THE TRUST ERA IS AT STANDSTILL IS NOW THE OPINION

NEW YORK, July 5.—Tremendous falling off in new capital stock creations is shown by comparison of the securities listed on the New York stock exchange during the last six months and the listings for the corresponding period for a series of years.

That the trust era has come to a standstill is best shown by the listings of new stocks. During the last six months there were listed only $41,527,300, compared with $290,958,435 for the same period in 1900, $315,853,890 in 1902 and $1,273,587,575 for 1901, when the trust creation movement was at its height.

The average of the first six months of the five years preceding 1901 showed new stock creations of about $325,000,000 and in the first six months of 1895 there were created $98,092,970 of new stock, which was listed on the exchange.

BREAK OPEN A CAR OF WHISKY

Territory Fellows Must Have Liquor Even if They Must Steal it.

MUSKOGEE, I. T., July 4.—A car of whisky billed through to Texas was broken into while standing on a side track in the railroad yards here today. Forty cases of the liquor was taken, and even the small boys caught on and were getting drunk before it was discovered where the whisky was coming from. Six arrests were made in which the defendants will be charged with robbery and drunkenness.

PARKER WILL CONTROL SUCH MAJORITY FIRST BALLOT HIS NOMINATION THEN ASSURED

The Retirement of Gorman and the Coming of Pennsylvania to the Support of the New Yorker Leads to the Belief that "Favorite Sons" May Be Withdrawn Within Fifteen Hours, and the Opening of the Convention May Show a Practically Harmonious Gathering With Interest Centered on One Candidate

SENATOR BAILEY TO HELP WRITE THE PLATFORM

Arrival of Belated Delegates and the General Trend of Opinion of Those Who Have Canvassed the Situation Is That the Bryan Opposition to Judge Parker Will Not Have Weight Enough to Support It, and That It Will Fall Back Before the Force of Strong Delegations Climbing Into the Band Wagon Which Is to Drive to Success

ST. LOUIS, July 5.—The national committee met this morning to receive the reports of the various sub-committees appointed yesterday to consider contests in the various states. All contests were settled last night with the exception of Illinois and New Jersey.

In the case of Illinois it is reported the committee report will be in favor of unseating the Hopkins delegates in the second, ninth, twenty-first, sixteenth and twenty-third districts. In all other district contests and in the case of the delegates at large, the contestees are to retain their seats.

Carter H. Harrison of Chicago is one of the delegates from the ninth district and by this action will be seated.

The New Jersey contests were abandoned in the fifth, sixth and eighth districts and the fight maintained in the first and second districts. The committee decided to report in favor of the regular delegates in both cases, chiefly because the contestants were not able to produce evidence in support of their claim that between sixty and seventy of their delegates were thrown out of their state convention.

The day before the convention broke hot and murky. For the first time the streets and hotels took on a preconvention air. Early morning trains brought in belated delegates and marching clubs and the hotel lobbies and the dining rooms developed scenes of congested crowds and the accompanying discomfort. The general situation as affecting the outcome of the convention remained unchanged.

The strong lead developed by Parker yesterday was emphasized by the action of the Pennsylvania delegation at its late night session, naturally provoked some inquiry as to whether a stampede would follow. There was some gossip about the hotel lobbies that several favorite sons would withdraw during the day, but this has not taken any definite shape at this hour. The Parker managers said last night they hoped their instructed states would hold on the first ballot for their candidate, but the action of Pennsylvania is admittedly a serious blow to the efforts of "favorite sons," and this morning the air is full of suggestions that Hearst and Olney and Wall should take steps to relieve the delegates instructed for them.

The Parker managers are confident the New York man will show a clear majority on the first ballot, and that following the precedent of all former democratic national conventions this showing would bring into line a sufficient number of states to give him the necessary two-thirds of the total vote of the convention. Such result, it is urged, will be simply following the historic record of the party at their national conclaves. It is practically conceded the Gorman vote, as a result of Pennsylvania's action, will be cast on the initial ballot for Parker. If this is followed by a like action on the part of any other recognized candidate, then the result may prove, as some leaders assert, in an assured nomination before the convention assembles tomorrow.

Senator Charles A. Culberson will be the chairman of the Texas delegation. This is the second time he has occupied the position, being made chairman of the delegation in 1900. The Texans will probably put Hon. J. W. Bailey on the platform committee.

Since Mr. Bryan does not control as he has in the last two national conventions, Mr. Bailey is the logical member of the committee for Texas. While he has supported Mr. Bryan as the nominee he has not done so otherwise, and when Mr. Bryan was first nominated Mr. Bailey returned to Texas and asked the district which he represented in congress to relieve him of the nomination because he disagreed with the Nebraskan. Mr. Bryan will probably be on the platform committee from Nebraska. Therefore matching him will be Mr. Bailey of Texas.

A THOUSAND DELEGATES

An even thousand delegates will assemble in the Coliseum tomorrow to name a candidate to run as the democratic party's choice for president of the United States. These delegates represent fifty-three political divisions—forty-five states, four territories, Alaska, Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippine Islands. The number of delegates exclusive of the territories and insular possessions is twice the number of United States senators and members of the house of representatives. There is no doubt that the national committee will decide that the six delegates from Porto Rico are entitled to seats in the convention.

Each delegate to the national convention represents a section of the country peopled by approximately 80,000 people, of whom at least 16,000 are male adults of the voting age. So the whole convention represents the democratic part of approximately 16,000,000 voters, or 80,000,000 people.

The 1,000 delegates meet to pick out a man who will represent the ideas of the democratic voters as to necessary qualifications for a president of the United States and to voice their ideas as to general policies which should be followed by the chief executive for the four years succeeding March 4, 1905. The delegates will voice these policies in a series of resolutions, which, taken together, is popularly called a "platform." They are also to choose a candidate for vice president to serve in case of the death or inability of the president.

While the greatest uncertainty exists as to the action of the convention in regard to the selection of candidates and the adoption of resolutions, the proceedings will adhere closely to the routine and definite program always followed by the national political gatherings. The convention will be in session three days.

TO ASSEMBLE WEDNESDAY

The delegates will assemble in the Coliseum at noon on Wednesday. They will be called to order by ex-Senator James K. Jones of Arkansas, chairman of the national committee. Secretary C. A. Walsh will then read the official call for the convention. Senator Jones will make a brief address, presenting to the convention John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, who will be introduced as temporary chairman.

The choice of Representative Williams for temporary chairman is made at the suggestion of prominent democrats of all factions. Though he comes to the convention as an instructed Parker delegate, the Bryan and Hearst element offered no objection to his selection. Mr. Williams' chief duty as temporary chairman will be to deliver a speech which will voice the general party policies, and will be what is popularly termed a "keynote" speech.

After the presentation of the secretary and other convention officers, the chairman will call upon the different state delegations and ask each to send to the platform the selections made by the delegation for membership on the committee on resolutions, credentials, and permanent organization and order of business. In the meantime each delegation will have met and made its selection for these places, and the names will be sent up. When these names have been furnished to the presiding officer the latter will hve before him the membership of these various committees, and after announcing them will direct that the committees on credentials, resolutions, and order of business retire and proceed to the business which they were chosen to perform. The committees will go to work, and, if necessary, will labor all night so as to be able to report to the convention when it meets the following day.

Having accomplished this much, the convention will adjourn and wait for the various reports from the committees. This will end the first day's session of the convention.

BRYAN IS THERE

William J. Bryan, who is here as a member of the nebraska delegation, is understood to desire the chairmanship of the resolutions, or platform committee. His selection will naturally be combated vigorously by the "conservatives," who are mostly supporters of Judge Parker. The platform committee will have a difficult task on its hands to satisfy the opposing elements and draw up resolutions that will be acceptable to a majority of the delegates. The platform will discuss trusts, labor, immigration, statehood, and other subjects.

Thursday the convention will be called to order by the temporary chairman, who will receive the reports from the committees on credentials, and permanent organization, and order of business, and these reports having been adopted, a committee will be named to escort to the chair the permanent chairman. The latter will then deliver a speech similar in character to that of the temporary chairman, dealing with the issues of the campaign. This speech will later form an important part of the campaign literature and be published in the official party publication known as the "campaign text book." Following the address of the permanent chairman will come the report of the committee that has framed the platform. At this stage of the proceedings the convention will liven up and many interesting speeches and debates may be looked for. These speeches will probably prolong the session, though the final adoption of the platform will mark the end of the second day of the convention.

FRIDAY THE BIG DAY

Froday will be the big day of the convention, the day to which all of the previous sessions and proceedings are but an introduction. It will be the day on which candidates for president and vice president will be named. The candidates will be placed in nomination, but few believe that the convention will be able to make a selection before Saturday and probably later. This is the part of the game when heated debates and fiery oratory are in order.

BUREAU REPORT OF COTTON CROP

The government bureau report, issued by the department of agriculture, based on reports from correspondents in all parts of the cotton region, issued at 11 o'clock today, shows the condition of the crop to be 88 per cent as against 77.1 per cent at the same time last year.

IS SHOT TO DEATH ON A RAPID TRANSIT

NEW YORK, July 5.—An unidentified man has been shot to death on a Staten Island rapid transit train near Clifton. The murderer jumped from the train and escaped, but he is caught on the island, as all the ferries were at once placed under guard. Both men were Italians and had quarreled about a woman who accompanied them. The murderer suddenly drew a revolver and, placing it against the other man's head, fired. In the panic which the shooting caused the man escaped.

JUDGE BRYANT IMPROVING

SHERMAN, Texas, July 4.—Judge David E. Bryant, who was quite painfully injured in a runaway accident some days ago, is able to sit up today and expects to be out in a few days. In fact, he expects to be in Dallas on the 7th to hold the final session of the May terms of federal court, which will be devoted to receiving accounts of the court's officers and attending to matters incident to winding up the business of the term.

MOVING TO FORT WORTH

SHERMAN, Texas, July 4.—Incident to the Frisco consolidation deal, arrangements are being made for the removal of all general offices of the St. Louis, Santa Fe and Texas, formerly maintained in this city, to Fort Worth, which will be done as soon as the consolidation is officially announced. These offices in the main are only perfunctory and while the removal carries with it a force of about five men, the segregation of all the Frisco's shops in Texas at this point brings a large force of men, materially increasing the monthly pay roll and vastly benefiting the city.

Evaporation of the Dead Sea is so great that it sensibly exceeds the influx of river water, including that of the Jordan. The sea, therefore, is slowly drying up.

IF NO ANSWER THEN ARMISTICE IS ENDED AND FIGHTING BEGINS

NEW YORK, July 5.—No Tibetian overtures were made Monday, says a dispatch from the London Times correspondent at Gyang Tse. The Tibetians were reported to be at work building on the rear face of the Jong.

If no answer is returned by today the armistice terminates and a signal given will announce the fact. Half an hour's further grace for the removal of the women and non-combatants will follow.

The Tibetian delegates held a long interview with the Tongsa Penlop, who is doing his utmost to further negotiations. Subsequently they retired to the Jong without visiting Colonel Young Husband in charge of the British expedition, but nothing can be certainly deduced from their action except that their minds are still undecided.

OFFICERS RAID A NEGRO QUARTER

Rioting Has Been Engaged in and After a Battle Many Arrests Are Made

MUSKOGEE, I. T., July 4.—Seven deputy marshals this morning made a drag at Tallehasse Mission, a few miles northeast of here, and landed nine negroes in the United States jail at this place. These negroes are some of those who have been rocking passenger trains and rioting at the little town and settlements around Muskogee. In making the capture this morning a battle was fought in which many shots were fired and one negro was brought in wounded and several got away.

ARGENTINE FLOUR HAS GOOD MARKET

NEW YORK, July 5.—The Argentina minister declared today, says a dispatch from the Herald correspondent at Rio Janeiro, Brazil, that Argentine flour will always have a good market in Brazil, even if the American article should enter free of duty. He said that Argentine flour is quoted at 18,000 reis for ninety kilos, while the American costs 24,000 or 26,000 reis for the same quantity. Bahia has imported since the beginning of the year about 80,000 more kilos of Argentina flour than of American.

The Rate Is Cut Below Ten Dollars and the Worst Classes of the Old World Continue to Pour Into This Country, Penniless and Friendless, and Unable to Earn

NEW YORK, July 5.—With the steerage rate cut between Liverpool and New York to $8.75 and with the warring steamship lines advertising the cut widely through Europe, the immigration bureau at Ellis island is fairly inundated with a horde of foreigners, many of whom will be deported, because they cannot comply with the immigration regulations.

A thousand or more steerage passengers laden each incoming ship, and tens of thousands are en route to this country. Not for years has there been such a rush.

