For Seventy-three Years a Builder in Collingsworth County

Volume LXXII — WELLINGTON, COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY, TEXAS 79095 — THURSDAY, JUNE 30, 1983 — Number 30

WHEAT HARVEST

Dust flies Tuesday from Tony Cox's combine as it rolls across a wheat field, part of Collingsworth County's best wheat harvest in years. Below, left, Cox dumps wheat into a grain truck headed for the elevator. Center, Rodney Porter makes a minor adjustment on a combine between rounds. Says Porter: "I've never seen a combine that didn't need to be worked on about every 30 minutes." Right, Porter holds a head of TAM 101 variety wheat. The variety was developed by Texas A&M and is well-adapted to the county with features including good stalk strength, good drought resistance and high yields. Wheat harvest should be nearly complete by the end of this week.

Big Wheat Harvest Is Winding Down

Collingsworth County's wheat crop is basically over, the shortest period of time in which a crop has been harvested in the memory of the men now associated with the three elevators. Basically, the harvest will be over by the end of this week.

Total yields from this crop is still in question. Elevator owners and managers say they still have not had a chance to tally the grain that has poured in.

Glen Warrick of Warrick's Inc. said the wheat was coming from so many directions it's hard to determine where the harvest is.

Principally, the wheat now being received is from north of Salt Fork River and a little in the sand around Quail, plus a few scattered isolated fields not yet cut.

Warrick cited the problem with getting wheat out of town by rail.

"The train jumped the track up here one night and sat there for several days before they got it on the track again," he said.

Warrick's has no wheat on the ground at its Wellington elevator, but does have approximately 40,000 bushels on the ground at its Reed, Okla., elevator. "That is wheat country," he said.

He credits larger and faster machines as a factor in getting the 1983 crop out with such speed.

Bill Lowe, manager of Singley Mill and Elevator, called this harvest the shortest (in time) he can remember.

He said that locally the crop is pretty well out, but at least half the grain he is now receiving is coming from Hall and Donley Counties.

So far, no wheat has been shipped, but Lowe said the elevator is about filled to capacity. "I've put wheat this time where I've never put wheat before. We haven't loaded any out. We may have to but my intentions are to keep it all here."

Ray Hightower of Farmers Co-op at Dodson said the crop was winding down around Dodson (including northeast Childress County and west Harmon County.

He estimated around 15,000 to 20,000 bushels are left in the fields, and that is coming in slowly.

He said farmers have had only one or two days that were too damp for cutting.

Hightower had to put some wheat on the ground but he said Tuesday that is going back in the elevator, as more grain is trucked to the Fort Worth terminals.

He isn't sure if any of his customers had any 60 bushel yields, but if they didn't, there were yields that were close to that figure.

State, Feds Fight Over Pot

Federal and state law enforcement officials are squabbling over who will investigate the case the who will take possession of a plane, filled with an estimated $2.5 million worth of marijuana, which was seized after it landed in north Childress County June 18.

District Attorney David McCoy said regional officials of the Texas Department of Public Safety Narcotics division and regional officials of the federal drug enforcement agency will meet in Amarillo Friday to try to decide who has jurisdiction in the case. McCoy said U.S. Customs officials contend that they and federal drug enforcement officials had the plane under surveillance first. But Texas DPS narcotics division officers say the State of Texas has been tracking the plane for over a year.

McCoy said that if the dispute cannot be settled at the regional level Friday, the Colonel of the DPS and the Director of the DEA will decide who will investigate.

No arrests have been made in the case.

McCoy said he has

Bloodmobile Here July 28

A bloodmobile from the Red River Regional Blood center in Wichita Falls will be in Wellington for a regular visit Thursday, July 28.

Eighty units of blood will be needed to meet this county's quota, and this means that at least 100 people be signed up to potential donors.

The visit is under the auspices of Collingsworth General Hospital Auxiliary, with Mrs. Billye Owens as director in the absence of Mrs. Loretta Wright, Auxiliary president.

Mrs. Owens stressed the need for securing volunteer donors. "This is a time of year when lots of people are out of town-- on wheat harvest or on vacation," she said.

Pam Webb from the staff of the blood center in Wichita Falls was in Wellington recently to review plans with Mrs. Owens, who has served in this capacity during a number of past bloodmobile visits.

The Red River Regional Blood Center provides all blood and blood derivities to Collingsworth General Hospital for its patients needs, no mater how much blood may be called for.

In return, the county is asked to provide 80 units of blood each time the bloodmobile comes here, Mrs. Owens pointed out.

Mrs. Dollie Mae Wilson will be in charge of workers for the bloodmobile and she has announced that the county Retired Teachers unit has volunteered to help provide the canteen.

Anyone who would like to volunteer to help with the July 28 bloodmobile visit should contact Mrs. Owens or Mrs. Wilson.

Meeting Called to Discuss 1983 Rodeo Plans

Wellington's annual two-day rodeo has been set for Friday and Saturday, August 19 and 20, according to Jeff Langford, president of the Wellington Rodeo Association.

Langford announced a meeting of the association for Tuesday, July 5, at 7:30 p.m. in the Heritage Room of Wellington State Bank, and everyone interested in the rodeo is encouraged to come.

"We need people to contribute their time and work," Langford said.

The date of a work session will be set.

The major improvement to be made this year is shortening the VFW rodeo grounds by about one-third and erecting a barrier at the north end.

Rebuilding the west side bleachers was completed last year, and new lights were put up the year before.

Assisting Langford will be Brenda Ferguson, rodeo association secretary.

"We want interested people to be in on the decision making," Langford declared.

Stock will be furnished by C&C Rodeo Co., of Childress, who also provided the stock for last year's successful rodeo.

Events were announced: saddle bronc riding, bareback bronc riding, tie down roping, heading and heeling, ladies barrel racing and bull riding.

Open Bids on US 83 July 19

Sealed proposals for the widening and upgrading of Highway US 83 from Elm Creek Bridge to the Wheeler County line are due to be opened Tuesday, July 19, in the office of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation in Austin. The bids will be accepted until 9 a.m. on that date.

Length of the highway to be improved is 4.7 miles.

Plans and specifications call for widening the highway and also for raising the new bridge that is to be built across Elm Creek, making that point on the highway less dangerous.

The Department assures that the contract will be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder without discrimination on the grounds of race, color or national origin, and minority business enterprises will be assurred full opportunity to

Softball Tourney July 8-10

Entries are being accepted in the annual Wellington Men's Slow Pitch Softball Tournament with approximately 12 of the needed 16 teams already signed up.

Candy Reyes, president of the Wellington Softball Association, announced plans Tuesday.

The tournament date is Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 8, 9 and 10, with playing to take place at Marian Airpark Ball Park.

Teams will come from Amarillo, Borger, Memphis, Childress, Wheeler, Briscoe, Shamrock, Wellington and a number of other towns across the Panhandle.

Tuesday, July 5, is the deadline for teams to enter, and the fee is $90 per team. This money will go back into the Wellington association to cover expenses.

Trophies will be awarded to first, second, third and fourth place trophies. First and second place teams will also receive individual trophies and a most valuable player on both offense and defense will be named.

