

Men 45 Through 64 Register In County Monday

Approximately 1500 men between the ages of 45 through 64 will be registered in Collingsworth County, Monday, April 27, in the fourth registration held under the selective service regulations. This will be the largest group to have registered in this county.

Points of registration were announced this week by Ross Wilkerson, clerk of the local draft board, along with the names of those men who will be in charge at each place. These include:

Dodson, with Claude Caperton in charge.

Sammorwood, with Cecil Brown in charge.

Lutie with Floyd Thompson in charge.

Quail, with T. C. Crabtree in charge.

Rolla, with John Trew in charge.

Dodson, with Dewey Malone in charge.

Wellington, with Mr. Wilkerson in charge. Registration will be in the County Court Room, the Justice Court Room, and at other points in the courthouse if necessary.

Each of these men in charge will select their helpers, but these will be much the same as in the last registration, since that group of men and women is already familiar with the procedure, Mr. Wilkerson said.

The registering places will open at 7:00 a. m. and remain open until 9 p. m.

All men between and including the ages of 45 and 64 must be registered at this time.

Since these men will not be (Continued on Page Twelve)

Dodson Returns All City Officers

Tobe Deahl was reelected mayor of Dodson and the entire City Council was returned to office in city elections held there recently.

Members of the Council elected were D. E. Scott, Dewey Malone, M. P. Scott, J. C. Howell, and Fred Boyd.

Approximately 40 votes were cast in the election.

Rye Experiment Profitable For Fresno Farmer

E. C. Clement of the Fresno community is firmly convinced that by watching for and trying new varieties of products, Collingsworth County farmers can help themselves materially.

Mr. Clement this year planted as an experiment one-half acre of Balboa rye. He reports that this is now breast high, although it has been grazed heavier than rye usually is.

He adds that it is now beginning to head, and unless something unforeseen happens to it, his rye will yield considerably more than the ordinary varieties of rye planted over the county.

Navy Relief Drive Aids Families Of Servicemen

"Navy Relief still needs your help, and it isn't too late to aid in this county's drive toward its $285 quota," Ernest Lewis, who is in charge of the drive here, told men and women of this area, Wednesday morning.

"We have raised only about half of the money we were asked to secure," he added. "There are many men from Collingsworth County now serving in the United States Navy, and it will give each of these a source of pride to know that we are behind them, and behind the work that the Navy Relief Society is doing."

Continuing, Mr. Lewis explained what the society is attempting to do, and what it has done during the more than 40 years since it was founded.

"The purpose behind the Society is this: no widow, no orphaned children, no mother or other member of the Navy man's family

THE PATTERN OF EUROPE'S SPRING OFFENSIVES

Fighting desperately to keep the Nazis in check, Russia's Red army faces 4,000,000 men, massed for Hitler's promised spring offensive. Meanwhile, British raids on industrial centers in Germany and occupied France may presage an attempt to establish a second front. Still fighting bravely, 150,000 Yugoslav patriots are locked in a death struggle against 200,000 axis soldiers.

Variety Of Programs Set For Music Week Observance

Collingsworth County music lovers will turn away from war and work and for a few days help in the observance of National Music Week. Plans for this event are nearing completion, and reveal a program more elaborate than any that has been given here during Music Week in several years.

Music of almost every type will be featured. There will be piano recitals, community singing, band concerts, and programs by school students, according to Miss Mary Katherine Hutcherson of Wellington, who is helping with the arrangements.

Climaxing the week will be the Victory Music Festival, in which more than 1,000 children will take part.

Music Week will be opened Thursday night with a piano concert by Miss Edna Joyce Gribble of Wellington; Prof. C. W. Froh, her instructor at John Tarleton College, Stephenville; Miss Margaret Henderlite and R. L. Clinton of Stephenville; and Miss Ann Boyle of Paducah. This will be given at the First Baptist Church, and will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

A band concert will be given Monday evening at 8:45 o'clock at the Wellington High School auditorium under the direction of (Continued on Page Twelve)

Must Have Old Typewriter Spools For New Ribbons

Typewriter spools are valuable. Save them.

When you buy a new typewriter ribbon, you must turn in a spool. These spools are as good as new, and will be sent in for use in winding a new ribbon. Spools are made of strategic metal, which the government needs in munition factories.

Firms Handling Sugar Register Next Week

Trade Registration for Sugar will be held in the high schools of the county Tuesday and Wednesday, April 28-29. All retail stores handling sugar, cafes, hospitals, bakeries, and boarding houses are to register on these days, Gene Lewis, chairman of the county rationing board said at this week.

If at all possible, all businesses that are to register should secure the registration forms before Registration Day, the chairman urged. These forms can be secured by calling at the Local Rationing Office, located on the corner of 9th and Amarillo streets, or by contacting the following persons: E. G. Sanders, Sammorwood; Carl Chaudoin, Quail; Jack Davis, Dodson; J. L. Beard, Wellington.

"The retailers will need the following information when they register: 1. Gross sales of all meats, groceries, fruits and vegetables, etc., for week ending April 25, 1942. 2. Sugar delivered to and accepted by retailer during month of November, 1941. 3. The amount of sugar on hand at the close of business, April 27, 1941," Mr. Lewis explained.

All Institutional and Industrial Users (Hospitals, Cafes, Bakeries, etc.) can secure information relative to registration from the Local Rationing Office.

Further instructions concerning the registration of the citizens in general have not yet arrived at the county rationing office, but these will be announced next week, it was stated.

Revival Interest Growing, Pastors In Charge Believe

"Interest in our revival services is growing, and with the continued support and help of the people of the town, those of us helping with it feel that the meeting will be truly successful," Rev. J. E. Kirby, pastor of the Methodist Church, reported Tuesday night concerning the revival now in progress.

Rev. E. D. Landreth, pastor of the Methodist Church in Lamesa, is in charge of the preaching, while Rev. Wayne Cook, pastor of the Wheeler Church, is helping with the young people's work.

These services will continue through Sunday night, April 22, Rev. Kirby reminded.

"While the interest has been good, we still need your presence and support," Rev. Kirby said, "and we urge all people of Wellington interested in religious welfare of the town to attend. However, we especially urge the members of the Methodist Church to be present during the remaining services of the revival."

Services are held twice daily, at 11 a. m. and 8:30 p. m.

Wednesday night has been designated as young people's and young adult's night, and Rev. Landreth's sermon will be especially for this group.

Thursday night will be for men and boys.

"This doesn't mean that others are not to come—they are, and we want them, but on these two nights, the services will be especially directed to these groups," (Continued on Page Twelve)

Noah Cunningham Is New Head Of Quail Schools

Noah Cunningham who has been principal of Memphis High School for the past four years has been elected superintendent of the Quail Rural Consolidated Schools for next year. He was given a two-year contract. He succeeds Carl Chaudoin, who has been named superintendent of the McLean school.

The Quail School is not only recognized as being the largest school of its kind in the world, but it has state and national recognition for its outstanding Vocational Departments.

Mr. Cunningham is a former grade school principal and head coach at Quail. He served there slightly more than two years before going to Memphis. He coached Quail boys' basketball team to the state championship during this time.

While at Quail Monday, Mr. Cunningham called a meeting of the Quail school board for the purpose of electing other faculty members. All of this year's teachers were re-elected for the 1942-43 session with the exception of those who had submitted their resignations because of employment elsewhere, and those teachers who are in the Quail system on contract from other districts, and whom the board has no authority to elect.

Teachers elected were Mrs. Geo. Graham, Mrs. Orval Tate, Mrs. Evelyn Lowe, Miss Margaret McElreath, C. O. Hill, high school principal, Miss Daisy Cagle, Vernon E. Bullard, grade school principal, Miss Maurine Motley, Mrs. L. C. Marchant, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Dowell, Mrs. Vernon E. Bullard, and Miss Velma Sweet.

Teachers resigning were Mr. and Mrs. Chaudoin, J. B. Riddle, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Hooker, and Mrs. B. O. Currin. Contract teachers are Mr. and Mrs. Claude Brown and Miss Dorothy Grigsby.

George Thomas was reelected janitor and H. A. McMinn bus mechanic and driver. New teachers and other bus drivers will be considered at a later date.

"I'm mighty glad to come back to Quail, and I can assure you that I will put out every effort, not only to hold the school to the same high rank, but to add to it. There may be dark days ahead (Continued on Page Twelve)

After six weeks of advanced training he will receive his wings.

Scott McCall Reports For Duty In Navy

Coach Scott McCall of Wellington reported for duty with the United States Navy at Dallas Tuesday, April 21, and was due to leave immediately for San Diego, Cal., to begin his training.

Coach McCall had enlisted previously with the Naval Reserve, and he received notice Thursday to report for active duty.

These orders left McCall's Skyrocket Grid team in the middle of its spring workout, and completely without a coach, since Assistant John Lee had resigned only a week ago.

Mr. McCall came to Wellington last September as high school coach, after having served for several years as a coach and teacher in the Shamrock High School. Mrs. McCall entered the local system at the same time, and less than two weeks ago, both were re-elected.

Although he knows nothing definite other than that he is going to San Diego, Mr. McCall said late (Continued on Page Twelve)

John Lee Enters Defense Work

John Lee, assistant high school coach and junior high school teacher, resigned his position here and last week began work as a guard in a defense plant in Amarillo.

