

Teachers Of Area Examine Work Of B'Spring Schools

Curriculum Conference Underway

Nashville Man, State
Educators Here
For Addresses

Work of the Big Spring public school system as an "exploratory" unit in the new curriculum methods was being viewed today by approximately 125 teachers of West Texas who gathered here for a day of conferences on curriculum topics.

Visit All Projects

During the morning, all the visiting teachers were assigned to various rooms throughout the local schools—high school classes and elementary grades. Every project being undertaken by local instructors was visited by some of the teachers so that first-hand information could be had on the revised instructional system.

The gathering is one of three curriculum conferences slated in this district of the state department of education. Educational leaders here include Dr. Joseph E. Moore, dean of the senior college of Peabody at Nashville, Tenn.; W. A. Stigler, curriculum director of the state department; Edgar Elliot Wilson, second assistant state superintendent; and Deputy Superintendents Sue B. Mann and Madge Stanford.

Afternoon, Night Sermons

Dr. Moore and Thos. E. Pierce, director of elementary education in Big Spring, were to be principal speakers at a general session at the Settles hotel during the afternoon. Tonight at 7:30 another general meeting will be held with Dr. Moore, Miss Wilson and W. T. Strange of Big Spring appearing on the program.

Registered for the conference were the following:

Mrs. Jim Hodnett, Vincent; Arah Phillips, Louise Douglas, Levilla Lomax, Anna Smith, G. C. Broughton, trustee, Moore; Mrs. Howard Sneed, Morgan; Cleo Amos, Center Point; Velma Blagrove, Bertha Blagrove, Inogene Bassett, Merick; Mr. and Mrs. Noel Y. Burnett, Floyd Burnett, H. F. Ralston.

Is Injured When Motor Scooter Strikes Auto

Virgil McNeill was being treated Monday at the Bivings hospital for injuries received Sunday evening when a motor "scooter" he was riding collided with an automobile on West Third street.

Extent of his injuries had not been determined fully Monday, but he sustained a fractured shoulder and head injuries, and severe shock.

Jess W. Orndorff, manager of the National Baseball School of Los Angeles, Calif., driver of the car which the scooter hit, told police that he was westward bound and had brought his car to a stop before turning into the Alamo courts. The scooter struck the left side of his front bumper head on, throwing McNeill to the pavement.

Ex-Convict Named In Frome Search

'Killer' And His Blonde Moll Are Being Sought

EL PASO, April 18 (AP)—A nationwide search was ordered today for an ex-convict, described as a "killer," and his blonde "moll" as the suspected slayers of Mrs. Weston G. Frome of Berkeley, Calif., and her 23-year-old daughter, Nancy.

Nearly three weeks have now elapsed since the women were slain March 30 in the cactus and mesquite reaches of the West Texas desert near Van Horn, 130 miles east of El Paso.

Sheriff Chris Fox, director of the murder investigation, said the suspect was Leo Wahler, whose name first entered the investigation about two weeks ago when Kansas City officers brought it to the attention of El Paso authorities.

Fox today asked Sheriff E. W. Biscailuz of Los Angeles, Cal., to question two prisoners held in jail there as to probable hideout of Wahler and his woman companion, Los Angeles Slaying.

The prisoners are Harry Groves and Johnny Rodriguez, who were arrested April 4 in Kansas City. They are charged jointly with Wahler in the slaying of a Los Angeles tavern owner during an attempted holdup last month.

Wahler left Los Angeles March 22 with Groves, Rodriguez and the woman, according to police. The four traveled in a Pontiac coupe and a dark Plymouth coach. The Pontiac was a stolen car, Fox said, and Wahler became uneasy about it and parted with Groves and Rodriguez at Phoenix, Arizona, on March 23—about the time the Frome women arrived there en route east. Groves and Rodriguez continued on to Kansas City where they were arrested April 4. Wahler and his companion left Phoenix the night of March 24 for El Paso in the dark coach, police learned.

Witnesses who saw a man and woman trailing the Frome Packard in a dark Plymouth coach March 30, the day of the murders, described the man as being "short and chunky with a round face and big eyes."

Fox said that description fitted Wahler. The woman subsequently seen with this suspect between El Paso and Balmorhea also fitted the description of Wahler's companion.

Wahler, Fox said, is a narcotic addict and was described by Los Angeles police as a "dangerous criminal who will shoot to kill." He was heavily armed when he left Los Angeles.

$25,000 DAMAGE IN LAMESA COTTON FIRE

LAMESA, April 18 (AP)—A warehouse of the Dawson County Cotton Oil company, containing 2,100 bales of lint cotton, was destroyed by fire early yesterday at an estimated loss of $25,000.

Officers were still investigating a fire two weeks ago which destroyed two warehouses of the Dawson Warehouse company with a loss of $193,000.

SHERIFF SENTENCED
TULSA, Okla., April 18 (AP)—Sheriff Lew Wilder of Creek county was sentenced to a year and a day in prison and fined $1,000 on a federal liquor conspiracy conviction today.

Dr. Townsend Wins Pardon From FDR

Pardoned Just Before He Starts To Jail For 30 Days

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—President Roosevelt today pardoned Dr. Francis E. Townsend, old age pension advocate, as he was about to enter the local jail to serve a 30-day sentence for contempt of a house committee.

"Very Happy"
Townsend had already reported to the district attorney's office and announced he was ready to begin service of the jail sentence when the presidential pardon was announced.

The 71-year-old pension advocate was convicted February 24, 1937, for walking out on a special committee which was investigating his plan to pay a $200 a month federal pension to all persons over 60 years of age.

Townsend was in the office of U.S. Marshal John B. Colpypps, awaiting removal to jail, when the pardon was delivered to him.

He emerged grinning broadly with the pardon in his hand. "I am very happy," he said. "It is complete vindication and an act of contrition on the part of congress."

Townsend said he would fly back to the west coast "within a few days."

A White House announcement of the pardon cited a telegram sent to the president April 15 by Chairman Bell (D-Mo) of the house committee saying:

Telegram From Bell
"Dr. Townsend is an aged man and I am firmly convinced that at the time the so-called walk-out was planned prior to his having been called as a witness and later at the time he actually did testify, his witness stand, he was under the influence of men of stronger will and intelligence than his own and that they were far more responsible for his offense than the doctor himself."

The White House announcement, reviewing the case, said:
"The nature of the offense is one which concerns primarily the congress. The authority, the dignity and the rights of the house of representatives have been fully sustained by the conviction."

"The speaker of the house of representatives, the majority leader of the house of representatives, and the chairman of the committee which originally recommended the prosecution and before which the doctor testified, have recommended the extension of executive clemency."
"The president, therefore, has pardoned Mr. Townsend."

At present the department has about 710,000 farm families on its relief and rehabilitation loan rolls. Officials of the Farm Security Administration, which directs the rural relief program, estimated that at least an additional 300,000 families need assistance. They said the president's suggested appropriation would make help possible for the bulk of those said to need it.

Rural relief expenditures this year are expected to total about $118,000,000. Most of the farmers needing aid are located in the south, midwestern drought areas, the Pacific northwest and in California.

Needy farm families seeking aid are divided into two classes—first, those who might be able to climb back to a self-supporting basis with a minimum of financial assistance and technical guidance, and second, those destitute and in no position to gain a self-sustaining basis.

Need for a separate institution to care from criminal insane was stressed by the governor.
"The fact is Texas needs nearly twice as many facilities for insane people as it has," he said.

State, county and city police continued the search for Pierson but apparently they were as far from finding him as ever.

TRAINING COURSE
FOR PATROLMEN
AUSTIN, April 18 (AP)—A hundred young men today dropped their former pursuits for a six-week training course at Camp Mabry which might lead to highway patrol and other public safety department jobs.

Those successfully completing the schooling will receive probationary assignments about June 1.

Museum And Library
Problems To Be Aired Tonight
All persons interested in the securing of a home for the Howard county museum and in promotion of a library were urged by Dr. P. W. Malone, president of the museum association, to take part in a session at the Crawford hotel at 8 p. m. Monday.

Problem of housing the museum, out of quarters since repair of its former home in the old city hall building, will be discussed. Representatives from the association, the various service clubs, city and county governments have been invited to attend.

In addition, signers of the notes on the federated club building were asked to take part in the meeting in the hope of arriving at a joint solution of clearing the notes and providing for the museum.

REPORT LINDBERGH TO MOVE ON ISLAND

ST. BRIEUC, France, April 18 (AP)—America's Col. Charles A. Lindbergh may pursue his scientific research on a lonely island a quarter of a mile off the northwest tip of France.

It was reported here yesterday that the colonel had purchased Illioe island and would make it his residence a part of each year.

The island is near that of St. Gilda, where lives Dr. Alexis Carrel with whom Col. Lindbergh in 1925 developed the artificial heart and lungs which opened a new cycle of study upon removed human organs.

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh have been visiting at St. Gilda the past two days.

