JUDGE TO JAIL KLANSMEN WHO USE TAR BRUSH

Napier to Probe All Lawlessness Reported

That the special grand jury assembled to investigate the activities of the Ku Klux Klan and "any other lawlessness" that might have been brought before it had failed in the purpose for which it was specifically charged was the declaration of Judge E. W. Napier, magistrate of the 78th district court, to the grand jurors when they were adjourned Thursday morning subject to be "reassembled at any time anything occurs that may justify it."

"You have failed to mention in your report one of the things upon which you were specifically charged, that is, the matter of whether any of our public officers are members of the Ku Klux Klan. Just how much information you have obtained upon this point I do not know, but I will say that whenever any citizen files complaint charging any officer with being a member of this organization, I shall entertain proceedings looking to that officer's removal," Judge Napier stated, addressing the jury.

"I want it distinctly understood that as long as I am on the bench, and as long as I have a sheriff who is not afraid to do his duty, and as long as I am able to secure a grand jury that has the courage and determination to do what they believe to be right, this county will not be subjected to the embarrassment and humiliation that Dallas and other counties have suffered as a result of the Ku Klux Klan.

"I expect to have a grand jury that will investigate every act of lawlessness committed by the Ku Klux Klan or any other person or organization, and persons who are foolhardy enough to indulge in such pastimes as tarring and whipping citi-

SPRING BROUGHT GOOD BUSINESS

Great Improvement Made Recently

WASHINGTON, April 20. — A "profound improvement in all lines of business and industry" is found in the latest statistics of commercial and industrial movements during March, according to the monthly survey of current business made public tonight by the commerce department. Optimism which always returns with the opening of spring weather, the department declared, has had much to do with the recent increase in retail trade and better feeling prevailing general, despite of news of floods strikes and a late crop season.

This optimism, the department asserted, is based upon better fundamental conditions throughout the country, which are reflected in the trend of reports received by the government.

Talk Living Issues—
New's Apologist—
Wilson and Reed—

By H. N. F.

GEORGE JAY GOULD IS ACcused of having wrecked all the railroads that he ever touched and the lawyers who are representing his brothers and sisters say that his management of the estate of his father was a collosal crime. He is accused of having made way with more than 20 million dollars of the Gold trust fund intended for his brothers and sisters or their children. Jay Gould was known as the wizard of the rail. If there is truth in the allegations made against George Jay Gould then he must be a Napoleon of Fianance. He was ousted from the control of the estate several years ago by the courts of New York and now he is fighting for a claim of $700,000 which he claims is due him. It is certainly rich picking for the lawyers. It may be heart-rending for George but it isn't for the eminent barristers who represent all the litigants. Money makes a merry hell of a time for lots of people—especially those who inherit large fortunes and give the management over to others. Jay Gould began life without a dollar that he could call his own. He made the Gould fortune. Now those who he left behind are unmaking it. Cullen F. Thomas says in his campaign speeches that twelve families own the railroads of America and that the vast wealth of America is falling into the hands of the few as the vast wealth of the Roman empire passed into the hands of the few and then the empire with all its glorious history succumbed to decay and chaos and death. Is this true? There are six candidates for the senate. Why not discuss living issues instead of dead issues or fabricated issues? Why not discuss taxation. Why not discuss the tariff? Why not discuss limitation of great fortune? Here in Texas why not discuss public highways? Why not discuss educational affairs? Why not discuss simplification of civil and crimnal procedure and the lessening of costs to litigants? Why not discuss the high cost of justice? Why not discuss the technicalities of the law and the cause of the law's delay? Why make or attempt to make an issue of that which is only a pimple on the body politic and has no direct bearing on the vital problems which must be solved by the law-makers of state and nation?

HAVE YOU READ "THE LIFE of John Marshall" by former Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana? Former State Senator T. H. McGregor shot the question at the writer and the latter confessed that he had not. "Then buy it and read it and if you do not agree with me that it is one of the most illuminating volumes ever written by an American draw on me for the price of the book," continued McGregor. "I was born a Democrat and I presume I am a Democrat today but I look upon Beveridge as one of the ablest if not the ablest of American statesmen, writers and historians." Some tribute to a Hoosier from the lips of a man whose grandfather fought at New Orleans with Andrew Jackson, who was the personal and political friend of Sam Houston and on one occasion his second in a famous duel and whose grand uncle, John McGregor, died with David Crockett in the Alamo.

BLOWS HEAD OFF

TYLER, Texas, April 20.—Financial troubles worried Will Jordan. He took a shotgun and blew his head off. Years ago his father poisoned himself.

BEARDLESS BANDITS ROB ANOTHER MAN IN WICHITA

Rouse Victim Out of Bed to Relieve Him of His Change

"Get out of bed.

"Throw your hands up!"

The speaker was a beardless youth.

He held a wicked looking pistol in his hand.

Earl Norris, 2105 Grant street, complied with the demand with alacrity. He watched the youth as he ransacked the premises in search for money.

About to give up the hunt, the bandit discovered Norris' trousers where Norris had placed them between the mattress and the springs of the bed on which he had been sleeping since 9:00 o'clock.

A hurried examination of the trousers revealed to the youthful hold-up man that the pants contained $19.30, which he took and started to leave the house with, commanding Norris not to follow.

"Aren't you going to leave me anything to eat on in the morning?" Norris demanded of the robber, who turned to look at his victim, gazed once at the funds which he had obtained in the raid and said:

"Yes—here's 45 cents for you."

Norris told police yesterday that the youthful bandit entered his garage—known as the Grant Street garage—about 10:30 or 11 o'clock Wednesday night, and roused him out of bed. As the bandit departed out the door, Norris declared he heard an automobile start and told the authorities that he is positive an accomplice stood guard on the outside.

Officers began a thorough investigation of the affair Thursday, believing that the pair which robbed the Grant Street garage is the same beardless bandits who recently held up and robbed H. G. Warren, at the Western Oil company's filling station.

"OBSERVE LAWS AND KLAN WILL NOT BE NEEDED"

Thomas R. Marshall Gives Views in Texas Speech

Special to the Record News.

SHERMAN, Texas, April 20.—"Liberty is said to have had its origin in France," former Vice President Thomas R. Marshall said in a speech here, "but I am not for the French revolution any more than I am for the Ku Klux Klan. But you might well understand that unless there is law and government, France will have her revolution and America her Ku Klux Klan. You had better begin to understand now that there is law."

Can Make Own Laws.

"No man is so high and mighty that he can set himself above the law, and no man is so little that he can sneak away from its penalties. Sooner or later the law will get the criminal. Let me warn you that no society can fix its conduct by constantly shifting its opinions, setting aside rules made by one man and adopting others.

Study Great Thinkers.

"No man has a right to exercise personal judgment without information on which to base it and express it. In the religious and political field, every man takes his own judgment to be as good as any other man's, although in other fields he accepts the advice of those who have made particular studies in these fields.

"It would be better," declared Mr. Marshall, "if the American people would take more time and hear men who have posted themselves in these fields."

TARIFF MERELY HELPS BUSINESS

Prices Must Decline, Says McCumber

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 20. — Launching the administration tariff bill today in the senate, Chairman McCumber of the finance committee, warned manufacturer, factory, laborer and retailer alike that the protective tariff alone would not bring a revival of business.

That there must be a reduction of costs within the reach of the consumers pocket book before there could be a return "old time prosperity."

Senator McCumber said the way to reduce costs was for the manufacturer and the retailer to be satisfied with "most meagre profit for a while, and the factory employees to increase their efficiency to the highest possible degree" in face of the present high cost of living, be added if would be "most unjust" for the manufacturer to begin his economy by cutting wages.

After Mr. McCumber's address there was a dispute between republican and democrats as to procedure with a result that reading of the 440 page bill was ordered. This consumed the remainder of the day and it was announced that when the senate convened tomorrow, it would consider to 2,000 odd committee amendments.

FAMOUS SINGERS HUSBAND WANTS KNOT LOOSENED

Chauffeur Airs His Mental Agony In Court

By Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—A divorce complaint alleging that she caused him "grievous mental suffering" was filed against Mme. Margaret Matzenauer, opera prima donna, here today by Floyd Glotzbach, Del Monte, Cal., chauffeur.

The couple separated a few months ago. Glotzbach, through his attorney, said he did not intend to answer the madame's divorce suit in New York, charging infidelity, except through the securing of depositions in Del Monte intended to refute charges that he was false to the marriage vow.

Tasks Irksome

In stead the chauffeur will concentrate virtually all of his attention on the San Francisco action. Today's complaint states that the wedding blossoms had hardly faded before his troubles began. From the husky job of jacking up limousines and tuning up motors, he was called to button the madame up the back and lace her shoes, he avers, and the tasks were not to his liking.

He stood it for the first two weeks and then suggested calling in a maid at the Swiss hotel at which they were staying, the complaint said. A quarrel ensued.

There was another passage in Holland, where he was accused of receiving mail secretly. He explained that no one knew his address in Holland.

Regarding their separation, Glotzbach walked out of the house on his own volition, and was not ordered out, as was generally reported, according to the complaint.

KILLS TO HELP SPIRIT

Mrs. Maude Fancher and her husband, Herman Fancher.

MOTHER SLAYS SELF AND BABE

Goes to Help Hubby In Spirit Land

Special to The Record News.

NEWARK, April 20.—Mrs. Maude Fancher is dead here. She died a martyr to her convictions. And in death she took with her her 2-year-old baby, Cecil, a victim of her conviction.

Mrs. Fancher took her life and that of her child because—being a firm believer in spiritism—she believed that she would be able to promote her husband's material welfare better from the "great beyond."

Ill at Time

Mrs. Fancher had been suffering from a lingering illness. To while away the time she studied spiritism. A double death was the result.

In a letter to her husband, Herman Fancher, written just before she administered poison to her child and took it herself, she wrote that she feared for the welfare of her child if she should be called by death and expressed the belief that she would better be able to aid him as a spirit.

Lingers Several Days

For several days after taking the poison Mrs. Fancher lingered between life and death in a Newark hospital, while her husband maintained a vigil at her bedside alternately praying and cursing—praying for the recovery of his wife and cursing the day she began the study which led to her death.

Arthur Conan Doyle, famous English exponent of spiritism, now in this country, has declared that Mrs. Fancher defeated her own ends.

Doyle says that by her act of self destruction she has made it impossible to communicate with her husband from the "great beyond."

By Associated Press.

BELGRADE, April 20.—Four hundred carloads of ammunition and high explosives stored near the railroad station at Monastir, Southern Serbia, exploded Tuesday at noon, killing several hundred persons, wounding thousands and virtually destroying the heart of the city.

JUDGE TO JAIL—

Brands Mob Law

The special grand jury went on record as being opposed to "mob law in any and every form," branded the Ku Klux Klan as "lawless and wrong in principle and practice," declared support to the statutes of this state and commended Judge Napier for his candid and outspoken opinion regarding the organization of the Invisible Empire.