Mr. Lee has just taken the high school boxing team through the most successful season in its history, and at the time of his resignation was assisting in training the Skyrockets in their spring football training.

A former Amarillo resident, Mr. Lee attended high school and junior college in that town, and later graduated from West Texas State College.

No one will be selected to take Mr. Lee's place in the school system, J. L. Beard, superintendent, has stated.

Visitors Come From 36 Lodges Over Panhandle

Wellington will be host to members of the Odd Fellow and Rebekah Lodges from points throughout West Texas Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday, April 26, 27, and 28, when the Panhandle Association meets with the Wellington Lodges.

This is an annual meeting, and the highlight of the entire year for these two outstanding organizations.

Fred Kersten, Noble Grand of the Wellington I. O. O. F. Lodge, and vice president of the Association, is in charge of the local arrangements. He is assisted by a group of committees who are working out all details for the program.

"We believe that this will be one of the outstanding meetings in the entire history of the Panhandle Association," Mr. Kersten said Tuesday evening, after all major plans for the event had been completed. As yet, it is not definite just how many persons will attend, although there will be representatives from 35 lodges in 12 counties of the Panhandle. Approximately 400 persons attended the meeting last year at Shamrock, but Mr. Kersten stated that he expected the tire situation to cut this year's attendance somewhat.

An elaborate program has been worked out, and during the three day session, many of the outstanding leaders of the two lodges in the Panhandle will speak.

The official program was announced this week by Mr. Kersten.

The Association will open Sunday night, April 26, at 8:30 with a Memorial Service at the Baptist Church. The numbers include: Song—"Nail Scarred Hand," by (Continued on Page Twelve)

Mrs. D. Pritchard Injured In Fall At High School

Mrs. Dalton Pritchard of Wellington was painfully injured Monday night when she fell down a flight of stairs at the high school. She had been attending a First Aid class and was preparing to go home when the accident occurred.

At St. Joseph's Hospital, where she was taken for treatment, it was determined that she had received general body bruises and a head injury. These were not considered serious, however, and Mrs. Pritchard was dismissed from the hospital Tuesday.

District Court Opens Here On Monday

District Court is scheduled to open in Wellington Monday morning, April 27, with Judge A. S. Moss of Memphis presiding. J. McBroom, district clerk, said today.

At present, there are 112 cases on docket for this term of court. Of these, however, 92 are tax suits, and only 18 are civil cases. This is an unusually small number of civil suits to be docketed at the opening of court.

The Grand Jury will convene for the first week of court.

County Has First Wind Damage Of Season Saturday

The county's first damaging rain and wind storm of the season struck Saturday and Sunday, April 18 and 19, damaging small buildings, blowing down trees, and ruining bridges in several widely separated communities.

Rainfall over the county was general, and in all but a few communities amounted to around one inch for the two days.

High wind, accompanied by a heavy downpour of rain, reached Wellington shortly after noon Saturday.

Several hog houses at the L. A. Manzer place on the south edge of town were demolished and the lumber scattered for an extent of more than a block. Several large trees were blown over, and limbs broken off of others. One window was blown out of the Hotel Wellington at this time.

Other damage reported to The Leader came from the Salt Fork community, where the church building was badly damaged. At the D. W. Harris farm, in the same area, a chicken house was partially demolished, and the roof of a garage blown off and the remainder of the building twisted.

At Lutie, a chicken house on the place occupied by E. Brumblow was completely demolished.

High water, coming down Buck Creek, washed the piling from beneath the bridge on the road leading to the Rolla and Swearingen communities, while a smaller bridge on the Quail-Memphis road was a complete loss.

Material and equipment is now being moved to repair and rebuild these bridges.

In addition, several culverts were washed out in various parts of the county.

Heavy hail was reported Sunday (Continued on Page Twelve)

Demand For Birth Certificates Grows In County

With many residents of the county seeking work in defense and other industries, the need for each to secure a birth certificate is greater than at any time since Texas passed the first vital statistics law 39 years ago.

Because more and more private and public business executives are calling upon workers to produce these birth certificates, the following instructions have been secured from Miss Margaret Shields, county clerk, relative to securing a birth certificate.

If a person's birth is on record in Texas, he may write to the county clerk of the county where he was born, and the clerk will send a certified copy of the recorded birth.

If the birth is not on record, a delayed birth certificate form must be prepared, which will be approved by the county where the birth occurred. The clerk of that county will then record it, and a certified copy will be sent the person requesting it. On these birth certificate forms, it is necessary that affidavits be signed by two persons who knew the facts concerning the birth. One must be someone not related by blood or marriage. The other may or may not be a relative.

These forms may be secured from the office of any county clerk.

Persons born out of the state whose birth was not recorded must go through the same procedure, writing to the proper officials. These officials vary with the states, however, Miss Shields said.

Costs for securing birth certificates of this type include probate costs, recording fees, notary fees, and 50 cents for the certified copy.

Texas first vital statistic law was passed in 1903, but since this was not stringent, many persons born since that time find that their births were not recorded. The amended law of 1927 has brought about the registering of practically all children since that date.

Persons planning to secure birth certificates should have the following information asked for on the form: county of birth; city or precinct number; street and number or name of institution; full name of child; sex; twin, triplet, or other; number in order of birth; full name of father; residence at time of this birth; color or race of father; age of father at time of this birth; birthplace of father; trade, profession or kind of work done by father; industry or business in which father is engaged; number of children born to this mother, including this birth; full maiden name of mother; residence at time of this birth; color or race of mother; age of mother at time of this birth; birthplace of mother; trade, profession or kind of work done by mother; industry or business in which mother was engaged; number of children born to this mother and now living.

Rev. Neal Will Return For Services Sunday

Rev. J. P. Neal, pastor of the First Baptist Church, who is now conducting revival services at Kellerville, announced this week that he will be back for both services Sunday, April 26.

Dear Deck:

I've been receiving The Leader about three weeks now, and I want you to know how much I appreciate getting it. It's even better than a letter from home for now I get all the news and gossip of all my friends and acquaintances my mother doesn't have time to write about. Next to pay day, news from home is the one thing all the boys look forward to most.

I like the Marines better every day. Some of the training we have makes me understand why they are called Leathernecks and Devil-Dogs. There are more boys from Texas here than any other state. I tell everyone that is why the Marines are such a good organization.

I've been transferred from line duty to Battalion Headquarters. I'm now Battalion carpenter, and have been made a Corporal. The boys in my company all tease me about being a yard bird Corporal because I'm still drawing $21.00 a month. I don't mind, though, because it usually takes from 8 to 12 months to attain that rating.

Don't know much to say that won't be military information, so I will send you a copy of the paper that is published at the Marine Corps base each week.

Let me thank you again for the paper, and please change the address to,

In the China Grove district, where one trustee was to be elected each of the candidates, W. M. Elder and C. E. Sutton, received two votes. Nothing definite has been done about this vote.

County school trustees elected were W. S. White and W. A. Bennett, while County trustee at large was L. D. McMinn.

Pastor Moved To Quitaque

Rev. Marvin Brotherton of Shamrock, pastor of the Methodist Circuit, which includes Aberdeen, Samnorwood and Dozier Churches in this county, has been transferred to Quitaque to become pastor of the church there.

During the time he has served these three Collingsworth County churches, Rev. Brotherton has become widely known in church work of this district. Mrs. Brotherton and their two sons accompanied him to Quitaque.

He succeeds Rev. U. S. Sherrill, who has conducted several revival meetings in this county, and who has a wide circle of friends in this area.

From where I sit...

by Joe Marsh

VERY OFTEN these days, I get to thinking about the soldier boys at camp. And the sailors, too.

What worries me is... what happens when they get a day off after working their heads off all week? They go to town... and what then?

What happens? The answer is... mostly nothing! Because most towns near army camps just don't have nearly enough entertainment facilities to take care of the soldiers on leave. So the boys just stand around, leaning against lampposts or sitting on doorsteps. And sometimes, the local townsfolk find themselves wondering what's changed the town... instead of pitching in to help the boys have a good time in decent surroundings.

In many towns, however, the situation is better. Many towns have nice, community places where a soldier can go sit down and "chew the fat" and enjoy some cake and milk, or maybe a good glass of beer. The boys like that. And they're not likely to get in trouble... because common sense tells you nothing can be wrong about a couple of glasses of beer.

There's another reason, too. The beer industry is cooperating with the army and with the law-enforcement officers to help keep the places where beer is sold, clean and decent. The brewers don't want their beer sold to soldiers in places where bad conditions exist... and they're right.

Seems to me that we Americans ought to get together and do everything we can to make things pleasant for the boys who are in training. They're doing their duty... maybe we have some duties, too, in this direction.

There are lots of ways of helping. We ought to support them all. All of us have our part to play in winning this war... and making life a little easier for the boys in camp is something we all can do something about.

An unusual kind of guard (without a gun) is constantly on "watch" over your Dependable Natural Gas Service.

Quietly through every night and every day, the load dispatchers of this Company and associated Companies marshal the Gas reserves throughout the System to meet the demands of this area, whether for a gigantic war plant or for domestic needs.

Nerve center of more than 3,300 miles of telephone and telegraph lines and more than 6,000 miles of pipe lines, the load dispatchers are only a small part of the more than 3,000 skilled, experienced employees whose duty it is to keep the Gulf South's Natural Gas Service DEPENDABLE.