Attendance at the first summer tournament over the weekend was high even for the late night games and crowds were good, Reyes said.

The ball park is in fine condition and Reyes and others involved in the summer softball program expect this to be one of the top tournaments in the Panhandle this summer.

Brackets will be drawn and announced Tuesday, July 5 according to Reyes.

Most Businesses To Close July 4

Most businesses in Wellington will close Monday, July 4.

Those remaining open will include elevators receiving wheat deliveries and other firms that service farmers and custom equipment operators.

Marian Airpark Swimming Pool will be open July 4.

Federal, state and county offices will be closed as this is an official holiday.

No celebrations are planned in Wellington, but many residents are expected to be found at nearby lakes or area celebrations.

BALES OF WHEAT

Wheat acres set aside in the government's Payment-In-Kind (PIK) program could be cut for hay, and the county has seen more wheat haying than ever before. With the coming of round bales, above, the use of wheat as a hay crop has become more common, and when wheat is cut at the right time it provides a high protein, high quality hay.

Browning and Foxhall Retain Championship

Jim Bob Browning and Tina Foxhall of Memphis repeated last year's fine performance and retained the Wellington Country Club Guys and Dolls tournament championship.

They shot 124 on 36 holes, and their 61 on Sunday was 11 under par.

Miss Foxhall had an unusually long drive, and teamed with Browning, a strong player, this team is the pacesetter for a number of tournaments in the Panhandle.

The two day event was played Saturday and Sunday with a hamburger supper sponsored Saturday evening by the Swimming Pool committee, headed by Mrs. Joe Wood.

Weather cooperated beautifully, and that was a change from the 1982 tournament when players faced rain, hail, sand and about an hour of sunshine.

Placing second in the championship flight were Stuart Miller of Shamrock and Mona Jennings of Wheeler with 131.

Third place went to Jim and Irma Terry of Quanah with 136. Terry was golf pro at Hay Camp Country Club during the time it was in operation here.

Benny and Joyce Brown won the first flight in a playoff with Lynn Monzingo and Jackie Benniett of Memphis on a tie of 138.

Third place went to Charles and Patsy Jett of Stinnett with a score of 140.

Tony and Charlotte Stephens won the second flight with 144 and Louise and R.L. Mabery were second with 145. Third place went to Ron and Pam Smootherman of Canadian, 146.

Vic Bates of Quanah and Vicky Parker, a father-daughter team were first in the 3rd flight with 152. Bob McAlister and Karen Caison were second with 153 and Bill Long of Wellington and Laquita Smart of Dallas, third, 154.

Forty-eight teams were entered, more than the country club had expected, said Eddie Orr, tournament chairman. "We had a good meal and everybody had a good time," he added.

Next on schedule is the two-man best ball tournament in August.

Bombers Win Softball Tournament

The Amarillo Bombers won the Wellington three-day slow pitch softball tournament by defeating Richardson's Car Wash of Quanah 14-4 in the finals, played Sunday, June 26.

The Bombers went through the bracket without losing a game.

Play started Friday evening, June 24.

Third place went to the Smurfs of Wellington and fourth to Mr. Burger of Amarillo.

Team trophies were awarded to first through fourth place with first and second place receiving individual trophies.

More than 20 games were played in the double elimination tournament according to Candy Reyes, president of the Wellington Softball Association.

The Bombers opened play with a victory over Mr. Burger of Amarillo in a 15-8 victory, then in the second game defeated Extra Crispies 12-5. The third win was over the Memphis No-names 18-10, then Richardson Car Wash fell to the Bombers 8-3 in the first of two games these teams played. Their next meeting was in the finals.

The second place Richardson Car Wash defeated Half and Half of Shamrock 14-2 in the first round, then took a one-point lead over the Juicy Fruit from Wellington 7-6.

In their third game, Childress Blues fell to the Quanah team 17-2. The Car Wash lost its next two games to the Bombers 8-3, won over the Smurfs 4-3, before losing the finals to the Bombers 14-4.

Third place Smurfs lost their first game to Memphis No-Names, then to Quanah Extra Crispies 18-12. Then they defeated Childress Blues 28-9, Half and Half from Shamrock 12-6, and beat Mr. Burger of Amarillo 10-6. The Amarillo team placed fourth.

The Smurfs lost their last game to Quanah 4-3.

Reyes said attendance was good even at the late night games and cooperation and help during the tournament was excellent.

will be awarded in all events as well as an all around buckle.

Heading and heeling entry fee will be $95 per team plus a $5 stock charge. Entry fee for all other events will be $50 for each contestant plus $5 stock charge.

There will be a rodeo dance at the National Guard Armory each night.

Slack in all events will be held Friday night after the main performance.

The Wellington Rodeo Association was organized a year ago after the Chamber of Commerce which had sponsored the event several years, found it not feasible to continue sponsorship.

Additional plans will be announced following the Tuesday night meeting.

Medicare to Pay Under New System

The Federal Medicare program will begin a new system of payments to hospitals on October 1 and that will affect the hospital's finances, Collingsworth General Hospital Board members were told at regular meeting Tuesday, June 21.

Hospital administrator Perry Foster said that Medicare will begin to pay under a program of "diagnostic-related categories," rather than the old system of how much it cost a hospital to provide a given service.

Under the new system, for example, the hospital will receive a predetermined amount of money for treating a patient with pneumonia, no matter how long the hospital stay or what services are provided. Under the old system, the hospital filed a bill with Medicare that, in theory, covered the costs the hospital had incurred in providing any given service to the patient.

Foster said that he did not know exactly how the new payment system would affect Collingsworth General, but that it was one of many payment changes that could be expected in the next 2 to 3 years as the federal government and private insurance companies attempt to cut down on the cost of medical expenses.

The hospital board approved the purchase of a new X-Ray tube at a cost of $4300 to replace a defective one.

The board also approved extension of two student nurse contracts. The contracts provide $200 per month payments to nurses who are currently studying to be RN's.

The board also approved refinishing 3 bathtubs, and approved turning $6,939 in past due accounts over to the hospital's internal collection procedures which now include filing in small claims, JP and county court.

Foster reported that Centel telephone company expects to begin installation of the hospital's new phone system in mid-July.

He also reported that a storage van is in place at the south end of the hospital property and is being painted to match the ambulance barn. He said ambulance barn trim was being painted at the same time.

He also reported that the hospital's new fetal heart monitor should be installed within the next few weeks.

The board also discussed their negotiations with Burroughs computer company over the possible cancellation of the hospital's lease arrangement, but took no action on the matter.

The board met with contractor George Ford to discuss completion of the hospital's sprinkler system. A small, fireproof outdoor room addition to house pipes and equipment, and some touch-up work on the interior of the hospital are all that remain to be done on the contract.

The board also approved the active, courtesy and consulting medical staff for the coming year, including active: Carter Holcomb, M.D., Charles Jones, M.D. and K.N. Kumar, M.D.; courtesy: Donald Blacketter, M.D., Reynaldo Perez, M.D., William Estes, D.D.S., and J.M. Orr, D.D.S.; and consulting: William Dunnagan, M.D. (radiology); Jose A. Diaz, M.D. (pathology), and Ralph Erdman, M.D. (pathology and cardiology).

