Strong German Counterattacks Are Repulsed

Progress Reported As "Satisfactory" Despite Resistance

(By The Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, May 30—Fifth army infantry and tanks, after repulsing strong overnight counter-attacks, struck again today at German defenses within 16 miles of Rome, which Lt. Mark W. Clark said would fall "before many days have passed."

The Germans offered savage resistance on their last natural defense line south of the capital but headquarters said progress continued "satisfactory." On the Allied right, the Eighth army was striding swifty through the Sacco valley along the Via Casilina (highway 6), capturing Arce and pressing strongly upon Frosinone from three sides.

None of the sweating Americans fighting an uphill battle on the former beachhead front nor the Sherman tank crews attacking anti-tank guns hidden in groves and ravines were yet able to see Rome. Only artillery observers flying Cub planes near the sea had a chance to glimpse the Eternal City and its seven hills

Counterattacks Slow Yanks

German counterattacks temporarily held off American infantry on the rolling meadows below the hilltop town of Lanuvio, a pivot of the German Rome line. Artillery shelled the town steadily.

Armored spearheads consolidated gains west of the severed Anzio-Albano road. Major German resistance was contacted in this sector, however. Hastily sown minefields, crude fortifications and heavy tanks were encountered but no big tank battle has developed.

German artillery fire was heavy on forward American elements, but the enemy was being outshelled by a high ratio.

Goering Division Repulsed

Units of the Herman Goering division, once destined to become an airborne armored force, were reported counter-attacking the American salient around Artena last night, close to highway 6, but were driven back with considerable losses.

The Fifth army commander predicted the fall of Rome shortly in a Memorial Day address at Anzio.

On the southern sector the

Over 3,000 Planes Blast Nazi Targets

Aircraft Plants Lashed By Yanks

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, May 30. — At least 3,200 American warplanes assaulted the Germans today in coordinated strikes from Britain and Italy, bombing aircraft factories, air bases, and rail centers in Germany, Austria, Yugoslavia, France and the low countries.

From Britain for the third successive day, 2,200 heavy bombers and fighters swept through clear skies over northern Europe and smashed at least a dozen targets.

Raids Are Widespread

A daylight force about 1,000 strong flew from Italy and attacked Wiener Neustadt in Austria. One group of Flying Fortresses attacked an airdrome in the Linz area, 130 miles across the north Italian border in south Germany. Others bombed Zagreb, Croatian capital in Yugoslavia.

Berlin radio reported great air battles raging over central Germany and the Alps.

Aircraft Plants Targets

Targets of the Britain-based fleets were aircraft plants at Dessau, Oschersleben and Halberstadt in Germany; railroad yards at Brussels, Belgium, and Reims and Troyes in France; airbases at Handorf, near Munster, Diepholz near Osnabruk, Halberstadt and in the Hamburg area.

The Decoration day parade of Allied planes across the channel was led by American Thunderbolt fighters following an attack last night by RAF Mosquitos on Hannover in central Germany.

Mystery Death Being Probed

HOUSTON, May 30. (U.P.) — A newly-wedded husband and an unidentified woman were questioned today in the strange death of the man's wife, who died of injuries she maintained were the result of an automobile accident which police said did not occur.

Mrs. Lucille Ingouf, who married her second husband by her maiden name and then did not take the bridegroom's name after the wedding, died Sunday, insisting to the last that she was injured in an automobile-truck collision near Tomball, Tex., two weeks ago.

Homicide Lt. A. C. Thornton said no such accident was recorded and thorough investigation showed there had been none. A coroner expressed doubt that Mrs. Ingouf's injuries could possibly have resulted in an automobile accident.

Talked With Farmer

Thornton said he had talked with a farmer near Magnolia (Montgomery county) who brought Mrs. Ingouf to a Houston hospital two weeks ago after he found her being beaten by two men in a roadside fight. Mrs. Ingouf, 34, lived at Magnolia. She was the mother of a young girl.

Her second husband, co-owner with Mrs. Ingouf of a Houston filling station, appeared at police headquarters Monday to report theft of some gasoline ration coupons, Thornton said. When informed that Mrs. Ingouf was dead, the man told officers he had not heard of her death and then told them that he and Mrs. Ingouf had been married secretly eight days earlier.

Billy Joe Louder Is Missing In Action

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Louder, 1802 Avenue J, have received information from the War department that their son, Staff Sgt. Billy Joe Louder is missing in action. He was reported missing in action in a raid over Yugoslavia on May 10. Sgt. Louder, 20, is a 1942 graduate of Lubbock High school and a former employe of the Hilton hotel here. He is an aerial gunner and was awarded his wings at Davis-Monthan field near Tucson, Ariz. He received his last phase of training at Savannah, Ga., and there joined his crew on a Liberator bomber named "Lucky Strike." He left for overseas last January and had been serving in the Mediterranean theater.

LONDON, May 30 (AP)—A convoy loaded heavily with new United States invasion weapons arrived safely recently in Britain, it was announced today.

Memorial Rites Slated Today

A quiet observance of Memorial day in Lubbock will be brought to a close at 6 o'clock this afternoon with public memorial services in the American Legion home, 910 Texas avenue, followed immediately by ceremonies in Lubbock cemetery.

Dr. C. A. Bickley, pastor of Asbury Methodist church, will speak at the Legion home and Dr. Norvel Young, minister of Broadway Church of Christ, at the cemetery. Ceremonies in the cemetery will include a firing squad salute and taps, after which graves of those who have served in the Armed Forces in time of war will be decorated with flowers. Flags were placed on the graves this afternoon by Boy Scouts.

Service Groups Sponsors

Joint sponsors of the observance are local posts of the VFW and Legion, their auxiliaries and the Navy Mothers club. Banks and First Federal Savings and Loan association are closed today, while postal employes are working on a limited holiday schedule.

The observance of the day is more elaborate in Slaton, where most business houses are closed for a parade and program this afternoon. Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, district superintendent of the Methodist church, was the principal speaker.

CHURCH PLANS MEMORIAL SERVICES FOR MEMBERS

Memorial services, honoring church members who have died including four boys killed in action during the present war, will

Five U. S. Fliers Said Killed By Irate Germans

Nazi Report Says People Enraged By Air Attacks

(By The Associated Press)

STOCKHOLM, May 30. — American airmen who parachuted into three unnamed places in central Germany yesterday were "killed by agitated people," the newspaper Aftonbladet's Berlin correspondent wrote today in a dispatch which was passed by German censorship.

The article gave no details, but the correspondent said he received the reports from "a traveller from Leipzig" with whom he talked in Berlin.

A later report said that five American airmen had been killed.

"German police were unable to save them," Aftonbladt's correspondent wrote.

"Storm Of Rage"

He said "a storm of rage" broke out Sunday "among German civilians" when American fighter pilots allegedly shot women and children during sweeps over Germany.

(The political handbook of the world lists Aftenbladet as "nonpartisan, Nazi tendencies."

(There have been no reports of lynchings from Allied sources.)

Aftonbladet's report recalled German Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels' article in the Saturday issue of the Nazi newspaper Voelkischer Beobachter declaring that Allied airmen bailing out over Germany no longer would have police and military protection against German civilians.

At Mercy Of People

At that time, Aftonbladet interpreted Goebbels' article as meaning that "American airmen who save themselves by parachute can consider themselves at the mercy of the people who find them, under the old rule, 'eye for eye and tooth for tooth'."

The Goebbels article contended that recent Allied fighter sweeps had been directed against field workers and women and children riding on trains.

Restrictions Lifted On Tire Dealers

During the six-week period from June 1 to July 15 dealers may receive new passenger tires and tubes from manufacturers without giving tire rationing certificates, the district Office of Price administration announced today.

Officials pointed out that this move in no way changes the present method through which a motorist obtains a tire or tube certificate from his local board. The action was designed to facilitate the shipment of new passenger tires and tubes from manufacturers to dealers and will bring about better distribution.

Announcement was also made that any person desiring to enter tire business and intending to acquire allotment from a manufacutrer under this ruling must apply to the district OPA for recognition as a dealer. This will make it possible for tire dealers who closed their establishments several years ago because of the limited tire distribution to re-enter business and obtain new passenger tires and tubes on a basis similar to the allotment provided for existing dealers.

All tire certificate replenishment portions, parts B, dated before April 1, 1944, are to be invalid after July 15, 1944, unless they have been received by the manufacturer on or before July 15, officials stated.

Streamlined Income Tax Law Is Signed

WASHINGTON, May 30. (AP)—President Roosevelt today approved a streamlined income tax law designed to simplify the annual chore of making income tax returns for millions of taxpayers.

The bill, hurried through Congress on the heels of demands for a simpler income tax procedure, eliminates the formal filing of returns for low income taxpayers and makes the task easier for those in the upper brackets.

The measure reached the President last week.

DALLAS MAN DIES

PHILADELPHIA, May 30 (U.P.) —Edward B. Jackson, 50-year-old Dallas auto buyer, died today of a heart attack. Jackson, here on business, complained to a hotel clerk that he was feeling ill and the clerk drove him to St. Joseph's hospital where he died as he entered the hospital dispensary.

Cost Of Living Bids Show Sharp Increase

AUSTIN, May 30 (U.P.) — Cost of living has soared more than 100 per cent on many foods bought by the state for its eleemosynary institutions, Chairman Weaver Baker of the state board of control said here today.

Comparing bids of March 1, 1941, with those received last March, Baker said the overall average increase on 63 food items was 102.5 per cent. Biggest jump was 577 per cent in the cost of evaporated apples.

WINANT IN BRITAIN

LONDON, May 30 (AP)—American Ambassador John G. Winant has returned to Britain by plane from a 17-day visit to the United States where he conferred with President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull, it was announced today.

Hull Starts Move For World Security Setup

Soviet, British And Chinese Governments Invited To Informal Talks In Washington

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 30. — Secretary of State Hull today extended to the ambassadors of Russia, Britain and China invitations for their governments to begin informal talks in Washington as soon as possible on creation of a world security organization.

Hull told a news conference the United States is ready to talk with the other countries whenever they want to sit down at the conference table.

The main point of his conversation with the ambassadors today, he said, related primarily to the question of a time for the meeting. Asked whether Foreign Commissar Molotov of Russia and Foreign Minister Eden of Britain might represent their countries, Hull said that was up to the governments to decide.

Representative Not Disclosed

The secretary also declined to say whether he would be the principal American representative.

Hull talked first with Ambassadors Halifax of Britain and Gromyko of Russia.

Afterward, Halifax replied:

"He asked us both to call in order to convey an intimation to our governments from him on behalf of the United States government that he would be glad at a convenient date to open informal conversations with us on the general problem of post-war security."

Next Hull received Ambassador Wei of China for a similar "intimation of this country's announced willingness to begin conversations."

Molotov Suggested Meeting

At his press conference, Hull explained that when the four powers met at Moscow last fall, Molotov offered and there was adopted a resolution providing that they should meet subsequently in Washington to discuss an organization to maintain peace.

Questioned about a phrase in his announcement last night that he had completed the "first

Unity Pledged At Gettysburg

GETTYSBURG, Pa., May 30 (AP) —Representatives of the North and South clasped hands on hallowed Gettysburg battlefield today and joined in a solemn pledge of unity and loyalty.

The nations' governors took time from the business of their 36th conference to join in tribute to the men who fell here in the decisive conflict of the War between the states.

Important Memorial Service

Governor Edward Martin of Pennsylvania called it "the most important Memorial day service held on that field" since Lincoln's dedication of the national cemetery 81 years ago.

Speaking for the South, Governor J. Melville Broughton of North Carolina said:

"We are assembled here before a shrine sacred to the North and South alike. It is altogether fitting that these great sections of our nation, once divided but now united, should in this momentous hour

Lubbock Leads State In Liquor Law Fines

AUSTIN, May 30 (AP) — The liquor control board reported today that the Lubbock district led the state in the amount of liquor law violation fines assessed during April, with $4,946.

Next was the Paris district with $3,601 and Longview district was third with $3,251. The 16 enforcement districts reported a total of 286 criminal complaints with 177 convictions resulting in 21 jail terms and $24,754 in fines.

Action On OPA Bill Deferred

Textile Pricing Plan Opposed

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Senate consideration of the price control extension bill which carries a cotton textile pricing amendment objectionable to the Office of Price administration was deferred today until next Monday.

Chairman Wagner (D-NY) announced after a session of the Senate banking committee that original plans to begin debate Thursday had been dropped. The committee approved the bill last night but met again today to draft a report.

Wagner said Senators Danaher (R-Conn), Murdock (D-Utah), Radcliffe (D-MD) and possibly Maloney (D-Conn) would join him in a minority expression of opposition to the disputed cotton textile amendment. The OPA estimated it might cost consumers up to $350,000,000 a year.

Approval Is Seen

Senator Bankhead (D-Ala), author of the amendment, expressed confidence it would be approved by the Senate.

An administration attempt to knock out the amendment failed late yesterday as the Senate banking committee completed its months of work on the measure.

The committee also approved an amendment by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) to permit continuance of the present $1,500,000,000 a year food subsidy program only until June 30, 1945, and to limit subsidy payments after that date to sums directly appropriated by Congress. These payments, made to keep down retail food costs, now come from funds of the reconstruction finance corporation and the commodity credit corporation.

Backed By Southerners

Backed by southern senators headed by Senator Bankhead (D-Ala), the cotton clause would require OPA to adjust textile ceilings at 60-day intervals to take into account fluctuations in the market price of raw cotton.

Bankhead has explained its ef-

Holiday Death Toll Increased To 224

(By The Associated Press)

The nation's toll of violent deaths at the three-quarter mark in the four-day Memorial holiday was 224 today.