This dependability of Natural Gas is what makes it such a valuable fuel for industry, either for war or peacetime production, and it has meant much in creating greater payrolls and greater war production for the Gulf South.

Management Will Help Farmers Gain This Year

"Good management methods for making money and then retaining some permanent benefit from it will enable farmers and stockmen to materially improve their financial position this year," according to Tom B. Berry, who attended a conference of executive committeemen of six Panhandle Production Credit Associations in Plainview, April 16 and 17. R. B. McMurry, Tom B. Berry, Carl W. Crump, and Ralph Howe represented the Memphis PCA at the conference.

John H. Seale, Jr., vice-president of the Production Credit Corporation of Houston and Sam N. Hardy, assistant vice-president of the corporation, led the discussions. Other production credit representatives attending were Homer D. Jackson, field representative of the Production Credit Corporation, and Ken Scott, deputy governor of the production credit division, both of Washington, D. C., and Townsend Douglas, fieldman of the Production Credit Corporation, Houston.

The normal values figure for products—use of 5, 10, or even 20 year average—was stressed as a safeguard against getting out on the limb of high prices. Such values, they said, in most cases figure out to be about the same prices as prevailed in 1937.

This was the first of a series of meetings to be held over the state for discussion of methods to keep loans sound while helping finance the agricultural war effort and meeting prevailing cost conditions. It was pointed out that the producer must consider the higher cost of his operations and also bear in mind that the "normal values" are the sound ones to be considered by the farm and ranch family which is in business permanently.

Texas' 36 production credit associations now have about 18,606 members and a total of about $25,800,000 in loans outstanding, a gain of 26 percent in membership over a year ago and a gain of 38 percent in loans outstanding.

The Memphis Production Credit Association shows a gain of 20 percent in membership as compared to a year ago.

RESCUED FROM RAGING SEAS

Now It's The Beef Bowl

DALHART.—Clyde L. Leighton's "Beef Bowl" has won the nationwide cash award contest to rename the old Dust Bowl, which last year harvested the biggest crop in history.

His entry, one of several hundred from more than 30 states, has been chosen by a committee of pioneer Texas Plainsmen. The 53-year-old stockman lives near Clayton, New Mexico.

The Dalhart Texan made the award. The two biggest international registered Hereford bull shipments in history have been made from Dalhart. One was 254 in 1930 by Coon & Culbertson of Dalhart, then the biggest registered Hereford breeders in the world. The other was 250 this spring by W. O. Culbertson & Sons who now have the Coon & Culbertson herds. Both went to the Palomas Land & Cattle Co. in the state of Chihuahua, Mexico.

Beef cattle income in the 80 counties of the old Dust Bowl is now $28 to $36 million yearly. Wheat payroll, next biggest, is $24 million.

James D. Crooks Graduates From Metalsmith School

James Darrell Crooks, seaman second class, son of J. R. Crooks, Route 3, Wellington, recently graduated from the aviation metalsmith school at the Naval Air Station, Alameda, and is awaiting transfer to the fleet, the Navy revealed today.

Crooks attended Wellington High School.

He has been attending the trades school at the Air Station for the last six months, after receiving preliminary training at "boot camp."

While at Alameda he learned the fundamentals of maintenance, repair and assembly of all types of aircraft. He will soon be eligible for promotion to the rating of petty officer with a considerable increase in pay.

Crooks is one of the many enlisted men in the Navy today who are serving their country and at the same time learning an established and profitable trade under qualified instructors. Among the 45 courses offered to men enlisting in the Navy are aviation mechanics, radio, ordnance, photography, carpentry, stenography, and electricity.

How to take care of Your Electric Washer
Don't overload the washer, or use it to wash out just a few small pieces unless necessary. Drain immediately after using. Rinse thoroughly. Rolls and frame of wringer should be wiped dry. Release pressure on rolls when not in use. Leave cover off tub until all dampness has evaporated. Cord should be wiped dry and carefully wound on hooks. In using wringer, take care that no objects are left in pockets or metal buckles are allowed to scar or nick the rubber rollers.

How to take care of Your Electric Water Heater
No special care is required for an electric hot water heater. If properly installed, you can forget it. It will take care of itself. But be sure the thermostat is set to give the correct temperature. Keep it in operation all the time. (Since it's automatic, turning it off and allowing the water in the tank to cool, then reheating it, uses more current than continuous operation.) If you live in a section where the water is extremely "hard," it occasionally may be wise to have the heating element taken out and the lime deposit removed. Other than this, there is nothing for you to do except don't waste hot water by letting it run down the sink.

BE GOOD TO YOUR ELECTRIC APPLIACES AND THEY'LL BE GOOD TO YOU!

NEW METHODS of efficiency and economy are being worked out to provide an ample supply of light and power for military training camps and wartime industries in this West Texas country in addition to your home and business. But the factories that once turned out an abundance of electric appliances today have been converted to production of war materials. Since these appliances are vital in maintenance of civil-ian morale and in conserving time and energy for wartime work, it is essential that we all take steps to prolong the usefulness of the appliances now on hand. We are offering some suggestions to help you make them last.

How to take care of Your Electric Refrigerator

Some older models should be oiled every six months. Those with belts should be checked and new belts installed if needed. Condensers in all models should be cleaned once a year. Defrost at regular intervals, allowing the ice to melt rather than using an ice pick. (There's danger of punching a hole in the metal or freezing coil.) Close the door quickly after putting in or taking food out, using care NOT to touch rubber insulating seal around door with greasy hand. (Grease causes the rubber to deteriorate.) Let food cool before putting in refrigerator. Be sure that motor shipping bolts are fastened to prevent damage in transit when moving to new location. Be careful with ice trays—it's difficult to get new trays of any kind. Wash inside of refrigerator with baking soda and water whenever defrosting to prevent food odors.

How to take care of Your Electric Range and Small Appliances

Plan menus so that entire meals are cooked at the same time in oven or thrift cooker. In top-burner cooking turn burner to low as soon as boiling begins. Be sure to turn burners off when through using them. Don't allow liquids to boil over onto the cooking coil. (Metals in coils include copper and magnesium oxide and are hard to replace.) Wash outside of range with warm soapy water when cool. Food spilled over on surface cooking coils should be burned off. Wipe oven with damp cloth and remove food spillage after it cools.

Take good care of your small appliances because parts are becoming hard to replace. For example, the bristles in your sweeper come from China—or did. Not any more. And rubber belts and cords. You know about rubber and copper. Even electric elements in all appliances and switches for lamps are becoming scarce. So take care not to abuse them. All lamp and appliance cords should be handled a bit more carefully. Keep them off the floor if possible so they won't be trampled, knotted or kinked, causing the rubber insulation to break.

Garden Insect Control Easy, Says Farm Agent

Follow a few simple rules and control of vegetable insects is not difficult, B. A. Zorns, county agent advised this week.

"There's already been some complaint in this county of insects damaging the potatoes and English peas, and it won't be long until other vegetables will be coming on and drawing even more damaging insects," he said.

The generally accepted method of fighting insects is by dusting with a poison mixture. A duster for this may be obtained at a small cost, or one may be made simply by using a cheesecloth bag and shaking it over the vegetables, the county agent said.

Next, Mr. Zorns advised, have ready a supply of insecticides for use at the first sign of insect injury. These are cryolite for control of bean beetles, cucumber beetles, cabbage worms and other insects which feed upon the fruit and foliage of the plants; rotenone and sulphur to control tomato fruit worm, flea beetles, plant lice and leaf hoppers; and concentrated pyrethrum dust for squash bugs, stink bugs, and harlequin cabbage bugs. The garden should be watched for the first sign of injury, and both sides of the leaves should be dusted.

If the poison baits are properly used, there will be no danger of poison to humans, or to chickens that might range in the garden, the county agent said. "It is quite possible that if you put the poison out in little piles along the vegetable row a chicken could eat enough to kill it, but if the poison is shaken on the vegetables, it is entirely unlikely that the chicken would eat enough of this to kill it. Then, when the vegetable is to be eaten, a good washing will wash all poison away," he explained.

Apply poison bait late in the afternoon for control of cut worms, grasshoppers and adult wingless May beetles, or June bugs. Poison bait also will control mole crickets which frequent sandy soils.

A bait made of cryolite, finely chopped carrots or turnips and wheat bran will control the adult vegetable weevil which attacks roots and foliage of carrots, turnips, radishes and beets, together with cabbage, mustard and other leafy vegetables.

To control the bluish-gray pill bugs, or sow bugs, which damage young tomato plants, sprinkle a mixture of two parts flour, two parts sugar and one part paris green throughout the beds. Flea beetles, also dangerous to these plants, may be controlled by dusting plants with rotenone and sulphur each seven to ten days.

SOLDIER'S LIFE

... As Soldiers See It

Dear Leader:

Will try to drop you a few lines to let you know my address has been changed again, back to Ft. Jackson, South Carolina: 38068609 Co. M., 13th Inf., APO—No. 8, Fort Jackson, South Carolina.

I surely have been missing the paper, since we have been moving around. We will be here quite a while, I think.

We were down at Charleston which was a nice place. All the boys like. We are in tents now and it is plenty warm here.

This place surely has grown since we came down here. There are about 90,000 here and there were only 30,000 when we came here.

When my time runs out on the paper, let me know. I want to take it another year, and if there are any extra charges on it, I will gladly pay them. I would not do without The Leader at all.

