Ninth Annual Father-Sons Banquet Monday Evening

F. & S. BANQUET MONDAY, NOV. 17

BE TOASTMASTER AT
F. & S. BANQUET MON.

Next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock the fathers and sons will again gather together in the basement of the First Christian Church in the fellowship of their ninth annual Father and Son Banquet. The 1930 banquet will be somewhat similar to the previous banquets the father's and son's have enjoyed in the past, and will possess all the necessary ingredients which will go to make the evening one long to be remembered by all who attend. The Father and Son Banquet has reached the point where it is one of the most looked forward to events in the city. Starting some seven years ago with fifty fathers and sons present, the initial banquet was held in the Deaver Hotel. The project elicited from all concerned that the banquet was destined to become a permanent feature in the life of the Dads and youths of the city and county. Since the first banquet the attendance has grown steadily as has the interest in the proposition. Last year there were 210 fathers and sons present at the get-together, with expectations of even a greater attendance being present at next Monday's banquet.

As has been the case in the past a reasonable charge of 50 cents per plate has been set by the committee. These plate tickets may be purchased from members of the Lions and Rotary clubs, or at Douglas-Goldston Drug Co., Pastime Confectionery, Bon Ton Confectionery and Clarendon Drug Store. Admittance will be by ticket or cash at the door.

A splendid program has been arranged by the program committee with J. M. Crawford of Childress, Texas, as the principal speaker of the evening. Mr. Crawford is one of the best equipped men in the Panhandle to speak to the young life of the community, and his speech is being looked forward to with a great deal of anticipation by the old and young alike. Rev. R. S. McKee, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, has been chosen toastmaster.

The program for the evening which will be concluded by 9:30 is as follows:

Invocation.
Songs, led by R. S. Cope.
Orchestra music.
Three 5 minute speeches.
Riding Herd—J. C. Estlack.
Just Beginning—Frank Stocking.

My Dad—Fred Bourland.
Address, J. M. Crawford of Childress.
Business session.
America.
Adjournment.

The officers for this year are Dr. H. L. Wilder, President, and Phifer Estlack, vice-president. The board is composed of William Wilder, G. L. Boykin, T. E. Trostle, O. W. Latson.

LEGION PROGRAM IS MUCH ENJOYED

ANNUAL CELEBRATION OF
EVENT IN CLARENDON
HAS FINE HEARING.

The program staged each year by the American Legion Post in this city was one which was well attended and which was much enjoyed by those who were present to take part in the event. Held in the Methodist Church, the auditorium was filled comfortably as the other churches of the city turned their congregations free to attend the service if they cared to do so.

Rev. B. N. Shepherd, pastor of the First Baptist Church of this city was the speaker of the evening, addressing the gathering on the subject of "The Prince of Peace." Musical numbers and parts of the program were made in line with his address to bring the whole to a very successful conclusion that was pleasing to everyone concerned.

Probably the most successful portion of the entire program was the appearance of the High School program in three numbers. Two were given for the opening of the event and the third was given as the recessional at the close of the evening's program. Many compliments were heard on the portion of the evening taken by this organization and the director and the personnel should be given with the reception they were given.

The appearance of the Methodist choir in Kipling's "Recessional" was much appreciated and highly fitting to the program. The baritone solo part was taken by G. L. Boykin.

H. T. Burton acted in the capacity of master of ceremonies, making the necessary announcements and introducing the speakers.

Mrs. J. B. McClelland accompanied her son, J. B. to Oklahoma City, Sunday evening. From there she will go to New York City to visit a daughter. She also plans to visit with a sister in Virginia and plans to return home sometime in March.

RED CROSS WINDOW IS INTERESTING TO PASSERS-BY

Calling attention to the fact that the Red Cross Roll Call is about to start its drive for membership, the South Window of the Douglas & Goldston Drug Company has been given to this purpose. Streamers cut from newspapers in the past few months carry out the idea of assistance rendered in many instances by this organization in time of peace as well as in the time of war. Folded and booklets strewn in the window tell of the work in far countries where disasters are to be expected at any time.

The Roll Call starts Tuesday of this week, a large body of men having been named to work in the city to assist in raising the membership in the county above the level to which it has fallen in the past several years.

Local Woman Is Named to Office

Following the instructions of the voters of this county, who indicated their desire for a County Superintendent for Donley County, this official was named by the Commissioners' Court in session Monday afternoon of this week. The appointment of this officer was necessary due to the fact that sufficient time did not elapse between the calling of the election and the general election of November 4th. The term of office will begin with the first of January and will continue for one term of two years.

Mrs. Nora McMurtry received the appointment over Mrs. Debenport of Hedley after Judge Alexander had voted off a tie in the votes of the commissioners. Two votes were cast for Mrs. Debenport and two were cast for Mrs. McMurtry. The tie was broken by Judge Alexander, who cast the deciding vote for the lady who is to have the place.

Office room has not been provided, this matter to be considered by the court at a later date, when the proper time comes for the opening of the office.

REV. J. A. SMITH WILL FILL BAPTIST PULPIT SUN.

Members of the First Baptist Church and other citizens of the city and community will be pleased to learn of the approaching visit of Rev. J. A. (Joe) Smith to the city on next Sunday. Rev. Smith will be remembered as a former pastor of the Baptist Church here and has a multitude of friends who will be happy to renew old friendships with the popular pastor.

Rev. Smith will fill the pulpit at the First Baptist Church here both the morning and evening services. Everyone is most cordially invited to attend.

Hi-Y Official Visits Clarendon

Grover C. Good, Hi-Y conference executive of the State Y. M. C. A. of Dallas, spent Wednesday in the city in the interest of reorganizing the Hi-Y club in the local schools. Mr. Good also created much interest concerning the Older Boy's Conference which will be held in Lubbock, December 5, 6 and 7.

The boys of the high school met Wednesday morning and reorganized the Hi-Y club in the school with approximately 40 interested young men. Carroll Holtzclaw was named president of the organization, and will attempt to work up a representative group of boys to attend the conference at Lubbock as delegates.

The conference this year promises to even surpass the meetings of former years, and a full program consisting of inspirational meetings, banquets and athletic contests have been planned by the Lubbock committees.

WEAKNESSES OF CITY
HEALTH CONSERVATION.