Launching a bitter attack against such outrages as tar and feather parties, the grand jury's report said that "we are of the opinion that if the judges and other officers of the state, county and city would make a bold and courageous stand for the constitution and would * * * imitate your honor's stand * * * and condemn the Ku Klux Klan * * * a wholesome respect for law and order and the courts would follow."

Klansmen Not Identified

No statement as to the identity of any person who is a member of the organization was contained in the report, which pointed to the return of 41 indictments, 37 of which are felonies and four of which are misdemeanors.

Praise for the manner in which the county jail and county poor farm is kept was contained in the report, while the body recommended that the city prison is badly in need of beds for prisoners.

The Report

"To the Honorable E. W. Napier, Judge of the 78th district court, Wichita Falls, Texas:

"We, the special grand jury, convened by you, having completed its labors, wish to submit to you the following report:

"First: We have been in session fifteen days and have diligently looked into all crimes and misdemeanors brought to our attention, having examined 260 witnesses, finding 41 indictments consisting of 37 felonies and four misdemeanors.

Booze Law Broken

"Second: There have been brought to our atention numerous violations of the liquor laws of the state, and we have made every effort to ascertain where and from whom said liquor is being purchased (in speaking of liquor we refer to a great variety of alcoholic stimulant) but have found it almost impossible to secure this information, since the parties purchasing same invariably refuse to testify or remember; and it is for this reason that our list of indictments contains only one for violation of the prohibition law. This condition, if persisted in by those whom we should count on to uphold the law, can only result in evil, because it is our opinion that when the law is violated and held in contempt, it results in the loss of respect for all laws and a blow, so to speak, to the entire structure of the laws.

"Third: We wish to go on record as being absolutely opposed to mob law in any and every form, and by or through any persons whomsoever.

"We are opposed to every law except the written law as interpreted by our courts of justice and which law is carried out by those officials who represent and should represent the people as a whole.

Nation's Laws Supreme

"It is our opinion, after sufficient and thorough investigation, that no set of men, organized or otherwise, are higher than the laws and courts of this nation. The beating, tarring and feathering and otherwise mistreating, persons without due process of law, is, where practiced, the work of lawless bands, and no member, even though feeling what he might consider with good intentions, may set up as an alibi his interpretation of good intentions while disregarding at the same time our laws. Such lawlessness is wrong in principle and practice.

The administration of any punishment or humiliation of a person is, other than through lawful channels, a direct assault on law and order and strikes anarchy into the fundamental laws of our state and nation, and if persisted in will lead ultimately to a reign of terror where there exists at this time peace, contentment and good will among our people. We believe that our laws as written are all-sufficient to safe-guard the life, liberty, happiness and property of our citizens.

"We furthermore desire to indorse and commend the candid out-spoken attitude taken by your honor during these times of unrest when agitators parading as 'holier than thou,' in masks or otherwise, would poison with the wormoot bitterness of race and creed the well springs of our regular, incomparable American citizenship by pitting neighbor against neighbor and friend against friend.

"If the judges of our state will not make a bold and courageous stand for the constitution which they have sworn to uphold, and for the laws which they have sworn to enforce, to whom can the people look for the preservation of their rights?

Urges Condemnation

"We are of the opinion that if all judges and other officers of the state, county and city, would imitate your honor's example in coming into the open with candor and courage, and without equivocation or apology, and condemn the Ku Klux Klan and all others who claim the right to set aside or violate the law, a wholesome respect for law and order and the courts will follow, as will also goodfellowship among our citizens of all classes.

"We feel that the law is being efficiently and honestly enforced in Wichita county, but we also feel that a member of the Ku Klux Klan, if he be serving the state or nation in an official capacity, cannot do justice to all the people, and that such an official would not be fit subject to make law or enforce law and order.

"Fourth. We want to impress upon the parents that they owe the highest duty to their children and to society in general, and we believe many parents allow their children liberties which should be denied them. We recommend that parents weigh carefully what we say and see that their children have proper safeguards thrown around them, and discourage indiscriminate association of boys and girls.

Parents Blamed

"We feel that well meaning parents are largely responsible for most indiscretions among our young people, and it is the sense of this body that such indiscretion and resultnat immorality is encouraged by joy riding at night in automobiles.

"We realize the delicacy of the foregoing and only make this recommendation because we feel it is our duty to bring to the attention of the parents the seriousness of the situation in this county.

"Fifth: We have inspected the city jail and find that there is a deplorable condition existing there. We find that there are no beds or bunks for prisoners. The cement floor seems to take the place of beds or bunks, and we feel that such condition is inhuman for those unfortunates wishing a place to sleep. It is our opinion that proper cages should be built and beds or bunks secured for the prisoners to sleep on. Conditions, we feel, should be corrected at once to the end that those confined to the city jail may at least have a place other than the floor for a bed.

Jail Well Kept.

"Sixth: Inspection was made of the county jail. We find this institution to be well kept; the prisoners well fed and taken care of. We recommend to the commissioners' court that six iron bars being a protection at the windows on the third floor on the county side should be welded, and that seven window casings should be protected and built up with reinforced concrete. These seven windows are on the second floor; also the cage near the landing on the first floor should be strengthened by placing the cage foundation in reinforced concrete. We further recommend that a suitable garage should be erected for the use of the sheriff and in connection or close to the sheriff's residence. Again, we recommend that the sheriff's residence proper be painted or papered in keeping with the general appearance of other parts of this building.

"Seventh: Our inspection of the county farm, in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Jernigan, was a pleasant surprise. We found this institution a beautiful place, well kept, in excellent condition, and the inmates happy and well cared for. We recommend highly the management of this institution.

"Eighth: We desire to thank the county attorney, E. L. Fulton, the assistant district attorney, Sam Holliday, and the assistant county attorney, Wayne Somerville, who have labored faithfully with us at all times, rendering us every assistance and co-operation in our deliberations.

"Feeling that there is nothing further to come before us, we respectfully ask to stand adjourned, if consistent with the wishes of your honor.

"Respectfully submitted,

"(Signed)

"L. J. BULLITT, foreman."

CHILDRESS LOOKING FORWARD TO NEFF'S SPEECH TUESDAY

Special to the Record News.

CHILDRESS, Texas, April 20.—When Pat Neff speaks on the subject, "Texas, Its Possibilities and Its Perils" at the Lagrande Theater, Tuesday night, April 25, his friends say his address will be instructive and helpful; that the governor is a practical, straight from the shoulder sort of speaker and knows well how to get his thoughts before the public.

It is expected that the governor will come to Childress from Paducah Tuesday afternoon but the hour of his arrival is not known, hence no definite program can yet be announced. Several other states officials will be in the party and it is said that several other politicians will be present.

The governor and party will spend the night in this city and on Wednesday morning after breakfast all will start on the trip to the Good Roads convention at Canadian, stopping at Wellington, Shamrock, and other intervening points along the way, to allow the governor to speak to the people. Probably half a dozen Childress autos will make the trip. Three are already promised and several others will doubtless go. The trip will be under supervision of Mayor J. W. Mitchell and any citizens who can go and take their cars are invited to do so.

By Associated Press.

RANGER, Texas, April 20. — A miniature baseball on his watch charm bearing the words, "J. H. What Is Soul Worth, Asks Scarborough

Last night, Dr. Scarborough in the First Baptist church revival preached from the text, "What shall it Profit a Man if He Gain the whole World and Lose his Own Soul." In part, he said:

"The above question was a direct one asked by Jesus, and He is asking it of every one here tonight. In the salvation of men is to be found the biggest and most important business in the world, and the above text is truly a business question of the Savior stated in spiritual terms. Only those of light thinking can fail to realize the true worth of a soul and the necessity of it being saved. What is a soul? It is that immortal something that Christ died to save. I would not have you think I am against the right sort of pleasure or power, nor do I disapprove of the desire for honor and wealth, but I would have you note that they live but a life-time whose length may be very short, while the life of soul is endless."

People from Burkburnett, Iowa Park, and other nearby towns are attending these services.

Plans are now being made for a special 75 million campaign day on next Thursday, beginning at 10:00 o'clock in the morning. This special day will interest every Baptist church in Wichita Falls and county. Prominent men of the state convention of Texas will deliver inspirational addresses during the day, among the men being the state convention president and secretary.

Texas Educators Seek Legislative Action

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, April 20.—Teachers arrived on every train all day and late into the night to attend the educational conference at the University of Texas Friday and Saturday. It was estimated that the attendance would total several hundred.

Morning, afternoon and night sessions are scheduled to be held at the University Baptist church. At the morning session tomorrow the status of teachers employed in the rural schools will be discussed with Dean A. W. Birdwell of Southwest Texas State Normal college, presiding. The morning session will start at 9:30 o'clock and will end at noon.

The question of what should be done by the legislature, the local, county and state superintendents and the boards of education in order that there be efficient teachers in the public schools of Texas will be discussed at the session Saturday morning with Superintendent Emmett Brown, of the Cleburne public schools, presiding.

The shipment originated on the G. T. & W. at Seymour and was turned over to the Southern at Olney, going via the Katy from Wichita Falls. R. O. Harvey & Co., of this city are the consignors.

SLIM CASKEY ENTERS RODEO

Back From Adventure In Mexico

Slim Caskey, Wichita Falls' own famous bulldogger, twice holder of the world's fastest bulldogging record and winner of the bulldogging contest of the round-up two years ago, has arrived home from Mexico and has entered for the round-up, which will be staged at the ball park May 3, 4 and 5.

Slim, an adventurous sort of chap, has just finished taking a fling at cowpunching in old Mexico, near the vicinity of the Poncho Villa ranch near San Lois Puerta Se. When seen at Round-up headquarters Slim seemed happy to get back to Wichita Falls once more and stated that that part of Old Mexico which he had visited held many opportunities, but that the opportunity of being shot seemed to over shadow all others.

According to Slim, the wages for a cowpuncher in Mexico are good, but the horses poorly trained and the saddle too old fashioned to be comfortable—to use his own words, Slim is 'rarin to go at the Round-up and anyone who beats him to the big prize will know that they have been to a bulldogging contest.

No Old Women Nowadays

Modern dress, hair dressers, facial experts and cosmetics all combine to keep women of all ages young and attractive in appearance. Not until the telltale wrinkles become so deep, the figure stoops, or some ailment or weakness develops to drag a woman down does she really look her age.

Every woman owes it to herself and her family to keep herself young in appearance, and happy. When headaches, backache or "the blues" develop or when a woman reaches the trying age from forty-five to fifty, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be depended upon to keep her in health as it has so many other women whose letters we are continually publishing in this paper. —ady.

LITTLE FOLKS ARE ENTERTAINED AT BURK

Special to the Record News.

BURKBURNETT, April 20.—On April 18th, Mrs. I. E. Harwell entertained at her home at 507 East Fourth, a crowd of little folks in honor of the fifth birthday of her little son, Ted Harwell.