Yours truly, E. E. Preston.

Presque Isle, Maine
April 11, 1942

Dear Deck,

I have received a few copies of the home town paper from the folks, and have read all the articles the soldiers have written. It seems they are scattered to the four corners of the earth. But after the war we will all probably settle by to our home town and people.

I have been in the Air Corps almost a year now, and as yet have never ran across any of the boys from home. There were a couple of them at Chanute while I was taking my A. M., but we never met.

The State of Maine is a very beautiful state. There was plenty of snow here the twenty-sixth of February, when I arrived, but it is almost all gone now. The farmers will soon be preparing their land for a big potato crop. That is the main thing they raise here.

As yet I have never seen a cow or chicken.

Now, about the flying field here. It is located about a mile west of the city of Presque Isle, and only ten miles from the Canadian border. There are only about seven hundred of us soldiers here and everyone is nice to us. I have been transferred from Hq. Sqdn. to the 15th Ferry Command because I had an A. M. and will work on the line from now on. This is the last stop in the U. S. for planes going to England. I will tell you this much: there are lots of them moving now and will be more shortly.

Well, Deck, I am not allowed to write very much, for we have to be awful careful here in this country at a time like this. So will close for this time. Give my best regards to everyone in Wellington and all the boys in the service.

As ever,

Serving Texas Since 1882

Burlington Lines

The FORT WORTH and DENVER CITY Railway

THE Fort Worth and Denver City Railway has been serving Texas since 1882—sixty eventful years during which it has played an important part in the development of North Texas.

Indigenous to Texas, the Fort Worth and Denver City was organized and incorporated in 1873 by a group of pioneer residents of North Texas, including Major K. M. Van Zandt, an officer in the Confederate Army and subsequently Commander in Chief of the Confederate Veterans of the United States.

Operation of the railroad between Fort Worth and Wichita Falls began in 1882, Harrold was reached in 1885, and Quanah in 1886. In 1888 the Fort Worth and Denver City was joined with the Colorado and Southern Railway at Texline, establishing a new, direct transportation artery between Texas and Colorado. Trackage rights were obtained in 1925 extending the railroad's operation to Dallas.

Since the turn of the Century, the Fort Worth and Denver City has acquired or constructed many additional lines serving North Texas, including the Wichita Valley Lines to Abilene, Spur and Waurika; the South Plains line to Lubbock and Dimmitt, and the Denver Northern from Childress to Pampa, a total of about 600 miles of railroad.

While the Fort Worth and Denver City Railway is proud of the part it has played in the development of Texas and the West, it is more interested, during these hours of crisis, in providing adequate and dependable transportation for the Army and Navy, and the civilian producers upon whom the country's fighting forces depend for supplies and equipment.

Bobbie Keller

The songbird of the senior class is none other than Bobbie Keller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Keller of Route 3, Wellington.

Born February 17, 1924, Bobbie has attended the Wellington schools for only four years. She has been a student at Cross Roads for six and a half years and at Quail for a half term.

Bobbie has won quite a reputation as being a good singer, having sung in many entertainments, both here and in near-by towns. She has been chosen the song leader of two home room clubs, and is a member of the Glee Club.

Bobbie is also the vice-president of the Home Economics home room club. Her favorite subjects are typing and bookkeeping.

She is undecided as to what college she will attend or what profession she will enter.

Perhaps Bobbie intends "to sing her way to success."

Billie Jeane Langley

A new member of the senior class is one of "the Langley twins," who entered Wellington High School only a week ago, Billie Jeane Langley.

Billie Jeane, the daughter of Mr. D. F. Langley, was born February 8, 1925, in Putman, Texas. She has attended school five years in Crane, Texas, and eight years in Grandfalls. She was the vice-president of the F.H.T., and secretary of the sophomore and junior classes.

Billie Jeane has participated in tennis and volley ball for about three years. She was a member of the Glee Club for four years and the band for three years.

She plans to attend a business college next year and take a course in business administration. "I have really enjoyed this week in Wellington High, and I find it to be a very friendly school," she states.

Eugene Hunter

Another one of the agriculturally minded boys of Wellington High School is Eugene Hunter.

Eugene was born near Loco, Texas, on April 20, 1922, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hunter. He attended school at Loco for seven years and has attended Wellington High School for five years.

His favorite subject is solid geometry. Baseball and basketball are the sports that are uppermost in Eugene's mind.

Eugene plans to major in vocational agriculture, but as yet he is undecided as to which school he will attend.

Good luck, Eugene; we are all behind you.

Betty Joe Langley

The quieter one of the "two" is Betty Joe Langley, a girl whom we have already learned to admire.

Betty Joe, the daughter of Mr.

D. F. Langley, was also born February 8, 1925, in Putman, Texas. She has attended the Grandfalls school, and schools at Crane, Tex.

Betty Joe was the president of the Pioneer Club, secretary and treasurer of the senior class, and also secretary and treasurer of the freshman class.

She, like her sister, has participated in volley ball and tennis. She has been a member of the Glee Club for four years, has taken piano, and been a member of the band for two years in Grandfalls High School.

Betty Joe also plans to attend a business college next year and study commercial work.

Betty, we only wish you had been a member of our class all year, for it is splendid knowing you.

Robert Granville Lewis

One of the most likeable boys in the Senior Class of 1942 is Robert Lewis.

This light-haired young man was born on August 15, 1925, in Wellington, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lewis. He has attended school here for eleven years and at the present his favorite subject is vocational agriculture.

Robert has spent two years in the band and one year on the annual staff of Wellington High School.

For the future Robert plans to attend Texas Technological College next year, where he will major in business administration, and if he is not in the army by then he will go into business for himself.

Marguerite Aline Loving

The girl with the unique hobby of collecting glassware is Marguerite Aline Loving, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Porter E. Loving, who reside at 1201 Graham Street in Wellington.

Marguerite was born May 30, 1923, in Wellington and has attended schools here for eleven years. She was a member of the pep squad in her junior year and is well known for her willingness to help.

Her favorite subjects are public speaking and biology. Marguerite plans to attend a defense school in Fort Worth next year, and prepare for a defense job. She is also interested in aviation. Marguerite, there are countless defense jobs ready to be filled, so proceed. America needs you now!

Ben Robert McClure

One of the air-minded students of this high school is Ben McClure.

Ben was born on February 3, 1924, in Wellington, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. McClure.

Without attending any other school Ben has spent the total of twelve years here in our own school. His favorite subjects are typing and boxing.

NAMES "BEEF BOWL"

Clyde L. Leighton of Clayton, N. M., won the nationwide award for renaming the old Dust Bowl. His winning entry was "Beef Bowl."

Ben has participated in track, boxing, and gymnasium work in the period of years between 1938 and 1942. He was also on the Skyrocket paper staff this year.

Aeronautics seem to occupy Ben's mind for the future and he plans to go to some aeronautical school and after that choose some field of aeronautics for the future.

Hughetta Adelaide Lowe

Born September 9, 1923, in Midway, Texas, is a girl who has won the heart of every senior—Hughetta Adelaide Lowe.

Hughetta is the president of her algebra class, has been pianist of the F.H.T. for two years, and has participated in basketball, baseball, and volley ball in Midway for two years. Incidentally, she has attended school here for only three years. The other nine years of her schooling were in Midway.

Hughetta has also participated in declamation for one year at Midway, choral singing, and piano. She won third place on her dress in Home Economics second year, and first place on her canning at the fair.

Her favorite subjects are music and home making. Hughetta does not plan to attend school next year.

We need not worry about you, Hughetta, for your friendliness will always keep you on the top rung of the ladder.

Raymond Samuel Montague Junior

Born to Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Montague on March 10, 1923, in Wellington, Texas, and now residing at 1203 South Arlington, Junior Montague is indeed a credit to Wellington High School.

Junior has attended school the total of twelve years here. He was vice-president of the freshman class of 1937-38 and at the present his favorite subjects are boxing and typing.

During his stay at Wellington High School Junior has participated in baseball one year; track two years; basketball one year; boxing two years; and junior basketball two years. He has also been a member of the band for four years and the school paper staff for one year.

As for the future, Junior says that he will attend Texas Technological College or Texas University, but he is undecided as to what course he will major in and the vocation he will choose.

Sara Elizabeth Love

If I may be allowed to use slang, the girl who is "worlds of fun and an excellent sport" is Sara Elizabeth Love, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Love, who resides at 1601 Amarillo Street in Wellington.

Sara has also attended her eleven years of school in Wellington and, needless to say, she is known by everyone. She has participated in tennis, has been a member of the Glee Club for one year, and the Skyrocket Club for one year. She has entered declamation one year, debate one year, and was a member of the senior play cast, "Antics of Andrew." She has also studied speech for seven years. How is that for representing Wellington High School?

Sara plans to attend Texas Technological College next year, but she is undecided as to what she will major in or what profession she will choose.

Sara, it's been fun knowing you. May every happiness come your way.

Emily McBroom

The "unexpected actress" of the senior class is Emily McBroom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. McBroom, Box 864 of Wellington. In the speech play, "Coming 'Round the Mountain," Emily surprised us all by her characterization of the mountaineer's wife.

She was born November 21, 1924, in Greenville, Texas, and has attended school in Wellington for only two years. Before coming here, she attended school in Quail for five years, Buck Creek for two years, and Marella for two years.

Emily has participated in basketball, volley ball, and tennis for two years, quite a career of sports!

