Powers Squeeze Out New Parley Victory

France Temporarily Quits Big Five; Automatic Revision Plans Rejected

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—France pulled out of the solid Big Five line-up temporarily but other great powers won a shaky double victory tonight when a United Nations conference committee rejected two plans for automatic future revision of a new world charter.

On critical, showdown votes on perhaps the hottest issue remaining in the conference a majority of nations, but not the necessary two-thirds, favored:

Two Revision Proposals

1. A Canadian-Brazilian proposal for a convention to overhaul the charter no sooner than five and no later than ten years after it goes into effect. The vote was 23 for, 17 against, with one absentee and 9 nations not balloting.

2. A South African amendment for a revision convention within ten years. The vote: 28 for, 17 against.

At that point, the United States brought forward a compromise, which one observer said was greeted with "wild cheers" and a host of speeches of approbation. But when several countries suggested modifications, a decision was postponed until a night committee meeting (10 p. m. cwt.)

"Conciliatory" Move

An American adviser, Hamilton Fish Armstrong, suggested that if nothing had been done previously about general revision, the question of calling a convention for that purpose be put on the agenda of the tenth annual meeting of the world organization's general assembly.

Colombia said it was "one of the first times a great power ha i made a public effort to meet the desire of smaller powers." Several countries called the proposal "conciliatory" and said it would help ratification of the charter by home governments.

Many small nations wanted to write in a time schedule because they want assurance of another crack at big power rights over peace enforcement mechanism of the world organization if they aren't satisfied with the way it operates.

The committee action today had been expected to clear the way for swift conference progress, unless the question of future amendment of the charter was raised again at an open commission session.

Russia Reopens Question

But Russia raised the prospect of reopening arguments over powers of an all-nation general assembly to discuss anything in the field of international relations.

Soviet delegation chief Andrei Gromyko, reportedly following instructions from Moscow, brought up the question at a meeting with the three other conference presidents—Secretary of State Stettineus, Lord Halifax of Britain and Wellington Koo of China.

He was reported to have objected to what he argued was a trend in the conference toward granting the assembly too much power and subordinating it to a peace-enforcing security council of 11 members. He was said to have contended a committee had gone far beyond the Dumbarton Oaks blueprint for a world charter in saying the assembly should be able to discuss anything pertaining to international relations instead of just matters affecting international security.

Strive For Windup

Gromyko's action projected a possibility of delay at a time when leaders were trying to spur the conference into its greatest burst of speed so it could complete the charter a week from tomorrow.

The White House in Washington and the American delegation here announced President Truman would arrive in San Francisco next Friday and address the final conference session at about 5 p. m. (pwt) the next day.

Helping to meet that deadline, a conference commission approved unanimously today inserted in the charter of all but a single paragraph of two chapters stating the purposes and principles to govern

Von Ribbentrop's 'Mission' Fails

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MONTGOMERY'S HEADQUARTERS, Germany, June 15.—Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, a thousand high Nazi secrets hidden in his once-facile brain, was questioned today by Allied experts at Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters at Frankfurt on the Main.

British military detectives who traced the fugitive diplomat to a rented room in Hamburg and arrested him as he lay sleeping nude yesterday morning, a phial of poison hidden on his body, sent him off by plane from Lueneburg today for questioning by the most skilled examiners in the Allied supreme command.

He Found No Friends

The silver-haired former champagne salesman, whose capture resulted from a tip by the son of a Hamburg wine merchant who had refused to conceal von Ribbentrop, was sharing his hideaway with a 35-year-old brunette divorcee, Allied officials disclosed.

Von Ribbentrop was quoted as telling his captors he was on a "mission from the dead fuehrer."

The son of the wine merchant, British investigators said, became suspicious about the mysterious stranger who visited his father's shop so often and told British military police he believed he was von Ribbentrop. The raid followed.

Von Ribbentrop was said to have adopted a stoical attitude after a hysterical scene early today when his sister identified him before British officers.

Sister Also Arrested

The sister, also arrested by the British, was officially identified as Frau Doctor Marie Jenke. Von Ribbentrop's son, Rudolf, was discovered in an American prisoner of war cage several days ago.

Von Ribbentrop, who had been hiding in Hamburg since April 30 while British sleuths trailed him across northern Germany, was quoted as saying:

"I wanted to stay in hiding in Hamburg until British opinion was less hostile, and then intended to surrender for a fair trial which would spare my life."

It was learned authoritatively that his name is high on the list of war criminals and that he has no chance of successfully pleading diplomatic immunity. At least 10 European nations are under-

Army Says Rotation Plan Is Suspended

WASHINGTON, June 15. (AP)—The Army has suspended its rotation plan in al ltheaters of operations "now that Germany has surrendered."

The War department, however, has provided that military personnel stationed in active theaters may be returned to this country on temporary duty for recuperation.

This was disclosed today in a letter from Maj. Gen. J. A. Ulio, adjutant general, to Rep. Philbin (D., Mass.).

Base Of Ill-Fated Aircraft Revealed

JACKSON, Miss., June 15. (AP)—Col. William H. Garrison, commanding officer of the Jackson Army Air base, announced today that an army transport plane which crashed near Vicksburg yesterday, killing 17 persons and critically injuring another, was based at Lawson Field, Ga.

Names of the victims, all army and navy personnel—including one WAVE and one WAC—were withheld pending notification of next of kin. Bodies of the dead were brought here in army ambulances early today, and the injured man was at Vicksburg hospital.

The officer said the plane "was on a routine flight from Hensley field at Dallas, Texas, to Lawson Field, Ga., its home base."

ABSENTEE VOTES CAST

MEXICO CITY, June 15. (AP)—The Senate has received petitions from Mexican laborers in the United States asking authorization to cast absentee ballots in next year's presidential elections.

Eisenhower Finds Russians Friendly, Sees Nothing To Prevent Fullest Cooperation

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, June 15.—General Eisenhower today forecast continued harmony with Russia, and told a press conference there was nothing in his experience with Russians to doubt the Western Allies could cooperate with them perfectly.

"The individual Russian," the supreme commander added, "is one of the friendliest persons in the world."

Longest Interview

Eisenhower gave his longest review of the war, and also discussed prospects for the peace, in talking to correspondents at his headquarters here before he left by plane for his Frankfurt headquarters.

He told the correspondents:

1.—The Allied Control council will be a success as the overall governing body of Germany, although peace problems are slow of solution;

2.—Adolf Hitler, "if not dead, must be undergoing the worst possible punishment . . . to be hunted in disguise and underground!"

3.—The Allies were justified in wiping out German cities by air bombardment;

Rundstedt Enemy's Best

4.—Marshal von Rundstedt was the best German commander the Allies met;

5.—The Allied armies were the best equipped in the world, although the Germans had superior tanks until the American Pershings arrived, and the Germans' 88 millimeter guns and jet planes were outstanding weapons;

6.—The chief characteristic of Eisenhower's command was the cooperation of ground, sea, and air forces, which was fully as important as integration among the Allies;

7.—The Germans "knew the jig was up" three days after their Ardennes offensive began, but they still held out in hopes of splitting the Allies:

Trans-Rhine Supplies

8.—Air supply planes, which flew in 2,000 tons a day, made possible the continued advance into the Reich after the crossing of the Rhine;

9.—Germany is unrepentant, with the majority of her people denying her war guilt;

10.—The punishment should be made to fit the crime in dealing with war criminals.

Eisenhower said his men were tired of war after winning a peace they earnestly hope will be preserved.

He denied reports that American troops already had started withdrawing behind the Mulde river to make way for the Russians, and said arrangements were not yet complete for the movement of American troops into Berlin.

(In Washington, acting Secretary of State Joseph C. Grew said today that German zones of occupation assigned to Russia would be vacated by American troops by June 21. Grew said the final lines of demarcation between the Allied forces were still being negotiated.)

About Nazi elements, Eisenhower said that while there would always be "some fanaties" loose in Germany, no organized

Negroes Urge Better Post-War Conditions

City commission Thursday afternoon heard a request from a delegation of members of the Lubbock Colored Chamber of Commerce that plans for post-war development include consideration of better policing, lighting, zoning, paving and water facilities for Carver Heights, the negro section of Lubbock.

