Franklin Pruitt of the Western Texas College faculty has been watching reports on evacuation activities in Saigon, South Vietnam, with more than ordinary interest. He has a brother, Ray Pruitt, who has been there for some time. A Civil Service worker, he went to Vietnam following the withdrawal of American troops as civilian workers took over work that had been performed in Saigon by the military.

Ray Pruitt has visited in Snyder a number of times over the years. His brother here said he was confident that the Civil Service workers would be evacuated before they are endangered by the fighting—that is endangered to any greater degree than they have been for the past few months. But the situation is enough to keep relatives on the alert.

That first summer-type day finally got here Thursday when the thermometer went into the nineties. It didn't mean that there wouldn't be any more cold fronts, but at least they are not likely to be so frosty as they were a couple or three weeks ago.

And get braced for fall while summer is trying to make its approach. In case you have forgotten, the first football game of the 1975 season will be played on June 21 at Lubbock and that is exactly two months from tomorrow. A sports fans has to be on the run to keep up with all of the activities these days. In the professional ranks right now there is baseball, basketball and ice hockey going on in league play, and of course the professional golf, tennis and track events are held weekly. And with all of this, even with last season's disaster still fresh in the memory of all, the World Football League says it will try again this year.

Stanley Noah, who says he can't remember when he began eating eggs for breakfast, calculates that he has consumed at least 36,500 of them at the morning meal alone. That's two eggs per breakfast for 50 years, in case you were getting ready to put the pencil to it.

If everybody ate that many eggs for breakfast and then you added those consumed for other meals, plus those used in preparing other dishes, the world probably would need a solid carpet of chickens to supply the market.—WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

Today is Sunday, April 20, the 110th day of 1975. There are 255 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

In 1775, the seige of Boston began in the American Revolution. American provincial forces closed in on the city and kept it under siege for nearly one year.

On this date-

In 1657, Jews in New Amsterdam were granted equal rights and priviliges of citizens.

In 1662, Connecticut was granted a royal charter extending to the Pacific Ocean.

In 1861, Col, Robert E. Lee resigned his commission in the U.S. Army to join the Confederate cause in the Civil War.

In 1889, Adolf Hitler was born in Austria.

In 1934, Shirley Temple was launched on her career as a child star as the film, "Stand Up and Cheer" was released.

In 1945, in World War II, Soviet forces penetrated the defenses of Berlin, and the U.S. 7th Army captured the German city of Nuernberg.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson conferred in Washington with Italy's Premier Aldo Moro. and the premier sat in on a meeting of the U.S. Cabinet.

Five years ago: President Nixon announced the withdrawal of 150,000 American military personnel from South Vietnam.

One year ago: Israel and Syria engaged in their first air battle since the cease-fire in the October War.

PROCLAMATION SIGNED—County Judge Preston Wilson signs a proclamation designating April 21-26 as "History Appreciation Week" in Scurry County. Present for the signing were Brud Boren, standing left, chairman of the Scurry County Historical Survey Committee, and Mickey Schmidt, director of the Scurry County Museum.

History Appreciation Week Proclaimed Here

Scurry County's ninth annual History Appreciation Week has been proclaimed April 21-26 by County Judge Preston Wilson, Brud Boren, chairman of the Scurry County Historical Survey Committee, has announced.

Ernest Sears and Mickey Schmidt have been named chairmen of the Appreciation Week Sears is president of the Scurry County Museum Association and Schmidt is museum director, and both are members of the Historical Survey Committee.

Highlights of the week will include a regional meeting of the Texas Historical Commission on Wednesday and the dedication of a historical marker noting the production of the billionth barrel of oil in Scurry County on Thursday.

On Tuesday, a historical movie entitled "Ballooning Over LBJ Country" will be shown at the weekly Lions Club luncheon meeting. Local residents are invited to visit the Scurry County Museum on the Western Texas campus throughout the week to see the western art of W.H.D. Koerner on display there along with other exhibits.

Representatives from the Texas Historical Commission (THC) will present the program for the Regional meeting to be held in the museum on Wednesday. It is open to the public and all persons interested in Texas heritage are invited to attend.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. and activities will continue until about 4 p.m. Speakers will include Mrs. Deolece Parmelee, THC Director of Research, Mrs. Cindy Sherrell, THC Director of Museum Services, and Bob Watson, THC Director of Programs.

The new historical marker, fifty-first for the county, will be placed at the oil well where the token billionth barrel of oil was produced in October, 1973, during a week-long Billionth Barrel celebration. The site is about five miles north of the courthouse square on the Lubbock highway.

The county judge's proclamation follows:

WHEREAS, the County of Scurry has observed History Appreciation Week continuously since 1967; and

WHEREAS, Scurry County has become a well-known center for the preservation of its heritage and have honored those who have contributed so much in the past; and

WHEREAS, we are beginning the Bicentennial period and the County of Scurry is preparing to celebrate the Centennial of its creation and a Museum dedicated to the conservation and preservation of our history has been established and in as much as the W. H. D. Koerner exhibit of western art is on display at the Scurry County Museum and the Historical Marker of the Billionth Barrel of Oil will be dedicated and the District Historical Survey Committees are to meet at Western Texas College;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, County Judge, Preston Wilson, do by these presents declare and designate the week of April 21 through 26, 1975, History appreciation week for Scurry county, which shall follow the theme of Preserving our Western Heritage.

Snyder High Play Going To Austin

Snyder High School's Drama Department will take its one-act play to Austin again this year, after resuming a string of regional triumphs in University Interscholastic League competition.

The Snyder High play, "The Tempest," by William. Shakespeare, won top honors Friday night in the regional contest at Odessa, along with Muleshoe High School's entry. Two plays now go to the state contest from each UIL region.

Also, several members of the Snyder High cast were singled out for honors, topped by the best actress ward, which went to Junanne Brock, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ben Brock. Dane Witherspoon and Greg Kane were named to the all-star regional cast, while Susan Sears, Kim Massingill and Patrick Martin received honorable mention.

John Dean of Muleshoe was named best actor.

The triumph in the regional contest means that SHS Director Jerry Worsham will have an entry in the state finals at Austin for the fourth try in a row in Class AAA competition. Snyder High plays directed by Worsham won state championships in 1970 and 1971 and went to the finals in 1972. In 1973 and 1974, Snyder High was in Class 4A competition.

Muleshoe's play, which also will be presented in the state finals at Austin was "The Generation Gap."

The Sweetwater play, the other entry in regional competition from District 3-3A, was named alternate.

Protestors Mar Rites At Concord

CONCORD, Mass. (AP) — President Ford, standing where Minutemen faced Redcoats 200 years ago, said today, "It is a time to place the hand of healing on the heart of America."

Soon after he voiced these words to thousands of chilled onlookers on both banks of the swift-flowing Concord River, anti-establishment demonstrators tried to ford a tributary and get closer to the speaker's platform.

They were chased, clubbed and arrested by uniformed police.

Only a half-dozen or so youthful adherents of the People's Bicentennial Commission, which seeks an overthrow of business power, were involved.

At no time did any of the demonstrators get closer than 100 yards from where Ford was speaking.

Speaking at a ceremony marking the bicentennial of the first battle of the American Revolution, Ford said:

"Now is a time for reconciliation, not recrimination. It is a time of reconstruction, not rancor."

The President spoke from a platform set up where British troops made a futile stand against New England patriots who fired on them from across a "rude bridge that arched the flood."

A wooden reconstruction of the bridge, lined with local residents in Minuteman costumes, was behind them.

And beside the chief executive was the British ambassador to the United States, Sir Peter Ramsbotham.

The program for the simple ceremony featured the playing of the British as well as the American anthem.

Mixed Drink Taxes Paid

AUSTIN—State Comptroller Bob Bullock issued $2.3 million Friday to 293 cities and 184 counties for the local share of mixed drink taxes collected during the first three months of this year.

Scurry County received $915.83 and the City of Snyder received $774.35 in mixed drink tax remittances, the comptroller's report shows. Counties and cities are remitted 15 per cent each of the mixed drink taxes paid within their respective boundaries. Total Scurry County tax revenue from this source was $6,105.51 and total City of Snyder revenue from mixed drink taxes was $5,162.31. Seventy per cent of these revenues go to the state's general fund. The tax is a 10 per cent gross receipts tax collected by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission on mixed drinks sold in private clubs and in areas where mixed drinks are legal in public establishments.

Heads Roll In Phnom Penh

By The Associated Press

The Khmer Rouge said today that most of the top leaders of the fallen Cambodian government have been beheaded, and Cambodian refugees reaching Thailand said the rebels executed 43 government soldiers after taking control of a provincial town.

The broadcast by the Khmer Rouge, who captured Phnom Penh on Thursday, gave no names of those beheaded and did not say when they were slain.

Col. Horl Tone, who had been governor of Pailin, 220 miles northwest of Phnom Penh, said the 43 soldiers were killed Friday after he complied with radio orders from the Khmer Rouge to hoist white flags.

"When the Khmer Rouge came they beat up my troops and shot people who resisted. They ordered my soldiers to wear their uniforms, then shot 43 men," he told Associated Press reporter Visetsak Sanguanpong at Ban Pong Nam Ron in Thailand.

Among those reported killed was army Capt. Lon Vera, younger brother of former Cambodian President Lon Nol.

After the execution more than 1,000 persons including 300 troops fled the five miles from Pailin to the Thai border, where they were disarmed and given permission to stay seven days in Thailand, reports said. Other refugees were also reported arriving in Thailand, where authorities were trying to close the border.

The Khmer Rouge broadcast also gave the first reports of continued fighting inside Cambodia. There has been virtually no contact between Phnom Penh and the ouside world since the Communist-led troops took over.

Reliable sources in Bangkok said the Cambodian port city of Kompong Som, 140 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, was still holding out.

Battambang, Cambodia's second largest city, surrendered Thursday night, they said.

In South Vietnam, there was shelling and fighting on three sides of Saigon as a Senate committee approved $100 million to evacuate the 4,000 remaining Americans.

A reporter on the 220-mile border between Thailand and Cambodia said he saw white flags flying over the town of Poipet.

He said Thai border officials told him Khmer Rouge troops entered the town Thursday night. Refugees were streaming toward the border in the Cambodian province of Odder Mean Chey. Thailand has ordered troops not to allow any refuges to cross the border.

The Khmer Rouge, believed to be broadcasting from Kratie, 110 miles northeast of Phnom Penh, warned all "officers, soldiers and village volunteers who still fight alongside the band of Lon Nol traitors to lay down their arms and join the liberation forces immediately ... otherwise your heads will roll."

In Peking, Prince Sihanouk, the figurehead leader of the Cambodian insurgents, asked Premier Chou En-Lai to continue China's role as "prime supporter" of the Khmer Rouge government, Kyodo news agency reported.

The Viet Cong delegation in Saigon said that their side was prepared "to create conditions and to guarantee" the withdrawal of Americans.

U. S. Ships Heading West

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three U.S. aircraft carriers have put to sea in the Western Pacific, the Defense Department said today, but their destination was not disclosed.

The government, however, has been considering the use of carriers for evacuations in Vietnam, if necessary.

The Midway and Okinawa sailed out of Subic Bay in the Philippines and the Hancock from Singapore. Two other carriers, the Enterprise and the Coral Sea, are also in the Western Pacific.

U.S. officials acknowledged, meanwhile, that little more than 3,000 Americans remain in beleaguered Saigon and other government-held territories of Vietnam. This represents a reduction of more than 500 over the last two days. President Ford has ordered the evacuation of all "non-essential" personnel, and many have left by plane.

Decision Due Tuesday On County School Office

Scurry County voters will decide Tuesday whether they want to abolish the office of County School Superintendent. Balloting on that issue will take place simultaneously with an election to decide the fate of two proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution.

There will be two proposals in the special county election. The first one will decide whether the office of County School Superintendent shall be abolished. The second will determine whether the office of ex-officio superintendent and the county school board also shall be abolished. The second proposal, of course, hinges on the decision on the first proposal.

State law provides that if the county superintendent's office is abolished, the duties of that office go automatically to the county judge who shall serve as ex-officio superintendent. The ex-officio superintendent may receive a salary up to $2,600 per year in addition to his regular salary. Also, the county school board would continue to function.

The second proposal here would eliminate the ex-officio superintendent and the county board as well as the county superintendent's office, with all duties associated with administering public schools in the county falling to the superintendents of the independent school districts. There are no common (non-independent) school districts in Scurry County.

So, Scurry County voters may elect to keep the county school superintendent's office as it is; they may vote to abolish the county superintendent's office and leave its functions to an ex-officio superintendent (the county judge) with the county school board continuing as it is; or they may abolish the county superintendent's office and the ex-officio superintendent's office along with the county school board.

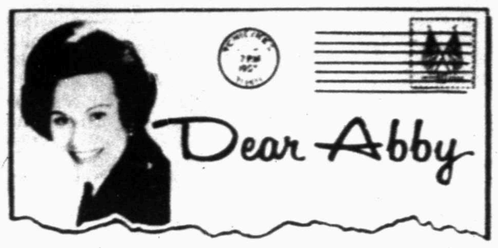

Roy Carter, who was elected county school superintendent here in the 1974 elections, made the race on a platform that pledged to work for abolition of the office. The ultimate decision, however, is left to county voters.

