are being born, infant mortality is steadily decreasing.

CLINTON, N. Y. (U.P.) — Cold weather and snow are no barrier to friendly visits between two families living in the Hamilton College veterans housing project. Mrs. Dot Granata, of Mt. Vernon, visits Mrs. Bill Kellerhals, New York, by crawling through a hole cut in the wall.

Body Of Woman Found At Hotel

BROWNFIELD, Feb. 12 (Special)—Mrs. E. W. Vogler, 53, of Carbondale, Ill., was found dead from asphyxiation, and her son, Capt. Donald C. Vogler, about 25, of Carbondale, was found unconscious about 9:30 a. m. otday at Wines hotel.

Captain Vogler, who was rushed to Treadaway-Daniell hospital in a Farley ambulance, remained unconscious under an oxygen tent at midnight, the hospital reported. Little change had been indicated in his condition.

Enroute To Tucson

The body of Mrs. Vogler was to be sent to Carbondale Friday or Saturday, pending arrival of her husband and another son by plane from Illinois. Capt. Vogler has a wife and child in Carbondale.

The two were enroute to Tucson, Ariz., where Capt. Vogler was to report for duty with the Army. They had registered at the hotel last night and had planned to continue their journey today.

Captain Vogler was lying near the door of the room in which his mother was dead when the ambulance arrived.

Asphyxiation (carbon-monoxide gas poisoning) was determined as cause of the woman's death at an inquest conducted by County Attorney Virgil Crawford and Sheriff Ocie Murray in justice court.

Gas Fire Burning

A gas fire had been burning and no windows were up in the room where Mrs. Vogler's body was found in bed.

Inflation Threat

effect falling commodity prices may have on rental properties.

Exchange Officials To Testify

Other developments:

1. Robert Boylan, chairman of the board of the New York Stock exchange, said the peak in commodity markets has been reached. In an interview at Atlanta, Boylan declared "there probably will be rallies in the markets, but it is not likely that commodity prices will again reach their recent highs."

2. Representatives of the major grain exchanges were called to testify Monday at a Senate hearing on the government's request for powers to fix margin (down payment) requirements in commodity purchases.

3. Members of the International Wheat council were reported near agreement on a five-year program which would allocate the wheat supply and establish price ranges.

Administration Accused

4. Carroll Reece, Republican national chairman, said at Indianapolis: "The downward trend in commodity prices is in accordance with the expectations of the Republicans when normal forces were permitted to operate.

5. Rep. Robertson (R-ND) told the House that the administration "deliberately caused a panic for purely political purposes." He said it "represents an attempt to buy CIO-PAC votes with cheap food, even though it means the ruination of American agriculture."

The Senate Agriculture committee heard two witnesses attack the administration's request for margin controls.

Cotton Dealer Testifies

Charles Slaughter, speaking for the New York Cotton exchange, said the exchanges were doing a "pretty good job of policing themselves."

E. F. Creekmore, a veteran New Orleans cotton dealer, said no legislation can eliminate speculation. He said legislation could "drive a controlled and well regulated speculative activity into an uncontrolled, and probably very harmful operation."

Creekmore also said there wasn't any basis for talk of "inside" government information leaking to commodity speculators.

Solon Warns On Price Drop

Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla) whose own commodity trading is under committee scrutiny, said he is opposed to the proposal to regulate margins. He dropped the remark "what I know about this matter (speculation) has cost me a lot of money."

But he said that instead of "trying to bludgeon and beat down prices" the government should be "trying some way to keep prices up." He contended that if prices continue to skid the United States and the world will "face chaos."

Stoves Are Offered For Use In Area

Although the weather in Lubbock was cold Thursday, at least one person had a warm spot in his heart for the people in Lubbock and the surrounding territory who might be suffering from inadequate heating facilities.

A Lubbock man, who prefers to remain anonymous, offered 16 oil stoves and from 25 to 100 wood stoves to the Salvation Army for disrtibution to anyone who might need them, Capt. Vincel Larsen reported.

The oil stoves, which were in Lubbock, have already been requested by people, Capt. Larsen said, and will be distributed this morning. The wood stoves, which are stored in Dalhart, will be picked up by truck today if enough requests are received before noon to warrant sending the truck, Capt. Larsen said.

He emphasized that they are available to persons in either Lubbock or other towns on the South Plains. Anyone desiring one of the stoves may make his request by calling the Salvation Army in Lubbock. The stoves are to be given away, not loaned, he added.

Gandhi Rites

rivers are joined, the Hindus say, by the subterranean Saraswath.

They gazed raptly at the spectacle, hands palm to palm and singing Gandhi's favorite hymns, as picked troops marched with rifles reversed, formed a moving box about the motor coach bearing the urn on its top.

The urn was ceremoniously transferred to the duck and slowly it descended into the water. Thousands waded into the water up to their necks, drinking the water from their supped hands while planes showered rose petals from overhead.

Wind Blows Ashes

The duck, accompanied by other amphibious vehicles carrying other members of the party, slowly cruised to where the green waters of the Ganges and the muddy waters of the Jumna mingled.

Devadas, fourth son of Gandhi, handed the urn to his brother, Ramdas. The wind blew the mixed ashes and milk, into which precious stones had been placed, into a spray.

Afterward the closest of kin bathed themselves to symbolize the complete severance of worldly bondage with the dead.

Retail Prices Drop

the New York Stock exchange, Robert Boylan, said the peak in commodity prices has been reached. There probably will be rallies in the markets, he said in an interview at Atlanta, Ga., but "it is not likely that commodity prices will again reach their recent highs."

Tire Company Shuts Down

Homer Vilas, president of the association of stock exchange firms, said all businesses and individuals should "be prepared for a depression, even though one is not likely." Preparations, he added, frequently prevents the worst from happening.

The Norwak Tire and Rubber company, which employs a normal force of 170 at its Norwalk, Conn., plant, announced it would be closed next week and possibly the following week. Walter A. Krappe, vice president in charge of manufacture, attributed the closing to "overstocking" and severe winter weather which cut down on highway travel and tire wear.

Prices showed no important trend in the few U. S. markets open today. Livestock prices at Chicago were mixed. Hogs advanced 25 to 75 cents a hundred pounds at East St. Louis, but at St. Paul cattle trading was slow and prices sagged. Wholesale meat prices were steady in New York and down slightly in Chicago.

Friday The 13th

bock and South Plains residents likely will have them come the big thaw.

And, if you're out walking with the girl friend, don't let anything come between you and her. That goes double if the "anything" happens to be another man.

But there's one consolation to these Friday the 13th jinxes — there's no more room behind the eight-ball anymore. At last reports, unlucky individuals were beginning to move behind the seven-ball. More room and cheaper rent there.

So if you're superstitious about Friday the 13th, about the only thing to do is step slow and easy, put your faith in your particular lucky charm, and hope. However, don't depend too much on that rabbit's foot: Look what happened to the rabbit who owned it originally.

Police Continue To Push Drive Against Negligent Wrecks

An announcement by police officials that fines had been assessed in 26 cases of negligent collisions in the last four days was accompanied by an appeal to drivers to be more cautious in the operation of their automobiles.

Six minor wrecks were reported Tuesday, even with curtailed business operations due to the gas shutdown.

The 26 cases did not include numerous other fines, such as speeding, running stop signs and red traffic lights.

Others Are Fined

Nine other fines were levied during the period for failure of motorists to have drivers licenses; two for driving after licenses had expired; one for permitting an unlicensed driver to operate a motor vehicle, and various others.

Police said they had assessed recent fines against motorists for parking cars on the pavement.

The city ordinance requires that no car be left on a paved street between the hours of 2 and 6 a. m.

Seventeen negligent collision charges were filed in connection with 26 collisions withn the four-day period, a check of records showed.

Fines in such cases may be as high as $100 each.

Five Die In Cold

gist, was killed near Dallas Thursday morning when struck by an automobile after his own car skidded on ice into a ditch.

Livestock Suffers

Reports of livestock suffering came from widely separated points. At Aan Angelo, sheep men said many lambs born during the storm were killed. The loss of percentage was not estimated. As in the Panhandle, the snow carried little moisture in the San Angelo area. Sheep men increased feed to their flocks, particularly ewes which were lambing or soon to lamb.

San Angelo feed dealers said slick highways were delaying the delivery of feed except in a few cases where ranchmen's supplies were exhausted.

The U. S. Weather bureau forecast more snow or sleet in the northern part of East Texas, and occasional rain near the upper coast Thursday night, with weather not so cold in the northwest part. Lows of 15 to 20 in the north and 20 to 26 in the south were predicted, except 26 to 34 in the coastal area and in the lower Rio Grande valley.

Buses, Interurbans Halted

Greyhound bus lines said its schedules from Dallas were operating except to San Antonio. That run is stopped by severe icing conditions from Hillsboro through Waco, Belton, Temple, and nearly to Austin. Continental buses were not moving from Dallas to San Antonio, Houston, and Wichita Falls because of iced highways. Passengers for Wichita Falls were routed by Fort Worth.

Most bus schedules were running late.

Interurban service between Denison and Dallas and Dallas and Waco was out because of ice. Interurbans were reaching north as far as McKinney and the first run of the day south was one at 5 p. m. as far as Waxahachie.

Ice conditions were reported from the Red River valley as far south as San Antonio.

25 Persons Rescued

Stories of persons rescued after being stranded Wednesday continued to come in.

An emergency Santa Fe train picked up 25 persons stranded west of Stratford about 6:30 p. m. Wednesday. F. G. Crandall, conductor, said three were in critical condition, and others suffered from frostbite. Part of them were reported hospitalized when the train reached Boise City, Okla.

The rescue train was sent out when a message came through that two persons were stranded in cars. The rescue crew found 14 huddled in a group six miles west of Stratford, and a mile farther on picked up 11 more. B. S. Smith was engineer on the train; H. E. Cowant was fireman.

Train Crew Marooned

Three crew members of a Texas Electric railroad freight train, marooned early Thursday five miles northeast of Hillsboro for six hours, were "walking icicles" after they made their way 200 yards to a highway where they were met by a taxicab which took them to Waco. They were stranded when power on the Dallas-Waco line failed; had only a lantern for heat.

Four persons rescued from a car stalled on the highway near Stratford were taken by the party that reached them to a clinic at Stratford. They were Jack Frazie and his father; Mrs. Floyd Keener and Arland Hale. The condition of Frazie and his father was reported serious.

GARRISON WARNS ON DANGEROUS HIGHWAYS

AUSTIN, Feb. 12 (AP)—Don't travel in the northeast and western sections of Texas "except in cases of extreme emergency," public safety director Homer Garrison advised drivers today.

Highways are covered with ice in those areas, with the possibility of more roads being made impassable, he warned.

He offered these suggestions to persons who must use the highways under these emergency conditions:

1. Start in second gear if possible.

2. Avoid spinning wheels.

3. Do not speed up or stop abruptly.

4. When stopping, slow car down by putting it in second gear until a speed of about 12 miles per hour is reached before applying brakes.

5. Keep speed well under 20 miles per hour on city streets.

"Cars that can stop in 21 feet on dry concrete at 20 miles per hour will skid 169 feet on clear ice," Garrison pointed out.

The Wilson dam, in Alabama, contains 1,440,000 cubic yards of concrete

Judge G. V. Pardue, of 99th district court, signed a judgment nisi Wednesday ordering Clarence Thornton, a negro charged with felony theft, and his sureties, Eva Barnes and John Fair, negroes, appear at the first day of the next term of court and show cause why a $1,000 bond should not be forfeited. Thornton failed to appear when his case was called for trial January 26. An indictment charges him with theft of an elevator conveyor. Citation was being prepared Thursday by District Clerk Royal Furgeson.

Lincoln Day

countries stabilize their currencies, abolish customs barriers and form a military alliance.

Stassen told a party rally at Germantown, Pa., that the Soviet Politburo is trying to "tear down the economy of Europe" by opposing the Marshall plan.

He said the United States should remain strong, help to strengthen the United Nations, guard against "bubble booms and depressions," and "bring our world economy policy in line with our foreign policy."

In addition to the avowed presidential aspirants, scores of legislators, governors and other party figures took to the platform and radio to criticize the Truman administration. Several of the speakers urged dissatisfied Democrats to join the Republicans.

The President was called a "defeatist" and a "bewildered man" who has "alarmed Congress by his almost daily demands for power, power and more power."

"Wastrel demagogues," "regimentation," "police state," "national bankruptcy," were some of the terms applied to administration leaders and policies.

Truman Pays Lincoln Tribute

Meanwhile, in less political surroundings, the 139th anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln was observed in traditional fashion at the emancipator's tomb in Oak Ridge cemetery, Springfield, Ill.

And in Washington, President Truman paid tribute to the first Republican president in a wreath-laying ceremony at the Lincoln memorial.

It was Senator Wherry, of Nebraska, acting majority leader of the Senate, who described Mr. Truman as a "defeatist" ever ready to grasp for "power." Speaking at Huntington, W. Va., he said:

GOP Invites Demos

"One day the President goes to the left, the next day to the right, zigzagging back and forth, attempting to outlead Henry Wallace, but giving lip service to Jeffersonian Democrats."

"Where are the Jeffersonian Democrats today?" Wherry asked. "They are just waiting to be invited to join us. They know a vote for republicanism this fall is a vote for Americanism."

Wherry also termed the President a "bewildered man," adding:

Demos Claimed Losing Peace

"One moment he advocates the imposition of price controls to lower prices, and, in the next he has the Secretary of Agriculture announce the purchase of 50 million bushels of wheat, which would prevent a fall in the market."