Chas. Deo was spokesman for the delegation and after presenting the negroes' case was assured that full consideration and study of the needs of that section of Lubbock would be given by the city administration.

Police Protection

Deo requested specifically that better police protection be given in the area and that a full force of negro policemen be employed for both day and night duty.

Other matters acted on by the commission included:

Approval of the investment of $100,000 from the general fund of the City in ⅞ per cent Treasury Certificates of Indebtedness, series E, 1946.

Passage of a resolution calling for study of needs and recommendations for additions to the city police station and the approval of Haynes and Strange, local architects, for the work.

Air Conditioning Hall

Approval of an expenditure of $500 as the city's share in air-conditioning the north part of the second floor of the City hall, the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce to bear the remainder of the $1,250 cost.

Acceptance of the resignation of Assistant City Attorney Orville Smith, effective July 1, occasioned by the employment of Vaughn Wilson, as a full-time city attorney.

The commission devoted discussion to the proposed traffic dispersal highway plan for Lubbock and reviewed briefly field notes on the ground survey of the proposed widening of Nineteenth street under the plan.

Application of A. B. Olenbusch for a permit to erect a building on lots 6, 7 and 8, in the Garland addition for an oil and grease warehouse was granted.

Ordinance Approved

Ordinance No. 714, levying the 1945 tax rolls, and ordinance No. 715, changing the zone of city property in northeast Lubbock from an E district to a J district were passed at second and final reading.

General contractors' bonds for R. H. Elder, E. R. Killingsworth & Co., M. H. Day and Tom G. McAbee and a sign board bond for T. Garrison were approved.

The commission also granted a 90-day permit to Al W. Townsend to use semi-tank trailers for local delivery of petroleum products in the city as provided for in section IV A of ordinance 710.

Permission was also given Homer M. Sheets of the Assembly of God church to use an area on the city property in northeast Lubbock for a district camp meeting ground the first ten days in August.

City Attorney Durwood H. Bradley was instructed to draw up an ordinance regulating the moving of houses in the city.

Mayor O. W. Ribble presided in the session and Commissioners Hub Jones, W. B. Price, Fred Childress and J. Ray Dickey, City Manager Marlin R. Smith, Bradley and City Secretary Lavenia Williams attended.

Industrial Sugar Allotments Cut

WASHINGTON, June 15. (AP)—Industrial users of sugar, including ice cream and soft drink manufacturers and commercial canners, will be cut more than 20 per cent in their present allotments of sugar beginning July 1, the Office of Price administration announced today.

The bulk of industrial users will have to operate for the next three months on 22 per cent less sugar than they used for April 1 to June 30. Bakers have been cut 20 per cent and drug manufacturers 10 per cent.

ALLOTMENTS CHANGED

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—In line with cuts in industrial sugar allotments ordered by the OPA today for the July-September quarter, adjustments for Texas counties because of population changes based on war Ration Book 4 issuances and latest information on military personnel in the United States included:

Bastrop, from 60 per cent previously to 15; Bell, 40 to 60; Correll, 20 to 80; Hutchinson, 10 to 15; Lubbock, 40 to 30; McLennan, none to 10; Moore, 120 to 130; Pecos, none to 10; Potter, 20 to 30; Taylor, 50 to 30; Terry, 20 to none; Tom Green, 10 to 20.

In Line With Other Cuts

This action by OPA brings the cuts in sugar allotments for industrial users in line with similar reductions already made in restaurant and household use, including a cut in home canning sugar allotments.

The cut was necessary because of the shortage of sugar for civilian use.

OPA announced that heavy syrup in canning fruits and vegetables will not be permitted this year, so no "fancy" grade canned fruits will be canned. Use of

Troops Disgusted At Nonfraternizing Ban

By KENNETH DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

OCCUPIED GERMANY.—Soldiers of all ranks throughout this section of the Reichland are getting more and more pointed in their inquiries as to when the high command is going to admit it made a mistake and revoke the non-fraternization policy.

During the months since the Allies entered Germany I have questioned thousands of soldiers—including perhaps a score of generals—on the nonfraternization policy. Their answer can be summed up in one sentence:

It is not working, never has worked and probably never will.

Since such statements would lay officers open to court martial, it is impossible to quote them by name, but they inevitably wax loquacious in their efforts to prove their point.

"Keeping the policy in force merely means I have to punish my men for being clumsy," a major general said. "You can't keep them from fraternizing—and I don't necessarily mean sexually either—so it becomes a question of some getting away with it and some not.

"I don't mind telling you that my MPs have been instructed to look the other way as much as possible except for flagrant cases or unsoldierly conduct."

"Is is supposed to make the Germans respect the American Army, I am told," said a major in military government. "Instead it is making the whole Army look ridiculous and cheap."

"It's making a cheater and a liar out of every doughboy who swaps a cake of soap to get his laundry done or gives a piece of candy," said one Pfc. "Besides, these kids are looking for leaders. I don't know much about propaganda but I'll bet a couple of GIs here and there teaching German kids American games and American fair play could do more good than all your propaganda campaigns."

"American kids are naturally friendly and we've encouraged them to get along with people in every other country," explained an intelligence officer. "Now they're supposed to suddenly change their whole characters and start kicking people in the face."

Yanks Tear Into Last Japs On Okinawa; Early Cleanup Seen

Tanks And Flamethrowers Lead Way As Fanatical Japs Blown From Caves

By LEIF ERICKSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, Saturday, June 16.—Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, jr., predicted today that the 77-year-old Okinawa campaign will be wound up by his advancing 10th Army within a week.

He expressed the belief as his divisions, tearing to pieces the last stand line of the Japanese at the southern tip of Yaeju escarpment, overran a fourth of its plateau area.

A fleet communique today reported that Maj. Gen. James L. Bradley's 96th division, which captured 500-foot-high Yaeju peak Thursday, overran several hundred yards in the plateau's center yesterday. Tanks and flamethrowers led the way.

Eastern Arm of Pincers

At the same time, Maj. Gen. Archibald V. Arnold's Seventh Infantry division, curling in the eastern arm of a pincers behind the escarpment, moved ahead 700 yards through Nipponese strongpoints.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said the 10th Army, irresistably tearing to pieces the enemy's last stand positions despite the rugged terrain, brought "heavy pressure on the center and eastern flanks."

On the west, where the 1rst Marine division seized Kunishi ridge, Japanese opposition held up the Leathernecks, who strengthened their positions under heavy fire from Yuza hill.

Winding up their victory on Oroku peninsula, the Sixth Marine division Devildogs took 145 Nipponese prisoners yesterday.

No Jap Suicide Attacks

For the third straight day, Admiral Nimitz reported a complete absence of the enemy aircraft suicide attacks which had hitherto been so persistent.

The 38th regiment of the 96th division also completed capture of the southeastern ridge of Jaeju hill.

The 96th drove west from the promontory to get behind Yuza hill, less than a mile away. The pressure they can bring should cut down the weight of artillery and automatic weapons fire the Nipponese are hurling against Maj. Gen. Pedro Del Valle's First Marine division on Kunishi ridge.

General Buckner characterized the bulk of the estimated 10,000 or less enemy survivors—the garrison originally totalled about 85,000—as service and labor troops and Okinawa conscripts. Nevertheless, the survivors were putting up a fierce fight from fortified strong points built on the plateau out of coral knobs and outcroppings.

Pounded Hour By Hour

The Japanese on the plateau were being pounded hour on hour by artillery, warship guns and bombs and rockets from Okinawa-based Marine Corsairs and Army Thunderbolts.

General Buckner told Associated Press correspondent Al Dopking the Japanese either must attempt a final suicide, banzai charge or keep falling back until they are killed or driven into the sea.

Buckner praised his Tenth Army forces for overcoming possibly the strongest positions yet encountered in the war and reported that 12 Japanese were killed for every dead American.

He singled out the fall of Conical hill, eastern anchor of the Shuri line, as the turning point of the campaign, and praised Col. Edwin T. May of Palo Alto, Calif., for the way his 383rd regiment took it.