One of the proposed amendments to the state constitution would revise and consolidate provisions for retirement systems for public employes and allow the state to contribute up to 10 per cent of an employe's salary to his retirement fund.

The other amendment would increase the salary of state legislators from $400 per month to $600 per month, increase their per diem allowance during legislative sessions from $12 to $30 and set their travel allowance the same as for all state employes.

LEGISLATOR VISITS—Public school personnel and others were on hand to greet Rep. Mike Ezzell here saturday morning at a reception hosted by the Scurry County Unit of the Texas State Teachers Association. Ezzell discussed pending school legislation now being considered at Austin and the Constitutional Amendment coming up for a vote Tuesday on revising regulations concerning retirement systems for public employes. Pictured, from left, are Ray Simmons, Superintendent of Hermleigh Schools; James Chapman, Superintendent of Fluvanna Schools; Rep Ezzell, and Mrs. M.L. Galloway, Snyder teacher and president of the Scurry County TSTA.

Daughter's Dilemma: Freeloading Parents

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My parents used to fight about money all the time, and now I can see the same thing happening in my own marriage.

We both work, but my husband expects me to pay the bills with my paycheck, while he gambles and plays the big shot with his. He treats his friends and lets the bills go, then borrows and gets deeper into debt all the time. Right now we are over our heads so bad I can't see how we will ever get out.

For the first time in our marriage, I think the only answer is for me to divorce him. The kids and I would be better off without him, and we wouldn't have this constant fighting about money.

Whoever said, "money is the root of all evil," was sure right. It has got to be the number one reason why marriages break up. Right?

BITTER HALF

DEAR BITTER: Wrong. Money is not the root of all evil—it's the lust for money that's the root of all evil. When marriages fail, it's easy to blame money, but it's not necessarily the cause. Where there is genuine mutual love, money is not high on the list of priorities. Some of the "richest" people I know don't have much money. And many millionaires are very poor indeed.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old, newly-married girl with a problem I can't handle.

When my parents come for an evening's visit, they never seem to know when it's time to go home. My husband has to get up at 5:45 AM, and I get up to prepare his breakfast, so we like to go to bed before midnight. But how can we with my folks sitting here?

Our hints about how "tired" we are and how early we have to get up seem to fall on deaf ears. We can't just turn off the lights and leave them sitting here, can we?

While I'm complaining, I might add that even though I always serve refreshments, my father and mother both raid the refrigerator and pantry later and think nothing of looking in all my drawers. They bring my little brother over (he's 2-years-old) and let him do whatever he pleases. Last week he emptied a quart of oil on our brand new carpet.

Can a daughter tell her parents how to act?

NAMELESS PLEASE

DEAR NAMELESS: She shouldn't have to. But in your case, I'd make an exception. Tell them respectfully when they arrive what your bedtime is. And make it stick. Also, keep your eye on your little brother, since no one else seems to. And lotsa luck, Honey. You need it.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this to help all of us overseas without benefit of APO:

"Dear Friends, Associates, etc." who write to us through the international mail-box: We love getting your letters, and I know that you love to get them as soon as possible, but the U.S. Postal System will not send a letter airmail unless it has an airmail stamp. Even if there is an airmail stamp of sufficient postage, it goes surface mail, which takes from two to six months.

Please use AIRMAIL envelopes whenever possible, use an AIRMAIL sticker, or write "AIRMAIL" on the face of the envelope.

Also, I'd like you to know that I've had important mail (such as checks, bills and Christmas cards) arriving in May. Despite paying just enough postage for airmail on the envelope, the postal system doesn't recognize good intentions.

Don't bother writing to complain about this for four years. Please.

DEN, THE PHILIPPINES

DEAR D—: A spokesman for the U.S. Post Office Department says that they always send air mail overseas if it has the correct postage on it, even if "AIRMAIL" is not indicated on the envelope. However the mail handlers in some foreign countries may not understand our postage, just as we may not understand theirs, and when foreign mail arrives without AIRMAIL markings, it will continue on its way by surface.

A good rule to follow is to always use AIRMAIL stickers or write "AIRMAIL" on all mail you wish to go by air. Affixing airmail postage is no guarantee that it will go by air.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

Scouts Plan Big Weekend

The biggest weekend camping adventure of the Buffalo Trail Council, set for the Scout Roundup grounds in Big Spring April 25-26, is shaping up rapidly.

More than 500 scouts and leaders from the Colorado to the Pecos Rivers will be joined the second day by 200 or more cub scouts.

Charles Grizzard, Big Spring, general chairman, has staked campsites and said all arrangements are complete, including a huge stack of wood for the council fire program. An Explorer law enforcement post from Midland will furnish security for the big campout.

Activities begin late Friday with inspection of the camps and on troop organization, and Saturday brings a full day of Scoutcraft competition, along with field events for the Cubs. Each troop will furnish a skit for the council fire program Saturday evening, to which the public is invited, and the Order of Arrow Indian dance team will perform. Webelos, the older Cubs, will get to spend Saturday night in camp.

Sunday, as camp breaks, the Rev. Lester Utz, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran Church in Big Spring, will present an illustrated Bible study in brief religious rites. Boys at this service will receive attendance cards for their churches.

Five Mishaps Are Reported

City Police investigated five minor motor vehicle mishaps Friday.

The first one occurred in the 1400 block of Twenty-fifth Street at 11:30 a.m. Involved were the 1970 Model Chevrolet of Dennis Wayne Watson, 1508 Twenty-seventh Street, and the 1961 Model Chevrolet of Socorro Contreras Perlaes, 3211 Avenue G.

The second one occurred at the high school parking lot and Thirty-eighth Street at 1:30 p.m. Involved were the 1970 Model Chevrolet of James Wayne Crow, Route 1, Box 91, Snyder, and the 1968 Model Chevrolet of Dickie Joe Free, 507 Thirty-fifth Street.

A 1964 Model Buick driven by Lula Seale White, Route 1, Hermleigh, was in collision with a 1961 Model Ford operated by Randal Don Stroder, 2209 Avenue O, at Twenty-sixth Street and Avenue M at 2:55 p.m.

US Money Made From Cotton Fiber

NEW YORK (AP) — All United States paper currency is printed on cotton fiber paper because of its strength and durability, according to the Cotton Fiber Paper Council Inc.

Trolleys took their name from the power source, two overhead electric lines. Electricity was collected by a small carriage, or "troller," attached to a pole on the car roof.

Worsham To Help In UT Workshop

AUSTIN—Jerry Worsham, drama director at Snyder High School, will be one of two guests directors at the 13th annual High School Theater Workshop to be held June 11-July 5 at the University of Texas.

Twenty girls and 20 boys who by next September will be either sophomores, juniors or seniors in high school will be selected to attend.

Applications are now being accepted and they are due by May 19. Application blanks may be obtained from Assistant Prof. Lynn Murray of the UT Drama Dept., who is the workshop director.

A registration fee of $40 is required. Room and board in UT dormitories during the period of the workshop is $171.29. The workshop will provide intensive instruction in play production, including acting, dance, stagecraft, directing, makeup and costuming.

During the final two days of the theater workshop, three plays will be given public performances. Companies of the plays will be composed exclusively of the workshop particiapnts.

Various members of the UT Drama Dept. faculty will form the teaching staff for the workshop. In addition, guest lectures will be given by professional playwrights, directors and actors involved in the drama department's E.P. Conkle Workshop for Playwrights.

The directors will include Joe Manry, insturctor in the UT Drama Dept., Worsham and Robert Singleton, drama director at Anderson High School in Austin.

Spring May Bring Market Improvements

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prices of slaughtered cattle have climbed in the past few weeks to near their year-ago levels, indicating that Ariculture Department predictions of improved markets this spring may be realized.

The average price of slaughter steers at Midwest markets last week was $39.78 per 100 pounds, the department's Agricultural Marketing Service said Thursday. A year earlier they averaged $40.64 per hundredweight.

Earlier this year prices slumped to below $35 per hundredweight but have climbed slowly the past five weeks.

Department livestock economists have predicted that prices are expected to rise to around the $45 range by late spring but then weaken somewhat during the July-September quarter.

Hunt Aides To Appeal Convictions

DALLAS (AP) — Two former aides to the late oil billionaire H.L. Hunt say they will appeal their convictions on fraud charges after receiving three-year probated sentences.

John W. Curington and John H. Brown protested they had Hunt's permission to take money from HLH Products Co., a dummy food brokerage firm, in return for accepting lower salaries.

A Dallas jury found the pair guilty of three counts of mail fraud stemming from an alleged scheme to take kickbacks from the firm.

U.S. District Court Judge William Steger, who said he was "somewhat surprised" at the jury's verdict, ordered the men placed on three years probation. Curington and Brown must also pay $3,000 in fines and $2,501.40 in restitution to Hunt Oil Co.

The two men still face an indictment of eight counts of mail fraud in connection with the alleged kickback scheme.

On Feb. 1, 1975, a fire swept the upper floors of a building in Sao Paulo, Brazil, killing 189 persons.

Tarrant County To Use Paper Ballots

FORT WORTH (AP) — Tarrant County residents will use paper ballots in Tuesday's vote on two proposed changes in the state constitution, according to County Clerk Ed Loftin.

Loftin said the decision to use paper ballots was made because officials expect a low turnout of only about 30,000 votes. He predicted that even with paper ballots, the election will cost about $30,000.

Voters will decide whether to give legislators bigger salaries and expense accounts, and if the state should increase its contribution to a retirement fund for state employes.

Region II UIL Meet Will Be In Denton

DENTON (AP) — High schools scholars and athletes from North Texas will compete here next week, April 24-26, in the Region II contest of the University Interscholastic League.

Scholars will compete in 13 written and oral events at North Texas State University. NTSU also will host men's athletic events. Texas Woman's University will host women's athletics April 26. Drama competition will be April 24-25 at NTSU.

TO: The Voters of Scurry County:

There has been much written adn said in regard to the up-coming election concerning the abolishment of the office of County School Superintendent. You have been told that the office is totally un-necessary and useless, and that there is no reason for its existence. You have been told that there are no duties for the County Superintendent to perform that cannot be performed just as efficiently by each of the schools being served. For the most part, this is an opinion of those people who are not being served by this office. HAVE YOU HEARD THIS FROM ANY OF THE SCHOOL OFFICIALS IN THOSE SCHOOLS BEING SERVED?

I would not have you believe that we cannot function without a County School Superintendent. We can and, if necessary, we will. However, we can operate much better with one, BUT only if the office is functional and a sincere effort is made to make it a worthwhile job.

Proposition No. 2—the abolishment of the office for Ex-Officio County School Superintendent and the County School Board is of great concern on my part. WHY? If proposition No. 2 is approved, as I understand the law, all of the authority, all of the power, and all of the duties of the County Board will be vested in the hands of one person—the County Judge. Contrary to information distributed, the Commissioners Court WILL NOT have any jurisdiction. In those matters which pertain to rural schools, I believe we need a governing board (County School Board) to make these decisions. In matters such as the annexation of total school districts to other school districts, the transfer of land from one district to another and other functions which, by law, are to be performed by County School Board, it is extremely important that they remain in the hands of the County Board. To me, it would be unwise to place this responsibility upon the shoulders of a single individual. This is in no way intended to cast doubt upon our County Judge's ability or capability to make decisions. I think, actually, no one would want the sole responsibility of this duty.

At a meeting on March 10, 1975, the County School Board went on record as being opposed to proposition No. 2. At an earlier meeting on this date the manner in which the ballot was to be drawn up on this issue was discussed. At this meeting most people were in accord that the passage of Proposition No. 2 would be unwise. It is my hope that you can also come to this conclusion when you go to the polls to vote.

Respectfully Submitted,
Roy Sallee, Superintendent

Dr. Lamb

Everyone has uric acid

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have a terrible problem. I think I might be pregnant, but I'm not sure. What should I do? I can't talk to my parents or my doctor. My parents would surely have a fit, and I don't trust my doctor to keep it confidential.

I never had sex education in school because the school is so small and the parents did not want the students to be corupted by it, as they say. My monthly schedule is overdue by at least one week and I'm really worried.

Is it ture that if both parties are drunk that it is harder for the girl to become pregnant? Can a girl be pregnant and still have her period? If so, how long will she have her period after she becomes pregnant? PLEASE print the answer as soon as possible.

DEAR READER—You are going to have to see your doctor and have a test if you really want to find out. The alternative is to wait until you don't need a test; the answer will be obvious to you and your parents.

I know many girls go through this torment and are afraid to see the family doctor, but he has has heard it all before and is not shocked. No doctor usually finishes training or certainly survives looking after patients in practive very long without becoming shock-proof about normal human behavior.

A young girl is often irregular and may be late for no apparent reason. She may even miss one or more periods and not be pregnant at all. Then again, either spotting or a period can occur after getting pregnant.

