Sunday Celebration Draws Some 1500

Although Sunday morning's light rain threatened the tenth anniversary celebration of Knox City's Municipal Airport, conditions remained dry but cloudy and the show went on as scheduled with approximately 1,500 persons in attendance.

Sponsored by Knox City Chamber of Commerce, the celebration began at noon with the barbecue meal.

Preceding the air show, a number of top Democratic office holders and candidates were called to the podium to be introduced and speak briefly.

The Rev. Derrell Marion, pastor of the First Christian Church, gave the invocation and Sonia Carter, KCHS senior, sang "An American Trilogy."

The Knox City High School band, under the direction of Alan Steckler, played "The Star Spangled Banner" and performed other selections for the crowd's enjoyment.

Democratic candidates for posts in the November 7 general election presented brief talks from a trailer platform.

Senator Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls and State Representative W.S. (Bill) Heatly introduced the officials.

Addressing the crowd were Rep. Bob Krueger, candidate for U.S. Senator; Attorney General John Hill, candidate for governor; former Secretary of State Mark White, candidate for attorney general; Railroad Commissioner John Poerner; and Charles Stenholm, candidate for U.S. Representative of the 17th Congressional District.

Local officials present included Mayor Kenneth Crownover, County Attorney Bobby D. Burnett, County Commissioners Billy Gene Johnston and Bobby Robertson, and County Tax Assessor-Collector John A. Smith.

Also present were former University of Texas regent and now lobbyist for the system, Frank Erwin and Abilene City Councilman Emil Ogden, along with several legislators including Herman Adams of the UT System.

Aerial entertainment was highlighted by the Elmdale Parachute Center Skydivers of Abilene who performed a number of entertaining jumps from a plane piloted by Louie Sparks.

Other air show activities included a plane made by Gary Watson of Newcastle, who used a Volkswagen engine for part of a plane's engine. Eddie Williams of Lewisville, son of Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Williams and grandson of Judge and Mrs. J.M. Williams, presented a glider demonstration, and Bob Carmichael, whose

Warren Receives Award

Rodney Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Warren of Knox City, was recently named winner of the 1978 DeKalb Agricultural Accomplishment Award. The award, sponsored nationwide by DeKalb AgResearch, Inc., is presented to the senior agriculture student attaining the highest degree of proficiency in scholarship, leadership, and a supervised agricultural program.

Rodney, who graduated from Knox City High School in May, was secretary of the local FFA chapter. His agricultural program consisted of registered swine, small grain, and cattle and farm mechanics. Rodney is presently engaged in farming.

As this year's DeKalb Agricultural Accomplishment Award winner, Rodney received a pin and certificate, and his name is inscribed on a special plaque displayed in the vocational agriculture building.

DeKalb is a leading supplier of hybrid seed, poultry and swine breeding stock, irrigation equipment and grain, and livestock marketing services. More than 4,500 outstanding students receive this award each year.

To Play Throckmorton Friday

'Hounds Tree 'Cats

Knox City's Greyhounds "upped" their season record to three wins and no losses by skinning the Archer City Wildcats in action Friday night at Greyhound Stadium by a score of 13 to 6. The winning touchdown came in the final period of play.

The Hounds rolled up 130 yards on the ground and 60 yards in the air with reserve quarterback Steve Rumley in command. Rumley was doing substitute duty for the injured starting QB Dwayne Johnson.

Following a zip-zip first quarter round of play, KC opened the scoring in the second quarter when Tim Robinson scored from four yards out. Domingo Garcia added the extra point kick.

The game turned into a defensive battle at this point. In the fourth quarter of play, Archer City's Johnny Hemphill broke loose for a 50-yard touchdown run. The run for the two extra points however was stopped cold by a strong KC defense.

Knox City put the icing on the cake in the fourth quarter of action with a one-yard score from Jimmy Rushing. PAT attempt failed. Statistics for the Hounds and the Cats, respectively, were first downs, 9, 9; yards rushing, 130, 115; yards passing, 60, 16; passes, 1-5, 1-9; passes intercepted by, 2, 1; punts, 6-41, 5-33; fumbles lost, 2, 4; and yards penalized, 95, 15.

The Knox City Greyhounds will travel to Throckmorton Friday night to meet the Throckmorton Greyhounds. Game time is 8:00 o'clock.

