TWO MORE BALLOONISTS FOUND

GRAY COUNTY WILL SHARE IN ROAD BUILDING EXPECTED TO START SOON IN 17 COUNTIES

HERE'S THE REAL NEWS
"Joe Boy" Hill, 20-year-old son of President and Mrs. J. A. Hill of West Texas Teachers college at Canyon, is going to the Antarctic regions with Admiral Byrd. They will sail in two stout vessels, the Pacific Fir and the Bear, in exactly two weeks. Young Hill is now on the Fir but will be transferred soon to the Bear. That's for you, the Panhandle will have an unusual interest in this second Byrd expedition.

JOE GROWS UP

"Joe Boy"—Joe Jr. now, please—is known by thousands of teachers throughout the southwest. As the rather shy but always grinning son of the college president, he was a favorite on the campus where he spent nearly all of his life. Never athletic like his older brother, Davis, Joe was a nevertheless a hero-worshiper from early boyhood and his hero was Dick Byrd. In recent years, as he grew up in mind and stature, he conceived the idea of trying for a place on Commander Byrd's second expedition, which will take something like two years to complete. More than a year ago, without the knowledge of his parents, he wrote a frank letter to the Byrd. The expedition then was uncertain. Joe waited, and meanwhile attended Texas university.

CAME THE "BREAK"

Joe's application was referred to Dr. Guy O. Shirey, medical and personnel officer. Dr. Shirey was impressed by Joe's letter, which must have been a masterpiece—with all the yearning of a youthful mind and heart for adventure and achievement. The doctor on August 9 sent the Canyon boy a postal "feeler" to see if he were still interested. On last Friday while in Canyon, this columnist asked Dr. Hill for a file of the official correspondence. On the postal card

LACK OF DETAILS HAS SLOWED STARTING OF PROJECTS

GRAY county, slated to share in the construction of highways as a measure of affording relief to jobless men in 17 Panhandle counties, today awaited fulfillment of promises of long standing.

Meanwhile, several hundred men were to be given work in Potter and Randall counties today as part of the same project. According to Thomas H. McDonald, chief of the U. S. bureau of roads, about $7,500,000 will be spent in this section. Confering with him in Washington Saturday were Col. Lawrence Westbrook, director of state relief, Congressman Marvin Jones, and J. O. Guleke of Amarillo.

MacDonald has asked C. E. Swain, federal road engineer at Fort Worth, to urge the Texas highway department to designate eligible projects for immediate work under the relief program and the regular road building in which the federal government shares.

Under the two programs, Gray county is slated to obtain action on highway 88, highway 152, highway 66 (gap), and the intra-county projects. Whether the aid can be placed on the Pampa-McLean road or possibly used on the branch to Alamed will depend on whether the state or federal government will furnish machinery and materials.

A federal bureau of roads will be set up temporarily in Amarillo, but supervision of work will be done under the direction of W. J. Van London, district state engineer. The Amarillo-Canyon projects are rebuilding and widening highway 5 north to Amarillo creek and widening of the Amarillo-Canyon highway. Randall also is to get a hard-surfaced road to the new Palo Duro park.

Among projects included in the program, and which are to be started as quickly as possible, as worked out by Mr. Van London, are: Dullam—Complete highway 5 and improve highway 56 and 41. Hartley—Highway 5, Dalhart to Channing. Sherman—No. 9 and 56. Hansford—No. 88, Spearman north and west. Moore—No. 9 and 187. Oldham—No. 66 Potter County west for 35 miles.

Randall—Canyon east to Palo Duro park, surfacing; widening No. 9, Amarillo to Canyon. Deaf Smith—No. 33 and 143. Potter—Tascosa trail; improving No. 5 north and east; No. 33 to Marymere crossing; No. 66 west; other connections and feeder roads. Armstrong—Paving highway 5. Donley—Paving highway 5.

Carson—Lateral road, Borger to Pampa; lateral road, Skellytown, south through White Deer to Groom. Wheeler—Lateral road, Wheeler east to Oklahoma line; lateral road, Old Mobette to New Mobette. Hutchinson—Highway 117, Stinnett north; lateral road, Borger to Pampa; lateral road, Borger to Whittenburg; lateral road, Borger to Four Corners; highway 136, Four Corners to Sanford.

Chilcote—Highway 117, Perryton east; No. 4, Perryton south. Lipscomb—Highway 117, across county. Hemphill—Highway 4, Canadian to north county line; Highway 4, near Wheeler county line; highway 170 from No. 4 Oklahoma line.

Roberts—Old highway 33, and south from Miami to Laketon. A complete survey of teams and trucks available in each of the counties is being made, said Mr. Van London, with a view to using local equipment on each project. This plan, it is believed, will be of untold benefit to farmers.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce commission today authorized the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway to construct a 20-mile branch in Eddy county, New Mexico, to save potash bearing beds.

THIS SECTION RECEIVES RAIN DURING SUNDAY

Scattered Showers on Plains; .35 Of Inch Here

One of those very infrequent afternoon rains left .35 of an inch of precipitation in Pampa Sunday, and a light shower fell from an overcast sky today.

The sky remained partly clouded during the morning.

By The Associated Press

HEAVY rains brought much-needed relief to crops and lowered temperatures materially throughout North Central Texas last night and today. Overcast skies generally in that section of the state and the weather bureau forecast indicated there would be additional showers. From a low-pressure area, local conditions developed in mid afternoon yesterday, causing high winds and scattered showers. A hard storm through Denton county caused slight damage to cotton and disrupted rural telephone and telephone lines. Many small creeks left their banks.

The weather man predicted that the rains would send the Trinity river out of its banks between Fort Worth and Dallas in the next 24 to 48 hours, with a gauge reading of 30 feet, compared with 18 feet at 7 a. m. today at Dallas. The watershed to the north of those two cities was thoroughly drenched.

Although the weather at Austin, Del Rio, San Antonio, Galveston and Brownsville was reported as clear in the 7 a. m. government report, Fort Arthur's rainfall in the previous 24 hours totalled 1.66 inches. Palestine 80. Fort Worth 62. Dallas 56. Abilene 54 and Houston 22. After a half-inch rain at Oney, the weather began to clear.

GUS MORELAND IS OFF POORLY BUT GETS 72 SCORE

KENWOOD COUNTRY CLUB. Cincinnati, Sept. 11 (AP)—Holding a 30-foot putt on the home green, C. Ross (Sandy) Somerville, Canadian holder of the United States amateur golf championship, shot a 70, one under par today, to tie Jack Munger of Dallas, national schoolboy champion, for the early lead in the first round of the 36-hole qualifying test.

KENWOOD COUNTRY CLUB. Cincinnati, Sept. 11 (AP)—Gus Moreland of Dallas and Pat Sawyer of Minneapolis today led the early finishers through the first 18 holes of the 36-hole qualifying play of the national amateur golf tournament. Each turned in a 72, one over par. Moreland, three times Texas champion and holder of the Trans-Mississippi title, got away to a bad start when he took a 6 on the first hole. He turned in a birdie four on the third, however, and finished the first nine one over perfect figures.

His card:

Starting on the homeward trip, the Texan shot par on every hole and narrowly missed several birdies. Par, in 443 444 354—35—71.