She is undecided as to what college she will attend, but she plans to major in business administration and study to become a stenographer when she does go away to school.

Yes, vaccine prepares you to beat trouble... now how does this oil work that principle?

Like a plague, modern driving conditions are widely attacking motor oil—wasting it away. Nature can't modernize her oil. And the best refining even weakens certain natural "immunities"...

BUT CONOCO Nth OIL makes it all up—and then some—with its modern man-made preventives. They get the credit for its healthy record of more than twice the mileage averaged by five other fine oils in a Death-Test lasting till engines burned up.

The rival oils, in identical cars, under impartial observation, braved blistering Death Valley with a strict 5-quart fill apiece and no more. One gave out when Conoco Nth was still more than two-thirds up! None came closer than a bare 58% of Conoco Nth mileage!

Get this same Conoco Nth oil for the Spring change that your engine must have. You'll be getting the added modern synthetic, Thialkene inhibitor, to forestall the fouling attacks of highest engine speeds and pressures. Instead of breaking down into so-called varnish, gums and worse obstructions, your Conoco Nth oil can stay more like its own good self—to help your mileage stay up.

The out-and-out Death Valley victory proved it—and proved once again that an OIL-PLATED engine lives long. OIL-PLATING, a recognized Conoco advantage through the years, comes from the other great synthetic in Conoco Nth. This exerts magnet-like action to envelop inner parts in close-bonded lubricant that doesn't all quickly drain down. Instead it stays plated in place—much as any other plating—and that's what the conventional movable oil film slides on!

You're one more remove from excess wear—from the hazard of repairs and delay these days. You're up to the Nth degree of oil mileage for your car. Change now at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company Won't some of you farmers and cattlemen who have done better than usual in the past twelve months contribute to the Navy Relief drive. Stop by today and leave your money with Ernest Lewis or John D. Glenn.

At the present time we are only half over on our drive. I have enlisted the aid of two more very splendid gentlemen in this drive and I am expecting great results out of their efforts. I will tell you about them when I see what they do. I regret that I have been out of town and in the hospital most of the time since the drive started. For that reason the credit for raising the money goes to Ernest Lewis, George Clark and E. J. Smith. Others have worked, but these three have done most of the work.

There is no sensible reason why we should not raise this money immediately. The purpose of the Navy Relief Society is this: no widow, no orphaned children, no mother or other member of the Navy man's family shall suffer hardship if it can be prevented. The Society gives immediate financial aid to the family when necessary after a Navy man dies.

Look over the list of names in this week's paper who have given and the list to be published next week. Remember the boys who died at Pearl Harbor and those who died in the foxholes of Bataan. Don't wait until you are asked. Send your money in now. Look over that list and see if your name is there. If it is not, ask yourself why isn't it. It may be due to the fact that you did not know that the campaign was on in Collingsworth County. If that is the case you can correct that now.

Mr. S. K. Parsons Sr. tells me that I had better quit harping on the idea of getting the under-planted cotton acres given to the farmers of West Texas and start advocating the planting of peanuts. (Now, Mr. Parsons, really, how much money did peanuts ever make for you?) On the other hand D. A. Bandeen, general manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce writes me the following: "For a long time, no better thing for West Texas has been started than this, and you deserve the credit." That is a difference of opinion of two smart men. It is no argument between me and either of them.

However, to be fair to Mr. Parsons, I should state that he has no objection to my plan. He simply thinks the government red tape will prevent it from becoming a reality.

On my part I have no objection to anyone planting peanuts. The Leader has run two stories concerning the price, the fact that they could be planted on feed land and cotton land and not diverted acres. We will be glad to carry more news if the AAA or the county agent wishes to provide us with the same. Furthermore I will be delighted to furnish Mr. Parsons an advertisement provided he wishes to buy it, in which he can extoll the benefits of peanut raising in this county. You never can tell. He might do it.

TOKYO IS THEIR DESTINATION

Soldiers in a jeep car at a British Columbia army camp check their progress along a street which has a single eventual destination—Tokyo. They're building the new U. S. to Alaska highway.

me in a trade. He found out that I had onions ready to eat. He told me that he had just set out some onions and that his would be just right when mine were getting strong. He suggested that he eat some of my onions now and that I could eat out of his patch when they were in their prime. It sounded like a good idea and a fair trade to me and I told him to go by and help himself. It was not until later that I found out that his entire patch consists of one little row about four yards long—about enough for one mess for one family.

You may have read about Johnny Brown, the Marine, in last week's issue of The Leader. It concerned what he said about Iceland. What I did not have time to tell you was his visit with me which I appreciated more than I can put into words. At parting he dug out some of the money used in Iceland and gave it to me—a 5 kroner bill, a 1 kroner bill and several coins. He explained that it was about $1.80 in our money. I told him that I was glad to get the book he brought me, but that I did not want to take the money. After a slight bit more talk and observing the look on his face, I picked up the money and thanked him for it in the best way I knew.

Won't you parents help us get pictures of the boys who are in the armed forces? Thus far we have about half of the pictures we want. We want these as soon as we can get them.

Well, I got under the Mayor's skin by writing about the need of a clean-up week while he and Corbett Ford were on their way to California to visit their sons. He is going to try to pull a Bud Manzer on me—dwarf my puny suggestion by action of his own. At the next meeting of the council he intends to try to get their consent to a clean-up campaign, a county wide scrap iron drive, and I don't know what else. Anyhow he is hot under the collar just as every official gets when an editor representing the average thought of the people or some citizen in his own right suggests that something ought to be done.

Vince Thompson received a letter this week from Oris Miller who formerly worked in the printing department of The Leader. From it I form the opinion that Ish has become a far better soldier than he ever thought he would be. He has been advanced beyond his expectations. The voluntary censorship the press has adopted prevents me from telling you even some of the things the censors allowed to pass in the letter to Vince, but I can tell you that Ish is on his way. He is not in Texas anymore.

About Navy Relief again: Rev. Ed Kirby sent a check for $2.50 without solicitation. Considering his ability and his great service to the community, his salary is very modest. In proportion to his worldly goods, how does his contribution compare with your own? Voluntary contributions of this amount from all people of similar means would have put the drive far over the top long before now. Look yourself in the face and ask this question: "Have I done my part?"

The Centennial edition of The Dallas Morning News is an integral part of the history of Texas, for this great paper has helped shape the history of the state during the past 100 years. It is an edition that will grow more valuable through the years.

Many newspaper men know it, but it may be news to the readers: When Adolph Ochs started publishing The New York Times, he used The Dallas Morning News as a model. However, this is one of the minor claims of distinction of The News. In truth, they do not claim it. It is a fact.

State law limits expenditures for Old Age Assistance to $1,700,000 per month, which with federal matching funds makes possible the disbursement of $3,500,000 per month to the state's needy aged. The Texas constitution limits expenditures for Aid to Dependent Children to $125,000 per month which, with federal matching funds, makes possible a maximum disbursement of $3,000,000 per year for aid to needy children.

Growers Vote On Wheat Marketing Quotas May 2nd

Wheat farmers of Collingsworth County will vote Saturday, May 2, to determine whether or not wheat quotas will be continued on this year's crop. J. C. Emmert, chairman of the Collingsworth County AAA committee, said this week.

This is the second year that wheat growers have had an opportunity to vote on this matter. Last year farmers both locally and throughout the wheat growing section approved quotas by a large majority.

Voting places will be announced at a later date, through the AAA office.

"Most of the growers of the county have already thought this thing over, and I believe I am speaking the sentiment of almost all of them when I say that they agree with the department of agriculture and other national officials that an added surplus of wheat isn't needed. We have enough wheat in sight to last two years without growing another kernel," the chairman said.

Mr. Emmert pointed to a carry-over of 630-million bushels and an added 793-million bushel crop for this year. Only 670-million of this will go for domestic consumption, and the remainder will constitute a giant wheat problem, the local committeeman believes.

The purpose of the wheat marketing quotas outlined by Mr. Emmert is to divide a limited market equally among wheat producers. Marketing quotas also make possible more efficient use of transportation and storage facilities.

"We urge that every wheat grower in the county vote on May 2, and express his sentiments concerning the wheat marketing quotas," Mr. Emmert stated.

Quail Teachers To Vega School

C. R. Brown, coach and teacher in the Quail High School this year, resigned his place Tuesday to accept a position as high school principal and head coach at Vega.

As basketball coach, Mr. Brown this year has turned out one of the most successful teams in the school's athletic history.

Before leaving, Mr. and Mrs. Brown said that they have enjoyed their year at Quail, but they added that they felt their new place would offer a chance for advancement, along with a substantial increase in salary.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Brown have lived in this county for a number of years and have been active in community life.

Circus Comes To City Soon

"Circus Day" with all the allurements of those words will soon come to Wellington and vicinity. Arrangements have been made for the Dailey Bros. Three-Ring Circus to give two exhibitions here Friday, May 1st. B. O. Handley, Chief of the Fire Department, signed contracts whereby the Volunteer Fire Department will receive a liberal share of the gross admission ticket sales.

The Dailey Circus is one of those three ring affairs that keeps a person busy trying to see it all. It is a Texas institution with permanent quarters at Yoakum, opens and closes each season in Texas, and showing in about fifteen other states during the summer months. Presenting its program of two hours in three rings, on the hippodrome track and in mid-air, it is a veritable amusement bargain counter, on account of the unusual variety of its extraordinary program, it was explained.