Local, Area Folk Lend Rehab 'Helping Hand'

Knox City and area residents 'loaned a helping hand' during Monday's Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children cattle sale to benefit the West Texas Rehabilitation Center by donations which grossed a record $153,444.22 at the Abilene Livestock Auction.

Of that, $116,444.22 came from the sale of 305 head of donated livestock while $37,000 came directly from out-of-pocket cash donations.

According to Lee Smith, one of the Knox County chairmen for the Round-Up, Knox City and area folk who donated cattle included Bateman Ranch, Howell Estate, and Jerry and Lee Smith, all of Knox City; Don Bowman of Weinert, Togo Moorhouse of Benjamin, and Mr. and Mrs. Grady Ellis of O'Brien.

Cash donations were presented by J.C. McGee, Mr. and Mrs. Sammy Tankersley, Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Tankersley, all of Knox City; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Kay of O'Brien, Floyd Bowman and C.P. Baker, both of Munday; Mr. and Mrs. Chester Smith of Goree, Red Livingston of Megargel, and Kenneth Roberts of Benjamin.

A beautiful cattle brand quilt featuring the brands of the WTRC, donated by Mrs. Lula Hammons and Mrs. H.W. Finley, both of Knox City, sold for a whopping $500, Smith reported.

Although all the folk who helped with the sale would be impossible to "round up" and name, Shelley V. Smith, executive director of the Rehab Center, praised them all and was "elated" with the record sale results pledging "continuance and dedication to improvement of the Rehab's services to the handicapped."

In addition to recently added Snyder and San Angelo branches of the Rehab Center, the Rehab folk added a 2,500 square foot brace shop in July. It employs two certified orthotists (one with prosthetic certification), a leather worker, shop worker, bench man and combination bookkeeper-secretary. The Rehab had to borrow $50,000 to construct the building which added to its huge deficit.

Local chairman Lee Smith expressed sincere appreciation to all Knox City and area folk for their generous contributions made to the Rehab Center and reminds persons that donations are needed throughout the entire year.

Plans Underway For Harvest Day

Representatives from churches in Knox City, O'Brien, and Benjamin met recently to make plans for the ninth annual Harvest Day Festival to be held November 7 in the First Baptist Church.

Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. with a program from 10:00 until 12:00 noon followed by a covered dish luncheon.

Officials hope that all women of all the churches will plan to attend this program.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE for Governor John Hill, center, receives a biography and other important papers from his cousin, Daisy Dean Smith, at right, of their great-grandfather and grandfather, respectively, the late John Roch, an Army captain during the Civil War, as he departs the Knox City Municipal Airport celebration Sunday afternoon. Hill learned several weeks ago that Mrs. Smith had the papers and requested that he might take them with him. Mrs. Smith's husband, John, is pictured at left.

THEN and NOW

THEN: The ancient Greeks realized that lemons have many uses. They recommended lemon leaves as an antidote for food poisoning and their rinds as a moth repellent. In the 12th century, peeled lemon pips became a treatment for wounds, and in the 17th and 18th centuries British doctors cleaned teeth with lemon peel and prescribed the juice, in which pearls had been dissolved, as a cure for epilepsy.

NOW: By the 20th century, lemonade had become America's most popular lemon drink. Children's lemonade stands became synonymous with the Fourth of July, and wherever youngsters sold thirst-quenching drinks at their summer stands, cold lemonade was always the favorite. You can prepare a good tasting, economical version at home with a convenient powdered drink, new Minute Maid Lemonade Crystals.

"Forever, O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven," (Ps.119:89) David said while talking to God, "Concerning Thy testimonies, I have known of old that thou hast founded them for ever." (Ps.v-152)

Again he said, "The entrance of Thy words giveth light; it giveth understanding unto the simple." (v.:130)

The Bible, God's Word, is the Book of all ages. It is food for the soul, light in darkness, a great companion when you are alone.

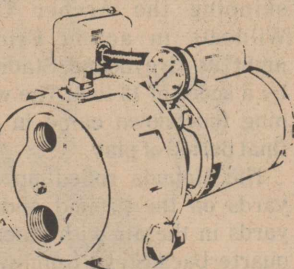

A prisoner said "I have found freedom behind bars." "It (the Bible) is my book of guidance to prepare myself for calamities and the dilemma yet to come in this world. I know I will truly have a good life if I have faith. I want to be with the Lord in His Kingdom; I love and abide by the laws written in this Book as the words of the Lord. If you overlook them, you are overlooking God. You can't make it in this world, nor can you make it to that Eternal Heaven without this great Book; the Bible. It is the Lord talking to His people, telling them I'm your strength, your friend, and I will supply your every need, and will guide you into eternal life."