Jobless Persons Must Re-Register

Re-registration of the needy of this section will begin tomorrow morning in the basement of the city hall. Everyone receiving relief thru the Pampa Welfare Board and those who expect to need relief in the future are asked to register.

The blanks just received have places for much additional information needed in the work. A special registration booth will be arranged for the work.

Registration of unemployed in the area will be started soon. It will be for every person out of work regardless of whether relief is needed or not. The government desires to secure definite information as to the number out of employment, regardless of their finances.

HIDE SLAYING MOTIVE

SANTA CRUZ, Calif., Sept. 11 (AP)—From a 43-year-old "trial" Francis Grace Sr., 57, retired capitalist, until she killed him, authorities here today sought a motive for the slaying. The nurse, Miss Frida Wilhelm August Wetz, accused of shooting Grace in the garden of his summer home Saturday night, refused to give a reason for the slaying. District Attorney Frank Murphy said.

Horrors of Storm Described

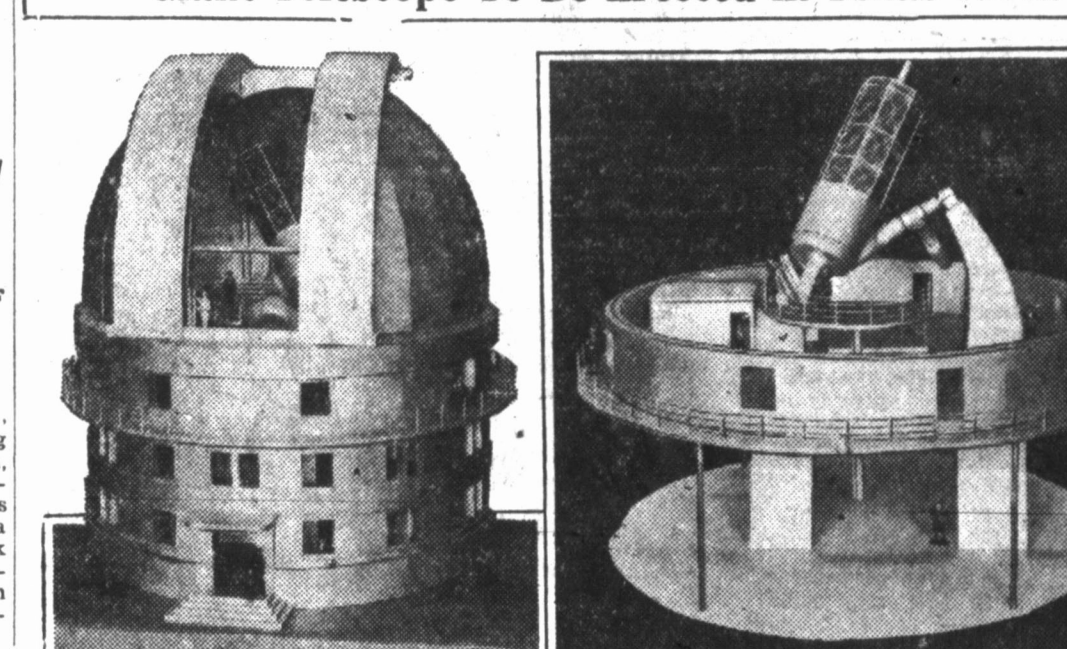

Eight Persons Die In South Dakota

FORT THOMPSON, S. D., Sept. 11 (AP)—A cloudburst that swelled tiny creeks into raging streams took eight lives and caused heavy damage on the Crow Creek Indian reservation.

Members of two Indian families, trapped by the onrushing waters as they slept yesterday, were drowned. Fifteen other persons were marooned in precarious places of safety for some time before they were rescued.

A vivid description of the recent hurricane in the Rio Grande valley is contained in a letter to Ernest Wilson from his sister, Catherine, at Weslaco. The letter follows:
Dear brother and sister:
It is now 7 a. m. I'm writing you while I'm waiting to see if the house blows over. This terrible storm struck yesterday about 11, and has been blowing and raining hard ever since. Its traveling velocity is 75 miles per hour and is 80 miles wide. It's awful, awful.
We stayed dressed and up all night. The big china tree is lying across the porch. All of our fruit is on the ground. The leaves are stripped off. The garage is flat on the ground and roofs are off of every building. All of the willow trees are down, too.
Our chicken houses and pig pens are gone, and our house is rocking. The water is just pouring in. We worked all night mopping and emptying vessels. The whole eight rooms are standing in water.
I don't suppose Brownsville is even on the map any more. Every light pole and telephone line is down.

Giant Telescope To Be Erected in Texas Wilds

MCDONALD Observatory, on which work has started in the Davis Mountains of southwestern Texas, will house the second largest telescope in the world, models of which are shown above. Left is a replica of the observatory, showing the telescope with its 80-inch mirror and 62-foot revolving dome; the length of the tube is 26 feet. The elevated observing platforms and the spectroscopic rooms are shown at the right. The observatory will be operated jointly by the University of Texas, to which a $900,000 bequest for its construction was left by the late W. J. McDonald of Paris, Tex., and the University of Chicago. The latter institution will supply specialists and share in cost of operation. The largest telescope in the world is the 100-inch reflector at Mt. Wilson.

STANTON WILL GO ON TRIAL IN TULIA SOON

Alleged Slayer of Sheriff Well Known—No Venue Change Yet Asked.

TULIA, Sept. 11 (AP)—The selection of a jury for the trial of Ed "Perchmouth" Stanton for the slaying of Sheriff John C. Moseley several months ago started today.

District Attorney Meade F. Griffin said that no change of venue motion had been filed, and that E. A. Watson, of Crosbyton, counsel for the defendant, said he did not contemplate asking for a transfer of the case.

A special venire of 108 men had been called for jury service. Griffin expressed doubt that the jury would be completed today because of the wide publicity given the case and the acquaintance of the veniremen with the purported facts.

McLery was shot to death, about two blocks from the court house square, after stopping two men and a woman for questioning. A short time later Stanton and Glenn Hunsucker were indicted for the murder. Stanton was captured in New Mexico after Hunsucker and an officer had been killed in a gun battle.

Five days following the slaying of Moseley, Deputy Sheriff Joe Brown was killed in a similar manner near Rhame, Texas. Stanton and Hunsucker were also indicted in that slaying. Hunsucker's mother, who was with the pair at Rhame, recently was given two years in the penitentiary for her connection in the case.

BOOK MATINEE TOMORROW AT LA NORA TO BENEFIT LIBRARY OF HIGH SCHOOL—KIDS GOING

Children Under 12 to Be Admitted For Good Volume

CHILDREN, here's an opportunity to see a fine movie virtually free! Here's how: Take a good book to the La Nora theater tomorrow—Tuesday—between 4 and 6 p. m. Present it at the door and walk in. The Junior chamber of commerce and the theater are sponsoring the event. Children's books and books by classical authors are desired and they will be given to the high school library, which needs them.

According to Miss Ruth Siddons, librarian, the classics are especially needed. However, the better books by popular authors will be accepted. Miss Siddons will cull out books not deemed desirable for placing in the high school library.

Children are urged to tell their friends so that a big audience will be present at 4 o'clock tomorrow, and that incidentally, many books will be contributed to the library.

The Jaycee committee to be at the doors will include R. R. Watson, chairman, A. J. Johnson, and Charlie D'ekel.

