Southwest Exes Launch Drive To Aid Tech Membership

Resolutions Are To Be Sent To Dallas Session

'Old Grads' Of Other Schools Want Opportunity To See Alma Maters Play In This Section

AN AREA-WIDE movement was launched Tuesday night at a meeting here in attempts to obtain membership in the Southwest conference for Texas Technological college.

Approximately 75 ex-students and alumni of colleges and universities of the Southwest conference met in the Hilton hotel Tuesday night, formed an organization, and adopted resolutions asking Tech's admittance to be sent to proper officials at each of the colleges and to the meeting of the officers of the Southwest conference at Dallas Saturday.

Want Other Signers

Every ex-student and alumnus at Tuesday night's meeting signed the resolution and petition and copies will be placed at several public places today so that other ex-students of Southwest conference schools might sign it before it is sent to Dallas. Copies of the petition will be placed at the Varsity Bookstore confectionery on College avenue, Avalanche-Journal offices, Hub Clothiers, and Hilton and Lubbock hotels.

George W. Dupree presided at the meeting until officers were elected.

Officers Are Elected

Officers of the association of ex-students and alumni of colleges and universities of the Southwest conference elected were: J. A. Raley, president, and Winton Kyle secretary and treasurer. Seven vice-presidents were elected, one representing each school in the Southwest conference. They were: E. L. Klett, Texas university; W. G. McMillan, Texas A. and M.; Mrs. A. V. Weaver, jr., Arkansas university; N. B. Hilburn, S. M. U.; Vaughn Wilson, Baylor university; E. J. Lowrey, T. C. U.; and V. R. Doughtie, Rice.

Kyle asked that all persons who attended a Southwest conference school and who are not able to sign one of the petitions may have their names placed on the petition by calling him at the Varsity Bookstore and giving him their name and school.

Telephone Calls Made

Telegrams were sent and telephone calls made Tuesday night to Plainview, Amarillo, and a number of other towns of this area asking Southwest conference school exes to send telegrams and petitions to the Saturday meeting of the conference officials.

The resolutions, drawn up by a committee and adopted by the organization, were:

"Whereas, the Texas Technological college, with more than 3,000 students enrolled in this, the twelfth year of its existence, is one of the major co-educational institutions of this state; and

Has Shown Its Ability

"Whereas, this school has for the past several years shown its ability to cope favorably in athletics, not only with the other schools now members of the Southwest conference, but also with other leading institutions of the nation; and

"Whereas, at games played with Southwest conference teams it has been demonstrated the capacity crowds at conference prices have been equal to, and in many instances

Mellon Exonerated Of Fraud Charges

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP) — Andrew W. Mellon won today, three months after his death, formal exoneration of income tax fraud.

The United States board of tax appeals threw out the government's fraud charge unanimously and in a divided opinion on other issues slashed the government's claim for additional taxes on Mellon's 1931 income from $3,075,103 to about $700,000. It took the board a year to make the decision.

Both sides considered appealing the decision to the circuit court of appeals, but the ruling brought to at least a temporary end one of the most sensational controversies between New Dealers and their predecessors. The government accused Mellon of dodging taxes and he branded the charges "political persecution."

HOSPITAL BIDS OPENED

AUSTIN, Dec. 7. (AP)—The board of control opened bids today on construction of the new state hospital for insane at Big Spring but Chairman Claude Teer said the winning contractor might not be known for a day or two.

Recovery Program Urged Of Business

LAMONT duPONT

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 6. — Creation of 3,000,000 new jobs, investment of $25,000,000,000 of capital in expansion of industry and a new recovery program over the next two to ten years were proposed to the nation's manufacturers today by Lammot duPont, president of E. T. duPont de Nemours & Co.

Addressing the National Association of Manufacturers, duPont said such a program was "staggering in its size and complexity" but "neither hopeless nor impossible." To achieve it, he declared, government must give industry "a reasonable amount of certainty upon which it can count in planning current and future operations."

President Makes Plea

Earlier the 600 executives of American business had heard William B. Warner, president of the association, plead for teamwork between labor and capital, management and government and appeal to the latter for evidence of a "changed attitude toward business."

"The bulk of responsibility for future social betterment," duPont asserted, "should be placed on industry's shoulders. And industry accepts the responsibility. Even more, we welcome the responsibility with the full confidence in our own and our nation's capacity to discharge it successfully. All that we ask is the same fair opportunity that we believe should be given the humblest citizen."

Could Produce New Wealth

New jobs, new wealth and agricultural prosperity, could be produced only through planned research, planned development and planned expansion of plant, sales and administrative facilities. That meant, he said, "planned expenditure of capital months and years in advance of any penny of return."

Describing business as blanketed by a "fog of uncertainty" over future taxes, labor conditions, inflation or deflation, possible new restrictions on capital and profits, duPont demanded:

Give Reasonable Certainty

"If industry is to be given the fair opportunity to work that it seeks, some definition should be given to what, to those of us in industry, would constitute a fair opportunity.

"My own thought may be summed up in a sentence: give industry a reasonable degree of certainty upon which it can count in planning current and future operations."

To that end, he asserted, "the labor situation must be stabilized, . . . the legal rules under which industry must operate should be stabilized immediately," and business "positive and reliable assurance that the complicated terms and conditions under which it must function are finally determined, subject only to an unmistakable public demand for their amendment."

The speaker, declaring that the School Leaders To Banquet In City Tonight

Dr. L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction, and other educational officials are scheduled to speak at the banquet to be conducted at 7 o'clock tonight in Hilton hotel ballroom.

Bluford F. Minor, superintendent of Levelland schools, is president of the association.

"Evaluating Our Public Schools of Today" will be presented from the standpoint of a farmer, by David Sherrill, Levelland; state accrediting committee, V. Z. Rogers, Lamesa superintendent; a business man, J. D. Hassell, jr., president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and secretary of Hemphill-Wells company; a public school man, W. B. Irvin, Lubbock public schools superintendent.

Dr. Woods will be introduced by G. D. Holbrook of Lubbock, deputy state superintendent.

Dr. R. E. Garlin, president of the West Texas Teachers' association and education professor at Texas Technological college, will appear on the program.

Group Singing Planned

Group singing and special music have been arranged by Charles Fike of Lubbock public schools faculty. A business session will close the meeting.

Members of the arrangements committee are Joseph R. Griggs, Lubbock county superintendent; R. W. Matthews, Senior High school principal; and Dr. A. W. Evans, head of the Tech education department.

The program will be attended by school superintendents, county superintendents, principals, and other executives. Approximately 100 attended last year's banquet, said Matthews.

Ranger Dispels Belief That Skeleton Is That Of Blanton

RAYMONDVILLE, Dec. 7. (AP)—Texas Ranger Ernest Best, who has been working two months on the case of the missing John and Luther Blanton for the department of public safety, said tonight he did not believe a skeleton found near here was that of John Blanton.

Best said he had talked with a physician, and agreed with Sheriff Howard Cragg of Willacy county that the skeleton may have been in the spot it was found Sunday for three or four years.

Bill To Compel Husband And Wife To Lump Taxes Likely

WASHING, Dec. 7. (AP)—Representative Buck (D-Calif) said today a house ways and means subcommittee appeared about evenly divided on a treasury proposal to compel a husband and wife in community property states to lump their income for federal tax purposes.

Buck, a subcommittee member, said the community property states would be "lucky" to defeat the proposal by a 5 to 4 vote.

Tide Is Turned Temporarily On Farm Measure

Senate And House Leadership Gain Advantages In Favor Of Administration Bill

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. — Determined senate and house leadership turned the legislative tide, temporarily at least, in favor of the administration farm bill today.

The senate rejected an amendment by Republican Leader McNary of Oregon to limit operation

"HEAVY LOSSES" SUFFERED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP) — Chairman Smith of the senate agriculture committee made public today a confidential report to his committee which charged cotton farmers had suffered "heavy losses" from undergrading of cotton handled for them by the American Cotton Cooperative association in government loans and pools.

of the bill to three years. Friends of the crop control measure called this the first test of senate sentiment of the No. 1 item of President Roosevelt's special session program.

Had Gained Advantage

Foes of the legislation had gained an initial advantage yesterday in the house, when that chamber voted to discard compulsory control of wheat marketing.

Another senate test was in the making, and senators urging that the bill be sent back to the agriculture committe for redrafting, expressed confidence they could muster more than the 25 votes cast for McNary's idea of confining the program to the years 1938, 1939 and 1940. Eleven Democrats joined the 14 Republicans in supporting McNary's amendment.