Taft assailed what he called the "new deal" plan of inviting European nations to "add up their desired imports, subtract their possible exports and hand us a bill for the difference."

The Democrats, Taft declared, must accept the responsibility for "the losing of the peace thus far."

Carroll Reece, head of the GOP national committee, speaking at Indianapolis, joined Wherry in extending a welcome to dissatisfied Democrats.

"Liberal" Party Hailed

Calling the Republicans the "liberal, forward-looking" party with "no pro-Russian factor" in it, Reece said:

"The Republican party welcomes the support of every American devoted to the perpetuation of our representative republic and the economic system which has grown up under the protection of that republic."

House Speaker Martin, at New York, declared the only way to assure success of the European recovery plan is to "turn out the incompetents in government."

"This will be done," he promised, "with the election of a Republican president and Republican Congress."

Astronomers To Take 'Close Look' At Mars In Search For Life

AUSTIN, Feb. 12 (AP)—The age old question of whether there is any life on Mars may be answered next week.

Astronomers hope to settle the question — at least as to plant life.

When Mars comes within 63,000,000 miles of earth next week —closest for the next two years—scientists will hook up their device to McDonald's observatory's 82-inch reflecting telescope at Fort Davis, Tex., and train the big eye on the neighboring planet.

Gov. Beauford Jester, President T. S. Painter of the University of Texas and Chairman Dudley K. Woodward, Jr., of the board of regents will be among a group of prominent men who will observe the astronomers and their study.

Other Studies Planned

The observatory is owned by the University of Texas and is staffed by the University of Chicago.

The State Parks board will entertain the official party at picturesque Indian trail lodge in the Davis mountains state park while observations are in progress.

The observatory's 82-inch telescope will be turned on Mars the night of Feb. 17, Dr. Gerard F. Kuiper, director, will direct the party in some other close-up observations which will include Saturn and the Moon.

If there is thriving plant life on Mars there is a possibility that some form of animal life exists, astronomers say, although probably of a much different evolutionary nature than on earth.

The atmosphere on the surface of Mars is so rare it is equivalent to air 50,000 feet above earth — much higher than aviators can go without a special oxygen supply.

The polar caps may turn out to be frozen carbon dioxide, scientists say.

In the tests, light from Mars will pass through the telescope and enter a box-like spectrograph through an eye-like slit. Infra-red rays will be culled out, picked up by a photo-electric cell and converted into electric current. The current will be amplified and automatically recorded in ink on a paper graph. The tracings will form a pattern to be compared with a pattern made by earth vegetation and moisture.

Heroic Farmer

the two men set out in the tractor to find the automobile. But in a short while Wohlford realized that Reynolds was in poor shape and dropped him off at a farmhouse. Then Wohlford went on alone.

Rude Sled Fashioned

He found the car with the three occupants still alive. For a time, he tried to tow the car out of the snowdrift, but failed. Then he took some boards that he carried on the tractor, found some scrap lumber at the roadside, and, working in the blizzard, fashioned a rude sled. He put the grandmother and the three children on the sled and started towing it behind the tractor. On the way, he picked up Reynolds at the farmhouse. During the sled ride, little Robert Wayne died. The party reached the Wohlford farm at 5 p. m. yesterday afternoon.

There, Wohlford saw that the grandmother and Juanita, the little girl, were in a critical condition. He realized they should have medical help. The tractor navigated very poorly in the blizzard. So the elderly farmer decided to walk six miles to Stratford through the blinding blizzard, at night, to get aid.

He almost made it. Within sight of Stratford, he came to a deep draw, so filled with snow that he could not cross. Bitterly, he turned back in another direction. After nine terrible hours of fighting the blizzard, Wohlford, at 4 a. m. today, struggled into the farm home of Dick Farris.

Wohlford was in poor condition after his terrific nightlong experience but had sufficient will and endurance to press the rescue. In Farris' truck the two men drove to the Cactus Ordnance plant.

There, a party was organized. The rescuers made their way to Wohlford's farm home. There they found that the grandmother and Juanita had died during the night. The father and baby were still alive. The baby's condition was considered good.

Wheat Price Peg

of the loan and purchase program for the 1947 crop expired December 31, 1947. But the purchase program will be revived and extended, the officials said, if such action is necessary to keep prices from falling below the support level.

Whether the department will re-enter the market for wheat before the grain drops to that level—if it does—is a matter which officials decline to discuss.

They have merely stated that the government would re-enter the market when prices stabilized. This means when prices stabilized at any level from 90 per cent of parity—the price support level—and upward.

Less than 50,000,000 of possibly more than 400,000,000 bushels of wheat still in hands of farmers has been put under price supporting loans or committed for sale to the government.

Twenty-Three Persons Killed In New Violence In Palestine

JERUSALEM, Feb. 12 (AP)—At least 23 persons were killed in Palestine today, most of them in the tense northern region.

Twelve Arabs, eight Jews and three British soldiers were slain, bringing to 1,151 the total killed since partition was voted Nov. 29. The strife-torn Holy Land was swept by rifle fire as snipers went into action at numerous points from Haifa to Lake Hula, north of Galilee. Convoys were attacked and roads were mined.

Shutdown Ends

Plains residents, it was due to cloudy conditions early Thursday that the temperature dropped no lower than the nine degrees minimum.

For as David R. Wheeler, an observer at the Weather bureau station here, explained, "cloudy conditions at night keep the temperatures up, cloudy conditions in daytime keep the temperatures down."

Airline flights through Lubbock were resumed Thursday. A Pioneer plane landed early in the morning and Braniff and Continental airliners made regular flights.

The early-morning minimum of nine degrees expected again this morning will still pack a lot of wallop. The moderate southerly winds and sunshine will, however, result in slowly but steadily rising temperatures until late afternoon. Winds will probably average a 10 to 12-mile-per-hour velocity most of the day.

The mayor, Collins and C. I. Wall of West Texas Gas company each expressed appreciation for the outstanding co-operation given by the South Plains public in averting a serious interruption of service.

No home in the area served by the gas company was reported without service due to lack of pressure Thursday.

The emergency had resulted in virtually complete curtailment of public functions and postponement of many events, including the Alec Templeton performances scheduled for Thursday night and tonight. The concerts were reset for next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Three Fires Reported

Three fire alarms Thursday were directly attributable to the cold weather.

One alarm, at 7:50 p. m., proved to be false. Observers who thought they had seen smoke rising from a residence at 2425 Thirtieth had actually seen vapors rising from a vent pipe reflected in an outside floodlight.

At 8:50 p. m. four fire trucks and the car of Chief W. E. Twitty went to an apartment house at 1619 Tenth. The occupant, Mrs. Lena Cope, had turned in the alarm after noticing smoke.

Firemen learned the blaze originated from a plumber's efforts to thaw water with a blowtorch earlier in the day. Damage was confined to a small area on the outside and principally to the kitchen cabinet of Mrs. Cope's apartment on the inside.

A morning fire at the residence of Mrs. Clementine Miller, 1910 Ave. H, resulted in only minor damage. It also was reported caused by efforts to thaw water pipes.

The weather caused postponement of numerous events Thursday and today, some even scheduled for Saturday.

A semi-monthly meeting of the City commission, scheduled Thursday afternoon, was postponed until 2 p. m. Monday afternoon, Mayor Bestwick announced.

so; the Justice department is doing its duty as it always does.

Savings bonds — He is calling on every American to get behind the treasury's savings bond drive April 15-June 10. Mr. Truman said every dollar saved instead of spent is a blow in the fight against inflation. The total goal is to be announced later.

Palestine — The United States government is supporting the policy of the United Nations in this situation of strife between Arab and Jew.

Dixie protest — Mr. Truman was asked whether he would have a conference with five southern Democratic governors coming here Feb. 22 to protest his call for new civil rights legislation. He replied negatively.

That balcony — The question of the balcony-porch being added to the White House came up again. A reporter noted that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower had said his idea of retirement is to sit on a porch for six months and then rock slowly.

"You have no retirement plans involving a porch?" Mr. Truman was asked.

He laughed, shook his head, and said: Not on this porch.

Joe Allison, Pioneer Of Area, Is Claimed

Joe Allison, 73, of Lubbock, a resident of this vicinity since 1910, died about 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the home of his son, Alvis Allison, about four miles southwest of Lubbock, a spokesman for the family said last night.

He had been working as a night watchman and sleeping during the day, it was reported. When a member of the family went to wake him shortly before 4:30 p.m., he was found apparently lifeless in his bed. He was dead upon arrival of the physician. Cause of death was believed to be due to a heart attack, although he had suffered no previous attacks to the family's knowledge.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon in First Church of the Nazarene, Fourteenth and Avenue Q, with Rev. Albert F. Laing, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Memorial Park cemetery under direction of Sanders Funeral home. His wife died several years ago.

Survivors include a son, Alvis of Lubbock; one daughter, Mrs. Voda Yarbrough, Albuquerque, N. M.; six adopted daughters, Mrs. O. A. Mayberry of Willows, Calif., Mrs. Henry Elmore of Dickens, Mrs. Henry Culbert of Clovis, N. M., and Mrs. Fannie King, Mrs. Albert Grace and Mrs. Wesley Hickson, all of Matador; four adopted sons, Dell and John Fulfer of Clovis, N. M., Preston Fulfer, Fayetteville, Ark., and Lester Fulfer, Novice; one brother, Mack Allison, Mineral Wells; three sisters, Mrs. C. A. Hunt of Stephenville, Mrs. Rich Gordon of Favens, and Mrs. Linnie Johnson, Oklahoma City, Okla.; five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Fire Losses

1947 the total rating decline in Lubbock was 25 per cent, Bradley explained.

Setup Is Explained

Glenn Smith, assistant fire chief, explained that the state Fire Insurance commission bases its penalties and credits for each city on a five-year ratio comparison of the yearly fire losses and yearly premium income.

For example, the 1948 rate is based on the ratio of fire losses and premium incomes for the years 1943, 1944, 1945, 1946 and 1947. The 1949 rate will be based on the figures for 1944 through 1948.

Therefore, the full effect of Lubbock's 1946 large fire losses will not be dissipated for several years.

Smith explained how the penalty and credit losses are figured.

If the ratio of net losses suffered to net premiums paid is over 75%, the penalty is 15 per cent; if the ratio is 65 to 75 per cent, the penalty is 10 per cent; ratio 58 to 65 per cent, penalty 5 per cent; 52 to 58 per cent, no penalty and no credit.

Figures Are Given

If the ratio of losses to premiums is 45 to 52 per cent, there is a 5 per cent credit; 38 to 45 per cent, 10 per cent credit; 31 to 38 per cent, 15 per cent credit; 24 to 31 per cent, 20 per cent credit; less than 24 per cent, 25 per cent credit, the maximum credit allowed.

The fire department records show the following premiums, losses and five-year period credits for 1942 through 1946:

Year	Net Premiums	Net Losses	5-Year Credits (Or Penalties)
1942	$151,157	$122,665	15, 20, 20, 20, 15
1943	188,970	103,522	20, 20, 20, 15, 15
1944	239,865	66,097	20, 20, 15, 15, 10
1945	345,706	143,035	20, 15, 15, 10, 10
1946	520,693	675,730	15, 15, 10, 10,-15

The figures for 1947 have not yet been received from Austin.

Two of the largest fires in 1946 were the Standard Milling company and Dunlap's department store fires.

Credits for good fire records range from 5 to 25 percent, and penalties vary from 5 to 15 percent, State Fire Insurance Commissioner Marvin Hall said at Austin in issuing the list, the Associated Press reported.

Thirty-one towns were neutral, receiving neither credit nor penalty on fire insurance rates for 1948.

"Present credits and penalties are compiled from records of the past five years," Hall explained. "So 1948 compilations were derived from the total losses of each town from its fire losses from 1943 through 1947."

Many Given Credits

As compared with last year, 1,932 towns improved their fire insurance records, while 135 were penalized for their high losses, and 372 towns have the exact standing they had in 1947.

Cities and towns receiving fire insurance credits include:

Abilene, 10 percent; Amarillo, 10; Austin, 10; Big Spring 10; Borger, 15; Corpus Christi, 15; Corsicana, 15; Denison, 5; Denton, 15; El Paso, 5; Gladewater 15; Kilgore, 15; Laredo, 5; Longview, 10; Lufkin, 15; McAllen, 25; Marlin, 5; Midland, 15; Odessa, 25; Pampa, 25; Plainview, 15; San Angelo, 10; Texas City, 20—complete losses from the Texas City disaster have not been paid off, and there has not been final determination of whether certain losses were the result of fire or explosion; this partly explains why Texas City has an insurance credit.

Texas City Heights, 25; Tyler, 15; Vernon, 5.