Soaring temperatures in most sections of the country sent thousands to the beaches and streams and the number of drownings — 64 — ranked a close second to the traffic fatalities, which accounted for 75 of the total.

The traffic deaths for the three-day period compare to an estimate by the national safety council estimate of 250 fatalities for a normal four-day period, Saturday through Tuesday.

California led the states in number of violent deaths, with a total of 26, including 13 in a plane crash, eight traffic, four drownings and a shooting. New York state had 18 and Illinois and Massachusetts each reported 17.

Accidental deaths in Texas totaled five; a figure unchanged since yesterday.

Allies Tighten Noose On Key To Burma Road

Enemy Strongpoint Is By-Passed In Fast Maneuver

BY J. B. KRUEGER
Associated Press War Editor

The Allied noose around Myitkyina, key to reopening the Burma-China road, tightened today as American and Chinese troops in a swift maneuver by-passed Kamaing, enemy strongpoint to the west.

Southeast Asia headquarters reported the forces under Lt. Gen. Joseph Stilwell cut the hgihway between Kamaing and Mogaung, which are about 20 miles apart and along the route Stilwell needs to link up the Ledo and Burma roads. Mogaung is 35 miles west of Myitkyina, now besieged by other Stilwell forces.

Allied Planes Join Battle

Allied planes furiously joined the mounting North Burma battle, striking at communications, bases and rail facilities between Mogaung and Katha. Their objective was to cut off reinforcements the enemy has poured in to save Mogaung and Myitkyina.

One Allied force advanced 600 yards in an attack on Myitkyina from the west. An enemy counter-attack from the south and southwest was turned back in severe fighting. Fine weather allowed increased air support.

From the east Chinese troops, badly equipped but indomitably laboring up steep mountain paths, scored new gains in drives toward the Burma border. They moved nearer the main enemy base at Tengchung, pivot joint on a Japanese-built highway system. These troops, taking advantage of improving weather, aimed at eventual junction with Stilwell's forces at Myitkyina. They were getting increased air support from American airmen, who bombed Tengchung.

In the Southwest Pacific a major battle appeared shaping up for the Mokmer airdrome on Biak island in the Schoutens. As the tough Sixth army men inched ahead to within two miles of the airbase — important because it is less than 900 miles from the

Major Jack Walton Dies Of Heart Attack

Major Jack Walton, about 48, who was home on a 60-day leave, died of a heart attack at his home near Wolfforth this morning. Details of the death were not known early this afternoon.

He has lived in Lubbock for about 15 years and came here as a National Guard officer in connection with the ROTC at Texas Technological college. He served in the 36th division overseas in the last war as a lieutenant and became an active officer again when the Guard was mobilized here in December of 1940.

Major Walton came home on leave several days ago from Camp Ruston in Louisiana where he had been stationed. He formerly was at Camp Bowie, Tex., and Camp Edwards, Mass. His family home was in Corsicana and he was graduated from Corsicana High school and attended Castle Heights Military school in Tennessee.

Survivors are his wife, the former Mrs. Jewell Hall who was secretary to the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce for several years, and two sisters.

The body was taken to Rix Funeral home.

ATTENDING FUNERAL

AUSTIN, May 30. (AP) — Governor Coke R. Stevenson will attend the funeral in Kerrville today of former State Senator Julius Real who died yesterday.

Putting City On Cross-Country Line Proposed

Recommendation Given Plan By CAB Examiners

A recommendation that Lubbock be placed on the transcontinental airline of American Airlines, inc., was made to the Civil Aeronautics board by its examiners in Washington today.

This information was contained in Associated Press and United Press dispatches to The Evening Journal early this afternoon.

The dispatches said that the examiners had recommended that CAB approve American's application to extend its route No. 4 from Tulsa, Okla., to El Paso via Oklahoma City, Wichita Falls and Lubbock; and its route No. 23 from Little Rock, Ark., to Oklahoma City via Fort Smith, Ark., Muskogee, Okla., and Tulsa.

Means Transcontinental Service

Since American already operates lines from Little Rock eastward to the Atlantic seaboard and from El Paso westward to the Pacific coast, favorable action on the examiners' recommendations would mean the completion of a trunk transcontinental service through Lubbock.

While it was explained that the final decision in this matter rests with CAB, information to the chamber of commerce here today was that, in the great majority of cases, the board adopts the recommendations of its examiners, before whom hearings on applications have been held and who have made thorough investigations of them.

Regarded As Big Hurdle

Officials of the chamber of commerce who have led the fight to obtain approval of the American application regard the favorable recommendation by the examiners as the big hurdle which virtually assures the transcontinental service.

However, no one would estimate when the service might actually be started, even if the CAB decision is favorable. Opinion here is that the proposed service, at best, is several months in the future.

The announcement in Washington was the second airline development in recent weeks of major interest to Lubbock.

The other was CAB's approval about three weeks ago of the Braniff Airway's application to serve Lubbock on its Dallas-Den-

Tuberculosis Hospital Urged

EL PASO, May 30 (AP)—A proposal to convert an abandoned military base in Texas into a tuberculosis sanitarium and a recommendation that United States soldiers not be allowed to visit Mexican towns across the Arizona border as a measure in the campaign against social diseases were given a conference of the United States-Mexican border public health association today.

Dr. George W. Cox, Texas state health officer, proposed that his state acquire a suitable military base to be abandoned and convert the buildings into a tuberculosis sanitarium capable of eventually accommodating from 1,500 to 2,000 beds for infectious cases of tuberculosis not now eligible for admittance into any other institution.

Suggests Cooperation

He said that the most "pressing situation today is the care of infectious cases of tuberculosis" and suggested a co-operative movement by local government units and the state. Funds for this purpose, he said, "could be obtained by constitutional amendment permitting counties to levy a tax up to ten cents per $100 valuation."

Dr. Francisco Arriloa, federal health department official of Nogales, Sonora, Mexico, said that

Governor Commutes Death Sentence

AUSTIN, May 30 (AP)—On unanimous recommendation of the board of pardons and paroles Governor Coke R. Stevenson today commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence assessed Harold A. Miner in El Paso, in the slaying of his wife, Marjorie, last year.

Miner, former Des Moines, Iowa, and Grand Rapids, Mich., hotel worker and his wife were divorced at the time of the slaying. Alienists testified in Miner's trial that he was mentally unsound and the pardons board considered statements from many persons on this subject and two members interviewed Miner before it reached a unanimous recommendation for commutation.

Miner had been given a stay of execution which would have expired June 2.

Poll Tax Controversy May Be Issue At Both Conventions

(By The Associated Press)

The controversial poll tax issue headed toward both the Republican and Democratic conventions today as a result of action by the Senate judiciary committee pigeonholing a GOP-sponsored constitutional amendment to eliminate such levies.

With both sides raising the cry of "politics," congressional leaders said it was unlikely that either this proposal or a similar long-pending measure by Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) would be brought out on the floor for action before the conventions meet.

Most Republicans favor party action to support the abolition of such levies, and thereby bid for negro votes.

In the Democratic ranks, moves to abolish state poll taxes as a prerequisite to voting in federal elections have brought threats of a bolt from such southerners as Senator Bailey (D-NC).

The parade of Republican presidential prospects continued at the governors conference in Hershey, Pa., with Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio on the program for a speech today on taxation.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York told the governors last

Solemn Memorial Day Services Observed As Nation Warned Of Crucial Hour Approaching

WASHINGTON, May 30 (U.P.) — The nation mourned its soldier dead today in solemn Memorial day services throughout the land as a high naval official warned that D-day, "soon to come," will bring casualties "such as American armies have never suffered before."

The stern reminder of what lies ahead in the battles of the current conflict, which already has claimed the lives of 47,000 American men, came from Rear Admiral William Brent Young, Navy supply chief, who told a Memorial day gathering at Georgetown university that this is "the crucial hour of our history."

Now Is Decisive Hour

"This is the decisive hour in the ancient war between might and right," he said. "The military forces of free men are poised today to assault the fortress of the dark power enslaving Europe."

Warning again that heavy casualties seem inevitable because "our foe is powerful and well-entrenched," he added:

"We must have the courage to accept such sacrifices, for if we falter in the face of heavy losses our dead will have died in vain. For the sake of those who fall, for ourselves and our children, and their children, we must endure and drive on until all resistance ceases."

Wreaths Placed On Graves

In cemeteries green with spring in small towns in New England and in Iowa, in shady cemeteries in big cities, and in the national cemetery at Arlington, families and officials placed wreaths in honor of the nation's warrior dead.

It was a solemn observance by a generation that has seen two world wars in its time. Together,

Tim Miller Will Attend Harvard On Scholarship

Tim Miller, talented pianist who attended high school here three years and last summer moved to Amarillo, when his father, J. T. Miller, was transferred by the Santa Fe railroad, is to attend Harvard university next year on a scholarship. Young Miller was graduated from Amarillo High school this month with a senior average of 98.66, one of the highest grades in the history of the school.

He has been offered scholarships by two of the East's outstanding professional music schools, but chose to take a well rounded college course in preparation for the demands of the Army. He is 16 years old.

Tim wrote an essay recently that won the Amarillo American Legion $50 war bond on "Why I Am Proud to be an American."

Girls Are At Camp Near Happy For Two Weeks

Several Lubbock girls are at Canyoncito Girls camp, near Happy, for a two weeks session. Mrs. T. C. Delaney is director. The camp opened May 23 and will close this weekend.

From Lubbock are Betty Lou Cone, Wanda Massey, Paula Fix, Marjory Ellis, Charlyn Carder, Dorothy Trout, Delight Hardin, Louise Leftwich, Pat Jones, Wyanell Dodson, Rosemary Dawkins, Lila McNabb, Marion McNabb, Billie Bryant, Beverly Mooney, Jerry Davis and Betty Thomas.

Camp counselors are Miss Bevington Reed, Cisco; Miss Doris Gates, O'Donnell; Miss Dorotha Dawkins and Miss Bobbie Jean Rhodes.

PICNIC PLANNED

Meeting with Mrs. Weldon Findley, 2208 Twenty-first street, Monday afternoon, Circle for Service Men's Wives planned a picnic for next Monday night at Mackenzie State park. They also planned to work at the Red Cross surgical dressings rooms first Wednesday in each month.

After group singing and special music, Mrs. Hiram Patton gave a felt board devotional on the life of Moses.

WHEREVER this banner flies, freedom's cause is protected. Thousands—fighting under the Stars and Stripes—have given their lives that democracy might survive, even as more are doing on this very day. In salute to them, Old Glory dips to half mast on this Memorial Day, as we live on re-dedicated to all that that Flag signifies.

Afternoon Tea Is To Honor Mesdames Burns And Young

Mrs. G. C. Brewer is entertaining with a tea at her home, 2001 Sixteenth street, this afternoon as a courtesy to Mrs. Leon Burns of Columbia, Tenn., and Mrs. M. Norvell Young. Mrs. Burns' husband, who is Mr. Brewer's nephew, is conducting a series of services here. Mrs. Young's husband is new minister of the Broadway Church of Christ.

Invitations were extended to 126 guests to call, between 4 and 7 o'clock. Mrs. E. L. Banks will greet callers and present them to a receiving line made up of the hostess, her daughter, Mrs. Perry Mason, the guests of honor and Mesdames Guy Woods, Lloyd Moyer and Marshall Patton.

Assisting in hospitalities will be Mesdames A. I. Stephens, B. Sherrod, E. L. Hudgens and J. J. Graham.

Larkspur and roses will decorate the receiving rooms. The refreshment table will be covered with an appliqued organdy cloth and lighted with tapers. Punch will be served from an antique cutglass bowl.

Red Cross Workers Make 5,850 Dressings During Three Sessions Monday

Another record was established Monday when 198 workers, meeting at the Red Cross surgical dressings rooms in three sessions, folded 5,850 dressings. The rooms were open from 9:30 a. m. until 4:30 p. m. and from 7 until 10 o'clock in the evening.

One hundred women folded dressings in the evening session representing the following firms and organizations: Woolworth, KFYO, Levine's, Davis and Humphries, Kress, Walker-Smith, Anderson Bros., Church of the Latter Day Saints, Church of Christ, St. Elizabeth's church, Sunshine Home Demonstration club, Wesleyan Service Guild and Grace Noll Crowell homemaking chapter of Lubbock High school.

Quota for June is 68,400 dressings and 60,900 remain to be folded. Surgical dressings rooms are in operation in Idalou and Slaton, as well as in Lubbock, all work applying on the county's quota.

Hub Hobby Club To Have Family Picnic June 12

When Hub Hobby club members met with Mrs. Bill Davis, 2221 Twenty-fifth street, Monday night they planned a family picnic at Mackenzie State park for June 12. Hub Cine club members will be guests.

Attending were Mesdames A. J. Holtkort, M. M. Ewing, Earl Hunt, Howard McCauley, Bert Pinson, Bill Pope, R. E. Hamilton, E. M. Copp and E. C. Pool.

Bases For World Peace Cited By Speaker For Church Federation

Rev. H. G. Gantz, pastor of the First Christian church spoke on "Bases for a Just and Durable Peace" at a fifth Monday meeting of the Church Women's Federation at St. Elizabeth's parish hall. He suggested three bases: Food, faith and fellowship.

He said that every person must have an opportunity to satisfy his appetite because with enough food physical tasks can be accomplished. In discussing faith, he stated that it is necessary to have faith in the future and that it is the responsibility of the church to give its members faith in the future and in mankind. The speaker concluded by saying that for peace a fellowship that will embrace all the people of the world is needed.