Woman Found Dead, Her Skull Crushed

FORT WORTH, June 15. (AP)—The body of Mrs. Lydia T. McBride, 56, her skull shattered from a heavy blow, was found early today on the steps of an east side grammar school, a block from her home.

Mrs. McBride, a railway mail service employe assigned to the airmail field at the municipal airport, left the airport at midnight. A purse which an associate said she was carrying was missing when the body was discovered at 6:30 a. m. by a passerby.

Tough Going Seen In Okinawa Cleanup

GUAM, June 15 (AP)—The Japanese are establishing "spy holes" around their Okinawa caves to warn the occupants, and the Americans will be a long time rooting them out, Maj. Gen. Andrew D. Bruce, commander of the U. S. 77th division, disclosed here today.

The general, whose wife, daughter and son live at Temple, Tex., is here for a conference with high military officials.

Although Japanese troops are bitter fighters and shrewdly led on Okinawa, they are still "pattern fighters" who think neither quickly nor clearly when the pattern of action is disrupted, Bruce said.

The general, whose 77th has fought on Guam, Ormoc, Okinawa, and the Kerama islands, lauded American communications in the Ryukyus and declared it was responsible for the success of assembled fire power.

The 77th, made up originally of New Yorkers, was dubbed by radio Tokyo as the "Guam Butchers" and "Brewster's Gangsters from New York."

"The Japs let the bad beaches alone and were ready on the good beaches," Bruce said. "But we fooled them and landed on the bad beaches. Why, we landed on beaches so bad you could not get an LST on except at high tide."

In the conquest of IE, now an American air base island off the west coast of Okinawa, the 77th killed 5,000 Japanese, and there is not a square inch of IE that we cannot use. Even that 670 foot pinnacle is providing coral for construction," said Bruce, former commander of Camp Hood's tank destroyer center and a graduate of Texas A. and M.

The 77th veterans have killed 42,000 Japanese since entering combat a little less than a year ago. The division lost 851 men killed in the Ryukyu islands and killed 19,436 Japanese up to June 1.

The St. Louis-born general took time off here to visit wounded of his division.

Big Three Meet Set For Berlin

By DON DOANE
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 15.—The Big Three victory meeting will be held in Berlin, ruined capital of the dead German Reich, an announcement from Prime Minister Churchill's official residence at No. 10 Downing street said tonight.

A spokesman said a date had not been fixed for the meeting, but Brendan Bracken, first lord of the admiralty, said in a speech tonight that the meeting would be held "at the very time votes are being counted" in Britain's general election.

Between July 5 And 26

That would place it between July 5, the date of the election, and July 26, when the results are to be announced.

The first revelation that Churchill, President Truman and Marshal Stalin would meet in Berlin came in an exchange of letters between Churchill and Britain's Labor party leader, Clement Attlee.

The White House in Washington later confirmed that the meeting would take place in the vicinity of Berlin. White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross, who made the announcement, said he could not give out anything on the date of the meeting.

Attlee, in accepting Churchill's offer to attend the conference as a "friend and counsellor," let out the secret of the parley site by using the phrase "prospective conference in Berlin," in his letter to the prime minister.

Letter From Attlee

Attlee, former deputy prime minister in Churchill's coalition government and present leader of the Labor opposition, lifted the lid in a letter which was the result of a question raised as to his role in the Big Three discussions.

Harold Laski, Labor party chairman, said last night that Attlee should attend only in the role of observer without binding the Labor party on any decisions taken.

Churchill, who previously had announced in Parliament that he was inviting Attlee to accompany him to the meeting, in a letter to Attlee today made plain that the government would "of course bear responsibility for all decisions."

Friend And Counsellor

"But my idea was that you (Attlee) should come as a friend and counsellor and help us on all the subjects on which we have been so long agreed and have been known to be agreed by public declaration."

The obvious reason for the careful delineation of Attlee's position in the discussions is that if the Labor party wins in the current political campaign he might be the prime minister to whom would fall the task of carrying out the Berlin parley agreements.

Yanks Slash Out On Luzon

By SPENCER DAVIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Saturday, June 16.—The 37th Ohio division, in a spectacular smash out of the mountains of northern Luzon, rolled 22 miles deep into the broad Cagayan valley in a single day, while Australian troops pressing the invasion of Borneo cleared Labuan island and captured Timbalai airstrip.

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters disclosed the sudden thrust of the Buckeyes on Luzon as the highlight of successes on all the active Southwest Pacific fronts.

1,200 Japs Killed

At last free of the gorge-like confines of highway No. 5, Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler's division raced 22 miles between Wednesday afternoon and Thursday night and liberated the important valley towns of Santiago and Echague, as 1,200 Japanese dead were added to the casualty list on all Luzon fronts.

A headquarters spokesman said the 37th's advance did not meet determined resistance after it had been pressed through the heavily-defended Orioung pass guarding the valley entrance.

There are now no maj[illegible] obstacles ahead of the veteran mechanized infantrymen until they reach the Cagayan river crossing at Naguilian, 27 miles northeast of their present positions in the broad, 100-mile valley that runs north to the sea.

Expected Last Stand

The valley is the location where the Japanese have been expected to make possibly their last major stand on Luzon.

Simultaneously, elements of the U. S. Sixth division drove five miles north in the mountains along Highway No. 4, west of the valley, sealing tighter the enemy units caught in that wilderness.

The Sixth division, identified for the first time as the force conducting this cleanup drive north of Bagabag, killed 400 Japanese and captured 40.

The 33rd division, driving in the Tabio sector of the Agno river gorge above Baguio, also on Luzon, accounted for another 400 enemy dead, while in central Luzon east of Manila the 38th division counted 100 dead Japanese and the First Cavalry division and the 112th Cavalry regimental combat team disposed

Knockout Blow Seen For Osaka

GUAM, Saturday, June 16. (AP) Osaka was in flames today from what may have been a knockout blow such as the commander of the Superforts says already has been dealt to two of Japan's five key cities.

After a near-record force of 520 Superfortresses unloaded 3,000 tons of incendiaries on Osaka Friday (Japanese date), Maj. Gen. Curtis Le May said further raids on this greatest of all Japan's industrial cities might be unnecessary.

The chief of the 21st Bomber command declared that his giant raiders already were well on their way toward the destruction of the five cities which Gen. H. H. Arnold on his visit here said yesterday would have to be razed to rob Japan of the power to resist.

Five Cities Listed

Arnold, commander of U. S. Army Air forces, listed the five as Tokyo, Nagoya, Yokohama, Kobe and Osaka, and this is how Le May checked them off:

Yokohama and Kobe are "gone" as far as industrial targets of interest to the bombardiers is concerned.

Osaka, with 15 square miles of its target area already in ruins from previous raids, might also be checked off.

Tokyo, with 50 square [illegible] ruins, has only about [illegible] square miles in which the [illegible] ers have a destructive interest.

Nagoya has only a few more targets to be erased.

DEAR ——

Essair made its first training flight here Wednesday, preparatory to beginning regular flights. Braniff superintendent Jack Brough announced that they plan to have a proving run and facility inspection not later than July 25. The line plans to open service July 1, subject to necessary wartime approvals.

Changes in traffic policies went into effect here today and there were quite a few unhappy pedestrians who had been so accustomed to "jaywalking," they continued on their merry way until halted by a policeman's whistle. Safety is the keynote of the precautions and police are being urged by the city commission to enforce all ordinances relating to traffic.

The department has been augmented by new patrolmen and approximately 15 remain to be added.

Parallel parking on narrow streets has been initiated and "double-parking" especially is being watched by the police.

Perhaps by the time you come home Lubbock will have lost its fame of being one of the worst towns in the nation as regards traffic violations.

Lt.-Gov. John Lee Smith addressed a meeting of Knights of Pythias Tuesday night in the East ballroom of Hotel Lubbock and was main speaker at a luncheon of the Lubbock Business and Professional Women's club the following day.

During an interview, when he was asked if he believed Gov. Coke Stevenson would seek reelection, he said; "I'm afraid I'll have to let the governor answer that one."

