FLAYS 'MIXED BATHING'

Pastor Takes Aim At Youth Center

WAXAHACHIE, Tex., July 9.—A Baptist minister took aim Thursday at a growing youth center because he said it was supported by gambling, permitted mixed swimming and dancing.

The Rev. Herman Rice, pastor of the Ferris Avenue Baptist Church in Waxahachie, said his congregation was strictly against the fund-raising program for the center. The Optimist Club sponsors a street carnival each year to raise money for the project. Bingo and other games are played at the carnival.

"I never felt like it was right to have those gambling devices in the city," the Rev. Rice said.

He complained that the center's club house is the scene of dances every Saturday night, and that both girls and boys are in the swimming pool at the same time.

"We have lots of folks (in his congregation) who do not like mixed bathing," the minister said.

"We're not trying to close the center," the minister said. "But we'd like to see it run above reproach."

The minister said that at a church camp approved by members of his organization, both boys and girls had used the same swimming pool, but at different hours. The camp now has built a second pool so that boys have one and girls another.

"It worked out fine that way," he said.

Shaky Peace In Germany

BERLIN, July 9.—UP.—An uneasy peace returned to East Berlin Thursday.

East-West traffic moved normally, housewives hoped to get their weekly groceries, and the streets were free of the thousands of striking workers returned to their jobs.

Control On Cotton May Be Delayed

WASHINGTON, July 9.—UP.—Drouth, bad weather, and bugs may forestall federal controls on cotton production next year.

Until the Agriculture Department made the first official report on this year's crop Wednesday, experts had assumed that marketing quotas were certain to be imposed on the 1954 cotton crop. In fact, southern and western congressmen were already battling over legislation to revise the quota system to give the West a better break.

But the report indicated there is at least a chance that cotton control plans will go out the window.

As one Agriculture Department official said, "It still depends on the weather"—what happens to the crop between now and October, when Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson must decide whether to ask for quotas on 1954 output.

Wednesday's report showed 24,618,000 acres of cotton in cultivation on July 1, down 9 percent from last year. It yields approximately the 10-year average, that would mean a crop of about 13 million bales compared with 1952 production of 15,136,000.

A 13 million bale crop would create a surplus that probably would lead to controls next year.

Drouth Aid Group In Meeting Today

Gray County's drouth relief aid committee, headed by Clyde Carruth, was to meet in the county agent's office today to screen approximately 50 applications for emergency feed expected here the latter part of the week.

An order of one freight car of cottonseed pellets and one car of oats is expected to be in this week and orders for more will be made following today's meeting.

The feed is available to cattlemen for foundation livestock and may be purchased for $35 per ton for cottonseed pellets and 50 cents per bushel for oats.

Other applications will be taken through the county Production and Marketing Association.

Thus far, Carruth has pointed out, cottonseed meal or pellets, corn, wheat and oats are the only feedstuffs listed for the drouth aid. Hay, requested by area cattlemen, is not included.

Members of the screening committee include Billy Davis, D. B. Robison, Ralph Thomas, James Goudy, Clarendon, and Carruth.

Polio Cost Here Takes Sharp Dip

Less than $500 has been expended by the Gray County Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, so far this year in aiding polio stricken victims—all of them old cases.

Ray Evans, treasurer of the Gray County chapter reported this morning, a total of $250.76 has been received in nine checks for various and sundry purposes in the polio battle.

"We still have our first case to be reported during the 1953 calendar year," Evans said.

The county's six new cases last year, plus expenses for nine old cases resulted in a net expenditure for the same period of $1,729.31.

Buyers Strip Peach Orchard

BELTON, Tex., July 9.—UP.—Charles Duke cancelled his advertisement offering peaches at $2 a bushel—pick them yourself—because his orchard "looked like a drive-in theater" after 2,000 people responded.

Buyers were called off. The trees were stripped to the bare limbs.

Drouth Money Approval Due

WASHINGTON, July 9.—UP.—Legislation setting up a multi-million dollar government loan program for farmers and ranchers in the southwest drouth zone came up for a vote in both Houses of Congress Thursday.

Cattlemen Ask Support On Prices

DALHART, Tex., July 9.—UP.—A large delegation of cattlemen from five states was expected to formally organize Thursday and seek federal price supports for cattle.

O. H. Finch Sr., temporary chairman of the North Plains Cattle Growers Association, said he expected a large number of cattlemen from Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Kansas and Colorado.

A preliminary meeting was held Monday and the price support program was a high point of that session. Leaders of the group said that officials of present livestock associations have oil or other interests and are not dependent upon raising livestock for a living. Thus, they said, those leaders have not pushed for beef price supports.

Finch said before the meeting Thursday that he had received wires supporting that stand from several ranchers and officials.

Homar Duffy, president of the Oklahoma Farmers Union, told Finch the Dalhart group "has solid support of 30,000 members of our union in your fight for cattle price supports."

A telegram signed by more than a dozen Pecos, Tex., ranchers also endorsed support and said the ranchers would be ready to join Thursday.

Local Recruiting Office Closed

Pampa's army and air force recruiting office will be closed until a new recruiting officer is assigned to the area, it was announced by Sgt. Lonnie Mills, former recruiting officer.

Sgt. Mills reports to Ft. Bliss in El Paso Friday for a new assignment in the army. He served the Pampa area for five months.

Rains Dot Region

O'Donnell in Lynn county, Tex., and neighboring Dawson county received heavy showers measured at more than an inch and a half. The two counties in West Texas are in the heart of the drouth area.

The rains sent farmers scurrying to town to buy sorghum grain seeds to plant in soil that has been too dry for germination.

Other showers fell in Oklahoma and Texas, but were not of the soil-soaking variety. More scattered rain showers were predicted for the Oklahoma and Texas Panhandle areas Thursday.

Most of the drouth-stricken area stayed dry and hot Wednesday. The Texas high was 103 degrees at Dallas, Fort Worth and Pres-

UN Delegates Ready To Sign Truce Terms

Reds Block Advance Of U. S. Troops

SEOUL, July 9.—UP.—Flaming Americans charged toward the crest of Porkchop Hill Thursday but Chinese cannon blocked their advance with a "wall of exploding steel."

Chinese troops then poured from their muddy trenches on the western finger of Porkchop west of Choson to pursue elements of the 17th Regiment, U. S. Seventh Division, that had attacked.

The Americans jumped off for Porkchop's crest while South Koreans were counter-attacking for an outpost fronting Arrowhead to the east. Both outposts guard the invasion route to Seoul.

Stalled for 15 Minutes

United Press correspondent Al Kaff reported "American troops were stalled 15 minutes after the counterattack began at 5 p.m. by an enemy wall of exploding steel."

Kaff said the Americans crawled and fought their way almost to the crest of Porkchop by blasting the Chinese from 10 key bunkers.

Shells from mammoth 240-millimeter howitzers, largest field pieces in Korea, supported the American forward through a barrage of 21,000 Red artillery rounds and 2,000 rockets.

An earlier dispatch said the ROKs had killed 387 Chinese and wounded 450 in the bitter battle 35 miles north of Seoul.

Kaff said the Chinese resisted the first echelon of counter-attacking Americans with a "rain of small arms and machinegun fire."

The fighting for Porkchop has raged for 72 hours.

Negotiators Set Full Scale Meet

SEOUL, Friday, July 10.—UP.—United Nations truce negotiators hold a full scale meeting with the Reds Friday, ready to sign a Korean armistice immediately, with or without President Syngman Rhee.

It is the first plenary truce session since June 19, and it comes on the second anniversary of the Korean war.

May Avoid Open Rift With ROK

WASHINGTON, July 9.—UP.—Hopes for avoiding an open clash with South Korea rose perceptibly Thursday as the administration rushed instructions to the Far East for concluding a speedy Korean armistice.

Officials were keeping their fingers crossed. But they indicated there now are some signs that President Syngman Rhee may agree to honor a cease-fire.

As events in Korea moved swiftly toward a climax in the wake of the Communist agreement to go ahead with an armistice, President Eisenhower took a personal hand in the planning here.

He cut short his afternoon golf game late Wednesday to confer with his top diplomatic, military and congressional leaders. The talks indicated new instructions were being sent to United Nations Commander Gen. Mark W. Clark, presumably to go ahead with an armistice.

The White House conference was preceded and followed by reports that the administration had decided to seek a truce at an early date. Clark asked the Communists on June 29 to meet immediately to sign a truce after making final arrangements. The Reds accepted the offer Wednesday.

This puts the next move up to the United Nations. Clark presumably will call for a full dress meeting of the Allied and Communist negotiators to set a date for the armistice signing.

While hopes apparently were rising for an agreement with Rhee, past experiences in dealing with the 78-year-old Korean leader prevented flat predictions that he would go along with a truce. But he was understood to have modified his defiance to some degree in recent negotiations in Seoul with Assistant Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson. Mr. Eisenhower's personal emissary.

At his news conference Wednesday, Mr. Eisenhower reflected the uncertainty of Rhee's attitude by saying that no one could tell how the situation would come out.

52 Soap Box Derby Racers Inspected

It took nine hours for 52 racers entered in Sunday's Pampa Soap Box Derby to be inspected.

Working from 9:15 a.m. to 6:15 p.m. Wednesday on the inspection in the junior high school gymnasium were eight men "with the help of some fathers," according to Dick Stowers, local Derby registrar.

Forty-eight of the 52 boys entered in the race are Pampans, Stowers said.

While the race is scheduled to get underway at 2 p.m. Sunday on Pampa's Derby Downs, the registrar continued, all entrants are asked to be on hand at 1 p.m. to pick up their shirts and helmets. "No slippers will be allowed," said Stowers.

Time of the award of prizes and recognition to all entrants has been changed to noon Tuesday in the regular meeting of the Jaycees in the Palm Room. Stowers added.

PMA Meeting Set Tomorrow

County committeemen of the Production and Marketing Administration will meet for preliminary work on wheat allotments for Gray County farmers at 10 a.m. Friday.

Allotments, pending a bill in Congress to allow for cover crops on area farms, are to be announced by July 15, according to Miss Evelyn Mason, PMA office manager.

On the committee are Clyde Carruth, H. H. Keahey and J. E. Kirby.

Eisenhower May Air Atom Facts

WASHINGTON, July 9.—UP.—Congressional experts said Thursday President Eisenhower can publish the essential facts of life-or-death in the atomic age whenever he concludes the time has come to do so.

Mr. Eisenhower said at his news conference Wednesday that he thinks that time has come. He added, however, that certain parts of the atomic energy act, which he said are outmoded, must first be changed.

Chairman W. Sterling Cole (R-N.Y.) of the House Senate Atomic Energy Commission disagreed. He said the law makes the Atomic Energy Commission, the President approving, the judge of what atomic facts may be made public "without adversely affecting the common defense and security."

In saying that the American people—and through them America's allies—are entitled to more atomic information, the President added his to other distinguished voices urging the same general ideas.

Among them:

Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, boss of the U. S. A-bomb laboratory at Los Alamos, N.M., in World War II. He has said the U. S. public should be given an idea of the size of both the American and Soviet atomic stockpiles.

Gordon Dean, recently retired chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. Dean said America should know what Russian A-bombs can do to them, and Russia should be given the certain knowledge of what U. S. weapons could do to them. Dean also said America's allies must be told the role and potentialities of U. S. atomic weapons in defense of the West.

Teen-Ager Raped In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, July 9.—UP.—A teen-age Riverside girl told police she was raped about 1 a.m. Thursday by a man who entered her bedroom, awoke her and then attacked her.

The 16-year-old girl said the man threatened to harm other members of her family if she made any outcry. The girl's mother was sleeping in another part of the house, but did not hear the attack because of noise from an air-conditioner.

Frankie Bailey Dies In Hollywood At 94

HOLLYWOOD, July 9.—UP—Frankie Bailey, the gay 90's musical comedy star with the "million dollar legs," who Flo Ziegfeld called "most beautiful woman in the world," died Wednesday at the age of 94.

The woman who became the toast of Broadway in the gas light era by merely appearing in white tights to show the shapely legs which once were insured for $1 million, died alone and broke in a sanitarium. She was a Broadway star for 20 years and appeared with other such stars of her period as Weber and Fields, Lillian Russell, David Warfield and DeWolf Hopper.