Rev. William F. Blakeslee spoke on the "The Meaning of the Rosary."

Mrs. David Martin accompanied Miss Marion Chandler who sang "Ave Maria."

After a tour of the church, the meeting was closed with the singing of the song, "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name."

St. Elizabeth's Altar society and First Presbyterian Woman's auxiliary were hostesses for the meeting. Mrs. O. T. Williams presided. Executive board of the Federation met before the program.

One hundred fifty women attended.

Employers Asked To Study Labor Needs

AUSTIN, May 30 (AP) — C. E. Belk, state War Manpower commission, has ordered 12 area directors in Texas to confer with their labor-management committees immediately on plans to "get the maximum labor utilization on all production."

Belk said that changing strategies have altered the manpower situation drastically, and more workers are needed in out-of-state industries to assure steady replenishment of stock piles for the invasion.

He emphasized that the needs of Texas war plants will continue to be met and civilian industries will be given every consideration possible but vital war production must come first.

"Shipbuilding schedules, anticipated to be less in 1945, than this year, have been reserved," said Belk, and "certain types of equipment vitally necssary to aircraft manufacture have fallen behind schedule in the last 30 days."

Belk asserted it would be necessary to place more women in industry and that absenteeism and turnover which have risen in the past month must be cut.

Sullivan Is Appointed Acting Rent Director

The appointment of Charles N. Sullivan as acting area rent director was announced this morning by Howard R. Gholson, district director of the Office of Price administration here. The announcement of Sullivan's appointment was made following the sudden death of Earl W. Heath Saturday. Heath had held the position as rent director here since Jan. 15, 1944.

Sullivan, who was area rent attorney here, was area rent director and rent attorney of the Big Spring area before coming to Lubbock three months ago. He is a former county judge of Howard county and member of a Big Spring law firm for many years. He will continue to act as rent attorney in addition to his new duties, Gholson added.

Mrs. Sawyer, Daughter Have Gone To Florida

Mrs. F. H. Sawyer and daughter, Joyce, have gone to Daytona, Fla., to spend the summer and in the fall will return to Ocala, Fla., their former home. They spent the past winter in Lubbock, making their home at 2308 Broadway. Mrs. Sawyer is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Garrison, 1402 Main street. Her husband, Capt. Sawyer, is somewhere overseas.

Stevenson Criticized By Mrs. Cunningham

HOUSTON, May 30 (U.P.)—Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, candidate for governor, today criticized Gov. Coke R. Stevenson for failure to take an active part in one of the two Democratic party conventions held at Austin last week.

"People in Texas don't like governors who hide in their office while a state convention is going on," she said.

Mrs. Cunningham said she believed the pro-Roosevelt delegates would be seated at the national Democratic convention in Chicago if a contest develops between them and the uninstructed delegates.

Omar Khayyam was an astronomer and mathematician as well as a poet.

Potter Ration Board To Retain Offices

AMARILLO, May 30 (AP) — The Potter county commissioners court today had made it possible for the county rationing board to retain its offices in the courthouse rent free.

The board yesterday declined instructions from the Office of Price administration to move from the courthouse to the old postoffice building, which is under federal jurisdiction and described the directive as "undemocratic."

The OPA has been paying the county $100 a month rent for the courthouse space. Yesterday the commissioners court met and waived the rent payment in the future.

Commented Lawrence Hagy, cattleman and a member of the gas rationing panel, about the OPA request: "Just another step toward closer federal control of local affairs."

The board, in called meeting, passed a resolution unanimously calling the OPA driective "unwarranted and undemocratic."

One member remarked: "The Potter county board has always looked on rationing as a community affair. We resent being forced to move into a federally-controlled building for no valid reason."

Said Mayor Joe Jenkins: "If the board feels it can do a better job in the courthouse, it should end the controversy."

Tie-In Agreements On Cigarets Forbidden

DALLAS, May 30 (U.P.)—O. L. Nelms, Dallas operator of several wholesale companies, was under an agreed judgment today by which he was forbidden to practice tie-in agreements in selling cigarets.

The Office of Price administration alleged that Nelms' companies were requiring buyers to purchase Chesterfield cigarets in order to obtain delivery of Camel and Lucky Strike brands in violation of OPA regulations.

Judge Wants Law To Prosecute Parents

ORANGE, May 30. (U.P.) — District Judge F. P. Adams, of Jasper, presiding over an Orange county grand jury panel here, said today he planned to ask the next Texas legislature to enact a law that will make possible the prosecution of working parents of delinquent children.

Judge Adams was especially critical of mothers who work in shipyards and similar plants while their children run the streets.

Many mothers, he said, have allowed their greed for dollars to take them away from the care of their children.

"If something isn't done about it, I'm going to put the women who come into this court in breeches — actually make them wear the pants," said the judge.

Racial Policies Irk Mississippi Demos

BY LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 30—Anti-fourth term Democrats are seeking recruits in Mississippi today, expecting that resentment against administration racial policies may persuade that state to send an uninstructed delegation to the Democratic national convention.

Mississippi's state Democratic convention to select delegates and candidates for the electoral college will meet next week, June 7. There, as in Texas and South Carolina, an effort will be made at least to make support of Mr. Roosevelt's renomination conditional upon a repudiation of negro policies ascribed to the administration.

It is reported here that anti-administration Mississippi Democrats will attempt to follow the "Texas plan" in which the state's members of the electoral college would be authorized to withhold their votes from Mr. Roosevelt—assuming he carries either state in November—unless the Democratic national convention takes certain action.

Three Issues Favored

In Mississippi, the Democrats who control the state organization apparently would like to demand that the national convention go on record on at least three issues:

1. Repudiation of the April 3 Supreme court decision which nullified "white primaries" as they have been held generally throughout the South. The decision had the effect of requiring southern states to permit negroes to vote in primary elections.

2. Repudiation of administration policies in general relating to negroes.

3. Repudiation of the campaign of northern, border states and a scattering of southern Democrats to outlaw the poll tax by federal action.

Many Persons Angry

It is one thing for Democrats in Texas, South Carolina, Mississippi or any other southern state to threaten to withhold their electoral votes from a Democratic presidential candidate. It would be something else actually to do so. But many persons in the South are bitterly angry.

Mississippi is peculiarly moved by the Supreme court's primary decision because there are as many negroes in the state as white persons. The division among the state's population of 2,182,700 is almost exactly equal. Mississippians fear that if negroes participated freely in the state's electoral processes the white people would lose control of the party and government.

Soviet Fliers Pound Bases In Romania

LONDON, May 30. (AP) — The Soviet air force has hammered airdromes in Rumania, whittling down Nazi air power available to oppose the expected renewal of heavy offensive action by the Reds along the eastern front, Moscow reported today.

A Russian communique said airdromes at Roman on the Siretul river and Husi on the Prut were hit, with at least 60 enemy planes disabled or destroyed. Both towns are between the Carpathian mountains and the Dnestr river.

The Nazis claimed successful air attacks on Soviet supplies and rail stations in the areas of Shepetovka and Korosten, and the Russians reported the Germans bombed Soviet troop positions on two sectors of the front—losing five fighters and three bombers over the Gulf of Finland, and five more planes in another sector.

Land action was minor.

News Briefs

A 99th district grand jury unofficially was reported "winding up its work" at noon, and there was a possibility of a report by mid-afternoon to Judge J. E. Vickers.

Total summer school enrollment of Lubbock public schools is 461, according to Floyd Honey, principal of the summer session. Monday was the last day that students could register for credit. Any registering after that time will receive review courses only, he said. The enrollment this summer is the largest in the history of the school.

Funeral arrangements for Virgil A. Sullivan, 42, of 1514 Thirty-third street, were still incomplete this afternoon pending the arrival of relatives from California, Sanders Funeral home reported. Sullivan died Sunday at his residence after an illness of several weeks.

Major Bill Cherry, who was lost at sea with Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker and party last year and was the first to be rescued, was in Lubbock several hours today visiting G. P. Kuykendall of the Kuykendall Chevrolet Co. He was accompanied by his wife and baby and they were en route to California where Maj. Cherry will be re-assigned. He has recently returned from India.

Dr. W. A. Petty, optometrist, was nominated for the presidency of the Lubbock Lions club in report of the nominating committee at the club luncheon today noon at the Hilton hotel. The election will be held on June 13. Dr. S. S. McKay was nominated for first vice president; Clarence Doggett, second vice president; R. C. Harvey, third vice president; Dr. Marshall Harvey, secretary-treasurer; C. L. Minyard, Lion tamer; Dr. Fred Harbaugh, tail twister; and Tom Ingram and G. R. Kennedy, directors. A. F. Phillips and P. H. Polk are holdover directors and Dr. Ewell Hunt, retiring president, will also serve as a director. The report of the nominating committee was given by Harry Morris. A technicolor sound motion picture, "The Marines At Tarawa," was shown by Sgt. Vernon Larson of the local Marine recruiting station. A. H. Maas was program chairman.

Nazis Exped Paratroopers

LONDON, May 30 (AP) — A neutral pre-invasion report said today the German high command had spotted thousands of small military units over France to cope with the expected onslaught of thousands of Allied airborne troops on D-day.

These units, it was said, have been stationed well behind the heavily fortified and strongly manned front wall, and each has been assigned a specific small area to cover.

Troops Behind Fortifications

This report fell somewhat in line with comment by Ritter von Schramm, military correspondent of the Berliner Borsen-Zeitung, who wrote that the bulk of German armored formations in the west are held in readiness well behind the front fortifications, not so much to counter-attack landing attempts from the sea as to oppose airborne troops and parachutists.

Last night the German air force flew more armed reconnaissance missions over south and southwest coastal England looking for indications of the invasion. Some bombs were dropped, causing casualties and damage. One of the planes was destroyed.

Big Spring Minister Speaks For Optimists

Rev. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist church of Big Spring, was guest speaker at the luncheon of the Lubbock Optimist club today noon in the Lubbock hotel.

In an address which sparkled with humor, Rev. O'Brien said that though we have our ups and downs there are some principles that never change. "There are four principles by which we must be guided in the post-war period. These are vision, enthusiasm, courage and determination, and optimism."

J. W. Chapman introduced the speaker and M. L. Shepherd presided.

O'Daniel Requests Removal Of Texas FEPC Regional Director

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP) — Senator O'Daniel (D-Tex) says he has requested Chairman Malcolm Ross of the Fair Employment Practices committee (FEPC) to remove the committee's Texas regional director at Dallas for what he asserted were attempts to enforce the committee's policies on a Dallas book binding concern.

In a letter to Ross, O'Daniel said Leonard M. Brin, the regional director, had written "impudent and insulting letters" to C. T. Dean, president of the American Beauty Cover company of Dallas regarding an advertisement offering employment to white women last February.

Simultaneous with O'Daniel's release of his letter to Ross, Senator Connally (D-Tex) declared in a statement that the FEPC was an "unauthorized" body and that he would vote to discontinue its activities.

"Activities Unauthorized"

"According to my views the FEPC has no legal basis," said Connally. "Its activities are unauthorized and have no force of compulsion. I shall vote to discontinue its activities."

Making the correspondence public, O'Daniel said Brin sent a letter to the Dallas firm asking it "to take immediate steps to remove from this and from any other advertisement in the future any features which are discriminatory as to race, creed, color or national origin."

O'Daniel said the company ignored Brin's letter and on March 7 the FEPC official wrote the company that "if we do not hear from you within ten days, we shall continue to process our case against you."

The correspondence showed that Dean penciled a reply to Brin, saying "we are not advertising for white women any more." Another letter from Brin to Dean acknowledged receipt of the note but reminded that he had also asked for copies of instructions to the firm's personnel and hiring agencies.

According to the correspondence released by O'Daniel, Brin, failing to get a reply from Dean, wrote another letter saying "unless we hear from you within the next ten days, it will be necessary to refer this case to our Washington office."

O'Daniel said the matter was referred to Chairman Ross, who replied that "the dividing line between a war and non-war industry is sometimes difficult to draw," and "we require our field representatives to submit cases of doubtful jurisdiction to our central office."

Two Americans Given Peruvian Air Medals

SAN ANTONIO, May 30 (AP)—The Peruvian Flying Cross, Peru's highest air force decoration, has been awarded to Col. Paul S. Blair, base commander at Kelly Field, Texas, and to Maj. Reginald P. James, lend-lease officer of the San Antonio Air Service command.

The medals were in recognition by the Peruvian government for services rendered in facilitating transfer of lend-lease aircraft to the Peruvian air force.

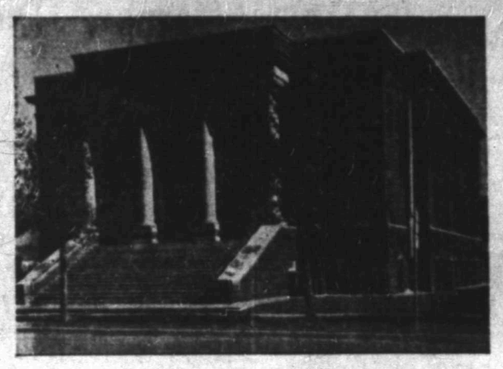

Crude rubber consumption reached an alltime peak of 775,000 long tons in 1941, as compared with the estimated 1944 total of 156,000 long tons.

EAST TRIAL CONTINUED

MEXIA, May 30 (AP) — Judge Lex Smith of 8th district court at Groesbeck has continued the trial, until July 3, of Herman East, charged with robbery with a deadly weapon in connection with an attack made on Mrs. Agnes Davis in a Mexia insurance office last month.

