Unemployment Drops

WASHINGTON (AP)-The unemployment rate dropped from 6 percent to 5.8 percent in October, as more adult women succeeded in finding jobs, the Labor Department said today.

The report indicated the job situation was a bright spot in an economy plagued by rising interest rates and inflation all year. October's jobless rate was the lowest since a 5.7 percent rate last June.

Feds Fining ITT

WASHINGTON (AP)-The government is accusing International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. of paying millions of dollars in bribes abroad and is demanding fines of $100,000 a day until ITT surrenders subpoenaed documents.

The Securities and Exchange Commission complaint also asks the appointment of new directors to the firm's board and a special master to investigate the giant conglomerate.

The complaint - filed in May but unsealed only Thursday - charges the "illegal, improper, corrupt and questionable" payments went to foreign government officials and employees of commercial customers "to obtain business for ITT and to improperly influence governmental action."

Clements In Lawsuit

SAN DIEGO (AP)-A Dallas drilling firm headed by Texas Republican gubernatorial candidate William Clements has been named in a $42 million countersuit filed by an Iowa millionaire who claims he was swindled out of $16.9 million in a Persian Gulf oil deal.

A copyright story in today's San Diego Union said Iowa businessman Roy J. Carver's suit contends that in late 1975, acting on advice from an executive of Clements' SEDCO Inc. drilling firm, he paid a "commission" to Ali Jaidah, then oil minister of the Persian Gulf emirate of Qatar, for permission to drill for oil off the Quatar coast.

Carter Plan Aired

WASHINGTON (AP)-President Carter's top inflation fighters are going before Congress for the first time to answer questions about the administration's plan to control rising wages and prices.

The Senate Banking Committee, taking testimony after newly announced sharp increases in wholesale prices, arranged to hear today from Alfred Kahn, the man tapped by Carter to take command of the anti-inflation effort.

The upcoming general election reminded Walter Buckel of the Lamesa Press-Reporter of a tale told by Winston Churchill some years ago.

When asked what he considered the most essential qualifications for a politician, Churchill replied, "It's the ability to foretell what will happen tomorrow, next month, next year---and then to explain afterward why it did not come about."

Lynn Brisendine of the Brownfield News tells about a happening in an elementary school classroom.

"Now children," said the teacher, "There's a wonderful example in the life of an ant. Each day the ant works from sunrise to sunset. Every day the ant is busy. And in the end, what happens?"

Came a small voice from the back of the room, "Someone steps on him."

And Stephen Henry of the Levelland Sun-News has the story of a man who sought a $50,000 loan from his banker.

"That's a great deal of money," said the banker. "I will have to have a statement from you."

"Well sir," replied the fellow, "You may quote me as saying that I'm very optimistic."

Sounds like something out of the Beverly Hillbillies TV series.

After the school board at Post decided to spend $599,504 to remodel and expand the junior high building there recently, Jim Cornish of the Post Dispatch went to his files. He discovered that back in 1959, the school district there awarded a contract for construction of a new high school and vocational building for $336,207. That was over $100,000 under estimates, and the school then got a new gymnasium a few months later as a bonus. How times have changed!

Dollar Climbing, But Market Jittery

By JERRY ESTILL
Associated Press Writer

The value of the dollar climbed for the third straight day today in response to President Carter's effort to shore it up, but higher interest rates in his bolster-the-buck package caused jitters in the stock market.

At the same time, the government reported that U.S. unemployment edged downward in October.

In one of the few recent bright spots in the economy, the jobless rate dipped from 6 percent two months ago to 5.8 percent in October, the lowest point since June. The drop was attributed to more adult women finding jobs. Their unemployment was the lowest since August 1974, the Labor Department said.

Big increases in new jobs for all workers were spurred by strong activity in the airline, construction and services industries, the report said, and the total of Americans holding jobs increased by 325,000 to 95.2 million.

But some economists predict that the government's credit-tightening efforts to strengthen the dollar, which is succeeding dramatically on foreign exchange markets, will push unemployment back up next year.

The New York Stock Exchange turned down in early active trading today. The Dow Jones industrial average slid 3.9 points in the first half hour, continuing a declining trend Thursday, amid worries about the effects of higher interest rates.

But by 11 a.m., it had regained virtually all of its early loss and stood at 816.61, off only .35.

Two banks - Citibank in New York and the First Pennsylvania Bank - raised their prime rates to 10¾ percent. Analysts had been predicting the increase as a response to pressure from the Federal Reserve Board.

Prime interest rates are charged to preferred customer loan and mortgage rates, but are considered good predictors of future moves in consumer loan and mortgage rates.

Candidates Here For Final Word

Political campaigns are approaching a climax and Snyder got plenty of last-minute attention from the two candidates for 17th District Congressman.

Both Bill Fisher, the Republican, and Charles Stenholm, the Democrat, were in town twice the past week. Fisher was on hand early this morning at county Republican headquarters for his final visit here for this campaign, while Stenholm was here most of the day Thursday for his last swing of the campaign into Scurry County.

Fisher went through the primary without opposition, but has waged an active campaign for the general election vote. He has been in Snyder several times during the past two months.

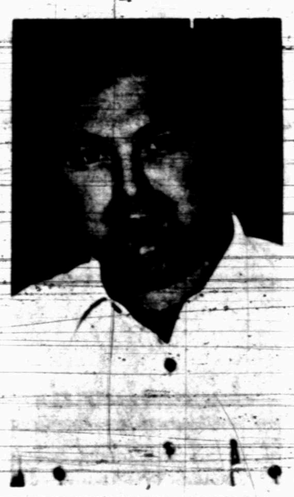

Stenholm was in a runoff for the Democratic Party nomination last May.

The two candidates are seeking the seat in Congress being vacated by the veteran Omar Burleson of Anson, who did not seek re-election. Stenholm is a Stamford farmer, while Fisher is an Abilene attorney.

Voters will make their decision on this and other races in Tuesday's general election, which also will present nine constitutional amendments for Texans.

City Manager Resigns At Colorado City

COLORADO CITY - City Manager James Campbell announced his resignation Thursday. He will continue working until the end of November when he begins his new job as city manager of Corsicana, population 25,000.

Campbell 31, had been city manager since January of 1975. He came to Colorado City from Big Spring where he was employed as an assistant city manager.

A search is underway for a replacement.