Being drunk will not protect you from getting pregnant. It only contributes to carelessness, and in that way may increase the chances of getting pregnant.

Now a word about sex education. Your torment is one of several end results that can occur from lack of information. It is short-sighted to think that by denying sex education to students that you can eliminate or even delay the natural tendency of young people to experiment sexually.

Such an attitude is akin to giving a child a loaded revolver and not bothering to educate him about its use or its danger.

If parents want to protect their children from unwanted pregnancies, it would be helpful for the children to know the facts of life, including when a girl is most likely to get pregnant and how to avoid pregnancies.

The moral question of whether young, unmarried people should or should not engage in sexual activity can't be solved by substituting ignorance for moral standards. Parents of children who get pregnant because they have had no sex education are just as responsible, or more so, for the pregnancy as the young people.

Regardless of one's moral position about sexual behavior, as a physician it is my opinion that any young, or not so young, individual who chooses to engage in sex in or out of marriage should be mature enough to take sensible precautions against unwanted pregnancies and veneral disease. Sex education in the schools, done properly with good taste and standards, is one way to accomplish this.

DEAR DR. LAMB—What causes uric acid in one's system? Also, is it painful to have and is there a cure for it? Will a person always have it?

DEAR READER—We all have uric acid. It is a normal byproduct of the constant replacement of cells in your body. The important gene substances of DNA and RNA involved in regeneration may produce it in the process.

We all have constant regeneration. There are three-million new red blood cells formed every second. The lining of the small intestine is replaced every three days.

The cell formation of uric acid is the most important source of elevated uric acid. It is closely related to protein metabolism. The substance has no apparent value in the body and the excess amount is normally eliminated in the urine. That is how it gets its name.

It is not painful or harmful as long as it stays in solution. Unfortunately, it forms salts that can form crystals. These lead to painful, swollen joints as seen in gout or can form deposits leading to gouty arthritis. The small amounts of uric acid we consider normal don't do this.

Some people have a tendency to form more uric acid than others. This may lead to gout, but it may not in other people.

The most effective way to lower the uric acid level to normal ranges and prevent problems seems to be with agents that prevent its formation in the cells, a farily recent medical development, and agents that increase its elimination from the kidneys. Other medicines act directly to relieve the painful gout attacks.

DEAR DR. LAMB—What, if any, are the symptoms of glaucoma? Is it more prevalent in men or women, or any particular age group?

DEAR READER—Glaucoma is a steady increase in pressure inside the eyeball. As the pressure builds up it destroys the seeing ability of the eye and causes blindness.

Glaucoma can be a sudden development. The eyeball may be painful, and there may be a sudden dimming of vision.

More often it is an insidious disease. The pressure builds up slowly and the person is unaware that anything is wrong. There may be some colored rings around bright objects. or the vision may begin to fail, first with decreased ability to see objects at the side. The vision may remain good when looking straight ahead for some time.

Quite often the first sign of the disease is found by a routine eye examination that measures the pressure within the eyes. The earlier it is detected the more likely the doctor can do something about it. Since nearly half of the adult blindness in the United States and Canada is caused by glaucoma, it is very important to have an annual check for early detection. This applies particularly to those over 50 years of age. Women after middle-age are most frequently affected.

Water Cleanup To Be Costly

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Water Quality Board figures it will cost Texas cities, towns and industries more than $6 billion to clean up water supplies by 1983, as ordered by Congress.

The estimate was made in a 502-page water quality inventory just completed by the board.

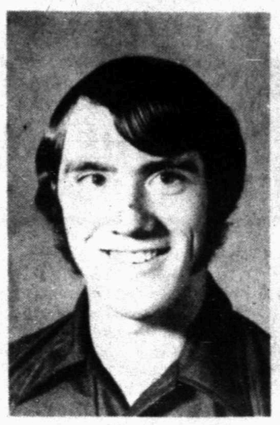

"Members of the Texas Water Quality Board, as well as other water related agencies in Texas and other states have said the goal probably is unattainable, is impractical and certainly carries a cost burden of enormous proportion," the board release said.

The report said that the Federal Water Quality Act adopted by Congress in 1972 would require that by 1983 "every river, stream, creek, lake and coastal area is to be fit for swimming, boating and fishing regardless of the particular use of a body of water."

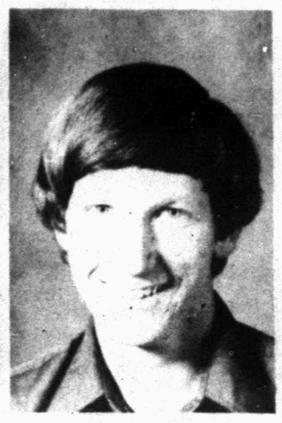

At the present time federal grants of 75 per cent construction costs are authorized for municipalities. No federal money is available for industries.

"And there is no assurance at this time that additional federal allocations will be made at all, beyond the 1976 fiscal year," said Hugh Yantis Jr., executive director of the Water Quality Board.

Yantis said the water quality inventory shows there are 1,681 municipal dischargers in Texas with the Trinity River Basin having the most, 246, and the Brazos River Basin, with 242.

1975 TEXAS LEGISLATURE AND COUNTY SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENTS:

H.B. 226 was passed by about 100 - 30 to eliminate state funding for county superintendents. This bill is now in the Senate education committee!

If this becomes law, state funding will stop as of January 1, 1979, and the remaining responsibilities will go to the local school districts and to the commissioners' court and the county judge. A county could vote a local tax to maintain some form of county school operation if they so desired, or the offices would be closed.

If this legislation is approved, it will eliminate the reason stated recently by the present county school board for their objection to doing away with the county board. That objection was that they did not feel that one person, the county judge, should have the power to annex or detach all or part of one school district to another. H.B. 226 would give this responsibility to the Commissioner's Court - 5 men!

10% of Voters Expected At Polls

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Texans vote Tuesday on what some state legislators have called a "low profile campaign" to get their salaries raised.

As few as 10 per cent of the state's eligible voters are expected to vote.

Expected big turnouts by public school teachers, state employes and friends of state legislators—all directly affected by the vote—may dictate the outcome of the two proposed constitutconal amendments.

The two propositions on the ballot are:

—Increase the pay of the 181 state senators and representatives from $4,800 to $7,200 a year, increase their daily personal living expenses while in session from $12 to $30, and give them travel pay of 16 cents instead of 10 cents a mile. The raise would cost $1.4 million the next two years.

—Consolidate all the scattered current constitutional provisions about state and local retirement systems, and most importantly, lift the ceilings on state contributions to the state employes and public school teachers retirement funds from 6 per cent to 10 per cent. The change would immediately affect about 45,000 retired teachers and 9,600 retired state employes, including 96 retired legislative and state elected officials. The combined cost to the state would be about $124 million.

If approved, neither issue would be affected if voters adopt a new state constitution Nov. 4. The pay legislators are receiving on Nov. 4 would continue until a salary commission is created and acts, probably some time in 1977. The current contribution rates to retirement funds on Nov. 4 would be phased into the new constitution.

Robert Johnson, head of the Texas Election Bureau, which will gather unofficial results, predicts a turnout of about 500,000. In 1973, another non-presidential election year, saw only 605,000 voters turn out when there were nine proposed constitution changes on the ballot, including one on legislative pay raises and annual legislative sessions. The pay raise carried in only 12 of the 254 counties.

Several weeks ago, a group of Texas House members, calling themselves an "ad hoc committee for pay raises," urged fellow legislators to conduct a "low profile campaign" to attract the attention only of supporters, particularly state employes and public school teachers.

"Keep the others home," advised an instruction pamphlet for House members "That means not much press, publicity or public speaking, but a lot of personal contact."

There have been no other announced organized efforts for or against the two amendments.

VIEWPOINT

Amendments Favored

Constitutional Amendment No. 2 on the ballot for Tuesday's election deals with a subject that has been involved in controversy for many years----the salary for legislators.

At present, members of the Texas House of Representatives and the Texas Senate are paid $4,800 per year, which, by any standard of appraisal, is absurd.

Amendment No. 2 on Tuesday's ballot would increase this to $7,200 per year ($600 per month). It also would allow each lawmaker a per diem of $30 per day during a legislative session and would provide a mileage allowance at the same rate provided by law for all state employes.

At present, each legislator has a per diem allowance of $12 per day for the first 120 days of a regular session and 30 days of each special session. His mileage allowance is now $2.50 for each 25 miles going and coming from his home to Austin by the most direct route of travel specified on a table prepared by the Comptroller of Public Accounts.

The present provisions for compensation for legislators could not come close to sustaining them, which means that to serve in the Texas Legislature, a person must be prepared to dig into his own pocket, or else make other arrangements to take care of some of his expenses. Texans should not demand this.

The other amendment on the ballot Tuesday would revise and consolidate provisions relating to state and local retirement systems and programs and provide for a maximum state contribution to state retirement systems of 10 per cent of the aggregate compensation paid to individuals.

Both amendments would move toward resolving some inequities, and both should be approved.

Air Cleared By Trial

Many Americans, and especially Texans, undoubtedly feel better now that former Governor John Connally has been cleared of bribery charges in a trial at Washington, D.C.

As some have commented, it could indicate that the nation is beginning to recover from "Watergate hysteria."

This trial was awaited with considerable interest because it appeared that the prosecution had a very weak case to say the least, based on information that was made available prior to the trial.

As it turned out, the case appeared even weaker in court than most suspected. In fact, there has been some speculation that few grand juries would have even indicted the former Texas governor with no more evidence than was presented. The indictment, of course, can be charged to the confusion and general suspicion generated by Watergate.

Now that the trial is over, we can hope that the hysteria is subsiding and that the nation can look at itself with more objectivity as it proceeds with the continual process of refining its political image.

Spring Spurs Hope That A Turnaround Is Near

By JOSH FITZHUGH
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It's still premature, in the economic world at least, to say spring has sprung, but events of the past week indicate the buds are beginning to form.

Government statistics for March showed continuing declines in housing starts and factory output, but both by lesser margins than in recent months, thus offering the hope that a turnaround is close at hand.

And the nation's personal income inched .1 per cent higher during the month, with the first gain in private industry payrolls since last October.

The most dramatic news — that the nation's economic output fell 10.4 per cent during the first quarter — was greeted calmly in Washington with assertions the sharp decline was the first step toward recovery.

Both the improvement in inflation and the rapid progress in inventory correction bolster the prospects for growth in real output and purchasing power in the second half of this year," said Asst. Commerce Secretary James L. Pate.

The quarter's economic decline, when adjusted for inflation the sharpest in 29 years, was largely due to a massive liquidation of business stocks, economists said.

"Many of the people who underestimated the recession also will underestimate the recovery," said Brookings Institution economist Arthur Okun of government estimates that the economy would grow between 4 per cent and 6 per cent in the last six months of 1975.

The stock market, which had anticipated some of the present transition with gains in January and February, welcomed the latest reports by surging forward again this week on heavy trading.

Earnings reports may have helped the market. The devastatingly bad quarter many analysts had expected was by no means uniform. Brokerage firms saw their earnings rise four to six times and the big banks thrived off higher interest spreads on their loans. Republic Steel's net income gained 57 per cent, Union Carbide's 26 per cent, Xerox's 5 per cent, all from year earlier bids.

On the downside, such big name firms as RCA Corp., American Telephone, Polaroid, Motorola and General Telephone took beatings, while two airlines — UAL, Inc., and Trans World Airways — operated in the red.

The Federal Trade Commission, after having its first anti-trust consent decree with Xerox knocked out by complaining competitors, came back with a stiffer decree acceptable to the copier.

Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb said postponements of power generating projects raised the possibility of power shortages by 1980, but Edison Electric Institute President Donald Crawford said he believed the worst may be over for the nation's utilities.

Farm Couples To Washington Meet

Two local Farm Bureau couples will get a first-hand look at federal government operations when they attend the Texas Farm Bureau's 1975 County Presidents' Conference on April 22-24 in Washington, D.C.

Mr. and Mrs. C.D. Gray Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Wemken will fly from Dallas to Washington where they will be among some 200 Texans attending the meeting. Gray is president of Scurry County Farm Bureau and Wemken is the membership chairman.

In a departure from the past, this year's conference is being held in the nation's capital to acquaint Farm Bureau leaders with government functions and to cement greater familiarity between Texas lawmakers and their Farm Bureau consituents. While in Washington, the local leaders will meet with Congressman Omar Burleson and the two Texas Senators.

They also will see the usual sights in Washington, including Ford's Theater, the Federal Triangle, the Capitol Building, the Supreme Court Building, the Library of Congress, the White House, the Washington and Jefferson Monuments, the cherry trees, the Smithsonian Institution, the National Gallery of Art and Arlington National Cemetery.

The group will have a banquet featuring American Farm Bureau Federation President William Kuhfuss and the Washington office staff in a discussion of "The Washington Situation." They will be conducted on a special guided tour of the Dept. of Agriculture.

In order to send a representative, a county Farm Bureau had to have 55 per cent of its last year's total membership and 50 per cent of last year's new members enrolled by March 31. In addition, Texas Farm Bureau had to have 85,000 members enrolled and 100 qualified counties by that date.