Ted greeted his many little friends as they entered and was joyously surprised by the beautiful gifts presented to him. The evening was very pleasantly spent in playing games, singing and reciting. Several contests offered great amusement to the contestants and proved very interesting to those who failed to capture prizes. Little Francis Blue and Aurebele Kerby were successful contestants in biting the suspended apple. Several other contests were engaged in and the successful contestants were awarded suitable prizes. A very interesting feature of the evening was the fishing with a pole and hook from the mysterious store room of fruits and candies. The fish were biting fine and each little guest succeeded in making a good catch of different fruits, candies and other goodies.

Then the pink and white birthday cake bearing five lighted candles was brought out and the guests were asked "How old is Ted?" A chorus of voices answered "Five" and then each little guest was served with ice cream and cake to his heart's desire. Upon departing for the evening each guest was presented with a little basket filled with candy and all expressed themselves of a joyous afternoon and best wishes for many more happy birthdays.

Those present were Marcella Martin, Aurebele Kerby, Mary Helen Gosnell, Francis Blue, Nancy Favers, Lucille Snyder, Geraldine Pollock, Wynolene White, Gale Covington, Geraldine Hill, Velta Camp, Thelma Jean Armstrong, Marilynn Harwell, Billie Favers, Billie Dickson, Billie Adams, Billie Pollock, Fred Dickson, Son White, Rupert Favers, Leon Robinson, Vincent Goodlett, J. CULBERTSON TO SHAKE HIS HEAD

G. O. P. Nomination May Be Declined.

Reports published in South Texas papers to the effect that the republicans would put out a Texas ticket this year headed by John Henry Kirby for the senate and Jack Culbertson of Wichita Falls for governor, failed to evoke much interest among friends of the local man—for they express themselves as believing that there is a point beyond that demanded by party loyalty when party demands might become an imposition.

This is the view taken of Culbertson's again becoming a candidate for governor on the republican ticket.

He was nominated two years ago, and he made the most active campaign made by a republican candidate in years, and drew a vote which constituted a healthy showing for the party His campaign was made in the belief that it was up to the republicans of the state to make strong campaigns for office each year with a view of finally putting the party in Texas on even terms of strength with the democrats. He demonstrated, his friends say, that party loyalty did not mean simple mouthing with him, But again making the race is another thing, they say.

Culbertson will probably think that it is some other up-and-coming young republican's time to make the party's fight. That is what they say here.

Culbertson is still out of town, being in St. Louis. He is planning an early business trip to South America and probably would not be interested in politics right away, anyway.

MAINLY ABOUT PEOPLE

Regardless of McGregor's high opinion of Beveridge, the rival of the latter, Senator Harry S. New, is predicting his own renomination for United States senator at the primary election May 2. New may be whistling to keep up his courage while going through the graveyard. It is rare that the Saturday Evening Post pays an editorial tribute to a candidate for high office or advises the people how to cast their vote but last week George Horace Lorimer advised the Republican voters of Indiana to cast their primary ballots for Beveridge and do something to restore the American senate to its former high standards of statesmen and statesmanship. It may be that the Hoosier Republicans will cast out the politician and publisher and honor the statesman and historian. Senator New is an apologist for Newberryism. No man who believes that it is righteous for a candidate for the American senate to pay $260,000 for a seat is morally fit to represent the people of an American commonwealth in high place.

WOODROW WILSON HAS made Senator James A. Reed of Missouri a national issue and there is no telling what may happen in the future. Reed is the ablest debater in America. He is one of the ablest lawyers in America. He is one of the most fearless men in the political life of America. There are millions of his countrymen who are of the opinion that he made a fatal blunder when he fought the Versailles Treaty to a finish but that treaty was repudiated by a majority of 7 million when Warren G. Harding buried James M. Cox at the polls. Woodrow Wilson is the idol of millions of his countrymen but he is not a citizen of Missouri. He is not the guardian of the Democratic conscience. He is not a Romanoff dictator of what shall constitute the principles and the policies of the Democratic party. If the democracy is to return to power millions of men can not be politically ostracized because they opposed ratfication of the League of Nations. Let the Missouri Democrats settle their own fight. Let Reed and Long arrange the preliminaries and go to the mat. Missouri was lost to the Republicans in 1920 for the reason that there were thousands of Democrats who did not believe in an alliance with Great Britain and other European powers. The writer was for the League of Nations in 1920. He is for the League of Nations today but it will be folly to drive from the party millions of men, or keep millions of Democrats on the outside, who insisted in 1920 that Washington's farewell address was their guide and anchor of hope and that as he had warned against entangling alliances it would be treason to his memory and his tradition to accept the Versailles treaty as it was written. If Democrats are to win in the future, they should get together, they should bury the past and they should not apply the branding iron to those who followed their convictions as the free born citizens of a free Republic.

DETROIT IS ONE OF THE wonder cities of the world. Its people have voted to purchase the city lines of the Detroit United Railways for 20 million dollars. The vote was 55,658 for and 12,198 against the proposition. May 15 the city takes over the lines of the corporation and the entire system, 34 miles, goes under municipal ownership. Henry Ford and Mayor James Couzens advocated the purchase of the line. Ford is rated as a billionaire; Couzens is said to be worth 20 millions.

James A. Patton and J. Ogden Armour are multi-millionaires who are striving to corner wheat. They deny they are responsible for the so-called flurry but the surface signs belie their statements. It is known that there is a struggle between vast financial interests over the possession of millions of bushels of grain. There is a crash coming some day and the little fellows are going to be smashed. James A. Patton, the greatest wheat gambler in the world is a very respectable church-going gentleman. He would put all poker players and crap-shooters in jail; he would send all bootleggers and rum-runners to the whipping post; but he holds that grain gambling is a gentleman's game and he plays it with a relish. When is gambling, gambling; when is a gambler a gambler?

Texas produces one-fourth of all the cotton produced in the United States. Texas produces one-sixth of all the cotton produced in the world. Texas has eighteen cotton mills. They consume two per cent of Texas grown cotton. That is if Texas produces 4 million bales less than 200,000 bales are consumed by Texas mills. South Carolina and Georgia mills consume two-thirds of the cotton produced by North Carolina and Georgia farmers. It is said that the eighteen Texas mills show very large dividends. Isn't it a reproach that Texas cotton must be shipped to Japan, Europe and New England for manufacture and then that Texas consumers must go to these mills in other states for the cotton goods they buy. First, there is freight on the long haul of raw material; then there is another freight charge on the long haul of the finished product. Mexico is a large buyer of cotton goods and the natives of the Canal zone country are large buyers. Pan-American countries use large quantities of cotton goods and the Panama Canal is at the very door of Texas. What Texas needs to increase the wealth per capita of its people is 250 instead of 18 cotton mills. They are coming.

Colonel W. E. Talbot is the campaign manager and director of the Republicans of Texas. He has headquarters in the city of Dallas and is now in control of Texas Republican affairs. He was a candidate for mayor of Dallas but Sawnie Aldredge defeated him. Jt was soldier pitted against soldier, Talbot made a fine record in France. Of course Colonel Talbot is not a distributor of federal patronage. Renfro B. Creager, state chairman of the Republican committee, is said to be the power behind the Harding throne. In 1920 Warren G. Harding received 114,000 votes in Texas and the Hon. Jack Culbertson, who made the race for governor, received 76,000 votes. Director of the Mint F. E. Scobey is another powerful figure. These men say that the Republican party in Texas in order to expand must be a white man's party. Congressman Harry Wurzbach is opposed to this program; he would make the party a black and tan affair. He refuses to say that the negro should be told to go away back and sit down on all days except election day. There are 12,000,000 qualified voters in Texas. There is to be a Republican state ticket in the field. Candidates for congress are to be nominated in all the eighteen districts. Speaking of business why is it that Democratic free traders placed Mexican crude on the free list and Republican protectionists kept Mexican crude on the free list? Dr. John Henry Kirby demands a tariff on egg importations. He says the Chinese brand is the product of cheap labor. Then why not a tariff on Mexican crude? Isn't it a product of pauper labor?

MONDELL SUPPORTS KAUFMAN MAN

Special to The Record News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 20. Prospects for the appointment of former Congressman James Young of Kaufman, Texas, to a vacancy on the Farm Loan Board received another boost today when Representative Frank W. Mondell, republican leader of the House, went to the White House and gave to the president his personal endorsement for the appointment of Young. In addition Young has been endorsed by all the Texas delegation with the exception of two, and by Republican State Chairman Granger and R. E. Scobey of San Antonio, director of the Mint.

Rippling Rhymes

By WALT MASON

Some of the Symptoms.

I'm burning with fever, I'm shaking with chills; I'm weary of taking Doc Hathaway's pills; he says they are dingers at curing the flu; I'm worse after taking a bushel or two. The taste in my mouth is a sight to be seen, my tongue is all furred with a fungus that's green; my appetite's gone and this life is a frost, and I cough till I sound like a motor's exhaust. For Hathaway's pills I have blown in my change, and Hathaway's pills may be good for the mange; for fancier diseases perhaps they will do, but they are no good when you're down with the flu. Some Spaniard invented the flu, I've been told, supplanting the grip and the old fashioned cold; and when I feel better it will be my aim to locate that Spaniard and climb on his frame; the man who will spring such a beastly disease, and ship it in malice across the wide seas, deserves what he'll get when I camp on his trail, the cold-eyed avenger, relentless and pale. Doc Hathaway, too, will pass under the rod for trading his pills for my hardly earned wad. So, dreaming of vengeance, I shiver and shake, and sizzle with fever, and strangle and ache; my tubes are all rusted, I breathe with a hiss, I sound like an auto whose cylinders miss.—(Copyright, 1922, George Matthew Adams.)

High Blood Pressure

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE

(Copyright 1922, by the Associated Newspapers)

Complying with a request to summarize authoritative medical opinion regarding pressure-reducing measures which should be taken by persons afflicted with an abnormally high blood pressure, I would note first the emphasis that physicians in general put on diet.

In advanced cases, especially when accompanied with a heart or kidney coub, the most rigid of dieting is insisted upon, some restricting the diet to vegetables, fruits and skimmed milk. In other cases a more liberal diet is permitted, though patients are warned to eat little or no meats and meat soups, and to beware of any excess of carbohydrates (starchy foods) or purins (found in peas and beans as well as fish and meats).

Also there is an increasing tendency to limit or prohibit the use of salt by sufferers f rom high blood pressure. It has even been claimed that by this measure alone (elimination of salt from the diet) a positive cure may be effected in certain cases.

In any event the salt intake may well be lessened on general principles. Nearly all of us are inclined to eat more salt than is really good for us. Similarly as regards spices and condiments. Simple foods are the best for everybody, and simplicity in diet cannot be too strongly urged on blood pressure patients.

Milk is particularly to be recommended to them because of its vitamin-containing qualities, indispensable to nutrition. For the same reason, and because of their anti-constipative value, leafy vegetables are particularly helpfu lto high pressure patients. Care must always be taken, though, to eat no foodstuffs known to tax unduly the individual's digestive powers.