Ask Us

Q--Can a person who voted in a party primary election split his ballot and vote for some candidates in another party in the general elections. (There have been three questions on this topic).

A--The Texas Attorney General has ruled that a pledge on a party ballot does not prohibit a voter from splitting his ticket in a general election. Indeed, if splitting were not permitted, it would not be necessary to hold a general election in Texas since the Democrats out-polled the Republicans by more than 10 to one in the primary election last May.

Texas Candidates Aim For Metropolitan Vote

By The Associated Press

With less than a week of campaign time left, candidates are zeroing in on major metropolitan areas.

Republican John Tower, seeking re-election to the U.S. Senate, said Thursday in Austin that he has consistently opposed the imposition of wage and price controls.

"The record shows that in 1974 I led not one, but two, battles which successfully ended wage and price controls. The experience we gained with those controls illustrates the unworkable nature of these controls in combating the real economic sickness of excessive government spending," Tower said.

Tower's opponent, Democrat Bob Krueger, said Thursday in Midland-Odessa that Tower is a "DeSoto" that's been around a long time, but that he is a "Mustang" full of new ideas and life.

"At worst, the polls show us tied or significantly ahead in the race," Krueger said, exuding confidence.

NEW EXHIBIT--Theresa Taylor, left, and Jane Raffeld are shown preparing for the opening of their art show in the Scurry County Museum. A reception honoring the artists, both from Austin, was held last night. The new exhibit features batiks and porcelain figurines and will remain in the museum through Nov. 20. The museum, on the Western Texas College campus, is open each weekday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. and on Sundays.

Absentee Pace Still Lagging

Absentee voting here continued to lag well below figures for primary elections as the deadline approached.

This is the last day for absentee voting in Tuesday's general election. The total had reached 175 shortly before noon today, only a little over one-third of the total for the primary election last May.

The absentee voting was to end when the county clerk's office closed for the weekend.

Federal Agencies Under Attack

WASHINGTON (AP)-Consumer advocate Ralph Nader says government agencies should "stand up and defend themselves when they are attacked constantly by the corporate public relations machine."

Nader told employees of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare Monday that corporations are spending millions of dollars to "get citizens to hate the government." He also praised HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. for his "selfless struggle on behalf of consumer protection and honest government at all levels."

Misrepresenting Meat Import Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)-The American Cattlemen's Association says recently passed amendments to the meat import law are being misrepresented.

The bill provides a so-called counter-cyclical formula for allowing meat into the United States. Basically, it allows more meat to enter when domestic production is up and less when domestic production is down.

Carter has not indicated whether he will sign the bill.

our thrifty states

What's the difference between state and federal government?

For one thing: money.

According to the U.S. Census Bureau, state governments in fiscal 1977 piled up a $13.3 billion surplus.

The federal deficit, meanwhile, was about $50 billion.

The facts and figures offer an interesting look at how such widespread All-America problems as inflation can be handled by states, at least.

The U.S. government statistics show total expenditures by the state governments reached $191.2 billion, an annual increase of 5.1 percent.

Education was the No. 1 state-level expense, according to the data. That was followed by welfare, highways and hospitals.

To break it down: the states spent $64 billion for education, a hike of 7.4 percent. (And higher education accounted for more than one-third of that.)

Yearly welfare costs for the states hit a total of $32.8 billion, rising $3.1 billion. A 14.3 percent hike in medical assistance payments was the key increase. State transfers to local governments for welfare were $8.8 billion.

At the same time, the states trimmed highway expenditures 3.3 percent to a total of $17.5 billion, reflecting a decrease in federal funding.

Hospital funding by the states amounted to $8.7 billion, a hike 11.8 percent.

Finally, a refreshing note was the popularity of the state lottery.

Thirteen states rolled up nearly $1.2 billion in gross revenues during fiscal 1977 from lotteries. The leader, Michigan, grossed $255 million with $110.3 million left for other spending.

Others with hefty lottery surpluses (after expenses): New Jersey, $77.9 million; Maryland, $68 million; Massachusetts, $66.6 million; and Illinois, $52.2 million.

defective diplomas

In North Carolina another sort of aesthetic matter is a problem.

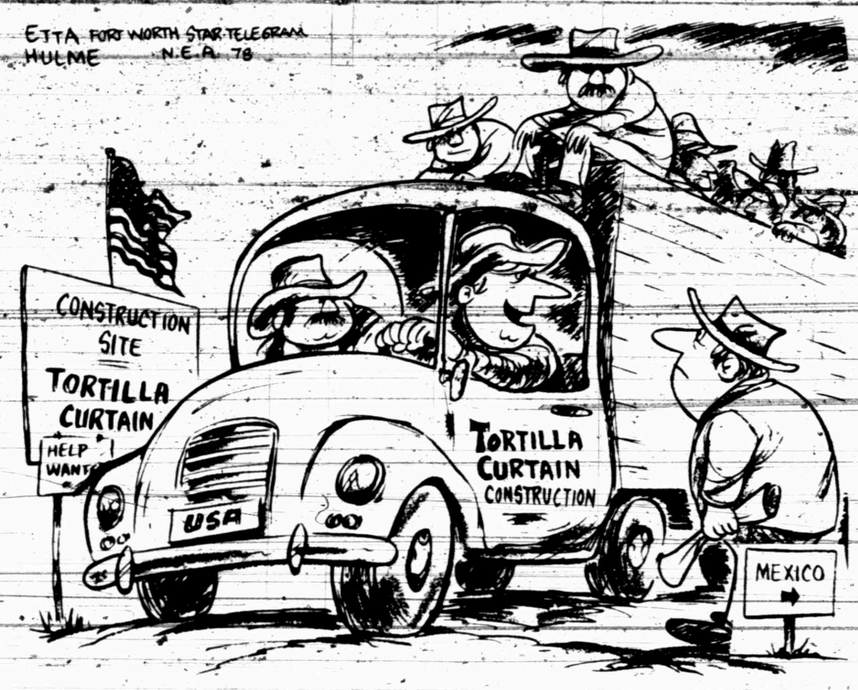

The University of North Carolina is recalling one of its defective products - diplomas. Letters on some of the 1975 documents are peeling off.

Raymond Strong, head of the University's records and registration office, wants 1975 graduates to notify him if they need a free duplicate sheepskin.

An engraving company blamed the trouble on supposedly defective ink, produced after chemical experiments that followed the 1974 oil shortage.