State Order on Allowable To Be Changed Slightly

ANGOLA, La., Sept. 11 (AP)—Scores of armed guards today began to close in on a canebrake 7 miles northeast of Angola prison farm where 11 desperate convicts were believed surrounded after a bloody Sunday prison break in which three men were killed and at least four others wounded.

The order reducing the output of oil was made to place the Texas oil fields within the production set by national code until after a state-wide hearing in Austin Saturday, when the output will be allocated. The state output was 1,216,000 barrels, but that figure has been reduced to 975,200 barrels under the new code.

BOTH ARE ILL AND HAPPY TO SEE RESCUER

CUT TELEPHONE WIRE TO ATTRACT LINE REPAIRMAN

SUDBURY, Ont., Sept. 11 (AP)—Ward T. Van Orman and Frank A. Trotter, American balloonists who participated in the James Gordon Bennett cup race from Chicago and who had been missing more than a week, were found today between Sudbury and Abitibi canyon in northern Ontario. They were ill from the hardships they had undergone in the bush country.

In order that the outside world might learn of their plight the two balloonists cut down a telegraph pole, knowing that repairmen would be sent out to fix the damage. They attached to the pole the following note:

"This telephone pole was cut Sept. 10 by U. S. Goodyear balloon team of W. T. Van Orman and Frank Trotter in the hope that repairmen would aid us in getting to civilization south along the high voltage line. Please come after us. We have a gun and some food, but are both sick, evidently from ptomaine poisoning. Fire your gun three times and we will answer. Please hurry."

Patrolman James Barrett was sent out this morning to determine what was wrong with the telephone line. When he saw the note he did not stop to repair the damage but proceeded with the search.

Barrett found the balloonists in a camp at tower No. 38, a line man's outpost, about 5 miles from where he discovered the note. He gave them such food as he had and returned to repair the line.

Both Van Orman and Trotter were in bad shape. Barrett reported to the head office of the Ontario Hydro-Electric company in Sudbury. Their clothing was cut to ribbons and the soles of their shoes were worn through.

Arrangements were started to provide the balloonists with food and other necessities and to get them to the Canadian National railway in the vicinity of Laford station as quickly as possible.

Blood Is Needed To Save Life of Pampa Woman

Volunteers to give a blood transfusion held vital in the treatment of Mrs. Anna McFarlane at Pampa hospital are needed at once, it was stated today. The blood required is type 2. Many persons have volunteered for a second transfusion but the blood of the right type has not been found, hence this plea for more offers.

State Order on Allowable To Be Changed Slightly

The railroad commission has revised its order cutting production in the Panhandle 25 per cent of production. The new order reduces production of all allowable oil 35 per cent unless the reduction brings production to less than 20 barrels a day. In that case the well will be cut to 20 barrels.

The order reducing the output of oil was made to place the Texas oil fields within the production set by national code until after a state-wide hearing in Austin Saturday, when the output will be allocated. The state output was 1,216,000 barrels, but that figure has been reduced to 975,200 barrels under the new code.

REX THEATER PICTURE HAS HAPPY ENDING

LUKAS AND STUART TO FIND HAPPINESS IN CINEMA

Paul Lukas and Gloria Stuart, who play the romantic leads in Universal's "The Secret of the Blue Room," now playing at the Rex theater, find a happy culmination to their screen love at the end of the drama. Lukas is the lucky one of three suitors for Gloria's hand in the production and after braving many hair-raising perils together and sharing in the excitement which pervaded the haunted castle, they find mutual happiness ahead.

However, in "The Kiss Before the Mirror," the Universal production in which the pair were featured together prior to "The Secret of the Blue Room," the playwright had a much more tragic twist to give to their love, as Death put an end to it forever. Lukas played the role of an insanely jealous husband, who, suspecting his beautiful young wife of being unfaithful, followed her to a rendezvous and shot her in the arms of her lover. The terrific remorse and overwhelming regret which followed his act won him the sympathy of every audience, just as the "happy ending" of "The Secret of the Blue Room" will win their smiles of approval.

The part of Irene von Hellsdorf is much more to Miss Stuart's liking than that of the young wife in "Kiss Before the Mirror," for, according to her, she cannot feel sympathy for the action of the woman whom she was called upon to portray. But as an artist Miss Stuart feels it necessary emotion, and rather than be "typed" as a sweet young heroine in all of her parts, she took the opportunity to play a type extremely opposite to any she had ever essayed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11. (P)—Stock prices moved up sharply today in quiet trading and several issues reached new highs for the year. Professionals pushed up the alcohol and other groups followed. The upturn was attributed partly to a renewal of inflationary psychology and to the fact that offerings were scarce in all departments. The close was strong, with gains ranging from 1 to 5 or more points. Transfers approximated 1,900,000 shares.

WHEAT IS STRONGER

CHICAGO, Sept. 11. (P)—Wheat prices scored gains today after an irregular start. The upturns were attributed to speculative buying based on a statement of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace suggesting that there might be a strong dose of inflation within the next three months.

Opening 3/4 off to 1/2 up, wheat later rose all around to well above Saturday's finish. Corn started at 1/4 decline to 1/2 advance, and subsequently showed a general upturn.

SPOT COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 11. (P)—Spot cotton closed steady, 25 points up. Sales 7,273; low middling 8.16, middling 8.76, good middling 9.16, receipts 3,928, stock 657,511.

COTTON IS HEDGED

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 11. (P)—Cotton opened a shade easier today. Cables were considerably better than due but there was a good deal of hedge-selling at the start. As a result, prices opened unchanged to four points up. October declined after the start to 8 1/4 and December remained unchanged from the opening at 8 3/4, the general market being unchanged to three points up compared with Saturday's close.

After the hedges had been absorbed, prices rallied to 8.88 for October and 8.90 for December, showing net gains of 8 to 7 points. Later in the first hour prices eased one to two points from the highs and the market was comparatively quiet and featureless.

Mrs. Edna Isom was a week-end visitor from White Deer.

was the following:

"If you are interested in volunteering your services to Admiral Byrd on the two-year sojourn in southern ice, drop in and see me (at Boston Navy Yard) any day. You of course understand that the admiral is selecting his men very carefully. I know you want to go but there is only small pocket money in it. Other things offset that, as you know. Long-hand note: Personnel is now being selected. Can you get me? I like your letter and recommendations."

OFF TO BOSTON
Concerning the expedition, Dr. Shirley wrote to Dr. Hill as follows concerning Joe's application:

"Many times I have found out about fine boys, in the admiral's files who could easily drop in on me, and with Joe's credentials I couldn't keep from telling him the expedition was getting ready to go south the last of September."

"Men are very carefully selected, and to be turned down is the most common thing that happens to most of the best boys. However, I thought if he were coming east this summer he might be the man we need. Of course, we need specialists and we are getting them. They are volunteering for places far beneath their rank."

"Joe must be able to do a man's work, be a good comrade, willing to undergo the hardest hardships, and if selected to go it is with no cost to you at all."

HE IS ACCEPTED!