The staff elected Holcomb chief of staff and Kumar secretary.

Present were board members Robert Owens, Loretta Wright, Corky Bowen and J.M. Orr. Yates Parker, Bill Patrick and Buddy Carter were absent.

USDA Exercises PIK Option for '83 Wheat

WASHINGTON--Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block announced it will be necessary to require wheat producers who do not have sufficient quantities of wheat pledged as price support loan collateral to meet their payment-in-kind requirements to obtain loans on their 1983-crop production.

Producers who have no 1983-crop wheat planted for harvest or who do not have sufficient wheat planted for harvest to meet their PIK requirements will receive payment-in-kind from other wheat in Commodity Credit Corporation inventory, he said.

Block said all producers who signed a contract to participate in the 1983 PIK program agreed to obtain a loan on their 1983 production for PIK purposes to satisfy program needs if required by CCC. USDA decided to exercise this option after determining there is an insufficient quantity of wheat currently available to CCC to meet PIK needs, he said.

CCC has developed special provisions to permit producers to use their 1983 wheat production for PIK purposes even-though they do not have warehouse or on-farms storage available, Block said. The producer must certify to the local county office of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service that the required quantity was harvested from an eligible farm and has not been sold prior to the certification.

The producer can obtain the loan, redeem the loan collateral and sell it to CCC. The producer then will be eligible to immediately receive the payment-in-kind from CCC inventory. However, these producers will not receive the proceeds of the sale of the wheat to CCC until their PIK availability date, Block said.

Salt has been so precious through the years that many old superstitions relate that spilled salt forecast future tears.

COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY AGENT REPORT

DRIP IRRIGATION BOOSTS VEGETABLE YIELDS

Such a system applies water to the soil at the center of the row with great precision and economy. It's possible to reduce water usage in a garden by more than 50 percent with a well designed drip system.

Drip irrigation involves a system of plastic pipes with tiny openings called "emitters" which deliver water, drop by drop, into the soil at the base of plants along the row. The water soaks in immediately when the rate of irrigation is adjusted correctly. No water is wasted because there is there is neither flooding nor runoff.

Home garden drip systems operate at low pressure--4 to 10 pounds per square inch of tubing. Most gardeners quickly learn how often and how long to operate their drip systems to satisfy their plants' water needs.

Even when a drip system is on, the middles between rows are dry enough to walk on, permitting harvesting and other garden work during irrigation.

Drip-irrigated plants are more productive and water is not sprayed over the leaves as with sprinkler irrigation, thus reducing disease problems. Soil is not waterlogged as with furrow irrigation, so more oxygen is available to plant roots at all times.

already filed a petition to confiscate the plane on behalf of the Texas DPS narcotics division should the case wind up in state hands. McCoy said a new law gives officials 30 days to file such a motion, but some courts have ruled that law unconstitutional, so he filed within a 10-day limit prescribed by an older law.

CJC Classes to Enroll July 7

Enrollment for the second semester of Clarendon College classes to be held in Wellington will be held Thursday, July 7 at 7 p.m.

Classes will be: Monday and Wednesday: freshman English, Texas Government, marriage and nutrition.

Courses for Tuesday and Thursday: Algebra, sociology and sophomore English.

The cost of the course is $50 for three hours and $75 for 6 college hours. The cost of the books is additional.

The per person consumption of paper and cardboard is about 611 pounds a year.

GED Test Slated for July 12th

The GED test will be given on Tuesday, July 12, at 10 a.m. in the Wellington High School, according to Mrs. Melvin Cardwell, who administers the test.

The cost is $15. The approximate time required to take the test is about six and one-half hours.

Additional information can be had by contacting Wanda Cardwell, 806-493-2668.

Foster Joins Samnorwood School Faculty

Floyd Foster of Lookaba, Okla., has been hired to teach science in Samnorwood School, according to Supt. Garland Cavitt.

He succeeds Zeldon Jenkins, who resigned to teach at Groom.

Foster is retired after teaching 32 years in Oklahoma.

"He has great credentials, great recommendations, he can teach math, has experience as an administrator and was a coach for many years," said Cavitt.

Foster has bachelor of science and master of education degrees from Southwestern State University, Weatherford.

At Samnorwood, he will teach high school and junior high science and possibly one other course. A native of Lone Wolf, Okla., he is married and he and his wife will move to Samnorwood later in the summer.

Film on Death At 1st Baptist

"If I Should Die...," an elaborate multi-image production dealing with the reality of death, will be presented Friday, July 8 at 7 p.m. in 1st Baptist Church Auditorium, according to Ron Long, education director. This is in the form of a youth rally and all young people of the county are invited.

This 45-minute multi-image production is open to the public at no admission, and is locally sponsored by the Collingsworth County Ministerial Alliance.

The presentation is by Campus Crusade for Christ, Int'l., an interdenominational organization.

The highly unusual multi-image production protrays a love relationship between a college-age couple whose lives are permanently altered as they are propelled by sudden disaster into a confrontation with death.

The fast-moving show carries a powerful message and dramatic examination of the meaning of life, death and beyond.

The spokesman further explained that unlike traditional movie entertainment, the story line in "If I Should Die..." is communicated through the lyrics of contemporary music from Blood Sweat and Tears, Jim Crocie, Black Sabbath, and others.

These lyrics are precisely synchronized to more than 1100 visuals projected onto three large screens

The 55th Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ople White of Quail, Texas was celebrated with a cook-out and homemade ice cream supper at their home on Thursday, June 23. Helping them to celebrate this occasion was their son, Mr. and Mrs. Donald White, Randy and Bret of Clarendon. With them was Diane Reynolds of Groom. Their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Scott and Steve of Memphis and grandson Audie Watson of Wellington.

Mr. and Mrs. White still enjoy fishing and traveling. They are members of the Church of Christ.

Mr. White, 76, was born and has spent his entire life within a mile of his present home.

Mrs. White, was born in Oklahoma and moved with her family to Quail when she was about two years old.

Hospital Auxiliary Has Business Meeting June 21

Collingsworth General Hospital Auxiliary met in the Heritage Room June 21. The president, Loretta Wright conducted the business meeting. Bertha Mae Keller, secretary read the minutes and Doris Knoll gave the treasurers report.

Mrs. Wright reported that refreshments were taken and bud vases of flowers were sent to the nurses in honor of National Nurses Appreciation Day, May 12.

Also, favors for all dinner trays were furnished on Father's Day.

Members were reminded that the Bloodmobile will be in Wellington, Thursday, July 28. Billye Owens will be in charge of setting up the bloodmobile. Dollie Wilson will be in charge of workers. She announced that the retired teachers have volunteered to furnish cookies.

The tentative garage sale project was postponed for further discussion and planning at the August meeting.

The hospital kitchen, with approval from the administrator and board, donated silver plate flatware to the Auxiliary to be sold.

Proceeds will go to the Auxiliary.

There are some good odds and ends pieces and one or two complete services. This silver plate can be seen at the home of Lottie Handley, 1609 East Avenue, phone 7-2433.

The new draperies for the patient rooms were discussed and samples were examined by members.