Eastland Savings
Open House Set

Eastland Savings, a division of Olney Savings Association, will feature the Sun at the grand Opening of their new solar building in Eastland on Tuesday, October 3, from 9:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. for the express purpose of meeting, greeting and fellowshiping with friends and customers of Eastland Savings. The celebration will be at 9:00 a.m. with a special opening ceremony.

Prizes, refreshments, balloons and other gifts will be given away during the day, and all guests will be given a guided tour through the new building. Also, inspections of the solar equipment can be made by anyone interested.

Visitors will be asked to register for prizes to be given away throughout the day. Prizes to be awarded include savings accounts, small appliances, a 19" color television set, a 10-speed bicycle and a child's grass bike, among others.

The people of Eastland Savings invite everyone to come to the new office during the Grand Opening to register for these prizes and to see the new solar building.

The solar structure, which features the Sun, will be of wood framing and brick veneer, with cedar plank siding, and a glass curtainwall over a solarium.

While there are several solar-oriented projects in the immediate area, Olney Savings' solar venture is one of the first commercial buildings to be developed without the help of federal funds.

D.D. McClatchy, president and chief executive officer of Olney Savings Association, Olney, commented, "While those of us who live in Texas are fortunate in having excellent energy sources, we nevertheless join with the rest of the nation in facing an overall shortage of energy.

Because energy is such a significant cost factor in homes for people, Eastland Savings, a division of Olney Savings, feels it quite appropriate to pioneer in the development of a practical and inexpensive solar system for an approximate 2,000 square foot structure. Also, we sincerely feel, the new building is one of so many ways we can serve our customers better ... now and in the future."

Dr. W.P. Watkins, president of Eastland Savings said, "We have every reason to believe that with the experience gained from the design, construction, and operation of this solar building, Eastland Savings and all other branch offices of Olney Savings, will be in a unique position to provide some of the answers to the all-important energy question for homeowners in this entire area; We are delighted at the acceptance we have already received by the people of Eastland."

O'BRIEN HAPPENINGS

BY CHARLENE BROTHERS

I have figured out why we are getting so much rain here lately, I have turned my news in on time the past two or three weeks. Since this is unusual for me, it just decided to rain us out. Reckon if I was late a few times it would stop for a while? We do not want it to quit for a long time, just long enough to get some crops out. If you have ever wondered what year-old maize looked like, come out to our farm; we have some that is nearly that old, not really that old but it has grown longer than any maize we have ever had, and no telling when we can get it out. This is probably going to be another fall like 1971, the first year I worked here at the gin office. I started to work December 21, the fall was that late. Jimmy Tankersley was the other one in the office and they did not need me until that day. Then we ginned nearly all the next year. Finally ginned the last bale sometime in April or May. I remember before the season ended some of the farmers that had cotton in the tight land between here and Haskell were putting 3000 to 4000 pounds of burr cotton and maybe getting somewhere from 400 to 475 lb. bale of cotton. Maybe this year will not be quite so bad.

I would like to mention the bar-be-que the city will have on Tuesday night, October 10, at 7:30 p.m. again. We do want

How To Apply For A Social Security Card

Everyone regardless of age or place of birth, must now submit evidence of age, identity, and U.S. Citizenship or lawful alien status when applying for a social security number for the first time, James Harper, Social Security Branch Manager in Vernon, said today.

These procedures are intended to help protect the integrity of social security records, assure that they are complete and accurate, and to prevent anyone else from misusing or abusing another person's social security number, Harper continued.

In addition, a person age 18 or over who is applying for a number for the first time must apply in person. Since most people in this age category already have a social security number, each applicant is interviewed to make certain that he or she has never before been issued a number.

The best evidence of a person's age and U.S. citizenship is a birth or baptismal certificate, Harper said. This should be submitted if possible, but if it is not available, other documentary evidence can be used.

Evidence of identity should include documentation which shows the person's picture, signature, date of birth or age, or other identifying information.

Applicants not born in the U.S. must submit evidence of their U.S. citizenship or their immigration documents showing they are lawfully admitted to the U.S.

