Inter-American Peace Conference Adopts U. S. Program

World's Peace Structure Is Strengthened

Protects Nations

Commercial And Cultural Ties Are Strengthened Also By Action; Conquests Declared To Be Out

(By The Associated Press)

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 19.—A United States sponsored convention to bolster the new world's peace structure—President Roosevelt's aim when he proposed the Inter-American Peace conference—won approval at a plenary session of the parley today.

The conference delegates gave final approval to the neutrality plan and 22 other projects in quick order.

A number of trade resolutions and a central American recommendation for a declaration of solidarity among the American nations were left over for final consideration at a plenary session Monday.

Inspired or prepared by Secretary of State Cordell Hull, the projects seek to avert war in the Americas by strengthening commercial and cultural ties and by providing for all-American neutrality if war flares elsewhere in the world.

To Adjourn Wednesday

Among the many other conventions and resolutions up for final consideration as the delegates pressed for adjournment next Wednesday was a central American recommendation for a declaration of solidarity among the American republics.

It won approval after much of its force had been removed in a revision to overcome Argentine opposition.

It provided for consultation in the event the rights of any American state are injured; prohibits territorial conquests, intervention by one nation in another's affairs and the forceful collection of debts; declares all differences between American states must be submitted to arbitration, and expresses the juridical equality of the American republics.

Family Christmas Planned By FDRs

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19. (AP)—Plans for an old-fashioned "family Christmas were made by President and Mrs. Roosevelt today as winter tossed a blanket of sleet and snow over the White House.

Delivery trucks sputtered over the slushy driveway in a steady stream, leaving gifts that included a deer, turkeys, ducks and pheasants for the Yuletide dinner.

Four generations of Roosevelts will gather at the White House for the holidays.

Those who will help make things merry around the historic mansion's many fireplaces will be Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, the president's mother; Mrs. J. R. Roosevelt of New York, a sister-in-law; Mr. and Mrs. James Roosevelt and their little daughters, Sarah and Kate; Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt and their two children, Chandler and Elliott; Franklin, jr., and John, Harvard students, and Curtis and Eleanor Dall, children of Mrs. John Boettiger, the former Anna Roosevelt.

Food Shortage Is Faced In Germany

No Adequate Solution For Crisis Expected By April Is Seen; A Vicious Circles Made

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER

BERLIN, Dec. 19. (AP)—Germany stood face to face today with one of its gravest food shortages in years.

The nation has come so close to depleting its resources, both of money and of food, officials have expressed fear they would be able to find no adequate solution for a crisis they expect by April.

A chain of adverse financial circumstances, experts pointed out, has created a vicious circle in which prospective plans for averting the crisis would plunge the reich into other acute problems.

The stringincies imposed on German households in preserving dwindling food supplies were disclosed yesterday by the issuance of ration cards for butter and lard.

Allowances Of Fats Prorated

Under new orders allowances of fats will be prorated according to the size of families.

Agricultural estimates agreed Germany must increase wheat importations after having reduced them in 1935 to 160,000 tons as compared with 605,000 tons the year before.

By April, according to estimates considered reliable, the reich's wheat reserves will have been exhausted. But, advised experts of the ministry of economics, food purchases would drain Germany's last gold reserves.

ARMS VS. BREAD

BERLIN, Dec. 19. (AP)—Leaders of the third reich balanced empty butter plates with submarines today and turned the German eye toward "breadlines in America."

Proud fingers were pointed to a submarine fleet twice as powerful as that of 1914, toward a highly efficient navy, a motorized army and a strong air force as visible proof that Spartan endurance of the winter's food difficulties is going to be worth it.

Feelers for foreign help have been met with British hints that it might be easier to aid Germany if it were not for the latter's vast rearmament expenses. But German economists reply the whole Nazi recovery program is so dependent on war ministry contracts that disaster would result, were the contracts suddenly to stop.

Hopes Fade On Saturday For Strike Peace

Labor Troubles Are Felt With Increasing Pressure In Automotive Industry; Uniting Of Maritime Units Sought

(By The Associated Press)

Peace hopes faded on two fronts of the West Coast maritime strike Saturday night as, in the East, Strike Leader Joseph Curran called for a "national martime federation" to unite ship workers on both coasts.

Labor troubles were felt with increasing pressure in the automotive industry and strikes in five plants of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company continued in deadlock.

Concede Efforts Fail

In the West coast waterfront situation both shipowners and representatives of the cooks and stewards union conceded week-long peacemaking efforts had failed in an empasse over workers' demands for an 8-hour day. Employer Representative T. G. Plant announced after conferring with the masters, mates and pilots union a "complete disagreement."

Curran spoke in New York, where seamen made an unsuccessful effort to have working longshoremen join them in their strike. He engaged in a radio debate with Roger D. Laphanm, president of the Pacific Hawaiian Steamship company, in which each blamed the other side for the prolonged strike.

A survey of strikes in the automobile industry showed 12,550 employees idle in auto and auto-parts plants; 14,200 in flat glass factories; 400 in plants shut down because of parts shortage and several thousand temporarily out of work because of curtailed production schedules.

Judge Dismisses Criminal Docket

BIG SPRING, Dec. 19. (AP) — County Judge U. S. Garlington, who once appealed to his own court a case in which he was defendant—and then dismissed it—wiped the county court docket clean of criminal cases today.

He gave lack of prosecution as the reason for dismissing 64 pending criminal cases, five of which were filed this week. Twenty-seven were filed by agents of the Texas Liquor Control board.

His action today came near the end of a two-year term which brought him considerable attention. In November he was found guilty of altering commissioners' court minutes and was fined $100. He appealed.

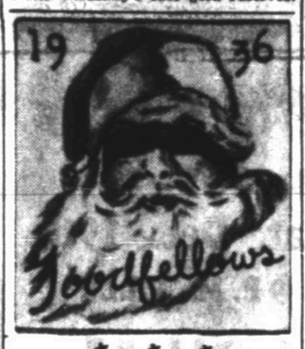

Dust Clouds Billow Saturday Over North Dakota Territory

ST. PAUL, Dec. 19. (AP)—Dust clouds billowed over North Dakota and western Minnesota today, blotting out the sun at some towns where lights were turned on in mid-afternoon.

Strong winds swept up the dry top-soil freed of snow during recent warm weather. At Crookston, Minn., a 40-mile a hour gale laden with dust darkened the sky.

TO ANNOUNCE DECISION

DALLAS, Dec. 19. (AP) — Federal Judge W. H. Atwell indicated today he would announce his decision Monday on a temporary injunction sought by the Pinckney Packing company of Amarillo against collection of the so-called windfall taxes.

Big Spring Man Is Killed In Accident

SEMINOLE, Dec. 19. (Special) — Believed to have fallen asleep when operating the vehicle, Rufus E. Heath, 20, of Big Spring was killed at 6 o'clock this morning when his truck overturned and he was pinned under the cab.

Heath was driving on the Seminole-Lamesa highway, 16 miles east of Seminole, in a West-Tex Oil company truck loaded with gasoline. His skull was crushed. Farmers living nearby heard the crash and ran to his assistance, but death was believed instantaneous.

Singleton Funeral home said funeral and commitment rites would be said at Big Spring Sunday afternoon. Heath was not married.

China Leaders Order Advance Against Rebel

Drive Against Marshal Chang Is To Be Resumed Today If Generalissimo Not Released As Ordered By Nanking

New Angles Arise

Negotiations To End Threat Of Civil War Believed Broken Down; Offer Said To Have Been Made By Chang

(By The Associated Press)

NANKING, China, Dec. 19.—The Nanking government tonight ordered its crack divisions encircling Sianfu to resume their drive on that center of Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang's rebellion tomorrow morning unless Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek is released before then.

This order, superseding a previous announcement that the mutinous marshal would be given until Tuesday evening to free General Chiang and the other Nanking leaders he has held since last Saturday, was taken here to indicate new difficulties had arisen in the negotiations for settlement of the Sianfu revolt.

IN CASE YOU'RE INTERESTED

Chiang Kai-Shek: Djee-ahng Gah-ee Shek.
Chang Hsueh-Liang: Djahng Shway Lee-Ahng.

Threat Is Tempered

A government spokesman said Nanking's punitive expedition would use against the rebels any form of attack deemed necessary. Military authorities tempered this threat with the assurance that Sianfu, one of China's ancient capitals, would not be bombed from the air.

The government spokesman would not confirm that negotiations to end the civil war in Shensi province had broken down, but it was understood the principal obstacle to agreement was the rebel's insistence that Nanking adopt a policy of positive resistance to Japan.

Seeking Our Safety

Earlier today reports from Taiyuanfu, capital of Shansi province and the present center of negotiations between the government and the rebels, indicated the rebel chieftain was seeking little more than his own safety.

He was said to have offered to quit Chinese public life, go into voluntary exile abroad—as is the custom of defeated Chinese generals—and turn his troops over to General Yen Hsi-Shan, pacification commissioner or Shansi and Suiyuan provinces.

An official Russian denial of allegations that the Soviet has been implicated in the Sianfu revolt was made to Foreign Minister Chang Chun today by I. I. Spilwanek, the Soviet charge d'affaires at Nanking.

Thirteen-Year-Old Confesses Slaying

NEW YORK, Dec. 19. (AP)—While his mother sobbed that he "could not have done such a thing," 13-year-old John Macari was quoted by Acting Medical Examiner Thomas A. Gonzales tonight as saying he killed a young playmate by striking him repeatedly over the head with a sashweight.

An adolescent venture in crime, a boyish greed for the pennies that night he got from the sale of stolen plumbing, led to the killing of Francis Liano, 10, Dr. Gonzales said.

The two boys were foraging through an abandoned tenement on the East Side, Sept. 19, and the dead boy, Dr. Gonzales said, protested against being "double crossed" when it came time to divide the spoils.

So, Gonzales continued, Macari took up a sashweight and hit him over the head.

Then he tied his hands and looked for more string so he could hang him from a hook in the closet and make it look like suicide, Gonzales went on, but there was no more string, so he just crammed him behind the door and left.

Flood Gates On Dam Closed To Permit Search For Body

BROWNWOOD, Dec. 19. (AP) — Flood gates on Lake Brownwood dam were closed today to aid searchers in Mills county who are dragging Pecan Bayou in their hunt for Era King, 20, missing from her home near Mullin since Friday morning.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Nathaniel King, told officers the girl left a note saying she was "going to be with her father." King died three months ago.

Christmas Shoppers Throng Lubbock

Two scenes snapped in Lubbock yesterday when Mr. and Mrs. South Plains ran a Christmas shopping race against the coming visit of Santa Claus. Top picture shows crowds crossing Avenue J on the south side of Broadway; bottom: a scene typical of local stores as gift-seekers swamped hustling clerks.

Bitter Battle For Majority Is Indicated

House Campaign Grows More Strenuous As Climax Nears; Rayburn's Candidacy Said "Suffered Deflation"

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19. — The battle for the house majority leadership, one of the most bitterly fought in years, grew more strenuous today as the climax neared.

Developments included an assertion by Representative Vinson (D-Ky) who is managing the campaign of Representative Rayburn (D-Tex), that Representative O'Connor (D-NY), another candidate, had sought, and failed to get, the support of Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader.

"Suffers Terrific Deflation"

A third candidate, Representative Rankin (D-Miss), issued a statement asserting Rayburn's candidacy had "suffered a terrific deflation."

Vinson challenged O'Connor's publication of part of a letter from Senator Robinson, in which the senator was quoted as saying he would "commend" O'Connor of anyone "interested in my opinion." Vinson made public a telegram he said Robinson voluntarily had sent Rayburn.

"My letter cannot be fairly taken as an endorsement of O'Connor against you," the Robinson message said, "and I have so informed him."

At Little Rock, Ark., Robinson said he was taking "no part whatever" in the fight, O'Connor, who was out of the city, could not be reached immediately for comment.

Minnie, The Singing Mouse, Is For Sale In The Name Of Charity; Made Hit On Radio

WOODSTOCK, Ill., Dec. 19. (AP) Minnie, the singing mouse which scored a success in its radio debut, is for sale in the name of charity.

Its impresario, Superintendent Herbert C. Gensch of the Industrial Home for Children, said today that although it broke his heart and those of the children, they had consented to offer Minnie to the highest bidder—the money would do more good than Minnie's warbling.

Experts on rodents have been unable to determine the reason why Minnie — a common brownish-gray mouse—has vocal qualities not displayed by others of her kind.

Judge In Alabama Saturday Rules Depression Is Over

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 19. (AP) —Judge Walter B. Jones of Montgomery circuit court ruled in effect today that the depression is over.

Judge Jones declared the state act of 1935, prohibiting collection of deficiency judgments during the "period of the emergency," no longer was operative in his courts since the emergency no longer existed.

FIVE HURT IN WRECK

AUSTIN, Dec. 19. (AP)—Four persons were injured critically and a fifth suffered fractures of both feet in a head-on automobile collision near here tonight.

John W. Carpenter, jr., of Dallas, son of the president of the Texas Power & Light company, and Howard Amason of Roswell, N. M., both students at the University of Texas, were among those injured.

Thousands Of Shoppers Jostle Each Other Here In Buying Rush Saturday

Stores Are Packed, Streets Overrun, Walks Glutted

DOWN the Christmas shopping midway thousands of persons jostle each other with the traditional freemasonry of the holiday purchaser.

Stores are packed, streets overrun and sidewalks are glutted.

And yet, as evidenced by a representative survey of the Avalanche-Journal, conclusions as unexpected as they are healthful have stamped themselves. Established:

Has More Money

The representative buyer has more money than he has had in years, as indicated by denominations of bank notes, but sales indices show he, at the same time, is saving more than in several seasons.

Buyers are trending toward practical gifts.

Ratio of cash to charge accounts has increased.

Recent restraining of nickel parking on downtown streets seems to leave slight, if any, impression on buying and on numbers visiting stores.

Greater "Spread" Reflected

Buying reflects a greater "spread" than in recent years, having begun two weeks earlier, at least. Reason for earlier shopping, and it is defined as a significant one, traces back to the fact the South Plains cotton crop was gathered a full month earlier this year than last—because of almost ideal weather conditions.

Quality of merchandise demanded is better than in recent years. Not all stores have more special clerks than last year.

"It's the most wonderful day I've ever seen," declared one department store manager. "We're snatching money with both hands. We had to go out and almost beg people to work for us so we could handle all our customers."

Many Carried Bundles

Thousands of persons swarmed downtown streets and a large percentage of them carried bundles.

Thirteen Years Of Waiting Ends For "Shep" Saturday

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., Dec. 19. "Shep" died today at St. Anthony's hospital here where he waited nearly 13 years for Francis McMahon to come back down the elevator.

"Shep" was a Scotch collie pup when he followed his master, suffering a fractured skull, to the hospital in 1924.

At the elevator, hospital sisters said, McMahon reached down from his stretcher and said:

"Goodby Shep, wait here."

The dog, they recalled, crouched near the elevator door and fought off attempts to put him out. The next day McMahon died and hospital attendants carried his body from

South Dakota Lieut.-Governor Is Charged In Bank Shortage

CENTERVILLE, S. D., Dec. 19. (AP) Lieut. Gov. Robert Peterson, president of the First National Bank here, was arrested late today after the bank had been closed on orders of the comptroller of currency who announced in Washington that shortages of about $170,000 had been found in the institution's accounts.

Peterson was arrested by federal agents on a warrant charging embezzlement and misapplication of the bank's funds.

Peterson was elected lieutenant governor on the Democratic ticket in 1934. He was not a candidate for reelection at the last election in November.

TO RAISE WAGES

DALLAS, Dec. 19. (AP)—L. S. Sinclair, vice president and comptroller of the Magnolia Petroleum company, said here today a general salary increase for all employes in the lower wage brackets would be made by the company Jan. 1.

Faint Message Is Heard Over Three Radios

"Is Salt Lake City Or St. George There?" Is Heard Faintly At Kingman, Ariz., Las Vegas, And Salt Lake

To Start New Hunt

Radio Man From Minneapolis Is Recalled Being Aboard Transport Plane Missing Since Last Tuesday

(By The Associated Press)

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 19.—Faint radio calls and a cry in the dark stirred hope tonight for the nine occupants of two airliners lost in western wilds.

Today, as 25 planes and hundreds of men on the ground sought a Western Air Express transport that vanished with seven persons over Utah last Tuesday, a radio operator at Kingman, Ariz., heard a man's voice calling, faintly, weakly.

"Is Salt Lake City or St. George there?"

Heard Two Other Places

Again the unidentified voice was heard. At Las Vegas, Nev., the indistinct call was picked up, too.

PLANE "MUSHES" DOWN

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 19. (AP) — A Newark bound Eastern airlines transport plane piloted by Dick Merrill "mushed" down on a mountainside near Matamoras, Pa., tonight with slight injuries to several aboard. Its wings were damaged.

Eddie Rickenbacker, manager of the air line, announced here that the plane was damaged by trees in landing. He said he was notified by a member of the crew no one was seriously injured.

And, less clearly, in Salt Lake City—headquarters of the farflung Utah search.

It had been nearly five days since the plane disappeared. Its radio was believed out of order.

"But," said A. E. Cahlan, spokesman here for Western Air, "there was one aboard the Los Angeles to Salt Lake City plane who was known as a radio man—Henry W. Edwards of Minneapolis."

Eager For Any Clue

Moreover, Cahlan pointed out, eager to grasp at any clue, in the hope some of the five men and two women aboard might yet be alive, there is no radio station at St. George, in distant southwestern Utah.

"This is known to all the airline pilots. Edwards would not know it."

While the anxious wait for clearer calls and some indication of their

Water Conserving Is To Be Sought

AMARILLO, Dec. 19. (AP) — An extensive program of water conservation in the Panhandle-Plains area was launched here today with the forming of the Panhandle Conservation association, with John McCarty, Amarillo editor, as president.

A six-point conservation program including construction of many farm and ranch ponds and "one or more" large lakes for each county in the area was adopted at a meeting of more than 500 men representing twenty-odd Texas counties and two in eastern New Mexico.

Directors elected by the Association adopted a $10,000 budget and decided to send a representative to Washington to stay until the association's objectives are reached.

Carl Hinton, secretary of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, was elected executive secretary of the association and the directors asked the Amarillo chamber to "loan" him for service in Washington.

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 19. (AP)—Major Alexander P. de Seversky flew 209.40 miles an hour over a 100-kilometer course today to set a new world's record for amphibian planes.

Riot Reports Given Denial

Capt. M. B. Monzingo Of State Prison Farm Says No Mutiny Or Near Riots Took Place On Thanksgiving Day

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Dec. 19.—Capt. M. B. Monzingo of Eastham prison farm said today that reports of mutiny and near riots among convicts on the farm Thanksgiving were unfounded.

"There positively has been no trouble in the dining hall," he said.

Reports of a Thanksgiving day mutiny at the farm were confirmed by Mrs. C. A. Tagle of Houston, member of the prison board, who with Dr. J. R. Lister of Houston and Joseph Wearden of Victoria, investigated the trouble.

Mrs. Teagle said there was trouble with convicts on that occasion but that reports of a "serious situation" at the farm were unfounded.

Captain Monzingo said a group of convicts became sullen Thanksgiving day and refused to obey orders.

Told of reports that on Thursday of last week the convicts threatened a riot in the dining hall, Captain Monzingo said nothing of that nature had occurred, adding "we haven't had any trouble since Thanksgiving."

He said there had been no objections to food served the convicts. "The committee which investigated the trouble learned all the facts," the captain said.

Signal Strength Of Station KFYO Is To Be Increased By New Radio Tower

Transmission of radio waves is a curious thing. The world's leading engineers know quite a lot about "wave propogation." And they have learned that a single metallic conductor, standing in the air and insulated from electrical contact with the ground, lays down the best "ground wave."

The most practicable device thus far produced is a steel tower. It is called a vertical radiator.

Best Known Antenna

Because a vertical radiator is the best known antenna for a radio transmitter, KFYO, the Avalanche-Journal Station, is installing one at the transmitter site, 2312 Fifth Street, in Lubbock.

Foundations for the steel tower are already in place. Contractor W. G. McMillan will start erection of the steel Monday morning. Some time during the first two weeks in January, KFYO will begin sending out waves from the new radiator.

Serves Same Purpose

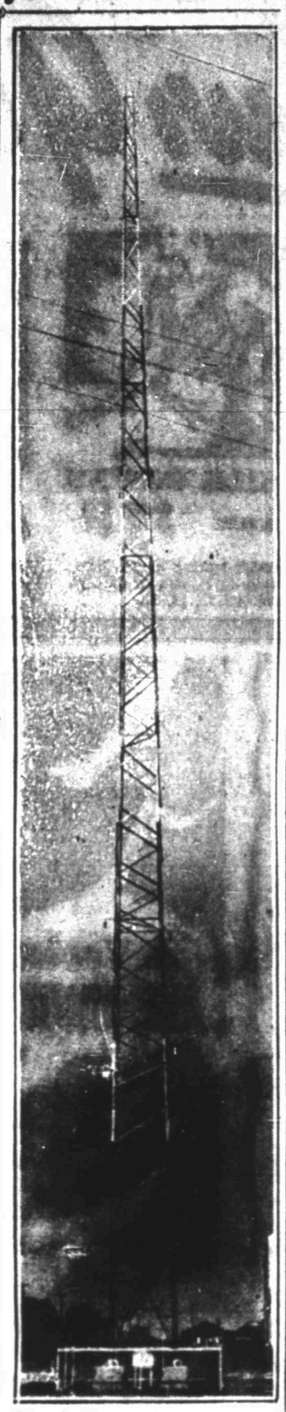

In the past it has been the custom of radio stations to build two towers, then suspend a single wire between them. The wire had to be insulated from the towers. The single tower of the vertical radiator, insulated from the ground, serves the same purpose as the old type wire, suspended between the towers or poles.

Effect of the new radiator will be to increase the signal strength of KFYO, resulting in improved and increased reception of programs. In terms of the engineers' 'coverage of the station will be half-again as great and twice as good.'

Be High Structure

The 145-foot tower will be one of the highest structures in Lubbock. It is of the self-supporting type and will withstand a wind of more than 100 miles per hour velocity. Steel in the tower weighs only 5,500 pounds, while there are 145,800 pounds of concrete in the foundation piers.

A comparatively recent discovery of radio engineers is that a ground system is just as important as an antenna in achieving good coverage with a strong signal. KFYO will have as a ground system, an elaborate array of buried copper wires. There will be more than 70 wire radials, running in every direction from the new tower.

Here is the new 145-foot radiator tower to be constructed for radio station KFYO in Lubbock and which will make coverage of the station half again as great.

Farmers In County Paying Back Loans

More than $40,000 out of the $45,000 due by Lubbock county farmers on their Resettlement loans has been paid, according to Marvin O. Wilson, local supervisor.

"We loaned about $70,000 and of this, $45,000 was due this fall and early winter," he explained. "Our collections are 90 per cent of the amount due."

The remainder, he added, is secured by good paper. The rest of the total amount is to be paid next year.

Lynn county's collections represent $20,500 of the $22,000 due. Total loans were $35,000 in that county.

Forms For Filing Returns In Social Security Act Issued

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19. (AP)—The internal revenue bureau issued forms today for filing tax returns under the Social Security act.

