Yanks Storm Ashore On Biak Island

Campaign In New Guinea Near End

By MURLIN SPENCER
Associated Press Staff Writer

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Sunday, May 28—Veteran American infantry forced a landing on Biak island in the Schoutens yesterday against strong Japanese resistance and battled their way toward airfields that will base Allied planes for assaults on the Philippines.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, announcing the invasion today, said the hardened Yanks stormed the southeastern beaches of the island after dawn and by nightfall had established a strong beachhead a mile east and a mile west of Bosnik.

Campaign Near End

This vault 200 miles toward the Philippines from Wakde island, conquered only last week in another jump up the New Guinea coast, was hailed immediately by the general as the virtual conclusion of the Allied campaign on that huge island.

The jungle-green-clad veterans of other New Guinea amphibious landings stormed the beaches less than 900 miles from the southern Philippines after an intensive bombardment by American and Australian cruisers.

The landing itself was one of the most heavily opposed of any made by MacArthur's forces in the Southwest Pacific theater.

The Japanese, lodged in strong positions overlooking the beaches, opened up with heavy mortar and automatic weapons fire. MacArthur's communique said, however, that American losses in the operation were light.

Long-Range Duel

Simultaneously with the landing, enemy shore batteries carried on a long-range duel with the American and Australian cruisers and other naval craft. A headquarters spokesman said minor damage and casualties were suffered by the naval force.

The last report at headquarters told of the American infantrymen hammering ahead toward the Mokmer, Sorido and Boroke airdromes seven miles away. But they were running into strong enemy resistance.

Announcing the landing on Biak, MacArthur said:

"Capture of this stronghold will give us command and domination of Dutch New Guinea except for isolated enemy positions. For strategic purposes, this marks the practical end of the New Guinea campaign."

Then in a special statement the Landing Follows Familiar Pattern

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today (Sunday) invasion of Biak in the Schouten islands off Dutch New Guinea, acclaiming it as ending the New Guinea campaign and pointing the war toward the Philippines. Here is an eyewitness account of that invasion as viewed from a Boston attack plane by Associated Press war correspondent Asahel Bush.)

U. S. ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Dutch New Guinea, May 27 — Thrice the A-20 whipped low over the beachhead and from the cockpit we could see the invasion of Biak island proceeding along a growingly familiar pattern.

It was two hours after the initial wave of veteran infantrymen had hit the shore. Already troops were fanning out along the tree-lined coast on southeastern Biak. One large column progressed at least a mile and a half along a road running west toward Bosnek village and the yellow coral Mokner airstrip beyond.

Space For Regrouping

There were beach fires in two places. Biak is a large island, with plenty of space for the enemy to regroup and reorganize. The prospects are for at least a strong defense in the vicinity of the airfields.

From a 200-foot altitude, there was little sign of activity in the zone beyond the American line of advance. Bosnek village, some three miles west of the beachhead, appeared forsaken.

At the Mokmer airstrip, another four miles west, the runway, taxiways and dispersal areas looked completely devoid of planes, vehicles, stores or any usual impedimenta cluttering airfields.

Borokoe airdrome, second of the chain of three Biak strips, was visible in the distance. It too appeared desolated.

Infantry Hits Beach

At 7:15 a. m., barge-borne infantry from destroyer transports first hit the beach east of Bosnek village. They were followed by infantry from landing craft which were able to tie up to Japanese-built jetties and send troops ashore without getting a single foot wet.

The secondary landing was made at Cape Garfia, east of Bosnek, to portect the right flank of the beachhead.

The Japanese fired anti-aircraft guns from ridge positions behind the beach. The first and second waves drew enemy fire.

By the time our planes arrived, the destroyers and cruisers which delivered the pre-landing bombardment were firing into the hills.

Bostons Asked For Aid

Apprently the ground forces found other enemy gun positions on a low wooded hill behind Mokmer. Our flight of Bostons from the "Devil's Own" unit were asked to work them over.

The pilot of the "Tiny Might" swept the length of the hill in a

Allied Air Blows Rock Coast Areas

Berlin Sounds Alert As Attack Roars On; Houses In England Badly Shaken

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sunday, May 28—The great Allied pre-invasion aerial offensive, which sent nearly 6,000 bombers and fighters thundering abainst Hitler's transportation system yesterday, roared on past midnight with alerts sounding in Berlin, and the English shores shaking from violent explosions along the French coast.

The Folkestone area, across the narrow strait of Dover from France, got one of its greatest joltings of the war—houses shaking, furniture bouncing and doors banging again and again from the vibrations of the cross-channel explosions. Flares and bomb explosion flashes lit the channel sky.

One of Greatest Blows

The attack yesterday was one of the greatest coordinated blows ever struck from bases in England and Italy as wave after wave of bombers and figl.ters roared over the European continent.

At least 12 important railroad junctions, five airfields, two aircraft repair factories and several railroad bridges were among the targets blasted by well over 6,000 tons of exploding steel.

Some of the attackers encountered fighter opposition while othtrs made their raids unmolested, the U. S. Eighth Air force said in announcing that 24 bombers and seven fighters were missing. In addition, eleven U. S. medium bombers were lost in other phases of the widespread assault.

At Least 49 Nazis Downed

At least 49 Nazi planes were shot down in the main attacks by the fleet flying from Britain, bomber gunners claiming 13 and escorting fighters getting 36.

A possibility that the Mediterranean Air force was striking into the Balkans at night also was indicated as the Budapest radio left the air before midnight.

From Britain a force of approximately 2,000 American heavy bombers and fighters struck deep into France and Germany in a six-pronged attack on Rhineland rail hubs and French aircraft factories and airdromes.

At the same time fighter-escorted American "heavies" based in Italy thundered into southeastern France for the third straight day, lashing at rail installations, in heavy blows at Nimes, Avignon and Marseille.

Between 750 and 1,000 Liberators and Fortresses from Britain pounded German rail centers at Mannheim, Ludwigshafen, Saarbrucken and Karlsruhe, the Rhineland industrial city 150 miles north of Munich.

They dumped some 2,500 tons of Shells Pouring On Last Main Escape Route For Nazis

(By The Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, May 27. — American armored forces fought their way into the town of Artena, only 2½ miles from the strategic Casilina highway, and tonight began pouring a heavy shellfire into this main escape route for eight German divisions comprising the bulk of the Nazi forces below Rome.

While American tanks and field guns kept the enemy retreat line under fire, other American Fifth Army forces in their closest drive toward Rome threatened the town of Velletri, 18 miles from the outskirts of the capital. Velletri already was shrouded in smoke from blazing fires.

Germans Alarmed

The Germans, apparently alarmed over the plight of their large forces to the southeast, threw reserves into the fight to keep the Americans from blocking the all-important Via-Casilina—Highway pondent Daniel De Luce wrote from the front tonight.

In the town of Artena, American doughboys were waging a house-to-house battle with the Germans, De Luce reported. Artena, itself an important road junction behind the retreating Nazi Tenth Army was reached after a spectacular drive of nine miles in one way.

De Luce said the Germans had attempted a counter-attack on the secondary highway between Velletri and Artena but that American artillery was covering the Via Casilina and shells were falling on German positions 15 miles from Rome.

Advance Steadily

The Allied armies advanced steadily along the entire 80-mile active front today.

American Fifth Army forces forging a ring around the Pontine marshes stormed through the mountain town of Sezze, the largest town yet taken in the Allied offensive, developing a second threat to the main German forces.

Capture of Sezze brought the Americans squarely up against a new defense line which two German divisions have tried to establish in the Lepini hills northeast of the marshes to protect the flank of the German troops in the Liri valley and their principal route of retreat along the Via Casilina toward Rome.

The main bodies of the two Fifth Army forces, whose patrols joined earlier in the week, now were less than ten miles apart.

The Germans, growing desperate about the plight of their forces at the center of the front near

Reds Sink Four More Nazi Ships

20 German Planes Reported Downed

LONDON, Sunday, May 28 (AP) Preliminary to a strategically timed offensive from the far north to the Black Sea, the Russians continue to hammer at German shipping in upper waters, last night's Soviet communique announcing the sinking of four more enemy transports in the Gulf of Riga and Finland.

These actions, signalling the the first movement of German convoys in weeks—though their destinations remained obscure — coincided with a Berlin broadcaster's prediction that imminent Soviet drives would include a major attack in the Baltic.

Land Front Quiet

Both the Russians and the Germans reported quiet along the long eastern front.

Moscow, in its communique, reported an attempted raid by 70 German planes on an objective in the Gulf of Finland had been frustrated. Intercepting Russian planes shot down 11 Nazi bombers and nine fighters in the ensuing air battle, Moscow reported, and the Germans dropped their bombs into the sea. Two Red planes failed to return.

A total of 30 German planes were claimed by the Russians during Saturday's operations.

Harp On Offensive

DNB's commentator, Col. Ernst von Hammer, said "there are indications of the imminence of a big Russian offensive in the south."

A supplement to the communique told of local "feeler" skirmishes on various sectors of the front, notably south of Tiraspol and southeast of Vitebsk.

At the latter place, German infantry under cover of artillery captured a Soviet height, but later was thrown out by a counter-attack which killed 300 of the enemy and netted booty and prisoners, the supplement said.

Japs Open New Drive In China

Offensive Sweep To Canton Likely

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

Japanese war lords have launched a new offensive in central China.

The new series of attacks was reported yesterday by Chungkng. Fighting broke out in three sectors of southern Hupen province below Tsungyang, lying between two railroads extending south from Hankow. Both are coveted by the Japanese as interior supply lines to relieve their dwindling cargo fleets.

It's possible this is the beginning of a major offensive to sweep down the rail lines to the Japanese-held port of Canton. Chinese have predicted such a campaign would be the sequel to the recent Nipponese conquest of the trackless railways north of Hankow in Honan province. Chinese troops have recaptured part of the northern line.

Chinese Report Gains

Chungking reported its counter-offensive was again gaining ground, particularly in western Honan where the Nipponese have made their deepest penetration.

Over the icy mountain passes of southern China and the steaming jungles of northern Burma, Allied troops cut a few more miles off the Japanese-held area flanking the Burma road.

Chinese forces pushed through a sleet storm in pursuit of enemy units that escaped their trap at the Tatangtzu mountain outpost. Twelve miles to the south they beat back counterattacking Japanese reinforcements.

Warong Captured

The American-trained Chinese 38th division captured Warong in North Burma's Mogaung valley from the Nipponese conquerors of Singapore. A supply dump was seized and heavy casualties inflicted on the Japanese. Other American-led troops advanced a

ON THE ITALIAN FRONT, May 20 (Delayed) — You read about the big push in the papers. Maybe you understand what it means to the soldier, maybe you don't, being as far from Italy as you are.

DIXON

Anyhow, here are a few notes which have nothing to do with maps and pins or world strategy but which are part of the big push just the same:

"It means starting forward in the night through barbed wire, minefields and booby traps which have been months in preparation . . . Seeing out of the corner of your eye but refusing to look when bursts of exploding flame mark the spot to right or left where someone took his last step . . . Gritting your teeth, sweating, praying, swearing, shaking, swallowing—but still going forward.

"(In some cases our engineers have stealthily cleared out minefields ahead of the troops in the night, and when the men charged across them they found the Germans had re-sown the mines just as stealthily.)

It means when the enemy alerts to the advance the barrages begin . . . They close in on you shaking and wrecking the whole world . . . And then you disperse and take cover. There is no cover so you scratch frantically at the

Supply Lines Of Nazis Crippled

Coastal Command Works Effectively

LONDON, May 27. (AP) — The RAF Coastal command's torpedo and rocket bombers have crippled the enemy's blockade-running feedline in the Bay of Biscay to German war plants, while British Liberators and Wellingtons from Italy again have strewn the lower Danube military waterway with mines to throttle another source of supply, it was announced today.

During the last six months the coastal command planes have attacked 563 enemy vessels and a total of 67 have been sunk or damaged, the RAF announced. Assessments on an additional 25 are still to be made.

Well-Equipped Planes

The attacks were made by planes with bombs, torpedoes and new rocket projectiles. No figures indicating the success of the rockets alone are available.

The second series of mining operations covering hundreds of miles of the Danube river have been completed by RAF Liberators Wellingtons of the Strategic Air force, an official announcement in Naples said. The operations, carried out at low altitude and at night, have effectively cut down German waterway traffic and increased the strain on the central European rail system, by closing the iron gate river route over which much Romanian oil was shipped to Germany via Hungary.

Fourth Marines Are Praised By Nimitz

AN ADVANCED PACIFIC BASE, May 27 (AP)—Men of the Fourth Marine division who partisipated in the "first invasion of Japanese territory in this war" when they helped win the Marshall islands were told by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz today "I am sure that this division will make much more history of the same desirable kind."

The commander of the Pacific fleet and Pacific ocean areas spoke briefly at a ceremony honoring 16 Marines, for actions in the Gilbert and the Marshalls.

The highest award, the Navy cross, went to Sgt. Theodore Gilliland, of Celina, Ohio, who deliberately attracted Japanese fire during the battle for Roi and Namur in the Marshalls so as to aid the escape of a trapped tank crew.

Lt. Robert E. Ford, Seymour, Tex., was given a letter of commendation.

Abilene Man Shot To Death In Lamesa Cafe

LAMESA, May 27 (Special) — Allie Estes Staags, 33, of Abilene, was shot to death this morning in a small cafe here.

Officers said Staags was hit above the heart with a blast from a 12-gauge shotgun. He died almost instantly, they stated.

The 60-year-old operator of the cafe was jailed in connection with the shooting, according to Deputy Sheriff A. N. Randle.

Staags was described as a big man, six feet tall and weighing 196 pounds.

Yanks West Of Tokyo But Too Far South

MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Sunday, May 28 (AP) — The invasion of Biak in the Schouten islands off Dutch New Guinea places American forces at a point more than 300 miles west of Tokyo.

However, there's a matter of better than 2,500 miles north to be negotiated.

KFYO Goes On Blue Network

KFYO, the Avalanche-Journal radio station, will become a full-time member of the Blue Network next Thursday, June 1. It will not be until Monday, June 5, however, that KFYO will begin carrying a schedule of Blue network programs.

Commercial contracts have already been received by KFYO to carry a number of the better daytime shows, including "The Breakfast Club," "Breakfast at Sardi's," "Time Views the News," "Gil Martyn and The News," "Morton Downey Sings," "Dream River," and others. Contracts have not yet been received for the night shows, which include "The Quiz Kids," "Spotlight Bands," "Chamber Music Society of Lower Basin Street," Walter Winchell and numerous other outstanding programs.

Mutual Is Retained

The station will continue to carry a few of the Mutual Broadcasting System programs, such as Fulton Lewis, jr., Boake Carter and other commentators.

Although the youngest of the major networks, the Blue Network has departed from the pattern of some of the older webs in that it goes in for daytime variety shows rather than the old "soap operas," or "washboard weepers." Formerly a property of the National Broadcasting company, which operated the Red and Blue networks, the Blue Network is now a separate company, owned principally by Edward J. Noble and Time Magazine. It is not now connected in any way with the National Broadcasting company.

Deteriorated Body Is Found In Lake

DURHAM, N. C., May 27 (AP)—The nude and deiteriorated body of an elderly woman was dragged from the bottom of Eastwood lake this afternoon and Police Chief H. E. King of Durham said he believed it to be that of Mrs. Edward M. Jewett, rich Boonville, Mo., woman who has been mysteriously missing since May 10.

Positive identification, King said, may be difficult because of the condition of the body, which had 12 to 14 stab wounds in the back. Deputy Sheriff E. J. Belvin of Durham county estimated the body had been in the water at least a week.

The discovery was made by a professional diver, R. H. Butler of Newport News, Va., after a three-day search and came exactly a week after Mrs. Jewett's 24-year-old grandson, Edward Jewett Martin, was arrested on an open charge.

The body, tied by wire and rope fastened to the ankles, wrists and waist, was weighted down by heavy cinder blocks.

Last Thursday the Durham county grand jury indicted the young Charlotte chemist on a charge of murder after a deposit box rented in Martin's name was found to contain three diamond rings and a diamond studded broach.

Flood Waters Menace Town

(By The Associated Press)

The crest of the rampaging Little river flood was threatening Cameron, Tex., and vicinity last night, while cattlemen along the Trinity river from Dallas southeast to Henderson county were warned to move livestock to high ground.

At Cameron the Little river was rising eight inches an hour and had reached 33 feet. Traffic east and south across the river was halted.

Stream Slowly Falls

Farmers at the town of Little River said the stream was falling slowly there but that extensive damage had been done to their new corn crops as well as to early cotton.

The Lampass and Leon rivers were falling.

At Dallas, the Trinity was more than two feet over its banks, swollen by rains of the past four days.

Horse Racing To Be Resumed By Germans

NEW YORK, May 26 (AP)— A German domestic broadcast, heard by the OWI on U. S. government monitors, said tonight that horse racing had been resumed in Germany because "conditions of terrain and supplies impose limitations on the motorization of our armed forces" and therefore "maintenance of efficient horse breeding is a necessity of greatest importance in the war effort."

Munitions Output Said Slightly Off

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—Munitions production in April dropped 3 per cent behind schedule and 2 per cent under March.

The War Production board, reporting this today, described the slump as "a definite lag behind the rising schedule which was planned from March until November," and not a continuation of the planned decline in January and February.

Chairman Donald M. Nelson revealed for the first time that the production goal for 1944 has been cut to "somewhat less than $69,000,000,000" from the original objective of $82,000,000,000.

Brighest aspect of the report was Nelson's announcement that most of the "must" items were well abreast of schedule. These include landing craft, heavy artillery ammunition, airborne signal equipment, heavy trucks, tractors, and the urgent air-craft models.

Ninth Sets Record In Week's Bombing

LONDON, May 27 (AP)—During the week of steady hammering against Hitler's Europe, the U. S. Ninth Air forces bombers flew 1,950 sorties and the fighters made 4,800, it was announced tonight.

The figure for fighters not only is a record for the Ninth Air force, but probably stands as the greatest number of fighters any air force ever has thrown against an enemy in a similar period.

Marauders and Havocs of the Ninth Air force also made this week their biggest by making two attacks today—their 12th and 13th operations in nine days. Their targets were railway bridges and yards in France.

Japs At Davao See "Shadows"

By ROBERT EUNSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

GENERAL MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Sunday, May 28.—It is quite likely that building air raid shelters at Davoa now is the most popular pastime of the Japanese at that community on Mindanao, in the southern Phillpines.

Those airfields for which Gen. Douglas MacArthur's invasion forces are bidding at Biak island in the Schoutens are less than 900 statute miles from Davao.

The Japanese on Palau, naval base in the western Carolines, probably don't feel any too good about the situation either. Palau is less than 600 miles from Biak, which means bombers will be able to go there under fighter escort.

Resemble Admiralty

The Schoutens consist of Biak, Soepioro and 30 smaller islands, separated by a narrow tidal channel. Resembling the Admiralty islands in size and shape, the Schoutens are 75 miles long and 25 miles wide.

Southeastern Biak is flat with mountains rising 2,000 feet to the northwest. The American doughboy had to crawl through dense thickets of stunted bambo which makes travel off the tracks (trails) very difficult.

Figuratively speaking, the American campfires are burning tonight about 1,500 miles from Corregidor—and that's where a gentleman named MacArthur has vowed one day he'll be.

Majority Say Government Is Wrong

Public Inclined To Favor Ward In Seizure Of Plant

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute Of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., May 26—The Government's seizure of the Chicago plants of Montgomery-Ward late last month attracted more public attention than almost any other domestic event of recent months.

In fact, a survey just completed, covering every state in the country, reveals that an overwhelming 87 per cent of the nation's voters have either heard or read about the case.

GALLUP

This does not of course mean that all of these people are familiar with the basic issues at stake in the dispute which culminated in a Presidential order to take over the plants of the giant mail order house. The survey finds that about two out of every three who have heard or read about the affair say they have not studied the case closely enough to be familiar with the arguments.

Therefore, the present survey placed special emphasis upon getting the opinion of those who are

U. S. Employes Rebuked For Propagandizing Congress

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP) — Government employes "propagandizing Congress" for large appropriations drew a rebuke today from the House appropriations committee as it reported a $1,104,972,814 supply bill for independent offices.

The second billion dollar bill sent to the House this week carried $67,950,350 to finance the Labor department, for the fiscal year starting July 1, a reduction of $2,464,850 from budget estimates; $629,224,185 for the federal security agency, a $58,621,115 cut; $15,410,000 for the employes compensation commission, the same as requested in the budget; $3,523,450 for the National Labor Relations board, a cut of $625,550,-$607,000 for the national mediation board, a reduction of $46,500; $311,316,000 for the Railroad Retirement board as requested in the budget, and $76,941,829 for the War Manpower commission, an $8,006,371 reduction.

Below Budget Estimates

The total funds recommended were $69,464,686 below budget estimates and $61,873,096 under current year appropriations.

Eliminated entirely was a budget request for $2,465,000 for the War Manpower commission's program of recruiting, locating and bringing into this country foreign workers to meet labor shortages.

This program, the committee commended, has not met with "sufficient success to justify its continuation."

The rebuke to government workers was aimed at employes in the children's bureau and in the Office of Education. Commenting on the volume of correspondence received in connection with the children's bureau's request for funds, the committee said it believed the public would support the program without government employes being "used in having the Congress or members of the committee on appropriations circularized on behalf of such appropriation."

Agency Particularly Aggressive

The Office of Education, the committee added, "has been particularly aggressive in having brought to the attention of members of Congress the need for increased appropriations."

Larger allotments in the bill included $42,800,000 for emergency maternity and infant care for wives and children of enlisted service men; $63,000,000 for the emergency nurses training program, and $25,000,000 for grants to states for unemployment compensation administration.

Most of the cut in the entire bill represented a slash of $38,-745,977 for vocational education, for which only $30,121,623 was recommended by the committee. This reduction, the committee explained, is possible because of the continued withdrawal of workers from industry to the armed forces, with withdrawal of women from industry "at a relatively high rate," and the diminishing availability of workers to take training during the next fiscal year.

Vocational Education Provided

The committee continued available an unexpended balance of $36,000,000 for payments to states for vocational education of defense workers.

The committee continued a limitation written into last year's NLRB appropriation prohibiting the use of any funds in connection with complaint cases between management and labor over contracts that have been in existence three months or longer.

The committee added to the limitation a proviso that it shall not prohibit the NLRB from taking jurisdiction in complaint cases involving company unions, regardless of how long the agreements have been in effect before the complaint is filed.

Nazis Build Strong Defenses For Paris

BARCELONA, May 27 (AP) — The Germans have heavily fortified Paris for a street by street defense and are preparing to transfer all the Vichy governmental services to within the fortress built around the French capital, direct reports from France said today.

Modernizing the strong system of forts built around the city after the war of 1870, the Germans have interlaced them with a network of blockhouses, trenches, barbed-wire entanglements and anti-tank obstacles, the reports said, adding that even street defenses had been created.

German military authorities are quoted in dispatches here as saying that a waiting tank army constitutes the Reich's second line of defense, and the Germans are said to be massing tanks under cover of woods around Paris and southwest of the capital.

Wild Mustangs Too Much For Cowboys; Roundup Is Failure

JORDAN VALLEY, Ore., May 27 (AP)—Weary cowboys trailed back to their ranches in southwestern Idaho and eastern Oregon today, leaving some 2,000 wild mustangs free to roam the isolated range-lands of the Owyhee river country.

Interior Secretary Harold Ickes had ordered the roundup to clear the ranges for cattle in the wartime food program. The mustangs, however, had other ideas.

Eighty riders set out last Wednesday to corral the cagey mustangs. The drive was to cover the canyon-pocked rangeland along the Idaho-Oregon border.

For three days the cow waddies pressed their ponies over difficult terrain and by noon yesterday appeared headed for success. A herd of about 500 wild horses had been bunched in the three finger Butte country.

Arthur Seale, district grazier in charge of the roundup, said at that point the reserve mounts brought up for the riders bolted into the wild herd and stampeded them through the ring of mounted cowboys and back into inaccessible canyons.

"We may try again later," Seale commented, somewhat wearily, today.

Europeans Told To Keep Off Of Roads

LONDON, May 27 (AP) — Europeans were warned today to keep off the roads when Allied armies of invasion strike into the continent.

A spokesman from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters gave these instructions in the fourth of the series of instructional broadcasts beamed to the European underground:

"When the uniformed forces arrive the fighting may pass through your district. This will be the time when you will be able to give them the most trouble and obstruct their progress.

"In the common interest therefore at that time do not on any account leave the neighborhood of your village or town.

"Do not let the Germans entice you onto the road. It is there that the greatest danger lies. They will as always use you for their own purposes.

"The safest place against bombardment is anywhere below ground level.

"The cellar is the safest place in the house."

Narrow trenches and sunken roads also were recommended for shelter.

Work To Start Soon On Housing Units

Indications are that actual construction may be started within two to three weeks on most of the defense housing authorized recently for Lubbock, according to information reported here Saturday.

Definitely projected for erection, it was disclosed, are a 12-unit apartment building, an 8-unit building and 26 three-bedroom residences. The location of the larger apartment building was reported as being in the vicinity of Seventeenth street and Avenue R, with Guy Gilstrap the official sponsor, and the smaller building in the Seventeenth street and Avenue L area, with J. D. Leftwich the sponsor.

Proposed residence sites are scattered, but most are south of Nineteenth street and east of College avenue.

All the proposed building was reported as being in a state of final processing so as to comply with war regulations of various kinds.

RODEOS PLANNED

LITTLEFIELD, May 27 (Sp.)—Arrangements are underway here for a series of rodeos to be presented every Sunday afternoon at the Sanders farm northwest of town. The programs will be sponsored by a group of local rodeo and roping fans. Weekly rodeo events are now being held Sundays at Hart Camp, Fieldton and Anton.

Injunction Against Wards Is Upheld

CHICAGO, May 27 (AP)—An injunction restraining Montgomery Ward and company from selling any goods at prices above Office of Price administration ceilings was upheld yesterday by the U. S. circuit court of appeals.

The injunction, issued last Sept. 7 by Federal Judge John P. Barnes, covered all the items sold by the company, the OPA having asked for the order after originally charging that the mail order house sold women's and children's outer garments at above-ceiling prices.

W. M. LINGO DIES

DALLAS, May 27 (AP)—W. M. Lingo, 68, president of the Lingo lumber company here, died today after two weeks illness. A native of Denison, he was educated there and in Missouri, and came to Dallas 40 years ago.

Tri-Power Super Cabinet Is Seen

LONDON, May 27 (AP)—Formation of a tri-power "super cabinet" to deal with the international diplomatic problems in plans to create, before victory, an international organization to keep the peace.

Just how far the idea has developed remains uncertain, but its necessity has been urged for some time and its likely membership would be on a high level—men of such position as Ambassador John G. Winant of the United States, Lord Halifax of Britain and Maxim Litvinoff of Russia.