Dr. J. W. Wallace, field director of the United States Chamber of Commerce Health Conservation Contest, visited the city of Clarendon Wednesday, meeting with a group of Chamber of Commerce workers and the city and county health officers at 2:00 o'clock to discuss the plans regarding the participation of the city in the contest. The Chamber Health Conservation Contest is under the sponsorship of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and is held annually to further the enforcement of a better health conservation program for the cities of the United States, thereby lessening the hazard of an epidemic of contagious diseases in the community.

Dr. Wallace briefly outlined the work of the contest to the group composed of Drs. B. L. and O. L. Jenkins, city and county health officers, Rev. R. S. McKee, Supt. H. T. Burton, T. D. Nored, G. L. Boykin, and Sam Braswell, Jr. Last year when the contest was inaugurated throughout the United States there were 140 cities entered, and already over 200 cities have made their entries into the competition for the present contest. The East Texas Chamber of Commerce, being completely sold on the contest, has actively promoted the project in its section of the club in his prizes to the Texas cities which shall be adjudged the winners.

The purpose of the whole proposition is to acquaint the business men with local health conditions and to effect a preventative undue economic losses and unlikely losses of life.

While in the city Dr. Wallace looked over Clarendon's facilities of health conservation work and offered suggestions to the local chamber whereby the health of the citizens may be further protected.

The contest will be scored on the following elements of health: Water supply, sewerage, milk supply, preventative measures, health work in city schools, reporting and follow up work on communicable cases of disease, reduction in life losses due to carelessness, amount of money spent by the city for the conservation of health in the community.

It is believed that the city of Clarendon will score very high in all but the last and next to last items, and these will score about on the average. Dr. Wallace especially was high in his praise for Dr. Oscar Jenkins, County Health Officer, whose work and knowledge was said to be excellent.

Rev. and Mrs. Murrell are attending the meetings of the Methodist Conference which are being held in Sweetwater this week.

Joe Goldston is in Amarillo this week serving on the Federal Grand Jury, while Mrs. Goldston is attending the Baptist convention.

JAMES CORNELIUS INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

James Cornelius, member of the High School football team, was painfully injured Tuesday evening when he fell from the rear of a swift moving automobile on his way to a picnic at the Word Ranch south of the city. James was riding the turtle back of a Ford coupe when he evidently lost his balance as the car struck a rough culvert and plunged to the ground. As he fell his foot caught in the bumper which added greater force to the fall as he struck the road, and also dragged him some 25 yards before becoming free from the bumper. He was rushed to the Hospital where an x-ray was made to determine the extent of his injuries, where they were found to be a broken wrist together with bruises and shock. At the present Jim is feeling some what better, but will be forced to refrain from further activities for some time this year.

Pottery and Art To Be Shown Here

The Les Beaux Art Club is pleased to announce the coming exhibit of famous pottery and Japanese paintings on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 20, 21 and 22, at the Club rooms in the Municipal building. The exhibit will be open to all who are interested in this phase of art each day between the hours of 9:30 a. m. and 6:00 o'clock in the afternoon.

Several famous studies will be found in the collection of Japanese paintings, and it is expected that this exhibit will be a source of pleasure and interest for all who witness the exhibit. It is believed that this array of paintings will be second to none which has ever been shown in the Panhandle section of Texas. The members of the Les Beaux Art Club are especially anxious for the entire city and as many of the county folk as may be able to come into town on any of the three days to take advantage of the opportunity to see such a splendid exhibit of paintings and pottery.

The pottery for the showing has been secured from the Lill Oak Pottery works of Hot Springs, Arkansas, and from the famous Jugtown Pottery Company of Jugtown, North Carolina. This showing is reputed to even surpass the pottery exhibit which the club sponsored last year.

No charge will be asked at any time as this is one of the activities of the club in its move to further the appreciation of art in the city of Clarendon. However if any one wishes to buy any article of the exhibit the purchase will be allowed. Every interested person is cordially invited to attend the showing of these marvelous pieces of art.

Special Legion Meet Is Held

The Aubyn E. Clark Post of the American Legion held a special meeting Monday evening of this week in the Legion Hall with a splendid attendance despite the fact that other attractions in the city kept a number of the members from attending this special event. Some twenty members of the organization were in the event, telling of their plans for the future as regards the Legion and its work.

This was followed by a social hour in which the members vied one with the other in a number of contests that had been prepared and placed in the Hall. Dominoes, Forty-two, Checkers and various other games, with light refreshments, kept the members happily engaged and ready for another of these events at some time in the future.

Dr. Fred Reynolds of Amarillo was in Clarendon today.

MAY DROP PLANS TO PAVE NO. 88

GRAY COUNTY ROAD PRO-MOTERS SAY THEY MAY HAVE TO CUT PROGRAM.

"Daddy" Reid, pioneer road promoter of Gray County, and a former mayor of Pampa, visited in Clarendon a short while Friday and came to the News office to talk over the road situation as regards No. 88, which state highway joins Pampa with Clarendon.

Mr. Reid reviewed the efforts that had been made to carry a large bond issue in Gray county to complete their road paving, and told of the defeats suffered in recent months at the polls. He said that much of the opposition came from the argument that to pave No. 88 nearly twenty-five miles to the Donley county line with no seeming interest in Donley County connecting up with a hard-surfaced road to Clarendon, was hardly worth while to Gray County.

Road enthusiasts in Gray are planning a new bond election, and the leaders are considering the dropping of the paving on No. 88, which would reduce the total of the proposed bond issue in a large sum, and would probably insure the passage of the new program.

Mr. Reid pointed out that if Donley County was waiting for the State of Texas to build its highways, Gray County would be in just as favorable position for the paving of their mileage on No. 88, if that hope were ever realized. He seemed somewhat disappointed when told that little interest in paving No. 88 in Donley was manifest at this time.

CLARENDON WOMEN AT- TENDING B. W. M. U.

The following women are in attendance at the Baptist Women's Missionary Union in Amarillo this week representing the Clarendon Church, Mesdames T. M. Couch, A. W. Simpson, Joe Goldston and Mollie Gray.

PUPILS OF JUNIOR HIGH GET CHANCE AT $5 PRIZE

In an essay contest which concludes in the next two weeks, the pupils of Clarendon Junior High School have an opportunity to outline their views and make suggestions on "Service" for this community. The contest is open to both boys and girls and the essay must not exceed two hundred words in length.

Dr. B. L. Jenkins originated the contest plan and will award five dollars in gold to the winner, who will be named by a committee of three appointed by him.

There are organizations in Clarendon devoted to community service, and it will be of interest to note the plans and suggestions of these boys and girls who enter the contest. The winning essay will be published after the award is made.