Even if the original diploma looks all right, notes Strong, it may not be. If framed, the letters might stick to the glass when the diploma is removed.

Now each request for a substitute is being thoroughly checked. That's just to make sure nobody gets a degree he didn't earn.

at wits end

by erma bombeck

People applaud the weirdest things.

On talk shows, for example, any mention of any state will get a round of applause from people who have not necessarily lived there, but who have just heard of it.

Strict morality will bring people to their feet like a starlet who proclaims, "I refuse to appear nude in a movie," or "I'd like to see peace throughout the world."

But the thing that really brings down the house is the age of an old person. Longevity does not go unrewarded. A few weeks ago on the Phil Donahue Show I admitted to writing five books, giving birth to three children, being married 29 years, and being extremely kind to my mother. None of these amazing feats moved the audience.

However, when a young man in the back row stood up and asked, "How old are you?" and I responded, "I'm 51," I nearly got a standing ovation. Do you know what it feels like to see people on their feet, with tears of admiration in their eyes paying homage to a vintage year?

I always thought that was the kind of recognition reserved for a man who was a water boy in the Civil War and remembers passing a cup to Robert E. Lee.

Since when did 51 become a vintage year, for crying out loud? Where were they when I reached 40 and needed them? The year my eyes couldn't read a menu until it dropped on the floor. All the fillings dropped out of my teeth and had to be replaced. My kids began to spell in front of me. My body stopped manufacturing iron.

Ever since that appearance, I've been trying to figure it out. Were they applauding because (a) they thought I was older and were relieved to hear I had a few good years left; (b) they thought I was going down the other side of the mountain and looked pretty good for my declining years; (c) they conceded I was rather lucid and could still cross my legs at the ankle without help?

For all you people who clapped (and you all know who you are), let me set the record straight.

I was not in the lobby buying popcorn when Lincoln was shot.

I do not know the verse to the Beer Barrel Polka.

I do not remember Mark Twain when he had black hair.

I thought Boot Hill was a Cancellation Shoe Store.

Phil said they probably clapped because I was so honest and had no sensitivity about my age.

I thought he knew me better than that.

my turn

by john dunnam

The Tortilla Curtain issue is quickly becoming as hot as a jalopena pepper. Our politicians really out did themselves when they decided to build another 12 miles of fence along the Mexican border.

1. They are wasting $2 million at one whack.

2. The fence will be little more than a landmark for the serious wetback. Many travel hundreds of miles to reach the river. What is another six miles either way?

3. Not only did the politicians manage to shock Americans who should be numb to large throw-aways of money but they even managed to outrage another country, Mexico.

There is a way out of this mess. I hate to be the one to point out the obvious but the hired help in Washington can't seen to figure it out, so I guess I will have to.

Here is what we do. We hire Mexican labor to build the fence at one third the wage we would pay American workers. Its that simple. Think about it. Mexico would be pleased because its people would have jobs. Americans would be pleased because there would be fewer illegal aliens across the river competing for American jobs and politicians would be happy because their silly fence would be getting built and they would still have the satisfaction of throwing away $666,666.

You may say that it is only a temporary solution good only until the fence is complete. But that is where the one third pay scale comes in. When the fence is finished politicians of the other persuasion could point out that it is an affront to the dignity of our neighbors to the south and lead the campaign to have it torn down.

Supposing that it costs no more to tear it down than it did to construct it they will get to waste an equal hunk of money. Meanwhile it would be work as usual for the would-be-wetbacks. Before you know it the cycle would be complete and everybody will have gotton what they wanted at one time or another. For re-election rhectoric politicians on both sides of the issue could say they saved hundreds of American jobs while providing jobs for Mexicans in the process. And here is the kicker. They could also truthfully take credit for saving us taxpayers one third of 2 million dollars.

Maybe I should run for public office myself.

donald f. graff

In less than three months, the 96th Congress—most of which will be chosen in the Nov. 7 mid-term election—starts on a whole new workload.

Convening Jan. 15, it will face many of the issues the 95th did not complete—plus a probable U.S.-Soviet Salt II deal, and bills on national health insurance, welfare reform, and energy production.

At stake in the general election are 435 seats in the House of Representatives and 35 seats in the Senate.

As usual, most of the incumbents are running on records established during the 95th Congress—the first under President Carter, who ended an eight-year Republican hold on the White House.

Of course, Carter—fighting strong domestic criticism over inflation—has a big stake in the results of the voting for the House and Senate.

The heavily Democratic 95th Congress overcame initial friction with the Carter administration to produce major legislation—much during a marathon final session.

Carter triumphed when he finally got the Senate and House to give him an energy bill, jobs legislation and a tax cut, all of which cleared on the final day. And Congress upheld his vetoes of a "pork barrel" style public works bill and funds for a nuclear-powered aircraft carrier.

But the 95th never became a rubber-stamp Congress.

It did not enact such legislations as Carter's four-part election reform package; creation of a separate education department; no-fault auto insurance; labor law reform; a proposal to hold down rising hospital costs; the Alaska land bill and major revision of the federal criminal code.

Some of the legislation Congress did approve:

—A five-part energy package—the president's top-priority issue. It includes a controversial provision phasing out U.S. regulations on the price of natural gas by 1985. Carter fought that.

—A treaty, ratified by the Senate, ceding the U.S.-built Panama Canal in the year 2000. It was the first issue on which Carter lobbied face-to-face.

—The Humphrey-Hawkins Bill setting a 4 percent unemployment goal by 1983, with the federal government as employer of last resort.

—An $18.7 billion tax cut, including $12.7 billion for individuals. The individual tax cut—except in the cases of the very poor or large families—will not offset congressional-approved hikes in January in Social Security.

—Reform of the Civil Service—a major revamping that could lead to Carter's key campaign goal: making the federal bureaucracy more efficient.

—An extension for three years and three months of the Equal Rights Amendment ratification deadline, giving backers a chance to win approval from the needed three more states.

Other key congressional achievements: creation of the energy department; an increase in the minimum wage; a constitutional amendment giving the District of Columbia voting representation in Congress; a government wide ethics code; establishment of a national consumer bank; new loan guarantees to New York City; reduction of U.S. regulations on airlines and the nation's first inland waterway fees.

In the last days, the House reprimanded three of its members accused of involvement in the Korean scandal.