"Due to the wars abroad, most of the arena celebrities of the war ridden countries fled to America for work and many of these are now with the Dailey Circus presenting their exclusive sensational trilliers and mysterious novelties for the first time in this country," the management stated.

One of the features with the Dailey Bros. Circus is the presence in the personnel of the company of a group of beautiful young feminine stars, any one of whom could win a beauty contest on account of her figure and beauty. Not only good to look upon, these young maids will thrill the spectators by their reckless performance of death-defying stunts, which they also execute gracefully and with apparent ease. After each thriller the company of clowns rush noisily upon the scene to inject original and clean comedy into the proceedings.

"Trained wild and domestic animals will compete with the human actors for applause. The remarkably trained horses and Shetland ponies will prove of great interest to all, while the high class standard three ring circus itself will appeal to all because of its being such clean as well as interesting entertainment," it was stated.

There will not be any street parade. Performances will start at 2:00 and 8:00 p. m., regardless of weather conditions.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wilkins of Corpus Christi are here visiting with friends and relatives. Mr. Wilkins expects to be called into service within the next few days. He will probably be stationed at Lubbock for a while.

Mrs. Cotton Vandivere and baby of Borger visited last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ford, of Dodson, and with other relatives.

Methodist Delegates Meet For Annual Conference

Approximately 350 Methodist men and women, representing 22 churches of the Clarendon District, gathered in Wellington Tuesday to transact the business of the church in the Annual District Conference.

Rev. E. D. Landreth, pastor of the Methodist Church in Lamesa, who is conducting revival services here, preached the conference sermon at the morning hour.

Three themes with reference to man's relation to Christ were stressed by him, "Partakers of His Nature," "Enter Into His Suffering," and "Glory To Be Received." During the business session, reports were heard from each of the churches of the district sending representatives, and resolutions relative to the work of the church were passed.

Members of the Conference reported the work of the entire district in splendid condition.

Goals set by the conference for the churches include: a revival in every church; an effort to increase the enrollment and attendance of Church Schools; a Vacation Church School for all churches where it is possible; participation by all charges in District and sub-District work, and in sending delegates to the young people's assembly and similar camps; repair of church property; that each Church participate in the place of Fellowship of Suffering and Service as recommended by the Council of Bishops; that one-third of this go to army camp work; one-third to over-sea relief; and one-third for local relief; that all salaries, World Service and Conference Work Acceptances be paid in full; and that 1,000 additions be made to the Church during the year.

Representatives from the Women's Society of Christian Service met during the same time for an inspirational program and business session.

Lunch was served at the noon hour by the women of the local Church.

John Lee of Amarillo visited in Wellington Wednesday with his family and friends. Mr. Lee, who left here two weeks ago for a defense work in Amarillo, was an athletic coach here.

The broadcast will come over the Blue Network, beginning at 9 p. m., Central War Time.

Public Asked To Observe Laws

Because of complaints made from many sections of the county, County Attorney Morgan Tucker this week warned farmers against plowing from their fields out through the bar ditches, and turning around in the road bed. This obstructs the free flow of water down the bar ditches, and to do this is a violation of the state law, it was pointed out.

Mr. Tucker also stated that it is a violation of the law to leave the carcass of any dead animal within 500 yards of any private residence, on a public road, or in any street or alley, or within 50 feet of a road or alley.

"There have been complaints in regard to both these violations, and we are asking the cooperation of all local residents in connection with this, because if this is not done voluntarily, it will be necessary to press the enforcement of these laws," Mr. Tucker said.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Gardner and daughter, Beverly, left Tuesday for San Diego, California, where Mr. Gardner will work in the aircraft defense plant.

F. E. Dobbins of Quail underwent a major operation in St. Joseph's Hospital Friday. His condition is reported as improving as well as could be expected.

SOLDIER'S LIFE

... As Soldiers See It

(The following letter was written to Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Tate by their son, Bully A. Tate, and knowing that it will be of interest to all of his friends, it was passed on to The Leader.)

Air Corps Recruit Detachment Luke Field, Phoenix, Arizona April 9, 1942

Dear Mother,

How are you all; I am O. K., and I think a little Army training would do any one good. They teach a man to think fast. The worst trouble with the most of us, when we came in here, we couldn't think fast enough to obey the commands, but I can get them as fast as they call them now. If they don't quit feeding me so good or give me more to do I am going to get fat.

We are not quarantined down here any more. We can go to the show or the P. X. every night if we want to, but we have to be in bed at 11 o'clock. We can get a twelve hour pass once a week and go anywhere we want to go.

It surely is hot out here. I hope I get to leave here before it gets too hot. I like this field fine but I won't like the climate when it gets much hotter. They say it gets about 120 degrees here in the summer time, but I still think we will go to Roswell when they get that field finished.

How is Richard getting along?

Love,
Bully A. Tate

Editorial

(From The Fort Worth Star-Telegram)

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce has taken up the plan put forward by Deskins Wells, editor of the Wellington Leader, for using the vast acreage and flexibility of West Texas farms for catching up the serious lag which is developing in the domestic production of fats and fibers.

Mr. Wells recently addressed a letter to Secretary Wickard pointing out, in connection with the Secretary's appeal for the planting of more cotton for fiber and oil, that West Texas has these advantages: First, the cotton season there is later by several weeks than in other cotton regions; second, acreage immediately available in West Texas for increased cotton planting is limitless.

It thus would be the easiest thing in the world to assemble the planting reports of other regions and then assign to West Texas the total deficiency of cotton acreage, with plenty of time still left for preparation of ground and planting. West Texas can and will take care of any shortage that may develop; all that is needed is information as to what is needed and permission of the Agriculture Department to exceed pre-war allotments.

The demand for cottonseed oil already has stepped up greatly, with both mounting war demands and loss of imports accelerating the increase. Primarily we must rely on cottonseed oil for commercial fats production. In similar case are commercial fibers. The use of cotton has greatly increased, and must increase still more in the months ahead. Here, again, the war has cut off most of our former imports. The great reserve of cotton staple held by the Government no longer appears to be a factor in the production-limit problem. We need all the cotton that can be raised this year, both for its fiber and for the oil of its seed.

The operation of reversing the course of Government efforts in the cotton-growing industry, now indicated as imperatively necessary, is complicated by the fact that in many cotton regions scarcity of labor, the dislocation of tenants, and the pressure to diversify have permanently removed much acreage from the possibility of a return to cotton. Southern farmers for some years have been urged and aided to plant soybeans as a substitute

OTHER EDITORS SAY--

• Collingsworth, Too

Frankly we think that agricultural counties like Ochiltree have been discriminated against in the matter of setting quotas of tires for which certificates can be issued by local rationing boards.

As we understand, the basis for arriving at quotas was the number of commercial vehicles registered. That means that the great number of tractors, farm implements, farm trailers and farm trucks did not enter into the computation.

It means that based on number of commercial vehicles, agricultural counties such as ours received low allotments in proportion to our actual needs and the urban counties with industries, wholesale houses and resultant large registrations of commercial vehicles received quotas much larger in proportion to number of vehicles on rubber than the farming counties.

Vigorous protests full of facts and figures have been filed with State Rationing Administrator Mark McGee by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, Farm Bureau, Farmers Union and local rationing boards.—Van Stewart in the Ochiltree County Herald.

• Lost

Europe during the last 25 years has been full of people who were worrying far more about their possessions than about their freedom. As one result they promptly lost both.—Harry Koch in the Quannah Tribune-Chief.

for cotton; lately castor beans have come into the picture. These losses of cotton acreage were a healthy enough development of the pre-war period of too much cotton, but the war's changes have altered their complexion. It is now difficult to change back to cotton in those regions where such diversification has been general, and the outlook this year is that last year's deficiency of about 4,000,000 acres under normal planting will be repeated this year unless means are found to compensate for the losses in the new oil-crop areas.

West Texas offers that means for compensation, ready and ample. For various reasons, West Texas has not widely converted from cotton to soybeans or other crops, and its farms are still geared-up for cotton. It will be the easiest thing in the world for the Agriculture Department to get all the cotton acreage that seems to be demanded. All that is necessary is to turn West Texas loose to the degree that is necessary. And because of West Texas' late season, it is perfectly feasible to get exactly as much additional acreage as is needed, and not an acre in excess.

The labor problem will remain to be solved, of course, but it may be pointed out that West Texas is more readily accessible to any of the considerable bodies of labor supply which might be employed for augmented agricultural production. If the migrant families of the Southwest are taken in hand by some Government agency for the purpose, West Texas is right in the middle. If it becomes necessary to import seasonal labor from Mexico, again West Texas is first on the route.

The suggestion by Mr. Wells is sound and timely. It offers the Agriculture Department the opportunity to move with complete precision in its job of procuring fiber and fats for the Nation's war purposes. Cotton production can be expanded more expeditiously and with more efficiency in West Texas than anywhere else.

Washington Week

By RALPH HERBERT

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has been making a survey of prospective plantings for the year 1942 and on the whole the situation looks good and indicates that most of the goals set will probably be reached.

Goal set for rice was 6 per cent above 1941. Indications now are that it will rise to 15 per cent.