Supporting the possible creation of such an agency are these factors:

1. Information in high British quarters that the three nations are planning to get together soon to study the structure of a world organization.

Advisory Council Criticized

2. Criticism in the press, Congress and the House of Commons over failure of the European advisory commission to handle efficiently such problems as the Italian political situation, relations with the French National committee and the Polish-Russian controversy.

3. Recommendations in some places that United Nations machinery must be established for quick coordinated action to deal with similar problems after the invasion.

4. Current consultations in Washington between President Roosevelt and Ambassador Winant and W. Averell Harriman, which have been extended beyond original intentions—plus the refusal of Presidential Secretary Stephen Early to confirm or deny that Winant will be given another assignment.

5. Reports from neutral sources that a three-way diplomatic shift in the United States set-up is being planned, with Winant remaining in Washington, Harriman coming to London and possibly Sumner Welles taking over the Moscow post.

Quints Are 10 Today; Many Stories About Them False

By A. E. FULFORD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CALLANDER, Ont., May 27—The Dionne quintuplets will be ten years old May 28, and it's time to debunk some stories about them that have sprung up during the decade.

One of these widely believed untruths is that the quints are not bright—or that one of them, Marie, is backward.

The Canadian Press correspondent, who first knew them when they were three months old, visited with their father and their teachers. He learned that while they are not prodigies, they are as intelligent as normal children of their age and perhaps a little more so.

About Same In Intelligence

None is brighter in everything than the others. Yvonne may be a wizard at arithmetic one month, but Cecile or Emile will beat her later. Marie may tops in social studies in one test, but Annette will overhaul her the next time.

Another story is that the quints can't speak English and are forbidden to learn. On the contrary, they have daily English lessons—although most of their school work is done in their native French—and they speak English very well for little French-Canadian girls.

It has been reported that the quints' earning power has diminished. Some of that earning power was diverted to selling war bonds, but the little girls are still doing nicely. They have contracts that bring them $25,000 to $30,000 a year plus a million dollar reserve that won't be touched until they are grown.

For the first time since the quints' birth in a four-room farmhouse across the road from their present $50,000, twenty-room home, Mr. and Mrs. Olivia Dionne fully approve of the arrangements under which the children are brought up.

The quints no longer are wards of the state, except in the handling of their finances. All the Dionnes are together in a house that is the largest and most tastefully furnished in northern Ontario.

The children, not too eager, not too shy, they are beautifully behaved and lack self-consciousness except when they are the center of attention.

Cecile seems to be the chief mischief maker, Emilie the most carefree. Marie is the 'baby.' Yvonne and Annette are the leaders and seem more mature. Blond sister, Pauline, just a year older, is a thoroughly integrated part of their group.

Father Dionne, in his almost accentless English, said there was nothing to the stories that he and Mrs. Dionne would "give" the quints to the church.

"People don't 'give' their children to the church or to any other profession these days," he said. "Children decide for themselves."

Manpower Job Ahead Is "More Difficult"

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP) — The No. 1 manpower problem now is getting an adequate number of workers to places that suddenly become critical because of swift developments in the war, manpower officials said in hearings before a House appropriations subcommittee, made public today.

Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the War Manpower commission, said that because production has reached a peak and must be maintained at a plateau, and because "the time to start down from the peak is so uncertain," the manpower job ahead is "far more difficult than it has been."

Executive Director Lawrence A. Appley said the last estimate was that about 75,000 workers a month now are being recruited to move from one area to another, and 40,000 a month from one manpower region to another. He added: "The turnover all over the country is coming down considerably."

Manpower officials argued for a proposal to import 20,000 unemployed Puerto Ricans to work in the South. Representative Tarver (D-Ga) vigorously argued against it. It was brought out that 1,500 lumber workers from British Honduras were to begin arriving in the South the latter part of May.

KILLED IN ACTION

LAMESA, May 27 (Sp.) — Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hinson, route B, were notified this week that their son, 2nd Lt. James Edward Hinson, had been killed in action in Italy May 7. He was a navigator on a Flying Fortress. Lt. Hinson was a native of Dawson county and was graduated from Lamesa High school in 1940.

More Than 200 Graves To Be Decorated On Memorial Day

More than 200 graves in Lubbock cemeteries of those who served in the U. S. Armed Forces in time of war will be decorated with flags and flowers Tuesday as part of the observance of Memorial day here, according to announcement by members of the sponsoring committee Saturday.

A great many flowers will be needed. Therefore, members of the committee renewed their appeal to everyone with flowers to take them to Allen Bros. post home of the American Legion, 910 Texas avenue, at any time before 6 p. m. Tuesday. Members of the auxiliaries of the Legion, the VFW and the Navy Mothers club will assemble the flowers into the bouquets which will be placed upon the graves.

The Navy Mothers club, the VFW, the Legion and their auxiliaries will sponsor the observance.

Observance To Be Impressive

The observance in Lubbock, tough not elaborate, will be impressive. Public memorial services will be conducted in the Legion home Tuesday afternoon at 6 o'clock, with Dr. C. A. Bickley, pastor of Asbury Methodist church the speaker. Appropriate special music is planned.

The scene then will shift to Lubbock cemetery, where Dr. Norvel Young, minister of Broadway Church of Christ will speak at graveside services. A firing squad from Texas State guard will officiate, followed by taps. Graves which already will have been marked with flags will be decorated with the flowers. Boy Scouts will assist in this.

Members of the arrangements committee are W. H. McDonald, J. A. Sears, Walter F. Smith, Rev. Jeff D. Welch and J. A. Raley, jr.

Raley, who is record keeper of graves for the patriotic groups, said, that of the more than 200 graves, approximately 130 are those of veterans of World War 1, around 65 are of veterans of the present war and the remainder of veterans of previous wars.

Businesses To Be Open

Lubbock business houses will be open as usual throughout the day, according to a report at the Retail Merchants association.

However, banks and First Federal Savings and Loan association will be closed.

Postmaster Amos Howard announced that the postoffice will work on a limited holiday schedule. Usual downtown deliveries will be made, but none in the residence districts. All windows except general delivery and parcel post will be closed throughout the day. General and parcel post will be open from 11 a.m. until 1 p.m.

In Slaton, the decoration of graves at 9 a.m. will be followed by a parade and a patriotic service at 2 p.m.

CONVICTIONS INCREASE

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—Convictions for violations of the draft act increased 66 per cent during the past ten months, the Justice department reports. From July, 1943, to May 1, 1944, there were 4,474 convictions, an increase of 1,781 over the 2,693 reported in the same period of the preceding fiscal year.

NAVY BILL SIGNED

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—President Roosevelt today signed into law legislation authorizing a special $65,000,000 appropriation for tools, equipment and facilities for the manufacture by the Navy of rocket guns and projectiles and other confidential projects.

Slaton Outlines Memorial Plans

* * *

SLATON, May 27 (Special) — Thousands of people are expected to gather here Tuesday for this town's annual Memorial day services.

A parade led by the Lubbock Army Air field band will open the observance at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The parade line will be made up of units from each of the Lubbock army air fields; state guardsmen; American Legionaires from Post, Tahoka, Lubbock and Slaton; Veterans of Foregn wars; representatives of the local and Lubbock Red Cross chapters; USO workers; a detachment of WACS, and civic and labor organizations.

At City Hall Lawn

Scene of most of the activity will be the city hall lawn. Rev. L. N. Lipscomb, of Lubbock, district superintendent of the Methodist church, will be the principal speaker. Band music will be offered by the LAAF band.

State guardsmen will mount guard at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning at the side of a simulated soldier's grave on the city hall lawn. The guard will be continued until after the ceremony of firing a salute, laying of a wreath, and the token floral offerings of surrounding towns' mayors and VFW and American Legion commanders.

All Slaton business establishments with the exception of drug stores will be closed for the day. The drug stores will remain open until noon.

Chairs will be placed on the lawn for the comfort of visitors.

The event is sponsored each year by the Slaton Chamber of Commerce.

Texas U. Celebrates First Oil Discovery

AUSTIN, May 27. (AP)—Oil men, historians and educators tonight observed the 21st anniversary of the discovery of oil on University of Texas lands, a discovery that has poured nearly $44,000,000 in a permanent fund for betterment of the university.

At a dinner celebration staged by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association for University of Texas representatives and the Texas State Historical association, speakers reminded what the flow of wealth has meant to the university and how it can shape its future.

From the discovery well, Santa Rita, in Reagan county, the university's oil royalty expanded to 1,112 wells which wield about $85,000 a month. The money goes into a permanent fund and only the income from the permanent fund can be spent.

Posts In Senate Sought By 34

AUSTIN, May 27. (U.P.) — There are 34 Democratic primary election candidates for the 16 state Senate seats to be filled this year, a compilation of Texas legislative service, showed today.

In addition, many of the 15 "hold-over" Senators have announced for other offices, and if successful, their places will have to be filled by special elections.

Senators Seek House Posts

There are 312 Democratic candidates for the 150 seats in the House of representatives. Five of these candidates are former state Senators. They are Chas. R. Floyd of Paris, Claude C. Westerfeld of Dallas, Julian Greer of Elkhart, W. A. Williamson of San Antonio and R. S. Bowers of Caldwell.

There is no primary candidate for House district one, which is Bowie county. W. L. Dunn of DeKalb, present representative, announced but failed to file his application in time. Should there be no candidate in the primary or November general election, the county would not be entirely unrepresented. Bowie and Marion counties form a flotorial district. J. P. Fant of Jefferson and Joe White of New Boston have filed as candidates in the flotorial district.

Five Senators Unopposed

Unopposed candidates for the state Senate are Ben Ramsey of San Augustine, T. C. Chadwick of Quitman, Fred Mauritz of Fanado, H. L. Winfield of Fort Stockton and Grady Hazelwood of Amarillo.

Unopposed for House membership are: Noel C. Baker, Gilmer; Cecil Storey, Longview; Mervyn L. Ramsey, Beckville; Ottis E. Lock, Zavalla; David Read, Silsbee; Sherwood Brown, jr., North Texas City; Donald Markle, Galveston; Carlton Moore, William C. Montgomery and J. E. Winfree, Houston; Carlton Crawford, Palacios; George E. Adams, Bryan; A. W. Cocker, Huntsville; J. B. Sallas, Crockett; Miss Elizabeth Suiter, Winnsboro; M. B. Morgan, Denison; C. C. Gardner, Gainesville; R. L. Proffer, Denton; Preston Mangum, Dallas; Thomas R. Bond, Terrell; Julian P. Greer, Elkhart; Luman Parton, Marlin; Cecil Rhodes, Hearne; Durwood Manford, Smiley; Augustine Celaya, Brownsville; Homer Leonard, McAllen; B. J. Leyendecker, Laredo; Mrs. Florence Fenley, Uvalde;

W. A. Williamson, Marshall Bell and John Charles Hoyo, San Antonio; L. B. Holstein, Pandora; Frank B. Voight, New Braunfels; J. T. Ellis, Maxwell; Frank Svadelnak, Thrall; Chas. V. Lansberry, Round Rock; Harry L. Davis, jr., Boerne; C. H. Gilmer, Kerrville (aspirant for speaker); Jack M. Mabe, Eagle Pass; S. J. Isaacks and W. W. Bridges, El Paso; W. H. Demo Leaders Are Not Sure Factions Can Be Reconciled

DALLAS, May 27. (AP) — E. B. Germany and Mrs. F. R. Carlton, leaders of a Democratic group working for an uninstructed delegation to the Chicago convention, stated today they could not agree that "the difference between the regular Democratic convention and the rump convention held recently in Austin can be reconciled."

(In Austin at a press conference Thursday, Myron G. Blalock, Democratic national committeeman from Texas, said he was doing all in his power to compose differences between factions of the party in Texas and "I am not repudiating either side.")

In a written statement offered for publication today, Germany and Mrs. Carlton referred to themselves as "state co-ordinators of the forces working for an uninstructed delegation." Germany is a former chairman of the state Democratic executive committee. Mrs. Carlton is a member of the state committee. Both are from Dallas.

Blalock Not Mentioned

Their statement, which did not mention Blalock, said:

"The regular convention represented an overwhelming majority of the delegates certified from the counties, as hardly a fifth of the delegates bolted to form the rump convention.

"The convictions and the objectives of the groups are too widely divergent for any effort at compromise to be successful. The delegates remaining in the regular convention based their party loyalty on adherence to long established principles of the Democratic party, or as Governor Dan Moody so ably and succintly put it, to the principles of an "indestructible union of indestructible states, constitutional government and civil liberty," while the bolting delegates had but one test for party fealty, namely: Loyalty to President Roosevelt as titular head of the party.

Issues Clearly Drawn

"The issues are clearly drawn and we feel we have not the right or the authority to disregard the wishes of the people so clearly expressed in the precinct, county and state conventions, and accept a compromise that would defeat their very evident desires. We cannot conceive of an honorable honest Democrat who accepted any office of leadership agreeing to any compromise which would in the very face of it thwart the declarations made at Austin and the program there decided upon. A leader cannot lead two opposing groups bound for different destinations. We therefore urge every designated representative of the convention to not make any commitments that would in any way be out of harmony with the expressed desire of the regular state Democratic convention."

Japanese Equipment Captured On Roi Is Displayed At Tech

Various items of Japanese equipment captured on Rio island, Kwajalein atoll and in the Marshall group by the Fourth Marine division on February 3, 1944 is now being displayed at the West Texas museum, on the campus of Texas Technological college. The museum will be open today for the public.

Lt. Forrest W. "Chief" Jones, a graduate of Texas Tech and a former teacher at Muleshoe, was the collector of these items.

Included in the collection is a Japanese rifle with spare parts for the rifle, bayonet and case; an ammunition carrier that was cut from a dead Jap; plates from the radar equipment of a Jap Zero; and tin plates from the Rising Sun emblem of a Jap Zero.

There are several articles of clothing in the collection. One exhibit is two belts of a "thousand stitches." Mothers of the boys to whom the belts belonged stood on street corners and had a thousand different people put a stitch in the belt, making a good luck wish for them. Other clothing includes an officer's cap; a sailor's blouse, and name tags from blankets, shirts and bags.

There are two Japanese flags exhibited. One is the flag of the Imperial Marines, and the other came from a Japanese aircraft carrier. Other items are Japanese books, correspondence cards, writing paper, a letter, several placards, a Japanese game, cigarettes and hard candy.

Lt. Jones sent the collection to his wife, now residing at Muleshoe. Mrs. Jones offered the collection to the museum.

Troops Expected To Be Malaria-Carriers

WASHINGTON, May 27. (AP)—Malaria experts estimate that over a million troops will return to this country as malaria carriers, says Surgeon General Thomas Parran, of the U. S. Public Health service, and strict protective measures will be required to prevent outbreaks.

The estimate was disclosed before the House appropriations committee in hearings made public today.

Ward Case Is Causing Stir

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP) — There's more commotion in Washington over the Montgomery Ward case than if the company's catalogues had all been caught in a Chicago wind.

As a result of the seizure of the Ward properties, the case came closer today to becoming a prime political issue.

There were these developments:

A Senate judiciary subcommittee yesterday issued a report unequivocally criticizing every federal department which had anything to do with the seizure.

Findings Said "Absurd"

Attorney General Biddle, target for the committee's sharpest blasts, replied that the committee findings were "absurd," and, protesting that he had been given no opportunity to appear before it, said the Senate group's hearings were akin to "star chamber" proceedings.

President Roosevelt, when advised that the report had suggested Congress might change the law to make decisions of the War Labor board (WLB) subject to court review, indicated he thought the plan impractical.

Hard On Workmen

What would happen to the poor devils who were out of work in a labor dispute, he asked, if a decision had to be appealed to the district, circuit and supreme courts and then be subjected to an inquiry by a Senate committee?

And today the administration was putting on steam behind a drive to reverse the report and some administration senators indicate they will seek a full public hearing on the case.

The Senate report was filed by a Senate judiciary subcommittee but the full committee still has not committed itself. It has agreed to meet June 19 to determine what "future action will be taken."

South Plains Oil Development Activities . . .

Deep Test In Borden Planned; Five New Locations, Seven Producers Are Added

DURING last week locations announced for five new oil developments in South Plains areas and seven new producers were officially completed in the Slaughter field. One of the new tests is to be a 9,600-foot wildcat to the Ordovician, in south central Borden county.

That exploration is Northern Ordnance, Inc., No. 1-A A. M. Clayton. It will be 2,130 feet from the east line and 330 feet from the south line of section 13, block 32, TP survey, T-4-N.

Six Miles From Gail

The new development will be about six miles southwest of Gail, and two miles north and one and one-half miles west of the same operator's No. 1 Clayton & Johnson, in section 32, block 31, TP, T-4-N, now temporarily shutdown at 6,609 feet, in lime, after drilling and coring through about 300 feet of formations which had considerable streaks of oil bearing material.

Drilling will start on the test by May 27, with a rotary. The application to drill filed this week with the Railroad Commission, asked permission to dig the hole to at least 9,600 feet. That depth should take it to some section of the Ordovician, the operator thinks.

Other New Projects

Other new projects reported for the South Plains, include;

Atlantic Refining company No. 6-D Riley, 660 feet from the north and east lines of the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 283, block WT survey, on the outside of the Seminole field, in central Gaines county. It will drill to around 5,100 feet for the regular Seminole pay.

Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company No. 42-2 Ruth Bennett, 990 feet from the north and 330 feet from the west lines of section 694, block D, John H. Gubson survey, is a new exploration for the Wasson field in Yoakum county.

New Locations Staked

For the Slaughter pool, new locations have been staked by:

Gulf Oil Corporation No. 19 Mallett, 440 feet from the south and west lines of labor 15, league 34, Concho county school land survey, is to be on the east side of the field, in west Hockley county. It will drill to the San Andres pay section around 5,100 feet.

Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 29-A A. A. Slaughter, 1,609 feet east and 440 feet north of the southwest corner of labor 75, league 37, Zavalla county school land survey, is another effort to get production in the Hockley county section of the Slaughter area.

Completions Registered

Completions during the week, include:

The Texas Company No. 22-B Mallett, 580 feet from the north and west lines of labor 32, league 40, Scurry county school land survey, treated with 13,000 gallons of acid and made a flowing daily potential of 1,546 barrels of oil, with gas-oil ratio of 786-1. The pay section was at 4,920-5,032 feet.

Texaco No. 156 Bob Slaughter block, 1,331 feet from the west and 1,450 feet from the north lines of labor 83, league 38, Zavalla county school land survey, injected 14,000 gallons of acid, and made a 24-hour flowing potential of 1,005 barrels, with gas-oil ratio of 586-1. The pay formation was at 4,900-5,006 feet.

Gulf No. 7 M. G. Gordon, 6,270 feet from the north and 660 feet from the west lines of section 12, block X, psl survey, in southwest Hockley county, and on the southeast side of the Slaughter field, treated with acid, and made a daily flowing potential of 340.04 barrels, with gas-oil ratio of 320-1, from a pay section at 5,057-71 feet.

Test Flows 1,054 Barrels

Stanolind No. 46-B A. A. Slaughter, 510 feet from the east and 2,390 feet from the south lines of labor 8, league 40, Maverick County School Land survey, injected 9,000 gallons of acid, and reported a 24-hour flowing potential of 670.68 barrels, with gas-oil ratio of 489-1. The pay was at 4,997-5,061 feet.

Stanolind No. 8-A A. A. Slaughter, flowed for a daily potential of 1,054.32 barrels, after injecting 6,000 gallons of acid. The well is 510 feet from the north and 2,149 feet from the east lines of labor 47, league 37, Zavalla county school land survey. Gas-oil ratio was 613-1.

Lubbock Test Drilling Ahead

Blackwell Oil & Gas company No. 1 House, section 8, block B, psl survey, in northwest Kent county, had made hole below 5,239 feet in lime and was drilling ahead.

Smith-Griggs Oil company No. 1 Griggs, section 44, block P. R. M. Thompson survey, in northwest Lubbock county, was drilling under 6,320 feet in lime. Contract depth on this project is 6,500 feet.

San Andres Production company No. 1 Clouser, labor 18, league 62, Midland county school land survey, in east-central Cochran county, three miles northwest of Whiteface, was digging below 4,769 feet in lime.

Progress In Other Tests

Helmerich & Payne, Inc., No. 1 Wright, labor 19, league 97, Brewster county school land survey, three miles northwest of the northwest extension of the Slaughter field in east Cochran county, had reached 4,320 feet, and was drilling ahead in lime.

Falcon company No. 1 Dean, Mills county school land survey, and eight miles southwest of Whiteface, and several miles from Slaughter production, had made hole below 4,530 feet in anhydrite and lime.

Humble Oil & Refining company No. 1 Jackson section 119, block A, R. M. Thompson survey, in southeast Lamb county, had progressed past 3,940 feet, and was drilling ahead in gyp.

Garza Test Drilling

Honolulu Oil corporation and Devonian Oil company No. 1 Payton, section 1,421 TTRR survey, in northwest Garza county, was digging under 3,230 feet.

Phillips Petroleum company No. 1 Bartley, section 1,372, block 1, EL&RR survey, in east Lynn county, had penetrated below 4,285 feet and was continuing.

Phillips No. 1 Ellwood, section 20, block A, R. M. Thompson survey, in east Hockley county, west offset to the discovery well for Clear Fork lime production in the Smyer field, had reached 5,805 feet, in lime. It will be in the formation where the oil is expected by the time it makes another 100 feet of hole.

Stanolind No. 1 DeLoache, labor 19, league 80, Reeves county school land survey, in west Hockley county, eight miles southwest of the same operator's No. 1 Tom Cobb, a recent completion, to open a new San Andrews lime producing area, had cored to 4,698 feet, in dolomite, and was coring ahead. Some oil shows have been encountered, but no detailed information on those signs have been released.

Shut Down For Repairs

Neville G. Penrose, Inc., No. 1 Moore, section 82, block T, D&W survey, northwest Terry county wildcat to 6,000 feet, had reached 3,480 feet in anhydrite, and was reported temporarily shut down for repairs.

Schermerhorn Oil corporation No. 1 Moss, section 606, block D, Gibson survey, 5,500-foot exploration for San Andres pay, near the one well in the west area, in central Yoakum county, had penetrated to 4,070 feet in dolomite, and was drilling ahead.

Lion Oil Refining company No. 1 Turner, northwest Dawson county prospector, in section 17, block C-38, psl survey, had reached 3,586 feet, in anhydrite, and was drilling ahead.

To Drill Out Plug

Bay Petroleum corporation No. 1 Bettie Cox and others, section 468, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, in west central Gaines county, slated 7,600-foot wildcat, had reached 1,793 feet in redbeds, and was shutdown for repairs.

Shell Oil company, Inc., No. 1 Jones, section 490, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, three-quarters of a mile southwest of the Russell field, in northwest Gaines, was preparing to drill out the plug on the 5½-inch casing which had been set at 7,400 feet, with 447 sacks of cement, over the total depth of 7,480 feet, in the saturated upper section of the Clear Fork lime.

As soon as the hole is conditioned after the plug is punctured, the operator will start testing the uncovered formation for producing possibilities.

Gulf No. 1 Buck, section 104, block G, WTRR survey, in north Gaines, had progressed past 3,895 feet in anhydrite and redbeds.

Caving Hole Control Set

Stanolind No. 1 Riley, section 79, block H, D & W survey, in northeast Gaines, was bottomed at 4,164 feet, in lime, waiting for cement to set on a string of pipe, which had been set at 3,160 feet, to control a caving hole, above that level.

Magnolia Petroleum company No. 1-491 Havemyer & Jenny, section 491, block G, CCSD & RGNG survey, one-half mile west of the Russell field, in northwest Gaines, had made hole past 7,272 feet, and was drilling ahead in lime.

Humble No. 1 Doss, section 9, block A-24, psl survey, in south Gaines, was boring ahead, below 4,814 feet, in lime, after going through a horizon above that level, which showed slight oil in cores, but failed to develop any production on drillstem tests.

Shell No. 1 Sparks, section 3, block A-13, psl survey, southwest Gaines county wildcat scheduled to 8,000 feet, was digging under 4,641 feet, in lime.

Snyder's Memorial Fete Set Sunday

SNYDER, May 27. (Special) — Scurry county's sleeping veterans of all war will live again Sunday afternoon, in memory's bittersweet hall, when the Will Layne American Legion post No. 181 and Scurry County Ministerial alliance stages county-wide Memorial Day services at 3 o'clock in Snyder High school auditorium.

Elmer Taylor, vice commander of the Legion post, will preside and Captain Lawrence, chaplain at Big Spring Bombardier school, will give the main address.

Mrs. L. A. Chapman will give processional, E. O. Wedgeworth, chamber of commerce manager, will direct singing; Rev. Shahan, Snyder Baptist minister, will give invocation, and benediction will be by Rev. Doyle Wilson, Snyder Nazarene church pastor. Mrs. Harry Ward will offer a solo and in part No. 2 of the program the audience will retire to Snyder cemetery. After appropriate rites, graves of all war veterans will be decorated.

OPA Is Said Studying Enforcement Division

WASHINGTON, May 27. (AP)—Chairman Lea (D-Calif) of a House committee investigating the gasoline "black market" said today that the office of Price administration is making a study to see if its own enforcement division is doing "the right kind of job" in searching out gas rationing violations.

A denial that any such inquiry is in progress came immediately, however, from Administrator Chester Bowles who said one was not even contemplated.

Disputes Keep 41,000 Idle

(By The Associated Press)

Labor disputes, new and old, kept an estimated 41,000 of the country's industrial workers away from their jobs today and there was no indication that settlement of the controversies was imminent.

The chief troubles along the nation's labor front centered in the Pacific Northwest lumber industry and in Detroit's war industrial area. There were more than 100 lines of lumbering operations in Washington and Oregon, affected by the disputes, with from 25,000 to 30,000 employes idle.

In the Detroit area, a fresh labor controversy arose as pickets appeared at the Chrysler corporation's Highland Park plant, keeping 1,500 employes from going to work yesterday. President R. J. Thomas of the United Automobile workers (CIO) said that the instigators faced possible expulsion from the union, the new distrubance followed the recent dispute which had affected 11,700 workers at seven of the company's units in the Detroit Area.

106 Plants Affected

A partial survey by the Associated Press disclosed that walkouts in the lumber industry affected 106 plants, sawmills, woodworking plants, door and plywood mills, woodworking companies, logging and booming operations and other concerns connected with the industry. Estimates were that 11,000,000 board feet of production was lost daily by the walkouts, which were in protest against the War Labor board denial of pay increases. The strikes, union leaders said, were unauthorized and members were asked to return to work. There was, however, no indication that they would obey the leaders.

Other labor disputes in Detroit and Michigan kept more than 7,000 idle, including striking bread truck drivers who voted to continue their walkout and not to meet until next Wednesday. Meantime, the Michigan metropolis was virtually without bread or bakery goods.