A final note: In 1977, Congress approved a raise from $44,600 to $57,500 for all its members and corresponding pay boosts for the top echelons of the federal government.

This year it voted to freeze those salaries.

december decision

DALLAS (AP)-Home lenders have December on their mind, and it's not because of Christmas. For some of them, the spirit will be absent, and they fear, so also may be some of their depositors.

Dec. 1 is D-day, meaning decision day, the day on which many savings and loan associations must decide whether to continue competing for ever more costly money, or drop out of the fight.

Their decisions could have an enormous impact on a housing market that until now has refused to slow down. If savings and loans cannot compete for funds, then they won't be able to lend to homebuyers.

The potential crunch had its beginnings June 1, when Washington decided to permit the S&Ls, the nation's primary home lenders, to issue six-month savings certificates at rates much higher than on passbook accounts.

That rate now is effectively 9.8 percent, or more than 3 percentage points over what a saver could obtain on a regular savings account. It has had the effect of pulling billions of dollars into savings.

Because of this, the homebuying market has thrived in spite of myriad other problems, including high purchase costs. For the first time in their recent history, S&Ls have been able to attract money despite generally high interest rates.

In June alone, close to $6 billion poured into their vaults.

And, as required by law, they then lent out much of it on home mortgages. But, for the first of these certificates, time runs out in December.

At that time, what will the S&Ls do? Around 90 percent of them have such certificates outstanding. In all, $20 billion of them are circulating, representing 5 percent of total S&L savings.

Do the S&Ls automatically renew the certificates at even higher interest rates? Do they simply bow out of competition until a more normal interest rate pattern develops?

The decision is complex, but nothing makes it more understandable than the realization that no S&L can make money if it has to borrow funds at rates higher than it charges.

S&Ls make their money through mortgage lending.

But, if the S&Ls decide not to renew their customers' savings certificates, the situation could be even worse. Their customers might desert, withdrawing their accounts and purchasing savings certificates elsewhere.

There is, it seems, always an elsewhere, and in this situation it might be the federal government, through the medium of Treasury Bills, or commercial banks, by offering certificates similar to those of the S&Ls.

The feeling this week at the annual convention of the U.S. League of Savings Associations, whose members account for about two-thirds of home mortgage loans, is that they will renew or "roll over" the certificates.

Standing In Line Becomes more Lively

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Standing in line to buy license stickers at the state Highways and Public Transportation office can be a bore, unless it's Holloween and you're sharing the line with a gorilla.

Underneath the gorilla mask was Tommy Trotter, a service station employee, who also wore the mask at his station, surprising motorists as he pumped gasoline.

"Everybody who was standing in line out there cracked up," said Kathy Harsey, a department employee. "It was really funny."

She said he stood at the counter for several minutes "unt.l I could get myself together" and wait on him.

"It sure took the monotony out of standing in line," said a woman who was waiting to renew her license tags.

Asked why he wore it, Trotter replied, "I don't know. It's just Halloween."

Tully Speaks At RTA

The Scurry County Retired Teachers hosted a luncheon at the First United Methodist Church for District 14 members. The luncheon was held in conjunction with the Texas State Teachers Assn. at their annual convention held at the coliseum Monday.

Mrs. Nellie Smith, president, conducted the opening exercise. Sam Kitching, minister of East Side Church of Christ, gave invocation. David Robertson, First United Methodist Church pastor, presented the welcome and H.D. Norris of Sweetwater gave the reponse.

Dr. James Tully, dean of learning resources at Western Texas College, presented the program, "The Retired Person's Role in Education and Human Rights."

He commended the retired teachers for their role in helping in the Snyder classrooms and other areas.

"If all goes well, soon the ability of those helped could move gradually into life's adjustment and become happier individuals. The art of helping children and senior citizens is built upon kindness and confidence," said Tully.

"Few of us master this art. Some people as they advance in years wither inside and out and shrink spiritually," he added, "but not the senior citizens and retired teachers of our county to whom the years bring a kind of unfoldment and blossoming."

Olsen Sweat, state legislative chairman, gave a resume of the work done the past summer concerning the various bill beneficial to retired teachers.

He admonished all present to vote the tax relief amendment on the ballot next Tuesday. Olson explained, "This bill contains beneficial relief from state, county and other taxes." He stressed the need for all retired teachers and auxiliaries to join the local organization. Membership carries weight with legislators, he concluded.

The RTA will meet in the east fellowship hall of Colonial Hill Baptist Church at 2 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 9. Speaker will be Dr. Gilbert Fleer and hostesses will be the membership committee.

Opening lead: ♥10

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

The bidding of today's hand is short and easy after South opens with a standard one notrump.

North looks at his 22 high-card points, checks to see that he has counted correctly and raises his partner to seven.

South is delighted to be in seven until he sees the dummy and notes that the mirror distribution has left him with only 12 top tricks and a two-way spade finesse for the 13th.

Should South toss a coin to decide which way to go?

That gives him a 50 percent chance but the use of discovery technique can surely increase this chance. If he can find out how many spades each opponent holds, he can play that the man with the greater number [illegible].

So South runs off all the hearts, diamonds and clubs and in the process discovers that West was dealt exactly five cards in each red suit (since East showed out on the third lead) and exactly two clubs since he failed to follow to the third club.

That left West with exactly one spade. A spade lead to dummy's king shows that it was the six spot so South finesses against East with absolute certainty.

Ask the Experts

A Canadian reader asks what a relay bid is.

It is an artificial bid designed to ask partner to tell you more about his hand which conveys no information about the bidder's own hand. It is primarily an expert's gadget.

No, you haven't gained weight. This year's straight, narrow skirts are cruelly cut, so you'll probably need a larger size.

Want a longer neck? Try V-necks and open shirt collars instead of cowls and turtlenecks. Long chains help, too.

Jenkins Expects Tors To Be Tough...

Tigers Entertain Lamesa Tonight

Enroute to a possible district championship - the first in four years - Coach Mike Jenkins' Tigers welcome Lamesa into Tiger Stadium at 7:30 tonight.

The Tigers, 2-0 in 3-3A play, will take the following week off before going against the Cubs in Brownfield on Nov. 17.

Mathmatically, Snyder could clinch a trip to the playoffs tonight, provided Lamesa falls and Sweetwater defeats Brownfield, the other 3-3A game on tap. But to gain sole possession of the championship, the Cats need wins over the Tors and the Cubs, and sole possession is what Jenkins wants.