So, too, care must be taken to avoid undue fatigue or any undue exposure to inclement weather. The clothes should be carefully regulated according to the temperature, but should not fit with an uncomfortable snugness.

In fact, the theory has been advanced that some cases of high blood pressure are due directly to the wearing of tight clothing; in especial tight collars and neckbands. Any change to looser clothing, on the other hand, should be gradual, lest the pressure fall too rapidly.

There should be definite periods for rest during the day; also periods for exercise, to be taken preferably in such forms as walking, golfing, bowling, horseback riding and light calisthenics. Work should be regulated to one's strength. Always the warning holds good: "Don't overdo."

And all specialists in the treatment of high blood pressure add the further warning, "Don't worry." This may be difficult advice to follow, but the fact remains that to acquire a cheerful, courageous, confident attitude toward the outcome of one's case and toward life in general is of the first importance in bringing the blood pressure down.

As an aid to the acquiring of such an attitude, and as being in itself of curative value, Dr. Lewellys F. Barker's formula is of special significance to every patient:

"Cultivate a spirit of play and delight in recreation, an interest in some hobby and the enjoyment of the beautiful in nature, in art, and in literature."

MIXED MARRIAGES

By DR. FRANK CRANE

(Copyright, 1922, by Frank Crane.)

Considerable attention was attracted some time ago to the marital difficulties of an opera star who had married a chauffeur and proclaimed that she had found a 100 per cent man.

The venture, however, did not pan out. The chauffeur went back to his machinery and the diva continued her operatic career. The parting was attended with hard words on both sides.

The incident called attention to the infinite experiments that have been made, and are still being made, by young people undertaking marriage thus coming from different worlds.

Some of these have had a measure of success. A few King Cophetuas have married beggar maids and lived happily ever after. Here and there we read of a millionairess aged sixty who marries a shoe clerk aged twenty-two; of a Spanish Roman Catholic gentleman whose name might grace a cigar box marrying Farmer Hopkins's daughter, who lives on Lick Creek and was brought up a Methodist; of a preacher who marries a vaudeville star, and of a Prince of royal Greek blood who selects his spouse from American milliónairedom, and they seem to get along "pretty tol'able."

But these are exceptions.

The fact is that marriage is not entirely a matter of young love, poetry, and passion. It also has its economical side and its social bearings.

Doubtless it is cruel and unfeeling for the stern parents to pick out a husband for their daughter with reference only to his bank account, but after all that is not much worse than the daughter picking out a husband for herself with sole reference to the color of his eyes and his taste in silk shirts.

Marriage is the one business where there has to be some sort of commonsense blending of romance and prudence.

The problem is not wholly one of young people getting together; they also have to keep together. And it takes other things than sentiment to ensure that.

When a girl marries she not only marries an individual, she marries also a background. She may find, after the first flush of romance is passed, that her husband's way of looking at things, his estimate of values and even his moral convictions are utterly irreconcilable to her own. Unfortunately she often does not find this out until it is too late.

Love and trust and utter confidence are magnified and a girl often takes a martyr-like pride in refusing to consider more practical matters.

We are not likely in America, saturated as we are by novels full of the ideals of romantic affection, to take up with the European notion that parents should arrange marriages without reference to the young people's tastes, but it certainly might be well if the young people would consult with and give heed to their parents before they take an important step that may mean misery or happiness for life.

LADDIE

Della Kellman was trimming the moss rose bushes and enjoying the balmy air and warm sunshine of the April afternoon when she saw her husband come storming through the yard. When Mac Kellam walked and looked that way one might reasonably suppose that his Scotch temper had been aroused. As for Della, she did not have to suppose, for she had lived with Mac for nine years and felt that she knew him like a book. She merely waited for him to speak. And all the time she admired him. He was such a personable man, her big Scotchman.

"Dell," he said, "do you know where Laddie is?"

Della glanced around and missed what she was looking for. "Why, he was here just a minute ago," she answered, "walking round on his hind feet and bothering to help me. I hadn't noticed his going anywhere."

Mac pointed toward the distant hill pasture. "Look there!" he commanded briefly.

Della shaded her eyes with her hand. Racing across the pasture toward the dark line of still leafless woods she discerned two dogs, big and little. The little one was in the lead.

"They're headed straight for Foote's," Mac said grimly. "And last night Foote had a couple of sheep worried. He just stopped and told me as he was going by. He thinks our dogs did it. Now, you know as well as I do, Del, that when a dog gets to chasing sheep there's only one thing that will stop him and that's a bullet. And that little Boston bull of yours has started the whole business. He's ruined Bob, and Bob's the best cow dog on this creek. I wouldn't take $100 for him.

There was silence. Della looked into space. "Well," she said, "I don't believe our dogs have touched Foote's sheep. They're mischievous but not mean. And Laddie's never chased anything bigger than a cat in his life."

Mac made an important gesture. "It's all right for you to think so, Del, but it don't alter conditions. And I'm not going to pay for anybody's sheep being killed just for the sake of humoring you in keeping that little bull. Sell him or give him away, just as you please, but do one thing or the other, and do it today." He turned and walked away.

Della stood snipping her shears absently. Laddie! Her dear little pet! How could she give him up? He was such a friend, such company, always trotting after her on his little hind feet. He could understand every word she said to him. Why, he could almost talk! When Mac was at work in the fields she would have been lonely except for the little dog.

Her brother had brought Laddie to her four years ago, just before he had gone away, never to return. That was one thing that made the dog dear to her. She thought that Mac was hard. Of course she could see that it wouldn't be pleasant for him to get into trouble with the adjoining neighbor, but still Bob was quite as much to blame as Laddie about this running away business. It was true that Laddie led, but Bob was always eager to follow. And it didn't seem to do any good to shut or tie Laddie up; he always got free some way. He was very clever. Yes, she supposed she must give him up to avoid complications. But it was going to break her heart nearly.

"I'll take him to town and give him to Mrs. Babcock," she thought. "She will be good to him and I can see him sometimes. But, oh, how I shall miss him!" She finished her rose trimming. Then she went into the house, dressed and made ready to go to town the instant Laddie returned. Suddenly she heard the joyous scamper of his small feet. He scratched on the door, and when she opened it he walked into the room, front paws drooping. It was his way of asking pardon for a misdemeanor.

Della did not stop to scold him. She merely bade him follow her and went downstairs and out of doors. Her hands were steady as she opened the garage doors. As she entered the car Laddie barked joyously. He took his place beside her, sitting erect on the seat and keeping his balance as she swung out through the lane.

Della drove like the wind. Now that she had started to do the thing she wanted to get it over. She made the six rough miles in twenty minutes and paused before her friend's door, panting a little from the chase. Mrs. Babcock ran out of her house.

"I've brought you Laddie, Marion," Della said. She lifted the little dog out and placed him in the other woman's arms. "I can't keep him any longer. It—it isn't best."

"I'm glad to have him, of course," Mrs. Babcock said, "We're good friends, aren't we, Lad? But I don't see what you'll do without him, Del."

"Neither do I," Della replied with a sob. "I can't stay a minute. Don't let him follow me," she added as she plunged away. When Mac came in to supper she told him what she had done.

"That's all right, Del, you're a sensible woman. I haven't got money enough to indulge my dogs in killing other folks' sheep, you know," Mac said. "I'll shut up Bob tonight so we'll know where he is."

All night long Bob howled out of lonesomeness and kept Della awake. She was getting breakfast when Mac came in hurriedly.

"Foote's just been over here," he said. "He had a sheep killed last night. And he caught the dog. It's that mongrel of Keenan's. Our dogs had nothing to do with it. Foote says his wife watched them today and they merely rummaged around a woodchuck hole. Good old Bob! I hated like fun to shoot him!"

"Yes, it would have been too bad," Della said dully. She was missing Laddie and his morning capers very much.

"I'm going to town this morning," Mac said as he finished his breakfast. "Want to go, Del?"

"No," she answered. "I've got a big ironing to do."

She was glad she had the ironing after Mac went away. But as she was, she still had time to miss her small constant companion.

She was getting dinner when she heard the car coming, but as she was in the pantry busy whipping cream for a pudding and there was no window convenient to look from she suspected nothing until she heard a familiar sound at the outer door. It sounded like Laddie! She stopped the beater and ran to open the door.

Laddie marched in on his hind feet! And behind him Mac was laughing at her.

"You see, I brought him straight back to you," he said. "Mrs. Babcock says she couldn't keep him anyway; he was fretting his heart out for you."

Della knelt down and let Laddie kiss her cheek. She could not speak. Mac stood gazing thoughtfully at the meeting.

"Good dog, Lad!" he said at last. "No wonder you love her. She's well worth loving."

Press Women's Garden Party Is Planned at Federation Meet Here

At an enthusiastic meeting of the City Federation of Women's clubs held at the library Thursday morning, an election of officers was held and plans discussed for a garden party to be given to rthe Texas Women's Press association which will convene here May 24-26.

Two new clubs, the 1922 Study club and the Culture club joined the federation at this meeting, and a large representation from all the clubs were in attendance.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. A. H. Britain.

FASHIONS

Checked Gingham and Organdy Make a Dainty Frock for a Small Girl.

Red and white checked gingham and either red or white organdy could be combined in the frock for a two to six year old shown in the sketch. For good measure, a hat to match might also be brought out. The vogue for frocks and dresses to match is increasingly strong this season, especially when the younger generation are being outfitted and really lovely little costumes have been designed.

One recently seen was a straight-line, smock-like affair of white organdy, embroidered here and there with clusters of red cherries and green leaves. A small poke bonnet was offered, featuring the same fabric and trimming. The dress had self-fabric bloomers.

Another was of navy swiss, dotted in white, finished with white organdy collar and cuffs embroidered in red and with narrow red ribbon tie in front, and the hat was a tam crown of the swiss, with brim of white carrying the touches of red in its trimming. A narrow red ribbon was tied about the crown, ending at one side in a ribbon tassel.

Still another frock was of natural ponges, trimmed in green wool embroidery, and with tam crowned hat to match, the brim criss-crossed in green wool. A braided band of wool circled the crown and was tied at one side, the ends being finished with wool balls.

The loveliest and gayest looking hats imaginable for children are shown made of bright flowered cretonne, sometimes trimmed with organdy in white or color.

Only a very little piece of material is required to make a hat for a child, and certainly there is something very pleasing and smart about the hats and frocks that match, the general color scheme to be carried out in hosiery, hair bows, etc.

One designer of clothes for children has offered some gingham and cotton eponge frocks with capes to match, but these really are not particularly smart on the whole.

A Wife or a Profession?

CHAPTER LVI.

Howard did not mention Nadine's call to Annette. Just why, perhaps, he could not have told. It might have been that the hour of abasement that had followed made him reluctant to discuss her visit. And when on the day following he called upon her mother he also neglected to speak of it to Annette.