Scurry County Farm Bureau qualified by signing up 62 new members and having 627 members enrolled by March 31.

Some 130 counties qualified with the total of new members and renewals transmitted to the Waco headquarters since Nov. 1 exceeding 92,000.

Explorer Scouts Camp In Mexico

Explorer High Adventure Post 117 of the Lone Buffalo District, Buffalo Trail Council, Boy Scouts of America, visited Scout Camp "Union" 35 miles from Chihuahua, Mexico, March 29 and 30.

The Explorer Post is sponsored by the Division of Science and Mathematics at Western Texas College with Toni R. Turk, Joe Carter, Leslie Albin and Dr. Frances Clegg-Ferris as advisors. Turk and Dr. Clegg-Ferris accompanied the Scouts.

Members of the Post making the trip were Marty Pate, president, Charles Kuss, George Chamblee III and Michele Graves, all WTC students, and Robert Turk, a Lamar Junior High student.

The trip was planned as an international Scouting experience. The Explorers from Post 117 particiapted in the campfire and awards program which concluded a week-long camp for Mexican Scouts in Group V under the direction of Roberto Jaquez. The Mexican Scouts were divided into Lobatos (Cubs), Scouts and Rovers, the equivalent of the Explorers.

The Post 117 members also particiapted in a review with the Group V Scouts for Chihuahua's Scout Executive, Rosendo Munoz, and in an interdemoninational Easter service. Post 117 was presented a certificate in recognition of the visit, and they in turn presented a flag to Group V in recognition of the hospitality extended to them.

The Explorers returned to the United States via Torreon, Coahuila.

CELEBRITIES ON THE COUCH

By Dick Maurice

Chuck Woolery, host of NBC-TV's "The Wheel of Fortune" (10:30 NYT) has been aiming at a show business career since childhood— but he didn't know it until after college. Chuck, who was born and raised in Ashland, Kentucky, served for two years in the U.S. Navy prior to enrolling at Kentucky State College. Still not considering a show business career, he worked as a wine consultant and a flour salesman for several years after college. Finally realizing that the business world wasn't his thing, he went to Nashville, Tennessee where he began writing and performing country music. A friend helped him get his first acting job, in a movie called "Jamaica Reef," and that led him to Hollywood in 1971. He was on his way!

MAURICE: Did you know at first where you wanted to pursue your career?

WOOLERY: I knew exactly where I wanted to pursue my career. I'm basically a composer and writer and singer and I went straight to Nashville. And I was there for about 7 years. I ended up in Nashville writing songs for other people and I had my own group there for a while. A few hit records I produced and wrote.

MAURICE: How did you get to be a game show host?

WOOLERY: I did a pilot about a year and a half ago for Merv Griffin Productions called "Shoppers Bizare" which was the name of it at that point of its evolution, and it was rather bizarre. I had done Merv's show a couple of times as a singer and sat on the panel with him. He called me one day and asked me if I had ever done a game show. I said, well my credentials are that I grease my own car and if that's any credentials for doing a game show then I'm willing to do it. He called me in and I did it. They liked me and here I am.

MAURICE: I understand that you don't like to be referred to as the star of a TV show, you are referred to as the host of "The Wheel of Fortune."

WOOLERY: I requested that. I love the word star. That would be teriffic. But I really don't feel like I'm a star —to put things in perspective. I have a daytime TV show and it's kind of difficult, in all honesty, to think of myself as a star.

MAURICE: When you went into show business, what were you looking for —fame and fortune?

WOOLERY: Well, actually I wanted to be a super-star. I still do. That's definately what I want to be.

MAURICE: What's your definition of a superstar?

WOOLERY: I'll know when it happens because my name will probably be five down in TV Guide on the crossword puzzle. That's when I know that I've achieved it. I think it's the kinds of things that super-star affords you. My particular thing is, I really would like to do American Sportsman for the rest of my life. And you have to be a superstar to be able to do American Sportsman—go fishing all over the country and the world. That's really what I'm after.

MAURICE: Are you concerned about being type cast as a game show host?

WOOLERY: I have to admit that it did cross my mind prior to accepting this show. But I really consider myself a performer and I came out to Hollywood to do a lot of different things. In this business the beauty of it affords you a multifaceted area to go in to—producing, writing, directing, and hosting a game show. They are all part of it.

MAURICE: Are you a religious person. Do you believe that there is something beyond life?

WOOLERY: I'm not a religious person as most people think of it. However, I am a spiritual man. I'm a believer. I believe in Jesus and I trust Him as my personal Lord. So I'm there. I don't make anybones about it, if someone asks me about it.

MAURICE: What do you think about Women's Lib?

WOOLERY: I think it's fine in its proper perspective and I don't mean that from a chauvenistic standpoint, obviously. I think it's good that women are getting their recognition and their proper pay and getting things in their proper perspective for themselves. As anything else, it can be over-done, and it can be misused and they can be misused along with it, which is unfortunate. But I don't think it's a tragic situation. I think it's really good. I think it's good for them and I think it's good for men, too. Men have a lot of growing to do, too.

MAURICE: Is there any competition between you and your wife?

WOOLERY: As a matter of fact, there isn't any at all. We have a really healthy relationship as far as that's concerned. She supports me in everything that I do and I try to give her all the support that I can. There is really no competition between us. We help each other as much as we can. She has been probably the greatest asset to my career. I have to be quite honest about it.

MAURICE: Are you a name dropper?

WOOLERY: I drop names alot because I worked in a filling station half my life and I didn't know aybody and now I know everybody. So I talk about them all.

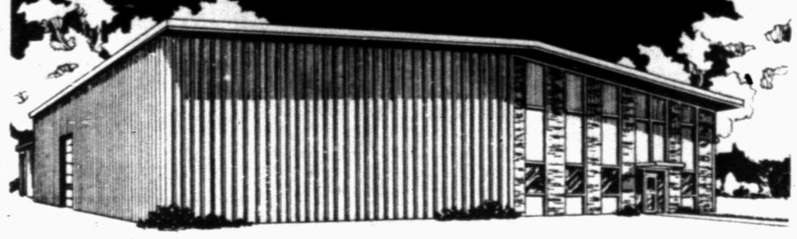

MAURICE: What is the best thing about being a celebrity? Is it the fact that you know so many famous people?

WOOLERY: I enjoy who I know out here in Hollywood. I know so many other people as well, who in the eyes of others would be obscure. Friends are important to me. I'm not impressed by people other than how I relate to them and they relate to me. It's nice to know celebrities because they are interesting and fascinating people.

April was "Aprilis" to the Romans, possibly from aperire, to open, as do buds in spring, but the derivation is as uncertain as is April weather.

Granberry To Speak At WTC All-Sports Fete

Dr. Jim Granberry, Lubbock humorist, will be the featured speaker at the Western Texas College All-Sports Banquet to be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Scurry County Coliseum.

Dr. Granberry, a practicing orthodontist, is a former mayor of Lubbock and a 1974 candidate for governor of Texas.

Sid Simpson, athletic director at Western Texas College, said the main purpose of the banquet is to honor the sports teams at the school, including the men's and women's basketball teams, the golf, tennis and rodeo teams.

The WTC men's basketball team won the National Junior College championship this past season. Seven members of the team will join five others who played in the All-Star game to compete in the Governor's Cup games in Sao Paulo, Brazil next month. The United States team will be coached by WTC cage coach Mike Mitchell.

Tickets to the banquet cost $5 each. They may be purchased at a number of locations, including Snyder Athletic Center, Snyder Savings and Loan Association, West Texas State Bank, Snyder National Bank, Arel Faver's Fina Station, the college business office and the college activities office.

"We hope there is a big turnout to support our athletes at the banquet," said Coach Simpson.

Wooden's Shoes Not Too Big

HOUSTON (AP) — John Wooden, who retired in March after leading UCLA to 10 national basketball championships in 12 years, doesn't think he's leaving big shoes to fill.

"To say that coaching at UCLA this year will be the toughest job in America is underestimating the talents of players like Marques Johnson and Ralph Drollinger," Wooden said after a speaking engagement here Friday.

Gene Bartow is the new UCLA coach and Wooden says he doesn't want to be around when basketball practice starts next October.

"I'm a basketball coach," Wooden said. "I retired and I can't back out now. They've got another coach. Gene has asked me to stay around and help, but I hope to leave by Oct. 15. That's the day practice starts. I think it would be better for me and the players if I left before it starts."

Making the decision to retire after 27 years at UCLA came on the way to the dressing room after a tough overtime victory over Louisville in this year's NCAA semifinals, Wooden said.

"I made the decision on the way to the dressing," Wooden said. "When the year began I untended to come back for one more year. But then a lot of little things happened that made me feel it wouldn't be advisable to return. I wasn't sure it was the right decision.

"After the championship game was over one of our enthusiastic alumni came up to me and said 'it's great coach, just great. You let us down last year, but this is just great.'

I knew then I had made the right decision."

Crappie Bite At Spence

The past week saw a continuation of crappie catches, a quickening of white bass totals at Lake E.V. Spence, but it still was a week of the big striped bass.

Richard Arthur, Robert Lee, set a new record for a striped bass on rod, and reel when he pulled in a handsome 18½-lb. specimen. He also held the previous record of 17 lb. 9 oz. David Hodnett, Big Spring, caught a 14-lb. 14-Oz. striper, and A.L. Routh, Midland, caught one weighing 11¼ lb.

Several hundred crappie were included in the week's reports, which included these:

Y.J.'s Marina—Scotty Turner, Lubbock, 50 white bass to 2½ lb.; Cecil Cherry, Odessa, three black bass to 3½ lb., 30 white bass to 2½ lb. A.L. Routh, Midland, 11¼-lb. striped bass.

Dink's Bait—Harvey Chapman, Odessa, five blue cat to 7 lb.; Bob and Jean Brannon of New Mexico 30 crappie, 25 white bass to 2 lb. and 5-lb and 7 lb. stripers; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sholtz, Odessa, 20 crappie; Don Watts, Sweetwater, four black bass totalling 11 lbs.; W.L. George, La Punte, Calif., 35 crappie; Bob Hull and Tom Enochs, Midland, six blacks to 4½ lb.

Wildcat Fish A Rama—Don Mullenix, Colorado City, 50 crappie; David Hodnett, Big Spring, 14-lb. 14-oz. striper; Bill Tiner, Odessa, 3¼-lb. black bass; Mike Cartwright, Odessa, five blacks to 2¼ lb; E.W. Becker and Bob Dijmel, Midland, five white bass and 11 crappie; Richard Arthur, Robert Lee, 18½-lb. striped bass.

Triangle Grocery--Don and Cleo Reid, Big Spring, 28 crappie, two channel cat, three black bass; Kenneth Herbert, Kelly Herbert, Lloyd Mitchell, and Wayne Coggins of Odessa, 105 crappie to 1¼-lb; Mr. and Mrs. Clovis Harrison, Sweetwater, 57 crappie and four black bass; Danny Allison, Dick Redding of Denver City 66 crappie.

Sue Welsh Has A Rifle Arm

ROYAL OAK, Mich. (AP) — The new second baseperson at Royal Oak St. Mary High School is turning some heads with unexpected speed and a rifle arm.

Her name is Sue Welsh.

The 18-year-old senior was recruited by boys baseball coach Leo Quatro, who is pleased with her performance so far.

"I saw Sue play softball last year and invited here out for baseball this year," Quatro said. "I was impressed with her arm—she's an excellent fielder and can handle any infield position. She has aggressiveness and is very quick, runs as well as the average boy and is quite knowledgeable about baseball."

Sue got the starting nod this week in the school's opener against Hamtramck Conception High.

In two appearances at the plate she popped up and laid down a perfect squeeze bunt to score a run. She handled five routine putouts in four innings at second base.

Sue says she's just playing ball and isn't trying to prove anything about equality of the sexes.

"I would not have thought about it if the coach hadn't asked me," she said. "It's good experience and lots of competition.

"The ball is smaller and harder to hit. It comes at you harder, the throws are longer, but I'm not afraid."

Sue says she hopes to attend Western Michigan University next year and wants to play basketball and softball or tennis—but not baseball.

So far, Sue says, she hasn't had any trouble with her teammates.

"The boys are all right," she said. "It's a small school. We're all good friends. They keep the locker room talk in the locker room."

High School Athletic Director Phil Young says Sue is "the sweetest and shyest kid. She has a nice personality and is a top student."

Adds Coach Quatro: "Sue has improved the rest of us. We have to watch our language."

Howard Cage Camp Planned

BIG SPRING—A maximum of 60 junior high and junior varsity boys are expected to attend each session of the Third Annual Basketball Camp of Champs, sponsored by the Athletic Department of Howard College, July 21-25 and July 28-August 1, 1975.

Harold Wilder, Head Basketball Coach at Howard College and director of the camp, has announced that the session is open to boys sixth grade through high school. Cost of the camp is $100 per week.

Fees charged include cost of dorm, cafeteria, camp tuition, entertainment, and a free camp T-shirt. A $20 deposit must accompany each application.