Here are the FACTS about your GASOLINE SUPPLY

Miracles of production for war have been accomplished by the oil industry. Supplies of crude and refinery output have exceeded all past records; our nation is producing more gasoline than all other countries combined. But the war machines need gasoline in fabulous quantities, and this has eaten into the usual civilian supply.

- From 1942 to 1944, military needs for gasoline stepped up almost four fold.
- In the same period, supply for civilian passenger cars has been cut almost one-half.
- Ratio of military demands to gasoline available for civilian use increased eight fold from 1942 to 1944.

Your Gasoline is Powering the Attack

It takes more than a ton of gas to "deliver" one ton of bombs.

Over half of the total of all supplies shipped to the front is petroleum in one form or another.

From 1942 to 1944, output of 100 Octane aviation gas stepped up eight times.

Training one pilot uses more gas than the average car owner uses in 18 years.

In one hour, a Flying Fortress burns up enough gasoline to last the average car owner about six months.

You can make only a little more than half as much 100 Octane gas as you can regular automotive gasoline from a barrel of petroleum.

Fighting forces must come first and will get what they need. As a result, the home front gets less than it wants. The biggest part must go to the essential home front—farms, trucks, buses, industry, your doctor. Needs of this group are imperative; they are the supply line to victory.

Rationing is not an Arbitrary Plan to Deprive anyone of Gas

Gasoline rationing is designed to make the limited supply go around. It is a plan for dividing available gas fairly among all users. Every irregularity, every black market deal upsets this plan. Every gallon that goes through improper or illegal channels means somebody must do without.

Here's Your Part . . .

Don't apply for more gas than you really need.... Get into a ride-sharing club and stick to it... Endorse all your coupons now.... Don't take extra coupons from or offer them to anyone.

New Bus Service Is Uncertain, City Told

The establishment of the requested city bus service in Northeast Lubbock depends upon the availability of additional equipment, city officials were advised this morning by bus line officials.

Request that such a line be put into operation was contained in resolutions adopted at the semi-monthly meeting of the city commission Monday afternoon.

Another feature was the approval of the proposed city budget for the fiscal year which started last April 1, and the adoption on first reading of an ordinance setting the new city tax rate at 85 cents on the $100 of assessed valuation. The rate is the same as last year and is the lowest of any Texas city comparable in population to, or larger than, Lubbock.

Budget Action Routine

Actions on the budget and the tax rate were routine, since they were official approvals of indicated actions at previous meetings of the commission. However, final approval could not be given the budget until the citizenship had been given opportunity to appear in protest. Monday afternoon was the time set for the protest hearing. No one appeared, so the budget was adopted and, immediately afterward, the tax rate was set.

The new bus line unanimously asked by the commission would be routed so as to circle the federal low rent housing project there, and would pass the west entrance of Mackenzie State Park at Third street and Avenue D. At this point, the proposed line would be within short walking distance of City swimming pool, picnic areas and other facilities of the park.

To Work Out Details

Further details of the routing of the line, if established, will be worked out by City Manager Marlin R. Smith, jr., with Ray Farmer, operator of Lubbock Bus company, and other officials of the concern.

During the discussions of the desired line, the city manager announced that the swimming pool in the park will be opened Thursday. Russell Wimberly, physical education instructor and boys' coach in Junior High school will be the manager. Week-end hours will be from 9 a. m. until approximately 9:30 p. m. Sunday hours will be from 1 until 9:30 p. m.

The following schedule of charges will be made, all figures including federal tax: children under 12 years of age, 12 cents; those from 12 to 18 years of age, 14 cents; adults, 25 cents; swim suit rentals, 25 cents; and towels, 5 cents. The 14 cent charge for those in the 12-to-18 age group will be made, it was explained, because federal regulations require that they pay the adult tax, regardless of the admission charge.

Schedule Change Declined

In another matter affecting the bus company, the commission declined a request for permission to re-route the Avenue N-Thirty-fourth street-Avenue S line so as to take buses off Avenue S and put them on Avenue H. A careful check disclosed that too many people use the bus on Avenue S to justify any impairment of service on that street.

Another matter to pertaining to transportation within the city was a discussion by members of the city commission with operators of local taxicab companies of problems pertaining to the operation of cabs.

Mayor O. W. Ribble recalled that a similar conference several months ago resulted in a closer observance by taxicab drivers of city traffic regulations. But, the mayor commented, traffic violations by cab drivers are again become too numerous. He served notice that the condition will have to be corrected immediately.

Firms Cooperate

Spokesmen for the cab companies assured the commission of their desire to cooperate to the fullest in the effort to compel drivers to obey traffic laws. One of the operators remarked that, "fines aren't enough" to compel some drivers to obey regulations —his clear implication being that jail sentences would be a more effective remedy.

The company representatives present were Farmer, for Bryant Cab company; Clifton Cocanougher, for City Cab company; Ed C. Abbott, of Yellow Cab company, and E. G. Abbott, for Domino Cab company.

The commission declined a proposition made by J. F. Hankins that he be employed to solicit new business for the city electric department, his compensation to be one-half of the revenue from each new customer for eight months after the installation of the city meter. City Attorney Durwood H. Bradley advised the commission that it would have no legal authority to enter into such a contract.

Damage Claim Refused

The commission also rejected the claim of Mrs. Martha Winn to $10,000 damages for personal injuries allegedly received when she tripped over a wire on Avenue H north of the underpass on Feb. 19, 1943. Her attorney, Benjamin Kucera, advised the commission that suit will be brought in her behalf.

A $30 claim for the repair of damages to an automobile belonging to Pat Muckleroy, 2122 Twenty-third street, was approved. A garbage truck backed into his car.

Purchase of 8,000 to 10,000 gallons of cylinder oil for the electric plant from Cities Service company at 24 cents per gallon was authorized.

The city manager was directed to call for bids for the annual audit of city records for the fiscal year ending last March 30. They will be opened at the commission's next meeting on June 8.

Payment For Lot

Payment of $280 to L. H. Holt upon his delivery of a merchantable title to a half lot extending into Avenue Q at Twenty-fourth street was authorized. The amount was recommended by an arbitration committee consisting of Glen Hess, A. G. McMath and Tom Turner.

The request of Lubbock National bank for permission to erect a large clock on the sidewalk in front of the bank was declined following the report that it would be in violation of city ordinances.

Present at the meeting, additional to the mayor, were Commissioners W. B. Price, Fred Childress and J. Ray Dickey.

Americans In Uniform Are Best Clients Of London Bootleggers

BY HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 30 (AP) — Let's call her Jean. She is blonde, thirtyish and shapely, and probably gets as many telephone calls as any girl in London. The majority of those who phone her are Americans in uniform.

Jean isn't interested in romance. She's strictly a business woman. Her business is selling liquor on the wartime black market and business is distinctly on the upbeat.

"What can I do for you?" she says sweetly into the phone.

"I'm in a pinch, Jean," the caller replies. "Got to have some Scotch and gin for a party tonight. Some big shots coming and stuff has to be good. Can you help me out?"

Prices Are Shade High

Jean's unvarying sweetness is sometimes a little blood-curdling —especially when she quotes prices.

"Glad to, old chap," she says. "I can get you two bottles of Scotch and two of gin — no more, no less. They're three quid a bottle."

That's $12 a fifth — 48 bucks for four bottles — but Jean knows you can't get it in retail stores, where the price is fixed at 25 shillings, or $5 a bottle. If you could get it there you wouldn't be calling her.

Unless an American has the telephone number of a bootlegger like Jean he will have to restrict his drinking to bars and pubs where the cost is even more prohibitive. It's almost impossible to buy "spirits" at regular wine shops because dealers earmark their scanty supplies for personal friends and steady customers of long standing.

The situation is much worse than in the United States, where a customer at least has a sporting chance to pick up a bottle of brandy, gin, or rum if the dealer doesn't have a bottle of old Kentucky corn julep stashed away under the counter for him.

London's wine shops' main stock consumption are English beer and ale. They taste like American beer mixed either with warm rainwater and sugar, or warm rainwater and quinine, depending on whether you want mild or bitter. A small bottle costs about 25 cents. Soldiers complain the beer is so weak that after drinking it "you have to hit yourself over the head with the bottle to get any bang."

The British are slow to criticize Americans, but think we are getting only what we deserve because the black market in London is patronized almost wholly by Americans.

"Your boys are chiefly responsible for it," one old resident told me. "They'll pay anything for it — even up to six pounds a bottle." That's $24.

THE Measure of a MAN is the manner in which he serves his fellowmen.

Tech Registrations Are Started Today

Registrations for the Texas Technological college summer sessions started with the expected rush this morning, and gave confirmation to earlier indications that, conditions considered, the enrollment will be heavy.

However, no figures were available immediately, due to the rush, and college officials were reluctant to make any predictions as to what the total will show when registrations are complete.

Registrar W. P. Clement reported, however, that most of those registering today are freshmen, the number of advanced students being considerably below normal. The number of men, in ratio to women students, is considerably higher than was expected.

The dean urged that students register as soon as possible. Early registrations help, in some degree to ease the manpower shortages with which the college is confronted. Registration hours are 8 a.m. until noon and from 1 until 5 p.m. in the registrars office. Classwork will begin Wednesday morning.

McCrummen Funeral Plans Are Pending

A heart attack apparently was the cause of the death of Ed McCrummen, about 58, member of a pioneer Lubbock family, who was found dead at his farm a few miles west of te city late Monday.

The body was brought to the Rix Funeral home where funeral arrangements will not be made until the arrival of McCrummen's two sons, Seaman 1/c Fred McCrummen of New York, and Seaman 2/c John McCrummen of San Diego.

Members of the family said Mr. McCrummen had driven alone in his car to the pasture at the farm to do some fence repair. His body was found by one of the daughters after the family became uneasy when he did not return as night approached.

On Right Side of Seat

He apparently had gotten into the car, either to come to the house or to rest, it was said. The body was on the right side of the seat, and the left hand was on the steering wheel. There was no indication of an accidental injury.

Mr. McCrummen had spoken lightly of what he called a pain in the region of his heart, recently, a member of the family said, but had been busy on the farm and did not see a doctor.

Other survivors include the widow; four daughters, Mrs. Arthur Strehle of Bruning, Neb., and Helen, Edna Ruth and Betty Carolyn, all of Lubbock; three brothers, R. H. of 3204 Avenue T, Homer of Paris, Texas, and Dr. Tom D of Austin; three sisters, Miss Cecile McCrummen of Austin, Mrs. Norman Morrisson of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. W. F. McElroy, a missionary to the Belgian Congo who is now in Atlanta, Ga.

Brief Bits Of Local News

Funeral services were scheduled at 3 o'clock this afternoon for Mrs. W. E. Holder, 57, at the First Baptist church with Dr. C. E. Hereford, pastor, officiating. Mrs. Holder, who lived at 1914 Avenue N, died Sunday night in a local hospital. She was a member of the Rebekah class of the First Baptist church and the Eastern Star lodge. Survivors are three sons, one daughter, her mother, three sisters and one brother. Burial was to be in the Lubbock cemetery with Sanders Funeral home directing.

Last rites for Boston A. Cates. 53, who died in a local hospital Sunday night, were to be held at 2 p. m. today at the Lamesa First Methodist church with the pastor, Rev. Edd Landreth, officiating. Cates had been a farmer near Lamesa for 20 years. Burial was to be in the Lamesa cemetery with Bryan McDonald Funeral home directing. He is survived by his wife, three sons and two daughters.

Funeral services for Karen Frances Gee, 8-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Gee of Friona, were held at 1 o'clock today at the Friona Methodist church with Rev. Edgar Irvine, pastor, and Rev. C. A. Bickley, pastor of the Lubbock Asbury Methodist church, officiating. The infant died early Monday monring in a local hospital. Burial was to be in the Lubbock Memorial Park cemetery directed by the Plains Funeral home.

Program for the end-of-month ladies' night dinner of the Brotherhood of First Baptist church in the church annex tonight at 6:45 o'clock will be featured by an address by Rev. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of Big Spring First Baptist church, according to G. H. Nelson, president.

Non-resident property owners will appear June 19 before county commissioners court which will sit as a board of equalization, resident property owners June 20. Fewer persons have been cited this year than in any recent years, court members said. Commissioners are Barrett Penney, Ben Mansker, T. L. Holt and Newton Stokes.

Capt. Terry J. Gromer, head of the ear, eye, nose and throat clinic at Lubbock Army Air field station hospital, has been promoted to major.

Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, professor of education at Texas Technological college, will address Petersburg High school graduates Friday night—his fifth commencement address of the season.

Infantry Day Is Set June 15 In Texas

AUSTIN, May 30 (AP) — June 15 is infantry day in Texas, a day in which Governor Coke R. Stevenson asks citizens to honor the foot soldier.

Recalling that the infantry has been termed the queen of battles, the governor added in a proclamation:

"The ground forces operation in Italy prove that the queen still reigns. The foot soldier has done his job with benefit of little public acclaim. The job has been that of taking and holding ground, and that, according to those who know the trade of war, is the way that wars are won."

Pittsburgh Has Won 9 Of Last 11 Games

Pirates Within 3 Games Of Cards

(By The Associated Press)

Frankie Frisch and his seven-man Pittsburgh pitching staff may not win the National league pennant but they rate a large "E" for effort at this stage of the season.

By winning nine of their last 11 starts, the under-manned Pirate crew has moved to within three games of the leading St. Louis Cardinals, taking second place away from Cincinnati.

Only five starters have gone the route in the streak starting May 1, but everybody, including Rip Sewell, is eligible for relief duty when Frisch scans the dugout.