Mrs. Wright adjourned the meeting with the announcement that there will be no meeting until the third Tuesday in August, unless a called meeting is needed before then.

ENTERTAINING IDEAS

FOR COFFEE-TIME OR ANY TIME:
Apple Cinnamon Coffee Cake

This coffee cake, studded with chunks of cinnamony-accented apples, spells "good eating" anytime. Delicious as a special treat for coffee breaks or snacks, it's also an appealing dessert to which those who aren't counting calories might like to add a dollop of whipped cream.

There's a mystery ingredient in this easy recipe: yogurt. You don't actually taste it, but yogurt adds moistness, tenderness, and brings out the distinctive fruit flavor of the canned apple pie filling. The apple slices start out on top of the golden batter, then sink into the cake during baking.

Blueberry, cherry, or strawberry pie filling can be substituted in this recipe.

APPLE CINNAMON COFFEE CAKE

1 package (18.5 oz.) yellow cake mix (double layer size)
3 eggs
1 cup plain yogurt
1 can (20 oz.) apple pie filling
3 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon cinnamon
2 teaspoons flour

In large mixing bowl, combine cake mix, eggs and yogurt. Beat 3 minutes. Spread batter into an oiled and floured 9x13x2 inch cake pan. Arrange pie filling over batter. Combine cinnamon, sugar, and flour and sprinkle on top of cake. Bake at 350°F. for 40-45 minutes. Best served warm.

Microwave Instructions (Makes two 8" layers):

Mix batter as above. Line 8-inch microwave cake pan with a circle of paper towel. Place 1/2 of batter in prepared pan. Top with 1/2 can of pie filling and slightly less than 1/2 cinnamon mixture. Microwave at 50% power 7-8 minutes, rotate 1/2 turn at 4 minutes. Finish cooking, high power, 3-4 minutes, rotate 1/4 turn at 2 minutes. Exact times may vary with different ovens. Let stand 2 minutes before inverting onto plate. Sprinkle bottom with some of the cinnamon mixture. Repeat for second layer.

Create a Fashionable Wardrobe With Plaids

Plaids are back on the fashion scene, both in classic form and in new shapes.

"With a few easy guidelines, homesewers can stitch up fashionable garments using plaids," says Nancy Brown, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Choose a pattern with few pieces, easy shaping, and few seams. Too many details will break up the plaid design.

Always check the back of the pattern envelope for suggested fabric to make sure the pattern is suitable for plaids. Circular skirts or dirndls can distort the plaid, Brown adds.

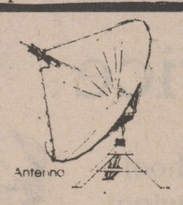

Buy extra yardage, going by nap fabric yardage, in order to match plaids. As a rule-of-thumb, add the length of one plaid repeat for each yard bought, Brown suggests.

Avoid fabric that is printed, not woven. This type of plaid is often printed off-grain, making it impossible to match plaids.

When laying out a pattern, cut each piece from a single layer of fabric. "If two pieces are needed from the same pattern piece, flip the pattern over for one cutting," says Brown.

Pattern pieces cut on the fold need pins to mark top and bottom. Cut around pins and flip over to cut the other side, making sure plaids match at notches and small dots.

For a more flattering garment, find the dominant line in the fabric and place it at the waistline and the hemline. Avoid placing it at the hip or the bust.

Tips for Landscape Irrigation

Since Texas homeowners can't always rely on rain to keep their yards and gardens lush and growing, they need to get the most from irrigation water.

Everett E. Janne, landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, says much of the water used on yards and gardens is often wasted because of improper methods of application and poor cultural practices.

"Slow, deep watering will allow plant roots to penetrate deeper so that plants become more stress-resistant," Janne says. "Soaker hoses and drip irrigation systems are excellent for trees and shrubs while overhead sprinklers are more effective for lawns.

It's important that water be applied no faster than the soil can absorb it, emphasizes the horticulturist. If it is applied too rapidly, much of the water will be lost to runoff and evaporation. Excessive amounts of water can cause soil to become water-logged in the root area, causing rotting, especially if internal drainage is poor.

"Be careful not to over-water plants native to more arid regions of the state," Janne says. "They can be damaged by root rot. Also, since they often fail to go dormant but stay soft and succulent into the winter, such plants can be damaged by low temperatures."

Shrubs and trees near foundations, under eaves or on southern and western exposures need watering more frequently than others, says Janne. These plants often receive less benefit from rainfall and have to deal with heat reflected from walls.

Areas under overhangs should be leached every few months to remove concentrations of salt left from water evaporation.

Plants on mounds or steep slopes suffer from drought stress more easliy than those in level areas. Once sloped areas become dry, it's difficult to get good moisture penetration by surface irrigation unless water is allowed to seep for a long period of time.

"Newly transplanted trees and shrubs require special care," Janne points out. "Water both the base of the plant and the surrounding soil. An organic mulch of pine bark, chopped straw, hay or similar material will greatly reduce irrigation needs of both newly established and older plants."

Water potted plants according to the type and condition of the pot and the plant and the location and conditions of the area, suggests the horticulturist. Clay pots dry out faster and root-bound plants require frequent watering, especially during hot, dry weather. It's also possible to overwater, leading to root diseases.

"Allow lawns to show some stress before watering to avoid losing too much water to runoff," says Janne. "However, water lawns deeply and thoroughly."

Lawns and gardens can be watered any time of day, but evaporation is less at night or during the early morning. However, night watering can promote more disease problems.

"By treating water as a valuable resource and irrigating wisely, your yards and gardens will flourish without skyrocketing water bills," says Janne. "Plus you'll be helping to conserve declining water supplies."

Kim Black Weds Barry Clancy In Church of Christ Ceremony

The Church of Christ in Wellington was the setting for the wedding of Miss Kimberly Renee Black and Barry Glen Clancy on Friday, June 10, at six o'clock in the evening. Officiating at the ceremony was David Hall, Church of Christ minister from Altus, Okla., formerly of the Wellington Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Marie Black of 1716 East Avenue and the late Bill Black. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. W.R. Clancy of Shamrock.

Altar decorations were an arch entwined with foliage and a brass arched candelabra holding pink tapers. At each side were brass spiral candelabras, also holding pink tapers and accented with wine colored bows. Decorating the unity candle were pink and wine minature flowers, tiny white doves and the wedding announcement inlaid in the candle.

Haun Kite, minister of the church, directed the vocal ensemble composed of Mr. and Mrs. Dickie Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cozad, Mrs. Gano Wilson, Mrs. Sam Adams and Millard Brown.

The bride was given in marraige by her brother, Kenneth Black.

She wore a white floor-length gown of Chantilly lace, a V neckline in the front and back, long straight sleeves and a fitted bodice accented with seed pearls and sequins. Her full, tiered skirt flowed to a cathedral train. Her fingertip illusion veil had appliques of matching Chantilly lace and satin bows. She carried a bouquet of pink and wine roses and white minature daisies, with satin streamers accented with love knots.

MRS. BARRY GLEN CLANCY

The matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Tony Hunter, and the bridesmaid was Miss Mischelle Black, the bride's niece.