The returns must be filed monthly after December 31 with internal revenue collectors. They are to be filed by employers, but cover taxes on both employers and employees.

Employers must list the number of employees and the total of taxable wages paid during the month. The returns, together with remittances, must be in the hands of internal revenue collectors by the last day of the month succeeding the one for which the return is made.

Massachusetts State Trooper Appointed FDR's Bodyguard

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19. (AP)—The White House announced today that Thomas E. Qualters, Massachusetts state trooper and former Notre Dame football player, had been appointed personal body guard to President Roosevelt to succeed the late "Gus" Gennerich.

The selection was made at the suggestion of James Roosevelt, eldest son of the president. Qualters served as James' body guard in the recent campaign.

Death Ray To End Life At Distance Of Mile And Half Is Being Claimed

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 19. (AP)—A "death ray" capable of ending life at a distance of one and a half miles is envisaged by Henry Fleur, who claims to have perfected a machine capable of killing insects and animals at close range.

"A bombardment of ultra short electrical waves that I send down a beam of light does the work," he explains. "These are attuned to the normal bodily vibrations of whatever animal is killed.

"The waves increase the vibrations to a degree that the individual molecules in the animal's body simply explodes."

Evades Human Application

Fleur, an electrician, recently acquitted on a charge of fraud after he demonstrated his machine before a judge and jury, declined to say whether human beings could be killed with his "ray."

He admitted, however, that he had found the "vibration rate" of every animal he had yet experimented with and had been able to kill it. He intimated the war department had looked into his invention but declined to give details.

The demonstration before the jury came during his trial for fraud on complaint of two men who had invested $1,600 in the "death ray."

In his basement laboratory, Fleur adjusted an apparatus that looked like a giant searchlight and focussed a beam of light on a small wire cage crawling with termites.

He turned to a complicated appearing cabinet connected by wires with the searchlight, and moved a dial. Hissing, spluttering electrical flashes began, but were stopped quickly by another turn of the dial.

The termites had expired. Experiments on a snake and a lizard brought the same result. Back in the courtroom it took the jury only three minutes to decide Fleur had perpetrated no fraud.

Fleur said he expects his machine to prove most valuable in killing insect pests in orchards. He believes with sufficient power the ray will kill at a distance of a mile and a half.

Police Seek To Identify The Owner Of Stolen Cow

Lubbock police Saturday sought to identify the owner of a stolen cow and the man who abandoned the animal in a trailer in 2900-block Avenue N.

R. S. Odom, 2920 Avenue N, reported to police he was awakened by a man who was attempting to load Odom's cow into a trailer. Odom said he called to the man, who fled leaving the trailer and a cow already in the vehicle.

Pending identification of the animal's owner, police sent the cow to the city pound.

Miss Mable Clinton of El Paso is to arrive Monday for a holiday visit with her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. J. T. Clinton.

Tenant Farm Union Formed

Delegates From Lynn County To Southern Tenant Farmers Union Session Named In Meeting Friday

By Staff Correspondent

TAHOKA, Dec. 19.—Jeff Fleming of Tahoka was named delegate from Lynn county to a meeting of Southern Tenant Farmers Union at Muskogee, Okla., January 14-17, at an open meeting of members of the local here and other groups, Friday night. Charles Cameron, also Tahoka, was chosen alternate.

The meeting was held in the county court room and was attended by about 20 members, most of them from Lynn county. Bert Faulkner, president, was in charge of the session, which lasted about two hours. Ross Ford is secretary.

Relief Situation Talked

Discussion centered on the tenancy situation, particularly in this area. Most of the men who talked, said they were on relief projects and that it appeared more farmers were being forced to leave farms and center in the cities and towns.

Those present raised funds with which to send Fleming to the Oklahoma meeting. Cash and pledges amounted to over $9, it was said. C. F. Dyke, a minister and "Shorty" Gollehon, a national defense committee member, each spoke several times.

It was decided to contact other locals over the South Plains to urge them to send representatives. Lubbock county, it was said, has three locals, one white, one negro and one Mexican. Lynn county has a negro and a white local and Garza, Hockley and Terry counties have locals, members declared.

EDITOR ILL

TAHOKA, Dec. 19. — E. I. Hill, owner and editor of the Lynn County News, has been confined to his home here for the past week with an attack of the "flu." He expected to be able to return to work in a few days. His son, Frank P. Hill and Mrs. F. P. Hill, got out the December 18 issue.

Bits Of Gossip On Air Waves

INITIAL BROADCAST

"Southwest On Review," postponed last Thursday, will have its initial broadcast Tuesday night at 6:30. KFYO listeners will be taken behind the scenes of the news on the station's new show. News and timely topics of the southwest will be dramatized.

Morris Burchfield and Majorie Clevenger will be featured in the series, which will be heard on Tuesday and Thursday nights.

The program Tuesday night will include dramatic re-enactments of the parking meter story, the John Teal murder case, and a discussion of fraternities and sororities at Texas Tech.

"Southwest On Review," will be patterned after the "Cavalcade of a Nation," British radio feature, in which Burchfield participated during his stay in England last summer.

Present plans will confine the program entirely to local and regional news.

TURNER TO BE HEARD

Dr. G. C. Turner, president of the Lubbock County Dental society, will be heard over KFYO, Wednesday morning at 9:35. Dr. Turner will speak on "Oral Hygiene." Program is under direction of the Parent Teachers Association.

RUBINOFF TO PLAY

Two of the season's most popular melodies, "I'm Talking Through My Heart," and "Me and the Moon," will be played by Rubinoff's orchestra when "Musical Moments" is broadcast from Station KFYO next Tuesday evening at 7:45 o'clock, through the World Broadcasting System. A lovely soprano voice and an appealing love song will be heard as Evelyn Case sings "Love, What Are You Doing To My Heart" on the same program. On the mellow strings of his famous violin the maestro will play his own arrangement of "The World Is Mine."

CHRISTMAS PLAY

"Star of the East," an unusual Christmas dramatic piece, will be presented over KFYO at a time yet to be announced.

Cued into this play of dramatic intensity, is a complete offering of Christmas carols. Of the play itself, "Star in The East," tells the story of a hard-bitten sea captain who responds to a call of mercy on Christmas Eve in mid-ocean.

There's action a plenty—a tender romance—and spinetingling thrills to warm the hearts of KFYO listeners.

Students of the speech department at Texas Tech, will make up the cast.

FEATURE CHRISTMAS CAROLS

Christmas carols and seasonal music will be featured by the Sanders Funeral Home Quartet over KFYO Sunday afternoon from 2 until 2:30 o'clock.

American Wife Of British Engineer Now Is Godmother To 5,000 Indians

BY JOHN SELBY

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP)—Thirty-two years ago "Tia" Bates was the American wife of a British mining engineer stationed in Bolivia.

Now she is probably the best known American woman in South America, godmother to 5,000 or more Indians, leading citizens of Arequipa, Peru, and a grandmother.

She is one of the most active grandmothers extant. Of middle height and plump, she moves like lightning. She is always moving, usually talking, and her gray-blue eyes snap at times like small flames. She speaks English, Spanish, French and several Indian dialects, and slips from one to another sometimes disconcertingly.

Became Famous At Home

Curiously, she made herself famous without, figuratively, moving out of her tracks. At the time of her husband's death, three decades ago, she was living in the Quinta Bates at Arequipa. She still lives there, her presence in the United States being only a visit to relatives.

When her husband died and "something had to be done," Mrs. Bates decided to admit a guest or two to the Quinta Bates. The guests kept coming, the quinta (villa) kept growing, and now it is the most famous gathering place for the people who matter on the west coast of South America.

The natives gave Mrs. Bates the name Tia, which is Spanish for aunt but is not used in South America quite as its English equivalent. Her first name is Ana, and most people combine the two words and call her Tiana. She likes that.

Great And Small Her Guests

Tia Bates has entertained a great many hundreds of people — from Lady Montbatten to Noel Coward, from former Premier Venizelos of Greece to the latest Latin American refugee. Famous people come to the quinta and so do plain commercial travelers. It is no meeting place for the intelligentsia.

Mrs. Bates thinks the quality of business men sent by American firms to South America has improved greatly in recent years.

Arequipa is in a desert, 7,500 feet up on the shelf of the Andes. It can be reached by plane, and the big Santa ships call at Mollendo, five hours away by railroad. But there are no motor roads.

To Heaven By Ribbon

To reach the heart of Tia Bates, one must talk children. She prefers her work with Arequipa's orphans to receiving poems from Noel Coward—although Coward is one of "her boys." She is intensely proud of her extensive service as godmother.

This service does not end with christening. Years ago, in Bolivia, she began it. Often she had to buy small coffins for her godchildren. Always the order included a length of white ribbon.

"I couldn't understand about the ribbon," she says. "Finally one of the fathers told me.

"'We have the ribbon hanging from the coffin,' he said, 'to pull the godmother to heaven'."

"Tia" Bates, shown at her South American villa, is more interested in orphans than in her famous guests.

BODY IDENTIFIED

DENISON, Dec. 19. (AP)—Mrs. Maggie Foreman of Ada, Okla., identified the mangled body of a man found yesterday on the Katy railroad track north of here, as that of her son, Olan J. Foreman, 30.

Terms Of Courts Closed Saturday

Both district courts at Lubbock shut down "short" terms Saturday.

Term of 99th district was begun Nov. 2, that of 72nd district Nov. 9.

Next term of 99th will begin Jan. 11, but the April term will be convened immediately after the three-months January term, making for a combined session of six months.

Seventy-second district will be convened by Dan Blair, judge-elect, at Lubbock May 24, after a session to be convened Jan. 11 in Crosby county.

Judge E. L. Pitts presides over 99th district court.

Lubbock County Demos Fail To Contribute To Deficit

Lubbock county Democrats Saturday had failed to contribute a single dime to help bring the National Democratic campaign fund out of the red, County Chairman L. C. Ellis declared.

"There are hundreds of people in Lubbock county who appreciate the accomplishments of the administration, and we feel confident they will help raise the county's quota of more than $300," Chairman Ellis said.

"We need those contributions as soon as possible," he continued. "Lubbock county responded very liberally in contributing more than our pre-election quota, and we feel certain that members of our party will not let us down now."

The national campaign fund deficit approximated $500,000. Of that amount Texas' quota is $50,000.

Contributions may be made to Chairman Ellis.

Adoption Of Handset Phones Allowed Bell Company A Net Of $24,000,000 Since 1927

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19. (AP)—An assertion that adoption of handset telephones allowed Bell system telephone companies to net $24,000,000 in excess charges was entered today in the records of the Federal Communications commission.

Charles Lynn Terrell, commission engineer, testified in the FCC investigation of the American Telephone and Telegraph company that the Bell companies had collected $85,000,000 in excess charges for handsets from the time of their introductions in 1927. He said 45 per cent of this was net profit.

Cyrus G. Hill of the commission staff testified that 20 years before the handset was introduced it had been developed to an efficiency greater than that of older types of phones.

It was not put on the market, Hill said, because of the A. T. & T. policy of "prolonging the life of equipment" to avoid the expense of replacing it.

Much Land Given Countour Lines

One thousand acres of land has had contour lines run on it since December 10 and 5,567 acres terraced, according to County Agent C. C. Jobson, Saturday.

Homer D. Thompson, assistant county agent and J. W. Grist, are handling the work. Thompson has two NYA assistants and Grist five. The NYA youths work 40 hours per week.

Mr. Thompson since December 10, has run lines on 400 acres for contour and 3,320 acres of terraced land.

SPINNNING INCREASES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19. (AP)—The cotton spinning industry was reported today by the census bureau to have operated during November at 129.9 per cent of capacity, compared with 123.3 during October this year, and 101.1 during December last year.

Taken About 1912

Lubbock's advancement was steady from just a "Wide Place In The Road" about the year 1912. Beginning about 1927 Lubbock had all the ear-marks of a city. Today Lubbock's skyline is placing it in the city class as the "Hub of The Plains".

Natural Gas was turned into the Lubbock distribution system October 3, 1927. On that date your gas company assumed an obligation of service and since that date has constantly extended its distribution system, improved main line facilities, built a compressor station and accomplished a multitude of tasks that spell the difference between poor service and good service.

Your gas company is doing its part to insure home comfort, community health and community prosperity in so far as these things are affected by the quality of the gas service.

Lubbock is advancing and your gas company is endeavoring to keep a pace ahead of possible service requirements. It has an organization whose thought is to do their part in the task of providing consumers with Really Good Gas Service.

Obsolete Highways Are Being Charged With Enormous Death Toll In Nation

Problem Faces Road Builders

Nation-Wide Survey Discloses Weaknesses In System; New Types Of Planning Need Of U. S., Figures Indicate

The 3,000,000-mile public road system of which the United States is so proud is already in large part obsolete and even dangerous in view of modern high-speed traffic.

The science of building safe roads simply hasn't kept pace with the science of building faster, safer motor cars.

That is the finding of a road survey by Fortune Magazine, which concludes, "The cold fact is traffic today is a combination of an 80-mile-an-hour car in the hands of a 20-mile-an-hour driver struggling to adjust itself to a 30-mile-an-hour road. And it doesn't work out very well."

Many Deaths Occur

The open road, away from city traffic and congestion, killed 35,000 people last year. People kill themselves twice as fast on such roads as on city streets.

Three factors govern road accidents, the Fortune article concludes:

First, the drivers. There are 40,000,000 of them taking turns at the wheels of 26,000,000 cars. Nothing can be done about drivers, the survey decides. They will not and can not learn to drive safely of their own will. They must be restrained.

Second, car failure. This has been almost eliminated by the motor manufacturers. Not more than 5 per cent of accidents are due to structural failure of the car if kept in reasonably good repair.

Third, the road. It is too slow for the car and too dangerous for the driver. We thought the remedy for congestion and accidents was simply more and wider hard-surfaced roads. This, Fortune concludes, is not enough. What is needed is better roads, designed to handle safely the high-speed traffic that flows over them.

Many Roads Unfit

Federal, state and county governments have spent $15,000,000,000 for roads of all kinds since the turn of the century. Backbone of the system is the state primary highway, or trunk roads, tying cities together. About 97 per cent of the surfaced mileage is made up of two-lane, two-way, 20-foot roads, which were standard 15 years ago.

Federal road-design experts have pronounced a quarter, perhaps half, of the roads built during the last 20 years unfit for today's high-speed traffic.

If the two-lane road were widened to a three-lane affair, it has been felt in recent years, much would be done to make overtaking and passing easier and thus eliminate accidents. But, says Fortune, "the three-lane road turned out to be the most dangerous thoroughfare ever built.

"If the road builders had deliberately set out to make more accidents, they could not have contrived a more murderous weapon," declares the magazine. That center lane is equally attractive to cars going in either direction—too many meet or side-swipe in trying to use it.

Wider Routes Unsafe

Nor has widening roads further into four, five, or even six lane highways made them any safer. The wide highways not only invited more accidents, but worse accidents. Instead of simple two-car smashups, it evolved "intricate and bloody patterns, with three, four and five cars piling up at a time."

New Jersey built such a highway between the Holland Tunnel and Trenton. It was regarded as a miracle in 1932. But within two years this super-highway had killed 169 people and injured 1800.

Now traffic "brain-trusters" in colleges and experts of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads are hard at work on new kinds of highways that will make it just as difficult as possible for fools to kill themselves and others on the roads.

Find Four Answers

Four things can be done to make broad, hard-surfaced roads safer, they have long realized.

One is to divide the road in the middle so that cars can not get over on the wrong side of the road, even if the drivers want to.

Another is to route cross traffic over or under the main road by bridges or tunnels.

Another is to close off property abutting on the road so that access to the road and the danger of cars leaping out into the traffic stream are minimised.

And still a fourth is fast and slow lanes to reduce friction among cars traveling in the same direction.

The way these principles work, if perfectly carried out, is shown by New York's Holland Tunnel under the Hudson to Jersey. Here, under special conditions of course, is a highway with a separate road in either direction, no intersections, fast and slow lanes, and a policeman every 160 yards to see that the rules are observed.

In nine years it has carried a hundred million cars, yet only five people have been killed.

Plan Is Too Costly

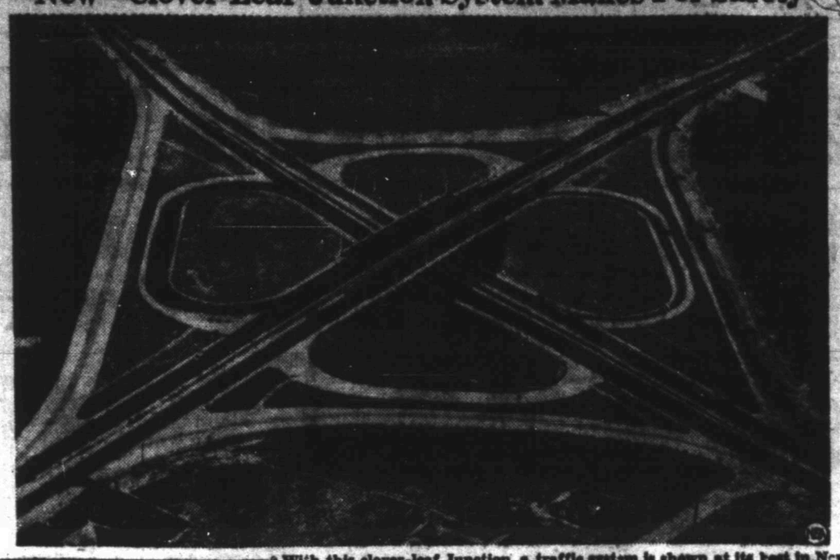

Naturally, such conditions as those of the Holland Tunnel can not be duplicated on open roads, but they show how the principles work.

Any approximation of such conditions on country roads makes a terribly expensive construction job. One of the best, the Worcester Turnpike, in Massachusetts, has already cost $239,000 a mile.

But the movement to improve roads, not only to make them bigger, but also better and safer, is going forward. Miller McClintock, one of the best known road experts in the country, puts it this way:

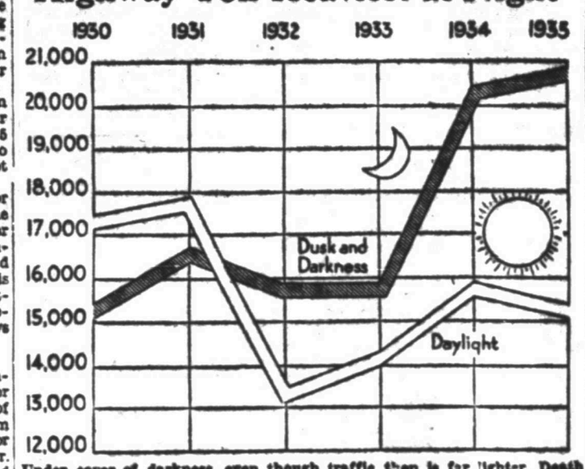

"If it were possible to apply everything we know about traffic control, we could eliminate 96 per cent of all accidents and practically all congestion."

New "Clover-Leaf Junction System Makes For Safety

With this clover-leaf Junction, a traffic system is shown at its best in New Jersey. Two types of friction have been eliminated—the middle by the middle strip, with road edges raised and rounded, and the inter-sectional by the clover-leaf. All turns are made to the right around the edges of the "leaves."

Highway Toll Heaviest at Night

Under cover of darkness, even though traffic then is far lighter. Death now gathers his greatest harvest on the nation's highways, as the chart above, drawn from figures collected by an insurance company, shows. Despite the almost continuous rise in traffic fatalities occurring since 1930, the daylight toll was 12 per cent lower in 1935 than five years before. But deaths during dusk and darkness increased by 27 per cent during that period. Daylight totals were 17,192 for 1930 and 15,126 for 1935. Those for dusk and darkness were 15,306 for 1930 and 20,974 for 1935.

Bond Is Reduced In Pair's Case Here

What nominally was a habeas corpus proceeding but which saw issues cleared over telephone, Saturday afternoon resulted in reduction in half of $1,500 bond which had been set by Judge E. L. Pitts of 99th district court for each of two persons charged by indictment with embezzlement.

Attorneys for Antonio Lopez and Opal Jasper were making arrangements late in the afternoon for bond.

Judge Pitts was ill at his home and attorneys for the Mexican and the woman conferred with Burton S. Burns, district attorney-elect, the sheriff's office and, via telephone, the judge. It was satisfactory to all, the bond reduction followed.

The woman and the Mexican assertedly sold property belonging to the woman's father, who lives in Lynn county.

Drouth Hits Louisiana Sugar Planters But They Make Crop

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 19. (AP) Drouth hit Louisiana sugar planters hard last summer, but didn't keep them from making a fine crop.

The Louisiana state extension service credits the fact to the greatly increased planting of new varieties of sugar cane released to the planters by the state experiment station after lengthy tests.

The new canes were developed originally by the United States department of agriculture at Canal Point, Fla. They are technically designated as "C. P. 28-11, C. P. 28-19 and C. P. 29-320."

About 82 per cent of the 1936 sugar crop in Louisiana was produced with the new varieties. The percentage was little more than half of that in 1928.

W. G. Taggart, assistant director of the Louisiana experiment station, says the "C. P." canes are replacing the previous varieties because of being "vastly superior" in resistance to disease.

SECOND RECOUNT ORDERED

CONCORD, N. H., Dec. 19. (AP)—The New Hampshire state ballot law commission today ordered a second recount of the vote, given in the first congressional district to Arthur B. Jenks (R) and Alphonse Roy (D).

After the previous recount, which showed a tie, the commission ruled Roy was elected by 17 votes, but Jenks protested several ballots in the town of Newton.

Assignment Prepared By A Former Local Woman Appears

An assignment prepared in journalism class at Texas Technological college several years ago by Mrs. James E. Goodman of Midland, former Lubbock resident, has been printed in the December issue of The Latch String, magazine published in Dallas.

The article, entitled "Adobe", suggests adobe as a suitable building material in West Texas. Its possibilities in creation of artistic buildings are described. Pictures of the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Holden, 3109 Twentieth street, which is of adobe, are shown.

The article was sent to the magazine by the college journalism department.

Between 30 and 40 Scouts are expected to attend.

Agreement Reached Saturday In Case In U. S. Court Here

Closing unexpectedly, when attorneys for both sides were able to reach an agreement in the Food Machinery corporation vs. Artie Baker, et al case, federal court ended Saturday and last night Judge T. Whitfield Davidson and his court officials had all returned to their homes.

Settlement was reached Saturday morning. An agreed judgment was given and Judge Davidson is to sign it.

No further cases were before the court for action and the December term was recessed. It had been expected the case would take up two or three days next week.

Sandies Take Fort Worth, 20-12; Kerrville Wins, 20-7

Clesson Leads Big Sandies To Finals

Pugh And Company Strong But Unable To Halt Champs

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT

AMARILLO, Dec. 19. (AP)—Bounding Bobby Clesson, a genuine quadruple-threater, piloted the Amarillo Golden Sandstorm into the finals of the state schoolboy grid race for the third straight year today with an air raid that felled North Side of Fort Worth, 20-12.

Passing, kicking, running and attending to a large portion of the defensive chores, Clesson accounted for all of the Sandie scores and shaded Marion Pugh, North Side's versatile halfback, for individual laurels.