About three weeks ago young Hill went to Boston. On arrival he was immediately told that he had been accepted. So he wired this electrifying message to his father and mother:

"SELECTED FOR EXPEDITION STOP CANNOT COME BEFORE SAILING STOP STATIONED ON PACIFIC FIR UNTIL TRANSFERRED TO BEAR STOP WIRE TWENTY DOLLARS HOTEL MANAGER IMMEDIATELY STOP DON'T GIVE TO PAPERS JOE." Later on that same day he telegraphed this to his mother:

"HAVE DINNER WITH BYRD TONIGHT STOP WILL WRITE LONG LETTER TONIGHT TELLING ALL I KNOW STOP THINGS VERY INDEFINITE YET STOP ONLY KNOW I AM GOING STOP KEEP CHIN UP JOE."

"PERFECT PEOPLE"

Joe wrote next day that "Admiral and Mrs. Byrd are perfect people, and I think they liked me very much. I hope so. I also like Dr. Shirley very much. He is largely responsible for my place, being from Texas. . . . I will be pretty busy until I leave. We have to dry dock the Fir and give her a paint job."

Temporarily, Joe was made Admiral Byrd's personal attendant. He was soon to be transferred to the Bear in charge of dogs. He wrote, in part:

"The men on board are from nearly everywhere. The captain is a Norwegian, and can hardly speak English. Several transatlantic fliers are to be on the trip. . . . I wish you would send me a pair of my old shoes, the biology set in my trunk's top drawer, with scissors, thread, needles, etc., also bathing suit and a pair of old white trousers of fair condition."

A MOTHER'S PRAYERS

Joe will sail into thick Antarctic ice with a mother's prayers accompanying him every mile. He knows that, and will be comforted by the knowledge. Mrs. Hill has been "mother" to hundreds of college students. "Joe Boy" will be much in her mind in the next two years; she will share his troubles and who shall say her triumphs and hardships will be less than his when the radio is silenced by storms and the ships are in danger of being crushed, like eggshells, by ice? . . . We recall an incident which will illustrate. The Hon. Josephus Daniels of North Carolina about ten years ago made a lecture tour through Texas and stopped at Canyon. He attended a Buffalo football game as the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Hill. Davis Hill, then a slender youth, was rushed in to the game a crucial moment. Mrs. Hill sat tense, gripping a small handkerchief and hoping David would not "get hurt." She was a typical mother of a football player—proud, yet fearful.

BETTER THAN GAME

Mr. Daniels, with an editor's sense of the dramatic, edged around in his seat and lost interest in the game, except as it was reflected in the motions and evident emotions of "Mother Hill." That night his editorial correspondence to his paper was a masterful tribute to Mrs. Hill, a "football mother." . . . This month Davis is the "brother of an explorer" and Mother Hill, well known as the president of the seventh district of federated clubs, is watching another "game" and one that for two years is going to be productive of mingled hopes and fears. Dr. and Mrs. Hill will take Joe Jr.'s command to keep their chins up, as they know Joe will be doing. But it will be heard, and this section will share their anxieties and thrill to the news of gigantic achievements by the Byrd expedition in behalf of mankind, science, and the United States of America.

DANCIGER ROADRUNNERS DEFEAT ALL STARS, 6 TO 2, IN SUNDAY GAME

Upsets Feature First Day's Play In Pampa Country Club Tourney Sunday

NEWSOME FOR STARS HITS AT PERFECT CLIP

EXTRA BASE WALLEPS BY VICTORS ARE DECISIVE

The Danciger Roadrunners defeated the Pampa All Stars yesterday at Danciger Park in a fast, well played game by the score of 6 to 2.

The All Stars made things interesting for the Roadrunners and, but for two poorly played flys in the first inning that resulted in two runs and an error in the sixth that allowed two more to filter across the plate, played a better game than the score indicates.

"Pee-Wee" Bass, of the Phillips "66" team, was on the mound for the All Stars and pitched a good game, but had difficulty in keeping his "extra-base" ball in check. The Roadrunners' ten hits were good for nineteen bases. All of the first four Roadrunner hits were of the extra base variety and were good for eleven of the nineteen bases.

Newsome hits well. Freddie Newsome was the star on offense for the All Stars. He collected four out of four, for eight bases, consisting of two doubles, a triple and a single and scored both of his team's runs. Had the remainder of his team been as potent at bat as Freddie, the game might have ended differently. Caddy's single which scored Newsome in the fifth, Hickey's single to right in the sixth and an infield hit by Colard in the first inning composed the balance of the All Stars attack.

The Roadrunners took the lead in the first inning and never relinquished it thereafter. Wilson, first man up, ran the count to three and two and then socked one to right for three bases. Bass then bled down and retired Stewart and Carroll on strikes, but let a fast one get away from him when Vaughn came up that Whitney connected with for a home run to center field. Both outfielders were out of position on these two hits which were just ordinary fly balls, and, as a result, two runs scored. McLary's double to left center, and Lister's single to center in the fourth made it three to nothing.

With one down in the fifth Newsome got his second hit, a triple to center and scored on Caddy's single to right. The Roadrunners got that one back in their half of the same inning. Wilson, first man up, was out and was sacrificed to second by Stewart. Carroll scratched a hit off Bass' glove and when a double steal was tried, Wilson scored, but Carroll was trapped between first and second, but in the rundown Cahill fumbled Baldwin's throw and Carroll got back to first safely.

McLary's single to center, Cox's double to left and a walk to Lister filled the bases for the Roadrunners in the sixth, but a fast double play, Bass to Caddy to Marshall, retired two of them. Wilson followed with an easy grounder to Baldwin which should have retired the side, but Jimmy had his sights trained too high and threw the ball away, two runs scoring as a result.

Newsome's double to left and infield out by Caddy and Warren, who batted for Marshall, accounted for the All Stars' other run in the seventh.

Great Catches Made. Stewart's catch of Cahill's fly in the second, Vaughn's catch of Colard's fly in the sixth, Warren's catch of Cox's fly in the eighth and a stop by Carroll of Cahill's drive in the fifth were the most spectacular fielding plays.

Bulls pitched a nice game for the Roadrunners and had the All Stars eating out of his hand, except Newsome. He whiffed five men, allowed seven hits, and walked only one. The two teams met again Thursday afternoon.

WITH EIGHT LETTERMEN IN CAMP, McLEAN IS POWERFUL

Harvesters Will Face Hard Test When Rush Brings Fighting Tigers Here.

McLEAN, Sept. 11.—Facing one of the hardest schedules in years, the McLean high school Tigers have closed a period of four weeks intensive drill in preparation for the 1933 grid campaign.

Coach Garrison B. Rush has a squad of 25 aspirants which is fast rounding into condition. Rush, who is beginning his fourth year as local mentor, is somewhat optimistic in view of the eight returning lettermen.

This list is headed by the co-captains, "Cricket" Christian, quarter, and Crockett, halfback. Dowell at the other halfback position and Toller, full, make up a veteran backfield combination. This quartet is light, having an average weight of only 149 pounds, but is fast, shifty, and aggressive. The four lettermen in the line are Robinson, an end; Ellison and Bogan, tackles; and McCarty, center.

The new recruits are a promising group of youngsters who are brilliantly proving their ability in carrying out the assignments on both offense and defense.

The team's schedule is composed of some of the strongest Class B competition in the Panhandle as well as a clash with the Pampa Harvesters, Class A contenders, on September 22. The locals open the season September 15, when they entertain the Wheeler Mustangs on Tiger field.

Sikes Coming To Pampa Tomorrow

The result of Mr. Sikes' lessons have been showing up in recent golf tournaments where his pupils have been showing marked improvement in their golf.