Their pink floor-length dresses had self ruffles overlaid with wine lace at the neck and elbow-length puffed sleeves. Wine-colored sashes were tied in large bows at back. They carried bouquets of pink and wine roses and carnations with matching streamers.

Ronnie Aaron was the best man and John Fulbright groomsman. Both are from Shamrock.

Ushers, who also lighted the candles, were Jimmy Black, the bride's brother, and Robert Hawley of Shamrock.

Donita Black, the bride's niece, was the flower girl and Jeromy Hunter, her nephew, was the ring bearer.

Afterward the bride's mother was hostess for the reception held in the Heritage Room.

The bride's table was laid with a lace cloth over a wine colored underlay. The centerpiece was an arrangement of pink and wine carnations and a silver candelabra holding lighted wine tapers. Punch was served from a silver bowl and the three-tiered bride's cake was set on a pedestal, beneath which was a minature flowing fountain.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Jimmy Black and Mrs. Kenneth Black, sisters-in-law of the bride, Kathy Hawley of Shamrock and Karen Clancy of Houston, both sisters of the bridegroom.

Since returning from their wedding trip to Oklahoma, the couple is at home at 1007 Bowie Street.

The bride graduated in May from Wellington High School and is employed with Allsup's. A graduate of Shamrock High School in 1982, the bridegroom is employed by the City of Wellington Water Department.

Mrs. Ben Farmer Honored By Family on 80th Birthday

Mrs. Ben Farmer, a resident of the Marella community since girlhoood, was honored on her 80th birthday with a dinner in the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Evelyn Jo and John Carson, Sunday, June 26.

A grandson, Benny Carson, grilled steaks and those present were his wife, Paula and their children, Anthony, Stephen and Jennifer; Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Fowler of Amarillo and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Carson.

Calling in the afternoon were Mrs. Opal Lindley and Mrs. Isabell Cochran of Shamrock. Birthday cake and home made ice cream was served at that time.

Birthday calls came from her other grandson, John Carson, Jr., of Denison, and from three of her sisters in California, Mrs. John (Willie) Stephens, Mrs. James. (Gladys) Ward and Mrs. Bill (Alice) Goodwin.

The former Etta Mae Boutcher, she was married to (the late) Ben F. Farmer, Nov. 4, 1922.

Not only was the community their home throughout their marriage, but this period was on the same farm.

She still takes an active interest in the farming she cares for her garden and for the beautiful flowers she is able to grow in spite of wind and sand.

She is active within the community, belonging to Quail Booster Club and for many years she was a member of the Home Demonstration Club and Quail Friendship Club.

Born in Johnson County, Oklahoma, while it was still the Indian Territory, she was the daughter of Ollie Preston and Anna Laura Kyla Boutcher.

She attended school at Black Jack, Emmet, Milburn, Cottonwood and Murry 23 in Oklahoma and after moving to Collingsworth County with her family in 1918, she attended the Houselong, Loco, Buck Creek and Marella schools.

She is the oldest of 8 living children. Her parents, brothers and sisters moved to California in the 1940s and 7 of these still make that state their home.

Miss Oatman, Mr. Barnes Wed In Formal Ceremony at Quail

Miss Billie Lenora Oatman and Gene Randall Barnes, both of White Deer, were married on Saturday, June 4, at two o'clock in the afternoon in the sanctuary of Quail Baptist Church. The Reverend Elvis Pitts, pastor, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross H. Oatman of Quail.

Altar decorations were an arch covered with greenery and laced with white daisies. Matching three-tiered candelabras were on each side of the arch.

Wedding music was presented by Shela Terry of White Deer and Anne Bauman of Pampa.

Mr. Oatman gave his daughter in marriage.

Her formal wedding gown of princess design was of white bridal satin. The fitted satin bodice had an overlay of Chantilly lace, and the standing neckline and front yoke were of point d'esprit.

A wide band of scalloped laced encircled the hemline, and back fullness swept to a chapel train.

Her veil was banded in lace and she carried a bouquet of apricot roses with white daisies and baby's breath.

Mrs. Reece Bowen was the matron of honor and Mrs. Danny Gray was the bridesmaid. Their floor-length apricot polyester dresses were made with matching capelets of apricot chiffon and each carried a bouquet of apricot chrysanthemums with white daisies.

Larry Barnes of Lubbock, brother of the bridegroom was the best man and Wayne Barnes of Lewisville, the groom's son was groomsman. Ushers were the bride's brother and cousin, Tommy Oatman of Amarillo and James Thomas of Clarendon.

Wendi Barnes of Lewisville, the groom's daughter, and Laura Barnes of Lubbock, his niece, were the flower girls.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Oatman were hosts at a reception honoring the couple, held in the church reception hall.

The bride's table was covered with white lace over apricot and appointed in silver and crystal. The wedding cake was the three-tiered wedding cake decorated with apricot colored daisies was the center piece.

MRS. GENE RANDALL BARNES

Guests were served by Trena Ruthardt and Janet Timmons, both of White Deer, while Lashell Oatman of Amarillo, sister-in-law of the bride, was at the registry.

Since returning from their wedding trip to Santa Fe, New Mexico, the couple is at home at 302 Grimes, White Deer.

The bride was graduated from West Texas State University. The bridegroom has the bachelor degree from West Texas State University, and masters degree from Texas Tech University. Both are employed by White Deer HIgh School.

On the evening preceding the wedding, a rehearsal dinner honored the bride and groom and their attendants in the booster building at Quail.

The couple exchanged gifts and presented gifts to their attendants.

Her fiance is a graduate of Wellington High School and is currently employed by Warren Motor Co., and Butler Locker Plant.

The couple plans to make their home west of Wellington.

COOKING CORNER

Breaking Through Barbecue Boredom

Everyone knows that barbecuing is a great way to beat summer's heat. It keeps the heat outdoors where it belongs instead of in the kitchen.

But come mid-season, even the most enthusiastic barbecuers find themselves yearning for different taste experiences.

All-American Taco Franks are sure to be a hit with everyone, too. Bacon-wrapped hot dogs are grilled, served in crisp taco shells, then topped with an easy, mildly spicy cheese sauce. Crown them with a variety of traditional taco toppings for added flavor and eye-appeal.

ALL-AMERICAN TACO FRANKS
8 slices bacon
8 frankfurters
3/4 cup pasteurized process cheese spread
2 tablespoons catsup
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
8 taco shells
Suggested Toppings*

Wrap 1 slice bacon around each frankfurter; secure ends with wooden toothpicks. Grill or broil, turning occasionally, until bacon is done.

Meanwhile, in small saucepan, heat cheese, catsup and mustard over low heat, stirring frequently, until cheese is melted. To serve, place frankfurters in taco shells; top with cheese sauce, then Suggested Toppings. Makes about 4 servings.

Appearance a Job Factor

Recent research shows that the more contact with clients is required by a job, the more emphasis is placed on appearance in the hiring decision, says Nancy Brown, a clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"A study of hiring agents shows they judge appearance primarily by neatness, ornamentation or jewelry, and the design, cut and color of clothing," says Brown.