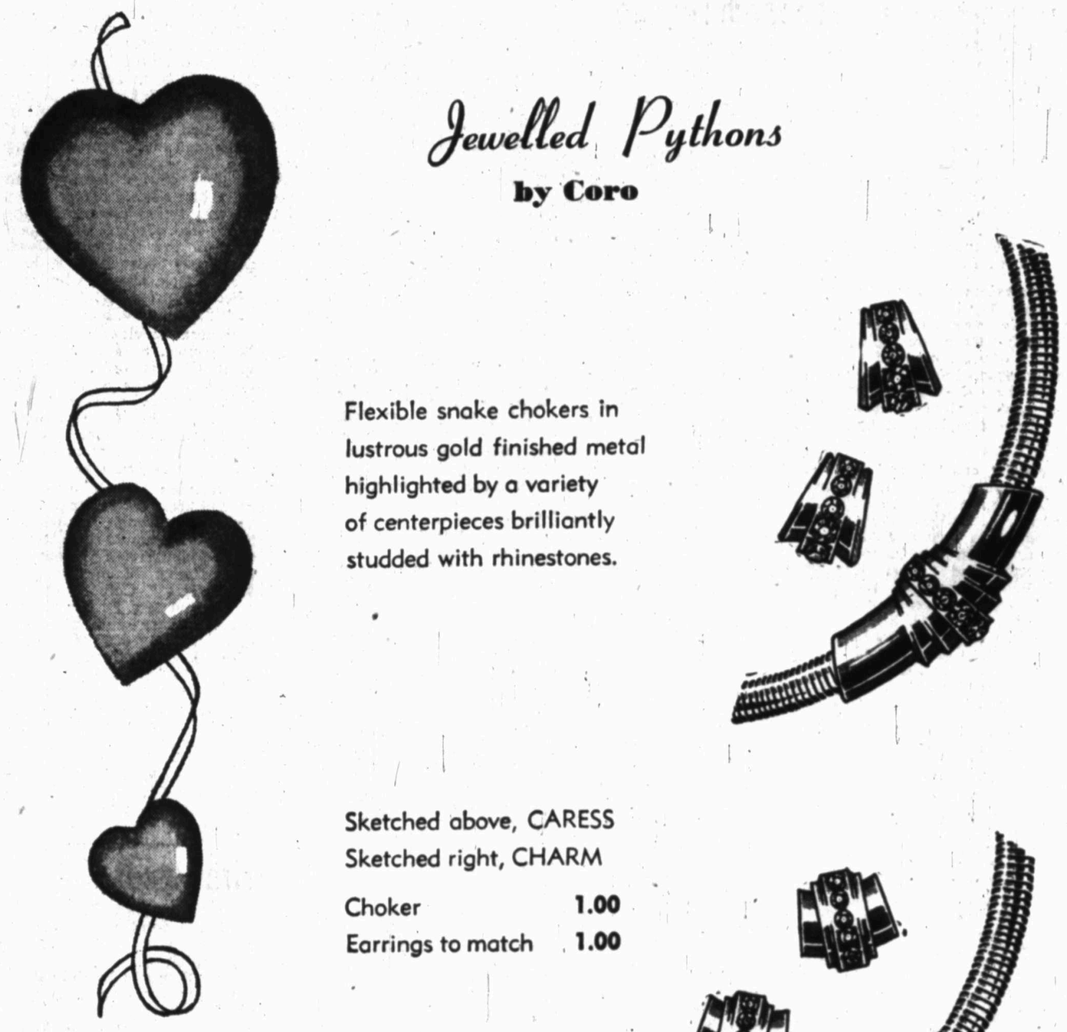

Fort Worth, Marshall and Waco were among the cities receiving neither credit nor penalty.

Penalized cities included:

Bryan, 15 per cent; Galveston, 5; Greenville, 5; Harlingen, 15; Garden Villas, 10; Lubbock, 10; Paris, 5 Temple, 10; Texarkana, 10; Wichita Falls, 15.

Nation's Problems Revealed In Questions Voters Would Ask HST

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb 12—Suppose you are a Washington correspondent assigned to cover the weekly presidential press conference; you walk into the White House, take your place in the President's office. President Truman greets the meeting, waits for the first question.

What question would you most want to ask the nation's chief executive?

GALLUP

Just that situation was described to voters in all walks of life, and in every state of the union. The voting public comes up with some pretty tough questions which would tax not only the knowledge but the occult powers of the president, his entire cabinet, the Congress and all government officialdom.

However, when the questions these representative voters want to ask are all assembled and analyzed, the results show very significantly what national and international problems are of most pressing concern to the public.

The $64 question, leading all others, would be phrased something like this:

"Will prices be lowered soon?"

After the President had tackled that one, questions like these would be shot at him:

"Will the Marshall Plan succeed in reconstructing Europe?"

"What are the chances that Russia and the United States can come to agreements on their major differences?

"When is something going to be done about lowering taxes and reducing the national debt?"

"Can this country keep out of war, and if not, what should we do to prepare for another war?"

"Why are there still shortages in so many items and what is the government doing about them?"

"What does the United States intend to do about the war threatening in Palestine?"

Here is the question which field reporters of the Institute asked representative voters:

"Suppose you could attend a press conference at the White House where newspaper reporters put any questions they want to the President. What questions would you like to ask the President about problems here and abroad?"

Grouped according to subject matter, the most frequently mentioned topics shape up like this:

1. Inflation, danger of depression	25%
2. Marshall Plan, relations with western European countries	19
3. U. S. relations with Russia	7
4. High taxes, large public debt	7
5. How to keep peace, United Nations	6
6. Shortages, rationing	3
7. Housing	3
8. Palestine	1
9. Labor problems	1
Miscellaneous	8
Don't know	27

(Answers add to more than 100% since some respondents gave more than one answer.)

The present poll results in answers very similar to an Institute survey last August to determine the most important problem facing the nation. At that time inflation also led the list, followed by foreign policy, and prevention of war, and labor problems.

Sidney Key, Barbara Gilbert, Tech Students, Win Awards

Two architecture students at Texas Technological college have won an honorable mention and an award of $15 each for plans submitted to the Interdenominational Bureau of Architecture in a contest for the best design for church buildings, F. A. Kleinschmidt, head of the architecture department announced Thursday.

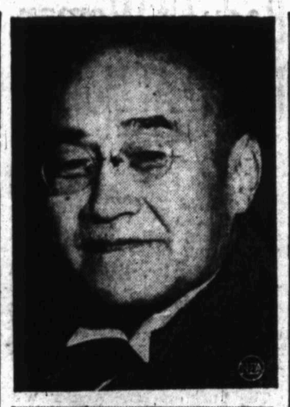

Those receiving the awards are Sidney Key, senior from Lubbock and Barbara Gilbert, senior from San Antonio.

Deadline for the contest, sponsored by the Church Architectural Guild of America and the Christian Herald, and held in New York, was May 21, 1947 and was judged by a five man jury of architects. Due to the great volume of designs received it was not possible to judge them and notify all winners until early this year.

In addition to the two who won honorable mentions there were three other students from Texas Tech who entered drawings, including Marion Wilson, Hugh English and George Padillo.

The Interdenominational Bureau of Architecture exists for the purpose of studying church building and improvement problems and assemble a building program and is the church building council for 25 denominations. Headquarters are in New York City.

"Starts the Day on the South Plains"

LUBBOCK MORNING AVALANCHE

Lubbock, Texas, Friday, February 13, 1948

$500,000 Loss Each Day Seen

A conservatively estimated $500,000 loss in volume is the result of closing down for a day of business in Lubbock and on the South Plains, a survey of representative businesses in Lubbock and over the area revealed Thursday.

In Lubbock alone, business curtailment caused by the gas shortage holidays totals at least $250,000 a day, perhaps much more, it was estimated.

Totals Are Given

Taking 1945 business census figures compiled by the U. S. Bureau of Census Lubbock has a total of 1,269 businesses of various types. Of this total 757 are retail establishments, 127 wholesale, 66 manufacturing and 319 service establishments. Figuring an average of less than $200 in receipts a day for a day such as today, business volume for these firms would total more than $250,000.

On the basis of the 1945 figures, an average day's volume of business in Lubbock was $238,200. Retail sales during that year ran $38,739,000 while wholesale firms had a volume of $35,603,000 and manufacturing firms turned out $9,022,000 in finished products.

In 1945, these 1,269 firms had a total of 4,275 employes who were paid $4,033,186 in wages.

Grocery Stores Lose

Conservatively estimating Lubbock's growth during the past three years, the total number of firms has probably increased above the 1,500-mark with an estimated 6,000 employes drawing $10,000,000 in annual wages.

Many of these employes in retail, wholesale and manufacturing plants lose during the gas holidays because they are paid on an hourly basis.

Closing of grocery stores in Lubbock alone costs an estimated $50,000 in receipts, wholesalers estimated today. They said grocers averaged about a 10 per cent loss in volume during the week of the recent gas shortage holiday.

Dr. Leonard A. Scheele Named To Surgeon General's Post

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP) — President Truman today chose Dr. Leonard A. Scheele to be Surgeon General of the public health service. He will succeed Dr. Thomas Parran whose term expires April 6.

Scheele is now an assistant Surgeon General and Director of the National Cancer Institute.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross, who announced the choice, said it was "heartily endorsed" by Parran.

Fine Assessed On Check Violation

A fine of $50 and court costs was assessed against W. C. Sellers, 27, a judgement signed by County Judge Walter Davies showed Thursday, after Sellers pleaded guilty of a misdemeanor check law violation. He was returned here from Fort Worth Wednesday to face a felony theft charge, but had not posted bond on the felony charge, according to the sheriff's department.

Officials said the check charge was filed in January. Deputy Sheriff Leonard Lott returned Sellers to Lubbock.

Youth Is Held

Juvenile officials briefly held a 10-year-old boy in connection with his alleged possession of a horse and saddle.

Officials said he claimed to have bought the property, but didn't remember from whom.

Suspicion was aroused, and investigation invited, after the boy allegedly ran the horse into an enclosure at a packing company and told persons there that he had left a saddle behind a grocery store.

John W. Wilson, city-county juvenile counsellor, was directing investigation.

Wilson said the boy explained he had paid another boy $25 "down" and planned to pay additional $25 for the horse and saddle. The saddle itself is worth $100, officials said. The boy said he had sold his bike for $15 and earned $10 more selling newspapers.

The saddle and horse were claimed by the owner Thursday, and the boy was released to his parents, according to authorities.

A 56-year-old Sundown man, H. W. Drinkard, was fined $50 and county court costs upon a plea of guilty of drunk driving, officials said. The arrest was by the state highway patrol.

A 29-year-old man was detained by police upon a request of San Angelo officials, for investigation into an informal theft from the person charge.

Francisco Yanez, 23, a Mexican, pleaded guilty of aggravated assault upon a Lubbock woman and was fined $25 and county court costs. He was charged jointly with Dave Romero, 19, another Mexican, Feb. 4. Romero posted a bond after pleading innocent, and will be tried.

PROGRAM NOW AVAILABLE

Tech Offers New Service For Dairymen, Farmers Of Area

By BILL SAYERS
Avalanche Staff Writer

A recently developed artificial breeding project at the Texas Technological college dairy farm is now ready to supply artificial breeding service from Holstein and Jersey males, N. C. Fine, associate professor of animal husbandry, announced Thursday.

The plan provides for sending an artificial breeding technician to the farms of those who request the service provided that it is located within 25 to 28 miles of Lubbock.

Will Take Requests

Due to a delay in the installation of telephone facilities at the project headquarters, a temporary arrangement with the milk plants of Lubbock, the Lubbock County Agent's office and the Lubbock County Vocational School for Veterans has been made to receive calls from prospective patrons for transmital to the college.

For example, a dairyman selling milk to one of the milk plants should send or phone his request to the plant which buys his milk; veterans enrolled in the Lubbock County Vocational school should leave his request at the school; and others can leave their requests at the county agent's office.

Charge Is Assessed

To secure the service in the first place, the farmer should contact N. C. Fine in the agriculture building at the college or J. L. Walker or W. T. Hayden at the dairy farm, any of whom will make a specific record of directions for reaching his farm.

When the service is desired, the farmer needs only to transmit his request to one of the offices mentioned, stating the number of the cows and the breed. A charge of six dollars will be made at the time of insimination and if the service fails, as many as two additional services will be performed without charge. Results of the program compare favorably with results shown in herds where records of natural service have been kept.

Initial financial assitance in setting up the project was given by the Great National Life Insurance company and by the milk distributors of Lubbock. In addition to providing artificial breeding service to local farmers, the project plan contemplates producing semen for shipment to areas adjacent to Lubbock county. At the present time, however, it is not prepared or equipped to make such shipments, Fine said.

Concerts Reset For Next Week

Lubbock Symphony orchestra concerts with Alec Templeton as guest artist, originally scheduled for last night and tonight, have been re-scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday nights of next week because of the present emergency fuel shortages, Miss Leona Gelin, symphony business manager, announced at noon Thursday.

The programs will be given at Senior High school auditorium. Holders of season tickets and those who had bought individual admission for Thursday are to attend the first concert and those who had bought tickets for tonight's concert will be admitted the next night.

Arrive After Long Drive

Mr. and Mrs. Templeton and Stanley North, business manager, arrived by car shortly after midnight Thursday and slept until noon. North, who described the world-famed pianist as in good spirits and feeling "fine and dandy," said they had been on the road for 15 hours and had covered over 800 miles before they checked in at Hotel Lubbock. They drove here from Phoeniz, Ariz., through sand, snow and high winds.

Cancellation of the programs was a disappointment to North's parents, Rev. and Mrs. Walter H. North of Friona, who arrived Wednesday to visit their son and to attend the concert.

The Templeton party left early Thursday afternoon for El Paso where the pianist will be presented in concert Monday.

Rev. and Mrs. North have returned to Friona, but they plan to come back to Lubbock next week to attend the concerts, they said.

Enrollment At Tech Reaches 5,562 Mark

Spring enrollment at Texas Technological college has reached a record with 5,562 students having paid their fees up to late Thursday afternoon, the office of the registrar has announced.

"Although enrollment usually drops off considerably in the spring, we are losing a minimum of students this year and final enrollment will probably reach 5,600," W. P. Clement, registrar, stated, pointing out that these are not official figures which may be considerably higher.