"I always played in tights," she recalled recently. "I didn't want to sing or dance. They just wanted to look at my legs. I was famous overnight."

One of her most famous shows was one called "The Black Crook," which appeared on Broadway 65 years ago. Other shows were "Whirl-I-O-Gig," "Piddle-Dee-Dee" and "Hokey Pokey."

Miss Bailey was born Frankie Walters in New Orleans. She changed her name when her mother remarried after her father's death. Her stepbrother was A. J. Bailey, a partner in the Barnum and Bailey circus.

His talk is the result of three years of research at the institute of insurance, marketing on why men fail and why men succeed in this business.

Daylight Burglar Gets $200 In Cash

City police and sheriff's officers today were on the look-out for a youngster suspected of entering the Dean Monday Service Station, 301 W. Foster, and taking both cash and checks.

An estimated $200 in cash and $55 in checks were taken from the station sometime between noon and 2:30 p.m. Wednesday, according to Sheriff Rufe Jordan, who added that it was one of the first daylight break-ins in the area in some time.

A small boy entered the station during that period, Jordan quoted Monday as telling him. But no one seems to have gotten a good description of the youngster.

Both cash and checks were in a safe inside the office, officers said, and the one who pulled the job must have known how to work the safe door. Investigating with Jordan was Constable H. A. Doggett.

Several Pampans Refuse Dial Phones

Only "four or five" Pampa homes are still without dials on their telephones, George N. Newberry, manager of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. here, said this morning.

These people simply wouldn't let our men change their telephones, Newberry added, saying, "they told the men, they just don't want dial service."

He said these people would have to be called on again by the telephone company and have it explained to them they will either have to allow telephone men to install the dials or be without telephone service after the dial system goes into effect.

"We'll just have to disconnect them after dial goes in," Newberry said.

None of the rural phones — especially those on the eight-party lines — have been changed over. The telephone company has to use special equipment for that and so they will not be installed until the system is just about ready to be cut over. Rural residents will also have to operate those phones differently than the ones in town, Newberry explained. He estimated about 300 telephone subscribers are on those eight-party lines.

Rotary Principles Discussed At Meet

Overall principles of Rotary were discussed for the club Wednesday by Dr. Ed S. Williams, newly elected president of Rotary.

Taking the first program of the fiscal year, the new president told the club he hoped it would continue to hold its past records of service, attendance, and hospitality to visitors and guests, improving even on these.

He emphasized, too, the importance of the Junior Rotarian program, saying no man can do too much in winning the respect and admiration of the youth of today.

A committee of four, R. D. Wilkerson, Chairman, Arthur Smalley and Paul Crossman Jr., was named to work on a float for the Top of Texas Rodeo parade.

Chicago Cards Sign Three Chicago Cardinals

CHICAGO, July 9.—UP—The Chicago Cardinals Thursday announced that three more players have signed contracts for the 1953 football season. Two are centers, veteran Jack Simmons of the University of Detroit and rookie Joseph May of Southwest Missouri State. The third player to come to terms was guard Gordon Polofsky of the University of Tennessee.

Suicide Attempt Foiled By Police

PORT WORTH, July 9.—UP—A 27-year-old Navy veteran perched on a ledge outside the window of his third-floor hotel room for 15 minutes Wednesday night before a policeman pulled him back to safety.

Thomas E. Boggs, who went into seclusion at the home of a friend Thursday, offered no reason for his action. He indicated, however, that he was despondent over separation from his wife and two small children.

Friends said Boggs — a former Navy hospital apprentice — had been separated from his wife since June 18. No reason for the separation was given.

The department paid out about $19 million for 4,562,500 pounds of canned beef and gravy, bought at an average price of 37 cents a pound, and 688,000 pounds of ground beef-hamburger, bought for an average of 35 cents a pound.

On June 30 when the department stepped up its buying, it planned to buy 200 million pounds of beef with purchases totaling at least 10 million pounds a week.

A spokesman said Thursday the 10 million pound goal was not hit this week because "not enough was offered at prices in line with market prices — prices asked were too high."

The latest purchase brought to 17,068,500 pounds the total amount of beef bought since early spring. Most of the meat will be donated to school lunch programs and charitable outlets. Some will be shipped to Greece under a mutual security agency program and some will go to the Army.

Cloudless Skies Follow Dust, Rain

Pampa skies near noon today were blue and cloudless, following the first recorded rain of the month.

Officials at the KPDM transmitter, a mile east of town, reported that .06 of an inch fell between 10 p.m. and 11 p.m. Wednesday after a "quickie" dust storm. And many a Pampa downtown who had gone to the show reported water-soaked car seats.

Precipitation followed a Wednesday high of 97 and preceded a Thursday morning low of 64 which had climbed to 82 by 11 a.m. today.

Today's prediction for Pampa called for more scattered showers, more heat and more changeless temperatures.

Search Is Fruitless For Reds' Motives In Newest Flip-Flop

WASHINGTON (NEA)—While American public interest has been focused on Korean truce possibilities, recent developments in the Soviet zone of East Germany have been no less significant.

They are highlighted by the latest case in which East German authorities relaxed a production speedup after 20,000 building-trades workers had protested in East Berlin. The mere fact that anybody under a Communist government control can protest against any desire is a sign of weakness. But the fact that the workmen had their demands met is positively sensational.

It is possible that the long-repressed workers, taking this concession as a sign of weakness, were inspired to the widespread riots that brought out Russian tanks and machine guns and resulted in martial law being declared.

Before this, over the past couple of weeks, West Berlin and West German authorities have been astounded by these other events:

1. A change from a Russian military commander to a civilian high commissioner.
2. A halt on expansion of the collectivized farm system.
3. An offer of state bank credits to private businessmen to reopen shops and factories that had been closed down because they offered competition to state industries.
4. A promise of amnesty and

Oil Firms Stand By Increases

WASHINGTON, July 8 (UP)—Big oil companies stuck by their price increases Wednesday despite a congressman's threat to seek enactment of strong federal controls on the industry.

H. G. Burks Jr., executive vice president of Esso Standard Oil Co., and Hines H. Baker, president of Humble Oil & Refining Co., joined the parade of industry witnesses defending the price hikes before the House Commerce committee.

Rep. John W. Heselton (R-Mass.), a committee member, charged that the increases were unjustified and said he would press for enactment of federal controls unless "there is a change of attitude very soon." He did not specify what kind of controls.

The series of increases last month have sent retail gasoline prices up as much as three cents a gallon in some places.

Heselton charged that the oil firms were promoting another inflationary price spiral hampering the Eisenhower administration's efforts to "get some economic sense into the country."

He told Herbert Willets, vice president of Socony-Vacuum Oil Co., "you stand definitely convicted of contributing to another spiral which will make this administration's job much more difficult."

Willets insisted that the increases were due to increased production costs. "We cannot close our eyes to facts," he said. "These things (increased production costs) are happening. It's an unhappy situation, but we must be realistic."

Candor Speech Sland
WASHINGTON, July 8 (UP)—Rep. Robert L. Conrad, who was barred from a Nevada atomic bomb test on security grounds, announced he will discuss his case in a House speech next Tuesday. The California Democrat said he will "rise to a point of personal privilege," which means he will be allowed an hour's time to discuss the Atomic Energy Commission's decision.

Bill Helps Publishers
WASHINGTON, July 8 (UP)—Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) introduced a bill Tuesday to make it easier for publishers of weekly newspapers to get a vacation. The measure would permit weeklies to suspend publication for two weeks each year without forfeiting second class mailing privileges.

The recently established Optocal Co. in Hillsdale, N. J., is the first commercial source of optical quality fused quartz in the United States.

RUTH MILLETT

A bachelor who thinks the average wife has a lot to learn about being a charming hostess has these criticisms to make:

"All too often a hostess doesn't turn off the television set before she goes to the door to greet an expected guest. She either leaves it on until after he is seated in the living room, making him feel that the whole family is making a big sacrifice for him when it is finally turned off. Or she leaves it on and the guest has to watch a play he can't understand because he didn't get in on it at the start.

"It's kind and considerate for a hostess to chatter along and put a guest at ease. But a lot of women overdo the vivacious hostess act — and keep the chatter up all evening, never giving the guest a chance to do anything but listen.

SURPRISE GUESTS
"Of course, if a wife is going to have a guest or guests to a meal, she wants to know about it in advance. But some husbands don't dare bring home an unexpected guest just for a drink or a look at the gun collection.

If they do the wife is anything but cordial and usually bangs away in the kitchen, making it obvious that she wants the guest out of the way so that she can get the dinner on the table.

"And then there is the hostess who leaves guests sitting in the living room while she chats for 20 minutes on the telephone instead of saying she has guests and asking if she can call back later."

Well, there are one bachelor's criticisms of women as hostesses. Some of the women who read what he has to say "have a few ideas on why bachelors are hard to entertain.

In previous letters wives have complained about their husbands' bachelor cronies who never know when to go home, never return hospitality, and yet are never available when the hostess is desperately in need of an extra man.

Kitchen areas that get the most fingerprints, such as doorknobs, light switches, and cabinet and appliance handles, show wear soon. Instead of washing with finish-renewing substances, you might try cleaning them with a kitchen wax containing cleansing agents. This treatment will leave a protective finish on these surfaces.

You can help prevent clogged drains by regularly allowing lots of scalding water to run down them.

'Be Different' Designer Says

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
NEW YORK, July 9 — UP — Dare to be different, Jane Derby advises women, and dress to please yourself.

Mrs. Derby, a designer with plenty of daring ideas up her sleeve, thinks we're too inclined to wear clothes the way they come off the store dummies.

"Change the buttons, change the belt, or sew a little piece of black piping on the neckline," she suggested. "Fix it so it looks best on you."

It goes back to that old question of whether women dress to please men or to please other women. They shouldn't do either, in Mrs. Derby's opinion.

Just Please Yourself
"You should dress to please yourself," she insisted. No we're dressing to please other women, she added, because everybody's become so style conscious that wardrobes are sometimes more fashionable than becoming.

"If a full skirt is completely out of style, wear it anyway if that's what looks best on you," the designer said emphatically. "If a woman has on something she feels right in, she moves better, looks better and feels better."

Anything goes when a good designer starts combining fabrics and colors, Mrs. Derby thinks. A little of the same originality could be developed by any clothes-minded woman.

"I started using denims in high-priced clothes and put nine dollar lace over khaki when nobody else would dream of trying it," she recalled. Her thickly-carpeted show-room overlooking Central Park indicated the experiments had been a financial success.

"It's not the fabric any more," she said, "it's the way you use it."

Not Much Evidence
Separates have given women plenty of chance to make original combinations in their own wardrobes, but Mrs. Derby says she's "seen little evidence of it."

Street and work clothes should be simple and conservative, she acknowledged, but at home and in the evening a woman should go all out with her own ideas.

"Don't just hang a lot of beads or tie a scarf at your neck," she advised. "That's been overdone. But concentrate on your waistline or your arms for accessories that are becoming to you. Wear tweeds to a formal party if they're made right for evening wear. Pin fancy buckles on your shoes. Experiment until you find what makes a dress or suit look best on you. Then don't be afraid to try it."

Kezzie Mae Circle Of White Deer Meets

WHITE DEER (Special) — The Kezzie Mae Circle of the Baptist Women's Missionary Society met in the home of Mrs. Bob Lutz recently for a Bible Study led by Mrs. Howard Lyons.

Prayers were given by Mrs. Wayne Brown and Mrs. Lutz. Present were Mrs. Clyde Boyd, Clifton Kelly, Eugene Richardson, Howard Lyons, Jay Phillips, Wayne Brown and Lutz.

Gas incinerators for homes are available which will consume all combustible household wastes without noise or smoke. In some models, no attention is required once the pilot has been lighted. Built-in receptacles hold a two-to-four week collection of ashes.

Washable window shades should be spread out flat to scrub. Use "dry" suds on cloth or brush, doing a small area at a time with overlapping strokes. Don't get the shade too wet. Hang full length to dry.

Cookbooks are so easily smeared that transparent plastic jackets might be a good investment.

Manners Make Friends

You're a friend of the bride and you'd like to give her a shower. But several have already been planned. Should you give her still another shower? Not unless you want to produce groans of "Not ANOTHER shower!" among those who have to buy the shower presents. Give her some other kind of party — for instance, a luncheon.