The senate adopted an amendment by Senator Bankhead (D-Ala) which would restore benefits to cotton growers under the soil conservation act in event compulsory control and accompanying parity payments were ended.

House leaders, cautious after their

Suicide Verdict Given Hanging

(Special To The Avalanche)

LAMESA, Dec. 7.—Justice of Peace D. L. Campbell rendered a verdict of suicide after he had investigated the hanging of Fern Bickers, about 24, sentenced to four years in the state penitentiary on a charge of cartheft, in his jail cell on the second floor of the city hall this morning.

Bickers was found hanging from a light cord suspended by a bed blanket about 11 o'clock this morning by Jack Phinizy, city marshal, and Dr. O. L. McIlroy, chiropractor, after they had entered the jail to talk to another prisoner.

Residence Not Determined

Late tonight Sheriff Gus White of Dawson county said officers had not been able to learn where Bickers lived nor had they been able to locate any of his relatives.

It was indicated if relatives were not located soon burial would be here under direction of the county. The body was released to Higginbotham Funeral home.

Sheriff White said the man left no note and had not been despondent. Officers were unable to find a motive for the actions except his sentence in the penitentiary.

The city marshal and the chiropractor found the prisoner suspended by the blanket. He was alone in the cell and the door was padlocked.

Approximately half an hour before he was found, he had talked to a prisoner in an adjoining cell, investigators said, and it was believed he had been dead about 20 minutes.

A. G. Bearden, secretary of the chamber of commerce here, said he was informed Bickers had told a negro known as "Grasshopper,"

Body Of Dallas Man Is Found In Marsh

BEAUMONT, Dec. 7. (AP)—M. M. Cooke, 52-year-old Dallas, Tex., civil engineer who became lost Saturday while hunting south of here, walked across eight miles of treacherous marsh and was only a short distance from high land a trapper's shack when he died.

Searchers who found his body this afternoon said if he had been able to keep going ten minutes more he would probably have still been alive.

Undertaking company attendants said they believed Cooke had died Sunday or early Monday of exposure. They said his body was well preserved by icy waters in which it lay.

Cooke walked into the marsh near Big Hill Saturday while hunting with a son, H. C. Cooke. They separated. The father apparently became confused and headed straight across the marsh.

Mine Employe Follows Air Current 8 Miles To Safety

PINCKNEYVILLE, Ill., Dec. 7. (AP) A clean, sweet current of air, sweeping through a dank maze of tunnels, led Lawrence Lee, 28, to safety today after he had been lost in a coal mine 41 hours.

The mine bookkeeper, who disappeared in the Briar Hill workings Sunday afternoon, had the presence of mind to follow the current until he reached an air shaft in an adjoining mine, one of several connected by a labyrinth of tunnels covering eight square miles.

Diggers coming to work heard his shouts.

SKILL NOT IMPAIRED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP) — President Roosevelt told reporters today that his ailing jaw was all right, and then proceeded to demonstrate that his tooth trouble had not impaired his skill at parrying questions.

Wilson To Succeed Dodd As U. S. Ambassador In Berlin

WILLIAM E. DODD

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. — Hugh R. Wilson, assistant secretary of state, will succeed William E. Dodd in the post of ambassador to Germany, informed persons predicted tonight.

(It was learned in Berlin that Dodd has resigned, effective next month).

President Roosevelt and state department officials refused to confirm reports of the impending change. Other informants said, however, such a move would provide opportunity for improvement of relations between the United States and Germany, which have been distinctly cool.

Appointed In 1933

Dodd, former university professor, was appointed to the post in 1933 by President Roosevelt. His expressed opposition to dictatorship had prompted some Germans to say he was no longer acceptable as an envoy.

It is understood here that the 68-year-old educator intends to resume his chair of American history at the University of Chicago.

If Wilson, an expert on European affairs, is named to succeed him, it will be the second time in two years that President Roosevelt has picked a veteran career diplomat for a key post in Europe. William Phillips, former undersecretary of state, was made ambassador to Rome in 1935.

Flier And Child Killed As Plane Strikes House

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Dec. 7.—A two-year-old boy, Leonard Albright, and Capt. F. A. Avelino of the Mexican army were killed tonight when a Kelly Field attack plane piloted by Avelino hurtled out of the mist into the residence of Spencer D. Albright, jr., instructor in the University of Texas.

A three-year-old son, Spencer, III, escaped with bruises and scratches. The mother suffered shock.

Struck Another House First

The ship, reported missing on a flight from Dallas to San Antonio, went into a steep vertical left bank at an altitude of about 100 feet, witnesses said. It struck the rear of the O. J. Herring home, in northwest Austin, ripped off part of a back room and then lunged into sleeping quarters of the Albright home, next door.

The Albright children had just been put to bed in a rear room. Albright and a friend, Edward Peeler, were in a front room, listening to the radio. Mrs. Albright was at a clothes closet getting an evening wrap.

Stunned By Impact

"I thought the ceiling was caving in," said Peeler. "We were both stunned by the impact. We rushed to the back room. We saw the twisted, torn mass of wreckage and heard one of the children crying. Mrs. Albright was half-leaning against a wall."

The other child was crushed by the ship's motor.

An indentification card listed the pilot as Fernando Andres Avelino, captain in the Mexican army air cirps. He was a student at Kelly field, San Antonio, and was among a group of students who were returning from a flight to Dallas.

Some of the ships remained in Dallas and others landed at Fort Worth and Waco, forced down by low visibility.

'Still Look To Man On Foot,' General Malin Craig Declares

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP) — General Malin Craig, army chief of staff, said in his annual report today that war in China and Spain had demonstrated airplanes and tanks were only "valuable auxiliaries to the infantry.

"For a decision we must still look to the man on foot," he said.

COUNT 106TH VICTIM

DALLAS, Dec. 7. (AP)—The name of Gottlieb Gronsky, 60-year-old pushcart fruit peddler, was recorded today as Dallas county's 106th traffic fatality for 1937. He was struck by a hit and run driver.

Hand-Picked Texas Gals To Add Glamour To Broadway

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—What jaded old Broadway needs—with New York night clubs folding up in rapid-fire manner—was diagnosed today by Billy Rose as a carload of "the freshest, liveliest tootsies in Texas."

He's got 'em, he said, 100 strong, now en route from a show in San Francisco at a trainfare cost of $12,000.

The little man who promotes big shows said he planned to open something new in the way of after-dark entertainment in Gotham an Christmas night.

"It won't star Eleanor Holm—definitely not," he snapped, referring to Mrs. Eleanor Holm Jarrett, one of the central figures in the recent marital merry-go-round involving Rose and his wife, Fannie Brice, or "my man—where is he now?" fame.

Billy wouldn't say he still was Fannie's man, but he did say he was glad to be back where he

Chinese Repulse Nippon Troops

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Dec. 8 (Wednesday) Chinese sources today reported Japanese columns storming two gateways of Nanking's ancient walls were repulsed by Chinese defenders who inflicted 1,000 Japanese casualties.

Three Japanese columns were said to be attacking the almost-surrounded capital in a semi-circle.

Chinese reports said the vanguard of one column advanced to the Chilin-(Unicorn)-gate of the outer walls but was driven back with heavy casualties.

Attack Staved Off

A main motorized column next attacked the "morning sunshine" gateway in the southern main walls leading to the beautiful Ming palaces. Chinese defense forces were said to have staved off the attack and pushed the column back to the village of Tenghwachen.

The third column had not reached Nanking yet, being held up by fighting at Mulinkwan.

Chinese troops inside the barricaded city, apparently convinced the capital would fall before oncoming Japanese legions, began destroying military supplies and equipment to keep them from being taken by the enemy.

Chinese Mass 200,000

Approximately 200,000 Chinese soldiers were massed in the vicinity of Nanking, objective of a force of 75,000 Japanese, whose advance guard was reported at the city gates attempting to scale the ancient walls.

Within the capital—deserted by the Chinese government—tension increased as the crisis neared.

Scores of thousands of civilians, including at last report 17 Americans and many other foreigners, massed in the residential area, which the Japanese said would not be attacked. All exists were closed.

Bob Burns Asks Injunction On Use Of Radio Transcriptions

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7. (AP)—Suit for an injunction to prohibit use of his radio transcriptions was on file today by Bob Burns, film comedian, against C. C. Pyle, officer of the Radio Transcription Company of America and one time "bunion derby" impresario.