Not that he felt there was anything to hide, but Nadine and her mother belonged to a different period, a different phase of his life. They believed in him, thought him different from what he now was. To them he was the Dr. Blake of fine ideals, not the weakling he knew himself to be. It had given him a feeling of self-respect which had been a stranger to him since the day he had talked with Dr. Campbell.

He had at once seen that there was more the matter with Mrs. Norwell than Nadine had thought. She was gradually succumbing to a dread disease, one which in its advanced stage left little hope.

"Will you take me as a patient?" Mrs. Norwell had asked when the examination was finished. "And will you promise to keep my condition from Nadine as long as possible? She would be most unhappy if she knew, and I would keep it from her."

Howard had promised and also promised to take Mrs. Norwell as a patient. He was, in a way, almost breaking his word to Annette, who understood he was to take no outside patients, that he was simply an office consultant. But this gave him little concern. Surely he owed Annette nothing more. Had he not given up the ambition of a lifetime to please her?

But even in this he was not a free agent. Summer was coming on and Annette was planning a trip abroad instead of the usual stay at the seashore or in the country.

"It will do us both good," she had said when he objected weakly. "Set you up. You aren't quite up to the mark, Howard. You seem to be so languid, so uninterested in what goes on. We will have plenty to see over there, and you can point out the places you were during the war."

There was no real reason why Howard should object, yet he had a decided antipathy to the protest. He had no patient, who really needed him, except Mrs. Norwell, and he could turn her over to some other physician. So he finally consented to go.

"There really is nothing to keep me here," he said to himself and repeated it to Claire Gordon when she asked if he was going.

"I'm sorry, Howard, more sorry than I can tell you." Then impulsively: "Is it too late, Howard? Too late to pick things up again, to come back?" Her eyes swam with tears she would not let fall.

"Oh it seems such a shame—such a waste! It hurts me to know how you are wasting yourself Howard. You were never cut out for a society man, and you are not happy in the role. Don't you suppose I can see how hard it is for you? Have it out with Annette. She loves you. Then go back and be what God intended you to be."

"It is too late now, Claire. I have neither the opportunity nor the desire. My whole object in living is to make Annette happy, to fulfill my duty to her."

"But the pity of it, Howard! And Annette doesn't understand. She is like a spoiled child. If only her father had not left her all that money you would have been obliged to make good."

"What are you two discussing so fiercely? I heard you way up in my room." Claire had remained in the reception room with Howard while Annette attended to some household duty.

"Oh, I can't understand how you can allow Howard to waste himself as he is doing! There is so much suffering in the world, Annette so much need for clever men."

"He isn't wasting himself, Claire, and I'd thank you not to keep telling him so." Annette, frank because of their long acquaintance, replied. "No man who devotes himself to the woman he has promised to love and cherish wastes himself, especially if he is all she has. If you wouldn't be everlastingly working in the slums you wouldn't talk as you do. It is Howard's duty to make me happy. He cannot do it and practice—to any degree. There is no need. He doesn't care about it any longer, do you, dear?"

"That is what I have just told Claire, but she seems to choose to discredit me. Come, I'll take you both to Pierre's to luncheon."

"No thank you, Howard; I must go home." Claire turned away, a look of sorrow on her face.

"What a queer girl Claire is! She is so restless, always doing the sort of thing no one would dream of her doing. Ever since the war she has kept almost as busy as when you were fighting and she helped in the canteens."

"It is fortunate some are still going on with the work necessary. If all were laggards—like me," he added very low, "there would be more suffering even than there now is, especially among the injured veterans."

GENE LEWIS COMING BACK

Olga Worth and All Others to Return

Manager Henry Ford announces the signing of a contract for a return engagement of the Gene Lewis and Olga Worth dramatic company.

They will appear in Wichita Falls at the Wichita Theater the first Monday after Labor Day.

Mr. Lewis and Miss Worth played their first engagement here in the months of November and December, 1921, and the engagement was one of the most successful in the history of the organization. After closing here they went to Miami, Florida, where they played the winter and the spring months as they are under regular contract at this Florida show place and have been for several years. To hold the boards there while the tourist's season is on.

Mr. Lewis and Miss Worth and their people play the regular summer season at their own theater in the city of Dallas. During the season of 1921 the gross receipts of the Dallas Open Air Play House was $70-000 which is ample evidence that the speaking voice on the American stage has not lost its lure or its drawing capacity.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

(Copyright by J. G. Lloyd.)

DANNY MOUSE HAS A SECRET

It's fun to have a secret.
So be that it is goo.,
And have your friends all try to guess
And vainly wish they could.

Bad secrets are like the little worm inside the rosebud—they gnaw and gnaw until they ruin the heart. But good secrets are little springs of happiness that make every day a little brighter and more joyful because the heart is treasuring something good and pleasant. Ask Danny Meadow Mouse. He knows. He has had a good many nice secrets. In fact, Danny has to keep a great many things secret. You see, he is such a very little fellow, and all about him are so many who are bigger and stronger than he is, some who, like Old Man Coyote and Reddy and Granny Fox and Whitetail the Hawk and Hooty the Owl, would like nothing better than to catch him and gobble him up, and others who, like some of his own relatives, would steal all his supplies if they found them, that almost everything he does has to be secret.

But Danny doesn't mind. Oh, my no! Danny doesn't mind at all. It is rather exciting to have secrets of that kind all your very own and see other people trying and trying to find them out and not being able to. So Danny cuts secret little paths through the meadow grass, so that when danger is near he can quickly slip to safety. And he finds secret hiding places for the seeds he stores away for hard times. And he has secret playgrounds where he feels almost perfectly safe. In fact In fact almost everything he does Danny keeps secret. He even keeps his troubles secret, which is a very good plan. But one thing he doesn't keep secret, and that is his happiness. When Danny is happy he doesn't care who knows it. And that of course, is the way to do, for happiness is catching.

Just now Danny Meadow Mouse was particularly happy. The Merry Little Breezes of Old Mother West Wind, who play with Danny every day through the spring and summer, were the first to find it out. They found him one morning trying to sing. How they did laugh at him and tease him. But Danny didn't mind. He laughed too, and tried harder than ever to sing. Now the voice of Danny Meadow Mouse was never meant for singing. It is just a funny little squeak. But this didn't prevent Danny from trying. And somehow there was something in that funny little squeak very good and very pleasant to hear. The Merry Little Breezes knew what it was—it was just pure happiness.

"What is it, Danny? What makes you feel so happy. Do tell us!" they cried, crowding around him and pulling his whiskers and rumpling up his fur.

Danny just smiled and tried harder than ever to sing. This made them laugh all the more, and finally Danny stopped trying to sing and laughed, too.

"It's a secret," said he.

"Do tell us what it is! We love secrets," teased the Merry Little Breezes.

Danny shook his head. If should you would laugh at me all the time," said he.

"Please tell us! Please do Danny!" begged the Merry Little Breezes.

But Danny shook his head harder than ever, while his eyes twinkled "If I should it wouldn't be a secret any more, and it's the best secret I ever had," said her, and began once more to try to sing.

And though they teased and teased, the Merry Little Breezes couldn't find out what the secret was that made Danny Meadow Mouse so happy that he tried to sing when he has such a funny, squeaky voice.

YOU CAN'T TRUST CALOMEL AT ALL

It's Quicksilver, Salivates, Causes Rheumatism and Bone Decay.

The next dose of calomel you take may salivate you. It may shock your liver or start bone necrosis. Calomel is dangerous. It is mercury, quicksilver. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel! It can not be trusted any more than a leopard or a wild-cat. Take Dodson's Liver Tone which straightens you right up and makes you feel fine. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate. (Adv.)

if nature could speak she would say:—

I have provided the only real tonic for Spring to cleanse your system of the stagnant waste of winter, purify your blood and bring to you that glorious feeling of perfect health:

—and it is S. S. S.

SPRINGTIME is the season when Nature intends all living creatures to be charged with new life and energy. But you cannot enjoy the glorious feeling of renewed strength and vigor if your system remains clogged up with the impurities which have accumulated during the winter.

At this time your blood is overloaded with stagnant waste; you are drowsy; you hate work and you are denied that irresistible energy and enthusiasm that made every moment of your childhood days bubble over with happiness and the joy of living.

Nature's Warning

This tired feeling is often accompanied by disagreeable symptoms such as boils, pimples, rashes, eczema or rheumatism. You call it Spring Fever; but that is only Nature's way of saying—Cleanse Your System. And, just as Nature has provided everything else for our comfort and well-being, so She has given us the only really effective remedy for this dragged, let-down feeling.

Ninety-six years ago these wonderful vegetable herbs, roots and barks, of which S. S. S. is composed, were found to possess remarkable power to purify the blood, eliminate skin eruptions, strengthen and aid in supplying every cell and tissue with the rich, red nourishment that is so necessary to vigorous life, health and happiness. Then it was that Nature's own great remedy for Spring fever was given to us in the form of S. S. S.

And ever since, S. S. S. has gone on converting hundreds of thousands of tired, worn-out, run-down people into strong, healthy, red-blooded men and women with the power and capacity to accomplish things and to enjoy the beauties of Nature and the happiness of life to the very fullest.

Do not be fooled into taking compounds, such as metallic iron, etc. These minerals crash into the system, attack the delicate tissues and oftentimes leave you in worse shape than before.

Nature Intended A Vegetable Remedy

Always insist upon S. S. S., for this wonderful vegetable tonic is the remedy Nature has intended for you. The soothing, healing powers of the vegetable ingredients first cleanse and then tone up the entire system without one particle of distressing after effect.

S. S. S. overcomes your tired, drowsy feeling in a natural, easy way and without the slightest harm to the most delicate membrane of your body.

S. S. S. brings you back to where you feel like a new person; you walk with a spring in your step, a sparkle in your eye and with perfect health radiating from every pore of your skin.

Spuds Sit on Top of World as Gloom Chases Cats

KNADLER HERO DESPITE TWO HOMERS

Hurler Holds Gassers Down to Five Safeties

By "Spike" Cooper

Knadler spitballed the Gassers to five hits yesterday afternoon while the Spudders were placing base hits all over and around the lot and another win was chalked up in the won column, 14-2.

So great was the onslaught of Salm's attack that of the three chunkers sent to the firing line by Billy Smith, it was hard to tell who fared the worst. Stone, victim of Wednesday's circumstances started, but was jerked in the third after he had filled the bases a couple of times then walked in a run. Cantrell relieved him and a double by Jake Miller and a single by "Get-Two" Adams greeted him on the first two offerings flung up to the plate. He steadied somewhat until the sixth when he was driven to cover and Johnson came in, much to the satisfaction of the mauling Spudders. Six of the total counters were accumulated off the delivery of the last sacrifice sent to the altar.

Although Knadler passed seven men in the course of his nine inning stay on the mound, only one of them got him into deep trouble. Jackson scored in the sixth when two walks were followed by Storey's second hit of the game. While Knadler was winning a game for himself, Cliff Hill had the champion Cats eating out of his left hand and dropped them from the head of the column by virtue of the Spudders win. (Thanks, Jim Galloway, et al.)