CITY TO MOVE TO MEMPHIS IN BODY

BRONCHOS MAY ADVANCE TO
SEMI-FINALS IN DISTRICT
IF THEY BEAT CYCLONES.

When the whistle sounds the opening kick-off at Memphis tomorrow afternoon the Bronchos will not be the cocky, over confident eleven which faced the Cyclones in the last contest between the two bitter rivals. The air of grim determination which has marked the preparation of the Broncho team for the past two weeks has become even more grim and more determined in the past few days. The players, all of them, ranging from the Captain even down to the lowest of the reserves have worked incessantly with only one idea in mind—that to BEAT MEMPHIS AT MEMPHIS. The great Broncho eleven is sure, not cocky, but sure of its strength, and is determined to a man to avenge the defeat suffered at the hands of the Cyclones three weeks ago.

The local coaches have drilled their charges in every phase of the game, given them many new and clever trick plays, lateral passes and new line plays. The defense has come in for its share of the work in the past two weeks and the Memphis backs are going to find it very hard to make their deadly off tackle spin plays function in the manner in which they have been used. The defense which the Bronchos will present to the Memphis aggregation is believed by local fans to be so effective as to completely cover the Memphis aces, Hammonds, Flannery, Jarvis, Stargel, and Pearson.

The Bronchos will offer Captain Nichols at his best, supplemented by the flashy Hudson, Andis and Bourland in the backfield, with the fast Reid also on the carrying end of the attack on several plays. In the line there will be T. Watson and Behrens at ends, Langford and Morris tackles, Benson and Reid guards at center, Cornelius, scrappy little center will be on the side line due to an automobile injury sustained Tuesday evening. Other reserve strength which have proven most capable will be O. C. Watson, Gorman, E. Watson, Baird and Whitlock.

The Bronchos will leave the city about 12 o'clock Friday noon for the brief journey to the Hall county metropolis, with the hundreds of Clarendon fans led by the splendid Broncho band leaving immediately after. It is hoped that all the Clarendon citizens will accompany the team to Memphis tomorrow for the all important contest and lend their support to the splendid team which will battle for the honor of the city and the Maroon and White. Let's all go to Memphis and witness the licking handed the tough Cyclone aggregation by the Bronchos on their own home lot. The winner of this game will play the winner of the White Deer-Spearman next week for the right to meet the Dalhart eleven in the finals of this district.

THINGS COULD BE WORSE

By everyone talking hard times, makes one really think times are hard and close. It does no good to talk about it though. Things could be much worse. If you have good health, something to eat and wear, at peace with your wife, yourself, your neighbor, what else do you want? Be contented; be satisfied; be up and doing. A rolling stone gathers no moss; a dissatisfied person is never happy. Make the best of your present condition. Let the future take care of itself. Have faith in your country, your fellow man, your God, yourself.—McKinney Courier-Gazette.

—oOo—

Aside from the heartening fact that Texas voters adopted all the very worthy amendments submitted at the recent general election, in spite of the handicap feeling that amendments always lose in Texas, there is another side to the story that should be cause for widespread jubilation in this state. That is the fact that Jim Ferguson, political short-change artist that he is, suffered ignominious defeat in his efforts to beat the amendments. Jim figured that amendments always lose, so he jumped out and declared he would defeat all of them, thereby hoping to prove that he was still a figure in Texas politics. But it didn't work. Texas voters are doing some sane and sober thinking these days, which is a hopeful sign in the Lone Star State. When the people think, Jim and his ilk are helpless.

TEXAS IS READY FOR A NEW PLAN

The demand for a state-wide bond issue for roads will not down. In the past Democratic primaries there were those who attempted to prove that the voters were opposed to the plan for building a connected system of roads and repaying counties that had already voted bonds with a tax levy against the farms and homes, but later developments have disproved their arguments and today in Texas there is a larger and stronger demand for an adequate road program than ever before.

There should be no valid controversy about the submission of the matter to the voters of Texas, and it is now expected that the next legislature will convene with votes and to spare for the submission of the road building plan and repayment to burdened counties of their road money, on an equitable basis. Transportation has become one of the bed-rock basis of modern progress, and the people want results in road extension and relief from local taxes for roads, which system has been proven manifestly unfair. Gasoline tax should build the roads, and recent bond elections proposed as county or road-district levies have met defeat with almost unanimous regularity. This means that the people are demanding another and a fairer method of road building and financing.

Texas' road building program is at a standstill, until the people have opportunity to adopt a state-wide bond issue to build the roads and refund county bonds.

The next legislature will not do a more constructive thing than to submit the question to a popular vote of the people.

A CENTENNIAL WITH A REAL PURPOSE

Peter Molyneux in his "Texas Weekly" magazine made a suggestion in last week's issue that merits the immediate attention and thought of every economic and civic leader in Texas. Mr. Molyneux, in discussing the proposed celebration of the Centennial of Texas Independence in 1936, makes the suggestion that the Centennial be marked by general adoption of a plan for balanced agricultural and industrial development of the state, such as will lift Texas out of its oft-recurring and present dilemma of over-production, loss from soil erosion and poorly balanced planting of crops, poor seed, and all those elements that have brought about our distress in 1930.

To our mind, this is one of the most meritorious suggestions that have come to light in this state in a decade or more. We all recognize the necessity of such a plan, if we are to improve our conditions and maintain our rank as an agricultural state. In 1930, as nearly a hundred years ago, there is no truer maxim than "Civilization begins and ends with the plow", therefore the solving of our farm problems, are most certainly the basis upon which we may expect to reach any permanent development of Texas in an industrial way. Then, too, the enthusiasm that might be engendered in the Centennial celebration and program, would largely insure success and adherence to the Safe and Sane Farming Plan.

Mr. Molyneux, you are right, and Texas cannot do better than adopt the suggestion and bend every effort to working out and perfecting the suggestion in plans of tested practicality. We need the Plan now, and 1936 is not too early in the life of the Sleeping Giant of the Southwest for its adoption and practice.

WHEN LAFAYETTE WAS HERE

Kin of Marquis de Lafayette have come here on the first voyage of the steamship Lafayette. His secretary M. Lavasseur, kept memories of his own triumphal return to America that suggest from what a primitive state we have risen in the century since. The vessel which brought him, the Cadmus, an American merchant ship, was a month and a day on its way before the "fresh verdure which adorns Staten Island" was perceived. A popular reception at the Battery amid the acclamation of two hundred thousand voices, an official reception at City Hall and a dinner at the City Hotel testify that our present ceremonial welcomes have eminent precedent.