Dr. Robert L. Sutherland, director of the Hogg Foundation of Texas, has been here this week for a series of lectures on Tech campus.

Joan Prouty, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Parker F. Prouty, stricken with poliomyelitis Tuesday, is reported to be satisfactory by her attending physician at Lubbock General hospital. No other cases of polio have been reported here.

Col. Jack Jenkins, who was liberated from Stalag Luft, 3 April 29, is expected to arrive this week to spend a leave here and in Levelland. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jenkins of Levelland and was an employe at Hemphill-Wells before entering the service.

Joseph F. Andrews of Washington and New York, husband of the former Ruth Horn of Lubbock, died Sunday in New York City, friends here have been advised. Burial was to be in the family plot at Vicksburg, Miss. Mrs. Andrews is the daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Paul W. Horn.

Lt. Carroll G. Keeling of Pampa died at Cherbourg France May 24 as a result of injuries suffered in a jeep accident, according to information received by his wife, Mrs. Beatrice Keeling, who is employed in a doctor's office at West Texas hospital.

A phenomenon believed to be a giant blazing meteor blazed across the western sky Thursday about 9:30 p. m., jerking lawn lollers out of their chairs and sending them hurrying to the telephones to seek information from the newspaper office and the police station.

Dr. Ralph S. Underwood, Tech math professor, to whom we always go in such crises, said undoubtedly it was a meteor that was falling probably in 30 to 50 miles of Lubbock. Its speed was estimated at 10 to 50 miles a second.

Capt. George Berl Huffman, former assistant football coach and head basketball mentor at Texas Tech college, is to be a coaching aide to Maj. Douglas A. Freesenden in leading the Army Air Forces Training Command team at Fort Worth.

First Lt. Glenn Burleson, U. S. Army Air Forces, is at home after service in the European Theater of war. His arrival was spoiled because he lost his wallet containing a sizable sum of money and also his identification papers and travel orders.

Lt. Henrie Mast of the U. S. Navy is here on a leave after service as a medical officer in the Pacific theater of war for the last 19 months.

Maj. Jeff G. Ray of Lubbock has been awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in action. An aerial observer, he braved heavy anti-aircraft fire over France on Sept. 27, 1944 and was instrumental in the destruction of nine German tanks.

Goodbye this week.

Woman Has Close Call When Stray Bullet Nicks Desk

Another evidence that kids should not be allowed to discharge fierarms inside city limits was told by police at noon.

Mrs. Billie Lamb, whose husband Bill Lamb is a police patrolman, moved from her desk at Lydick-Hamilton Roofing company at 424 Ave. N and to filing cabinets five feet away.

Just as she reached the cabinets a .22 rifle bullet bored through the window right over the desk.

Police who investigated said it was "entirely possible" that her moving saved her from being struck.

None was arrested, but investigation was being continued.

Several youngsters had been chased from the immediate vicinity times before, company employes said. They were shooting at birds.

Patrolman and Mrs. Lamb live at 802 Ave. K.

Silver Star Given To Major Jeff Ray

Braving heavy anti-aircraft fire over France on Sept. 27, 1944, to be instrumental in the destruction of nine German tanks five field artillery officers, Maj. Jeff G. Ray of Lubbock and 1st. Lt. Leland B. Whiting, Jackson, Mich., have been awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in action.

When a report came in that the enemy was assembling tanks in a certain sector Maj. Ray and Lt. Whiting were given the assignment of locating them. At a range of more than 20,000 yards they discovered a concentration of some 20 light and heavy tanks believed to be gathering for a counterattack.

The officers adjusted heavy artillery fire on the center of the concentration through the battalion fire direction center and while no direct hits were obtained, the fragmentation and blast effect of the battery concentration disabled six tanks in the assembly. This caused the remainder to withdraw hurriedly.

Returning from this mission, Maj. Ray observed other tanks proceeding under cover toward the flank of a friendly tank company and a light field artillery battalion. Realizing that the friendly units were threatened by this hostile tank maneuver, he dropped a message to the tank company commander, who maneuvered his tanks into position to engage the enemy tanks.

The hostile tanks that escaped were pursued and taken under fire by Maj. Ray, a move which led to the destruction of three more tanks.

Pittsburgh Holds Lead By Beating St. Louis Cards

PITTSBURGH, June 15. (AP)—The league leading Pittsburgh Pirates held their half-game edge tonight with a 5 to 2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals before 24,315 fans. Bob Elliott's homer in the sixth put the game on ice for the Pirates.

golf's mechanical man, dropped one stroke off the pace by blowing a six-foot putt on the final green for a 68.

Bulla has 135 and Nelson 136 for the first 36 holes of the tournament played for the benefit of the pro golfers' rehabilitation fund. Tomorrow only the low 60 pros and 10 leading amateurs will continue.

Best round of the day was turned in by Harold (Jug) McSpaden, whose hay fever abated enough to permit him to score a 66, a figure that equaled Hines' effort of yesterday and tied the course record for the second straight day. He has 139 for the two days.

Lions Run Wild In Big Fourth To Win

The Lions club junior baseball nine "spoiled" a good ball game in the fourth inning Friday afternoon at the Lubbock Boys club diamond by exploding for a 12-run splurge, then went on to beat the Junior Chamber of Commerce nine, 25 to 7.

The Jaycees took an early lead, pushing over three runs in the top half of the first inning. In the last half of the frame, Billy Presley homered with none on base. In the second inning, the Lions tied the score when Ronald Bennett hit another round tripper with one on.

The Jaycees pushed over two runs in the top half of the third to regain the lead, then the Lions scored three more to move into the front for the first time. The 12-run fourth iced away the game.

Bass homered for the Jaycees in the first inning with none on base.

Morris Turner started pitching for the Jaycees, but gave way to John Tosh in the hectic fourth. Jackie Martyn hurled all the way for the winners.

Bob Galey Pitches, Bats Legion To Win

Bob Galey pitched and batted the Lubbock American Legion nine to a 4 to 3 win over the O.K. Garage Friday afternoon at Chapman field.

The Legion nine was forced to come from behind, with Galey breaking up the ball game in the last of the seventh with a single with the bases loaded.

The game was a scoreless pitching duel for four innings, with C. French matching Galey all the way. The Garagemen scored one in the fifth, and both sides scored twice in the sixth.

After Alderson fanned to start the seventh, Arrington reached first on an error, Gallegos walked, and Folsom singled to fill the bases. Vaughn fanned, but Galey delivered with the game winning blow.

Both pitchers allowed only six hits, while French hung up a dozen strikeouts, and Galey whiffed nine of the Garagemen.

The American Legion nine from Morton will play the Lubbock club Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Chapman field.

Cook Leads Optimists To Win Over ABC

Jackie Cook pitched and hit his team to victory Friday night as the Optimist junior baseball nine knocked the American Business club off the undefeated list 11-10 in the last half of the seventh inning, again tying the two teams for the top.

The lead see-sawed equally between the two teams throughout the game. The ABC took a two-run lead in the first and second innings only to have it taken from them in the last of the second by a four-run Optimist rally. In the third inning, the ABC regained and relost the lead. A two-run rally in the fourth and sixth innings and one run in the first of the seventh, while the Optimists were held scoreless, put the ABC nine ahead 10-6 when the last of the seventh began.

Burlesmith gaind a base on balls, stole second, and took third on the overthrow to second. Golden followed with another walk and likewise stole second. Crawford walked, filling the sacks. Blackburn gained another pass, forcing Burelsmith across the plate. Then pitcher Jackie Cook stepped into a high hard one for a well hit double, scoring Golden and Crawford. Catcher Scales followed with a hit to short stop Danny Strickland, who fired the ball to the plate in an effort to cut off Blackburn. Bill Wylie dropped the throw to home, letting in the tieing run. Clark poled a bare single over the second baseman's head, scoring Jackie Cook with the winning run.

Jackie Cook hurled all the way for the Optimists; Scales did the catching. Lester York pitched the first two and the last inning for the ABC; Danny Strickland pitching the middle five. Wylie caught.