Immigrants, who for any one of a number of reasons are deemed undesirable citizens, are detained at Ellis island until they can have a hearing. The vast majority of these are deported.

The little island in the bay, under the shadow of the statue of Liberty, is the scene of more life tragedies than probably of any other place of same proportions in the world. Nearly 2,000 unhappy men, women and children are detained there now. Sick, penniless or held because of their past sins, they stand on the very threshold of their fancied new world of gold, and face the humiliation of being returned to the distant land whence they fled for the shelter of American liberty.

The bureau is so crowded that even the roof is being utilized to relieve the congestion in other parts of the building. Government inspectors are loud in their condemnation of the steamship agents for accepting immigrants who obviously cannot pass our government's inspection.

In addition to the numerous cases of men and women inflicted with loathsome diseases, scores land almost penniless. Detained at the island now is a Pole, his wife and their seven children. They have no friends in the United tSates and have just 25 cents.

A woman with two babies was on her way to meet her husband at Assinaboia, in the Northwest Territory. She is held because she only had $2.10 with which to get there.

Recently 7,000 immigrants were landed at the barge office in a single day. This broke the record.

One of the immigration officials said: "The worst classes of Europe are pouring in upon us, and the situation is at a critical stage. While we haye no legal proof, we are certain that organized societies exist abroad whose work is to gather together paupers and delinquents and pay their passage here to get rid of them.

"The steamship agents are largely responsible for the conditions we have to struggle with. They are paid on a commission basis and they resort to all manner of means to induce foreigners, who have enough money to pay their passage, to adopt 'the land of gold.' It is no mistaken idea that half of the poor, ignorant aliens who fall into the clutches of these unfeeling agents, believe their stories that the streets of New York are paved with precious stones. If the rate war continues another month, the immigration bureau will be so overtaxed that we will have to use tents and charter steamers to house our charges."

The automobile case against Yvon Boye, the first case under the automobile ordinance recently passed by the city council, was called in the corporation court this morning, but passed for another week at the request of the city attorney. At that time additional witneses will be called, those present this morning being unable to state at what speed the machine was moving at the time of which complaint was made. Mr. Boye appeared in court in person prepared to answer the charge.

A long grist of cases was called in the court, no cases, however, coming up for trial.

MEETING OF CHIEFS

Chief of Police Rea is in Dallas today attending the meeting of the state chiefs of police, which convened in that city this morning. During the sessions the finger print system of identification, in which Chief Rea is a firm believer, will be thoroughly discussed and its adoption throughout the state in connection with the Bertillion system of measurements now in use is considered likely.

Rev. I. Z. T. Morris of this city is also attending the meeting and will endeavor to secure a recommendation of changes in the state laws governing the custody of children.

6HE WAS JOYFUL

An Irish woman, a little upset by too much Fourth of July celebration, caused quite a bit of excitement and amusement on lower Main street and in the Texas and Pacific station yesterday afternoon.

The old lady, for she was a stout, middle-aged woman, was feeling great, simply great. For one of her age she cut some remarkable monkey shines.

She at last became too desperate and while attempting to remove her clothes was arrested by Officer Thompson of the local force.

At the station her husband was notified and he came and took his jubilant wife home. She was released without a complaint being made against her.

COTTON SEED MEN HAVE A SESSION THIS MORNING

Second Day of the Tenth Annual Convention of the Association

It was 11 o'clock when the second days' session of Texas Cotton Seed Crushers' association was called to order this morning by President Maddin.

The attendance, from some cause or other, was very small, although the interest shown in the deliberations was none the less emphatic.

The president asked the delegates to take seats near the front in order that they might be nearer the speakers.

The first business of the session was a report of the auditing committee on the reports of the treasurer and secretary, showing them to be satisfactory for the short time in which reports have to be examined during the sessions of the association. The committee recommended that the accounts of the association be audited monthly in the future. The report showed that the receipts of the association were $7,781.70 and the disbursements $3,759.76.

The president announced the following as a committee to consider the controversy existing between the association and the firm of S. Samuels & Co., of Houston, which company has been expelled from the association: J. W. O'Neil of Clarksville, chairman; John Hamilton of Dallas, E. W. Taliferro of Houston, W. D. Keyser of Marlin and Pat Grogan of Hearne.

The Bonner Oil company and the Robert Scott Oil company of Houston and the Philips-Carey Oil company of Ohio were admitted to membership in the association.

Edward Woodall of Hillsboro suggested that the by-laws should be amended making the membership fee for both firms and mills $12.50 instead of $25, the present fee. The proposition was discussed at considerable length by members, some of whom favored the change while others opposed it.

J. W. Ellis of Ennis asked the indulgence of the convention to tell them of the necessity of exploiting the good results from the use of cotton seed hulls and meals, and he thought it would be a good idea to utilize the $4,000 now in the treasury of this association in circulating the good results from feeding cotton seed products. He said that the feeding of cotton seed meal to hogs has been denounced by some experimental stations ,which should not be the case, as hogs, properly fed on cotton products, will do well and prosper. Mr. Ellis said that he wanted the association to prosper. He said he wanted to see the time come when not a pound of cotton seed products would be exported from Texas, except as fatted cattle and hogs. He said the people of this country should know the good results to be derived from feeding cotton seed products, and that the association should disseminate the information.

Mr. Johnson of Mount Pleasant suggested that the Agricultural and Mechanical college should be asked to investigate the feeding of cotton seed meal and hulls to hogs.

It was moved and carried that Messrs. Allison, O'Neil and Heflin be named a committee to formulate a report and present it to the association on the feeding of cotton seed meal and hulls to hogs.

Edward Woodall of Hillsboro offered the following amendment to the constitution of the association, which carried:

"Regular' members shall be those actually engaged in the manufacture or refining of cotton seed oil products and dealers and brokers in cotton seed products, crude mills to pay an annual membership fee of . payable August 1 of each year, together with monthly dues, payable on the 1st of each month in advance of 25 cents per press brokers and dealers shall pay an annual membership fee of $12.50 payable August 1 of each year.

Refineries shall pay an annual membership fee of $12.50 payable on August 1 of each year on the first of each monthly dues, payable on the first of each month in advance of 50 cents for each 100 barrels of their refinery kettle capacity. The failure of refusal to pay dues for a period of thirty days after they are due, shall constitute a lapse of membership. Only regular members shall have the power to vote. Contributory members shall be reputable firms or persons engaged in the manufacture or sale of oil mill machinery, supplies or appliances or the insurance of oil mills shall have no power to vote, and shall pay an annual membership on the first of each August of $10.

It was suggested by F. H. Bailey that the association should have a representative at Austin during the legislative sessions in order that the best interests of the members might be looked after.

The morning session was concluded with an address from Vice President Hamilton of the interstate association.

CITY WILL TRY TO AMEND CHARTER TO PAVE

Tomorrow Is the Anniversary of the Houston Street Paving Contract

Tomorrow will mark the first anniversary of the paving policy of the city. On July 6, 1903, the contract for the paving of Houston street from end to end was let by the city. This work was officially declared completed over a month ago by the city engineer and the work accepted by the city council.

This, with the paving already done in the city, formed a nucleus of paved streets in the business section of the city, which it is proposed to add to by the paving of all cross streets from the court house to the Texas and Pacific depot between Rusk and Throckmorton streets. As announced in The Telegram the city attorney was instructed to prepare an opinion as to the power of the city to assess abutting property owners for street paving under the recent decision of the courts in the Kettle case. This he decided could not be done under the city charter as now worded and an amendment to the charter which would give the city such power was advised.

With this end in view, Mayor Powell stated this morning that an amendment to the charter will be sought at the next session of the legislature. Amendments will also be asked to enable the city to make needed school improvements and take up a number of other matters deemed necessary for the welfare of the city The legislature will convene next January and allowing a month for the passage of the measure through the regular channel of committees and before the legislature, it is thought the revised charter will be in operation by next February.

The asking of amendments is sure. The action of the legislature in regard thereto is problematical.

SOUTH BOSQUE OIL FIELD

WACO, Texas, July 5.—Several representatives of well drilling outfitters have been in Waco and South Bosque for the past day or two. This is taken as one of the most significant developments of the feeling outside as to the field at South Bosque, as investigations were made by these parties before the men were sent here. Matters are fast taking shape for active development work, and definite announcement of some deals will be made in a week or ten days.

Market Quotations

NORTH FORT WORTH, July 5.—The trade on cattle today was of a very unsatisfactory nature. Receipts, considering the first market day of the week, were light and, with forty-eight cars in the pens, part of which were going through, and with very few reported, total receipts were estimated at 1,800.

The proportion of decent to good steers was light, on which the movement and demand was much the best. This class was the first to move and prices were fully as high as the closing day of last week. Trade on the common and medium steers continued slow all day and very uneven prices were obtained. It was a hard matter to get buyers, and, while some sales were steady, others showed a weakness, and in cases, 10 to 20c lower than last week. Two loads of heavy fed fat steers, averaging 1,348 and 1,317 pounds, topped the market today at $4.30, with the bulk of sales at a range of from $3 to $3.50.

The supply of cows was moderate and of fairly good quality. The general market was dull and draggy. Prices were very uneven and it was not so much a question of their worth as it was to get a buyer for them. Opening bids were lower and when cattle started to change hands the general trade ruled steady to 10c lower.

Bulls were scarce and all grades ruled steady.

The veal market was strong. There was a good demand from packers and the moderate receipts were taken freely on a steady to strong basis, the best averaging around 200 pounds and selling at $5.75.

Receipts of hogs were light. Seven cars were shipped in and receipts figured around 550 head. The quality was fairly good, and, with an active demand from both packers, the general trade ruled strong to 5c higher compared with the close of last week. One load, averaging 231 pounds, topped the market at $5.30, with the bulk of sales at a range of from $5.10@5.25.

Sheep receipts were quite liberal, figuring about 1,000 head. The supply showed fairly good flesh and trading ruled steady.

A FINE REPORT

We are in receipt of the seventh annual report of the National Live Stock Association, through the courtesy of its secretary, C. F. Martin. The report of the year's work shows that the officers of this great organization have been very busy men in the interest of the industry, and all their acts were heartily indorsed by the membership. Great advances have been made in protecting the industry from measures and persons who have sought to put a burden upon it, and by united effort before state and federal law-making bodies the association is recognized as representing something to which heed must be given.

The report of the seventh annual convention of the association held at Portland, Ore., last January, shows the occasion to have been about the most notable in the history of the organization. Space will not permit going into detail, but an idea of the rare occasion can be gleaned from the remarks of the newly-elected president, Hon. Frank J. Hagenbarth, of Utah, when he assumed the chair. He said: "You have been listening to a galaxy of splendid orators and profound thinkers. You have heard the flow of Simpson's matchless wit, beneath the foam of which gleams the good gold of truth; the lucid logic and fearless facts of a Nichols, a Stubbs, and a Brooks; the brain and brevity of a Cohen; the pungent and pertinent paragraphs of an Andrews; the insiduous and incautious legal sophisms of a Judge Cotton; the winsome ways and words of a Pinchot and a Newell; the sarcastic sharpnel and ironical innuendoes of a Governor Wells, and, finally, you have listened to that peer of orators and prince of good fellows, our president, ever our president, the only Springer."

The book is handsomely printed and bound, and contains the portraits of several score of stockmen closely identified with the work of the organization.

The report is furnished free to members. Others can secure a copy by sending 25 cents to Secretary C. F. Martin, Denver, Col.

SMALL FIRE AT WORLD'S FAIR

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 5.—Fire broke out at 2:20 o'clock this morning in the kitchen of the American cafe in the Jerusalem concession at the World's fair grounds and for more than an hour threatened Festival Hall, the West pavilion and the whole Jerusalem exhibit. After considerable excitement among the Turks, Arabs and other oriental peoples who were asleep when the fire broke out, it was gotten under control. The American cafe, which is in two wings and elaborately furnished, was gutted in both wings. The loss is estimated at $15,000.

A HUNDRED THOUSAND LOSS

CORRINA, Maine, July 5.—A fire, started by Fourth of July explosions, caused a loss of $100,000 here, and nine buildings were destroyed, including two general stores and a grist mill. The town has no fire protection.

BEST PHYSICIANS ONLY CAN PASS IN TERRITORY

ARDMORE, I. T., July 5.—The medical examining board of the southern district held its first meeting here yesterday and today. A large number of physicians were present to make application for certificates entitling them to practice medicine in the Indian Territory. This is the first law the territory has ever had that served to regulate the practice of medicine and surgery in this county. In 1902 the Chickasaw legislature passed a bill designed for the same purpose but the law was so odious in some of its provisions and the manner of executing it so crude that the nation never proceeded further than merely to appoint the examining board. The present medical law was enacted by the federal congress and its provisions will be enforced.