NEW CC MANAGER

SNYDER, May 27. (Special) — M. E. Stanfield, associated with Snyder schools the past six years and high school prinicpal the past three, has been named temporary manager of Scurry County Chamber of commerce for the next 90 days, to replace E. O. Wedgeworth, CC manager here the past two years, who becomes manager of the Stamford Board of City Development June 1.

Lubbock Marine Was Aboard Ship Leaving Hawaii When Japs Struck Pearl Harbor

Several hundred marines aboard a transport bound from Pearl Harbor to the States were joined in religious worship on a certain Sunday morning which is engraved permanently in the memory of all Americans.

Suddenly the services were interrupted. All other activities aboard the transport were brought to a standstill. It was in this dramatic setting that the marines who had left Pearl Harbor some 72 hours before received the news of the sneak attack.

Transports are not fast ships, as a rule, and this one was too close to Hawaii for comfort. It was unescorted. No one knew where Jap submarines, surface raiders, aircraft carriers and other craft might be — but sound military logic supported the supposition that they were likely to be anywhere.

McILLWAIN

The expectation of the American high command, as subsequently revealed, was that the Japs would follow the sneak raid with a full-scale attack upon Hawaii and perhaps upon the American coastline itself. It now is acknowledged that the Japs committed one of their major blunders of the war in failing to follow up the advantage the sneak attack had given them.

Feelings Were Tense

Thus, feelings were tense aboard the transport. The momentary expectation was that enemy raiding craft would be sighted. Destroyers actually were observed, probably American destroyers, but they might have been those of the enemy. But, with everyone at battle stations and expecting anything, the transport zigzagged its way to San Francisco without adventure.

Among those aboard was the then corporal, now captain, J. W. (Pete) McIllwain, a former student in Texas Technological college, who returned to duty in San Diego, Calif., late last week after spending a leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McIllwain, Thirty-eighth street and Washington avenue.

Captain McIllwain missed Pearl Harbor, but he has seen plenty of action elsewhere. He participated, for example, with the First Marine division in the attack upon Guadalcanal and took part for several months in the fighting there. He has taken part in other campaigns. He received his commission as second lieutenant in the field, was promoted to first lieutenant Aug. 5, 1942, and to captain last January.

Born in Sulphur Springs, he was reared in Levelland, graduated from high school there and was a senior in Tech when he enlisted in the Marines 42 months ago.

Perhaps his most unusual experience during the war, he recalled, is linked with his brother, Warrant Officer Noble McIllwain. The brothers hadn't seen each other for around two years. They hadn't heard from each other in nearly a year. The last time they had heard, Noble was on the U. S. Atlantic coast and Pete was in the South Pacific. One day on Guadalcanal Pete got a call over a field telephone. It was from Noble, who was stationed less than four miles away.

Recreation Program Will Start June 7

Wednesday, June 7, has been set definitely as the date for the official start of the city summer recreation program and big things are planned, according to an announcement Saturday by Mrs. Grace Dyess, city recreation superintendent.

The "playground jamboree" for the day will start at 10:30 a. m., and will include picnic basket lunches in all parks at noon, special events in all of them and an exhibition kite flying contest in Mackenzie state park at 6 p. m., Mrs. Dyess said. Competitions will be for the largest, smallest, highest flying, most unusual and most artistic kites.

The scenes and times of special events in various parks follow: 10:30 a. m., Booker T. Washington negro park; 1:30 p. m., Carlisle, Twenty-sixth street and Avenue W; 2:30 p. m., Rollie C. Burns park, Twenty-third and Avenue K; 3:30 p. m., Pioneer park, Seventh and Avenue U; 5 p. m., Mexican park; and 6 p. m., Mackenzie.

Favor Of French May Hinge On Coming De Gaulle Visit

LONDON, May 27 (AP)—Hopes for good relations after the war, between France on the one hand and the United States and Britain on the other appeared today to hinge upon the forthcoming visit of Gen. Charles de Gaulle to London.

The present situation has convinced many in London that it is vital to reach an accord soon with the French Committee of National Liberation, not only for getting along with the French people after German's capitulation, but for getting their full cooperation in the march of liberation.

Delicate Relations

Delicate diplomatic relations between the French on the one hand and the British-Americans on the other, in contrast with military coordination, were not improved by Prime Minister Churchill's reference to the French committee in his foreign policy speech in Commons.

There has been no inclination on the part of either British or American officials to minimize the dangers of unperfected arrangements for administering civilian affairs behind the lines, and they have emphasized repeatedly the necessity to avoid the blunders of the Allied Military government in Sicily and Italy.

Reason For Invitation

That is the reason de Gaulle has been invited to London. It has been known for some time that the British have been willing to go farther than the Americans in extending recognition to the French committee. That is why Churchill told Commons significantly that the invitation had been extended with the approval of President Roosevelt.

Reports from Algiers that de Gaulle conditions his acceptance upon American participation in the conferences were accepted here as logical, on the grounds he would have little to gain in conferring with the British alone. Thus the visit may find Churchill in the role of conciliator between the general and the American representative whether he be President Roosevelt or someone else.

FDR DESIRES CLOSER TOUCH WITH WAR FRONT

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP) — President Roosevelt's expressed desire to get a closer look at the war, coupled with a possibility that United Nations leaders might start joint conversations soon on a post-war security organization, was believed tonight to underlie his casual remark that he expects to see Prime Minister Churchill soon.

There are several factors that might impel the President to make a trip abroad in the not too distant future. Many informed persons familiar with the President's deep preoccupation with military affairs believe he would like to get nearer to the scene of action.

Visit Of De Gaulle

Another factor, although one that is viewed here as of secondary consideration, is the forthcoming visit to London of Gen. Charles de Gaulle, the French leader, for conferences with Churchill.

Beyond these is another consideration which diplomats regard as of growing importance. That is the possibility of starting work jointly among the leading United Nations on creation of a post-war set-up.

Mr. Roosevelt told reporters yesterday that a first rough draft already has been drawn up, based on American ideas and on the interchange of opinions with British, Chinese and Russian officials in the Allied conferences at Casablanca, Cairo, and Teheran. This draft, however, is a purely American affair.

In diplomatic quarters it was learned that no continuing conversations have yet been undertaken among the Allies on the organization of world security. Some authorities think such a project could best be promoted by the big-three or big-four leaders in a personal meeting.

Diversion Of Alcohol For Whisky Suggested

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP) — Chairman McCarran (D-Nev) of the Senate liquor shortage investigating committee was understood today to have drafted a report suggesting that at least 20,000,000 gallons of alcohol could be diverted to whisky manufacture without injury to the war program.

The tentative findings, submitted to other members of the subcommittee, it was learned, contain a warning that the nation can not ignore "social evils" growing out of the shortage of a safe supply of alcoholic beverages.

BOOK "PURGE"

(By The United Press)

In Budapest, the Nazis have begun a monster book "purge" wherein more than 500,000 copies of books by Jewish authors have been seized, the Office of War information reported today. The books are to be turned into pulp while the Hungarian office of paper salvage has been ordered to pay approximately 1.2 cents per pound for the seized books.

Sharks Pulled Men From Rafts During Rescue Operation

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27. (U.P.) —Eye-witnesses reported today that man-eating sharks dragged men from half-submerged rafts during the eight hour rescue operation of 448 men, members of the crew of the U. S. S. Cape San Juan.

Crew members of the S. S. Edwin T. Meredith, who assisted in the rescue, have arrived in port.

They described how the sharks lurked about the bobbing rafts in the storm-tossed South Pacific.

Torpedoed By Jap Sub

The Cape San Juan was torpedoed by a Japanese submarine.

"We arrived at the scene early in the morning," John Lopiparo, second engineer of the Meredith recalled.

"A storm was making and a heavy sea was running.

"The surface was dotted with life rafts, jammed until men were spilling over into the water. Sharks were everywhere."

Some Dragged Into Water

"Sharks were attacking men on the edges of the life rafts and some were dragged off the rafts into the water. It was horrible.

"I saw members of my crew—an Hawaiian fireman, Sunny More, an oiler by the name of Gillan and a Polish carpenter named Mocjek, go into the water to drag men out."

During this period, he said, gun crews on the Meredith fired at the surface of the water to keep the Japanese submarine submerged if it was still around.

"They kept firing until the gun muzzles were red hot. We were sure the sub was still around, but it never broke water."

Teaching American History On Increase In Nation's Schools

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP) — Commissioner of Education John W. Studebaker, challenged by members of the House appropriations committee, says the teaching of American history in the schools has actually increased rather than lessened.

During hearings made public today, Reps. Hare (D-SC) and Keefe (R-Wis) had called Studebaker's attention to a survey published last year by the New York Times showing a lack of knowledge of American history among college students.

Studebaker declared it is not true that American pupils are not required to study American history. "They are required to study it in every school system that I know anything about," he said. "All elementary and most high school pupils are studying American history."

Office Under Fire

The Office of Education was under fire from committee members on another count.

Rep. Tarver (D-Ga) said he believed the office was carrying on "a sort of pressure program, bringing pressure to bear upon the educational authorities of the southern states to do away with racial segregation in the schools including the colleges and universities, with the implied threat that unless they do so, they are going to be deprived of federal financial aid in federally financed programs."

Studebaker strongly denied this and in reply to a direct question from Tarver, said he does not think racial segregation in southern schools should be done away with.

Price Adjustment On Cotton Textiles Urged

MEMPHIS, May 27 (AP) — The clothing situation "Is approaching the proportions of a national scandal," says President Oscar Johnston, Scott, Miss., of the National Cotton council, and will grow worse unless price ceiling adjustments are made on cotton textiles.

Johnston said the adjustments should be those contained in the Bankhead textile amendment, adopted by the Senate banking and currency committee yesterday. Under the amendment, the price of cotton probably would be raised a minimum of one cent a pound.

The council president criticized the Office of Price administration (OPA) for its opposition to the plan, saying: "Not only has the OPA let clothing prices get out of hand, but it also has violated the price control act by fixing ceilings on textiles at prices which do not reflect parity to the cotton farmer."

CONNECTICUT FOR FDR

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 27 (AP)—Amid demonstrations, Connecticut Democrats brought their two-day convention to a close here today by adopting resolutions calling for the nomination of President Roosevelt for a fourth term and instructing the state's 18-vote delegation to the national convention to ballot as a unit for the chief executive.

CAP Exams Set Monday Evening

Lubbock's Civil Air Patrol will conduct mental screening examinations Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the American Legion hall to all interested men from the ages of 17 years to 17 years, nine months, designed to qualify men for the Air Corps Enlisted reserve.

Young men passing this test will be under no obligation, but will be qualified, without further mental examinations, for the Air Corps Enlisted reserve, when and if it does become active again.

The Civil Air Patrol announced that the passing of this examination means that the examinee is eligible for training for a place on the air combat crew. It is anticipated, they said, that enlistments will be reopened in the near future. In that event, the man will be admitted to the ACER without repeating the mental examination provided he can meet the physical and moral requirements and provided that he has not yet reached his 18th birthday. The student is under no obligations to the AAF until enlistments are reopened and he has successfully passed the remaining requirements. However, the Army will be obligated to the student to the extent that it will accept his enlistment in the ACER when enrollments are reopened.

Area Quota Is 120

Quota for this area has been set at 120 boys.

Lt. Jimmy Witt of the CAP announced Saturday that the CAP will endeavor to give the young men that pass tomorrow's examination different phases of military training while here in Lubbock, as a preparation. This would include military training and discipline, the manual of arms, and some marching maneuvers.

Red Cross Roundup

News of Lubbock County Chapter

Lubbock county Red Cross production rooms report that in the last two weeks 33,500 four by four surgical dressings have been made by women of Idalou, Slaton and Lubbock and that the May quota of 45,000 has been reached. The chapter is sending 115,800 dressings to medical depots this week.

Friday morning 125 women began on the new June quota of 68,400 sponges. The quota has been increased because of the impending invasion, and Red Cross authorities hope that women of the country will consider it a privilege to give as much time as possible in the coming weeks.

NEW OFFICERS

June 1 is the beginning of a new year for the Red Cross and Mrs. Hub Jones has been selected volunteer service chairman. Mrs. R. A. Mills is production chairman and Mrs. E. L. Klett is co-chairman. Mrs. Roscoe Wilson will head the surgical dressings division with Mrs. Morley Jennings as co-chairman. Mrs. C. B. Qualia is to have charge of the canteen corps.

KNITTING TO BE SHIPPED

Monday is the last shipping date for garments knitted in the current production year and Mrs. J. H. Murdough, county knitting chairman, is urging that all finished garments be at the Red Cross Monday. The office will be open from 9:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 8:30 p. m.

JEWELRY NEEDED

All junk jewelry must be in the production rooms not later than Monday for shipment to the San Francisco league where it will be distributed to men going overseas. The Lubbock Woman's club, who is sponsoring the shipment, reminds Lubbock county that the jewelry is used by the boys in service to barter with the natives.

Over 115 Poisoned By Food In Chicago

CHICAGO, May 27 (AP)—More than 115 persons, 103 of them sailors, had been discharged or were scheduled for early release from hospitals today as Navy and city health department inspectors investigated several eating places of a Loop restaurant chain.

All those afflicted had eaten in the establishments yesterday. Thirty Navy inductees, only mildly ill, were treated in the Navy sick bay at Navy pier and 73 others were hospitalized, as were at least 16 civilians.

The Navy public relations office said an investigation showed all the ill sailors had had either milk or rice pudding in one restaurant of the chain.

Former Governor To Be On Nimitz's Staff

WASHINGTON, May 27. (AP) — Assignment of Commander William H. Vanderbilt, former governor of Rhode Island, to the staff of Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, was announced today by the Navy.

Vanderbilt has been detached from duty with the 12th naval district, San Francisco.

There was no immediate announcement of his new duties on Admiral Nimitz's staff.

The SPORTS EYE

By Mack Turner

THE kids of Lubbock say "Thanks" to Sam West, Anthony Ferri, Mickey McDonald, Arnie Teusink and Lefty Sollis—and most of all to Lubbock Army Air Field.

The junior baseball school has only the unfinished business of playing the all-star games in each division, then it will be play ball with the chips down.

There might not have been a baseball school had it not been for Lubbock Army Air Field. But there was a baseball school, even if rain did mar the last two days, and Monday there will be the all-star games.

The kids had a lot of fun, and the instructors had lots of fun just being out there with the kids, doing something for the future America by showing the kids in what little time they had, all the baseball knowledge they could crowd into the short space of time allotted to them.

We think every kid that attended any of the classes at the school got something worthwhile out of it. The chances are very good that the instructors didn't change any sandlotters into major league ball players, but the boys and the fans during the coming season will find that they are playing and seeing better baseball than would have been seen had the school not been held.

Business reasons cut into the staff of instructors picked before the school started, and Sam West was the only one that answered the call. Hard luck struck at Sam the night before the school opened, but the kids were not left in the lurch, and C. I. "Stoney" Wall stepped into the picture and delivered the goods for the youngsters the first morning. Stoney was going strong when the Army stepped in and took over in grand fashion and things ran smoothly until weather knocked a hole in the affair.

Those little fellows showed the real spirit during the bad weather of the last two days, and rain, mud and high water couldn't keep them away from the field Friday and Saturday. Sam West almost had to run the kids off Saturday morning to get them out of the rain. It is the spirit of that kind that has made baseball the National pastime.

It was a great day for the kids, they got a kick out of it, and they all want the fellows that conducted the school to know that they appreciated what was done in their behalf, and they again say, "Thanks."

DON'T look now, but the Chicago Cubs are not as bad off in the National League as they were when Charley Grimm took over in the place of Jimmy Wilson. They won the seventh in a row Saturday, and are cocking their eye on matching their string of losses with a string of wins.

Baseball has a way of making it's own drama, and those Cubs are in a fair way of going over with a smash hit.

Very few people could tell you anything about the personnel of the 1914 Boston Braves who were in the league basement on July 4 and the World Series in October, but just about everybody has heard of the great pennant drive of that ball club.

WE had one athletic minded girl in Lubbock tell us the other night that she would like to play some softball this season, and we agreed that we would like to see her get the chance to play a little.

It is our opinion that softball is "girl's baseball" and we have seen some great girls' softball teams—and we call it the best—that Texas ever produced.

A. C. "Stumpy" Hamilton is trying to organize a girls' softball league in Lubbock in connection with the city recreation program, and we suggest that all the girls interested in playing softball get in touch with Stumpy and let hiw know you want to play softball.

We would like to see a softball team that we thought was better than the Rookies of 1936 in Wichita Falls, and we think there are enough athletic minded girls in Lubbock to produce such a team.

So you girls get busy. Tell Stumpy Hamilton you want to play, get enough for about four or six teams, and we'll have a big time this summer. With junior baseball, junior softball, adult softball, girls softball, tennis, swimming, maybe a little boxing, and a general all around recreation program, Lubbock can become a sports center of West Texas this summer and everybody have a good time along with it.

I'll be seeing you.

Dobbs Given Double Graduation Honors

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., May 27. (AP)—Glenn Dobbs, jr., All-America college football player at the University of Tulsa and chosen on the Associated Press' All America service team when he played for Randolph Field last fall, made history at the Army Air Forces Officer Candidate school here today by winning both the military and athletic awards upon graduation.

The 23-year-old native of Frederick., Okla., was selected for the military award for his performance as OCS Corps commander during the final month of training. He won the athletic trophy by compiling the best record in his class for all-round physical performance.

CHALLENGES BAKSI

GALVESTON, May 27 (AP) — Frank Pacassi, manager of pugilist Lou Nova, said today he had wired a challenge to Joe Baksi, who defeated Lee Savold in New York last night.

Baseball Nines To Play Tilts Monday

Coaches Prepare For Rules Meet

NEW YORK, May 27. (AP) — There was little football talk in the lobby of the hotel where the National Gridiron Coach's Association starts its first war-time study of the rules tomorrow that a quarter-back rehearsing signals would have been mistaken for a tax expert.

The two-day session gets under way tomorrow with a report on football in various sectors. Most of the fireworks, however, is reserved for Monday when the mentors survey the playing code.

Coaches Want Change

Although the National Collegiate Association rules group, has decreed there will be no changes for the duration of the war, there has been agitation for revisions.

"Generally speaking," said Lou Little of Columbia today, "There are five items the coaches would like to have the rules committee to consider.

"First, is the out of bounds kick-off, then the forward pass behind the line of scrimmage, permission to run a fumbled ball, a less severe penalty of a forward-lateral pass if the lateral is also tossed forward and elimination of the clock-stopping for substitutions."

May Just Agree

Big Ten coaches met at Chicago last Thursday and reached a gentlemen's agreement to do away with the out-of-bounds kickoffs, but even that wasn't being discussed by early arrivals. Reports were that the coaches, meeting here at the call of their president, Lt. Cmdr. Matty Bell of the Georgia Pre-Flight school, might do likewise.

The Coaches have no power to change the code, being only able to suggest changes to the NCAA rules committee. The latter organization, however, lists four coaches among its members and three of them—Fritz Crisler of Michigan, Bill Alexander of Georgia Tech and Dana Bible of Texas—are expected here.

Rain played havoc with the schedule, but didn't dampen the spirits of the junior baseball stars of Lubbock as rain and soggy field caused the postponement of the all-star baseball games to climax the four day school.

The games were moved up to Monday afternoon when picked teams from the school will tangle in the first chance for fans of the city to see the kids in action.

Play In Afternoon

Because so many of the older boys of the school will be returning to summer class rooms, or starting on summer jobs, they will start the regular league schedule and play their game shortly after 6 o'clock Monday, evening.

The smaller boys will take the field at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon for their game. Final plans for the games have not been announced, and the teams will likely be selected only shortly before game time.

Sponsors, Fans Invited

All the prospective sponsors and managers are urged to be on hand for the school's grand finale. The dividing of the players into teams will probably be taken care of Monday.

A little rain and mud mean nothing to the boys in the younger group of players, and about 35 of them showed up Saturday morning ready to play the game. The interest in this group indicates that the league this season will be a fast, well balanced loop.

It is planned to get the field in much better shape for the game Monday, and fans are invited to come out and see the two games. A large turnout is being expected.

Twilight Tear Easy Winner At Belmont

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP) — It was the same old story at Belmont Park today as Twilight Tear ran her string of victories to seven straight and once again proved that she is the queen of the three-year-old fillies.

Favorite at the prohibitive odds of 1-10, the bay daughter of Bull Lea from Warren Wright's Calumet farm soundly whipped five other fillies of her age in the mile and three-eighths of the American Coaching club Oaks before a crowd of 34,474 that produced several unusual angles in the wagering.

The total bet on the race was $466,247, unusual in view of the fact that one horse was such a standout. The show pool of $186,774, of which $159,282 was wagered on the Calumet filly, was larger than the win pool of $170,657 and cost the management $14,971.95 since the law requires that 10 cents be returned on each $2 invested. Twilight's support in the win betting totalled $136,442.

As the result of her backing the winner paid $2.20 for $2 to win and $2.30 to place while giving the show players the minimum of $2.10.

The race itself was Twilight Tear's from the start to the finish. Conn McCreary broke the bay filly smartly and she was on the front end all the way, pulling away in the stretch to win by five lengths. Dare Me from Mrs. Dodge Sloane's Brookmeade stable was second, four lengths in advance of Plucky Maud from the Lazy F ranch.

Her time of 2:21 was not sensational in comparison with Man O'War's track record of 2:14 1-5 but she won under wraps.

Illinois Star Just Misses Clean Sweep

CHAMPAIGNE, Ill., May 27. (AP) —Claude "Buddy" Young of Illinois, trying for his fourth victory of the day—a feat which would have equal Jesse Owens' Western Conference sweep in 1935—tripped over the last barrier in the 220-yard low hurdles race today and fell on a water-filled track to miss his goal in the meet.

In a heavy downpour which transformed the cinder lane into a river, Illinois' stubby, 18-year-old freshman stumbled and plowed on his stomach through the water after leading Michigan's Jack Martin, the eventual winner, by about 30 feet.

Michigan's well-balanced team, led by the Hume twins, Bob and Ross, won its seventh Western Conference outdoor championship in the last decade, compiling 70 points to Illinoiss 58 1-10. Purdue was third with 31.

Marshall Cops Fast Battle With Kahut

PORTLAND, Ore., May 27. (AP) —Lloyd Marshall, Cleveland, O., light heavy champion for the duration, won a decision over Joe Kahut, Woodburn, Ore., in a fast 10-round match last night.

Kahut, weighing 172, scored the only knockdown of the fight in the sixth round, clipping the more experienced Marshall, who has some 300 ring battles to his credit, with a left hook to the jaw for a no count. Marshall weighed 164.

STARR MOVES ON

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds today sent veteran pitcher Ray Starr to the Pittsburgh Pirates on waivers.

Starr has seen little acivity because of a sore arm.

Softball League To Make Plans Monday

The organization of the adult softball league will be completed Monday night at a meeting at the Recreation Department office in the City Hall, A. C. "Stumpy" Hamilton announced Saturday. The meeting will be called at 8 o'clock.

All those interested in the organization of the league are urged to attend the meeting. Rules and plans will be discussed.

A number of business firms in the city have telephoned the Recreation Department concerning the league, Hamilton said, and a number of teams have already entered the league. Others will be accepted on a first come, first served basis. Entries must be in by June 7.

Interest has been growing in the junior softball leagues, and Hamilton said Saturday that he had contacted a few girls who wanted to play in a girl's softball league, but there had not been enough interest shown to date in the girls leagues to have enough for a league.

Any girls interested in playing softball this summer are urged to contact Hamilton at the Recreation Department office. If enough girls turn out for a league, one will be formed.

Goldman And Todd To Play For Golf Crown

DALLAS, May 27. (AP)—David (Spec) Goldman and lanky Harry Todd, both Dallas golfers, will match shots over the Glen Lakes Country club tomorrow in the 36-hole championship match of the first annual Glen Lakes-Dallas Athletic Club Amateur Invitation golf tournament.

Todd advanced to the finals today at the expense of Spec's younger brother, Jimmy, by a 5 and 3 count. In the morning round match he put out E. J. Cannon III, 5 and 4. Goldman reached the finals with sub-par golf over a muddy course, eliminating Jack Tinnin, Navy golfer from Galveston, 6 and 5.

Jimmy Goldman created the major upset of the day when he knocked out the pre-tourney favorite, Cpl. Earl Stewart, jr., of the Fort Worth Army Air Field, 2 and 1. Then he advanced to the semi-finals with a 5 and 4 decision over Bob Hughes, Lufkin golfer."

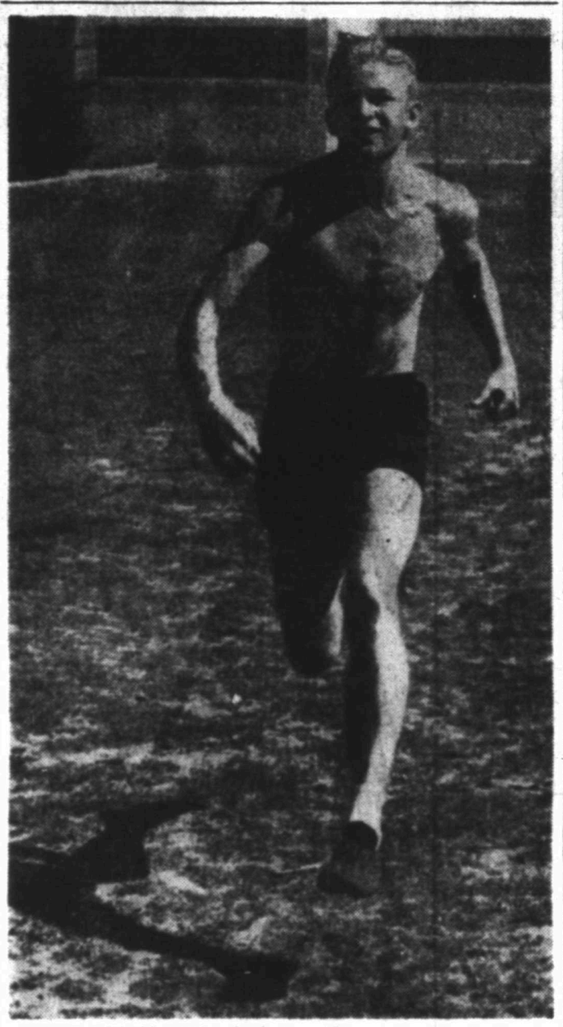

BETZ, SEGURA ENTER

DETROIT, May 27 (AP)—National Champion Pauline Betz of Los Angeles and the colorful Francisco (Pancho) Segura of Miami, Fla., are top entries in the National Clay Court championships starting here June 12, the Detroit Tennis club announced today.

The Neanderthal men were about five feet tall.

SUBMARINE FINISH—Six oarsmen of the Columbia University junior varsity crew take a dunking as shell is submerged by wind-kicked harlem river. Cornell won the regatta with four inches of water in the shell. Navy, as well as the Lions, had to swim.