The goal set for soybeans has been beaten so far by more than 11 per cent. Egg production in February ran 15 per cent more than last year whereas the 1942 goal is 13 per cent. Hog slaughter for the marketing year, which ends in September, is expected to run 15 to 20 per cent more than last year. The goal set was 14 per cent. Goal for milk production was set for 8 per cent. On March 1, actual production was only running 4 per cent ahead.

With the British urgently asking for more dairy products, the American production outlook is splendid. In January 1942, production of evaporated milk was 82 per cent above last year and American cheese increased by 52 per cent.

Government officials realize that planting is merely the first step. Trouble will start when farmers need labor, machinery, fertilizers and spray materials. If these difficulties are overcome and a crop up to or above normal is obtained, there will be another set of difficulties. The crops will have to be transported to market in a wartime period when transport will not be easy. There will be need for processing equipment and there will be further headaches in finding storage space.

Foreseeing all this, the Department of Agriculture is working with the War Production Board and other governmental agencies in an endeavor to help farmers as much as possible.

Lespedeza will grow on some soils too poor for any clover and on fertile soils too acid for either alfalfa or sweet clover, extension specialists say.

Your Town And Mine

—By CHARLES L. ALLEN

I have just had an experience in high finance. It was not a new experience, but each time that city barber shop gets 80 cents of my money for a haircut and a shoe shine I begin to doubt the value of too much civilization. You cannot appreciate my ill temper at being separated from most of a dollar bill for these services unless you see my hair.

Charlie Allen

Perhaps there may have been a time when my boyish vitality nourished enough hair to make a 75-cent haircut value received, but I assure you it was many years ago. Nowadays it is a physical impossibility for any honest barber to take 75 cents worth of hair from my head. If he were to do so I should have to face the world with a mere 15 cents worth of lonesome tufts for weeks on end. I know, therefore, that it is simply high finance that confuses me into paying so much for so little.

It happens, moreover, that I like barbers, or at least most of them, for some of the happiest memories of my life are inextricably connected with one or two of them. Frank Barnes was a man about 40 when I first began going to the village barber shop. He had been a barber for 25 years then and ran a busy little shop which was patronized by everybody in Our Town who got his hair cut "store fashion." Regardless of how rushing the business was, Frank always took time off in the fall of the year to hunt grouse (prairie chicken we called them) and ducks and geese. And thereby hangs my tale.

A small boy in a small town in those days had to scurry like everything to find a job which would pay him anything in real cash. If he were fortunate he might get a chance to deliver groceries at 75 cents a week, or carry out ashes for 50 cents a week, or take care of a team of horses at the same figure. In short, good jobs for half-grown boys in Our Town were scarce. Consequently my heart leaped up with joy when fall came and I knew that soon I would be making tremendous wages driving a horse hitched to a light spring wagon, in which hunters went to the fields. When men went hunting they invariably became generous and forgot their sharper business instincts. So it was not unusual for them to pay the huge sum of a dollar a trip to the lad who drove the carryall for them.

Frank Barnes, the barber, was an inveterate hunting fan and made at least one trip a week during the season, always insisting on organizing a party of from three to six men for the occasion. And the reason I remember him so fondly is that he usually gave me the job of driving for them. It is true (although I confess it cautiously and with some degree of chagrin) that I had other duties to perform when we reached the territory where feather-legged grouse were known to linger. For example, after I had stopped Old Dobbin near a likely-looking path of scrubby brush and the hunters had formed a semi-circle of impenetrable defense on one side of the thicket, it was my job to sneak up to the scrawny bushes and when safely in the midst of them to let out a shout that would wake the dead. The general idea was that since we never used a dog to flush the covey I was supposed to make the birds rise toward a forest of shotguns.

As I think back on those enjoyable affairs I am conscious of the fact that little boys could be hired to flush coveys for much less than I was paid, and that some of them could duck down a lot faster than I could. My speed at flattening out on the ground improved marvelously after I picked up three or four buckshot in my ear one day and thereafter I'm sure I earned my money. It is entirely possible, however, that all those years while I was chauffeuring the hunters around the prairies and playing pointer for them I was really overcharging them for my services. For the present, that will be a convenient way to explain why the barbers in this big city have been trying to get even with me ever since I came here to live. Apparently they believe in keeping money among the barbering fraternity and are out to get the last penny of that stake I have salted away from my wages as Frank Barnes' driver. They'll do it, too. About three more sets of haircuts and shoe shines at 90 cents a set and there won't be a red cent left in the old cookie jar.

As some of the folks around, after the inconvenience of mud holes and broken off tree branches, began to thank their lucky stars they were in West Texas and not down around Fort Worth and Dallas, I SAW

Reuben Rountree of Lutie bringing up the old saying that if it rains on Easter Sunday, it will rain for the next seven Sundays. It did rain on Easter this year, and it has rained each Sunday since. . . Mary Katherine Hutcherson holding a newspaper over her freshly waved hair to keep it from getting wet in a sudden shower.

Hardy Scott of Dodson, with a group of friends, trying to find out what time the train left going east. They wanted a way home.

R. R. Martin bringing a bowl of lovely tulips to The Leader staff. He and Mrs. Martin had grown them, and they were perfect enough for a picture. He said they'd cut 10 dozen from their bed within the last few days. These tulips were rose, except one that was a beautiful salmon color.

Rama Camp, east ward teacher, is quite fond of flowers, and some of her students thought she didn't have as many as she should, so they started something new in showers—a flower shower—with each one bringing her a bouquet of flowers.

Heard: Some one called the Wellington State Bank and when Wilbur LeVeque answered, wanted to know who the Lieutenant-Governor of Texas is. "Why, don't you know?" Mr. LeVeque asked in a surprised voice, then covering the mouth-piece of the phone, asked the others in the bank in a hurry who the Lt.-Gov. was. No one knew. So he had to admit to the person on the other end of the line that he didn't either. And incidentally, who IS the Lieutenant-Governor? Governor Coke Stevenson was before he took his present office.

Bud Manzer, about ten minutes after the high wind Saturday, rushing out to look over the damage done to his hog houses. He found part of them blown over on his neighbors' properties.

Mrs. G. W. Hunter of Loco saying she and Mr. Hunter were in Memphis when the rain and hail came during the week end. Trying to beat it home, they got as far as Newlin, then had to stop under a gin shed. They had to go through water up to the running board of the car before they got to Loco.

County Farmers Show Interest In New Crops

Although ample ground moisture has made many farmers less conscious of terracing than in the past, County Agent B. A. Zorns this week reported that the interest in plowing fields on the contour is just as high as ever, if not higher.

He has recently helped a number of farmers of the county in running their lines, some of whom are contouring for the first time. "There are six farm levels that farmers may get from this office if they wish to run their own lines," Mr. Zorns said, although he added that at present all are being used and it is well to speak for them ahead of the time when they will be needed.

Mr. Zorns also reported an increase of interest in planting crops new to this section or in planting more of crops previously tried out on a small scale.

Enough peanuts have been ordered to plant approximately 250 acres, while a number of farmers are planting soybeans this year who have never tried them before. Some clover will be planted along with a small amount of lespedeza.

"There's going to be some alfalfa planted this year, and from the present moisture indications, it seems that this would be the ideal time to plant it," Mr. Zorns added. "Quite a lot of the alfalfa in this county died out during the dry years, but it looks like now is the time to reseed those acres."

Former Resident Dies In California

Funeral services for Mrs. W. L. Goforth, who lived in Wellington a number of years ago, were conducted from the Rice Memorial Chapel in Maywood, California, Monday, April 13, with Rev. Roy B. Whealey, of First Baptist Church of Central Gardens in charge of the rites.

Mrs. Goforth, who lived here about 15 years, died Thursday, April 9. Her death came suddenly and as a shock, the cause being attributed to heart failure.

Pallbearers for the funeral services were grandsons: Leroy, Denzil, Bobby Jack, Elmer and Richard Goforth and Don Lumley. Hymns included "Abide With Me" and "Going Home." Interment was in the Inglewood Park Cemetery.

Mrs. Goforth, who was before her marriage Miss Nancy C. Roberson, was born June 13, 1876, and at the time of her death she was 65 years, 9 months and 26 days of age.

With her family she made her home in this county for several years. Later she moved to Lynwood, California, where she continued to make her home until the time of her death.

She was married to W. L. Goforth 49 years ago. To this union eight children were born, four of whom preceded her in death. Survivors include her husband of Lynwood, two sons and two daughters: Earl Goforth of Amarillo, and Frank Goforth of Lynwood, and Mrs. H. C. Lumley of Van Nuys, Calif., and Mrs. Frank Alexander of Lynwood, nine grandchildren and two great grandchildren and a number of nieces, nephews and other relatives.

WTCC Rushes Efforts For More Cotton Acres

The West Texas chamber of commerce is asking the U. S. Department of agriculture to allot, on or before June 1, the then unplanted cotton acreage of the 1942 national allotment to those territories which, after that date, can still successfully plant and produce cotton. By such a re-allotment formula, said a WTCC petition sent to Secretary Claude R. Wickard, West Texas, latest of all planting territories and ideally suited to cotton production, can meet the agriculture department's urging for full planting of allotted acreage to meet war needs for increased fibre and oils.

This year's national acreage allotment has been set at 27,400,000 acres. The petition by the regional chamber pointed out that invariably final plantings in the belt have been far under the allotments, due to unseasonable weather, diversion of cotton lands to other crops, and other factors. Last year the falling off totalled 4,200,000 acres, more than doubling that of 1940.