Jaycees Show Power In Taking Twin-Bill

The on-and-off-again Jaycee softball team got on the beam Friday night and looked like a new outfit in taking on two teams in a doubleheader and trouncing them both soundly at the 32nd and Adams Ave. diamond. A Marine by the name of Pope, with the local Marine recruiting office, strongarmed a no-hit game to lead the way in the 9 to 3 victory over the LAAF civilian ten in the opener.

LAAF's trio of runs were unearned.

C. W. Carder, Jaycee coach, ordered a bunting game against the LAAF group and the Jaycees responded heartily, finding the ball easily.

Edwards Food was the next victim, falling 4 to 1. John Beakley pitched eight strikeouts for the Jaycees and was aided by a homer from the bat of Bill Sams.

Both tilts were five-inning affairs.

Preakness Race Today's Feature

BALTIMORE, Md., June 15. (AP) —The 55th and richest of all Preakness stakes will be run over Pimlico's mile and three-sixteenths distance tomorrow with Hoop Jr., easy winner of the Kentucky Derby, the favorite to ship eight other three-year olds and set the second jewel in the American turf's triple crown.

Headliner of a one-day program that will see renewal of five stakes and upwards of $165,000 distributed in purses, the Preakness will offer three horses that trailed Junior in the derby a chance to prove that the muddy going at Churchill Downs was not to their liking. The weather man has promised a lightning fast racing strip and mid-summer temperatures for tomorrow.

But the chief opposition to the hard-hitting bay from F. W. Hooper's Jacksonville, Fla., stable is expected to come from Walter Jeffords' Pavot—a colt that was all victorious as a two-year-old and bowed by a narrow margin in his only start this season. Pavot was not entered in the derby.

Hoop Jr. has worked well since arriving from Louisville early in the week but, by contrast, Pavot has been sensational in morning trials. The son of Case Ace out of a Man O'War mare turned the Preakness distance in 1:59 1/5—a time which, if repeated, would mean that the old hilltop course is slated for a real horse race. The stake record of 1:57 was made by Alsab in 1942. The track record is 1:56 2/5.

As the result of Hoop Jr.s known speed and ability to go the route and Pavot's workout, following his defeat by Mrs. P. A. B. Widener's Plynesian in the Withers mile at Belmont park, they are expected to be favored by a record crowd of 50,000.

Georgie (Iceman) Woolf, only jockey in the race with a Preakness victory to his credit, will be up on Pavot and he knows the Jeffords' flyer like a book, having won six races with him as a juvenile. With Eddie Arcaro held in New York by his contract employer, Al Snider will pilot Hoop Jr.

A Voice For Everyone

Let Your Wishes Be Known, Too

COMMENDABLE efforts are being made by Lubbock's civic center committee to obtain the opinions of local residents and of officials of other cities regarding the type of municipal project which might eventually be undertaken here.

Every citizen is being given the opportunity to express his desires regarding the type of project and to suggest its uses. Questionnaires have been published in issues of Avalanche-Journal newspapers and in the chamber of commerce magazine.

During the last week, letters have been mailed to 69 cities and towns in the United States to obtain data on types of projects in operation in those towns, manner in which they are financed, average attendance, frequency used, distance from retail district, financing and other information.

As was stated in the letters from the mayor and chamber of commerce to other cities, "Some people want an auditorium—coliseum—public library—city hall—community building—etc.—all located at one place to house all community and municipal offices and activities. Others just want an auditorium with some office space to house a few specific offices. Still others want a combination auditorium-coliseum.

"And some of us just want to have whatever is best for the people of Lubbock and its trade territory."

An exhaustive study is being made to determine what is best for the people of Lubbock and its trade territory—both from opinions of the residents and from experience with such projects in other cities.

So that the wishes of the majority may be determined, it is important that every resident with definite opinions regarding the project make known his wishes to the committee.

Sure, They Are Welcome!

ARRIVAL of new contingents of men at South Plains Army Air field this month will be welcomed by South Plains residents for a variety of reasons.

Their assignment here, for one reason, marks the re-militarization of the field. The men are the first to be stationed here, except for a small group of officers and a party of enlisted men who were here only temporarily, since the field was inactivated Feb. 15 after glider training had been halted.

For another, the men are overseas veterans and their assignment in the states will mean more comforts for those who have been through the rigors of warfare.

Far a reason still closer to many families, the men are residents of "this territory"—stationed as near to their homes as possible.

It is a case of "welcome home" for many of these veterans—and the Avalanche-Journal heartily joins in that welcome.

The Reckoning Will Come

WHETHER Japanese are still committing atrocities of the nature of the slaying in December, 1943, of American missionaries in the Central Philippines—a grisly story which recently was released—there is no way of learning. This is merely another episode in a long list of horrible affairs which the American people accept as normal Japanese practice. Most of them that have been revealed happened before the going became so tough for the Japs.

If the Japanese are seriously considering unconditional surrander in the next few months, a matter which is entering increasingly into the speculation of the Allies, it may be that they have begun to clear the atrocity slates. Perhaps the war lords plan to blame the more abominable deeds upon commanders in distant zones without the sanction of Tokyo.

The course of events with regard to the Nazi guilty may have a bearing upon the attitude of the Japs. Not much has been revealed about current or pending executions of the German criminals. Not a single leader of the Nazis yet has stretched rope. Possibly some encouragement is being given to the hopes of the Tokyo war lords as to their fate on the chance that they will surrender more readily.

However that may be, it is certain that the Japs have a long list of atrocities to answer for and that the Allies in the final roundup will hold them strictly accountable.

That is what should be done.

"The soy bean is older than the pyramids," says a dietitian. We had often wondered about that musty taste.

Aw, cheer up! Where there's breath, there's life; and where there's life, there's hope. And you're still breathing, aren't you?

Nature must have been in a droll mood when she handed the tom-cat his love song.

Our house was outside of the village just beyond the Academy, on the road that led to the hill. It was of the older variety, built back from the street and reached by a walk that was bordered by lilacs and syringas. Like almost every other family in the village, we had a cow, a pig and a garden. We had a horse, too, but her use was reserved for my father. Our barn joined the house by way of a shed. Being citybred, my mother could never quite get used to this arrangement and was forever reminding us to close the door between them. "Your mother's afraid the smell of the kitchen will get out into the stable," my father used to say slyly.

My father was very proud of his home and his family. He was especially proud of Sue, who was 14 and a sophomore in the Academy. Sue was quick. She could hunt him up faster than anyone when a call came in, and by the time he got his things togather she would have the horse hitched and waiting in the driveway. But she was impatient and apt to be bossy when my mother was out of hearing. Sue liked to draw, and she was good at it, too, though she always drew things that were fierce and turbulent. Forest fires. Houses swirling around in a flood. Cats fighting.

Julia was 11. My father was proud of her, too, though she baffled him. He himself was tender-hearted—it took almost nothing to fill his eyes with tears—but Julia scorned softness of any kind. She had no qualms at all about such things as baiting hooks and having kittens drowned. She gave no sympathy and tolerated none. If she was sick, she never acknowledged it. When a tooth had to come out, she pulled it herself by tying one end of a string to it, the other end to the doorknob, then slamming the door. Moreover, she had spirit. In those days when children were supposed to accept without question, she challenged anyone, regardless of age or experience.

She could not tolerate lies or excuses. Often my mother asked my father to bring something home from the store, it being just below his office. When he forgot, he didn't like to admit it. Instead he was apt to say, "Tim didn't have any," or "Tim had closed up when I left." My mother always appeared to believe him. But not Julia. "Nonsense, Papa," she would say coldly without looking up. He never took her to task for it. I think he was afraid to.

I was 9, and, it hurts me to remember, the plainest of the three. Both Sue and Julia resembled my mother's family. Sue had blue eyes, a short, straight nose, and heavy chestnut hair which she wore in coronet braids. Julia had brown eyes, brown curls, and a nose that was pleasantly rounded. Both had slender, graceful figures. I was sturdy, like my father. I had thin, mousy hair which I wore in short, limp braids, looped up and tied with a ribbon, gray eyes, and a nose that turned up a little.