DIDN'T GET TO RUN — Burl Gene Moore, the Blonde Comet from Lubbock High school, didn't get to run in the Southwestern AAU track and field meet at Dallas, but was on hand and ready. The local lad, who set the nation's fastest time in the 440 yard dash with a 49.5 seconds clocking at the state tournament in Austin early this month, has not announced any plans for the meet if it is rescheduled for next week end, but local fans are hoping that he will get the chance to enter th met and win the trip to the National AAU meet in New York early in June.

SPAAF Flight Officer Has Good Record On Bangtails

From riding the bangtails home through rain so thick you couldn't tell whether you were on the track or infield to flying Uncle Sam's giant gliders in wind and sand that sometimes leaves much the same feeling is the career story of Flight Officer George Julian of Alexandria, Va.

Flight Officer Julian, jr., is a mite of a man compared to some of the brawny specimens at South Plains Army Air Field. But he packs a lot of wallop for his small stature and in addition to booting the horses over the finish lines first for more than 100 victories, has tossed the leather around in amateur boxing circles over the country.

Holds Chinup Mark

That was the record he had behind him when he was stationed at SPAAF several months ago and he has continued to set a sizzling pace for sports minded buddies in field competition, ever since, and now holds a tie for the chin up record with 38 as his best mark.

It was back in 1932 during the depth of the depression that a mite of a kid just 15 years old started "hanging around" the horses in New Orleans. In a short time, the youngster had landed himself a job. He was in the featherweight class and he caught on quick.

The youngster was Julian. That incident marked the start of his riding career. And for the next five years, George Julian was always a jockey to watch when the chips were down.

Lots Of Spills

"And they were down plenty in those days," George now recalls. "I've been in some pretty bad spills but always managed to to come out on top," he adds. His former employers read like a "Who's Who" of racing. He's been aboard for Tony Pelliteri and F. P. Letellier, whose horses helped make Agua Caliente famous, and Frankie Seremba, former Jockey who turned owner.

He has been up for Trainer B. A. Jones, whose horses have come in first in the Kentucky Derby on three occasions, the third being Pensive's recent triumph, Col. Bradley, who has had five winners in the famous race of the Roses, and for W. T. Waggoner, when the widely known Texas sportsman was operating Arlington Downs.

"Those were the days," Julian sighs. "Many is the time I've come in ahead and many times I've come in behind. And that's when you really get mud in your eyes," he laughs. New Orleans is famous for its rains and often when the horses would finish a race both horse and jockey almost had to take a bath before the winner could be determined.

Julian has ridden all over the nation and in Canada, but remembers those races in New Orleans better than the rest.

Also a Trainer

Like a lot of other jockeys, Julian soon got a bit too heavy, and as a result turned his attention to other phases of racing. He bought two horses and started training them as well as acting as an agent for jockeys. But along about that time came Pearl Harbor, and a few months later Julian entered the service.

The fact that he picked one of the most intensive courses in the AAF is nothing unusual for Julian.

"I was in shape," he says. "I've found out that my years as a jockey has helped prepare me for whatever I might have to face in the Army," he adds. "In this game, like riding horses, you've got to keep your head up or you won't last long."

Although his first love is the tracks and the feel of leather and the roar of the crowd as the horses head down the stretch, Julian also gives boxing a lot of credit for building alert men. Flight Officer Julian's boxing was confined to amateur matches but he set the same impressive record in the ring as he did on the track.

"I would recommend some boxing for every boy physically capable of participating in the sport," he says. "I've never known a boy or man who has boxed at least a little who wasn't quick on his feet and quick in his thinking."

Julian is a graduate of Patrick Henry High school in Cleveland, Ohio. But he didn't set any athletic fields on fire while in high school for several reasons. One of them, there wasn't any horse racing in high school, and he was a bit too small.

Flight Officer Julian now lives with his wife and six-year-old son, George W., are now making their home at 2414 Fourteenth street

Golf Dads Build Up Interest In Halting Oklahoma Win String

AMARILLO, May 27—Interest has been mounting in the Gold Dad's own tournament, and a banner field is expected to fall into line when the Southwest's old time golfers are invited to play in the most unique golf tournament in the world, the Tri-State Senior Championship at Amarillo Country club, June 6, 7 and 8.

Last year the tourament drew a field of 102 entries from five states with the average age of the contestents at 58½ years. Harrison Smith of Oklahoma City is the defending champion, extending the Oklahoma winning streak ot four years in a row.

Medalist honors last year went to Roy Allen of Oklahoma City, defending champion, with a 72. Allen was then beaten in the semi-finals by Harrison Smith, his fellow townsman.

Oklahoma golfers have won the meet four years in a row, been runnerup five years, and are expected to be back with another strong array of golfers this year.

The last Texan to win the meet was B. F. Holmes of Shamrock in 1937, and L. T. Garland of Slaton was the last Texan to finish as runnerup, doing this in 1938.

It's the only tournament in existence where the contestants can make their own rules. A player may win a match while sitting under a shade tree, by the flip of a coin or by out-witting his opponent during the pause that refreshes. This funfest of the links Daddies will be played on schedule again this year despite war handicaps. There are only two important rules that must be observed to play. They are: Every contestant must be 50 years old or more and pay $1.00 for annual dues into the association.

Players make their own rules before starting in match play. They can count out-of-bounds, unplayable lies, lost balls or just plain dub shots just as they please. They can even concede all putts a club's length. All they must do is to agree to their own rules on the first tee. Last year one divot digging Grandpappy remarked, "This is the kind of a tournament I have been looking for all my life."

Like all competitive events, there is a serious side to the tournament. This is reserved for the Championship Flight players who must play under strict U.S.G.A. regulations. All other flights decide their contests anyway they wish. With 30 pre-war silver trophies as prizes, the honor of being a prize winner will have a wide distribution. All advance indications now point to a record entry for this year's 10th annual event.

Rain Blots Out AAU Track Events Again

DALLAS, May 27 (AP)—A water-soaked field forced cancellation of the Southwestern AAU track and field meet here today but there was a possibility it would be reset for next week end.

The event had been scheduled for last night; then was rescheduled for 3 p. m. today as rains continued. Then Director P. C. Cobb said at noon that efforts to pump water off the Dal-Hi Stadium field to ready it for the meet had been unavailing.

Graham Pierce, Southwestern AAU president, said there was a possibility that the meet would be held next weed end if a sufficient number of entries could return, but that no definite announcement would be made before Monday about the resetting.

This Native Takes His Cues In Hurry

CAMP PARKS, Shoemaker, Calif., May 27 (AP)—Seabees formerly in the South Pacific paid natives only one shilling to climb trees and get them cocoanuts. But Frank W. Correy, jr., machinist's mate second class, paid two shillings, he told friends today.

The boy he hired said: "Me plenty smart. Go 'long mission school. One shilling for trip up, one shilling for trip down."

Chisox Nose Yanks To Even Up Series

CHICAGO, May 27. (AP) — The Chicago White Sox gained an even break in their curtailed two-game series by defeating the New York Yankees 4-3, today, before 4,561 spectators.

Bill Dietrich became the first pitcher to conquer the Yankees twice this season, allowing them eight scattered hits. The outcome snapped a four-game winning streak of the New Yorkers and ended a five game losing streak for the White Sox.

Rookie Walter Dubiel went the whole way for the Yankees and suffered his second defeat.

The Yankees made only one error, but it paved the way for the defeat. With the bases full and one out in Chicago's half of the first inning, Ed Carnett, subbing for Hal Trosky, who strained his side on practice, flied to Ed Levy, scoring Wally Moses. When Levy threw wide to the plate in an attempt to catch Moses, Roy Schalk also scored.

Mexican Champ Shot In Hand By Accident

MEXICO CITY, May 27. (AP)—Juan Zurita, lightweight champion of the world, shot himself accidentally today in the middle finger of his left hand.

Zurita, first Mexican ever to hold a world title, explained to reporters that he was packing his bags to leave for a U. S. fight tomorrow when he picked up the pistol and it went off. Dr. Armando Zambrana to whose private hospital Zurita was taken, said the bullet broke the bone of the finger near the hand. Zurita, he added, would not be able to fight again for at least six weeks.

The Mexican boxer had planned to leave tomorrow for El Paso enroute to New York for a fight with Willie Pep. He said he would ask Mike Jacobs to postpone the fight with Pep.

Nazi Fliers Object To Skunk Inference

WATERTOWN, Mass., May 27 (AP)—German fighter pilots didn't like the painting of Hitler's head on a skunk's body on the Flying Fortress "Shif'less Skonk," but they couldn't do much about it.

Staff Sgt. George W. Agiasottelis, turret gunner on the Fortress, said the Nazi fighters swarmed at them like hornets every time "Skonk" raided German territory.

"It was a rocket shot from the ground that finally nailed us hard," the sergeant said.

"We were headed for Berlin with a bomb load, my 19th mission, when a ground-fired rocket blew one engine out of the plane. Still we knocked down eight German fighters, and we unloaded on Berlin before we finally headed home."

Agiasottelis is home on leave.

Youth Graduates By Long Distance Phone

DENVER, May 27 (AP)—By telephone Pvt. Bernard D. Drury, 19, of Lowry Field, was graduated last night from the Carrollton, Tex., High school, some 700 airline miles distant.

Drury joined the Army air forces last January, his school work unfinished but his grades excellent. School superintendent M. S. Roach decided to put his name on the roster of graduates for the commencement exercises last night.

Cubs Win Again For 7th In Row

BOSTON, May 27. — Henry Wyse hung up his fourth win of the season here today as he pitched the Chicago Cubs to a 3 to 2 victory over the Boston Braves for their seventh straight victory.

Wyse limited the Braves to six hits while striking out three and walking none.

The game winning blow of the ball game came from the bat of Bill Schuster in the ninth inning when his double scored Don Johnson from second base.

Bill Nicholson, who lead the major leagues in runs batted in with 128 and home runs with 29 last season, homered in the first inning with a mate on board to give the Cubs an early lead.

Duration Crown Now Claimed By Lou Nova

GALVESTON, May 27. (AP) — Lou Nova has asked the New York State Boxing Commission to declare him the duration heavyweight boxing champion of the world, it was learned today.

Frank Pacasei, Nova's manager, said he had staked the claim on the basis that Nova was the top active heavyweight not now in the armed forces.

Pacasei offered to post a $2,500 bond with the New York Commission to guarantee that Nova would defend the title against all comers. He said he also had challenged Joe Baski to meet Nova soon. Baski last night defeated Lee Savold in Madison Square Garden.

Nova is in Galveston for a Tuesday night bout with Jimmie Webb. From here, Nova goes to Oklahoma City and Tulsa for matches and then will head for New York, Pacasei said.

Troy Fort Gets Off To Calf Roping Lead

SAN ANGELO, May 27. (AP)—Troy Fort, Lovington, N. M., held a wide lead over the field in the calf-roping event at the close of the first two rodeo performances here yesterday.

Fort got his first calf in 13.8 seconds; his second in 14.9 seconds.

Royce Sewalt, Priddy, Tex., meeting Toots Mansfield, Big Spring, in matched roping, took the lead on the first two calves yesterday at each of five performances.

Nazis Dare Not Leave West To Avert Disaster In Italy

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 27. — In these last days before the June full moon, Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt's army of the west has taken up its final defensive position — from which the Nazis admit they dare not dudge even to avert disaster in Italy — to meet the shock of an approaching invasion in which the Germans are saying the whole course of the war will be decided this summer.

The Germans, with a nervous eye on the French channel coast and contending with the spectre of a heavy assault by Soviet Russia from the east, also have haunting fears that the Allies intend to break into fortress Europe through Scandinavia.

Nazi Terror At Peak

This is reflected in the worst wave of Nazi terror yet expected in Norway and Denmark, according to reports from Stockholm. Thirty Norwegian patriots have been executed since May 1, and in Denmark 19 high Danish officials and military men are under arrest, charged with participating in a secret military organization, the reports said.

This week end marked the fourth anniversary of the start of that grimly heroic withdrawal of the tattered British expeditionary army from Dunkirk.

Four years ago yesterday on the battered beaches of Dunkirk the evacuation began. The strangest armada of all time—rowboats, canoes, private launches and a motley assortment of all kinds of craft — accomplished the rescue of the BEF.

But the dreadful climax to the debacle in Flanders had cost the British dearly. The official report showed that 1,000 ships evacuated 335,000 men, that casualties exceeded 30,000 killed, wounded or missing, and that material losses were almost beyond calculation.

None here remembers Dunkirk with shuddering, but now, despite the taunts of Propaganda Minister Goebbels, everybody knows things are different. The Germans themselves know it. The chief war analyst for transocean, Nazi propaganda agency, announced that final dispositions for "decisive summer" had been made, and added that "this decision can only fall in the west." He said that from now on, "withdrawal of operative reserves from the west is entirely out of the question."

"The struggle south of Rome must be fought with our own local reserves," the commentator said. "The German command is prepared to surrender territory in Italy rather than weaken the western front for even a single moment."

Attack Fatal To Earl W. Heath

A heart attack proved fatal to Earl Wayne Heath, 52, OPA area rent control director, here Saturday morning in an office on the eighth floor of the Lubbock National Bank building.

He was apparently in the best of health and was talking with a group of OPA officials in the office of Earl E. Kerr, OPA administrative officer, when the attack occurred. Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer who has an office in the building, was called immediately. He pronounced Heath dead at 10:25 a. m., only a few minutes after the attack.

Body Goes To Gainesville

Others in the office at the time were D. K. Bondurant, formerly area rent director, and Cape Biernes of the Dallas regional OPA field office.

The body was sent to Gainesville Saturday night, Rix Funeral home reported, but definite funeral arrangements are pending the arrival of his son, Seaman I/C Kenneth Heath, who is stationed at Camp Endicott in Rhode Island.

Heath, who was with the regional OPA rent office in Dallas more than a year, came to Lubbock Jan. 15. He and his wife have been living at the Hilton hotel. The only other survivor is his mother, Mrs. Lena Heath of Gainesville.

Slaton Man Dies In Veterans' Hospital

SLATON, May 27. (Special) — Leonard Bain, 51, of Slaton died this morning at 9:55 a. m. in a veteran's hospital at Amarillo. He was connected with the Bain Bros. Service Station here.

Survivors include his wife, one daughter Laverne; four brothers, O. E., R. L., C. R., all of Slaton, and L. H. Bain of Tahoka; three sisters Mrs. G. G. Jones of Slaton; Mrs. G. O. Henexeon of Ralls, and Mrs. Luther Stevens of Lamesa.

WFA OFFICIAL QUITS

WASHINGTON, May 27. (AP)—W. O. Fraser, assistant chief of the livestock and meats branch of the War Food administration's office of distribution, has resigned effective June 15 to accept a position with a Chicago meat packing concern. Fraser has served 20 years with the Department of Agriculture.

MISSING IN ACTION

BROWNFIELD, May 27 (Sp.)—Sgt. Jack L. Browder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Browder, is missing in action over Germany, according to a telegram from the War department to his parents. Sgt. Browder, a top turret gunner in a Flying Fortress, had been in England only a few weeks.

General De Gaulle Greets Eisenhower

ALGIERS, May 27. (AP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle in a telegram to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today expressed pride in having "placed the army under your interallied high command for operations in the western theater."

The telegram was in reply to a congratulatory message from Eisenhower on the showing made by French expeditionary forces in Italy.

The French national committee has "in you full and complete confidence for the conduct of the armies of liberty to a rapid and complete victory," De Gaulle added.

RESTRICTIONS RELAXED

WASHINGTON, May 27 (U.P.) — The War Production board today relaxed restrictions on manufacture of many types of automative maintenance equipment. It lifted all limitations on production of tire-changing tools, anti-freeze testers, battery fillers and battery hydrometers.

Americans And British Fight Battle Of Languages To Draw

BY WILLIAM S. WHITE
Associated Press Features Writer

LONDON, May [illegible]—The American and British languages, in amicable struggle here since this island became the greatest U. S. military base in history are fusing into a strong and cheerful amalgam.

There is no question of the one overcoming the other; what is emerging is something approaching a new and virile international tongue.

Petro Winning Out

There are some of the results of this alliance of diction:

"Petro" as opposed to our old term "gasoline" is in wide use among Americans as well as Britons — perhaps because it is shorter.

"Truck" conversely is slowly winning over "lorry" — because somehow it seems more descriptive.

"Marshalling yard' is running "freight yard" a good race and appears to be drawing a little ahead. "Jerry" is heard five times as often as "Heinie" or "Fritz"; "aircraft" at least as often as "airplane."

"Flat" Is Better

"Flat" has "apartment" clear out of the running; to cross the street is more and more often to "go over the road."

In the convivial use of the language it is not so much a matter of losing one term in adding another; rather it is a richening of the whole.

"Here's How" Widely Heard

"Here's How," a western and especially Texan salute over a glass, is now widely heard, perhaps because there are so many westerners and their traditional ease of manner.

The great old English drinking standard — "Cheers," uttered throatily as the tankard is raised —is popular with Americans, just as "cheerio" is taking hold. That term is insidious, no matter how much an American tries to keep his native idiom, for we have nothing quite so comprehensive in so few letters. It means goodbye, goodluck, see you soon — a great variety of things—and implies a statement of comradeship that no other word quite suggests.

Americans, recalling the invariable assurance given to any inquiry they make as to a direction, will cry in chorus in heavily Wodehouse English: "You cawn't miss it."

Englishmen will respond with a grin, in something they think vaguely is associated with the Bronx: "You kain't, pal."

Whatever the cause — movies, radio, American soldiers — that harsh but descriptive word "lousy" is heard now almost as often as in the vicinity of Times Square. "Swell" is more often used than any English equivalent.

GRIPSHOLM AT BELFAST

BELFAST, May 27 (AP) — The Swedish liner Gripsholm, carrying British, Canadian and American prisoners of war and civilians who were exchanged for Germans at Barcelona, arrived off Belfast today. She sailed from Algiers last Sunday after discharging some of her passengers who were too ill to travel.

Subpena Authority Is Given OPA Officials

WASHINGTON, May 27 (U.P.)—Price Administrator Chester Bowles has delegated his power of subpena to the 100 regional and district OPA officials throughout the country, is was disclosed today.

Power to sign and issue subpenas for both persons and records was extended to the nine regional administrators and 91 district directors on May 13 and covered price and rent control matters.

Similar power in rationing matters was given regional and district officials on July 8, 1942.

Authority to sign and issue subpenas in price and rent control matters rested solely with the administrator until issuance of the new order.

Under the emergency price control act, the administrator is the only one specifically vested with this authority of subpena, but legal officials in OPA contended delegation of this power, while not stated, is "implicit."

FAMOUS WINTER GARDEN OF TEXAS!

LOCATED 100 to 160 miles southwest of San Antonio; 15 to 60 miles southwest of Uvalde; 60 miles northwest of Laredo. Located in Dimmitt, Maverick and Zavalla Counties. This territory does not have too much rain, and part of this territory has plenty of water to irrigate with. A twelve months growing season. Part of the territory is the very best alfalfa land, and row crops, winter oats pasture, Rhodes grass. Part of it is first class orange land, and our best orange land is one of the best orange countries in the United States. The orange land is also first class to raise strawberries, watermelons, cantaloupes, figs, grapes and all kinds of shrubbery, and this whole territory is good for pecans, where there is plenty of water to irrigate. One of the most desirable climates to live in, and one of the healthiest places. A network of paved highways, good schools and churches. Fine class of sociable people. A fisherman's and hunterman's paradise, and the cheapest land in the United States where they grow Citrus fruit and winter vegetables in the winter time. Also our best alfalfa land is the best bargains where they grow alfalfa.

THERE is a reason for everything, and the reason why this land is cheap is due to the fact that there is not more than 10% to 15% in cultivation, of the rich land that could be irrigated. The irrigation in this district comes from lakes, wells or rivers. The land that is under cultivation in Maverick County is irrigated by gravity from the Rio Grande River, where there is always an abundance of water. The water comes out south of Del Rio through a tunnel. There is very little land that can ever be irrigated where this water comes out of the Rio Grande, between there and Elephant Butte Dam in New Mexico. This is one of the best irrigated districts in the United States, and the land that is located South of Eagle Pass is nearly all good land. Especially a few miles south of El Indio, which is second river bottom land.

NOW, I own and control over 15,000 acres in these three counties, and I own some of the best alfalfa land in the United States, where a real good farmer can average 10 tons per acre, per year. And the land south of El Indio, where I own, has over 300 sunshiny days. This land will also produce one to two bales of cotton per acre—from three to six hundred bushels of onions per acre, and other crops in proportion. There is always an abundance of Mexican labor to be had in this territory. Prices on my irrigated land in cultivation and under irrigation, where there are no orange orchards, or fine homes, will range in price from $75.00 to $125.00 per acre, depending on the class of impovements, location and quality of the land. I have made a deal with Winter Knight, to be my Sales Manager. Write or come to see him at 1514 Avenue L, Lubbock, Texas. Phone 5809. He will furnish you all the information necessary, including a 64-page booklet, which contains plenty of proof. This country will stand the closest investigation, and I know that I can safely say that the best land bargains in the country are in this territory.

MY MAIN office is 3102 Field Building, 135 South La Salle Street, Chicago, Ill., and I predict that after the war we will have the biggest land activity in the history of the United States. I also predict that we will sell ten million dollars of land in the next three years, and that the people who buy now will double their money more than three times, if they want to sell it, as I expect to do everything that is necessary to enhance the value of this property.

U. S. Airmen Now Using 100-Plus Octane Gasoline

WASHINGTON, May 26. (AP) — Uncle Sam's daring young men of the air are getting the jump more and more on the Japanese and Germans as the result of another bit of American scientific development — the perfection of a super, 100-plus octane gasoline.

This latest advancement was disclosed by Ralph K. Davies, deputy petroleum administration for war, in testimony before Congress on the national war agencies 1945 appropriation bill.

"Something even better than 100 octane" is required by the military, Davies said, and the sudden bursts of power and speed which have become increasingly characteristic of American planes demonstrate that these needs are being met "in performance."

Demands of the military forces have been met in full, said Davies, and even civilians, through receiving "something less than they are accustomed to in peacetimes," have been supplied with "all essential requirements."

All of the oil that can be produced is being taken from wells in this coontry, and this necessitates tnrning to foreign sources for additional capacity to meet steadily increasing military demands.

Blows From Italy

The Italy-based bombers, with Lightning escort, smashed two railyards at Marseille, enemy airdromes at Salon, 20 miles northwest, and Montpellier-Prejorgues, 15 miles southwest of Nimes, where JU-88s are based; the Nimes railyards, 30 miles inland in the Rhone valley; and the Avignon yards, 40 miles from the Rhone's mouth. A few enemy interceptors were met, near Nimes, but the other bombers were bothered only by moderate flak.

Five American bombers and one fighter were forced to land in Switzerland, and bombs were jettisoned in the Porrentruy area, but there were no casualties.

All crews were safe, although one plane was set afire.

The Marauders and Havocs made two missions during the day and encountered heavy flak i.. all their target areas, but sighted only one enemy plane.

FDR Delegates Now Total 906

(By The Associated Press)

Connecticut and Utah Democrats joined the parade by fourth term supporters yesterday, to elevate President Roosevelt's convention delegate strength to a record-breaking total of 906 as North Carolina party members chose nominees for senator, governor and other officials.

The Connecticut Democratic convention closed with the adoption of resolutions favoring a fourth term and with instructions to the state's delegation to cast its 18 votes for the President's renomination. Delegates chosen included Senator Maloney (D-Conn), Homer Cummings, former attorney general, and former Governors Wilbur Cross and Robert Hurley.

Utah Hears Thomas

In Utah, the Democrats heard Senator Elbert D. Thomas, who is seeking renomination, call for the President's reelection to provide an experienced American at the peace table. Thomas predicted that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York would be the Republican nominee.

Party leaders said there was no doubt that Utah's 10 votes would be cast for the President's renomination, although the delegation usually goes uninstructed.

Carolina Apathetic

Apathy marked the voting in North Carolina's primary, where former Gov. Clyde R. Hoey and Rep. Caxron Morrison, former governor and senator, appeared to be the chief contenders in a five-way contest for the Democratic nomination to succeed Senator Robert R. Reynolds. Reynolds is quitting the Senate when his present term ends.

Governor Earl Warren of California, told a press conference at Hershey, Pa., that he knew of no movement to draft him as the Republican vice presidential candidate. He added that he had no "understanding" with anybody that he might be given the No. 2 spot on the ticket if Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, is nominated for the presidency.

general added:

"The results of the offensive launched in this theater 11 months ago have more than fulfilled my most optimistic expectations. The operations have appreciably advanced us on our way. I am especially thankful for our light losses. Nothing could more clearly indicate the mercy of a guiding providence."

Possession of Biak's three airfields will give MacArthur's fliers a base for blasting everything the enemy has between New Guinea and the Philippines.

In Fighter-Escort Range

The fields on Biak, more than 300 miles northwest of Hollandia and 200 northwest of Wakde, are within fighter-escorted bomber range of a nest of Japanese airfields on Noemfor and Japen islands and the enemy mainland bases of Manokwari, Nabire and Babog.

The landing at Biak places MacArthur virtually as near to the Philippines as to his main New Guinea base at Finschaffen.

The Biak invasion was preceded by one of the heaviest aerial softenings ever handed a Japanese New Guinea base. More than 700 tons were dropped by American Liberator bombers in incessant raids for 22 consecutive days this month.

quick survey run, then twice retraced the route, each time unloosing bombs and streams of machine gun fire. Other planes in the flight followed suit.

By then, the destroyer transport and infantry landing craft were withdrawing eastward, leaving a great cluster of constantly patrolling cruisers and destroyers to guard the LSTS still standing off the beach.

By 10:30 a. m.—the hour at which we left the scene in favor of a fresh flight of Boston "aerial artillery"—the ground forces had reached a point two and a half miles from the landing spot.

Liberators Arrive

A powerful force of Liberators —perhaps the largest force these four-engined bombers yet used at one time against a single objective in this area—arrived over Biak around midday. They blasted enemy bivouacs and stores the length of the coast.

There was no enemy aerial interference at any time over the island.

With fleets of American planes aloft and a potent naval team standing by, there was little wonder that the first day of invasion carried through on schedule.

OPA's Right To Hold Secret Probes Upheld

CHICAGO, May 27 (U.P.)—Right of the Office of Price Administration to conduct seecret investigations was upheld today by the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The decision was handed down yesterday in the case of the Empire Packing Co., Chicago, and reversed an earlier ruling by Federal Judge John P. Barnes, who upheld the company's refusal to testify unless in the presence of their attorneys and an official reporter.

Justice Sherman Minton, who handed down the decision yesterday, compared OPA investigations with grand jury proceedings and upheld the OPA's right to subpena witnesses.

