Mayor Calls For More Courtesy

Two Rockport Police Officers On Probation

Two Rockport police officers were placed on probation effective Monday night, August 25, as city Mayor Walter S. Falk Jr. called for more courtesy from the Police Department.

Police Sergeant James R. Jacoby was placed on probation for three months and Officer James N. Tanner was given 30-day probation following a hearing in a closed session of the city council.

In addition to the council members and the two officers, the session was also attended by Police Chief James Craigmile and Capt. Joe Hinojosa.

Following the closed session, which lasted more than an hour, the council reconvened in regular session to make a decision concerning the two officers.

Mayor Falk told those present in the regular session that Monday's hearing stemmed from "review of a July 3 incident" which is pending in court.

Falk continued that the "use of profane language" was the only criticism that could be brought against Officer Tanner stemming from this incident.

Alderman Henry Bent made the motion to impose a 30-day probation on Tanner. The motion was seconded by newly-seated Alderman Betty Jean Ward and adopted by a 3-0 vote.

Alderman Burt Mills who is involved in the incident as a witness abstained from any action in the matter.

Betty Ward Takes Seat

Betty Jean Ward was sworn in as the newest member of Rockport's city council following canvass Monday night, August 25, of the returns from the special city election held Saturday, August 23.

Mrs. Ward, widow of the late Alderman E.D. (Dan) Ward, defeated challenger Peter Lazidis by a 3-1 margin in the special city election. The final vote was 91 for Mrs. Ward, 30 for Lazidis.

She represents Ward 1 on Rockport's city council. This ward includes that area inside Rockport city limits south of Laurel Street.

Dan Ward was elected to his third term on the city council in April of this year. He died on June 8.

Mrs. Ward will fill the vacancy created by her husband's death from August 25 until April, 1982, when Alderman Ward's term would have expired. Lazidis also opposed Dan Ward in the April city elections.

Rockport Mayor Walter S. Falk Jr. administered the oath of office to Mrs. Ward and welcomed her on the city council. As she was escorted to her chair by Alderman Charlie Garrett,

City To Purchase Garbage Truck With Revenue Sharing Funds

An anticipated $35,939 in [illegible] revenue sharing funds have been earmarked for the purchase of a new garbage truck for the City of Rockport.

The city council voted unanimously in favor of this use for the money following a public hearing at 7 p.m. Monday, August 25, on the matter. The hearing preceded a joint hearing of the council and city planning and zoning commission at 7:15 p.m. and the regular meeting at 7:30 p.m.

Because the expected cost of the garbage truck exceeds the anticipated revenue, the council voted to appropriate the remainder of the cost of the truck from 1979-80 revenue sharing funds.

The council also opened bids during Monday's regular council session on a garbage truck and packer that will be purchased through the 1979-80 reve-

Council Gives Final Nod To Garbage Pickup Increase

Rockport's city council gave final approval to an increase in garbage collection rates and okayed payment of an additional $280 to the Aransas County Appraisal District during a busy session Monday night, August 25.

New garbage collection rates, to go into effect October 1, represent an increase of about 20 percent over present rates, city officials said.

This means residential customers who have been paying $5 for garbage pickup service will be charged $6 after October 1.

Reason for the increase, officials said, was an increase of more than 30 percent in the rate charged by the city of Gregory for use of its landfill facilities. After October 1, the city of Rockport will be paying $1.75 per cubic yard to dispose of its garbage in Gregory.

The extra money for the appraisal district is the city's share of the costs of an additional appraiser and two clerks to work on appraisal of improvements to property in 1980.

City Secretary Herman Johnson told the council that the county and school district have asked the Appraisal District to set values on all 1980 county and school improvements.

By voting the additional $280, the Rockport council insured that the city's 1980 improvements will also be

Case Dismissed Against Chester Johnson

A motion to quash a trial against Chester Johnson -- charged with voting irregularities -- was granted Thursday morning, August 21, in District Court here in Rockport.

District Judge Magus Smith granted the motion which was made on the grounds that the indictment brought against Johnson was faulty.

Johnson was charged with knowingly voting in the wrong ward in Rockport's April 5 city elections.

At Thursday's pretrial hearing, his attorney, Charles Butts of San Antonio, moved that the case be dismissed on the grounds that the indictment was improperly worded.

Butts charged that the indictment was not specific enough in its wording as to the charge filed against Johnson.

After hearing the attorney, Judge Smith ruled in favor of dismissal.