"The district championship is going to be on the line everytime we play, regardless of who we play," confirms the third-year head coach.

And that means not overlooking Lamesa, for starters.

"They're going to play Snyder hard for two reasons," he contends. "The rivalry involved, and because they are still not mathmatically out of it. They've only got one loss in district play. Also, we are the leading team in the district right now. This makes everybody play better against us."

It might have been some incentive for last week's opponent, Sweetwater, who led the Tigers until the final minutes of the ballgame. With three quick touchdowns - sparked by a Richard Crayton to David Lee halfback pass for 39 yards - Snyder pulled off a 25-7 victory.

"Good things came for us in that game," recalls Jenkins. "We kept our poise, our defense got better as the game went along, and we came from behind to win it. It was a compliment to our kids that they were able to keep their poise and come back. We like to feel that every game we play will help us along the line, and we think that one will. We'll try to go into the game (tonight) in a little different frame of mind than last week."

With the Sweetwater game out of the way, Lamesa is next in line, and the Tors are better, according to Jenkins, than their 1-6 record indicates.

"They've got a new program and they are improving each week. They had some problems early, they had some kids drop out, but that happens when you change a program. We can see improvement in their game films. Frankly, we expect them to play better than they have all year long."

Leading the Tor veer offense is fullback James Goolsby, end Armando Morales and tailback Mark Price. Morales, Cecil Mayberry and 210-pound Kenneth Baker lead the 5-2 defensive charge.

Snyder came out of last week's game in good shape, physically. Tom Leura will still not see action, though John Hanson and Sid Sullenger are ready for limited duty.

Game captains for tonight will be the entire senior unit.

Spikers Win Opening Round Of Loop Play

Coach Joyce Elrod's varsity volleyball team grabbed the first-round championship here last night, whipping Brownfield in straight matches, 15-2 and 15-6.

The victory leaves the team with a 3-0 mark in District 3-3A play, while Lamesa posts a 2-1 tote, Brownfield is 1-2 and Sweetwater is 0-3. It also assures Snyder of a berth in the district playoffs, provided any are necessary. Round two begins Tuesday as Snyder travels to Lamesa.

Danna Myers led the scoring last night with 9 points, followed by Sherry Neves 5, Debbie Myers and Kathy Harrell 4 each, Kim Harlin, Susie Fisher and Shana Smith 2 apiece, and Dana Elrod 1.

Snyder junior varsity also won its matches, 15-5 and 15-6, to post an equal 3-0 mark thus far in the loop rounds.

Vanessa White paced the JV team with 11 points, followed by Demetra Cobb 8, Debra Nicholson and Billie Owens 5 each, and Sherry Mayes 1.

Tuesday's outing will begin with a 6:30 junior varsity game in the Lamesa gym, and will follow at 7:30 with the varsity contest.

Eighth Black Tops Lamesa

Snyder 8th grade Black squad blasted Lamesa here Thursday, 50-0.

Glen Parham handled much of the effort offensively, while Matt Davis - who switched from lineguard to running back during the game - paced the defense by causing several fumbles.

Parham scored on a 4-yard run for the opening touchdown, then passed to Britt Vincent for a 6-yard strike moments later. Parham added both two-point conversions.

In the second quarter Davis ran 21 yards for a score. He also ran over the conversion. Then, on what was supposed to be a play to kill the clock, Parham found plenty of room on a quarterback sneak and ran 79 yards to score. Davis ran the two points for a 32-0 halftime lead.

In the third period, Snyder was back to punt, but a wayward snap caused Parham to have to run the ball. He did - 58 yards for a touchdown. The PAT failed.

In the fourth quarter Parham intercepted a Lamesa toss and ran 25 yards to score. Snyder's final touchdown came on a thwarted field goal effort, which Parham ran in from 15 yards out.

Pee Wee Games Set Saturday

Scurry County Boy's Club will holds its annual Pee Wee All Star football games Saturday at Travis Field. Tickets, at $1 for adults and 75 cents for children, may be purchased from Boy's Club members.

Westerners Grab 2nd Victory Over Juarez

JUAREZ, Mex.—Coach Nolan Richardson's Westerners chalked a 2-0 slate here last night, whipping the University of Juarez 109-79.

Freddie Davis scored 18 points on seven field goals and four free throws to pace the effort. Bill Patterson scored 13 points and Paul Pressey and Jim Price noted 10 each.

"We executed real well, and were able to let everybody play the same about of time," commented Richardson. "Our defense did a great job. Also, they did a real good job rebounding. I was very pleased with the performance.

"I believe we'll get a tougher game Saturday night in El Paso. Fort Bliss has a couple of guys that played major college ball and are now in the service, so we should get a good test."

The Westerners will return home following Saturday's game and prepare for the first annual WTC Classic to be held in Scurry County Coliseum the 16th through the 18th.

Tiger JV Bombs Tornadoes, 50-0

LAMESA--Snyder junior varsity gained only 158 yards offensively here last night, but that didn't affect the scoreboard any. Taking advantage of leaky punt return coverage and an interception, the Tigers ripped past the Tors 50-0 to extend their season record to 7-1.

Snyder scored three times in the first half on punt returns alone as Keith McClain ran back efforts of 45, 40 and 60 yards. Mid-way through the first half Corby Barrett intercepted a Lamesa toss and returned it 28 yards to the one-foot line. McClain ran over the score one play later. Robert Rodriquez tacked on all four point-after kicks.

In the second half quarterback Mike Roemisch scored on a 19-yard run. Again Rodriquez kicked the extra point. Rodriquez added another one-pointer following a touchdown run he made, only moments later.

Eddie Yuregas scored the final touchdown. A bad snap foiled the kick-after attempt, but Rodriquez grabbed the free ball and ran it over for two points.

Frosh Flip Lamesians

Snyder's freshmen gridiron group bounced past Lamesa here yesterday, 32-6.

Keith Wallace led the charge late in the first quarter with a 75-yard punt return. The point-after try failed.

Snyder scored twice in the second quarter when Ronnie Rosas scored on a 25-yard scamper and Mark Shaw crossed over from 10 yards out. Shaw also scored one of the conversion attempts.