My mother had been a native of Boston, and although my father used to joke her about having married beneath her and come to live in the provinces, he felt the truth of it, just the same. Whenever my grandparents visited us, he couldn't do enough for them, or for us, either. Ordinarily if a patient wanted a splint or a bandage he would fix him up in the kitchen, but when my grandparents were with us, he took everyone down to the office, as if it were a matter of course. He changed his shirt the minute he came in without being reminded, and he kept his coat on all the time. (My mother had to keep a sharp eye on Julia then.) He liked to talk business with my grandfather, especially about the shrewd deals he had made.

From the time I was 7, my grandparents' visits had been growing less frequent. The trip was hard, they said, and they were getting older. They preferred to have us come to Boston. We girls preferred that, too, for we loved to sail down the bay, winding in and out among the tiny green islands, where sheep were grazing or lying motionless in the shade, like those on the monuments in the village graveyard. We loved, too, the tossing, open sea. The solemn, fearful sound of the bell buoys. The whistle tearing through our plugged ears as a boat passed. The dark water, glistening under the stars.

Travel was no novelty to mother. As a child she had often taken long trips with her father, who had been a coffee merchant with connections in all the leading cities of the east. By the time she was 10 she had visited New York, Philadelphia, and Washington. She had heard a symphony orchestra and seen a real play in a theater. In Washington she had stood outside the White House and watched President Rutherford B. Hayes pass by in his carriage. When she was 15, she had gone away to school, spending two years at a "Female Seminary." It was through her roommate there that she had met my father, then a medical student at Bowdoin College.

For all her background, my mother fitted nicely into our little village, where my father's family had lived for three generations and whre his father had been the doctor before him. Though she was reserved, no one felt that she was the least bit 'stuck-up." She worked tirelessly for the church, and the library, and the Sidewalk Society. She had better sense than my father, and he respected it, leaving all moral judgments to her discretion, "Ask your mother," he would tell us, when, hoping for a gentler verdict, we would appeal to him. "She is the boss here." ("I boss the boys," he would sometimes laughingly add.) He asked her advice constantly and took it—on town affairs, on any speech he was asked to deliver (he loved to make speeches), even on the care of his patients. But he never asked it when he contemplated an investment. She had never volunteered it, either, until that spring afternoon in 1909.

But he went ahead in spite of her. He bought the American House and, through a Portland agency, hired a man named Jim McClure to run it on shares.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

THERE has been so much writing and talking recently about such things as juvenile delinquency and psychoneurosis and other high-sounding, modern-age phenomena that I feel like sounding a note of warning about taking these so-called expert expressions too seriously.

BRANDEIS

I have all the respect in the world for science and scientists, but I am somewhat wary of pseudo-science and of opinion posing as science.

Science means knowledge. It is the observation and classification of facts—science is irrefutable truth.

Assumption or opinion is not science.

Mathematics is a science. Chemistry is science. Physics is science. Psychology is not.

And how that word psychology has been abused of late.

Whenever somebody wants to impress you with his superior knowledge he tells you "It's a psychological fact that — " and then he goes on to say whatever he thinks will knock you down.

The word psychology is a combination of two Greek words: Psyche, meaning soul or life, and logos, meaning word.

What does science know about the soul or the facts of life?

Who has been able to blueprint the soul or to explore the endless labyrinth of life?

"Logos," yes. Words. you can talk about the soul and express your thoughts about life in words. But your words are as good as mine, your thoughts may be even better by far.

I think that the very best way to deal with these psychological problems which the war has forced us to face is by common sense.

The soldier who comes back to you is your soldier. He was your boy before he went away. He is not an object for scientific observation or experimentation now. He is your boy again.

Maybe the war has unbalanced him. Maybe he is stunneed and frightened and lost for the moment.

It is you who has to help him find himself again. Love and tenderness and understanding, those will do much more good than the microscope or the bottle of pink pills.

If there is something wrong organically by all means consult a doctor. But I am sure that in most cases love and common sense are the best cures for what is high-soundingly called psychoneurosis but usually means only that someone you love has lost his way.

AND as for juvenile delinquency —I think what I have said above applies to that as well.

The other night when I was driving on an unmarked country road I lost my way, too. And then a "native" who knew the road came along and in a few minutes I was back on the highway.

That's psychology — in its simplest form.

Jackson Into Cabinet?

Jurist Talked For State Post

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

ROBERT H. JACKSON has suddenly leaped the field as a prominent possibility as Secretary of State in place of Edward R. Stettinius, jr. It is understood that the latter will be awarded with a major ambassadorship for his acceptable pinch-hitting at San Francisco.

The Supreme court justice and former Attorney General is admittedly qualified for the post of President Truman's foreign minister; his present service as American prosecutor of war criminals will furnish him with further experience. When he has completed that task, few men in or around Washington will have enjoyed a more intimate association with postbellum problems and personalities.

TUCKER

Mr. Jackson also fills the bill as a prospective White House occupant, in the event he should be summoned to that office. He would make a helpful running mate for Mr. Truman in 1948, a factor which must be considered in naming that office. The Secretary of State of the world's No. 1 Power will be in the headlines every day when Japan has been vanquished.

From the standpoint of practical politics, the associate justice has many assets. He is regarded as a sound liberal, but he does not stand so far left as does Henry Wallace. He is not a hard-boiled organization man, but the politicos like him. Coming from New York, he would give geographical balance to a ticket headed by the man from Missouri.

HST has, naturally, been canvassing the field for a person who would bring strength to his cabinet and to his political household, despite denials that Mr. Stettinius would be supplanted. Others mentioned have been James F. Byrnes and William O. Douglas. But so far Mr. Jackson appears to be the best bet. He would be permitted to finish his present assignment, which means that the prospective change is not imminent.

ANSWER: Experts on the structure of government agree with President Truman that members of Congress should receive more money, although many place the top figure at $15,000 or $20,000 instead of the $25,000 suggested by the former member of the Senate. But they doubt whether the increase would improve the caliber of the membership.

Numerous states, and especially New York, have boosted the pay of members of the judiciary in order to get better men on the bench. Although the Empire state has had many fine men on its Supreme court, enriching the incentive has not attracted a higher type of candidate. In many instances, in that commonwealth and elsewhere, it has persuaded political hacks to make the race. And sometimes they win out.

HST's blessing may encourage the MCs to pluck up courage and vote themselves a raise instead of tipping the till for more coin by ruses and devious devices. In the measure that has just passed the House, the boys in the lower chamber get theirs by way of a nontaxable expense allowance of $2,500. The senators are fixing their family budget with more cash for clerk hire, telephone calls, "contingent expenses" etc.

It is generally agreed that the legislators deserve a boost. During the present clash many members have opened their financial books to this and other writers. On the average, after paying for maintenance of two households, entertaining visiting foremen in Washington, shelling out for party and campaign expenditures, they net only about $3,000 to $4,000 a year.

WINNING THE WAR

By Albert Leman

THE WORLD coal famine will not only hit American consumers, as was explained in this column yesterday, but it will keep General Eisenhower's occupation troops busy alleviating distress and quelling political disturbances.

The worst headache already is in Germany, because neighboring countries once depended on her to eke out their limited supplies.

Prior to the war she was Europe's greatest miner Bituminous Coal Institute experts flew to New York this week from abroad with the startling report that production in the western Reich is less than five per cent of normal. Five thousand tons were dug in April in the Cologne Basin compared with a million tons in the same month in 1938. The entire nation may eventually yield about 20 per cent of its former annual 250,000,000 tons.

LEMAN

In general the properties are intact; shafts are difficult plane targets. The pinch is in manpower and management. Three hundred thousand additional workers are needed at once.

During the last year of the war, skilled men were diverted to the Wehrmacht and replaced by foreign slave labor. We have been combing prisoner of war camps but find that many former miners were slain in combat. The inexperienced are not much good; mining is a highly technical trade.

Even when old hands have been assembled in the Ruhr and Saar districts, productivity is limited. Their homes were bombed out, so the men must live at a distance from their jobs. And the blitzed transportation system delays commuting.