Of the above total, approximately 2,809 are veterans, according to an estimate by the coordinator of veterans affairs. Records show that 2,863 started the registration process with 54 being dropped so far. Final registration for the fall semester showed 6,114 students enrolled, 2,806 of whom were veterans.

Official figures on the enrollment are being delayed due to the fact that the IBM machines ordered by the college have not arrived as yet and, until they do, the handling of registration material is being done by machines at Lubbock Army Air Field and down town which causes some confusion and slows down the process.

Many Suffer During Cold

A gas shortage does not affect some Lubbock county residents, because they have no gas connections and they depend on kerosene, coal, or kindling gathered where they find it to heat their homes and when weather becomes extremely cold, they go to bed to keep warm.

Welfare workers are acquainted with such cases.

Wounded Vet Aided

For instance, the Red Cross has aided a war veteran who was near a land mine explosion in World war II. Not appearing to be hurt then, he later began to suffer "black-outs," not being able to see, and now is making efforts to establish with the government that the "black-outs" are due to the land mine explosion and to receive a government pension.

He and his wife and three children are living in a small house. During the siege of sub-freezing temperature which was ending about two weeks ago, a Red Cross worker visited the home; found the infant child of the couple to be in an apple box next the small kerosene stove, the father was sick and he and the two other children were in bed. The mother was out trying to thaw a water pipe.

They Live In Tent

One World war I veteran and his family live in a tent near Lubbock, using a coal stove to heat their living quarters. When weather becomes extremely cold, members of his family also go to bed to keep warm.

Then there are transient cotton pickers, who during cotton picking season sometimes live in their trucks, going from one place to another to pick cotton. During cold weather, they sometimes must depend on covering to keep them warm.

Such cases as those are not typical in Lubbock, but they are seen frequently by welfare workers who work with the needy—and who frequently find the needy with little heating facilities in their homes.

CAMPAIGN TO BE PUSHED

Lubbock, Plainview Officers Join In Traffic Safety Drive

The recent appointments by Gov. Beauford H. Jester of Lewis Kittrell, Lubbock chief of police, and Hoyt Curry, Plainview chief of police, to a committee on enforcement of traffic control laws and ordinances is apparently not being taken lightly by the South Plains police chiefs.

That committee, together with committee on laws and ordinances, public support, engineering, public information, and education, will meet with Governor Jester March 19 and 20 in Dallas, to assist in shaping an official action program for traffic control.

"Its effective application throughout Texas will exemplify our democracy at its best in meeting one of our most pressing domestic problems," the governor wrote Chief Kittrell and Chief Curry.

Matter Of Grave Concern

The governor pointed out that the 1947 toll of traffic accidents "is a matter of gravest concern to every Texan"—2,000 dead, 60,000 injured and an $80,000,000 economic loss.

"The decision to check effectively this intolerable drain upon our state's resources rests with you and me—and with every thinking Texasn," he further wrote. "The chief need is for uniform action which will put into effect proven methods for traffic control."

The Lubbock and Plainview police chiefs have returned from Austin and a preliminary meeting of their committee with the governor. At that meeting, some of the recommendations to be presented to him at the March meeting were crystallized.

Since their return, Kittrell and Curry have sounded the opinions of numerous other law enforcement authorities of the South Plains and far West Texas, as well as those of representatives of business and professional groups—hoping to assimilate a cross-section of suggestions that, if adopted, would do the most good to lessen the serious results of traffic mishaps.

General recommendations to the end that "adequate deterrence to violations" be created were made by the committee in the Austin conference. To attain it, it was recommended that state and cities conduct continuing traffic law enforcement programs of the type that will "induce maximum voluntary observance of drivers and pedestrian regulations."

To implement that result, it was suggested that:

1. The courts, prosecutors and police departments should be given adequate personnel, properly selected and trained; modern facilities necessary for efficient operation; and sound administrative organization and direction.
2. All "ticket-fixing" or other political interference must be eliminated from enforcement pro-

Indians Seeking To Block Work On River Project In Oregon

By JACK HAUPTLI
United Press Staff Writer

SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 12 — Yellowed treaties signed with Pacific Northwest Indian tribes 93 years ago may halt construction of the government's new multi-million-dollar McNary Dam across the Columbia River near Umatilla, Ore.

The Nez Perce tribe of North Idaho and the Yakimas of Central Washington already have won the first round of a federal court battle to stop work on the dam.

The Indians asked for an injunction to save the Columbia's rich runs of salmon, the tribes' principal food source since long before the white man discovered the New World.

McNary Dam, the Indians said, would block the migration of salmon to their spawning grounds in the innumerable tribulaties feeding the Columbia. The tribes pointed to the treaties their forefathers made with the federal government at a big powwow in the Walla Walla valley in 1855.

The right of taking fish "at all usual and accustomed places," the treaties read, shall be secured to the Indians and their posterity.

The Nez Perces and Yakimas said if the dam were built, there would be no more salmon, and thus their right to take fish would be meaningless.

U. S. Attorney Harvey Erickson moved that the suit be dismissed on technical grounds that any violations of Indian treaties should rightly be heard in the federal court of claims.

But Federal Judge Sam M. Driver overruled the government motion and ordered the case brought to trial this spring in Yakima, Wash. He said the case should be settled as quickly as possible before extensive work is done on the dam. A private contractor now is building a cofferdam and doing other preliminary work at the dam site.

Government On Spot

The case, first of its kind in American history, puts the government squarely on the spot. Indians are wards of the government. Yet, as Judge Driver pointed out, the government is in the situation of threatening to destroy the rights it holds in trust for its own wards.

Testimony at trial of the case is expected to center around the efficiency of fish ladders, a step-by-step arrangement to enable the salmon to leap from one pool to the next and so by-pass the dams.

Bonneville Dam across the Columbia 40 miles east of Portland, Ore., has a fish ladder which Army engineers hail as a huge success. Government fish counters who tabulate the salmon as they swim by reported record numbers of salmon going upstream last year.

But the Indians—and the great commercial fishery at Astoria, Ore., the mouth of the Columbia—argue the point. They say there is a loss of at least 10 per cent at Bonneville in the adult fish trying to reach their spawning grounds and in the fingerlings swept over the dam or whirled through turbines on their way to the ocean.

Some fish experts believe losses would be accelerated at each successive dam because the salmon would wear themselves out battling up the ladders.

The Army engineers have promised McNary will have a bigger and better fish ladder than at Bonneville. They are expected to introduce testimony by other fish experts that the salmon will surmount the dam.

Most residents of the Pacific Northwest feel their region is destined to become the nation's great hydroelectric powerhouse. There are plans for a great series of dams on the Northwest's fabulous array of rivers. If it works out that the Northwest cannot have both salmon and its dams, the salmon will be the ones to go.

Congress can abrogate the Indian treaties and condemn tribal fishing grounds.

Trip Would Cost Billions Of Dollars

Rocket Trip To Moon Claimed Possible, But Too Expensive

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 (U.P.)—Put your designs for a lunar retreat back in the hope chest. The chances are there won't be any trip to the moon this lifetime.

The authority for the statement is Hugh L. Dryden, director of aeronautical research with the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.

Dryden was one of hundreds of aviation experts from all over the country attending the sixteenth annual meeting of the Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences.

It Can Be Done

Commenting on the chances of man embarking via space ship to the moon during the next half century, the aviation expert said, "I thing that would be rushing things a bit."

He said, however, that scientists are now "positive" they could make the 239,000-mile trip. "But it would take millions of dollars to build a ship that would go to the moon," Dryden said. "Three-fourths of its weight would have to be fuel, unless we discover a much more efficient engine than we have."

He said each step taken in making rocket engines more efficient brings us one move closer to setting off for the moon—with a cheaper engine than is available now.

Cost Too Great

But using the engines of today, it would take hundreds of tons of rocket fuel to propel a small weight—say, 50 pounds—to the moon, the aeronautics specialist said. That would cost someone a few million dollars.

To get an idea of how much it would cost to launch a full-fledged rocket ship with living accomodations, multiply that a few more times and it gets into billions.

"As yet, no one thinks the trip would be worth that kind of money," Dryden said.

Dryden added that he would hesitate to say successful trips to the moon won't be made in, the next hundred years. "Experiments in the last few years show us that the trip is possible," he said.

Tech Blue Cross Chapter Gains 250 Members In Recent Drive

The Blue Cross chapter at Texas Technological college gained 250 new members as result of a membership drive at the college Feb. 4-11, according to those in charge of the drive.

Approximately 450 dependents are covered under the 250 policies sold to students and in addition to these about 15 faculty members bought policies during the drive.

Total enrollment in the group at the college is near the 1,000 mark as a result of the drive but no estimate of the total number of dependents is available.

The group was organized in December, 1946, under sponsorship of the Texas Tech War Veterans association and since that time the plan has saved members $5,821.73, a survey showed.

Sherman Man Killed, Another Injured By Hit-Run Driver

DALLAS, Feb. 12 (AP)—C. T. Elliott, 34, drug store owner at Sherman, was killed instantly and Dr. V. M. Loy, also of Sherman, was seriously injured in a traffic accident on highway 67 three miles east of here early today.

The Dallas county sheriff's office said the pair were struck by a "hit-and-run" driver.

Officers said the two men were returning to Sherman from Fort Worth, where they had watched the state Golden Gloves boxing tournament. The car skidded off the iced highway and the two men got out to attempt to push the vehicle back onto the road.

Officers said one of the pair's hat blew off and, as they stood alongside the road, waiting a break in traffic, they were struck by an automobile. The car continued going, officers said.

Dr. Loy was taken to a Dallas hospital where he was reported in a serious condition, suffering a fractured leg and arm and other injuries.

The body of the Sherman druggist was taken to a funeral home in Garland.

Air Force Gives Up Hope For 20 Persons On Missing Plane

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—The Army and the Air Force officially gave up hope today for the 15 passengers and five crewmen of an American military transport plane missing in Europe. They were declared legally dead.

The transport disappeared on a flight between Pisa, Italy, and Frankfurt, Germany, Nov. 28. Formal notices of death have been sent to next of kin of all who were aboard.

Air Force spokesmen said today the transport presumably went down somewhere in the Alps, but no trace of wreckage has been found.

No Method Available At Present For Use In Combatting Storms

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, Feb. 12 — Dr. Herbert Riehl, who recently returned from a study of typhoons in the Pacific, offers these conclusions:

Nothing now in the bag of scientific tricks — including the seeding of dry ice in storm clouds —a can stop them.

Long range forecasting may be developed to the point where men would know when they would be most likely to strike.

Cause Of Storms Given

Dr. Riehl says disturbances at altitudes of 30,000 feet or more in the northern Pacific tend to extend to the earth's surface. The storm at high levels has a downward effect and the tropical air underneath begins to rotate. That helps to start a typhoon.

"Storms in the north are associated with storms that begin farther south," he says. "If we knew when storms are most likely to occur in the north, we would be able to determine when typhoons would be most likely to develop in the tropics."

The same sort of pattern prevails in the Atlantic.

Need All Information

"Formation of these storms is largely controlled by weather conditions in distant places," he says. "To make forecasts for the low latitudes you have to know conditions outside the area — Iceland, Greenland, and Newfoundland in the Atlantic, and the Gulf of Alaska, the Aleutian Islands, Japan and China in the Pacific. Data from the southern hemisphere would be helpful, too."

In his investigation of the possibility of long range forecasting, he is assembling weather records as far back as 1900. He hopes to work out a system for predicting several weeks in advance the periods when storms are most likely or least likely to occur.

Dr. Riehl, professor of meteorology at the University of Chicago, headed a group of scientists in a project sponsored by the office of naval research. The party was based on Guam and made flights over the surrounding seas in fair and foul weather. Previously he studied hurricanes in the Puerto Rico region.

"Most hurricanes are smaller than typhoons," he reports. "Typhoons often stretch as far as the distance between Chicago and New Orleans. Seeding clouds with dry ice would not dissipate a typhoon."

A fully charged battery will not freeze.

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Texas In Strategic Position To Promote Mexican Good Will

AUSTIN, Feb. 12 (AP)—Texas, because of its nearness to Mexico, is in a strategic position to promote international understanding in behalf of children, a child welfare expert said today.

The speaker was Miss Katherine Lenroot, chief of the United States children's bureau, U. S. Federal Security administration. She addressed the opening session of the annual meeting of the Texas Committee for Children and Youth.

"Advantages and opportunities made available for children of Mexican birth or parentage to the end that they may not have less opportunities than other children is a very real test of our good faith to our Mexican neighbors and of American citizens of Spanish or Mexican descent," Miss Lenroot said, in a speech prepared for delivery.

She viewed the work of the Texas committee as a medium through which the people of Texas can review the needs of their children and advance the cause of child welfare "in their own state, their homes, communities, and throughout the nation."

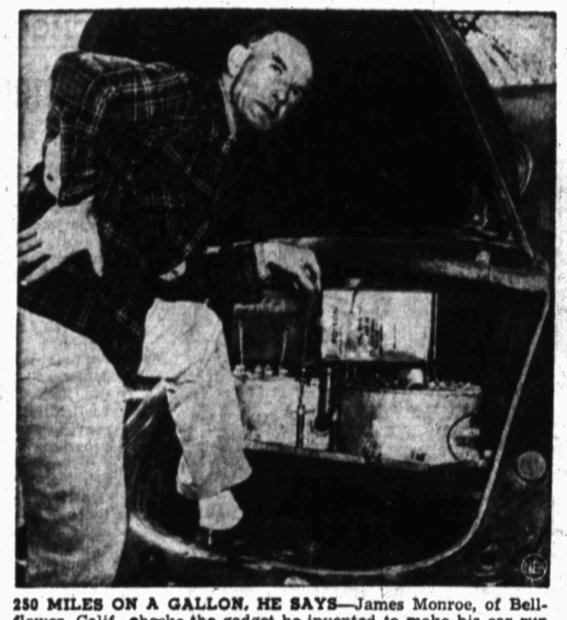

Reporting on the work of the national commission on children and youth, Miss Lenroot stressed the significance of a 1950 White House conference on children and youth. A committee began making plans last year for the conference.