The Sandstorm, reduced to a gentle breeze on occasions by a stubborn Fort Worth eleven, will meet Kerrville's iron men in the championship game. Head Coach Blair Cherry of Amarillo said he would attend a conference at Dallas tomorrow to decide where the game would be played.

To Dallas Or Austin

Reports here indicated the game would go to either Dallas or Austin. The Tivy Terrors of Kerrville brushed aside Port Arthur, 20-7, today.

Quoted as 3-1 favorites and so popular with the home folks that fans were giving away 21 points before game time, the Sandies started out to justify the faith shown by scoring early.

Quarterback Gill of Amarillo, who played an amazing defensive game, smacked Manriquez, North Side half back, on the North Side 28 stripe midway in the opening period and leaped on his fumble.

Clesson and "Wild Horse" Mayes took turn about on advancing the ball to the one yard line on crushing off tackle thrusts. Clesson jumped the scrimmage line for the first touchdown and Miller's kick was good.

Marion Pugh, a bullet passer, loosed three 15 yard aerials in succession to Stephens and Mayfield to carry the North Siders right back to Amarillo's 17 but the drive failed when the pesky Gill person intercepted Pugh's next pass on the Sandie 10.

Davis Hauls One Down

Joe Davis, interception of Pugh's long pass on the Amarillo 44 started the Sandstorm towards its second touchdown. Clesson found Sweeney with a 26 yard pass and Armstrong chipped in 16 more on an end sweep. Sweeney took Clessons 20 yard rainbow pass on the dead run across the line for the touchdown and the Sandies had a 13-0 halftime lead.

Pugh, sparking the game North Side crew, made it a ball game in the third period when he intercepted one of Clessons passes on the Amarillo 40 and then opened up with a passing barrage that netted the first Steer score.

He rifled a 12 yard pass to Reese, substitute back, tried two long ones without success, and then heaved a beautiful 30 yard aerial Reese caught on the two and carried across. Miller blocked Pugh's attempted kick.

The North Siders were stunned when, two plays later, Clesson found his favorite receiver, Sweeney, a rangy end, with a 15 yard pass and the Sandie outdistanced Reese and Pugh in a 50 yard dash to the goal line. Millers kick was good.

Pugh Goes Again

It was Pugh again on the Steers second score. He grabbed another of Clesson's passes at midfield and followed up with a 15 yard pass to Reese Robinson, substitute end, made two great, one handed catches to pick up 35 more yards and place the Steers on the one yard line. Pughs first attempt at the center of the line was good for a touchdown.

The Sandies picked up 14 first downs to 10 for the invaders and showed their superiority on the ground with a total rushing gain of 171 yards to only 28 reeled off by Steer backs.

However, Pugh's trusty passing arm and fine kicking kept the fear of defeat on the Sandies minds until the fading minutes of play.

Von Elm Retains Lead In Oakmont Golf Tournament

GLENDALE, Calif., Dec. 19. (AP)—George Von Elm, of Hollywood, Calif., clipping a pair of strikes off par for a 70 in the third round of play, remained in the lead today in the $1,500 Southern California open golf tournament at the Oakmont Country club.

He handed in a 54-hole card of 69-68-70—207 after eighteen holes of play, and will go into tomorrow's final with a four-stroke advantage over his nearest rival, Olin Dutra, Los Angeles pro.

Lieutenant Ken Rogers of the United States air corps turned in another sparkling round when he shot a 71 for a total score of 212. Now the leading amateur in the field, Rogers stopped over here to play enroute from San Antonio, Texas to his field base at Honolulu.

Babe Shoots 82

Joe Grout, Waco pro, scored 146-79—225.

Continuing her play in the tournament by courtesy, Mildred Babe Didrikson, the Texas wonder girl athlete, improved her game today, shooting an 82 for a 54-hole score of 171-82—253.

Westerners Drop Couple Of Close Ones At Meadow Gym; Scores Are 32-31 And 17-13

Coach Goober Keyes and his Lubbock High school Westerner cagers were deploring their own hard luck and criticizing a referee yesterday after dropping a couple of close game to the Meadow cagers Friday night at Meadow.

After leading early in the game, the Westerner regulars fell off and were finally nosed out, 32 to 31. Coach Walker Nichols' Cowhands were defeated, 17 to 13, by the Meadow Reserves.

A "tie ball" called by the official in the last ten seconds of play after what appeared to be a foul on the part of a Meadow player, preventing, the Westerners say, a crip shot that would have given them the lead and the game.

The Cowhands led, 8 to 7, over the Meadow "B" team until the last few minutes of play.

Letsinger, Oden and Venable kept the Westerners in the game. Finley and George of Meadow were outstanding, Finley bagging 14 points to lead the scoring.

Terry Moore, Pepper Martin Find Good Hunting In Texas

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 19. (AP)—Terry Moore, who chases fly balls in the St. Louis Cardinal outfield during the baseball season, returned from his first deer hunt tonight with two fine bucks.

A two-weeks hunting trip into South Texas with John "Pepper" Martin, Oklahoma City, another Cardinal star, Mrs. Martin and Harry Ware, Oklahoma City deer hunter, provided a new thrill for Moore, a native of St. Louis.

"They certainly are hard to hit," Moore exclaimed happily, admiring his trophies.

Haynesville High Beats New Orleans For Louisiana Title

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 19. (AP)—Haynesville High school today scored a touchdown in the final quarter to defeat Warren Easton of New Orleans 7 to 0 and win the Louisiana prep school football championship for 1936.

Delancey Is Hoping For More Action

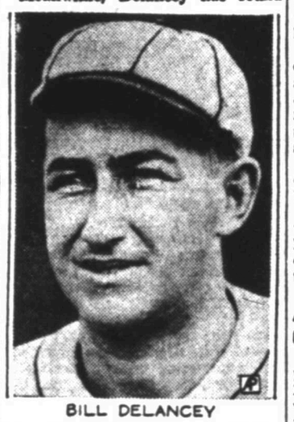

Big Cardinal Star May Run Phoenix Club In Loop

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 19. (AP)—Bill Delancey, former catcher for the St. Louis Cardinals, brought to Phoenix last winter on a stretcher, expressed hope today of returning to the big leagues—but it won't be next season.

The giant Cardinal star, suffering from pleurisy, spent several weeks in bed and remained inactive for months after his arrival here.

Now, after almost a year in the sun, he has gained 40 pounds—he now weighs 215—has entirely recovered from his old trouble, except its affect upon one lung, and is "feeling fit." He keeps in shape by horseback riding.

Meanwhile, Delancey has found

himself cast for a new role. If the old Arizona-Texas Class D league is revived, Delancey will manage a "farm club" in Phoenix for the Cards.

"Will Run Phoenix"

Branch Rickey, general manager of the Cards, recently told Delancey he is "very much interested in Phoenix and I would want your identification with the club in some manner. In other words, you and I will take care of Phoenix in any league which will be formed."

Delancey said he would be only a "bench manager."

"I'm not going to attempt to play," he said. "I think it would be unwise now."

Under the proposed reorganization of the A-T league, other teams would be El Paso, Texas; Tucson and Bisbee, Ariz. Miami, Ariz., and Albuquerque, N. M., also have expressed interest in such a league.

Trojans Measure Longhorns, 28-20

AUSTIN, Dec. 19. (AP) — The straight-passing University of Southern California quintet added a third Southwest conference victim tonight by defeating the University of Texas Longhorns, 28 to 20.

Fresh from their victories over Southern Methodist and Texas A. & M., the Trojans barely managed to keep in front during the first 30 minutes. Then their passing game began to click amazingly and they ran up a safe lead.

Count Bob Pastor In As One Of Nation's Better Fighters

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP)—Bob Pastor, the former New York university heavyweight, is beginning to look like a better fighter than the fans thought he was.

Pastor received a lot of publicity as a collegian and as a winner of the golden gloves tournament but since he turned pro two years ago he's been just another heavyweight although he has lost only two fights.

He set about getting some important notices, however, when he knockd out big Ray Impellittiere in te seventh round of their ten-round bout before 5,240 fans at Madison Square Garden last night.

Giants Are To Go In Big For 'Chain System'

Purchase Of Albany, Memphis Teams Under Way As Giants Prepare To Raise Their Own Ball Players

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Add the New York Giants to the baseball clubs in for the "chain store" business in a big way.

Following the examples of the St. Louis Cardinals, the first big operators, and the New York Yankees, Cincinnati Reds and Boston Red Sox, Horace Stoneham, young president of the Giants, has decided to develop a string of small clubs long enough to develop some major league talent.

Negotiations are well under way for the purchase of the Albany International league club and its transfer to Jersey City, a red hot baseball center for years.

The Yanks own the Newark club of the International loop and could stand on territorial rights, since Jersey City is within Newark's ten mile limit. However, Ed Barrow, general manager of the Yankees, said "the more good baseball around New York the better," pointing out the natural rivalry between the New Jersey cities would be revived.

The Memphis Southern Association club, in Manager Bill Terry's home town, has been reported as one of the clubs under consideration.

As Pennant Winner, Giants Weak At Bat

NEW YORK, Dec. 19. (AP)—For a pennant-winning ball club, the New York Giants looked woefully weak up there at the plate through the 1936 season, according to the official National League batting records, released today.

Putting the official O.K. on Paul Waner's individual hitting championship and an assortment of new league records headed by Chuck Klein's four homers in one game, the arevarges show the Giants largely outclassed when it came to wielding the big stick.

St. Louis' Ducky Medwick, in particular, and the Pittsburgh Pirates' pounders in general, just about held a corner on the individual clouting market for the year. The Giants had to be content with Mel Ott's tenth place in the batting list as their pace-setter, his home-run leadership, and Jojo Moore's edge in one-base hits.

With Big Poison Waner leading the Pirates' batting barrage, the club as well as the individual hitting crown went to Pittsburgh. Waner batted .373 for the season to take the title for the third time in his career, and bringing the championship to the smokey city for the third straight campaign.

Ousted PGA Tourney Boss Seeks Player Cooperation

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Dec. 19. (AP)—Robert E. Harlow, dismissed tournament manager for the Professional Golfers association, said today he would ask touring professionals to participate only in those contests arranged by him until he had been given an opportunity to "defend myself" before the P. G. A. executive committee.

Harlow demanded a hearing before the executive committee.

George R. Jacobus, PGA president, recently announced Harlow's release so he would be able "to continue the outside work which apparently means so much to him." Jacobus particularly mentioned Harlow's newspaper writing.

Appointment of Fred Corcoran of Boston, for ten years secretary of the Massachusetts Golf association, as Harlow's successor was announced by Jacobus last night.

Loyola Of New Orleans Not To Renew Coach's Contract

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 19. (AP)—Loyola university, after a season in which the football team lost more games than it won, announced that a new head coach would be signed up for 1937.

A statement by Father P. A. Roy, S. J., faculty chairman of athletics, announced that the contract with James (Eddie) Reed, head coach for the past two years, would not be renewed although the athletic council was "appreciative of the fine qualities and the sincere efforts of Mr. Reed."

This Fan Is Answer To Ticket Manager's Prayer And He Will Get Service

DALLAS, Dec. 19. (AP)—J. Curtis Sanford, president of the Cotton Bowl association, received the shock of his life tonight.

Right in the midst of a clamor for 50-yard-line seats for New Year's football battle between Marquette and Texas Christian, came this letter:

"Enclosed is $6.60. Please send me three seats behind the goal line."

"I'll send him three of the worst tickets I have," Sanford promised. "We're trying to please everyone."

Dutch Clark, Detroit Lions' Light, Rates All-Star Pro Grid Team Fifth Time In Six Years With Money Teams

NEW YORK, Dec. 19. (AP) — For the fifth time in six years, Earl (Dutch) Clark, Colorado college's contribution to the 1928 All-America, has been chosen on the National Professional Football league's all-star team.

The fine league coaches showed their respect for first and second team nominations, Clark, the Detroit Lions' quarterback and the league's leading scorer, received 43 out of a possible 45 votes as did Don Hutson, the Packers' youthful end, and Cliff Battles, the Boston Red Skins' hammering halfback.

Clark and Mel Hein, the New York Giants' durable center, are the only repeaters on the 1936 team. Hein received 38 votes as compared with 12 for Frank Bausch of Boston, the second choice.

'Soccer Kick' In Eli-Navy Tilt Biggest Sports Freak

Port Arthur 7; Kerrville 20.

And that's why experts go crazy and wind up writing obituaries. It is also why this particular fan never gives points on a football game. Well, very many points.

It's a common saying in Amarillo that the Sandies win the game, Pampa wins the money. But Fort Worth's North Side partisans carted the gold off in sackfuls yesterday. Maybe those Sandie fans will learn to quit sticking their necks out.

THAT OFTEN-DISCUSSED, never organized athletic conference for the leading "orphan" schools of the Southwest is again providing the boys with a conversational topic.

If all the written stories and vocal chatterings regarding such a conference were laid end to end along the bottom of the Brazos, and definite steps subsituted therefore, it would be a good thing. The boys then would really have something to talk about.

Every year for the past four, the subject has come up for discussion, been bruited about in the newspapers and on the streets, in lobby sessions and coaches offices—and that was all.

This time, however, the suggested setup is of such a plausible nature as to strike responsive chords along the gridways.

A conference consisting of Texas Tech, Hardin-Simmons, Centenary, Tulsa university, Oklahoma A. & M. and Oklahoma City university would be a pretty tough league, second only to the Southwest conference and strong enough to share the spotlight in this part of the world with the Southwest circuit.

It is believed that Texas Tech is favorable to such a league. Coach Pete Cawthon, for one, is hopeful of its organization. He has the support, we believe, of the other school officials and the athletic council here. Hardin-Simmons is known to favor such a circuit; two or three Oklahoma teams and Centenary are believed interested. Tulsa's stand has not been made public, but there is no reason why the Hurricane shouldn't be heartily in favor. Tulsa and the Oklahoma Aggies are in Missouri Valley conference, but play few games therein.

TEXAS TECH, of course, would like to be in the Southwest conference. So would Centenary and Hardin-Simmons. Texas Tech is better qualified, but is not wanted. If Tech became tied up in another hot league, its chances for breaking into the Southwest would be set back several years, but there is no indication that the Red Raiders will be affiliated with the big league for several years, anyway. In the meantime, membership in the proposed "tri-state" conference would be the best way to jump.

The Raiders, trying to go it alone, barely holding membership in the Border conference, aren't getting anywhere fast. Two big hazards stand in the way of Tech's hoped-for national recognition—the increasing resistance offered in schedule making, and the resulting inability to attract choicy material. Tech is too tough to be accepted by big league teams for practice games, not tough enough, apparently, to play consistently with the big boys.

For the present, at least, Tech would be just about in its class in a league consisting of the teams mentioned above.

With the exception of Oklahoma City university, that would have been a "hard nine" this past season, the teams fairly well matched. The Goldbugs would be the fall guy in the picture, Tulsa U, probably the villain, to be overhauled the last scene by Texas Tech.

It would be quite a scattered league, but travel means nothing to the modern football team. It would be workable, and, as a leading point, it would relieve fifty per cent of the worries of harrassed athletic managers.

The Abilene paper reports that "J. D. Sandefer, jr., of Breckenridge, Hardin-Simmons trustee and ace grid fan, is scheduled for a sort of missionary journey into Oklahoma this week, and may be accompanied by Cawthon. Next week, and organization meeting may be held in Dallas. It is hoped to have the ball rolling by 1938."

A GUEST WE were glad to see Friday night was Ralph Wolf, industrious business manager, basketball coach, track and field mentor and general contact man for Baylor university's athletic department.

Ralph, who does a lot of football officiating in addition to his other duties, stopped here enroute to Amarillo where he worked the Sandie-Steer game yesterday, and it was nearly time to don his striped shirt before we called it a night.

The energetic Wolf, who does the work of three men at Baylor, would not linger long on the Tech-for-Southwest-conference topic, but expressed favor for the proposed tri-state league, which he believes will be plenty hot.

"The Southwest conference," he offered, "is getting just too darned tough. It has picked up in the last four years to practically double its previous strength and importance. The reason is better coaching in Texas high school, and more common sense on the part of the boys, who used to think they had to get out of the state before they could play on big time teams. They can stay at home and do it now."

That led to another subject, and Wolf expressed definite displeasure and disappointment at the suggestion that Texas Tech might forego its big coaching school.

"Why thunder, man," he exclaimed. "That would be terrible, not going on with the coaching school. The coaches were disappointed when it was suspended last year, and already there's a lot of talking and planning all over the state by coaches who are set to come to the 1937 school. Why, the town itself shouldn't allow the coaching school to be dropped. It does this town more good than anything you could think of, along those lines. I wouldn't miss one, and I don't think many other coaches would miss it. They like to come here. They look forward to it. I surely hope they change their minds and put it on again. It's a lot of hard work, I know, but I believe it's worth it."

WE TALKED of a lot of cabbages and kings, and Ralph left this warning, aimed primarily at former Baylor boys and gals who think they might get by with a lot of stuff and nonsense on Waco's streets.

"Better watch our chief of police," he said. It'll be a great shock to the ex-Bears who don't know it, but Woody Zachary, old "Mushmouth" himself, is the chief in Waco—and a stern one. Woody went out for the football team several times, but never could put his heart into it. Too much training, not enough fun. So he gets elected chief of police! Figure that one out. "And the funny part about it," chuckles Wolf, "is that he's making a darned good one."

A New Kind Of Louse Gets On Grass Greens

It was a long time before Lubbock Country club could put over its grass greens project. A lot of time, money, care and trouble were spent in an endeavor to install practical, servicable, beautiful greens that could withstand the wear and tear of man, insect and weather.

So it is most alarming to discover the ravages of a new type of insect, a grass louse that already has ruined one complete green.

This particular louse, whose exact identity has not been determined, disgraces the genus Man. And he drives an automobile, so Sportometer was informed last night by an irate Country club official.

The insect, information leading to the capture of which will bring the informer $50 as reward, Manager Cotton McAfee said last night, has driven his car onto the No. 5 green, a spacious green, of which the club was particularly proud. Much grass has been destroyed around the green, and after getting his machine on the green proper, the insect has driven 'round and 'round, digging heavy ruts all over it.

A careful study of such an insect, if captured, should be interesting, especially if it could be dissected with a dull knife, a limb at a time, without benefit of anesthetic.

Yale's Kelley Gets Credit For This Big Event, Too

(NOTE: This is the sixth of a series of stories analyzing the results in the sixth annual Associated Press sports poll. It covers replies of the country's sports editors to the query: "What was the most freakish happening of the year in sports?)

BY ALAN GOULD

NEW YORK, Dec. 19. (AP)—The otherwise decorous precincts of the Eastern "Ivy league" seem to have developed the knack of producing the year's most freakish episode in competitive sport.

Last year the "twelfth man" who leaped out of the stands at Princeton and line up with the Dartmouth team making a goal-line stand against the Tigers was voted the oddest happening.

For 1936 Captain Larry Kelley, Yale's All-America end and the year's most valuable gridiron performer, achieves added distinction for his famous "soccer kick" against the Navy at Baltimore.

It ranks as the No. 1 freak play of the year, in any sport, in the opinion of 59 out of 76 sports editors contributing their views to the sixth annual Associated Press sports poll.

But "Accidental"

With Navy leading, Yale punted. Sneed Schmidt received the kick on his own 25. Schmidt fumbled. Kelley's foot connected instantly and drove it sharply toward the Navy goal. Kelley then won the race for the loose pigskin and fell on it on Navy's 3. Clint Frank bucked across for the touchdown that enabled Yale to win, 13 to 7.

Football rules specify it is a foul if a loose ball in kicked "intentionally." Kelley denied, however, that it was anything but an accidental kick and the officials so decided.

Oddest happenings otherwise, during the football season, included Fordham's 7-0 victory over Southern Methodist despite the Mustangs advantage of 14 to 1 on first downs; Southern California's 13-13 tie with Notre Dame, which had an 18 to 1 margin in first downs; and the absence of penalties in the Pennsylvania-Cornell game.

Yankee Old-Timer And Newcomer Team To Bring Flock Of Individual Honors To Champs; Der Mag Supports Gehrig

CHICAGO, Dec. 19. (AP)—A youngster playing his first season in the "big time" and a veteran of more than 1,800 games were brilliant teammates and co-stars of the 1936 American League baseball campaign.

The official circuit statistics on records broken and tied during the last season, released today, show why Joe di Maggio, rookie outfielder of the New York Yankees, deserved ranking as one of the most brilliant first year men ever to crash the major league ranks. They also reflected the proficiency of the veteran Yankee first sacker, Lou Gehrig, an established star of many seasons.

Di Maggio played a big part in helping the powerful Yanks break or tie 31 records during the season. He was one of five players on the same team—the others were Gehrig, Tony Lazzeri, Bill Dickey and George Selkirk—to drive in 100 or more runs during a single season for a new major league mark. His potent bat helped his team establish 12 major league marks.

In the World Series, in which New York broke 17 and tied 10 world records di Maggio made two hits in one inning to tie a record, tied with Red Wolfe for most times at bat in one game, six, and made the most putouts by an outfielder in a single inning, three, to tie another series mark. He also made 14 putouts to tie a six game series record.

Gehrig, who has played in 1,808 games, made 400 or more total bases for a fifth time for a new major league standard. He drove in 100 or more runs for his eleventh straight year to tie Al Simmons' mark.

Another Yankee, Tony Lazzeri, broke three major league marks, tied another, set a new American League record, smashed a World Series mark and tied two others.

Antlers Batter Port Arthur As Holbrook Stars

Dope Slightly Upset As Tivy Gets Moving After Second Quarter Opens To Outclass Favored Yellow Jackets

BY RAY NEUMANN

KERRVILLE, Dec. 19. (AP)—The cry of victory swelled and re-echoed through the Hill Country today as Kerrville's stalwart iron men marched relentlessly to the finals of Texas' schoolboy grid race with a 20 to 7 win over Port Arthur.

The triumphant Antlers, led by their brilliant quarterback, Roy Holbrook, started slowly, gathered momentum in the second period when they scored their first touchdown and ruthlessly outfought their coastal city opponent the rest of the way.

Jacket Ace Missing

The Port Arthur eleven, missing the services of Marland Jeffrey, brilliant back who played only a few minutes of the second period before injuring his infected ankle, won the first period by a large margin, outgaining the Antlers handily.

The Antlers first score was the result of a terrific drive from midfield after Lee had recovered a Jacket fumble. McCaleb and Holbrook alternated carrying the ball through gaping holes in the right side of Port Arthur's line to the 17.

There Holbrook faked a pass and slashed his way down to the six. He ploughed through left guard for the marker and then cooly kicked goal.

Tie Score In 3rd

The well coached Jackets tied the score early in the third period when McCaffey intercepted an Antler aerial and ran 14 to the Kerrville 10. In spite of a five yard penalty, Palumbo and Speyer crashed through to the one from which Speyrer plunged over. Crouch place kicked the extra point.

Kerrville then received the kick off and, apparently angered by the Jackets quick second half score, launched a brilliant ground offensive which took the ball from deep in their own territory through an interrupted march of six downs to and over the goal.