Showers aren't always showers of blessings for those who buy the gifts.

Clean your dust mop by covering it with a large paper bag held in place securely, and then shake dust into the bag.

Mrs. Clyde Boyd Is Honored With Shower

WHITE DEER (Special) — Mrs. Clyde Boyd was the honoree at a recent lullaby shower given in the home of Mrs. Jay Phillips with Mrs. Clifton Kelly as co-hostess.

Appropriate games were played after which the honoree opened the gifts. Refreshments of punch, cookies, and mint placed in miniature diapers were served from a lace covered table centered with a miniature doll and cradle.

A corsage of pink gladioli was presented the honoree.

Participating were Mrs. Bob Lutz, H. B. Cain, Kate Young, Albert Matheson, Frank Evans, Kenneth Bruton, Brian Evans, Eugene Richardson, Carl McAdams, Jimmy Boyd of Pampa, the honoree and the hostesses.

The jokes about the old string-saver aren't really funny, when you're all set to wrap a package — and need only a bit of twine to complete the job. Save good, long lengths of string from packages — string on department store packages is especially sturdy — and you'll never be without a means to solve a wrapping problem.

Youth Group Has Planning Session

The senior department of the Methodist Youth Fellowship of the First Methodist Church met Wednesday evening for a special session of the program committee.

After the meeting refreshments of punch and cookies were served to Keith Bonny, Dan Teed, Jo Tooley, Billy McKee, Jean Sims, Jan Baker, Gerald Piper, Margie McKee, Bobby Schew, Kenneth Van Sickle, Patsy and Peggy Ward, John Teed, Don Cook, Rochelle Smith, John Warner, Herman Van Sickle, Jim Waggoner, Clifford Ryan and Carol Hughes.

New Faces, Old Problems Due At Foreign Ministers' Meet

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign Analyst

There'll be some new faces around the "big three" foreign ministers' conference table in Washington this weekend, but the problems to be discussed are old ones.

Broadly speaking they are Korea, Indochina, German unification, an European Army, recognition of Red China and a possible Big Four meeting with Russia.

No one expects any important decisions to be reached. For one thing, the questions involved are of such magnitude that they can be decided only by heads of state, and hence must wait on the three postponed Bermuda meetings among President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Laniel or whoever happens to head the French government at that moment.

Only Dulles Permanent

Of the three who meet in Washington, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is the only one with any degree of permanence. Britain's Marquis of Salisbury is a Minister. Anthony Eden, France's Georges Bidault suffers the same lack of permanence in his job as his boss, Laniel.

Even so some important groundwork for Bermuda may be laid. The questions of an European Army and German unification, of course, are interlocking.

The French always have been toward it, they would prefer to wait on a meeting with Russia. The European Army and European unity are a keystone in U.S. foreign policy. The European Army plan, however, is based only on German participation on terms approximately equal to France, and not on a unified Germany.

Possible Russian Move
One guess now, however, is that an early Russian move may be to propose free, all-German elections. Such a move would stall the Army plan indefinitely, since it would crystallize French fears of an armed and united Germany, and would rouse German opposition to any move which might jeopardize reunification and probably would be part of the Russian price for free elections.

At any rate, it is a possibility which must be considered at high level. There also is the continuing French headache in Indochina. The French are besieged not only by the Reds but by increasing demands for full independence by the Indochinese. The French are in a mood to make concessions. In this they will be pressed by the United States which has been critical of French colonial policy.

'Grass' Ran Away
WITH U. S. 40TH DIVISION, Korea, July 9—UP—Buddies of Pvt. Manse C. Thompson thought he had gone mad when he started firing while they watched the wind sweep through grass near a front line position.

Then four Chinese camouflaged in marsh grass appeared from behind a log and ran away.

"Who ever heard of grass growing on top of a log," said Thompson.

GOP To Get Along Without Sen. Taft

WASHINGTON, July 9—UP—Senate Republicans Thursday faced up to the unhappy realization that they will have to get along indefinitely without the valued leadership of Sen. Robert A. Taft.

They said the "expedient" abdominal operation which the 55-year-old Ohio Republican underwent in New York hospital Wednesday doubtless will sideline him completely for the rest of the current congressional session, and perhaps longer.

Although his painful hip ailment forced him to give up active floor leadership on June 10, Taft has, until now, retained a powerful voice in backstage GOP councils. His advice has frequently been sought, and received, by President Eisenhower as well as members of his party in the Senate.

Friends saw no possibility that Taft will be able to perform even an advisory role during the remainder of the session, which is due to adjourn at the end of this month. He will be hospitalized for two weeks.

Fearful that Taft's condition may be more serious than they first believed, several Republican senators said privately the big question now is whether he will be able to take the helm again when Congress reconvenes next January.

There was widespread agreement that Taft's prolonged absence would complicate the difficulties the GOP already is encountering in the closely-divided Senate, with acting Republican leader William F. Knowland pinch-hitting against a well-organized Democratic minority.

Since Knowland took over, the Republicans have been involved in a series of brushes with the Democrats and the administration has lost several close votes. The Republicans hold only a hairline 48-47 edge in the Senate, which leaves independent Sen. Wayne L. Morse (Ore.) in a key position. He bolted the GOP last year but voted with them to organize the Senate. Otherwise, Vice President Richard M. Nixon would have been forced to break the tie. Knowland, a hard worker at the job, has not always held the Republican votes in line as effectively as Taft.

Senate Approves Citizenship
WASHINGTON, July 9—UP—The Senate Monday passed a bill granting permanent residence in the United States to the 21-year-old Polish pilot who flew across the Iron Curtain with the first Soviet MIG-15 fighter plane to reach the west intact. The House has passed a similar bill. The flier, Franciszek Jarecki, escaped from Poland in the jet fighter last March 5.

It is said that the millet is the only fish rich enough to fry in its own fat.

Additional to 10-Most Wanted
WASHINGTON, July 9—UP—Jack Gordon White, 34-year-old southern desperado, Tuesday was put on the FBI's list of "10 most wanted fugitives." White fled Aug. 25 from a Florida state prison camp at Loxahatchee where he was serving a 30-year term for breaking and entering, grand larceny, and armed robbery.

Bread stays soft longest when stored at 75 degrees to 85 degrees F., according to a recent research report. The finding runs counter to the opinion of housewives who keep bread in the refrigerator.

TALL LOOKOUT—This might look like a radio station antenna, but it is only a watchtower which the Russians use as part of their Iron Curtain. The tower is on the German-Czech border and is about 100 feet high.

Scout City To Draw 50,000 Boys At National Jamboree

OVER THE HILL, SCOUT CITY: Painted for the Boy Scouts, this is an artist's view of three Scouts hiking into Scout City, near Los Angeles, for their National Jamboree, July 17-23.

SCOUT CITY, Calif. —(NEA)—A steered by a steer peers curiously at what last week was good grazing ground. From across the flat lands a calf bawls and a cowboy sings. But Main Street of the new city rising here is taking shape.

Within days 50,000 honest, trustworthy, courteous, able, hungry Boy Scouts of America will move into their 3000-acre city on the Irvine Ranch 40 miles southeast of Los Angeles for their Third National Jamboree.

Nearly 30,000 tents will rise. Almost 5000 patrol kitchens will be set up. At least 36 health lodges, staffed by doctors and medical aides, will open. And six trading posts will do a thriving business.

The Jamboree will last only from July 17 to 23. But in that time, the boys from all sections, creeds and beliefs will live together and learn about each other. Scout leaders expect about 125 boys from other nations in addition to Scouts from every one of the United States.

Besides their own pageants and meetings with outstanding Americans, most Scouts will tour several California points of interest.

There's a scheduled trip to Knott's Berry Farm; a visit to the Long Beach Naval Base; a trek through the RKO Movie Ranch; and excursion to Catalina Island and through Hollywood.

The Jamboree facilities include formal worship services, a star-studded "Hollywood Night," and a Cavalcade of Scouting to commemorate the three-year scouring program of "Forward On Liberty's Team."

At least half of the excitement and adventure for the Scouts will come from their traveling to and from the Jamboree.

Plans for many troops include visits to National Parks from Arizona to Wyoming and cities from Washington, D. C., to Spokane, Wash.

According to Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, Chief Scout Executive of the BSA, the great convocation of boys from all walks of life will be a practical demonstration of the democratic way of life.

"Here," said Dr. Schuck, "is a great experiment in citizenship, with the Scout Oath and Law and democratic procedures guiding the operation of each patrol and troop, and the great camp itself."

Scout City itself is divided into 36 sections, each housing 34 troops. The campsite will be administered by senior patrol leaders, Scout scribes, quartermasters and three adult leaders.

Each sectional camp has its own health tent, headquarters, commissary, post office and shower building. And if there's anyone you'd like to call there, you merely ask the operator for "Santa Ana, California: Jamboree 1953."

Every Scout pays a $48 fee to cover his camp expenses. But administrators foresee a rebate if the trading posts are successful.

And so, on Friday, July 17, at 9 a.m., when a salute bomb signals the raising of the U.S. flag, 50,000 Boy Scouts of America will begin to eat their way through the week.

In the course of the Jamboree they will consume 18 million gallons of water; 52 thousand dozen eggs; 58 thousand quarts of orange juice; 52 thousand quarts of orange juice; 52 thousand quarts of milk; and 100 tons of meat.

Even breakfast is phenomenal. One serving of morning pancakes for the Jamboree makes a stack higher than the Empire State Building.

Anniversary Visit Dusty BULAWAYO, Southern Rhodesia, July 9 —UP— Despite billowing clouds of red dust, Queen Mother Elizabeth had the top of her convertible lowered Monday so the natives could get a good view of her and Princess Margaret. The royal party is visiting this colony in connection with the 10th anniversary of the birth of South African emperor Cecil Rhodes for whom the colony was named.

For Freedom of Expression BALTIMORE, July 9 —UP— A large red swastika and the words "Destroyer of American Freedom" were found scrawled in lipstick Monday on an eight-foot granite monument erected by a Baltimore used car dealer in honor of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Old Bill Dies. WASHINGTON, July 8 —UP— The House passed and sent to the White House Tuesday a bill to repeal an old law under which GI's could buy their discharge from military service. Two soldiers at Fort Sill, Okla., tried unsuccessfully to make use of the 1890 law earlier this year. They found the law had been suspended since World War II. The new bill would kill it.

Ice Plants Can Be Hot Spot In Town

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON, July 8 —UP— On these torrid days the ice man carrieth — and sweateth.

You'd think the big ice plants would be coolest places in town during hot weather. They are, in some spots, inside. But ask any ice man how much fun it is to come out of a room that is below zero and then hoist a 200-pound cake of ice onto a truck in the hot outdoors.

"I believe it would be more comfortable working in a boiler factory," one husky helper told me. "It's the change of temperature that bothers us."

The ice men are strong men. They have to be. But my man told me that most of the men coming in and out of his plant have colds all during the hot weather.

While thinking of ice, I wondered what various uses there are for the stuff, except to cool a limeade, so I asked an expert.

There are more uses than you would think. The man listed a few. Like this:

Ice can be used to cool off pets. Cats and dogs love to play with ice.

You can dump a few cubes on some potted plants to keep the dirt wet, but you'd better consult your greenhouse man which plants can take a chill.

When the baby is teething, he'd rather have a hunk of ice wrapped in a clean cloth than the store-bought teethingers. And speaking of teeth, an ice pack may give some relief to a grown-up tooth ache.

And here's one I hadn't thought of. You can wrap ice in a rag to moisten the glue on envelopes and stamps. It saves a lot of tongue licking.

For mixing and chilling salads all you have to do is to put a small bowl inside a bigger one filled with chips of ice.

And Those Hangovers. And ice, the man concluded, is somewhat soothing for mere man with a hangover, or one with a bumped noggin.

The flocks at the National Association of Ice Industries here like to tell how iced tea was "discovered."

It happened at the world's fair in St. Louis in 1904. One of the concessionaires was from a country that sold tea. He set up his stand and prepared to sell the people hot tea.

The weather turned hotter than the tea. The thermometer reached 103 degrees.