Since evidence of age, identity and U.S. citizenship or lawful status is required from all applicants for original social security numbers, it is generally necessary for an individual to submit two documents to meet the evidence requirements. An applicant for a duplicate social security number card will generally need just evidence of his/her identity. All documents submitted as evidence are subject to verification with the agency which issued them, Harper stated.

Persons applying for a social security card for the first time should apply as soon as possible because it takes about six weeks to issue the number and deliver the card after the required evidence has been submitted. Any application which is not accompanied with the required evidence will be returned to the applicant because a social security card cannot be issued until the required evidence is presented.

Research Program To Consider Economic Future

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressman Omar Burleson advises that the Economic Development Administration has approved the financing of a $6 million research program to consider the economic future of the six-state High Plains Region dependent on a dwindling water supply.

The research will focus on sections of Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Texas which draw water from the Ogallala Aquifer. The purpose of the research effort is to develop the information necessary to formulate a detailed long-range plan for addressing the needs of these areas. It is anticipated that the research program will be completed in 42 months. The research will be conducted on a state by state basis as well as the entire region.

The Federal funding for the program will provide $2 million for State activities, $775,000 for the Corps of Engineers and $3.225 million for services to be performed by the general contractor.

Cash Requirement In Food Stamp Program To End Soon

Texans participating in the food stamp program soon will no longer spend any of their own money for the coupons.

The Texas Board of Human Resources, meeting Thursday, September 21, in Amarillo, voted to end the cash outlay requirement for participation in the food stamp program.

Jerome Chapman, commissioner of the Texas Department of Human Resources (DHR), said he hopes to make the non-cash provision effective December 1, or soon thereafter, depending on authorization to do so from the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) which controls the food stamp program. The program in Texas is administered by DHR.

Chapman said he has been notified by Robert Greenstein, special assistant to Secretary of agriculture Bob Bergland, that authorization is granted to begin eliminating the purchase requirement dependent upon the issuance of federal guidelines expected in early October. Chapman said that if the guidelines are received on schedule, DHR will end the cash outlay for food stamp participants on December 1.

Eliminating the purchase requirement is one provision of the Food Stamp Act of 1977. Other provisions of the Act will be implemented next year.

When the purchase requirement is eliminated, recipients will receive fewer stamps than they are receiving now. Under current food stamp regulations, participants pay out of their own pockets a specific amount of money depending on their net income. They receive an allotment of food for a greater value which is determined by household size. The difference between what recipients pay and what they receive in coupons is called the bonus value of the stamps.

For example, a typical household of four now may be getting $182 a month in food stamps. For this amount, the household pays $58 of its own money, making the bonus value of the coupons $124.

When the purchase requirement is eliminated, the household will receive the $124 in food stamps as the bonus coupons, but will not have paid out the $58.

Chapman, who had sought to eliminate the purchase requirement as early as last January 1, was gratified that USDA had now agreed to early action on ending the cash outlay.

"Eliminating the cash outlay provision in the food stamp program," Chapman said, "will provide needy Texans the same amount of nutritional subsidy, while permitting them to retain more of their limited resources for other necessities."

Chapman said many poor families in Texas now are confronted with a very difficult choice between paying their rent and utilities, or buying food stamp coupons.

"Thousands of people in Texas simply do not have the money to purchase the full entitlement of coupons," he said. "Many of these are elderly, on fixed incomes, attempting to survive solely on Social Security or Supplemental Security Income."

Chapman pointed out that the average total income of food stamp households is $330 per month. He said 60 percent of all food stamp households in Texas live below the poverty level, even considering food stamps. It is obvious, he added, that food stamps "make an important contribution toward assisting the poor in Texas."

"It is persons confronted with marginal existence such as these," the commissioner continued, "who will be able to participate regularly in the no-purchase program, and who will benefit the most in nutritional values." Chapman added that inadequate diets hasten deterioration in the elderly and frequently bring on premature institutionalization.

Current DHR statistics indicate that about 773,000 persons are certified to participate in the food stamp program in Texas, representing 228,558 households. It is estimated that eliminating the purchase requirement will add about 30,000 households, or 102,000 Texans, to the program.

Chapman pointed out that the subsidy to the recipient - the bonus stamps - remains the same under this change, but the action will have the effect of freeing some of the household's food stamp purchase money to be used, if necessary, to provide shelter, clothing, and some hedge against high utility costs.

"If we can get firm authorization to eliminate the purchase requirement on December 1," the commissioner said, "it is going to be a wonderful Christmas present for a lot of Texans in need."