Shortly after his arrival in New York he set out for Boston in a carriage, accompanied by a cavalcade of horse-men who rode with flaming torches by night. Five days and nights were required to make the journey, for the carriage was frequently halted at the little towns along the way by "the moving and sublime displays of the gratefulness of the whole people." Most notable was New Haven, a town where there is "an institution of higher learning under the name of Yale College," with president, four professors and six tutors, and with upward of four hundred students who were boarded for $2 a week, were required to be able to read the Greek testament and were given access to a library of 6,000 volumes, chiefly of theological books, which were added to at the rate of $200 worth of books a year.

At Cambridge, the seat of Harvard College, Lafayette attended Commencement, which "was conducted with pomp," and a meeting of the "Hellenic Society" (probably the Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa), where Edward Everett, then a young tutor, made an oration in which he discussed the particular causes which contributed most to the "development of intelligence" in the United States. The French chronicler took a much more favorable view of our culture at that period than could be gathered from the English reviews. In one of these it was said that ages must pass before America could find either leisure or inclination for the study of Bacon or Newton, that Franklin was our only philosopher whose discoveries had been of use to mankind, and that if all the books ever written in the United States were set on fire tomorrow no scholar would miss them. Sydney Smith had even more contemptuously said in The Edinburgh Review:

In the four quarters of the globe, who reads an American book or goes to an American play or looks at an American picture or statue? What does the world owe to American physicians or surgeons? What new substances have chemists discovered or what old ones have they analyzed? What new constellations have they discovered by the telescopes of America? What have they done to mathematics? Who drinks out of American glasses? or eats out of American plates? or wears American coats or gowns or sleeps in American blankets?

Lafayette's secretary was discovering at that same time, and at first hand, evidences of a zest for education and a provision comparable with that of Europe. Though the inhabitants are "ardently occupied in all sorts of industry," they do not neglect those studies which "form the taste and enlarge the intellect." He based this statement on observations in several cities where he found scientific, philosophical and literary societies and incipient museums.

On his return to New York Lafayette made another journey northward, going to West Point, Newburgh, Poughkeepsie, Albany and Troy by boat, which "despite its steam engine" traveled at the rate of only six miles an hour. Again returning, he was given a crowning welcome before his departure for the South and West, at a culminating function of which The Evening Post said:

"We hazard nothing in saying that it was the most magnificent fete given under cover in the world."

The nearest approach to our modern "movies" was shown at its close—a "transparency" in which Washington and Lafayette, in picture, stood holding each other by the hand before an altar of liberty.

In the fleet which now crosses the Atlantic there is fittingly a ship that bears the name of one who risked his all for an alien land struggling for independence.—New York Times by this method, the stalks must be cut at ground level, hereby leaving no stubble. Standard corn binders do not cut closer to the ground than 5 or 6 inches but the farmer may now buy, at small cost, a low-cutting attachment for four makes of corn binders, or he may make this attachment himself. He may also make a low-cutting hand device according to instructions given in Miscellaneous Publication 56, either of which may be made at little cost. Low cutting is particularly important if the corn is left in the field until late in the season because the borers work downward in the stalks.

Strange Case Of Lubbock Man Speaks For Crazy Water

THOUGHT TO BE HOPELESS YET HE LIVED TO TELL HIS STORY.

Three weeks ago today, I came to the Crazy Water Hotel on a stretcher from the city of Lubbock, Texas, with what the doctors called Typhoid Spine, and they told me that there was no medicine that would cure me. I started drinking Crazy Water and taking the baths, and on the 12th day after arriving, I took to the wheel chair and on the 17th day I started walking without them, so I feel if Crazy Water will do that for me I cannot say enough for it.

CHEVROLET NEW MODELS TO APPEAR IN NEAR FUTURE

Cleveland, O., Nov. 10.—Definite assurance that Chevrolet will introduce a new car for 1931 on Saturday was revealed here today during the staging by Chevrolet factory officials of the first of fifty dealer meetings to be held in the next five weeks throughout the country.

Included in a carload of equipment brought in for the meeting was a new car substantially bigger than the current model, and extensively changed in appearance.

Although the meeting was closed to the public, it was learned that H. J. Klinger, vice-president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Co., who attended the meeting here, told the 500 dealers and associated bankers in attendance at the City Auditorium that the car would be publicly announced the coming Saturday, and that, despite its increased size and improved appearance, it would be priced considerably below current levels.

Dramatic incidents attended the presentation of the car. It was trucked under canvas from the freight shed to the stage of the Auditorium, and there, boxed in by velvet drops and under a flood of spotlights, disclosed to the audience.

A burst of applause greeted the unveiling of the car, and when the announcement of new lower prices was made, a wild cheering dealer group interrupted proceedings for several minutes.

The car is longer than the present Chevrolet, and changes and refinements are so extensive that it has a decided "big car" appearance, one dealer reported.

If the sentiment among the dealers here is any criterion, the new car ought to prove the most successful product in the history of the company.

EXPERTS WARN POULTRY RAISERS TO KEEP FLOCKS

Proportionately, the raising of poultry has brought more profit this year than most other farm operations—and this in spite of the low prices generally prevailing, according to reports emanating from the Middle Western States. As a consequence, farmers of the central portion of the country are planning to pay more attention to their flocks than ever before.

They are being advised by poultry authorities not to be frightened by the present season of low prices. They are being urged not to do as generally has been done in the past—stock up heavily after a good season and turn loose of everything after a season of low prices, such as the present.

A Government bulletin states "extreme reduction does not appear to be necessary" and warns that it might be "a mistake to reduce poultry numbers radically now."

Flock owners are being informed that the best way to cut down flocks for the Fall and Winter is to cull out rigidly all "boarders," or non-producers. It is pointed out that there is no such thing as a poor poultry season when birds of real laying ability are retained and fed, housed and cared for in the proper manner.

The authorities declare that one sure way of realizing a profit from farm poultry is to increase the egg production of the entire flock. By obtaining good stock in the spring to replace the old hens, the productivity of the entire flock can be raised.

Hatcheries themselves furnish the quick and logical method of building up the farm flock to a profitable egg-production level, of the country are organized unpartisanly since the leading ones under the slogan "Hatchery Chicks for Greater Profits" to insure better flocks and square dealing.

Higher egg production per hen, and, at the proper time, increased size of flocks offer solution of the farm poultry problem, regardless of prices.