People didn't even walk by the poor fellow's stand. They detoured. Finally he got an idea. You can guess the rest of the story.

Iced tea was born and the American people caught on in a hurry.

NO WHERE TO GO—Except for especially agreed-upon lines, railroad tracks don't penetrate the Iron Curtain. This scene shows what happens at the Curtain—you stop. Sometimes the Russians just rip up a fragment of track to stop trains from moving on, at other times they have abandoned great stretches of track.

Movie titles usually are painted on a sheet of glass and photographed over a scene from the picture, or a background such as parchment or silk. Warner Studio executives were worried that their title for "House of Wax" would have to be cut out of blocks of wood to give a 3-D effect.

But Pacific Title artists merely drew in the three-dimensional effect on painted letters, and added globes of dripping wax to the front of each letter.

A 3-D dash was added to "Inferno," 20th Century Fox' entry in the stereo scramble, by photographing the name with two cameras, as in 3-D movies.

"Wide-screen titles give more problems," Glickman said. "We wanted backgrounds of satin and jewels behind the titles for 'How To Marry A Millionaire.' We had trouble getting good-sized jewels. Little ones would have been lost on the cinemascope screen."

Another task was getting the short title, "The Robe," to fill the ribbon-like cinemascope screen.

Pacific Title's most complicated current job is the opening of MGM's "Kiss Me Kate." The studio wizards built a tiny surrealist set. By trick photography, three tops will appear to spin out of the screen to spell the words, "Kiss Me Kate."

Glickman dreams of creating more such fancy titles. But in today's movietown economy wave "they want richness and simplicity — they can't afford a $50,000 title any more." In the old days, the title-makers often got carried away with it all. The title for "Maytime," for example, was spelled out by petals falling onto a pond of water.

The title king, with shining eyes, said "We could have the letters of the 3-D titles falling out of the screen, but the studios won't let us."

Movie Title Creators Have 3-D Problems

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD, July 8 —UP— This 3-D revolution poses headaches even for those men who make only the titles and the "The Ends" of the movies.

Most film studios farm out the job of photographing the title and credits for pictures to the Pacific Title Studio, which can do it cheaper and faster. In that small studio in the heart of Hollywood, artists and cameramen have been staying late nights designing openings for such 3-D epics as "House of Wax" and "Arena."

Though their contribution to the picture is just the first few seconds and the final "The End" frame, they are taking their small-scale 3-D conversion just as seriously as the mighty movie studios.

"Movie titles are getting so complicated," reported President Larry Glickman. "We have had to design new techniques."

Canadian Personals

CANADIAN (Special) — Rev. Thos. Gray and sons Gary and Tommie, Jolene Norris, Kay and Dale Petree attended the Wichita Mountain Christian Service Camp near Lugert, Okla., last week.

Fireworks played their part in Canadian's toll of holiday injuries, according to Cleo Coffey, Jr., technician at Hemphill Memorial Hospital.

Henry and Darrell McPherson, sons of Mrs. Ethel McPherson, were hospitalized with cuts and bruises suffered when the car in which they were riding collided with a pickup. It was reported that one of the boys was attempting to light a sparkler as they drove along, this got the attention of the driver and resulted in the collision. Henry's cuts required seven stitches. Both boys have left the hospital.

The small son of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Henwood suffered painful injuries when a firecracker he was lighting exploded in his hand.

Gaylord Garnas, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Garnas, luckily escaped injury when the car he was driving on the upper river road rammed into a herd of black cattle after topping a hill. One animal was killed by the impact and another was so badly injured it had to be destroyed.

Damage to the late model Dodge was extensive.

Mr. Carl Zybach returned from Edmond, Okla., after spending a week in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Jim Tucker, taking care of her grandson while Mrs. Tucker took a special course at Central College, Edmond.

Tucker is also attending the college there. He is a math major and is to receive his degree in January.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Hardage, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hopkins and Mrs. G. W. Ayers expect to leave Wednesday for Colorado where they will vacation with Mr. and Mrs. John Payne, formerly of Canadian.

ON TOP OF THE WORLD—Some members of the Kips Bay Boys' Club in New York aren't old enough to attend the organization's summer camp, but they refuse to miss the chance to sleep out in the open. The club has set up a camp site on the roof of its headquarters and (left to right) Jeffrey Young, Richard Quinn, John Portelli, and Gary McNamara, have time of their lives testing out new sleeping bags.

UN Halts Red Probe

It was not surprising to most Americans that Soviet Russia has been operating slave labor camps as recently reported to the United Nations. What was a little surprising was that such a report was made, for it has long been the practice of those operating the United Nations to soft pedal anything that might reflect against the Soviets.

Now we have the report of Geneva that "despite vigorous U. S. objection," the United Nations Economic and Social Council has decided to put off until next year discussion of the report charging the existence of forced labor in the Soviet Union and three other Communist countries. The council voted 10 to five with three abstentions.

It ought to be kept in mind that the Economic and Social Council is the same sort of general UN apparatus as the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) and has the same sort of status in the United Nations setup.

Thus, in this instance additional consideration of the report on slave labor in Russia, is effectively stymied through the refusal of an offshoot of the United Nations to table the report "until next year."

There are many Americans who can recall the bitter battles in the United States over joining or not joining the League of Nations. When we do prevail and the United States kept clear of the "entangling alliance," it was then hailed that the League would have been a great success if the United States had been a member. This same line of nonsense was trotted over and over again in selling us the United Nations notion.

Well, we're in the United Nations. And what has it gotten us? And what has the United Nations done for America or world peace or any of the rest of the objectives?

There has been one winner in the United Nations fiasco. That's Communist Russia. To those who continue to insist that "we ought to get rid of UNESCO but keep the United Nations," the blocking of the question of slave labor appearing before the UN Assembly ought to be a good warning. Here is a direct application of one of the basic premises of the United Nations, that it will not be considered, even with "vigorous" determination, by the United States because it might reflect against Soviet Russia and her obsequious dependents. The record of the UN so far as America is concerned has been abysmal and we have not only been a participant in the UN but the "leader" insofar as expenditure of your American lives and American money is concerned.

How long the American people will continue to fool themselves and permit themselves to be fooled by demagogues whose only aim is to destroy freedom in America and elsewhere is a question that is not readily answerable. But this much is clear. We cannot for long continue to embrace such an organization without doing irreparable harm to our country. The course ought to be crystal clear. Get the UN out of the United States and the United States out of the UN.

State-Style Woo

For some reason or other, all Socialists, whether of the New Deal variety or the virulent Russian Communist variety, have a positive mania to regulate everything and everybody.

The underground Burmese Communists are no exception, according to captured documents released by the Burmese government. In Burma, Socialism has chosen to regulate love and courtship. Here are some of the rules:

While a suitor is courting his beloved, no other suitor may compete. To do so is punishable by death. A rejected suitor is allowed two more tries, but the second and third proposals must be made within two weeks of the first. The woman is required to give the authorities an explanation for a third and final refusal.

The bourgeois phrase, "I love you," is strictly forbidden in proposing. Socialist-approved verbiage is as follows:

"I am deeply impressed by your qualities as a faithful and energetic member of the party, and I wish to wage the party struggle together with you."

What possible explanation could a Burmese couple give to the authorities for refusing an ardent swain who read straight from the rules book, not just once but three times?

Rarified Atmosphere

Since time immemorial, it has been considered good form on the part of ardent suitors to declare to the object of their affections their willingness to climb the highest mountain in proof of the high octane content of their ardor.

In time, all things change, and this tradition apparently is to prove no exception. Dr. Michael Ward, a member of the British expedition which recently conquered Mt. Everest, has written in the British Medical Journal that "when climbing over 17,000 feet, one ceases to think of the cp-rite sex." In the rarified atmosphere, he reported, expedition members had only the most esthetic thoughts, and climbers who had never before read anything but detective stories took to reading the classics.

Now that the surprising results of climbing the highest mountain have been experienced, no swain in his right mind is likely to make such a rash promise again.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Excess Profits Tax —

Handicap To Better Jobs

The popular belief is that a tax on the efficient producers makes it possible for the employees to have better jobs and to have more of the comforts of life.

It is true, of course, that if we took all the profits of the efficient producers and did not directly tax the employees, that they could live better for a short period of time. That is on the same policy as if a man is able to rob a bank — so long as he is able to do this he will have more money to spend and be able to have a higher material standard of living.

The trouble with the excess profits tax is that it diverts the money or capital that would go into better tools and be managed by efficient management and turns it over to the government that consumes it by handing it out for votes and thus its apparent benefits are only temporary.

Thus the excess profits tax makes all workers work with poorer tools than they would have to work with if we let this money be invested in tools rather than being used for consumable goods and supporting non-productive men on the government payroll or being handed out in pensions or doles.

Great Mistake

The Republican Party is making a great mistake in taking the excess profits tax out of the Ways and Means Committee. This is necessary because most people who have not made a study of what creates better jobs believe that we can eat the goose that lays the Golden Egg. For this reason we need a method of checking such discriminatory and harmful taxes as the excess profits tax that is based on emotion and not on foresight.

England's Example

This move is about the same thing that happened in England in 1912. Before that time no tax bill could be passed without the consent of the House of Lords. At that time the king insisted on giving the House of Commons the right to pass a tax bill over the veto of the House of Lords. The result in England has been exactly what students of government and economics predicted. England has become more and more socialist and has dried up its capital so that the English people are now in terrible shape and are begging the United States for doles to keep them from becoming more and more destitute.

As this is written, of course, it is not known whether the House of Representatives will be able to pass the extension of the excess profits or a new excess profits tax after having passed the Ways and Means Committee. It is a serious step for the Republican Party to take.

If we want to hasten the trend towards socialism the thing to do is to establish the practice of having our bills passed by a pure majority vote, as they have done in England since 1912.

Eisenhower is making a great mistake in insisting that this bill is passed. It is doubtful whether the government will get as much money with this bill as it would get without it. Taxes can be so high that it produces less income than a lower rate. Just as a private firm can make more money if it keeps its prices down than it can by trying to get too high a price.

It seems that men who are educated by the government, like Eisenhower, have been, have mighty little judgment as to what produces more and better jobs.

THERE IS A LAW AGAINST CORRUPTION BECOMING TOO BIG

(Christian Economics)

You hear bureaucrats and socialists demanding such a law. There is one, and with no loopholes, either. The law of supply and demand.

The minute a company makes too much money, competitors rush into the business. The minute a company stops giving you sound values, the most for your money, you buy somewhere else or do without. And that means that company down to size in a hurry.

Of course, if a company does give you the most for your money, and does grow as a result, that's all right, isn't it? Or would you rather see the big concerns cut down and penalized? You're the one that's penalized in the long run.

Growth is what built America. Growth is the only thing that can make more and better jobs and values.

WANTED: A man for hard work and rapid promotion; a man who can find things to be done without the help of a manager and three assistants.

A man who gets to work on time in the morning and does not loiter the afternoon of others in attempting to be first out of the office at night.

A man who listens especially when he is spoken to and is "easy enough" enough to insure the accurate carrying out of instructions.

A man who moves quickly and makes as little noise as possible doing it.

A man who looks you straight in the eye and tells the truth every time.

A man who does not pry himself for having to work. A man who is not in appearance. This man is wanted everywhere. Age or lack of experience does not count. There is no limit, except his own ambition to the number or size of the jobs he can get. He is wanted in every business.

A police officer was preparing to issue a citation to a man who was "Wanted" — Both of them? A police officer hesitated for a moment. "No, just one of them. I want to see how you do it."

National Whirligig... Adlai Stevenson's Friends Try To Keep Him In News Spotlight

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Although Adlai Stevenson has been visiting remote sections of the world for weeks, his friends and admirers have taken special pains to keep the name and memory of the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee in the political spotlight.

Stevenson has been visiting remote sections of the world for weeks, his friends and admirers have taken special pains to keep the name and memory of the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee in the political spotlight. Stevenson has been visiting remote sections of the world for weeks, his friends and admirers have taken special pains to keep the name and memory of the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee in the political spotlight.

Several prominent Democratic leaders now refer to the Congressional Record as "Stevenson's campaign sheet." Their "sarcasm" comment derives from the fact that an almost daily account of Stevenson's travels, speeches and interviews has been inserted in the Record since he left the United States.