Air Cleared Of Dust For Change

Shower Falls Here Sunday; Good Rains In The Valley

Big Spring and surrounding area Monday took on a more spring-like atmosphere following a brisk Easter shower Sunday afternoon. The rain, whipping a dust storm before it, cleared the air of dust rampant since a spring blizzard and dustier wrought havoc here April 17.

Reports of moisture cleared just west of the airport, where only a trace was registered. The shower began a mile east of Stanton and covered another wide strip in that area. The territory north and east of here reported beneficial showers.

Moisture, however, was too light for planting purposes. Weather prophets felt that the shower would break a spring dry spell and result in downpours capable of tiding wheat and barley crops over until near harvest time.

Reward Out For Pierson

No Trace Found Of Insane Slayer Of Parents

AUSTIN, April 18 (AP)—Governor James V. Alfred today offered a reward of $250 for the capture of Howard Pierson, 23, insane slayer of his parents, Judge and Mrs. William Pierson, who escaped from a state hospital here Friday night or Saturday morning.

Need for a separate institution to care from criminal insane was stressed by the governor.

"The fact is Texas needs nearly twice as many facilities for insane people as it has," he said.

State, county and city police continued the search for Pierson but apparently they were as far from finding him as ever.

MRS. FD APPROVES
PICTURES ON THE BIRTH OF A BABY
WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said today she approved of the "birth of a baby" pictures in Life Magazine and hoped to see soon the movie from which the pictures were taken.

The magazine published the pictures in its issue of April 8. In some boroughs of New York City and elsewhere copies of the issue were ordered seized on the grounds they violated statutes against sale of obscene literature and pictures.

"I never think honest things are bad," Mrs. Roosevelt told her press conference. "I think that suggestive things which do not deal honestly with a subject are much more harmful."

Thousands Of Children Swarm The White House Grounds For Egg Roll

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—An army of children marched on the White House today to scramble over the lawn with 100,000 Easter eggs—the biggest potential omelet in America.

HERE'S SOMETHING THE FISHERMEN MIGHT LIKE

FLORENCE, Ala., April 18 (AP)—Marvin Moomaw, merchant and fisherman, has just received credentials from the U. S. bureau of patents on his fish-stretcher.

The fish-stretcher, Moomaw explains, will take a seven-inch striped bass, for instance, and stretch it up to the legal eight inches without injuring the fish or distorting its appearance.

The device will satisfy the game warden, Moomaw claims.

Wife Charged In Slayings

Unaware That Husband Included Her On Death List

RYEGATE, Mont., April 18 (AP)—A graying 51-year-old ranch wife must face trial for allegedly aiding in her husband's admitted plotting to kill 16 "death list" victims—unaware that his purge list marked her, too, as an intended victim.

County Attorney Nat Allen declared last night he would file first degree murder charges against Mrs. Gertrude Simpson, thin-framed wife of Lee Simpson, 50, already accused of slaying two ranch employes and a deputy sheriff.

In a confession Allen said the wealthy Ryeigate ranch operator made to the three slayings, Simpson said his wife helped him bury the bodies of Robert and Gerald McDonald, brothers employed by Simpson.

On the penciled death list Sheriff Guy Tullock said Simpson surrendered to him in Lewiston, Mont., Friday was Mrs. Simpson's name, with those of the two McDonalds and 13 others Simpson said he believed were plotting to "steal" his extensive ranch property.

After cutting his wrists in what Sheriff Tullock said was a suicide attempt Saturday night, Simpson fingered in his own blood on his cell wall this uncompleted message:
"The result of a frameup through my wife and I."

Deputy Sheriff Arthur Burford, not named in the death list, was killed in a four-hour gun battle that developed Thursday night when officers went to Simpson's ranch to question him about reports he had chased men off his property with a rifle.

1,000 Due Here For Church Meet

Advance reports Monday indicated an attendance in the neighborhood of 1,000 delegates here for the district meeting of Churches of God in West Texas and New Mexico April 20-25.

Rev. Homer Sheats, pastor of the local church, said that a record attendance was expected when the district convenes here for its seventh annual gathering.

A steady growth in churches and numbers was expected to produce a corresponding increase in delegates here than registered at the Plainview convention last year.

From 40 churches in 1931 when the district was organized, the denomination now has 100 churches, Rev. Sheats said.

Sessions will be held in the municipal auditorium when delegates meet to make annual reports and hear inspirational addresses.

Big Welcome Planned For Trippers

117 Fort Worth Men Here Tuesday For Luncheon

One hundred and seventeen business men from Fort Worth will find a royal welcome awaiting them when they arrive here Tuesday noon on the first leg of their four-day trip through West Texas and eastern New Mexico.

Several members of the reception committee, composed of the officers of the chamber of commerce, the Rotary, Lions, Kiwanis and American Business club, were planning to accept an invitation by Gaylord Stone, head of the trippers, to join the Fort Worth party at Colorado.

J. H. Greene said Monday that several cars of men might go to Colorado and ride the special train back to Big Spring, introducing the delegates to the remainder of the reception committee here.

Luncheon At Settles
At 12:30 p. m. the visiting business men will be feted to a luncheon at the Settles hotel where the Rotary club is playing host, having invited the Lions, Kiwanis and American Business clubs to join in the affair.

Tom Ashley, president of the Rotary, will preside. A brief musical program is planned by the club, with Fort Worth furnishing the remainder of the program. Speakers for the visitors had not been announced Monday.

The special train bearing the Fort Worth men was due to arrive here at 12:05 p. m. and depart two hours later. From Big Spring it was to touch Midland, Frenco, Carlbad, Fortalea, Lubbock, Amarillo, Pampa and Wichita Falls on a circuit that includes stops at 28 towns in the principal trade area of Fort Worth.

Dave L. Tandy, Fort Worth, is chairman of the trip.

HUDSON, N. Y., April 18 (AP)—Nine Martini, the tenor, and 10 other passengers and a brakeman were recovering today from injuries received in a train collision early Sunday at Lathigo, 11 miles east of here.

Martini was hurled from his bed and his leg injured when the second section of the New York Central's "Troquois" bound for Chicago from New York, rammed into the first section, delayed with two other trains at Lathigo by failure of a block signal to function.

Pump-Priming Policy Held Unsound

Hamilton Assents President Wants To 'Prime Pumps'

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—Republicans took the lead today in denouncing President Roosevelt's $4,500,000,000 relief-recovery program, apparently giving up the strategy by which they sometimes let anti-New Deal Democrats direct the assaults on administration measures.

Replics To President
Republican Chairman John Hamilton and Senator Arthur Vandenberg (R-Mich) criticized the huge "pump-priming" proposals as unsound.

Chairman Hamilton, replying to the president's "fireside chat," declared Mr. Roosevelt was more interested in "priming the pumps" for the November congressional elections than in "priming the pumps of recovery."

National security, Hamilton said, can not be based on "profligate spending." He cited $40,000,000,000 of federal expenditures during five years of the Roosevelt administration in support of his contention.

Vandenberg's speech was made during a broadcast debate with Senator Hill (D-Ala.), who was elected on an administration platform last winter.

Hill said the Hoover administration, when facing a business recession, had waited so long to act that it turned the slump into a major depression.

"Business had all the freedom and encouragement it could ask for," he continued. "Only customers were lacking and neither Hoover nor his advisors knew how to give business confidence without customers. It was the man who did it was Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

Vandenberg, calling President Roosevelt's new program "a waste of money," expressed belief a "united effort along healing and constructive lines" could turn the economic tide in 90 days. He declared, however, that "pump-priming adventure" could not do it.

Amendment Proposed
To Remove Exemptions
WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—President Roosevelt's suggestion for legislation to remove tax exemptions on government securities and salaries brought a proposal today from Senator Byrd (D-Va) to accomplish the same results through a constitutional amendment.

Byrd, a frequent critic of the president's policies, said he would appear before the senate judiciary committee to urge approval of his amendment. Elimination of the present exemptions, he said, would result in:
"A substantial increase in revenue."

Grand Jury In Session

New Term Of District Court Gets Under Way

Another five weeks term of 10th district court was underway here Monday following a charge to the grand jury by Judge Charles L. Klapproth.

G. H. Hayward was named foreman of the investigative body that went into session with District Attorney Cecil Collings immediately following a routine charge by the court to look into all law violations reported, whether by actual charge or not.

Judge Klapproth announced that he would call the docket for the term at 10 a. m. Tuesday.

GARNER HAS NOTHING TO SAY TO NEWSMEN

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—Newsmen questioned Vice-President Garner on the White House steps today about reports he was strongly opposed to the president's new spending program.

"I am going to get into my automobile," Garner replied and doing so, drove off. He had just conferred with the president.

The same questions were directed at Stephen Early, White House secretary. He referred to President Roosevelt's previous statement to a press conference that such reports were made out of whole cloth.

Crude Demand Set Lower

7,300-Barrel Decline Reported At Austin

AUSTIN, April 18 (AP)—The federal bureau of mines estimated today 1,323,800 barrels of Texas crude oil would be needed daily during May.

The estimate of Texas' share of the national market, representing a decline of 7,300 barrels from the estimate for April, was announced at a statewide hearing.