Physicians who have certificates of graduation from reputable schools of medicine will be allowed to practice by filing their diplomas for record and by the payment of a fee of $1.

Practicing physicians who do not hold such diplomas must submit to a rigid practical and technical examination for certificates. It is asserted by some that 90 per cent of the applicants will fail to pass successful examinations. Six months from the passage of the act are allowed before examination is required and many physicians will use the entire time until October. At this time they will either enter school or abandon the practice and enter other lines of endeavor. If the bill works the revolution that some of the best informed physicians think there will be a demand here for physicians from the best schools of medicine.

Male births this month exceeded the females more than two to one, there being 99 of the former and 46 of the latter. Two sets of twins were reported and there were eleven births to colored parents. Of the deaths reported twenty were males and twenty-seven females.

There Are Not as Many Dead as a Result of Celebrations, as Usual

CHICAGO, July 5.—The Tribune today publishes a partial list of casualties resulting from Fourth of July celebrations all over the country. The list gives the total number of dead as twenty-five; injured 1,384, and a property loss of $177,800.

A year ago the accidents reported on the night of July 4 were 48 dead and 3,431 injured. In twenty-four hours the total had jumped to fifty-two dead and 3,665 injured.

In Chicago this year's victims reported early today numbered one dead and eighty-two injured. Chicago's figures a year ago today were two dead and 117 injured.

Throughout the country the fire losses were generally smaller than in former years.

In Chicago 115 alarms were sent in during the twenty-four hours, fourteen more than last year. The losses were small.

LOST BOTH LEGS

WACO, Texas, July 5.—Deputy Sheriff Lee Davis yesterday afternoon received a telephone message from Drs. A. C. Wiley of West and Wills of Leroy that a man whose name was thought to be Scott Jackson had been run over by a train on the International and Great Northern at Leroy and both legs mangled so that they were amputated above the knee. It is thought that his wife lives in Lott, which is in Falls county on the Sap railway.

It was later learned that his name is Walter A. Scott. He lived near West station in this county and was trying to board a freight train.

KILLS HIS NEPHEW

PATERSON, N. J., July 5.—Aaron Vandebrink, 8 years old, was accidentally killed by his aunt, Mrs. Harry De Marest, who was celebrating the Fourth. She was firing a revolver from a window in her house and one of the bullets struck her nephew, who was standing on the sidewalk. Mrs. De Marest was arrested.

THE FOURTH AT PANAMA

PANAMA, July 5.—The Fourth of July was celebrated from Panama to Colon, but principally at Culebra and other points on the line, where the marines had a great time.

The assembly, in honor of the day, decided to transact no business and sent congratulations to President Roosevelt and visited the American legation.

PREMATURELY CATCH FIRE

TACOMA, Wash., July 5.—Fireworks which were to have been set off in Wright Park last night as a finish to the big Fourth of July celebration, caught fire from almost the first rocket that was sent up and in an instant the entire heap of explosives were flying in every direction. About four dozen eight-pound rockets flew through an audience of 30,000 people creating a panic in which many were injured. Others were struck by flying explosives and it is estimated as many as fifty were injured, including one fatally.

MORMONS LOCATE DOWN IN MEXICO

DENISON, Texas, July 4.—Coadjutor Gleason of the Mormon church was here yesterday en route to Mexico.

He states that the church will soon acquire 100,000 acres in Mexico. The concessions will embody some of the finest timber belts in the world. The timber alone will eventually pay for the land. Minerals are plenty, but they are opposed to mining as it attracts the attention of the outside world too much. The Mormon settlement in Mexico is about 6,000 strong. There are no Mexican Mormons, the recruits, the most steadfast in the faith, are English. The Mormon church will have two hierarchy, Salt Lake and Mexico. The Mormon church in Salt Lake valley is always growing. It is a common fact that a Mormon never backslides. The railways, banks, in fact all industrial agents in Salt Lake are controlled by Mormon. The seat of empire of the Mormon church will eventually be Mexico. There is one great danger that after the death of Diaz the Mexican Republic may relapse into a chronic state of revolution like all Latin republics.

HOMER T. WILSON GOES TO EUREKA

Rev. Homer T. Wilson of San Antonio reached this city last evening en route to Eureka Springs, Ark., to take charge of the Chantauqua which begins its sessions next Saturday.

Accompanied by his brother, B. F. Wilson and family of Brownwood, and Mrs. Mary Brown and three daughters of the same place, he left today over the Frisco for Eureka Springs.

Dr. Wilson says that quite a large number of people from South Texas, especially San Antonio, will spend their summer vacation at Eureka Springs. Heretofore they have gone to the mountains or the northern lakes.

At the conclusion of the Chantauqua session Dr. and Mrs. Wilson will chaperon a large party to the St. Louis exposition where they will remain two weeks.

From St. Louis Dr. Wilson will take charge of Chantauquas at Alerton and Washington, Iowa.

WEATHER CONDITIONS

The eastern and the southeastern states are under the influence of high pressure conditions. Low pressure conditions prevail over Utah, Western Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico.

The eastern half of the country is generally clear except in the lower Mississippi valley, where the conditions are cloudy. The southern states have had no showery conditions for the past twenty-four hours. The heaviest rainfall is reported from Memphis. Thunder storms occurred at Memphis, Corpus Christi, Omaha, Kansas City, North Platte and at Cairo. Palestine, Texas, has foggy conditions. Rain was falling at 7 o'clock this morning at Kansas City Omaha and Huron.

NEARLY TEN THOUSAND WENT TO LAKE ERIE

Traction Company Handled Immense Crowd During the Entire Day Without an Accident—Many Inconvenienced, But This Was to Have Been Expected—Congestion Prevented Regular Schedule Being Followed—Double Track Needed—Too Many People on Grounds to Expect the Company to Furnish Ice Water

The Northern Texas Traction company was called on last night and yesterday afternoon to handle the largest crowd which has ever been known on the line since the stablishment of Lake Erie as a Fort Worth resort, and from noon yesterday until late last night there were nearly 10,000 passengers on the line.

The crowd started about noon. Cars were run every half hour, according to a schedule arranged, the plan being to run a motor car through to Dallas on the even hour carrying passengers to Handley as well, and to have this motor car followed by a motor car and two trailers which would go only as far as Handley. Then on the half hour a motor and two trailers would make the trip to Handley. Soon the traffic became so heavy and there being so many stops made to pick up people, that the schedule became disarranged. The motormen got the cars over the line as fast as he could, making every switch between here and Handley count. The cars were crowded to the rails. There was not room for one more on many of them, and women and men crowded into the motor cars and trailers like sardines in a box.

At Lake Erie there were hundreds of picnic parties during the afternoon and evening. Swan made his high dive and there was a public dance during the afternoon. At night there was the high dive into a sea of fire, and a public dance and fireworks.

THE DELAYS EXPLAINED

At 7:45 o'clock a trolley wire went down on the line between here and Handley. This put the line out of business for a few minutes. The damage was repaired, and a number of cars were then stopped at the car barn on East Front street, and they were held there by the dispatcher for more than an hour, while cars from Handley were allowed to come in. These cars from Handley were crowded. The matter of the delay was reported to General Manager Haines, and his explanation put a new light on the situation. He explains that the crowd at Handley and Lake Erie was greater than the company had even anticipated and there were hundreds clamoring to return to Fort Worth, and he believed it was wise to relieve the congestion at Lake Erie as much as possible by getting out of there all who could be transported before several hundred more were taken into the place. While it caused delay to those who wanted to go to Handley, it was more to their comfort to relieve conditions at the resort. He stated further that those who bought tickets to Lake Erie and then found the conditions so congested were given their money back on presentation of the tickets at the office of the company. The company also told those who bought tickets that cars were crowded and the park was crowded. To accommodate those who were coming and going between Lake Erie and Fort Worth the Dallas schedule was abandoned after 9 o'clock and the rolling stock was utilized between the city and the resort.

MIGHT HAVE BEEN SERIOUS

An accident was narrowly averted on East Front street by a switch engine bearing down upon the trac kof the Traction company as a motor and two trailers was coming to the city. There is no interlocking plant to warn, when the track of the Traction company and the railroad are being used at the same time and the railroad locomotive appears to think it has the entire right of way at the crossings. It has been noticed on several occasions that the switching of cars appears to be of more importance to the railroad men than the comfort of those who are passengers on the city car lines and the Interurban, and by the rule of might makes right the switch engine often blocks the track. However, the motorman succeeded in backing out of the way last night. The train and the electric cars were both moving slowly.

AS TO THE ICE WATER

Some complaint has been made that water is charged for at the park. Manager C. A. Taylor of the Lake Erie Amusement company was asked about this. He said: "We always charge for ice water at the park. Thousands of people visit the park every week, and if we were to undertake to furnish ice water free for all of them, we would have to establish a factory. We have refreshment stands there, and it costs a great deal to maintain the park. Picnic parties get ice water from us when they come or they bring their own ice with them. This is understood, and it is customary at all public places for crowds to furnish their own ice. Water is free at the park, but not ice water. Even had it been customary to furnish free ice water we couldn't have done so yesterday, as the crowd was too large."

The crowd yesterday demonstrates that a double track between this city and Handley is needed on the line of the Traction company and it is very probable Manager Haines will make a request on the company to allow this. As it was the immense crowd yesterday and last night was handled without an accident. There are just so many sidetracks between this city and Handley and every one was used last night.

Many patrons of the road have been complaining today of the service. The Telegram has been importuned to "roast" the service and the company. The Telegram has never waited to be asked to "find fault" when there was occasion for fault finding. In this case an unprecedented and unexpected number of people were wanting a service that the company could not give. In the afternoon and night hours probably every purchaser of a ticket knew that he ran a big chance of not getting on a car. When the congestion got so great the company agents took pains to inform the people that they could accommodate no more people. How many people paid any attention to these warnings? When a man or woman has a holiday on hand and makes up a mind to go to Lake Erie, the fact that 7,000 people are already there with transportation facilities limited to get back will only cause a survey of the situation as something akin to a big joke and no argument under the sun will keep the picnicker at home. So it was yesterday. A reporter heard a group of people standing at the corner of Houston and Weatherford making remarks about the crowd that was going to Lake Erie. "If we can ever get out there," said one, "I don't care what time I get back." And that was pretty much the general sentiment of others who insisted on climbing into cars already loaded down to the coupling pin. It ought to be a matter of extreme congratulation that the Traction company handled this great crowd without killing or maiming half a dozen. It certainly is better to handle a crowd like that of yesterday with some delay than to have had to give quicker service and keep one or two hospital trains ready.

DAMAGE SUIT INDUSTRY

In the ninth annual report of the Texas railroad commission, that for the year 1900, there appears the following strong and expressive language:

"We think it proper to make some reference to a matter which comes to our knowledge through the sworn reports of the railroad companies to the railroad commission, showing the amounts of damages paid by the railroad companies of this state, through the judgments of the courts and otherwise, for personal injuries to their employes and others for the several years ending June 30, from 1891 to 1900, inclusive."

Here follows a table of the amounts, showing how the "damage suit industry's" cost grew from $223,749.92 in 1891 to $1,018,637.80 in 1900.

The report continues: "From this it will be seen that from 1891 to 1899, both included, there was a gradual increase in the amount of such damages paid from one year to another, with one slight exception. But for the year 1900 the increase is noticeable and extraordinary, being $362,898.35, or a little over 55 per cent greater for such damages than during the preceding year ending June 30,1899. While there is no official information showing the cause of this great increase, it is understood in a general way that it probably results, in a large degree, from the activities of regularly organized personal injury bureaus. The only direct interest which this commission has in this question grows out of the fact that, as the amount of these payments is increased, the available revenues of the railroad companies are reduced, thus necessarily operating, to that extent, to prevent the reduction of freight rates, or it might be, to cause an increase of them."

The above words it has been learned, were written by Judge John H. Reagan, then the chairman of the railroad commission, and Commissioners L. J. Story and Allison Mayfield joined in the opinion of Chairman Reagan..

A few days ago and in response to a personal letter asking the commissioners for their opinion of the effects of the "damage suit industry" on the railroads of the state, Judge Storey, who succeeded Judge Reagan as the commissioners' chairman, sent a marked copy of the annual report from which the statement given above is quoted.