Burns claimed that other talent has been put on transcriptions with his own offering, and that the other material is of a "vulgar and suggestive character,' damaging to his reputation.

Warning Issued Livestock Men Tuesday Night

Temperature Scurries Down From 41 Degrees At 5:30 To 29 At Midnight Here

A NEW norther which had already sent temperatures scurrying downward over most of Texas had descended upon the Panhandle-Plains area last night and early today after the United States Weather bureau at Dallas had issued a special warning in its wake.

Livestock warnings were issued for the Panhandle-Plains and most of the northern edge of the state. Possible rain or snow was forecast for West Texas late Wednesday or Thursday.

Mercury Sliding Downward

After registering a maximum of 54 degrees at the West Texas Gas company's main line station during the day, the mercury started tumbling Tuesday afternoon and by 5:30 had dropped to 41 degrees. By midnight it had descended to 29 and gave indications of going below a predicted 20-degree low.

At Municipal airport, the maximum for the day was 52.6 degrees but the thermometer there registered 30.4 at midnight. Tuesday morning's minimum there was 21.8 degrees.

Trace Of Snow At Amarillo

A trace of fine snow was reported falling in Amarillo at midnight with the mercury standing at 28 with an expected low of between 15 and 20 degrees owing to extent of cloudiness.

Winter chilled the South menaced fruit and vegetable crops worth millions of dollars, left northern New York snow-bound and threatened shipping from the Virginia Capes to Portland, Me., the Associated Press reported.

At least five deaths were laid to the season's worst cold wave.

Frost In Everglades

Fronts reached as far south as the Everglades. Louisiana farmers expressed fear their sugar cane crop would suffer. Florida vegetable and berry crops were nipped and citrus growers were alarmed. Some damage to vegetables was noted in the Rio Grande valley.

The New Orleans weather bureau warned that a "cold wave with much colder" temperatures would strike Oklahoma, northwest Arkansas and northern, central and western Texas" today or tonight.

Savannah, Ga., had a low of 17.1 degrees and Jacksonville 20, the coldest weather in these cities since January, 1928.

Citrus growers called out helpers to refuel smudge pots, truck farmers draped straw and other coverings over tender plants.

Many of the southern Appalachian ranges were blanketed in snow. It was 14 below zero on Mount Mitchell, in North Carolina.

In New England, temperatures were somewhat above normal.

Pacific coast temperatures in the 50's were about normal.

There was light snow in the Rocky mountain and Great Lakes areas.

Cold, but normal weather was the rule in the Middle West.

Russian Explorers Ready To Accept Aid After 200 Days

MOSCOW, Dec. 7. (AP) — Four Soviet explorers drifting from the North Pole toward the Atlantic indicated today they were ready to be rescued as their ice floe approached possible danger.

In the 200 days since they landed at the top of the world, the campers have floated 745 miles and today reached the position 82.23 degrees north and 6.52 degrees west—off northeast Greenland.

City Will Be In Test Friday On Air Mail Line

Lubbock has been selected for an air mail pickup test Friday which may be the first step toward putting this city and the South Plains on an air mail and passenger line.

This was the information received at the chamber of commerce Tuesday afternoon.

Announcement that the test will be made came by telegram, followed by long distance telephone confirmation, from officials of Eastern Airlines, one of the leaders of the air transportation world.

Regarded As Significant

Chamber officials were uncertain just how significant the announcement may be as to Lubbock's airline prospects. But they regarded it as perhaps the most significant in the several years during which intense and almost continuous effort has been made to secure airline outlet for Lubbock and, through Lubbock, for the entire South Plains region.

Just what the schedule of the airmail plane will be so far as Lubbock is concerned had not been received last night. Airline officials at Houston said, however, that tentative plans are to land at Municipal airport late Thursday and take off with the load of mail, probably to Sweetwater, Friday morning, there to make connection with American Airways.

Plan For Load Here

Regardless what the significance may be, chamber officials immediately made plans to insure that the airline's mail load will be heavy with envelopes which bear the announcement that they are part of the first airmail cargo borne out of Lubbock. They will be airmail envelopes bordered with the standard diagonal lines of red, white and blue, but carrying the illustrated slogan that they are from "Lubbock, Hub of the Plains."

The envelopes may be available at the chamber of commerce late this afternoon but the greater likelihood is that they will not be delivered until Thursday morning, officials said.

The chamber meanwhile extended an invitation to every citizen of Lubbock and of the South Plains to contribute a part toward the first airmail load out of this city.

The invitation was accompanied with the reminder, however, that

Finland Prepares To Pay U. S. War Debt

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP) — Finland took steps today to preserve its record for prompt payment of its war debt to the United States, notifying this government it would meet the December 15 installment of $232,143.

Of 13 war debtor nations which together will owe $1,680,170,447 this month, Finland alone has not defaulted in the past.

The other 12 have been in default since 1933.

The 12 defaulters, and the total due from each next week, including the semi-annual payments and amounts already in arrears:

Belgium, $61,300,084; Czechoslovakia, $16,315,400; Estonia, $4,160,287; France, $455,009,163; Great Britain, $994,486,367; Hungary, $467,673; Italy, $84,119,757; Latvia, $1,607,928; Lithuania, $1,353,117; Poland $51,766,147; Rumania, $7,438,750, and Yugoslavia, $1,913,515.

Weather

WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy, colder with a moderate cold wave in north and east portions Wednesday; Thursday cloudy, possibly followed by rain or snow in north portion.

NEW MEXICO: Unsettled and colder Wednesday, probably snow flurries north and east portions; Thursday partly cloudy.

LOCAL WEATHER

As Reported By Municipal Airport

Barometer at midnight, 30.6, (steadily rising).

Temperature at midnight, 30.4 degrees.

Wind velocity at midnight, northeast 12 mph.

Cloudy, seven-tenths; visibility 10 miles, ceiling 3,000.

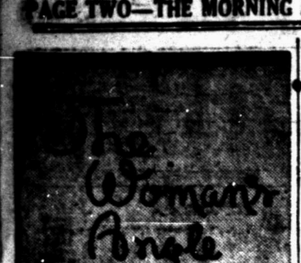

Day's maximum temperature, 52.6 degrees.

Day's minimum temperature, 21.8 degrees.

Four Study Club Meetings Interest Lubbock Women Tuesday Afternoon

Join us in this plea impassioned: Keep our Christmastide old-fashioned!

O. HENRY PLOT

WE wish everyone could be happy at this time of the year. Everyone is supposed to be merry and yet, in many instances, we find heart aches. Take the story of the Washington, D. C., couple which would make a grand plot for an O. Henry story. A young woman, fairly bubbling with happiness, walked to a downtown bank in the capital city to draw out $300 she had helped her youthful fiance save during the year so they could be married shortly after Christmas.

She planned to take the money to him to show him they were both right when they figured 11 months ago they could put away enough in a year to become man and wife. Furthermore she wanted to show him real money, not simply a check.

Her happiness, however, soon gave way to tears of despair. Shortly after she left the bank, she discovered the money in a brown envelope, had been dropped or taken from under her arm. She sobbed out her story to him that night. The disheartened couple issued a plea through a newspaper for the return of the money that meant so much to their future. The liberal reward they offered couldn't buy the joy that would be theirs if the money is returned.

TESTS OF WELL-MADE DRESS

WHEN you shop for a dress do you—

Pay attention to the buttons and other trimmings, making sure they are strong, color fast, if painted wood, chip proof and able to withstand washing or dry cleaning?

Make sure that eyelets are not so large and carelessly made that they will catch on jagged edges?

Take the trouble to stand straight, sit down, fold your arms, and in general go through enough contortions to be sure that garment does not pull across the back, strain at the elbows, bind at the arm holes, that it keeps an even hem (wide enough to permit alterations) and has plenty of sitting room?

Look over seams carefully?

Make sure stitching does not run too near the edge?

Beware of many seams? (An unnecessary number of them means that the dress has been cut from small pieces to economize on material. Be particularly sure that this has not been done down the front and disguised with trim.)

ON CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

"DO'S and Don'ts" for Christmas shopping are recommended by Mrs. Nellie B. Howard, instructor at Washington State college.

1. Do not buy gifts without carefully planning and estimating the value of the gift to the person; practical and useful gifts are preferred to useless articles.

2. If in selecting a gift for a friend you do not know the color which she would prefer, send her the money and a picture or illustration of the gift which you wish her to have.