Registration Today For Ballet

Registration for classes in classical ballet, modern dance and adult exercise classes is scheduled from 2 p.m. until 4 p.m. today, Wednesday, August 27, at the Paws & Taws Building on Fulton Beach Road.

Classes will begin Friday, September 5, with lessons given on Fridays and Mondays at the Paws & Taws Building.

The school is under direction of Nancy Sulik, ballet teacher and artistic director of the Corpus Christi Concert Ballet.

She had been teaching ballet in Corpus Christi for 12 years and has taught French at the Incarnate Word High School for 15 years.

A number of her students have gone on to major ballet schools such as the San Francisco Ballet, the Roberson School of Arts in New York and the Southwest Ballet Center in Fort Worth.

Two of her students have joined professional companies: Richard Garcia is now with the San Antonio Ballet and Kay Johnson is with the Austin Ballet Theater.

The classes in Rockport will include preschool instruction for young children, Nancy said.

Among her plans for the future in Rockport, Nancy said, are "programs for civic organizations when the students become strong enough." She added there will also be a recital at the end of the year.

As to why she is attracted to Rockport, she said, "The artistic climate is so intriguing."

On the subject of dancing she continued, "It's a communication, a sign language which the dancer uses to portray, by rhythmic steps and graceful gesture, his interpretation of thoughts, desires, emotions."

She added both boys and girls should have dance training. Ballet tones up muscles, joints and respiratory organs and provides grace, litheness and poise to "everyday movements."

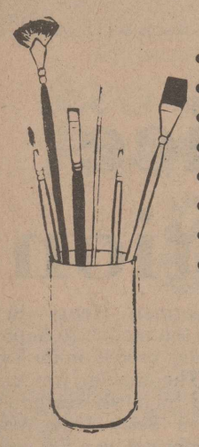

"Most important," she said, "it will give you a sense of accomplishment and emotional release."

THIS IS HOW IT'S DONE

From left, students are Lynn McIntyre, Keith Duncan and Anjel Avant. Guest teachers are an important part of the curriculum in Nancy's instruction. If Bond Issue Passes

Lot Of Work Planned On Rockport-Fulton High School

By Pat Blair
Second In A Series

Replacement of roof and windows . . . remodeling of two rooms for a biology lab . . . a new library . . . are all in the plans for improving Rockport-Fulton High School.

That's if Proposition 1 of the proposed Aransas County School Bond Issue is approved by county voters.

Proposition 1 calls for issue of $1.7 million in school bonds to cover costs of improvements to all five of the county's public schools — with the longest list of needed renovations scheduled for the high school.

Absentee voting in the bond election began Monday, August 25, in the School Administration Building. It will continue, during office hours, through Tuesday, September 9.

The bond election is set for Saturday, September 13, in the cafeteria at Rockport-Fulton Junior High School, with polls open from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Proposition 1 is the first of three proposals presented to voters on the ballot. The voters will be asked to mark the ballot for or against each proposition. Together, the three propositions call for the issue of some $3.6 million in bonds.

Work to be done to the high school, if proposition 1 is approved, includes construction of a new high school library and remodeling of the existing library into three classrooms.

Actually, says School Superintendent Joe Randow, the remodeling will simply be returning the present library to its original state. When the high school was built, back in the 1950s, there were three classrooms — the walls were torn down later to make space for the library.

When plans were first being drawn up for the bond issue, Randow added, the bond election committee considered merely adding on to the present library to provide the additional library facilities officials feel they need.

But, he continued, "we found out it would cost as much to add on as it would to build a new library."

Plans are to make this new library the "nerve center" of the campus and to make it "as modern as possible within the budget limitations of the bond issue," he added.

Other remodeling to the high school under Proposition 1 includes renovating of two rooms into an additional biology lab. More lab space is needed with the addition, starting this year, of an advanced biology class in the high school.

Other, "minimal," remodeling is planned for the principal's office, to provide "more efficient, functional office space," Randow said.

Other renovation planned at the high school is to make the building more energy-efficient, Randow continued.

This includes the replacement of the high schools roofs and installation of insulation, replacement of exit doors and "panic hardware" and installation of a suspended accoustical ceiling with three and a half inch batting insulation.

All of these facilities are in deteriorating condition, Randow said. The roofs, he said, are "in very bad condition — we've been patching for years." Exit doors are sagging, doors don't lock properly and the accoustical tiles that are presently glued to the ceilings "are falling apart."

Completing the list of improvements to the high school is the installation of two 52-inch ceiling fans per classroom "or equal space" and replacement of windows.