Further planning will be carried on by the commission's executive committee, working with federal agencies and other national organizations, Miss Lenroot said.

"A mid-century conference will have to deal with some hard facts as well as to evaluate gains made," she said, and then asked:

"How far can we go in the next four or five years in extending opportunities to all children, without discrimination because of race, national origin, or creed?

"Only if we progress steadily toward this goal will we be living out the principles of democracy, human rights and human freedom, which we cherish and wish to see preserved and extended throughout the world."

250 MILES ON A GALLON, HE SAYS—James Monroe, of Bellflower, Calif., checks the gadget he invented to make his car run 250 miles on a gallon of gas and a gallon of water. Soon he says he'll be able to do without gasoline and just use water. Principle of Monroe's invention is the conversion of water into its hydrogen and oxygen components. These mixed with gasoline vapor, become a highly explosive product which is fed into the carburetor. Monroe hopes to perfect the device before it blows him and his car sky-high.

Lamb Feeding Day At Tech Cancelled Due To Weather

The lamb feeding day at Texas Technological college, scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 14, at which time the farmers and ranchers of this area had been invited to the college to observe the lamb feeding project being carried on there has been cancelled, W. L. Stangel, dean of agriculture announced Thursday.

The day would have marked the conclusion of the lamb feeding project which is for the purpose of determining the relative values of Plainsman milo and Martin milo for fattening lambs, finding the value of shelter during the fattening period and determining the value of allowing fattening lambs to harvest Plainsman milo.

Due to the inclement weather, the project has been held up considerably and because of this and the poor traveling conditions it was decided to cancel plans for the lamb feeding day, Dean Stangel said.

Greek Army Parades Guerrilla Captives Through Shelled Town

SALONIKA, Feb. 12 (U.P.)—The Greek army returned triumphant today with 121 captured guerrillas who shelled Salonika Tuesday, and in a carnival-like spectacle paraded them before howling Salonikans who jabbed them with sharp sticks and pelted them with unsavory missiles.

About half of this war-swollen city's population of 480,000 turned out and waited for hours for the Greek northern army's "victory parade" of captives who lobbed mortar shells into the heart of the city two days ago.

The hooting, jeering natives loved it. Along the line of march they jabbed the sullen, bearded, weary captives with sticks and showered them with stale eggs.

Two Turkish Spitfires Shot Down By Bulgarian Gunners

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Feb. 12 (AP)—A foreign office spokesman said today Bulgarian anti-aircraft guns shot down two Turkish Spitfire planes over Bulgaria Monday.

"I regret to inform you it is true," the spokesman said.

He said he knew of no official word from Sofia.

An army spokesman said a sergeant drowned when his plane fell into the sea. A lieutenant was arrested after being slightly injured in a forced landing.

INTERSTATE GAS:

Control Is Needed

ALTHOUGH most Americans have had all they want of government regimentations, relatively few will be in sympathy with efforts of the natural gas interests operating interstate to free themselves entirely of federal controls.

In urging approval of pending legislation which would provide such freedom, gas companies argue that competition among various gas companies would protect the public from exorbitant prices. This type of argument is not convincing. There is doubt, first of all, as to whether ostensibly competing companies actually are competitors. The suspicion is strong that the same hands behind the scenes pull the strings for all. And, if they were genuine competitors, price agreements would be easy to arrange and almost impossible to prove as violations of anti-trust laws.

Most people concede readily that any type of regulation is objectionable. It is regrettable that any of it should be necessary. But the necessity for control is apparent in some cases, and natural gas piped from state-to-state appears to be one of them. There should be some protection against excessive prices and the big companies cannot be trusted to provide it.

This Day Of Prayer

DURING every minute of the 24 hours of this Friday, Feb. 13, Christian congregations will be assembled in various parts of the world to beseech Divine guidance in coping with the trials of mankind.

They will be participants in the observance of the annual World Day of Prayer, sponsored internationally by the United Council of Church Women and in Lubbock by the Church Women's Federation.

First observed on a global basis in 1927, the Day of Prayer has drawn increasing participation from year to year. Today more than 13,000 special services will be held in all climes and among all Christian people. The sun will not set upon prayer today.

In Lubbock, the interdenominational service will be held in St. Paul's Episcopal church, 2407 Sixteenth street, from 10 to 11 o'clock this morning. Everyone has a cordial invitation to attend.

The service offers both a challenge and an opportunity to everyone who believes in the power of prayer. It is an occasion to be commended to the reverent attention of everyone in Lubbock who can attend.

The "World Almanac"

FOR the 63rd consecutive year, a great American institution long recognized as the top question answerer of them all is available. It is the 1948 edition of the World Almanac and Book of Facts, published by the New York World-Telegram of the Scripps-Howard newspaper chain.

As usual, the 912 pages of the volume are jam-packed with facts of almost every conceivable kind. Regardless of the nature of the information that anyone may want, the chances are good it will be found somewhere in the World Almanac.

In newspaper offices, as in a great many other places, the Almanac is one of the indispensables. It supplies the answers to more questions probably than does any other one source. In years past it invariably has been one of the busiest volumes on The Avalanche-Journal bookshelves, and the 1948 edition is sure to see equally strenuous duty.

Murder At My House

By Rene Ryerson Mart
Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

(THE STORY: Jimmy Peters is at the scene of the accident. He appears ill. Art Cleves, who was with Avis, has also been killed. I take Jimmy back to my house, fix coffee for him, phone Jeff who comes right over. The doorbell rings. It's the police.)

XIV

IT was just routine with the police that night. They had learned from Avis' maid that she and Art had spent the evening at my place and, as a matter-of-course, they were checking on their last movements. One of the officers began to ask me questions.

Jeff stepped forward. "I'll handle this," he said to me.

But the police had a different idea. "If you don't mind, we'll ask her the questions," the officer who seemed to be in charge said.

So I gave them a resume of the evening ending with: "Miss Vaughn and Mr. Cleves left here together, right after—I mean soon after Mr. Haverson and Mr. Leyden drove away."

The policemen caught my slip. "You were going to say they left right away. What made you change your mind?"

After all there was no reason to hide it. "I was just trying to be accurate. They left the house immediately after Mr. Haverson and Mr. Leyden and I thought they drove away. But later—maybe ten minutes or fifteen, I really don't know for I wasn't paying any attention to the time—I heard their car start. I was standing at the window," I pointed to the big window at the end of the room. "I looked down, then, and saw them drive away."

"What were they doing all that time?"

"I'm sure I don't know."

One of the newspaper men snickered. He gave a shrewd glance at the glasses sitting around on the tables. "You had a lot to drink here this evening, didn't you?"

"We had some highballs—probably three apiece."

He whistled impudently and I got mad. "I'm sorry to disappoint you, if you're trying to make this out a Hollywood drinking orgy. You see, we were working. There had been a change made in the casting of the picture Miss Vaughn was going to star in, and Mr. Leyden and I had to do a little rewriting on the script. We had to have her approval on it and Mr. Haverson's. That's why we all met here."

"Nice work—if you can get it," the reporter commented.

JEFF'S face turned red. "Cut out the smart stuff—Miss Donn told you the truth. She drank as much as anyone here, and she isn't drunk, is she?"

The policeman—the big one—intervened. "Take it easy now—take it easy, everybody. We just want the facts—they might explain what happened. You see, Mr. Cleves didn't go over that canyon wall in an ordinary, accidental way. . . . He drove over it with the accelerator of his car pushed to the floor. It's still stuck there. Now, it doesn't seem likely that a man who was sober would start down that steep hell, knowing that sharp curve was there, with his throttle wide open, does it?"

"He wouldn't," Jeff said hoarsely. "Drunk or sober, Art wouldn't have driven down that hill out there that way. It's too steep. The accelerator probably got stuck when they plunged into the canyon."

"No, Jeff," I cut in. "I talked to a woman who was in a car coming up the hill and who saw them go over. She said Art was driving like mad. . . . I couldn't understand it, either." I turned to the policeman. I said emphatically and angrily with some hazy idea that I had to defend the honor of a man who was dead and couldn't speak for himself—although earlier it wouldn't have occurred to me that poor Art had much honor to defend—"I'm sure Mr. Cleves wasn't drunk. You see, we had coffee just a short time before they left. We all drank some—except Avis. Art drank two cups. He was perfectly sober when he said good night to me."

"SOMETHING could have gone wrong with his car, you know," Jeff said belligerently.

The big policeman ran a thoughtful hand up along the bristling, grayish whiskers on his stubborn jaw. "It could have been something like that," he admitted.

That ended it. The police and the reporters left after getting my name, the details of the picture that had been the cause of our conference that night and a list of everyone who had been there.

Jeff left, too, with a pathetic remark about having to make the funeral arrangements—for Avis.

I felt terribly sorry for Jeff in that moment. He looked absolutely sunk. I don't suppose it was the fact that Avis was dead that shocked him, but rather the ugly horror of that way of dying.

Jimmy shoved off at the same time as Jeff, and I was left alone. I didn't want to be left alone. I remembered the night before and the horror that had haunted me. Surely tonight would be worse. Wrecked cars and bloody bodies were already spinning like pinwheels before my eyes.

There was nothing to drink in the bar, I knew. I had already looked there for something for Jimmy. In desperation I went down to the kitchen and rummaged until I found a half filled bottle of Bourbon. I had never been actually drunk in my life. I had never been under the table. But I wanted to be that night. I wanted to be so far under that I'd never remember a thing that had happened.

I poured a water glass nearly full of the ancient betrayer of the virtue of women and the ambition of men. And drank it straight.

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

WHO is wise?

What will tomorrow bring?

Can all the knowledge, all the education, all the culture of the world foretell what is in store?

This is being written on the Overland Limited, on the way from San Francisco to Chicago.

The train is going about sixty miles an hour.

There is air conditioning, a club car, two diners, porters, waiters, a barber—and you can even have your pants pressed while you sleep.

BRANDEIS

Last night we had a luscious steak on the train and all the other trimmings of a luxurious meal.

Parallel with our track runs a smooth concrete highway—I think it is the Lincoln Highway.

Streamlined automobiles race along the road, and overhead there is an airplane that is even faster than our train and the automobiles.

But—

This is what Daniel Webster said in the United States Senate in the 1850's when the first transcontinental railroad was proposed.

Daniel Webster, as you know, was one of the wise men of his day.

This is what he said!

"What do we want of that vast and worthless area—that region of savages and wild beasts, of deserts, of shifting sands, of whirling winds, of dust, of cactus, of prairie dogs? To what use could we ever put those endless mountain ranges? What could we do with the Western coast of three thousand miles, rockbound, cheerless and uninviting?

"Thank God that the great stony mountains would ever be an impenetrable barrier between the East and California!"

Yes, Daniel Webster was a wise man, indeed.

Just as hundreds of wise men tell us today that there is no more opportunity.

Just as hundreds of wise men seem to tell us to be resigned to our fate and make the best of what our forefathers have done and that the age of pioneering, of enterprise and of courage is over.

I WISH you could have been with me out in California and listened to the dreams some of the young men I met are dreaming.

One of them, a plumber and heating contractor, pointed at the hills through which we were driving.

"See those houses up there, those hundreds of houses?" he said.

"Five years ago those hills were covered with mesquite and madrone and shrub oaks. Today homes—each with lumber and plumbing and heating. Each one with furniture and rugs, and people living in them.

Look at those bare hills over there. In another ten years there will be houses on them too and thousands of people will be living in them.

"What a chance! What an opportunity! And, by golly I am going to get in on it."

Let me tell you something.

There are no barriers to the enterprise of men.

There are no vast and worthless areas any more.

Science, courage, enterprise and industry are good for hundreds of years more and opportunities are greater than ever.

Wake up—and live!

Crime Programs Hit

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The leading lawyers of the United States have filed a serious and solemn protest with the White House, the Department of Justice and the Treasury against officially sponsored radio programs and magazine stories which promote rather than deter crime.

Principal protestant against federal officials' glorification of crime and criminals has been the American Bar Association.

TUCKER

Their principal target is J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Mr. Hoover, who craves headlines, has two programs on the air weekly.

They acclaim F. B. I. achievements and captures, usually accomplished through the aid of local or state police. How this particular crook was caught is told in detail.

SCHOOLS: Mr. Hoover's radio revelations and magazine articles tend to tip off present and prospective criminals on how they can break or evade the law, the barristers believe.

In the words of an American Bar Association report on criminal law, the radio programs sponsored by the Department of Justice are nothing less than "schools for crime."

Attorney General Tom Clark, however, has rebuffed all attempts to prevent the Department of Justice from becoming a "school for criminals."

He encourages any D. of J. publicity that will get his name in the headlines, even if J. Edgar's radio programs tend to defeat his anti-criminal objective..

THEORY: General "Ike" Eisenhower is quite upset and disgusted with the belief of certain newspaper and political pundits that, despite his refusal to run for the presidency in 1948, he might be an available candidate for the G.O.P. in 1952.

Several newspaper writers at Washington, who have never covered or written or understood practical politics, have advanced this theory.