Both employers and employees emphasize that appearance is only one factor in the hiring decision. But clothing and appearance is one thing that the job applicant has control over in the hiring situation, notes Brown.

In China, male infants and small boys, especially a first-born or an only son were dressed in girls' clothing to protect them from evil spirits.

Scoopin'

This column comes under the you-asked-for-it-you-got-it heading.

Many people have asked me over the past years to write a general interest column, and so I'm beginning one this week that will appear from time to time with items that are best suited to a column format.

I'm calling it "Scoopin'" for two reasons.

One: I picked up the "Scoop" nickname a few years ago covering the American Agriculture Movement tractorcade to Washington, D.C. I'd like to have people think I got the nickname because I scooped the national press and was at the scene of every farm-related event during those days in D.C. But Andy Bell reminds me that he decided to hang out with me a few days that week and get in on all the action being covered by a reporter. He says that was a mistake, because any time anything even remotely interesting happened I was on the other side of town. Anyhow, I got the nickname.

And Two: I couldn't think of another name for the column.

Caprock Canyon State Park 3 miles north of Quitaque is the newest state park in the Panhandle. Carol and I stopped by the park on the way back from Lubbock a few days ago, and it was beautiful. Rain had covered the peaks and canyons of the caprock area that morning and we saw the park in a purple and orange dusk and twilight. The Permian redbed bluffs were a brilliant glow in the late afternoon sun, and the mesquites and native shrubs were a wet green. The 1,000-foot elevation drop off the caprock was spectacular.

The 13,906 acre park was purchased in 1975 and the Parks and Wildlife Department has done a good job of developing it. There is a scenic drive to the foot of the bluffs, and there is a small lake for swimming and fishing. Campgrounds are available with showers, restrooms, and hook-ups for camping vehicles and there are primitive camping areas. There is also an area for horseback campers. There are foot and equestrian trails. And there is open wilderness.

The rugged features of the park have been eroded by the North Prong and South Prong of the Little Red River and by Holmes Creek which has been dammed to provide the lake. On the bluffs you can see the caliche "caprock" which covers the redbeds, and the effect of centuries of erosion that have created the area.

Even if you're not a camper, it's worth stopping by on a trip to Lubbock or an afternoon outing.

Lubbock management consultant Claude Dollins talked to the Texas Press Association last week about stress and the ways it can be handled. He said stress can cause physical and psychological disease and that 60 percent of the people who enter doctor's offices in this country exhibit symptoms of stress that they haven't been able to deal with properly.

Dollins also said that American business is still trying to motivate people with techniques and ideas that were products of the Great Depression of the 1930's. But, he said, concepts that motivated people in the '30's don't necessarily motivate them today. And he gave some interesting statistics on the American population: 90 percent of the American people can't remember when women could not vote; 80 percent of the American people can't remember when Lindberg flew the Atlantic; 75 percent can't remember the Depression; 70 percent can't remember Pearl Harbor; 66 percent can't remember when we didn't have TV; 40 percent can't remember the assassination of JKF; and 33 percent don't remember a time before a man walked on the moon.

Two world-famous Albuquerque balloonists, Maxie Anderson and Don Ida, who flew a balloon to Wellington's Marian Airpark airport during a race in 1981, died in a balloon crash Monday, June 27 during a race in West Germany.

The pair died when their gondola apparently separated from their balloon as they were trying to land before crossing into East Germany. The accident occured in the Bavarian forest near Schweinfurt.

In the 1981 race from Amarillo, Anderson and his son Kris were abroad the balloon and Ida was on the ground crew. They won the race by landing within 8 yards of their target, the middle of the Wellington airport runway.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Some lawmakers were asking the puzzling question last week: once the Governor has vetoed your bill, how do you undo his veto? The answer: you can't.

As he raced towards the veto deadline last week, Gov. Mark White stamped "NO" on about 40 bills, caught some heat from legislators who were upset when their hard work went for naught, then lined out one item from the $31 billion budget bill before signing it.

For an encore, he jumped the gun on lawmakers by calling them back to Austin last Wednesday for a special session to extend the life of the Texas Employment Commission and to enact a brucellosis program for Texas ranchers.

White, who wobbled politically near the end of the regular session just three weeks ago, was moving like a boxer who has cleared his head between rounds.

He danced wisely, too, staying clear of public legislative battles and letting the Legislature set its own course.

And while White obviously again enjoyed being governor, a few other state officials and public figures had a bad week.

With lawmakers gone home until Wednesday, reporters turned their magnifying glasses to other areas of scrutiny, and writing of their discoveries of real or seemingly misdoings.

Among the targets:

Jim Mattox

Attorney General Jim Mattox, the "Peoples' Lawyer," personally lent his 1982 election campaign $125,000 only a few days after his brother and sister borrowed the same amount at low interest from a Seattle bank.

Texas law requires statewide candidates to disclose the name and address of anyone who lends them money or assists them in obtaining loans for use in their campaigns.

His campaign records show that Mattox borrowed from his siblings within five days after their initial transaction. He told reporters that his family owed him a substantial amount of money, and that after they paid him, he put it into his campaign effort.

However, the records also show that following fundraising after his victory, his campaign repaid himself the $125,000 plus interest totaling $133,757.57. Bank records show his sister repaid the bank the very next day the same amount to the penny.

The Seattle loan was approved by the same loan officer who once loaned $40 million to South Texas rancher Clinton Manges, who also gave $50,000 to Mattox campaign through various committees.

Clinton Manges

Manges has been controversial for some time because of his generous contributions to politicians and his involvement in several oil- and land-related lawsuits.

Last week he drew fire again after he won a Texas Supreme Court lawsuit which his opponents in court claim will cost them $2 million which Manges will make.

The losers petitioned that two high court justices be removed from the case because Manges had given them large contributions, directly or indirectly.

The petition alleges that Justice Ted Robertson received $100,000 from a political action committee funded largely by Manges and that Justice William Kilgarlin received $17,652 from Manges' attorney, San Antonian Pat Maloney.

Repays State

Last week Manges wrote a letter to Land Commissioner Garry Mauro agreeing to repay the state some $385,000 for bonuses he collected on five leases of state-owned mineral leases.

Mauro had told Manges the state was entitled to half of the bonus money and threatened to take Manges into court to collect.

Later Mauro said he wasn't sure if the state could whip Manges in court and was glad it was settled outside.

Gib Lewis

Speaker Gib Lewis, criticized for spending money to turn the House Speaker's offices back into a personal apartment during a tight money session, last week revealed the renovation cost double what was budgeted.

The nearly $115,000 to refurnish his quarters, including almost $1,000 spent for two towel bars, two towel rings, two tissue holders and one tank lever, put Gib in hot water with his critics again.

Lewis countered by saying he would seek private donations to fund the renovation, adding it might not cost the state anything.

Jim Hightower

Even populist Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower took a hit from one story which criticized him for using state funds to mail out quasi-campaign material.

Hightower's agency News Clip Sheet, which is written, edited, printed and mailed at state expense, included a story in which Hightower's Democratic Party ties and activities are featured. He even took swipes at Republicans.

State officials usually send such mail with disclaimers of public expense printed on them.