In the fourth period Wallace ran back another punt for 50 yards. Then, with less than two minutes remaining, Rosas broke for a 50-yard touchdown. Neither PAT was successful.

Lamesa scored in the fourth quarter on a 65-yard off-tackle play.

Gold Pops Tors, 48-0

The Tiger 8th grade Gold team whipped Lamesa here Thursday, 48-0. Brent Roemisch set the tune for the evening when he scored on the first play of the game, dashing 67 yards for the goal line.

Kirk Herrley ran over from 22 yards out for a second Snyder TD. The Cats also added a two-point conversion.

Curtis Gafford scored back-to-back touchdowns from 17 and 10 yards out to give Snyder a 26-0 lead. A safety scored just before halftime stretched the score to 28-0.

In the second half, Herrley took the opening kick 90 yards to score. Gafford ran over the two point conversion. Snyder's final two scores came on a Russell Martinez 21-yard run and a Trey McWilliams to Martinez pass that covered 18 yards. Herrley ran over one of the conversion attempts.

Snyder Gold will conclude its season in Sweetwater next week.

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?

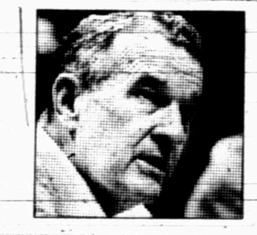

CLEMENTS

Bill Clements:
Is a businessman and manager. He started with nothing and built a successful world-wide drilling company. Because of his outstanding management skills, he was appointed Deputy Secretary of Defense for four years and was responsible for a $125 billion a year budget and 3 million employees. He cut the civilian payroll of that bureaucracy by 85,000 people.

Bill Clements:
Is a conservative. He publicly stands for less government and less federal interference. And for more local control.

Bill Clements:
Is concerned about education. He was Chairman of SMU Board of Governors and head of Defense Dept. Committee on Excellence in Education. He's for "back to basics," competency testing and classroom discipline. He has made no promises to special interest groups.

Bill Clements:
Plans a "Taxpayers' Bill of Rights" to provide for citizen Initiative and Referendum; ban state income taxes, and require a record two-thirds vote of the legislature to pass any tax bill. It would also allow local taxpayers to ratify or reject tax increases by local governments. He will reduce taxes. Not just "freeze" them.

Bill Clements:
Is for complete and immediate natural gas deregulation. And for increased production of all energy sources. He favors expanded research into solar, fusion, biomass and other energy-producing forms. He is against Carter's energy plan which will give the federal government power to allocate Texas' resources.

HILL

John Hill:
Is a professional politician. He first ran for governor ten years ago and has been running ever since. He is a claims lawyer who was appointed to a government position. Later, after becoming State Attorney General, he used that office to further his political career.

John Hill:
Is a liberal. He stands for big government and federally controlled assistance. He supported a proposed new Constitution which would have centralized power in Austin. He has increased the State Attorney General's staff by 300% and its budget by 600% during his term of office.

John Hill:
Received a teachers' union endorsement in return for promising to raise all teachers' salaries regardless of performance. (At a taxpayers' cost of over $1 billion.) He has no education-related experience in his background.

John Hill:
Is for a billion dollar giveaway to increase state government and centralize bureaucracy. During the recent special session, he worked to defeat measures in the Taxpayers' Bill of Rights. He fought against tax relief so he could afford to finance his promised giveaway programs. He will freeze taxes, not reduce them.

John Hill:
Is closely tied to the policies of his national party and its liberal leaders and will support them. No matter what the cost to Texas taxpayers. Is responsible for a liberal takeover of the State Democratic Party in Texas.

BILL CLEMENTS IS THE DIFFERENCE TEXAS NEEDS.

Estrogen has good effects

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Is it a known fact that estrogen pills cause cancer, and what part of the body does it affect mostly? Also, when cancer is found in the human body by surgery, does it grow faster when it is exposed to air?

DEAR READER — There are an awful lot of people who take estrogen who never develop cancer. I might also point out that estrogen alone isn't a cancer causing agent, because both men and women normally produce estrogen. In fact, there are several different chemical kinds of estrogen.

At this writing, there has not been a careful separation of the different effects of the different types of estrogen in relation to any cancer effects they may have. This is a relatively pertinent point in determining the danger from taking estrogen.

With the regular administration of at least one type of estrogen, there does seem to be an increased rate of cancer of the uterus. This may not be important to the woman who takes estrogen intermittently, meaning for three weeks and stopping for one week. It certainly is not important to the woman who has already had a hysterectomy. It is difficult to develop cancer of the uterus if you don't have one.

Giving additional estrogen is also a poor idea in a woman who has lumpy breasts, or if a woman develops lumpy breasts while she is taking estrogen, usually she should stop it.

Cancer of the uterus and breast are the two main considerations about the relationship of estrogen to cancer. Otherwise, there is a great deal of evidence in the scientific literature that suggests the administration of estrogen protects a woman's health and prolongs her life. In fact, the statistics for the good features of estrogen far outweigh the statistics that suggest there may be some bad features of estrogen.

How do you resolve this problem? Well, you go to your doctor and let him find out if you need estrogen or not, and let him decide whether your breasts are normal enough that you won't have a problem there. And let him decide about the status of your uterus, if you have one. And if there really is any danger posed by the type of estrogen he wants to administer on the schedule he recommends that it be taken.

So, there is no one little pat answer that can be included on the evening TV news to solve this problem for everybody. Sorry about that!

I don't know where the idea comes from that if cancer is exposed to air, it will grow faster. That is totally untrue. Cancer cells are body cells. True, they are abnormal, but that's what they are.

They depend on nutrition, just like your other body cells do. In fact, you can kill cancer if you are able to eliminate its blood supply, because it can't get nutrients and have the normal exchange of oxygen and carbon dioxide needed for cells.

I suspect the idea is the result of discovering cancer when the body is opened, for example during an abdominal operation, and seeing that the cancer has already spread beyond the point that anything can be done surgically. In such instances, the course of the patient is downhill and sometimes it is very rapid. But, it is the result of the disease that already existed and not because of exposing the cancer to air.

Readers who want more information about female hormones can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for The Health Letter number 5-12, Menopause. Address your request to Dr. Lamb in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

MAX VINCENT

Max Vincent New Manager At Munden's

A one-time Snyderite has returned to town to become the manager of Munden's in the Snyder Shopping Center.