Used Three Hurlers

The Pirates' latest was a good example of the way the staff has been operating. Frisch had to toss three hurlers into the game before they pulled out a 3-2 triumph in 11 innings last night at Philadelphia. Tommy O'Brien's triple, followed by Babe Dahlgren's outfield fly, won the game for Xavier Rescigno, who came on in the 10th. Rescigno pitched Thursday and Friday, and is likely to start or relieve today.

Whit Wyatt's failure to round into winning form continued to prove disastrous to Brooklyn when the ace righthander was belted off the hill before the second inning was over in Cincinnati's 13-4 slaughter of the Flatbush flock. Dixie Walker homered with a man on, but even his .438 average couldn't help Wyatt and his successors as Bucky Walters hung up No. 8 in the win column.

Mel Ott and Danny Gardella smashed homers to help the New York Giants square their series with St. Louis on a 6-4 verdict, with the help of some neat relief hurling by Ace Adams. Boston and Chicago were not scheduled in the National.

Red Sox Nip Chicago

Boston's Red Sox flattened Chicago to sweep all three games as Tex Hughson handcuffed the White Sox with eight singles for a 3-1 edge.

Bob Muncrief finally overcame his New York Yankee jinx after three years and six failures as he beat the world champs for St. Louis, 11-3. The Brownies moved back into second place, 2½ games behind the Yanks on the victory.

Even five Detroit errors weren't enough to overcome the five hit pitching of Johnny Gorsica as Detroit shoved Washington into third on a 2-1 triumph.

Dick Siebert's homer sparked Philadelphia to a 9-4 edge over Cleveland on two big four-run innings.

Coaches Vote Against Out-Of-Bounds Kicks

NEW YORK, May 30 (AP)—The international out-of-bounds kick-off, which irked countless football spectators last fall, was intentionally kicked out-of-bounds by first meeting of the college football coaches association.

The mentors, completing a two-day session late yesterday, voted unanimously against the off-the-field boot and sent recommendations to Lt. Col. William Bingham of Harvard, tha this NCAA rules committee meet as soon as possible to make two changes in the playing code.

The first sugestion would put the ball in play, following an out-of-bounds kickoff on the receiving team's 45-yard line instead of the 35 and would allow the kicker the use of an artificial tee.

Unrestricted forward passing behind the line of scrimmage was the second suggestion. Under the present rules, the passer must be five yards behind the line.

The unrestricted passing rule is a part of the national football league's rule book.

Etheridge Resigns As Lamesa Coach

LAMESA, May 30—Duke Etheridge, who tutored the Lamesa track team, and served as a coach on the junior team here during football, resigned his position yesterday and left for Sundown where he will join Volney Hill, former Lamesa coach, in work in the oil fields.

Etheridge had served as football mentor for the junior teams made up of youngsters in the grade school and high school here, and had acted as head coach of track and field in the season recently ended. He had been employed by the local high school for about one year and a half.

He is a familiar landmark of sports in this area, having served as an umpire in the West Texas-New Mexico league until it went defunct.

Supt. of Schools V. Z. Rogers said that J. D. Railsback, who recently rejoined the faculty here, would assume Etheridge's duties until and if another assistant mentor was hired.

Ten Junior Baseball Teams Ready For League's Opening

Ten junior baseball teams announced themselves ready for the starter's signal next Monday with six teams in the younger age group and four in the more seasoned senior group.

The Juniors completed the baseball school with six teams of ten men to the team while the Senior group ended up with seven men picked by the four captains with the rosters to be filled up before the start of the league race.

Service Club Loop

Sponsors in the smaller league will be local service clubs with A. B. C., Junior Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club, Kiwanis club, Optimist club and Lions club named as sponsors for the teams.

Captains named for the four Senior teams were David Coursey, Phil Ragland, Bill Cope and Ted Forsythe. These men will complete their draft of players at a meeting Wednesday evening at Chapman Field and rosters will be announced then.

Rosters Named

The rosters of the Junior teams (the first two named being co-captains) is as follows:

Rotary — Jack Alderson, John Mann, Keiling, John Tatum, Walter Higginbotham, Neal Sikes, Don Jordon, Tom Cone, Bobby McKelvey and Dick Pirtle.

Lions—Pogue Laquey, Manuel Gallegos, Lester York, Morris Turner, Don Rodgers, James Ellison, John Tosch, Lynn White and Jerry Golden.

Optimist—Marlyn Smith, Bobby Griffin, Denny Davidson, Jackie Cook, Billy Wiley, Carl Ince, James Craig, Charles Brewer, Ray Sandlin and Vernon Sellers.

Kiwanis—Charles Louder, Jon Wohle, Bill Tatum, Dick Schmidt, Don Medlock, Billy Travis, Jack King, Billy Sims, Jack Houk, Jack Davis.

A. B. C.—Royce Ellison, J. A. White, Mickey McCollum, Bill Bridge, C. Johnson, Billy Cleavinger, Bobby Davis and Carl Heat.

J. C. C.—Dorrance Guy, Tommy Lynch, Jack McCabe, Joe Scales, D. Hopper, Don Atkinson, Billy Everheart, Bobby Nabors, George Guy and Bob Rooker.

Civilian renewal truck tire sales in 1943 were 50 per cent greater than in 1942.

Two Tilts End Baseball Class

Games Decided By One-Run Margins

Two closely fought ball games brought down the curtain on the junior baseball school at Chapman field Monday afternoon as picked nines from the school played games in which one run proved the winning margin. The younger boys played to a 9 to 8 decision in the afternoon, and the older boys decided the issue on an 8 to 7 count.

In the afternoon battle on the card, Louder's Leopards got off to a running start to pile up an early lead over Keiling's Kangaroos, then stave off a rally in the "faithful eighth" by the Kangaroos that came within one run of tying the ball game.

Leopards Take Lead

Mickey McCollum started on mound for the winners, and in his three inning tenure on the mound he blanked the Kangaroos while his mates were getting off to a 3 to 0 lead with three unearned runs off little Neal Sikes, the Kangaroos starter. McCollum was nicked for two hits in the first inning, but was pulled out of the hole by some nice support. He gave up another hit in the second and pitched a flawless third.

Sikes was nicked for one hit in each of the first two innings, but errors allowed three runs to trickle over the plate. He pitched a flawless third as his parting gesture.

Walter Higginbotham took over in the fourth inning for the Leopards, and after two scoreless innings, was knocked from the box as the Kangaroos launched their first rally with four hits and three runs before Johnny Tatum was rushed to the mound.

Lefty Jack McCabe took over in the fourth for the Kangaroos and pitched some nice baseball, but was touched for five hits and six runs, largely through loose fielding in his defense.

Davidson Shines

Denny Davidson turned in the best mound performance of the afternoon, pitching three innings of perfect ball with only one base on balls charged against him. He faced only ten batters in the last three rounds.

Cats Shade Rangers

The Senior game was also a close battle with Coursey's Cats staging a late rally to push over the tying and winning runs in the sixth and seventh innings without the aid of a base hit.

Charles Pressley started on the mound for the Cats, but was driven from the hill in the fourth inning uprising of the Ragland Rangers. Gerald West started for the Rangers and gave up three hits and two runs in the two innings he worked. Gerald Davis took over but lasted only one inning as the Cats batted around the batting order to punch out four runs with two hits and five walks and a two run single by Stoney Wall and a double by Galey proving his downfall.

Bill Cope took over to finish the game and hurled four hitless innings, but a hit batsman, a walk and Cope's error on Pharr's pop fly let in the tying run.

In the last of the seventh, Cope got the first two men out on a whiff and a pop up, then walked two in a row, a passed ball and a wild pitch let home Ted Forsyth with the run that broke the deadlock and ended the game.

Pitching And Hustle Will Decide

Sewell Says Browns Are Good Enough To Win First Pennant

BY LUKE SEWELL
Manager Of Browns

Now that I have seen all the clubs, I am sure the Browns are good enough to win their first American League pennant in 43 years.

Pitching and hustle will decide the race. No team has impressed me as being particularly outstanding. The Browns started by winning nine straight. Everyone seems to believe the club had a letdown following this streak, but it has never lost its aggressiveness. The Athletics smacked us around. The Senators showed us some fine pitching, but we split with them in four starts. We dropped three out of four, two on the tough side, in Yankee Stadium.

Injuries slowed us down. Frank Mancuso and Myron Hayworth, the new catchers, Don Gutteridge and Outfielder Al Zarilla were on the sidelines. A stiff neck kept George McQuinn out of one of the Yankee set.

Strong Under Conditions

The Browns are straightened out now, however, and playing acceptable ball.

Harold Epps, a useful outfielder, is now in khaki. Shortly we expect to lose George Muncrief, one of our better pitchers, and Zarilla. Pitcher George Caster may be next, but we'll get along. Every club has the same problems.

This isn't the most formidable club I've had in my three years as manager of the Browns, but under existing conditions it must be considered streng.

Pitching Splendid

Our pitching has been splendid, but the hitting a bit off. I've been rotating Jack Kramer, Nelson Potter, left-handed Al Hollingsworth and Al Shirley.

Losing Steve Sundra after he had won two games was a hard blow. Kramer, our No. 1 man, has been a pleasant surprise. The big right-hander came out of the

LUKE SEWELL

Seabees last summer and reported to Toledo as an outstanding pitcher. Shirley, a trim right-hander up from Springfield of the Eastern League, can't miss making the grade. Denny Galehouse's return gives us another first-string pitcher.

The Browns bobbing up practically overnight with capable young catchers like Mancuso and Hayworth to go with Joe Schultz stopped Joe Cronin of the Red Sox.

44 At Night In St. Louis

I never doubted for a minute that Vern Stephens would come out of the slump which gripped him toward the fag end of last season. This brilliant young shortstop is leading the loop in runs batted in. Mike Kreevich was topping the club in hitting when he went out with the flu. Chet Laabs is back for week-end games and night engagements at home. We'll get hitting, all right.

It is going to be a close race, and the Browns will play their full part.

We got no break in the weather in our first stay at home, but the fans are enthusiastic.

The two St. Louis clubs will play a total of 44 games under the arcs, exceeding the Senators' 43.

There never was any night life in Washington, anyway.

NEXT: Mel Ott of Giants.

Adult Softball Loops Formed

Teams Planned For Men And Women

Adult softball for both men and women was assured the city recreation department following a meeting Monday night at the city hall. Each league has enough entries to assure play, but there are still openings for other teams.

Five adult men's teams entered in the Lubbock Adult league with some keen competition expected to develop through the rival clubs from both Lubbock Army Air field and South Plains Army Air field.

Five teams were also lined up for a women's softball league with at least one more team needed for each league. The deadline for filing entries will be June 7.

Play To Start June 12

League play will start June 12 with all league games being played at Mackenzie State park at diamonds in front of the Meadowbrook clubhouse.

The five teams entered in the men's league with civilian teams from LAAF and SPAAF, one team from the West Texas Induction center, one team from the postoffice and one team from Texas Tech.

Teams entering the women's softball league were WAC teams from both LAAF and SPAAF, sub depot, postoffice and West Texas Hospital nurses.

All equipment and umpires will be furnished by the Recreation department.

POSTPONED AGAIN

DALLAS, May 30 (AP) — State high school baseball tournament was postponed again—this time probably for good. Rain caused the meet to be called off by Director P. C. Cobb who said it would not be held unless the teams that came here for the tournament last week end want to return next week end.

Ex-Players Extoll Value Of Football As Conditioner For Service In Armed Forces

By JACK CUDDY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 30 — Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler of Michigan says that football's contribution to the war effort becomes increasingly evident, as coaches throughout the country receive more and more letters from ex-players in service, extolling the value of their grid training.

Crisler, director of athletics and head football coach at Michigan, is here for meetings of the pigskin pilots at the Astor.

Chatting with reporters, Fritz said: "Because these letters are entirely unsolicited, we coaches have been pleasantly surprised by the unexpectedly large number received and by their enthusiasm. In general, the letters stress two great benefits from the game—excellent physical condition and experience in teamwork."

Emphasises Teamwork

Crisler — a tall, brown haired chap of 45, with sprinkles of gray at the temples—emphasized that teamwork is more important in this war than in any previous conflict. He called it a "war of teams." In the air, for example, bomber crews are perfect teams, he said. Likewise, formations of bombers and formations of protective fighters. On the ground, tank crews, anti-aircraft units, etc., depend much upon teamwork; as do the gun crews, ets., on ships.

He continued, "team-consciousness is something that cannot be developed overnight; it comes only with experience. Football players, accustomed to operating as a team member, have been seasoned to the necessity of carrying out individual assignments with speed and precision, in coordination with the movements of their mates. Their letters testify to the importance of their asset in combat."

In Good Condition

Their letters stressed also how lucky they were to have entered service in good condition, with bodies that could withstand the rigors of campaigning. In this connection, Crisler said Michigan had made a check of all its letter men (football players and other athletes) who had taken service physical examinations. The survey disclosed that only 3.5 per cent had been rejected. This is far below the general average of more than 30 per cent which the government found for all men examined.

He said that only two Michigan football plyayers had been rejected, and these for causes not associated with the sport. One former player was given a medical discharge becaus of asthma, after 18 months in service.

BOUT SET TONIGHT

GALVESTON, May 30 (AP)—Lou Nova, seeking his eleventh straight win along the comeback trail, meets Jimmy Webb of Galveston in a bout scheduled for ten rounds here tonight.

We see in the papers where Dr. Walter Scott McNutt, president of Jefferson college, of Jefferson, who is opposing L. A. Woods for the office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction, is a parachute jumper.