THOMAS ROLL CALL REPORT

Your Congressman's Votes Reported Each Week

WASHINGTON--Here is how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes June 16-23.

HOUSE

BUDGET--By a vote of 239 for and 186 against, the House approved a fiscal 1984 budget blueprint (H Con Res 91) that will guide Congress' upcoming votes on spending and taxation bills.

Members voting yes favored the fiscal 1984 congressional budget resolution.

Voting Yes: Jack Hightower, D-13, Kika De la Garza, D-15, Kent Hahce, D-19, Charles Stenholm, D-17.

Not voting: None.

TAX CAP--The House passed, 229 for and 191 against, a Democratic bill softening the third and final phase of President Reagan's supply-side cut in individual income tax rates.

Members voting yes wanted to curtail the president's tax-cutting program.

Voting yes: De la Garza, Stenholm, Hance.

Voting no: Hightower.

CUT--The House rejected 191 for and 223 against, an attempt to cut the fiscal 1984 transportation appropriations bill by 4 percent across-the-board.

Members voting no were opposed to a 4 percent cut in the budget for the Transportation Department and related agencies.

Voting yes: Hightower, Stenholm, Hance.

Voting no: De la Garza.

SENATE

HOMES--By a vote of 55 for and 39 against, the Senate tabled (killed) an amendment providing aid to recession victims facing foreclosure on their home mortgages.

Lloyd Bentsen, D, voted yes. John Tower, R, voted yes.

HEALTH--The Senate adopted, 75 for and 23 against, an amendment to appropriate $225 million to cover the medical insurance payments of recession victims who lost their health insurance along with their jobs.

Senators voting yes wanted the Treasury to pay the health insurance premiums of the unemployed.

Bentsen voted yes. Tower voted no.

BUDGET--The Senate approved, 51 for and 43 against, the fiscal 1984 congressional budget blueprint that is vigorously opposed by President Reagan.

Senators voting yes favored the budget resolution.

Bentsen voted no. Tower voted no.

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

SPECIAL SESSION

AUSTIN – The Governor has called lawmakers back to Austin for a special session. The purpose of the special session is to decide the future of the Texas Employment Commission, to act on a statewide brucellosis control program and to consider appropriations for Texas Southern University.

The TEC is an agency which gives out unemployment benefits and finds work for the jobless. More than one hundred men and women are employed on a permanent basis by the TEC in the Amarillo area alone. Lawmakers must pass a bill extending the life of the program for another 12 years, or the agency will be phased out of existence this fall.

The TEC bill failed to pass during the regular session because some legislators opposed a Senate amendment which would have created a human rights commission within the Texas Employment Commission.

The TEC must be renewed under the state's sunset review process.

Another critical issue which must be resolved during the special session deals with the problem of brucellosis.

Brucellosis is a contagious bacterial disease found in livestock. The disease causes abortions, reduced or delayed calving and weak calves. In humans, brucellosis can cause undulant fever which is an intermittent fever accompanied by an infection.

Federal officials have threatened a quarantine on the Texas cattle industry because our state presently has no valid statewide brucellosis control program, and is therefore in violation of federal disease control standards.

An updated statewide brucellosis control program was introduced during the regular session; however, not enough legislators were in favor of the program and it was defeated. We believe that the lawmakers who opposed the program and who ignored the threat of a quarantine have had time to further analyze the sitiuation. We're confident those legislators will agree to an acceptable program to control the highly contagious disease.

The Texas cattle industry will lose millions of dollars if a statewide plan is not adopted, and if a federal quarantine is imposed.

Although ranchers in West Texas don't have the problems associated with brucellosis to the degree ranchers experience in other parts of the state, West Texas ranchers would be badly affected by a quarantine.

Arlie-Loco Begins Plans for August 7 Reunion

The 1983 Loco Arlie community reunion will be held Sunday, August 7, in Bura Handley Community Center.

The community spotlight will turn on the graduates from high school in those two communities in the years 1930 through 1934. Other sidelights will relate to the two schools.

Former Arlie residents are trying to compile names and addresses of those who graduated from Arlie High School and of the school's former teachers, those with information should contact Mrs. Clarence Black (Merle Talley), Box 425, Dodson, 79230 or Mrs. S.A. Motsenbocker (Lucille Covey), 1606 Graham St., Wellington, 79095.

Loco school compilers, Edith Copeland Carter, 423 West Eula, Hollis, 73550, and Mrs. P.M. Bouchelle (Louise Terry), Rt. 2, Wellington 79095, have finished their list of graduates but need several addresses of graduates and teachers.

Plans will follow the traditional format.

There will be visiting in the morning with a short devotional by the Rev. John Stout, of Clarendon, former Loco resident at 10:30 a.m. There will be visiting and a business meeting in the afternoon.

Announcement of activities is made earlier this year than in the past so that former residents of Arlie and Loco may make plans to attend.

"We'd like to have high school diplomas, trophies and any items indicating activity in the schools to display during this homecoming, said Edith Copeland Carter, now of Hollis.

Several Loco artists have indicated they will give oil paintings and books of poetry.

All Loco graduates will draw for a painting and all former Loco teachers for another, and trustees for a third. The door prize drawing will be limited to those who now or ever have lived in the Arlie and Loco communities, explained Louise Terry Bouchelle of Loco.

Mrs. Bouchelle and Mrs. Carter have worked together to compile a history of Loco School.

They have secured a list of Loco graduates, but present addresses are needed for several of these.

1930: Elizabeth Mildred Gibson and Ronald Sanders.

1931: Arthur Gibson, Alma Ruth Lovelace.

1933: Bessie Stout, and Goldie Huffines Sanders.

1934: Mary Lou Smith and Bill Weaver.

Addresses of these former Loco teachers of the same period are needed: 1930: Floy Kesler, Lulu Sadler; 1931: Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Knox, Ima Jane Gentry, 1932: Clifford Groves, Cecil Parker, 1933: Supt. B.F. Kirk, Gordon Mills, Bertha Mae Wells, 1934: A.J. Morris, Helen Smith and Lena White.

Mrs. Carter, a retired Wellington teacher, points out that in those years kids started to school when they were 7 years old and graduated when they had completed the 11th grade.

Loco-Arlie reunion officers this year are Pauline Brown Patterson, master of ceremonies; Lucille Motsenbocker and Edith Carter, secretaries.

Hosts are Sammy and Lucille Motsenbocker, Loyd and Ethel Clark, John and Johnny Stout and Clarence and Merle Black.

Langleys Study Family History

Loyd and Mildred Langley have returned from a week's vacation in Arkansas, where they did geneological research in Arkadelphia.

Among the newspaper files in the Arkadelphia Library, they found records of two Langley reunions in 1911, when 750 family members attended, and 1913, when 550 were present. These were described in the Southern Standard, a newspaper still published in Arkadelphia.

The Langleys also visited Diamond, where the only diamond mine in the continental United States is located. The public is allowed to hunt diamonds, and a large one was found by an Amarillo resident not long ago.

They drove over the scenic Talimena drive between Mena, Ark., and Oklahoma and visited the Queen Wilhelmina Inn on Rich Mountain. Built in honor of Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, the historic hotel burned a few years ago and has been rebuilt.