Chambliss, McCaleb, Fisher and Holbrook shared honors in the spectacular advance. The Jacket line crumbled as the inspired Hill Country lads ripped their defense to shreds. Holbrook dove over for two and the touchdown and again kicked point.

Freak Play Scores

Kerrville's final tally was the result of a freak play in which Arisco, stellar coast city back, fumbled on being tackled and the ball was caught on the fly by Chambliss, who raced 51 yards untouched over the goal line.

Port Arthur frequently swung its attack into the air and "rainbow" passes of 50 yards or more often missed by inches. They were showering aerials over the field from the shadows of their goal posts prior to Kerrville's last minute goal march, stopped by the whistle.

Kerrville outgained the Jackets on the ground, 201 to 142 yards, netting 15 first downs to their opponents 12. Of nine passes tried, they completed but one for 11 yards and had one intercepted. Port Arthur tried 19 aerials and connected three for 32 yards. Penalties cost both teams 50 yards.

Fumbles were frequent, the Antlers recovering five and the Jackets, three.

4,500 See Game

Outstanding defensively for Kerrville were Henke, Lee and Hauser, but their play was little better than that of their team mates. The Antlers made only two substitutions throughout the contest.

Peveto, Formagus and McGaffey were the stellar forwards for the losers with four starting backs sharing honors equally.

The largest crowd in the history of the city, 4,500, attended the game. Cold, clear weather prevailed.

H. H. Moore, superintendent of Kerrville schools, said he would confer with Amarillo High school officials tomorrow to determine the site and date of the state finals.

Cowboys Almost Shut Out Bears

ABILENE, Dec. 19. (AP)—Hardin-Simmons finished a sweep of its two-game basketball series with Baylor university tonight by nearly shutting out the Bears in a game that rivalled football for roughness.

The score was 27 to 6, and Baylor made but three points against the Cowboy first string, the other three being registered in a boisterous skirmish with the reserves in the last ten minutes.

Firman Scroggins, Cowboy center, led the scoring with three field goals. Bubba Gernand and H. Kirkpatrick each made three for Baylor. Gernand also was chief roughster and comedian for the Bears.

Tip-Top Mystery Team Goes To Semi-Finals In Tourney For Hoopsters At New Deal

MONROE, Dec. 19. (Special) — Tip-Top Cafe team of Lubbock, the "mystery men" in the red masks, advanced to the semi-final round, and Center, Idalou, Abernathy and New Deal to the quarter-finals tonight in the New Deal independent basketball tournament.

Remaining quarter-final games will be played Monday night, with the semi-finals and championship contest Tuesday night.

Center defeated Grovesville, 26 to 18; Abernathy won from Wolfforth, 59 to 30, and New Deal won by forfeit from Ropesville in first round games tonight, while the hooded mystery team of Lubbock's Tip-Top cafe defeated Peel & Barnett company's team, also of Lubbock, 50 to 29, in a second round contest. Other first round winners were Caldwell and the Lubbock Ex-Westerners.

Beginning at 7:30 o'clock Monday night, three games are scheduled. New Deal plays Center, the Ex-Westerners meet Caldwell and Idalou plays Abernathy.

Louisiana Tigers Practice Hard For Santa Clara Team

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 19. (AP)—Louisiana State university's football squad went through two hours of hard dummy scrimmage in a cold wind today in preparation for the Sugar Bowl game with Santa Clara.

The Bayou Tiger gridders hurled themselves against shifting dummies in a gruelling workout to perfect their timing in blocking.

Personal contact work was avoided.

Coach Bernie Moore was worried over the power and the defense of Santa Clara, pointing to T.C.U.'s scant yardage against the Broncos as illustration of the latter.

"I am sure we will face our strongest opponent of the year," he asserted.

College Track Coaches To Meet In New York Dec. 29

NEW YORK, Dec 19. (AP) — The annual meeting of the association of college track coaches of America will be held here Dec. 29, it was announced today by Secretary-Treasurer Harry Hillman of Dartmouth college.

1936 The Year In Sports

Golf

BY BOB CAVAGNARO
(First In A Series)

NEW YORK, Dec. 19. (AP)—Amateur golf lost a world champion when Lawson Little, with the stroke of a pen, joined the salaried ranks, but gained another when chunky, titian-haired Pamela (Pam) Barton of England became the second woman in history to win two major titles in the same year.

They provided the high spots of the year which saw moustachioed Tony Manero, who looks every bit the old-fashioned villain of silent-screen days, "steal" the U. S. open championship from hard-luck Harry Cooper with a world record-smashing 72-hole total of 282; red-haired Patty Berg fall off just when she appeared to be riding the rocket to fame; Uncle Sam's Walker cup boys wallop England in the biennial series, and Great Britain's struggling bid for international recognition just fall short of achievement in the U. S. amateur championship.

JOHN FISCHER, Cincinnati barrister-to-be, succeeded Lawson Little as American amateur champion.

From an international aspect, British golfers shaded Americans. As a matter of fact England's ladies of the links almost mopped up. Nineteen-year-old Miss Barton, brimful of characteristic British determination, won her own championship after being runner-up in 1934-35; helped Great Britain halve with the United States in the Curtis cup series, 4 1-2 to 4 1-2 and then staged a thrilling comeback to defeat Maureen Orcutt Crews, 4 and 3, in the final of the American championship.

BRITAIN'S PAMELA BARTON
World Champion

Padgham Takes British Open

BRITAIN'S knights of the niblick retained their open title, rugged Alf Padgham succeeding ambidextrous Alf Perry, and they regained the amateur crown with Hector Thomson, who bears a striking physical and facial resemblance to Omaha's Johnny Goodman, winning and succeeding the two-time former winner, Lawson Little. There were Americans in both championships but generally they weren't of the same caliber of former years, particularly in the amateur. And then John Bull's simon-pures came over here for the Walker cup contests and were white-washed, 9-0, over the Pine Valley course.

The year started off ominously for Little with a stern warning from the U. S. Golf association that he would have to refrain from giving instruction in his syndicated newspaper articles. Having won both British and American amateur crowns two years in a row, Little was known to be seriously considering a pro career. The U. S. G. A.'s edict helped him decide, and in April he signed a contract with a national sporting goods concern.

Golf fans were eager to see what Little would do against those calloused campaigners, the barnstorming pros. He made his debut in the Augusta tournament and finished among the first ten. And then he met a startling reverse, failing to make the grade in the sectional qualifying tests for the national open, and was left standing on the sidelines when Manero blazed over the final 18-hole stretch in 67 to nip Cooper by two strokes. A short time later, however, Little won the Canadian Open with an aggregate of 271.

Manero, the Greensboro, N. C., sharpshooter who, before the tournament, told the writer it would be "the field against Manero," went stark, raving mad on that final round over the staid and storied Baltusrol links. Out in 33, three under par, he was two strokes behind Cooper through the 63rd. Cooper's total up to that point was 246; Manero's 248.

About the time Cooper finished with a 73 to 284 as the result of 3-putting the 69th and 72nd greens and was being hailed as the champion, Manero was starting his final nine, accompanied by stocky Gene Sarazen. Birdie 3s at the 66th and 67th holes pulled Tony up even with Cooper. He snared another birdie 3 at the 70th to gain a stroke and parred the 72nd with a 4 where Cooper took a bogey 5.

Cooper Just Misses Twice

IT WAS the second time of the year Cooper was "best man" at a big show. He looked like he was going to win the April Augusta tournament with 286, but tall Horton Smith, the skyscraper who won the first Augusta event in 1934, sneaked in with 285. All told, Smith, showing his best since 1929 when he cleaned up, led the winter barnstormers with earnings totaling $7,048 at the end of last April.

The foreign threat in the amateur championship was the strongest in several years and it was only fitting that the Cincinnati lawyer-to-be, John (King) Fischer, repelled it with one of the greatest displays of courage and shotmaking in championship history. Hobbling on a painful ankle injured in the semi-finals against Goodman, played in a gale and virtual cloudburst, Fischer shot birdies on each of the last three holes to defeat Jock McLean, the Scottish whisky salesman (who drinks nothing stronger than water) at the 37th.

Miss Berg Wins Two

MISS BERG, who sprang to prominence by going to the 1935 final of the women's championship against Glenna Collett Vare, won the Miami Biltmore and Mason-Dixon tournaments, but then lost in the finals of the Palm Beach and South Atlantic competitions. She defeated Mrs. Vare, 3 and 2, in the second round at Palm Beach. Her play abroad in the Curtis cup matches and the British championship, was mediocre and she was eliminated in the third round of the American championship by the veteran, Mrs. Opal Hill.

Other flash-backs: Gene Sarazen won the Australian open with

TONY MANERO, U. S. open champion

Pittsburgh Panthers Arrive In California, Close-Lipped

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., Dec. 19. (AP)—The University of Pittsburgh football team, as solemn a pack of gridiron warriors as ever journeyed West, rolled into San Bernardino today to prepare for the New Year's Day clash with the Washington Huskies in the Pasadena Rose Bowl.

Several hundred people waiting on the station platform saw a rather grim aggregation of athletes apparently concentrating on one thought—football revenge.

Dr. Jock Sutherland, the close-mouthed Scot, had little to say, a well known characteristic of the Pitt coach.

Sailor Watkins Returns To Local Mat; Rassles Stratton In Main Event

Bennett And Parks Are Booked For Semi-Windup

Sailor Watkins is coming back to town!

The erstwhile terror of Uncle Sam's navy, later a cowman from Post and more popular as one of the country's most prominent wrestling villains, steps into the Auditorium ring Wednesday night to battle Walter Stratton, the strong man from Iowa, in the main event of Promoter Sled Allen's card.

So Wednesday night, ladies and gentlemen, you may see the conqueror of the Masked Marvel. Watkins turned the trick in El Paso about a month ago. The wrestling commission later "threw it out," and ordered a rematch. Watkins did it again. The commission is still grumbling, but isn't doing much about it.

The sailor stops here enroute home to Jackson, Miss., for the Christmas holidays. He'll be here only the one night, although Promoter Allen hopes to bring him back in January for a bout with Sailor Moran.

Because of his crowd-drawing ability, Watkins is hard to hold in one place.

George Bennett, clever cowboy from Oklahoma, and Herb Parks, the distinguished Canadian, are booked for the semi-final, making this week's card at least a double attraction. Russell Riley and Joe Bauer do the prelim.

Joe Routt Of Aggies To Be Back With Club Next Season

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. 19. (AP)—Coach Homer Norton of Texas A. and M. said today Joe Routt, the Aggies' All-America guard, had definitely decided to return to college next year and complete his final year of grid eligibility.

Routt could have graduated this year, but has one more year of football eligibility because he was scholastically ineligible in 1934 and did not compete during that, his sophomore year.

Busy Week-End Here Indicated

Several Complaints Brought To Attention Of Enforcement Authorities; Two Negroes Held For Other Towns

A busy week-end for law enforcement agencies was indicated at midnight, after several complaints had been brought to attention.

Joe Howard, 11, of Smyer, became separated from his parents about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon and had not been located.

Fred Smith of 1311 Twenty-third street reported loss of a bicycle. Dale Robbins of 1205 Thirteenth street said a brief case had been stolen from a car parked at 2015 Fifth street. He said the case contained papers valuable to him, no one else. L. H. Batton of near County Line reported children's books and Christmas decorations stolen from his car.

Two Negroes Held

A 56- and a 32-year-old negro laborer were arrested in the afternoon by Police Chief H. L. Johnston and Charles Chase and held for Odessa and Hobbs, N. M., officers, respectively. Chief Johnston said the Odessa negro, wounded, explained he had been "creased" at a negro dance, but a telephone conversation with Sheriff Reeder Webb of Odesso disclosed no report had been made to him anent a dance fracas. He said, however, a white man had surprised a negro burglar recently and, jerking out an old-fashioned "thumb-buster" had exploded it twice at the uninvited guest.

The Hobbs negro is to be held pending investigation into theft of tires in the New Mexico city.

Woman Pays Fine

A 39-year-old Lubbock woman pleaded guilty of theft under $5 at Montgomery Ward & Co. store and paid a fine of $10 in corporation court.

Another shoplifter was fined $50 and costs and, in lieu of payment, went to jail. He may pay or serve 21 days' imprisonment, said J. T. Trigg, justice of peace.

One person charged with speeding paid a fine in Trigg's court.

Gov. Landon Will Visit FDR Monday

CHICAGO, Dec. 19. (AP)—Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas said today his visit Monday with President Roosevelt would be "purely social."

The unsuccessful Republican candidate for the presidency said he would extend personal congratulations and greetings to the chief executive who defeated him in the November election.

Landon expressed pleasure at the retention of John Hamilton as chairman of the Republican national committee.

the hospital through a rear entrance.

At first, sisters and nurses said, "Shep" refused to eat and met every effort to get him to leave the elevator door with bared fangs.

Finally he made friends, but throughout the years, he remained near the elevator door most of the time.

Often he would spring up at night, run to the door, bark softly and then slink away in disappointment.

Today "Shep," getting stiff with age and going blind, wandered out into the street. An automobile struck him.

A hospital orderly carried him back into the hospital, but he died soon after.

Santa Clara Broncs Cavort In Lengthy Home Scrimmage

SANTA CLARA, Calif., Dec. 19. (AP) Taking advantage of a cool, clear day, Coach Buck Shaw sent his Santa Clara Broncs through a lengthy scrimmage here this afternoon in training for the New Year's Day Sugar Bowl game.

All of the 35 named on the squad to make the trip to New Orleans saw action with exception of Bryce Brown, injured end. Several of the first-string men, who worked out first and were sent to the showers, were so eager for more action that they came back on the field and got back into the informal game.

Of the reserves, Tom Gilbert and Bruno Pellegrini, halfbacks, turned in sparkling performances, as did Will Gunther, third-string fullback. Nello Falaschi, All-American quarterback, was elected team captain for the Borncs when they meet Louisiana State in the Sugar Bowl.

twice against the Chicago White Sox, contributed a baseball oddity.

Track and field's most unusual happening was Dave Albritton's jump to tie Corny Johnson at the world record height of 6 feet 9 3-4 inches, in the final Olympic tryouts. Oddest Olympic episodes included (1) the dropping of baton by German girls' relay team, with certain victory over United States in sight, and (2) Don Lash's complete failure in the distance races after record home season.

Christmas' Real Meaning Is Flashed From Increased Decorations In City

BY ARTIE HICKS

Mr. and Mrs. Lubbock are bubbling over with Christmas spirit this year—if number and artistry of Christmas decorations found in residences, on lawns and in downtown stores mean anything.

Not since a pre-depression Christmas has Lubbock installed such a variety and extravagance of color, indicating return of a brighter outlook and renewed confidence. Christmas greetings, in lights and color, glow warmly from windows of homes and interpret the true spirit of the season, "peace on earth and good will to man."

Decorations in the residential sections, though not so gaudy as those downtown, reflect more of the Christmas spirit because of their sheer simplicity and homey surroundings. Wreaths—polychromatic candles glowing within them—crosses, Christmas trees strung with multi-colored lights, and stars dominate. Many lawn trees and shrubs are lighted.

Riot Of Color Burns

One of the most beautifully decorated homes is in 1600-block on Thirteenth street. A large pointed evergreen beside the house is hung with red, green, blue, yellow, orange, and white lights and surmounted by a large, flashing star. Seen through a front window is another tree similarly lighted but with bright streamers entwined among its branches and snow sifted over it. In each window and in the door is a glowing wreath.

Simple red crosses and crosses within wreaths often are seen, but most common is the simple wreath lighted usually with red, sometimes with yellow, blue or orange candles. One house has a simple red light glowing from an upstairs window.

Texas Technological college dormitories challenge the passer with resplendent Christmas effects. Girls have their windows filled with everything from lighted trees to crosses and wreaths, and the boys show a similar variety of decorations, albeit of less quantity. Both dormitories have streamers over main entrances and a Christmas tree on each side.

Decorations Are General

Downtown decorations burn with near blinding intensity. Many colored trailers draped across the windows and backed by flashing jewelry, brought toys and wares from the earth's proverbial corners almost dim by comparison the prosaic neon signs with their more prosaic signatures.

Motion picture houses, outside and inside, are decorated. One has a large star and a lighted "Merry Christmas." Another displays "Merry Christmas" and "Happy New Year" across its front, with a revolving star between. Two houses have three large lighted trees on the walk before it. Lobbies are decorated with streamers.

Downtown street intersections are overhung by colored lights, strung from corners, and decapitated parking meters are Christmas tree bases. On the court house west lawn are six Christmas trees placed in a semi-circle around a larger tree standing in the middle of the walk. The largest tree is topped by a multi-colored star.

Shopping Here

forgotten is the fact, mentioned by several store managers, that children will receive a greater variety of toys this year. Fewer gifts for children are so-called necessities.

There were some managers who were not so enthusiastic about Christmas sales. One drugstore operator said his Christmas business was about 35 per cent below the 1935 volume.

Fifty Per Cent Better

And a few blocks away a hardware dealer estimated his sales volume was 50 per cent better than in 1935.

Two variety store managers estimated their sales were slightly less than for the last week before Christmas in 1935. Saturday's sales, however, were declared to be good, in view of the fact that Christmas was four shopping days hence. Only two shopping days separated the last Saturday before Christmas and the holiday in 1935.

"We're getting rid of lots of merchandise," said a drug store operator. "We haven't had time to do any checking, but I think today's business will compare favorably with any other Saturday this fall."

Another drug store operator considered yesterday "a pretty good Saturday."

Other Reports Made

A department store manager said his Saturday's sales volume compared favorably with other Saturdays this fall.

"Seemingly increased sales" was the report of another department store manager who said he found 't necessary to add two clerks in the afternoon.

Christmas sales, principally of "small stuff," however, were very satisfactory, said a hardware merchant. He estimated his Saturday's business was about 20 per cent better than for any other Saturday this fall.

One merchant said he believed Christmas sales were "equally as good as last year." Yesterday, however, was the "biggest" day his store had seen this fall, he added.

Head of one of the largest mercantile establishments described yesterday as "a very satisfactory last Saturday before Christmas" and the holiday trade thus far as "very good—better than in several years."

Secretary To George Mahon Spending Week-End In City

Lloyd Croslin, secretary to Representative George Mahon of Colorado, is spending the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Croslin of route 1, Lubbock, and visiting friends in Lubbock.

A graduate of Texas Technological college, Croslin will leave about January 1 with Representative Mahon for Washington.

Employes Are Imprisoned In Rubber Tires During Holdup

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 19 (AP)—A holdup man walked into a tire shop here last night and literally imprisoned two employes in rubber tires while he robbed the strong box.

Noticing huge stacks of tires extending toward the ceiling, he commanded James Dezort, 42, and Egbert Baskey, 27, to jump down inside of them. Then he fled with $50.

Dezort and Baskey finally tugged and tossed their way out and called the police.

Missing Planes

origin, went grimly on in Utah, Nevada, California and Arizona, searchers for the nation's second lost plane in a week fought through Washington-Idaho timberlands 500 miles north of Salt Lake City.

Source Of Cry Sought

They sought the source of a cry "help!" heard from a forest trail last night in the wilderness of Kootenai county, Idaho.

Near the region, out of St. Paul and Spokane-bound with 500 pounds of mail, Pilots Joe Livermore and A. A. Haid reported ice forming on the wings of their Northwest Airlines transport plane early Friday.

Over Milford, Utah, at 3:29 a. m., last Tuesday, Pilot S. J. Samson radioed: "Everything O. K."

Yesterday, 80 miles northwest of the north Idaho Panhandle town of Elk River at 3:19 a. m., Pilot Livermore radioed tersely of the ice-laden wings.

That had been all from occupants themselves on either of the missing planes—indeed, may go down as the last ever unless reports of the radio calls, mountain fires or a cry in the dark prove out.

New Area To Be Searched After Flares Set Off

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 19. (AP)—Similarity in flares set off by searching pilots and those seen several nights ago in the Kavich mountains of eastern Nevada spurred officials tonight to renew an aerial hunt for a missing transport plane in that region.

Concentration of the aerial search in the bleak region followed an all day and all night check by pilots Ralph Hall of Western Air Express.

Set Off Standard Flares

He said he went into the mountains last night and set off standard flares such as carried by the big plane when it disappeared early Tuesday with seven on board.

Farmers who had reported seeing the first flares said they were "identical."

Planes were immediately mobilized at the Salt Lake City airport for a dawn takeoff. They will scout a region 10 miles square, approximately 75 miles west of the Los Angeles-Salt Lake City air route which runs from southwest to northeast.

Mysterious Radio Call Is Heard In Idaho Area

SPOKANE, Wash., Dec. 19. (AP)—A mysterious radio call sent aerial searchers back over the rugged Elk River, Idaho, region late today after 13 airplanes had joined the fleet seeking a trace of two Northwest Airlines pilots and their mail-bearing transport.

Two short wave radio listeners reported hearing the faint call at 2:30 p. m.: "Fifteen east of Elk River."

Anxious Northwest Airlines and Felts field officials snatched at the report as a possible indication Pilot Joe Livermore, Spokane, and Arthur A. Haid, Seattle, might be alive and their radio working weakly. On the other hand, they said, it might have been only a forest service call.

Aunts Of Child Orphaned In Shooting Are To Adopt Him

DALLAS, Dec. 19. (AP)—Mrs. L. E. Fernandez and Mrs. Oma Baker said today they would adopt their nephew, George A. Burns, jr., 10-months-old baby orphaned by a double shooting in a hotel here early this week.

Many outsiders had offered to give the child a home.

Mrs. Fernandes said I. E. Burns, Oklahoma City policeman, requested in a note by his brother, the child's father, to care for George jr., agreed to let the aunts adopt it. The women live together here.

The body of the father, who police said killed his wife, then fatally wounded himself, was sent to Oklahoma City today for burial.

Lucius Halbert Of Plainview Found Shot To Death In Home

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 19. (AP)—Lucius Halbert, 25, son of L. J. Halbert, was found shot to death at his home here today. A verdict of death by self-inflicted gunshot wound was returned by Justice J. P. Siler.

EXTENSION IS REFUSED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19. (AP) — Holding that the situation which warranted their original authorization no longer exists, the Interstate Commerce commission today refused to extend beyond December 31 emergency freight surcharges of class one railroads.

SEEK "TRACK TAMPERERS"

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 19. (AP) —Authorities pressed a search for "track tamperers" today while 52 persons were treated for injuries suffered last night when a Central of Georgia train, Birmingham bound from Columbus, Ga., plunged down a 50-foot embankment.

APPEAL IS FILED

AUSTIN, Dec. 19. (AP)—Harry Dupuy, former city tax collector at Marlin, appealed today from a four-year term assessed on conviction on charges of embezzlement.

He was accused of embezzling $5,969.75 from the Marlin school district.

Demos Almost Hog Chamber

Republicans Are Almost Surrounded By Enemy During Next Session; Seats Are Moved Over On New Side

BY EDDY GILMORE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19. (AP)—Under cover of adjournment this correspondent crept today onto that political battlefield—the senate chamber—and is able to report the Democrats have all but surrounded the Republicans.

Faced with problem of seating their 75 members, the Democrats have moved a detachment of desks and chairs across the no-man's-land of the middle aisle and set them up behind the enemy.