At the outset of the hearing, conducted by the state railroad commission and intended to receive evidence on which to base a new conservation order for May, nothing was said about the Sunday shut-downs of Texas fields which have been in effect for several months.

Pre-hearing statements of officials indicated, however, the closings, instituted because of heavy production and declining consumption, would be continued.

Engineers reported that since April, 1937, gasoline stocks had increased 10,628,000 barrels, stocks of gasoline and fuel oil 30,031,000 barrels and crude oil stocks 10,741,000 barrels.

The demand for Texas crude in May, 1937, was said to have been 1,340,800 barrels daily, or about 18,900 barrels more than the estimate of need for crude next month.

In other words, compared with the same month last year, stocks had increased while demand had dropped.

DAR CONVENTION ON IN WASHINGTON

"Our program of national defense is one in support of American ideals in peace," said Mrs. Earl V. Sison of Chicago, a committee chairman.

"We do not want war; we want protection in the western hemisphere which will promote peace."

City Working For Air Line

Amarillo-San Antonio Route Would Pass Through Here

Aviation committee of the chamber of commerce was following up Monday on efforts of four Texas congressmen to secure a new Texas mail line from Amarillo to San Antonio via Lubbock, Big Spring and San Angelo.

Letters of commendation for his part in the attempts to secure the new line were sent to Rep. George Mahon at Washington. Mahon joined with Reps. Marvin Jones, Amarillo, Charles L. South, Brownwood, and Maury Maverick, San Antonio, in asking for the feeder line.

In proposing the line to the post-office department, Maverick pointed out that it would give the plains section of Texas quick communication with San Antonio, Big Spring and Amarillo. Important national airline hubs. Not only mail but passenger service was sought.

The aviation committee here was ready to offer whatever assistance it could to furtherance of plans for the proposed route. Big Spring, as terminal point for American Airlines on east and west schedules, was considered a logical point for the suggested line.

Special Message Soon

Mr. Roosevelt soon will send congress a special message on the tax exemption question.

In the past, supreme court decisions have been considered by many legal authorities to be a barrier to such legislation.

Senator Aburns (D-Aris) has predicted, however, that the court would "perform a flip-flop" to approve the legislation.

Byrd, in a statement, said his amendment would remove income tax exemptions from 800,000 federal workers who receive more than $1,500,000,000 a year and from 4,000,000 state and local workers receiving more than $5,000,000,000 annually.

In addition, he said, it would make fully taxable $1,114,000,000 in interest now paid on totally-exempt state, federal and local securities and $804,500,000 in interest on partially-exempt securities.

Contract Accepted By New Guild

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18 (AP)—A 1938 contract covering hours, wages and working conditions offered by the San Francisco-Oakland Newspaper Publishers' association was accepted by the Northern California Newspaper Guild membership by a vote of 243 to 22.

The contract did not provide for the "guild shop" or for preferential hiring, two of the guild's demands during three months of negotiations.

Don Wiley, guild president, in recommending acceptance of the publishers' offer to guild members at a meeting yesterday, said the contract guaranteed job security, preferential re-hiring, assurance against pay cuts, high dismissal pay, wage gains, reductions in working hours and overtime compensation.

It was the first contract to be agreed upon between the guild and the five involved papers, the San Francisco News, Chronicle, Call-Bulletin and Examiner, and the Oakland Post-Enquirer. The guild and the publishers operated under bulletin board agreements last year.

Charges Filed In Auto Race

Colorado Men Named In Complaints In Five Counties

An early morning race from Colorado to Odessa brought charges against two Colorado men Monday.

The state highway patrol announced that charges were being filed in each of five counties—Mitchell, Howard, Martin, Midland and Ector—against Dudley Snyder and Pete Smith, Colorado, for speeding and racing.

According to officers the two left Colorado for Odessa in a matched race. City police reported the cars, one trailing the other by a bare margin, streaked through Big Spring about 2 a. m. Saturday, bouncing several feet as they struck dips at the downtown intersection. Pavement on West 3rd street was scarred for several feet where impact of a jolt from one of the dips threw the car low to the street.

A Stanton night watchman, who miraculously came up with the car numbers, reported the pact was un-checked at that place. Midland officials reported two cars roaring through that town a few minutes later. They arrived at Odessa only a few feet apart, according to information from that place.

Oklahoma Attorney Slain By Wife

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 18 (AP)—Claude Nowlin, 57, one of Oklahoma's best known attorneys, was shot and wounded fatally in his home here last night as the climax of a marital quarrel.

Walter Marlin, assistant county attorney, released a statement signed by Nowlin's wife in which she confessed she fired the fatal shot after an argument during which she said her husband slapped her face.

Nowlin had figured in some of Oklahoma's most famous legal battles. He defended "Iron Jack" Walton during the former governor's impeachment trial and participated in court actions growing out of the Charles Urschel kidnaping.

He was state counsel for the Southwestern Bell Telephone company.

Mrs. Nowlin was the attorney's second wife. In July, 1933, he filed suit for divorce from her. They later were reconciled.

Mae Biddison Benson, Washington, D. C., arrived here Sunday evening for a visit with her mother, Mrs. J. T. Parrish and other relatives.

20 Percent Cut In State Funds Is Committee Aim

AUSTIN, April 18 (AP)—Sen. John S. Redditt of Lufkin, chairman of a senate committee preparing appropriation bills for the next legislature, said today a 20 per cent reduction in appropriations for state departments was the committee's aim.

"We hope to reduce the department bill approximately 20 per cent," Redditt said. "We do not want to cut any salaries in the lower brackets."

"Reductions will come from eliminating unnecessary positions, reducing travelling and maintenance expenses, abolishing duplications in services and cutting salaries in some of the higher brackets, depending on individual cases."

READING AND WRITING

"LOOKING BEHIND THE CENSORSHIPS," by Eugene J. Young (Lippincott: $3); "THE 168 DAYS," by Joseph Alsop and Turner Catledge (Doubleday: $2.75).

By chance, two recent books illustrate the arts of doctoring the news so aptly that they must be mentioned together.

The first (and most valuable) is Eugene J. Young's "Looking Behind the Censorships." This is a straightforward story by the cable editor of the New York Times in which he tells without literary flourishes just what difficulties beset those who want to get the straight fact of the news today.

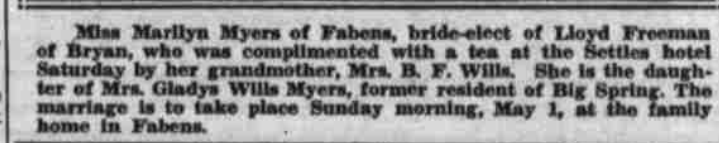

These are many, too many to be retailed here. In Germany the situation is worse; in Italy, Tokyo, Nanking, Shanghai and in many smaller capitals it is nearly as bad. Even in Paris and London, where ostensibly the press may say what it wants, the governments have ways of controlling the news—few Americans realize how the government-subsidized foreign news agencies operate, and what possibilities they offer a shrewd politician.

Mr. Young makes a good book out of his material, one which will make him persona non grata wherever he goes in Europe—if he does.

But "The 168 Days" is a horse of another breed. This is an illustration of what a clearly defined bias can do to what might have been a valuable historical survey.

Joseph Alsop and Turner Catledge are the authors, and their subject is the Supreme Court fight. They say they tried to make an accurate, unprejudiced presentation of fact: on the face of the book this effort has been a resounding failure.

It really is (many will feel) an unnecessarily nasty attack upon the president. The attack is not only on what he did in the battle of the justices, but on his motives. These two "unbiased" writers make Roosevelt appear little better than a scoundrel, and group with him nearly all who had a share in the fight. They even cloud certain undisputable facts, such as the origin and length of time the bill was in preparation. They make it appear this was a spiteful idea, conceived on the spur of the moment. But they tell of three or more months of conferences before the bill was launched!

Be Kind To The Elephants When The Circus Arrives In Town

By JOAN DURHAM
AP Feature Service Writer

You probably never thought about it but the circus too has its fine points in manners. And the circus, being a colossal institution, handles its etiquette in a colossal way.

If you go to a banquet and make the mistake of eating your salad with your oyster fork the worst you can get is a frown from the waiter. But at the circus, you'll run into a strong-arm man any time you make a faux pas.

For example, it's an unwritten law that you must pay for a ticket. Yet there are persons, and these seem to run to small boys, who insist on crawling under the sidewalk to get into the big top. Very gauche.

The Etiquette Staff

So the circus has created a special staff, members of which are known as sidewalk men, to impress upon youngsters the error of their ways.

Fred Bradna, veteran equestrian director of one of the more stupendous circuses, is our authority. Fred classifies his etiquette by age groups. After disposing of the small boys, he turned to the big ones.

Lots of them, he says, get the idea that circuses make the walls of dressing rooms out of canvas to make it easier for peepers—who like to sit the walls. But the circus frowns on peeping, too. So it posts policemen around the dressing tents, two in front and six, at least, in back.