From this it may be seen that Commissioner Storey views the matter under consideration just as he and Judge Reagan and Mr. Mayfield did four years ago. Nor was there much doubt of the opinion Chairman Storey would take. The "bureaus" whose activities called forth a sharp and indignant protest from the commission four years ago so increased those "activities" from 1900 to the end of the fiscal year, 1903, as to nearly double their cost to the railroads of the state. Chairman Reagan and his fellow commissioners thought an increase of personal injury claims amounting to $362,898.35 "noticeable and extraordinary." Yet, colossal as these figures seem, the record for each of the three years from 1901 to 1903, inclusive, is nearly as distressing. In fact, the increase for 1901, the very year in which the commissions' protest was issued amounted to the amazing sum of $439,335.23. The $1,018,637.80, paid out in personal injury claims by Texas railroads in 1900 attained to the gigantic growth of $1,940,551.41 in 1903, an average increase for each of the years indicated of $307,804.40.

And the end has not come. The "bureaus" referred to by Judge Reagan are as active as ever and the industry still thrives. It is said to be small wonder that railroad commissioners and all other thinking citizens should feel alarmed at the possible coming of a condition that would absolutely justify the railroad companies in requesting an increase in all freight rates. It is not strange that these men should regret the present existence of conditions that prohibit a reduction of rates. The "personal injury bureaus" menace the welfare of every shipper and every consumer. They are doing a positive injury to all Texas. The barratry law does not appear to have had a good effect on the subject as it was intended.

The Fort Worth, Texas, Telegram of May 8 was a special "house warming edition," showing on the cover the "house" The Telegram folks "warmed." Judging from the paper of that date there must have been a hot time at the aforesaid warming. Although Mr. C. D. Reimers has published The Telegram but two years, he has built up a great newspaper. The special presents views of the office and the faces of the people who make The Telegram. The equipment and the force are adequate for the splendid showing made. Nothing succeeds like success, and somehow Reimers knows how to inject success into his undertakings.

AIM LOW

The young man is told to aim high. That is all right. One must have ideals. But when it comes to execution, do as the commander in battle tells his soldiers to do—aim low.

Aim at men's hearts.

If you aim at men's heads they may dodge. Or, if you should hit the head, it is surrounded by a bony structure that is hard to penetrate. The heart is more vulnerable.

Mr. Preacher:

Aim low. Aim at men's hearts. If you attack their heads they will argue with you till the cows come home. Orthodoxy may be your doxy and Hetrodoxy their doxy. But if you preach the simple gospel to them you must aim low. The gospel is a heart message.

Mr. Editor:

Aim low. If you want your editorials to be read by the people and not simply by the intellectual few, aim at the heart. It doesn't matter so much what the people believe about politics as that they be honest and true. If they love justice and righteousness they will "wobble right." Your duty is ethical.

Mr. Artist:

Aim low. Tolstoi's definition of art is true. True art is the message from the heart of the artist to the heart of the people. That is true whether the art is music, or oratory, or poetry, or painting, or literature. The things that move and thrill and sway—the heart-trobbing things—are the ones that live. If you aim at the head the critic will get you. If you aim at the heart you can snap your fingers at the critic.

Mr. Man and Mrs. Woman:

Aim low. Keep husband's and wife's hearts warm toward each other. That is the only way to make the home safe. Get a string around the hearts of your children. It is the only string that will hold. In the home, aim low.

The head is all right when it is all right.

But out of the heart are the issues of life.

Aim low.

The benefit ball to be given by the Police Benevolent Association for C. W. Newby deserves the patronage of everyone in Fort Worth. Mr. Newby has been sick for four months and has a family to support. He is no seeker of charity, but he has been playing in very bad luck, and a little help will be very welcome to him, coming as it will from those who have long known him as a good friend and a good citizen, who always has been quick to serve another.

The treasury department of Mexico has just issued a report showing exports and imports for the first nine months of the current year 1903-4, from July, 1903, to March, 1904. It shows the total importations to be $57,463,935.38 as compared with $56,365,319.99 the same preceding period. This reduced to Mexican silver is $130,444,415.68. The exports were: Gold, $8,089,343.38; total silver, $62,856,558.95; other metals, $21,887,626.36; sundry exports, $55,333,069.12. The total exports were $148,166,597.81. The exports in the corresponding fiscal year 1902-03, $141,879,414.81, showing an increase of $6,287,183 in the current year. The exports in Mexican currency for the nine months of 1903-04, $158,406,511.34; for the same period in 1902-03, $152,768,778.30, an increase of 3.69 per cent.

From a private source it is learned here that Ambassador Powell Clayton, who represents the interests of the United States in Mexico, has finally decided to retire from public life at the end of President Roosevelt's present administration. The information is given out that it is Mr. Clayton's intention to not accept any public office in the future. He has been ambassador in Mexico nearly eight years. Mr. Clayton states that when he retires he will take up his residence at his old home in Eureka Springs, Ark. His retirement is induced on account of his age, which is 71 years. Mr. Clayton attended the national convention at Chicago and has just reached the City of Mexico.

Since Judge Parker's picture has been taken with his grandchild in his arms, the public can heave a sigh of resignation and prepare for another Baby McKee-Kermit-Baby Ruth regime.

Dowie's stop at Chicago was without incident. He merely called a few reporters "stink pots" and expressed his inclination to return instantly to that dear Zion City, Ill., without delay.

Judge Harmon might make a good harmony candidate for the St. Louis convention to fix upon.

Is the Stevenson that is being talked of as a "compromise" candidate our old friend Adlai?

The man recovered, but that was no palliation of the offense to the mind of a hot eyed young man from the east who was besieging the county authorities for redress and writing brimstone and saltpeter for his paper. The powers of the county proving either lackadaisical or timorous, he appealed to those of the state, and he went every night to sleep at a farmhouse the owner of which had received a warning from the White Caps, and one night it befell that he was rewarded, for the raiders attempted an entrance. He and the farmer and the farmer's sons beat off the marauders and did a satisfactory amount of damage in return. Two of the White Caps they captured and bound, and others they recognized. Then the state authorities hearkened to the voice of the Herald and its owner. There were arrests, and in the course of time there was a trial. Every prisoner proved an alibi—could have proved a dozen—but the editor of the Herald, after virtually conducting the prosecution, went upon the stand and swore to man after man. Eight men went to the penitentiary on his evidence, five of them for twenty years. The Plattville brass band serenaded the editor of the Herald again.

There were no more raids, and the Six Crossroads men who were left kept to their hovels, appalled and shaken, but as time went by and left them unmolested they recovered a measure of their hardiness and began to think on what they should do to the man who had brought misfortune and terror upon them. For a long time he had been publishing their threatening letters and warnings in a column which he headed "Humor of the Day."

When the Briscoe buckboard had left the Crossroads far behind and had come in sight of Plattville Mr. Briscoe's visitor turned to Fisbee with a repetition of the shiver that the laughter of Mr. Skillett had caused her and said half under her breath, "I wish—I half wish—that we had not driven through there." She clasped Mr. Fisbee's hand gently. His eyes shone. He touched her fingers with a strange, shy reverence.

"You will meet him tomorrow," he said softly.

She laughed and pressed his hand. "I'm afraid not. I was almost at his side last night when Minnie asked him to call on me. He wasn't even interested enough to look at me."

* * * * * * *

Something over two hours later, as Mr. Tom Martin was putting things to rights in his domain, the Dry Goods Emporium, previous to his departure for the evening's gossip and checkers at the drug store, he stumbled over something soft lying on the floor behind a counter. The thing rose and would have evaded him, but he put out his hands and pinioned it and dragged it to the show window, where the light of the fading day defined his capture. The capture shrieked and squirmed and fought earnestly. Grasped by the shoulder, he held a lean, fierce eyed, undersized girl of fourteen clad in one ragged cotton garment, unless the coat of dust she wore over all might be esteemed another. Her cheeks were sallow, and her brow was already shrewdly lined, and her eyes were as hypocritical as they were savage. She was very thin and little, but old Tom's brown face grew a shade nearer white when the light fell upon her.

"You're no Plattville girl," he said sharply.

"You lie!" cried the child. "You lie! I am! You leave me go, will you? I'm lookin' fer pap, and you're a liar!"

"You crawled in here to sleep after your seven mile walk, didn't you?" Martin went on.

"You're a liar!" she screamed.

"Look here," said Martin slowly, "you go back to Six Crossroads and tell your folks that if anything happens to a hair of Mr. Harkless' head every shanty in your town will burn, and your grandfather, and your father, and your uncles, and your brothers, and your cousins, and your second cousins, and your third cousins will never have the good luck to see the penitentiary. Reckon you can remember that message? But before I let you go to carry it I guess you might as well hand out the paper they sent you over here with."

His prisoner fell into a paroxysm of rage.

"I'll git pap to kill ye!" she shrieked, striking at him. "I don't know nothin' 'bout yer Six Crossroads, ner no papers, ner yer Mr. Harkels neither, ner you, ye razorbacked ole devil. Pap 'll kill ye! Leave me go! Leave me go! Pap 'll kill ye! I'll git him to kill ye!" Suddenly her struggles ceased, her eyes closed, her tense little muscles relaxed, and she drooped toward the floor. The old man shifted his grip to support her, and in an instant she twisted out of his hands and sprang out of reach, her eyes shining with triumph and venom.

"Yabay, Mr. Razorback!" she shrilled. "How's that fer high? Pap 'll kill ye Sunday! Ye'll be screechin' in hell in a week, an' we 'ull set up an' drink our applejack an' laff!"

Martin pursued her lumberingly, but she was agile as a monkey and ran dodging up and down the counters and mocked him, singing, "Gran'mammy, Tipsy Toe." At last she tired of the game and darted out of the door, flinging back a hoarse laugh at him as she went. He followed, but when he reached the street she was a mere shadow flitting under the courthouse trees. He looked after her forebodingly, then turned his eyes toward the Palace hotel on the corner. The editor of the

"I'll git pap to kill ye!"

Herald was seated under the wooden awning, with his chair tilted back against a post, gazing dreamily at the murky red afterglow in the west.

"What's the use of tryin' to bother him with it?" old Tom asked himself. "He'd only laugh." He noted that young William Todd, the drug, book and wall paper clerk, sat near the editor, whittling absently. Martin chuckled. "William's turn tonight," he murmured. "Well, the boys 'll take care of him." He locked the doors of the Emporium, tried them and dropped the keys in his pocket.

As he crossed the square to the drug store, where his cronies awaited him, he turned again to look at the figure of the musing journalist. "He ought to go out there," he said and shook his head sadly. "I don't reckon Plattville's any too spry for that young man. Five years he's be'n here. Well, it's a good thing for us, but I guess it ain't exactly high life for him." He kicked a stick out of his way impatiently. "Now, where'd that imp run to?" he grumbled.

The imp was lying under the courthouse steps. When the sound of Martin's footsteps had passed away she crept cautiously from her hiding place and stole through the ungroomed grass to the fence opposite the hotel. Here she stretched herself flat in the weeds and took from the tangled masses of her hair, where it was tied with a string, a rolled up, crumpled slip of greasy paper. With this in her fingers she lay peering under the fence, her fierce eyes fixed unwinkingly on the editor of the Herald.

The street ran flat and gray in the slowly gathering dusk straight to the western horizon, where the sunset embers were strewn in long, glowing, dark red streaks. The maple trees were clean cut silhouettes against the pale rose and pearl tints of the sky above, and a tenderness seemed to shimmer in the air. The editor often vowed to himself he would watch no more sunsets in Plattville. He thought they were making him morbid. Could he have shared them it would have been different.

His long, melancholy face grew longer and more melancholy in the twilight, while William Todd patiently whittled near by. Plattville had often discussed the editor's habit of silence, and possibly the reason Mr. Harkless was such a quiet man was that there was nobody for him to talk to; but his hearers did not agree, for the population of Carlow county was a thing of pride, being greater than that of several bordering counties.

A bent figure came slowly down the street, and William Todd hailed it cheerfully. "Evening, Mr. Fisbee."

"A good evening, Mr. Todd," answered the old man, pausing. "Ah, Mr. Harkless, I was looking for you." He had not seemed to be looking for anything beyond the boundaries of his own dreams, but he approached Harkless, tugging nervously at some papers in his pocket. "I have completed my notes for our Saturday edition. It was quite easy, sir. There is much doing."

"Thank you, Mr. Fisbee," said Harkless as he took the manuscript. "Have you finished your paper on the earlier Christian symbolism? I hope the Herald may have the honor of printing it." This was a form they used.