Drawn up like shock troops in a sort of semi-circle about the Republicans are the seats of the 12 new Democrats who won in the November election.

From a technical standpoint the whole senate set-up lends itself to fierce word fighting and forensic cannonading.

No longer will it be necessary to hurl an oratorical bomb across 50 feet of the chamber to find a target. By merely doing an aboutface, a soft voiced senator can drop a searing invective with full force on an enemy ear.

Fan Mail Adds To Excitement Of Youngster Ill In Chicago Hospital; Has Chance To Live

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 19. (AP)—Fan mail from the United States and Canada added excitement today to 5-year old Charles Mendenhall's Christmas.

But what is even more important to the young sufferer from pemphigus—a skin disease usually fatal—doctors now concede him a good chance to get well.

Charles gained national attention a week ago when nurses at the hospital here, learning he might not live until Christmas, took him to visit Santa Claus in a downtown toyland. The boy, son of a WPA employe, told his nurses he never had heard of Santa before.

Soon after newspapers printed the story, letters began to pour in. All sympathized, with what one writer, a Rhode Island woman, called Charles' "impending doom." Mrs. John R. Ellis, Paducah, Ky., wanted Charles to write her "and I will write and tell him many interesting experiences that made me happy during my illness."

Quick-Thinking Officer Saves Life Of Nacogdoches Youth

NACOGDOCHES, Dec. 19. (AP)—A quick-thinking policeman clamped his hand over a spouting jugular vein today and saved the life of Edgar Peterson.

Peterson, 19, was slashed with a knife on the right side of the throat, the weapon opened a three-inch gash. The man who wounded him fled while the policeman carried Peterson to a doctor's office where the flow of blood was stopped by surgery.

Officers are seeking Peterson's assailant, a relative by marriage.

HOLLIS PIONEER DIES

HOLLIS, Okla., Dec. 19. (AP)—Funeral services were held here today for P. E. Harris, 61, who died of pneumonia.

Harris, who moved here 31 years ago, is survived by his widow, and two daughters, Mrs. Elmo Petrie, Hollis, and Mrs. Vey Wynn, Dodsonville, Tex.

Arkansas Officer Pays Fine Of $3,500 On Anti-Slavery Charge; Has Receipt Framed

JONESBORO, Ark., Dec. 19. (AP) Marshal Paul D. Peacher of Earle, Ark., had a neatly framed receipt today for a $3,500 fine as a souvenir of his recent conviction in federal court on charges of causing seven negroes to be held in slavery.

Peacher paid the fine yesterday, took the receipt to a nearby art shop and had it mounted.

His conviction—the first in Arkansas under the 1866 anti-slavery statute — also carried a two-year sentence, but Federal Judge John E. Martineau stipulated that if the fine were paid, he would authorize two years of probation.

Peacher was accused of falsely arresting negroes as vagrants during a cotton-choppers' strike and having them work on his Crittenden county plantation.

MESSENGERS GIVEN BREAK

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19. (AP) — Special delivery messengers burdened with Christmas mail were given a "break" today by Postmaster General Farley.

He notified postmasters that competent temporary employees should be used on Christmas day to permit regular messengers to spend the day at home.

CADETS START HOME

COLLEEG STATION, Dec. 19. (AP) —Khaki-clad A. and M. cadets crowded trains, busses and automobiles today, beginning their annual Christmas holiday. Vacations will last until retreat formation Jan. 3.

Less than 200 students were expected to remain on the campus.

Homesless Waifs Are In Demand

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 19. (AP)—Two score San Antonio families seeking to adopt waifs during the Christmas holidays, the traditional days of childhood delight, Saturday faced this unusual situation:

There were no orphans immediately available for adoption.

As far as homeless children were concerned, this will be the brightest Christmas in years if only for the reason that there are no entirely homeless waifs—the slack had been taken up.

Approximately forty San Antonio and South Texas families have filed application for children with the two home-finding agencies, the San Antonio Child Protective society and the Texas Childrens Home Finding society.

Two years ago the protective society had as many as fourteen waifs for adoption in its childrens shelter, but now there are several homes available for every orphan.

New York Preparing Early For Much Hilarity New Year's Eve

NEW YORK, Dec. 19. (AP)—Announcement that the curfew would not ring during the early hours of the New Year sent shivers of delight along Broadway and Park Avenue tonight.

Hotel and night club operators promptly posted prices for what they predicted would be the biggest and dizziest New Year's Eve celebration since the beginning of time, and let it be known that reservations were in order.

London Paper Says Edward To Return With Wally "His Wife"

LONDON, Dec. 19. (AP)—The London Sunday Referee said tonight Edward of Windsor plans to return to England shortly after the coronation of his brother, King George, next May and that he will bring Wallis Warfield Simpson with him "as his wife."

The Referee added that servants at Belvedere, former King Edward's country home, were told on the eve of his abdication they could have their jobs back in less than a year.

RETIRED OFFICER DIES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19. (AP) — Brigadier General Henry G. Fisher, retired, died yesterday at Walter Reed General hospital. He was 69 years old.

Vinegar Factory Planned At Dallas

ROGERS, Ark., Dec. 19. (AP) — President O. L. Gregory of Gregory-Robinson-Speas, Inc., vinegar manufacturers, announced today the purchase of a five-acre tract of land at Dallas, Tex., where he said construction will begin immediately on a large capacity vinegar plant.

Gregory said the company also planned to start work at once on an addition to its Little Rock distributing plant which will include machinery for manufacture of vinegar.

Headquarters of the company are in Rogers.

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 19. (AP)—Touched off by an adverse interstate commerce commission ruling, heavy selling in rails today knocked the pins from under the stock market with resultant losses of 1 to 4 or more points.

The list displayed selective rallying tendencies in early dealings, although it was unable to get a sure foothold on recovery at any time. A relapse in the final hour followed announcement the 10c had refused to grant the carriers' plea for extension of emergency freight rates which expire at the end of 1936.

Recent favorites were offered in such volume that just before the close the ticker tape fell about 7 minutes behind floor dealings. The total turnover, however, of 1,214,520 shares was slightly under last Saturday's aggregate.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues suffered a net decline of .9 of a point at 68.8, the sharpest drop in nearly a month. For the week the composite was down 1.8 points, the most substantial recession since the week of August 22.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 19. (AP)—Holiday dullness made an early arrival on the cotton market today and in extremely quiet dealings prices moved up from 2 to 4 points.

March closed at 12.16, May at 12.10, July at 11.89 bid and Oct. at 11.68. Spot cotton at New Orleans was unchanged with middling at 12.60.

About the only business that appeared in the market was the usual week-end evening up of commitments and some realizings.

Liverpool took cognizance of the decline in American exports this year. So far this season, despite the larger crop exports were around 250 000 bales behind last yea.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 19. (AP)—Early advances of 4 to 8 points in cotton today on trade and foreign buying were lost under week-end liquidation and hedge selling.

March reacted from 12.26@12.18 and closed at 12.21, with final prices generally 3 points net higher to 2 lower.

The market opened 7 points higher to 1 point lower reflecting an overnight accumulation of buying orders. A moderate volume of hedge selling sent prices to or within a few points of the lows for the day at the close

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 19 (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 12.59 cents a pound.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 19. (AP)—Disconcerting effects of tumbles of securities brought about lower wheat prices today after brisk upturns resulting from news about approaching exhauston of Germany's breadstuff supplies.

A notable consequence of stock market breaks was to increase selling pressure on the part of speculative wheat owners who were in position to collect a profit.

Chicago December delivery of wheat was in active demand all day at 9 cents over May, and closed at 6¼ cents over, with shipping sales reported of 150,000 bushels from here.

Closing quotations on Chicago wheat futures were ¾ to 1½ cents under yesterday's finish, Dec. 1.38½@1.38⅝, May 1.32¼@1.32½, July 1.17⅞@1.18, corn unchanged to ¾ higher, Dec. 1.08⅝@1.09, May new 1.04¾@1.04⅞, July new 1.01⅝@1.01¾, oats unchanged to ¼ off, May 50⅝@51, and rye 1¼ to 1⅝ down, May 1.11⅝@1.12. Provisions results varied from 20 cents decline to an advance of two cents.

Corn and oats were less affected by stock market weakness than was the case regarding wheat and rye. Traders short of December delivery of corn were active buyers.

For the most part, provisions prices held about unchanged.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Dec. 19. (AP)—Demand for grain was fair at the week-end.

Arrangements Being Made To Bring Dr. Townsend And His Aides To Trial Next Month; Faces Fine And Term

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—Arrangements were made today by United States Attorney Leslie C. Garnett to bring Dr. Francis E. Townsend, co-founder of the Townsend old age pension plan, and two aides to trial some time next month on charges of contempt of the house of representatives.

The elderly California physician, who walked out on a house committee investigating his pension organization and refused to testify further, posted $1,000 bond in Los Angeles yesterday. He asserted at that time he would go to jail rather than pay a fine, adding "they can not give me much more than 30 days and I need a good rest."

Under the law, Garnett said, Townsend and his two former regional directors, the Rev. Clinton Wunder and John B. Kiefer, are liable to fines of $1,000 each and imprisonment for one year.

More Funds Asked For Basket Drive Of Salvation Army

Twenty-five unfortunate families of Lubbock will awake Christmas morning to find a Christmas with the trimmings, but for over 25 others it will be just another day without extra food, if people of Lubbock do not respond to appeals for more baskets, the Salvation Army said Saturday.

The Salvation Army by means of letters, appeals through the newspaper, and kettles place on street corners has raised money for 25 Christmas baskets, each containing food costing approximately $3.50.

More Baskets Needed

But 25 more baskets, costing almost $100, are needed or some poor families will have no Christmas dinner. Capt. John G. Churchill said the four kettles to be kept on the streets this week are expected to raise money for other baskets.

Each basket will contain: a chicken or roast, two pounds of sugar, a half-pound of coffee, two pounds of rice, six apples, six oranges, five pounds of potatoes, a half-pound of butter, a box of crackers, a loaf of bread, a bunch of celery, a box of macaroni, a pound of onions, a cake, nuts, and one can of pork and beans, evaporated milk, sauerkraut, tomatoes, corn, tomato soup, and cranberry sauce.

To Deliver Some

Families that are able will call at the Army headquarters for their baskets, and means for delivering the others will be provided, Captain Churchill said.

Contributions may be mailed to the Salvation Army at 1510 Avenue H.

Those who have already contributed are: Lubbock Cotton Oil company, Dr. S. G. Dunn, Sam Arnett, Mrs. J. D. Lindsey, Dr. C. J. Wagner, Dr. M. H. Stearnes, Dr. Kenneth E. Oberholtz, and Rix Funeral home, one basket each, L. M. Drown, two baskets; Hemphill-Wells, three baskets; and the Lions Club, 10 baskets.

Hollywood Couple Being Held In Jail For Extortion Plot

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 19 (AP)—Accused of attempting to extort money from a San Francisco salesman by threats, a young Hollywood, Calif., couple booked by federal agents as Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Combs, 28 and 20, were held today in the Pulaski county jail.

John B. Little, special agent in charge of the federal bureau of investigation here, said they were held on a technical charge of "attempted extortion by telephone and telegraph from Hot Springs," where they were arrested yesterday. Maximum penalty upon conviction is 20 years in prison.

Little said he was advised that the salesman, whose name was not divulged, had paid $5,000 to the young woman, a pretty brunette, since August under threats of "exposure and arrest for taking her across a state line."

Mercado's Tipica Mexican Orchestra Will Appear Here Jan. 7; Native Compositions Will Be Program Features

The picturesque costumes of Mexico will be worn by Mercado's Tipica Mexican orchestra when it presents a program in Lubbock, Jan. 7. Angell J. Mercado, above, is director.

The program to be presented by Mercado's Tipica Mexican orchestra in Lubbock Jan. 7 will be composed of native compositions of Spain, Argentina and Cuba, the Texas Technological college artist course has announced.

The artist course recommended the group as a "remarkably picturesque group of musicians". Members of the orchestra will be attired in the costume of the charro, the Mexican cowboy who corresponds to the gaucho of the Argentine, and other native costumes.

Native Compositions

The program will be composed largely of native compositions showing the animation of the Latin-American in love and war and in compositions of contrasting tempo indicating the humbleness and kindliness of his spirit.

Angell J. Mercado is director of the orchestra. Several soloists will sing, play and dance. Among them will be Lolita Valdez, soprano; Gustavo Carrasco, tenor; the Ojeda dancers; and Sarita Sanchez, salterist.

The orchestra was sponsored by the Mexican government in broadcasts over the NBC network last winter, the artist course committee has been informed.

Use Unusual Instruments

Several instruments not used in America will be played by the orchestra, including the salterio, which has over one hundred strings arranged in a complicated manner.

The program will not be a regular artist course number. The artist course promised three attractions on its fall semester program. Those attractions already have been presented. Students, both Tech and public school, will be offered reduced admission rates, however.

Sans Souci Dance Opens Tech Formal Season

The Woman's Angle

By Margaret Turner

What sweeter music can we bring
Than a carol, for to sing
The birth of this our Heavenly King?—Herrick.

What better way to usher in the Christmas week than by the singing of Christmas carols and hymns and hearing again the familiar and ever beautiful songs of Christmas which have been handed down through the centuries, sung in every tongue and by every nation.

This is an important week in the lives of all of us. We can take it serenely, attending to one task at a time, or we can rush out pell mell and in our great confusion forget the joyful occasion and ideals and traditions which we should cherish as the heritage of our Christian nation.

EACH year Dr. and Mrs. Bradford Knapp send unusual greetings to the student body and faculty at Texas Technological college. This year the folder bears a linoleum cut of the tower with the victory bells and the words:

"From the East Tower at Tech the "Victory Bells" ring out the joy of winning. May the "Victory Bells" of your own life ring for you at Christmas and through the New Year for the very joy of your victories over self, your happy privilege of contributing to the joy of the world through seeking the happiness of others. We extend to you and yours the best wishes of Texas Technological college and ourselves for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

RANCH WOMAN AUTHOR

THE sloping plains and fertile valleys of Texas, rich in historical association and folk-lore, have inspired "Old Ranches" by Minnie Timms Harper and George Dewey Harper (Dealey and Lowe, Dallas). The material in the book is fresh. Mrs. Harper, who has lived in the West since 1888, felt that too little was known of early day ranches and in her little book she has depicted life as it was when the ranches were founded.

There is much information of unusual interest, but too often the reader's curiosity is whetted and left unsatisfied, however in her preface Mrs. Harper, who seems to be chief author, says that she hopes some day to add more information and round out the stories.

The booklet is in two parts, the first dealing with an interesting account of a Valentine dance on the Matador ranch in 1895; favorite dishes concocted by cowboys (told in their own words) and sayings and deeds of the old time cowhands. The second part consists of short histories of Goodnight, King, XIT, Old T-Anchor, John Chisum, Littlefield, Turkey Track ranches and a sketch of Lucian B. Maxwell, "the Duke of Cimarron."

There's a recipe for making sour dough biscuit in "Old Ranches" and several pictures of early settlers but very little about the writer. Dedication is to her mother "Frail pioneer of the west whose fortitude during the days that tried women's souls has been an example from which I have drawn courage and renewed calm in time of stress and dismay in my own life."

SCATTERINGS

THE Tech Artist course will sponsor a Mexican Tipica orchestra concert here early in 1937. . . . It is not Torreblanca's that played here several years ago. . . . Cal Farley, who with his wife and their daughter visited in Europe last summer, has given 78 illustrated lectures of his trip. He expects to make 150 talks before he is through. . . . James Stewart of the movies has a most expressive right eyebrow. . . . The moon and the stars never seem so bright and the sky so clear as at this time of the year. . . . Monday is the shortest day of the year. . . . Don't let a fire from carelessness mar your Christmas. One tiny spark from a candle has all the makings of a holacaust. . . . Oscar of the Waldorf has a formula for matrimonial happiness. Here it is in brief: Before the wedding, spend more time in your mother's kitchen and less in the cocktail lounge. Afterward, get the meals on your kitchen range and not at the delicatessen.

POOR TRAVELING MAN!

"CHRISTMAS on the road! Pity the poor traveling salesman, hundreds of miles from his hearth. See him sitting in a poker game on Christmas Eve instead of trimming the tree. See him sipping the contents of a tall glass wherein tinkle little cubes of ice. See him smoking a Havana instead of stoking the furnace. See him eating a midnight snack with four other miserable and lonesome companions, exiles of trade, castaways of commerce.

"Christmas morning comes. Instead of rising at dawn to tend the furnace, instead of shivering through a frigid house in bathrobe and slippers, he sleeps soundly and sweetly until ten or eleven in the morning. Then his breakfast is served in bed and he reads the morning papers in luxurious ease."

Lovely Coeds Presented By Club Sisters

Realistic Winter Scene Made By Smilax And Snow; Three Members And 18 Pledges Are Introduced To Guests

OPENING the formal season at Texas Technological college, Sans Souci club held its annual presentation dance Friday evening in the Allen downtown auditorium from 9 until 12 o'clock. Eighteen pledges and three members were introduced at 9:30 o'clock while Ned Bradley's orchestra played "Roses of Picardy," the club song.

Silver smilax, gleaming snow, and frosted greenery made a realistic winter scene which formed the setting of the presentation. Initiates stepped from a snow bank to be introduced before glittering artificial trees. A cluster of silver bells was suspended from the center of the ceiling which was a solid mass of silver painted smilax interspersed with blue lights. Sparkling greenery and silver bells circled the hall.

Sponsors of the organization were chaperones. They are Mesdames Lorenz Ellis and R. M. Chitwood, and Miss Jonnie McCrery.

Misses Margery Clevenger, Pauline Jones, and Tommie Davenport were members initiated last year who were introduced.

Miss Henri Sue Boone, escorted by Robert Koger, wore white slipper-satin trimmed in red and royal blue. Her corsage was of American beauty roses.

Powder blue chiffon studded with rhinestones was the costume chosen by Miss Jane Wilson, whose escort was Warren Nobles. Her flowers were pink rosebuds.

Chooses Black Taffeta

Miss Betty Smith, wearing black taffeta with red rosebuds, was escorted by Noel Edgar Thompson.

Christmas Night Table For Jaded Appetites May Be Made Delightful

A bowl of appetising fruit is a simple but effective centerpiece for the informal Christmas night supper table. Rough linen mats in bright colors make an attractive background for the cream-colored china.

BY MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE

Christmas night supper in the home where there are holiday guests can be made almost as delightful as the Christmas dinner.

The hostess, seeking to tempt turkey-jaded appetites, may easily prepare foods quite different from those she served at the noon meal.

A salad platter of crisp vegetables or fish . . . a tray of relishes, assorted cheeses and a variety of wafers . . . a Welsh rarebit and a bowl of fruit—all of these combinations are a pleasing deviation from the usual pickup of holiday dinner leftovers. Coffee, tea, chocolate or cider may complete the menu.

The kitchen is often a cozy gathering place — especially if the guests help to make their own sandwiches from an assortment of fillings and breads conveniently placed about.

Fillings Are Suggested

From the following list of fillings you may find several which will fit into your menu:

Minced ham and pickle relish, liverwurst mixed with cream, sliced cold meats, cream cheese and olives, minced celery and shrimp, Swiss cheese and slices of dill pickle, minced onions blended with French dressing, sliced tomatoes and lettuce, cheese and dates, orange marmalade and cream cheese, scrambled eggs and broiled bacon bits.

Any of these mixtures may be spread on hot buttered toast or crackers. Or they may be used as fillings for bread or toast sandwiches.

Steamed and home-baked breads are especially good made into sandwiches. Among them are nut, date, prune, raisin, fig, orange, banana-nut, bran or Boston brown breads. Since all of them will remain moist for several days they may be made a day before being used.

Buffet Suppers Popular

The hostess may prefer a buffet supper with foods previously prepared for Christmas night, however. In that case she may plan jellied fish or fruit salad molds, a gaily-garnished baked ham, trays of relishes, a variety of piquant sandwiches, tiny cheesed biscuits or small hot rolls, a sherbet and a plentiful supply of Christmas cakes, cookies and confections.

Since informality is always linked with Yuletide festivities the more informal the supper is the better. So bowls and trays of foods may be placed on a table or a buffet in the dining room or on tables in the various other rooms where the guests can help themselves.

Dishes of cracked nuts, figs, raisins, dates (stuffed or plain), salted nuts, candied fruit peels, cookies, sliced fruit and pound cakes, assorted fruits and doughnuts will also prove popular.

Hattie Mae Lasiter presided at the bride's book where 48 guests registered. The rooms were decorated with mistletoe, red candles, holly and other Christmas suggestions.

The honoree entered the room in company with her mother, Mrs. J. M. Caddell; the bridegroom-elect's mother, Mrs. B. Terrell, and Madge Countess who was dressed as Santa Claus.

The program included readings, songs and presentation of gifts to the honoree. Refreshment plates were decorated in red and green motif. Holly wreathes hand-painted on white cards were plate favors.

"At home they are having Christmas dinner. His aunt from Portland is there—the aunt who disapproved of his marriage. His cousin from Keokuk is there—the one who has owed him five hundred dollars for five years.

"But the poor traveling salesman. He and three or four "of the boys" eat in the main dining-room, at the expense of their respective firms. French chefs create the cuisine. A soft string orchestra plays behind the palms. After dinner they all take in a musical show, and after supper they settle down for a little game of pinochle.

from Lou to Louella . . .

DEAR LOUELLA: I need to have my head examined. I guess this Christmas madness has got the best of me. I dunno, maybe it's something else. Anyway there's so much going on and I'm getting invited to so much and I'm so busy that I hardly dare accept an invitation. If I do, I either get busy and forget to go or else I remember that I am supposed to go and then get tied up with an assignment just in time not to get there.

Anyhow, I pulled a good one. Invited last week to a tea for this week, I declined the invitation because the party falls on what looked like was going to be one of my busiest days. Later last week I talked to my would be hostess who again mentioned the tea. I said "Oh, are you having a tea?" She said "Yes, it is the one I invited you to." I said "Yes, yes, I remember. I'm coming, too."

They say there isn't a phychiatrist in town.

A Sad Story

Once before when there were a million and ten things happening all in one week, I got busy and forgot to go to a luncheon. My hostess called after it was over and said she missed me. Embarrassed, I thought "Well, it's always better to tell the truth than to hatch up a fib" and so I explained that I had a lot of things on my mind and just forgot to go. She said "Well, I appreciate your frankness but I don't feel at all flattered."

What'll I do, get a secretary to follow me around like a bodyguard or leave town? Frankly, I don't believe I am alone in my predicament. I think we all live too fast. We all need a good long rest. Well, at least, a good night's sleep.

BY the way, aren't the Christmas cards lovely this year? Several local artists have been working their heads off the past few months filling orders. The cards I have received to date are by far the prettiest and cleverest I have ever seen.

Did you see the cork-lined cards Blanche and Arno Dalby sent out? They say "Good Cheer" and tell how to achieve it.

One of the nicest gifts I've had this Christmas, besides a generous one from the management, was my share, and more too, of the delicious homemade candies presented to our staff by Mrs. Minnie Hines, wife of the late Fred Hines who worked here for so many years. Each year "Mrs. Hiney" remembers us and our ravenous appetites in the same manner. Last week she brought down three huge boxes of candy, one for "Hiney's" boys in the mechanical department, one for the advertising and bookkeeping floor and one for us. She has treated us this way once or twice each year since I can remember.