The old crank-out windows presently in use "have deteriorated to the point that the mechanisms are expensive to replace," Randow said. He added that the windows don't seal properly.

The proposed replacement windows will be heavy-duty double hung aluminum windows. The double-hanging, Randow added, will allow the windows to be opened at top and bottom for extra ventilation.

Next: The remaining improvements under Proposition 1.

RF PIRATES DISPLAY PASSING AND RECEIVING TACTICS IN INGLESIDE SCRIMMAGE AS CONNOLLY LOOKS ON

RF Pirates Outscore Mustangs In Scrimmage

By Bob Crawford

The Rockport - Fulton Pirates countered an inconsistent running game with some aerial fireworks — provided by quarterbacks Jim Eaton and Adam Harden — to win by two scores to nothing over Ingleside in Rockport Friday night, August 22.

With a large crowd looking on, the Pirates' defense held off the Mustangs without a score in the first set of 20 plays and provided the offense with the chance to take the spotlight.

Michael Simmons started the excitement for the Pirates as he ripped off 19 yards on the Pirates' opening play, following the pulling blocks of Michael Henderson and Bubba Scott.

As the Pirates moved along, the ball came to rest on the Mustangs' 42 yard line. Eaton stepped back from the center, cocked his arm, and let fly with an aerial bomb to halfback Ernest Gonzales who had gotten behind everyone in the defensive secondary.

The play went all the way. A high snap from center was missed on the point-after-attempt, but the Pirates were on the board.

Later in that first series of plays, Rockport's freshman fullback, Dewayne Walls, took a short pass from Eaton, picked up a downfield block from Mark Goodin, and blasted 64 yards to the Mustang six yard line before being overtaken from behind. The Pirates were threatening again, but could not put the ball in.

When Ingleside took over the ball again, they put together a long drive, mostly on passes, ending up on the two yard line of the Pirates.

A Mustang runner took a shot at getting in, but after the pile was unstacked, the Pirates had held him off at the one-foot line.

On the next play, a fumbled snap shook loose, defensive end Scott Meyer pounced on the ball and the Mustangs were forced back to their original starting point on the other end of the field.

Mac Schmidt, Todd Mokry, Charles Ochoa, and Willie Castillo stood out on that defensive stint.

In the Pirates' second set of plays, Adam Harden took over at the quarterback position. During that series, Harden found Meyer and Tim Walker for pass receptions, and David Kelly highlighted the running game with jaunts of 18 and 17 yards.

When Ingleside ran their final 10-play series, the Pirates really made it tough on the Mustangs. Scott Woodall and Bubba Scott put together a good pass rush and threw the Mustang passer for a 16-yard loss.

Rockport, not being satisfied with only one score, found paydirt on another Eaton-to-Gonzales bomb, this time for 56 yards and the score.

Following the TD, David Williams kicked the ball through the uprights, and the Pirates had climaxed the scoring of the night.

After the game, Coach Brian Connally observed, "You have to remember that this was a scrimmage; if you make a mistake on offense, then you don't lose the ball, you just start over.

"We were inconsistent on offense, and we are still playing some different people on defense. We hope to look better in next week's contest."

Volleyball Teams Beat Woodsboro

The "Girls From Rockport" took on Woodsboro and beat them five games to two in their first volleyball match of the season Thursday, August 21.

Those games were played in Woodsboro. On Tuesday, August 26, the Lady Pirates will meet Woodsboro in a rematch on home ground, here in Rockport.

The freshmen, coached by Dennis Gartmen, took Woodsboro in both their games, winning 15-12 the first time and coming back to do even better in the second game. They took that one 15-10.

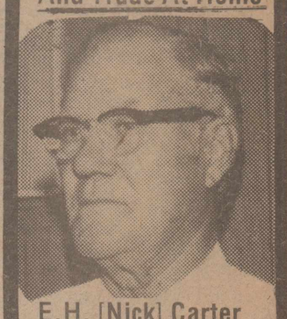

The Junior Varsity lost their first game to Woodsboro, 3-15, but in the next two games, the Rockport gals rallied and took them 15-9 and 15-11.

The Varsity team had some problems and only took one game -- the middle one -- in play against Woodsboro. But the score on that one was 15-12, Rockport's favor. Score on the other two games was 7-15 and 3-15, in favor of Woodsboro.

Jody Welsch was high scorer for the Lady Pirates on the Freshman team. High scorers for the Junior Varsity and Varsity teams were Tina Chavez and Diana Herman who racked up eight points each.