"I shall be the recipient of honor, sir," returned Fisbee. "Your kind offer will speed my work; but I fear, Mr. Harkless, I very much fear, that your kindness alone prompts it, for, deeply as I desire it, I cannot truthfully say that my essays appear to increase our circulation." He made an odd, troubled gesture as he went on: "They do not seem to read them here, although Mr. Martin assures me that he carefully reperuses my article on Chaldean decoration whenever he rearranges his exhibition [illegible]" He nodded on a few paces, then turned irresolutely.

"What is it, Fisbee?" asked Harkless.

Fisbee stood for a moment as though about to speak; then he smiled faintly, shook his head and went his way. Harkless waved his hand to him in farewell and, drawing a pencil and a pad from his pocket, proceeded to injure his eyes in the waning twilight by the editorial perusal of the items his staff had just left in his hands. He glanced over them meditatively, making alterations here and there.

The last one Fisbee had written as follows:

Miss Sherwood of Rouen, whom Miss Briscoe knew at the Misses Jennings' finishing school in New York, is a guest of Judge Briscoe's household.

Fisbee's items were written in ink. There was a blank space beneath the last. At the bottom of the page something had been scribbled in pencil. Harkless vainly tried to decipher it; but the twilight had fallen too deep, and the writing was too faint, so he struck a match and held it close to the paper. The action betokened only a languid interest. But when he caught sight of the first of the four subscribed lines he sat up straight in his chair, with a sharp ejaculation. At the bottom of Fisbee's page was written in a dainty feminine hand of a type he had not seen for years:

"The time has come," the walrus said,
"To talk of many things—
Of shoes and ships and sealing wax
And cabbages and kings."

He put the paper in his pocket and set off rapidly down the village street. At his departure William Todd looked up quickly. Then he got upon his feet, with a yawn, and quietly followed the editor. In the dusk a tattered little figure rose up from the weeds across the way and stole noiselessly after William. He was in his shirt sleeves, his waistcoat unbuttoned and loose. On the nearest corner Mr. Todd encountered a fellow townsman who had been pacing up and down in front of a cottage crooning to a protestive baby held in his arms. He had paused in his vigil to stare after Harkless.

"Where's he bound fer, William?" inquired the man with the baby.

"Briscoes'," answered William, pursuing his way.

"I reckoned he would be," observed the other, turning to his wife, who sat on the doorstep. "I reckoned so when I see that lady at the lecture last night."

The woman rose to her feet. "Hi, Bill Todd!" she said. "What ye got on to the back of yer vest?" William paused, put his hand behind him and encountered a paper pinned to the dangling strap of his waistcoat. The woman ran to him and unpinned the paper. It bore a writing. They took it to where the yellow lamplight shone out through the open door and read:

der Sir—FoLer harkls aL yo ples an gaRd him yoR best venagens is closteR harkls not Got 3 das to live we come in wite.

"What ye think, William?" asked the man with the baby anxiously. But the woman gave the youth a sharp push with her hand. "They never dast to do it!" she cried; "never in the world! You hurry, Bill Todd. Don't leave him out of your sight one second."

CHAPTER III.

THE street upon which the Palace hotel fronted formed the south side of the square and ran west to the edge of the town, where it turned to the south for a quarter of a mile or more, then bent to the west again. Some distance from this second turn there stood, fronting close on the road, a large brick house, the most pretentious mansion in Carlow county. And yet it was a homelike place, with its red brick walls embowered in masses of cool Virginia creeper and a comfortable veranda crossing the broad front, while half a hundred stalwart sentinels of elm and beech and poplar stood guard around it. The front walk was bordered by geraniums and hollyhocks, and honeysuckle climbed the pillars of the porch. Behind the house there was a shady little orchard, and back of the orchard an old fashioned, very fragrant rose garden, divided by a long grape arbor, extended to the shallow waters of a wandering creek, and on the bank a rustic seat was placed beneath the sycamores.

From the first bend of the road, where it left the town and became

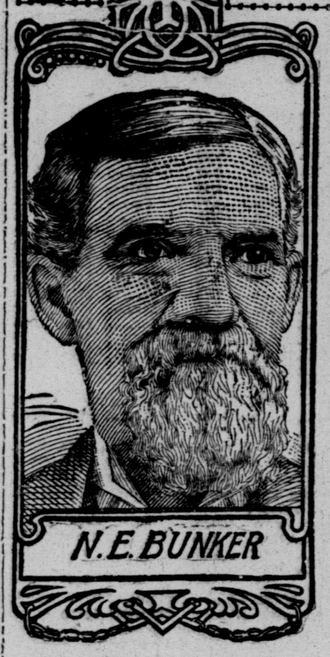
SUFFERED NINE YEARS WITH CATARRH OF THE STOMACH. PE-RU-NA CURED.



Mr. N. E. Bunker, Newton, Cal., writes:

"For nine years I was sick with chronic catarrh of the stomach, could scarcely eat enough to keep me alive. Hardly had a natural taste in my mouth the whole time. I took all sorts of treatment, but without any benefit, and the doctors said it was only a question of time when I would succumb to the disease. By accident I commenced taking Peruna. After three months' treatment I was completely cured. I could eat anything I wanted, and always felt well afterward.

"I have recommended this wonderful medicine to many of my friends and will always be glad to speak a good word for Peruna, as it did so much for me."—N. E. Bunker.

Dyspepsia Cured by Pe-ru-na.

Miss Amanda Moore, Marshall, Tex., writes:

"I have suffered for several years past with acute dyspepsia and after trying several remedies without any help, decided that it was my fate to suffer through this life. Last winter I took Peruna for severe catarrh, the effects of a cold, and you can imagine my joy when I found that this wonderful remedy not only cured my catarrh but helped my dyspepsia.

"I took three bottles and found myself well and strong. I can now eat heartily and have gained twelve pounds and have good reason to praise Peruna."—Miss Amanda Moore.

A Rear-Admiral's Praise for Pe-ru-na.

Mr. Philip Hichborn, Rear-Admiral U. S. Navy, Washington, D. C., Supervisor of the building of the leading battleships of the Navy, in a recent letter says:

"After the use of your Peruna for a short period, I can now cheerfully recommend your valuable remedy to any one who is in need of an invigorating tonic."—Philip Hichborn.

Our files contain hundreds of testimonials similar to the above, from men who are prominent in national affairs.

Use Pe-ru-na for the Catarrhal Diseases of Summer.

The diseases most common in summer are those of the stomach, bowels and other pelvic organs. A remedy that cures all the catarrhal derangements of these organs should certainly be considered a household necessity during this season. Peruna is this very remedy. A book of testimonials, containing hundreds of cures, sent free to any address.

Thousands of people have catarrh of the stomach, or bowels, or other pelvic organs so prevalent in summer, and do not know it.

We have thousands of testimonials like that of Mr. Bunker touching the merits of Peruna as a remedy for all catarrhal diseases.

RAILROAD NEWS

D. J. Haff, general counsel for the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient Railroad Company, is in Mexico looking after the interests of his company, chief of which will be the collection of the subsidy of $750,000 which the government is about to pay for the completion of the first 100 kilometers of the road in the republic.

Mr. Haff states that the trip that was to have been made to Mexico by President A. E. Stilwell and a party of friends, among them capitalists and newspaper writers of leading daily newspapers and magazines, during the month of May, was postponed until about the middle of September. He contemplates bringing with him other well known capitalists from the United States and Europe in addition to those already invited, making a total party of about forty people.

Mr. Haff denies the report that the Orient company is engaged in litigation with A. K. Owens, who, it has been stated, claims to own under an old concession the land upon which the town of Topolobampo is built. The statement is authoritatively made that Mr. Owens has absolutely no claim whatever, the title of the railway being flawless.

It is proposed to extend the road from El Fuerte to Choix very soon, so as to reach that country where several very rich mining properties are now being worked. The distance between these two places is about seventy-five miles, and Mr. Haff believes that the road will be running between these two towns in the course of a few months.

In regard to the plans of Mr. Stilwell, Mr. Haff says that he intends to have in operation by next spring, including the lines the company will have constructed and leased, 1,020 kilometers. In Sinaloa and Chihuahua the company has about another hundred kilometers graded and ready for laying the ties and rails. The surveying across the mountains has been the heaviest item of expense that the company has had to contend with, as this work alone has required the service of several engineering forces for about four years, most of them being actively engaged the whole of the time. Forty-two tunnels will have to be constructed in grading across the mountains.

Topolobampo, according to Mr. Haff, will become an important port, if the plans of the projectors of roads to that place are carried out, as now seems probable.

The Phelps-Dodge Company intend to continue their railroad from Nacozari to this point, and it is certain that the Yaqui River railroad will be extended from the point below La Cananea, where it now terminates, to Topolobampo. These roads will help to increase the business of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railway, as they will bring tons of freight to this port to be shipped across the mountains to the City of Mexico.

TO BUILD EXTENSION

It is reported here that a company composed of capitalists of Fort Worth, Dallas and Orange will be formed for the extension of the Orange and Northwestern railroad very soon, a distance of eighty miles. This information is given out by President Miller, who states that if the road is extended it will take the line through a belt of fine timber lands containing an endless quantity of excellent yellow pine.

An extension of this road would take the line through the iron ore belt of Texas and would also pass through Sabine and Jasper counties, the mineral wealth of which are beyond computation. The land once cleared of timber is particularly adapted to the culture of tobacco, fruits, cotton and garden truck. From these facts it can be seen that an extension of the Orange and Northwestern will open up a virgin country which is very rich.

DIVIDING THE WORK

A circular has just been issued separating the work of the general freight department of the National lines in Mexico from that of the passenger department. Hereafter C. W. Fish will devote his entire time to the freight business and Jackson Smith will be the general passenger agent of the consolidated lines. The change was made by Traffic Manager W. B. Ryan, approved by Vice President J. G. Metcalfe.

THE ROAD IS REPAIRED

For a week or ten days the Texas and Pacific Railroad Company has experienced a great amount of trouble from washed-out tracks about 150 miles east from El Paso, caused by heavy rains and more recently by a waterspout.

The Telegram is advised that the break in the track has been repaired and trains are now running through from Fort Worth to El Paso without interruption. All trains are moved slowly over the damaged track, for the present, but very soon the roadbed will be settled and in as good condition as it ever was.

The washout was the most severe in four years.

FAST MELON TRAINS

The Southern Pacific and the El Paso and the Rock Island have put into effect a new venture in the handling of perishable freight from California to the east, which will likely become very popular by those who are making large consignments of this character of freight.

Every year there are several hundred carloads of melons shipped from California to the markets in the east, and heretofore these shipments have gone as express matter. The two roads named have put on a special melon train, which carries nothing but melons and which is scheduled to make about the same time over the lines as the passenger trains.

The first train passed through El Paso Saturday night. These trains are to run every other day, and will handle on an average of ten cars of melons to the train.

TWO SHUT OUTS FOR PARIS TEAM

Fort Worth Was Greedy in a Double-header on the Glorious Fourth

The rain came inopportunely yesterday and prevented many from enjoying the double header with Paris. The crowd was nevertheless large and a better natured one has not been on the grounds this season. Hamilton, the new pitcher for Paris, was in the box for four innings and showed up well. In the beginning of the fifth, after a resounding thump into left for two bags, he was caught away from second and in attempting to regain the base collided with Dunn's knee and recieved serious injury on the head. Medical aid was called and he was taken into town. Tullar pitched the remainder of the game and though he allowed several bases on balls, forcing in a run in the fifth, Fort Worth did not get a hit.

The second game was limited to five innings, Tullar and Jackson continuing to do the honors on the slab. Each side got two hits, a single and a double, Boles and Sullivan for Fort Worth, and Tullar and Deskin for Paris.

Both games had brilliant plays notwithstanding the heavy, slippery condition of the ground, that made anything like fast fielding impossible. Boles' rapid double in the last game, handling a hard liner from Deskin and getting Tullar at first was an unsually neat piece of work.

In the first game Reitz gave an exhibition of good head work in a feint of throwing to second to hold Hamilton awhile, then throwing to first in time to get Deskin. In the first game Tullar and Queisser manipulated a pretty double, Dunn and Boles being the victims. Dunn was on third when Boles hit to Tullar. Tullar thre wto Queisser, Dunn was nabbed and Arbogast got Boles.

NOTES

Boles can turn a handspring on third, get the ball and catch the runner at first.

Disch continues to get the glad hand every time he goes to bat.

Wills was forced to run for the plate in the first game. Queisser threw to third, McCullom threw back all right, but Queisser dropped the ball.

Fort Worth goes to Paris for three games.

Sliding would have been easy yesterday, but no one seemed to be inclined for the exercise.

Paris has hard luck with pitchers. Cy can't be hurt.