Quins In Santa's Sack

The biggest laugh I've had this Christmas, I guess, was when one of my two-year-old pals confided that Santa Claus was going to bring her mother quintuplets. I wish I dared tell who it is.

I wish someone would think up an original joke to play on young unmarried couples nowadays. I get so bored with checking on weddings that didn't happen. Only the other day an enemy (surely a FRIEND wouldn't do such a thing) called to tell me that Elizabeth Anne Price and Clark M. Jones were married. I asked him who he was and he wouldn't tell me. I told him thanks and that I would get the details from the Price family. A telephone to Elizabeth Anne solved the situation. She is not married.

THE Tech kids will all be pulling out for home and other places in a day or two. They got up a petition, some of them, to try to get the holiday begun Saturday but it didn't go over so big with Honorable Bradford. The Silver Key and Wrangler clubs, having planned expensive entertainments for Saturday and Monday respectively, suffered some uncomfortable moments before they learned the petition was to no avail.

A bunch of the students are going to New York with Marion Denman. They are Maxine Fry of

Role As Screen Lover's Wife Only A Part-Time Job And Pat Goes To Work

BY HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 19. (AP)—Pat Paterson is coming out of "retirement."

For two years she has been simply Mrs. Charles Boyer, wife of the films' romantic Frenchman, and very happy about it, too.

Pat is still happy, but she says being the wife of one of the screen's great lovers isn't a full-time job. She hasn't enough to do to keep her busy and, moreover, she is just as ambitious as ever.

The Boyers met in Hollywood. He had just come here from France and she had just arrived from England. Two weeks after they met, they eloped and were married. Skeptical Hollywood dragged out the adage about hasty marriages and fully expected the Boyers to repent at leisure.

"I completed a picture I was working on," Pat recalls, "and then I made one more because my contract called for one. I had been working since I was 10 years old and I felt that it was time I took a good, long rest. Charles didn't want me to work, either.

Used To Be A Gadabout

"For the last two years I have loafed. I went to France with Charles, where he makes two films a year, and for quite a while I enjoyed the freedom of having nothing more to think about than looking after Charles.

"When we returned to Hollywood, I began wondering what I'd do to kill time. I used to be a terrible gadabout, running here and there to see people, but really doing nothing. Charles is 'settled,' and I learned from him the worth of relaxing and taking it easy. But he's so busy when he's here that I'd be home alone most of the time.

"So I'm going back to work."

Miss Paterson has signed a two-picture-a-year contract with the independent Wanger company. Her pictures must be made during the six months she is here with her husband. Boyer is under contract to the same producer for the same length of time, although during that period he may make as many as four films.

Mail Box Disguised

The Boyers, when in Hollywood, live in a large, rambling house surrounded by several acres of informal garden. They do not accept many social engagements and their entertaining consists of one or two small dinner parties a week. In France, where Boyer owns a home, Miss Paterson says she and Charles travel whenever they are free. They particularly like the south of France and the gaming tables of the casinos there. They both like to gamble, at chemin-de-fer and baccarat. They seldom visit the Hollywood gaming houses because they don't like "that awful roulette game."

The mail box at the gate of the Boyer home here still has on it the name of Director Eric Pommer, the former occupant. Miss Paterson explains:

"I don't like to have women coming up here to get a peek at my husband. If they saw his name on the mail box, they'd come in droves."

The English actress, Pat Paterson, has ended her two-year "loaf" by signing a two-picture-a-year contract.

Needlecraft Club Party Is Given By Mrs. Glenn Smith

Needlecraft club members attended a Christmas tree party Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Glenn Smith, 2102 Seventh street. The house was decorated in Christmas colors which also were featured in the refreshment plate. Favors were plaques, hand-painted by the hostess.

The program included two readings by little Elizabeth Ann Bentley; chalk talk, "The Night Before Christmas," Mrs. Smith. Gifts were exchanged.

Others attending were Mesdames Arthur Wright, J. S. Hollingworth, T. E. Scott, Alfred Parrack, Lloyd Bentley, T. B. Cox and O. J. Felty.

Mrs. John Lea Ackley of Waxahachie will arrive Monday to spend several days in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Betts, 2201 Twentieth Street, the guest of Miss Marion Betts.

Play Will Follow Party For Church School Wednesday

Following a Christmas tree party for members of St. Paul's Episcopal church school Wednesday night at 7 o'clock, members and friends of the church are invited to attend a pageant at 7:30 o'clock at the church.

The entertainment will be in the form of a Christmas mystery play, "Bethlehem", presented by the church school. Roles will be portrayed as follows:

Herald angel, Douglas Strawn; old shepherd, Robert Allen, jr.; young shepherd, A. D. Brown, jr.; shepherd's lad, Travis Canon; Mary, Lois Bledsoe; Joseph, Scott Bledsoe; King Kasper, Huvert Allen; King Melchoir, Charles Craig, and King Balthasar, Dee Brownfield.

Christmas Programs Are Being Planned In All Schools Of City This Week

Needy Kiddies Receive Help

Lubbock Children Cooperate With Goodfellows In Preparing Baskets; Activities Will Start Monday

Keeping in step with the city about them, Lubbock's public school children continue Monday and Tuesday to prepare Christmas baskets of food and toys for the Goodfellows. In fact, all activities in the schools during the next two days will center around seasonal plays, operettas, programs, and the putting of final touches on Christmas presents which have been made at school. In accord with their educational program, Lubbock instructors will use the special season as an incentive for the studies of students.

Decorations have made festive places of all the schools. Pictures have been painted and placed over windows at Junior High school, giving the effect of stained glass windows. Christmas trees are lighted in almost all the rooms in elementary schools. All schools can boast of at least one Christmas tree in the hall or office.

Aiding Goodfellows

Miss Mayme Alexander, visiting teacher of the school system, has been cooperating with the Goodfellows by giving names of families who have recently moved to the community and investigating other cases. Junior High school and Central Ward school have given an added service by sending boxes to the Texas schools of correction, where eleven Lubbock children will spend the holidays.

In all schools students have been given opportunities to buy Christmas seals to aid in the national fight against tuberculosis.

Senior High school will begin its Christmas activities on Monday afternoon when students and guests attend the tea given in the homemaking department. On Tuesday morning the students will attend special programs in their vocational guidance groups. Here students will bring toys and food to help the Senior High Mother's club. These gifts will play an important part in the Christmas pageant on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock when the dramatic and music departments present it in the auditorium.

Final Program Tuesday

At Junior High school the final program will be on Tuesday afternoon when "The Little Lame Prince," a play, will be presented by Mrs. F. L. Tolbert's dramatic club. Joan Hale and Bernice Cocanougher will have the principal speaking parts. Each room in Junior High school is also preparing a basket for the needy. Some rooms have found families they wish to prepare a basket for, while others are giving theirs to Mrs. Milam's orphanage or the Goodfellows.

Merchants of Lubbock are assisting Mexican children in Guadalupe school with their Christmas plans, according to Mrs. George Duval. They will give candy and fruit to all students in the school.

After lunch Tuesday the school will gather in the auditorium and sing carols, after which the gifts will be distributed.

Friends Are Invited

Mothers and friends are to be invited to attend the special programs at Sanders school Tuesday afternoon. Names in the room are being exchanged, and after toys have been unwrapped and played with they will be donated to the Goodfellows.

Gifts for the needy are being placed on a tree in the hall at K. Carter and Dupre schools. Special programs will be given in the home rooms of each school.

Original play productions and parties have been featured at Hunt school during the past week. Three teachers in the school, Mrs. J. T. Shaver, Mrs. Pearl Watson, and Miss Mildred Boone have made manger scenes which have been lighted and placed in the reception hall. Tuesday afternoon Hunt school will have a program at the Central Baptist church. The program is being directed by Mrs. J. T. Shaver and Mrs. Dorothy Hodges.

Mickey Rooney's first song, "When I Grow to Be a Man," is now on the market.

Causes And Treatment Of Colds Are Described By Doctor In Radio Talk

Victims of common colds should know of serious complications which may result and recognize the cold as a "malady which is capable of and does cause serious illness," Dr. Fred W. Standefer told a radio audience last week.

"The most common complications developing from a cold are sinusitis, ear involvement, running ears, mastoid, bronchitis, and pneumonia," he said.

A cold may best be treated by a nourishing diet and absolute rest in bed in a comfortably heated, well ventilated room, he said.

Not only is it necessary for the patient's health but for the protection of others that he should isolate himself. "Colds are very contagious, therefore people suffering from a cold should protect society from exposure just the same as we expect them to protect us from measles, small pox, or any other communicable disease."

"Purgatives never assist a patient to overcome this malady. It does, in my mind, produce a great deal of harm. Since we have no specific medication we must depend upon building up the body resistance, in this way assisting nature to overcome the malady."

Serum Sometimes Helps

Probably 50 per cent of individuals taking cold serum are benefitted, he said. A person particularly susceptible is advised to take a serum with the "hope" but not with the assurance that it will help. Cold vaccine sometimes has a good effect.

"It is almost universally believed that exposure to cold is a dominant causitive factor in producing the so-called common cold. This in a measure is correct but is not as great a causitive factor as it is thought to be. Getting too hot, especially in over-heated houses and then sudden exposure to the cold outside or chilling drafts cause more colds than exposure to the elements outside. If we would be more careful and keep our homes never heated above 70 to 80 degrees and at all times well ventilated, avoiding drafts of any character, we would do more to avoid colds than by any other one single measure."

Doctor Standefer spoke over Radio Station KFYO Wednesday morning on the Parent-Teacher association health program.

"Ant eggs," used as food for cage birds, are not eggs, but the pupae, or third stage in the life of the ant.

Gossip Of Filmland

Fred Astaire At Last Will Be Given Chance To Star In Film By Himself

BY DAN THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 19.—At last Fred Astaire actually is going to star in a picture all by himself. Rumored for the last year or more, Fred's solo venture now has become a reality. P. G. Wodehouse's "A Damsel In Distress" has been selected as the story and George and Ira Gershwin now are working on the musical numbers.

FRED ASTAIRE

Incidentally, this picture will do more than just give movie fans a chance to see how they like Astaire without red-headed Ginger Rogers, who has accompanied him every foot of the way on his meteoric ascent to the cinema heavens.

It will prove whether or not Fred is solo starring timber, as it will be his first venture into the spotlight alone. Even before he invaded Hollywood, he always shared honors with his sister, Adele. Consequently, he always has been somewhat handicapped in proving his own drawing power. Now he has his chance.

Jean Likes "Stills"

POSING for "stills"—the photographs taken at the end of each scene—proves an anti-climax for most movie stars. Enacting the scene usually is filled with such tension or excitement that the stars often feel the letdown to such an extent they don't like to pose for the "stills."

Such isn't the case with Jean Arthur, however. The blonde star, now working in Walter Wanger's "History Is Made At Night," places the same importance on these "stills" that she does on her work before the movie cameras. Of course, there's a reason. Long before the movies ever heard of her, Jane had faced still cameras hundreds of times. She helped put herself through school in New York by modeling fashions for commercial photographers. As a matter of fact, it was this work which led to her first break in pictures. Therefore, she realizes how important still photos can be.

Tow-Heads Needed

JUST in case you men may be interested, Hollywood definitely is in the market for some blond leading men. Casting directors are literally tearing their hair over the shortage of tow-heads for top male spots—Nelson Eddy, Gene Raymond and Ralph Forbes comprising the entire membership in this division.

But take a tip from us. Don't be lured to Hollywood by this or any other bait unless you are able to live for a year without working. Even if you're another Nelson Eddy, it's apt to take you that long to get a foothold.

Still Anne And Owen

ROMANTIC Note: Pay no attention to the rumors of heart interest between Anne Shirley and Broderick Crawford. He simply drives her to the studio so she can lunch with his pal, Owen Davis, Jr. That is the real romance—and I mean real.

This And That!

FRANCES Langford is giving all her friends boxes of oranges from her Florida estate for Christmas.

Walter Wanger has taken up Pat Paterson's option for another year. Her first assignment will be "Wuthering Heights," which will co-star Sylvia Sidney and Charles Boyer.

Buddy Ebson is canvassing all of his friends for a name for his new boat.

Sylvia Sidney wires from New York that she has been so busy seeing shows she hasn't even been able to do any shopping—one of her principal reasons for going to New York.

Youth Confesses To Killing Chum

NEW YORK, Dec. 19. (AP)—John Macari, 13-year-old inmate of a boys' training school, was said by police today to have confessed the killing of his 10-year-old chum, Francis Laino, whose body was hidden for three months in the locked closet of a vacant tenement house.

Police said Macari gave the directions which led to the finding of the body. Dr. Herbert S. Williams, superintendent of the school at Warwick, N. Y., where Macari is now an inmate telephoned the information to police.

Police said Dr. Williams told them Macari confessed killing Laino after quarreling with him over the division of stolen loot on September 18. A widespread search has been in progress since the Laino boy failed to return to his home that night.

Death Motive Being Sought

Man Plunges From Airplane And Crashes Into A House; Gas Line Under Residence Broken By Fall

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 19 (AP)—Officers sought a motive today for the 3,500-foot death plunge yesterday of Arturo Trevino, 25-year-old grocer.

Trevino's body, hurtling from a plane over San Antonio, crashed through the tin roof, ceiling and floor of a residence, breaking a gas line under the house. It barely missed Mrs. Frank Padalecki, her two-month-old son, Alvin, and Miss Annie Gawlik.

Paid For Ride

Pilot Victor James said Trevino paid him $3 for a 15-minute plane ride and selected an open cockpit ship. He declined to wear a parachute. After 10 minutes in the air James said Trevino tapped him on the shoulder and pointed at something on the ground. The roar of the motor drowned out what he said.

"Suddenly I noticed the plane shake as from a disturbance," James said. "I looked around and there was Trevino perched on the edge of the cockpit behind me. He waved goodbye and plunged."

The grocer landed within a few blocks of his store. A brother, Santiago Trevino, identified the body but could advance no motive.

Justice of the Peace E. H. Talbert withheld formal verdict until today.

The accident happened at the Coulter home in Ponder, Denton county, when the father, William Coulter, used kerosene in starting a fire in a stove. The house burned to the ground.

Coulter and his daughter, Billie Earline, 8, were critically burned while Mrs. Coulter suffered less serious injuries. They were brought to a Denton hospital for treatment.

Judge Homer L. Pharr Will Return To Private Practice Of Law After Almost 10 Years Of Bench Service

JUDGE HOMER L. PHARR

Almost 10 years on the bench, 72nd District Court Judge Homer L. Pharr late this month will establish a law office in Lubbock National bank building—will return to practice interrupted when he was appointed to the 72nd bench Feb. 26, 1927, when the new 99th district was established.

While his practice will be independent, he will be in offices to be jointly occupied by himself and Turner Adams.

Appointed By Moody

Judge Pharr was appointed by Gov. Dan Moody and was elected in 1928 and reelected in 1932. Practice of law in Lubbock was begun in 1923, as a partner of the late Sen. W. H. Bledsoe. He established independent practice in March, 1925.

Earlier, Judge Pharr had been county judge of Hopkins county, running for that office after being discharged from the army, his enlistment in which brought 10 months service in this country and 10 overseas. He was a regimental sergeant major of the 359th infantry and later was with the fourth army corps headquarters, in charge of the personnel section.

Started Practice In 1916

Judge Pharr's education was obtained in the University of Texas law school. He was admitted to the Texas bar in 1913, went back to the university, then taught school six years in Hopkins, Hunt and Collingsworth counties "to pay university expenses", and started practice in 1916.

He was married in 1921 at Sulphur Springs, and he and Mrs. Pharr have two sons, 10 and 5 years, and a daughter, 7. They live at 2608 Twenty-second street.

Shirley Temple Starts Her Fourth Year As An Actress

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Dec. 19. (AP)—Shirley Temple, the million-dollar baby they found in a five-cent picture, begins her fourth year today as a contract actress.

She is not yet eight years old.

Three years ago, Dec. 19, 1933, she was an unknown little girl, working on a week-to-week basis in a series of one-reel baby pictures. On that day, she came with some 149 other children—most of whom also had dimples and curls—to try out for a brief song-and-dance bit in the musical film, "Stand Up And Cheer."

Today, she is the No. 1 box-office attraction of the motion picture world.

Cleaning Shops Do Big Business As Skunk Visits

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Dec. 19 (AP)—Cleaning shops in the movie colony were doing a rushing business today, as a result of a dog's encounter with a skunk.

It all happened at a glittering dinner party given by Edgar Allan Woolf, scenario writer.

Woolf's dog, a long-haired spaniel cornered a skunk in the back yard during the progress of the party. The skunk defended itself in traditional manner, and the dog, bewildered and half-blinded, ran into the dining room and hid under the table.

Among those who left hurriedly were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lytell, Scenarist Florence Ryerson, blonde Mary Carlisle—and Edgar Allan Woolf.

Trio Dead In Fire At Home

Little Girls Say Goodbye To Playmates At A Christmas Party And Few Minutes Later Die In Flames

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 19. (AP) — Three little girls bade goodbye to playmates at a Christmas party, talked again of long-wished-for gifts, then died in flames, early today.

The children, Edith Jane, 12, Phyllis Anne, 9 and Audrey 6, stayed at home while their mother, Mrs. Melvin Swartzlander took playmates home from the party in the fire engine house at Natrona Heights.

Home In Flames

While the mother was away the fire sirens shrieked; fire engines tore out of the building gaily decorated and filled with happy youngsters a few minutes before.

Firemen found 12-year old Edith Jane in a bathroom where she had sought refuge. Little Phyllis Ann had crawled beneath the bed; Audrey covered her head with a blanket.

Their father was away—he had put them in bed just a few minutes before, then gone to work on a night shift in a mill.

Widow Fights To Aid Colony

Mrs. Edward MacDowell Gives Herself Wholly To Ideal; She Has Submerged Herself Before For A Cause

BY CHARLES NORMAN

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP)—At 82 Mrs. Edward MacDowell has given herself wholly to an ideal—to save the famous colony at Peterboro, N. H., named for her husband, where artists, writers and musicians go each year for creative work.

It is not the first time she has submerged herself for a cause. She was a promising concert pianist when she married the American composer.

"I gave up my playing," she says, "because his talent was more important than mine, and I became, instead, an excellent cook."

She smiles an old-fashioned smile in her room at a little midtown hotel which has hardly felt the march of the years since 1900. The room, too, with its curtains and antimacassars and bric-a-brac, provides an old-fashioned frame for this little, white-haired woman with her hair done up as it must have been a quarter of a century ago, who speaks in quiet, gentle tones, and who tries desperately, valiantly, to efface herself from the project she is outlining—and fails.

Procession Of Talent

After 25 years of seeing a steady procession of talent of young Guggenheim Fellowship holders and older Pulitzer prize winners, she fears the clony may have to shut down.

Last fall she returned to the concert stage to play her late husband's compositions—and to talk about the colony.

It was in 1896 that the MacDowells bought an old, deserted farmhouse and 100 acres for $1500. It was apparent the composer's illness was a fatal one. In the last year of his life it became his intense wish that the place where he had found solace from his affliction and where he had done his best work should be used by artists after him.

Cabins In The Woods

The place where MacDowell composed his "Keltic Sonata," "New England Idylls" and "Fireside Tales," became, through incorporation, "a colony where working conditions most favorable to the production of enduring works of imagination shall be provided for creative artists."

Its comfortable cabins in the woods, where none may call save by invitation, have been used by Hervey Allen, Edwin Arlington Robinson, Carl Carmer, Stephen Vincent Benet, Paul Green, Willa Cather, DuBose Heyward, Thornton Wilder, Sara Teasdale, among the many writers; Aaron Copland, Douglas Stuart Moore and Roy Harris among the composers; Glen Coleman, Raymond Jonson, F. Tolles Chamberlain, among the painters and sculptors.

"There is no danger of losing the place," Mrs. MacDowell says. "There is no mortgage, and it cannot be sold. But I believe there ought to be an oasis in the creative life to which an artist can go. I do not believe in the idea of a poet-in-a-garret. Only under comfortable circumstances can an artist give his best."

The colony now has 600 acres.

"I have been living all this time," Mrs. MacDowell says, "on royalties from my husband's music."

"Now isn't it wonderful that after 25 years a man who has died can still continue to support his wife?"

Marie Makes The Grade In Pictures; She Kept Her Mink And Went Hungry

At 19, Marie Wilson has spent three years and $11,000 breaking into the movies.

BY HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 19. (AP)—This is the story of a little girl who spent $11,000 trying to break into the movies.

Her name is Marie Wilson and, on the screen, she is the personification of the beautiful-but-dumb blonde. She's in the movies, as you perhaps know, but not because she had $11,000, nor because she is dumb.

Marie is a much wiser girl now, at 19, than she was when she came here three years ago from a nearby small town. She has had a three-year struggle, her pride often has been hurt and she often has been very hungry. Marie now knows her way around and she knows all the answers, but for business reasons she remains the beautiful-but-dumb blonde.

Listen to Marie tell how she determined to make a splash:

"My father died when I was eight, and I was supposed to get his estate then. But litigation went on for eight years and I was 16 before I got my inheritance. It had dwindled from $90,000 to $11,000.

"I didn't know the value of money, but I knew I needed certain things. One of them was a mink coat, a $1,500 one. I bought a shiny new car, paid a year's rent on a house and furnished the house. I bought heaps of clothes and shoes and hats and pretties.

"One day, only two weeks after I had splashed, I phoned the bank. The cashier said, 'You are overdrawn $1.35.' . . . Well, I was a little unhappy about it."

Marie now couldn't wait for opportunity to knock. She had to go looking for it. Marie was rebuffed right and left. Her clothes made an impression, but she didn't. For several weeks, she and her mother lived on $70 Marie got by cancelling her auto insurance policy. She traded her expensive car for a smaller one—and some cash.

But Marie refused to sell the mink coat. In Hollywood, a mink coat spells success. Marie wanted to look successful, even if she didn't feel that way.

"I worked a little, as an extra, but my earnings over a two-year period were less than a dollar a day," Marie says. "I went on the cuff for rent and groceries and dramatic lessons. I'm still paying back the people who were so kind to me."

Marie eventually convinced someone she should have a screen test. The thing she had had the most experience doing was asking for jobs. That's what the test consisted of—Marie talking about the difficulties of getting a job.

In seven months, she's had roles in seven pictures. And her Warner contract means she'll have many more.

Strip-Tease Act At A Burlesque Show Leaves Man Without A Memory

The victim, about 25 years old, walked into Bellevue hospital last night and told Dr. Allan Murphy:

"Doctor, a funny thing happened to me. I went to a burlesque show tonight and when I came out, my mind was a blank. I couldn't remember who I was or where I came from."

Dr. Murphy sent him to the psychopathic ward as an amnesia victim.

Feminine Flier Is Injured As She Bails Out Of Plane

PARIS, Dec. 19 (AP)—Maryse Hiltz, feminine flier who last summer broke both the French men's and women's altitude records, was seriously injured today in a parachute jump.

She bailed out of her plane when the ship developed motor trouble during a trial flight near Istres.