3. Pictures or etchings out of the ordinary will be appreciated by young married people who are establishing a home.

4. Hand-carved objects make attractive and welcome gifts.

5. And, for the far-off relative or friend, orders may be sent to some other part of the country for products to be sent direct to the person, as, for example, maple sugar and candy from Vermont to a friend in California.

Tech Home Economics Group To Have Annual Open House

Annual open house by the Home Economics club at Texas Technological college will be conducted from 7 to 9 o'clock Saturday night in the home management house.

Members of the administrative council and campus social clubs and other guests invited by club members are to attend. The Christmas motif will be featured.

The receiving line will include members of the home economics faculty and home economics council and Miss Mary Frances Standefer, chairman of the open house committee. Miss Pauline Edgett is president of the Home Economics club, officers of which are included in the council.

Yule Atmosphere Wields Gavels

Lubbock club women took time from Christmas cooking and shopping Tuesday afternoon for several study club meetings.

Shakespeare club women, who are studying "King Lear", met in the home of Mrs. W. P. Garvin, 1711-A Fourteenth street, at 3 o'clock as guests of Mrs. J. A. Raley, jr. The program, for which Mrs. G. H. Petigrew was chairman, included three talks:

"Advance of the Edmund-Goneril-Regan Intrigue," Mrs. Charles Blandford; "Decay of the Intrigue," Mrs. J. D. Hinson, and "How Shakespeare Avoided An Anti-Climax in the Action," Mrs. O. A. Terry.

Mrs. S. A. Scott was received as a member.

Thirty Attend

At the same time, 1933 Study club members and guests met in the home of Mrs. Alex McDonald as guests of Mrs. R. I. Tubbs. About 30 women were present.

Mrs. C. E. Hereford was guest speaker on "Music and the Bible." The group sang Christmas carols and Rex Webster sang some Yule selections for which Mrs. Hereford played piano accompaniment. Mrs. R. S. Wilkinson was program leader.

Book Reviewed

Mrs. W. P. Clement was hostess for a regular luncheon meeting of the Readers Digest club in the Garvin home at 1 o'clock. She reviewed "Northwest Passage" by Kenneth Roberts.

In Bertram Home

The Lubbock circle of the Child Conservation league met in the home of Mrs. Seth Bertram, 2211 Eighteenth street, at 3:15 o'clock. Members brought clothes which the circle will present to K. Carter school for distribution among needy children.

Mrs. George M. Garrett discussed "Can Mother Find Time For Fun" and Mrs. Bertram talked on "Movie Values For Children."

Former plans for a Christmas party were altered, the circle deciding to have the party at 7:30 p. m., December 14, in the home of Mrs. Roy Furr, 3120 Twentieth street.

Attending the meeting were Mesdames W. G. Alderson, W. D. Benson, jr., Furr, Garrett, C. H. Hamilton, J. D. Hassell, J. H. Holt, L. L. Kelso, Howard Logan, H. H. Matejowsky, C. E. Moreman, Marlin R. Smith, jr., and Huddleston Wright.

Calvary Baptist Women To Have Two-Day Service

Week of prayer will be observed by the Calvary Baptist Women's Missionary society today and Thursday. The meetings will begin at 10 a. m.

Mrs. H. B. Strickland, 2124 Twenty-seventh street, will be hostess today, and Thursday's meeting will be in the home of Mrs. C. J. McCarty, 1909 Twenty-first street. Covered dish luncheons will be served at noon.

Couple Celebrates Golden Wedding

A golden wedding anniversary celebration, honoring Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Parker of near Lubbock, took place in Amarillo Sunday at the home of their daughter, Mrs. F. Q. Kelleam, and Doctor Kelleam, 2819 Hayden street. The honored couple was married at Pleasant Grove, Miss., and has lived in Lubbock county since 1916.

A dinner was served in the recreation room of the Kelleam home. Fifty candles topped a three-tiered wedding cake.

Attending the celebration were five daughters of the couple and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Will White and daughters, Dorothy Zoe, Wnona Ann and Betty Faye; Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Houston, of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Rube Gray and children, Charles B. and Mary Jane of Ralls; Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Nutt and son, R. B. Nutt, jr., of Amarillo; the Kelleam's children, Elaine and Harriett, and Mrs. Parker's brother, James Nordin of Jackson, Miss.

Three other daughters, Mesdames L. C. Randles and Maurice Wagner of Hollywood, Calif., and Bernice Glaze of Topeka, Kas., telephoned their parents during the day.

Bride-Elect Is Honored At Party In Cox Home, Post

Mrs. Catherine Thompson, bride-elect of R. F. Mitchell, was complimented at a miscellaneous shower given in Post Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Cox. Hostesses were Mrs. B. E. Young and Miss Alta Robinson of Post and Miss Gladys Cox.

Mrs. Ruby Stewart of Lubbock was included in the out-of-town guests.

Mrs. Thompson, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Lawrence of Plainview, is employed by the Dalby Motor Freight company. The marriage is to take place Christmas Day in Fort Worth.

Vivretts Honored With Reception

A reception honoring Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Vivrett and new members of the First Christian church was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Kuykendall, 2201 Sixteenth street, Monday night. Two hundred fifty persons called.

Mesdames Joe Coursey and Sam J. McFarland met guests at the door. The receiving line was made up of the Vivretts, officers of the host groups, new members and elders. Other council and class members made up the house party.

The receiving rooms were decorated with Christmas greenery and soft red tapers. The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of greenery and red tapers.

Mesdames D. N. Leaverton, R. V. Williams, Robert Crawford and Avery Fix presided at the services.

Relieve Their Misery This Proved Way

WHEN your child comes down with a cold, you can't afford to take needless risks. Use the treatment that has been doubly proved for you—Vicks VapoRub.

It has been proved by everyday use in more homes than any other medication of its kind—further proved by the largest clinical tests ever made on colds. (Full details in every VapoRub package.) Only Vicks give you proof like this.

Vicks VapoRub is direct external treatment. There's no dosing—no risk of spoiling appetite, or disturbing a delicate digestion. VapoRub can be used freely, as often as needed, even on the youngest child.

You simply massage VapoRub on throat, chest, and back (as illustrated). Then—to make its long-continued double action last even longer—spread a thick layer on the chest and cover with a warmed cloth.

No Long Waiting for Relief to begin . . .

Almost before you finish rubbing, the youngster begins to feel warm and comfortable as VapoRub goes to work direct through the skin like a poultice. At the same time its medicated vapors, released by the warmth of the body, are carried direct to the irritated air-passages with every breath.

This double action loosens phlegm—relieves irritation and coughing—helps break up local congestion. And long after the little one relaxes into restful sleep, VapoRub keeps right on working—hour after hour. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

Texas Tech Students And Lubbock Citizens Offered "Key To City" By El Paso

Officials Extend Bids In Letters

The "key to the city" apparently will be presented to Texas Technological college students who go to El Paso for the Sun Bowl game between Tech and University of West Virginia teams on New Year's day.

Letters from Mayor M. A. Harlan, chamber of commerce officials, and Carl Smith, president of the El Paso Tech club, are among those cordially inviting fans to El Paso, and received in the office of President Bradford Knapp.

To Furnish Information

Information about anything from "Where does my uncle live?" to "Who's gonna win the game?" will be provided at an information desk that will be maintained in El Paso Hilton hotel by the Tech club there, Smith wrote. The desk will be maintained from the morning of Dec. 31 until it is no longer needed. Smith is a 1932 graduate of the college.

The Hilton hotel is headquarters for Tech alumni in El Paso. Don B. Burger, manager, is former manager of the Hilton hotel here.

"Local enthusiasm is running high," Smith wrote.

"No time and expense is being spared to make the Sun Bowl game a great success," Mayor Harlan wrote to the student body.

"Get the student body together and come to El Paso and let's turn out in full force to give the Red Raiders the right sort of support so that they will return with the Sun Bowl championship!" urged a letter signed by B. M. G. Williams, president, and E. H. Simons, executive vice-president and general manager, of the El Paso Chamber of Commerce.

The first U. S. loan to a World War ally was made to Great Britain in April, 1917. The amount was $200,000,000, at 3 1-2 per cent.

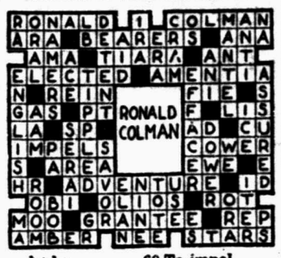

"I got the best mama in all the world. She knows just what to do for me when I suffer some of those little ills which come along when babies like me start teething. Mama gives me Teethina when I'm temporarily constipated and when gas or a sour stomach give me colic pains, or when I eat the wrong kind of food and run off my bowels. Teethina makes a big hit with me because it tastes good, and mama likes it 'cause twelve powders cost but 30c. The drug store man keeps plenty of Teethina for us babies." TEETHINA.