NEWS Auditor Is Boxing Chief For This City

R. C. Sturgeon, auditor for the Pampa Daily NEWS, has been named boxing and wrestling commissioner for Pampa. His appointment, signed by Jack Flynn, commissioner of labor, was received this morning.

The letter stated in part, "Your duties will be the supervision over all boxing and wrestling matches in your city, and to see that all rules and regulations are complied with, and to further check gate receipts, seeing to it that the state receives 3 per cent tax on gross receipts."

Mr. Sturgeon is a boxing and wrestling fan and also knows considerable about the games, having been interested in both on the Pacific coast a number of years ago.

The new local commissioner declared this morning that every boxing and wrestling match held in Pampa would be "up to par" or there would be no purses and the participants would be barred from participating further in the state.

Sturgeon has always been for clean sport and fair tactics in the ring.

The American Legion has the permit to promote boxing in Pampa and they are scheduled to name a promoter at a meeting tomorrow night.

Later this morning it was learned that Dr. R. A. Webb had been appointed medical examiner for Pampa. He will examine all participants in athletic bouts and will be present to pass on injured players in combat. He can, if advisable, bar injured men from entering the ring.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Russell of Miami at Pampa hospital Saturday night, a daughter.

Olin E. Hinkle has returned from a business trip to Canyon.

A. C. Adams of Jericho was in the city Saturday.

Horned Frogs To Play First Game Four Days After They Begin Training.

By The Associated Press. Coaches Francis Schmidt, "Bear" Wolf and their Texas Christian university football warriors will be the first to go over the top in the 1933 Southern Conference campaign.

The Froggies, last year conference champions and one of the outstanding aggregations this season, will test their line plunges and end runs against Coach Ray Morrison's Austin college Kangaroos on the night of September 15, or exactly four days after they start training.

Texas Christian will have two games under their collective belt before another conference teams swings into action. On the night of September 22, the Frogs invade Brownwood for a non-conference affair against the Daniel Baker Hill Billies.

The following day, September 23, will see the conference football guns booming at maximum with Texas university against Southwest, Southern Methodist playing the North Texas Teachers, Arkansas university combating the College of Ozarks, Texas A. & M. fighting Trinity university, and Rice institute playing Texas A. & I.

First Conference Games. The initial Southwest Conference game will be October 7. It will pit Texas Christian against the university of Arkansas at Fayetteville. On the following Saturday, October 14, the conference race really starts with Southern Methodist playing Rice and Baylor tangling with Arkansas.

AMATEUR GOLF EVENT NOW IS OPEN AFFAIR

ONTARIO'S SOMERVILLE HAS BARE CHANCE TO REPEAT

KENWOOD COUNTRY CLUB, Cincinnati, Sept. 11 (AP)—A brilliant array of 137 of America's front rank amateur golfers set forth today to do battle in the nation's 37th national championship.

Thirty-two players striving to gain the crown now held by C. Ross Somerville of London, Ont., will emerge Tuesday night from the 18-hole qualifying rounds of medal play. From then on each match play will be 36 holes of match play each day until the 1933 championship is crowned Saturday.

Over the second longest course in the history of the championship—6,780 yards with a par 71—the battle here at Kenwood retains all the drama of its predecessors, with the possible exception of 1930 when Bobby Jones, who was here today, made his grand slam. Observers believed a paid of 75's or 76's would qualify.

This year it is admitted on all sides that the race is a wide-open affair, pointed with the question: Will the coveted trophy remain out of the United States for another year or will Somerville's name be engraved upon it for the second time along with that of Travis, Egan, Travers, Oulmet, Evans, and Jones?

The Canadian finished his practice rounds Saturday without breaking Kenwood's par, but his shots were good and his putter was working its usual magic. Dozens of other players here shot in the low 70's in practice rounds. Somerville was paired with Jess Sweetser of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., former champion, today.

Johnny Goodman, of Omaha, Neb., the national open champion and runner-up to Somerville last year at Five Farms, is rated one of the chief contenders although he didn't score exceptionally well in practice but had lies in Kenwood's comparatively new fairways played havoc with Goodman's iron game.

There were five former champions seeking to regain the laurels they once held—Sweetser, H. Chandler Egan of Del Monte, Calif.; Chick Evans of Chicago; Max R. Marston of Gulf Falls, Pa., and Jesse Guilford of Auburndale, Mass.

Miss Eileen Pengra returned home from Pampa hospital yesterday after a minor operation.

September 9 on non-conference melees. Southern Methodist against Texas Christian at Fort Worth and Rice Institute against Baylor at Waco.

are the closing games December 2. On December 9, Southern Methodist goes to San Francisco to play St. Mary's.

Poor Teams. As the season nears, Southwest Conference coaches are groaning the same old blues—that they will have a poor team because of inexperience or lack of material. Each season it is the same tune. Sometimes new words are added.

As a matter of fact the coaches can not expect any sympathy. Man to man, coach to coach and school to school, the conference race looks as one that will boast several strong teams and should remain in the doubtful column until the last two games.

Coach Ray Morrison has predicted that Texas A. & M. would win. "Why, we haven't much chance," he replied Coach Madison Bell. "But it does look like the S. M. U. Mustangs will have a great machine."

"I'll have a poor team this year," sighed Morrison.

Yep, the football season is coming up over the horizon.

Buffaloes Are To Meet Mentor On Field Today

CANYON, Sept. 11.—Fifteen Buffalo letter men, together with 17 members of last year's squad were expected to meet Coach Al Baggett today when the football training camp at the West Texas Teachers college opens.

Coach Baggett is highly pleased over the prospects for the season as he has checked over the possible men who will answer his call for training. A large number of new men have been here during the past week seeking information regarding W. T., and from every indication the training camp will be one of the largest ever held in the college.

The new coach has a real problem on his hands whipping the squad into shape for the opening game of the season, which will be with Southwestern at Weatherford, Oklahoma. The Southwestern team started training on Sept. 1, but the Buffaloes were forced by the rules of Southwestern conference not to open before the 10th of September.

Captain "Cow" Williams, fullback, is working with Baggett in making preparation for the season's opening.

The following will be the schedule for the season:

Sept. 22, Southwestern Oklahoma at Weatherford.

Sept. 29, Simmons of Abilene, at Canyon.

Oct. 6, Central Oklahoma Teachers at Canyon.

Oct. 13, McMurry College at Canyon.

Oct. 20, East Central Teachers at Ada, Okla.

Oct. 28, O. C. U. Goldbugs at Canyon (tentative).

NEW ORLEANS MUST DEFEAT MEMPHIS NOW

PLAY-OFF SERIES IS TO OPEN WEDNESDAY IN MEMPHIS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 11 (AP)—Ownership of the 1933 Southern Association pennant rested between New Orleans and Memphis today, although the 154-game schedule had run its course.

New Orleans won the second half of the split season from Memphis yesterday when Fred Johnson pitched the Pels to a 7 to 0 victory over the Chicks in a last day double-header after the Chicks had taken the first game, 6 to 1.

As winners of the two races, the teams will meet in a play-off series. These play here Wednesday and Thursday, and at New Orleans Saturday and Sunday. If another game is needed, it will be held at New Orleans.