He added that the intent of the change is not that families cease spending what formerly would have been their share of the food stamp costs.

"A nutritious diet is still the goal of the food stamp program, and there is no intention to diminish this objective. We will encourage food stamp recipients to continue to use their own money to supplement the bonus coupons so that dietary requirements do not suffer," Chapman said.

In July, total food stamps issued amounted to $31,194,527. The program participants paid $9,860,041 of their own money toward this total. The bonus value of the stamps thus was $21,334,486, the amount of stamps that would have been in circulation had there been no purchase requirement at that time.

Additional food stamp program changes due for implementation next year will alter the guidelines for determining a household's net income, the criteria for arriving at the amount of food stamps for which the household is eligible, and change the income level at which households may participate. The combined effect of those changes will cause some participants now in the program to leave it, while others not now eligible to participate will become qualified to enter.

Baum Endorses Stenholm

BY MARGE CARPENTER

Charles Stenholm, Democratic candidate for Congressman of the sprawling 17th District, was endorsed Monday, September 18 in Big Spring by Jim Baum, who opposed him in the bid for the Democratic nomination in the Primary.

Baum, who carried 75 percent of Howard County in the Democratic Primary in a field of seven candidates, said here today, "I strongly endorse and will vote for Charles Stenholm for Congress."

Baum gave as his reasons, "He is a hard worker, which I can well attest to since I ran into him so often during the primaries. He had addressed well the issues in the campaign during the 14 months he has been campaigning."

"But more than that, I find him a good man, and a shy-but forceful man who would make us a good representative in Congress. I predict that he will have a long and fruitful career - that he will be a leader in Congress and not just a voice and a vote - that he will represent well our many diversified interests - especially in agriculture, and this is a strong agriculture district.

Baum was accompanied by his wife, Margaret, to the Chamber of Commerce office today where he stated, "I would like to thank my supporters from the primary and urge every one of them to support Charles Stenholm as our best choice for Congress."

Stenholm spoke first, stating, "I am glad to be back in Howard County again so soon. I spoke this morning at a breakfast in Gail and came in here today, particularly happy because of the announcement that is to be made here."

Stenholm stated, "Jim Baum is my good friend and a good opponent and we were constantly crossing each others paths during the campaign."

Grant Gets Approval For Center

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Congressman Omar Burleson announces the approval of a $16,558 Community Services Administration grant to the Aspermont Small Business Development Center, Inc. for a local initiative program. The Center serves Jones, Fisher, Stonewall, Kent, Knox, Haskell, King, Dickens, Motley, Cottle, Foard, Wilbarger, Hardeman, Childress, Hall, Briscoe, and Donley Counties.

The funds will assist the Center to establish, improve, mobilize, preserve and strengthen managerial skills in small business concerns; to assist in establishing or expanding business and services; to assist those who would not otherwise have adequate opportunity to enter mainstream of free enterprise; and to locate outside industry for the community, tourism projects, and development of natural resources.

"One thing that I like about the Democratic Party is that it usually offers a choice in the Primaries and certainly with seven candidates, the Democrats in the 17th District had a choice. We addressed the issues as we campaigned," he added.

"My opponent, on the other hand, had no opponent until after the primary run-off. He has been hollering a lot around the district that I am hiding out and not addressing. I have been talking about the issues for months."

Stenholm went on to point out that the main domestic issue remains inflation and that the main foreign issue is defense.

He spoke prayerfully of the decisions made at Camp David and said, "We must pray and hope for peace. But we must also keep a strong defense and be number two to no nation."

Greb Vs. Tunney

May 23, 1922, was an exciting night as Greb took the light heavyweight championship from Tunney - and for someone, that night may lead to more excitement than he (or she) realizes.

According to the fight books, a film of that fight was made. Now, a big boxing fan and fight-film collector, Jim Jacobs, is willing to make the present owner of that film a little richer, and a little more famous.

In exchange for the film, Jacobs, a former sports champion himself, will pay what he calls "a liberal sum" and will arrange for an article about the film and its present owner to be distributed to newspapers throughout the country.

Anyone with any information about this film can write to Jacobs at 9 East 40th St., New York, N.Y. 10016.

New Requirements Added To School Immunization Methods

New requirements have been added to the already existing requirements for immunizations for students in school, according to Mrs. Wretha Fitzgerald, county school nurse. These requirements are from the State Department of Human Resources and the State Department of Education.