There is a dearth of bosses. Nazis must be strained from the manager class. Newcomers lack the experience and authority to discipline. Safety measures — such as no smoking — must be rigidly enforced in the dangerous pits, but the makeshift supervisors either do not know the hazards or cannot handle their men.

ELECTRICITY: The layman is inclined to think of coal mainly in relation to the warming of a dwelling or office building. Actually it is the foundation of modern industry.

One if its chief by-products is electricity. Germany previously had a power system second only to that of the United States. Eighty per cent of her own industries operated by electricity. She transported coal in the form of "juice" to the public utilities and factories of Belgium and the Netherlands.

As her mines are nearly idle and her high-tension wires are wrecked, her near-by customers are also deprived of fuel and electric power.

It is doubtful whether Germany can export more than 10 million tons to Europe's railroads — not nearly enough to fill the gap in local supply. Food movements everywhere will be curtailed. Rural communities will live well. But want will stalk 75 million urban dwellers on the continent, including 20 million under 15 years of age already short of milk and protective foods.

The convoy needs of the Pacific war will prevent our shipment of much coal to Europe even if we could spare some from our own rapidly melting stock piles.

Until now most of the continent's extra fuel requirements were met by the United Kingdom. But England has a domestic shortage of four million tons and her Far Eastern war effort, like our own, must have priority. Except for some low grade ore, export to Europe will cease on August 31.

Russian rehabilitation demands will monopolize the output of the Donets Basin and Silesia. In fact, the whole world is short by 100 million tons.

"Certain African tribes require that in order to be eligible to marry, a man must be efficient in running, jumping, swimming and fighting."—Newspaper filler. These requirements are evidently listed in the order of their importance.

Never before were grandmothers engaged in so many activities. One of them hauled off the other day and gave birth to triplets.

Overheard: "Why be so difficult, when with a little more effort you could be impossible?'

It's Aid To International Co-Operation

Continuance Of OWI Is Urged

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — International co-operation works out in many ways, through many channels.

We used to think of it largely in terms of political co-operation. We are beginning to discover that it also has to do with economic cooperation. We learn this, by watching the influence of isolationism in trying not only to wreck international political cooperation, but also such projects of internatonl economic co-operation as the reciprocal tariff program and the Bretton Woods plan for an International Bank and Monetary fund.

STOKES

The American people have indicated they don't want Isolationism. They want full-fledged international co-operation on all fronts, political and economic.

But there is still another handle to this international program which is often overlooked and which, if not used, fosters isolationism.

This is to follow up and implement our general program of political and economic co-operation by telling the people of the rest of the world, with whom we desire to co-operate, the story of this country, its aims and ideals, so they may understand us. This in the end, will promote political and economic co-oneration.—

Truman Aware Of Needs

No one is more aware of the necessity of this phase of an international program of co-operation than is President Truman.

There are two available means at present to do this. One is the regular flow of news through regular channels. The other is the Office of War Information—OWI—which has been telling this story wherever it was possible, and very effectively, though in a somewhat different way from the press, but in a supplementary and essential way for our purposes.

PRESIDENT Truman want to encourage the telling of the American story through both channels. He has urged that Congress give to OWI the full amount recommended by the Budget bureau. Its recommendation was made only after careful study which included the dispatch of agents to OWI outposts in various parts of the world to check on operations from the budgetary standpoint, as to economy of operation.

At the same press conference, President Truman pledged himself to do everything possible in negotiations with Russia—which are proceeding so satisfactorily on other matters—to open up to newspapermen the Balkan countries from which htey are now excluded.

The Budget bureau recommended $42,000,000 for OWI for next year. The House Appropriations committee reduced this to $35,000,000. The House itself slashed $17,000,000 from the figure regarded necessary by its committee to make it only $18,000,000. Efforts to raise this will be made in the Senate.

The slash in funds by the House would end OWI's operations in Europe at the time when it is so necessary to get the American viewpoint to people there, not only in the countries OWI has been able to reach hitherto, but also in those which were under German domination for so long.

Russia, Britain Busy

There is very little knowledge or realization in countries in Southeastern Europe, for example, of the part the United States played in the war and in their liberation and very little of United States peace objectives. There is much misinformation and false propaganda elsewhere.

Both Russia and Great Britian are busy in all these areas with their well-established propaganda services.

There is much criticism—and in some quarters, fear—of Russia's activity in Southeastern Europe. One way to counteract that influence is to tell the people there the American story, the American viewpoint. Strange enough some of those who worry about Russia's influence in that area are those who would do away with OWI and thus cut off a very effective means of increasing United States influence, a prompt and peaceful means.

NOTHING will promote peace so much as an understanding among the peoples of each other. With that understanding they will be less likely to follow self-made dictators and ambitious political leaders against their neighbors.

We are proud of what we have done and of our objectives for the peace. We have a great story to tell. We must tell it with every means available. We must go the whole route on international co-operation. This is a very important part of it.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Buses are overburdened as never before. A crisis is near. With more men, tires and gas going to war, present service can barely be maintained. Each day brings greater loads. When you must travel locally, let this be your creed:

1. Do Not Ride in Rush Hours, except to and from your job.
2. Have Exact Fare Ready, saves time and fuss.
3. Move Back When Driver Asks, speeds your ride.

This simple creed will work wonders.

PRICES AT 8-YEAR PEAK

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP) — Persistent strength of rails and specialties today enabled the stock market to register a new 8-year average peak with favorites gaining 1 to 3 points on the liveliest dealings in more than a month.

Growing cutbacks and contract cancellations remained as a sobering influence and many pivotals were neglected. The day's volume was 1,900,000 shares, compared with 1,850,000 the day before.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .4 of a point at 66.8, highest for this barometer since Aug. 25, 1937.

Ahead were M-K-T common and preferred, Santa Fe, Armour, Radio Corp., U. S. Steel, U. S. Rubber, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, J. C. Penney, Sears Roebuck and American Telephone.

In the minus ranks were United Aircraft, Montgomery Ward, Standard Oil (NJ), United Corp., Philip Morris and Johns-Manville.

Secondary railway bonds pushed upward.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP)—After experiencing its sharpest shake out in many weeks, the cotton market turned into new high ground for the day in late trading to close unchanged to 15 cents a bale higher.

Unconfirmed reports that the Commodity Credit corporation has a new purchase cotton program prepared and awaiting enactment of the price control bill, and that textile ceilings will shortly be raised accounted for the late rally.

Mills and commission houses turned aggressive buyers along with short covering by locals. Prices had reacted as much as 80 cents a bale in early dealings on hedge selling which in turn influenced considerable commission house and New Orleans selling.

Hedging operations were associated with a substantial increase in sales of spot cotton at the primary market Thursday, which caused a break of 15 points in the price for the staple at Memphis.

Hospitals To Get Surplus Supplies

WASHINGTON, June 15. (AP)—The surplus property board advised Congress today that it expects within a month to begin distributing surplus medical supplies to hospitals throughout the country "at almost the cost of mailing or shipping."

Lt. Col. Edward Heller, board member, read to a Senate Military subcommittee a memorandum which said the board also has programs under way for:

1. Expansion of the school lunch program by making available "at nominal prices" cooking and kitchen equipment to serve 12,000,000 children.

2. Conversion of surplus military electronic and radio equipment to school room use.

Police Here Start On New Schedule

The police department, strengthened by the addition of new men, began operating on three eight-hour shifts Friday.

Emphasis on traffic ordinance enforcement was one result. Double parking, jaywalking and "running the red" before right turns were being discouraged. Signs were put out at some intersections advising against U turns.

Both Chief of Police Don Reeder and Capt. Lewis Kittrell, of the traffic department, said the public's first response was encouraging. Reeder said, "The people, through their city commission, have dictated this enforcement. There is nothing for the police department to do but carry out those wishes by enforcement."

No more than the usual number of traffic tickets were being given. The department's announced intention was first to give motorists the opportunity to cooperate volunteerly.

More Space For Traffic

More than 15 feet have been made available on several streets for flow of motor traffic as result of changing to parallel parking.