Max Vincent, 48, began his new duties at Munden's Tuesday. He comes to the store with 20 years' experience with the Robert Hall clothing store chain.

While with the Robert Hall chain, Vincent worked in Texas, California, Washington, New Mexico, Illinois, and Tennessee. With the chain, he worked in positions as an auditor, co-manager, and manager.

Vincent was reared in Dublin, and was graduated from high school there. He was graduated from Texas Christian University in 1936.

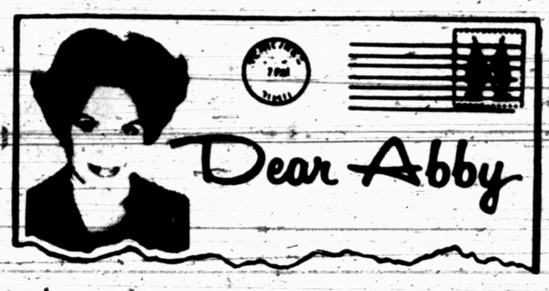

He lived in Snyder from 1949-1950 and was employed at Texas Electric Service Co. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Vincent of this city.

Vincent has lived in Snyder two months and says he likes his new home. "I'm a native Texan," he declared, "and living anywhere in Texas is great."

Tariff Unneeded On Bicycle Tires

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government isn't going to impose special tariffs on imported bicycle tires and tubes after all. President Carter says they aren't necessary.

The U.S. International Trade Commission had recommended tariff increases of 5 to 25 percent to help domestic makers. But Carter rejected the proposal Tuesday after his special trade representative said increased tariffs would not increase competition.

Religion Is Deeds As Well as Words

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: We don't go to church. Instead, my husband and I and our three children sit down to a hearty breakfast on Sunday morning and afterwards have a friendly discussion around the breakfast table.

We talk about school problems, family gripes and relations with relatives and friends. We support each other in overcoming bad habits and faults and come to an understanding about allowances, TV watching, homework and chores. Then we seek ways to improve family life and ways to contribute to our community and our nation.

We believe that God's spirit is within us (all) and that ours are helping hands which can be used to make this spirit evident here on earth.

Recently, some of the neighborhood children have been calling our children "atheists" because we don't go to church. They are shocked and upset and don't know what to answer. Do you in your wisdom have an appropriate answer?

AT A LOSS

DEAR AT: How is this: "We are NOT 'atheists.' We accept the existence and influence of God in our lives. But to us, God's spirit is within all of us, and we offer helping hands which can be used to make this spirit evident here on earth." (P.S. In my opinion, yours is a stronger religious commitment than many church-goers make. But that, too, is their business.)

DEAR ABBY: SHELDON'S WIFE couldn't understand why her husband came home with red smudges on his shirt and red hairs on his coat. Don't jump to conclusions, Abby. He may have been feeding strawberry jam to a cocker spaniel!

CHATTANOOGA DOG LOVER

DEAR LOVER: True. But there is always an outside chance that he had been feeding a line to a redhead.

DEAR ABBY: I have been invited to an evening wedding at 6 p.m. A friend of mine tells me that I must wear a long dress.

I do not own a long dress, and I have no intention of buying one. If I must buy one for this occasion, I cannot afford to buy a wedding gift.

Please tell me if you think I absolutely must get a long dress, or would a dressy short dress be acceptable?

NO NAME PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: Wear what you have, and don't give it a second thought. What's a few inches of fabric more or less?

Who said the teen years are the happiest? For Abby's new booklet "What Teenagers Want to Know," write Abby: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Enclose $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope, please.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Moffett of Lubbock announce the arrival of a son born at 4:25 a.m. Wednesday. He has been named James Mason and weighs 7 lbs. 11½-oz. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. James J. (Speedy) Moffett.

WTC Editor Adviser Go To Session

Rocky Alexander, Western Texan editor, and Mike McBride, adviser, attended the fall business meeting of the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association in San Antonio.

Both served on reporting committees as assigned by Wilma Wirt, Texas Intercollegiate Press Advisers Association president.

McBride chaired the membership committee and served on the broadcast contest committee. Alexander served on both committees and photographed the meeting for Type-Hi, the quarterly organ of TIPA.

McBride is vice president of TIPAA.

May Get More Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Social Security Administration published a notice today that it is considering increasing the amount of money disabled people can earn without jeopardizing their disability payments.

ASTRO-GRAPH

Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

November 4, 1978

Good things will come through friends and contacts you make this coming year. You could even establish several long-lasting friendships which will prove powerfully important to you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Everybody better get out of your way today once you get started. You mean business and all those you encounter will know it. Find out to whom you're romantically suited by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) In your own quiet way you'll take giant steps today. When no one is looking you'll grab the prize, leaving open mouths in your wake.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A most favorable and lasting impression is made by you today when you put yourself out for others. People can't help but notice, because you do so in a grand manner.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're not afraid of anything today and might even agree to take on another's responsibility. Your faith in yourself and your positive application can handle it.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Should you need to reach an agreement with somebody, this would be a good day to attempt it.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your modus operandi is incredibly efficient today. It's not likely you'll waste time or motion in performing your tasks, especially those you do for others.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Two heads are better than one today and you work extremely well in partnership arrangements.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Through unselfish service and a desire to advance the interests of others you'll receive unsought rewards today, yet you'll be deserving of what you get.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't turn down any invitations today where you could rub shoulders socially with important contacts.

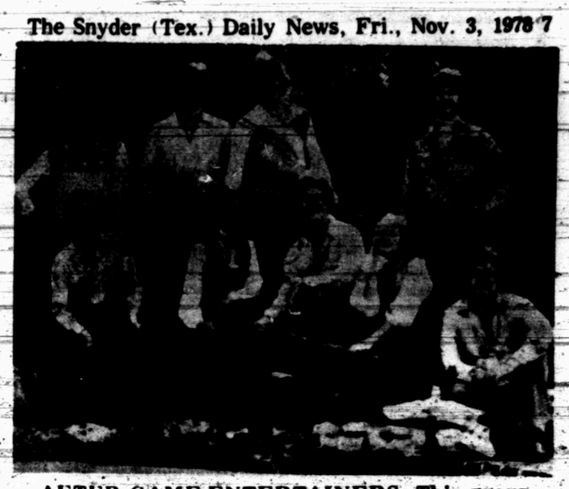

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're adroit at handling challenging material situations today. Don't be intimidated by obstacles if you spot something offering personal gain.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Occasionally it's necessary to toot our own horn if we've done something others should know about.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Diligent effort and a quick mind are the tools you apply to give you the rewards you hope to gain today.