Mumps vaccine is required for all students three to seven years of age who have not already had the disease or the vaccination. If a child has already had either, Mrs. Fitzgerald said, the child will not need the vaccine.

Wednesday: Pizza, whole kernel corn, English peas, apple crisp, milk.

Thursday: Oven fried chicken and gravy, mashed potatoes, buttered carrots, hot rolls and peanut butter whip, milk.

Friday: Beef tacos, taco sauce, lettuce and tomato salad, green beans, vanilla pudding, milk.

zgerald stressed that parents be sure they have sent a record to the school.

Another new requirement for students up to twelve years of age who had the measles "shot" before one year of age, must receive it again unless they have contacted the disease since then.

This is not a new requirement but a reminder that if it has been ten years since a Diphtheria-Tetanus vaccine was given, a "booster" must be taken with this usually applying to high school students.

With young students, if the series of three Diphtheria-Tetanus shots were given before the fourth birthday, then another one is required and this also applies to polio. Mrs. Fitzgerald said that this is usually brought to the parents' attention in kindergarten or first grade.

If parents have received a notice from school that their child needs any of these shots and would like to have it done at the free immunization clinic at school on October 4, they should be sure that the papers received from school are signed.

A "team" will be in Knox City from the Texas Department of Human Resources Health Department to administer the shots, Mrs. Fitzgerald said.

HOW MUCH WATER SHOULD YOU DRINK?

All living cells of the body function in a fluid environment. This fluid is steadily lost through the gastrointestinal and urinal tracts. More is lost by perspiration and through the lungs. It must be replaced because the skin cannot absorb moisture from the air no matter how humid the day.

The body usually functions best if two quarts of liquids are taken in each day. One quart is considered the minimum. So estimate how much you get each day in coffee, etc., and drink additional water to help keep you healthier.

Gentry-Speck United In Friday Ceremony

A floor length gown of light blue organza accented with pointed sleeves and a lace bodice was chosen by the bride for her wedding. She carried a bouquet of blue and white daisies.

A reception followed the ceremony in the home of the bridegroom's mother. The refreshment table held the three-tiered wedding cake which was topped with blue, white, and yellow fresh daisies. An arrangement of daisies was also used on the table and punch was ladled from a crystal punch bowl. Members of the houseparty were Teresa Speck, Sue Marion, Karen Speck, and Carol Judisak.

The bride graduated from Rochester High School and is a Western Texas College sophomore. She is employed by the Knox City O'Brien Consolidated Independent School District.

Lain-Hacker Vows Are Repeated Saturday

On Saturday, September 23 at 6:00 p.m., Lenie Lain and Rick Hacker exchanged wedding vows in a garden ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Homer in Munday.

City. The Reverend Bobby Bohannon of Lubbock, uncle of the groom, officiated.

The couple's attendants were Melinda Adams of Lubbock and Billy Baker of Knox City.

The garden was accented with an arch of lemon leaves, flanked by baskets of palm leaves. Pots of daisies and mums were scattered throughout the garden.

Following the ceremony, a reception honoring the couple was held in the garden.

After a honeymoon to New Orleans, Louisiana, Mr. and Mrs. Hacker will reside at 1202 Polk, Wichita Falls, where he is employed by B.W. Fabricators, and she by White Stores Home Office.

Noble Rings For Happy Weddings

One of the first, important choices an engaged couple makes is selecting a wedding ring. If the marriage is to last a lifetime, so must the ring. That is why so many of today's knowledgeable couples choose wedding bands made of platinum, the most precious of all jewelry metals.

Platinum is called a noble metal by jewelers because it resists tarnishing, scratches and nicks and rough everyday use. Platinum—the noble jewelry metal—so pure and durable that it seldom needs polishing. No other metal reflects the sparkle of an engagement diamond—or any other precious or semi-precious stone—as well as beautiful platinum.

The ancient Egyptians were the first to use wedding rings. These earliest wedding ornaments were made of rushes and reeds. In ancient Ireland, brides wore circlets woven of human hair on their wrists and fingers. The early Romans wore iron bands, and our own Puritans chose rings of leather and wood.

Today's brides favor something a bit more permanent, and many choose platinum wedding bands, rare and brilliant rings which can be cherished both for sentimental reasons, and for their own intrinsic value. When it comes to engagement rings, platinum is also a fashionable, sensible choice, since no other metal protects and enhances a beautiful stone as well as the noblest metal—durable, shimmering platinum.