If you're sitting up in the stands and drop your purse to the ground, your reaction will be to scramble down and get it. But that's not cricket, at the circus. Mr. Bradna counsels you to sit still. A sidewalk man—one of those same fellows who's watching for crawling boys—will retrieve your purse, he will give it to the usher and the usher will return it to you.

It happens, at circuses, that by the time the purse gets back to the

Fifth Annual Easter Affair Held By Class

Bykota Class Is Hostess To Large Group At Settles

Bykota Sunday school class of the First Baptist church recorded the largest attendance since the first year at the fifth annual Easter breakfast at the Settles hotel Sunday morning at 8:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Ira Thurman, teacher of the class since its organization five years ago, gave an inspirational Easter lesson.

As guests entered they registered in a book presided over by Ethel Jean Berry who presented each with colored Easter programs. Easter lilies and roses were arranged attractively in the club room and guests were seated at individual card tables which were laid with pastel covers and centered with rosebuds. Yellow May baskets tied with pastel ribbon and filled with colorful eggs were favors.

Invocation was given by Gladys Smith, fourth president, and Nell Brown, president, delivered the welcome address. Mrs. Searcy Whaley responded by reading an Easter poem. She was the first president of the class. After each member introduced her guest of the morning, Annie Eleanor Douglass gave a solo, "Tis the Happy Easter Time," accompanied at the piano by Lillian Shiek. ## Neither flood nor storm can silence your telephone long

We depend upon Western Electric... Bell system supply unit... to pour material into wrecked areas AT ONCE!

Floods and storms in Arkansas and Oklahoma took heavy toll of telephone lines in February. Yet almost all the silenced telephones were back in service within a few days.

One reason: Western Electric warehouse, spotted so no Southwestern Bell town is farther than an overnight jump, poured material into the wrecked areas AT ONCE.

Without Western Electric supplies, instantly available, our job of giving you good telephone service at low cost would be vastly more difficult. And Western Electric prices are moderate. Over the last 20 years its earnings have averaged less than 7%.

JIM WENT TO THE CELLAR

Last night Jim, our next-door neighbor, went to the cellar and looked over his last year's porch furniture. His appraising eye saw all the scratches and wear given the chairs last year by his three growing boys.

Jim decided that he needed some paint and a new brush; and planned to take that furniture out in the back yard next Saturday afternoon for the annual cleaning-up process.

Curious, but men all over the country are now thinking of paint, and seeds, and outdoor games. And—a new hat, a new suit and some new shirts.

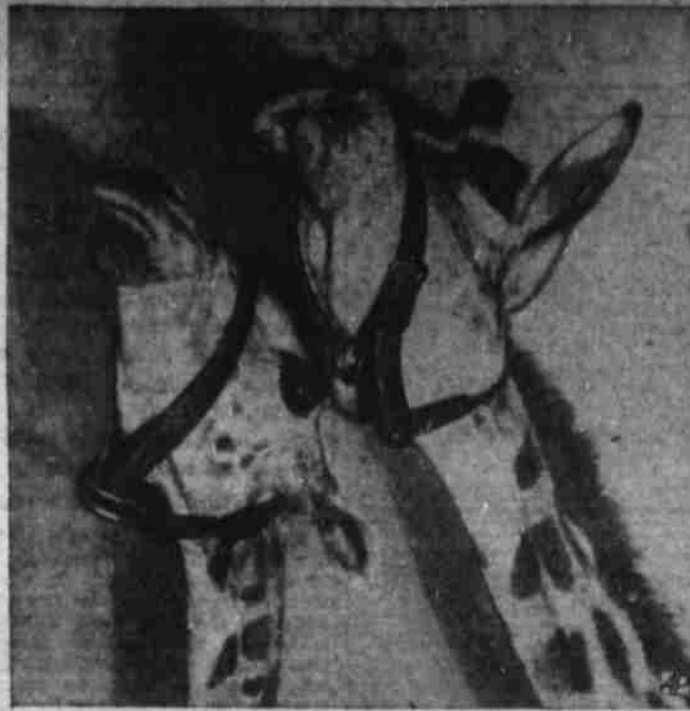

And maybe the women don't feel the urge to buy new things!

And why shouldn't they? Why be content with old things when there is money for new? Merchants are offering the latest goods of all sorts in the advertisements in this newspaper. Go to them as you would to old friends. You can rely upon their descriptions of every article.

Real Fight Looms For Infield Job

No sooner had we predicted that Red Cowley would be the regular shortstop on the local ball team than Pete Joiner comes through with a sterling piece of stick work in the Sunday battle with Sweetwater.

Barney intends to swing the axe today following a trip to Midland where he will watch the NBS team in action against the Midland Cardinals.

The Barons shape up as a pretty fair outfit now, strong behind the plate where Bernat is looking great, on the left side of the infield and in the box.

Warning: Watch Red Womack This Week

Red Womack, looking all the world like a mascot that a coach would keep around for laughs, went out and won himself a mile run in the district meet at Sweetwater Saturday and will have to be reckoned with in the regional this week if he preps himself in the right way.

The carry-top, displaying that same will-to-win that was so much in evidence during the football campaign last fall, is certainly not lacking in confidence.

But if his appearance struck the onlookers as funny it certainly seemed comfortable to him for he looped out in front of the field at the beginning and remained there throughout the race.

Red has never been beaten in the mile. The fact that he has never raced at that specialty but twice steals very little from that startling fact.

Locals Beaten By Texon PB Club, 11-1

Forsan Oilers To Be Met Here Wednesday In Park

Big Spring's baseball fortunes fared as expected Sunday afternoon, local representatives winning two of three games; defeating the Sweetwater Harvesters, 12-9, and the Midland Cardinals, 9-4, and dropping an 11-1 decision to Texon's Permian Basin league club.

The defeat at Texon was expected and probably did the members that made the trip more good than a week of training.

Sammy Timmons was hit hard during the first three innings, the Texon club collecting nine of their 11 runs but the work of his successor, Pat Stacey, was indeed gratifying to Manager Charles Barnabe.

Pete Joiner looked exceptionally well in swinging the timber in the Sweetwater battle. The scrappy short stop collected a triple, double and single in three official trips to the dish.

Donices clouted out three singles in his last appearance in a Big Spring uniform. He was released this morning along with Taylor, first baseman; Holland, second baseman; Anderson, center field; Graham, first baseman; Lockhart, center field; H. Joiner, second baseman; and O'Brien, center fielder.

The NBS outfit, composed mostly of Big Spring players, outlasted the Midland outfit easily. Jess Orndorff accompanied the crew to Midland. The team was scheduled to play there again today and will return here for a practice game Tuesday before breaking up for the year.

The Barons moved into their own park at San Antonio and West Fifth streets this morning for their workout and will make their first public appearance Wednesday afternoon against the Foran Continental Oilers.

ST. LOUIS, April 18 (AP)—Dizzy Dean, saying he is his old self again, flitted from Chicago to St. Louis in a cross-country double play that landed him today in Cincinnati, where he threatened to mow down the Reds—and all comers.

A little breathless from the quick swap of a Cardinal uniform for that of the Chicago Cubs, "the great one," who won 133 games with the Cards in six years, avoided definite victory predictions with "I'll take 'em as they come."

It was a hectic week-end for Jerome Herman and Mrs. Dean—fraded Saturday, to Chicago Sunday to meet his new boss, back to St. Louis to grab his clothes and on to Cincinnati where he expected to pitch Wednesday or Thursday.

He barged in on St. Louis, where fans still quivered from the shock of losing Dizzy, to learn the Cards had failed in an attempt to buy Van Lingle Mungo from the Dodgers, terms undisclosed.

Plenty of Cash "They probably ought to do something like that," he grinned. "But I'll bet they didn't offer all they got for me," he added, quoting the estimates that ran from $100,000 to $150,000 plus three players.

Most of that dough goes in the bank," was Dizzy's explanation. "Diz is 'tickled pink' to be with the Cubs. And he indicated they were far from unhappy.

"You know, some of those guys wanted to pinch me," he illustrated, "just to be sure it was so." "It was his salary arm he pinched. "No fooling, my arm feels great," Dizzy declared.

The 39-year-old former cotton picker whose won and lost record from 1922 through 1937 reads 18-15, 39-7, 25-23, 24-12, 13-10, wanted to know what the St. Louis fans thought of the trade announced "for the best interest" of the Cardinals.

He learned some had echoed Pepper Martin's dismal "there goes our pennant and world series money," and he added "you can't play cash on the ball field."

No Cause for Sale Dizzy could shed no light on reasons why the Cards "sold him up the river."

"These things just happen," he commented. "As far as I know, things had been fine all spring, and I sure think I'm going to have a good season."

Again he flexed the arm that caused Cardinal boss Branch Rickey to admit, even after the trade, that "Dizzy at his peak was about the most valuable player in baseball."

Announcement of the deal broke without warning in the Cards' clubhouse Saturday, just after Joe Medwick's homer gave the Cards a city series victory over the Browns.