We can't see any logical connection between parachute jumping and public education, but in our book any sort of gyrations would be an improvement over the political acrobatics by which Bro. Woods has managed to hang onto the job.

ONE Republican congressman whose re-election will be hoped for by all right-thinking Americans, regardless of political leanings, is chunky little Rep. Albert Engel, of Michigan. A one-man House committee to search out waste and inefficiency in war plants, Mr. Engel has saved the government untold millions of dollars at practically no cost to the taxpayer.

On the most recent of his journeyings around the country, which have been going on for well over a year now, Congressman Engel was gone from his Washington office only 23 days and during that period inspected 20 big war plants. Total cost of the junket was $249.79.

How does he do it?

Well, mainly by acting like he was paying his own expenses. He drives his own automobile; sleeps in war plant barracks and tourist camps and eats only at inexpensive restaurants.

Quite a guy, that Engel. He ought to be in an even bigger government job than the one he has.

IF 20-year old Marine Cpl. Coolidge Graves doesn't get home soon, the Japs are likely to suffer a severe shortage of materiel. For Corporal Graves, son of Mrs. Mary Graves, 1620 Sixth street, already has sent home a bale of enemy stuff gathered by him on a South Pacific fighting front.

The young Marine, who was reared and educated in Lubbock, has been overseas only about nine months, yet has sent to homefolks: a handsome sword, taken from the body of a Jap officer; a bayonet, a .25 calibre rifle, a toothbrush, a pen-staff, a flag, a pencil and a wrench. His kin here wouldn't be a bit surprised if a dray backed up some morning and delivered a tank or a battleship.

Corporal Grave has been right in the middle of plenty of action and his friends here are sure he has been giving a good account of himself.

The main idea of the invasion is to turn the German goose-step into a duck for cover.

AT recent graduation events, The Plainsman has been amazed at the glib manner in which young high school graduates talk of the post-war world and what it will take to make it work.

From youthful tongues roll many statements and statistics—some of which are very questionable, if not entirely impossible—about "world government" and embracing the happily narcotized subjects so near and dear to the hearts of the dreamers.

The gist of the several well-ordered speeches we've heard is simply this:

"The world, after United Nations victory, is going to be something entirely new and entirely different. The nations of the world will co-operate so there may never be another war and there will never be any more economic strangulation of one country by another."

The kids we've heard talk have been well drilled in their theories and we can't help wondering why facts, as well as hopes have not been made available to them.

Hidden from them have been the ugly truths that a nation may lose its resources and its trade across a diplomatic table just as easily as it can upon global battlefronts; that human nature, after all, is the basic ingredient of man's dealing with man and that it must be vastly improved before anything like Utopia may be builded. Hidden from the youngsters, too, has been the fact that there is a difference between what "advanced thinkers" call "isolationism" and true nationalism. They have been literally steeped and basted in high-sounding rhetoric from which the seasoning of practicality is strangely withdrawn.

HEAVEN knows, we whose generations have preceded the present youthful one have made no great success of furthering civilization. A glance at any day's headlines will prove that.

Heaven also knows that it would be a very fine thing if all the ethereal ideas of our "internationally-conscious" people could be placed into effect and from them be builded a civilization more constellate than mundane.

But heaven knows, too, that if we go into the international post-war trading pits as trusting lambs, the lions by whose sides we seek to lie will shear us to the hide if, indeed, they don't eat us up.

If we go into the global poker game with a deck of flinch cards, we'll not only come out sadder and wiser, but also considerably poorer.

It is one thing to approve world sweetness and light, and still another thing to bring it about.

Sad though it is to say, a gunboat in a harbor still speaks more plainly in this world than the most carefully arranged peans on the universal brotherhood of man.

So long as greed continues to be as much a part of man as the blood cells which feed his body, just so long will there be conflict of one kind or another and just so long will force be needed for one group of mankind to protect itself against its equally predatory neighbors.

WHAT then can we do, what then shall we do, toward making the world a better place for all men to live in?

The answer is easy: we should, we must, strive toward that end, all of us who firmly believe that in every man there is a soul—a divine spark which can and should be kindled into a flame which will ignite the whole planet.

Our leaders—those of all mankind—should be chosen because they will favor and foster honest effort to improve civilization. Yet they must be practical men, who know that as Rome wasn't built in a day, neither can man be made perfect overnight.

Let's not blind ourselves—and let not our leaders blind us, for selfish and/or political reasons—to the fact that man must emerge slowly from the slime of baseness into the clear blue sky of perfection; that we must learn to crawl before we may walk, and to walk before we may fly.

Oratory, theory, illusions cannot turn a hunk of coal into a pearl, nor can they absolve the indecencies of humanity.

Only action can do that, and then not in a twinkling of an eye. Let us transpose our dreams to action, but let's remember years, perhaps generations, must be used up in the transition.

Let us hope and work for the ultimate best—but expect no miracles, for if we do we are doomed to disappointment.

Let's face the real conditions, and through the knowledge there gleaned expect to eventually supplant them with likelier ones.

Feminine Viewpoint

BY RUTH MILLETT

(Copyright, 1944, For The Journal)

THE news item told about an Idaho woman who, when her car collided with one driven by a soldier, climbed out, took full blame for the accident and then said: "I want to thank you for not jumping out of your car and giving me the dickens as most men would have."

MILLETT

The head over the story said, "Unusual Woman." A man must have written that head. No woman reporter would have found anything unusual about a woman's expressing appreciation for a man's not making a crack about a woman driver. That driving gag is not funny.

Women are sick to death of that wisecrack. If men knew how tired they are of hearing it, they would never make it again, even though it does seem to give them a lot of satisfaction and to give their egoes a boost.

WORN-OUT PHRASE

IT is unusually annoying in these times when women are driving buses and trucks and tractors, and when a high ranking army officer is just as likely as not to have a uniformed girl driving him around.

Maybe that is why the Idaho woman didn't hear any "just like a woman" remark when she had her mishap.

She had the good fortune to collide with a soldier—who has probably seen enough girls and women driving around army camps to forget all about that worn-out phrase "a woman driver."

THOUGHTS ON MEMORIAL DAY

This Day of Memorial to those who have died for their country most properly might inspire every American worthy of the name to make a careful, thorough invoice of his inner-most patriotic conscience.

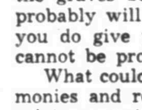

This is a day when the thoughts of Americans might appropriately turn to the subject of graves—to those hallowed parts of the earth wherein rest the remains of those who have served their nation courageously and well.

This is an occasion for thoughts to drift to far corners of the earth to the rows of Crosses, to solitary mounds of sod and to the waves in distant sea beneath which so many of our own have disappeared.

Then, while these subjects are contemplated, every American might ask himself the question: Have I done, and am I doing, all that I could in behalf of the cause for which so many have given everything? Think of the graves before you answer that question, and you probably will give yourself an honest answer. And, if you do give yourself an honest answer of which you cannot be proud, maybe you'll do something about it.

What could you do? Well, flags, flowers, songs, ceremonies and religious services are beautiful and appropriate as gestures.

But the real Memorial will be actually to do whatever you can — and you can do something — to endow with eternal life those things for which so many have died.

Kellems Letters Bring Argument To Head Government Agencies Divided On Question WPB's Wilson Knows The Working Man! Check Being Kept On Opinions Of Solons

WASHINGTON, May 30 — The Kellems letters have brought the entire question of censoring the mail to a head in backstage conversations between government agencies.

Actually, Chief Censor Byron Price isn't at all enthusiastic about opening people's mail, and recently took a confidential vote of different government bureaus to see whether the system of intercepts should be continued. Out of 21 agencies, the vote was 9 to 9 for and against the continuing of intercepts until the war with Germany has been won; then only against Japan. Three agencies were noncommittal.

PEARSON

The intercept system means the opening of all mail between the United States and foreign countries, copying important portions and routing about twenty different copies to different agencies of the government. Main purpose of this system is to detect important information regarding the enemy or to block information which might help the enemy.

All mail between the United States and a foreign country is opened. Mail to neutral countries, such as Portugal and Argentina, is studied with especial care because those two countries are among the chief pipelines for Nazi information. Miss Vivien Kellems' letters written to a Nazi agent in Argentina naturally were opened, and copies were sent to the War and Navy departments, the FBI, and other agencies supposed to watch Argentine Nazi affairs.

Economic Informaton

ALTHOUGH Censor Price has concurred with the Army and Navy regarding the necessity of opening foreign mail, he has hung back regarding the turning over of economic information to interested agencies such as the Foreign Economics administration. This economic information is what the British were criticized for picking up during the last war, and which some government insiders feel they are doing again in this war.

For instance, the British began preparing for censorship as early as the 1930's, when Norman Elmsley, chief British censor expert in Washington, began building up a staff. Elmsley handled the same job in the last war, and now has eight Britishers in the U. S. censorship office looking over U. S. intercepts.

Several times Leo Crowley's Foreign Economic administration has pressed Price to let them put trained economists in the British censor's office to get information on British cartels. But Price has opposed this.

Meanwhile, a lot of U. S. companies doing business abroad find ways and means of dodging censorship by sending reports home via the "diplomatic pouch."

The censors themselves would be delighted to get rid of the whole thing. Meanwhile, government experts interested in future U. S. trade believe we should watch British information just as carefully as they watch ours.

WORKER TO WORKER

SECRETARY of the Navy Forrestal and War Production Expert Charlie Wilson were visiting the Dravo company plant on the Ohio river near Pittsburgh, in order to spur production of landing barges.

A meeting of all kinds of workers — men, women, negroes, foreign-born — was called to listen to the Secretary of the Navy and the vice chairman of the WPB. First, the head of the Dravo company talked. The crowd listened politely. Then, Forrestal gave a nice speech in his best Princetonian accent. Again polite attention, but no enthusiasm.

Then Wilson spoke. He spread out his hands, large and powerful from working in factories from the time he was 13 until he became an official and later the head of General Electric.

"You see those hands?" he said. "Those are hands that have done what you're doing. The bosses alone can't do what you're doing. We've got to depend on you — or some one over there on our side is going to get licked. So you give us twice as many barges during the month of May."

Tremendous cheeers from the crowd.

"We'll give you not twice as many," yelled one husky worker, "but four times as many barges."

And their work since then shows that they meant it.

TWO-SIDED SOLONS

IF some one mysteriously rifles the offices of Public Reports, 55 West 42 St., New York, it should cause no surprise. For Rose Chayes, who runs the place, has committed the unpardonable sin of checking up on the speeches of congressmen — namely, comparing what they say one day with what they say the next. Here, for instance, are some sample statements of one congressman on one subject:

Jan. 11, 1941—"The lend-lease bill, if granted, would be the death knell of representative government, the kiss of death of Congress."

Feb. 2, 1943—"Where there is a will, there is always a way to assure the delivery of more lend-lease supplies to China without delay."

20 days later, Feb. 22, 1943 — "We Americans applaud the heroism of the victorious Russian army. We are determined to supply the Soviets with increasing quantities of lend-lease."

Two weeks later, March 8, 1943 —"We opposed the lend-lease bill two years ago. None of us has changed his mind."

The gentleman speaking on all sides of the same subject was none other than the Honorable "Ham" Fish of New York.

ON BROADWAY

(Copyright, 1944, For The Journal)

BEHIND the Enemy Front: Goering's corps of personal bodyguards has been doubled. The man who said that Berlin wouldn't be bombed shuns personal appearances fearing reprisals from Germans! . . . The most effective type of anti-Nazi propaganda within Germany is chain letters denouncing Nazism written by German religious leaders . . . Von Ribbentrop (he talked Hitler into attacking Russia) is a worried man. Fears he is on the Gestapo purge list . . . The labor unions the Nazis tried to obliterate now form the mucleus of the underground movement . . . Nazi propagandists used to brag about their brutality in order to frighten their enemies. But Goebbels has now ordered them to play down the horror. He doesn't even allow them to mention anything about concentration camps. The Big Idea is to breed sympathy among the Allies. Some fools in the Allied nations have fallen for that trick.

The corruption and immorality among Nazi leaders is the favorite topic of conversation among the German people . . . Genealogy used to be a big business in the Tired Reich: So many Nazis were anxious to prove that they're 100 per cent aryans. But not since they started dodging bombs. Seems they're not interested in who their ancestors were—when they might join them any minute . . . Germans have been fed so many lies that they believe almost every rumor they hear. The underground reaches more people via the mouth-to-mouth network than the Nazi radio . . . The Nazis in Norway stopped using their slogan: "Toward Better Times," when the underground press adopted it and printed it in their biggest type.

WINCHELL

THE campaign in occupied Europe for enlistments in the German Navy produced only 150 recruits . . . Lung diseases are rampant in Germany: Too much work, not enough food and rest . . . Austria has become a hotbed of anti-Nazism. There have been many food riots in Vienna . . . A Nazi rag in Holland reports the trouble they had during one of their parades there. "The marches repeatedly had to break ranks to turn the heads of the citizens the right way" . . . Ever since the Japs refused the Nazi request to attack Russia, relations between the Axis nations have been colder than Hitler's heart . . . German doctors have been ordered to report to police everything their patients say while under an anesthetic.

The Jap leader of the Philippines recently committed hari-kari because he was unable to stop sabotage by Filipino patriots . . . Jap defeats have aggravated the friction between their Army and Navy high commands. One blames the other for the losses . . . The German people are skeptical about the Nazi boast that they have a secret weapon to stop the Western invasion. They wonder why that weapon isn't used where it's needed most — on the Eastern Front . . . The Nazis have never told their people about the thousands who were taken prisoner at Stalingrad. The Nazi army officially lists them as dead . . . Nazis wounded on the Russian front are never sent to hospitals in Germany. They recuperate in the occupied nations.