Fans who have been lately lamenting the fact that Walter Salm had no pitching staff are beginning to hedge their statements following the drive which has carried the Spudders to the top of the column, despite the fact that the Panthers jumped into an early lead. Texas league hitting is admitted by all to be better than ever before, and though an average of eight hits have been made in the eight games against the homelings, a like number have been gathered by Spudder hitters, and a goodly portion of them were garnered off the delivery of what is accepted by many as the best mound crew in the loop, that of Jim Galloway's Dallas club.

E..n Billy Smith, scrapper of fame, is reported to have made the point blank statement that the Spudders have the best all round team in the circuit, a truth that is rapidly gaining verification.

The Gasser nine greatly misses the services of Ewolt, peppery third sacker who was forced from the game in the eye opener at Fort Worth. Although Kane, who arrived today and was sent in immediately upon his arrival at the lot in the fifth inning of yesterday's game, may prove a valuable man, the old time infield combination which has seasoned together before, will not be possible in the short space of time that Ewolt will be out

Jake Miller set a pattern for the rest of the nine to hit at when he turned in two doubles and a single out of five trips to the front. But not that alone, for his one hand stab, spearing Felix's drive against the boards in the seventh brought a round of applause from every fan in the park. He crashed against the boards as he jumped for the ball but it stuck firmly in his mitt, sending Johnson back to second from which point he would have scored had the left gardner not brought it down.

Smiley Bischoff got into action for the first appearance in the season and renewed pinch hitting remembrances of other days by smacking one cleanly over the left fence. The blow came in the seventh with the bases empty. Fred Beck was credited with a homer of the fluke variety in the sixth when he tripled to right. Hollahan relayed the ball from Jackson to third, but what appeared to be a perfect throw took a bad hop and outreached Kane, permitting the husky first bag guardian to complete his trip around the world.

Knadler fielded his position in fine style all throughout the game. When he got into deep water in the sixth he was all over the lawn on plays that might have slipped up, and wound up the activities of that round by coming in and taking a nice throw from Bischoff who had let a pitch get away from him. The play retired Eibel who attempted to score from third.

Jake Miller and Lex Sorey showed the students of the game a nice bit of deep stuff in the fifth. Miller beat out an infield hit, stole second, and scored from second on an infield out when the hit and run was scheduled. Sorey hopped a high one over Cantrell's head and when Hollahan played to get him at first, Miller loped up the path to the pay office with credit for one more smacker. All told, Jake was responsible for five of the 1's accumulated by the Spudder crew.

Felix opened the first frame with a grounder to McDonald, but he just hadn't orter done it. Hartford grounded out to Beck and Adams threw out Jackson.

Ray O'Brien who went back home to center patch failed to get out of the path of the first pitched ball and took it in the middle of his back. Summa sacrificed him to second, but Tex was thrown out at first and Beck popped up a high foul to Cady.

Eibel drew his first pass in the second. Hollahan filed out to center and Storey fanned just before Eibel was out stealing. Sorey made a nice pick-up of a low throw by Kitchens, but played the runner as he came in for an out.

Jake Miller lifted a mile high foul down the left field line, but Hartford got to it for an out. "Get-Two" Adams looked 'em over for a free one, but failed to pilfer the middle cushion as he attempted, and Sorey fanned.

O'Shaughnessy swung at the third strike, but Kitchens had to throw him out at first when he dropped the pitch. Cady drew a pass and Stone sacrificed him down to second, but it didn't sacrifice, for Knadler fielded the ball and forced the runner who tried to advance, Felix fired one down past Tex that was an impossible chance and Stone advanced to third, the hitter going to second on the throw in. Hartford rolled an easy one out to Knadler, who retired him at first.

Frank Kitchens walked to open the Spudder half of the third. Knadler attempted twice to lay one down for him, then singled to center. Ray dumped one down toward third and when Stone back-slapped it to head Kitchens at the hot corner, he overthrew the bag and two runners counted. Summa, McDonald and Beck walked in rapid succession, forcing in Ray, and Stone hunted the showers. Cantrell, who had been warming up down in the fer corner of the lot came to his rescue and almost had to call for the smelling salts when Miller smacked a double to left scoring Summa and Tex Adams followed in turn with a single on the next pitched ball, chasing Fred Beck and Jakie the remaining distance around. The short fielder advanced to third on a wild pitch and was squeezed in by Sorey. Kitchens, hitting for the second time in the frame, whiffed and Knadler was out, Hollahan to Eibel.

Lex Sorey threw Jackson out at first in the opening of the fourth. Hack Eibel walked again, but was forced again at second when Hollahan hit to Sorey, who threw to Adams on the bag. Storey doubled to left center, but Hollahan was held at third and O'Shaughnessy ended the round with a long fly to Summa.

O'Brien flied out to center. Homer Summa sent a long double to left, but was out at third when he tried to make three out of it. Tex single-treed one for two sacks to right center, but was left stranded at third, swiped easily, when Beck grounded out to Eibel.

Cady rolled a very feeble attempt to Beck in the fifth. Tex went over toward short to get Cantrell's hopper and eliminated him with a nice throw. Felix skied out to O'Brien.

Jake Miller beat out an infield hit when he hand-cuffed Kane who had gone in for O'Shaughnessy. He swiped a cushion just before Adams popped up to Hartford. Sorey put on the hit and run and when he hit to second, Jakie scored on the infield out. Bischoff relieved Kitchens of his job and sent a long drive to left, but Felix copped it.

Adams made a hurry-up throw to first on Hartford and got him. Jackson walked and was forced to second when Eibel followed suit. Hollahan flied out to O'Brien and Storey singled to center, sending Jackson in with the first Gasser tally. Kane singled to right advancing Storey to second and Eibel to third. A curve ball got away from Bischoff, but he hurried up on the recovery and threw to Knadler, who was waiting at the plate and Eibel was easily out as he tried to count.

Knadler opened the Spudder's section of the sixth with a blow to right center. O'Brien forced him at second when he hit to short. Summa moved him up a peg with a nice bingle and Tex scored him with a base knock sending Summa to third. Cady threw wild to catch Summa off the bag, and let him ramble in. Then Beck poled one for three bases down the right field line scoring Tex. Hollahan went out to meet the ball from Jackson and relayed the apple to Kane. His throw looked perfectly good, but the ball bounded high over the thirdbaseman's head and Fred came on in, credited with a home run. Miller stepped straight into one but drove it straight to Hartford and "Get-Two" Adams was out, Kane to Eibel.

Adams threw out Cady at first and Johnson walked in the opening of the seventh. Felix sent Jakie Miller against the fence to pull down a drive which smashed his hand against the wall as he fielded the ball. It was a wonderful catch. Hartford hit to Adams who forced Johnson at second.

Sorey, first up in the last half of the seventh rolled out, Kane to Eibel. Bischoff smote one out of the lot over the left fence for a round-trip. Knadler went out, Kane to Eibel, but O'Brien walked and stole second. Summa ended the frame, Hollahan to Eibel.

Jackson opened the eighth with a double to left and went to third when Eibel hit to Sorey who threw him out. Tex made a nice stop of Hollahan's hard drive but threw it away, letting Jackson register the final count of the Gassers. Storey popped up a high foul to Bischoff. Kane walked but was forced at second when Cady hit to Adams.

Tex hit to Eibel for the first Spudder out and Beck flied to Felix. Jakie Miller crashed another for two sacks and came home when "Get-Two" hit for two more behind him. Sorey grounded out, Hollahan to Eibel.

Vann went in to hit for Johnson. Umps O'Hearne called him back to hit when he went to first after getting hit by a slow one. O'Hearne claimed he failed to try sufficiently to dodge the ball. An officer cautioned the catcher over his language addressed to the umpire, but he finally disappeared when Tex threw him out at first. Felix followed in kind with a rolled down the base line and Tex got another. Adams went back into short left after Hartford's short fly for the final out of the game.

HI ALL SET TO GIVE VERNON FIGHT

Victory Means Much To Local Team, Coach Says

By "HANK" HAYES.

The Wichita Falls High school ballotossers are all set for their most looked for tussle of the whole season—a game with Vernon High school's nine at Electra. The boys have all been out practicing their limit and feel that the Vernonites will have to show some baseball ability to make them taste defeat.

In a talk with Kizziar, captain and 3-year man on the squad says: "If we win over Vernon, we've accomplished our ends, for of all the high school baseball games in the state, that one game is the one we are ready to fight for. If we defeat them then our goal, the state championship, will loom up as it never has before. If our sluggers maul the ball half as hard as they are predicting, the "Lefty" Baird will stay on the mound about three cantos. We fellows are going on the diamond confident, but not over-confident, for every player on the nine realizes that it will be a stiff contest from the time the "umps" say play ball until the last man is called out."

The boys and a host of rooters will all make the trip in autos and Coach Henderson announces the following lineup: Kenley, 1b; Kizziar ss; Ross, c; Baldwin, lf; Clark, cf; Roberts, 3b; Bashara, 2b; Bourland or Harris, p; Hembrie, Neal, Sullivan and others will be along as substitutes.

K. P. GROWING

Additions to the ranks of the local Knights of Pythias, an organization which has experienced a remarkable growth since the first of the year, continue with each meeting—11 taking the work in the second degree—that of esquire—at this week's meeting, according to Ira Brown, secretary.

Man Fined $100 on Swindling Charge

Because he was found guilty of appropriating to his own use funds which he had collected for the Peniel Orphans Home at Greenville, Texas, J. L. Manen, formerly employed by the institution as a solicitor for funds, was given six months in the county jail and fined $100 by a jury in the county court at law Thursday morning.

A. H. Britain and J. T. Montgomery, local attorneys, were among those who testified that they had given Manen checks for $10 each for the orphans home. The checks introduced by the state showed that they had been cashed by Manen. Another witness connected with the home testified that Manen was no longer authorized to receive contributions.

Manen who declared that all his friends had deserted him defended himself. He said that he had taken the money but that he had intended to turn it over to the home when he had received a large amount. Manen was charged with swindling.

JURY AWARDS $75

A jury in the county court at law Thursday afternoon gave D. McDowell a judgment for $75 against R. L. Ward. The counter judgment of Ward asked by the defendant was not allowed by the jury. The suit was based on a produce transaction between the two men.

JUNK CASE BEGINS

Testimony in the case of Paul Longuway vs the City National Bank of Commerce for $250 was begun in the county court-at-law before Judge Guy Rogers Thursday. The case will probably be finished today.

It is alleged by the plaintiff that he sold the Wichita Junk company iron and junk amounting to $250, and that a draft was sent to this city which was handled by the City National Bank of Commerce. The plaintiff further asserts that the bank here held up the money when it was paid by the Wichita Junk company.

Defendants claim that the Wichita Junk company resold the junk to the Wichita Foundry company, who claim to have discovered that the junk was the property of the Fort Worth & Denver railway company, and that on this ground the money for the draft was withheld.