STEVENS NOT CRITICAL — These reports consist of newspaper articles which Barry Bingham, the defeated candidate's traveling companion, sends back to his newspaper, the Louisville Courier-Journal. They are invariably eulogistic, although Bingham's praise of the political tourist's behavior is duplicated by less partial correspondents.

All emphasize his refusal to criticize the Eisenhower administration, or to indict the so-called colonial powers' record in the Orient, India and the Middle East. Stevenson's restraint and his small enunciation frequently are contrasted with the Far Eastern trip taken by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, who is said to have swaggered through these same lands in style.

SPLIT IN DEMOCRATIC PARTY — This apparent attempt to prevent the 1952 loser from becoming only a political museum piece sharpens and dramatizes a generally unrecognized split within the Truman stalwarts and the faction enrolled in the Americans for Democratic Action group.

On his recent visit to New York and Washington, the former President showed a definite antagonism toward both the Stevens and the ADA elements. He mingled only with the politicians and former officials associated with his administration. In fact, he made some tart comments about "reformers."

TRUMAN FAVORS MCKINNEY — Truman, of course, has been informed of the Stevenson supporters' conviction that the Missouri's record and campaign tactics were liabilities rather than assets to the 1952 candidate. Even the generous Illinoisan recognizes that he was swamped by a brilliant Truman rather than an anti-Stevenson vote.

WHO'S "STUPID" ABOUT FOREIGN AID?

(Chicago Daily Tribune)

During the debate preceding passage of an authorization of almost $5 billion dollars in foreign aid, Rep. Vorys of Ohio, the Eisenhower floor manager, engaged in an altercation with Rep. Williams of Mississippi, an opponent of the aid program. Vorys called it "stupid" of Williams to describe the aid program as "an international bribe in an effort to buy friends." When Williams moved to debate the Ohioan withdrew the characterization.

Rep. Williams said that if his charge had indeed been stupid, then 50 per cent of the American people were stupid, because that proportion felt as he did on foreign aid. Rep. Vorys of Ohio, the Eisenhower floor manager, engaged in an altercation with Rep. Williams of Mississippi, an opponent of the aid program.

Case and others concerned in this business have told conflicting stories of the way it happened and of the actual nature of Ike's salute to Goldsmith. Apparently Ike wasn't thoroughly aware of the implications of his acknowledgment of Goldsmith as the man to whom the nation owes its freedom.

Mr. Moore's article said: "Full control resides in the 172,645 voting shares all owned by the family. And the company says officially that no plan for public sale of stock is under consideration. Yet, strong pressures exist both to wait too long to accomplish public sale in some form." Moore said Goldsmith observed that although the company was run of well and was making big strides, nevertheless, "some day diversification of the Foundation's investments will be desirable."

Continuing, Moore's article said that, to protect itself against sudden loss of income, the Foundation had made a "stabilization fund" of $100 million from income. Even so, Mr. Moore wrote that there was strong sentiment for diversification through sale of "a substantial portion" of the non-voting stock. The Foundation had eight trustees. Four are Henry and Benson Ford, Donald K. David, of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, and James Weber, a Detroit retail merchant. They seem sound enough, even granting youthful exuberance on the Ford youngsters. But the four "outsiders" are less impressive.

They are Hoffman, Charlie Wilson, late president of General Motors, and Charles E. Wilson, who charged that they (the Democrats) had choked opportunity and hampered progress by unnecessary, and crushing taxation." So it was not unreasonable to believe that the Republicans, not favoring unnecessary and crushing taxation, would reduce taxes.

On the issue of foreign aid the Republican platform made a gingerly approach, stating, "We shall not allow ourselves to be isolated and economically strangled, and we shall not let ourselves go bankrupt. Sums available by this test, if completely used, will be more effective than vastly greater sums spent for vague and endless purposes. We shall not try to buy good will."

Henry Ford II Takes Care Of Paul Hoffman In New Position

By WESTBROOK PEELES

(Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

The Ford Foundation is one of the most powerful private entities in the world. It has a capital endowment of about $200 million and it spent or gave away $37,865,000 in 1952, which was a little more than five millions beyond its income.

Henry Ford II, chairman of the Foundation, is relatively young. Whether he is mature enough to command public confidence in the exercise of this great influence, especially in view of the radical political character of some of the subordinates, remains to be learned.

His first choice for president of the Foundation was Paul G. Hoffman, who for a long time enjoyed by indolent acquiescence of an uninformed public, a reputation as a "progressive" industrialist.

Hoffman had been an automobile salesman in California and by salesmanship and luck made himself president of Studebaker. He landed at the head of the Economic Cooperation Administration, the fabulous Roosevelt-Truman overseas squanderbush, at the end of the war and came out without a suspicious inquiry until a terrible toll had been taken of the American economy. And of the future of our people who will have to redeem his extravagance, Hoffman may be summed up as a hoax without a rival in the history of mankind. He resigned the presidency of the Foundation last March.

The retired chief executive of one of our biggest and richest business corporations said Henry Ford II simply had to relieve Hoffman of his powers. However, Hoffman was not a New Jersey Congressman and a nominal Republican as president and director of the Fund. He is so nominal in his Republican doctrine that the CIO, which is a anti-Republican, endorsed him in 1952. Case was one of a mysterious group in President-elect Eisenhower's headquarters last fall, who secretly got Ike's signature on a "testimonial" for Arthur J. Goldsmith who tries to win control of Congress for undisclosed Eastern financial backers by sending money into stacks of small population to defeat anti-Communist candidates and all who stand against unrestricted immigration. It is much more often anti-Republican than pro.

Case and others concerned in this business have told conflicting stories of the way it happened and of the actual nature of Ike's salute to Goldsmith. Apparently Ike wasn't thoroughly aware of the implications of his acknowledgment of Goldsmith as the man to whom the nation owes its freedom.

There is no particular reason why a man should get a pat on the back for being devoted to his wife. It sort of goes along with the job. But Lillian Moore, the wife of Fred, had been in the eyes of Fred's friends for years during most of which she was ill. He worked as an actor in a town not notable for fidelity. His profession was one, and still is one, in which the public sees and knows that the boys stay home. His town was one that manages to get on Page One with steady regularity as the area in which straying from the hearth is a local custom.

Fred and Lillian, saxophone blower and model they had been, were married in Las Vegas and started just about the most crowded honeymoon I ever heard about. They took along half a dozen friends and they all moved into a cottage in the Nevada desert and for two weeks it was like a small hotel. Every now and then someone would suggest that maybe Fred and Lillian would like to be alone, but they both laughed that off and insisted on having company on their honeymoon.

The wedding trip scarcely had ended when Lillian became ill and she never truly stopped being ill for seventeen years. That's a long time in any league. And I don't think there was a day or a night in all that time that Fred ever thought about anyone else in skirts except Lillian.

He rose to popular stardom, was bringing home a load of loot every Thursday night, indulged himself in a shooting gallery in his basement, a set of hunting and fishing tools of unusual value and cost, was never short in the wardrobe department, and had some nice automobiles for himself. But never another girl.

It is possible for someone to rise up in meeting at this point and say, "What's so special about a guy being faithful to his wife?" Nothing is special about it. Admittedly, it's part of the deal that you are supposed to be and most of us, contrary to all legend, are. But if you are an actor, meeting handsome, alluring babes of some-what-complaining natures almost every day, it is to be conceded that temptation is there and constant. I know the identities of girls who made a play for Fred. Often, He'd duck his head and tip his hat and say, "Hi," and walk away. He was a modest, decent, self-respecting man and more important he had respect and deep affection for a girl who had had a rough shake from life. It wasn't Lillian's fault that she was ill and she desperately wanted not to be ill. But ill or not, Fred came home nights in time for dinner and stayed there to talk to Lillian and make some jokes to get her to laugh, and when she was ready for sleep he'd go down into the basement and fool around in a home workshop or fire a few rounds in the subterranean shooting gallery.

I don't suppose I met Lillian more than half a dozen times all together. But I found an intelligent, sensitive woman who made no major thing of her illness. She never mentioned it, or even hinted at it. I don't know you or anyone else. I don't know what she thought about Fred and his fidelity. Maybe, because she truly loved him, she felt that it might be good for him to run off the reservation every now and then. But to my knowledge and to the knowledge of many others, he never did. You don't know what a woman thinks or even says to a man like that. Maybe at times she advised him to take a whirl — and come back. If she did, I don't know that he ever took her advice. I doubt it.

Fred was no martyr. He didn't sigh and look put upon. He took what came to him and the greatest thing that ever came to him was Lillian.

He'll Learn Her To Leave Him . . . Mary's Out Of Town And Hank Hasn't Washed A Single Dish

By HENRY MELEMORE

Too many men become mice when their wives go away on trips and leave them alone to take care of the house. They all but snivel as they interperse their good-byes with such backbones remarks as, "I don't know what I'll do without you," and, "I'll try my dead level best to run things the way you do, honey."

While their wives are gone they figuratively slip on girdles and curlers in an effort to keep things going the way their wives did. They hurry home from the office so they can finish the mopping and dusting they started before leaving for work in the morning. They polish furniture and all but boo-hoo if a cigarette burns an end table.

They are up with the roosters trying to cook themselves a substantial breakfast, and they wash and dry the dishes as if they were handling the emperors plate. That's not for me. Mary is away visiting now and my last words to her were to the effect that if she didn't have any more sense than to go tramping off, leaving me as a lady of all work, then she needn't be shocked by what she found on her return.

She laughed, thinking I was joking, but she'll find out I wasn't. I'll admit that I tried to be a good wife to myself for the first couple of days she was gone, but then I quit for good.

Quite a few things made me say, "Note to this . . . I'm no housekeeper and I might as well admit it."

One was changing the order from the milk company. I poked the note in the wrong bottle and wound up with three quarts of milk, a dozen eggs, two cartons of sour cream, and a jar of yogurt.

Another was breakfast. Like all men I think I can cook, but found but differently. There is no rhythm to my cooking. The coffee was perking over when I put in the toast, the toast was burning when I slipped the eggs into the skillet, the butter was so hard it wouldn't spread — so I went to the diner around the corner to eat.

I can make up a bed, because I was in the army, but Uncle Sam doesn't hide his linen. Wives do. I rooted through three closets and have yet to find any pillow cases. So I let the old ones stay on.

The first day I was alone I almost came to blows with the laundryman, a fellow named Scotty with whom I have always gotten along. He called and I told him there wasn't anything to go.

He said, "You always have things to go on Saturday."

I said, "Well, I don't have anything to go this Saturday."

He said, "Okay, if you want a putter wrapped around your head." It wouldn't have been hard to get a putter because my golf bag was right in the middle of the living room, which to my way of thinking is the best and easiest place to drop it when you come in tired out from trying to break a hundred.

I haven't washed a dish since Mary left and don't intend to. The bathroom is knee deep in towels, and most anywhere you look, the dust is thick enough to write the Declaration of Independence with your finger.

The pillows on the sofas haven't been plumped, the winter Olympics could be held on the front that's in the refrigerator, and everything else is getting along just dandy.

No mice blood coursing through my veins.

My motto for husbands is this: I'll learn you to leave me.

News In Balance

United Press Foreign Analyst

The week's balance sheet between the good and bad news in the hot and cold wars:

Good News

1. Despite a bewildering mixture of harsh reprisals and honeyed promises, East Germans continued their revolt against their Russian masters. The revolt, moving into its third week, showed that—so far as subjugated peoples were concerned—the vaunted Russian peace offensive had been a failure and illustrated also that Russia could not depend for help on the satellite armies it had created and sometimes not even on its own soldiers.

2. For nearly four years, 24,000 Chinese Nationalist troops had idled in internment on the French Indo-Chinese island of Phu Quoc. The French didn't want them but feared giving them back to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek because of the possible reaction of the Chinese Reds. This week, suddenly, it was announced that by agreement between the French and the Generalissimo, Chinese Nationalist ships had transported the 24,000 to Formosa where once again they would be incorporated in Chiang's army.