Says Lady Psychologist...

Men's Troubles Begin With Their Fathers

KENTFIELD, Calif. (AP)-Psychologist-author Phyllis Chesler says the trouble between American men and women can be traced to the relationship - or lack of it - between fathers and sons.

The solution, she says, is for men to take a greater interest in their children.

"Not only would men and their children be closer, but it would help men to learn to handle the violence within themselves," said Ms. Chesler, who is in California this week for a series of lectures.

Most men never experience a warm, open, sharing relationship with their fathers, said the author of the recently published book, "About Men."

"They have had to settle for a few rare hours of companionship, usually with fathers who are tired, preoccupied with work, who would rather watch television or drink beer," she said.

In her research for her latest book, Ms. Chesler said, "I'd ask the men to tell me about their fathers and they wouldn't or couldn't. They'd say, 'My father's all right. What else can I say.' Or, 'Oh, you want to know about my childhood; let me tell you about my mother."

The yearning for paternal approval "creates many problems," she said. "It makes men hate and distrust other men, despite the myths about male friendship."

And women, Ms. Chesler said, become "opiates which keep men from killing one another."

She interviewed prison inmates in researching her book, she said, "curious as to what men did together when they didn't have us to kick around."

"Well, what they do is pretty ugly. They rape each other and they even kill each other. Without their opiates, men are very brutal toward other men," she said.

The psychologist said men would learn to deal with their emotions in caring for their children.

"If you're taking care of children, you can't just let yourself go," she told a College of Marin audience. "If you get angry at a baby and throw it on the floor, it dies. Women have had to learn to handle these negative emotions in a way that men never have....

"I'm convinced it would improve the relationships between men and women because it would make them more realistic."

Ms. Chesler is also author of "Women, Money and Power" and "Women and Madness." She is an assistant professor of psychology at the College of Staten Island, City University of New York.

Mass Held For Explosion Victims

By Gordon D. Mott
Associated Press Writer

COLONIA BENITO JUAREZ, Mexico (AP)—Sobbing survivors of a natural gas pipeline explosion that practically wiped out this tiny southern Mexican truck stop held a midnight requiem Mass in its church - one of the few buildings still standing.

"What good has the pipeling done us?" a woman at the service asked a reporter. "It's killed all our people."

Fifty-two persons were killed and 11 were severely burned, officials said, when the crossroads village of roughly 100 inhabitants was almost leveled late Wednesday. The blast left a crater about 300 feet across and 20 feet deep.

Authorities speculated gas seeped from a faulty weld in a pumping station valve, moved 20 yards into a residence and was ignited by a cooking fire or a cigarette. The pipeline was 21 inches in diameter.

The resulting explosion was heard nine miles away and sent up a huge fireball that consumed most of the crossroad's flimsy wooden structures in seconds.

Victims were so badly burned that officials had a hard time identifying them. Charred timbers and an occasional foundation were all that was discernible among the rubble, still smoldering many hours after the explosion.

"There was a flash," said a survivor. "It spread like wildfire through the village."

Irish actress Siobhan McKenna made her New York Debut in 1955 in "The Chalk Garden."

Typewriter Is Missing

Reports of a stolen typewriter and a traffic accident have been received by police.

The typewriter was allegedly taken from the typing room of Snyder High School Oct. 28 or 29. Estimated value of the typewriter was set at $500.

Officers said entry to the room was apparently gained through a window.

A minor traffic accident was also investigated at 1900 18th St. Reports indicate the brakes on a vehicle operated by Leroy Alburn Kirkpatrick slipped, letting the vehicle roll into a trailer house owned by James. P. Wilson.

That accident was reported at 11 a.m. Thursday.

Firemen Called

Firefighters doused a fire in a unit of the Colonial Garden Apartments Thursday evening.

The fire occurred in Jeff Fisher's apartment and was confined to a stove and a portion of the wall.

The fire was reported at 6:40 p.m.

The American Field Service is a private, non-profit organization. The Snyder High Student Council initiated the local chapter and sponsored it until 1962 when the responsibility became too much and it has since become a community organization.

The local chapter meets the first Saturday in each month at 8 a.m. for a Dutch treat breakfast. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Officers Influence Court Martials

WASHINGTON (AP)-A General Accounting Office report says military commanders with power to bring court martial charges shouldn't be authorized to name the judge, jury and lawyers in court martial cases because that puts them "clearly in a position to influence the outcome of trials."

The GAO report released Thursday says the power given to commanding officers "presents obstacles to the impartial delivery of justice."

Raising Tariff On Ferrochrome

WASHINGTON (AP)-President Carter says he is increasing the import tariff of ferrochrome used to manufacture stainless steel because foreign imports are hurting domestic producers. Carter ordered an increased tariff of four cents per pound on imports valued at less than 38 cents a pound. There will be no additional duty when the price is at the 38-cent level or higher.

Expert advice available from Heath at Landes Home Furnishings

Being in the furniture business for 28 years gives Leo Heath, salesman at Landes Home Furnishings, quite an expertise to suggesting the right piece of furniture for the homeowner.

Heath is an all-around hand in the furniture business after handling everything from repairing to delivering the goods.

He moved to Snyder in 1914 as a boy with his family and has farmed all over the county up to 1949. It was in 1950 that Heath went to work for Barrow Furniture located in the building now occupied by Hoyt Furniture on West 25th Street. He worked for Barrow Furniture for 14 years as a salesman and delivery man.

"I like working as an all around hand," says Heath. "I'd have it no other way. This way I get to work with the customers and help them with their selections."

While at Barrow Furniture he was also in charge of taking care of the furniture on the showroom floor. "I would wrap the furniture to keep it from scratching and do odd repairs," he recalled.

After 14 years of service, Heath moved to O'Rear Furniture, now owned by Gary and Kathy Landes at 904 26th Street.

Heath carries with him a lot of experience in furniture sales and looks forward to meeting customers every day so drop by and visit Leo at Landes Home Furnishings for advice from a pro.

RELAXING-Leo Heath has been in the furniture sales business for 28 years, and is now employed at Landes Home Furnishings at 904 26th. (SDN Photo)