WILTED LETTUCE SALAD
...A 'Kids Can Do It' Snack

A 'Kids Can Do It' Idea

COLLEGE STATION - Kids can make their own "Wilted Lettuce Salad" - for an after-school snack.

It's almost a meal-in-one, says Frances Reasonover, a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System.

To make sure they will enjoy their kitchen ventures - and have some successes, mom or dad should be an interested guide for their "first' try" with any new recipe, the specialist advises.

WILTED LETTUCE SALAD
5 cups leaf lettuce (torn or chopped)
4 green onions with tops (chopped)
6 slices bacon
½ teaspoon salt
1-2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon water
1 or 2 hard-cooked eggs (chopped) (optional)

Toss lettuce and onions in salad bowl. Fry bacon until crisp. Remove from pan.

To the hot bacon drippings in the frying pan, add salt, brown sugar, vinegar and water.

Heat above items, stirring constantly until mixture is bubbly and sugar is melted.

Pour over lettuce and onions immediately. Toss lightly to coat all leaves.

Crumble bacon and sprinkle on the top.

An added touch might be hard-cooked eggs - chopped and added to the salad.

SERVING IDEAS
Serve with crackers or cornbread and a glass of milk - to make a nutritious after-school snack for kids.

Or, serve cold fried chicken with it for added nutrition.

Lions Club News

BY Z.I. SMITH

On Wednesday the Lions enjoyed a big lunch and then had a big discussion about preparations for the airport celebration. Lion Counts brought a box of straw hats with advertising and sold several of these.

There was also a reminder by President Baker about the Plant Material Center field day on the 27th. Program chairman Charles Moran said he was sure the projector was broken so he did not have a program. The skeptical tail twister collected anyway.

"What kind of club would my Lions club be, if every member were just like me?"

Students Facing Education, Vocation

Will it be education or vocation after graduation?

An answer to that question and the subsequent planning for either school or job are facing Knox City-O'Brien High School students, especially juniors and seniors, as they begin the 1978-79 school year.

Guidance counselors, parents, friends, and a national service called the ACT Assessment Program will play important roles in that decision-making and planning for many of the students.

Designed to provide extensive guidance information for education and career planning, the well known and widely used ACT Assessment Program is recommended for use by student applicants at nearly 2,700 colleges, universities, and scholarship programs.

Knox City-O'Brien High School students will have five opportunities during the 1978-79 school year to make use of the national program, which consists of four tests and a two-part questionnaire. Students complete the questionnaire at home as part of the program's registration process, and then take the battery of tests at area test centers on any of five weekend national test dates, said Mrs. LaRue Reeves, school counselor.

The five 1978-79 national test dates (and corresponding registration periods) are:

October 21, 1978 (August 7 - September 22); December 9, 1978 (October 9 - November 10); February 10, 1979 (November 27 - January 12); April 7, 1979 (January 29 - March 9); and June 23, 1979 (March 26 - May 25).

At area test centers on those five dates it takes students about three hours to complete the ACT Assessment's four exams covering subject areas of English, math, social studies, and natural sciences. On any of the five test dates, most local students will take the tests at Abilene, Wichita Falls, or Seymour (December only).

Mrs. Reeves said the test scores provide an assessment of general education development and the questionnaire section information focuses on academic and nonacademic accomplishments and interests, anticipated needs, as well as career and educational interests and plans. The basic student fee may be attained by contacting Mrs. Reeves.

In addition to being used by students and their high school counselors, the extensive information provided by the ACT Assessment is also used by colleges for academic advising, admissions counseling, course sectioning and placement, student services, and institutional research. The students' ACT Assessment reports are sent to only those colleges specifically designated by the respective students.

One of several educational services provided by The American College Testing Program (ACT), the ACT Assessment Program is used each year by more than 900,000 students as part of their education and career planning.

Texas Merit System Broadens Operations

AUSTIN - The Texas Merit System Council enters a new fiscal year October 1 with innovations designed to improve the career dreams and pocketbooks of thousands of Texans.

Merit System is a sometimes misunderstood state program that provides for Texans to use their skills and merit to compete for career opportunities ranging from clerk or secretary to lawyer or architect.

Through sophisticated but standard testing, the Council provides top-notch applicants for jobs with ten state agencies.