In West Texas, said the petition, cotton of the 1941 crop was planted as late as July 1, and the region went on to produce 60 per cent of the entire state's 2,555,611 bales ginned prior to March 15, 1942. It was asserted that of 19 million available cotton acres in West Texas, and with only 4,355,341 acres allotted for this year, "there remain available over 14 million acres now devoted to feed and grain crops and to retired land, with which to take up this year's unplanted cotton acreage without taking from any farmer anywhere any allotment which he wants and to which he is entitled." If there is a need of increased staple cotton fibre and of vegetable oils, stressed the petition, "West Texas has the facilities and the land to achieve these goals."

The WTCC's petition signed by J. Thos. Davis, president, and C. M. Francis and Clifford B. Jones, chairman of the agriculture and chemurgic committees was prepared by Manager D. A. Bandeen. Copies have been sent to all West Texas congressmen with request that they appoint a delegation to wait on Secretary Wickard in support of the plea. Affiliates of the WTCC also have been asked to actively support the petition through their congressmen and to campaign for full planting of the additional acreage if it is allotted. The campaign has been assigned as an activity in the regional chamber's inter-community defense and preservation contest. Should the petition be granted and the additional acreage allotted, it is estimated that West Texas' cotton income this year would be increased by $100,000,000.

Notice to the Public:

Due to the many complaints that are being made almost daily from various sections of the county, we are forced to advise that it is an open violation of the Penal Code of this State for any one to obstruct the free flow of water in the bar ditches along the public roads and highways, and do any violence to the road beds. It has been reported that several farmers have been plowing out through these bar ditches with tractors and turning on the road bed. This will not only obstruct the free flow of water in the ditches but will injure the road beds, and any one apprehended in this act will be subject to a fine. It behooves every citizen to protect our roads and highways, as repairs are very expensive.

We also wish to advise that it is likewise a violation of the Penal Code to deposit and leave the carcass of any dead animal within five hundred yards of any private residence, or on any public road or highway, or in any street or alley of any town or city, or within fifty yards of such public road, highway, street or alley, any one so doing will be subject to a fine of not less than five nor more than one hundred dollars.

We trust that this will be sufficient warning to all citizens in the County.

Afghan Design For You To Crochet

There's nothing like an afghan to tuck around your knees when there's a draft in the living room, to make an extra cover for the day bed, to use outdoors on a chilly evening or wherever a casual warm covering is needed. No handwork is quite so exciting as to watch an afghan grow under your fingers, and here's a design that will do just that. Crocheted in not-proofed afghan wool with cross-stitch vines embroidered on alternating panels, this lovely design will make itself at home in a dozen different rooms and will become a household favorite. Mrs. J. O. Wood has an afghan similar to the one pictured above which her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Dysart of Plainview, made and gave to her. Mrs. Wood's afghan is white with black strips and has a floral design cross stitched in every other panel just as the one pictured here.

Pan-American Banquet For Excelsior And Gamma Kappa Held April 17

Supt. John L. Beard of the Wellington Schools stressed the unity of the Americans in his speech before the joint meeting of the Excelsior Club and Gamma Chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma Friday night, which climaxed the observance of Pan-American week. Mr. Beard emphasized the need of educating the American people to the value of Pan-Americanism. He said, "the relation of the United States to Latin America must advance from merely commercial and military to a cultural understanding in order to combat the forces of Pan-Germanism." He also mentioned the splendid work of the University of Texas in its exchange work with Latin-American schools.

The banquet was held in the Christian Church banquet room and served by girls in Mexican costumes. The program preceding Mr. Beard's speech was as follows: welcome, Miss Mildred Hulsey; response, Miss Laura Roberts; Mexican songs, Spanish students; dance, "Jarabe Tapatio," Amy Sue Way and Rudolph Miller in costume; and piano numbers, Mrs. Carl Chaudoin.

An added feature of the program was a movie on Pan American life. During a brief business session Mrs. Brunetta Morris was elected treasurer of the Kappa Gamma Chapter to take the place left vacant by Miss Edna Bryan who resigned when she moved to Lubbock. Miss Bessie Jean Willis was elected a new member of the chapter.

The following girls who served the banquet in costume were Dorothy Norman, Christine Lindley, Sue Leach, Zell Higdon, Evelyn Curry and Katherine Clark.

The following were present: Misses Mildred Hulsey, Hattie D. Wells, Helen Johnson, Katherine Schellenberg, Bonnie Willis, Bessie Jean Willis, Dela B. Burt, Lora Mae McFarland, Inez Leach, Ora Mae Robbins, Laura Roberts, Lu-

Leader Wants Pictures And Stories Of Men In Service

Men have gone from every community of Collingsworth County into the nation's armed forces—the Army, the Navy, the Marines and the Air Force. They are scattered to dozens of widely separated places on the globe.

The Wellington Leader would like to get a picture of every one of these men from this county who is now in one of these branches of the armed service.

Preferably, these should be glossy-finish pictures, about post card size or slightly smaller. Also The Leader prefers not to take the only picture that a service man's family has of him. If the family has only one picture, and the man is located in the United States, it is suggested that they write him asking that he have one of these pictures made some time within the next two or three weeks. Or if they prefer, a photographer can copy the picture into the type and size mentioned above.

Information concerning the men in the armed forces is also asked, to be used in newspaper stories. Each of these men has many friends in this county who are eager to hear what he is doing and how he likes his new life.

The Leader also has Service Men's Information Sheets and an effort is being made to send one of these to the family of every man in service, along with instructions in filling this out, and a return envelope.

Any person who has some member of the family in service, and who has not received an information sheet, may get one by calling at The Leader office.

Upon the collection of this material, The Leader will have complete histories of all men serving the nation, and so far as is known, this is the only newspaper in this section of the country to compile such a record.

Tuesday evening, April 23, a community Sing Song will be held. This, too, will be at the high school auditorium, beginning at 8:45 o'clock, and it is for everyone that likes to sing, Miss Hutchinson said. Songs familiar to all will be sung, and a large crowd from all parts of the county is expected to attend.

A colorful music festival representing the Allied Nations in dance and song will be presented by the Wellington Schools Friday evening, May 1, at the high school auditorium at 8:45 o'clock. West Ward school is representing England, Scotland and Ireland. East Ward is representing Russia, China and Hawaii. Junior High will portray Holland and the United States. The Spanish department, under the direction of Miss Lora Mae McFarland, is representing Mexico. The band, Twirlers, and Drum Corps will also take part.

Closing the week will be the Victory Music Festival, to be held at the high school auditorium Sunday afternoon, May 3. Children from every community will have a part in this all day event, and many of the churches will dismiss their morning services in order that their members may attend the religious section of the festival.

J. C. Jernigan of Childress, deputy state superintendent, will direct the community singing, which will make up a part of the afternoon program.

"There's more interest in Music Week than there has been in a number of years," Miss Hutchinson said. "Because of this, we have tried to prepare a program that will satisfy every musical taste. We invite every person in the county to attend one or all of these Music Week events."

Miss Elizabeth Turner of Munday visited with Mrs. J. A. Mahan Sunday.

Mrs. Frank Eikenburg and children, Madeleine and John, returned home Friday from Dallas, where she has been visiting with her mother, Mrs. McWilliams.

Expert Knitters Are Needed

Red Cross has in a new shipment of yarn and is calling for experienced knitters who can turn it into sweaters and long and short helmets for men in the armed forces of the United States.

"Because the garments will go to men in active service, inspection will be strict and the knitting, therefore, must be expert," Mrs. Gene Lewis, who is in charge of the knitting, explained. "The supply of wool yarn is limited and allows for no trial-and-error knitting. Red Cross hopes the beginners won't mind leaving it to the old hands this time."

The thread may be secured from Mrs. Lewis or at the Red Cross Sewing Room, which is open each Wednesday and Saturday.

day evening in the Houselog and Rolla communities, in the southern part of the county, although farther east, at Loco and Dodson, reports stated that no hail and only one inch of rain fell.

Approximately two inches of rain fell around Quail, and telephone lines and fences were washed down in the vicinity of the Wilson Ranch, in the west part of the county.

The damage to the Buck Creek Bridge has made it necessary for the Rolla School bus, carrying a number of children from that area to the local high school, to detour through the Buck Creek community, adding considerably to the distance the bus must travel each day, J. E. Hawkins, the driver, reported.

No damage to crops and only a small amount of damage to gardens from the rain, and to fruit from the hail has been reported so far this week.

More Food Than Ever Before

... is the goal of American agriculture in 1942. Uncle Sam calls for all-out production of meat, milk, eggs, of peas and tomatoes for canning, and a FULL PLANTING OF COTTON for oil. As compared with last year it means, for example, 8½ billion pounds more milk—472 million dozen more eggs—10½ million more hogs for slaughter—9.3 millions more cases of peas for canning—8.57 millions more cases of tomatoes—3 million more acres of peanuts for oil.

... It is the all-important contribution of farmers and stockmen to winning the war.

... While being called upon to meet such substantial increases in agricultural production, farmers are especially urged to grow ONE MILLION MORE FARM GARDENS to provide more food for their families.

... This is a call for every patriotic farmer, feed and seed dealer and banker. We urge your whole-hearted efforts in the "FOOD FOR FREEDOM" program. We are always ready to advance funds to responsible farmers for their legitimate farm needs.