NEGRESS BURIED

NOON TRAIN MAY BE TAKEN OFF

W.F.&N.W. Sounds Out Points on Line

Wichita Falls & Northwestern officials are to make an effort to secure discontinuation of the mid-day passenger train in each direction, it became known here Thursday. A thought no official move has been made in this direction, officials are sounding out commercial bodies along the line with a view to obtaining assent to this program.

Officials point out that they now have two morning and two evening trains in each direction, and that the demand for the mid-day train is not sufficient to justify its continuation.

Objection Felt.

So far assent has been obtained at Burkburnett where Superintendent Grace was a visitor at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon Wednesday, but indications of opposition from other points are in evidence. The proposal is still in an informal form at present, but if sufficient encouragement is obtained it is expected that formal application for permission to make the change will be made.

Change of the Oklahoma City trains, which now leave the Northwestern for the Frisco at Frederick, to routing by Altus, a change recently approved by the local Chamber of Commerce, is in prospect for the near future, it is learned. The train as at present routed has been a profitable one for the Frisco, but has been a lean earner for the Northwestern, which at present only has the short haul between Wichita Falls and Frederick. The change by way of Altus will lengthen the running time about an hour and a half, a negligible factor in a night train.

NIGHT PASSENGER MAY BE RE-ROUTED

FREDERICK, Okla., April 20.—Although no official announcement has been made to that effect, it is practically certain that the night passenger train from Wichita Falls, Texas, to Oklahoma City, is to be routed by way of Altus, beginning May 14.

The change, it is said, is based on the fact that the Oil Special has lost the Katy money during the last six months, whereas it has made money for the Frisco. The Katy officials, it is said, have always wanted the train routed via Altus, but the higher Frisco officials have objected to this. So long as the Katy was making money on the short haul it got between Wichita Falls and Frederick it could not make its objection to the routing effective. Now that the records show a loss the Katy can force a change by taking off its train between Frederick and Wichita Falls, which would deprive the Frisco of a Wichita Falls connection.

The new routing will give additional mileage of 30 miles, and it is understood the running time will be increased from one and one-half to one and three-quarters hours.

If the fare is not increased between Frederick and Oklahoma City, no protest will be made against the change.

SPENCER SPEAKS IN BEHALF OF WILLIAMS

Judge C. F. Spencer, opponent of the late Lucian Parrish in his first race for congress four years ago, will speak at Gainesville in behalf of the candidacy of Guinn Williams, candidate to succeed Mr. Parrish, Saturday afternoon.

Judge Spencer was formerly judge of the district court comprising Cooke, Denton and Montague counties. He will speak in other places in Cook county during the week.

THOMAS SUPPORTERS HERE TO FORM CLUB

Thomas supporters will form an organization to further the candidacy of the Dallas man for the senate some time within the next few days, it was decided at a conference between the candidate and Wichita Falls friends at his hotel Wednesday morning.

The exact date of the candidate's public speech here has not yet been fixed, but it is expected that it will be in the course of three weeks or a month, and probably after all the other candidates have appeared here.

Mr. Thomas left on an afternoon Dehver train for Vernon where he spoke Wednesday night.

WELL CREW BURNED IN GRAHAM FIRE

Special to The Record News.

GRAHAM, Texas, April 20.—The heavy gas flow ignited from a cigarette blaze, according to workers on the well, the rig of Tyrell and associates on the Williams lease, in the east Bunger extension, was burned Wednesday afternoon. One member of the crew was burned painfully, but not seriously.

The well had just been drilled into a gas sand, around 1700 feet, when the fire occurred. The flow is estimated at two million feet.

H. N. ROBERTS HERE

H. N. Roberts, traffic manager of the Wichita Falls Ranger and Fort Worth (the Hamon line) was in Wichita Falls Wednesday for a business conference with C. L. Fontaine, traffic manager of the Wichita Falls & Southern.

The two lines, originally projected as one, and constructed separately following a division of the Kell and Hamon interests, connect at Breckenridge, the Hamon line running on through to Ranger and Dublin.

VERNON PEOPLE HEAR THOMAS

Mixed Audience at Political Rally

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, April 20.—Cullen F. Thomas jumped into Wilbarger county today and had a talk with the men and women voters of this part of Texas in the interest of his campaign for the United States senate. His address here was before a mixed audience of merchants and women. His advocacy of a dirt farmer as a member of the federal reserve board struck a responsive chord in the hearts of his hearers.

Not only did Mr. Thomas discuss this plank of his platform, but one by one, he took the issues involved in his campaign as discussed in his opening speech and presented them to his audience. He reviewed the tariff question, his price-fixing proposition and everything connected with governmental affairs, declaring emphatically against further encroachment on state rights by the United States government, such as fixing intrastate rates by the interstate commerce commission and other questions. During his address Mr. Thomas took note of the criticism of Col. Clarence Ousley of Mr. Thomas' campaign address against federal usurpation of power. He said in part:

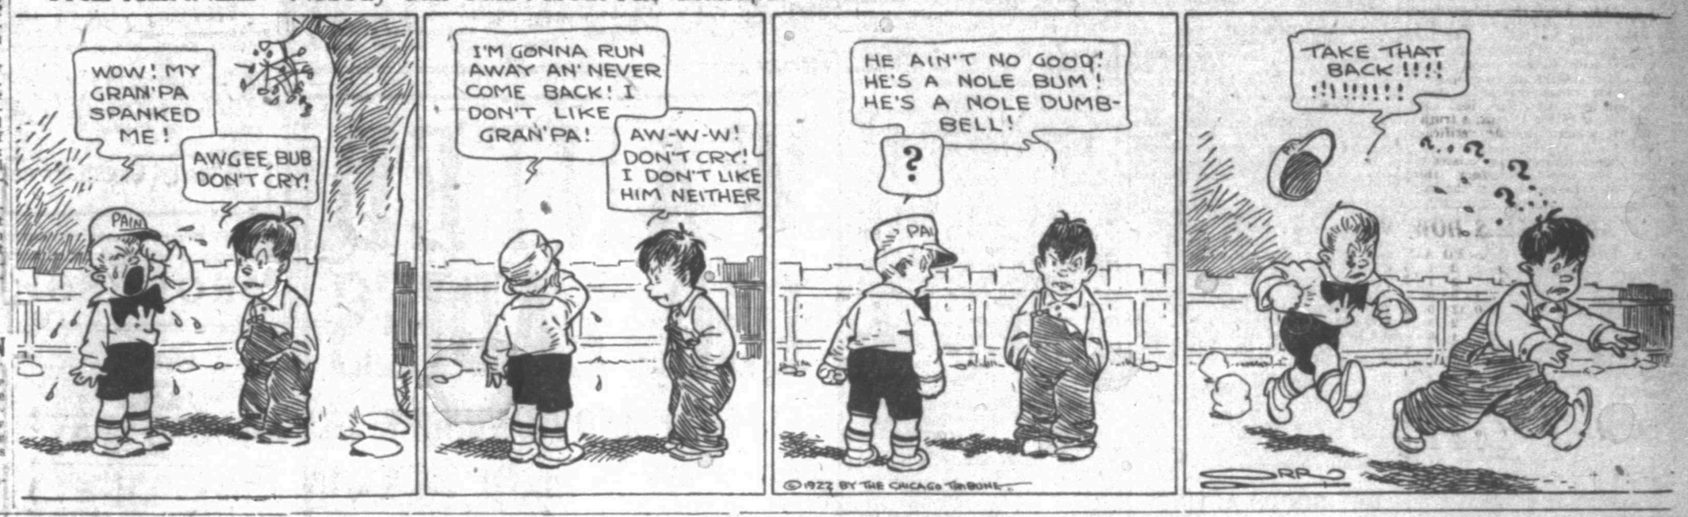

"Colonel Ousley takes me to task because I advanced the opinion that the sending of federal troops by President Cleveland to Chicago during the Pullman strike was unwarranted by the constitution. I was simply making an argument for the assertion of state dignity against federal executive interference. I think the plain language of the constitution shows that Cleveland stretched the constitution. The constitution provides that the United States government shall protect the states from domestic violence when requested by the legislature or by the governor. During the Pullman strike the legislature of Illinois made no such request. The governor of Illinois made no such request. He protested against the act before and after the sending of troops.

"In my position I am fortified by the national democratic platform of 1896. I am further strengthened by the opinion of that great champion of the rights of states, James S. Hogg, who in his day thundered against it.

"I further deplored the sending of troops by President Harding into West Virginia. I do not say his act was unconstitutional or unwarranted; he acted on the request of the governor of West Virginia. The president was within his constitutional rights. The governor abdicated the power of a sovereign state.

"I decline to be put on the side of lawlessness. I am for the law. I am for the protection of property rights. I want the states to exercise their strength and discharge their responsibility as occasion requires without looking toward Washington for federal troops."

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, April 20.—An easier tone developed into cotton today the market feeling pressure in a moderate way from the opening. Some selling was due to an unfavorable opinion of the news from the Genoa conference. All selling was caused by weather conditions over the belt. At the lowest of the day May traded at 16.71 with the list at net losses of 18 to 31 points; the close was at 16.78 for May and at net losses of 11 to 25 points on the list.

The new crop months were easier than the old and discounts on the new crops were established again, October trading down 16.61 at its lowest. This was due to special selling in which the market gossip said spot houses led.

On the opening, much attention was paid to Liverpool, which stood somewhat better than due and after a rise of a couple of points on May offerings increased so that initial sales on latter months were at a decline. The weather map was considered favorable. Low temperatures in many sections of the belt caused some little comment but they were not low enough to be a real supporter to the market.

STOCKS WEAKEN AFTER BIG RUSH

Drop Attributed to Profit Taking

NEW YORK, April 20.—Business on the stock exchange today began with many indications that the session would establish a record in activity and breadth for three years, but operations slackened visibly during the intermediate and final periods.

Aside from United States steel, which rose to 100 1-8, its highest quotation in exactly two years, and the new advances made by other leaders of the industrial and railway divisions, the session developed no spectacular features.

Extreme gains of one to three points were scored by a number of shares, but these suffered partial or entire cancellation as the day progressed and the desire to take profits became more insistent.

No restrictions to the market's upward course were interposed by monetary conditions. Further ease was evinced by local money rates and international currencies, seemed in no serious degree disturbed by latest acsluding Russia's refusal to pay her war obligations.

The firmness of coal shares was cited as evidence that the coal strike is becoming less of a market influence. This was supplemented by advices from centers of steel and iron production, mostly of an encouraging tenor.

Among the relatively few substantial net gains were American locomotive, Crucible, Sears-Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Computing tabulators, Western Pacific preferred and Market Street railway preferred. United States steel closed at a small loss and most of the oils were affected by heavy selling of Texas company and Mexican petroleum. Total sales amounted to 1,436,000 shares.