They figure that General Eisenhower, after four years as head of Columbia University, will be an academician and a civilian rather than a military man. Therefore, he would be a logical candidate for the presidential nomination in 1952.

What the Eisenhower boosters forget is that some other Republican—Messrs. Vandenberg, Dewey or Taft—may capture the White House next fall, without any political aid from General Eisenhower.

In 1952, assuming that the G.O.P. wins in 1948, General Eisenhower will have no claim for G.O.P. political preferment.

In other words, "Ike" will exert no more influence on America than John J. Pershing did after World War I.

ANTI-SEGREGATION: President Truman and his political advisors scoff at Southern threats of political revolt because of the Administration's sponsorship of an anti-segregation program.

In this historical, economic and political controversy, Mr. Truman has aligned himself, to hold the Negro vote in the great cities, with the so-called liberals and radicals whom Henry Wallace hopes to corral.

Despite President Truman's attitude on this question, which is resented by Minority Leader Sam Rayburn in the House and Minority Leader Alben W. Barkley in the Senate, he expects to carry the Southern states with their 100-odd electoral votes.

The White House figures that the South will understand that Mr. Truman must have the colored vote in Northern cities, and, to get it, he must make promises which the South will resent.

REDUCTION: Good news for the taxpayers: The House has passed a tax reduction measure which President Truman will veto. It is doubtful if the Senate would override a presidential veto of the House measure, which digs rather deeply into the Federal treasury. The big news is this: House leaders, to save their faces, had to pass the Knutson measure, providing for a $6,500,000,000 reduction. But, off the record, they have informed Senate Republican bosses that they will subscribe to the Senate cut of approximately $4,000,000,000.

TRADE: "Why did the United States agree to the devaluation of the French franc?" queries T.K. of Macon, Ga. "I understand that it will enable France to undersell us here and in other markets, thus hurting our domestic and foreign trade."

Answer: Treasury officials do not think that this revision in the value of French money will damage us as much as some people believe. We did not object or protest because in these matters we prefer to act through our director on the International Monetary Fund. That body did voice its opposition, albeit only mildly.

LUXURY: The reason why Washington does not anticipate heavy commercial losses is that Parisian exports offer only slight competition with our products. Unlike England's in normal times, they are mainly luxury goods.

Political and diplomatic factors also account for our acquiescence. Unless France can achieve economic recovery, this key nation may fall under the control of the Communists or De Gaulle Rightists. Either alternative would be both dangerous and distasteful in Washington's opinion.

ARMY: "I have read," writes J.M.B. of Del Rey, Cal., "that the Russians have formed an army of several hundred thousand former German soldiers who are commanded by their own German officers. Is that true, and have we made a protest?"

Answer: It is true, as I wrote some time ago. They are commanded by Field Marshal Friedrich von Paulus, who was captured before the end of the war, and preferred to remain in Moscow. He is supposed to head a well-trained and well-equipped, first-to-fight force of 200,000. We have made no protest.

VOTE: "How large has the Communist vote been in recent elections?" asks J.R. of Brooklyn.

Answer: It was 80,159 in 1936 and 46,251 in 1940. They had no ticket in 1944, most of them voting, presumably, with the American Labor Party.

States showing the largest "Commie" strength in the 1936 Roosevelt-Landon contest were as follows: New York, 35,609; California, 10,877; Pennsylvania, 4,060; Michigan, 3,394; Massachusetts, 2,930; Minnesota, 2,574; New Jersey, 1,639; Connecticut, 1,193; Ohio, 5,251 Wisconsin, 2,197; Washington, 1,907.

With high prices, the middle-class salaried man is in the middle of a bad fix.

Believe It Or Not-By Robert Ripley

GOP CANDIDATE INDIGNANT

Taft's Criticism Of Press Hit

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

ON TOUR WITH SENATOR Taft—Senator Taft invited this.

In a speech at Chicago to the Inland Daily Press Ass'n. on his present midwestern tour, the Ohio senator and candidate for the Republican presidential nomination delivered a critique of the press. It was not inordinately severe, it is true; not perhaps without some foundation, either, and certainly not as sweeping as some frequently pronounced by Franklin D. Roosevelt.

STOKES

It was by way of introduction to a defense of his own profession, the politicians who, as he sees it, seem to be special and particular game for the newspapers. It may be significant of some new Republican "party line." For it is noted that Speaker of the House Joe Martin (R-Mass.) also has been busy in recent speeches smelling out a "plot" to discredit Congress — now under Republican management — in which he includes some unnamed persons in both press and radio.

Is somebody getting sensitive, or what's coming off?

But, back to Senator Taft, and back at Senator Taft.

Taft Gives His Ideas

In his remarks, he said:

"Newspapermen are natural-born skeptics, and they are probably a little more skeptical about politicians than anybody else, so I am glad of this opportunity of defending those who are concerned with the conduct of our national government." (This last, as the context showed, meant only Republicans in charge of Congress and clearly not President Truman in charge of the executive branch, since Mr. Taft himself showed no mercy for the President.)

Having known far more newspapermen than Senator Taft, and known them at much closer range, it is perhaps permitted for this newspaperman to say that newspapermen are not "natural born" anything, any more than other people. More of them are perhaps natural-born idealists and "softies" than anything else. They do achieve a cynicism and skepticism as a sort of protective shell and display it in their private conversation, so that it is a stock attribute in books and plays.

But what skepticism they acquire, in the senator's sense, is from intimate contact with the people who govern, including politicians, whether it be in city, state or nation. Perhaps they see the ruling caste in government, business and finance too closely.

They are skeptical because they see injustice and not too much done about it; because they see poverty and ignorance and too little done about that, or because they see, as some of us did a few years back, a great depression and quite a time getting anything done about that. Or, as today, because they see how big special interests are moving in on the Republican Congress and getting what they want to the detriment of the rest of us, and little is done about that.

In his critique, the senator said that "facts are usually well reported, but newspapers today are almost as much concerned with opinion and prophecy as they are with news; and in that field there is much room for bias and prejudice which affects the facts itself." In other words, some newspapers and some newspapermen feel strongly about some things. Well, later the senator said of himself:

"I have tried to analyze my own political philosophy, the beliefs which lead me to vote as I do, to frame and support legislative policies, to feel an intense indignation when certain other policies are advocated."

Wouldn't it be all right, then, for newspapers and newspapermen to "feel an intense indignation," too, the same as a senator? And later discussing his favorite topic—the New Deal—the senator said, "With that philosophy I violently disagree." Isn't it all right, then, for others to disagree with the senator, not too "violently," of course?

And, as for facts, some of the things that the senator stated as "facts," about which he was right violent are not exactly as some of us remember them. So maybe a senator, too, can have just a mite of bias. In his speech at Bloomington, Ill., the senator said htat during the New Deal there were invited into every bureau, "the braintrusters, the crackpots, the theorists, and even the Communists." That doesn't seem exactly the fact, nor exactly fair to so many able and sincere people who gave unsparingly of their time and energy when the country was in a mess.

Perhaps something is explained in the senator's statement:

"I do not find that the press presents a very reliable picture of the character of individual men."

Maybe we all ought to look in the mirror more often.

Soviet Arguments Over Cause Of War Claimed Not Based On Facts

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Russia, trying to explain away the prewar deals she made with Adolf Hitler, is resorting to a lot of argument and mightily little documentation.

The story she tells is an old one. She tries to infer that France and England made what amounted to a non-aggression pact with Germany by permitting the rapes of Austria and Czechoslovakia.

Won't Admit Situation

Just as the American case is weakened by failure to take cognizance of the European situation which backgrounded Russia's actions, so do the Russians fail to admit that the actions of France and Britain were the results of helplessness.

But the Russians can't show that the western powers were bought off with little presents like Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, Bessarabia, half of Poland, the right to aggress against Turkey and Iran without German interference, etc.

They can't document their argument that France and Britain were egging Germany on against Russia. Certainly, if Hitler was going to make war, the western powers preferred to have him do so in the East. But there's a lot of difference between that and actual encouragement. As a matter of fact, constant concessions were being made with the idea that almost anything was better than war. Czechoslovakia was sacrificed for that reason, Britain's belated pact with Poland was an effort to frighten Hitler out of his war plans. Britain certainly didn't say "O. K., if you must steal Poland, we'll take half for not opposing you." They said, "we'll fight you."

There was some justification for the wrong acts committed by both sides, but Russia approached the problem in an entirely unmoral atmosphere. She was willing to see Germany fight in the west, especially if it produced booty for her. There is not the slightest evidence that France and Britain would ever have made any deal with the knowledge that it would immediately unleash Hitler on any front.

The whole argument is, of course, academic. It can't help anybody except the war-guilt-dodging Germans. Everybody missed the boat in dealing with the double-crossing Hitler.

But the big question today is less concerned with who started World War II than who is likely to start World War III. The preliminary situation is much the same. Russia, like Germany, is reaching out for control of areas on which she has not moral claim and which it is feared she will mobilize for aggressive warfare. The home base of the war of nerves has shifted from Rome and Berlin to Moscow. The fifth columns are far more widespread and better organized than ten years ago. If the cold war turns to hot there will be no slightest question of whom to blame.

WARNING

Seminole Postmaster Applies For City Delivery Service

SEMINOLE, Feb. 12 (Special)—Mrs. Jewell F. Cobb, Seminole's enterprising postmaster, has filed an application for city mail delivery with postal authorities at Washington, D. C.

Basic requirements of having streets marked and block numbers indicated have already been met and Seminole students are now prepared to meet additional requirements of numbering houses.

Establishment of city delivery will alleviate the demand for post-office boxes which are not now available to new applicants, Mrs. Cobb said.

More than 1,000 wildcats were caught by licensed California trappers last year, according to state figures.

New York Indians Appreciate Historian, Repay Him In Kind

KITTANNING, Pa., Feb. 12 (U.P.)—Descendants of Indians about whom the historian C. Hale Sipe wrote are repaying him in kind—prose.

Mohawk Indians of the St. Regis Reservation, New York, have dedicated a book, soon to be published to the South Buffalo Township farmer-historian.

In the dedication of the book, which deals with history and legends of the original Five Nations, the Mohawks cite Sipe for his "fair treatment of both sides" in chronicling the Indian wars.

Former Governor Of Indiana Digs Deep For Contributions

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 12 (U.P.)—When you put the former governor of Indiana, Henry F. Schricker, in charge of raising funds for a good cause, you know he is going to canvass all available sources of income.

Among the thousands of letters he signed asking for contributions to the March of Dimes was one addressed to himself. He received the letter while addressing a committee meeting. He delayed proceedings long enough to write a check, which he mailed to himself.

Volcanic Island Off Alaska Changes Form Many Times

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Feb. 12 (U.P.)—Bogoslov Island consists of three volcanic cones and is one of the mystery islands in the Bering Sea, 25 miles north of the Aleutians.

It is of volcanic formation and since its first eruptive appearance in 1796 it has disappeared, reappeared and changed physiographically many times. Its most recent eruption was in 1910.

Sea lions and birds have returned to the island at every reappearance.

On the "ounce of prevention" theory, here's a simple method to "de-lump" gravies. For the flour-water paste to thicken gravy, put flour into a small jar of luke-warm water. Cover the jar and shake once or twice. You'll find a smooth creamy mixture with nary a lump. Add gradually to the boiling gravy, stirring constantly. Season, serve . . . then listen to the "'h-m-mm's!"

MEADOLAKE MARGARINE is easier to color if you dissolve the contents of the color packet in a teaspoon of warm water in the bowl. Add the softened margarine and mix. You'll find the color MORE evenly distributed and LESS MEADOLAKE sticks to the bowl.

SAVING STUNT: Serve a hot vegetable in the bowl you used for coloring MEADOLAKE to enjoy every last molecule of food value and delicious flavor.

APPLE ROLLS
(Like Grandma used to make)
*2 cups Biscuit Mix
Milk (about 3/4 cup)
1 cup thick applesauce
1/2 cup MEADOLAKE Margarine
2 cups sugar 1 cup water
1 teaspoon vanilla

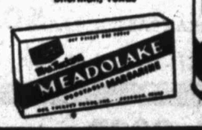

Boil sugar and water together 5 minutes. Add vanilla. Add milk to Biscuit Mix to make a soft dough. Roll into a rectangle about 7 x 10 inches and spread with applesauce. Roll as a jelly roll then cut crosswise into 6 slices. Melt MEADOLAKE MARGARINE in a 9x9x2" pan. Place slices, cut side down, in pan and pour boiling syrup over all. Place at once in a hot oven (450 degrees) and bake 30 minutes or until done. Serve with plain or whipped cream or hot with hard sauce.

Program To Improve Observance Of Traffic Laws Is Announced

AUSTIN, Feb. 12. (AP) — Gov. Beauford H. Jester's committee on traffic laws and ordinances developed a nine-point program yesterday for improvement of traffic safety in Texas.

Emphasis was placed on uniformity of municipal, state and national traffic codes.

The nine-point program:

1. That municiple ordinances and administrative regulations respecting motor vehicles and their use be reviewed and brought into conformity with the model traffic ordinance and with essential provisions of the uniform traffic code of Texas.

Uniform Laws Asked

2. That the state of Texas publish a summary of its vehicle laws and publish separately in lay language, with illustrations, the substance of its rules of the road.

3. That uniformity in administration, interepretation and enforcement of uniform traffic laws and ordinances is of the utmost importance.

4. That uniformity in traffic conformity with the uniform traffic code of Texas be attained by cooperative action of local, state and federal street and highway authorities.

Conferences Urged

5. That the Texas legislature authorize a committee to determine the extent to which motor vehicles laws comply with the national uniform vehicle code and to recommend necessary revisions.