PAINTINGS OUT AGAIN

NEW YORK, May 27. (AP) — Three hundred famous paintings, recently removed from secret storage where they had been since shortly after the attack on Pearl Harbor, will be put on exhibit again tomorrow at the Metrolopitan Museum of Art.

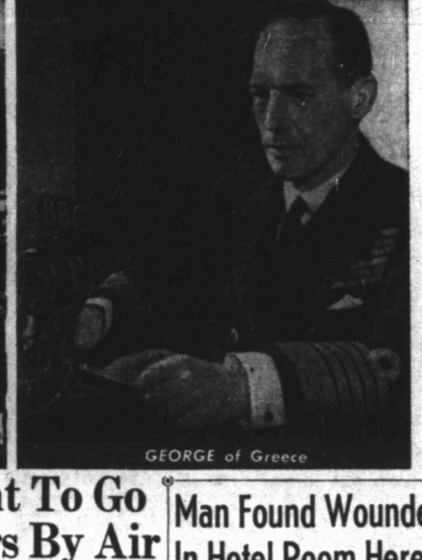

THEY REIGN BY RADIO—Although the Nazis have stripped them of their actual powers, Europe's rulers in exile in London still communicate with their countrymen via radio. Here are four rulers who are waiting for the defeat of the Axis so they can go back home and resume active leadership. Meanwhile, they are working on post-war plans.

mile and a half up the Irrawaddy. These Allied forces are converging from the west and south on encircled Myitkyina, key Japanese base already partly in American hands.

Trapped between monsoon weather and Allied forces, the crack Japanese 33rd division was reported virtually annihilated in the mud and dripping jungles of eastern India. A series of small Allied gains and defeated enemy counterattacks were reported throughout the Imphal - Kohima area.

American bombers ranged over the Pacific from Hong Kong to Ponape in the Carolines and the Central Pacific Marshalls. Tokyo radio reported two Allied destroyers had moved in close to Wotje, bypassed Marshall base, and engaged in a duel with shore batteries. Adm. Chester W. Nimitz made no mention of this but told of heavy air attacks on the Marshalls, including Wotje.

$180,000 Budget For Dental School Okayed

AUSTIN, May 27 (AP) — The University of Texas board of regents today approved a $180,000 budget for the dental school at Houston as presented by Dean F. C. Elliott, but withheld approval of the main university and medical branch budget until the June meeting.

The regents met with the university development board and faculty members regarding a patent policy for the university. The patent committee of the regents recommended postponing further consideration on the general patent policy until additional faculty members whose research is, or may be involved, are given an opportunity to express their views.

The regents authorized the university development board to proceed with a proposal to solicit funds to carry on the work of a project to obtain acetylene from natural gas under the direction of Dr. E. P. Schoch.

Building Permits Show April Spurt

AUSTIN, May 27 (AP)—Texas building spurted in April with permits issued in 41 cities totaling $3,231,068, said the University of Texas bureau of business research today.

This total was well above figures for either March—$2,775,793 —or for April, 1943—$2,054,536.

Dallas led the state with permits of $708,293, while Houston followed with $495,064, Fort Worth ranked third with $455,880, and San Antonio fourth with $385,089. More than $100,000 in permits were reported by Beaumont, Corpus Christi, $139,880; El Paso, $194,301 and Waco, $239,920.

U.S.S. Jamestown Is Awarded High Honor

WILMINGTON, Calif., May 27. (AP)—Presidential unit citation ribbons have been bestowed upon the U. S. S. Jamestown and its complement of 53 naval officers and men.

The honor was conferred yesterday in recognition of the vessel's service as a mother ship for a torpedo squadron.

The Jamestown is credited with heroic duty in the battle of the Solomons and with the possible sinking of a Japanese submarine. His commander is Lt. Comdr. Joseph A. E. O.'Handley.

COMMANDANT SHIFTED

AUSTIN, May 27 (AP) — Capt. John J. London, commandant of the University of Texas Naval ROTC, unit and V-12 training unit, has been relieved of his command, effective June 12, and assigned to the Great Lakes Naval Training station, Chicago, where he will be president of the Ninth Naval district permanent Navy general court martial.

Europe's Kings Want To Go Home; They're Rulers By Air

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Features Writer

LONDON May 27, — Spread around London these days, a half-dozen reigning rulers—with no place to reign—are keeping their ears to the under-ground, their eyes to the east and their bags packed for a quick trip home.

These six monarchs all are receiving full underground reports and are spending most of their time planning to get things rolling again when the Nazis bow out —or are blown out. Even King Peter of Yugoslavia is chin-deep in post-war planning, although he's taken a few days off recently for a honeymoon.

Some of these rulers, it would appear, are going to have some questions to answer when they get home, although it is reported even the position of King Zog of Albania has improved recently since the opera-composing Albanian Bishop Fannoli in the United States has joined the Zog movement after previously opposing it.

Daily Conferences

Most of the monarchs meet daily, or several times weekly, with their ministers. The beloved Queen Wilhelmina of Holland already has put a young lawyer—escaped from the Dutch underground—on her cabinet as minister without portfolio to coordinate activities in connection with the return of the government to the Netherlands, particularly in ironing out social problems. The Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg has conferred with her ministers concerning a post-war economy by which the little Duchy can benefit most from its position as the world's seventh steel producer.

Most of the rulers, too, receive and interview thousands of their subjects who have escaped the Nazi yoke and bring messages from the underground. Queen Wilhelmina broadcasts regularly to her people. Underground reports show she has the largest number of listeners of any program among people still with sets in Holland. King Haakon of Norway radios special messages and has prepared leaflets which are sent by the thousands to his homeland for secret distribution.

Bike-Riding Queen

King George of Greece has spent most of his time since war began with his government in Cairo, but he recently made a six-week visit to England, during which he conferred with Prime Minister Churchill, Foreign Minister Eden and other members of the British governments.

Queen Wilhelmina lives with her son-in-law, Prince Bernhard, outside London, while her daughter, Princess Juliana, and three grandchildren are in Canada. The queen startles her staid British neighbors by getting out her bicycle and riding around the nearby countryside. Britishers insist bikes aren't for queens.

An accomplished artist, she still paints, but all but a small part of her time is given over to Holland's problems. Originally she insisted on seeing every Dutchman who escaped from the Netherlands and learned more about occupied Holland's problems than the Dutch intelligence.

Under her guidance, a Dutch advisory council has been set up to submit ideas to the ministers. The council includes a priest, a newspaperman, a soldier, an accountant, a seaman, a representative of shipping companies and an agricultural expert.

She and her ministers already have plans for forming an army to fight the Japanese as soon as the European war is settled.

A Royal Five-Day Week

Although his home is in the country, King Haakon is in London at least five days a week. His weekly cabinet meetings devote considerable discussion to the return of civil government to Norway. Recently, he and his ministers reached a formal agreement with Britain and the United States concerning the method in which this will be accomplished.

At the moment, the tall, lanky king is living alone, since Crown Prince Olaf is on an A erican tour.

With the Grand Duchess Charlotte in England is the prince consort, Prince Felix, and three of her six children—the hereditary Grand Duke Jean, recently commissioned a lieutenant in the Irish guards, and two daughters, Elizabeth and Marie Adelaide, now in a camp here. The other three children—a boy and two girls — are in school in Canada. Prince Felix is a colonel attached to the British command.

Luxembourgers here believe the Grand Duchess is "the best ambassador our country eve had abroad." She sees immediately all her subjects who get to England.

The Luxembourg government, foreseeing the German invasion in 1940, passed laws enabling the duchess and her ministers to carry on the government in exile.

King Zog believes the former association of his Albanian government with Mussolini will be forgotten. It is reported that Zog is living with his queen in a suburban home belonging to Sir Stafford Cripps, Britain's lord privy seal.

Congratulations To:

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Talley of Levelland on the birth of a daughter at 1:37 a. m. Saturday weighing 7 pounds 7 ounces at the West Texas hospital. The father is a barber.

Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Frost, 1109 Twenty-ninth street, on the birth of a son at the Lubbock General hospital at 4:43 p. m. Friday weighing 7 pounds 3 ounces. The father is with the Furr Food stores.

Damaged Liberator Strikes "Jackpot"

A LIBERATOR BASE IN SOUTHERN ITALY, May 27. (AP) —One of the big Liberators in today's raids over France—its oil line leaking and forced to return early and alone—ran into some good luck north of Rome that cost the Nazis 150 truck loads of supplies.

Co-Pilot Lt. Marion C. Mixson, of Charleston, S. C., saw a couple of British Spitfires going into a nearby cloudbank and tuned in on their radio just in time to hear an order to attack an enemy transport convoy on the coastal road, near Furbara.

Pilot Lt. Robert G. Webster, of New Hartford, Conn., located the trucks and maneuvered the Liberator over a crossroad. Down went the bomb load—and dented the spot with craters.

The well-spaced trucks closed up like an accordian as they approached the craters and the Spitfires swooped down, chewing up 150 of them.

MacArthur Okays Use Of His Name For Dog

BOSTON, May 27 (AP) — Six-year-old Michael E. Hurley of South Boston has received permission to name his English bull pup, "General MacArthur,"—and the authority came from the general himself.

Michael displayed the letter today as he proudly posed for photographers in the full army uniform presented to him by members of a unit stationed in South Boston last summer. The youngster served as their mascot while they were waiting to embark overseas.

General Elections Set In Cuba June 1

HAVANA, May 27 (AP)— More than 2,000,000 Cuban voters will select a president and other public officials in general elections June 1 that may reflect the popularity of General Fulgencio Batista after four years as president and a decade as strong man of the nation.

The president has declared himself and the country's armed forces neutral in the election, but all four government parties are supporting his close friend and collaborator, Carlos Saladrigas, for the presidency. The opposition has claimed Saladrigas' election would mean continuation of Batista's policies. Under the constitution Batista cannot succeed himself.

Dr. Ramon Grau San Martin, 62, scholarly former president, is opposing Saladrigas.

Germans Claim Three Russian Vessels Sunk

LONDON, May 27 (U.P) — The German DNB news agency said today that German speedboats sank one Russian patrol ship and probably two others east of the island of Seskaer in the gulf of Finland Thursday night.

The agency located Seskaer as "far to the east of Lavansaari, most advanced Soviet island base," believed to be the first time the Germans have admitted that Lavansaari, 65 miles west of Kronstadt, was in Soviet hands.

Di Cicco Is Retired To Inactive Status

NEW YORK, May 27. (AP)—The public relations office of Mitchel Field announced tonight that Lt. Pasquale (Pat) Di Cicco of the Army Air forces has been retired to inactive status due to physical disability. The retirement became effective May 25, the office said.

Di Cicco, husband of the former Gloria Vanderbilt, became ill last Jan. 1 and was confined at Mitchel Field hospital for a period. Prior to his entry into military service he was an actors' agent in Hollywood.

Man Found Wounded In Hotel Room Here

A man whose name the sheriff's department gave as Earnest Ford was found wounded by gunshot about 12:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon in a room at Star hotel, 813½ Broadway. His condition late last night was critical, West Texas hospital reported.

Deputy Edgar Gray said a .32 automatic revolver had been found in the man's room. A physician said a bullet had touched Ford's heart.

Ford had been working at a Lubbock dine and dance place, Gray said Ford's wife had told him. Gray added that the man, 38, had registered at the hotel under another name.

Gripsholm Is Greeted By Cheers At Belfast

BELFAST, May 27 (U.P)—Cheering crowds and bands greeted the Swedish exchange ship Gripsholm today when the ship glided into Belfast harbor bearing 900 sick and wounded repatriated war prisoners and 22 civilians released from German internment.

The ship disembarked only the British soldiers and will take the Americans, Canadians and Latin Americans to North America.

Those who are continuing the journey were allowed to leave the ship to stretch their legs while American Red Cross girls served tea, coffee and handed out copies of American newspapers and magazines.

No. 13 Almost Fatal For Marauder Pilot

LONDON, May 27 (AP)— Lt. Col. Frank Wood of San Antonio, a Marauder pilot, flew his bomber, "Helen High Water," on mission No. 13 on May 13.

Here is what happened:

Flak smashed the radio, punctured the hydraulic system, ruined the generator and vacuum pump. Wood landed at an emergency field after bombing the target and skidded 600 yards on damaged landing gear.

One crewman was killed, three were wounded and a number of others suffered from shock and cold.

Salvador President Weathers Out Crisis

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, May 27 (AP)—Travelers arriving today from El Salvadoor said the new president, Andres Menendez, had threatened to resign during a crisis May 23 "unless certain military elements stop meddling in politics."

With the support of the civilian population, these reports said, Menendez managed to heal the breach with the military which had been holding secret meetings with the idea of taking control of the provisional government.

Pilot 'Obliged' For Help From Stranger

LONDON, May 27. (AP)—Lt. Edmond Zellner of Hazelton, Pa., was "much obliged" today to Maj. John Storch of Long Beach, Calif., for chasing a lead-spitting Messerschmitt 109 off his tail.

Zellner, who flys in a different group from another base, followed Storch home to shake his hand and say so.

They had never met before. But when Storch — who already had batted down a couple of ME109s— switched over to bang away at the Nazi fighter on Zellner's tail, that was introduction enough.

Public Asked To Keep Down Week-End Trips

DALLAS, May 27. (AP) — The regional Office of Defense Transportation says Col. J. Monroe Johnson, national ODT director, is appealing to civilians in the Southwest not to travel unnecessarily over the Memorial day week end.

"Since Memorial day falls on Tuesday, many persons may be tempted to take advantage of the long week-end from Friday to Tuesday to make trips. Holiday travel by civilians will deprive many service men and women of furlough visits," ODT quotes Johnson in a press release.

Waco Man Killed In Swimming Pool Fall

ABILENE, May 27 (AP)—Grady Fulbright, jr., 23-year-old resident of Waco, died in the American Legion swimming pool here today.

Fulbright fell from the diving board and was under water about a minute before he was rescued. Artificial respiration failed to revive him and a physician said it was not determined whether he was drowned or death was from injury received in the fall.

Fulbright is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Fulbright of Waco.

Rain Great Aid To Area Crops

Rainfall that was general throughout the South Plains in the 24 hours ending Saturday noon was received so slowly that there was slight runoff anywhere, and crops and pasture lands benefitted incalculably.

That was the composite report established in telephone conversations of The Avalanche-Journal with persons in 32 South Plains towns.

One Place Has Damage

Only at one place, near Sudan, where the fall was 4 inches, was there any report of damage. West of Sudan it was reported that 2 inches of rain has fallen in less than one hour, and that some fields would have to be replanted. In Sudan, where there was 2.50 inches, and east of Sudan, where 2 inches fell in 48 hours, the fall was slow and there was no damage.

In Lubbock, there was a fall of 1.62 inches Friday and Saturday night, bringing to 3.99 inches the total for May and boosting the 1944 total to 8.56 inches, as compared with the 34-year mean of 6.13 inches for the five-months period, it was announced by Don L. Jones, superintendent of the state experiment sub-station east of Lubbock.

No Washing Reported

Jones said he had received no reports indicating the fall had washed out any Lubbock county crops. He said that, on basis of reports received Saturday, the "number of dry spots" in the county had been moistened so that they could be planted. He said moisture of the crust and of the sub-surface probably had met, inasmuch as 1.50 inches of fall in sandy land penetrates approximately 10 inches when received slowly.

There was evident elation at crop prospects in all South Plains towns.

Saturday brought one of Lubbock's largest street crowds, as all main sidewalks of Lubbock were thronged all day Saturday, and car traffic stayed continually heavy all day. However, Lubbock's retail merchants reported sales as being "about the usual Saturday quantity."

"A Million Dollar rain," several persons described it.

"It couldn't have fallen more favorably."

"This is another war year—and we need to make everything possible. It looks like crops will get away to excellent starts—and we have enough rain to do several weeks."

As based on figures from the state experimental sub-station east of the city, May's rainfall in Lubbock county was:

May 4, .05; May 10, 1.03; May 11, 1.12; May 21, .11; May 22, .06; May 26, 1.41; May 27, .21; Total 3.99.

The rainfall report for the five months of 1944 up to Saturday mid-morning, together with the 34-year average for those months:

Month	Rainfall	Ave. (34-yr.)
January	1.29	.45
February	1.36	.72
March	1.09	.90
April	.84	1.47
May	3.99	2.59
Totals	8.56	6.13

The complete South Plains report:

East: Spur 1.1 inch, Crosbyton .63, Ralls .50, Lorenzo .75, Idalou .50.

Southeast: Post 1.25, Southland .75, Slaton 1.25.

South: Lamesa 1, O'Donnell 1, Tahoka 1, Wilson .75.

Southwest: Seminole 2, Seagraves .50, Brownfield .50, Meadow 1.25.

West: Morton .67, Whiteface 2, Levelland 2, Smyer 1.25.

Northwest: Muleshoe 1.51, Sudan 2.50, Amherst 3, Littlefield 1.75, Anton 1.45, Shallowater 1.6.

North: Plainview 2.05, Hale Center 1.50, Abernathy 1.50.

Northeast: Matador 1.12, Floydada .25, Lockney .65.

Other reports: Justiceburg .50, Snyder 1, Hamlin 1.50, Rule 1, Rochester .25, Crowell 1, Altus, Okla., .50, Fort Stockton .12, Alpine 1, Presido .50, Sagerton 3.

Actions Of Marine Platoon Legendary

SOMEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC (Delayed) (AP)—The second Marine regiment's scrappy scout-sniper platoon, legendary out here for its work at Tarawa, has had decorations awarded 31 out of its 35 men.

Their leader was awarded the medal of honor posthumously, each of the 29 surviving members has been awarded a Silver Star medal, and another member was awarded the Silver Star posthumously.

The unit, which fought through the 76 hours of furious combat on Betio island on Tarawa atoll, was led by the late First Lieut. William Deane Hawkins, El Paso, Texas, and was the nemesis of Jap pillboxes and dugouts on the tiny island.

Lieut. Hawkins, killed on the second day of the battle, when he singlehandedly stormed a Jap pillbox containing five machine guns, was awarded the medal of honor by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in the name of Congress. The Betio fighter strip was named Hawkins field in honor of the Marine officer.

Large Scale Jap Navy Offensive Is Hinted

(By The United Press)

Hinting that the Japanese plan a large scale naval attack soon, the German DNB agency broadcast a Shanghai report last night saying a Japanese navy spokesman had declared the "Z" flag, navy battle insignia, would be flown again in the near future.

The "Z" flag flew for the first time from the main mast of the Japanese flagship in the battle of Tsushima and for the second at Pearl Harbor, according to the broadcast recorded by the United Press short wave listening post in New York.

USE SEA POWER TO GET HOGS IN A HURRY
FEED STANTON'S
20% PIG RATION
Today, more than ever before, it is extremely important to speed up growth and keep mortality down in young pigs. Feed is too precious to waste on the laggards and pork is too valuable to lose before it goes to market. Stanton's 20% pig ration provides extra protection against both. In hundreds of hog lots, it is working consistently to improve pig health, speed up growth and reduce mortality because it gives little pigs the same kind of boost that chick starter gives to baby chicks. It is being fed widely to sows before farrowing and through creep feeding—to pigs from 3-3 weeks of age on up.

MANAMAR
In Stanton's 20% pig ration supplies the hard-to-get feeding essentials—fish proteins, feed minerals and vitamins, including the important Vitamin B "complex."

B-G PLUS
Is a patented vacuum concentrated extract from fish. This new and potent product, resulting from ten years of cranless research and experiment, supplies extra tract minerals and vitamins in Stanton's 20% pig ration.

FAMOUS WINTER GARDEN OF TEXAS

Just came back from an inspection tour with Mr. Bishop, from the Winter Garden, and I took one of his 64-page booklets with me, so a great many of the places where he has letters from the farmers, also pictures in the booklet, and found all to be as good as represented. I knew it was a wonderful country before I went—after reading Mr. Bishop's advertisements, and talking to him personally, and knowing his reputation for honesty, and good judgment on land values, also knowing that he never would sell land in any country except in territories that he knew to be good—where the price of land is cheap, due to the fact that the country was not yet developed, but I found the country was very much better than I had expected, therefore, I made a deal with him to be his Sales Manager, and I am going to devote my time in selling what I consider the best bargains in the country. I believe that I will be doing a favor to anyone to assist him in buying a real bargain where he can make lots of money, and at the same time have a desirable place to live—as well as a healthy place, and a fisherman and hunter-man's paradise.

If you are in the market to buy land anywhere, I want you and your wife to go with me (if you have a wife), at the earliest date possible, as the ones who buy first will get the best bargains. If you are able to buy as much as $5000 worth, and in the market to buy somewhere, I will take you down in my car, and pay all expenses, whether you buy or not, and if you do not think it is a good buy you are not obligated.

Write for 64-page booklet, and other literature. Phone or come to see me.

RECOVERIES FEATURE WEEK

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—The stock market ended another recovery week with merchandising and specialty issues bid up 1 to 3 or more points while many leaders either did nothing or slipped into the minus column.

Throughout the six sessions there was a revival of investment demand based mainly on earnings, dividends, cheering war news and the belief invasion selling as out of the way.

The list, on balance, suffered a slight dip Monday, first since May 12. It was the only stumble of the week and, with pivotals out in front, bidding was urgent enough Wednesday to bring the first million-share aggregate since April 18.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up .1 of a point Saturday and on the week held a net gain of .6 at 52.9, which equalled the peak of last March 22. Sizable out-of-town orders put turnover at 415,300 shares, largest for a Saturday since March 25. It compared with 361,570 a week ago. Many local customers were away for a lengthy holiday as principal exchanges will recess Tuesday for Memorial Day.

Bonds were uneven. In the curb Standard Cap and Seal issues tilted forward along with Derby Oil and Cuban Atlantic Sugar.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK May 27 (AP) — Commodity Credit corporation announcement that loans on 1943 crop cotton will be called August 15 brought scattered liquidation in futures on the possibility more cotton might be taken out of loan and sold in the open market.

Offerings were absorbed by mill buying and covering.

Agencies Flayed In Money Bill

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—The third major money bill reported in less than a week—a $1,104,972,814 supply measure for independent offices—was used by the House Appropriations committee today as the medium for a verbal slap at federal employes who "propagandize" Congress for money.

Directing its criticism at the children's bureau and the office of education, the committee referred to a "considerable amount of correspondence" in connection with the children's bureau and to the "particularly aggressive" attitude of the office of education with respect to funds.

Propagandizing Flayed

"The time of government employees should not be utilized in propagandizing the Congress in behalf of appropriations from which they might expect to benefit," the committee said.

Consideration of the bill will start Monday in the House, which this week disposed quickly of appropriation measures for the District of Columbia government and 17 miscellaneous home-front war agencies.

More than half the money in the bill was allotted to the Federal Security agency, which receives $629,224,185, a reduction of $58,621,115 from budget estimates. For the Labor department the bill carried $67,950,350, a $2,164,850 cut from the burget; for the employees compensation commission, $15,410,000, the amount requested; for the National Labor Relations board, $3,523,450, a cut of $625,550; for the National Medition board, $607,000, a $46,500 reduction, for the railroad retirement board, the $311,316,000 requested in the burget, and for the War Manpower commission $76,941,829 a cut of $8,006,371.

The committee eliminated entirely a request for $2,465,000 for the War Manpower commission's program of recruiting, locating and importing foreign workers to meet labor shortages, commenting that the program has not met with "sufficient success to justify its continuation."

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, May 27 (AP) — Cattle 300; calves 75; steady; quality mostly medium and low grades; no mature steers; few medium and low grade yearlings 7-12.50; butcher cows 8.25-10; a few fat calves 8.50-12.75; stockers and feeders negligible, all held over for Monday's market.

Hogs 350; mostly steady on all weights with top 13.55 for good to choice 180-270 pound averages. Good 175 light weights 12.00; sows 9.75-10.

Sheep 3,600; good shorn ewes with No. 1 pelts 6.00, or 25 cents lower; bids unevenly lower on medium grade shorn lambs. Large percent of receipts consisted of common and medium stocker lambs and were unsold.

Grain . .

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, May 27 (AP) — Favorable crop weather was one of the principal influences in the grain market today and trading was dull.

Wheat showed little rallying power and the heavy undertone was partially due to reports of lower premiums for the southwestern cash grain. Rye was active but unsettled with July showing independent strength.

Near the close wheat futures became firm following heavy short covering. Advances in rye in the final minutes of trading were attributed to commission house purchases.

At the close wheat was unchanged to ⅛ higher than yesterday's finish, July $1.61⅞-1.62. Oats were ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, July 76⅞. Rye was 1⅛ lower to 1½ higher, July $1.11⅞-1.12. Barley was down ¼ to 1 cent, July $1.20.

Ship's Captain Slain By Crew

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—The Navy reported today that Karl J. Larsen, captain of the S. S. Thomas J. Walsh was shot to death April 19 in an exchange of shots with members of the naval gun crew aboard his merchant vessel.

The shooting occurred in a South Pacific port under naval jurisdiction where the Navy said it had become necessary to confine Larsen to his quarters aboard ship. Larsen was from New York City.

The Navy said that the merchant vessel has returned to a west coast port and that a thorough investigation of the shooting is being made.

Navy's Statement

The Navy reported the death of Larsen in this statemente

"Testimony of naval and merchant Marine personnel aboard the ship indicates that, while the S. S. Thomas J. Walsh was anchored in a South Pacific port, it became necessary to confine Capt. Larsen to his quarters aboard ship, with four armed guard crew members stationed outside. At about 3 o'clock on the morning of the 19th, according to this testimony, Capt. Larsen emerged from his quarters and opened fire with a revolver on the armed guard crew men, wounding one of them. The crew man returned the fire and Capt. Larsen was fatally wounded.

"The Thomas J. Walsh has returned to a west coast port, and a thorough investigation of the matter is being made."

There was no indication of the reason Larsen had been ordered confined to his quarters.

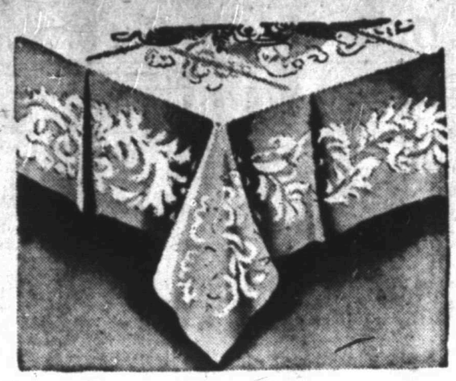

2,500 Strike Because Woman Is Employed

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 27. (AP)—More than 2,500 workers of the Brown and Sharpe Manufacturing company were out on strike today in protest against the hiring of a woman to fill a man's job.

Richmond Viall, vice-president of the company, said the strike began yesterday when a man was transferred and a woman was hired to take his place.

PRISONERS ESCAPE

LONDON, May 27. (AP) — Radio France at Algiers, in a broadcast quoting Zurich reports, said today that after the Allied raid last Thursday on the French city of Mulhouse, prisoners of war interned in that region escaped. Mulhouse is 20 miles northwest of the junction of the French, German and Swiss borders.