"It must be cautioned, however, one act of thoughtlessness can undo all that saving of space, specifically if some motorist double-parks in the street," said Chief of Police Don Reeder. "At the same time, it is recognized that there must be an occasional instance of such parking, since some delivery trucks in some blocks do not have loading zones available. The ordinary driver, however, should park his car at a legal parking spot at the curb or on a parking lot and not double-park. Such illegal conduct upsets the driving schedule of all other motorists."

Sugar Allotments

lighter syrups, however, will permit canners to pack just as many cases of peaches, pears, plums and other fruits as they packed last year because they will use less sugar per unit.

Among the items that will be affected by the industrial sugar cuts are bread and other bakery products, baking mixes, breakfast cereals, spaghetti and macaroni, ice cream and sherbets, jam, jelly, preserves and marmalade, condensed milk, cheese and other dairy products, bottled beverages (alcoholic and non-alcoholic), extracts, relishes, mayonnaise and salad dressing, potato chips, candy, chewing gum, cough drops, canned and bottled foods, table syrup, internal and external pharmaceuticals and vitamin oils.

Sugar allowances for soups, catsup and chili sauce will not be reduced because a further cut for these products would reduce production, OPA said. No cut will be made for most cured and canned meats, but canners of carrots and beets will receive no sugar at all as these vegetables can be canned successfully without sugar.

At the same time the OPA announced that on July 1 it will increase sugar allotments in 177 counties and independent cities where increased population in the past five years calls for such adjustment.

In 59 counties where there has been a heavy decline in population the allotments will be decreased.

18 Die, 32 Hurt In Train Wreck

MILTON, Pa., June 15. (AP)—Eighteen were killed and 32 injured in a nightmarish collision early today between the Pennsylvania railroad's Dominion Express and a freight train thrown into its path by a broken journal.

(Eight members of a section gang were killed by the New York Central Water Level limited a few hours later near Amsterdam, N. Y.)

The 14-car Washington-to-Buffalo Express thundered at 55 miles an hour into the 34th car of the 103-car freight train, proceeding in the opposite direction along a parallel track, with a crash a soldier described as "louder than anything I heard on European battlefronts."

No Warning Possible

No warning was possible as the locomotive ploughed into the freight car, knocking 20 other freight cars from the tracks and pulling seven cars behind it off the rails in grotesque pileups.

As the din of the crash subsided, the screams of passengers injured and trapped rose from the smashed coaches. Passengers aboard seven sleeping cars which remained on the tracks were shaken but joined in rescue efforts quickly spurred by hundreds of residents of the surrounding countryside who had been aroused by the shattering noise.

Hours after the crash, only seven bodies had been extricated. Others were wedged in the wreckage. Rescue workers with acetylene torches cut through tangled steel under the glare of search lights and continued as the hot sun beat down.

Thirty-two injured survivors were taken to hospitals at Lewisburg, Danville, and Sunbury, where two died.

Ribbentrop Held

stood to want him for war crimes.

Just when he and the other major war criminals will be brought to trial apparently has not been decided, but both British and American sources have emphasized that the trials will be public.

The man who engineered Hitler's arrogant foreign policy apparently could not find a friend in all Hamburg, Germany's second largest city, who was willing to hide him from the Allies.

When he reached Hamburg on April 30—the day before the Nazis announced Hitler's death and two days before the Russians reported the capture of Berlin—he went to a wine merchant friend he had known for 25 years.

He said the wine merchant refused him refuge, but got him a modest room from an unsuspecting landlady who knew him as "Riese." It was there the arresting officers found him at 9:30 a.m. yesterday and awakened him from a sound sleep.

Produces Poison Vial

Von Ribbentrop admitted his identity and voluntarily produced the suicide container of poison, which a British staff officer said was fastened inside the groin. The poison was believed to be the same type used by Heinrich Himmler and other Nazis who took their lives.

The wine merchant identified Ribbentrop late yesterday, but news of the arrest was held up overnight to make certain his sister was taken into custody.

Von Ribbentrop's captors described him as "extremely passive and not a bit truculent."

His seizure in tawdry circumstances such as might surround the arrest of a petty thief was in stark contrast to the splendor that characterized his more than seven years in the foreign ministry in Berlin.

TIN DANGEROUSLY LOW

DALLAS, June 15. (AP)—The nation's tin supply has reached such a dangerously low level that housewives must salvage all their tin cans if they expect to have a sufficient supply for foods, Edward W. Greb, national salvage campaign manager of the War Production board, said here today.

TB Conference To Continue Here Today

Representatives of 20 counties in the Lubbock area affiliated with state and national tuberculosis associations will hold their final conference of a two-day meet this morning at Hilton hotel, Mrs. Frances C. Delegates attending the conference are Ethel G. Peerman, field representative of Austin; Mrs. J. D. Akers of Brownfield; Mrs. Ruby Wilson of Lubbock; Mrs. Bennie Sanford of Lubbock; Mrs. M. L. Perreanet of El Paso; Caroline Caballero of El Paso; William R. Gardener of El Paso; Mrs. Henry McQueen of Lamesa; Mrs. W. L. Marr of Lamesa; Mrs. J. G. Merrett of Colorado City; Mrs. L. J. the world organization.

Another commission called up for approval in public session provisions for a new international court and its statute.

Technical experts of the Big Five—Russia, China, Britain, France and the United States—were called into consultation to try to work out satisfactory language on the broad powers of discussion in the general assembly. This would be for submission to a conference committee in an effort to reopen the matter.

If the big powers decide to pry the lid off this question again, there appeared little doubt they would encounter vigorous opposition from small nations. The assembly is the only league agency in which many of them will have a voice.

TRUMAN HOPES TO SPEAK ON JUNE 23

WASHINGTON, June 15. (AP)—President Truman hopes to address the United Nations conference closing session Saturday, June 23, the White House announced today.

In a statement released simultaneously by the White House and the United States delegation at San Francisco it was said that the conference "is making a real effort to wind up its business by end of next week and it is hoped that President Truman will be able to address the conference on Saturday, June twenty-third."

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said the President will fly to Olympia, Wash., next Tuesday or Wednesday, probably Tuesday, to be the guest of Gov. Mon C. Wallgren, and fly from Olympia to San Francisco the day before his speech.

He will return to Washington on June 24, if the conference closes the day before, and remain here until June 27 when he will fly to Kansas City to attend homecoming celebrations at nearby Independence that afternoon and at Kansas City the next day.

Gen. Eisenhower

German underground had appeared, and he doubted that any could under present occupation conditions.

Concerning German commanders, Eisenhower said Marshal Rommel was bold and dangerous, but not too sound as a general, while Marshal von Rundstedt was the most accomplished commander the Americans opposed.

Hitler Bossed Strategy

Information has been found showing that during 1943, particularly, it was Adolf Hitler and not his generals who ran the Reich's strategy, Eisenhower disclosed.

The American supreme commander said that for himself the most worrisome night during three years of war was that of Nov. 7, 1942, when he invaded North Africa. His "soul-shaking" decision, he said, was to issue the order to go ahead with the Normandy invasion on June 6, 1944, despite adverse weather reports.

VET NAMED COMMANDER

FT. SHERIDAN, Ill., June 15. (AP)—Brig. Gen. John T. Pierce of Manhattan, Kans., former assistant commander of the 103rd infantry division in Austria, assumed command of Ft. Sheridan yesterday. He was named commanding general of the 2nd Cavalry brigade at Fort Bliss, Tex., 1942.

On the southeastern Philippine island of Mindanao, the 24th division cleaned out a series of tough Japanese cave and pillbox positions in the Davao area and captured a supply dump of rocket-launchers.

The 31st division on Mindanao made progress south of the Talomo trail and killed at least 100 Japanese in bitter small-scale actions.

At the same time, MacArthur announced that the Australian Ninth division had taken Timbalai airstrip on Labuan island, Borneo—the third field they have won since they invaded there on Sunday.

The last known enemy positions on Labuan were wiped out and the Japanese also were cleared out of positions north of the Australian-held mainland town of Brunei, the communique said, as martial law was proclaimed for all reoccupied territory of British north Borneo.