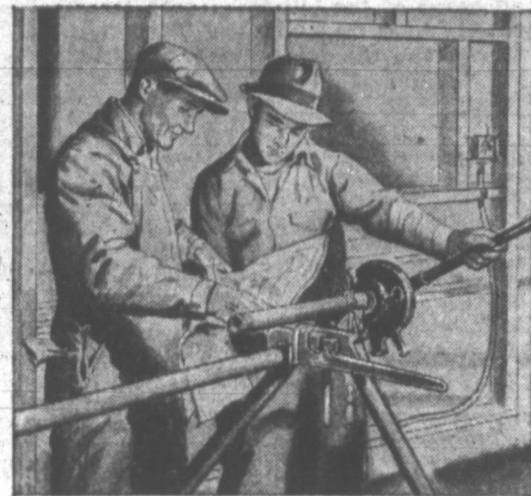

3. On Sunday Marshal Tito's Yugoslavia observed the fifth anniversary of its break with the Kremlin. The anniversary found Yugoslavia at the peak of its strength, with 30 tough divisions being constantly strengthened by the flow of American supplies and moving closer daily to a working arrangement with Greek and Turkish military forces.

Bad News

1. South Korean President Syngman Rhee had the United States and the United Nations over a barrel, and he knew it. The UN had entered the Korean war only to repel aggression, not to unify a Korea whose future still depended on a big-power political conference. Rhee, however, not only had torpedoed any chance of an early truce but also had succeeded in muddying the waters so that the U. S. now stood on trial throughout the Orient.

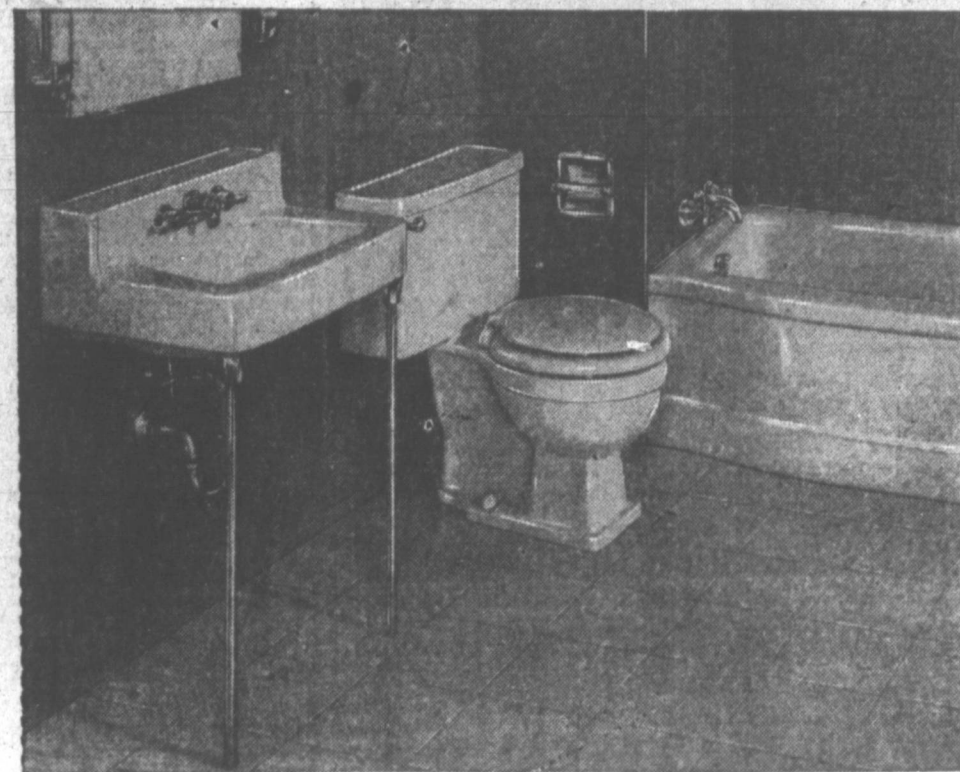

2. Winston Churchill, at 78 and after a half century of taking part in world events, in many of which he had played a primary role, was tired and ill. His illness meant that for the third time it was necessary to postpone the "big three" Bermuda conference at a time when internal unrest stirred the Communist satellites and the West might be faced with its greatest opportunity.

3. France finally had selected a premier after more than five weeks without a government. But French troubles, instead of easing, intensified. Cambodia, in French Indo-China, was demanding complete independence and increasing its army to enforce its demands. The successor to the bey of Tunis was assassinated. And at Rome, France had to figure out some way to halt the outward flow of money driving the nation toward bankruptcy.

Injuries Riddle NL All-Star Squad

PHILADELPHIA, July 9-UP—A pair of injuries on the same night left Manager Charley Dressen with the problem Thursday of picking two new catchers for the National League all star team for Tuesday's game against the American League.

Del Rice of the Cardinals and Del Crandall of the Braves both suffered hand injuries Wednesday night.

Rice was struck on the right hand by a foul tip off the bat of Roy McMillan of the Cincinnati Reds in the second inning of the Cardinals-Reds game in Cincinnati. The blow, dislocated his right thumb which was placed in a splint by the team physician, who said Rice would be unable to play for about 10 days.

Crandall also was nicked by a foul tip on his bare hand in the seventh inning of the Braves-Cubs game in Milwaukee. The result was a deep cut between the ring and middle fingers that Braves Manager Charley Grimm said would take some time to heal.

Rice had been counted on to catch the knuckleballs of Giant pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm. In his place, Dressen must pick another backup experienced in handling the unusual delivery. The most likely candidates appeared to be Wes Westrum of the Giants and Joe Gasparola of the Cubs, who regu-

Hubs Set Pace At WTNNM Gate

ABILENE, Tex., July 9-UP—President Hal Stables of the West Texas-New Mexico League reported Thursday attendance for the first half of the season totaled 235,768, down 7,602 from last year's mid-season figure.

There have been five fewer openings this year than in 1952. Setting the pace is Lubbock with 41,899 in 30 games; Albuquerque is next with 38,578 for 29 games, and Plainview third with 37,922 for 25 games.

Fastest Place to Lose—ST. LOUIS, July 7-UP—Who says there's no place like home? By bowing to Detroit 8 to 7 in 11 innings, the St. Louis Browns went down in their 19th straight defeat Monday night at home this season.

Dressen Is Criticized For Picking Davey

PHILADELPHIA, July 9-UP—"Williams is a damn good ball player."

With that terse answer, Charlie Dressen dismissed queries about why he picked Davey Williams as alternate second baseman for the National League all star team, when the New York Giants' second sacker had been benched by Leo Durocher and reduced to fourth place in the fans' popular vote.

Williams, hitting .284, trailed the Phillies' Connie Ryan, the Braves' Jack Dittmer, and the winner, Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals, in the popular poll.

The Dodger manager, who will pilot the National All-Stars emphasized that he wasn't interested too much in hitting when he selected Williams as an alternate rather than Ryan or Dittmer.

"I'm counting on him as a fielder when we play the All-Star game," he said. "I think I've chosen plenty of power for my infield, with Jackie Robinson, Gil Hodges and Grannie Hamner as alternates. And it won't hurt our chances to have a steady fielder like Williams to back up Schoendienst at second."

Dressen also pointed out that the Phillies had benched Ryan, just as Williams had been benched.

How To Play Par Golf Square, Open, Closed Stances

(Sixth of a series) By JULIUS BOBOS U.S. Open Champion

Three types of stance are commonly used—the square, open and closed.

Each is strongly advocated by many. The square stance is assumed by placing the feet parallel to the line of flight.

The toes should be slightly pointed outward—to about the same degree as your feet point when walking.

The weight should be distributed evenly between the feet. The ball is played off the left heel.

The open stance is formed by drawing the right foot back from the line of flight. This swings the hips and body somewhat to the right. The ball is played more off the left instep. The stance should be comfortable.

I get just the right amount of turn from the square stance and control the ball squarely. That makes it easier for me to control the ball.

Sam Snead utilizes the closed stance, aims to the right, hits to the left. Jim Turnesa uses the closed stance.

I've experimented with the closed stance, but it makes me hook. It thus becomes a detriment to me unless I want to hook deliberately. Then I use it to help accomplish a specific purpose.

Jim Ferrier opens his stance a trifle, aims to the left, fades the ball from left to right.

To me, the open stance restricts the backswing because the arms are blocked by the body when it is turned. As a result, there is a tendency to produce more of an outside-in arc.

I seldom use an open stance except on short iron shots when I am pitching to the green.

NEXT: Weight distribution in relation to stance.

Dodgers Near Record PITTSBURGH, July 8-UP—The Pittsburgh Dodgers managed only one consolation in their 20 to 6 drubbing by the New York Giants Sunday. Wayne Belard's home run marked the 18th straight game in which they hit at least one homer—only one shy of the National League record established by the Giants in 1947. The Brook sluggers get a chance to tie the mark in Monday night's game against the Pirates.

East Rallies For G-Coast All-Star Win

By UNITED PRESS

A three-run seventh inning gave the East All-Stars a 5 to 4 edge over the West in the fourth annual Gulf Coast League All-Star game at Lake Charles Wednesday night.

The West drew first blood in the fifth inning with three hits accounting for two runs. A lightning-fast double play cut the rally short.

The eastern All-Stars tied it up in their half of the fifth when Bob Hedington, Port Arthur third baseman, led off with a single. After two men were put out, Gene Deperschiedt, Port Arthur outfielder, cracked a two-run double that scored Hedington and Manny Per-er, Texas City second baseman. The lead see-sawed back to the West in the seventh on a walk, sacrifice, infield and a single by Joe Kracher, Laredo first baseman.

The East then broke loose for three runs in the seventh. Bill Bagwell, Texas City pitcher, opened the inning with a home run.

Jose Bache, Laredo shortstop placed the West one run short in the

Four Miami Boys Preparing For National Scout Event

MIAMI (Special) — Four Miami boys and their scoutmaster are finishing preparations this week for the trip to the National Scout Jamboree to be held on a 3,000-acre site in the Newport Harbor Area in California. The boys will board the train in Pampa Saturday, and the Jamboree will be held July 17-25.

On hand will be approximately 125 Scouts from sixteen other lands. Countries to be represented include Australia, Belgium, British West Indies, Canada, Cuba, Denmark, Dominica, France, Japan, Mexico, Netherlands, Nicaragua, Norway, Philippines, Sweden, and Venezuela.

Residence camping activities, the boys will take several excursion trips to nearby points of interest such as Knott's Berry Farm, the Naval Base at Long Beach.

RKO movie ranch, Lockheed Air Terminal, Griffith Park and Observatory and Catalina Island.

Swimming in the Pacific Ocean will be a major attraction. The boys will make several stops at interesting points along the way. Salt Lake City, Grand Canyon, Juarez, and Carlsbad Caverns are some of them.

The Miami boys who will make the trip are Doyle Smith, Wayne McLaughlin, Ronnie Gill and Toby Cunningham. Scoutmaster Loran Grantham was invited to attend as scoutmaster for his troop.

One of the Miami boys, Doyle Smith, holds the rank of Eagle Scout, probably one of the youngest boys in the nation to hold this rank. He received his Eagle rating last November, only a few days after his thirteenth birthday.

Area Boys Going To Scout Jamboree

Ten area Boy Scouts — eight of them from Pampa — had less than two days to go today before they climbed aboard a special Boy Scout train bound for the National Jamboree, Irvine Ranch, Santa Ana, Calif.

Attending from Pampa will be Robert Cobb, Reeves King, George Darby, Dan Fitzgerald, Bill Gault.

Suspect Is Free On Bond After Hearing

John N. Pettigrew, 47, of Pampa, charged with complicity in three local burglaries within a month, today was freed on $5,000 bond, following a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace D. R. Henry, acting as magistrate.

Bond was set after Henry had heard testimony from five witnesses in the presence of District Attorney Tom Braly and Ross Buzzard, Pettigrew's attorney.

Both Pettigrew and William L. (Casey) McDonald, 43, of Pampa, had signed written statements previously admitting their part in the burglaries of Suttle's Grocery (June 19), Buddy's Super Market No. 1 (June 25) and Utility Oil and Supply (June 30). Police Chief Jim Conner said.

Only the Utility Oil and Supply job was discussed during the hearing which lasted from 1:40 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. Wednesday.

McDonald today waived the hearing and was under $5,000 bond.