Rome On Verge Of Freedom From Long Rule By Nazis

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Two weeks from its onset, the Allied attack in Italy is within sight of one of its goals—driving the enemy from Rome.

SIMPSON

Anglo-American spearheads of the Fifth Army are at the ancient capital's thresholds. The beaten and badly mauled German armies defending must retreat or be smashed utterly. There are increasing intimations that, harried by Allied air power completely dominating Italian skies, the Nazi supply lines are breaking down.

Battle-riddled enemy divisions are depleted. Their casualties include nearly 15,000 prisoners in Allied hands to add to the toll of dead and wounded. They are running short of artillery and armor by every sign and are in mounting peril of major disaster.

Bitter Truth Seeps Back

That is the bitter truth seeping back to the bomb-shocked German home front despite adroit Nazi efforts to minimize the reverses in Italy. On the eve of more stupendous Russian and Allied blows from east and west, Veteran German armies in Italy, sustained by every advantage of terrain and interior communications, have been out-guessed, out-maneuvered and out-fought. That must add to the gloom in a Germany where nerves are already keyed to a breaking strain by cumulative military disaster in Africa, Russia and Italy, by utter failure of the U-boat campaign in the Atlantic, by the prolonged night-and-day Allied bombing campaign and by the maddening business of waiting, waiting for the main attacks to fall.

The German people are now being told from Berlin that reverses in Italy are attributable to the fact that reinforcements cannot be spared from other and more dangerous continental fronts. It is a frank admission that the Nazi high command holds no real hope of preventing early Allied occupation of Rome.

Negro Charged With Murder Is Missing

SAN ANTONIO, May 27. (U.P.)—Sedwick Horton, negro elevator man charged with the murder of Miss Mary Lou Lowery in an elevator Sunday, was missing today and police contemplated broadcasting a statewide pickup.

Murder charges were filed today in justice court, but a warrant for Horton's arrest was delayed to give the parole board at Austin time to act. Horton had been paroled from the state prison where he was serving a four-year sentence for wife murder.

Horton had been arrested earlier in the week but was released following a hearing in Judge W. W. McCory's district court when he said that the woman's death was accidental after a drinking party.

The charges filed today alleged Horton killed the yoman by "beating her with his hands and kicking her with his feet."

Horton, in his original story, said the woman struck her head against the elevator side.

Rudy Vallee To Retire From Coast Guard

HOLLYWOOD, May 27. (U.P.) — Lt. Rudy Vallee of the Coast Guard folds his uniform this summer and returns at his own request to civilian tootling.

He will be placed on the inactive list, it was learned today, some time between July 15 and Aug. 22, after he and his nonseagoing jazz band make their final tour in the interest of the Fifth War Loan bond sale.

Vallee said he was 43 years old, that he was more than 38 when he entered the Coast Guard, that he had built up one of the finest service bands in the country, and that he felt his work was finished.

COMMANDO LANDING

LONDON, May 27. (AP) — The German DNB news agency said today that British commandos landed on the island of Mljet, off the Yugoslav coast, the night of May 23-24 but have now withdrawn leaving four dead and several wounded and captured.

News Briefs

1st. Lt. Charles G. Rehmet, of Alice, reported to Lubbock Army Air field this week to take up his assignment as a flight instructor. Lt. Rehmet graduated from Blackland Army Air field in April, 1943, and was sent overseas in May, 1943. Assigned to the 13th Army Air Force, he was a pilot of B-17's and B-24's. He holds the Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal with four Oak Leaf Clusters, the Asiatic Pacific Ribbon and three battle stars. Lt. Rehmet returned to the States in March, 1944, was stationed at Miami Beach, Fla., before coming to LAAF.

Dr. J. O. Ellsworth, dean of commerce at Texas Technological college, addressed graduates of the Quanah High school Friday night and the Jayton High school graduates Thursday night. He spoke to both classes on education for post-war business. Supt. E. A. Sanders of Quanah presented diplomas to 60 graduates and 14 seniors at Jayton received diplomas from Supt. S. L. Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Owens, 1305 Arnett, returned this week-end from Long Beach where they visited Mrs. Owens' brothers, Milton and John Norcross. Mrs. Owens has another brother, Pfc. David Norcross, a former Lubbock High school football player, who is in the South Pacific.

Major S. T. Love, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Love, 1910 Twenty-fourth street, has been promoted to a lieutenant-colonel in the Army Air Forces, somewhere in India, his parents have been informed. Lt.-Col. Love, a graduate of Lubbock High school and a former student of Texas Tech, received his pilot's wings and commission as a pilot in 1933 and was a pilot for Western Air Lines before returning to active duty two years ago. He was sent overseas as a transport pilot in North Africa and Italy and participiated in the invasion of those areas. Later he was transferred to a fighter squadron and sent to India where he is one of the executive officers of a fighter group.

Lt. Paul Kiser of Sylvester, Tex., was in Lubbock Saturday visiting friends at Texas Technological college after spending 15 months in the south Pacific. Prior to going into the service he was a senior in the dairy manufacturing department at Tech. He is a pilot and has the Distinguished Service Cross, Air Medal with Oak Leaf cluster, three stars for major campaigns and has completed over 100 missions. After a 15-day leave he will report to Miami, Fla., for re-assignment.

Rev. L. L. Richardson, pastor of the College Avenue Baptist church, is in Fort Worth attending an evangelistic conference at the Southern Baptist Theological seminary. The conference begins today and continues through Wednesday.

Ensign J. Mason Moxley has gone to Cambridge, Mass., where he will attend a communications school at Harvard for the next four months. He was accompanied by his wife and small daughter.

Miss Nell Clifton, 1653 Main street, is spending the week-end visiting friends and relatives in Fort Worth and Dallas.

Six persons suffered minor injuries about midnight Friday when three automobiles found themselves too close together in too limited an area on a southwest Lubbock street. Car No. 1, attempting to pass car No. 2, swung too far out to the wrong side of the street and piled into car No. 3 in headon collision, police said. Suffering bruises or abrasions were Mr. and Mrs. Don C. Wiley of 3217 Twenty-second street, George Rufus Rush and J. W. Starr, both of Seagraves, and Mary McMillan and Thelma Thackston, both of 2301 Eighth street.

Lubbock I.O.O.F. lodge No. 609 will meet in the basement of the Myrick building Monday night to confer the first degree in Oddfellowship. Refreshments will be served by the social committee. Visiting members are invited to attend.

Dr. Ling To Offer Courses In Chinese

In view of the desires of most present-day Americans to learn more about their ally, the Chinese, three new courses in Chinese language and history will be offered this summer, it was announced Saturday by Dr. Bing-chung Ling, a native of China and professor of Chinese at Texas Technological college.

A course known as "Chinese People and their Language" will be open exclusively for children from the fourth to sixth grades, inclusive. This course is designed to give the student a few salient facts concerning the Chinese people and to introduce him to a fundamental knowledge of the Chinese language in its modern simplified form. It consists of four one-hour class periods per week for six weeks, starting June 5.

This class will meet on Tech campus from 2 to 3 o'clock on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. The enrollment will be limited to twenty-five students. The tuition will be five dollars for the entire period, which includes all textbook material, to be furnished by Dr. Ling.

"Contemporary China" is the second of the courses to be open to children from the seventh to the ninth grades, inclusive. It will give the student a general knowledge of the history, geography, and present condition and future trends of one of America's great allies. It consists of four one-hour class periods per week for six weeks, beginning June 5. The class will meet on Tech campus from 3 to 4 o'clock on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoon. Enrollment quota and fee is the same as in the first course.

To all adults and others who have completed a Junior high school education, Dr. Ling will offer the third course, "Basic Chinese Language." There will be two classes a week, one and a half hours each. Classes will meet in the evening. It will begin June 5, with registration closing June 4. There will be a small fee charged, depending upon the number enrolled in the class. This is a non-credit college course.

Body Of Aged Woman Recovered From Lake

DURHAM, N. C., May 27 (AP)—Searchers recovered an elderly woman's body, nude and unrecognizable, from Eastwood lake today as they sought to clear up the mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Edward M. Jewett, wealthy Boonville, Mo., woman listed as missing since May 10.

Chief H. E. King, of the Durham police force, said he believed the body to be that of Mrs. Jewett, 67-year-old grandmother of 24-year-old Edward Jewett Martin, who has been named in a grand jury indictment charging murder of the Boonville woman.

King said 12 to 14 stab wounds were found in the woman's back.

Anniversary Of Oil Strike On University Land Is Observed

AUSTIN, May 27 (AP)—Oil men, historians and educators tonight observed the 21st anniversary of the discovery of oil on University of Texas lands, a discovery that has poured nearly $44,000,000 in a permanent fund for betterment of the university.

At a dinner celebration staged by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association for University of Texas representatives and the Texas State Historical association speakers remainded what the flow of wealth has meant to the university and how it can shape its future.

From the discovery well, Santa Rita, in Reagan county the university's oil royalty expanded to 1,112 wells which yield about $85,000 a month. The money goes into a permanent fund and only the income from the permanent fund can be spent.

Brides And Brides-To-Be Are In Spotlight As Month Nears Close

SCATTERINGS

THEY say that Washington, D. C., is a place where you get in a taxi-cab and the driver tells you where HE is going. . . . Cheer up as you do your dishes in a mixture of soapy flakes that is hard on the dishes and harder on the hands: A new soap has been devised which takes the dirt off soldiers even when they must wash in cold sea water. At war's end it will appear in kitchens to help rid your pots and pans and dishes of grease. . . . Evelyn Boyd of Amarillo says you can develop a new style of writing after reading James Thurber's "Leave Your Mind Alone." . . . Have you wondered if farmers won't set out rice fields in Scurry county since 6.19 inches of rain have fallen there in the past seven days? . . . New residents can't understand why Lubbockites practically suspend activity and become morose when the weather is rainy. Perhaps it's because it is so unusual . . . Memorial day marks the official opening of the picnic season. Anyone who has never gone on a picnic has missed a good-sized slice of the pleasure in life. . . . Here's a trick to relax tired hands—clinch and unclench the fists and then shake the hands vigorously. . . . Nomination for a pleasant sounding name: Gloria Novak. . . . Brunette Mrs. Emmett Earl Hinson, jr., nee Frances La Rue Hall, is as pretty a May bride as one will ever see. And luckily she's the type who grows prettier as she grows older.

• • •

GRAND SIGHT — The grandest sight for anyone to see and one which will make you cry every time, is Old Glory being hoisted up a flag-pole from which the flag of the Rising Sun has been made to set, Marine Platoon Sgt. Hurshall (Handlebar) Hooker, Tomball's No. 1 hero, told his fellow townsmen the other day. He is a hero and veteran of Tarawa, Guadalcanal and Tulagi. . . . Don't you know that General MacArthur in his quest to free the Philippines, echoes those words?

• • •

ONE of the leading woman's magazines has two stories this month whose plots revolve around husbands asking their wives to divorce them and then deciding to return to them, finding the welcome mat out and lounging slippers and comfortable chairs still in front of the fireplace for them. . . . Why doesn't someone write a story of a husband who schemed to regain his wife's love when it seemed she was falling in love with someone else? At least that would be different.

• • •

COSMETIC companies have copywriters who keep up to the minute with their cautions. For instance there is the cream one is urged to use before the "invasion wrinkles start." . . . And Maison Jeurelle's Seventeen "Skinthetic" leg make-up isn't bad. . . . Our favorite story of soldiers at home is the one of the private who fell down a coal hole as he was strolling along in Denver, Colo. Afterwards dug up and refreshed with a bath, he explained, "She smiled as we passed."

• • •

YOUTH'S LOSS — When Rev. W. G. Loesel leaves Lubbock tomorrow his going will mean more than absence from the pulpit of the Redeemer Lutheran church; it will mean a vital loss to the youth of this section, especially the college folk. . . . Mr. Loesel is a sincere champion of young people and his idea seems to be about the same as Father Flanagan in Boy's Town, "I never met a boy who was bad.". . . He has been part time teacher in the Tech history department for several years and since last fall has also taught in the aircrew detachment. He says those young men are Grade A. . . . Proof of the students' devotion to Mr. Loesel is evidenced in that each class of aircrew boys has given him a gift and a number of college classes has done the same, the last being one of those good looking spur tie clasps all the ranchers near San Angelo wear. . . . His secret of successful teaching seems to be in winning the interest and confidence of his class by a brief question and answer period at the beginning of the hour on no special subject, just whatever seems to be on the minds of the students. . . . This department wishes for the Loesels all the luck in the world as they leave for Concordia, Neb., where he will teach in a teacher's college.

• • •

FABULOUS FASHIONS — If men think women's half hats and hoseless legs and skimpy dresses are radical, what will their reaction be to postwar fashions? Style-setting designers predict hats as big and gay as garden-party parasols, stylized accessories worn from the skin out and enough material in skirts of evening gowns to build a tent and tops will be next to nothing. . . . As for daytime clothes, they wager that skirt and waist lengths will stay where they are because no American designer is daring enough to change them. . . . Backless sleeveless dresses are to march up Fifth Avenue this season.

Moore-Miller Wedding Is Read In Residence In Plainview

* * *

THE marriage of Miss Mary Jeanne Miller to Abb Thomas Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Moore, Lubbock, was read in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Judson Miller, Plainview, May 20.

Vows were spoken before an altar of greenery banked by baskets of white gladioli and yellow iris. Orange blossoms covered the mantel.

Before the ceremony, Miss Myrtle Knoohuizen sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because" accompanied by Miss Bettye Jo Cardwell. Traditional wedding marches were played.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length wedding dress of shadow embossed marquisette with a deep train, fitted bodice with a sweetheart neckline outlined in seed pearls, and leg-of-mutton sleeves coming to a tip below the wrist. She carried a white Bible opped with orchids and stephanotis. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a tiara of pointed spray lace with a matching edging on the veil.

Sister Is Maid Of Honor

Miss Virginia Miller, sister of the bride and maid of honor, wore a floor length gown of yellow jersette with a skirt and yoke of silk net. She carried a shower bouquet of dutch iris and yellow maline.

Frank Moore of Sweetwater attended his brother as best man.

At the reception, held immediately following the ceremony, Misses Emma Jo Armstrong and Frances Miller served.

The bride graduated from Plainview High school and attended Texas Technological college where she was majoring in commercial teaching and was a member of Las Vivarachas social club.

The bridegroom attended Tech and at present is employed as flight instructor at Avenger field in Sweetwater where the couple will live.

Lubbock guests were Mrs. Anson Sewalt, Mrs. Ella Moore, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. McDaniel and Joyce, Miss Arline Birdwell and Sgt. Howard J. Balson.

From Lou To Louella

DEAR LOUELLA: The rumor that Sue Grimes and Robert Brewer are married has been verified. They became Mr. and Mrs. Feb. 18. . . . A newly engaged couple is Betty Rountree and Burl Gene Moore. . . . Tim O'Connell, a Naval Air corps cadet who has been here recently, is engaged to a girl in Denver. . . . After six weeks of Tech summer school, Ruth Anthony will go to California. It's lucky that her grandmother and boy friend, Aubrey Ferguson, happen to be in the same place there. Ruth already has a beautiful tan from the Texas sun. . . . Sailors Buddy Crites, stationed in San Diego, and T. S. Cranford, stationed near Long Beach, recently went to the Hollywood Stagedoor canteen where they saw Nancy Walker and Jimmy Durante. . . . For her birthday, Verdia Beth Edler received a gold bracelet bearing the Navy insignia, a telephone call and a special delivery letter all from Great Lakes, Mich., where Robert Kent is stationed.

Here recently were: Pvt. Gene Blackburn, stationed in San Antonio in the Army Air corps. . . . Pvt. Tom Lokey, stationed at Del Rio. . . . Sailor Fred Libby. . . . Wayne Odam who is in gunnery school at Harlingen. He has been to see his brother Dale, a Marine stationed in North Carolina. . . Lt. Jerry McCauley who just got his Army wings . . . and Sailor Wright Stubbs.

SPAAF Group Holds Combat Maneuvers

Field combat training maneuvers, a majority of which was spent in a driving rain, were the order of the day for one section of soldiers at South Plains Army Air field over the weekend.

Moving out to intercept "an enemy company composed of two rifle platoons and one caliber 30 machinegun platoon which invaded the State of Texas with a mission of setting afire and destroying SPAAF," the soldiers on this particular problem not only had the job of stopping their "enemies" but had to overcome a bit of "damp" weather which came down by the buckets full.

The maneuvers were a part of the stepped up training program at the nation's largest advanced glider pilot training center. Soldiers taking part in the field maneuvers were those of the guard section. The maneuvers were under the direction of Capt. John Svarny, provost marshal at SPAAF.

Carrying full field equipment, the advanced section of the defending forces moved from the assembly area at SPAAF 15:15 CWT Thursday, that is Army parlance for 3:15 o'clock in the afternoon. No "enemy" resistance was encountered for a distance of six miles. Some distance north of SPAAF at 17:15 hours, that afternoon the advanced guard met on enemy patrol. Strong, aggressive action by the advanced guard killed and captured the entire patrol. Casualties on the defending forces' side numbered four killed and one wounded.

The guard section then proceeded to the bivouac area in a driving rain and camp was established in record time. Outposts and out-guards were posted for security. Motor reconnaissance patrols operated between SPAAF and the area in intermitten showers all night long. Small "enemy" reconnaissance patrols were encountered and a few shots were exchanged but no casualties were suffered by either side.

The maneuver, giving the men some idea of what they may face later, was declared to be as realistic as possible, even to the blank ammunition and barbed wire fences.

AN EIGHTH AAF BOMBER STATION, England—Neither one of the three sergeants from the Texas Panhandle will admit erecting the sign or vouch for the accuracy of the figure, but they point to it as proof of the proverbial affection Texans in the AAF have for their native state. The sign is on a winding English lane on the edge of the Eighth AAF B-24 Liberator base commanded by Lt. Col. Glendon P. Overing. Left to right, the three Texas sergeants are: Technical Sergeant Robert A. Smithee, 27, section chief of the base material office, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Smithee, of Ralls; Master Sergeant Lesley D. Barnes, 24, section chief of the intelligence office, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Barnes, of Lazbuddy; and Technical Sergeant Richard R. Richter, 27, a clerk in the adjutant's office and assistant sergeant major, the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Richter, of Abernathy. All three enlisted in the AAF in January 1941, and have been together nearly all the time. One of the places where they were stationed was near Manchester, N. H., and two of the Texans found Yankee brides. Sgt. Smithee is married to the former Miss Victoria Jaddock, who is now living with their son, Robert, Jr., 9-months-old, at Manchester, N. H. Sgt. Barnes married the former Miss Una Smith, of Concord, N. H., who makes her home with the sergeant's parents during his absence overseas. The sign, which failed to show up in the engraving, read "Texas, 5384½ miles".

Production Of High Octane Sets Record

LAKE CHARLES, La., May 27 (AP)—Ralph K. Davies, deputy petroleum administrator for war, said last night that by July 1 the United Nations oil industry will be producing 21,000,000 gallons of high octane daily—enough to send more than 10,000 bombers over Berlin every 24 hours.

Davies, one of the speakers at the dedication of a new $100,000,000 high octane gasoline and synthetic rubber plant, praised the oil industry for its part in the war effort.

Other speakers included Harvey S. Firestone, jr., head of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., who said the synthetic rubber industry was here to stay and will play a vital role in the country's economic system after the war.

"On May 1," Davies said, "the United Nations were producing 400,000 barrels a day of this super fuel. By July 1, I am confident we will be able to hit 500,000 barrels (21,000,000 gallons) a day. In two and a half years, we will have outproduced all of Axis Europe by twelve to one."

Before the war, England produced less than 40 per cent of her essential food requirements.

Lemon Juice Recipe Checks Rheumatic Pain Quickly

If you suffer from rheumatic, arthritis or neuritis pain, try this simple inexpensive home recipe that thousands are using. Get a package of Ru-Ex Compound, a two-week supply, today. Mix it with a quart of water, add the juice of 4 lemons. It's easy. No trouble at all and pleasant. You need only 3 tablespoonfuls two times a day. Often within 48 hours — sometimes overnight — splendid results are obtained. If the pains do not quickly leave and if you do not feel better, return the empty package and Ru-Ex will cost you nothing to try as it is sold by your druggist under an absolute money-back guarantee. Ru-Ex Compound is for sale and recommended by Mark Halsey and drug stores everywhere. ADV.

Travel Is Problem For Monetary Meet

WASHINGTON, May 27 (U.P.)—The transportation of delegates from the far corners of the world to the international monetary conference at Bretton Woods, N. H., today loomed as a major problem facing most of the 43 Allied and associated countries which have received invitations to attend.

The conference, called yesterday by President Roosevelt "for the purpose of discussing proposals to meet postwar international monetary problems," opens July 1 at the Mt. Washington hotel.

One high Treasury spokesman indicated that the transport of delegates out of Great Britain, where most of the exiled governments are based, constitutes a difficult task. Virtually all traffic out of the British Isles has been suspended as a security move in support of the forthcoming Allied invasion of western Europe.

The parley, to last about three weeks, will be attended by about 600 persons, including delegates and their staffs.

Gas Supply Will Be Same For Two Years

WASHINGTON, May 27 (U.P.)—The average American motorist today receives only 43 per cent as much gasoline as he used in 1941, and, according to present plans, his supply for the next two years will remain at approximately the same level, according to Deputy Petroleum Administrator Ralph K. Davies.

Davies pointed out that while mileage here has been reduced 57 per cent from the peacetime level, in England it has been reduced 88 per cent.

Before the war, between 500,000 and 600,000 British people worked in the catering industry.

Lt. Thos. J. Stilbert Is Missing In Action

Second Lt. Thomas J. Stilbert, jr., has been missing since May 8 on an air raid over Germany, Mrs. Stilbert, formerly Miss Earlaine Moore of Lubbock, has been informed by the War department. He, graduate of the Aug. 30, 1943, class at Lubbock Army Air field, was first pilot of a B-24 Liberator bomber and is presumed to have been on his eighth bombing mission deep inside Germany. Formerly of Syracuse, N. Y., the pilot and Miss Moore were married in December. She lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Moore, at 2221 Sixteenth street.

Senator Truman Urges Re-Election Of FDR

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 27 (U.P.)—Sen. Harry S. Truman, (D., Mo.), last night called for re-election of President Roosevelt to "keep this nation in tried and proved hands," and denounced critics who contend the administration has endangered free enterprise and private initiative.

Truman, speaking at the Connecticut Democratic convention, said the nation "never again will permit the ruthless exploitation of the many for the benefit of the few."

"There has been no change in the form of our government," he said. "There has been no jettisoning of our Constitution, there has been no sacrifice of our right to be governed by public servants of our own choosing."

Asbury Church's Dedication Today

Dedication ceremonies will be held at Asbury Methodist church, Avenue T and Twentieth street, this morning at 10:30 o'clock with Bishop Ivan Lee Holt of Dallas preaching the dedicatory sermon. Dr. C. A. Bickley is pastor of the church.

Asbury church was organized in June 1925 and was first called Nineteenth street Methodist church, being located at that time on that street. There were 31 charter members, 13 of whom are still in the church.

Has Rapid Growth

The first pastor of the church was Rev. W. W. Edgar. Because of the rapid growth of the church more equipment was needed and it was decided to move the church to its present location. Dr. Bickley said this has proven to be an ideal location. In February of 1929 the cornerstone of the brick building was laid and later the educational building was erected.

About two years ago the auditorium was enlarged and several Sunday school rooms were added.

Since November of last year 141 new members have been added to the church roll.

Present officials of the church are: B. L. Williamson, chairman of the Board of Stewards; E. D. Smallin, church school superintendent; Mrs. J. H. Williamson, president of the WSCS; Mrs. B. M. Keese, president of the Wesleyan Service guild; S. M. Hunter, chairman of the board of Christian education; Miss Dorothy Doose, president of the Youth fellowship; A. D. Leonard, choir director; and Mrs. C. E. Reynolds, pianist.

ABERNATHY CHURCH TO BE DEDICATED TODAY

Bishop Ivan Lee Holt of Dallas will dedicate the Abernathy Methodist church this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The building was completed during the pastorate of Rev. Frank N. Beauchamp who is now in his third year as pastor.

Others to take part in the dedicatory service will be W. C. Hines, district superintendent of the Plainview district, and Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, Lubbock district superintendent. The church property is valued at $22,000.

Presbyterians May Not Join Council

CHICAGO, May 27 (AP) — The general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America was on record today as opposing Presbyterian membership in the federal council of churches unless the council bars denominations which do not affirm the deity of Christ.

Church officials said the action was taken because sects which did not recognize the divinity of Christ had sought membership in the council.

Glass container production in the United States has been increased from 60 million gross to 90 million gross since the war started.

St. John's Church To Be Dedicated In Services Tonight

St. John's Methodist church, Fourteenth street and Avenue X, which was established four years ago will be dedicated at 8 o'clock tonight by Bishop Ivan Lee Holt of Dallas.

The church has grown rapidly since being founded four years ago during the pastorship of Rev. R. L. Kirk of Munday. It now has a membership of 700 and the church property is valued at $25,000, Alsie H. Carleton, pastor, said.

Rev. Kirk, Dr. O. P. Clark, who was district superintendent at the time the church was founded and is now pastor of the Stamford Methodist church, and Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, district superintendent, will take part in the dedicatory service.

Offertory, "Largo," will be a violin selection by Roger Hall who will be accompanied by Rayburn Jones. Lt. R. H. Chamberlain and Mrs. Carl Scoggin will be heard in a duet, "Hear, O Lord."

Church Notes

Rev. H. G. Gantz, pastor of hte First Christian church, will teach the Men's Downtown Bible class at its meeting this morning in the Lindsey theater. Rev. Gantz will take the place of Dr. Carl E. Hereford, pastor of the First Baptist church, and regular teacher, who is on vacation. Misses Ina Bacon, Louise and Jean Anderson, of the First Methodist church, will provide special music. The class meets at 9:40 o'clock.

Marking the third consecutive week, "D-Day" prayers will continue this week each evening at 8 o'clock at the Tabernacle Baptist church. Conducting the invasion prayers is Rev. Hugh Adkisson, assistant to the pastor, who has extended an invitation to all to join with the congregation in praying for invasion success and the boys in the service. Prayers will continue indefinitely, he said.

Chaplain John W. Sloan of Lubbock Army Air field will be the guest minister in the pulpit of the Locust Street Chapel, North Second and Adams in the Arnett-Benson addition, tonight at 8 o'clock. He will include in his message a story for the children. This church is known as the "Community Church with the Chimes" located north of Texas Tech.

Joint Church School Is To Open Monday

Vacation church school conducted jointly by the St. John's Methodist church and the First Christian church will open Monday, and will continue through June 9th. Miss Ruth Towne, educational director of the First Christian church, will direct the school, assisted by teachers from both churches.

Classes will meet each morning from 9 until 11:30 o'clock.

