NICHOLS' WORTH

By: Nanalee Nichols

"They Just Don't Make 'Em Like 'hey Used To". Its'a common phrase, and we we apply to a lot of things..including cars.

While I'm the first person to admit that cars back in the "Good Ole Days" were reliable and simple, I think that now a days they make 'em a whole lot better!

Wait, don't attack just yet, hear me out.

I know that the days when a "Shade Tree" Mechanic could completely overhaul an engine are over. Even putting on a water pump or changing out spark plugs is pretty complicated on a modern auto.

But back in the good old days cars re just that, cars. They ran. That's about all they did.

Most of us wouldn't be real happy about having to drive around in a vehicle without air conditioning these days. (Yes, I know a few of you hardy souls still do).

Tires back then didn't last for 30, 40 thousand miles, either. Ten thousand miles was about all a set would take, and then they were bald and slick. The steel belted radials and contemporary tires not only outlast them...they handle and drive a whole lot safer too.

Brakes are another thing that have changed a lot. Remember driving through a mud puddle or rain storm, then applying the brakes. You had to know your car well enough to know whether the thing was going to pull to the left or the right, or simply lock up...if they held very good at all. With Disc Brakes, anti locking and the various other improvements, today's outperform yesterdays by a long shot.

Gas mileage is another improvement. Of course, we pay a whole lot more for the stuff! But a car that got ten to fifteen miles to the gallon was average only a few years ago...now one that gets less than 20 is impossible to find! Depending on what kind of vehicle you have, gas mileage can go up to 40 miles per gallon.

Power brakes and power steering are pretty much standard features on modern autos. And they take a lot of the wear, tear and stress out of driving.

Tinted glass and easily visible brakelights were unknown, and so was a padded dash. Who can recall just how much damage impact with a hard metal dash can do.

The new halogen headlights are fantastic. Compared to the old style they make night driving safer and far less strenuous.

Sure, the fenders bend easier and the cost is high, but there is a world of comfort in today's automobile or pickup truck.

And while teenaged memories of tying the muffler up with baling wire may bring a smile during reminesces, I'll take today's cars over the old ones any time...and love every luxury-loaded minute of it!

More News, Better News

Some Ideas To Help Paper Contributors

The papers are starting a campaign to get people to contribute more locals. Our renewals this Christmas sale were gratifying, and one of the suggestions we received from a number of out of town subscribers was that we try and receive more "Locals" as that is how they keep up with "home folks".

There are also a number of "do's and don'ts" about turning in news items, which follow here.

We appreciate our readers and contributors more than you can ever know...but these are just a few explanations of why we must have deadlines, and of ways that can help everyone to get the news in a clear, correct manner.

Unlike larger papers, we tend to be really flexible, bending deadlines for important items, accepting handwritten material, etc.

But there are a few things that would help us to serve our readers better.

Some of the "do's" are: Do send in your news. Never assume that someone else will do it...or that we will automatically "know" that an event is happening. We would much rather have something turned in twice than to miss it altogether.

Do call and ask us questions if you need to.

Political announcements have only to be turned in, we will run any legitimate announcement once, with photo. After that all further political information will be considered advertising. We run these announcements as they are submitted...there is no ulterior motive or candidate support in them.

We will run any news item no matter how small it might seem...please turn them in.

Birth announcements are very much welcome, but they will be printed, as they always have been, in a standard form. If something special like "there's a new buckaroo at the ranch house" is desired, it must be paid for as an ad.

Some of the "don'ts" are: We don't publish poetry. Sometimes some really beautiful poems are submitted, but if we were to run all the poems we receive, thee would be no room for anything else.

Please realize that we cannot run copies of syndicated columns such as "Dear Abby" or "Ann Landers" or editorials run in other papers. It is very illegal for us to do so as newspapers pay big money for the right to use them, and don't want us "cannibalizing" for them.

Please don't send pictures that have been run through a copy machine. We have to have a clear photograph, which we, in turn, take a picture of. This picture is called a "half-tone" and has tiny dots which are necessary for the picture to reproduce for the paper.

Please don't write on the back of a piece of paper, it complicates matters for us, and can easily result in something being left out. Please don't write in pencil, use a clearly legible pen, as it decreases eye strain.