Merit System will streamline and broaden its operations during fiscal 1979 to improve its services to career seekers, the taxpayers, and the agencies it serves, explained Director Leo F. Brockmann.

The Council is taking the trauma out of test-taking through orientation workshops, crediting applicants with work experience received through volunteer service, and will set up on-the-job management intern training for bright college graduate students.

Career seekers use the Merit System Council, the closest Texas has to a state civil service system, to be considered for about one-third of the state's 82,748 jobs.

There is nothing new about the program. Born during the Roosevelt Administration, the Texas Merit System Council is now winding up its 38th year.

And though anti-discrimination in government employment is usually associated with the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Texas Merit System Council has been following equal employment opportunity guidelines since 1941.

During fiscal 1977, more than 100,000 persons made applications through Merit System for state jobs. Of that number, 64,290 names were placed on what the Council calls its registers. As a job opening comes up in one of the member state agencies, the top scorers in a classification on the register are sent to the agency for consideration.

That is where Merit System's role ends. Merit System conducts and grades the competitive examinations; the state agency does the hiring.

Public confusion sometimes exists because competitive examinations are not required for employment in state agencies not participating in Merit System.

Various state agencies, such as the Texas Employment Commission, grew out of FDR's New Deal and were funded by Uncle Sam. To avoid the political spoils system in employment, the U.S. required that persons working in federally funded agencies take competitive examinations before being considered for jobs.

Thus the Merit System Council was created.

"There is not anything negative or mysterious about a Merit System examination," Brockmann said. "If people understood why we give tests, they would not mind taking them."

The Texas Merit System Council serves the Employment Commission, Air Control Board, Commission on Alcoholism, Governor's Committee on Aging, Surplus Property Agency, Drug Abuse Division of Community Affairs, Division of Disaster Emergency Services of the Department of Public Safety, and the Departments of Health, Human Resources, and Mental Health-Mental Retardation.

Though the Merit System principle is built around examinations, the examinations are the Council's greatest source of public misunderstanding.

"Developing a good test is a highly precise, detailed process," said Kemp Dixon, head of job analysis and test development. "Job task descriptions in manuals, questionnaires given to current employees, in-depth interviews and consultations with specialists in the field are all a part of the job analysis process. The test development staff must take these findings and devise a fair, job-related examination."

Sample tests are given to employees already established in job areas to help determine their validity before the examination is finally revised and placed in use by the Merit System Council.

"We want people to walk out of the room feeling they took a test that really was for that specific job," said Dixon. Compliments from applicants who take the tests are now frequent, he said.

The Merit System Council in recent months took steps to ease the trauma faced by some who take the examinations. The Council found that some applicants had difficulty with test format and testing procedures and completing application forms. It was also found that the thought of taking the examination caused such anxiety among some applicants it affected their test scores.

Therefore, Merit System representatives began holding a series of orientation workshops around the state to help applicants prepare for the examinations.

Workshops were held in six pilot cities and the Council expects to double that number during the next year.

Another breakthrough in aiding people to enter the state job market was a change in policy to give applicants credit for volunteer work they had performed, but for which they had received no pay.

This policy change was found to be especially helpful to women entering the job market for the first time. Many housewives who had performed years of non-paid volunteer work in civic endeavors now found that work could be to their credit in qualifying for state jobs through the Merit System Council.

During the next months, the Texas Merit System Council will put into full operation a management intern program patterned after the highly successful Presidential Management Intern Program started on a national level under the Civil Service Commission earlier this year.

In the national program, 250 graduate students with Master's degrees in public affairs were selected in competitive testing to work as interns in governmental management, much as a newly graduated physician intern in a hospital before entering general practice.

The Merit System Council has received federal funding to institute a management intern program calling for 25 bright graduate students to begin their careers in management in state agencies.

Dixon explained that Merit System has already started a register for the program with the names of 20 regional graduate students who scored high in the national testing, but who were not selected.

About one-third of them are representatives of minority groups, Dixon said.

KNOX COUNTY NEWS

By Mrs. Dan Gerber

Never guess what food is good for a baby... or what amount should be served. Always ask your doctor or health professionals at a clinic and follow the advice carefully.

During the first year, it's important that a baby experience and enjoy a wide range of foods, in addition to milk or formula. This is a gradual process, following a broad pattern that should eventually include daily servings of foods from each of the four Basic Food Groups.