Sessions of the beginners' department which includes four-year-olds to school age will be held in St. John's Methodist church. Sessions for primary and junior departments will be held in the First Christian church, 2323 Broadway.

All children from these churches have been urged to attend the school by Miss Towne, and she extended an invitation to all others to join the school.

Rev. Loesel Resigns Church Post To Take Teaching Position

Rev. W. G. Loesel, for the past eleven and one-half years pastor of the Redeemer Lutheran church, 1715 Nineteenth street, has resigned and will leave Monday for Seward, Neb., where he has accepted a position as professor of religion and social sciences at Concordia Teachers college.

Rev. Loesel also has been a member of the history faculty at Texas Technological college the past six years. He was a member of the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce and active in affairs of the organization until his duties as an instructor in the aircrew training work at the college took up most of his time a year and a half ago.

An active sports fan, Rev. Loesel also participated in softball, playing as a member of the Tech faculty team and last year served as president of the business and professional league. One of his hobbies is sports statistics and in the past six years he has kept them on the Red Raider football team for both newspapers and the coaching staff.

Besides serving the local church, Rev. Loesel was pastor of the St Paul's Lutheran church at Wilson and St. John's Lutheran church at Sparenburg the past year. He is a visitor of the Panhandle district and a member of the publicity committee of the Texas district of the church.

Mrs. Loesel and their four-year-old son, Walter, will accompany him to Nebraska.

SPEARS BURNS

REVIVAL OPENS TODAY— Leon C. Burns, above right, of Columbia, Tenn., will preach in an 11-day spring revival opening this morning at the Broadway Church of Christ, Broadway and Avenue N. Ross O. Spears, above left, of Dyersburg, Tenn., will direct congregational singing. Services will be conducted at 10 a. m. and 8 p. m. daily through June 7. Mr. Burns studied at David Lipscomb college, Abilene Christian college and Vanderbilt university. Mr. Spears has served as director of music at Freed-Hardeman college, Henderson, Tenn. Both men were in Lubbock two years ago for a similar event.

Enrollment Is 456 In Summer School

A 50 per cent increase over other years is shown in the Lubbock Senior and Junior High schools and elementary grade school summer enrollment with a total of 456 registered, Floyd Honey, director of the summer school, reported Saturday.

The largest summer school enrollment in the history of the school is attributed to the fact that boys nearing military age want to get in as much school work as possible before being inducted, Honey said. Registrants are from Lubbock and surrounding towns and even as far as Hobbs, N. M.

The director pointed out that Monday is the last day students can register for credit and they must attend classes that day. Any accepted after that date will be for review work only.

The enrollment shows 281 in senior high school, 91 in junior high and 84 in the elementary grades.

The Coast Guard has fought in every war since the United States was founded, with the exception of the war against Tripoli.

Conference To Open Monday

Denominational leaders from three states are expected to begin arriving in Lubbock today for the opening sessions Monday of the three-day conference of Texico district of the Pentacostal church to which the local church, 410 Avenue U, will be host.

Rev. Ted Houlette, the host pastor, said that the daytime sessions will be devoted largely to conference business. However, he extended a cordial invitation to everyone to attend the night services, at which the sermons will be delivered by some of the outstanding leaders of the church. These services will start at 8 o'clock each night.

Delegates From Three States

In addition to laymen and pastors from Pentacostal churches in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma, delegates to the conference are expected to include Rev. Howard A. Goss of Houston, general superintendent of the church and for 19 years pastor in Toronto, Canada; Rev. Harry Branding of St. Louis, general secretary; and Rev. A. O. Moore of Houston, general missionary secretary, who has traveled extensively in the Far East in the interest of missionary work.

Also expected are the members of the district board of presbyters and the secretary, who are Rev. C. H. Yadon of El Paso; M. D. Abbott of Roswell, N. M.; E. E. Houlette of Friona; and Dale B. Struble of Albuquerque, N. M.

Out-of-town registration for the conference is expected to approximate 100, Mr. Houlette said. He announced that meals will be served in the Salvation Army hall, 1120 Seventeenth street.

Roosevelt May Make Another Trip Abroad

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—President Roosevelt is believed to be counting on another trip abroad, to meet Prime Minister Churchill and other Allied leaders and to get a closer look at the war.

Friday, at a news conference, he said he might see Mr. Churchill in the late spring, or summer, or possibly in the fall. Indications that the chief executive would make the trip rather than the prime minister, were strengthened by his reply to a question on whether he might see the British leader in the winter. The President observed that he didn't like stormy weather.

Several current factors have suggested that the President might want to make the trip, one being the fourthcoming visit of General Charles de Gaulle to London for conferences with Mr. Churchill. Advisers doubt that this would be enough to bring on the Churchill-Roosevelt conference but Mr. Roosevelt is believed to want a closer look at the war.

He observed during his news conference yesterday that the Allies are much farther ahead with their plans for a smash into Europe this time than they were at the same time in the First World war. And he expressed the opinion that the term "invasion" is not as fitting as it might be. He suggested "liberation." This term, he said, involves more than the mere military operations and includes postwar planning.

ENSIGN KILLED

GLENVIEW, Ill., May 27. (U.P.)—Officers of the Glenview Naval Air station announced that Ens. Milton C. Pickens, 20, Houston, was killed late yesterday in the crash of his service type plane.

There are 2,796 languages spoken in the world, according to the computation of officers of the French academy.

E. E. Ireland Issues Formal Statement On Precinct Candidacy

E. E. Ireland Saturday issued the following statement on his candidacy for county commissioner of precinct 4:

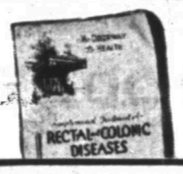

"My name is E. E. Ireland, known to my friends as Beefy. After more than 20 years on my farm in precinct 4, Lubbock county, I have decided to leave the heavier duties of farming to my son who now lives on this farm. My only other son, the youngest child, has been in the service more than two years.

"Many of the Ireland family have been holders of public office from the days of the late governor Ireland even down to my twin brother, Edgar Ireland of Hereford, all of whom served with credit and distinction as is attested by their constituencies. I have never asked for office until now, but I believe that I can be of service, both to my precinct and to the county. If elected I will be commissioner to all of you alike.

"As a further contribution to the war effort I feel that I should not make a house to house canvass of the precinct. I have a good car, but shall need it in attending to the duties of commissioner if elected. As a farmer I must go to Lubbock often like the rest of you. I shall try to meet you there, but if I miss any of you be sure to stop and have a cold drink of water with me at my little home across the railroad track from the highway three miles southeast of Shallowater.

"I sincerely appreciate your expressions of confidence and esteem."

GI Design Has To Be Remodeled For Betty Hutton

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, May 27.—Exclusively Yours: The film censor ban on sweaters can cause interesting complications. Take, for instance, Betty Hutton. Betty, wearing sweater and slacks, was having wardrobe fittings of the costumes she'll wear in "Here Come the WAVES." A cameraman was present to show the difference between La Hutton in a sweater and in uniform. There was no difficulty about Betty's sweater, but when she donned the WAVE uniform it was immediately apparent that no censor would pass the pictures. Studio stylist Edith Head did a quick re-modeling job of the GI design to keep Mr. Hays happy.

Navy Recruiting For Boys, 17 Over Top . .

In announcing the names of five boys, including three from Lubbock, in the 17-year age group who had enlisted last week in the Navy, John C. Oldham, petty officer 1/c, of the Navy recruiting office here announced Saturday the quota for the month of May had been filled and no more boys of that group can be sworn in until June 1. However, he added, applications will be taken prior to that time and these will be placed on the waiting list.

Oldham pointed out that boys desiring to enlist in the Navy should make application during the first few days of June in order to be sworn in during the month.

Those enlisting in the Navy last week were: Marion F. Holden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank V. Holden of 1918 Dixie Drive; Alvis T. Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Ford of 208 Avenue H; Clyde Nevill, son of Dr. and Mrs. O. Clyde Nevill of 2104 Twenty-sixth street, all of Lubbock; George O. Wein, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wein and James R. Garrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Garrison, both of Monahans.

Dale Evans, Former Fort Worth Girl, Is Westerns Star Now

HOLLYWOOD, May 27.—Dale Evans' debut on a horse as a celluloid sagebrush queen was disastrous. Her teeth flew out of her mouth and the horse stepped on them. But since then everything has been going along nicely, thank you.

DALE EVANS

For the sake of the record, Dale is one of the prettiest young gals who ever jerked her thumb at a Hollywood posse and said, "They went thataway."

Half the screen glamour girls we know wear caps on their teeth. That's what catapulted out of Dale's mouth the first time she rode a horse in front of a movie camera — a $300 set of nice porcelain caps for her lower three front teeth. And darned if the horse didn't ignore her yells.

New Western Queen

A dentist has since fixed up Dale with a set of non-flying caps, designed for hoss operas, seeing as how she is Republic studio's new western queen around except in bar room brawl scenes.

But after appearing in three sagas of the sagebrush, Dale admits she still can't ride a horse without going "slap, slap" in the saddle. "Some day," she said, "all of my teeth are going to fly out. And I'm not kidding."

Dale didn't get mixed up in hoss operas because she could ride a horse, even if she does hail from Texas. They drafted her as cowboy star Roy Rogers' leading lady because she could sing.

Pappy Was Worried

The Rogers - Evans warbling combination was an immediate hit. Especially for Pappy Evans back in Fort Worth, Tex. Pappy was worried when his little girl went to Hollywood. His last words to her when she boarded the train, were:

"I hope you don't have to kiss those birds out there."

As Roy Rogers' feminine co-star, however, Dale never gets kissed. It's against the code of the celluloid west. Kissin', to juvenile audiences, is sissy stuff.

Pappy Didn't Like It

"But Pappy," Dale said, "has never stopped worrying."

In the picture "In Old Oklahoma" Dale played a western dance hall queen, revealing a healthy expanse of silk-coated leg. "Pappy wrote me a letter about that," she said. "He didn't like it at all."

Until a few years ago, Dale Evans was a stenographer in a Fort Worth life insurance office. That was her first job after leaving school and Uvalde.

A Boost From The Boss

One day she was singing in the office. Her boss came in but instead of firing her on the spot he gave her a singing job on the company's local radio program. She was a big hit. The next step took her to the Chez Paree in Chicago where an agent heard her and arranged a screen test and a contract with 20th Century-Fox. She never saw a film camera, though, until Fox dropped her option and she went to work singing on the Edgar Bergen radio show.

Dale has been back to Fort Worth only once since then. And that trip she will never forget.

Fell Flat Again

The people she had known there welcomed her back with a party at the Adolphus hotel in neighboring Dallas. An ice show was playing in the hotel's supper room at the time and the regular dance floor was frozen over.

"Well, when I got up to take a bow, dripping with orchids, I forgot all about the ice," Dale said. "I walked out on my four-inch heels, slipped on the ice and fell flat on my face."

When Roy Rogers heard about it, back in Hollywood, he sent her a telegram reading: "It could have been worse, darling. At least you didn't lose your teeth."

News From The Boys Serving In The Armed Forces Of Uncle Sam

Newman W. Bartley, seaman 1/c, 19, of the Coast Guard is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Bartley of North Avenue H in Lubbock. He has been in the service since July, 1942 and has had 14 months of sea duty, making five trips to battlefronts in the Mediterranean area. He made two trips to Sicily, one each to Tunisia, Salerno and Anzio, Italy. He was wounded in the left foot by shrapnel at Salerno and received the Purple Heart. When his ship pulled out of Salerno under heavy enemy artillery fire, the ship had to go between two mines. Bartley said the mines were so close to the ship he didn't believe it was possible for the ship to go between them without setting them off. He was in 72 air raids, he said. He will receive the Silver Star as soon as he reaches his next station. He is to report about the middle of June to the Houston Port of Embarkation. Barkley entered the service in Wichita Falls where his parents lived at the time. His parents moved recently to Lubbock. He received his education in the Burkburnet and Wichita Falls schools.

BARTLEY

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gamel, 2404 Twenty-sixth street, have received word from the International Red Cross that several members of the crew of the U. S. submarine Sculpin, on which their son, Ensign Worth Gamel, was assistant engineer, had been located at a Jap prison camp somewhere in the Pacific. The notification said Ensign Gamel's name was not listed but it is possible that he could have been held elsewhere. Ensign Gamel was reported missing in action last Jan. 14 along with the Sculpin and its crew. Mr. and Mrs. Gamel also recently received a copy of a citation awarded their son for his heroism in action against the enemy in the Pacific.

Ensign Geo. L. Hay, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo S. Hay, 3418 Twenty-second street, is now stationed at Camp Bradford, Va., where he is assigned to a LST. Ensign Hay, had studied two years at Texas Tech as an industrial engineer, when he enlisted in the Navy V-12 program early in 1943. He received his V-12 training at the University of Oklahoma, Norman and later attended Navy Midshipmen's school at the University of Notre Dame. After completing his training at Notre Dame, he attended a general Navy service school at Cornell university, Ithica, N. Y. from where he graduated the latter part of April. He was detached to the Amphibious training base at Camp Bradford for brief specialized training and subsequent assignment to the LST.

HAY

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY, Italy—Private Oliver P. Slade, son of Mrs. Mary Emma Slade of Post, Texas, has been promoted to staff sergeant. He is a transportation sergeant with an infantry unit of the Fifth Army in Italy.

Sec. Lt. George Glenn Andrews, 22, son of R. H. Andrew of Lubbock, recently completed his training at Davis - Monthan field, Tucson, Ariz., as a co-pilot of a B-24 Liberator crew and soon will go overseas to a combat area to do his part in defeating the enemy. Lt. Andrew, a graduate of Lubbock High school, entered the service in June, 1942. He and his crew mates have had thorough instruction in aerial tactics used in the present war, such as simulated bombing raids, navigation missions, formation flying and aerial gunnery operations.

ANDREW

TO GRADUATE AS OFFICER—Cadet William C. Jones, above, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde C. Jones, 1814 Avenue J, will graduate from the United States Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., with 474 other cadets from the 48 other states and Alaska, 31 of whom are from Texas. Cadet Jones, a graduate of Lubbock High school, was appointed to the academy by Cong. Geo. Mahon. His first class year in the academy, he was made a cadet sergeant. When he graduates he will be commissioned in the Cavalry. Young Jones is a former carrier boy for the Avalanche-Journal. Mr. and Mrs. Jones are to leave here this week to attend the graduation ceremonies.

SPEAR

SMITH

Cpl Vernon C. Spear, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess C. Spear, route 5, Lubbock; and Pfc. Willie L. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie J. Smith, route one, Spur, were among members of a large class of aerial gunners to graduate recently from the Harlingen Army Air field's flexible gunnery school and received a pair of silver gunner's wings and a promotion in grade. Their graduation marked completion of a comprehensive seven-weeks course in every phase of aerial gunnery warfare and prepared them for important roles in America's stepped-up aerial offensive.

Mack Blair, seaman, second class, U. S. Navy, is now in Naval training school at the Naval Training station at San Diego, Calif. Seaman Blair, who has resided in Lubbock county the past 18 years, eight of which have been in Lubbock, was inducted into the Navy last Feb. 16. He received his boot camp training at San Diego and was assigned to the specialist school. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Blair, route 6, Lubbock. His wife and five-year-old son reside at 2407 Twenty-sixth street.

BLAIR

Second Lieutenant Clinton Thomas Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O. Ferguson of Ralls route 1, was one of several hundred aerial navigators for the bomber fleets of the U. S. Army Air Forces who graduated recently at the huge AAF navigation training base at San Marcos. He is now ready for assignment to combat air crews.

FERGUSON

Mrs. T. D. Simpson received word recently that her husband, Thomas D. Simpson, Seaman 2/c, has been assigned to duty aboard ship. She has not heard from him in more than two weeks. Simpson enlisted in the Navy at Lubbock, Jan. 31, 1944, and received his boot training at San Diego, Calif., where Mrs. Simpson and their 18-months-old daughter visited him. He was later transferred to San Francisco. In civilian life Simpson was inspector at Lubbock Army Air field. He and his family formerly lived at 1310 Thirty-second street. He graduated from Lorenzo High school in 1939. Mrs. Simpson and their daughter are living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Calvert, in Tokio while her husband is overseas.

Pvt. Jack L. Tongate of Meadow recently scored "expert" on the rifle, making one of the highest scores in his company at the Armored Replacement Training center at Fort Knox, Ky., the public relations office there has announced. Pvt. Tongate, 29, was inducted into the Army here on last Feb. 28. His wife, Mrs. Naomi J. Tongate is residing at Meadow while her husband is in service.

TONGATE

Pfc. Henry E. Clark of Lubbock is a member of the soldier mail clerk staff of the Ninth Base postoffice, Allied Force headquarters, Mediterranean theater, which has handled approximately 25,000,000 letters during one year of overseas operation. Pfc. Clark is a former employe of the Lubbock postoffice. His wife Ozie L. Clark, is a member of the Women's Army corps.

EUROPEAN THEATER OF OPERATIONS—Pvt. Trammel L. Cauthen, husband of Mrs. Charlotte E. Cauthen of 1712 Ave. X, Lubbock, has been promoted here from the rank of private to private first class. Pfc. Cauthen is now a member of the U. S. Armed Forces in Europe.

A 15TH AAF LIBERATOR BASE, Italy—T/Sgt. Joe McCaskill, 1708 Sixteenth street, Lubbock, Tex., engineer-gunner, has received the Air Medal at a special ceremony at this A. A. AAF B-24 Liberator base in Italy. The award was presented by Col. Robert E. L. Eaton of Belleville, Ill., commander of the bombardment group. Sgt. McCaskill received the Air Medal "for meritorious achievement in aerial flight while participating in sustained operational activities against the enemy." He came to Italy in January of this year, and since then has participated in flights throughout the Mediterranean theater. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. McCaskill of 1708 Sixteenth street in Lubbock, Sgt. McCaskill worked as a sheet metal worker at Lubbock. He is a graduate of Lubbock Senior High school and received his army training at the Lubbock Engineering school and at the Laredo Gunnery school. Sgt. McCaskill has been in service two years. Before going overseas he was stationed at Lubbock Army Air field; Laredo, Salt Lake City, Boise, Idaho; Wendover, Utah, and Geneva Air Base, Lincoln, Neb. He had other members of his crew had completed half of their missions in April. He was wounded in action over Germany on Feb. 25, but recovered and returned to combat. In a recent letter to his parents, he told of a ten-day leave spent on the Isle of Capri in which he described the island and visits he and his companions made to various places of interest. "Soft beds with real sheets" and "steaks as big as your plate" seem to be the best part of the leave, however.

McCASKILL

John L. Green, whose family resides at Dickens, is now an integral member of the Amphibious Forces of the U. S. Navy. At the completion of his preliminary LST training at the Amphibious Training base, Camp Bradford, Norfolk, Virginia, Green was assigned to the crew of an LST for active duty. The LST is especially constructed for the transporting of troops and heavy equipment.

KNOCKS NAZIS OUT—West Texan 2nd. Lt. Hershel L. (Rocky) Hill from Seagraves stands beside his trusty P-51 Mustang "Texas Breeze" at an Eighth AAF Fighter station in England. Lt. Hill is a member of a high-scoring, long-range, bomber escorting group which knocked 75 German aircraft out of the sky in one month of air fighting. The Texan is considered one of the best wingmen, who were praised for their teamwork in protecting the flying leaders in chalking up the score against Hitler.

VERNON D.

R. L.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Fielding, route one, Slaton, have two sons in service and one of them is visiting here on an emergency furlough due to the recent death of a brother-in-law. He is Cpl. Vernon D. Fielding, 24, who is in the Army Air Corps at Pocatello, Idaho. He will remain here until June 5. A graduate of New Deal High school, Cpl. Fielding was engaged in farming until his enlistment in August, 1942. He first trained at Sheppard field and later was transferred to Salt Lake City, Utah. From there he was sent to Pocatello. He is an airplane mechanic. Lt. R. L. Fielding, 29, the other son, is an Army transport plane pilot, in England. He was stationed at 21 different fields in the States and has been overseas since last March.

Recently in Lubbock on a furlough was Seaman 1/c L. W. Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hamilton of 2713 Ruby street, Lubbock, who is now stationed at Port Everglades, Fla. Seaman Hamilton received his "boot camp" training at St. Augustine, Fla., after enlisting in the Marines July 13, 1943. Following training at Cedar Keys, Fla., he saw duty on a ship four months. He was later sent to Port Everglades, where he has returned after his furlough here. He is a graduate of Lubbock High school.

HAMILTON

WITH THE 13TH AAF IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC—by direction of the President, the Air Medal was awarded on April 23, 1944, by Lt. Gen. Millard F. Harmon, commanding U. S. Army forces in the South Pacific area, to 2nd Lt. Jack D. Tippit, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Tippit, 1705 Avenue T, Lubbock, Tex., as co-pilot from Jan. 8 to March 19, 1944.

Otis McWhorter, jr., Seaman 1/c USN, has returned to his station after visiting his mother, Mrs. Grace Hamilton, 2223 Twenty-seventh street., McWhorter is stationed aboard an aircraft carrier and recently returned to the states after a long cruise. Before joining the Navy, in April, 1943, he was employed by a local variety store.

McWHORTER

In Lubbock on a fifteen-day furlough is Master Sergeant J. T. Jones, jr., husband of the former Juanita Meyers of Lubbock route 2. In service for over three years, Sgt. Jones is now stationed at the Kingman Army Air field, Kingmn, Ariz. He is a graduate of Frenship High school.

JONES

Mrs. Nellie Copeland, 1608 Avenue H, and Miss Bonnie Howard, left Thursday for Tucson, Ariz., where they will visit Mrs. Copeland's son, Cadet Malcolm Earrett, who is in training there.

With months of specialized training in Army Air Force Technical schools completed, Second Lieutenant Billie Crabtree, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Crabtree of Floydada, has arrived at Peterson field, Colorado Springs, Colo. for assignment to the combat crew training school as bombardier. With others manning a Liberator bomber, he will, for several months, undergo final training before leaving for one of the theaters of war.

CRABTREE

Marion F. Gosdin, Chief Boatswain's Mate (C.B.M.) of the United States Navy has returned to his station at Norfolk, Va., after a ten-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Gosdin, 714 Avenue M. His wife and baby, Mary Frances, 20-months-old, came with him and are remaining for a longer visit. Chief Gosdin was practically reared in Lubbock, graduating from Lubbock High school in the class of 1938. He volunteered for the Navy in June, 1938 and was called to service Jan. 15, 1939, taking his boot training at the Norfolk Naval Base. He was at sea for 2½ years at the Norfolk Station.

Pvt. G. R. Gilson, 17, son of Guy R. Gilson, 511 Avenue F, who enlisted in the U. S. Marines, November 10, 1943, is marking time in San Diego, Calif., until he reaches his 18th birthday on June 23 so that he may go overseas. Pvt. Gilson completed his boot camp training and his unit has already gone overseas but he had to stay behind until he became of age. He attended Lubbock schools and was employed by the Lubbock Parts company prior to going into service. He has two brothers, Cpl. Elton Gilson, with the Marines somewhere in the Pacific and Pvt. Harold Gilson, who is in the Air Corps stationed at Alexandria, La.

G. R. GILSON

GREAT LAKES, Ill. — James Mitchell Stokes, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Stokes of Littlefield, Tex., and George Benjamin Oglesby, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Oglesby of 320 Vernon Avenue, Lubbock, Tex., were commissioned Ensigns in the U. S. Naval reserve when they graduated recently from the Naval Training school for midshipmen at Abbott Hall, Northwestern university, Chicago, Ill. The three-month course they completed consisted of navigation, seamanship and gunnery. The newly commissioned Ensigns will now see action with the fleet as deck officers. Ensign Stokes attended Texas Technological college.

Pfc. J. C. Reynolds has completed a special course in security training, hygiene, recreation and related subjects in a control depot of the Air Service Command in England, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Reynolds, of Morton. His next assignment, they were informed, will be an airfield. Reynolds was associated with his father in the operation of a service station at Morton before entering the Army nearly two years ago.

REYNOLDS

AN VIII AIR FORCE SERVICE COMMAND, England — An administrative inspector at this strategic air depot where battle-damaged Eighth Air Force fighters are made to fly again in the aerial Battle of Germany, Captain John E. Speer, Lubbock, Texas, is responsible for seeing that administrative procedures follow the methods outlined in army regulations. He is the son of Mrs. Clara M. Speer, of Flomot, Texas. Capt. Speer also is commanding officer of a depot supply squadron which issues aircraft equipment needed to keep Mustangs, Lightnings, and Thunderbolts airworthy for combat over occupied Europe. Additional duties of this versatile officer are those of station auditor, board of property adjustment officer, post exchange council president and assistant deputy supply officer. Capt. Speer's wife, the former Mildred J. Crabtree, resides at 2405 Twenty-seventh street, Lubbock. He is a member of the Lubbock First Baptist church and the Optimists club. Before entering service as a first lieutenant in 1941, he was manager of the Lubbock Office of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York. He is a graduate of Texas Technological college at Lubbock, class of 1931, and returned for his master's degree in education in 1937. Capt. Speer, who was born on the famous Matador Ranch, entered service in November, 1941, as a first lieutenant in the air corps, and served as a signal officer of army flying schools at Lubbock, South Plains, Houston and Eagle Pass before coming to England in December, 1943.

SPEER

HEADQUARTERS, European Theater of Operations, U. S. Army —Sgt. Randolph C. Robertson, 27, of Lubbock route 4, is now a member of an Ordnance heavy maintenance company stationed at a general depot in England. The unit does repair of invasion machines ranging from a one-quarter horse-power motor to a 40-ton tractor for tank evacuation. Vehicles that cannot be repaired by their drivers are sent on to the company, which replaces parts and unit assemblies, and can completely overhaul the vehicles.

GULFPORT ARMY AIR FIELD, Gulfport, Miss.—Cpl. Woodie H. Tudor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Tudor, 1402 Ave. U, Lubbock, Texas, has reported at this Third Air Force bomber base for an intensive training course as a waist gunner on a B-17 Flying Fortress. Selected for this important assignment after stringent examinations, Cpl. Tudor will be a member of a ten-man crew who will live and work together under simulated battle conditions. Upon completion of training, the crew will be ready for duty on the fighting fronts. Prior to becoming a member of the armed forces, at Lubbock, Texas, in April, 1943, Cpl. Tudor was employed by the H. F. Eubanks Works of Lubbock.

M. T. Allen, carpenter's mate 2nd, has been in service with the Seabees 13 months, the last seven months of which were overseas. His first foreign station was in Ireland, now he is in England. The 25-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Allen of Idalou received his present rating in March. He trained at Camp Peary, Va., and Camp Endicott, R. I. He was graduated from Idalou High school in 1937, and worked for a construction company in California before induction. His wife, 20-months-old daughter and month-old son he has not seen live at Idalou. The son's birth was learned first by another Idalou man in service stationed in England, Pvt. Roy V. Peeples, son of Mrs. P. L. Peeples. Pvt. Peeples' mail arrived more quickly than Allen's.