Here is how the two team stood in the second half race:

New Orleans—won 47, lost 31. Memphis—won 45, lost 31.

Their standing on the entire season gave Memphis the edge.

Memphis—won 95, lost 58.

New Orleans—won 88, lost 65.

Frank Orum Waddey, Chattanooga's lefthanded outfielder, was established as the champion batsman of the league with an average of .301.

YANK TENNIS PRESTIGE HITS BOTTOM AGAIN

CRAWFORD BEATEN BY PERRY IN FIVE SETS ON SUNDAY

PERRY BEATS—10..... NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—The flower of American tennis, once flourishing in every clime, was wilted about the edges today and no water in sight.

Frederick J. Perry, dashing young British star, held this country's most coveted title, the national championship, and recovery of the Davis cup seemed further away than at any time since the French captured it at Germantown in 1927.

Perry, hero of Great Britain's successful challenge for the cup at Paris in July, completed his all-conquering campaign with a blistering five-set victory over blond Jack Crawford of Australia in the final match of the championship at Forest Hills yesterday.

Fourteen thousand spectators, sitting in unhappily at the first all-foreign final since Rene Lacoste and Henri Cochet of France fought it out in 1929, saw the versatile Perry tire Crawford out in the first three bitterly played sets and then overwhelm him in the last two. The scores were 6-3, 11-13, 4-6, 6-0, 6-1.

The very brilliance of Perry's play against the Australian, who already held the championships of his own country, England, and France for the year, emphasized to the gallery the tremendous task Uncle Sam faces in trying to recover the international cup supremacy it once held. As long as Perry is playing in his present form and has assistance from a star of H. W. (Bunny) Austin's calibre, it is difficult to imagine any nation taking the Davis cup from England's shores.

J. O. Wilkins of McLean transacted business here Saturday.

Charles C. Stewart of Roxana was here on business recently.

Mrs. H. E. Hood was dismissed from Worley hospital Sunday.

was enough to settle the eventual outcome.

President Gardner said Monday that Ziggy Sears, Steve Basil, Lee Ballanfant and Kober had been selected to umpire the final series. From these, two will be named to work in the Dixie series against the Southern Association champions.

Fabian Kowalk, who beat Houston in the opening game last Thursday, will start Tuesday night for San Antonio. He has won twenty-two games this season. Hank Thormahlen or Jorgens probably will start for Galveston. Extra seats have been installed in the San Antonio park to care for the large crowd expected.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—Training completed, Barney Ross and Tony Canzoneri settled down today to the nerve-racking wait before they can step into the ring at the Polo grounds tomorrow night for their 15-round lightweight championship battle while Promoter Tim Mara counted the dollars as they rolled in a steady stream into his box offices.

MAINE HOLDS STRATEGIC POWER AS STATE VOTES ON WHISKEY

COUNTIES WILL DECIDE ISSUE --NO MAJORITY

TRADITIONALLY DRY -- DOUBTFUL ON EVE OF BALLOTING

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 11 (P)—Maine's polling booths opened today for a vote on repeal of the 18th amendment which most observers looked upon as a preliminary skirmish in a fight by repealists to wipe the state bone dry laws from the constitution.

Anti-repeal leaders were not hesitant in saying they saw a possible threat to the more than 75 years of state prohibition in the event Maine today should join the 25 other states which already have signified disapproval of the federal prohibitory laws.

The polls, opening at 6 a. m. (E. S.T.), will close at 5 p. m. in communities of less than 300 population, and at 7 p. m. elsewhere. While the state supreme court ruled the constitutional convention on repeal must be a deliberative body truly representative of the people, there was no assurance it necessarily would be representative of the people's will by today's vote.

Eighty delegates will be chosen from the 16 counties. Listed without designation as to their belief on repeal or retention, the names of four to 28 delegates appear alphabetically on the ballots of the various counties.

A majority in each county will decide whether wet or dry delegates will represent the county, but the possibility existed that by a close vote the state majority might be for repeal and the convention delegation of opposite tenet or vice versa. Leaders of both factions expected comparatively light balloting.

Skelly Oilers In Victory Sunday

The Skellytown Oilers, senior team, defeated the Pampa Indians, local juniors, 7 to 4 on the Talley addition diamond yesterday afternoon in the last game of the season for the locals. The young Pampa nine had a wonderful season, winning 11 and losing 5 games. They played some of the best teams in this section.

Trenary pitched great ball for the Indians yesterday, allowing the senior aggregation only 8 hits, while the Indians got to Lefty Carroll for 7 bingles. Wayne Kelley caught for the locals and Williams for Skellytown.

The Indians pulled the only triple play on a Pampa diamond this year when Trenary took a terrific drive, threw to White at third to catch a man off, and the latter threw to Helskell at first to complete the triple play. The Indians also made a pretty double play on an attempted double steal by the Oilers. Kelley nipped a man going to second, Woodward making the tag in time to throw back to Kelley at home to get the runner coming from third.

LOCAL OIL MAN THINKS FAIR EQUAL TO YEAR IN COLLEGE

Keeping a promise made before he left recently, C. E. McGrew has written to Gilmore N. Nunn, general manager of The NEWS, a letter giving his impressions of the world's fair.

The letter follows, in part: "Until I visited this wonderful exhibition, the significance of 'A Century of Progress' was just another slogan to me, but an inspection of the 1933 exposition was a revelation.

"One sees, by easy stages and in simple form, the story of scientific discoveries and inventions and their applications to industry which have made life today so different from the world of a century ago. Along the lake shore there have sprung up giants of architectural beauty unfamiliar in form, unique in conception, arrangement, and decoration. These massive structures typify the purpose of A Century of Progress—new ideas, new ideals, new methods, new discoveries, coupled with the magnificent, colorful illumination. They are significant of the progress of our American people in the last century.

"The hall of science is an outstanding example of the modern architecture as well as being, in my opinion, the most interesting of exhibitions. Imagine a fascinating encyclopedia come to life and spread out for one to see. That is how the exhibits in the hall of science seem to me. The world's greatest scientists have made it possible for us to see their mastery over diseases.

"The travel and transport building shows every mode of transportation from Bible times up to the present day. The first Pullman car ever built is seen, then the latest in all-aluminum, air-conditioned compartment Pullmans. The 'Royal Scot,' the fastest train in England, which is Great Britain's contribution to the fair, is also interesting.

"The federal building, quite imposing with its three pylons representing the three divisions of the federal government, has an array of exhibits of the various branches of the government. I thought the department of the treasury most interesting. One can see the first money used in the United States. On the two sides of the triangular court are the exhibits of the various states, each depicting the progress in agriculture, manufacturing, business, and the like.

"The electrical building is a drama of progress. One sees from the beginning the romance of electricity, the pageant of light from the old lamps up to the latest methods of electrical lighting. An inspection of Admiral Byrd's ship, the City of New York, proves equally interesting. "The midway is just another lot of bunk that you have seen hundreds of times at fairs and carnivals. The most spectacular treat is the sky ride at night across the lagoon. The grounds below it are a riot of colors, a fairy land. Never have I seen such gorgeous illumination. The multicolored lights change in hue and intensity constantly.

"To summarize, I think a thorough inspection of A Century of Progress is equal to a year in college."