Umpire Spencer has been reclaimed by Corsicana. He was on parole until needed.

Had the weather man not been naughty five hundred more people would have seen the game.

It seems as if the pennant fight for the series will be between Fort Worth and Dallas. Fort Worth can play ball. Dallas can bully rag the umpire.

BOTH GAMES FOR DALLAS

DALLAS, Texas, July 5.—In the double-header played here yesterday with Corsicana the locals were victorious in both games, winning the first by a score of 12 to 0, and the second by 4 to 3. In the first game Hoffmeister, a new twirler, was in the box for Dallas. The visitors got only three scattered hits off his delivery. Gilwreath, on the other hand, was hit hard by the Dallas players, who touched him up for sixteen hits. In the first game errors were numerous on the part of Corsicana.

Corsicana took a decided brace in the second game, and better field work and stronger batting was the result.

By bunching hits in the third inning and by Russell's run in the eighth Dallas won out by a score of 4 to 3. The score of the first game:

GREENWALL COLTS 4, MINERAL WELLS 2

MINERAL WELLS, Texas, July 4.—The Greenwall Colts of Fort Worth defeated the home team yesterday by a score of 4 to 2.

ENTRE NOUS 6, SANS PARIEL 3

An interesting and exciting game was played on the university campus yesterday afternoon between the two social clubs, Sans Pariel and Entre Nous. The playing began briskly, the players no doubt stimulated by the presence of several of the fair sex—who cheered and screamed enthusiastically.

The Sans Pariel led until the seventh inning, when a bit of poor head work and an overthrow to first gave the Entre Nous the game. The pitching of Gardener for the Sans Pariel and the work of Adams on third for the Entre Nous were the features of the game.

TWO STEPS
The Last One Helps the First

A sick coffee drinker must take two steps to be rid of his troubles and get strong and well again.

The first is to cut off coffee absolutely.

That removes the destroying element. The next step is to take liquid food (and that is Postum Food Coffee) that has in it the elements nature requires to change the blood corpuscles from pale pink or white to rich red, and good red blood builds good strong and healthy cells in place of the broken down cells destroyed by coffee. With well boiled Postum Food Coffee to shift to, both these steps are easy and pleasant. The experience of a Georgian proves how important both are.

"From 1872 to the year 1900 my wife and I had both been afflicted with sick or nervous headache and at times we suffered untold agony. We were coffee drinkers and did not know how to get away from it for the habit is hard to quit.

"But in 1900 I read of a case similar to ours where Postum Coffee was used in place of the old coffee and a complete cure resulted, so I concluded to get some and try it.

"The result was, after three days' use of Postum in place of the coffee I never had a symptom of the old trouble and in five months I had gained from 145 pounds to 163 pounds.

"My friends asked me almost daily what wrought the change. My answer always is, leaving off coffee and drinking Postum in its place.

"We have many friends who have been benefited by Postum.

"As to whether or not I have stated the facts truthfully I refer you to the Bank of Carrollton or any business firm in that city where I have lived for many years and am well known." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a reason."

QUAY AND SMITH

Charles Emory Smith, editor, diplomat and man of affairs, was a political enemy of the late Senator Quay. After Quay had successfully conducted the Harrison campaign he was consulted by President Harrison when the latter began to think of appointments for the diplomatic service. He wanted to give Smith a post so he had Secretary Blaine sound Quay for his opinion in the matter.

"Senator," said the secretary, "you know Charles Emory Smith?"

"Yes," was the reply, "very well."

"Would you care if he received a foreign appointment?"

"No," was the quick answer; "the foreigner the better."

So Mr. Smith went to St. Petersburg.

TOO MUCH CIPHER

While Secretary Hay was in the country last summer an important piece of official business was pending, and he arranged with Washington that any news that might arrive about the matter should be telegraphed to him in cipher.

Day after day he waited, but no telegram came. One morning, happening to go to the lonely little telegraph office, he said to the operator:

"I suppose you have received no dispatch for me?"

"Why, yes, sir," the operator replied, "there was a dispatch for you the other day, but it was all twisted and confused. I couldn't make head or tail of it, so I didn't think it was any use to send it up to you."

Take Courage!

If you are naturally not as strong as your more fortunate sisters, and for this reason experience dread rather than joy at the prospect of becoming a mother, take courage and assurance from this fact: Mother's Friend is meant for you, and by its use you may pass through that glorious martyrdom which is yours by divine right with no more discomfort than that experienced by those who by nature are possibly more adapted for the role of motherhood is a liniment of proven merit, and its great worth can be no better attested to than by the countless strong and healthy children who through its kindly offices have entered this world unhandicapped by any deformity or weakness. It is a liniment which by external application acts upon the abdominal muscles and permits of a painless parturition.

PREMATURE DISPLAY FIREWORKS CAUSES CHURCH STAMPEDE

ALTOONA, Pa., July 4.—There will be no fireworks display today in Coupon, a town on the summit of the Alleghenies. The celebration has already come off and, as it was premature, there was plenty of excitement while the fireworks lasted.

John Wicks, the village merchant, was the indirect cause. Wicks drove to town to purchase his supply of fireworks. He remained in the city until Sunday afternoon, starting home late with a wagon load of firecrackers, sky rockets and squabs. Just as he reached the outskirts of the town his cigar dropped into the straw at the bottom of his wagon and five minutes later, when near the Union meeting house, he saw the first sign of trouble. A pin wheel which was ignited by the smouldering straw was seized with a tantrum, leaped from its box and spread sparks through the entire cargo. A Roman candle pointed Wicks' way and drove him to the woods. A hundred sky rockets which inclined in the direction of the meeting house let go about the same time. They went in through the open windows simultaneously and caused a panic among the congregation.

By the time the congregation reached the open street Wicks' wagon and its frightened horses were disappearing up the main street in a blaze of glory. Fortunately no one was injured in the stampede to escape from the church.

A NEW FORMULA TO STOP DANGER

It Is Expected to Revolutionize the Science of Anesthetics

NEW YORK, July 4.—If prolonged and general tests prove to be satisfactory as the preliminary ones, medical men believe that a formula just discovered by a well known practitioner of this city will revolutionize the science of anesthetics, freeing it from the dangers of ether and chloroform as at present administered.

The process consists in the main of an invention by which 2 per cent of chloroform and 98 per cent of oxygen are combined with mathematical exactness. Instead of being dependent on the careful administration of anesthetics drop by drop, the apparatus acts automatically, keeping the chloroform mixing with the oxygen in a 2 per cent solution all the time, obviating any chance of the patient getting too much and doing away with the risk of giving too much.

MAX ELSER JR., FROM ST. LOUIS

Max Elser, Jr., who is just out of school and is visiting relatives here, came by St. Louis on his way to Texas. Asked his impressions of the Convention City he said:

"One's first impression of St. Louis is that of a town composed chiefly of cut rate ticket offices, saloons and pawn shops, with a thick sprinkling of 'cheap' restaurants, shooting galleries and the like.

"The town seemed populated by a yelling, gesticulating horde of 'spielers,' who besought one in clarion, and it might be said, foghorn tones to 'Git yer tickets here. Rates ter all points, cheapest place in town. All transactions guaranteed,' and in other ways endeavored to induce you to patronize their particular shop.

"In front of the restaurants and shooting galleries men with brazen voices informed you that the best and cheapest meal in town was now being served, or that a prize shooting contest was at its height; step in and win a premium. 'Three shots for five.'

"The World's Fair city is a wide-open town, at least all of its one thousand seven hundred saloons on Sunday morning were doing a rushing business. Of course, the doors were shut and perhaps a screen in position, but nevertheless there was entrance and departure of 'booze fighters' of all descriptions in and out. One saloon even had a sign on the closed and curtained door, which said, 'Open, come in.'

"The shooting galleries, pawn shops and 'cheap' restaurants were all in full blast. The shooting galleries even offered 'special Sunday prizes.' The better class of establishments were all closed, yet all the theaters, palm gardens and parks were open. Sunday evening the fair was closed, so every one headed for the theater or one of the gardens.

"The 'midways' were in full operation and the sound of the Oriental music mixed with the shouts of the spielers, the blare of the brass bands and the yells and laughter of the people on the scenic railway made a queer combination.

"'Louisiana,' which is claimed to be the greatest extravaganza ever produced, was being played in a summer theater.

"Of the exposition so much can be said that it is difficult to begin. It certainly is magnificent, and of great educational value. But it may well be said that if one listens long to the 'strenuous speiler' he must needs procure an adding machine to record his expenditures."

HOLD UP MEN IN CHICAGO SALOON

They Call for Money and Are Forced to Shoot to Make Their Escape

CHICAGO, July 4.—One man was killed and another probably fatally wounded early today by two hold-up men who invaded a saloon in North Kedzie avenue. John Lane, a stage carpenter, was shot through the head and fell dead just outside the door. The proprietor of the saloon, August Ragal, was wounded in the right breast.

Lane had stopped at the saloon for a drink. Ragal had served him and the two were talking when the two young men entered and called for drinks. As the glasses were set before them they drew revolvers and ordered the liquor dealer and his patron to hold up their hands.

Reaching quickly under the bar Ragal seized a plate and hurled it at the head of the nearest robber. Instantly the shooting began.

Lane was struck by one of the first bullets and reeled to the floor. Ragal fell behind the bar with a wound in his breast.

The robbers fled before the police arrived.

THIRD WARD WILL RETAIN ITS FIRE HALL

Understanding That No Further Attempts to Remove the Structure Will Be Made

The Third ward fire hall, the bone of contention in several council meetings, and the all absorbing topic of interest to the residents of that ward, will remain where it is.

That such a decision has been reached is learned from a reliable source and the residents of the ward can now rest assured that the fire hall will remain and give them ample protection.

The decision of the city attorney that the city could legally maintain its claim to the ground upon which the fire hall stands and the tacit notice served on the council by Alderman Parker that the removal of the building would be more productive of law suits than any dispute as to title to the lot led to a mutual understanding that a policy of requiescat in pace would be the most desirable for all concerned.

The contemplated reprisal in the form of portions of a certain building for the Third ward kindergarten will also follow the same course and the city's buildings generally will remain upon their present foundations.

TOO MUCH FOR HIM

The Commercial Traveler returned to town last night. He has been in Florida. Of course, some one asked him "if it was hot down there."

"Hot?" said he. "Rather! But the hottest place in Florida is the town of Estero. There's a colony there founded by Dr. Cyrus Teed of Chicago, and that is the reason. Teed, you know, is the chap who thinks the earth's a hollow shell with people inside instead of outside.

"Well, the other day John Temple Graves was to speak at Estero, trying to get up a little lost enthusiasm for Willie Hearst as a democratic possibility for president. Graves' train was delayed, however, and, while the crowd was waiting, Dr. Teed took so good an opportunity right by the horns and, jumping up on the platform, began to expound his theory about the formation of the earth.

"An old-time democrat drove in from the country and landed in the crowd just after Teed had got well started. He didn't know either Teed or Graves and so he naturally mistook the former for the latter. After listening for a bit, however, he worked his way to the platform and demanded a hearing:

"'Leck here,' he said to the orator. 'I've stood for Cleveland demmycrats and their radical tomfoolery, an' I've voted th' straight ticket like a man. An' then I've stood fer Bryan demmycrats with their sixteen to one never-win craziness an' still kep' on votin' the straight ticket like a man. But if you Hearst demmycrats are agoin' to try to make the people of this here country try to believe we're walkin' on the inside of this here old earth with our toes to the angels, and our heads p'inted to hellfire, why right here's whar I quit the old ship."

An attempt is being made to uncover the treasure from the bottom of Lake Guatavita, in Colombia, sunk by Indian sun worshipers before the conquest by the Spaniards. One Frenchman estimates that its value will amount to over five billion dollars.

Women who work, whether in the house, store, office or factory, very rarely have the ability to stand the strain. The case of Miss Frankie Orser, of Boston, Mass., is interesting to all women, and adds further proof that woman's great friend in need is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered misery for several years. My back ached and I had bearing down pains, and frequent headaches. I would often wake from a restful sleep in such pain and misery that it would be hours before I could close my eyes again. I dreaded the long nights and weary days. I could do no work. I consulted different physicians hoping to get relief, but, finding that their medicines did not cure me, I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it was highly recomended to me. I am glad that I did so, for I soon found that it was the medicine for my case. Very soon I was rid of every ache and pain and restored to perfect health. I feel splendid, have a fine appetite, and have gained in weight a lot."—MISS FRANKIE ORSER, 14 Warrenton St., Boston, Mass.