Rev. Alves Talks To Kappa Gamma

Rev. J. Hodge Alves of St. Paul's Episcopal church was guest speaker at a formal dinner meeting of Kappa Gamma sorority Monday night at Hotel Lubbock.

Flowers formed a centerpiece for the table which was lighted with white tapers in crystal holders.

Attending were Misses Anna Bass Arnett, Louise Chance, Dorothy Levey, Esther Cooper, Mary Cooper, Ruth E. Ford, Helen Hart, Edith Henderson, Margaret Carroll Robertson, Opal Sloan, Verna Upton, Eufaule Wise, Maurine Jons, Dr. Pauline Miller, Mesdames M. J. Aderton, Yancey Price, Lottie B. Hilton and Winnie Wheat.

Modern Plays Are AAUW Subject

Representative plays of the past two seasons were discussed by James G. Allen, acting dean of men and associate professor of English at Texas Technological college, Tuesday night at a meeting of the Lubbock branch, American Association of University Women, in room 107 of the Tech home economics building Monday night.

Mr. Allen briefly described 11 modern plays: "You Can't Take It With You," "Winterset," "Stage Door," "High Tor," "Dead End," "I'd Rather Be Right," "Room Service," "Brother Rat," "The Women," "Call It a Day," and "Johnny Johnson." Mr. Allen mentioned revivals of five Shakespearean plays, "Julius Caesar," "Hamlet" (both Gilguld's and Howard's interpretations), "Othello," "Romeo and Juliet" and "As You Like It"; the WPA staging of Marlowe's "Dr. Faustus" and Wycherly's "Country Wife."

The speaker discussed the comedies in a group, declaring the comic element on the stage is an encouraging sign that the theater is "growing up" and that he considered a good comedy representative of a finer type of literature than that of the tragedy. The revival of Shakespearean plays is evidence the theater-going public is demanding good literature rather than the light, slang treatments, popular a short time ago, said Mr. Allen. As an illustration he read several selections from Anderson's "High Tor."

Miss Mabel Erwin introduced the speaker. Miss Vivian Johnson presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Mary W. Doak.

A nominating committee to present a ballot at the January meeting was elected from the floor. It was composed of Misses Margaret W. Weeks and Bonnie K. Dysart and Mrs. Ethel Terrell.

The ballet will be the theme for the January program to be held January 9 in the lounge of the women's dormitory under the direction of Mrs. Johnnye Langford and Miss Zella Riegel. Each member may bring a guest.

Miss Grace Padley, chairman of the committee of educational standards, said the committee is sponsoring a program December 28 on a discussion of "The Marriage of People—Whose Fault Is It."

The association has 72 members, eight of whom are associate.

ORDER FOLGER'S TODAY

Mountain-grown coffee with a keen, racy tang! It keeps a man happy for life!

Here's coffee with that certain exciting something men find irresistible! An enchanting full-bodied flavor, and the lingering tang of rare wine! It's Folger's—different from all the others—because it's mountain-grown!

Most of the world's coffee is lowland grown. So in spite of different brand names and packages—they all taste alike! Folger's mountain-grown flavor comes from a volcanic region in Central America.

Up there the amazingly rich soil, tropic downpours and bracing crystal air make a marvelous difference in coffee—packing every bean with extra-rich flavor.

That's the reason Folger's is the preferred coffee among those who can afford the best. It's served on 16 great railroad systems, transcontinental planes—and in thousands of hotels and restaurants. That's why—if you want to thrill a man—you'll serve him Folger's!

ECONOMICAL BECAUSE SO FLAVORFUL! Folger's tangy mountain-grown flavor is so much richer—home-makers tell us they use ¼ less of Folger's than of ordinary brands! So it's a real economy to enjoy this finest of all coffees in your own home.

LOVERS OF DRIP COFFEE: To get richer drip coffee, use Folger's Drip Grind—designed especially for drip-makers, Silex and other glass coffee-makers.

Record Cotton Crop May Be Estimated Now By Federal Crop Reporting Board

Huge Carryover Is In Prospect

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. — The South will learn tomorrow whether its cotton crop is as large as previously reported.

The federal crop reporting board will announce (at 10 a. m. c. s. t.) the agriculture department's latest estimate of this year's yield, placed a month ago at 18,243,000 bales.

Should the October estimate hold up, this year's crop may be not only 50 per cent greater than the 1936 harvest, but the largest in history. This indicated bumper yield, resulting in sharp price declines, is prompting many Southern congressmen as well as growers to press for compulsory control legislation before next year's planting season.

Agriculture department officials expect a surplus close to 11,000,000 bales when next year's crop starts to market. This carryover would be more than sufficient to supply domestic needs a whole year, they said.

Another bumper crop next year, they said, would force prices much lower, to the detriment of the south's economy.

The Agricultural Adjustment administration hopes that the 1938 crop average can be held to about 27,000,000—or about a fifth less than this year's. Such an acreage would produce, they said, all the way from 9,800,000 to 12,000,000 bales, the quantity depending, of course, on growing conditions.

above the average attendance of games between Southwestern conference teams; and

"Whereas, it is the united desire of the ex-students of the schools of the conference members in West Texas to have Texas Tech admitted as a member of this conference in order that said school may take its just place with other schools of equal rank and in order that such ex-students may have opportunity to see their alma mater compete in athletics;

Membership Is Urged

"Wherefore, we the duly assembled authorized officials and members of this united organization of ex-students of institutions now composing the Southwest conference, do most respectfully urge the officials of said conference to accept Texas Tech college as a member thereof."

Members of the resolution committee were McMillan, chairman; Senator G. Hobart Nelson, Wilson Kyle, Tom Duggan, Raley, Mrs. W. H. Bledsoe, Miss Sue Bryan, Mrs. Earl Collins, and Mrs. Weaver.

At the opening of the informal session several brief talks were made by exes of Southwest conference schools, each assuring the attendants that Tech was able to compete favorably with conference teams in athletics and all endorsed the movement in attempts to obtain membership for Tech.

Speakers Are Heard

Dupree spoke in behalf of the university. Other speakers were: McMillan for A. and M.; Dean James O. Allen for S. M. U.; Dr. F. W. Standefer for Baylor; Raley for T. C. U.; and Kyle for Arkansas.

Kyle pointed out that he believed that from a financial standpoint Tech's entrance would not be a handicap as average attendance here was equal to average attendance at Southwest conference games.

Senator Nelson spoke briefly.

"Many members of the senate voted against the resolution to ask admittance to Tech because of amendments attached which included a number of other schools," Nelson said. "I believe the general feeling over the state is that Tech should be in the conference.

"Regarding the Texas Tech-Texas university game, that was one of Texas' best games. If Texas had played against Tech like she did against several other teams, Tech would have won.

"I believe the attendance at Tech would equal or surpass average attendance at conference games."

Senator Nelson said he believed the Board of Regents at the university was in favor of Tech's entrance in the conference.

It was not known last night if there would be representatives from here at the Dallas session of conference officials.

Moving pictures of the Texas-Duquesne game here Nov. 11 were shown at the meeting last night.

purchasing power of a part of the population was too low, that "some parts of our agriculture are disorganized," and that "the whole future is a gigantic question mark," make it plain that he criticized no one for the present industrial recession.

Warner, president of the McCall Co, called for "repeal or modification of those laws which have contributed to the downward trend," availability of capital funds "to enable industry to go forward and expand both production and employment," cessation of industrial strife and avoidance of increasing lay-offs of workers.

America's Plea "Freedom"

America's plea, he asserted, was for "freedom."

"If, with freedom," he continued, "we work together as cooperating units in a peaceful society without bitterness or rancor, nothing can stop our progress."

Business, he said, was "willing to do its parts" in effecting that cooperation.

Basing his assumption on polls taken by the American Institute of Public Opinion under direction of George H. Gallup, he said they indicated the majority of the public was in favor of the regulation of labor unions, their incorporation, peace between the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O., regulation of strikes, a balanced budget, reduction in relief expenditures, revival of the N. R. A., and a constitutional amendment giving congress the right to greater regulation over industry and agriculture.