Main witness was McDonald who testified that, while he actually entered the premises of Utility Oil and Supply, Pettigrew and he visited the area earlier that night, had discussed breaking into Utility but had taken off — "the ball game was on, it was too tight." Then he said, they had gone to sleep. Pettigrew in his hotel room, McDonald in a panel truck.

Later, "I woke up, got up, broke into the place by breaking out a glass in a rear window," got the tires and rolled them out to a fence," McDonald continued. "Then I went back to his (Pettigrew's) room, told him, we rode down and picked up the tires."

Answering a question, McDonald stated, "We both carried the tires and put them into his truck." Included in Pettigrew's statement, Conner said Saturday, was that he was the owner of the panel truck. That morning, McDonald went on, "John gave me $30," adding that he assumed it was for the sale of the tires.

Claiming that there was "something suspicious" in the evidence of a burglary and in the manner officers used to take the statements, Buzzard exhibited doubt that Pettigrew was in full control of his faculties when he gave and signed the statements.

Insisting that Pettigrew and McDonald had a "common design" to burglarize Utility, Braly maintained that Pettigrew was "just as much a principal as Casey" in the case.

Complimentary Rodeo Tickets Available

Merchants' complimentary tickets for the ninth annual Top of Texas Rodeo, Aug. 4-9, are available in the local chamber of commerce office and unlimited orders may be requisitioned now.

The tickets, to be sent for good will and advertising purposes to local firms' customers and accounts, are to be ordered by returning cards mailed recently from rodeo headquarters or by calling the chamber office, 383.

Dan Teed, Gene Vineyard and Larry Cox.

Also on hand will be Ross Hunt, Lefors, and Brantley Laycock. White Deer, according to Paul Beisenherz, Adobe Walls Council Scout executive.

A total of 31 Scouts and three leaders will represent the council at the affair slated July 17-23 Beisenherz said.

One of those going, George Darby, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Darby, 2001 Mary Ellen, talked excitedly today of the trip.

Leaving Pampa Saturday morning, he said, the special train will go to Amarillo; to Clovis, N. M.; to the Grand Canyon; and to Fullerton, Calif., where it is scheduled to arrive at 7:45 a.m. Monday.

On the way back from the Jamboree, George continued, Scouts will visit San Francisco, Ogden, Utah; Salt Lake City, Utah; Pueblo, Colo. — and then Amarillo and Pampa.

Conclusion of their jaunt will come at 8:40 a.m. July 28, just 17 days after they leave Pampa.

Pampans Attend Shamrock Reunion

SHAMROCK (Special) — Several Pampa residents were in Shamrock last week for the reunion of the Shamrock High School Class of 1937. Eighteen of the class' original 42 members were able to attend. Of these 5 now live in Pampa and one in Phillips.

Carl Wagner, minister of the Assembly of God Church in Pampa, gave the invocation. Master of Ceremonies O. B. Franks of Shamrock introduced Mayor Bob Douglas, a long time friend of the class, who gave the welcoming address. Ryland Shaddix, a musical prodigy during his school years, entertained his former classmates with boogie woogie numbers on the piano. Mrs. Clyde Whittle gave a reading for her former students.

Pampa residents attending were Carl Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hubbard (nee Gierhart), Mr. and Mrs. Martin Stubbe (Permelia Scruggs) and Faye Coleman.

Miami Woman Slightly Injured

MIAMI (Special) — Mrs. Ben Talley, longtime Miami resident, today was recovering from several severe bruises and a broken blood vessel, following an attempt to stop her vehicle which was rolling down a steep hill.

Mishap occurred Tuesday as Mrs. Talley was standing in the doorway of the Horace Smith residence talking to Mrs. Smith after having parked the car outside. The Smiths live just outside Miami.

Both women noticed the car starting to move down the hill, ran to try and stop it—but, somehow, the open door of the vehicle hit Mrs. Talley, flinging her to the ground. The rear wheel of the car passed over part of her arm and shoulder.

MUD IN HIS EYE—The man in the turret is high and dry, but the driver of this Walker Bulldog tank gets the full benefit (?) of a sea of mud as he puts the tank through its paces at the proving grounds of the Cadillac-Ordnance tank plant, Cleveland, Ohio. "General Mud" has put an unusually realistic obstacle in the path of the tanks, due to quagmire-like conditions of the proving ground following heavy spring and early summer rains.

Mayor Of Tiny East Berlin Borough Tough On Commies

By PHIL NEWSOM

United Press Foreign Analyst

A man like Mayor Willie Kressman must be an awful pain in the neck to the Communists. For one thing he represents a type of rugged individual especially distasteful to the Reds who are great believers in a standard pattern and the collectivization of everything from farms to the human mind.

Further, he has been making liars and monkeys out of them.

Willie Kressman, mayor of the tiny West Berlin borough of Kreuzberg, is the man who this week launched a one-man campaign to feed hungry citizens under Russian rule.

On Tuesday he distributed fresh fruit and milk.

On Wednesday, it was potatoes and more milk.

The thousands of East Berliners who flocked to Kressman's "market for the hungry" gave the lie to Communist claims that East Germany had plenty of food.

Milk is rationed in East Berlin, with children getting the priority. Most East Berliners haven't seen fresh fruit for years—or at least, any they could afford.

Aside from his act of mercy, Kressman had another motive in setting up his spectacular market.

He believes American and West German officials "talk too much" in planning how best to utilize President Eisenhower's offer of $15 million worth of free food to the Communist-dominated East Germans.

Kressman is noted as a man of action.

He is a tall, broad-shouldered man who is 46 and looks something like the ex-fighter, Max Schmeling.

Frequently he has acted without consulting either his city or party superiors and as result also frequently has been in hot water.

However, it has made him a popular mayor in his working class district where he is known as a tough anti-Communist.

Last year he gained considerable fame when he ordered city police on duty in the borough to confiscate all East Berlin automobiles crossing the borders in his borough.

WHICH TWIN HAS THE TOKEN?—Which twin swallowed the Indian? asked Mrs. William Burt when she brought her four-year-old twins into Atlanta, Georgia's, Grady Hospital. An Indian-head charm from a peanut vending machine was missing, and neither twin would talk because sometimes the wrong one gets spanked. X-rays showed that Patricia Lorena, left, and not her sister, Theresa Lee, had the charm.

Burglars 'Glared' Into Submission

GALVESTON, July 15.—Two men were under arrest Wednesday after a burly Baton Rouge, La., man "glared" them into submission when he found them rifling his hotel room.

Johnson Signs Contract

GREEN BAY, Wis., July 15.—UP—Defensive halfback Marvin Johnson signed a 1953 Green Bay Packers contract Thursday, Coach Gene Ronzani announced. Johnson, who is playing his third year of professional football, was obtained from the Los Angeles Rams in the middle of last season.

Bert Gottsman of Baton Rouge returned to his hotel room early Tuesday. The 185-pound, five-foot 10-inch Gottsman ordered the intruders to sit down and stay quiet until officers arrived.

He called officers, then stood in the doorway and glared at the two until police arrived and arrested Rufus Fugett, six-foot, three inches tall, and Rudolph Simmons.

Officers found a pen and pencil set taken earlier from the room of Nicola W. Anderson, Gary, Ind., on one of the two men.

New Method Seen By Scribe In Modern Child Punishment

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON, July 16.—UP—Something shocking has happened to the "spare the rod spoil the child" method of fetching up our youngsters. A man by the name of George P. Jorgenson of Norfolk, Va., has invented what he calls a "paddle for disciplining children," a thing that doesn't hurt very much.

The paddle looks something like a tennis racket and Jorgenson says it is for "disciplining children without causing bodily injury thereto, the business end of the gimmick is quite broad "and covers a considerable area."

Damage Is Lessened

Roughly, it works this way. The old man gets junior over his knee in the accepted manner and lets fly, if his temper is up and his right arm is too strong, a hinge in the middle of the paddle handle gives way. No damage, to speak of, is done.

Jorgenson says that his invention prevents "accidental injury to the child."

My father didn't go in for the board method. He was strictly a flat-hand, pants-down, paddler. I don't recall ever being seriously injured. But I've got my memories.

Dad once told me, after I out-grew him and paddling, that he had his own system. When his hand got redder than the part to which he had been applying it, he just stopped. After he had rested awhile he would give another treatment.

Virginians Name Governor Nominee

RICHMOND, Va., July 15.—UP—Thomas B. Stanley, veteran state political figure and "financial angel" of the powerful Virginia Democratic organization, piled up an overwhelming 2 to 1 margin in winning his party's nomination for governor of Virginia.

His selection in Tuesday's state Democratic primary virtually assured Stanley, 62-year-old furniture manufacturer and former U. S. representative, of election although state Republicans promised a "hard fight." Virginia has not elected a Republican governor since Reconstruction days.

Arithmetic Problem

WINDSOR, Ont., July 16.—UP—Mrs. John McAlpine has given birth to four children in 15 months. Her second set of twins was born Tuesday morning. The first two were born in 1952 on April 19 and 20, just before and just after midnight.

"If all that can happen in two years," Mrs. McAlpine said, "What is going to happen in the years to come?"

Drinks Lighter Fluid

FORT WASHAKIE, Wyo., July 16.—UP—Matches were handled with extra care at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Twitcheell after their three-year-old son, Max, drank a can of cigarette lighter fluid. The boy suffered no serious ill effects.

Extended Season

CONCORD, N. H., July 16.—UP—The skiing season is coming to a belated close in New Hampshire. Joe Dodge, guide and hutmaster for the Appalachian Club, said there was still snow on the headwall at Tucker, N. H. The season has lasted about a month longer than usual.

Chivalry Is Dead

YAKIMA, Wash., July 16.—UP—Mrs. Margaret Graham reported Thursday that the age of chivalry is unquestionably dead.

After her car ran off into a ditch Tuesday night, a man in a passing car stopped and asked if she were hurt. She said she was not. The man drove off.

A few minutes later another car stopped and a man got out. He asked Mrs. Graham if she were hurt and she said she was not. He pushed her back into the ditch, took her purse containing $45 and drove away.

Does Own Dirty Work

With the neighbors looking out the windows, I then was commanded to take "my Boy Scout knife and slice off my own switch."

The next step was to roll up my pants legs. The next was to howl bloody murder, this part being my own idea. It seems that my mom, at heart, was gentle. If I could give her and the interested neighbors the idea she was half killing me she would ease off and often as not stop altogether.

I caught a lot of easy lickings that way.

Houston Schools Fire Leader

HOUSTON, Tex., July 16.—UP—The Houston school board Wednesday night voted not to renew the contract of George W. Ebey, 46, deputy superintendent of schools.

Ebey, former chairman of the Activities Committee of the California, which the un-American Activities Committee of the California State Senate said was Communist-dominated, received a 4 to 3 negative vote on a motion for re-hiring.

Ebey came to Houston after being assistant superintendent of schools at Portland, Ore.

He was accused by attorney John Rogge, on behalf of anonymous clients, of being connected with subversive organizations. The Houston school board hired the General Research Co., made up of four former FBI agents, to make an investigation.

The probers made 348 reports, interviewed 117 persons and charged $5,750. None of the persons interviewed questioned Ebey's loyalty to the United States, and one said he would trust him with atomic secrets.

School board members who voted on Ebey made statements. They all said they didn't question Ebey's loyalty, but thought he "made a mistake in judgment in not taking a stand against communism."

Dope Smuggling Ring Broken

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., July 15

UP—Two smuggling rings that brought Mexican marijuana into the U. S. by truckloads were broken up with the arrest of 11 persons Tuesday, customs officials said Wednesday.

Al Scharif, customs agent in charge of the Houston office, said agents from Houston, San Antonio, Laredo and Brownsville co-operated in the arrests.

The agents bought 60 pounds of marijuana with $2,500 in marked bills, Scharif said. He said the money was recovered after the arrests.

He said leaders of the two rings, Leopoldo Rivas Herrera and Freddie Montoya, was among those arrested.

Oilers Run Winning Streak To 3 As Cold Sox Fall, 15-4

Henson Goes Route For Second Victory

AMARILLO, July 16 — (Special) — The Pampa Oilers backed up pitcher Jake Henson's fine mound performance here Wednesday night with a 19-hit attack for a resounding 15-4 decision over the Amarillo Gold Sox before a crowd of an estimated 3,000 fans.