Please don't send letters that have no signature or signed "Hot in Hattsville" or "Concerned Citizen" we will not run them, no matter how pertinent they are or how much we may agree with them.

Letters which commit outright slander won't be run whether there is a signature or not.

Do try and remember that we have a deadline. It's sometimes hard for people to realize just how much work goes into getting these papers out. For instance, one piece of copy (say a wedding) comes in to the office.

It must be edited, then a headline written for it. The picture that comes with it must be sent to the dark room for a half-tone to be made of it. The story must be typeset on the computer. It must be run through the computer, developed in the processor, dried on the dryer, and the excess paper trimmed from the ends and edges. Then it is run through a waxing machine and put on a table for use in the page make-up process. It all takes a lot of time, and news should be in by Tuesday noon at the latest.

Wednesday morning we make up the pages, shoot them ona big camera, develop the negatives in big trays, hang them to dry, opague them (mark out blemishes) and take them to Paris, where they are printed. They must be in Paris by noon on Wednesday to be printed in time for Wednesday night newsstand release and stamping for the post office.

We truly want to avoid mistakes, but sometimes handwriting is difficult to decipher, and sometimes we simply DO make mistakes. If it is truly a serious mistake, we will print a correction.

We appreciate all our readers, and want to make a better paper week by week.

Bandwagons To Boats, Expressions Date Back

By Nanalee Nichols

Wondering about some more of those strange expressions and where they originate? Here's the explanation behind a few more of them.

To jump on the bandwagon has a political origin, and is a truly American expression. Parades honoring a candidate for office used to be led by a band of musicians riding upon a large dray, or wagon. For the effect upon his constituents, some local leader would, as the band approached, jump upon the wagon and ride through his district, thus announcing his endorsement of the candidae. The phrase began during the second presidential campaign of William jennings Bryan.

To take someone for a ride is now used for two meanings, one, to kid someone, and two, to truly fool someone. It's originis are, however, a great deal more serious. The expression was of underworld origin, coined in the U.S. during the wave of criminal activity after World War 1. Rival gangs waged warfare upon one another and when someone was "taken for a ride" they never returned.

To read the riot act to someone means to administer a severe scolding. The allusion is actually to the Riot Act decreed in 1716 by George I of England. It was a law prohibiting that more than twelve colonists could not assemble together before the American Revolution, and law enforcement officials were to read it out loud when any such gathering was attempted. Over the past two hundred yeras, it has come to mean something a great deal less serious. One of the more peculiar expressions still used some today has it's roots in the ancient flintlock musket. "A flash in the pan" was what happened when sparks produced from a flint struck by a hammer ignited powder in the small depression on the gun, known as the pan.

This flash was the priming by which the charge was exploded.

It was a laborious process, and not very certain. Often there would be simply a "flash in the pan" without the results of a discharged gun, hence it became used for anything that begins in a showy or highly noticable manner and is followed by little.

Where did we begin to use the expression "gone to pot"? Now it is used to mean ruined, destroyed. But the earliest English usage goes bck to the 16th century, seems to have actually meant gone to pot, as in meat chopped up for stewing in a pot. It was also used as an illusion to death. One theory is that it was used thus because of the habit of putting ashes in an urn, or pot.

To call a spade a spade, which we now use to mean calling something by its right name, to not beat about the bush, is so old that it can be translated from ancient Greek. It did not refer to a shove, then, however, because they did not use garden spades, it referred to a boat....Lucian, a Greek writer of the second century stated "to call a fig a fig and a boat a boat" the latter Greek word for boat looking almost like the word spade in the English language.

The expressions we have integrated into our language are many, their origins varied. Every now and again, pause to wonder where one of your favorite expressions come from!

In 1987 we collected $614,983.88 for Automobile Registrations compared to $299,905.64.

There is a vast amount of traffic and counter work in this office, plus the time consuming reports to disburse the monies into the proper funds. This office is still being operated with 3 full time deputies, Suzann Shovan, Chief deputy; Vivian Gould, and Leslie Nix. All are experienced and very efficient. Veda Farley works part-time and her expertise in the Tax Office dates back to 1942.

Our office hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday thru Friday, and we are open during the lunch hour. In case of an emergency on weekends, I, or one of my staff, can usually be reached to help you.