It was opposed, however, as indicated by the polls, to a third term for President Roosevelt, sit-down strikes, vigilantism, cash relief and revival of the A. A. A.

Largest number of marriage licenses recorded for one month for many years were issued in November, according to information from office of Ed D. Allen, county clerk. One hundred and two licenses were issued.

V. L. Cade, Union community farmer whose cotton was planted late and is just now opened, brought four bolls to County Agent C. C. Jobson yesterday. The cotton is Acala seed, from California. Bolls are large and the staple is about an inch in length.

Lubbock's negro Presbyterian church will sponsor a Christmas tree and program at the church the night of Dec. 24, at which remembrances will be given to needy negro children of the congregation, according to W. M. Sedberry, church clerk. The party also will be the occasion for an exchange of gifts by friends who are more fortunate, he said. Contributions will be sought to insure presents for the less fortunate, Sedberry added.

Dr. Albert Barnett, professor of education and assistant Dean of Texas Technological college, addressed faculty members at Junior High school Tuesday afternoon on "The Use of Standardized Tests and their Results." About 50 teachers were present. Carroll Thompson, principal of the Junior High school, presided. Thursday afternoon the Senior High school faculty will meet to discuss possibilities for intergration. D. M. Howell, language arts teacher, will preside. Others expecting to attend are Miss Dorothy Lomax, Ross Ayers, C. C. Cox, Gertude Watson and W. C. Watts.

Suggestions for pasture and care of their gilts, were given 14 4-H club boys yesterday who own Poland China gilts by Homer E. Thompson, assistant county agent. He sent each boy a letter on what to do.

Slaton has been enjoying extra large business this fall and the Christmas rush is just starting, J. H. Brewer, well known business man, said yesterday. This fall has been the best in the history of the town, he added.

District No. 2 committeemen will not meet with Washington D. C., and College Station AAA officials today and tomorrow to discuss the 1938 program. Meeting was called off late last week. However, County Agent C. C. Jobson pointed out, a county meeting is scheduled for Thursday to select Lubbock county chairmen and others.

School Leaders Speak To Lions

Operation of Lubbock county's rural school program and its importance in the development of farm boys and girls was stressed before the Lions club yesterday noon by the six rural superintendents. The program was in charge of Judge E. L. Pitts as chairman, and County Superintendent Joseph R. Griggs, who introduced the speakers. Luncheon was held in the Hilton hotel.

President W. H. Evans announced no luncheon would be held next Tuesday noon, because of the Matador banquet in the evening. He announced the directors at a meeting Monday had decided to sponsor a cotton contest for boys of the county.

Reports of several committees were called for. Arlie Crites said the ninth annual party would be held Dec. 24 at the Palace theatre; he made a plea for help in sacking 1,500 sacks of candy, etc., with toys. Herman L. Fink said the boy's work committee needed a place for underprivileged boys to meet and that Boys clubs, Inc., was cooperating with the local group.

Dr. M. H. Benson, tail twister, urged Lions to call their Texas Technological college football guest for next Tuesday night by telephone and invite him, then arrange to call for him before the banquet and to return him.

Superintendent Griggs introduced each speaker, who, in a three-minute talk, explained some phase of school work of the county. M. L. Kelly, Roosevelt, spoke on "that something," that is behind school work as well as civic groups. G. A. Lowery, Idalou, outlined the county setup, six rural high schools, one rural school and another that sends its high school students out of the county. B. M. Hayes, Cooper, said the year before the rural system was begun there were 24 rural high school graduates, with about 20 attending higher educational institutions; the past spring 123 graduated and over 100 are in college.

Vocational work at Frenship, outlined by Superintendent E. R. Haskins, was typical of the other five, he said. Home economics and agriculture are important departmental factors in each school. Need of integrity and character in school training was emphasized by E. L. Farr, Shallowater. Improvement in scholastic work, the raising from seven and a half to nine months of instructions and from seventh grade to fully accredited schools, were cited.

defeat yesterday, had on hand enough votes today to batter down spiradic uprisings.

Chairman Jones (D-Tex) of the agriculture committee persuaded the chamber to reject, at least tentatively, two proposals by Representatives Jobbs (D-Ala) and Andresen (R-Minn) to apply compulsory cotton acreage allotments to the 1938 crop, one year in advance of the bill's schedule. Jones insisted that voluntary control provisions be tried out first.

Abilene Chorus To Sing Here

Paying a goodwill visit to Senior High school, the Abilene Choral club will give a program at 2:30 this afternoon. The program is the first paid assembly sponsored by the student council to be given this year.

Thirty boys an dgirls will arrive in Lubbock from Abilene shortly after noon for the program. Following their program they will be entertained in the homemaking department with a tea.

Program To Be Varied

Miss Ouida Clemons is director of the Abilene singers. The program is to be varied. Selections will include: "Gloria from Twelfth Mass" by Mozart; "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte Deis; "Ecce Vidimus eum" by Palestrina; "Couldn't Hear Nobody Pray," by Smith; "Plenty Good Room" by Smith; "Lullaby" by Noble Cain; "Old Woman" by Robertson; "Jolly Roger" by Candish; selections by a girl's sextette and a boys' quartette; "Echo Song" by di Lazzo; "Hallelujah Chorus" from the Messiah by Handle.

Members of the Senior High school glee club will return the visit later in the year when they present a program in Abilene. Glee club members and Mrs. Trotter will be hosts to the visitors during their visit.

Abilene students who will present the program are:

Geraldine Shaw, Harriet Murray, Dorothy Jean Shaw, Eunice Farramore, Ann Dorr, Lera Rue Riddle, Marshall Faye Landers, Ruth Evelyn Foote, Kathryn Murray, Shirley Keithly, Dixie Ruth Free, Billie Louise Webb, Sarah Crider, Margaret Wall, Mary Ella Taylor, Fairy Thelma Beam, Dorothy Lackey, Lucilee Grimes, Rufus Grisham, Tom Tod, Connell Taylor, Charles Marshall, Stewart Maloney, Gene Haines, Tommie Morton, Joe Morrison, Grover Hall, Edward Beasley, Frank Robertson, Garnet Gracy.

Accompanists will be Milton Page and Minnie Faye McQuary.

Varied Charges Filed Tuesday

Charges of forgery, theft, and violation of state liquor laws were among the complaints filed Tuesday in courts here.

Bond of $2,000 was set by Walter Davies, justice of peace, when Joe Gilbert was arraigned on a charge of passing to Hemphill-Wells company an allegedly forged $35.37 check on Thomas gin at Grassland. The complaint was sworn to by Tom Abel, sheriff, before Victor H. Lindsey, assistant district attorney.

Two Others Charged

Two other men already have been charged in connection with passing of a number of forged checks on the gin and bonds of $1,500 were set for them. Late Tuesday none of the men had posted bonds. All were being held in the jail here.

A negro, J. C. Williams of Lubbock, was charged with attempting to pass an allegedly forged check for $9.40 at a Lubbock bank. The complaint, prepared by Lindsey, had arrested the negro. The check bore the assertedly forged name of Earl Davis. Late Tuesday the negro had not been arraigned.

Liquor Violation Charged

W. L. Lewis, Lubbock negro, was committed to the Lubbock county jail after a charge of violation of state liquor laws was filed in county court against him. Bond was set at $500 by Judge J. J. Dillard on arraignment, but late yesterday it had not been posted. Chas. C. Cox, member of the Texas liquor control board, swore to the complaint before Robert J. Allen, county attorney.

An automobile left in a garage here after it was damaged in an accident near Lubbock Nov. 17 proved to be stolen from West Memphis, Ark., according to reports received at the police department, said Bill Mabray, police identifications officer.

Another Possible Theft Probed

Police are investigating possibility of theft of another car, brought here after it had been damaged by fire in Hale county. A man asked a Lubbock garage to send for the car and said the owner would be at the scene. The garage has not heard from the owner, police said.

A complaint charging Joe Lopez, a Mexican, with operating a wagon without a tail light on highway 24, was filed in the justice court of Davies as the result of an accident between Carlisle and Hurlwood about 7 o'clock Monday night. Weldon Lawson, highway patrolman, swore to the complaint.

J. W. Pope of Borger was driver of an automobile that crashed into the wagon which had no tail light and overturned. None was seriously injured.

Air Mail Test Here

any missive for air transportation here should be mailed not later than Thursday because of uncertainty as to the exact operating schedule of the airliner. Among the covers are likely to be many hundreds mailed by stamp collectors anticipating their possible future value as rarities.