6. That the governors of neighboring states join in calling regional conferences of legislators and uniformity of traffic laws.

7. That the committee emphasize the need to raise standards of justice in justice of the peace courts.

8. That legislative action be taken to bring authority of general law cities into conformity with the enforcement authority uniform traffic code.

9. That safety financial responsibility laws be enacted.

Medical Society Will Honor Pennsylvania Centenarians

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 12 (U.P.)—The Pennsylvania Medical Society 100 years old this year, will mark its centennial celebration by honoring Pennsylvanians who have reached or passed the 100-year mark.

The society has found more than 40 centenarians thus far.

Among them will be Mrs. Rosalia Boguslowski, 107, of Kittanning, Pa., who came to the Commonwealth from Germany in 1907 to begin a new life at 66.

CITY SLICKER—Combining her 1948 hair-do with a skyscraping topper, Mary Lou Gaylor acquires a definite New Look in Detroit, Mich., where she was elected "Miss Detroit" at the North American Beauty and Fashion Show. The fancy lid was designed from Detroit's Penobscot Building.

Boy Scout Troop 5 Honors Scoutmaster With Supper

W. A. (Mose) Hood, scoutmaster of Troop 5, was honored with a pot luck supper Wednesday night at First Christian church by scouts of the troop and their parents, the supper being part of the observance here of national Boy Scout week.

About 87 parents and Scouts attended. Arrangements were in charge of Francis Bearden, assistant scoutmaster of the troop.

As a mark of appreciation of his work with the boys, Hood was presented a bronze Boy Scout trophy on which his name and troop number were engraved, and also received a copy of a booklet containing the 21-year history of the troop. Information in the book was compiled by the assistant scoutmaster and troop mothers. Mrs. Hood was presented a dozen red roses.

The program included a short talk on the who, what and when of troop history, by Mrs. Frank Ford, and a humorous skit with music by a "quintet quartet" consisting of Jimmy Murray, Lowell Caddell, Cecil Caddell, and John Morrissett. Mrs. Lois Elliott, a troop mother, was accompanist.

Arabs Said To Have Delayed Attack On Palestine Jews

DAMASCUS, Syria, Feb. 12. (AP) Sources close to the Arab volunteer army command said today the "d-day" for the Arab fight against Palestine's Jews, reported set for Feb, 15, has been postponed.

"Political and diplomatic developments in Cairo and other world capitals" caused the postponement, the informants said.

Young Jews joined Damascus police today in patrolling the Jewish quarters of the city after the Jewish alliance school was slightly damaged by a bomb. Community leaders said all Jewish women would remain in their homes after 7 p. m. daily.

East Texas Officers Indicted On Charges Of Illegal Assault

TYLER, Tex., Feb. 12. (AP)—Five East Texas peace officers were indicted today by a federal grand jury on charges of illegal assault on two persons and conspiracy to deprive them of rights under the 14th amendment.

The officers were Sheriff John D. Conditt of Angelina county; Arville P. Bookshire, Lufkin policeman; Sheriff Dean L. Holiman, Henderson county; Lloyd Shelton, Henderson county deputy, and Grady Crawford, Gregg county deputy.

All were notified by telephone to appear in federal court Monday for arrainment.

Conditt and Brookshire were billed on two counts—conspiracy to deprive Clarence Morrison of constitutional rights, and illegally assaulting Morrison's person. The second count allegedly deprived him of liberty without due process of law.

Holiman, Shelton and Crawford were charged with conspiring to injure, oppress, threaten and intimidate Lacy Turner and to deprive him of his liberties. They allegedly transported him from the Athens county jail to a point two miles north of Athens where Turner was beaten and whipped.

The charges were filed by the FBI.

TO PRESENT DEGREES

GALVESTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—Dr. T. S. Painter, president of the University of Texas, will award degrees tomorrow to graduates of the University of Texas medical branch in commencement exercises in the marine ballroom of Galveston's pleasure pier. Dr. C. O. Terrell, Fort Worth; James Rockwell, Houston, and O. Swanson, university regents, are expected to attend.

World's Most Expensive Stamp Is Scrap Of Paper To Thief

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 12. (U.P.)—The world's most expensive stamp, worth $50,000, was just a scrap of paper today to a thief who faces almost certain capture if he tries to collect its price.

The single stamp--a one penny British Guiana magenta — was stolen from collector Otto Krumbach with the rest of his $225,000 collection.

The retired contractor, who had collected stamps since boyhood, was cataloguing them in his hotel room Jan. 29 when someone hit him on the head and robbed him.

The stamp formerly belonged to Arthur Hinds, Utica, N. Y., who sold it several years ago for $50,000.

Police had kept secret the fact that the British Guiana stamp was in the loot. They hoped to trap the thief when he offered it to a dealer.

So far, they said, apparently still has the stamps, and no money.

Wounded Spearman Youth Taken To Hospital Behind Snow Plow

SPEARMAN, Tex., Feb. 12 (U.P.)—The weather did all sorts of things yesterday to keep 16-year-old Harold Latham from getting to a hospital after he had accidentally shot himself in the leg with a .22 caliber rifle.

The only doctor in Spearman was in bed with influenza and unable to administer treatment.

The town's only ambulance driver was in Amarillo.

Snow on the road was too deep to drive to another town.

But a snow plow was obtained, and it ran all the way to Perryton, a distance of 25 miles, ahead of an automobile which carried young Latham.

Still, driving was hazardous. A wrecker followed the car, just in case.

Finally the youth arrived at the Perryton hospital, where he was admitted for treatment.

Hearing On Abilene-Lubbock Bus Service Is Postponed

Postponement of a hearing on the application of John Reed, doing business as Trans-Western coaches, for a certificate of convenience and necessity was announced Thursday after Horace Soule of Austin, an examiner of the state railroad commission, had heard Reed in Lubbock hotel and objections had been filed by other witnesses.

The hearing probably will be held sometime in March.

Reed seeks permission to establish direct bus service between Abilene and Lubbock.

A hearing scheduled for Feb. 19 in Abilene also was postponed, because of weather conditions and difficulty in getting interested witnesses to appear at the hearing here.

DISAGREEMENTS ARE BARED

FDR Recognized Soviets Over Garner Protest, Writer Says

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP) — The late President Roosevelt recognized Soviet Russia over the opposition of his first and second term vice president, John N. Garner.

This was reported today in Collier's by Bascom N. Timmons, Washington correspondent and friend of Garner. Timmons has written a series of articles, with Garner's approval, on the latter's relations with Roosevelt.

Opposed Red Agitators

When Russia was recognized in November, 1933, Garner told Timmons:

"If we have acquiesced in the comintern and given it opportunity to work unhampered in this country, we may be inviting trouble. This outfit wants to pull down our government . . . In time of a depression such as this, when millions of people are out of work, it looks like a poor time to invite in organized and disciplined agitators."

Events of future years did not change Garner's attitude, Timmons said. Just after Poland was invaded, Garner said to Roosevelt: "You haven't much choice, Cap'n. Either Hitler or Stalin will conquer the world. Hitler by force, and Stalin by chicanery, corruption, treachery and undermining."

During the Roosevelt first term, Garner and Roosevelt also disagreed over other things. Roosevelt was opposed to federal guarantee to bank deposits. Garner was for it. Roosevelt urged Garner not to appoint "enemies" on congressional conference and special committees. Garner stuck to his guns by appointing senators he thought had "ability and equipment for the job."

Timmons reported that Garner ridiculed both Henry A. Wallace and Henry Morgenthau, Jr., as cabinet members. He thought Wallace "had crazy ideas" and Morgenthau "had no ideas at all."

Garner and Harold L. Ickes also were "not exactly buddies."

"We don't seem to hit it off," Garner was quoted respecting the former interior secretary.

Garner did not like the term "New Deal." It was "exasperating" to him when "office holders, some of the political castoffs from other parties, began to refer to the 'New Deal' party. Men in high administration posts for the first time began to say they were New Dealers, not Democrats.

"These New Dealers admitted no Democratic party loyalty, regarded themselves merely as coalitionists with the Democrats."

Defendant's Hair Turns White, But Definitely Not From Worry

VINCENNES, Ind., Feb. 12 (U.P.) —Spectators attending the murder trial of Lawrence Johnson noted that his hair began to turn white. He was jailed two months earlier on a charge of shooting a prisoner.

It was reported that worry over the trial had caused the former Oakland City, Ind., night marshal's hair to turn white. But a few weeks after the case got under way the defendant's attorney offered an explanation.

Johnson hadn't been able to obtain any dye for his hair while he was confined in jail.

Mrs. Ford Appointed To Red Cross Post

Appointment of Mrs. Vernice Ford as chairman of home service of the Lubbock county chapter of the Red Cross has been announced by W. C. O'Mara, chapter chairman.

Mrs. O. T. Williams has served the last two years in that office and recently resigned.

The chapter chairman said Mrs. Ford is especially well qualified for chairmanship of the committee because of her affiliation with the chapter several years, during which she served over two years as home service secretary. Previous to that, she had been a case worker in home service as well as bookkeeper and cashier for the chapter. She has attended training courses and at one time taught a class of case workers.

Since she resigned as home service secretary, she has been a volunteer case worker at the local Red Cross office.

As chairman of the home service committee, she will decide policies and procedures along with members of her committee on cases involving home situations of servicemen, veterans and in many instances of civilians and transients. In 1947, the case load of such cases totaled 2,956, the Red Cross office announced.

Traffic Safety

cesses.

Specific measures for bringing about effective, impartial and continuing traffic law enforcement include the following, which are recommended for uniform adoption throughout the state:

Special training of personnel for traffic duties, and establishment and execution of uniform enforcement policies that:

Avoid excessively liberal tolerances; make proper use of warnings and admonitions; secure prompt correction of vehicle safety equipment defects; extend leniency to non-residents only on non-hazardous violations of purely local regulations; give no special privileges to any groups or individuals; provide selective enforcement of pedestrian regulations; include the investigation of accidents by specially trained and equipped units, and the prosecution by the police of violators involved in accidents when the evidence warrants; put enforcement on selective basis, in acordance with the urgency of need as disclosed by current factual analysis of accident and traffic records; issue an amount of supervision and enforcement action that is at all times adequate for maximum violation deterrence, but avoid "arrest quotas," sporadic campaigns, and concentration on "easy" arrests for non-hazardous violations.

As to prosecutors recommendations were that specially qualified prosecutors should be in all courts handling traffic cases; and that sound methods and procedures, vigilantly followed, will be necessary to assure proper case presented and to prevent improper disposition or "fixing" of cases.

As to the courts, here are the recommendations:

Qualified judges to handle traffic cases in special traffic court sessions; efficient administration and proper court facilities; impartial disposition of all cases according to established judicial procedure; increased use of drivers' license revocations and suspensions as penalties through procedures established by state law; general adoption by jurisdictions of the improvements in traffic court administration recommended by the National Committee on Traffic Law Enforcement, and groups of the American Bar association.

The committee also recommended that the collection and analysis of traffic accident reports be put on an effective basis throughout the state and that full use be made of these records in guiding highway safety activities.

One-Armed Veteran Masters Tricky Linotype Operation

MONTEREY, Calif., Feb. 12 (U.P.) —a linotype operator who lost his left forearm in the battle for Brest in 1944 has mastered the tricky typesetting machine with one hand and now is working for his former commanding officer in the Army.

Marvin F. Roberts served in the 13th Infantry Regiment, Eighth Division, under Col. Allen Griffin, who was on leave as publisher of the Monterey Peninsula Herald.

On his discharge, Roberts returned to Topeka, Kan., where he had finished a six-year apprenticeship in the composing room of the Capital 10 days before he entered the Army. Because of his disability he was put on the copy desk, a job that didn't suit him.

Roberts practiced on the linotype after hours with his one hand until he had gained enough proficiency to go back to his old profession in Chicago. Then Griffin hired him for the Peninsula Herald.

New Source Of Artificial Light May Change Industry

BUDAPEST, Feb. 12 (U.P.)—Prof. Zoltan Bay, Hungary's leading atomic scientist, has invented a new source of artificial light, called the carborundum lamp.

Carborundum is a combination of silicon and carbon. It is produced by sending a powerful electric current through a mixture of coke and sand. If passed through transparent carbonundum crystals, electric current is directly converted into a vivid white light. There is no need to make the crystal glowing hot nor to keep them in a vacuum. An electric current of 20 volts suffices to operate the new lamps.

Prof. Bay thinks that his invention may revolutionize the electrical lighting industry. It is pointed out, however, that there is yet considerable engineering work to be done before the invention can be applied for general lighting service.

It has been estimated that peoples of the world drank 300 billion cups of tea in 1939.

Salvaging Of Naval Supplies Is Huge Saving To Taxpayers

By MURRAY M. MOLER
United Press Staff Writer

CLEARFIELD, Utah, Feb. 12—A virtual assembly line has been set up in one of the big warehouses at the Clearfield naval supply depot for preservation and packaging of scarce naval supplies.

The primary objective of the assembly line is to get supplies to the far-flung naval operation units as needed in perfect shape, or to preserve war-built items for future use if and when needed. Officers said the preservation program alone saves taxpayers millions of dollars a year.

Not all the boxes filling the outgoing end of the warehouse are labeled for American use. Some have tags showing they are bound for Turkey as part of the United States program of furnishing material aid to friendly states in the Near East.

The boxes made at Clearfield for storage or shipment range in size from a "vest pocket" edition to huge crates holding big lathes worth thousands of dollars—lathes that can't be readily duplicated or replaced.