Instruction in ball handling, offensive and defensive techniques and game strategy will be featured at each session. Campers will be videotaped as part of their instruction. Staff members include Harold Wilder; Leroy McClendon, Assistant Basketball Coach at Howard College; and high school coaches.

Junior high and high school boys interested in attending either session should write Camp of Champs, Howard College, Big Spring, Texas, 79720, and ask for a free camp brochure.

Golf Pro Says Daughter Best

HOLMES BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Pro Al Chase at the Key Royale Country Club on Anna Maria Island here says his daughter, Mrs. Judy Coates, owns more golf trophies than her father. Judy, a 2-handicap player, reached the Florida State amateur finals last year and holds the women's record of 28 strokes over the nine-hole Key Royale course.

Chase, who opened the lush 2,064-yard course on 30 acres of pumped-in land in 1966, holds the course record with a 26. The course is a private layout for members only and is unlisted on many maps showing golf courses. Former national speed skating champion Kit Klein (Mrs. Tom Outland) won the Key Royale women's club championship last year for the fourth time.

Paul Brown To Present Lavelli

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Bengals' Coach Paul Brown will present one of his former players Dante Lavelli, at his induction August 2 into the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Lavelli played for Brown briefly at Ohio State and then rejoined him with the Cleveland Browns following World War II. He led the All-American Football Conference in pass receiving with 40 catches for 643 yards in his rookie season.

Brown a Hall-of-Famer himself since 1967, previously had presented placekicker and offensive tackle Lou Groza and quarterback Otto Graham when they were enshrined.

Misses Long Putts

MARCO ISLAND, Fla. (AP) — Touring PGA golfer Gary Sanders missed holing long putts by inches 10 times during the ninth Tony Lema Memorial at Marco Island. Despite his first appearance over the course he shot a 75 and has signed to play in the 1976 event.

Sanders, a 25-year-old native of Lynwood, Calif., earned nearly $23,000 on the 1974 PGA tour, his second since graduating from the University of Southern California. Long and straight off the tee, Sanders says he plans to remain on tour and has no ideas of ever becoming a club pro.

Bengals Trade Avery To Chiefs

CINCINNATI (AP) — Veteran linebacker Ken Avery wes traded Friday by the Cincinnati Bengals of the National Football League to the Kansas City Chiefs for an undisclosed 1976 draft choice.

Avery, a 6-foot, 230-pound player, came to Cincinnati from the New York Giants and was a starter three of his six years here.

Avery, 31, had strongly suggested last season that he be traded since he was again relegated to the bench. However, Avery started the final three games at center linebacker despite a broken hand.

Hartford Team Gets Monicker

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — The Hartford team in the North American Soccer League will be called the Bicentennials, a team spokesman said Thursday.

Odessa Race Track Purchased

Bill Smith, an Odessa businessman, and Bill Hielscher of Fort Worth have recently purchased Odessa Raceway Park at Penwell from Odessa Dragway, Inc., original builders of the track in 1967.

"The purchase price, including improvements we are planning, is in excess of $200,000," Smith said.

"Among the improvements we plan," Hielscher said, "is to build better access roads to and from the track, build new fences, and to provide a safe recreational area for children."

A new lounge area and a new concession building will be built in the near future.

Hielscher, owner of Green Valley Race City in Smithfield, is a veteran of a decade of auto racing in Texas. He will retain his ownership of Green Valley, and will manage both facilities.

Smith heads a company that manufactures gas equipment.

The new owners have changed the name from Odessa Raceway Park to Odessa International Raceway, and weekly races will be held throughout the year, with two-day events staged once a month.

The new owners plan to cater to a large degree to the local competitors. offering classes for "whatever people show up with."

The amateurs will not be neglected in favor of the Pros, Hielscher said.

Sweetwater Plans Golf Tourney

SWEETWATER—Sweetwater Country Club's annual 25er Partnership Golf Tournament will be held June 6, 7 and 8 at the Sweetwater Country Club course.

All play will be two-man team, low ball. Gift certificates, redeemable at the pro shop, will be given to four places. The first place team will receive certificates worth $312, second place $180, third place $100, and fourth place $48.

Entry fee is $80 per team. The field is limited to the first 128 teams. All entries must be in with handicaps and entry fee paid on or before 6 p.m., June 4. All flights feature medal play Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Shotgun starts are planned for 8:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. all three days.

The entry fee includes wives for all functions as well as practice rounds Thursday and Friday and a 7:30 p.m. buffet Saturday. There will be a cocktail party and combo dance. There also will be a women's bridge tournament.

A limited number of golf carts will be reserved on a first-come basis. Private carts will be allowed during the tournament.

Entry fees and attested handicaps sould be mailed to: 25er Partnership, P.O. Box 180, Sweetwater, Texas 79556.

Jack Nicklaus has had 10 sub-par 72-hole totals in the Masters golf tournament.

Late Cub Score Stops Tigers 4-3

BROWNFIELD—Everybody knows Randy Rozean is a great pitcher. What he proved here Friday afternoon is that he also can hit the ball. His pitching and hitting led the Brownfield Clubs to a 4-3 triumph over the Snyder Tigers. It was the third time this year that Rozean has beaten Snyder.

The same two teams tangle at 5 p.m. Tuesday in Moffett Field. Don't be surprised of Rozean is on the mound again.

Snyder had just tied the game up, 3-3, in the top of the 7th when Rozean came to bat to lead off the bottom of the 7th for the Cubs. He socked a single and went to third on a single by Jerry Sullivan. Danny Whisenant singled in Rozean with the winning run.

Rozean turned in another brilliant pitching performance. He fanned eight and yielded only four hits while going the distance. Snyder used two hurlers, Gary Greenlee and Robert Alderete. Together, they were touched for 11 safeties. The loss was charged against Alderete.

The Tigers had taken a 2-0 lead in the 1st frame when Ernie Simons socked a two-run home run. The big blast scored Alderete, who had walked, ahead of him. It was Simons' second homer off the Cub pitching ace.

Brownfield took command, 3-2, in the bottom of the 2nd, scoring three runs off four walks combined with singles by Danny Whisenant, Ruben Villarreal and Kelly Murphy.

Snyder tied it up in the top of the 7th when Phil Robinson singled and scored on successive walks to Randy Gressett, Kelly Ragland and Alderete.

Then came the bottom of the 7th and the clutch hitting by Rozean, Sullivan and Whisenant.

Both teams threatened in the 5th, putting runners on third base. Snyder also put a runner in scoring position in the 4th but couldn't get him in. Danny Whisenant led the Cubs in hitting with three safeties in four trips to the plate.

With the victory, Brownfield took a full two-game lead in the District 3-AAA race.

Western Texas Sets Cage Camp

Reservations are now being accepted for a girls' basketball camp planned June 23-28 at Western Texas College.

The camp is planned for girls below high school level who have not competed on varsity teams, and will emphasize such fundamentals as rebounding, pass catching, shooting and basic team play. Campers will be divided into teams according to age and skill levels, Dr. Sid Simpson, WTC Athletic Director, said, and daily games will be arranged with All-Star matches at the conclusion of the camp.

Mrs. Gay Benson, coach of the Class AA Slaton High School state championship team, and Roy Sallee, Ira High School coach, will be the instructors. The Dusters, WTC's conference title winning women's basketball team, will serve as assistants and dormitory counselors.

Recreational activities are also planned for the girls attending the camp.

Total cost of the camp will be $85 per person, and reservations may be made by writing Dr. Simpson at Western Texas College. A $25 deposit should accompany each reservation.

WTC will also host a cheerleader clinic from June 16-20 and a Bible camp for students of all ages from July 13-19.

FCA Plans West Texas Fellowship

Four young professional Christian football stars will highlight the Third Annual West Texas Fellowship of Christian Athletes Retreat, April 25-27, at the Plains Baptist Campgrounds-south of Floydada.

Harvey Martin of the Dallas Cowboys, Ted Koy of the Buffalo Bills, Will Cureton of the Cleveland Browns and Donald Rives of the Chicago Bears will appear on the program sponsored by the Lubbock Adult Chapter of the FCA.

More than 200 high school and junior high athletes from West Texas are expected to take part in the various activities.

Besides the four pro players, new Texas Tech head football coach Steve Sloan will be the opening speaker Friday night. Barry Wood, college minister at the First Baptist Church in Lubbock, will speak at the closing session Sunday morning.

Members of the Texas Tech and West Texas State FCA Huddle Groups will be huddle leaders for the high schoolers, leading their huddles in athletic competition and Bible study.

High school and junior high coaches and athletes throughout West Texas who would like to attend are urged to contact Tommy Stone, head football coach at Lubbock High, 2004 19th, Lubbock; or telephone AC 806, 744-9981 or 797-4502.

Magnolia Classic Is Rescheduled

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — The Magnolia Classic golf tournament, a $35,000 pro satellite event which has had troubles with rain, was scheduled to begin today.

Tournament officials watched golfers leave the Hattiesburg Country Club for impromptu fishing trips or their motels Thursday as rain forced postponement of the first round.

Dwight Nevil, the tournament champ in 1973 and 1974, shot a one-under-par 70 during Wednesday's pro-am preliminary and was favored to win again this year.

Officials said the 72-hole tournament's final round Sunday would be stretched from 18 to 36 holes to make up for Thursday's lost play.

Women Plan Golf Tourney

The Snyder Country Club Women's Golf Association will host its Play Day West Tournament Tuesday, April 22.

Coffee and doughnuts will be served at 8:30 a.m. Registration also will begin at 8:30 a.m. Tee off time is set for 9 a.m. At the end of play, a luncheon will be served at the Snyder country Club.

On the Issue of Abolishing the Office of Scurry County School Superintendent:

On April 22 the people of Scurry County will go to the polls to vote on whether or not the office of County School Superintendent should be abolished. As you all know, this became the big issue in the general election, at which time Roy Carter ran on the platform that if elected he would cause an election to be held at a later date to decide the issue. This was the only proposition which I, and I am sure many of you, thought we would be voting on. But this has not proven the case.

When the petitions were circulated, we suddenly realized that Mr. Carter had decided, without the approval of the Scurry County School Board, or anyone else to my knowledge, that we should decide in this election not only if we need a County School Superintendent, but also is we need an Ex-Officio County School Superintendent and County School Board. I believe Mr. Carter is fulfilling his campaign promises and is within the realm of his authority in providing the voters of Scurry County a chance to vote on Proposition I: The abolishment of the office of County School Superintendent. However, on Proposition II: The abolishment of the Ex-Officio County School Superientendent; I question whether it is legal to vote to abolish an office that does not even exist at the time of the election.

I believe we should maintain the office of County School Superintendent. This elected official, with the guidance of the County Board, can provide valuable services to all the schools in Scurry County. The rural schools have received bookkeeping services from the office for several years. We would welcome other assistance in our counseling programs, health programs, etc. I believe that the right individual in this office, one who is dedicated to serving the people of Scurry County, has almost unlimited possibilities to serve. He can certainly earn his pay.

The Scurry County School Board must be maintained. It is needed to arbitrate matters involving property annexation between school districts in the County, if for no other reason. Without an Ex-Officio School Superintendent, the County Board will be dissolved. And without the County Board, the County Judge becomes arbitrator in such matters. We must not let this happen!

So I am making a plea to the voters of Scurry County: Vote againt both propositions on the ballot. Demand that the official you elected County School Superintendent either provide services to all Scurry County Schools or step aside so someone else can. By all means, vote against Proposition II: The abolishment of the Ex-Officio County School Superintendent and the Scurry County School Board. We must keep a County Board.

Fatal Traffic Accidents Climb

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Traffic fatalities are continuing to climb this year as 828 persons have died on Texas highways and streets compared to 655 during the same time in 1974, the Texas Department of Public Safety said Saturday.

A spokesman said deaths have increased 26 per cent in 1975, and only interstate highways, with a drop from 52 fatalities to 38, show a decrease.

At this time in 1974 the DPS was reporting a 27 per cent decrease in traffic deaths from 1973.

According to the DPS, fatal accidents are up from 577 in 1974 to 724 for the same period this year—a 25 per cent jump.

PECAN SPRAYING-

I have received several calls concerning pecan tree spraying during the last couple of weeks. Many of these calls were from homeowners concerned with insect control.

At this time there needs to be very little concern for pecan insects. The major pests we have in this area are the pecan nut casebearer and aphids. Neither of which are present at this time. Our first insect spray usually comes about the third week in May.

Some pecan diseases, scab and rosettes, can be controlled by spraying when the pecan leaves are about one-third grown.

Scab is caused by fungus which overwinters in infected shoots, and in old shucks and leaves on the ground. This disease appears as olive brown lesions on the lower leaf surfaces. They may vary in size from small dots to ¼ inch or more in diameter.

On the nuts the scab lesions appear as small black dots which may be raised or sunken when the infestion is older. The whole nut may be infected, turn black and drop prematurely. The quality of the nut, even if it matures, is poor.

A good sanitation program of clearing up old shucks, fallen stems and leaves will help reduce the source of the infection. Spraying with Benlate, Du-Ter, Cyprex, or Polyram will aid in preventing scab.