D. W. Troy was here from Skellytown Saturday.

Benefit Party For P-T. A. Is Event of Week-End

McLEAN, Sept. 11.—One of the liveliest social events of the season was the garden party given by the Study club at the home of Mrs. T. A. Massey from 4:30 to 6:30 Friday, honoring the lady members of the faculty. The entire club membership formed a receiving line to welcome the teachers.

Chairs were comfortably arranged on the lawn. The east portico was transformed into an arbor with cut flowers and hanging bouquets and made cheerful by the musical notes from the bird cage where the pet canary held sway. Here the guests were served delicious punch by Mrs. Ed Dishman, Mrs. C. O. Greene, and Mrs. Massey.

A program of unusual interest was heard. Mrs. Cecil G. Goff, club president, welcomed the visitors. Mrs. W. E. Bogan gave an appreciated reading in child dialect. Mrs. Ed Dishman, club secretary, read greetings from Mrs. G. C. Boswell, past club president, who now lives in Abilene. Mrs. Jim Back read an original poem, "Two Gardens."

Slenderizing Lines For Princess Frocks

These are lucky days for the smart woman with a "figure." Fashions are slenderizing and flattering, but there's no overlooking the fact that if you have gained a few extra pounds lately you can't afford to take chances with your clothes. You just can't be too particular about choosing frocks that were meant for you, and you alone.

Here's one that does everything for your figure that the perfect figure should do for itself. It proves that unbelted, princess lines can be made to flatter every type of figure just by a clever manipulation of vertical and diagonal seaming. It shows fashionable sleeve interest in a wearable, modified form. And it boasts the softest and most becoming neckline.

Don't hesitate to try it if you've never made a frock before—it's easy. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 39-inch material, 3/4 yard contrasting. Width about 1 1/4 yard. See our new Fall Fashion book for other slenderizing styles.

Pattern No. 5294 is designed for sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 bust.

CANYON YOUTH SELECTED TO ACCOMPANY BYRD'S EXPEDITION

JOE HILL HAS JOB WITH DOG PACK ON SHIP

COLLEGE PREXY'S SON GETS PLACE THRU OWN EFFORTS

CANYON, Sept. 11.—Joe Hill, 20-year-old Canyon lad, son of President J. A. Hill of the West Texas State Teachers college, and Mrs. Hill, will be one of the members of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition II, which will sail on September 25 for a two-year sojourn in the icy region which surrounds the South pole.

More than a year ago, while his parents were away from home, Joe Hill wrote to Admiral Byrd, telling of his great interest in aviation and of his desire to go on the next expedition to the Antarctic. He was told that the expedition had been indefinitely postponed and in September, 1932, he enrolled at the University of Texas, almost dismissing the expedition from his mind.

Nothing more was heard of his application until August 9th of this year, when a brief post card communication, signed by Dr. Guy O. Shirey, physician and chief personnel officer for the expedition, gave him formal notice to appear in Boston for physical examination if he were still interested. In long hand, on the corner of the card appeared the personal message "Personal is now being selected; can you see me? I like your letter and recommendations."

Recently to Boston

Joe was attending the summer session of the West Texas State Teachers college when the notice came and he wrote Dr. Shirey that he did not wish to sacrifice his summer work on an uncertainty; he asked if he might appear for examination September 1 and received permission to come to Boston on that date. On August 24 he celebrated his twentieth birthday, his trip to Boston and the possibility of his going to the bottom of the world being the constant topic of conversation of the occasion. On August 25, he started to Boston.

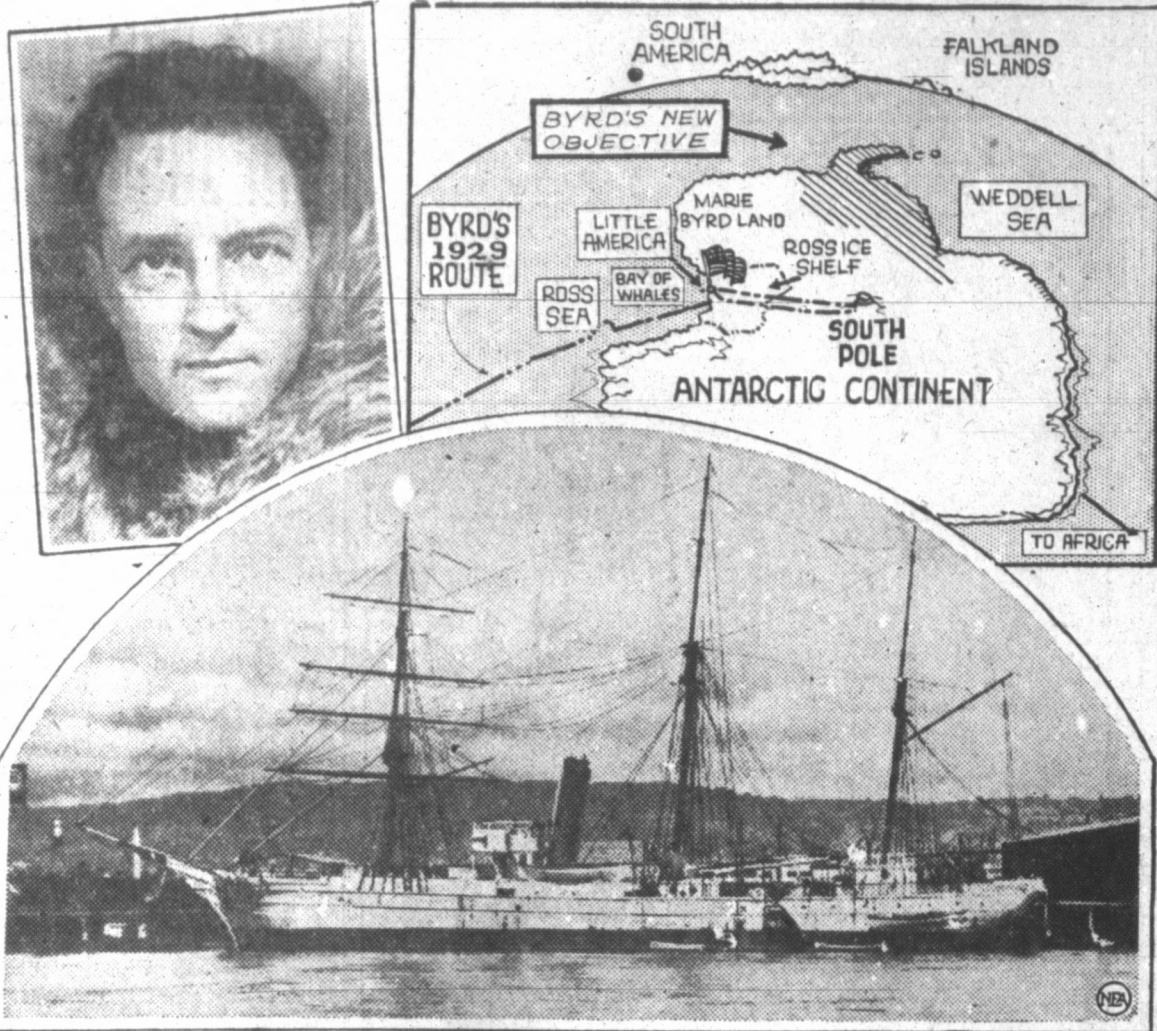

At home, President and Mrs. Hill were happy that their son was to have the trip to Boston and an opportunity to meet Admiral Byrd, his hero since early childhood, but they could not think seriously that Joe might be chosen to go. The possibility seemed more remote because a letter to Dr. Hill from Dr. Shirey said "Men are very carefully selected, and to be turned down is the most common thing that happens to most of the best boys. . . . We need specialists and are getting them. They are volunteering for places far beneath their rank."