Come From All Over

They come to Clearfield from de-activated naval units, afloat and ashore, all over the world but particularly in the Pacific area. Regardless of where the supplies come from or where they are going, the officers in charge are particularly proud of the way they are handled.

If a workman lies down on the job or becomes careless, he gets into trouble fast with Naval Lieut. Robert Von Christierson, in charge of the program, or A. W. Wightman, civilian foreman packer in charge.

Von Christierson used to ride a destroyer out in the Pacific. So he knows how important it is to have supplies in readily-usable shape. He is particularly careful—almost fanatic, he admits—about having proper labels on everything.

How does the program work? Well, take that gun barrel over there—a barrel for a .50 caliber machine gun.

Jelly Causes Trouble

After it came from the factory, it was encased—for war-time use—in old-fashioned "casmoline," a hard, sticky petroleum jelly.

That preservative caused considerably trouble during the war because it was hard to get off quickly and also picked up dirt.

So the gun barrel came to Clearfield.

Metallurgists looked it over. So did expert packers and preservers. They decided that the old covering could best be removed through dipping it in an acid bath.

Then the barrel is dipped in a black solution that sticks on all the metal surfaces and keeps them clean and oiled and protected from dirt and the elements.

However, it can be removed quickly with any handy solvent or even water.

Down The Line

Next the barrel goes down the line to the wrappers. It is covered with waterproof paper at least once and labeled, inside and out. From the wrappers, it goes, with four other barrels—into a box fabricated at the depot's "pre-fab" box plant. Then it is taken to a storage warehouse.

Big machines can't be coated with preservative. But their vital parts are. Then they are loosely wrapped and fully crated.

Some supplies, such as engine pistons, are dipped in a quick-setting plastic that comes off like a zippered jacket. Intricate machines, such as motors and radios, that can't be dipped or coated, are fitted with special paper, foil and sometimes wax wrappings, then boxed.

A new development of which Von Christierson and Wightman are particularly proud is a canner. It places items such as spark plugs in ordinary "No. 10" cans and seals them up—just like fruit. The cans are good for 20 years, they estimate.

Steers Exhibited By Tech At Stock Show Bring High Price

Eight steers exhibited by Texas Technological college at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show brought an unofficial record price of from 43 to 45 cents per pound which brought an average of $484.69 for each steer, W. L. Stangel, dean of agriculture announced Thursday.

Of the 12 steers entered in the show eight were sold at the auction Feb. 6 and the other four were returned to the college for further feeding. Six of those sold were Aberdeen Angus and two were Herefords. The average weight of all the steers was 1,095 pounds.

"The price received for these steers is the highest ever paid for show steers at the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show," Dean Stangel stated.

Quiet House Cat Goes Into Stove By Owner's Mistake

KOKOMO, Ind., Feb. 12 (U.P.)—Tabby, a quiet house cat, was the victim of a cold weather accident.

She curled up in a coal bucket near the stove and went to sleep. Next morning, her owner awoke and sleepily tended the fire.

He picked up the coal bucket and heaved the contents into the stove, Tabby included. The cat died before her frantic master saw his mistake and pulled her out.

Pepper Shortage May Continue This Year

BATAVIA, Feb. 12 (U.P.)—The fabulous pepper trade of the Dutch East Indies presents a gloomy picture to a peppy-hungry world.

Few Dutch economic experts expect Indonesia to reach her prewar level of 32,000 tons before 1951.

Before the Japanese "eight day conquest" of the Indies, Indonesia supplied 89 per cent of the world demand for pepper.

The estimated crop for 1948 is unknown. Nobody will hazard a guess. No figures exist on the total acreage of land now growing pepper.

Pepper is no longer produced in the "spice islands" of olden days, the Moluccas and Ceram—now incorporated into the state of East Indonesia.

It Takes Time

New bushes take three years to cultivate before they bear the precious spice. No large-scale pepper planting has yet taken place.

The source of pepper being exported from the Indies today is old stockpiles. Little of the stockpile pepper ever reaches the big American dollar market. Old pepper cannot pass rigid United States food control laws.

Old, stockpiled pepper is generally directed to European tables, where no food inspection laws for pepper exist.

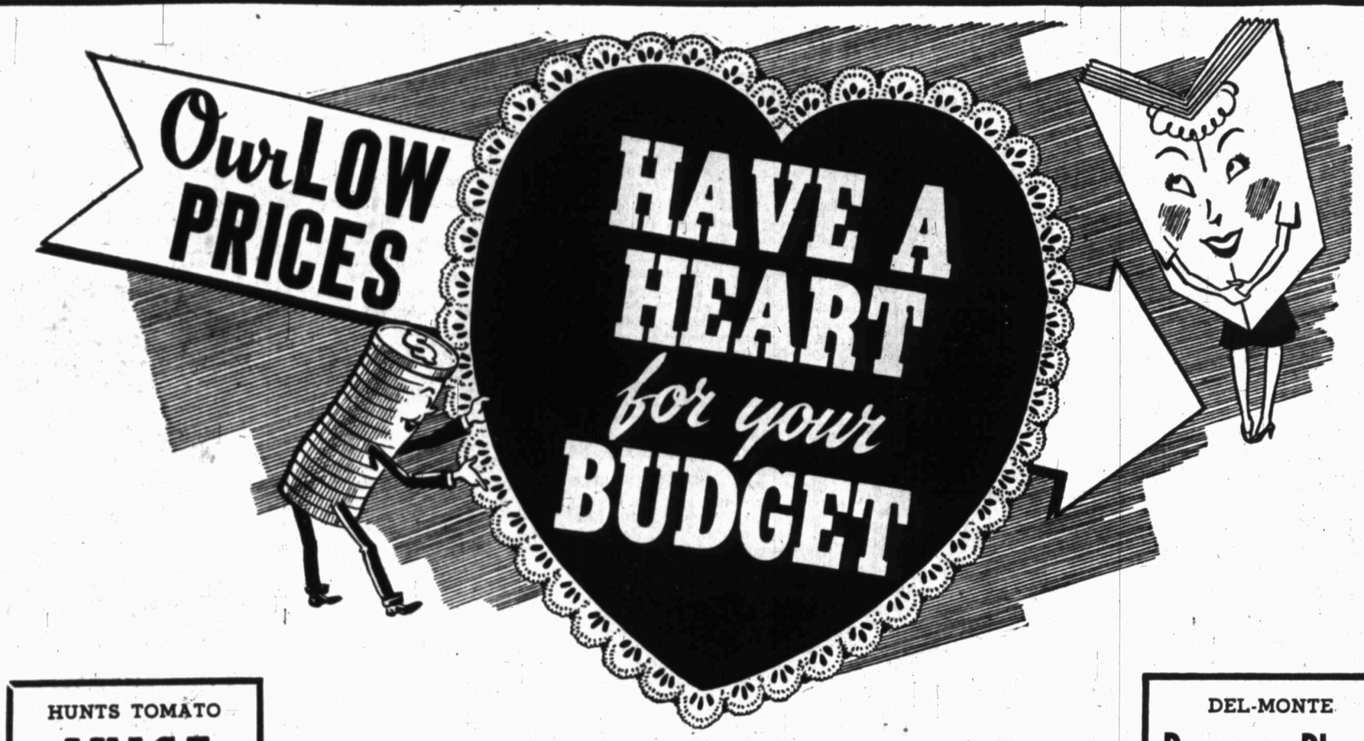

Dutch economic experts said the deteriorated pepper cannot be reconditioned for the American market, "as much as we like United States dollars."

Fraternities Drop 'Hell Week' As Too Rugged For Everyone

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Feb. 12 (U.P.)—Students who plan to enroll at Indiana University and pledge to a fraternity don't have to worry about "Hell Week" any longer.

University officials said fraternities had agreed to drop all "rough features" from initiations in the future. Among the banned activities were road trips, scavenger hunts and trips to sorority houses or women's dormitories "except for the express purpose of social affairs."

The agreement was reached after one fraternity was suspended by university officials when nine pledges were arrested for breaking into local stores to obtain proscribed "Hell Week" materials.

Plan To Settle Disputes In Building Industry Ratified

DALLAS, Feb. 12 (U.P.)—A plan for a national joint board to settle jurisdictional disputes in the construction industry was ratified today by Associated General Contractors of America.

The plan, ratified by seven national organizations of specialty contractors in Washington Tuesday, was outlined before the AGC 29th annual convention here yesterday by Richard J. Gray.

The final step to be taken before the board is established was ratification by the building and construction trades department of the American Federation of Labor, of which Gray is president.

That action was expected March 8. Gray said he had "every expectation" that approval would be granted.

Minimum Trouble Expected

The convention's ratification of the proposal came less than 24 hours after Robert H. Denham, general counsel for the National Labor Relations board, had threatened government intervention in the industry if it was unable to iron out its own jurisdictional problems.

Denham charged that such disputes in the past had slowed up vital construction work and asked that industry officials and representatives of building unions work out some joint procedure for settlement of disputes without strikes.

Gray, in endorsing the plan before the convention, said that it may not bring "complete elimination of jurisdictional strife," but that he was confident it would reduce jurisdictional disputes to a "negligible minimum."

He pointed out that it would be the first "fully comprehensive" charter for self-government, dealing with a specific problem of industrial relations, in any major basic industry.

The plan itself would establish a national joint board to be composed of an impartial chairman and two employer and two labor members.

A dispute which cannot be settled by agreement of the parties involved within 10 days would be settled by the board, whose decision would be accepted as final.

Representatives of management and labor said facilities of the board would be made available to all employers of AFL labor within the construction industry in connection with jurisdictional disputes which cannot be settled locally within the allotted time.

F. W. Parrott of Sioux City, Iowa, president of the AGC, praised the plan, saying it would be of tremendous benefit in settling disputes and avoiding "long and costly jurisdictional strikes."

Denham said that "all organizations who have participated in drafting this plan should be commended." He described it as advantageous to both management and labor in the construction industry.

Ratification of the plan by the general contractors climaxed several months of negotiation between representatives of employers and unions.

Its adoption was recommended to the convention by the contractors' labor relations committee of which Carl B. Jansen of Pittsburgh, Pa., is president.

Tech Student From China Says It Is Too Cold For Him

It's too cold for me."

So said Joe Ma, Chinese student attending Texas Technological college, regarding Thursday's weather.

"You see we live in southern China where it never gets below 40 degrees in the winter time and about 90 to 95 degrees in the summer," he said.

Young Ma and his wife are both from the same area and have to get acclimated here, he said. "Maybe I'll get used to it, I hope," he said.

Two Men Wounded In Shooting At New Mexico Mining Town

BAYARD, N. M., Feb. 12 (U.P.)—Robert Buck, 26, was critically wounded and a companion, Quentin Hulse, 25, seriously injured in a shooting affray at a bar early today in the mining town of Bayard.

Both men are in the Fort Bayard hospital, while officers said they were holding Ben Martinez, 45, bar operator.

According to Deputy Sheriff John Turney, an altercation precipitated the shooting. One bullet from a pistol allegedly fired by Martinez wounded both men, Deputy Turney said. The bullet went through Hulse's shoulder and pierced Buck's chest, he said.

Kiwanis Club Nets $3,082 On Show

Net profit to the Kiwanis club from the six-day showing of the McMillan African hunt pictures totaled $3,082.50, the club was told at its luncheon Thursday at Hotel Lubbock.

The report was made by Marion Sanford, project treasurer, who said that 6,576 tickets, including 1,939 children at the two matinee performances, were sold. Program was in charge of Dinty Moore, chairman of the club's committee. He introduced other committee members, including W. G. McMillan, who commented on various phases of the show. They included W. C. O'Mara and Dale Buckner.

Club President L. E. (Jack) Davis called on Durwood Bradley to read several letters from school principals expressing on behalf of children their appreciation for the generosity of a "good Kiwanian" who bought 259 tickets for distribution among underprivileged children who, they said, could not have seen the film otherwise. Davis did not name the "good Kiwanian," citing his promise his identity would not be divulged.

Davis announced that Brig. Gen. Roger M. Ramey, commander of the U. S. Eigth Air force, who could not reach here last week or this week due to bad weather, had advised him he is standing by, and hopes to be here for the club's luncheon next week. Invocation was by Dr. M. Norvel Young.

County Court Jury Hearing Is Postponed Until Monday

County Judge Walter Davies asked yesterday that a county court jury that was to have reported at 9:30 a. m. Thursday report at the same hour Monday instead, to hear evidence in the condemnation action of the State of Texas against Jack Brown.

The move was made for two reasons: To cut down use of gas required to heat the courtroom, and to obviate necessity of jurors' travel, some of them over long distances, to court, Judge Davies said.

Property involved in the suit is an improved tract on Ave. A, which the city requires in construction of a traffic dispersal system of streets and highways.

Prisoners Foiled In Attempt To Escape Jail At Galveston

GALVESTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—Two prisoners, one armed with a knife he made out of a steel bed rail, led an unsuccessful attempt to break from the Galveston county jail last night, Sheriff Frank L. Biaggne said here today.

One of the men succeeded in grabbing the jailer's key ring after reaching through and banging his head against the bars. Another prisoner meanwhile attempted to reach the dazed jailer with a seven-inch improvised knife, the sheriff said.

The jailer, breaking loose from his captor, ran to the office and called both city and county officers. The prisoners had not succeeded in opening the door when officers arrived.

The sheriff identified the men who engineered the attempted jail break as George Huffman, a parolee from the state prison at Huntsville serving time after being convicted of aggravated assault, and Bernace (Bill) Franklin, held for Fort Worth officers.