Rosette is a nutritional disease caused by the lack of zinc. All pecan trees require zinc for growth.

Obviously to control rosette zinc must be provided. Sprays of zinc sulfate three times during the growing season will control rosette.

When pecan leaves reach the one-third grown stage application of the above mentioned fungicides plus zinc sulfate and two additional applications during the growing season will give control of scab and rosette on pecan trees.

PLANTING, TEMPERATURE, SOIL MOISTURE

About this time of year we begin to talk of soil temperature, when to plant and how much moisture we have. These are all very important considerations too.

I believe the thumb rule for soil temperature for planting cotton is 60 degrees F for a ten day average, at a depth of eight inches. From the reports I am getting the temperature at this time is around 55 degrees F.

The reason for these concerns are that cold, wet ground is more likely to develop plant diseases in the young seedling stage.

The scarcity of high quality planting seed adds to this concern this year.

You producers must make this decision. Waiting for soil temperatures to reach optimum levels is one factor involved in successful planting. Another is shallow planting. The warmer soil is nearest the surface and has a more favorable environment for the seed.

And unless you are irrigating, you will probably wait for good moisture conditions.

With the cost of seed, which is a part of the cost of production, what it is, we need to make every effort to make one planting do the job.

FOR FIVE NORTHERN STATES

Energy Curtailment May Become Critical

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — A Continental Oil Co. official says five Northern states face a potential energy supply curtailment of crisis dimensions.

John L. Kelly, Continental's vice president for domestic supply and transportation, says Canada's announced plans to phase out its oil exports to the United States was an ominous declaration for consumers in Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Montana.

Kelly asked the Federal Energy Administration to revise present regulations that could cause severe supply shortages for refineries in the five states.

Without such action, Kelly said, the shortage of refinery feedstocks could reach 100,000 barrels a day later this year and increase to nearly 200,000 by 1977.

Canada reduced its crude exports to the United States to 800,000 barrels a day, effective Jan. 1, and anticipates another cut in July to 650,000 a day. Under current plans, all such exports would be eliminated by the early 1980s.

The five states have operating refineries capable of processing 439,000 barrels a day. Kelly says about 80 per cent of the region's crude supply is imported, with about 60 per cent coming from Canadian sources.

"Presently, there are no practical alternatives to Canadian supply," Kelly said. "Only minimal facilities exist to bring additional feedstocks or refined products into the area from other states."

He added that from three to five years of lead time is required to build new transportation systems to supply crude and petroleum products.

"Continental estimates $1.9 billion would be required for alternate supply systems to provide this area's energy requirements in the absence of crude oil imports from Canada," he said.

"In the current atmosphere of uncertainty and confusion, large capital commitments to build alternate transportation systems are very unlikely."

Kelly estimates that three-fourths of the Canadian oil imported into the United States enters the country across the borders of Montana, North Dakota, and Minnesota.

"A third of this remains in the Northern landlocked states and the balance passes through en route to the Midwest and Great Lakes Regions," he said.

"To a great extent, these other regions have access to alternate supplies of crude and refined products."

Market demand for gasoline and light oils in 1973 in the five-state area was about 410,000 barrels a day. Kelly estimates the area's present refining capacity can manufacture about 329,000 barrels a day of such products.

He adds, however, that without a continuance of adequate Canadian supplies it is apparent some refineries in the area will be forced to shut down.

Proposed FEA rules would continue the issuance of fee free licenses to U.S. refiners proportionally based on their 1973 imports from Canada.

RRC Orders Hydrogen Sulfide Standards

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission has ordered oil and gas operators to safeguard their employes and the public from the effects of hydrogen sulfide, a deadly gas.

In a special order distributed Friday, the commission said it was applying "more stringent safety standards" to operations in areas where there is hydrogen sulfide.

Hydrogen sulfide is a natural byproduct of drilling for oil and gas and is also injected, along with carbon dioxide, into the ground to recover more oil after initial production has waned because of declining pressure.

The commission gathered information on safety measures at a March 13 public hearing, after the gas had killed 17 persons in recent months.

A leak near Denver City, in Yoakum County near the New Mexico border, killed nine persons Feb. 2. Atlantic Richfield shut down the pressurization project voluntarily.

One of the requirements of the commission order is for steel with a yield strength of 95,000 pounds per square inch.

The commission order applies to operations in which the hydrogen sulfide concentration exceeds 100 parts per million.

It prohibits operators from using surface facilities or pipelines within 500 feet of any public or private dwelling, public road "or any area in which the public would reasonably be present" without special commission approval.

Fixed facilities within one-fourth mile of a town, public road or other public area would have to be fenced and locked.

Warning signs would have to be posted on all approaches to, and a safe distance from the well or other facility.

Each operator is required to submit to the commission for approval a certificate of compliance, which shall include information on detection and alarm systems and a contingency plan specifying that the public must be told of the possible danger.

Blind Children Enjoy Excitement Of Circus

By DIANE MINARCIN
Associated Press Writer

LEWISTON, Maine (AP) — With one difference, the squeals of delight and expressions of wonderment were the same as those of any children enjoying the colors and excitement of a circus.

The difference was blindness.

But with the aid of earphones and local disc jockey Jon Swann's play-by-play description, the dozen children at ringside heard how the animal trainer made his tigers that are "twice the size of dogs" roll over on their backs, how the 12 ponies danced on one leg, how the woman trapeze artist almost fell doing a precarious balancing act on a bar "way above their heads," and how acrobats flipped in the air on a trampoline.

And they put their hands over their ears waiting for the explosion when Swann of station WPNO told the children a bomb in a skit with three clowns was smoking and ready to go off.

For some of the children who had been on their school's trampoline, those acrobatics were the most exciting. One wanted to know, "How big is this one?"

For others in the group, an intermission visit by a seven-foot six-inch clown was the highlight.

After touching the clown's legs to assure himself there weren't any stilts adding to the height, one boy stood on a chair and finally stretched to reach the clown's head, giggling at the feel of the straw-like hair.

"Everything's very tactile to them," explained Kate Perry, an area field representative for the Maine Institute for the Blind. "Their only experiences are what's immediately around them, what they touch and feel."

Less restless than most of the other youths in the audience, the blind children, ranging in age from 5 to 9, listened intently to the earphones while Swann detailed the big tent action.

"I've done play-by-play for hockey, baseball, basketball, football — nothing compares to this," Swann said. "It's difficult finding just the right word to express to someone who can't see what is going on around them."

Swann said he decided on the circus treat for the youths after reading about a Washington, D.C. radio station conducting a similar play-by-play for blind children.

"It's really nice for them," said Mrs. Perry. "They need special attention and the earphones make it so much easier.

"But they won't always have this. They have to grow up and make it in a normal world. Then they'll either have to go to the circus like everyone else or make the decision not to go."

STATE LAW: Compensation for an Ex-Officio School Superintendent

In those counties in which the county judge acts as ex officio county superintendent, he shall receive as salary for his services in performing the duties of county superintendent, in addition to all other compensation provided by law, whether paid on a fee or salary basis, such sum as the board of county school trustees or county board of education may determine, provided that it shall never exceed $2,600 per year.

The office budget for an ex officio county superintendent may include the following items:

(1) Appointment by the county school trustees or county board of education of an assistant to the ex officio county superintendent at a salary not to exceed $2,600.00 per year.

(2) Provision by the county school trustees or county board of education for other office and travel expenses in amount not to exceed $1050 per year.

Cub Pack Closes Season's Activity

Cub Scouts in Pack 37 met Monday evening in the Towle Park Barn to conclude the activities for the year.

Cub Master Bob Stewart welcomed the Scouts and their families. Following a special "thank you" to the parents for their interest, by Stewart, the flag ceremony was presented by Cubs in Den 6. Those participating were Cary Gunset, Whit Parks, Sam Raborn, William Steel, John Sullivan, Tommy Hunter and Gregory Grimes.

The Lord's Prayer was lead by members in Den 2. They were Mickey Broach, Kurt Dunn, Larry Hartley, Lawrence McCowan, Kinney Robinson, Dale Sands, Mark Davis and Robert Freeman.

A surprise presentation was made to Mrs. Harold Ellis for her work as Den Leader Coach for Pack 37 during the year. Mrs. Ellis was presented a potted plant from the Den Leaders. The container was autographed by the Cub Scouts in the Pack.

Another special award went to Kent Krop, Pack 37's top Exposition ticket salesman. Kent, a member of Den 5, was awarded a plaque for the honor.

Stewart introduced Loren Sullivan who will be Cub Master for 1975-76 and Mrs. Shirley Pavlik who will be Den Leader Coach for next year.

Sullivan, Awards Chairman, presented the Cub awards. Those in Den 1 receiving awards were: Mike Kirby, Wolf Badge; Frankie Vansickle, Wolf Badge; and Jimmy Vansickle, Wolf Badge.

Members of Den 2 who received awards were: Mickey Broach, one Silver Arrow Point; Mark Davis, two silver Arrow Points; Kurt Dunn, two silver points; Robert Freeman, one Silver Arrow Point; Larry Hartley, Bear Badge, one Gold Arrow Point, one Silver Arrow Point; Lawrence McCowan, two Silver Arrow Points; and Gene Sands, Bobcat pin.

Den 5 awards went to: Kevin Walker, one Gold Arrow Point, Wolf Badge, two year pin; Kent Krop, one Gold Arrow Point, three Silver Arrow Points; and Danny Osborn, one Gold Arrow Point, two Silver Arrow Points.

Den 6 award winners were: Cary Gunset, one Silver Arrow Point; Sam Raborn, one Gold Arrow Point and one Silver Arrow Point; Tommy Hunter, one Silver Arrow Point; and John Sullivan, one Gold Arrow Point and one Silver Arrow Point.

The Webelos awards for Den 3 were Presented by Jerry Gunset. They went to: Paul Ellis. Citizen, Engineer, Naturalist, Scientist and Arrow of Light; Bryan Limmer, Engineer, Scientist, Traveler and Arrow of Light; Jamey Robin, Scientist and Recuritor Badge; David Stewart, Engineer, Geologist and Arrow of Light; Andy Sealy, Artist, Geologist, Naturalist, Scholar and Traveler; and Terance Dennis, Traveler.

Boys who received the Webelos Colors were Jim League, Randy Martin, Kevin Walker, Roger Pavliek, Cary Gunset, Sam Raborn, Whit Parks, and William Steele.

An induction ceremony for the Cub Scouts who had completed the requirements for Boy Scouts was presented by David Sands leader of Boy Scout Troop 177. Boys taking part in the ceremony were Doug Webb, Andy Sealy, David Lofton, David Stewart, Bryan Limmer and Paul Ellis.

Following the awards presentation, Sullivan noted that 276 awards had been presented to members of Pack 37 during the year.

The meeting was concluded with the retreiving of the Colors and refreshments of cookies and punch.

For Sunday, April 20, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Although you'll be in a jovial mood, a pal won't be. It would be unwise to force him to frolic.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Normally, you enjoy sharing. Today, however, you'll be given something, and you'll look for ways to keep it for yourself.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You have a tendency to oversell today. Once you see your prospect is in accord with your ideas, button up.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't do anything erratic at this time to disturb a promising situation. The wrong move could be costly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're better able to cope with important matters early in the day. Toward evening, you get a little too careless.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In a situation where another is to bat for you, let him proceed with his own methods. Too many suggestions could turn him off.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Before making any major financial move, consult one whose expertise can help guide you to a wise decision.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) The course you're headed on will bring your goals within reach. Don't impatiently make any abrupt changes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Keep to your original plans today. They'll turn out to be fun. A last-minute change would mar your enjoyment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You're luckiest today dealing with persons with whom you've had past ties. One met recently could cause a problem.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Though you may meet persons who could help your career, it's not a good day to talk shop. Cultivate their good will first.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you make business arrangements today, be sure they're locked down tightly. Otherwise, you may find later the terms have been changed.

Lady Luck will favor your affairs this year more than for some time past. But don't bank too heavily on her when dealing with new business acquaintances.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

For Monday, April 21, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) The way you'll manage a business affair will work to your advantage materially, but be careful not to create hard feelings simultaneously.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You don't have as tight a rein on your budget now as you should. Watch out or you'll buy on impulse things you have no pressing need for.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) In handling a matter of importance you're going to let control slip from your hands by yielding to outside pressures.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't let yourself be jockeyed into a position today where you have to defend views unpopular with some of your friends.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Business matters and commercial dealings must be managed with a firm hand today or else potential advantages will be chiseled away.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Others are not as sold on your plans as you think. Don't be too pushy about implementing them till assured of their support.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In order to gain what you want for yourself today you mustn't back off as soon as some resistance begins to build.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be sure those you delegate authority to are capable of carrying out your wishes without making changes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This can be a very rewarding time if you concentrate on your most important present goal. Ignore unrelated interests.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Early in the day you'll be quite sociable and easygoing. Toward late afternoon you get a bit too impatient and feisty.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20Feb. 19) Give serious thought before spending today for things outside your basic domestic needs. Stick to your budget.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Common sense will tell you how to handle a tricky situation that confronts you. Don't be swayed from your decision.