Mr. and Mrs. Roma Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Campbell and Claud Campbell all of Paducah, Texas, were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Powell and son.

ILLINOIS SETS NEW ROAD MARK

WILL HAVE MORE THAN 9,000 MILES WHEN SEASON ENDS.

By E. E. Duffy

By reason of her excellent financing methods and comprehensive planning, Illinois will this year complete the equivalent of her nine-thousandth mile of 18-foot hard surfaced rural roads.

Back in 1924, Illinois set a year's construction record of 1,135 miles of concrete which still stands. By November 1 of this year Illinois awarded contracts for the building of the equivalent of 1,044 miles of 18-foot pavement, and will complete 830 miles this year. The differential is explained by the fact that contracts for lengthy mileages to be built next year have been awarded this fall so that work can start immediately in the spring.

This latter circumstance is indicative of the progressive attitude constantly followed by Illinois. Plans for highway construction are always laid well in advance, so that construction proceeds without a hitch. Illinois hopes to greatly alleviate the unemployment situation by removing all legal difficulties at once so that men may be placed at work on roads as weather permits.

The impetus given roadbuilding in Illinois by the two state highway bond issues totalling $160,000,000 has made it possible for that state to make remarkable headway in paving her state highway system. Now that Illinois has a three-cent gasoline tax, noteworthy sums are being devoted to extending the bond issue pavements and to widening.

The smaller communities of Illinois, the counties and townships, have caught the roadbuilding spirit from the state and as a consequence Illinois is forging rapidly ahead in building paved local roads.

Bond issues have also played an important part in local road construction. Vermilion county, for example, issued county bonds for $1,500,000 in 1914 and built several score miles of single lane concrete. Shortly, townships began passing bond issues for the extension of these narrow pavements to connect up with the county and state highway systems. As a consequence, Vermilion county has 175 miles of paved local roads.

Mr. J. B. McClelland of Oklahoma City, arrived Saturday to visit his mother, Mrs. J. B. McClelland.

The less tender and less expensive cuts of beef can be made into attractive and delicious dishes when they are cooked properly. Long slow cooking and moisture are needed to make the meat tender. Pot roast, swiss steak, stews and similar dishes are among the ways of serving the less tender cuts.

Our Weekly Church Chat

"ARMISTICE DAY"

In the great city of Paris, in front of the famous Hotel des Invalides, stands a big railroad car. Across its broad side are the words "The car in which the Armistice was signed, November 11th, 1918." This car is the most historic railroad car in the world. For in it, around a big table, by men seated in those strong chairs was signed the significant document which ended the most terrific combat recorded in the history of mankind. The story of Armistice Day began when those men, those mighty war leaders, grave and worn and holding the happiness of humanity in their hands, signed that memorable compact. The thrill of relief which went around the world has never died out. Throbs of joy and happiness and thankfulness fill every heart on the anniversary of that great day. Armistice Day began spontaneously. Nobody waited for a decree or proclamation. The news that the war was over flashed around the globe and a new holiday was born. Armistice Day was born in joy and gladness. There have been other days of thanksgiving and festivity at the ending of big wars, but never one like Armistice Day. For never before in human history has practically the whole world been involved in war.

The first Armistice Day celebration set the pace for those which have followed. The second and the third were repetitions of the various features of festivity with parades, patriotic exercises and devotional services of prayer and praise. The movement to make Armistice Day a legal holiday in the United States has sprung up as spontaneously as the birth of the day itself. Legislators in the United States Congress and in state legislatures have introduced bills to this effect. And the day has been recognized as one deserving of a permanent place as a national holiday here as well as in European lands.

The American Legion and the British, French, Italian and the Belgian veterans have naturally assumed the chief charge of Armistice Day. Schools and churches in various lands use it impressively in their efforts to combat the war spirit, and to promote brotherhood and good will among all the people. A modern battleship costs $20,000,000. It lasts for twenty years at the most, and during that time its upkeep costs $16,000,000 or $36,000,000 in all. A first class battleship cost as much as all the hundred buildings of Harvard University. There is a great cry, "Turn the warships into colleges." The United States is in the best position to initiate the movement to abolish war. Let America go after world peace and world peace can be achieved. Let us mobilize for peace. Let us make up our minds to do sane world thinking" (Major General John F. O'Ryan.)

Away up in the Andes mountains on the boundary line between Argentina and Chili stands a statue of the Christ. It was made from an old melted cannon and erected at the beginning of what is hoped to be lasting peace between two nations. The inscription on it reads: "Sooner shall these mountains crumble into dust than the people of Argentina and Chili break the peace which they have sworn at the feet of Christ the Redeemer." "Christ of the Andes," Christ of everywhere. Great lover of the hill, the open air, And patient lover of impatient men Who strive and sin and strive again. Thou living word, larger than any creed, Thou love divine, uttered in human need. Oh, teach the world, warring and wandering still. The way of Peace, the footpath of Good Will!—Van Dyke. "And they shall beat their swords into ploughshares, and their spears into pruninghooks nations shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they war any more." (Isa. 2:4). Nearly three thousand years ago the prophet Isaiah had vision. It was the ideal civilization that is coming—that is to be some day. God hasten the day! May we all pray. O' God, we praise thee for the dream of the golden city of peace and righteousness which has ever haunted the prophets of humanity and we rejoice with joy unspeakable that at last the people have conquered the freedom and knowledge and power which may avail to turn into reality and the vision that so long beckoned in vain. May we who now live see the oncoming of the great day of God, when all men shall stand side by side in equal worth and real freedom, all toiling and all reaping, masters of nature, but brothers of men, exultant in the tide of the common life and jubilant in the adoration of Thee, the source of their blessings and the Father of all, Amen.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe S. Brooks, late of Midland, are the latest additions to the staff of workmen in the Whitlock's Barber Shop of this city. Mrs. Brooks is a graduate in the beauty parlor work and has had a number of years of experience as head of some of the largest shops in this section of the state. Both these folk come with the best possible recommendations and are calculated to do their work in such a manner as to do a great deal toward increasing the patronage for this place of business.

ONLY 140 NEW CORPORATIONS CHARTERED IN OCT.

Austin, Texas, Nov. 12.—New corporations chartered by the State of Texas during October totaled only 140, the smallest number since November, 1929, according to the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas. Total capitalization, $7,727,000, exceeded that of the previous 30 days as well as that of a similar period during 1929 for the second consecutive month. Average capitalization per company was $55,000 in October, 1930 compared to $48,000 in August, 1929, the last high in total capitalization. The small number of corporations chartered in November of last year followed the break in stock prices and represented the smallest total capitalization of that year and has been exceeded each month since that time.