Henson scattered 10 hits over the route to the heavy slugging Gold Sox. Two of the G-Sox runs were unearned. It was Henson's second win against three losses for the Oilers.

Herb Damico, first of three Amarillo pitchers, suffered his first loss in a Gold Sox uniform. He had won one game prior to last night's encounter.

Quincy Barbee led the Oiler attack with two booming homeruns that drove in five runs. His first homer came with one on in the second inning and sent the Oilers ahead, 3-2, and the visitors were never headed. Barbee's second homer came in the seventh with two aboard. It concluded the night's scoring for the winners.

The homers for Barbee were his eighth and ninth circuit drives of the season.

The Oilers and Gold Sox will conclude their series here tonight with Sam Williams slated to go for the Oilers against Jack Venable of Amarillo.

The first two Gold Sox runs last night were unearned. Eddie Locke, playing outfield, singled and went to second when Charley Neal was walked. He advanced to third when John Gorski hit into a double play and scored when Dub Graves was saved by an error at shortstop. Herb Damico sliced a double into left field to bat in Graves.

Pampa struck back after two outs in the third. Doug Lewis and Manny Temes pounded successive doubles and Barbee crashed his first homer, this one with Temes on base, to account for three runs.

Four straight singles by Deck Woldt, Ted Krewell, Max Molberg and Henson, coupled with an error by Sonny Ting in centerfield brought three more Pampa runs across in the fourth.

Two hits, singles by Ted Pawelek and Ben Felder, three bases on balls, a sacrifice and an error produced four Oiler runs in the fifth.

Two scores were registered in the sixth on Temes' single, a throwing error by the pitcher on Barbee's bunt, Pawelek's sacrifice and singles by Krewell and Molberg.

And the final three runs were driven across by Barbee's second home run which came after Felder's single and a pitched ball which struck Temes.

The last two Amarillo runs were driven in by Bob White's terrific home run over left in the seventh. Bill Wilhite, who had doubled, was on base when White hit his homer.

The Oilers and Gold Sox will conclude their series here tonight with Sam Williams slated to go for the Oilers against Jack Venable of Amarillo.

Indians To Play Again
CLEVELAND, July 16 — UP — Manager Al Lopez of the Cleveland Indians said Thursday he expected injured Bobby Avila and Dale Mitchell to be back in the lineup Thursday night against the Philadelphia Athletics. Avila has missed the last eight games because of a shoulder injury while Mitchell has been out of the last three with an ailing leg.

Bears, Steelers Trade Players
PITTSBURGH, July 16 — AP — A freight player deal was announced Thursday by the Pittsburgh Steelers, who traded veteran fullback Jerry Skipkey to the Chicago Bears for rookie Art De Carlo.

For Stretch Drive Dodgers Recall Two From Minors

NEW YORK, July 16 — UP — Brooklyn's high command finally heeded the anguished plea of Chuck Dressen by sending up the "shock troops" Thursday as firing resumed on all big league fronts.

Pushed into the Brooklyn breach will be Glenn Mickens, 22-year-old right handed pitcher from Fort Worth of the Texas League and Dick Williams, 24-year-old outfielder from Montreal of the International League.

Mickens is ready to win in the majors," said Dressen, "and from what they tell me, Williams is 50 per cent improved from the last time he was with us."

"Do I think they'll help us? Hell, we wouldn't brought 'em up if I didn't think so."

While Dressen anxiously awaited his replacements, Casey Stengel, whose Yankees launch a western invasion in St. Louis Thursday night, had worries of his own despite his team's five-game surge.

Stengel's chief concern centered around his switch-hitting slugger star, young Mickey Mantle.

"The kid's got me worried," said Stengel. "His leg is bothering him and he may not be able to play for awhile. If he has to stay out too long, we'll be in trouble."

Injury aggravated a leg injury during the All-Star game Tuesday and Stengel, who wanted to rest him in the first place, was forced to take him out. It was reported that Mantle is suffering from water on the knee and might not be able to play for at least four or five days.

General Manager George Weiss accompanied the Yankees to St. Louis but refused to say whether he planned to bring up any Kansas City farm hands although he would like to.

While Dressen and Stengel plotted how to stretch their leads, other managers schemed how to cut them still shorter.

Most of the contenders looked on the three-day All-Star "vacation" as a break for them.

$5,000 In Prizes For Partner Golf
AMARILLO, July 16 — UP — The Amarillo Invitational Partnership Golf Tournament will be held July 20-22 at Ross Rogers Municipal Course with some $5,000 in merchandise to be awarded the top finishers.

Last year's first tournament attracted the largest amateur field for any tournament ever held in the Panhandle—128 teams or 256 golfers.

Qualifying rounds will be shot July 20 with match play to start the following day and continue through Aug. 2.

Gavilan Ready To Defend Welter Title

MILWAUKEE, July 16 — UP — Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan is ready to defend his title "against anyone, anywhere where we can get a good gate" but his manager also said he's aiming for the vacant middleweight title.

Gavilan won a unanimous 10-round decision over Ramon Fuentes, a novice from Los Angeles, here Wednesday night in Milwaukee's first nationally televised fight. Fuentes said after the fight he thought he would get another bout with Gavilan.

"If Madison Square Garden wants to put up Fuentes, we'll be glad to take him," said Angel Lopez, Gavilan's manager. "Or we'll be glad to take anyone else they want to put up."

Gavilan is scheduled to fight middleweight Joe Giardello in Philadelphia Aug. 10, Lopez said. The Cuban kid's pilot also said Gavilan was tentatively scheduled to fight a Garden fight with an as yet unnamed opponent.

Fuentes headed back to Los Angeles after the fight Wednesday night. He was unhurt except for a slight cut over the left eye and a re-injury to the middle knuckle of his left hand.

Neither fighter was seriously hurt and Fuentes went down for a nine-count in the only knockdown of the bout which came in the seventh round. He was wearing agony on his face as he was helped to land several telling blows on Gavilan's body before the bell.

Although Fuentes tried to carry the attack to Gavilan in the early rounds, the veteran bolo-puncher from Camaguey, Cuba, had too much know-how for the 26-year-old Californian who has been fighting only two years. Gavilan fought his first amateur bout in Cuba at the age of 12.

Gavilan outweighed Fuentes, 152 pounds to 148 1/2. Fuentes admitted after the fight that he needs more polish and experience and said, "After all, only 23 fights."

The defeat was Fuentes' second in the 25 bouts against the kid's 94th victory in 111 fights.

Barbee Becomes Fifth Pampa Oiler To Reach 100-Hit Mark For 1953 Season

THOSE TWO HOMERUNS by Quincy Barbee last night brought the big rightfielder's hit total for season to 100, the fifth Oiler to reach the century mark in base knocks. The other four Oilers who have reached the 100 mark are Doug Lewis, Porky Pawelek, Manny Temes and Dick Woldt. John Sanderson, now on the inactive list but who will be reinstated soon, has 99 hits so he is a sure bet of joining the 100-hit batsmen among the Oilers.

Oiler business manager Jimmy Hamilton called us yesterday to inform us of the new pitcher bought by the Oilers and started out by saying "you may not want to print this until he reports but we've bought a new pitcher."

Well, realizing that the Oiler business management is not at fault for previous player deals that failed to materialize, we wrote the story about the acquisition of the new pitcher which appeared in yesterday's edition.

The new hurler, Jesus Rosa, may help the Oiler cause a little. He won 12 and lost 16 for Vernon who finished in the Longhorn League cellar last season. That isn't a bad record for a pitcher with a cellar club.

THE ABILENE BLUE SOX haven't won very many games since Hersey Martin assumed the managerial duties but the cellar occupants have been giving the top teams some close calls.

On their current road trip, the Sox have taken on league leading Lubbock and second place Albuquerque in two-game series in addition to another two-game set with the Oilers here. Of the four games with Lubbock and Albuquerque, the Sox lost all four by one run each time. And two of the games went extra innings, one with each team. Then, in the other two, the Oilers and Sox didn't shove over the winning run until the bottom of the ninth inning.

In the first game, Albuquerque scored three runs in the eighth to tie the Sox at 3-3 and the game finally went into extra innings, the Oilers winning in the 10th, 4-3. The Oilers scored five runs in the ninth to win the second tilt from the Abileneans, 8-7.

In the overtime game the Sox played with Lubbock, the Sox scored a run in top of the 11th to go ahead, 6-5, but the Oilers came right back for two tallies and win, 7-6.

We all know what the Sox did to our Oilers here over the weekend. They certainly looked like an entirely new ball club from the one that had played here previously. In fact, they were, except for three players, catcher I. B. Palmer; third-baseman Chuck Steele; and shortstop Bill Plante.

In all likelihood the Sox won't pull a comeback to match Amarillo's 1952 comeback. The Sox, going into last night's game at Clovis, were 13 games out of the first division whereas the Gold Sox were only three games from the top four this time last year. The Oilers' win broke the Oilers' streak of four straight losses in the middle of June and had come from deep in the league basement to within three games of the first division a month later.

In other words, the Blue Sox have waited a little late to start a comeback.

YOU'LL NOTE the pictures of the other three WT-NM queen contestants in today's edition. The Oilers' win broke the Oilers' streak of four straight losses in the middle of June and had come from deep in the league basement to within three games of the first division a month later.

In other words, the Blue Sox have waited a little late to start a comeback.

COMPLETION — Julius Boro's body is turned. Head and eyes are up following the flight of the ball. The hands are high, arms bent in close to the body. The weight is completely on the left foot, the right heel high off the ground. (NEA)

Dallas Regains 1st By Tripping Sports

By UNITED PRESS
A pair of ninth inning home runs by Willard Brown and Willy Moore gave Dallas a 7 to 5 win over Shreveport Wednesday night and propelled the Eagles back into first place in the Texas League by five percentage points.

Spudgers Near Big State Lead

By UNITED PRESS
The surging Wichita Falls Spudgers, continuing their red-hot win streak, edged within a half game of the Big State League after triumphing Austin 8 to 5 Wednesday night.

League-leading Tyler was a victim of Texarkana's Pat Scantlebury. The Negro southpaw scattered seven hits to the East Texans while chalking up his 16th win and a 5 to 3 decision. Longview blanked Bryan 1 to 0 for the second straight night and Paris defeated Temple 5 to 2.

A bases-loaded walk and Humberto Marti's two-run single in the seventh gave Jim Vitter the Spudger victory. Vitter had a one-hitter going into the sixth, but the Pioneers chopped into his offerings for runs in the sixth, seventh and eighth.

Texarkana sewed the game with four runs in the first two innings. Walt Dunkovich singled, went to second and scored on Roy Sanner's single in the initial inning. The Bruins tallied three times in the second inning when Steve Karas, Johnny Smirnov and Scantlebury singled and Dunkovich and Davis drew consecutive walks.

A triple by third baseman Ralph Wilcox, which found winning pitcher Ramon Salgo on first base with two out in the ninth gave Longview the meager edge over Bryan. Right hander Harry Young, Bryan hurler, had a two-hitter working until the

New Champ To Be Named At St. Paul

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 16—UP—A high-caliber field of touring golf professionals set out in the $15,000 St. Paul Open golf championship Thursday each hoping, but not expecting, to play the 22 under par game it took to win the last two St. Paul tournaments.

Neither of the last two years' winners was on hand. Defending titlist Cary Middlecoff withdrew at the last minute because of business pressures in Memphis. Lloyd Mangrum, who fired a record 66 in the 1951 tournament and saw it equalled by Middlecoff last year, did not enter.

Practically all of the other big names of golf except Ben Hogan were on hand. Leading the field were Slammin' Sammy Sneed and PCA champion Walter Burkemo, a surprise entry.

Wally Ulrich of Austin, Minn., was sure to be the galleries' local favorite as long as he remained in the running. Older members of the tourney circuit considered him one of the most promising of the newcomers. He finished a stroke behind Dave Douglas last week in the Canadian Open, making his biggest bid yet for a major title.

Top names in the tournament, besides Sneed and Burkemo, included Jim Turnesa, Johnny Palmer, Jack Burke, Fred Hias, Doug Ford, Jim Ferrier, Julius Boros, Porky Oliver and Al Bessellink.