I thank you for my first term and I humbly ask for the opportunity to serve a second term as you Tax Assessor-Collector.

Taste Test

Caffeine makes everyone more sensitive to bitter tastes but affects the taste of persons subject to panic attacks three times as much, according to researchers at the University of California, Irvine.

A new caffeine taste test may prove valuable in diagnosing panic disorder and predicting who may be at risk for the sudden attacks of unwarranted terror.

Alcohol Abuse Among Teens Increasing

A recent study of teenagers indicates a growing "epidemic" of alcohol use and cautions that alcohol abuse among adolescents should not be considered a harmless rite of passage into adulthood—its use can increase a teenager's likelihood of becoming a "problem" later.

The study, published in Pediatrics, investigated 162 adolescents from white, middle to upper class families from Virginia, and found that the majority (63%) reported having drunk alcohol at some time.

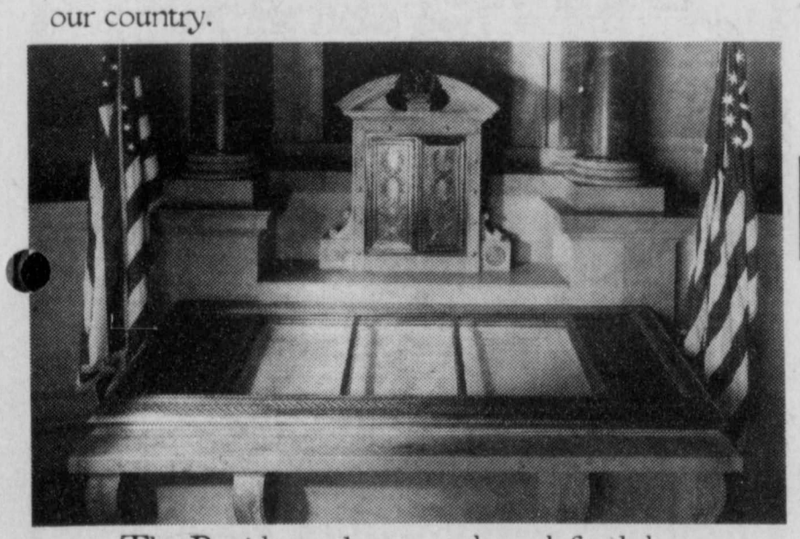

The proportion of teens who professed never to drink alcohol became progressively smaller with age, and overall, one fifth said they had to drink more than six beers before they "got a buzz." Most (76%) knew that alcohol is a mind-altering drug.

Rebs, Rebelettes Play Leonard, Honey Grove

By Stan Anderson

Rivercrest hosted the Leonard Roundball teams last Tuesday night in Johntown. The rebelettes went against a team that had narrowly beaten them earlier in the season.

Rivercrest got off to a somewhat shakey start in the first quarter as the Tigers outscored the Reb team 16-10. But the Rebeleetes stormed back in the second quarter as six Reb player contributed to an 18 outburst while holding Leonard to only 10. At the half Rivercrest owned a 28-26 lead.

Both teams were pretty evenly matched in the third quarter as they battled to a 39-39 tie heading into the fourth quarter. Leonard began to pull away from the Rebelettes mid way through the final period and outscore the Reb team 14-9, for a 53-48 victory over the Rebelettes.

Kristi Stansell led all scorers with 12 points. Cindy Thompson fllowed with 9 points. Kim Clark had 7 and Amy Gladden and Rosie Norman had 6 each. Rachel Smith and Tonya Hawkins had 4 and 3 points respectively. Kristi Brooks rounded out the Reb scoring with 1 point.

The Rebels contest against the Leonard boys followed the girls contest. Several weeks ago the Leonard team took Rivercrest into overtime before the Rebels finally took a narrow victory. This time Rivercrest seemed determined to run away with the contest outscoring the Tigers 16-5 in the first quarter. But Leonard bounced back in the second quarter as they poured in 20 points while only allowing the Rebels 13. Rivercrest clung to a narrow 29-25 lead at the half.

Rivercrest came into the third quarter determined to put Leonard away for good and they did so, by racking up 19 points. David Bush was responsible for 11 points in a 4 minute spurt to help break the Tigers who only managed 10 points for a 48-35 differance heading into the final period. Rivercrest held onto the momentum through the fourth peiod as the Rebel offense poiured in 20 points for a 68-47 victory.