The selection of Lubbock as a test point was the result of a series of coincidences and came, in view of the circumstances, somewhat as a surprise, chamber officials admitted Tuesday afternoon. They had been advised several weeks ago of the U. S. postoffice department's intent to expand the airmail system, but specific encouragement for the Plains region was lacking.

Then the officials here learned that a number of Texas cities had been selected for the "mail pickup test" which is described as the first step, ordinarily, toward securing airmail facilities. Those "test" cities included Brownwood, San Angelo, Temple, Big Spring, Midland and Odessa.

Lubbock Not Included

Lubbock, conspicuously, was not among them.

Information further said that Eastern Airlines planned the tests.

Communications from the chamber here to various postal and Eastern airline officials suggested a similar test for Lubbock and told something of the city, its facilities, its growth and the development of South Plains.

The telegram from airline officials followed Tuesday afternoon. The fact that Lubbock was included virtually at the last minute and that the airline will make the test at obvious expense to itself was regarded as a favorable indication among business leaders here.

While still lacking detailed information, officials explained that pickup tests have as their purpose the determining of whether the postoffice department is justified in awarding an airmail contract over a given route. With such a contract, the airline company is enabled to establish passenger service and maintain operation of the line until it becomes self sustaining.

Whether that will be done in Lubbock's case was admitted by chamber officials to be something which can be determined only by test, although it was their opinion that Lubbock and the South Plains offer perhaps the best undeveloped fields for air transportation in the entire nation.

Penalties Meted Out On Tuesday

A 72nd district court jury about 3:15 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, after 15 minutes of deliberation, found Albert Stephens guilty of a charge by indictment of driving when intoxicated.

Stephens, Lubbock negro, was fined $100 and court costs, sentenced to five days in jail, and his driver's license was suspended for six months.

Jury Dismissed For Term

Two cases scheduled for hearing today will be tried before the court, both defendants having waived trial by jury. The jury Tuesday was dismissed for the term by Judge Daniel A. Blair.

Earlier Tuesday Evan S. James, charged by indictment with burglary, in two cases, entered pleas of guilty and was sentenced to eight years in the penitentiary in each case. Sentences will run concurrently.

James was charged specifically with burglary of La Fonda, 2406-A Main stret, dormitory for Texas Technological college football players, and the residence of J. W. Hatcher at 2406 Broadway on the Oct. 23.

Other Charges Docketed

On today's docket in 72nd court are indictments charging driving when intoxicated against Sol Aubrey of Wolfforth, formerly of Lubbock, and Herbert McClain.

A murder charge against Fred Blanton, Plainview negro charged in connection with the fatal stabbing of Zema Lee Blacknell, Lubbock negro woman, is set specifically for Thursday. A special venire of 100 men is scheduled to report at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Burton S. Burks, district attorney, and his assistant, Victor H. Lindsey, will represent the state and Benjamin Kucera will defend Blanton.

Judge Pitts Takes Case Under Advisement

After hearing arguments all day Tuesday on pleadings and law in the civil action of France Baker and wife against Sam C. Arnett and others, suit for accounting and try title as for damages, in 99th court, Judge E. L. Pitts took the case under advisement and excused jurors for the term.

Law firms of McWhorter and Howard and Vickers and Campbell are counsel for plaintiffs and representing defendants are firms of Crenshaw and Dupree, Wilson, Randal and Kilpatrick and Hugh Anderson.

The case was begun in that court Monday afternoon.

Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont are the only states in the union almost entirely free from poisonous serpents.

Railway Clerks At Slaton Name J. S. McDonald New President

SLATON, Dec. 7. (Special)—Slaton division chapter No. 857 of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks elected J. S. McDonald of Slaton president Monday night at the annual meeting.

He succeeds his brother, W. H. McDonald of Lubbock, who said the meeting was one of the most largely attended since the chapter was organized.

Others elected were John W. Lee, Lubbock, succeeding C. E. Willis, also Lubbock, as vice-president, and R. E. Fleming, Slaton, who was returned to office as secretary-treasurer.

Installation ceremonies are planned at the monthly meeting Feb. 7.

is now—on Broadway—after promoting shows in Cleveland, O., and Fort Worth, Tex.

Then ruefully, he quipped:

"Let's keep Miss Brice and Miss Holm out of the interview talk about my night clubs—it's one thing I own 100 per cent of."

About the girls from Texas:

"They've got corn tassels in their hair and electric lights in their eyes," he lyricked. "They're fresh, they're gorgeous, they don't know the answers. That's what Broadway needs."

Rose said that he hand-picked them, and that he was backing them with $100,000 in cold "government literature" to "wake up the stem."

Hanging At Lamesa

charged with murder in connection with the death of a Mexican, "I'll be out in a little while."

When Bickers was found, there were little signs of life remaining, it was reported, but artificial respiration failed to revive him. His neck was not broken and death apparently was caused by strangling.

The prisoner had been tried in the 106th district court here of Judge Louis B. Reed last week on a charge of theft of a 1937 (Dodge) sedan from Mrs. Lila Cason, general delivery clerk at the postoffice, about three weeks ago. He had been sentenced to four years in the state penitentiary, it was reported.

The automobile had been driven away from the home of Cleve R. Austin, assistant postmaster, who had gone home to lunch in the car, Bearden said. Austin had seen a man drive off in the car, but was unable to stop him.

Bickers had been arrested at El Reno, Okla., about three weeks ago and transferred here for trial.

When City Marshal Phinizy found the prisoner he was fully dressed and had on an overcoat. Bearden said the man apparently had climbed upon his couch, tied the blanket to the light corn and then stepped off the couch. He could have reached the couch with his feet, Bearden said. His feet were not touching the floor of the cell. The light socket was partially pulled from the ceiling.

Father-Son Banquet Is Held At Slaton

SLATON, Dec. 7. (Special)—Approximately 75 attended the father-son banquet sponsored by the Future Farmers of America chapter of Slaton High school here tonight. A. G. Strickland, vocational agriculture teacher and sponsor of the club, supervised the affair.

Dean A. H. Leidigh of the agriculture division at Texas Tech college and Ray Chapelle, head of the vocational agriculture department at Tech, were chief speakers. Raubin McCormack, FFA member and master of ceremonies for the program, gave the welcoming address. Response was given by Supt. David Lemon of Slaton schools.

Six boys were initiated into chapter membership. They were James Bates, Perry Breed, Debord Williamson, Oscar Lee Clark, Henry Pinkert, and Kirby Dunlap.

Home economics girls, under direction of Mrs. Dayton Eckert, instructor, prepared the meal.

HE BARKED HIS WAY TO GLORY and a bright red medal. Early one morning in Chicago, Tober, alert little terrier, smelled smoke in the room. So insistent a barking and whining he set up, that his master and mistress and many other residents of the apartment building awoke in time to extinguish a fire. So the Illinois Humane Society awarded him the badge.

Franco Ready To Start Toppling Government Defenses Like Row Of Dominoes

Strategy Is All Mapped In Spain

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Edward J. Neil has just finished six months with the Spanish insurgent armies. During that time he covered at first hand Generalissimo Francisco Franco's major campaigns. In the following account, written while he was vacationing in London, Neil gives an analysis of insurgent strategy to end the war).

By EDWARD J. NEIL

LONDON—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—The defense of the Spanish republican government—to Generalissimo Francisco Franco's strategists—are a row of dominoes on end, ready to topple one after the other when the first is knocked over.

And the first domino is Lerida, deep in a beautiful river valley of the northeastern mountainlands 80 air miles east of Zaragoza.

Now In 17th Month

The other dominoes in order are Barcelona, Valencia and Madrid; and when the toppling starts, the strategists say, the actual fighting will be over in two months and the war cleaned up before the end of its second year. It is now in its 17th month.

Ranged in the bitter cold of the Aragon front between Huesca and Zaragoza a quarter of a million of Franco's insurgent soldiers are ready for a push at the first domino, Lerida, and the civil struggle is stirring again to a climax.

Lerida lies in the line of Franco's impending march toward Barcelona, Spanish capital, and the Mediterranean coast. It dates back to the days of the Roman empire.

Always Fell Together

In all the centuries of Spanish war history, Lerida, now a center for huge Barcelona's water and electric supplies, never has fallen without the populous seaport, only another 80 miles further east, toppling thereafter.

This is the strategists' scheme:

Facing capture in Barcelona, as the "key" to the capital fell, the government of Premier Juan Negrin would flee up the Mediterranean coast and across the border into France, leaving the multi-factioned government leaderless.