THE ruthless campaign against all religions in Germany continues. Himmler has vowed to destroy every church in Germany because some courageous priests and pastors preach anti-Nazi sermons . . . The Nazis are preparing Germany's children for the next war. They're taught how to undermine democratic government and how to arm secretly . . . Despite all the torture and horror—the underground press continues. There are more than 400 underground organs in Poland alone. That fact should thrill every lover of a free press . . . The Nazis recently jailed a 12-year-old boy because he refused to slave in one of their war factories . . . In the midst of tyranny the underground practices democracy. Many of their leaders are elected by a majority vote.

Imaginative writers have created the impression that the underground works in secret rooms (under trapdoors) with sliding panels and false whiskers. The truth is that they prefer a prosaic office in a large office building. That doesn't create suspicion . . . One of the first laws for survival in the underground is to try to be as normal as possible on the surface. Take an ordinary job, maintain the usual family ties, friends, interests, habits. Be one among many . . . This is one example showing how the underground goes about outwitting the Gestapo. You can't travel in Germany unless you have a good reason for it. One underground worker had to go to another city on a vital mission—so he married one of his colleagues. When the Gestapo picked them up they produced their marriage license and said they were merely going on their honeymoon! The mission was accomplished.

NOTE to those alleged peace lovers who want us to stop bombing Germany, claiming it doesn't shorten the war: In the Nazi mag, Das Reich, Goebbels confessed a short time ago: "I admit that our suffering from British and American bombing is terrible. Sometimes we are so weighed down that it is unbearable and we feel all hope is the Gestapo. But so many street fights have taken place between soldiers on leave and Gestapolice that Himmler has ordered the Gestapo not to fraternize with any soldiers.

How many casualties' the underground has had only the records of the Gestapo might show. It has been estimated that their casualty lists are as long as any major ally . . . But this we do know: The Gestapo has more than a million members. Most of them are used to fight the underground. The least you can say for the underground is that they have immobilized thousands of potential German soldiers who could be killing Allied soldiers . . . The great leaders for post-war Europe may now be found in the underground. They have fought Nazism from the start with and without weapons . . . We in Allied nations may never know the names of many underground heroes — but we shall never forget their many miracles.

Popular Correspondent Is Killed; American Pilot Shot Down

Ernie Pyle Gets Bad News From Italian Front

BY ERNIE PYLE

Special War Correspondent

LONDON, (By Wireless) — The good news from Italy has been tinged with bad for some of us who still have strong roots and half our hearts in that cruel battleground.

The name of Roderick MacDonald means nothing to you in America, but it meant much to many of us who marched with the wars in Tunisia, Sicily and Italy. For Mac was one of our bunch—a war correspondent—and he was killed the other day at Cassino.

Mac was a Scot. His family emigrated to Australia and he was schooled there and eventually went to work for the Sydney Morning Herald. He left Australia in 1941 and followed the wars in China, the Near East and all through Africa.

ERNIE PYLE

We first knew him in Tunisia. Just after Tunis fell he came down with a savage recurrence of malaria and spent three weeks in a hospital. Finally he got strong enough to get back to Algiers during that peaceful interval between Tunisia and Sicily.

During that time our public-relations section was set up in a camp on the sandy and gentle shore of the Mediterranean, some 20 miles outside Algiers. That's where I used up those six weeks of peace—one of the grandest six weeks of my life, just lolling in my tent, eating well, working a little, reading a lot, mostly loafing and being wonderfully warm.

Sun Cures Ills

Roderick MacDonald sent word that he was in a hotel at Algiers, and I got a jeep and went and picked him up. He was so weak he couldn't even carry his bedroll. We brought him out to camp and put him in the tent next to mine.

For days he lay listlessly, with strength enough only to get up for meals. The sun was broiling and he would strip down to his shorts and lie there in the hot sand, baking his body a sleek brown. Gradually life began to flow into him again, his face filled out, the glaze left his eyes, and the famous MacDonald smile and MacDonald barbed retort began to return.

Mac had everything to live for, and he loved being alive. He was young, tall, handsome, brilliant, engaging. He had a sensitive mind, and he would have been a novelist had there been no war.

AMONG Americans he was the best liked British correspondent I have ever known. With his Scottish and Australian heritage he understood us. He would kid the pants off us about the way we talked, and mimic our flat pronunciation in his yarns. He in turn took the same razzing about his Oxford accent. He had never been to America but it was his one ambition to go there.

Like most correspondents, Mac felt that he had to write a book. He had it about two-thirds finished when he came to our camp to recuperate. During the latter days of his stay, when his strength had returned, he tapped away belligerently on his typewriter, cussing the day he ever started the book, resenting the deadline his London publishers were heckling him with. But he did finish it.

The day I arrived in London from Italy I went into a bookstore, and I noticed Mac's book. I bought it just because I knew Mac, and brought it home and put it on the table, but never did read it.

Now I will read it. What an ironic world, that only the compulsion of death makes us do for our friends—in more ways than merely reading a book—what we should have done while they still lived.

Good Friend Shot Down

I suppose my best friend in Italy was Lt. Col. Ed Bland, a dive-bomber squadron leader. He was a tall, blond Westerner of 28, who looked much older than he was and who had the open honesty and good humor of the West. Word has just come that he has been shot down.

Probably the story has been told already in America, for Ed was popular with all the correspondents. The letter that brought the word to me said this:

"Ed was strafing about 30 feet above the ground when a small shell set his plane afire underneath. Ed didn't know it until his wing man radioed him. Then he climbed to 1500 feet and bailed out.

"The wing man said his chute didn't open till he was 200 feet from the ground. There was a great deal of shooting, and one theory is that it was directed at him, but majority opinion ruled differently and the boys believe he is o. k."

WICK Fowler of The Dallas News was a close friend of Ed's. We used to sit around indulging in idiotic talk and Ed was always talking about how funny it would be to telephone Rome for hotel reservations and throw the Germans into a panic.

After I left Italy Ed's oil line stopped up one day on a mission near Rome and he was certain he would have to bail out. Later he told Wick that while he was in trouble and sure he'd have to jump he got to thinking about that telephone idea and had to laugh to himself.

And now that he really has bailed out, Wick sends along this thought in a letter:

"Ed's time was short at 1500 but I have a hunch the telephone idea came to him again on the way down."

If Ed did call up Rome for reservations I hope the Germans gave him the royal suite, for he's the best there is.

19-A—Poultry & Supplies

USE SEA POWER TO GET HOGS IN A HURRY
FEED STANTON'S 20% PIG RATION
Today, more than ever before, it is extremely important to speed up growth and keep mortality down in young pigs. Feed is too precious to waste on the laggards and pork is too valuable to lose before it goes to market. Stanton's 20% pig ration provides extra protection against both. In hundreds of hog lots, it is working consistently to improve pig health, speed up growth and reduce mortality because it gives little pigs the same kind of boost that chick starter gives to baby chicks. It is being fed widely to sows before farrowing and through creep feeding—to pigs from 2-3 weeks of age on up.

MANAMAR
In Stanton's 20% pig ration supplies the hard-to-get feeding essentials—fish proteins, food minerals and vitamins, including the important Vitamin B "complex."

B-G PLUS
Is a patented vacuum concentrated extract from fish. This new and potent product, resulting from ten years of ceaseless research and experiment, supplies extra tract minerals and vitamins in Stanton's 20% pig ration.

Allies Repulse Nazi Attacks

Eighth army began a drive up the Sacco valley astride highway 6—the Via Casilina — and drove through Arce, at the junction of highway 6 and highway 82.

At the same time New Zealanders stabbing through the Apennines were reported within a few miles of Sora, which is astride highway 82, nine miles north of Arce.

Nazis Stave Off Threat

Reinforced by the bulk of the Hermann Goering parachute panzer division and supported by intensified artillery fire, the Germans in the Valmontone area 20 miles east and south of Rome managed to stave off a mounting threat to the Via Casulwna in that sector.

This threat, however, diminished the enemy's use of the highway —last main escape route for the embattled Nazi divisions in the south.

On the left flank of the Fifth army near the west coast the British occupied a lateral road west of Carroceto and advanced toward the western anchor of the Germans' "last ditch" defenses at Campo Pemini, 18 miles due south of the Eternal City.

From Campo Iemini northeastward through Velletri and Lanuvio to Valmontone the enemy dug into his defenses and stabbed out with violent tank counter-attacks in an effort to break the weight of the Fifth army onslaught.

"Satisfactory Gains"

Although the Allied command announced "satisfactory gains" toward strongly-held Velletri and Lanuvio, it did not specify the extent of those gains.

The enemy's last hopes of holding the Sacco valley southeast of Frosinone were wiped out as the Eighth army crashed into the vital highway junction town of Arce after two days of strenuous fighting with veteran Nazi parachute troops.

Behind barriers of demolished bridges, culverts and extensive mine fields, the Germans fled both northward along highway 82 toward Avezzano and northwestward on highway 6 in the direction of Frosinone.

Both the French troops on the right wing of the Fifth army and Eighth army forces closed in steadily on Frosinone.

U. S. Memorial Day

they have taken the lives of more than 173,000 Americans — 126,000 in World War I and 47,000 thus far in World War II.

Arlington Ceremonies

At Arlington, Lt. Col. Richard Park, military aide, laid the President's wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in solemn ceremonies beginning at 11 a. m. Lt. Col. Edward M. Hudgins of the Army laid wreaths on the tomb of the unknown Civil war soldier and the monument to the Confederate dead, and Lt. Robert Myers of the Navy decorated the Spanish war memorial and the monument to officers and men of the U. S. S. Maine.

Later, Sen. Tom Connally, (D., Tex.), a veteran of both the Spanish-American and the First World war, delivered an address and the United States Marine band played.

In a Memorial day statement from Asheville, N. C., where he is convalescing, Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippines, said he was thinking "of those who died for us."

Philippine Heroes Remembered

To the soldiers who fell on the battlefields in the Philippines and to the "anonymous heroes who lie in nameless graves," Quezon said, "a grateful people will remember you forever. When the day of liberation comes we will not forget."

In Frederick, Md., Former Gov. John A. Stelle of Illinois, chairman of the American Legion's committee on World war II veterans' legislation, declared that the day was dedicated not only to "those who slumber" but to "those have yet to sleep." He said the nation must be prepared forever against future attacks by maintaining a strong Army and Navy "without complaint against the money cost."

night that the American people are determined "to join in preventing future wars . . . not again sit on the sidelines" when aggression is plotted.

Criticizing concentration of government controls in Washington, Dewey asserted also that no one should lead a part of the American people against another in violent crusades of unessentials

Florida Action Watched

A development on the Democratic side was the action of fourth term delegates in Florida voting to bind the entire 18-man delegation to vote for President Roosevelt. Four of the eighteen had been pledged to Senator Byrd (D-Va) but the majority invoked a state executive committee rule that the delegation should be bound by a two thirds vote.

In Washington, Reps. Peterson (D-Ga), Hendricks (D-Fla) and Boykin (D-Ala) took note of the fact that Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex), Senate Majority Leader Barkley (D-Ky) and Governor Ellis Arnall of Georgia all will appear before the Georgia Bar association meeting in Atlanta tomorrow. They suggested that the South look over the three men and "try to run one of them for vice president."

New Regime Takes Over In Ecuador

QUITO, Ecuador, May 30 (AP)—Dr. Carlos Arroyo Del Rio was a refugee in the U. S. embassy here today after resigning the Ecuadorian presidency under pressure of revolutionists who seized power in Guayaquil and invited Former President Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra to return from his exile in Colombia.

Ecuadoran troops, using tanks and backed by members of the Alianza democratica (Democratic alliance) group, gained control of Guayaquil, main commercial city and Pacific port, after a 10-hour battle yesterday in which more than 40 persons were reported killed and 200 wounded. The main resistance was by the Guayaquil police.

The revolutionists said their motive was to forestall presidential elections, scheduled for next Friday and Saturday, which they said would be meaningless unless the exiled Velasco Ibarra was on hand to participate. When Arroyo Del Rio and his ministers resigned, Alianza democratica leaders sent word to Velasco Ibarra he was free to return to Ecuador.

World Peace Plan

phase" of his talks with the Senate group to which he has outlined his postwar plans, Hull said that in using the language "Connally resolution and other similar declarations made in this country" he meant to include such statements as the Republican declaration at Mackinac island last fall.

To Continue Discussions

The secretary said he expected to continue discussions with congressional committees but there was no decision on whether a special House committee would be set up similar to the Senate advistory group which conferred with him.

Hull replied that the question had not yet come up for formal consideration when asked whether there would be congressional representation on the American delegation to the conference here.

Connally Offers Proposal

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate foreign relations committee called for the establishment of an international peace-preserving assembly patterned after the League of Nations but clothed with force to prevent aggression.

Speaking at annual memorial services at the grave of the unknown soldier in Arlington cemetery, Connally expressed opposition to the establishment of an independent world police force but favored a plan by which peace-loving nations would contribute military and naval power to halt aggressors.

"My belief is that any effective peace organization must in its broad outline follow the plan of the League of Nations, with an assembly representing all of the nations who may be members, and a council or executive committee which may serve as the administrative arm of such peace organization," the foreign relations chairman said.

The announcement came after a series of five meetings Hull held with a special Senate advisory committee and committeemen who would comment today acclaimed what he said.