The ship, of American manufacture, had been brought to France from the United States by Michel Detroyat, French pilot. Detryoat was standing nearby when the plane plunged to earth. He hurried to the woman pilot's assistance.

The flier landed in a swamp, breaking two ribs and suffering many lacerations. She was taken to a hospital at Marseille.

Dancer Deaf

She never has heard a note of music, but blond Frances Woods, above, deaf mute, is successful as a featured dancer in a Chicago night club. Her dancing partners explain she keeps perfect time by feeling the rhythm of the music with her toes. Miss Woods was educated in schools for the deaf in Youngstown and Columbus, O., and has studied dancing since she was 14.

The New England shilling was the first coin issued in this country by American colonists. Distributed in defiance of royal British decree, it was highly popular as a gesture of independence.

Collin County Man Is Killed

Wife Finds Body Of Husband Beside His Wrecked Auto A Few Minutes After He Had Passed Her On Road

SHERMAN, Dec. 19. (AP) — Mrs. Willie P. Pass, wife of Collin county's state highway engineer, found her husband dead today beside his wrecked car a few minutes after he had passed her and a friend between here and McKinney.

Pass, 45, who moved here in May, was en route to McKinney to begin his day's work. Mrs. Pass and Mrs. L. L. Hendrick were driving to Dallas.

Waved Gaily To Her

Pass waved gaily to his wife as he passed her on the outskirts of this city. She found his body four miles beyond.

Investigators had not determined the cause of the accident. Pass' car apparently left the road and he was thrown clear. The vehicle was demolished.

He had been employed by the state highway department for a number of years.

IS IN PANAMA

Miss Ella Loyce Gentry, daughter of Mrs. Ella Gentry, 1614 Avenue J, has landed in Cristobal, Panama, where she is to spend four months in theatrical and radio engagements. She will play a piano accordion, Mrs. Gentry said.

The past two years, Miss Gentry has spent in New York City studying pipe organ with Professor Yon.

Denmark has the most highly organized agricultural industry in the world.

Great Scourge Being Battled

Three States Are Being Used As Giant Test Tube While Science Tries For Infantile Paralysis Weapon

BY W. I. TRUBY

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 19. (AP)—Medical science—using Alabama, Tennessee and Mississippi as a giant test tube—is analyzing the merits of a new alum-picric acid nasal spray as an infantile paralysis preventative.

Faced with the worst epidemic in Alabama's history, Dr. J. N. Baker, state health officer, called on the U. S. Public Health service at Washington, D. C., for aid. The answer was Dr. Charles Armstrong and his new spray, proved on monkeys but never tested on man.

The spray is made by mixing the alum and picric acid—both astringents—in a salt solution. Administered through the nose, it forms a coating over the open end of the olfactory or smelling nerve and may prevent the paralysis germ from entering the nerve and making its way into the brain.

Cautious medical leaders have refused to stake their reputations on a prediction that the spray will be successful.

Dr. Baker declined even to credit the spray with the diminishing number of cases recorded after it had been used 10 days.

"It is too early," he said, "to draw conclusions or accumulate data to prove our point. But out of the general use of the spray, we hope we can conclude that it is worthwhile."

One indirect test—which Dr. Baker again cautiously refused to accept as proof—is that no person who took the spray has been affected.

Health authorities found an enthusiastic backer in Governor Bibb Graves who immediately ordered the hundreds of state employes to take the spray at state expense and led off by taking it himself.

Next day he gave orders to spray every person confined in prisons, jails, insane hospitals and charity institutions in Alabama, and called on the public to join in "spraying."

Tennessee and Mississippi, with fewer cases than Alabama, took up the campaign and their residents also blinked a little as the pungent liquid burned slightly.

The WPA, PWA, Resettlement and other governmental agencies ordered their employes in the three states sprayed and some cities established free clinics.

Physicians smiled at reports that victims of hay fever, mastoid and antrum trouble were claiming the spray gave them relief.

Three Negro Children Face Murder Charge After Wreck

TEXARKANA, Tex., Dec. 19 (AP)—Murder charges were on file today against three negro children in connection with the wreck of a St. Louis-Southwestern train which killed Fireman Home W. Wynn of Commerce near Corley Tuesday.

Deputy Sheriff Harry Monsarrat of Bowie county said the trio, Albert Matthews, 14, his sister, Dorothy Mae, 12, and their cousin, Eloise, 9, admitted placing a brake shoe on the track "to be flattened out."

County Attorney W. N. Harkness said they would be tried in juvenile court.

Grace Bradley Is Summoned To Appear In Court Hearing

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19 (AP)—Process servers handed Grace Bradley, film actress, a summons today to appear in superior court Wednesday to show cause why she should not be cited for contempt of court for not giving a deposition.

She was served with papers two weeks ago requiring her to appear and give a deposition in the $18,000 breach of contract suit which Al Rosen has filed against her. She did not appear on the date specified, however, reporting she was ill.

Homemade Candies Add To Pleasure Of Parties; Appropriate For Gifts

Christmas candies add to the pleasure of holiday parties and make appropriate gifts. Here is an array of fudge, cocoanut candies and caramel fondant rolls which is both colorful and appetizing.

BY MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE

Caramels, fudge, the old favorite, and fruit balls are in vogue with the approaching of Christmas.

Time-honored Yuletide confections as well as "turkey and stuffin'" are essential to any well-rounded program of food preparation for the holiday season.

The following candies and confections are both tasteful and colorful:

ENGLISH TOFFEE

1 cup dark brown sugar	¼ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons light corn syrup	2-3 cup water
4 tablespoons butter	1 teaspoon vanilla
	½ cup chopped nuts

Mix all the ingredients except vanilla and nuts. Boil gently, without stirring, until a soft ball forms when a portion is tested in cold water. Add vanilla and pour into a shallow buttered pan. Sprinkle with nuts. When stiff, mark into squares.

PEPPERMINT STICKS

3 cups sugar	½ teaspoon oil of peppermint
1-3 teaspoon cream of tartar	Fruit coloring
1 1-2 cups water

Mix sugar, cream of tartar and water. Boil gently and without stirring until a fine thread forms when a portion is poured from a spoon. Remove at once and pour into two shallow dishes. Do not touch nor move in 15 minutes. Add peppermint and desired coloring and beat each dish separately until thick and creamy. Knead until soft. Wrap in waxed paper and chill 24 hours or longer. Knead again until soft, shape into 1-2 inch strings and cut off two inch pieces.

SMITH COLLEGE FUDGE

2 cups sugar	2 tablespoons butter
1 cup light brown sugar	1½ cups milk
3 squares chocolate	¼ teaspoon salt
	2-3 cup black walnuts
	1 teaspoon vanilla

Boil gently the sugars, chocolate, butter, milk and salt, stirring frequently. When a soft ball forms as a portion of the candy is tested in cold water, remove from the fire and do not move for 20 minutes. Beat until thick, add the rest of the ingredients and pour into a shallow buttered dish. Mark into squares.

MAPLE SEAFOAM

1 cup brown sugar	¼ teaspoon salt
1½ cups maple syrup	2 egg whites, beaten
2-3 cup water	½ cup nuts
	½ teaspoon vanilla

Mix the sugar, water and salt. Boil gently and without stirring until a "hard" click ball forms when a portion of the candy is tested in a cup of cold water. Pour into beaten egg whites and beat until stiff. Add the rest of the ingredients. Drop the candy from the tip of a spoon onto waxed paper. Chill until firm.

PEANUT CLUSTERS

2 one-half pound sweet chocolate bars	2½ cups shelled roasted peanuts
⅛ teaspoon salt	¼ teaspoon vanilla

Mix chocolate and salt in a double boiler, heat until melted. Add nuts and vanilla. Arrange nuts in clusters on waxed paper. Chill until firm.

CANDIED FRUIT PEEL

4 cups orange strips	2 cups water
	Sugar

Cut orange skins into thin strips. Add water and simmer 15 minutes. Cool slightly. Using spoon, discard the white part next to the skin. Cover by four inches with cold water and slowly bring to a boil. Boil 15 minutes or until skin is very tender when tested with a fork. Drain and measure. Add equal portions of sugar and 1-2 cup boiling water. Simmer until liquid has been absorbed. Stir with a fork. Sprinkle cooked peel onto plate spread with sugar. Straighten out each piece of peel on waxed paper to dry.

Grapefruit can be prepared the same way except that it will require three cookings in place of the two. A dash of salt (1-8 teaspoon) added to the last water will improve the flavor.

Edith Maxwell Is Confident She Will Not Go To Prison

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 19 (AP)—Edith Maxwell hung up her Christmas wreath today and said she had to find a job.

The 22-year-old mountain country girl was convicted by a Wise county jury of second degree murder in the death of her father, but expressed confidence today she would not have to serve the 20-year term recommended by the jurors.

The former school teacher returned to her new home in Chesterfield county countryside today.

"I want a job while I am out on bail, and I'm willing to take almost any kind I can get, for we need money badly," she said.

Motions for appeal will be argued in Wise court in March unless defense attorneys change their plans.

The Year's "Best Stories"

AS is always the case at year's end, executives of the big news organizations are, at the request of wide-awake editors, selecting the "biggest wire stories of 1936."

The Editor of The Avalanche-Journal has seen several such selections thus far and the experts are in complete accord for the first five stories. The list runs: 1. The abdication of King Edward; 2. The Spanish civil war; 3. The Roosevelt landslide; 4. Death of King George V; and 5. Execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

From a national and international standpoint, doubtless the experts are correct in their selections but from the point of view of the South Plains, for instance, they are wrong—or The Avalanche-Journal skids badly in its selection. To our way of looking at it, the Spanish civil war and he death of King George are rated away too high and the Hauptmann electrocution much too low.

We would say unhesitatingly that from a standpoint of South Plains interest it is a toss-up between the King-Wallie story, the electrocution of Hauptmann and the Roosevelt landslide for the top spot, although, if pressed, we would rate the appeal as they are listed in this sentence. Above the George V death and considerably above the Spanish civil war, we would rate the payment of the soldiers bonus—listed by the experts below fifth place.

Of course, the selecting of "best wire news stories" is nothing more than a pastime embracing the opinions of the men who dish out the news to other men who select it, for big or little "play", for the various newspapers of the country. Yet the fact that certain stories are more interesting to New Yorkers than to South Plains people, and vice versa, indicates that the country is not as stereotyped in its feelings and views as some people feared it would become due to quick transmission of news, news pictures and radio presentations.

NOT ELEGANT, BUT FOOLISH

We noticed the other day where "elegant gifts" are again getting quite a play during this Christmas season.

Among the "elegant gifts" drawing considerable patronage in the larger cities were listed men's handkerchiefs at $15 each and ladies handkerchiefs as high as $200. Instead of calling them "elegant gifts", we would call them foolish gifts and would have no qualms about the verdict of any jury on the question.

The Avalanche-Journal is certain that in the South Plains area there are no people with such a low regard for money—and what it will do—that they would pay from $15 to $200 for a handkerchief. But it pains us to think, with so much want at Christmas time, that there are people in the larger centers of population who have so little feeling for the unfortunate that they will spend such sums for such trifles.

We have, in our time, known many lovely ladies—but none who really needs or could use a $200 handkerchief. By the same token, we have known many fine men of affairs, men of dignity and standing—but none who needs or would have a $15 handkerchief upon which to mop his brow, blow his nose or polish his spectacles.

The finer things of life are much to be desired. We've no doubt of that.

But there is something wrong with the perspective of a person who would rather have a $15 or a $200 handkerchief than a 50 cent or a $1 one and the balance of the extra expenditure to make some drab life happier at Yuletide.

And as for those willing to spend $15 and $200 for handkerchiefs—they are simply beyond hope!

We live in a time when history is made. Our great-grandchildren will pay $4.40 a seat to see the costume drama, "Edward and Wallis."

One school of thought opposes any change in the status of the war debts. It is for designating them a national monument, to lay wreaths on.

The opinion of a scientist, that man belongs to the horse family rather than the monkey tribe, is the prettiest flattery paid in years to his sense.

During a dressing-room interview, a Western college star studied the inscription on a football, the book-worm.

THE NEW BOOKS

"The White Hare," By Francis Stuart Is Beautifully Written Novel Of Irish Life; Excellent Gift Suggestions Made; "Arouse And Beware" Is New Kind Of Book On The Civil War

"THE WHITE HARE," by Francis Stuart; (Macmillan company, New York).

"THE WHITE HARE," by Francis Stuart is a slow-moving, beautifully written novel of Irish life, remarkable for its intensity of feeling and consciousness of the richness of simplicity in life.

The story involves Patrick and Dominic de Lacy, and Hylla Canavan, whom both boys love. The two boys live in a large, ram-shackle house six miles from the west coast of Ireland, supported by a small allowance from their father who is a journalist in Paris, and watched over by Annie, a faithful family servant.

Strange And Happy Life

It is a strange life and a happy one, but it does not meet with the approval of their aunt, Miss Longworth. She tries to send Dominic, who is 11, off to school, and Patrick, who is in his early 20s, to a job in a Dublin industrial plant. This calamity is averted when Hylla arrives to tutor Dominic.

Hylla marries Patrick after a long struggle against the conventions, but it is Dominic, the younger brother, to whom she is most akin. In both Hylla and Dominic is a passionate heroism, a remoteness, a brave despair, which Patrick, beloved as he is by the pair, cannot share. It is Dominic, wild and dramatic, who brings to the story its tenseness.

Holds The Reader

There is a glamour about the De Laceys which holds the reader from beginning to end. There is comedy and pathos in their impracticality, their blissful unconsciousness of the conventions, their relations with each other, and with the outside world.

They feel harmony only in the contradictions and the strangenesses of modern life. These give the novel its charm and magic.

Gift Suggestions

"SAN FRANCISCO'S CHINATOWN," by Charles Caldwell Dobie; (Appleton-Century, N. Y.). "THE ADVENTURES OF TOM SAWYER." (Heritage Press).

FOR anybody living on the western half of this land, Charles Caldwell Dobie's "San Francisco's Chinatown" is almost the perfect gift. It is not only that the book contains the whole story of the Chinese on the west coast, beautifully written; the book is illustrated by E. H. Suydam, and the illustrations are almost unique in that one cannot imagine the text without them. They are works of art—genuinely.

For anybody who doesn't have a good edition of "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" there is the new one from the Heritage Press, illustrated by Norman Rockwell. The book is shrewdly and handsomely designed, and the eight illustrations in color are amusing; for once even the chapter headings have point.

Persian Sketch Book

Cyrus LeRoy Baldridge and his wife, Caroline Singer, have produced illustrations and text respectively for one of the most beautiful books of the year—"Half the World Is Isfahan." It is a kind of Persian sketch book, fragmentary but full of the feeling of a sunny, sandy land. If you think you know Mr. Baldridge's work from his book jackets you are mistaken. His crayons and marginal sketches are fascinating.

More astonishing than any of these is a curious book called "The Bible in Art," a collection of Bible paintings through 20 centuries. The reproductions, 12 in color and 750 in black and white, are strung along the thread of the Biblical narrative; often several illustrate the same episode. The book is so impressive in format and represents so much work on the part of Clifton Harby, the compiler, that we are sure it must have a place on numerous shelves.

Three Humble Casualties

"HALF THE WORLD IS ISFAHAN," by Cyrus LeRoy Baldridge; (Oxford Press). "THE BIBLE IN ART," (Covici-Friede, N. Y.).

"AROUSE and Beware," by MacKinlay Kantor is another fine novel of the Civil war—a book, this time, which ignores the panoramic movements of great armies and concentrates on three humble casualties of the struggle.

Two federal soldiers escape from Belle Isle prison, Richmond, Va., in the early spring of 1864. Struggling northward, they pick up a young woman who, having stuck a pair of scissors into the breast of a Confederate colonel, is just as anxious to get outside the Confederate lines as they are. The three of them go on together.

Mr. Kantor describes their trip in realistic and painful detail. They blunder on, unspeakably ragged and tired and hungry and weak. As they work their way north, the two men find time to become bitter rivals for the hand of the girl. Past comradeship is forgotten; they come almost to the point of murder.

Then the common perils of their situation close in on them and the hectic rivalry has to be forgotten. They get to the front, along the Rapidan, at last; and then a Sydney Carton sacrifice by one of the three enables the other two to reach safety inside the federal lines.

Knows His Soldiers

Mr. Kantor knows his soldiers; to be more exact, he knows how war looks to the men who wage it.

The Civil War, to these people, is not a titanic clash between opposing forces; it is the lice, the hunger, and the cold of a prison camp, the subtle menace of the Virginia thickets, the mud of war-trampled roads, the smoldering yearning for a full stomach, a warm fire, the kisses of a girl.

"U. S. CAMERA," by T. L. Maloney; (Wm. Morrow). "TREES," by Thomas O. Sheckell; (Stokes).

MAKING books with a camera instead of a typewriter is getting to be a good American custom. It produces some highly entertaining books, too; not the least of their virtues is the fact that you don't have to sit up until midnight to learn how they are going to come out.

Most notable of the fall "picture books," probably, is "U. S. Camera 1936," edited by T. J. Maloney. This is a collection of some 200 photographs, contributed by amateurs and professionals—photographs of practically everything imaginable.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

PRESIDENT Roosevelt's own friends estimate coldly and calmly that he has lost—or tossed away—10 per cent of his political support in the few weeks since his overwhelming reelection. It's necessary to stress the word "political," for the populace still cheers him hysterically in movie houses and on his public appearances.

His insistence on economy has antagonized scores of Democratic members of the House. His apparent love feast with conservatives (though it may be the other way around) has distributed liberals on Capitol Hill. The bread-and-butter politicos think his South American mission a mistake; they are not interested in foreign affairs so much as in jobs. Several personal happenings—his son's engagement to a du Pont and his son-in-law's tieup with Hearst—have alienated a certain faction.

The politicos' restlessness and uneasiness constitute no threat to the President at the present time. They won't permit their inner irritation to interrupt pleasant relations with the man in the White House. But should their constituents back home sour on FDR, these minor causes of complaint could easily flare into a revolt all along the Congressional front.

PLANNED: Anti-Roosevelt grumbling rumbles far below the political surface, however. Actually the President enjoys a status akin to the prestige and power which he possessed during those "first 100 days" in March, April and May of 1933. His 11,000,000 majority transforms him into a demigod in the minds of politicians who measure men by their votes.

The government stood still while he was out of the country. Cabinet members, minor officials and emergency chieftains didn't even go to their offices for days at a stretch. "Brain trusters" eager to frame new laws twiddled their fingers. Business men and industrialists consulted subordinates for hints on presidential plans, but departed from Washington empty-handed and empty-headed. FDR threw back his head and laughed heartily when friends painted this picture for him upon his return.

Privately the President's friends confide that he wanted just such a reaction and seized the invitation to Buenos Aires as a means of obtaining it. He absented himself so that there would result both a reaction and a shakedown among politicos, business men and industrialists and his own family. Now, better than if he secluded himself in the White House since his reelection, he knows where he stands. He'll govern himself and his program accordingly.

CHEERING: There is only one sure test of a nation's progress from panic to prosperity. That is the government's annual income, which accurately measures the volume and velocity of retail demand and purchases, manufacturers' production and profits, general business and industrial activity.

Under this test the United States has come back almost 200 per cent from the economic low of 1932. Here are the federal revenues for the period 1932-1937: 1932—$2,006,000,000; 1933—$2,800,000,000; 1934—$3,116,000,000; 1935—$3,800,000,000; 1936—$4,116,000,000; 1937—$5,666,000,000 (estimated). Private estimates, barring unforseen upsets, place the 1938 return at approximately $6,500,000,000—a new high.

It is true that there has been some untested tinkering with the tax laws which will boost revenues for this year and next. Loopholes in old laws have been plugged in the New Deal drive to raise funds. But even conservative critics cheer when they peek at Uncle Sam's balance sheet.

GILDED: Appointment of Joseph E. Davies, wealthy corporation lawyer, as Ambassador to Moscow has sparked flippant remarks about casting American gold upon Soviet waters. So have his lease of a Romanoff palace and his purchase of regal furniture and foods and wines. It turns out, however, that this display of Yankee wealth does not disturb Mr. Stalin's proletarian government.

Russia's Ambassador Troyanovsky recently threw a party at Washington to celebrate Moscow's adoption of a democratic constitution. It was the most brilliant, the most gorgeous event which Washington has witnessed since the housewarming of the same embassy almost three years ago. Champagne and Scotch flowed like water from a kitchen tap. Culinary delicacies, including a seven-foot sturgeon caught in Siberian waters, decorated several tables on each floor of the erstwhile "Pullman palace." An orchestra from New York furnished jazz music until dawn. A du Pont and a Morgan were on hand. The place swarmed with New Dealers, including Mr. Davies.

As Mr. Davies departed, a wit standing near his party gazed back at the golden, glittering scene and plagiarized: "Just a Bolshevik in a gilded cage!"

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

RECENT speeches by Jim Landis of the Securities Exchange Commission, Chester Davis of the Federal Reserve Board and others reveal mounting official anxiety about the possibility of a boom running wild, with a catastrophic crash at the end.

New York financial circles are equally concerned with the same problem, and claim that the government seeks to put them on the spot. Their idea of the only sensible and effective remedy for the situation is the classic one of raising interest rates and tightening the money market to shut off an overabundance of credit. This doesn't appeal to federal agencies at all. On the contrary, Reserve Boarder Chester Davis states flatly that money will be kept cheap as long as there are "idle men and idle plants."

It is just possible that the bankers' advice is not entirely disinterested. Tight money and higher interest would materially improve bank earnings. In any case, both sides are trying desperately to duck responsibility for anything that may happen in the speculative markets.

MUST: Foreign funds in this country are an increasingly important factor in the situation. New York observers agree with high administration sources that this alien money is becoming a serious menace from three different angles: (1) It is broadening our credit base beyond control. (2) Sudden withdrawal would knock the bottom out of our markets. (3) It constantly enlarges foreign—and especially British—influence in our corporate affairs.

As to the first, financial insiders understand that Washington is panicky because the unforseen flood of funds from abroad has upset all plans to keep credit expansion in bounds. Unless it can be reversed—or at least halted—carefully calculated controls may prove as futile as one bucket of water at a forest fire. Sentiment in high quarters is that something must be done and soon.

The simplest and surest way to discourage the influx would be to cut our Treasury's gold price below $35 an ounce. But there is very little chance that this will be tried. It would "unstabilize" the dollar again and thereby create a lot of new problems. One prediction New Yorkers feel safe in making about FDR is that he will not indulge in any further monetary experiments if he can possibly find an alternative.

CHECK: Despite assurances of no new taxes from Washington, New York leaders anticipate important tax legislation at the next session of Congress.

There are persistent reports that the capital gains tax will be modified—which financial circles fervently hope are true. It is probable, however, that any modification will include an even higher levy than at present on profits resulting from the purchase and sale of stock within a single year.

This would penalize in-and-out traders—otherwise known as speculators—and would be one more logical government check on a possible speculative spree.

VALUE: A big utility company, ferreting out original cost on an ancient canal property it took over many years ago, found the following item of expense on the records of more than a century since.

"$250., to be paid to the legislature of . . . ., but only upon completion of the current session of said legislature."