Number of permits granted to out-of-State corporations increased slightly during October, with oil companies predominating. Chartered to manufacturing organizations fell off 50 per cent during the month, but number of such corporations authorized during August was large, exceeding the corresponding month of 1929 by more than 50 per cent. September of this year was only slightly below that of September, 1929.

FALSE CAR ECONOMY

Nearly everyone who owns an automobile complains of the expense of upkeep, and this expense does seem unnecessarily high in many cases. Yet repair men declare that about two-thirds of all failures of automotive machinery are caused by false economy in the use of lubricating oil.

Faulty lubrication may occur in either of two ways—the oil may be insufficient in quantity of inferior in quality. Negligence with respect to either of these points means excessive repair bills and shortened life for the car.

Still, the expense necessary to obtain efficient and motor-saving lubrication is very small. Even the finest oil, made from pure Pennsylvania crude, is but a few cents a gallon, while the damage to motors caused by a failure to supply high-grade lubrication often runs into hundreds of dollars. One expert automobile authority recently suggested that every motorist might well paste on his windshield the reminder, "Oil is cheap; machinery is expensive." To provide proper lubrication is merely to apply horse sense in a horseless age.

IN SOCIETY

PALO DURO SOCIETY PROGRAM

Full of pep, originality, personality, and a huge sense of humor together with an earnest zeal and faithfulness to stand behind the codes of their society! These are the attributes of a Palo Duroian.

As the membership grows, so there is an intense increase in interest. Last Wednesday evening, a very delightful musical program was given. The participants were Hazel Gilbert, Virginia Wisdom, Wilma Hukel and Winford Gattis, accompanied at the piano by Delphia Bones.

We must not forget to add that a very good opinion is being circulated about our diligent workers by two quite unbiased personages. These are Misses Ruth Price and Delphia Bones, who were our most welcome visitors last Wednesday evening.

ALPHA DELTA PSI

A hint to the wise is sufficient—and I would advise you to be present at the Society meeting at least each time you are on program.

Now don't think for one minute your absence prevented our having a dandy program. You only cheated yourself. We had a round table discussion on improvements in our programs, led by Ruth Hartzog. Lois Strawn favored us with a piano solo. Mrs. Trostle's reading "Keep Right on a Keelin' On" suited the occasion exactly. Last but not least, the entire society joined in singing a number of choruses.

SACOJANEA CAMP FIRE

The Sacojanea Camp Fire girls enjoyed a lesson on painting cat-tails by Mr. Antrobus, Wednesday afternoon. They made a beautiful bouquet which they put in their camp fire room. This troop of girls enjoy doing worthwhile things.

GIRLS BASKET BALL

One would naturally expect twenty-five namely-pamley girls to ride over one man; but this case is an exception, and one man is doing all of the bossing. On Tuesday afternoon all of the past week, about twenty-five girls reported for basket ball and several more have joined the group since then. Our coach, Bill Dillard, has certainly been giving us a hard work-out, but when we get started, it will be only a pleasure. The last two days of this week have been miserable ones for the girls, but very enjoyable ones for those who have watched us go up or down stairs and get up after an hour of relaxation in our classes. This is about over and we are working hard to have a good basket ball team and one that Clarendon will be proud of. We are out to win every game of the season, and there is no reason why we should not if we have the support of the student body and citizens of the town.

On Wednesday afternoon after practice, we met and elected Viola Jones, manager; Miss Mamie Price, sponsor; Ruth Price, reporter; Bill Dillard has been appointed coach. We must admit that we think Bill works us terribly hard, but we will have to say that he is a good coach and that we work hard and try to show him just what we can do. Do not forget to watch for more about our team and our future schedule. The following girls are reporting every afternoon and doing their best to keep in practice and to observe rules of training: Ruth Nichols, Joveta Jackson, Esma Keener, Josephine Daniels, Aleylene Mann, Bernice Andis, Lois LaFon, Ina Faye Pittman, Gladys McCrary, Frances Parker, Roberta Atkins, Ruth Courland, Oneta Hayter, Margaret Dillard, Harvey Lon Shaw, Lucy McMahan, Ruth Price, Bobbie Shepherd, Mamie Smallwood, Viola Jones, Margaret Jones, Lucille Andis, Virgie Skinner, Margaret Shepherd and Clynell Gilbert.

PROGRESS MADE IN PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Work is progressing as rapidly as can be expected in the physical education work at the high school. The work has been in effect for only four weeks. During that time almost everyone has become used to exercise. The first week the students learned how to march as a soldier does. The other three weeks they have played games and have taken some exercise. It seemed as though they had all been stiff and had never taken any exercise because many of them suffered from stiff muscles and joints at first. Each afternoon except on Friday, when the school dismisses early for the football game, all of the boys, besides taking exercise, have to run around the campus a few times. The football team does not take the exercise because it receives plenty of it in the regular football practice. Most of the girls have their gym suits now and are practicing in them. The lectures which are given by Miss Weidman, each Tuesday and Thursday have been not only interesting but instructive as well. One day the girls enjoyed a moving picture on health; others will be shown during the year from time to time; these always make the talks more interesting.

One request Mr. Burton would like to make is for the parents not to excuse any boy or girl from this seventh period. This course is not only required by the state board of education; the course itself is important for its remarkable results along the healthgiving line.

SENIORS BACK BRONCHOS IN FINAL GAME

Bronchos, the seniors will be at Memphis Friday to watch you defeat the Cyclones as they have never been defeated before. We will be on the side lines yelling for the team on which we can always depend, so please do not disappoint us for all our faith is in you.

Bronchos, if the district championship is to be yours, you must fight! Think what this honor would mean to us in our senior year. Don't let the Cyclones put it over you, because you, the Bronchos, can and must win this game. But Bronchos, if you are defeated, we will have the satisfaction of knowing that you played a clean game and put up a hard fight; and remember Bronchos, we will be game and lose with you.

LOYD BENSON

"Handsome's" first appearance on the gridiron was in Sept. 1929. Small, weighing only 125 pounds, he was never-the-less filled with an indomitable spirit. The entire year was spent with the scrubs. Beside acquiring knowledge on the game, Lloyd spent some time growing—weight at end of season, 141. The present season Benson has been a Broncho from the go. Such spirit cannot be defeated. To attempt to circle his end is comparable with defying the law of gravity—it just can't be done.