Loyd and Mildred Langley visited cemeteries where family members are buried and took notes when possible.

Their findings will supplement the book on the Langley family published by his aunt, Mrs. John (Lois) Barnhart of Garland.

Their next geneological trip will take them in search of Langley's great-grandmother, a Choctaw Indian woman, who came over the Trail of Tears, along its south crossing to the Arkansas-Oklahoma state line.

The Langleys stopped in Muskogee, Okla., to visit their daughter and family, Terry and Susan Bratt and daughter, Dana, who returned to Wellington with her grandparents.

Controlling brush with Graslan® is paying off for ranchers you may know. They're making the most of the resources they've got. By getting rid of brush, they're helping forage grasses reestablish themselves. These ranchers are taking advantage of their increased forage to produce more beef from cows they already own.

Instead of allowing the brush problem to get worse, more ranchers are using Graslan to get a return on their brush control investment. They're making it a top priority now . . . because they know they're not going to get rid of all their brush overnight. After a year of employing range management practices that improve their grazing lands, these ranchers are enjoying the payoff: producing more pounds of beef per acre.

Here's proof.

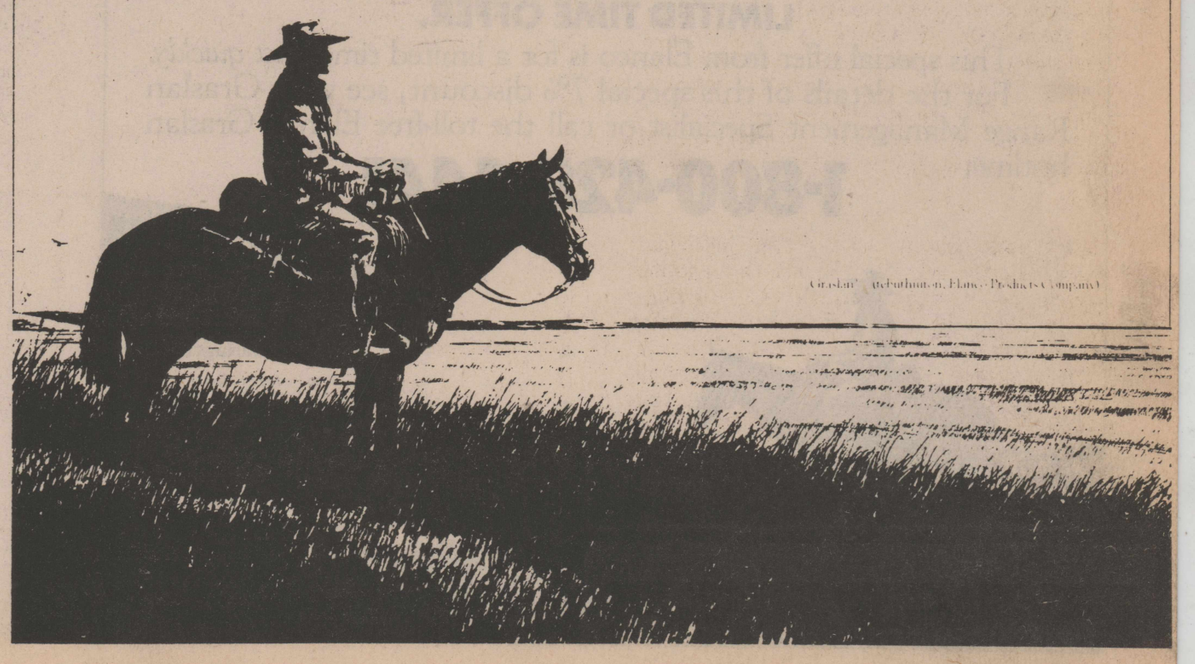

We think you, too, could profit from using Graslan in your range management. And if you'd like to see what Graslan can do, we'd like you to join our Graslan tour.

Ocie Lewis Of Dodson Dies June 22

A long-time Dodson resident, Mrs. Ocie Agnes Hightower Lewis, died in Collingsworth General Hospital at 4 a.m. Wednesday, June 22, after an illness of only a few days. She was 83 years of age.

Mrs. Lewis came in 1907 with her parents, the late Robert A. and America Brewer Hightower to the Kelley Community from Arkansas, where she was born July 1, 1899 at Cave City.

She was married to George Middleton (Mid) Lewis on January 14, 1917 at Dodson. They lived at Dimmitt for about 5 years then returned to Dodson, which had been her home since that time. Mr. Lewis died Feb. 24, 1965.

She was a member of the Church of the Nazarene at Dodson, former secretary of Nazarene World Missionary Society and member of the Women's Ministries.

She was a former member of the Dodson Civic Club.

Funeral services were conducted at 2:30 p.m. Friday, June 24, with the Rev. C.M. Huff officiating, assisted by the Rev. Dennis Hayes, a former pastor. Burial was in Dodson Cemetery by Schooler-Gordon Funeral Directors.

Pall bearers were Garland Hightower, Melvin Cardwell, Roy Dean Cardwell, Tommy Hightower, Orville Roediger and Sherrell Beanland.

Survivors are a sister, Mrs. Vela Tisdale, and brother, Bob Hightower, both of Wellington.

There are 5 nieces and a nephew: Garland Hightower and Wanda Cardwell of Dodson, Wilma Beanland of Hollis, J'Nell Dawson of Ontario, Calif., Garnetta Roediger of Borger and Joyce Duncan of Richardson.

She was preceded in death by a sister, Verdie Mae Hightower Cornelius and brothers, Owen Hightower and Elmer (Hank) Hightower.

The family requests that memorials be to the Dodson Cemetery Association, the Dodson NWMS or to a favorite charity.

Prison Film at Dodson Church

"God's Prison Gang" a newly released film featuring Al Capone's getaway driver, the last member of Bonnie and Clyde's gang and two other notorious criminals who have become Christians will be shown at the Church of the Nazarene, Dodson Sunday, July 3 at 7 p.m.

The film, shot behind the walls of New York's Attica prison, is hosted by Art Linkletter. It tells the story of how the work of International Prison Ministry is accomplishing what more guards, higher prison walls and greater financial expenditures have failed to do keep released inmates from returning to lives of crime.

Telling their stories in the 44-minute film are George Meyer, Al Capone's favorite driver; Floyd Hamilton, (Public Enemy No. 1) the last of the Bonnie and Clyde Gang; Jerry Graham, the "robber king" of California; and Ted Jefferson, convicted of crimes from drugs and robbery to murder.

Also featured is "Chaplain Ray," of Dallas-based International Prison Ministry.

The Reverend C.M. Huff, pastor of Dodson, Nazarene Church said he hopes all citizens concerned about the problem of rising crime will attend the free screening of the film.

A free-will offereing will be taken at the close of the film to help the International Prison Ministry.

Fund Started For Patient in Chemotherapy

A fund has been established at the City State Bank and at the Wellington State Bank to help pay for part of the cost of chemotherapy for Mrs. Cleo Pennon.

Mrs. Pennon had surgery for cancer a few months ago, and is currently receiving treatments that those who know her case report are "very expensive."