Giant Leader Thinks Star Is Through

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP)—The breath-taking deal that sent Dizzy Dean, one of the game's great pitchers, from the St. Louis Cardinals to the Chicago Cubs in exchange for three players and a cash sum estimated up to $150,000 still had the boys standing around with their mouths ajar today as the big league campaign got off to a jerky start at Washington and Boston.

Catching everybody except the two clubs concerned flat-footed, the transaction caused bookmakers to shatter all speed records in revising their odds on the National league scramble, brought a hurricane of protest from St. Louis fans and generally scraped the polish off the American league preview, in which the champion New York Yankees engaged the Boston Red Sox and the Washington Senators entertained Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics.

Never so far back as anybody could remember had a development so vitally affecting a pennant race been broached on the eve of conflict. Dean scarcely will have time to move and find his fit in a Cubs uniform before all 16 teams in the two leagues go off in a cloud of dust tomorrow.

Manager Frankie Frisch of the Cards maintained a moody silence on the loss of his crack right-hander, refused to say how it would affect his team's chances.

In the past, Frisch on numerous occasions has said privately that he would love to struggle along without Dean's eccentric services. But Dean has been a much easier asset to get along with this spring and there was no doubt that Frisch and the Card players had high hopes "Old Diz" was going to make a comeback and help pitch them to a pennant.

Charlie Grimm of the Cubs made no attempt to conceal his delight at acquiring such a pitcher as Dean. "If Dizzy regains his olden form, the Chicago mound staff will be a powerhouse.

"I'm tickled to death we got him," said Cholly. "I wouldn't say this will mean the National league pennant, but it makes us better prepared."

"Cubs Are In" In the opinion of a majority, this was putting it pretty mildly. The average reaction among the fans was: "Well, that means that the Cubs are in." But Bill Terry of the Giants refused to make any such concession. He doesn't think Dean's got it any more.

"I don't believe for a minute that the man traded to Chicago is the Dizzy Dean we have known," said Bill. "I don't believe that Branch Rickey would have let him go if he still were a potential 20-game winner."

No other National league pilot held out pennant hopes.

Confidence Is Lacked By Fem Net Star

Mrs. Moody Says Her Game Is Sound But Competition Needed

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP)—Mrs. Helen Willis Moody picks up the var-colored thread of her tennis career Wednesday when she sails for England, another tennis campaign and the Wimbledon championships.

Few champions have had as varied a career as Queen Helen. A child prodigy of the courts, a national heroine against Suzanne Lenglen, five times Wimbledon champion, she was the greatest woman athlete of sport's golden decade. There followed a swift drop to oblivion when she left the court with Helen Jacobs in the lead.

She stood in Grand Central Station on her arrival from the coast yesterday and told reporters that, for the first time in her competitive career, she lacked confidence. "I feel I am hitting the ball as well as ever. My game is substantially the same but I haven't much confidence as yet. Only competition can give me that."

After the Wimbledon championships and the Wightman cup matches, Mrs. Moody will return to the United States.

Paper Says DiMag To Sign Contract

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP)—The New York Sun said today that Joe DiMaggio, holdout outfielder of the New York Yankees, would accept Jacob Ruppert's offer of $25,000 some time during the day.

The newspaper said it had learned that DiMaggio, who has been asking $40,000 for his services in 1938, had decided that he could not hope to get Ruppert to boost his offer. Ruppert has insisted he would not pay the outfielder one cent more than $25,000.

The Sun gave no hint as to the source of its information. "Even if DiMaggio does sign," the Yankee owner said, "he'll lose $162 a day from his salary until he reports to the club. I don't like this business."

Under baseball rules, DiMaggio must come to terms today or suffer automatic suspension.

FORSAN OILERS AND ANGELO SHEEPHERDERS PLAY TO TIE

Payne Clouts Home Run In Seventh

FORSAN, April 18—San Angelo's Permian Basin league team, the Sheep Herders, beat a rainstorm to the punch by garnering a tally in the eighth frame and succeeded in deadlocking the Foran Continental Oilers at 5-3 here Sunday afternoon.

The charges of C. J. Reed had previously gone out in front in the seventh mill when Hutto singled to drive in Cunningham after Payne had clouted out a home run.

The visitors tallied in the eighth stanza when Lowe was driven in by Phillips. From there the teams battled to a standstill for three innings at which point hostilities drew to a close due to wind and rain.

The Merders broke the ice in the second inning on runs by Phillips and Weatherford and the Oilers kicked through with a tally in the same period when Harlow took a home run, moved to second when Johnson was waived to first and tallied on Cramer's line single.

The Angeleños collected 11 assorted blows off Tip Gressitt and Moxie Beard, three of which came from the bat of Phillips, while the Foranites came in with eight safe hits.

Victory Good For S'water Golf Crown

Jinx Rides With BS Star Again; Bristow Is Beaten

SWEETWATER, April 18—Big Spring's leading hope for the numerous West Texas golf titles this season, young Doug Jones, succumbed to the runner-up just that has dogged him over the past two seasons and a misbehaving putter in the finals of the Sweetwater invitational golf tournament here Sunday afternoon but not until he had forced his opponent to the limit.

The crown, won last year by R. L. Lacey, this time went to J. T. Hammett, formerly of Rising Star but now attending Hardin-Simmons, Abilene. His margin of victory was one up, the usual manner in which Jones suffers his defeat. Jones in 1937 lost tournament matches at Cleese, San Angelo, Fort Stockton, Lubbock and Mineral Wells by the same margin. Ironically a victory in the Texon finale last summer was by a one-up advantage.

Close Battle The Big Spring youth fought the collegian all the way down the line, taking two of the final four holes played during the afternoon after absorbing an apparent 118-foot lead at the final turn, but steady stroking on the 36 by Hammett sewed the match up. Both had par fours.

In the morning rounds, Jones was out in front on the first nine from the fifth hole on when he fired a birdie three at the Cowboy star.

Hammett rallied on the second nine, however, and took a one-up lead at the rest period when Jones' putter went wild.

Doug came home with a 37, Hammett a 34. Hammett added a two-hole advantage after noon, winning 23, 24 and 27 to set the stage for the victory march.

The morning cards: Par out ... 435 534 444-38. Hammett out ... 544 554 454-41. Jones out ... 535 535 445-39.

Par in ... 435 534 444-38-72. Hammett in ... 425 534 344-34-75. Jones in ... 535 534 444-37-78.

Afternoon cards: Hammett out ... 535 534 444-39. Jones out ... 525 535 455-40. Hammett in ... 435 545 464-40-79. Jones in ... 434 444 454-38-79.

Obie Bristow, Big Spring, was beaten, one-up, by James Dixon of Crowell, E. B. Dozier, Sr., Midland, won the first flight; J. S. Amour, Trent, second flight; P. L. Ullom, Sweetwater, third flight; and Roy Duckett, Sweetwater, fourth flight.

Okla. Outfits Move South For Games

Beaumont Rides In First Place With Five Victories

By the Associated Press Games today: Oklahoma City at Fort Worth (night). Tulsa at Dallas (night). San Antonio at Shreveport (day). Beaumont at Houston (night).

Oklahoma City and Tulsa, the later in second place in Texas League standings after skirmishes in the northern division, come south today to engage Texas entries, while league leading Beaumont, five wins under its belt, meets the Buffs at Houston.

San Antonio's Missions, fresh from splitting a four game series with Houston, trek over to Louisiana to meet Shreveport, the baby club of the circuit, and the outfit which gave Beaumont such a start.

Extra Inning Game Manager Claude Jonnard shook up his lineup yesterday and Shreveport's Sports battled Beaumont's Exporters on even terms from the time they tied the score in the ninth until Secory and Perry doubled in the extra-inning eleventh to give Beaumont 2 to 1. The game was at Beaumont.

Tulsa's Oilers took the best end of a heavy hitting spree on their home diamond to wallop Oklahoma Phillips, 4 to 1. City 12 to 6 and send the Indians to next to last place in standings.

The Indians have won 1, lost 2. Charles (Chill) Wagner, pitching three-hit ball with flawless support by his fellow Missions, shut out the Houston Buffs at Houston 15 to 0.

Timely hits and Fort Worth errors were a potent mixture which gave the Dallas Steers a 5 to 2 victory over their traditional rivals at Dallas, as well as the opening league series with the Cats, by three games to two.

WRECK WEATHER IS COMING

Summer approaches, the pulse of nature quickens, life begins, and shortly the country's motorists will start slowing up one another's pulses and ending their lives.

Traffic cops know that good weather breeds bad accidents. The safest time to take a spin is at the height of a rainstorm or the tag end of a good thick blizzard.

Most people are more than ordinarily cautious then. When the sun comes out and the roads dry off, everybody does a little relaxing, lets it out, and turns his car into a kind of traveling nut house.

The season, therefore, is ripe for taking stock... of your own assets and liabilities, as a driver, the ones that appear to be those of the average driver you encounter, and those of your car as something to entrust your life to.

How long it will take to make the nation's highways as safe as its sidewalks nobody cares to guess, but the problems of traffic have never commanded such concerted, nationwide study as they are now receiving.