Hull described the five sessions as "frank and fruitful discussions" of the principles and plans for an international peace body and added:

"I am definitely encouraged and am ready to proceed, with the approval of the President, with informal discussions on this subject with Great Britain, Russia and China, and then with governments of other United Nations."

Discussions Frank

Hull's discussions with the Senate committee were generally frank and as detailed as plans can be at this stage, it was learned. Finally a clear majority of the 8-man group, headed by Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate foreign relations committee, swung to support of the secretary's program but there were some differences of view, particularly on whether the peace organization should be set up before the peace it is to preserve.

These differences led the secretary to phrase his statement in such a manner that it reflected no commitments on the parts of the senators, although their general support allowed him to express a hearty encouragement.

His program, as outlined to them, centered around creation of a United Nations council of Russia, the United States, Britain and China, and of an assembly including all the nations.

Arrives At Landmark

Actually, it appeared that Hull had arrived at one of the important landmarks he set for himself more than two years ago when he undertook some general discussions of postwar security problems with a view to seeing what sort of international collaboration the United States would support.

He was represented as feeling now that he has sufficient backing in this country, particularly in the Senate, to go ahead with international talks with the assurance that in the first steps to be taken he may expect confidence and backing at home.

The Senate committee evidently did not commit itself to any specific line of procedure or to any particular kind of orgnization but rather told Hull, it is understood, that it approved generally of the preliminary work he has done and desires him to continue with it.

Native Texan Took Command At Anzio

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY IN ITALY, May 30 (AP) — It may now be disclosed that Maj. Gen. Lucian K. Truscott, 49, a native of Texas, was in command of Allied troops on the Anzio beachhead from mid-February until Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark arrived to direct the present offensive.

Truscott arrived on the beachhead as commander of the Third U. S. infantry division which he had led through Sicily and the first part of the Italian campaign. He was credited with making it one of the finest American infantry divisions.

The division was a part of the Sixth corps of the Fifth Army.

Truscott took over command of the whole beachhead force after the second German counter-attack, which came near to hurling the Allied troops into the sea.

He successfully beat back a third attack. After that the Germans limited their action to containing the area.

Son of a Texas country doctor, he taught school in Oklahoma, got a training camp commission in the last war, and is one of the few combat generals who is not a West Point graduate.

His home is at Wild Acres, Charlottesville, Va.

European Raids

announced that the American-fighter fleets sweeping into Austria and southern Germany from the south had hit the Wiener Neustadt area near Vienna, bombing the Neudorfl aircraft factory, the Pottendorf spinning mills nine miles to the northwest, the Ebreichsdorf carpet factory 11 miles to the northeast and the Neunkirchen spinning mills 10 miles to the southwest. All the factories had been converted into the production of Messerschmitt fighter parts.

Other groups of unescorted Flying Fortresses bombed rail yards at Zagreb, in Yugoslavia, and still others of the 250 to 500 heavy bombers participating in the day's operations hit an aircraft factory and a nearby airdrome at Wels, 10 miles southwest of Linz, in southern Germany.

No British Planes Lost

Without a single loss the Mosquitos drubbed the German base at Nantes, off the western coast of France, and unspecified installations in western Germany, the air ministry said.

Skies over the Dover strait were dotted for a long period this morning, with one Allied formation after another hitting out for the continent, while explosions and anti-aircraft fire echoed from the opposite shore.

The Mediterranean Army Air force announced its medium bombers attacked objectives at Fruersbrunn in Austria last night.

68 Aircraft Destroyed

The MAAF, summarizing the results of the raid on airdromes, aircraft plants and railyards in Austria yesterday by a force of possibly 750 heavy bombers and fighter escorts, said 68 enemy aircraft were destroyed at a loss of 20 U. S. heavy bombers and 14 other aircraft.

The Germans raided southern England for the second night in a row, one wave bombing a southwest shore community while other planes cruised along the coast, evidently trying to spot invasion preparations.

Look Ahead To Fall

It became apparent meanwhile that yesterday's large-scale attention to the German aircraft industry indicated the Allied board of strategy was looking ahead to August and September. In the normal course of events enemy fighters now coming off production lines would just then be reaching the front.

The Monday operations cost the U. S. Strategic Air force 35 bombers and 11 fighters, a communique announced last night. One hundred enemy planes were shot from the skies.

War Against Japs

Philippines — Japanese resistance rose. Allied headquarters suggested that the enemy, miscalculating where the Biak landings were to come, was regrouping for perhaps the hardest fight of the New Guinea campaign.

Allied airmen lent support by hammering enemy airfields in the surrounding sea area, including Manokwari, Babo, Noemfoor and Japen.

Heavy Raid Hits Ponape

Ponape, 440 miles east of Truk in the Central Pacific, was hit with the heaviest weight of explosives dropped on it in 24 raids this month, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced.

In beleaguered China the Japanese expanded their two-sided offensive with a new surge southward from Yoyang in Hunan province. They aimed at Siangyin, 30 miles north of Changsha, apparently to protect their drive to seize the Hankow-Canton railroad. Yesterday the Chinese reported the enemy had advanced 27 miles toward Changsha in three days.

Mrs. Farmer To Seek Place As Elector

FORT WORTH, May 30. (AP)—Mrs. James F. Farmer, pro-Roosevelt state Democratic committeewoman, said today she would file later in the day an application to Chairman George E. Butler of the state Democratic executive committee requesting placement of her name on the state ballot as a candidate for presidential elector at the July 22 party primary.

Electors being customarily named by convention, Mrs. Farmer said her action was the first such move in Texas and was brought about by division between instructed and uninstructed forces at the recent Austin convention.

No law provides when or by what group electors shall be named, she said, adding that her application is based on the decision in a Missouri case, Walker vs the U. S., holding that a persidential elector is a state officer. She cited as reference page 383 of the 93rd federal reporter (2).

The U. S. Constitution, she added, says the legislatures of the several states shall determine the manner in which candidates for state office are placed on the ballot, and that the Texas statutes prescribe the manner she is following.

Hart reported that "very conservative" estimates were that the proposed ceiling adjustments would mean $100,000,000 to $150,000,000 a year more income for textile manufacturers, and that by the time the goods reached consumers the price level would be up somewhere between $225,000,000 to $350,000,000.

Central Texas Rivers Rising After Rains

(By The Associated Press)

Rains of the past 48 hours brought new rises today to Central Texas' Little river and its tributary, the Leon, as other portions of the state estimated crop damage as well as beneficial results of heavy rains.

Both the Little and Leon rivers were rising again after hard rains Sunday and Monday. The rise was awaited at Cameron where traffic has frequently been blocked by high water the past several days.

The hardest rain in many years Monday fell in the Heidenheimer area, ten miles southeast of Temple. Floods and continuing rains badly damaged small grains, cotton and sudan grass throughout the Temple area. Traffic was blocked near the town of Little River, ten miles south of Temple.

The Dallas office of the weather bureau said that present indications were the Trinity would remain out of banks from Dallas to below Trinidad all this week, "fluctuating, but with the higher stage not exceeding 35 feet at Dallas and 38 feet at Trinidad." Flood stage in that area is 28 feet.

In South Texas the Frio was rising toward the 32-foot mark which, it was feared, would spread flood waters over extensive pasturelands and some fields. Other South Texas rivers and creeks were receding slowly.

Rains ranging from a fraction of an inch to six inches broke a dry period in the lower Rio Grande valley and replenished the supply of irrigation water in the Rio Grande. The rain brought a temporary stop to harvesting of tomatoes.

Grand Jury Probing Hit-And-Run Death

MORTON, May 30. (Special)—Grand jury investigation into a hit-run driving incident that caused the death early Sunday night of a 3-year-old Morton child was predicted this afternoon.

The child, Bonnie Faye Langham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Langham, was buried Monday afternoon. Rev. J. H. Owen, pastor of the Morton Assembly of God church, officiated.

The child, her parents and other children of the family were en route to church. The children, friends said, strayed ahead. An older child crossed the street ahead of Bonnie Faye, who was struck by a pickup type automobile. Her head was mangled.

Questioning of suspects has failed to develop identity of the person responsible, officials said.

General's Step-Son Is Killed In Action

WASHINGTON, May 30. (AP) — Lt. Allen Tupper Brown, son of Mrs. George C. Marshall, wife of the Army's chief of staff, was killed yesterday in a tank action near Campoleone, Italy, the War department reported today.

Brown is survived by his wife, the former Madge Shedden of New York City and a 2-year-old son. His mother married General Marshall in 1930.

ELEVEN AIRMEN KILLED

NORFOLK, Va., May 30 (AP) — Eleven crewmen on a Navy patrol plane were killed early today when their craft crashed one and one-half miles west of the auxiliary air station at Chincoteague. None of those aboard survived. The plane went down as it was attempting to approach the field for an emergency landing, the Fifth district public relations office announced.

Nazis Want To Get Over With Invasion

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Hitlerdom's D-day nerves indeed have reached a sorry state of rawness when a Berlin spokesman bursts out that "Germany would prefer for the invasion to come today rather than tomorrow."

Well, that's where the worry belongs—with the enemy. We have no cause to fret—as a lot of good folk are doing—for Allied luck is running strong. Let der fuehrer do the stewing.

Of course Germany would like to get it over with. She's not a country waiting with confidence in her ability to withstand the assault, for the Allies out match her everywhere, and each rising sun sees her weaker. She's just hoping that some lucky break will ease her plight. The strain must be terrific.

Illustrated Yesterday

We had concrete illustration of this again yesterday. The Allied air fleets staged huge raids that reached the furthermost points in the perimiter of Hitler's boasted fortress Europe.

The Nazi can no longer find any place in which to hide.

More than 4,500 Allied warplanes, of which 4,000 were American, boldly challenged hostile skies. They hammered the French invasion coast. They streaked clear across Europe to bomb aircraft factories in Poland, and rained destruction on Germany itself. They bombed the lower Danube basin in southeastern Europe, and tore at Austria from the south.

It's no longer a question of a "second front," or a third or fourth. Hitler is surrounded, and we are closing in.

Lifting Of Dominance By Petrillo Asked

WASHINGTON, May 30—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) appealed to Congress today to "release the music of school children from the domination of Mr. James C. Petrillo," and he may get some action Thursday.

He introduced a bill aimed at preventing Petrillo and his AFL musicians union from interfering with noncommercial cultural or educational broadcasts by schools. The measure went to the Senate Interstate Commerce committee, which is considering a series of amendments to the federal communications act.

Through his demands for the use of union musicians, Petrillo has taken high school bands and orchestras off the air, Vandenberg declared. He cited as an example orchestras and bands of high school students assembled from all over the country each year at Interlochen, Mich., for two months training under expert directors.

U. S. Using Rockets On Fighter Planes In War On Japan

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP)—Rocket-equipped fighter planes have been used successfully in combat against the Japanese, the Army Air forces reported today.

The announcement made no mention of American rocket-launching planes in Europe, but said they have been effective in the Pacific and China-Burma-India theaters against such land targets as bivouac areas, bridges and ammunition dumps, and against sea targets such as barges and light shipping.

The projectiles can be fired in pairs or salvos from launchers mounted beneath the wings of five types of fighter plane—P-40 Warhawk, P-47 Thunderbolt, P-38 Lightning, P-39 Aircobra and P-51 Mustang.

This was the department's first disclosure that such weapons are being used on American planes. The Royal Air force has disclosed use of rocket-equipped planes against ground targets in northwestern Europe.

Mother Has Reason To Be Proud Of Son

GULFPORT, Miss., May 30 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Myers Slaton, mother of a 32-year-old father of four sons who won the Congressional Medal of Honor for killing six enemy soldiers and knocking out three machine guns in Italy is very proud of his bravery and grateful for the way he feels about his country.

Slaton, formerly a fireman at Gulfport Military academy, and a taxicab driver, will receive the medal overseas, where he is serving with a rifle company of the 45th division. His wife and sons live near Laurel, Miss.

The citation for the medal told how Slaton, leading an infantry squad, crept upon a machine gun nest near Oliveto, Italy, and killed the gunner with his bayonet. When the blade stuck in the soldier, Slaton detached it, then shot another gunner, meanwhile being fired upon by another machine gun. He then moved over open ground, under constant fire, to a second machine gun position, killed two gunners there, and when the third machine gun opened on him, he killed both gunners there.

Modern Italy has an area only slightly larger than that of the state of Nevada.

NOW... THE SCORE IS TEN TO ONE...

IN FAVOR OF TEXAS!

Sheffield steel products are not new to Texas and the Great South-Southwest. For many years they have served the needs of this territory.

Only a small part of the cost of each ton of this steel remained at home—the part that goes for local distribution.

Now the score has changed. It is Ten to One in favor of the Southwest and the Gulf Coast region. Why? Because Sheffield steel is now made of this region's raw materials. This means that ten times as much of the cost of every ton of Sheffield steel is paid out to citizens of Texas and nearby states.

For what and to whom you well may ask. To miners for native iron ore, coal, and manganese. To the producers of oil and gas and power. To local limestone quarriers, and to all the citizens of this South-Southwest who supply us with the other necessary raw materials, including scrap iron and steel.

Well over 80% of every dollar spent for Texas steel is spent in this territory—for these raw materials, for fuels, for power, for labor and for taxes.

But these are not the only ways in which Texas-made steel will help build prosperity for Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, and New Mexico. Steel making is the B vitamin of industrial growth. It attracts steel consuming industries. Wherever steel making is soundly and permanently established, they flourish. With Texas-made steel these states will more quickly develop their own industries, old and new, to serve the expanding needs of the great South-Southwest. That will mean still more payrolls — still more money to be spent in the channels of local trade.