Later in the same letter he wrote "He must be able to do man's work, be a good comrade, willing to undergo the hardest hardships." So it was a distinct shock to them when they received his telegram "Selected for expedition stop Can't come (home) before sailing stop Stationed on Pacific Fir till transferred to Bear stop." The next part of the telegram was what any parent would have expected under the circumstances, "Wire twenty dollars to hotel manager immediately" and the last words carried the official order of the expedition. "Don't give to the papers."

Dines With Byrd
The next days found the Canyon youth a dinner guest in the home of Admiral Byrd and reporting to his mother "Admiral and Mrs. Byrd are perfect people. I also like Dr. Shirey very much. He is largely responsible for my place."

Two days later he wrote of being on board the Pacific Fir where he was serving as Admiral Byrd's personal attendant, his duties including making beds, washing dishes, waiting the officers' tables and doing errands. In his letter he said "The work is very interesting," though later he admitted that the same duties might not interest him if occurring under different circum-

Byrd Hopes To Find New Lands For U. S. A.

ADMIRAL RICHARD E. BYRD, above, hopes to discover and claim for the United States vast areas of unexplored land lying between South America and the South Pole on a second expedition he will lead to the Antarctic this fall. The approximate location of land Byrd hopes to find and the route of his 1929 expedition are shown on the map. One of the expedition's two vessels will be the old U. S. coast guard cutter Bear, pictured here, famous for its rescue work in Arctic waters.

The HIDDEN DOOR

BY FRANK L. PACKARD

Synopsis: Colin Hewitt, in his disguise of Clarke Lunn, gangster, has at last secured admittance into the private quarters of the Mask, who rules the New York underworld. To do it, he has had to be present at the revenge murder of Captain Dollaire, rum runner, and his crew, who had antagonized the Mask by wrecking his counterfeiting plant on the St. Lawrence river. Buck O'Mara, one of the Mask's gang leaders, has an errand for Colin who, however, in order to spend the night at headquarters, tears open a slight wound he had received in the fight, and feigns weakness from loss of blood.

Chapter 43 COLIN'S FEINT

"That's fine, Buck," he said gratefully. "I'll be up in Number one by daylight."

"Sure, you will," agreed Buck O'Mara. "Do you want me to get Barney and carry you down, or do you think you can make it yourself?"

"I'm still on my feet," said Colin with a forced grin. "Leave it to me—I can make it."

"All right, then," said Buck O'Mara. "Come along."

Colin moved forward unsteadily, reeling slightly at times, but supported by Buck O'Mara, traversed the hall and descended the stairs. And here, as they crossed the lower hall and entered the parlor, Buck O'Mara shouted for Barney. A sleepy voice answered from somewhere in the rear.

"Come in here," Buck O'Mara ordered, as he turned on the light. "And tell your old woman to bring a basin of water and some cloths."

With Buck O'Mara's help Colin got his coat off, and for the second time that night rolled up his blood-soaked shirt sleeve. He slumped down on the horsehair sofa as Barney, barefooted and in his night-shirt, entered the room.

The wizened little red-haired man blinked in the light, rubbed his eyes and stared at Colin.

"It's Clarke Lunn!" he exclaimed. "Cripes! What's the matter?"

"What's the matter doesn't matter!" Buck O'Mara rapped out sharply. "What matters is that you know Spinell when you see him—don't you?"

"Of course I know Spinell. He's been here often enough, hasn't he?" Buck O'Mara thrust out the envelope in his hand.

"Well, then, get your clothes on, and take this over to his joint on the double hop. There's a car waiting down the block. They probably wouldn't let you in, so I'll telephone him to meet you outside. Don't give it to anybody but Spinell himself."

And when you get back here report to me. I'll be up in Number one room. Beat it—quick!"

Buck O'Mara lighted a cigarette. Colin began to fumble with the bandage on his arm.

"Better let it alone, Clarke," advised Buck O'Mara with a short laugh. "Here's your nurse."

Colin looked up. A tall, angular woman of perhaps sixty, clad in a not overly clean kimono and carrying a basin in her hand, was advancing toward him. Not an alluring face—wrinkled, hard black eyes, thin tight lips. He saw her glance at his arm, then she slapped the basin down on the table and turned to Buck O'Mara.

"I wish you'd take your dirty work where it belongs, Buck O'Mara," she said tartly. "This ain't any hospital, and I ain't any nurse!"

"Shut up!" retorted Buck O'Mara curtly. "Strut your stuff, and let's have a look at the arm."

The woman, evidently on the point of making a sharp rejoinder, but contenting herself with a scowl instead, produced a pair of scissors, cut away the old bandage, and washed the wound. Colin lay back with half-closed eyes.

"No, it ain't so bad," pronounced Buck O'Mara judiciously. "It's the blood you've lost, Clarke. You'll be okay after a few hours' quiet and a bit of sleep. He's going to park here for the rest of the night, Mrs. Barney."

"If you say so!" grunted Mrs. Barney as she began to put on a fresh bandage. "That's your business!"

Colin heard a door close at the rear. That was Barney, of course, leaving on his errand to Spinell.

Buck O'Mara swung on his heel. "I'll get that telephone call through," he said, and left the room.

Colin heard him go into the tobacco shop—obviously to the telephone booth there.

"Some day, sonny," prophesied Mrs. Barney acidly, "a bandage ain't going to do you any good!"

"You said it, mother!" Colin returned with a thin smile.

Mrs. Barney gathered up the basin and discharged bandage, and went out—but came back in a moment or two with a quilt.

"Here!" she said ungraciously—and departed again.

Buck O'Mara returned from the telephone booth.

"How you feeling?" he jerked out. Colin raised himself on his good elbow.

"Fine!" he declared. "It's like you said, Buck. A bit of sleep and keeping quiet for a few hours is all I need."

"Go to it, then! Good-night,"

Clarke." "Good-night, Buck—and thanks again," Colin responded fervently. Buck O'Mara switched off the light and went out, leaving the door open.

Colin listened. He could hear the other going up the stairs, and then the closing of Buck O'Mara's door in the hall above. O'Mara would not leave there until Barney came back and reported; nor would it be safe for him, Colin, to make a move until then.

And then what? When that time came? He did not know. But he was satisfied in his own mind that Buck O'Mara would in some way or other communicate with the Mask to-night; indeed, so much that was vital had happened, that such a move on O'Mara's part was all but a practical certainty.

Would it be here? Buck O'Mara had intimated that he expected Heimie Schwarm. Was the Mask coming too? Was there to be a conference of the three of them? If so, it was not scheduled until later, else Buck O'Mara would never have told Barney to come up to his room and report. Or would Buck O'Mara go out again to keep a rendezvous or communicate from elsewhere.

O'Mara might never have come here at all tonight except on Spinell's account. But if that were so, why should he have expected Heimie Schwarm? Questions hammering at his brain. Contradictions. (Copyright, 1933, Frank L. Packard)

Colin makes a scouting trip, tomorrow.