Head coach for the volleyball teams is Thomas E. Chrobocinski.

Voters Return Lingner, Elect Pettus To Holiday Beach Water Board

Some 100 voters in Holiday Beach re-elected Freddie Lingner and gave write-in approval to L.E. Pettus to serve as directors on the water board that serves the community.

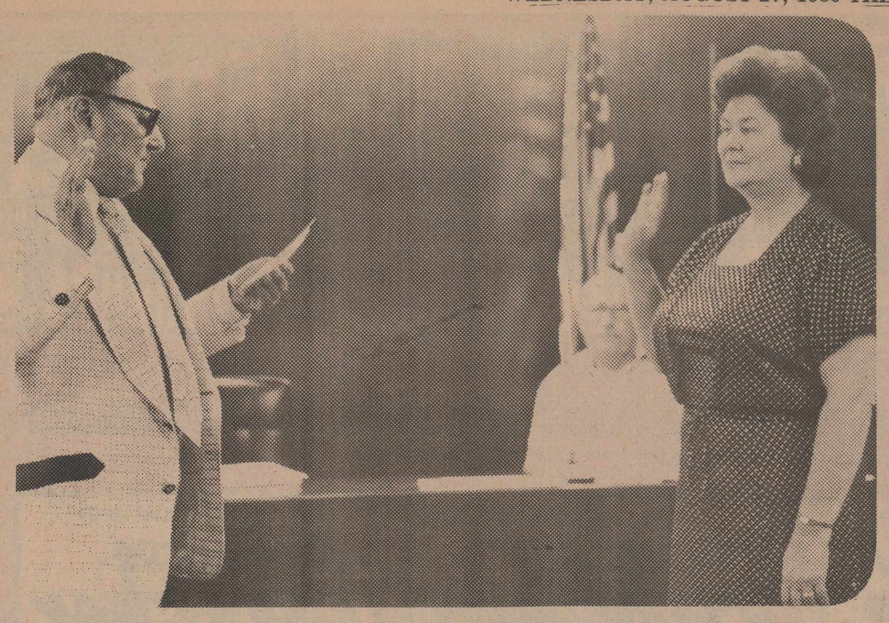

Votes cast in the election -- held Saturday, August 23 -- had not been canvassed as of the Pilot's deadline Monday, and no date had been set for the canvass.

However, the election returns must be canvassed by the end of this week under Texas election laws.

Official candidates for the two directors' posts on the Aransas County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 were Miss Lingner and Dr. M. Joan Nish, also an incumbent on the board which was created last year.

The official vote count in the election was not available at press time, but is was reported that Pettus, a write-in candidate for the election, won by a small margin over Dr. Nish.

Directors to the board, which provides water service to Holiday Beach residents, are elected for two-year terms.

she commented that it was "a hard seat to fill."

A total of 123 votes were cast in the August 23 election, but two ballots could not be counted.

OFFICERS

Sgt. Jacoby sparked a debate among the council members as Falk observed that Jacoby was the senior officer in the incident and said the criticism against him was "a question of the judgment shown (in the July 3 incident)."

Police Chief Craigmile had apparently recommended earlier that Jacoby be reduced from sergeant to patrolman for six months. Alderman Bent moved that this recommendation be adopted but with a modification so that the reduction in rank would be for only three months.

Alderman Charlie Garrett asked if this would mean a reduction in pay. He was told it would mean that, for three months.

Bent's motion died for lack of a second. Then Garrett moved that Jacoby be placed on probation for three months with no reduction in rank.

That motion also died for lack of a second.

Bent then moved to table action on the matter until another meeting of the council, a motion seconded by Mrs. Ward. They later withdrew both the motion and the second.

Garrett said he felt the reduction in rank for three months was "a little bit strong" and added that anyone who drives while he's drunk is asking for it."

When Garrett re-stated his motion for three months probation, Bent seconded it and the motion carried 3-0.

Following the vote, Mayor Falk told Jacoby that he hoped "this is a decided lesson to you."

He also told Craigmile and Hinojosa to "post on the bulletin board" of the police department "that the citizens of Rockport will be treated with the utmost respect by the police department."

valued on an equal basis with those in the county and school district.

The $280 is in addition to the $1900 already allocated by the city as its share of the appraisal district's budget for the remainder of 1980.

In other action Monday, the council denied a request by Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Harden for rezoning of two lots, or a special use permit for the property, that would have allowed operation of a beauty shop on Live Oak Street between Concho and Cornwall.