Surely you cannot wish to remain weak, sick and discouraged, and exhausted with each day's work. Some derangement of the feminine organs is reponsible for this exhaustion, following any kind of work or effort. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you just as it has thousands of other women.

The case of Mrs. Lennox, which follows, proves this.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Last winter I broke down suddenly and had to seek the advice of a doctor. I felt sore all over, with a pounding in my head, and a dizziness which I had never experienced before. I had a miserable appetite, nothing tasted good, and gradually my health broke down completely. The doctor said I had female weakness, but, although I took his medicine faithfully, I found no relief.

"After two months I decided to try what a change would do for me, and as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was strongly recommended to me I decided to try it. Within three days I felt better, my appetite returned, and I could sleep. In another week I was able to sit up part of the day, and in ten days more I was well. My strength had returned, I gained fourteen pounds, and felt better and stronger than I had for years. I gratefully acknowledge its merits. Very sincerely yours, MRS. BERT E. LENNOX, 120 East 4th St., Dixon, Ill."

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness.

HOW ANT KILLS THE BOLL WEEVIL

A Description of the Method Followed by the Little Insect

AUSTIN, Texas, July 4.—So much depends on the successful production of cotton in the southern states and such sad havoc has been wrought by the pest bearing boll weevil that every means to encompass its destruction is a matter of interest.

The ant theory is the latest method of preventing the ravages of the weevil and the history of the discovery of this ant and its description may be read with interest.

In 1902 O. F. Cook, a botanist connected with the department of agriculture at Washington, was sent to Central America to study coffee and rubber culture. While pursuing these studies in Guatemala, incidentally, it appears, he discovered the ant which is now claimed to be the natural enemy of the weevil, and enables the farmers of Central America to grow cotton in spite of the presence of this most destructive pest.

The ant is good-sized, reddish, with mandibles large enough to grasp the weevil around the middle and pry apart the joint between the thorax and the abdomen. The long and flexible body is bent at the same time in a circle to insert the sting at the unprotected point where the weevil's strong armor is open.

The poison takes effect almost instantly; the weevil ceases to struggle, and with its legs twitching feebly is carried away in the jaws of the ant. As with many other insects, when stung by wasps, the paralysis is permanent, even when taken away from the ants the weevils do not recover. The adroit and business-like manner in which the weevil is disposed of in very much less time than even the briefest account of the operation could be read, Mr. Cook thinks seems to prove beyond question that the ant is by structure and by instinct especially equipped for the work of destruction. Instead of congregating in large numbers on the cotton in the immediate vicinity of their nests, they have the good sense to spread themselves through the cotton field, from two to four or five usually being found together.

This ant attacks other insects and destroys them, even centipedes, while they do not injure the plant in the least. It has none of the waspish ill-temper of the stinging, biting ants, and can be handled with impunity.

Mr. Cook says there would be no difficulty whatever in bringing working ants from Central America to Texas, but that difficulty would be experienced in transporting and establishing a "queen," which, of course, would be the only way to propogate them. Climatic and other conditions in Texas are about as favorable for the development of the ant as in Central America.

DIES AT THE PIER HOMEWARD BOUND

NEW YORK, July 4.—Arriving here after nearly a year's absence on his way to rejoin his family in San Jose, Cal., Sylvester Donohue, 60 years old, fell dead on the Cunard line pier within an hour after leaving the steamer.

Mr. Donohue, who is a merchant in San Jose, left New York on the Umbria in September of last year. He boarded the Umbria at Queenstown on Sunday of last week. According to the ship's officials he was not ill during the voyage, nor did he give any sign of illness when he stepped ashore.

DANGERS AND THE NATIONS SAFEGUARD

Sermon on the Currents Events Is Preached by a New York Divine

NEW YORK, July 4.—Dangers and safeguards of the United States as a great nation of the future have been discussed by the Rev. David G. Wylie, pastor of the Scottish Presbyterian church. Although church and state were separate under our government, their welfare, he said, is closely connected. The country had made marvelous progress in civilization and prosperity, but, he asked, would America remain great and grow greater, or would it collapse as other great nations had done? He continued:

"If our country is to maintain the place it now occupies certain great evils must be swiftly checked.

"One evil is Mormonism. The second is divorce. It endangers our social state by destroying thousands of families. The next danger is the saloon.

"Still another danger is from corporations. They must be carefully regulated by law and held strictly responsible.

"The need in America is greater respect for law. We ought to feel the law is sacred. There ought to be no such thing as a 'liberal administration.'

"We must put our best men into public life. They should measure up to Bible standards. They should fear God, hate covetousness and have ability. There ought to be no place in our public life for any other kind of men."

SURVIVORS ARE IN PITIABLE CONDITION

GRIMSBY, England, July 4.—Owing to the strict enforcement of certain regulations and the fact that there is no Danish consul here, all survivors of the Norge, who arrived here on the steam trawler Salvia were kept on that vessel all night. They were in a pitiable condition.

This morning in the dingy cabin of the trawler a representative of the Associated Press saw over a dozen persons, including five women and two children, huddled together. Three women were in a bunk, one lying on the cabin floor and the other leaning against the captain's berth, too bewildered to move. Two of the women pleaded to see the Danish ministers of the gospel, but the one settled here happened to be away.

SAW THE SHIP SINK

J. O. Hanson, a gray-bearded man from Tromsoe, said: "When the ship first bumped most of us below all rushed to the deck. I had my wife and five children with me. At first none of us were aware of what had happened and we kept quiet; but in a minute or two we saw the ship was sinking and then there were shrieks and cries too awful to describe. We had nearly two hundred children aboard and they screamed with terror. Their mothers, too, almost frantic, though some of them calmer than others, began putting the little ones in the rigging and other elevated position. So far as I could see the officers of the ship kept very calm, but the crowd was uncontrollable. Men and women began jumping into the sea, while others ran up and down, trying to snatch belts from those who had them. As soon as the first boat got out there was a mad rush for her, with the result she immediately sank. In this way three boats were lost. Meanwhile I put my wife and five children on a hatch and implored them not to move until I returned. When I saw the other boats being launched I returned for my wife and children, but they had disappeared. Whether they had gone in another boat or been carried away in the mad rush I do not know. I am absolutely alone in the world. Our boat was crowded to nearly double the proper number. All around us people were struggling in the sea, shouting for help and imploring us to take them in. We had and old sail and a couple of oars, but no mast. In launching the boat a big hole was knocked in her side and we men had to take turns bailing her out. We could do nothing but allow the boat to drift. The five women behaved splendidly, never murmuring. All around us the people were fighting for their lives. Shrieks of those left on the ship, particularly the children, could be heard above all the confusion around us. But it was soon over, as we saw the Norge sinking in less than half an hour from the first shock."

COMING TO AMERICA

Another survivor said to an Associated Press representative that most of the passengers were going out to friends in America. One of the five surviving women was going ut to her husband and she throughout clung to her little girl of 5. Another woman, in delirious joy at being picked up, offered one of the crew of the trawler her wedding ring.

While some boats were overcrowded, others, according to survivors, had only a few persons in them. The captain absolutely refused to leave the ship. He was standing on the bridge and appeared to be overcome at the appalling catastrophe.

It appears that the weather was very hazy when the Norge struck, but the captain of the trawler and others say that the Rockall reef is so well known, especially to New York traders, they can not understand how the steamer struck.

The survivors were landed at about 10 o'clock. They will be sent back to Copenhagen on the Bothnia sailing tonight.

IN ATTITUDE OF PRAYER

Karl Mathiasen, the only member of the crew among the survivors, said to the Associated Press: "The Rockall reef is invisible in fog and rain. The captain and the chief officer of the Norge were both on the bridge at the time of the accident. The chief officer got into one of the boats, but the captain was seen on the bridge, surrounded by many other persons, all in an attitude of prayer, as the Norge sank."

OTHER SURVIVORS

STORNOWAY, Scotland, July 4.—Later the British steamer Cervona, from Leith, July 1, for mineral, brought in thirty-two survivors, shortly before noon, making the total 101 so far reported. She picked them up from a boat yesterday evening, westward of Lewis. They are in a woeful plight, nearly all of them being naked. One dead child was with the party.

The Cervona proceeded on her voyage, but will keep a lookout for other possible survivors of the Danish steamer.

Careful tests at Cornell University demonstrated that a one-horse power engine working continuously for one hour could produce only enough liquid air, when converted into power, to run a one-horse power engine one minute.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

CARE OF CHILDREN TO BE DISCUSSED BY CHIEFS

Rev. I. Z. T. Morris Will Ask Endorsement of Two Laws Proposed

Rev. I. Z. T. Morris, who has been giving his time for the last seven years to the work of caring for dependent and homeless children, said this morning before leaving to attend a meeting of the Texas city marshals of the state that there was necessity of some needed legislation, and that he has determined to have the matter considered at once so that the coming legislature may make some provision looking to the poper care and protection of abandoned children.

Dr. Morris, therefore, will present the following memorial to the Chief of Police union meeting in Dallas today, and will ask the co-operation of all good people in having this or a similar law passed.

He said: "We have in the Benevolent Home in Fort Worth over forty children and not a full orphan child in the whole list, but children who have been deserted by their families. Now, what we need is authority to take such parents, as well as their children. This law will aid us if it is passed, and take care of the children and work the public roads with their parents, if living."

Following is the bill that will be introduced:

An act making it a misdemeanor to desert without just cause or willfully neglect to provide for the support and maintenance by any person of his wife or minor children in destitute or necessitous circumstances, and to provide a penalty therefor.

1. Be it enacted by the legislature of Texas, that any person who shall, without just cause, desert or willfully neglect to provide for the support of his wife or minor children in destitute or necessitous circumstances, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by imprisonment in jail not exceeding one year; provided, that before the trial (with the consent of the defendant), or after conviction, instead of imposing the punishment hereinbefore provided, or in addition thereto, the court in its discretion, having regard to the circumstances and financial ability of the defendant, shall have the power to enter an order, which shall be subject to change by it from time to time, as the circumstances may require, directing the defendant to pay a certain sum weekly or monthly for the space of one year to the wife or to the custodian of the minor, and to release the defendant from custody on probation for the space of one year upon his entering into a recognizance with or without sureties in such sum as the court shall direct. The condition of the recognizance shall be such that if the defendant shall make his personal appearance at court whenever ordered to do so within the year, and shall further comply with the terms of the order or of any subsequent modification thereof, then the recognizance shall be void, otherwise to remain in full force and effect.

If the court shall be satisfied by information and due proof under oath at any time during the year that the defendant has violated the terms of such order, it may forthwith proceed to the trial of the defendant under the original indictment, or sentence him under the original conviction, as the case may be. In the case of forfeiture of a recognizance and enforcement hereof by execution, the sum recovered may in the discretion of the court, be paid in whole or in part to the wife or to the custodian of the minor.

2. The corporation courts of the cities and the county courts, respectively, shall have exclusive original jurisdiction of all proceedings and prosecutions under this act.

Rev. Morris said that another hindrance to caring for children is the placing of them in calabooses and jails. In order to regulate this practice, Rev. Morris has also prepared the following memorial, which will be presented to the chiefs' association at Dallas today, with the hope that it will be passed. The memorial follows:

An Act Prohibiting the Placing of Children in Prisons

1. No children under the age of 14 years, charged with an offense against the laws of the state of Texas, shall be committed to any jail or police station or lockup, pending trial, nor if so committed shall any sheriff, jailor or police official receive any child apparently under the age of 14 years for confinement in any lockup or jail commonly used for the detention of adults.

2. Any child under 14 years of age who has been arrested shall, as far as possible, be admitted to bail and placed in the custody of some relative, friend or benevolent person or institution willing to be responsible for his or her appearance.

3. Where a child cannot be admitted to bail the sheriff or officer having the direction of such matters shall have authority to contract for the temporary care and maintenance of such child with any association or individual possessing facilities for the safekeeping and proper care of children until the case is disposed of, and any expense thus incurred shall be charged upon the municipality in which the child has last resided for one year.

Russian Reports That Bombardment of Port Arthur Injures Little

JAPS RESIST AN ATTACK

Chinese Runner Says That But Nine Big Warships Now in Bottled Harbor

CHEFOO, July 5.—A Russian who left Port Arthur on July 2 and who has just arrived here says the only damage done to the town during the bombardments have been the destruction of two houses. There has been no loss of life. Refugees are not allowed to leave Pigeon Bay. They must come direct from Port Arthur. This leads to the belief the Japanese are in the vicinity of Pigeon Bay. All business is now stopped in town.