Your Birthday

Youth Held In Slaying Of Deputy

HEMPSTEAD, Tex. (AP) — A 17-year-old youth was in jail today accused of slaying a deputy sheriff with the officer's gun.

Rube Allen Sparks was charged with capital murder Friday in the shooting death of Waller County Deputy Sheriff Albert Cooke, 39. Justice of the Peace J.S. Gratehouse said Sparks was being held without bond.

Sheriff's officers said Cooke arrested a youth early Friday after a breakin at a service station here. They said the youth apparently struggled with Cooke inside Cooke's car and took the officer's .38 caliber pistol.

Cooke's body with six bullet wounds in the head was found about two miles west of town and his car was found abandoned in Hempstead. Department of Public Safety officers arrested Sparks in Hockley after two motorists said they were forced at gunpoint to drive a youth toward Houston. They said the youth decided to get out near Hockley.

RATHER THAN BE CAPTURED

Hearst, Companions Armed, Willing To Die

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Fugitive newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst and two companions are armed and "willing to die" rather than be captured, the San Francisco Examiner quotes sources as saying.

"If the FBI shoots first, they will shoot back," the newspaper said. It quoted unidentified sources who claimed they have seen and talked to Miss Hearst, 21, and Symbionese Liberation Army members William and Emily Harris.

"They are willing to die and they probably feel that its better to die than spend years in prison. And if the FBI breaks into where they are staying, they will shoot," the sources were quoted as saying.

Miss Hearst's father, Randolph A. Hearst, president and editor of the Examiner, said through Hearst Corp. offices in New York he was "comforted to know she is alive and well." He said "some of the information is speculative" and declined further comment.

FBI agent Charles Bates said he would "make no statements concerning any remarks made by anyone in this case. We are continuing our investigation to apprehend three fugitives in this case — namely Patty Hearst and Bill and Emily Harris."

The Examiner said it had obtained the "first inside view of the SLA" since Miss Hearst was kidnaped Feb. 4, 1974, by interviewing San Francisco Bay area persons who know the fugitives.

The story said the sources provided enough information "to verify that they have had direct contact" with the Harrises and Miss Hearst, who after her abduction renounced her family and said she had joined her terrorist kidnapers.

The newspaper said its sources preferred anonymity for fear of being subpoenaed by a grand jury.

The sources would not say where the fugitives were living or whether they were still together.

Their life is "normal within limits" and includes fishing, swimming and extensive readings in American history, one source said.

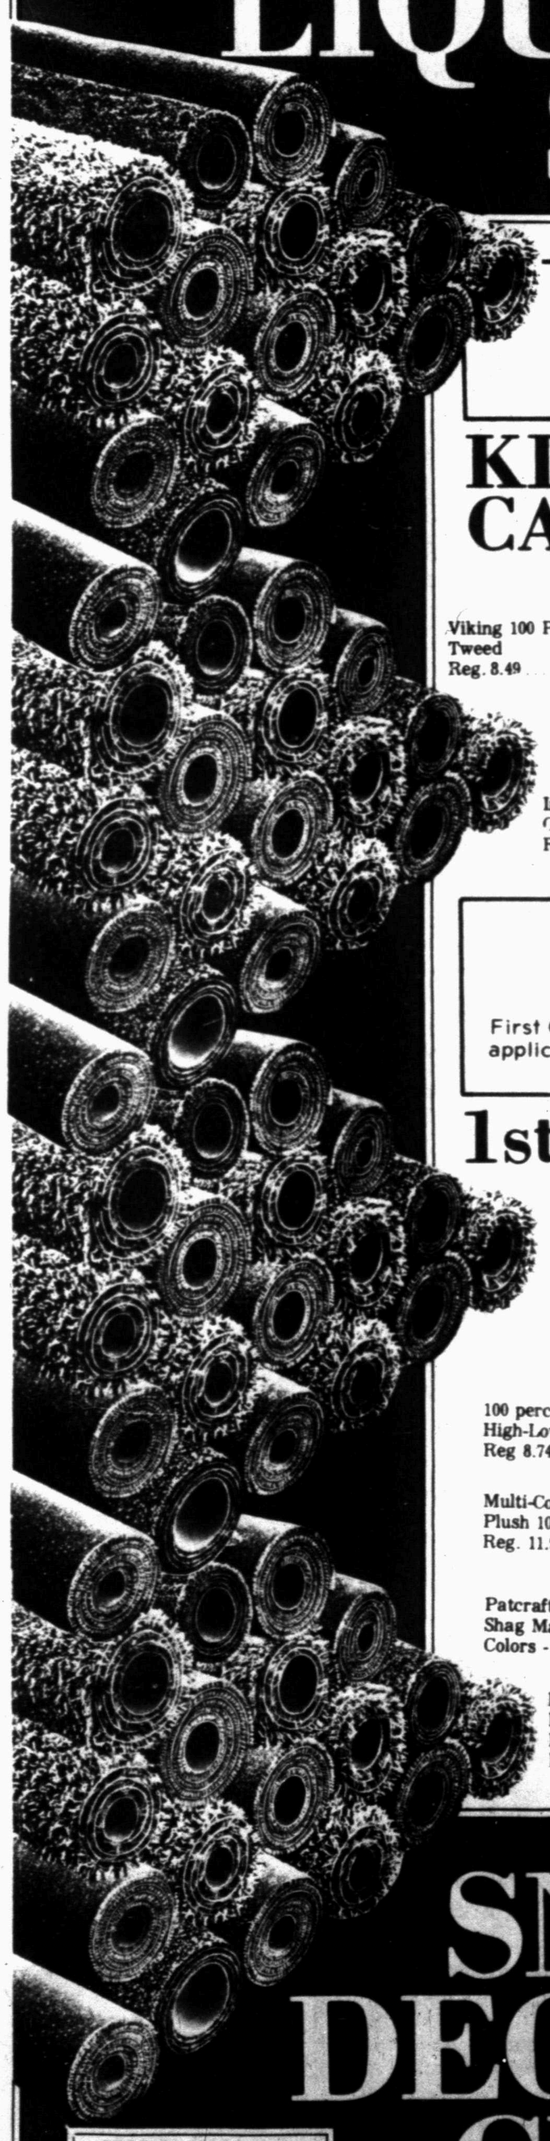

Miss Hearst and the Harrises are not depressed and keep busy "working for social change," said the source.

Couple Honored On Sixtieth

S. E. and Edna McCowen, Roby Highway, celebrated their Sixtieth wedding anniversary last Tuesday. They were married in Cross Plains on April 15, 1915. Mr. McCowen was born December 5, 1893 in Burleson County and Mrs. McCowen on August 15, 1898 in Eastland Co. They have lived in Scurry County for over 50 years. Engaged in farming for many years, Mr. "Mac" was known quite well as a horse trader in earlier days in Snyder. He had several feed lots in the stock yards on Ave. R. where the Post office building now stands. He shipped many truck loads of stock to Mississippi. As horses and mules became part of the past, he dealt mostly with cattle.

They are the parents of ten children, six sons and four daughters. They are Allon McCowen of Lubbock, Lloyd McCowen of Odessa, Mrs. Marie Schello of Montrose, Colo., Mrs. Larue Haney of Lubbock, Roy McCowen, Abilene, Mrs. Shirley Bratton of Bay City, Don McCowen of Rankin and two Snyder residents, Clint, Roby Hwy, and Mrs. Lois Thompson, 3009 Thirty-fifth St.

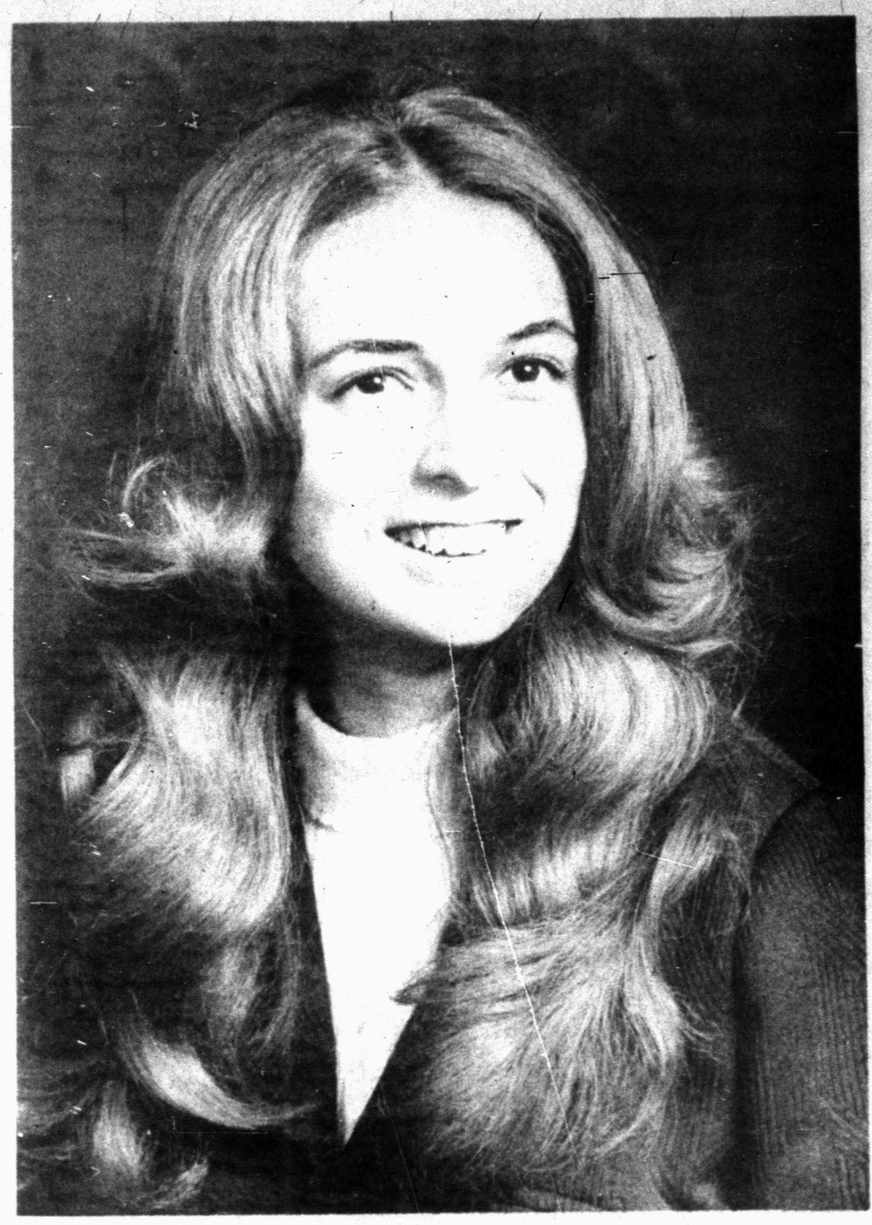

There are also 29 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

The McCowens attend church regularly. They are members of the East Side Church of Christ.

Variety Of Items Featured On Cart

Inez Brown, gift shop chairman since it was organized in January, 1970 and charter member of the Women's Auxiliary of Cogdell Memorial Hospital, is pictured with the newest addition to the shop. The pink cart, operated by Auxilians, rolls down the halls of Cogdell Memorial Hospital every morning so that patients not able to come to the shop located in the hospital lobby may purchase personel care items, magazines, cigarettes, satin pillow cases, toys for children. The cart also carries a wide variety of notes and note paper. Most of the items featured in the gift shop are hand made and donated by Auxiliary members. For the new baby, there are crib covers, booties, jackets, afghans. One can also select small artificial flower arrangements, wall plaques and books. The gift shop in the lobby is open 7 days a week from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m. All profits from here go into the Auxiliary nursing scholarship fund. To date, the Women's Auxiliary of Cogdell Memorial Hospital has given scholarships or aid to 18 nursing students in the amount of $7,730.00.

Music Scholarship Available

The Musical Coterie, affiliated with the Texas Federation of Music Clubs, is offering a music scholarship to a graduating Snyder High School Senior who is interested in pursuing his musical talent in college. The scholarship will be awarded primarily on the basis of talent and not necessarily financial need. The scholarship will be a minimum of $100.00 to be used in attending the college of the recepient's choice. Repertoire will include two contrasting numbers by memory with selections left to the student's choice. (Preferably a UIL solo and a contrasting number). The winner of the scholarship will be announced at the SHS graduation exercises. A panel of judges chosen by the scholarship committee will be reputable men and women in their field of music. The contest is open to any voice, string, piano, organ or band student in the Snyder High School Senior Class.

The deadline for entry forms to be mailed is midnight May 5. A check for $2.50 must accompany your entry form. Make check payable to Musical Coterie. Send your entry and form to Mrs. Wayne Bethel, Scholarship Auditions Chairman, 3773 Sunset, Snyder. The committee is composed of Mrs. Bethel, Mrs. Ben Brock and Mrs. Virgil Mott.