CLARENDON H. S. NEEDS AN AUDITORIUM

For various and many reasons a gymnasium is needed for Clarendon High School. Since the new law has been passed and everyone has to take Physical Education, there is no place to take the exercises. If the high school had a gym, all of the students, both boys and girls, could take them in there. But since there is no gymnasium for the students, the boys have to take their exercises out of doors and the girls take theirs in the house in two rooms as there is not a room large enough for all to be in one group. If all the students could meet in one group, stunts could be practiced and given to the public. If this could be done, a greater interest would be taken in this work, but since we cannot do this, many people do not even know what we are doing. Also in bad weather the boys will not be able to take their exercises outside. This will be another problem for the faculty to take into consideration.

In the spring of the year all of the schools in the county meet for contests. These games, such as basketball and volley ball, need to be played in a gymnasium. When basketball season opens, the games have always been played in the gym at the Junior High School. However, this is a disadvantage because of its being so far away from the other school. This gym is not of standard size for basketball. It has only about a foot on each side where sightseers may stand and watch. If a gymnasium should ever be built it should be made large enough for athletic sports. From all these reasons it should be realized that our high school certainly does need a gymnasium.

THE PASSION PLAY

Both faculty and student body assembled in the auditorium Thursday morning and a program of The Passion Play conducted by Miss Weidman was enjoyed very much by all.

A number of dramatic pictures of the performance of 1920 were shown on the screen. People were not allowed to take snap shots of the regular performance and when they enter the theatre they are forced to leave their cameras outside.

The dramatic performance of the play represents the passion and death of Christ and it is given at Oberamerigua in Bavaria, every tenth year. In 1633 the people of this village vowed to present this play in memory and gratitude for the deliverance of a plague which had raged in that

NEARLY ALL RADIOS CAN BRING IN THREE PROGRAMS AT ONCE

An Olbion, Ill., man bought a radio. It was no different from any other radio much. But he had difficulty in separating the stations. Sunday he tried to tune in and get three stations coming on the same wave length. One was a minister up in Iowa, preaching a sermon, the second was a St. Louis station telling of road conditions and the third was a Chicago station broadcasting a talk to farmers on raising chickens. Here is what he heard:

"The Old Testament tells us that baby chicks should detour one mile south of Saline and listen to the words of the prophet Syssay. Use great care in the selection of your eggs and you will find a hard road all the way to Tulsa. We find in Genesis that the roads are muddy just west of the henhouse and you should use clean straw in the nests if you expect to save your soul. After you pass through Leavenworth turn north to Jericho. There were three wise men who bought an incubator on account of the bad detour. The baby chicks were troubled with the pip and a bond issue is being talked on these roads. Keep the feet clean and dry, live a life of righteousness and turn south at the school house."

"Much care should be used in commanding the sun to stand still as there is a washout on the road just south of Paola, and the road to salvation is undergoing repair, making it necessary to keep the temperature in the brooder at least 70 degrees. After you leave Joplin unless you do these things the wrath of God will cause the pinfeather to fall out and detour one mile south of the cemetery."

"Many are called but few have any luck unless the graveled road between Lawrence and Topeka is mixed with the feed. Out of 500 eggs one should get good roads to Hutchinson, and He commanded Noah to build an ark just one mile west of Wichita. It rained forty days and forty nights and caused an eight mile detour just west of the brood house. Many tourist from Jerusalem are trying Plymouth Rocks this year, mixed with concrete and water to the right proportions."

Football Contest Creating Much Interest Among Broncho Enthusiasts

The football contest started last week by the Clarendon News to determine the most valuable Broncho playing in the line and the backfield of the local high school team has proved to be quite popular through the first week. The linemen and backfield performer who receives the most votes at the end of the season will be presented with a miniature silver football emblematic of the feat he has accomplished.

Have you cast your votes for your favorite performers on the Broncho football team? Well all you have to do is clip the ballot on this page and write in the names of the players you think have played the most part in the success of the Bronchos this season.

sign your name and send it or bring it to the Clarendon News where it may be counted. Don't let your favorite fail to get the trophy because you failed to vote. Send in your choice now.

At present Captain Nichols and Hudson are tied for backfield honors, with Andis and Bourland a close second and third. In the line the contest is even closer with Langford, Morris and Reid tied with the same number of votes, being trailed closely by Tony Watson, O. C. Watson, Behrens and Benson.

Let's have more votes in the next week. Any one may vote once each week, so get busy and put your favorite over the top, and insure his getting one of the awards.

PREACHES FOUR SERMONS LAST SUNDAY

Rev. C. B. Ingram preached four sermons last Sunday on the road to Goodnight and at Goodnight. This aggressive soldier of the Cross took advantage of a ride with a man and his wife going up and preached them a sermon, having the great satisfaction of seeing them both converted by the time they reached Goodnight. One of the sermons was preached to a bedridden lady of that town, aged eighty-four years, and who had not had opportunity to hear the Gospel for years. Bro. Ingram enjoys his work and is constantly at it.

DISPLAY OF GUNS IN WINDOW DRAWS CROWDS

Recalling all too vividly for some of the boys some of the scenes in France and causing wonder for some of the others who did not get across, the display of all sorts of arms in the North window of the Clarendon Drug Store has been the center of interest for that place of business since it was placed last Wednesday. Relics of the great war naturally form the center piece of the window with the collection of Austrian guns being used to set off the window nicely. Other guns from other wars are used to a good effect with a general collection of old timers being scattered here and there to carry out the interest in the window. Helmets of the various nations are there together with some of the small arms of the men who fought in the war. A placard in the window calls attention to the American Legion drive for membership and tersely asks the question concerning the payment of the 1931 dues. Mr. Wood, druggist in this place of business is responsible for the window, being helped by Clifford Decker in the collection of the arms and the correct placement of them in the window.

In getting the house ready for winter, keep in mind its warmth, safety, convenience, economy of operation and appearance. Let your fall housecleaning contribute to these ends in each detail. The parent's job in training children in good food habits is only half done when it is well begun. There is always the possibility of the influence of playmates who are allowed to pick and choose what they will eat, or to spend money for sweets and other foods between meals. Good food habits, supervised carefully throughout childhood, make for good nutrition, which is the basis of sound physical development.

HENRY PLAYS TO CAPACITY HOUSE

NOTED MAGICIAN MAKES HIT WITH CROWD. SAND DRAWINGS MARVELOUS.