Italy's Fascism Grew From Defeatism

Denied War Spoils, Mussolini Rehabilitated Nation

BY IRA BENNETT
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Italy's present system of government is a violent reaction from defeatism. The government, represented by the ancient symbol of state power, the Roman fasces, has gathered to itself all powers and liberties and calls itself fascism. The people have such individual and social freedom as the state sees fit to give them, and no more. Whoever controls the state is master of the people.

Italy was badly shaken by the World war. It joined the allies in pursuance of a secret bargain by which it was to receive rich spoils through the defeat of Austria-Hungary and Germany. Instead of playing the role of a conqueror, however, Italy suffered eclipse of martial glory by the collapse of its army at Caporetto, and narrowly escaped ruin. Reorganized and reinforced, its soldiers redeemed themselves at the Piave, but at the end Italy's role was that of a bruised and spent gladiator eager to cry quits, rather than that of a modern wielder of Rome's thunderbolts. The war cost Italy $27,792,000,000 and 650,000 men.

BENITO MUSSOLINI
. . . His objective is not clear.

Spoils Are Withheld

The exhaustion and disappointment of war was followed by deep resentment when the so-called peacemakers at Paris denied to Italy a large part of the spoils that had been promised. The people were impoverished, humiliated and discouraged. They lost faith in their government, which was weak and vacillating at best, and which rapidly lost authority over them. The cancer of communism appeared and spread and Russia's communist dictators looked upon Italy as their first and easiest prey. By 1920 the economic life of the country was paralyzed by socialist agitators, demoralized rural and urban workers, and conflicts between petty tradesmen and socialist cooperatives. Factories were seized by workers, sometimes under the national flag and sometimes under the red flag of communism. Patriotic veterans were chased off the streets. The government itself came under the influence of bolshevism. The descent into chaos seemed to be imminent and inevitable.

THE reaction began in a small way immediately after the armistice. Its nucleus was a handful of daring war veterans whose leading spirit was Benito Mussolini. He had been a socialist, but because of his ardent advocacy of Italy's entry into the war he was expelled from the socialist party in 1914. The first use of the fasces as an emblem of modern Italianism was when Mussolini organized the "Fasci d'Azione Rivoluzionaria" in 1914 for the purpose of bringing Italy into the war. In that year he established a newspaper, the "Popolo d'Italia", in Milan. His war service was arduous and self-sacrificing, and after hostilities ended he returned to his newspaper and engaged actively in politics. On March 23, 1919 he founded the "Fascio di Combattamento" in Milan with about 50 followers. It was to be a militant group, not a political party; but gradually it drew strength from all elements that dreaded communism, and by the middle of 1922 was in virtual control of the country after many sanguinary struggles with the socialists.

EDITOR'S NOTE

This is the second of a series of articles by Ira Bennett, widely known reporter, editor and magazine writer, covering world affairs. In the series Mr. Bennett analyzes the development and structure of the new patterns of government which have been growing among European nations during the past 20 years.

Additional articles in the series will be published on the editorial page of succeeding editions of The Sunday Avalanche-Journal.

Duce Astute Politician

Mussolini proved to be a consummate politician. He had been a republican, but he now adapted his policy to the actualities of Italy and revamped his party into "a voluntary militia placed at the service of the state". He proclaimed allegiance to the King, declared war against the tottering government, and prepared for a march on Rome that would mean victory or civil war. The King, instead of resisting, invited Mussolini to Rome, and the next day, October 30, 1922, the latter formed a government. Demobilizing the "Black Shirts", he organized them into the fascist militia which today constitutes the party, the secret police, and the backbone

Chess And Checkers Players' Corner

Problems And News Concerning Those Old Favorites

WIDESPREAD interest in checkers and chess over the South Plains area has prompted this "corner" of the Sunday Avalanche-Journal's editorial page. Several score persons are actively engaged in chess play and chess clubs; several hundred belong to checkers clubs and play that grand old favorite.

Here is the latest checkers and chess news, along with problems and comment.

The Chess Board

Plans to interest beginners and experienced players who live here and nearby in attending meetings of Lubbock Chess club are being considered as the club's semi-annual championship tournament draws to a close.

The play-off system in use this year has a handicap in that club attendance dropped when the final round-robin began.

The need of Lubbock Chess club, and every other similar group which meets for the enjoyment of the ancient game, is an increasing number of inexperienced players.

Persons who wish to learn the game of chess or who have played for only a short time and who wish to improve their game always are welcome at meetings of Lubbock Chess club. They will find that the more experienced players are delighted to assist them.

The neophyte should feel no embarrassment in accepting odds against a stronger player. He eventually will be playing a good game without odds.

Lubbock Chess club will have a regular meeting at the home of Dr. R. S. Underwood at 2522 Twenty-third street at 7:30 o'clock Monday night.

Doctor Underwood, defending his city title, again was at the head of the list in the second round robin.

Rod O'Neall, who qualified for the final series but who had been in Dallas, returned last week to upset at least one apple cart. He split games with Gordon Webb and apparently doomed him to finish no higher than third.

Other games reported last week: Dr. Alan L. Strout 1, John Spencer 0; Spencer 2, O'Neall 0; Webb 1, V. O. Jennings 0; Spencer 1, Jennings 0; Webb 1, Strout 0; Underwood 2, Jennings 0.

The standings:

	Previous Scores Won	Lost	Won	Lost	Pct.
R. S. Underwood	14½	3½	21½	6½	.769
A. L. Strout	14	3	21	7	.750
Gordon Webb	13½	5½	20½	8½	.736
John Spencer	11½	6½	21½	14½	.607
Rod O'Neall	11½	6½	13½	12½	.519
V. O. Jennings	9	9	9	25	.265

Jose R. Capablanca, former world's champion chess player and recognized by many as the proper challenger to the winner of the Euwe-Alekhine return match, is in New York. He is giving simultaneous displays. His home is Cuba.

J. C. Thompson reported in the Dallas Journal:

"It had been the intention of a committee representing the Texas Chess association to publish a yearbook, featuring the best games played in the state tournament held in Dallas last September. We regret to announce that it will be impossible to carry through this interesting project, which, we feel sure, would have been of great value to the chess movement of Texas. Advance orders will be returned to the subscribers immediately."

We, too, regret that the very worthwhile project was found impossible.

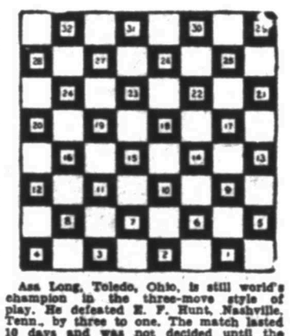

The following game, played in the Amsterdam tournament and reprinted from The British Chess magazine, shows Reuben Fine of New York steering a sure course through complicated positions:

Asa Long, Toledo, Ohio, is still world's champion in the three-move style of play. He defeated E. F. Hunt, Nashville, Tenn., by three to one. The match lasted 10 days and was not decided until the 39th game of a 40-game set. Both men were in good mental shape, and the play of each was impressive, especially when handling the weaker side of an opening. Hunt scored the first win, in the 11th game, after ten draws. Long came back to take the 13th, then the 17th, and finally the 30th. All the rest were draws.

Complete reports came from Newell Banks, chess and checker blindfold wizard, who reported the match for the papers. Banks also writes that he will be in Lubbock the latter part of January for another exhibition. If so, a rare treat is in store for us.

Play in the county-wide round robin was continued at the last Tuesday meeting at the Hilton. Two new players entered, A. V. Weaver, jr., and Geo. G. McPaul, both of Lubbock. We welcome newcomers, for their play always shows the most rapid improvement. The standings to date:

	W.	L.	Dr.	Pct.
Otho Clendennen	18	0	7	900
B. J. Greer	10	1	3	872
J. C. Williamson	9	1	3	793
Hugh Anderson	7	12	1	395
H. A. Cooper	6	3	7	350
Geo. McPaul	3	13	2	222
Leonard Ware	0	8	2	100
A. V. Weaver, jr.	0	9	3	062

We give the following game played in our Oct. tourney: Black, B. J. Greer; White, D. C. Hulsey: 11-16, 21-17, 9-13, 17-13, 4-8, 24-19, 16-20, 23-18, 8-14, 18-9, 5-14, 25-22, 13-15, 22-18, 15-24, 18-9, 14-28-19, 5-14, 26-23, 14-17, 22-18, 8-11, 18-15, 17-22, 30-26 x, 10-17, 26-19, 17-22, 19-15, 11-16, 15-11, 16-19, 23-16, 12-19, 18-14, 7-16, 28-24, 22-26, 31-22, 3-8, 29-25, 8-12, 14-9, Black wins.

X Black has a cute trick here, if white were to play 14-9.

For the second consecutive week no one solved the problem, and we submit an easy one for this week. The problem for last week was very difficult: Black on 4, 20, kings on 23, 24, 29; White on 16, 19, 22, 25; kings on 3, 15: White wins by 16-12, 23-16, 22-18, 29-22, 12-8, 4-11, 15-8, 22-15, 8-11, White wins.

The new problem for this week is an easy one, of pure strategy: Black on 12, 20, king on 22; White on 13, 19, 24, 27: White to move and win. Pamphlets will be mailed for the first local and out-of-town solutions that are correct, and for the best set of moves from a newcomer. Mail to H. A. Cooper, Shallowater.

Seventh Annual Panhandle-Plains Poultry Show Opens On January 5

Exhibits Will Be At Slaton

Arlington Man Who Was Head Of Texas Centennial's Show In Poultry Division Named To Judge Exposition

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

SLATON, Dec. 19—Seventh annual Panhandle-Plains poultry show will open here Tuesday, January 5, and close Friday afternoon, January 8, Allen J. Payne, manager of the show and secretary of the show association, announced here today. Location will be in the Acorn building, on Garza street, with show space of 80 feet by 140 feet.

Walter Burton, Arlington, who headed the poultry department of the recent Texas Central Centennial at Dallas and who is head of the poultry department of the Dallas State fair, is to judge the show, his third consecutive time in that capacity. He is a licensed American Poultry association judge and one of the outstanding experts in the Southwest.

Inflexible Rules Made

Tuesday will be "cooping day" for exhibitors and all poultry must be in place by 9 a. m. the following day.

Applications must be received by p. m., January 4, said Payne. "No ception of this rule will be permitted," he added.

Judge Burton begins his work as judge at 10 a. m. Wednesday and will complete it Thursday.

On Thursday evening at 7 o'clock the annual banquet for exhibitors will be given by the association in the Slaton community club house. Officers are to be named. Exhibitors are urged to attend. Women of the First Christian church will serve the banquet.

Prizes Announced

All birds must remain in place until after 2 p. m. Friday.

Prizes, in addition to the regular first, second and third place in standard breeds and classes, will include:

Best pari-colored display or best solid color display, $10; best cock, cockerel, hen, pullet, old pen and young pen of any variety, $5.

Turkeys, with three or more entries in a class, $2, $1 and ribbon.

There also will be 4-H club and vocational agriculture club groups, with ribbons as premiums. No entry fee will be charged.

Catalogs have been published and distributed.

Cochran Receiving Good Corn Prices

WHITEFACE, Dec. 19 (Special)—Cochran county's corn crop is being harvested now and farmers, while gathering less per acre, are getting more money for the crop.

Corn is running approximately 1,200 to 1,500 pounds per acre. Farmers get about $1 per hundred pounds. Maize heads are bringing about the same price.

Farmers sell corn by the hundred pounds now, instead of by the bushel. They have been doing this for several years and find transactions are more simple, and bookkeeping easier.

Acreage of corn in Cochran county is greater than before. Dealers estimate it at double that of 1935. Most of the present crop is coming from New Mexico into Bledsoe, west of here. The New Mexico crop is heavier, due to more spring and summer rains across the state line.

Ray Burrus, grain dealer, has leased trackage from the Santa Fe railroad and has installed grain loaders and other equipment. He has shipped four cars of shelled corn and expects to ship more soon.

Burrus has more than 500 tons of corn and grain on the ground.

Increase In Number Of Stock On Pasture Seen In Crosby

CROSBYTON, Dec. 19 (Special)—An increase in the number of farm animals on pasture is reported for this section of Crosby county. Some farmers plan to run their stock on wheat f several weeks or more and then finish on feed.

Wheat pasture is abundant. Growth is good and there is a good sub-soil moisture.

Sheriff Johnson has 2,000 lambs on wheat. John Gollehon has about 300 calves on wheat as has R. L. Prater.

John Birdwell is planning to start his operations early in January.

TRACTOR SALES GOOD

TAHOKA, Dec. 19 (Special)—Tractor sales here to Lynn county farmers have been very satisfactory this winter. So far, between 125 and 150 tractors have been sold.

Local implement dealers expect the total to reach 200 or more. A large proportion of the sales are to farmers who are trading in work animals as the down payment on the power machines.

EXPECT RECORD CROP

EAGLE PASS, Dec. 19 (AP)—Alfredo de Leon, manager of the Saltillo Chamber of Commerce, announced after a survey that a record wheat crop is expected to be harvested in the state of Coahuila beginning in April.

Acreage in the mountain districts was increased this year. Coahuila moved from fourth to second place in the past few years as a wheat producing section of Mexico.

HEGARI SHOWS PROFIT

BISHOP, Dec. 19 (AP)—Herman J. Bl land, a farmer near here, says he realized a profit of $36 an acre from a field of hegari that yielded 94 bushels an acre. He has not threshed his late fall hegari crop.

And Now They're Constructing Lakes

The above photo shows workmen completing a small lake in the Texas Panhandle, one of many sponsored by the Resettlement administration. This work may be a forerunner to a gigantic construction program of farm ponds, lakes, dams and reservoirs throughout the Great Plains region.

Science May Hold New Possibilities For Use Of Cotton Plant, Even Root

(By The Associated Press)

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. 19 (AP)—A. B. Conner, director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment station, envisions a new world for cotton to be discovered in the test tubes and crucibles of scientific laboratories.

Director Conner, a pioneer enthusiast for the development of new uses for the South's most important crop, forsees the time when chemists "may literally take the cotton plant apart and put it together again in new and more valuable combinations" to create markets for several million more bales.

"Probably the greatest need of both agriculture and industry today," he says "is a research laboratory, or a group of laboratories, to discover new uses for agricultural products and develop improvements on present methods of utilization."

Other Strides Cited

Some agricultural industries have made a beginning he says, citing the corn products laboratory in Iowa, the wheat products laboratory in Nebraska, the soybean products laboratory in Illinois, and the forest products laboratory in Wisconsin.

"Cotton, our chief cash and export crop, has lagged. Why? I think the reason lies in our failure to visualize the possibilities to picture some of the manifold uses to which the cotton plant might be put as the result of a well organized and a well supported attack on the problem."

A movement is underway to establish a cotton research laboratory in the south, possibly in Texas. The East Texas Chamber of Commerce at its recent cotton conference in Waco, voted to appoint a committee to work with Director Conner and other agencies in establishing a laboratory.

New Outlets Listed

Director Conner suggests as a beginning detailed laboratory investigations into the possibilities of finding new uses for the various parts of the cotton plant, the stalk, seed, burr, and lint. Among new outlets he lists:

Cotton bagging, which offers a potential market for 200,000 bales of low grade cotton.

Fertilizer bags, a possible market for 170,000 bales.

Bagging for grain, feed and food products. Director Conner says it is estimated if cotton bags alone were used for these purposes 600,000 bales of low grade and waste cotton would be required. Opportunities for use of cotton in arts and industries, he says, are numerous.

"What is most needed now," Conner says, "is concerted action by the South to establish a cotton research laboratory so that experimental work may begin at the earliest possible moment."

Italy's Fascism

of Mussolini's dictatorship.

THE "fascist revolution", according to Mussolini, is a permanent government. It has for its purpose the exaltation of Italy as a world power. Through the fascist party the 43,000,000 inhabitants of Italy are ruled with a rod of iron. They are organized for war. No other political party is tolerated. As Stalin gathered power into his hands by organizing and controlling the communist party in Rhasia, so Mussolini holds power through control of the fascist party in Italy.

Fascism recognizes the principle of private ownership of property and private enterprise, but asserts the supremacy of the state supersedes individual rights of any kind. By a series of bold measures, the civil rights of citizens were swept away. Free speech, freedom of the press, freedom of assembly, local home government, and even parliament have been abolished. "Why a chamber of deputies, when there are no political parties?" asked Mussolini. The monarchy is retained as "representing the historical continuity of the state."

Objectives Not Clear

The ultimate objectives of the Italian dictatorship are not clear. Although steps for formation of a corporative state were taken more than ten years ago, the process is unfinished. Mussolini changes his plans according to momentary exigencies, but the general outlines of the government provide that employers and workers, in separate corporations, shall work together under more or less compulsory direction of the Grand Council of Fascism, the central organ of the state. The members of this council are high party and government officers, directly or indirectly appointed by Mussolini in his capacity as head of the government. The party and the government are intertwined, as in Soviet Russia, and Mussolini, like Stalin, is supreme.

One of the central ideas of the dictatorships of Russia, Italy and Germany is that the state must be self-sufficient. Strenuous effort, backed by despotic power, has thus far failed to realize this idea in any of these countries. Economic difficulties have baffled bureaucracy at every turn. In the struggle the individual has suffered material and moral wrongs to a degree only faintly conceivable by Americans. In Italy's case the drive for self-sufficiency brought on the aggressive war against Ethiopia. The clash between communism and fascism in Spain threatens to bring about a collision between nations whose dictators are not curbed by the opinions or wishes of the peoples whose destinies are at stake.

Cotton Movement Slows In Section

With more than 340,000 bales of cotton ginned in Lubbock's trade territory up to December 14, movement to ports or concentration points is slowing up as the end of the season nears. There will, of course, be considerable buying during the winter, but the bulk of the heavy buying season is past.

Railroad men estimate around 250,000 to 275,000 bales have moved out of the territory. Not more than 10,000 to 12,000 bales have been trucked, the remainder going by rail. Houston is the concentration point for most cotton.

Gins have tried to keep down the number of bales of cotton on their gin yards. All the compresses operating in the territory have concentrated much on their docks. There is probably 50,000 bales of the 1935 cotton still concentrated here, mostly government cotton.

Cattle Being Pastured Now

Estimated 100,000 Head Said Pastured On Wheat In North Panhandle; Movement This Year Is Smaller

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Dec. 19—Panhandle cattlemen have nearly completed one phase of their year's activity—fall shipping—to plunge into preparations for next spring's market.

Wheat pastures throughout the Plains are spotted with cattle and sheep. It is estimated that 100,000 cattle are pasturing on wheat, a large portion coming from other states.

More than 20,000 head were being pastured recently north of Wolf Creek in Lipscomb county, a comparatively small territory, but some have been moved to feedlots.

Smaller Than Last Year

An accurate estimate of cattle shipped from the Panhandle to feedlots and markets this fall is not available, but cattlemen say the movement was somewhat less than last fall, largely because of the corn crop shortage in the Middle West.

Reports to The Cattleman, magazine of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association, show only 26,000 head shipped to feedlots or markets from August through November, but one Amarillo cattle broker says the figure should be "nearer 100,000." He says his firm shipped 25,000 head out of the state.

The largest single shipment was 3,036 three-year-old steers sold by Burnet estate to Jim Reagan of Omaha, Neb. The steers were shipped from the Four Sixes ranch in Hutchinson county in October in a special train.

Much Trading Reported

There has been much trading among Panhandle cattlemen who are holding young stock for sale next spring and fall. The largest sale was 3,900 yearlings by the JA ranch to Jack and Bobo Roach of Amarillo.

M. H. W. Ritchie, JA manager, says the ranch's shipments to markets and feedlots are less this year than last, partly because grass is good this fall.

While average prices have been slightly lower than last year, there has been an eager demand for pure bred Herefords in auction sales. J. P. Osborne of Miami grossed $12,000 on 32 animals, and Mrs. C. O. Keiser Cook grossed $10,000 in a sale at Canyon. H. A. Talley of Miami sold 31 animals here for $8,605.

Coon and Culbertson of Dalhart, said to be the largest breeders of purebred Herefords in the world, report sales the best in several years.

Books

work of advertising cameramen, and some are stunt pictures pure and simple. A few are pretty terrible, but most of them are exceedingly good, and the book as a whole is well worth examining.

Then there is "Trees," with text and 82 photos by Thomas O. Sheckell. In this book Mr. Schreckell has assembled some strikingly lovely studies of American trees—cottonwoods and aspens in Utah, elms in New York state, cypresses and eucalyptus in California, and so on—and the result is a rarely beautiful and satisfying book.

Lone trees, dead sentinels, forests, shade trees; they're all here, presented in a way that is a tribute to Mr. Schreckell's artistic sense and his skill as a photographer.

Feeds Curiosity

Governor George H. Earle of Pennsylvania, already talked of as Democratic presidential timber for 1940, exhibits his dogged determination to learn how things are run in his state. He's sampling the frankfurters included in the Eastern Penitentiary menu on a tour of inspection. The food he found good but recommends abandonment of the prison.

Tree Planting Is FFA Project

One Thousand Trees Are To Be Planted In Lorenzo Section Through Efforts Of Chapter Of Future Farmers

LORENZO, Dec. 19 (Special)—One thousand trees bought from the experiment sub-station at Lubbock will be planted in the Lorenzo community by Future Farmers of Americo chapter.

Under terms of an unique contract which provides that FFA boys furnish the trees, set them out, survey for engineering structures, and water the trees for two years for 10 cents a tree, the work has started.

Must Make Agreement

A representative farmer agrees to construct diversion terraces, ditches, check dams, and any other engineering structures necessary to provide extra water for the trees and to protect them from livestock, weeds and grass. He must keep a strip 10 feet wide on each side of the trees free from grass and weeds. The boys are making a water tank on a flat two-wheel trailer, a tank that holds 150 gallons of water. This is equipped with a water hose 50 feet long.

Most of the first 1,000 trees have been contracted and the boys may find it necessary to order a second 1,000.

The number of bishops in the Church of England has trebled in the last 80 years, but there has been a decrease of 3000 clergymen in the same period.

KIEL (AP)—The Olympia Heim, a villa occupied by American yachtsmen during the Kiel Olympic sailing races, has been turned into a lodging house for Kiel university students. TARZAN AND THE LEOPARD MEN, 127

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Tarzan's keen ears caught the sound of stealthy footsteps. "They come!" he whispered to Nkima. The monkey crept to the doorway and saw the pygmy warriors creeping up to kill their prisoner. "The little men come!" he screamed in terror. Then he fled precipitately.

The puzzled Betes glimpsed the scurrying Nkima. "The white demon has changed himself into a monkey and escaped!" a warrior cried. Nyalwa, who was afraid of the captive, seized eagerly upon the suggestion. "Then we can go back. If he has gone, we cannot kill him."

"We should look inside," urged a warrior who was jealous of Nyalwa's leadership. "We can look tomorrow when it is light," Nyalwa argued. "You're afraid," the other returned. "I'm not!" "Then why are you standing still? You cannot go into the hut by standing still.

While the pygmy warriors argued and worked up courage to slay the captive, Nkima scaled the palisade and raced through the forest. The little monkey was afraid, but his fear was submerged by the excitement of his understanding. Nkima had a mission to perform.