During a joint public hearing of the council and the planning and zoning commission on the matter, the council heard from Clois Fisher, a property owner on the south side of the property, who said he was opposed to the change.

"I live in what you have described as the Hinton House," Fisher said. "I bought my house as a residence, and I intend to keep it as a residence. The house is 99 years old -- one of Rockport's landmarks. I think any business adjoining the property will have a detrimental effect."

Mrs. Harden countered with, "I don't think a beauty shop will deteriorate his property. It will be better than a three-apartment building -- which could be put on there now. We plan to put up a nice-looking building."

nue sharing monies.

Rockport Mayor Walter S. Falk Jr. told those at the hearing that it has been the city's practice, since the start of the revenue sharing program, to use the money for capital improvements.

"It is our feeling," he said, "that this provides the greatest benefit to the greatest number of people."

He emphasized that the 1980-81 revenue sharing funds (called the "12th Entitlement Period") have not yet been allocated, but the city has been told by those in charge of the revenue sharing program to expect the $35,939 figure.

The truck on which the council opened bids Monday night will be purchased with revenue sharing funds from the 11th Entitlement Period.

Bids were submitted separately on a truck and packer with apparent low bid on the truck being from George Clark Chevrolet in Aransas Pass for $14,761.53 and apparent low bidder on the packer being Pakmor of San Antonio for $9,350.

The council voted to accept the low bids provided they meet all the city's specifications.

USDA Strengthens Work Requirement For Food Stamp Recipients

Able-bodied food stamp recipients must actively search for jobs or be dropped from the program under regulations proposed by the U.S. Departments of Agriculture (USDA)and Labor (DOL).

''Under the proposed rules, people who fail to look for a job on their own or who don't report for the interviews at their state employment office will find their households dropped from the food stamp program for two months,'' said Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carol Tucker Foreman.

Those who are exempt from the work registration requirement are primarily the elderly and disabled, those already working, those responsible for the care of dependents or those already registered for work under the unemployment insurance and work incentive programs.

The rules also require recipients who register for work to be called in to their state employment service, now identified as Job Service in most states, for an interview and job classification.

Foreman said that under the existing program, funding limitations have prevented employment offices from actually calling in and interivewing any more than the most employable of the food stamp work registrants.

Recipients who have registered for work but who have had few job skills have often not had the benefit of employment office services according to the assistant secretary.

Under the proposed rules, the USDA would more than double the amount of funding to the DOL, raising the annual amount to 570 million so that DOL can reach these hard to place recipients.

State job service agencies would continue to refer registrants to potential employers, under the proposed rule.

But food stamp job seekers would have to supplement this service with their own eight-week job search.

The proposed rules would establish as a standard that work registrants contact between eight to 24 potential employers within the eight week period, and also report for two follow-up interviews with their employment counselors.

Requirements for each person's job search would depend on their individual circumstances and the availability of jobs in the community, as assessed by the job service counselor.

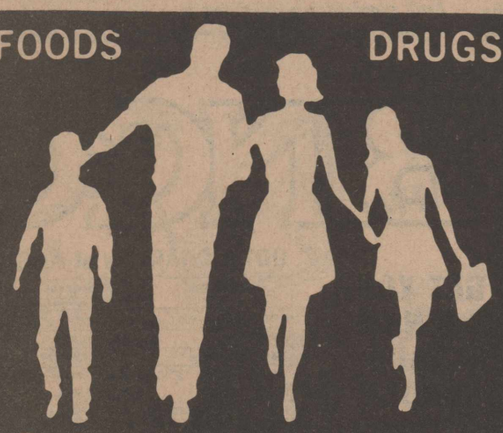

The state job services would report to state welfare agencies the names of food stamp job seekers who refuse to comply with the interviews or job search requirements, as well as those who find jobs.

While the work registration and job search regulations are expected to be in effect by early 1981, USDA and DOL plan to run an 18-month demonstration project to test other ways — such as job-finding clubs — to match food stamp applicants with jobs.

USDA and DOL will be seeking state welfare and job service agencies to sponsor the demonstration projects.

The proposed work registration and job search regulations, as well as proposed guidelines and notice of interest to seek sponsors for the demonstration project are scheduled to appear in the August Federal Register.

Immunications Needed For School Children

It's too late to put off having your child immunized for the opening of school this year.

"All students must show a validated record of their immunizations when they enter a Texas school," warned Euel A. Smith, Director of the Immunization Division of the Texas Department of Health.