ALLEN

SAN ANTONIO AVIATION CADET CENTER — Among 149 Texans in the present preflight class in which future pilots, bombardiers and navigators are receiving preflight courses to prepare them for aerial instruction, are two Lubbock men. They are Delbert F. Alcorn, 26, whose wife resides at 1515 Twenty-ninth street, and Virgil M. Coffman, 21, 2707 Twenty-second street.

Ens. and Mrs. Ben Oglesby, jr., left recently for San Francisco, Calif., following a short visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Oglesby, sr., of 320 Vernon avenue. Ens. Oglesby was commissioned as an officer in the Navy on May 10 at Northwestern university midshipmens school in Chicago, Ill. He has been in training since July 1, 1943, at Kansas State Teachers college in Pittsburg, Kans., and Norfolk Navy yard, Portsmouth, Va. He is a former student of Texas Tech, graduating in 1943. Mrs. Oglesby is the former Miss Elizabeth Young, also a graduate of Tech with the class of '43.

OGLESBY

AN EIGHTH AAF PHOTO GROUP, England—Private Coll L. Wilson is one of the highly trained air force men who have the satisfaction of knowing they contribute considerably to the destruction of important targets in Nazi-controlled Europe. The 25-year-old Jayton, Texas, soldier is an aircraft mechanic and assistant crew chief for a photographic squadron at this aerial reconnaissance station in England. As such it is his job to keep speedy Lockheed P-38 "Lightnings" in tip-top mechanical condition so they will not fail their daring photo pilots on lone, unarmed photographic missions over enemy territory. The pictures these pilots, these modern "Mata Haris," take of enemy military, maritime and industrial activities provide the vital information that sends the big formations of Allied bombers across the channel with their cargoes of powerful explosives. The photo pilots and their $3,000 cameras ferret out many of Hitler's most zealously guarded secrets with glass eyes that see all and forget nothing. Pvt. Wilson is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Wilson, route 2, Jayton, and prior to entering the Army June 13, 1941, was employed as an automobile mechanic by Kirk Brothers garage at Lubbock, Texas. He attended Peacock High school and played two years of varsity basketball. A brother, Raymond A. Wilson, is a member of a tank destroyer battalion stationed at Camp Hood, Texas.

WILSON

ALLIED FORCE HEADQUARTERS, Mediterranean Theater — Pvt. J. V. Johnson, 28, Lubbock, Tex., is a member of an anti-aircraft artillery battalion that is helping to defend the coastline of North Africa against Nazi raiders.

KEARNS, Utah—Pvt. Joe B. Markham, 19 of Sudan, Texas is now stationed at this Overseas Replacement Depot, it is announced by the public relations office. The son of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Markham of Sudan has been in the Army Air Forces since Sept. 20, 1943. His wife is Mrs. Joe B. Markham, Amherst, Texas.

Let's Take Stock Of The Invasion Possibilities; Nelson Bucks Selfish Aides

Let's Not Expect Too Much

It's Better To Face All Facts

THEIR native common sense should be enough to awaken all Americans to the magnitude and uncertainties of any such undertaking as the invasion of Fortress Europe. Perhaps most of them are fully awake on this score.

However, some observers have been frankly fearful that the approach of zero hour for the invasion finds too many home-front Americans in a state of mind which will expect too much too soon. These observers fear that Americans are inclined to regard the invasion not merely with confidence, but with an over-confidence which factual conditions will not entirely support.

Whether these observers are correct, we do not pretend to know. If any such state of mind is widespread, it is unfortunate—it might be tragic. We do not believe it is widespread. We believe that most Americans have awaited the zero hour with a solemn realism which has minimized the natural tendency to under-estimate the enormity of the job ahead.

The apparent facts on the eve of the invasion have justified the confidence which unquestionably does exist in all the Allied nations. No one could have any reason or desire to discourage confidence which is soundly based. At the sime time, confidence must not be allowed to blind anyone to dark possibilities. Although the Allies hope for and expect the best in the invasion, it is well for them to recognize that achievements may fall short of hopes and expectations. They must guard against such an excess of optimism that disappointment would result in despair.

It will be well to bear in mind, at the outset of the invasion, that thoroughness of preparations—and never have preparations been so thorough as for this invasion—are not necessarily a complete guarantee of success. History abounds with the proof of this statement. Xerxes' assault upon Greece, Napoleon's invasion of Russia and the Spanish Armada are three instances that come quickly to mind. Each was a military venture of gigantic proportions. Each was years in the preparation. Each ended in disaster.

• • •

LET'S remember, too, that the Nazis may be as well prepared for the defense of Fortress Europe as the Allies are for the attack. The enemy probably will be able to put as many men, if not more, at the scene of any action as the Allies. Nor is any supposition justified that the enemy will be lacking in equipment so far as this particular invasion is concerned. The fact cannot be shunned that, at the crucial outset at least, the defending Nazis may be able to match the attacking Allies man for man and almost weapon for weapon of most, it not all, kinds.

Therefore, it is entirely probable that a lapse of time—of bloody, costly time—will be necessary before the overwhelmingly superior manpower and materials the Allies will have in reserve can be translated into results upon the fields of battle.

Therefore, it is no more than common sense foresight to consider the possibility—and we emphasize the word "possibility"—that the invasion may fall short of expected and hoped for success, or that it might fail. If it should be a failure, what will the Allies do about it? Will they despair? Or will they have the strength and the courage to pick themselves up and try again?

• • •

NO one can answer these questions now—not even those who might have to answer then. People simply do not know what they themselves might do in such an emergency, unless and until they actually are faced with it. Our strictly personal opinion is that the United Nations would try again, and then again if necessary, until they achieve unconditional victory. But some weak-hearted among us might become receptive to the idea of a negotiated peace.

Let us emphasize once more that these various possibilities are mentioned, strictly, as possibilities. But, no matter how confident we may be, nor how well justified that confidence, unfortunate possibilities are something to think about, if for no other reason than as a safeguard against disappointment so shocking that we might give way to hopeless despair.

Certainly none of this means that anyone should give up hoping and expecting. Let's continue to hope for and expect the best. But let's be prepared if the worst is to be our fate in the invasion. At best, the worst would be a terrible dose. But, if we have prepared for the possibility, the worst would be infinitely less likely to prove fatal.

Yeh, but Who Keeps Him Alive?

Ernie Broadens His Acquaintance With Yank Fliers In England

There Are Plenty Of Texans Around!

By ERNIE PYLE
Special War Correspondent

A B-26 BASE In England (By Wireless) — Sgt. Walter Hassinger is from Hutchinson, Kas. He is 29, and in a way the most remarkable man at this station.

In the first place, he is a radio-gunner who has more missions under his belt than any other crew member here. And in the second place they say he has contributed more to satisfied living and general morale than anybody else.

ERNIE PYLE

What Hassinger did was this—he spent $400 of his own money creating a little private radio station and hooking it by loudspeakers into barracks all over the place, until finally his station is heard by 1,700 men.

Over this station he rebroadcasts news bulletins, repeats orders and instructions that come from headquarters, plays phonograph records, and carries on a spasmodic monologue razzing the officers and just gabbing about everything from the abominable weather to the latest guy who has wrecked a jeep.

Hair Testifies For Flier

Still another Kansan. This one is Lt. Frank Willms of Coffeyville. That's the home town of Walter Johnson, the famous pitcher. Lieutenant Willms says he has never met Walter but knows the rest of the Johnson family.

Lieutenant Willms isn't in the group I've been visiting, although he is a B-26 pilot. The reason I'm mentioning him is his hair. I met him one night at a party in London. His hair stands so startlingly straight up that you are struck suddenly rigid when you see it and you can't help but remark on it. And Lieutenant Willms' reply to my obvious puzzlement was this:

"On my first mission I was so scared it stood up like that, and I've never been able to get it to lie back down."

• • •

LT. JIM GRAY is from Wichita Falls, Texas, and he looks like a Texan — windburned and unsmooth. He's far over his allotted missions, and if it weren't for the coming invasion he would probably be on his way home by now.

Like every other Texan in the Air Forces—and it seems to be half Texans—he has to take a lot of razzing about his state. But he's proud of it, and always in plain sight under the end of his cot you can see a beautifuly scrolled pair of cowboy boots.

Lieutenant Gray is a firm believer in the flak vest.

In case you don't know, a flak vest is a sort of coat of mail, made up of little square of steel plating. It hangs from your shoulders and covers your chest and back.

One day a hunk of hot metal about the size of a walnut struck him right in the chest. He says it felt as if some giant had hit him with his fist. It bent the steel plating but didn't go through Without it he would have been a dead duck.

Sergeant Hanson, who flies with him, has taken the bent plate out and is keeping it as a souvenir. Lieutenant Gray keeps the hunk of shrapnel itself, with a little tag on it.

• • •

WANTS TO FLY IN TEXAS

The lieutenant is anxious to get home. Not so much because he is homesick but because he says, "I'd just like to fly in a little Texas weather for a change."

The weather over here is the fliers' biggest complaint. As you've heard, it's dark and cloudy and rainy most of the time. And the weather changes like lightning. They say that sometimes you can start to take off and the other end of the runway will close in before you get there. How these mighty air fleets ever operate at all is a modern miracle.

IN THIS area I ran into an old friend of mine. He's Texas too—Maj. Roy Rousel, who used to be managing editor of the Houston Press. He is about my age, and like me he is starting to feel decrepit. He's in the planning section of the bomber command, and he says it's worse than running a newspaper. The pressure of detail and the responsibility of mapping these complex missions for the whole command sometimes gets him mentally swamped. At such times he just gets up and walks out for half a day. Sometimes he goes flying, sometimes he plays golf.

"I played golf yesterday," he said, "and I'm sure I'm the only man in England who ever succeeded in playing 18 holes without even once. not one single time, being on the fairway."

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

YOU probably read that story about Warrant Officer La Buoy, who phoned his wife from somewhere in the South Pacific and asked to hear the voice of his first-born.

But Robert, jr., just a few months old, only smiled into the phone—he wouldn't even gurgle.

"Do something," pleaded the father.

The mother gave Robert a tiny, little wallop, whereupon the baby howled his indignation.

"Good,' exclaimed the elder La Buoy, and hung up the receiver, ready to fight the Japs some more.

• • •

Here was a fellow in the midst of death and danger. Yet, the thing uppermost in his mind was such a little, such an insignificant thing!

A baby's cry — thousands of miles away, and there was happiness.

And why?

Because that baby's cry is the epitome of what we are fighting for.

Somewhere in your life, somewhere in mine, there is something very small that may mean so very much to us.

• • •

IT'S different in everyone's life, but it is there.

And that little something may be like an anchor that keeps you from drifting.

That little something my be a lock of hair. It may be a baby's shoe. It may be a letter written many years ago, or it may be just a memory.

But around that little thing a whole life may have been built.

That ribbon, that letter, that memory may have determined the whole course of your career, it may have made you a success or a failure.

• • •

Wherever Warrant Officer La Buoy goes from now on, he will hear that new-born baby's yell.

That was his baby! That's what he got married for. That's what he wants to go back to. That's what he wants to bring up, to educate, to provide for.

That baby is his reflection, his future, his hope.

And because it is that way, we will win, and we will continue to be great.

• • •

BECAUSE we have things to live for and to fight for and to have and keep the peace for.

Our enemies who so worship material things will never be able to understand this American trait.

They will never understand how we can build 100-story skyscrapers and tractors and airplanes and how we can work and slave and suffer and grow—all for a baby's yell.

Monopolists Arouse His Ire

(The National Whirligig)

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

DONALD NELSON'S new and belligerent mood amazes his colleagues on the War Production Board, including his friends and enemies. After submitting to dictation from important magnates for years, the chairman has "taken charge of the party" with every sign that he intends to assert himself in the demobilization and reconversion of industry.

The former mail-order house boss has apparently discovered that certain WPB-ers representing semi-monopolistic enterprises plan to retain their favored position in the postwar era. It is no secret that certain steel, chemical, mineral and manufacturing advisers have used their influence to stifle and stave off prospective competitors.

He hinted quite openly that some of his associates hope to use the inside knowledge they have gained to improve the productive and marketing facilities of their own corporations. That was the reason behind his recent order that departing officials must not take with them any of his agency's confidential files.

His warning carried sweeping implications, provided that it was not promulgated too late. In making application for raw materials, large and small firms were required to reveal every detail of their operations. They had to disclose secrets of production, distribution, selling, supply sources etc. Obviously it would be to the advantage of rivals to have a permanent file on the conduct of opposition manufacturers, shippers, distributing agencies and their consumers.

In any event, Nelson's outspoken stand against these practices has created a furor within the WPB, the Army, Navy and Treasury Procurement bureaus.

• • •

CLASH: Nelson recently issued several licenses for the manufacture of potable alcohol from Oregon sawdust and New England potatoes. He was partially pushed into the move by the return of racketeering in the beverage business, the Treasury's fear of dwindling booze revenue and needing by senatorial investigators.

His action points toward a "liquor holiday" designed to placate voters who have become disgusted with conditions. But it also antagonizes John Barleycorn interests with influence in Washington and with the determination to block competitors using new products and ingredients.

Sears Roebuck has championed small business, too, in its attempt to shift over to output of essential household articles. During his hibernation, some of his key aides blocked large-scale production of goods for which there are sufficient raw materials and labor personnel. In recent directives, Nelson has increased the quota of gadgets which can be made without waiting for the end of the conflict.

The clash has several significant features. It may look toward the end of the honeymoon of the White House and ultra-coservative groups whose domination of emergency agencies since Pearl Harbor has irked New Deal liberals. For the chairman, whatever may be his inspiration, has directed his attack agaist the "economic royalists" known as dollar-a-year men.

He is also bucking the Army and Navy brass hats and their spokesmen within his own organization. In their zeal to build huge military stock piles they have frequently brushed his aside by appealing over his head to President Roosevelt.

• • •

CULPRIT: FDR cannot discuss the question frakly for obvious reasons, but close friends represent him as disillusioned by the results of his 10-year attempt to appease organized labor.

Phillip Murray's recent flaying of the National Labor Relations board may convince the White House that cordial relationships with any of the great unions is a human impossibility.

The President revised the personnel of the NLRB some time ago to satify the CIO, which felt that the agency was discriminating in favor of the American Federation of Labor. Murray's personal candidate for a place was Gerard Reilly, then solicitor of the Department of Labor. It was at the CIO president's behest that "Miss Frances" Perkins' young aide was named, and the unionists had every right to believe that they could influence him within certain limitations.

Ex-Rep. John Houston was also given an appointment, but he had the specific backing of the National Association of Manufacturers and the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. It was to be his assignment to look after their interests, which had been neglected utterly up to that time. When President Roosevelt had overhauled the board in this fashion, he figured there would be peace on this front for a while.

Now Murray delivers the first attack on the NLRB-ers yet to come from his direction, and he singles out as the culprit nobody but his erstwhile fair-haired boy—Reilly. Meanwhile, AFL President William Green is grumbling again, and Mr. Roosevelt is not on speaking terms with John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

FULLY as significant as the topics discussed in the open sessions of their recent meeting, are the offhand revelations of the visiting Latin American businessmen.

Delegates at the first conference of Commissions of Inter-American Development are now touring our industrial cities after a 10-day program in New York. Here are some of the touchy subjects brought up in tete-a-tetes:

If the military junta is still in the saddle in Buenos Aires after Hitler is defeated, our troubles will increase rather than diminish. Many of the officers now in the government were trained in Germany. They installed the Prussian system in their own country.

If Marshal von Rundstedt's men are thrashed by United States soldiers, all the principles of warfare which the Argentine High Command has accepted as gospel will be in disrepute. An Army of Teuton professionals will have been humbled by Yankee amateurs.

The shattering of its idol will make the Pampas goose-stepping clique exceedingly bitter toward Uncle Sam, for the cabal will be discredited in the eyes of its own people. Should the brass hats lose control, the friendship to the United States felt by the mass of Argentinans can be manifested and genuine good will flourish.

• • •

ALIENATED: Despite the current bad blood between Washington and Buenos Aires, New York bankers and exporters say that Nelson Rockefeller and his associates handled matters with skill.

In the past the "outs' in various dictator-ruled states below the Isthmus have always tried to maneuver us into pulling their chestnuts out of the fire. They have intrigued for us to butt into the internal affairs of their nations so they could ride to power on Uncle Sam's coat-tails.

But whenever we have mixed into their home politics, not only have we alienated the conservative elements but also the radicals who begged for support.

Our representatives made it clear that we have no intention of being a Meddlesome Mattie, an attitude which pleases the majority of the visitors, especially the Argentine group, which reciprocated by backing up our stand.

• • •

CRITICAL: Even though we go out of out way to banish suspicion, some of the Latins now on tour still cling to many of their old grievances.

Certain members of the Mexican delegation complain that United States corporations are ever ready to drain money from the pockets of people south of the border through concessions.

A point overlooked by our critical neighbors is this: The responsibility rests on their own doorsteps. If they elected officials who refused to make improper grants or to make deals with outsiders that are opposed to the public welfare, the causes for recrimiation would be automatically removed.

Our Curious World---By William Ferguson

ANSWER: Washington, D. C.

"The Apostle" Is Story Of Life Of St. Paul

Sholem Asch's Writing Is Book-Of-The-Month Dividend

ONE more indication of the present trend to religious novels comes with the selection of Sholem Asch's "The Apostle," a novel based on the life of St. Paul, as a dividened of the Book-of-the-Month club.

SHOLEM ASCH

This is the book which Pierre van Paassen recently called a "tour de force of the imagination perhaps unequalled in modern literature . . . an almost miraculous performance in itself over which is diffused a solemn and great beauty."

Saul of Tarsus, as the Apostle was first known, was by trade a weaver. On the road to Damascus, he saw a blinding vision, which converted him to Christianity. He wrote many of his great Epistles in a prison in Rome before he was beheaded as a heretic on the order of Nero. But he left his mark on the centuries to come. "He, more than any other," writes van Paassen, "must be considered the architect of that grandiose and divine cultural institution known as the Christian Church, which has molded the life and thought of half the civilized world."

Sholem Asch, who was born in Poland of poor parents and who obtained his American citizenship in 1920, has been recognized for some years as a master story-teller. His immensely popular "The Nazarene" was also a Book-of-the-Month club choice. Before that there was his famous trilogy, "Three Cities," and his play, "The God of Vengeance," played first in Berlin, then in Paris, London and New York, which aroused wide controversy because of its strong realism and which brought him international success.

FREAK TALES TOLD

ERNIE PYLE, in his book, "Ernie Pyle in England," says that he heard so many tales of freak bombings that he thought he could believe anything. Here's one however, that even he had to take with a grain of salt. A gentle lady of culture and means was sitting in front of a fireplace on the ground floor of her home one evening. Her housemaid, having finished her work, was sitting in her little attic bedroom on the fourth floor. A bomb came through the roof, plunged through four sucessive stories and exploded in the basement. When it was all over the gentle lady was sitting in her maid's attic rocking-chair and the maid was sitting downstairs in front of the fireplace. Both were unhurt, of course. And both quite unruffled.

LITERARY CHARM

"SPEAKING of Jane Austen" is the joint product of two well known British women: G. B. Stern and Sheila Kaye-Smith — two writers as dissimilar as could readily be found. It is based on one of the most extraordinary concepts imagineable, which is that Jane Austen's characters lived a life "so logical and so normal that it makes a nourishing antidote to our incomprehensible world of war." But the book has charm in a literary way, a kind of gentle irreverence at times, and a good deal to offer the many admirers of "Pride and Prejudice" and all the others. (Harpers).

MARRIED LIFE PITFALLS

THIS department dislikes self-help books, and therefore is probably unfair to such performances as Harold Sherman's "Your Key to Married Happiness." Perhaps there are people who need to read romanticized treatises on the pitfalls of married life, and if so, Mr. Sherman's book is their meat. Unrationed, too. (Putman).

HOME-FRONT SOLDIERING

SOMETHING different in the life of a serviceman is "1-B Soldier," by Private Joe Jones (Harper Bros.). Far from the shriek of shells, in surroundings where the wildest cacophony came from the kitchen, Private Jones recounts a year as a soldier on the home front. There are no heroics, but you'll find satisfying reading in the record of this twelvemonth. Jones is a good story-teller, and he presents a side of the war that hasn't been given its deserved attention.

The tank that can swim is known officially as the LVT (Landing Vehicle—Tracked), and to the men of the South Pacific as the "water buffalo."

When used as a fighter-bomber, the P-51 Mustang is capable of carrying a 1000-pound bomb.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

What kind of man [or woman] would take a job like this?

HERE IS a tough job. With long hours. No pay. And little thanks.

Yet many a man and many a woman is gladly giving up spare time to take it on.

The Victory Volunteer. Starting June 12 he'll knock on your door or stop at your desk or your machine, swallow once or twice, and ask you to buy extra Bonds during this Fifth War Loan.

Why does he take the time to do it? Certainly it would be more pleasant to be sitting at home, smoking a pipe, reading a paper, or tending the garden.

But this Victory Volunteer is burning inside. He feels the crisis. He knows that now is the high point. Now is the agony. Now is the last turn of the screw. Now is the time to buy the Bonds you can't afford. The count is 3 balls and 2 strikes. The time is now. Now. NOW!

So when the Victory Volunteer comes to you, welcome him. And buy double the amount of Bonds you bought last time! We've got to!

Will you Be A Victory Volunteer!

Many patriotic men and women have already signed up to act as Victory Volunteers but more are needed. As a Victory Volunteer, you will serve your country in one of the most important missions ever given to civilians in wartime. Spend an hour or two a day in your own neighborhood. The task is important — the rewards great, for you will have the satisfaction of helping America toward Victory. For full details go today to Chamber of Commerce, City Hall, Lubbock. No obligation, of course.

Lectures On Preparing Meat Slated At SPAAF

A series of lectures and demonstrations emphasizing various phases of handling and cooking meats, and designed for presentation at selected Army Air Forces stations throughout the country as a part of the government's conservation program, will be conducted at South Plains Army Air field Monday through Wednesday of this week.

Arranged by the Meat Utilization Division, Air Quartermaster, Headquarters Army Air Forces, the program is designed to present to Army mess personnel, some of the phases of the subject of meat and how this vital food may be utilized to its fullest extent.

The demonstrations will be conducted by D. R. Miller, meat specialist of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, an organization which represents all branches of the livestock growers and feeders, livestock marketing agencies, meat packers and retail meat dealers.

Miller will conduct four demonstrations during his three-day visit at SPAAF.

There are some 80,000 species of mollusks, including the familiar oyster and clam.

Japan's Outlying Defenses In Pacific Are Beaten Down

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Evidence increases that the Allies already have reduced Japan's outlying Pacific defenses to such a low state as to render her inner bulwarks highly vulnerable to the great offensive which certainly will come as soon as the Hitlerian war is over — and maybe sooner.

Secretary of the Navy Forrestal says our sea warfare has been so successful that Japan's outer Pacific defenses have been beaten down to the level of "a line of defense in name only." Eugene Burns Associated Press war correspondent who has just returned home form Pacific theatre, declares Nippon's defensive perimeter is so weak that our Navy could slice through it at will. As a matter of fact, Burns adds, the Japanese are "operating everywhere on a shoestring."

Philippines Invasion Seen

Eugene Burns expects an early invasion of the Philippines, from which we can attack the Japanese in China and on their own islands. There's support for this view in Gen. MacArthur's steady leap-frog advances along the New Guinea coast. Having captured strategic Wadke island the other day, he now shows signs of getting set for another hop to the Schouten islands, 200 miles further northwest. These afford air facilities — and the Philippines which the general has sworn to recapture are only 900 miles away.

Observers generally agree that the only impressive way Japan could dispute this progressive destruction of her outer defenses would be to bring her main fleet out for a showdown — something for which the American navy is praying. However, the Nipponese are holding their home fleet in reserve to defend the Mikado's native land.

When the day of decision comes they will give battle, they will be dangerous and, Burns believes, "will fight to the end."

IN BAPTIST REVIVAL—Dr. D. N. Jackson, above, of Laurel, Miss., editor and publisher of "The American Baptist" and pastor-evangelist on radio station WAML, is to preach in a revival and Bible school at the Central Baptist church which opens this morning and will continue through June 7. Dr. Jackson, however, will not be here until Tuesday. Bible lessons will be from 9:30 to 10:15 a. m. and 7:30 to 8:15 p. m. and preaching at 10:30 a. m. and 8:30 p. m. daily. The church is located at 1311 Eighteenth street. Dr. Jackson has conducted revivals previously here in 1936 and 1937.

Nazis Not To Protect Airmen Bailing Out

STOCKHOLM, May 27 (AP) — Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels writing in the Volkischer beobachter declared today that the Nazi government no longer would give Allied airmen bailing out over Germany police and military protection against wrathful civilians.

"Anglo-American terror fliers," he wrote, "in recent weeks, besides bombing at random residential quarters, have openly and directly without showing any respect for international war conventions, started an attack on the German civilian population, firing at them and murdering them cold-bloodedly."

"It is only possible to protect the life of an enemy pilot shot down after such an attack with the aid of armed force as they would otherwise be lynched by the affected population," Goebbels said, then added:

"It would be asking too much of us if we were expected to employ German soldiers to protect the murderers of children against parents seized by panic and rage."

The article did not say whether German civilians had attempted to attack British or American airmen forced to land in the Reich.

NERVOUSNESS

CASE HISTORY No. 906. Boy age 14, who had severe nervousness, difficult for him to walk or talk, loss of appetite and weight, severe twisting in all four extremities, but left arm and leg were worst than the right arm and leg, constipated. His parents brought him to me as a last resort. He began a course of adjustments and today his parents are thrilled at his condition after they had given up all hope of his recovery. Friends and family can hardly believe it; but, they observe his results and give Scientific Chiropractic credit.

NERVOUSNESS & BACKACHE

CASE HISTORY No. 920. Lady age 28, who was nervous, had backache, legs hurt, shoulders hurt, pains in kidney region, slight skin eruptions on face. She came to me as a last resort. Upon examining her I found that she had severe nerve pressure. She began a course of adjustments. All symptoms improved with almost complete recovery. One other member of her family is now under service.

Chiropractic recognized the fact that health is a natural and normal condition of the body; that it should be enjoyed by all. If this condition does not exist, it is because some part of the mechanism is prevented from performing its function, because of an obnormality of the nervous system. Chiropractic is based on the idea that nearly all disorders of the body are the direct result of an interference with the transmission of vital nerve force, from the brain to all parts of the body; that this interference is produced chiefly by pressure upon nerves caused by sublixated vertebrae. If there is sickness due to an interference with the transmission of this life force to some organ or part of the body, the cause of such conditions must be removed. Therefore, we may say definitely and positively that Chiropractic is the discovery of the cause of dis-ease.