National organizations, community groups, city, county, state and federal officials are going after satisfactory solutions from every conceivable angle.

Highway improvement is one idea. The chairman of Connecticut's highway safety commission has recently expressed a hope, as have others, for compulsory car inspection prior to any transfer of ownership of a second-hand automobile.

The imposition of driving tests and other examinations on license applicants is growing.

A Chicago traffic court judge has gone to the extent of having traffic law violators examined by psychiatrists, and induced to take treatments whose purpose is the correction of the "personality twists" responsible for their abnormal behavior at the wheel.

The greatest moment, and the most effective one, is the safety education campaign among children and adults. Figures on traffic deaths and injuries in cities all over the country show startling reductions where such campaigns have been pursued.

If present efforts in the direction of highway safety are kept up with continued interest, a traffic death in the future will really be news.

Two passersby, noting Downey's non-professional appearance, started to beat him up. Downey subdued and arrested his assailants for disorderly conduct—but his prisoners had disappeared.

TIME TO TAKE STOCK—III

In looking at the situation which we are now in it is necessary to keep in mind some realistic facts about the American system of government. This administration is in power till 1940.

The president of the United States has suffered some severe defeats at the hands of congress, but he is still enormously popular, and congress knows it.

A deadlock between congress and the president would be unfortunate, and could only give comfort to the little handful of people who hate Roosevelt more than they love their country.

At the same time, a continued deadlock between government and business will mean catastrophe for the economic system. Therefore, it is necessary that all sides must try to reach a modus vivendi with the utmost speed, and that is going to mean compromise.

The administration's solution for this depression is to spend more money. It is now clear that congress seriously and tightly doubts whether spending more money will of itself accomplish the desired aim.

So the question is whether we can have directed and useful spending, accompanied by an honest reconsideration of the New Deal program to date.

The spending would be a concession to the president. The reconsideration of the program, a concession to congress. And both together might heal the breach and put us on the way to recovery.

Any kind of a spending program must be based on an accurate evaluation of what is wrong with our economy at the present moment.

Throughout this depression the premise has been maintained by the administration that the recession of business was due to under-purchasing power on the part of the masses because of two low wages and too low returns to agriculture, relative to existing profits, and that if this purchasing power were augmented we should have prosperity.

This premise was implicit in the administration's fight for the wages and hours bill as an anti-depression measure, and was reiterated less than a month ago in the president's Gainesville speech. This premise is the only justification for a new huge extension of WPA expenditures, considered not as a humanitarian, but as a recovery measure.

If what is done is done on this premise, it will fail. Because the recession did not begin, and the depression was not caused, by under-purchasing power on the part of the masses. This is a depression due to under-investment in capital goods, and the administration's own advisers now know it. The purchasing power of the workers of this country, adjusted to the cost of living, and making allowance for unemployment, was higher in January, 1935, than it was in 1929, despite the fact that production was way behind the 1929 level.

The only big spurt in employment and in the national income began in the second quarter of 1935, with a revival in the durable goods industries. Under this spurt, and in a very few months, unemployment fell from 11,000,000 to 6,000,000, whereas all the previous spending had only reduced it from 14,000,000 to 11,000,000.

If, therefore, congress considers that $1,250,000,000 for WPA relief to be expended in seven months starting July 1 will notably aid recovery, this column believes that congress will be making a mistake.

The addition of a large number of people to the WPA relief rolls will mean, first, that they will pay nearly twice as much to give a man a job as it would cost to give him the same amount of money as straight relief during an emergency and, secondly, that the work which he does will be of a character which adds nothing to the production of wealth, and does, therefore, contribute to produce an organic inflation.

Expenditures for PWA, that is to say, for genuine and necessary public works are another matter. But it is previous experience of Mr. Ickes, and the present opinion of students of the situation, both indicate that it would be impossible to spend $1,500,000,000 as conscientiously and usefully as previous PWA expenditures have been made.

The purpose of these expenditures must be to pump in the pump in the heavy industries, and this is not done by voting $20,000 to make a study of vital statistics in Flint, Mich. It is doubtful whether more than $250,000,000 could be spent methodically, usefully, and for the purpose designed, in the time allotted.

Whatever government spending is done, it is absolutely necessary to abandon once and for all the idea that government spending is a permanent vehicle of prosperity. It can only be used as a measure of temporary expediency, and we must get it out of our minds that a highly organized economy can keep healthy and productive merely by spreading purchasing power.

Spending ought to be concentrated on projects of short-time execution that will aid capital goods production, and will enable the government to withdraw on short notice. We ought not, for instance, to start now as a recovery measure, building large dams that take five to 10 years to be completed. We ought to do things which can be done in laps. In the spring of 1937, the government had too few projects that they could taper out on, and therefore deflationary measures had to be applied suddenly to everything, through monetary restrictions.

Spending has to be decentralized and withdrawn from the political control of Washington. And it seems to me that it ought to be a legal obligation to publish at regular intervals a list of the orders actually placed and a description of actual projects with the facts about the number employed, the amount of money involved, and the purpose. There is at present no control by the public on expenditures, good or bad. It is literally a fact that the people have no way of knowing what the WPA is or has been doing in any detail whatsoever.

Then, congress ought to insist on a behavior of the administration and its advisers which will not jeopardize the beneficial effects of

NEW YORK—9:25 p. m. ... It is a very black night. The telephone in an east side clinic jangles sharply, and a young interne lifts the receiver. "When did this happen?" he says into the transmitter, after a pause. "Well, don't move here. I'll be there directly."

He hangs up the receiver. "Where is 214 M avenue, Miss Stephens?" ... The nurse thinks for a minute. "It's a bad neighborhood, doctor. Perhaps someone should go with you."

The doctor slips off his white jacket and puts on a heavy coat. "He goes out chucking to himself. Red light, stop... Green light. The old car cuts across town, emerges into Chatham Square, edges out to the left, to what is known as the Syrian quarter, but what really is the great sprawling settlement of mixed Europeans and Asiatics. He turns into a narrow, dark street where abandoned warehouses are like great empty blobs of gloom. There are a few houses... There are no lights. On an empty corner a cat sends up its half-human, eerie cry. "I'll need my flashlight," murmurs the doc. "For some reason he has an odd presentment of—well, it certainly is a gloomy night!"

There is, suddenly, a flashlight in his face. "Just come with me," a voice tells him. "This way. Now, step carefully."

The doc shrugs. "But he is thinking fast... leads the way up a pair of stairs and into a room in which no light shows. In the vague shadows are human beings, two by two. They are as silent as waxen images. They sit there and say nothing. In the shadows the doc bites his lip, and curses.

"This way," the man tells him. "Another man has fallen in behind the doctor. The man who does the talking leads the way. His flashlight is playing against a darkened hallway now. They follow it, and come to a stairs. They go down these stairs, into a basement, which is blacker than the East river's muddy bottom. The doctor allows in an effort to relieve the tightness at his throat. ... To lunge out suddenly and chance all on a blow, and a dash up the stairs!"

"He thinks: 'This is it. They've got me. This is it, all right.' "See here," says the man with the light. "There it is." He plays the beam on a black meter box against the wall. "A fuse must have burned out. All the lights went out about a half hour ago, and me with a poker party on upstairs!"

The doctor leans up against a post and fills his lungs with a sudden, full breath. "Didn't you telephone for a doctor? Isn't this 214 M avenue?"

"Doctor? 214? Naw, this is 204. Ain't you an electrician?" "I got a call from 214," the medico answers!

"Gee, Doc, I'm sorry. That's old lady Perkins. She must have another fainting spell. She's the one who lives at 214. ... But me, I'm looking for an electrician. ... I got a poker party on up stairs. ... I got seven guests."

2—The girl looked demurely up at the stars in poses like this—and was one—back in silent pictures. Last year she staged a comeback which still is going strong.

3—This youth had his pictures taken in such poses as this before he packed up for England. But he came back in a swash-buckling role and now is a top-rate leading man.

4—The screen seldom saw this fellow in an outfit like this, but on occasion he forgot his horse for comedy's sake. Lately he's been traveling on other business and hasn't made movies, but he's still a big name of the movies.

The Bonwood Barrier

By BLANCHE SMITH FERGUSON

Chapter 20 CINDERELLA AND THE PRINCE In the log cabin Gary provided, they had dinner. His eyes rested hungrily upon Judith's animated face, as though he was trying to preserve a mental picture, trying to recall—what?

Two moths circled the candle flame in mad ecstasy. "Judith," Gary burst out, when Alf had brushed away the last crumb and they sat on at the gay little table with the haze of cigarette smoke between them. "We made an awful mess of our lives, didn't we?"

She was unprepared for this from him. "I was thinking about it walking up the hill tonight," the man frowned perplexedly, "trying to figure out how it happened."

As if he didn't know! She moved a candle an inch nearer and stared at him as one stares at a stranger whom one doubts. He appeared honestly bewildered. She longed to cry out: "You're trying to figure out? You know you went away with Clasy! You were always going away—filing me a kiss—keeping me waiting—leaving me to heart-break!"