THE NEW GOVERNOR GOES TO FINLAND

ST. PETERSBURG, July 5.—In confirming the appointment of Prince John Obonlinsky as governor general of Finland the emperor sent an autograph letter to the prince relative to the situation there. This letter, which is in the nature of an imperial receipt, is published today. The emperor therein expresses the convictions that it will be possible to maintain local autonomy and the privilege of legislating for herself be enjoyed by Finland since her union with Russia.

"I consider," writes the emperor, "the murder of General Bobrikoff merely the work of a madman and a few weak minded confederates and that the Finnish people had no part in the nefarious act. The executive power must inflexibly strive for the closest union of Finland and the empire."

NINE LAKGE SHIPS ARE AT PORT ARTHUR

CHEFOO, July 5, 5:30 p. m.—Chinese just arrived here who left Port Arthur on July 2, say that only nine of the larger Russian warships were there then. On June 23, when the fleet engaged the Japanese squadron outside Port Arthur harbor it consisted of eleven of the larger ships. On July 3 the Russian and Japanese armies outside of Port Arthur, according to report, were only separated one from the other by half a mile, the Japanese advancing steadily from hill to hill, on all of which they are placing big guns. It is said they landed 150 of these guns at Dalny.

MEETING NO RESISTANCE

TOKIO, July 5, noon.—A detachment of General Kuroki's army has occupied North Fen Shun Ling without meeting with resistance. The main army advanced westward and occupied a line extending from Mao Tien Pass to Shao Mo Tien Ling and Skin Kai Ling. He has abandoned Tsin Shan Qwan, burying his supplies.

RUSSIANS ATTACK AND ARE REPULSED

TOKIO, July 5.—General Kuroki reports two battalions of Russians attacked the Japanese outposts at Mao Tien Pass at dawn July 4 under cover of a dense fog. The Russians were repulsed but they returned and charged three times before they were finally driven off. The Japanese pursued them for three miles to the westward of Mao Tien Pass. The Russian left thirty dead and fifty wounded on the field. The Japanese lost fifteen killed and thirty wounded.

RUSSIAN LINE ARE AS IRON BARRIERS

LIAO YANG, July 5.—Rain is again falling in torrents and the thermometer registers 20 degrees centigrade. The Russian lines to the east and south are like iron barriers. The Japanese are quiet and seem to have vanished along the Russian outposts.

RUSSIAN PAPERS CONDEMN TOLSTOI

ST PETERSBURG, July 5.—The Russian newspapers are beginning to discuss the article on Russo-Japanese war by Count Tolstoi, recently published in the London Times. Almost unanimously the papers refer to the article adversely and a few speak of it in denunciatory terms. Even Tolstoi's old admirers consider that he has gone too far. The Slowo recommends a reproduction of the article as the best cure for Tolstoism. The Sviet calls it a pitiful production of a once great mind, disordered by senile vanity.

THE PERESVIET IS REPORTED UNHARMED

CRONSTADT, July 5.—All doubts as to the safety of the battleship Peresviet which, according to report, had been torpedoed at Port Arthur, is removed by the receipt of a telegram from the captain of the battleship saying the ship and all on board are well. The telegrams, which are dated from New Chwang, were brought there by a torpedo boat destroyer under command of Lieutenant Burukoff.

JAP HEROISM DUE TO ANCESTOR WORSHIP

BY ALFRED STEAD.

TOKIO, July 4.—The victories at the Yalu and at Kin Chou have demonstrated beyond any dispute the ability of the Japanese armies to win battles, but they have not enabled the world to see clearly why this is so. The perfection of the military organization is apparent, the thoroughness of every detail is there, the men are brave, but all these do not explain everything. The men of other nations are brave, and yet they would never have stormed the heights of Nan Shan. The reason is further to seek.

There is no other race like this race, and there is no telling where it will stop. It is this ability to think out matters thoroughly that has enabled the Japanese to raise their forces to so high a point.

By a wonderful system of adaptation and assimilation all the ideas of other nations have been taken, welded together, and the whole improved and made Japanese. What Japan has done ought to be possible to every nation—the facts and the information are there to be chosen from. But the personal foundation is missing, the material at the command of Japan is different from that in any other land.

And yet at first sight it would appear as if there could never be found men less naturally fitted for soldiers. Largely drawn from an agricultural population, the conscripts are for the most part vegetarians, men who have never seen blood in their lives. The conditions of their homes are peaceful, and by temperament they are the happiest of men. What power exists then that is able to transform these peaceful farmers into the daredevil heroes who stormed the Russian entrenchments?

There are two great elements which much be taken into account. The first, and by far the greatest influence, is that exercised by ancestor worship.

The veneration of ancestors is universal in Japan, and has been so during even the feudal times. It is no exaggeration to say that every Japanese is an ancestor worshipper.

This entails upon him the onerous duty of so living that he shall be a good ancestor to his descendants. In Europe, death ends the duties of a citizen, in Japan it only begins them. To know that for countless generations the family will gather together to venerate the memory of the departed can not fail to have a great effect upon the soldier.

Disgrace on the field of battle does not affect him alone, it touches his family, his ancestors and his descendants. Every soldier feels in battle the countless eyes of his ancestors upon him, and the eyes of his descendants, yet unborn, and to do anything shameful is impossible.

To disgrace himself would mean that his spirit would have to wander about unvenerated, his name would be wiped off the family rolls, and he would cease to exist in the future.

JAPAN WILL CAPTURE THE PRICELESS FURS

LONDON, July 4.—Among the most jealously guarded treasurers of the imperial Russian crown are the great seal and sea otter rookeries on the islands in the Okhotsk sea and off the coast of Kamschatka.

In 1854 and 1855, in the midst of the Crimean war, when the Russian warships had unavoidably been withdrawn from the duty of guarding these valuable rookeries, a fleet of enterprising vessels, mostly American whalers, exploited them, many of them obtaining valuable cargoes of furs, one vessel alone, a small bark hailing from New London, Conn., securing no fewer than 55,000 fur seal skins, all of which brought an unusually high price in the London market on account of the war then prevailing, and which had cut off the regular Russian supply.

The rookeries were for the time being practically destroyed, and it was years before the Russian government was enabled to kill any of the fur-bearing animals that used to abound on the islands. By careful management, however, the rookeries were gradually restored, and by 1875 they had so far recovered that the authorities were enabled to begin killing in a small way.

From this time onward the seal herd showed a steady and healthy growth, although on account of the unparalleled boldness of the seal poachers who fitted out in Japan and sailed under various flags—American, British, Dutch, German, Swedish, etc.—the Russian government was obliged to maintain the strictest vigilance and to keep a fleet of from four to eight war vessels constantly on guard about the islands during the breeding season.

The best of the otter skins have never come into the market; they have always been exacted and taken for the use of the Russian imperial family, and are consequently without price.

For years the Japanese pelagic sealers have cast longing eyes at the rich treasures on the Russian islands, and have had to content themselves with such meager pickings as could be gleaned outside of a thirty-mile limit off the islands.

Occasionally a few of the bolder spirits would venture inside of the thirty-mile line which had been arbitrarily drawn about the islands by the Russian government, but nearly always with disastrous results, for no sooner did their schooner approach anywhere near the rookeries than perhaps around the nearest point of land a column of smoke would appear, and next a sixteen-knot cruiser at full speed, a blank shot, next a shell or two, and a few days after the vessel would join a fleet of others that had gone before at Petropaulski, while the unfortunate crew would be on board a steamer bound for Vladivostok, and it would be many years before they returned to their friends in Japan, while those who did return would always have a tale of horror to tell about the treatment they had received.

Today Russia is at war, her ships are either destroyed or bottled up in Port Arthur or Vladivostok. Her most cherished possessions in Saghalien, the Okhotsk sea, Kamschatka, and Copper and Bering islands, are unprotected.

No man-of-war will there be this year to threaten or to capture or seize any of the numerous Japanese fishing vessels that are even at this moment fitting out to despoil the Russian crown of one of its brightest and most valuable jewels. Two large Japanese cruisers will accompany the sealing and fishing fleet and give them protection if they require any.

More than 200 vessels will be employed in the coming raid, and the value of the furs and fish that they undoubtedly will secure will amount to over $7,500,000, while it is impossible to calculate the damage that will be done to the rookeries.

The sea otter rookeries are without exception the richest and heretofore the most closely-guarded preserves in the world. It is estimated that there are at least 6,000 to 8,000 sea otters there, and it is almost certain that the Japanese schooners will obtain fully three-fourths of them, while they will also secure from 80,000 to 100,000 fur seals from the various breeding places.

For the first time in fifty years the priceless furs hitherto selected and kept for the imperial family, the crown sables and crown sea otter skins, will come into the market, and already the agents of some of the largest dealers in the world are gathering to secure them for their patrons, regardless of price.

And there is grim determination among the crews of the vessels now fitting out here. Many of them have had their vessels seized and confiscated in previous years, and have been imprisoned in Vladivostok and ill-treated and starved there, but this year the Russian bear is helpless, his claws have been cut and his teeth drawn, and his hitherto closely-guarded treasures are at the mercy of the first comer.

THE NATATORIUM HAS BEEN SOLD

WACO, Texas, July 5.—News comes from New York that the Waco Natatorium, a beautiful and costly building on South Fourth street, which has one of the finest swimming pools in the southwest, a big spouting artesian well and other attractive features, has been purchased from the Provident Savings Life Assurance Society of New York and extensive plans for utilizing the water are on foot. The names of the buyers have not yet been given out, but they are men of means, and propose to sink a well three thousand feet or more in the search for water like that at Marlin, which geologists say is underneath Waco. The parties will reach here within two or three weeks, when their plans ilwl be fully developed.

ELLIS COUNTY MAN OPPOSED TO ANTS

He Says They Are a Greater Pest Than the Boll Weevil in This State

WAXAHACHIE, Texas, July 5.—Jim Harrison, who owns several hundred acres of fine farming land near Nash in this county, said yesterday to the correspondent that he indorsed the movement being made by parties in South Texas to have the government enjoined from importing Guatamalan ants into this state. Mr. Harrison is familiar with the habits of these insects and he says they are a greater pest than the boll weevils. According to Mr. Harrison they make life miserable for both man and beast where they exist. Mr. Harrison says it is impossible for people to live in a country infested by these ants.

INDIAN POLITICS ARE INTERESTING

Vote for Governor of the Chickasaw Nation to Be Had in August

ARDMORE, I. T., July 5.—Indian politics is assuming greater proportions this year than ever before in the history of the Chickasaw tribe. The last governor of this nation will be elected August 10. Two strong men, Richard McLish, former senator and cabinet officer, and ex-Governor Johnston, seek the honor of chief executive. Each side claim the victory, and how an Indian will cast his ballot when he gets to the polls is beyond the genius of the white man to tell and which candidate will triumph is beyond the power of prediction.

The present administration and the interior department favor the election of Johnston and from the present indications he will in all probability be the last governor of the Chickasaws.

The McLish party of Tishomingo county has held its county convention and after electing Benjamin Kemp chairman and George Burris secretary, nominated the following officers:

Senators, Gipson Keel, Ed Collins and W. H. Burris.

Representatives, Will Kingsbury, Charles McSwain, Robert Krebs, Levi Newberry, Tom Underwood.

County judge, John Ned.

County clerk, Jeff Condon.

Sheriff, Bose Johnson.

Constables, Luney Lewis and Dixon James.

Precinct collector, Martin Brown.

There are four counties in the Chickasaw nation and only one polling place to each county.

REPUBLICAN TICKET IN THIS COUNTY

Chairman Barkley Says It Is Doubtful if Candidates Will Be Put Out

The putting of a county ticket in the field by the Republicans is doubtful.

Chairman Barkley of the executive committee stated yesterday that what candidates would be put in the field would be determined by the county convention to be held July 16.

Primary conventions to elect delegates to this county convention will be held July 9 and the delegates elected at that time will decide what candidates, if any, will be brought before the people in the general elections.

From present indications it is thought unlikely that many offices will be sought by the republicans.

An old republican, when asked by a reporter what he thought of the political situation, said:

"Well, I am not used to being interview by reporters, but I think the republicans have got the inside track in this election, because they are pretty harmonious, while the other fellows don't seem to know who or what they want. I voted for Lincoln at his second election and have voted for every republican nominee since and have only lost my vote twice in forty years."

When asked what he thought of Tarrant county politics, he said:

"It is pretty one-sided, but as the present leaders of the party met last Saturday night and concluded to put a ticket in the field I think we could make a great showing with George W. Burroughs as county judge and Captain Pendleton as county attorney and Lon M. Barkley as sheriff. We ought to put up a great fight. I tell you we have got some great fighters in the G. O. P. when we get started."