In the most pleasing and marvelous entertainment seen in Clarendon for a number of years S. S. Henry, noted artist-magician, exhibited Monday night to an appreciative audience that taxed the College Auditorium to its capacity. From the first simple mystifying tricks of the performance the genial master of magic won the hearts of his audience.

The stage was furnished with the properties of the entertainers, which presented a wonderful background for the many and varied exhibitions of magic and art which was to pursue. Various colored lighting effects also added to the tremendous success of the entertainment.

Never has there been such a smooth, clever, and conscientious entertainer work before a Clarendon audience, which elicited such a wealth of applause during the performance, and praise and favorable comment after the conclusion of the program as did S. S. Henry. Mr. Henry is truly a master of the profession, and has a most capable group of assistants which add no little worth to the enjoyment and success of the performance.

Starting off with the more simple sleight of hand tricks, his exhibitions quickly left the amateur class delving into the sublime and super-mysterious form of magic. The humorous tricks brought much merriment from the crowd, but this was soon supplanted by doubts and awe when the seance exhibition was demonstrated, whereby the portrait of Theodore Roosevelt was produced upon a blank screen in a deathlike nature, then vanish and reappear in all his lifelike vigor. Other tricks which met with more than ordinary approval were the "Doll House," "Chinese Prayer Bricks," "Stationary Shadow," "Vanishing Pigeons," and "The Vanishing Goat." These constituted the major portion of the first part of the performance.

The second part of the performance was taken up with the art productions, first consisting of humorous chalk sketches, and then the superb color production of "The Road to Mandalay." This number was accompanied by a musical background, with Mr. Henry reading the poem as he produced the major portion of the first part of the performance. The production was completed colored lights were cast upon it with a marvelous results which all but took the breath from the enraptured audience.

The sand paintings were next introduced by Mr. Henry. This feature being entirely new to the Clarendon folk, no little interest was manifested. After several preliminary paintings which readily showed the rare skill of the Ar-

FIRST PRODUCTION CALLED SUCCESS

"PEG O' MY HEART" IS WELL SEEN LAST THURSDAY EVENING.

All reports from the production of "Peg O' My Heart" indicate that it was the best received of any of the Little Theater productions seen up to this time. Presented after a series of delays, the auditorium of the college was comfortably filled with an appreciative audience when the curtain was raised last Thursday evening.

The comedy in the play was well brought out by the acting of Miss Eunice Johnson in the title role and by Adair, played by Winfield Moseley. These two were probably the outstanding players in this part of the cast. Miss Anna Moores as the very dignified English lady of leisure was very pleasing to the audience, as was Mrs. Odelle Ozier, who played the daughter of Mrs. Chichester. The parts of Christian Brent and Jerry portrayed by Ira Merchant and Ernest Kent were well suited and pleased the gathering from the start to the finish. Montgomery Hawkes, Jarvis and Bennett, played by Loyd Stallings, Denzel Davis and Miss Ruth Price, were all needed in the play and filled their places as were set.

Due to the fact that this play had been given here some years past, the interest was more than held up. The players seen in this cast were practically all new on the stage and showed that still more amateur talent was available for other plays in the future. The net proceeds from the play will probably amount to fifty dollars and more after the expenses have all been paid. This will be utilized to make further payment on the curtain installed in the auditorium of the college by the Little Theater as a part of its activities during the first year of its life.

FORMER PASTOR TO BE HERE FOR SUNDAY MEET

Rev. J. A. Smith, one time pastor of the First Baptist Church of this city and pastor for the past six years of the First Baptist Church in Lindale, Texas, will be here for the Sunday services in the Baptist Church. Rev. Smith has been in Amarillo attending the general convention and will stop here on his return to his home. In addition to Rev. Smith, Rev. Stephenson of Houston will also be here for at least one of the services of the day.

ist, the "House By the Side of the Road", with the musical and poetic setting, was offered by Mr. Henry as the fitting climax to his marvelous performance, which will long be remembered by the Clarendon folks who witnessed the event.

TASKS COMPLETED COURT ADJOURNS

GRAND JURY MAKES FINAL REPORT TO COURT AFTER DELIBERATION.

After completing a rather easy term of court here, the District Court for Donley County adjourned until the spring term Tuesday evening of this week. The docket has been rather thoroughly cleared of all cases as may be seen by a perusal of the Docket remaining in the hands of District Clerk Baker.

Of the cases tried, the greater number of them resulted in a verdict for the state. Others of the civil cases were decided in the usual manner, with the result that very few of them were left on the docket.

After working for some days, the Grand Jury completed all the tasks in hand and made their final report to the court. The following is the report as handed in:

The State of Texas, County of Donley, in the District Court of Donley County, Texas, October term, A. D. 1930.

To the Honorable A. J. Fires, Judge of said Court:
Comes now the Grand Jury impaneled for the October term, A. D. 1930, of the District Court in and for Donley County, Texas, and submits this its final report, to wit:

1. We have been in session for a total of seven days, and have diligently inquired into all violations of the law that have come to our attention, having examined many witnesses, and we have heretofore returned into open court seven felony indictments and three misdemeanor indictments, and we herewith return one felony indictment.
2. We have visited the County Jail and find conditions at the present a little crowded but take it for granted that that condition will be relieved at the expiration of this term of court. We found a disposition on a part of some of the inmates to complain of food served, but visited the kitchen and questioned the cook, in fact saw the nature of the food served and are inclined to discredit the complaint made. Some minor repairs need to be made to the jail, not of an urgent nature however. However we do feel that there is most too much litter in the way of old cast off clothing, rags, paper and etc., being allowed to accumulate in the corridors of the jail.
3. We wish to commend our Sheriff and his deputies for

BUSINESS CONDITIONS ARE MIRRORED IN STATE REPORT

Austin Texas, Nov. 12—Although the seasonal increase in commercial failures from September to October is 27 per cent this year the number increased by only one, according to the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas. Total liabilities decreased as compared to the previous month.

Comparison with September is not an entirely accurate index, however, since defaults during that month though normally the smallest of the year were much greater this year in both number and total indebtedness than in the preceding thirty days. Total liabilities of defaulting companies during October showed approximately a normal increase over August, but the number was 47 per cent greater. August failures were unusually small in number with high average liabilities.

Commercial failures through 1930 have frequently been out of line with normal seasonal developments. As compared to 1929, October defaults were somewhat greater in number and 50 per cent greater in total indebtedness. The ratio of listed assets to liabilities was higher in 1930, however. One bank failure brings the total for this year up to eight, compared to only two during the same period of 1929.