For the third successive day, all call loans were placed at 3 1-2 per cent. Time funds were plentiful.

Sterlings reaction to the foreign situation was decline of 3.8 of a cent, allied bills easing 3 to 5 points. Dutch and Scandinavian rates were firm to strong and central European quotations were not materially changed.

PROFIT TAKERS LOWER COTTON

European Reports Aid Market

NEW YORK, April 20—Reports of improving weather conditions in the south led to a good deal of realizing on scattering liquidation in cotton market today, particularly in the new crop months. October sold off to 17.28 or 27 points net lower, and closed at 17.30 with the general market closing barely steady at a net gain of 14 to 24 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of one to five points on all months except June, which was 32 points lower. There were bulges of a few points right after the call on the firmer late cables from Liverpool and continued favorable reports from the cotton goods trade. People who had bought on the rain news earlier in the week appeared to be liquidating their contracts and there was a good deal of scattered southern selling accompanied by complaints of a pool spot demand and reiterated predictions that cotton would be shipped here for delivery next month.

Spot house brokers were sellers of May at a premium of 40 points over July and also bought some July against sales of October but the near months offerings were absorbed by covering or buying against spinners calling, and were relatively tseady during the day. Closing prices were within a few points of the lowest.

Private cables reported a less active spot demand in Liverpool and quieter trade in Manchester. Detailed weather reports showed considerable rain in the eastern belt but clearing weather this morning and local brokers considered the better weather news as chiefly responsible for the declines.

Exports today 13,947 bales, making a total 4,586,745 so far this season. Port receipts 10,561. U. S. Port stocks 974,129.

CRUDE STOCKS MAKE INCREASE

Average Production Takes Drop

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 20.—Pipe line and tank form gross domestic crude oil stocks held in the United States increased 10,905,000 barrels in March, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute, issued last night. Of this increase 9,335,000 barrels were in stocks east of the Rockies.

The daily average gross crude oil production of the United States decreased 22,100 barrels for the week ended April 15, totalling 1,410,851 barrels the summary continues.

Oklahoma-Kansas shows a daily average gross production of 444,200 barrels, a decrease of 2,300 barrels; North Texas an increase of 200 barrels; Central Texas a decrease of 14,350 barrels; North Louisiana a decrease of 14,600 barrels and Arkansas an increase of 1,850 barrels. In Oklahoma production of the Osage nation is shown at 94,600 barrels against 86,500 barrels, an output of the Lyons-Quinn pool was 48,100 barrels against 50,500 barrels. The Mexia pool, Central Texas, reported 95,000 barrels against 108,000 barrels; Haynesville, North Louisiana, 52,100 barrels. In the Gulf Coast field, West Columbia is reported at 35,400 barrels against 35,800 barrels and Orange county 21,000 barrels against 20,200 barrels.

GRAIN DROPS ON GENOA REPORTS

Only Rally Occurs Late in Day

CHICAGO, April 20.—Uncertainty over developments at the Genoa economic conference tended to make the wheat market here average lower in price today, especially as quotations from Liverpool showed something of a set back the closing in Chicago was unsettled to 3-4 cents net decline to 3-8 cents net advance, with May 1.43 to 1.43 1-8 and July 1.25 5-8 to 1.25 7-8. Corn off 1.8 cent off. Oats up a shade to 1.8 cents and provisions unchanged to 15 cents higher.

Gossip that foreign buyers were about to enter the wheat market again led to a rally in prices during the finals deals, but values otherwise throughout the greater part of the day were inclined to sag and there was an absence of any indication of any aggressive demand. Beside the misgiving due to Genoa advices and to lower prices at Liverpool, movement here to have grains cars in track made available for foreign delivery, failed as a bearish movement.

Spreading operations ascribed to northwestern interests attracted some attention in the wheat pit. The spread consisted in the similutaneous buying of July delivery of wheat and the selling of September.

Corn and oats price held inside of narrow limits, with trading chiefly of a local character.

Provisions were mostly a little higher, in response to an early upturn in hogs.

THREE CHILDREN BELIEVED SLAIN

Gas Turned on in Air Tight Room

By Associated Press.

HOUSTON, April 20.—Three children were found asphyxiated this morning in one bed at their home in the third ward, gas jets in an adjoining room were turned on. Justice J. M. Ray who held the inquest withheld his verdict.

The dead are: William Y. Mathis, 9 years old; Elizabeth H. Mathis, 8, and Horace L. Mathis, aged 6.

The dead were children of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Mathis.

While the coroner's verdict had been returned and no warrant had been issued in the case, investigators declared they were convinced that the children had been killed deliberately and their death had not been the result of carelessness. Three gas burners in an adjoining room, were opened, outer doors were closed, and a covering put over a crack in one window. The screen to the back porch had been slit.

MOTHER WILL AID IN INVESTIGATION.

By Associated Press.

HOUSTON, April 20.—Mrs. Elizabeth Mathis, mother of three small children who were found in bed, dead from gas fumes, early this morning has been located in Port Arthur, authorities announced. Mrs. Mathis is on her way to Houston to aid in the investigation.

Lady Astor, Who Blazed Trail in England for Weaker Sex, Advises All Women to Take Dive Into Political Sea

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 20.—Nancy Langhorne Astor, the Virginia girl who married a British nobleman, became the mother of six children and afterwards won the first seat in the house of commons ever held by a woman, came back to America today for a short visit. First she chatted lightly on a dozen topics and then tonight she spoke seriously on women and politics, urging every woman to enter politics.

The gathering of men and women who crowded Town Hall to hear her speech tonight, cheered with a fervor that bespoke their admiration for Lady Astor's achievements.

Lord Astor accompanied his American wife from England on the Olympic.

It was Lord Astor, said Lady Astor tonight, who started her on "This downward career from home to the house." Her husband, she explained, was a born social reformer, but he had avoided the pitfall of thinking one can right wrongs with philanthropy. He realized that one must go to the bottom of the wrongs, and so, for 11 years at Plymouth, she had found out the wrongs and he had tried to right them.

One sex cannot govern alone, Lady Astor declared. She believed one of the reasons civilization had failed so lamentably was that it had a one-sided government.

"Don't let us make the mistake of ever allowing that to happen again," she said, "I can conceive of nothing worse than a man-governed world, except a woman-governed world, but I can see the combination of the two going forward and making civilization more worthy of the name of civilization based on Christianity, not force.

STILL SEIZED IN RESIDENCE

Two Men Arrested On Liquor Charge

Following a raid made Thursday afternoon by plain clothes officers at the home of J. W. Williams, 501 Holliday street, Williams and Lee Green were lodged behind steel bars last night charged with manufacturing illicit whiskey, while the second moonshine still that has been captured almost in the heart of the residential section of Wichita Falls was in the possession of the officers. Both Green and Williams will be given hearings before J. A. Lantz, United State commissioner this morning.

Officers, operating on a "straight tip," entered the home on Holliday street yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock and found Mrs. Williams and a young baby in the house. A complete copper still of fifty-gallon capacity was located in the rear of the house, officers said.

The officers conducting the raid waited for Williams until 6 o'clock, placing him under arrest as he approached his home, they said. Williams had a number of empty jars and bottles in his possession when the officers accosted him, they said.

Four barrels of mash, which were found in the room with the still, were destroyed, the authorities said. The whiskey still, together with three gallons of moonshine whiskey were brought to the police station last night and will be held as evidence in connection with the charges brought against Green and Williams.

Officers Tom Shook, J. E. Glenn, Charley Bebout and Detective Jack Miller participated in the raid.

RALLY FOR MORGAN

Friends of S. A. L. Morgan, local candidate for the congressional nomination from this district, will stage their open air rally in the interest of the Wichitan's campaign Saturday night at the Moore & Richolt corner, Ninth and Indiana, according to a tentative agreement reached Thursday.

Final arrangements for the rally will probably be made at a meeting of the candidates supporters this morning, following the return of John Davenport, county campaign manager for Morgan, from a trip to Austin on legal business.

ROTARY HEADS GO IN THURSDAY

Night Meeting for Installation

Elaborate plans for the club's annual meeting and the installation of its new officers were started by Rotarians immediately following the luncheon Thursday when the new half of the club's board of directors were named.

The meeting will be held at night, in lieu of the regular luncheon next Thursday. The names of the officers to be named by the board before that time will be made known to the members at that meeting.

The directors elected Thursday are: C. W. Beavers, Al Biedenborn, Harry Bray, Morris Marcus, George Nobley and R. E. Shepherd. These with P. A. Rogers, C. C. Rangle, C. C. Kirby, Julian Montgomery, E. S. Goodner and John W. Naylor, serving the last year of their term, constitute the board.

Brief talks by Miss Annie Webb Blanton, Eddie Ailes, Fort Worth Rotarian, and Rev. T. H. Yates of Seymour, featured the meeting. Miss Blanton spoke of the educational needs of Texas.

A rising vote of thanks to Bud Foerster, manager of the cafe department of the Kemp hotel, who is leaving for other work soon, was adopted following a brief talk on his splendid efforts in behalf of his fellow club members by President Robbins, to which Mr. Foerster made brief response. Visitors inclued Tommy Kirnon and Bryan Roach, noted rodeo performers.

LAY PLANS FOR BOYS MEETING

30 Attend Banquet at First Methodist

At the luncheon of the Hi-Y club of the Wichita Falls high school, held at the First Methodist church last night, plans were all laid for the Northwest District of the Older Boys' conference, to be held here April 28, 29 and 30. There were 20 present at the banquet including J. F. Lewis, state boys' work secretary, Texas Y. M. C. A., and R. E. Shepherd of the Rotary club.

Polly Clark, president of the club, presided as toastmaster of the occasion, and briefly outlined the conference. Mr. Shepherd talked on "Pep in the Conference," followed by Principal Rider, of the local high school, on "Advertising the Conference." Secretary Lewis spoke to the members about "The Conference Itself." The ladies of the D. O. D. class served lunch to the club.

The Hi-Y club, recognized as one of the most beneficial boys' clubs in the United States, has been organized among the Wichita high students for the past three months and is making headway under them. The conference that is being staged here by them is the first of its kind to ever be staged in this city. From the work of the leaders in fixing the plans it will be a grand succes, and Wichita Falls will no doubt be the location for future meetings of this conference.

DELINQUENT TAXES MUST BE PAID UP

Reports by H. J. Anderson, tax collector, to the effect that a total of $142,000 is due the city through delinquent taxes, $100,000 of which was due in 1921, caused the city council, meeting Thursday morning in special session, to appoint a committee composed of Commissioner Shepherd, City Attorney Mann and Mr. Anderson to formulate plans for prompt action against delinquent payers.

Consideration of pavement to be placed on Burnett street held the major attention of the council, the body ordering paving to proceed on that street. C. B. Feller, W. S. Carlee, G. D. Anderson, C. M. McFarland and Frank Kell appeared before the council in the interest of the pavement issue.

The council adjourned until 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, without having taken up the question of salaries for the various city departments.