Gary said: "It came over me tonight with terrific clearness, Judith. I shouldn't be here this way—just spending an evening like any casual caller. You should be mine—my wife."

Loyalty to Reuben demanded that she should contradict him. But she couldn't contradict him. "How did it happen?" From this distance Gary could almost forget that Clasy's wit, charm and celebrity had fascinated him. That her money had lured him. That if it had not been Clasy it would have been someone else. "How?"

"How does everything in life happen and—why?" She achieved a lightness. "Because we're like those moths," Gary said bitterly, "dazzled, stupid, blundering, blind!"

It was an entirely new theory for him. Until tonight he had always been quite sure he could make things happen as he willed. Now, looking at her, so near he could touch her, yet remote as the moon and utterly forbidden, Gary realized with a sort of physical shock that he had been tricked by his own ego, his own cocksureness. There was a time when he could have had Judith. Now—

Face to face with that thing called Love—the thing he had played at lightly all his life, even as those moths were playing with the flame that sooner or later would destroy them—Gary found that the hours of reckoning—the adding and subtracting of the balance sheet, with the deficit on the wrong side, could be devastating. Total bankruptcy! A devil of a thing to happen to Gary Brent who had been so sure!

One of the moths fell into the flame. Judith sighed: "I should have put out the candle."

"No. On high moment is worth all of life."

Fascinated they watched the reforming moth draw nearer to its doom. The moth, from sheer exhaustion, fell into the flame. The candle sputtered and fluttered briefly, then resumed its steady burning.

"I Love You" After a moment Judith said: "I hear music."

"It's nine o'clock. The dance is starting. Want to try the light fantastic, Judy? Crackerjack music—Not too crowded—"

"Gary—if I could dance once more!" "We're on the way!" "But the babies—?" "Afraid to leave them with Alf?" "N—no. I've never left them since they were born."

"Well—of all things! Why not?" "Never had any reason to, had I been living back in Maryland, I'd have gone out every night!"

Cinderella going to her fairy ball never felt more excited than Judith walking down Winding Hill, on treacherous still heels with her arm through Gary's.

"I didn't dream there was such a place in the world," Judith said happily. "The privacy of the wilderness, and people within hailing distance—I love it!"

"And I love you!" He had to say it. It was torn from him—not on the old flirtatious note—with the gruffness of deep feeling. "I've been the world's worst fool! Judith! I love you!"

I love you! Judith tried to steady the whirling earth. "Gary—don't spoil a perfect moment!" "You don't want to hear it?" "No."

But she did want to hear it. She wanted to hear it again and again and again. She wanted to live and die hearing Gary say—"I love you—I love you—I love you—"

It was the thing she had been waiting for all her life. Reuben awoke that morning to the old snoring sensation. Judith was coming. If work went smoothly, if everyone pulled together and finished the section, he could get down to the camp tonight, by nine o'clock and take her to the dance.

He hurried feverishly through the day, a human dynamo, driving men to do their utmost, making impossible tasks easy—lending a hand here, taking an ax there, joking with the discouraged, Hectoring the laggards—

By seven o'clock, unconscious of tensed nerves, tired muscles, of the long miles ahead, he was on his way to Base No. 2. He needed a haircut. Have to stop at the barber shop. Glad he still had some decent clothes—

It was five minutes after nine when she reached the camp. As always, whether he had been away hours or days, the thought of going home to Judith warmed the cockles of his heart. The knowledge that it was to such a poor home, one so utterly unworthy of Judith, held against the warmth like an icy breath, taking something of his youth. Taking much of the confidence that had been his in the woods. He turned down a tent bordered lane. "Number 16 is at the very end of the line and under a tall pine, Reuben remembered. Jimmy and Judykin would be asleep but Judith would probably be busy as a nailer getting things shipshape. It would be fun helping—"

He stopped short, looked around in bewilderment. Just a blackness. A vacant space. Had he missed the way in his haste? Made a wrong turning? No. Here was the pine. A rigida pole. A roll of canvas—but no welcome—no Judith!

Fear clutched him like a giant hand. Had something happened? The road up was treacherous in spots—

By the time he reached Pike's store his breath ragged at his throat making speech, for the moment, almost impossible. "The bus—it didn't get in!" Pike opening a barrel of sugar paused to wipe his perspiring face on his shirt sleeve. "But your misas and kids weren't on it."

She hadn't come! Judith had scorned the camping ground! He might have known—

"When your wife didn't come on the bus I naturally concluded she would show up until next week and I didn't hurry to get the tent up, see?" Pike explained reasonably.

Reuben said nothing. Judith hadn't come—Until that moment he hadn't known how much he had counted on Judith's coming.

"I had plenty to keep me busy I can tell you. They, the store-keeper and handy man gestured widely, "can thank up more jobs in one minute! There's no keeping up with them! But," in an injured tone, "if you'd a hinted that Mrs. Oliver might drive up—"

"Drive? Mrs. Oliver—?" "Got in about five or thereabouts. If you'd a told me—"

"Where is she?" "Mr. Brent took her to the Winding Hill cabin. The camp's busy body informed Reuben. They're up at the pavilion dancing now. I seen them going."

Muttering unintelligibly, Reuben left the store. Vaguely he heard Pike saying something about "getting the fixin's up at day-break," but somehow it didn't make sense. One thing only was clear in Reuben's mind. Judith had come and despite all his forethought for her comfort, it was to Gary Brent that she owed it. A greater comfort than Reuben Oliver could provide.

Outside he hesitated, uncertain which way to go. Disappointment, jealousy, black rage took complete possession of him, blotting out sanity, reason, as black storm clouds obscure the sun. Senseless, beyond all reason he blamed Judith. That she could do this to him! Humiliate him! Accept favors from Gary Brent whom he despised. It was bad enough to have to work under him, but for his wife to accept favors—

Mechanically he turned in the direction of Plot 16. The ground seemed to rise up and hit him. The stars left their sky and came down to whirl about his head. The music from the pavilion drummed against his brain—She had gone dancing with Gary—

Not since that far away day when he had discovered the theft of his first $5 had he felt so

Youngster Underdog In Bout With Big Finn Threat

LOS ANGELES, April 18 (AP)—In nine distinct languages and an assortment of dialects, Paul Damaki will tell you that his fighter from Finland, Gunnar Barlund, will be the heavyweight champion of the world some not far away day.

Damaki, born in Lithuania and for nine years the biggest boxing promoter in Germany, has faith in Barlund can whip Max Schmeling, Max Baer and Tommy Farr, who have been ranked ahead of the Finn in the list of challengers to champion Joe Louis' rulership.

"Barlund can beat them if we can get them in the ring," said Damaki, proceeding to relate that his fighter was crossed out of a chance to meet Max Baer next month.

"They told me Barlund could have Maxie if he won from Buddy Baer, and Max in the meantime won from Tommy Farr."

The Gunnar, fresh from whipping Alberto Lovell of Argentina, proceeded to belt Buddy Baer into submission in seven rounds in Madison Square Garden, and Max Baer signaled a comeback by winning from Farr.

Barlund goes into the ring here tomorrow night against Chuck Crowell, an ambitious youngster, 6 feet 6 inches tall, weighing 220 pounds, who has built up a reputation for himself in California during the past year. The bout promises to pack the big Olympic auditorium.

Conversion Of Natural Gas Seen As Method To Prolong Fuel Resources Of The Nation

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor

DALLAS, April 18—The end of the United States' gasoline resources was pushed back 30 per cent or more today by a report to the American Chemical Society on the newest ways of changing natural gas into liquid gasoline.

"Re-forming," spelled with a hyphen, is the technical name for this "conversion." The process, in its present "infancy" stage, is capable of adding twenty per cent to the country's gasoline supply. American gasoline production last year was twenty billion gallons.

The 20 per cent estimate is ultra-conservative, Dr. Per K. Frolich, who made the report, refused to estimate. But enthusiastic petroleum chemists have claimed that an immediate 50 per cent addition to gasoline could be made from natural gas. Dr. Frolich is director of the chemical laboratories of the Standard Oil Development company, Elizabeth, N. Y.

Under the latest discoveries about extracting gasoline, Dr. Frolich said, natural gas and petroleum rate the same as resources. Gas can be "re-formed" into liquid fuel by the same cracking processes which in the recent past have more than doubled the amount of gasoline from oil.

How long the gas-reinforced gasoline resources will last chemists refused to predict. The outside estimates, without using the natural gas, have ranged around 100 years.

The present ability to change gas into liquid fuel is limited. One big obstacle is methane, or marsh gas, which exists in large quantities in natural gas. It cannot now be changed into gasoline.

"But," Dr. Frolich pointed out, "no one dare say greater conversion is impossible. For 10 years ago we did not know any way to change into gasoline the fractions of natural gas that are now being converted."