Give minestrone soup (homemade or canned) a new topping. Instead of the usual grated Italian-style cheese, serve the soup with cheddar cheese croutons. One excellent variety of these croutons comes in a 7-ounce package and contains no undesirable additives.

From the Minutes of the Fluvanna School Board, April 7, 1975:

Motion: James Beaver moved that the Board pass a resolution opposing both propositions to be voted on in the April 22 election. Proposition I: To abolish the office of Scurry County School Superintendent. Proposition II: To abolish the office of Ex-Officio County School Superintendent and the Scurry County School Board. Seconded by Sam Bruner. Vote: All for.

RESOLUTION

Whereas: The abolishment of the Scurry County School Superintendent's Office and the Ex-Officio County Superintendent's Office and the Scurry County School Board would cause financial losses and, possibly over a period of years, territorial loss to the Fluvanna Independent School District, and

Whereas: The abolishment of the Scurry County School Board and the Ex-Officio County School Superintendent would place the final decisions on matters involving property annexation between school districts in Scurry County in the hands of the Scurry County Judge, and

Whereas: The Scurry County School Superintendent and his assistant can and should provide services to all the schools in Scurry County,

Be It Resolved: That the Fluvanna School Board unanimously opposes the abolishment of the Scurry County School Superintendent's Office and the abolishment of the Scurry County Ex-Officio Superintendent's Office and the Scurry County Board.

Jazz Museum Seeking Funds

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Jazz Museum wants to expand, but it needs money. The lease on its present building expires at the beginning of May. It has found a bigger spot and has two months to secure necessary financing, so a fund-raising drive is on.

The museum's collections and library are used by students and researchers. It has also given jazz puppet shows for children, given outdoor concerts for the National Park Service, produced a history-of-jazz film.

Quotable Women

By The Associated Press

Here are some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"Not the church, not the state. Women must decide our fate. We believe that people have the right to control our own lives and our own bodies." Linda D'Addario leading members of the National Organization for Women in a protest of the refusal by the Roman Catholic bishop of the San Diego diocese to grant Communion to women favoring abortion.

"They brought along butter cookies and bananas and everything. We thought there would be garbage all over the place but they were neat." National Airlines stewardess Sharmon Allbritten in Miami, Fla., describing the first "no frills" flight.

"I couldn't go on TV and read from some of these books. We're looking to Congress for help to find out how these books got into schools for little children." Louise Leonard of Harpers Ferry, W.Va., who led a group to Washington to protest allegedly obscene textbooks.

"I figured I may as well go down on a little boat as a big boat." Edwina Mackenzie, 90, one of the survivors of the sinking of the Titanic on April 14, 1912, explaining why she chose to leave the ship and take her chances in one of the half-empty lifeboats.

Clower Makes Kindergarten Proposal

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Sen. Ron Clower's proposal to cut down on the size of public kindergarten classes may sound like "heaven" to teachers but it could play havoc with the state budget.

Clower, D-Garland, who said his daughter was in kindergarten, proposed reducing the teacher-pupil ratio from 1 to 25 to 1 to 10.

"It sounds like heaven to our teachers," said J.W. Allen, principal of William B. Travis Elementary School in Corsicana.

The cost?

"Eighty-five million," said Clower.

Pause.

"That's for the first year (of the biennium). The second year would be $99 million."

The measure was sent to a Senate subcommittee.

Magenta, the brilliant red aniline dye derived from coal tar, was discovered in 1859 and named in commeration of the bloody battle of Magenta when the Austrians were defeated by the French and the Sardinians.

Price Freedom May Hurt Little Guy

EDITOR'S NOTE — When the restrictions end next month on the commissions charged by stockbrokers, the odds are that institutional investors will benefit from the new pricing freedom, but not the little guy on the market.

By CHET CURRIER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Mayday," the traditional radio distress call of pilots and sailors, is ringing theough Wall Street with a different but compelling meaning this spring.

Is is the unofficial code word for the May 1 start of price competition in the securities industry, after almost 200 years of fixed minimum brokerage commissions on stock transactions.

For stockbrokers, it probably will mean new competitive pressures. And for the investor, it will mean the opportunity to shop for investment services just as people now shop for the least expensive television set or a life insurance policy.

The Securities and Exchange Commission decided last January to abolish fixed commissions to give investors the opportunity to obtain the lowest possible price.

The New York Stock Exchange, the American Stock Exchange, and most other exchanges around the country have set the minimum commissions brokers may charge on transactions. They range from half a per cent to 2 per cent on most trades, but the commissions on very large purchases or sales of stocks can be less than half a per cent. And the commission is as much as 10 per cent on very small transactions involving few shares.

Wall Street has been feeling its way toward Mayday. Few brokerage firms have indicated what might be charged once restrictions on commissions are removed on May 1.

"Anyone who tells you he knows exactly what's going to happen is mistaken," says Edward I. O'Brien, president of the Securities Industry Association, the brokers' trade group.

Besides price shopping, a customer also will have the opportunity for the first time to pay only for those brokerage house services he wants. Until now, part of every commission payment has gone toward the cost of research reports, safekeeping facilities for stock certificates and other brokerage house functions.

The changes raise the issue of survival.

"Is this going to drive hundreds of firms out of business, as some people have been saying? I don't think so," O'Brien maintains.

One executive of a large brokerage house, on the other hand, contends that the number of NYSE member firms could shrink by at least two-thirds from the current total of 500.

"Some people are saying there'll be as few as 50 eventual surviviors" he says. "I think 50 is too low — but 150 may well be high."

"The conventional wisdom is that the institutional investors will get lower commissions and that the little guy will always have to pay more," O'Brien acknowledges. But he adds that this conclusion isn't final yet.

The problem for individuals is that their role is so small in the stock market. The insitutions — banks, pensions funds, insurance companies and mutual funds — do more than two-thirds of all trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Lake Victoria, 26,828 square miles in area, is the largest lake in Africa and third largest in the world.

Mr. And Miss WTC Presentation To Highlight Annual Spring Formal

Mr. and Miss Western Texas College of 1975 will be presented at the annual spring formal on Thursday night in the Scurry County Coliseum.

Nominees for the honors are Paula Bell, Sonja Davis, Sharon Johns, Robin Nail, Teresa Scott, Jakie Fotenot, Scotty Hoyle, Bob Miller, Robbie Panter and Casey Wills. Students at the college have voted for the titlists by secret ballot, and all nominees will be honored as Campus Favorites.

Spring Circus will be the theme for the formal. Music will be provided by Orion from Austin.

This will be fourth year Mr. and Miss WTC have been selected. Previous winners were Terry Cannon from Gail and Henry Garland from Wink in 1972, Bobby Peeples from Odessa and Pam Petty from Post in 1973, and Janice Browne from Gail and Bobby Cobb from Haksell in 1974.

Three of this year's nominees were also selected as nominees for the Mr. and Miss WTC titles last year. They are Paula Bell, Sonja Davis and Scotty Hoyle.

Miss Bell, a sophomore from Snyder, has served as a cheerleader for two years at WTC and is a member of the student senate. She is majoring in elementary education and plans to transfer to Texas Tech University next fall. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. D.C. Bell.

Miss Davis, an Abilene sphomore, was chosen for the Miss Trailhand title in both 1974 and 1975. She was elected to the Student senate and is a member of Phi Theta Kappa, national honor society for two-year college students, and the Baptist Student Union. She was named to the Dean's List for the 1974 fall Semester and to Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges this spring. A medical secretary major, Miss Davis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Davis.

Hoyle, a sophomore physical education major from Post, plans to transfer to Angelo State University next semester. He lists music as his minor, and enjoys music as a hobby. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Hulen Hoyle.

Another sophomore nominee for the Miss WTC title is Teresa Scott of Snyder. She was named Miss Spirit of 1974-75 earlier this year and was named to Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges. She is treasurer of Kappi Chi, secretary of Los Vaqueros and a member of Phi Theta Kappa. She is majoring in dental hygiene. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott.

Sharon Johns of Snyder has served as a cheerleader this year. A sophomore special education major, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry McClain.

Robin Nail, a Snyder freshman, was chosen Golf Sweetheart by the golf team members this spring. A physical education major, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Nail.

Fotenot was chosen to receive the Mr. Spirit of 1974-74 title this spring. A freshman pre-law major, he is president of los Vaqueros and a member of the Student Senate. A graduate of Nederland High School, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L.J. Fotenot of Port Neches.

Miller led the Western Texas College Westerner basketball team to its first national championship in the NJCAA this year. A sophomore student from Seaford, N.Y., he transferred to WTC from West Texas State University. Miller was named Most Valuable Player at the national NJCAA tournament and was chosen to play in the first NJCAA All-Star game in San Antonio on April 4. There he was presented the Wills-Wagstaff Award given annually to the outstanding junior college basketball player in the U.S. Miller's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Miller.

Panter, a sophomore business major from Jayton, was elected Mr. Trailhand this year. He is a member of the Student Senate and treasurer of Phi Theta Kappa, and was named to the Dean's list for the fall semester. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Panter.

Wills, a freshman from Lueders, is majoring in electromechanical technology at WTC. He is a member of Phi Theta Kappa. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Wills.

CASEY WILLS AND ROBIN NAIL

'Flouting Of Truth' Is Deplored

DAVIDSON, N. C. (AP) — Leon Jaworski, former special Watergate prosecutor, said Friday that six months after leaving Washington he still is struck by one thing he found in the nation's capital.

"Perhaps the most incredible of all conditions I encountered in Washington was not only a flirting with the truth by some high officials, but a blatant flouting of the truth — a contemptible course of conduct," he said.

His remark came in an address at Davidson College, where he was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree.

Jaworski, 69, headed the prosecution team which won convictions of a number of top Nixon administration officials, including H. R. Haldeman, John Ehrlichman and John Mitchell.

He also won the Supreme Court case requiring Nixon to release secret tapes of White House conersations. Revelations on the tapes led to Nixon's resignation as president last Aug. 9.

With his job finished last October, Jaworski returned to his Houston, Tex., law firm.

He cautioned Davidson students that the Watergate nightmare should not discourage young people from entering public service.

Referring to "men who once had fame in their hands sinking to infamy," Jaworski told the students, "That some may have fallen from grace doesn't mean all will. We know there are many honest officials."

Recalling a lighter episode of the Watergate affair, Jaworski said when he won the Supreme Court ruling to release White House tapes, he received a telegram from a couple saying their newborn child would be named in his honor.

Later, said Jaworski, when he refused to attack President Ford's pardon of Nixon, the couple wired again that they had changed the child's name.

Senior Citizens Day Set Saturday

Senior Citizens of Scurry County will be honored at the second annual Senior Citizens Day sponsored by the Sunrisers Kiwanis Club next Saturday.

The program will begin at 12:30 p.m. in the Scurry County coliseum with a welcome by Guy Sullivan, president of the Sunrisers Kiwanis Club. County Judge Preston Wilson, Mayor Bill Vestal and Herman Doak, a member of the RSVP Advisory Council, will also extend welcomes to the Senior Citizens.

Delbert Downing will serve as master of ceremonies for the program throughout the afternoon.

A highlight of the afternoon will be the presentation of the 1975 Outstanding Senior Texan award at 3:30 p.m. by Don Stacy, first vice president of the Sunrisers club. Mrs. Nellie Smith, retired public school teacher, was recipient of the first award presented in 1974. Churches, civic organizations and clubs have been asked to submit nominations from which the Outstanding Senior Texan will be slected. Nominees must be 60 years of age or older and must have rendered outstanding service to the community.

A display of arts and crafts, musical entertainment, a flower arranging demonstration; games and presentation of other prizes are also planned, and refreshments will be served.

All Senior Citizens are invited to attend the program.

WTC Faculty Has Election

New officers have been elected for the Faculty Association at Western Texas College for the 1975-76 term.

Named president was Gerald Corkran, Assistant Professor and Director of the developmental reading Center. Janet Halbert, English instructor, was named vice president and Verna Ramey, Assistant Professor of Secretarial Science, was named secretary.

Committee chairmen are Toni Turk, academic Affairs; Lynn Dyer, Faculty Welfare; Mickey Schmidt, Grants Research; Winnie Poyner, Nominations and Election; Harry Krenek, Professional Evaluation; Mickey Baird, Social, and Joe Carter, Speaker Availability.

DA To Pursue Jacobsen Case

SAN ANGELO (AP) — Royal Hart, 119th district attorney, says he plans to pursue the case against Jake Jacobsen for alleged misapplication of funds from a San Angelo savings and loan association even if special prosecutors do not.

Jacobsen was the government's star witness in its bribery prosecution against former Texas Gov. and U.S. Treasury Secretary John B. Connally. Connally was acquitted on the charges this week in Washington. The government had agreed to drop its prosecution of Jacobsen if he would testify against Connally.

"If a three-judge federal court in New Orleans rules that special prosecutors can proceed, then we'll let them," Hart said. "If not, then we will proceed against Jacobsen on the state level."

DPS Office To Take Holiday

The Texas Department of Public Safety's drivers license office will be closed Monday in observance of San Jacinto day, an official state holiday.

The regular office hours will be resumed Tuesday.