To enter school, children must have at least three doses of diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis (DTP) or Td (Tetanus-Diphtheria) vaccines. They must also have three doses of polio vaccine. In addition, to enter kindergarten or the first grade, children must have one dose each of measles, mumps and rubella vaccines.

At least one of the three doses of DTD/TD and one of the three doses of polio must have been received since the fourth birthday. The measles dose must have been received since the first birthday.

Smith said for the 1979-80 school year mumps vaccine was required for first graders only, but that the grade requirements is increasing each year. For the 1980-81 school year, all first and second graders will be included, and the yearly increases by grades will continue through the next 11 years.

Also, measles vaccine was required for the 1979-80 school year through the sixth grade, but this will increase each school year for the next six years. Rubella vaccine is only required for students up to their twelfth birthday.

Smith said parents may want to ask their private physicians about having immunizations for mumps and measles if their children are not in the age groups requiring vaccinations.

For more information, contact Euel Smith, Director, Immunization Division, Texas Department of Health, 1100 W. 49th St., Austin, Texas 78756.

MEASLES

What is the most serious childhood disease in Texas and the nation today... mumps, polio, diphtheria, measles, pertussis, rubella?

The answer is measles.

Measles bears this distinction because of its extreme communicability, the number of cases and the devastating effects which it can cause to those contracting the disease.

It can cause pneumonia, blindness and encephalitis, or inflammation of the brain, which often leads to permanent brain damage and deafness.

The effects of measles are frightening. As many as three out of every 10 cases of measles result in pneumonia. Encephalitis occurs once in every 1,000 reported cases. And, year after year, there is at least one death for every 1,000 cases of measles reported to the Texas Department of Health and United States Public Health Service.

Although measles usually attacks young children, it is appearing more frequently in older persons, with outbreaks in high schools and even in colleges.

Measles usually lasts about two weeks and begins with symptoms similar to those of a bad cold. Fever may rise as high as [illegible] degrees, and a blotchy, red rash appears on various parts of the body after a few days. The rash fades away gradually over a period of seven to 10 days.

People catch measles by breathing in particles of the measles virus which infected persons expel while coughing, sneezing or simply talking. Communicability extends from the beginning of the symptoms to about four days after the rash appears. The incubation period following exposure is about 10 days, with the rash appearing about 14 days after exposure.

Measles is most likely to appear in late winter and spring. If the illness at first is considered to be a cold, then many people may be exposed to a single case.

Before the advent of a measles vaccine, measles struck hundreds of thousands of children each year. In 1964, almost a half-million cases — 485,083 — were reported in the United States and at least 421 deaths occurred.

Just 10 years later, in 1974, only 22,094 cases and 20 deaths were reported nationwide.

Texas has had its share of the measles cases and also has experienced about one death in each 1,000 reported cases.

With a strong immunization program backed by compulsory requirements in child care facilities and schools, Texas has drastically cut its measles rate.

The largest number of measles cases — 86,086 — was recorded in 1958. The low point of 212 cases was reached in 1974.

Measles showed an upswing to 2,032 cases in 1977: dropped to 1,033 cases in 1978; and declined to 670 cases in 1979. Nationwide figures followed the Texas curve, with 13,448 cases provisionally reported last year.

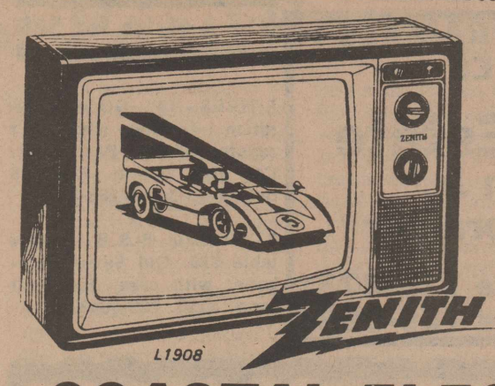

What is the outlook for 1980?

Through July 12, only 128 cases had been reported in Texas, well below the 596 cases at the same time last year. For the United States through July 14, there was a 10 percent increase to 12,092 cases this year.

Immunization is the key to prevention.

It is recommended now that children be immunized at 15 months of age. If a child was immunized before the first birthday, a booster dose is recommended.

The U.S. Public Health Service has set the date of October 1, 1982, as a goal for elimination of measles in the United States. This goal can be accomplished in Texas through continued: (1) prompt reporting of suspected and confirmed measles cases; (2) strict adherence to immunization regulations in child-care facilities and schools; and (3) cooperation of the public in obtaining required and recommended measles immunizations for their children.