PLOT AGAINST THE RUMANIAN GOVT. BEING PROBED

BUCHAREST, Rumania, April 18 (AP)—Military court began today a thorough investigation of a supposed plot against the crown-dominated government, and held under strict guard the anti-inclined Corneliu Zelea Codreanu and 80 of his colleagues.

Codreanu, leader of the banned, extremely rightist Iron Guard, and 300 of his followers were detained in a series of police raids throughout the country last night.

Those with weapons were jailed. Codreanu and the 80 with him were detained in his Bucharest headquarters, known as the Green House.

Police intimated that a Putsch had been planned against the government of Premier Dr. Miron Cristea, patriarch of the Rumanian Orthodox church.

Coincidental with the arrests, new defense laws were announced, forbidding propaganda for a change in the form of the state, reduction of taxes or conflict between classes.

PRESIDENT IS PREPARED FOR TODAY'S TOSS

WASHINGTON, April 18—President Franklin D. Roosevelt—his right arm ready for baseball's 1938 inaugural toss—displayed his gold-encrusted season pass today to obtain a box seat at Griffith Stadium.

He and approximately 32,000 other fans will watch the Washington Senators and the Philadelphia Athletics begin their diamond-doings for 1938.

Despite possible showers, Clark Griffith, president of the Senators, predicted a sell-out that would require tickets for standing room.

For his pitcher, Manager Bucky Harris of the Senators nominated Wesley Ferrell.

Manager Connie Mack, true to form, withheld his selection until the last moment. It was said, however, he might pitch Almon Williams.

For his pitch, President Roosevelt was handed a glistening regulation ball—which, incidentally, never reaches the diamond.

Here is what has happened on nearly every opening day since Clark Griffith persuaded President Taft to make baseball a part of presidential diversion:

Smiling broadly, the president grasps the ball, holds it high for all to see, and then patiently poses while cameras click.

The players of both teams, down to the rookies who will be back in the minors when squad cutting time comes next month, line up before the presidential box.

Silence momentarily hangs over the stadium. The president lets fly. The ball usually travels about as far as a ten-year-old girl can hurl it.

A half-million dollars worth of baseball talent scrambles for the ball, and the lucky one gets it.

Hiding his boredom, an umpire hands the Washington catcher the real baseball, and the game is on.

Fund Bill Is Submitted

220 Million Proposed For Non-Military Work Of War Dept.

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—The house appropriations committee asked congress today to appropriate $220,634,725 for non-military activities of the war department for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

This total, which includes $37,000,000 President Roosevelt suggested in a relief message last week for flood control, is $23,618,838 above the estimates prepared four months ago by the budget bureau and $25,098,662 more than for the current year.

The bill carries $94,300,000 for general river and harbor work, compared with $128,000,000 this year; $113,000,000 for flood control projects, compared with $105,000,000 this year, and $10,250,125 for the Panama canal, $23,635 less than for this year.

Although the $220,634,725 total is more than $25,000,000 above the 1938 appropriation, the war department this year was given $52,500,000 in relief funds, making the funds available for 1938 actually $26,401,338 more than the bill proposes for the next year.

The committee recommended that $31,000,000 of the flood control appropriation be spent on the Mississippi river and its tributaries.

The army engineers were given $45,000,000 for that purpose this year, but the total included $22,500,000 of relief money.

The bill also carries $178,400 for the office of Paul McNutt, Philippines high commissioner, $28,200 more than for this year; $1,266,698 for cemetery expenses of the quartermaster corps; $187,600 for the signal corps Alaska communications system, and $801,572 for the United States soldiers' home here.

VERNON GOMEZ TO BE RADIO GUEST TODAY

You baseball fans who like real enthusiasm as well as knowledge of the game from your sports commentators will find one who fits in Paul Douglas, Chesterfield's baseball expert, who will review the games and players nightly at 6:30 p. m. E.S.T., starting April 18th with the season's opening, in a quarter-hour broadcast over 50 National Broadcasting company stations from the Atlantic coast to the Rocky mountains.

PAUL DOUGLAS

Douglas is not only one of the country's best sports commentators but a real fan who never misses a game if he can help it. He roams the parks, knows all the players, and gets as wildly excited as the dyed-in-the-wool baseball over who does his broadcasting from the outfield bleachers and bath a carrying voice.

The opening broadcast of Chesterfield's 1938 daily sports resume will come from Boston, where Douglas will come on the air after viewing the New York Yankees and the Boston Red Sox in their American League 1938 debut. He will have as his guest at the mike the Yankee southpaw star, Vernon "Lefty" Gomez, who no doubt will have the opening day mound assignment of the world champions. Later on in the season, Douglas will have "Gabby" Hartnett, Chicago Cubs' catcher, "Ducky" Medwick, slugging outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, and other diamond stars as guest commentators. This 1938 Chesterfield baseball series lines up as a sweet early evening dish for every fan in this territory who has a working radio.

TRACK CHAMPIONS PREPARE FOR REGIONALS THIS WEEK

By The Associated Press

Dallas' Woodrow Wilson Wildcats, merrily battling to repeat as state champions, paced 32 district titlists into regional Texas interscholastic league track and field meets scheduled on eight widely separated fronts Saturday.

The Wildcats, boasting a well-balanced squad, became regional favorites by qualifying eight men in the district meet at Dallas last week.

The regional eliminations—which will nominate approximately 400 athletes for the state meet at Austin May 6 and 7—will be held at Canyon, Abilene, Denton, Longview, Huntville, San Marcos, Kingsville and Alpine.

The stand-out of the Woodrow Wilson team is Arthur Bowman whose district mark of 49 feet 43 inches in the shot put was one of the best showings in the state last week.

New Star Sighted

An outstanding dash star was uncovered at Victoria in Frank Crain, Jr., of Patti Welder High, who raced the 100-yard event in 9.9 seconds. He is also a top hand in the 200-yard dash and runs anchor on the relay team.

Champions were decided in 24 districts last week as follows: 1—Claude, 2—Pampa, 3—Lubbock, 4—Childress, 5—Loraine, 6—Baird, 7—San Angelo, 8—Brady, 9—Harrold, 10—Fort Worth Poly, 11—Woodrow Wilson, 12—McGregor, 16—Lufkin, 17—Bryan, 21—Carrizo Springs, 22—Jefferson (San Antonio), 23—Austin, 25—Victoria, 28—Hartlingen, 29—Austin (El Paso), 30—Fort Stockton, 32—Winfield, 33—Marfa.

Champions determined the previous week were: 13—Campbell, 14—Texarkana, 15—Grand Saline, 18—Conroe, 19—John Reagan (Houston), 20—Port Arthur, 26—Corpus Christi, 27—Freer.

The state Class B meet will be held at Denton May 6 and 7. First and second place winners in the Class B divisions of the county meets will participate.

SEES ADJOURNMENT BY FIRST OF JUNE

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—Representative Rayburn of Texas, the house democratic leader, today reiterated a prediction congress would adjourn between May 20 and June 1.

Rayburn, Vice President Garner and Speaker Bankhead attended the customary Monday conference with the president before he left for his office.

"We just had a nice quiet little talk with no decisions on anything," Rayburn said, adding that taxes came in for incidental mention.

The leaders reiterated they believed the recovery relief program would be framed in one bill.

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP)—Onkel Frank Frieh will not sit-down on the mourners' bench with Jimmy Dickey Cochran, and listen to Gus Q. Fan holler. Losing Dixie Dean was like Pepper Martin losing his guitar player. But there's more than one "smeller" trying to smell something back of the whole biz. What if old Dix should bring a sore arm to Chicago, frinstance? Whatever way you look at it, the Gas House 'Hout can't have enough gas to lift itself anywhere this year.

They're off and running today in the big league derby, and, as advertised, this corner goes for the Cubs and Yankees to come home in front. The Cubs because, besides Dix, the law of averages just can't have them getting kicked around by old man injury jinx as much as they were last year. And the Yanks because they still have their bats. But don't sell the Giants and Cleveland short. Terry's Terriers are stronger than last year, and if Oscar Vitt can't give the Tribe a shot in the arm nobody can. This department also likes Joe DiMaggio for the American league batting champ, provided he doesn't keep on selling fish dinners all summer. With Ken Keltner giving him a fight for the honors. And Ducky Medwick to beat out Johnny Mize in Mr. Frick's follies again. Also watch Johnny Allen and Jim Turner when the pitching averages start coming out.

Around the circuits: A wag wires: "Unstarred Dean won't pitch for the Cubs unless they make the board of master-minds a quartet. Haw. Umps Ziggle Sears' son, 'Little Ziggle' to the boys, is doing nice work as catcher for Alabama's freshman team. Jakia May, the old Red's southpaw, spends his time smoking hams down on the North Carolina farm. Maybe he could give Bill McKechnie some pointers about Cincinnati's 1938 pitchers. Jimmy Wilson, who only manages the Phillies, caught for his "second team" against Trenton yesterday, while the varsity was taking a 12-1 thumping from Newark. Dr. James Stotter, noted plastic surgeon, conducted a survey of the big leagues and found that the "snooze" champ isn't Ernie Lombardi but Al Scheach.