David Bush led all scorers with 18 points followed by Bradley Woods with 13. Craig Savage had 11 points and Donald Combs had 8. Jimmy Lewis finished with 5 as did John Purviance. Jason Pogue chipped in 3 and Marvin Anderson and Scooter Brown had 2 points each. David Hinson finished out the Rebels scoring with 1 point.

Friday night the Reb teams travled to Honey Grover to face the district leading girls and boys teams.

The Rebelettes entered the contest with an upset on tgheir minds. Both teams faought a defensive battle only scoring 2 points each for a 2-2 tie for the first quarter. Both teams seemed to content to wait for a good shot as they battled to an 8 8 tie in the half.

Rivercrest opened the third period with a strong offensive and defensive effort. Scoring 12 points and only allowing their opponents 6. Rivercrest led 20-14. Honey Grove gought back, inching up on the Rebelette lead during the fourth quarter. Both teams were tied up again with only seconds remaining, and a Warrior bsket at the buzzer shot down the Rebelettes hopes for upseting Honey Grove, losing 21-29.

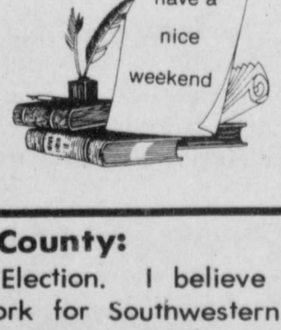

Rachael Smith led the Reb attack with 9 points, followed by Amy Gladden with 5 points Cindy Thompson, Rosie Norman and Kristi Stansell had 4 points each. Kim Clark had 3 points.

The final game of the evening pitted the Rebel varsity against the district leading Warriors. Honey Grove jumped out in front of the Rebs early 6-0, before John Purviance hit a jumper for the Rebs first basket. But the Rebel offense could never get untracked, scoring only 4 points in the first quarter but allowing 9. Rivercrest fought back in the second quarter. The closest Rivercrest got to the Warriors was 15-12 midway through the quarter before Honey Grove pulled ahead 22-14 at the half.

Honey Grove widened their lead in the third quarter as Rivercrest continued to struggle from the field. Heading into the fourth quarter the Warriors led 34-23. Very little scoring took place until late in the quarter. But the Rebels were never able to get back in the contest as Honey Grove won 45-30.

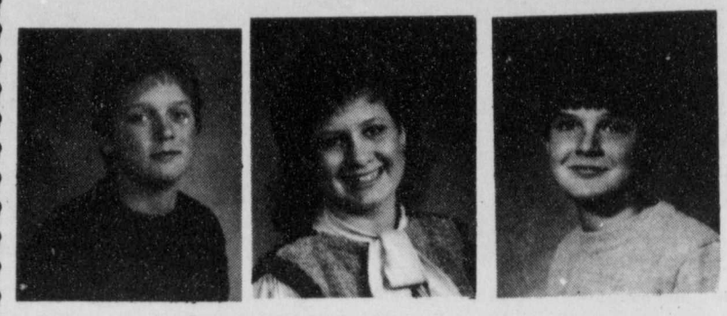

David Bush led Rivercrest with 10 points, Donald Combs followed with 8, Craig Savage and Bradley Woods had 4 each. Marvin Anderson and John Purviance had 2.

Rivercrest travels to Coper Friday for three games, with action starting at 5:30 p.m.

To The Good People Of Red River County:

I am seeking an important position in our next County Election. I believe I have gained valuable experience from my 34 years of work for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, both in assessing budgets and carrying out job operations. I have assisted in setting up budgets for different departments of the Telephone Company, the City of Bogata, Talco-Bogata CISD, United Methodist Church and Bogata Housing Authority. My civic leadership in the Bogata Lions Club, V.F.W., Telephone Pioneers of America, Bogata Cemetery Association and other organizations will also help me meet the challenges of serving as Commissioner of Precinct 1. I can see the things that need to be done and want you to know it is my primary concern to have efficiency in our County Government and productive maintenance throughout Precinct 1.

Your Vote and support will be sincerely appreciated Tuesday, March 8.

Tommie R. Corbell
Candidate For Commissioner Precinct 1