Barcelona Would Capitulate

Barcelona, rich and never very eager for the conflict, an industrial center with its mind on business, would capitulate — just as Bilbao surrendered, Santander gave up, and Gijon fell in the north, all before Franco's troops even reached them.

Barcelona's surrender would bring Valencia, stripped of all assistance, tumbling down, and with Valencia would come Madrid, old capital city and a symbol of devoted defense rather than a stronghold of any great military importance.

The war has changed virtually in six months. Franco's armies have swept the northwest, are by far the stronger in armament and discipline, have the active backing of Italy and Germany and no longer face the threat of French and British intervention.

Railroad Brotherhoods To Seek Federal Jobless Insurance

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 7. (AP) — A federal unemployment insurance bill will be the next big problem of railroad brotherhoods, George M. Harrison, grand president of the Brotherhoods of Railway and Steamship Clerks, said today.

"State laws which have no uniformity are unworkable," Harrison said, "and cannot possibly be adapted to an organization like ours which knows no state lines."

Final Series Of Puppet Shows To Be Given In Schools Today

The final series of dental puppet shows, sponsored by the Lubbock County Dental society in conjunction with the dental division of the state department of health, will be given at rural schools of the county Wednesday, according to Dr. J. B. McCorkle, secretary of the county society.

The presentations in city schools were completed today with programs for Central Ward pupils at the Church of the Nazarene; for Hunt school at Central Baptist church and for sixth and seventh grades at Junior High school auditorium. A showing also was given at Slaton.

Wilson Crononwitt of Austin is director of the show.

STOLEN CABS CRASH

HOUSTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Two taxicabs were stolen today in widely separated sections of town.

An hour later the two cars crashed headon at a street intersection. Both drivers escaped injury and police.

Silver Price To Be Continued

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. — The treasury opened the closet door long enough today for the Far West to see that its Christmas present would be continuation of a premium price for silver.

A presidential proclamation will fix the price which the treasury will pay next year for newly-mined domestic silver.

The current proclamation, expiring Jan. 1, calls for a price of 77.57 cents an ounce, or more than 32 cents above the world price. The new price is not expected to be much different, if at all.

Regarded As Inflationary

Some conservative monetary advisers regarded the premium price for silver as inflationary, but Westerners declared its abandonment would shut down mines and throw thousands of men out of work.

Secretary Morgenthau told a press conference he would not know next year's price for domestic silver "until the president gets out his proclamation."

Clouded eyes and brittle, rough cuticle are two results of nervousness and lack of sleep.

Downstate "Grapevine" Says Southwest Conference To Consider Texas Tech

League To Meet Saturday; May Appoint 'Czar'

By FELIX R McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Dec. 7 — Momentous issues, including the possible appointment of a commissioner along the Big Ten lines, will come before the Southwest conference in a fall meeting here Saturday the grapevine reports will be one of its most important.

A committee appointed in the spring consisting of Dr J. C. Dolly of Texas; Dr. J. S. McIntosh of Southern Methodist and J. T. McCants of Rice institute, planned to submit its report on the matter of installing a commissioner.

Private Poll Is Secret

No indication of the tone of their recommendation has been given.

The question of enlarging the membership by the possible admittance of Texas Tech of Lubbock, the state's third largest state educational institution, again will come before the board. Reports had it that Tech was the only school receiving serious consideration.

A private poll has been taken among the seven members of the league on Tech's possible entrance but no inkling of how the votes have been cast has leaked out.

No formal application was made by Tech at the fall meeting of 1936 but the West Texas school has long held a desire to join the conference.

Board members declined to discuss any of its pending business, but word from a reliable source revealed the question of the conference officially aligning itself with a post-season classic, such as the Rose and Sugar Bowl games, would be up for serious discussion.

A "Five-Year" Plan

A group of North and East Texas business men, including men prominently connected with sports, is expected to offer a five-year contract to the conference fathers whereby the group, functioning as a chartered body, would sponsor a New Year's day game between the official conference champions and an invited team from another sector.

Under terms of the proposed contract, the winner of the conference would be given a $25,000 guarantee with a similar guarantee being offered the visitors.

The group, preferring to remain anonymous pending the board's acceptance or rejection of their expected offer, also would handle all expenses attendant to the game. It would be played in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

J. Curtis Sanford, Tyler oil man who has promoted the Cotton Bowl game through its first two years, has indicated he, too, will go before the conference board with a similar proposition. He is known to be anxious to retain the game he started on New Year's Day, 1937.

May Equalize Athletics

Henry Trantham of Baylor university, chosen president to succeed the late E. W. McDiarmid of Texas Christian, reminded that the meeting would be of executive nature and declined to discuss probable action on any subject.

However, the "grapevine" had it that news of importance would be officially released.

Another matter to come before the board was the possibility of equalizing tuition charges to athletes at the various schools. The controversial question of subsidization of athletes was shelved at the 36 fall meeting.

Texas Tech And Arizona Get Eight On All-Border Club

(Special To The Avalanche)

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 7. — Texas Tech, Border conference football champions for 1937, and the University of Arizona dominated the circuit's all-conference selections released here this afteronon by Dr. E. L. Larson, conference commissioner and member of the Arizona university's faculty. The all-conference teams were picked from recommendations made by coaches of the seven member colleges and universities.

The University of Arizona Wildcats placed five on the all-conference first team; Texas Tech three; and New Mexico university, the New Mexico Aggies and the Texas college of mines one each. The Arizona university drew eight places in total for selections distributed on two teams and honorable mentions; Texas Tech six; the New Mexico Aggies 4; New Mexico university four; Texas college of mines three; Flagstaff State (Ariz.) three; and Tempe State (Ariz.) one.

Tech Line Is Popular

The 1937 Border all-conference selections gave evidence that Texas Tech's playing strength for the season originated greatly in the line, while the University of Arizona's defensive and offensive power was equally divided, three players from the line and two in the backfield. The Texas Tech choices were two from the line and one in the backfield. Texas Mines was given backfield recognition; the New Mexico Aggies and New Mexico university notice in the line.

The first team selections follow:

Ends Herschel Ramsey, Chillicothe, Tex., (Texas Tech), and Harry Parker, Jerome, Ariz., (Arizona university). Ramsey has been a top end for Pete Cawthon at Texas Tech for the past three years. A top pass receiver he is so remembered. A hustling end, he was tough on defense and a fine blocker. Ramsey was a second team selection in 1936. Parker served as a sound reserve in his first year of eligibility, and for the past two years has been one of Tex Oliver's finest players; this season the fastest man on the Arizona squad. Parker always has been fast down the field under punts, tough and aggressive on defense, and an excellent blocker. He received his first all-conference mention.

Yurcic Is Potent

Tackles: Joe Yurcic, Gallup, N. M., (New Mexico Aggies), and George Rogers, Tucson, (Arizona university). "Jolting Joe" Yurcic was a first team tackle selection in 1936. He often was down under punts ahead of ends as a tackle, and versatile enough to fill the fullback berth; weighs 206 pounds and often called the deadliest tackler of southwest teams. Rogers did not play organized football prior to his entering the University of Arizona. He was an aggressive field leader, quick to act, fast, and usually played a great deal of the game in enemy backfields. Rogers was a second team selection in 1936.

Guards: Floyd Pete Owens, Littlefield, Tex., (Texas Tech), and Leonard Barlow, Albuquerque, N. M., (New Mexico university). Picked for a third team selection a year ago, Owens reached the first team this year. Poison to linebackers, Owens is fast, a severe blocker and a continual scrapper. Barlow, a six-foot guard has been tough for his 180 pounds, will return to service in 1938. Few offensive moves have gone far through his position. He possesses offensive strength which rounds him out as a top hand for any coach.

Greenfield At Center

Center: Tom Greenfield, Peoria, Ariz., (University of Arizona). Greenfield as a sophomore in 1936 blossomed during the final games of his first season. He received exceptional praise for his prowess against Michigan State college a year ago, and from coast observers in his play against Loycla university this year. Six-feet-three and 200 pounds, Greenfield is aggressive and a hard man for any opponent to handle. He is a great blocker; will return to service next fall.

Quarterback: Kenneth Heineman, El Paso, Tex. (Texas Mines). An accurate and heady passer whose advent in Border conference football as a sophomore this year has been crowned with triple-threat play. Heineman faces two more seasons of eligibility. The Mines back completed more than 50 per cent of his passes this year, and he has tossed many of them. An elusive runner he goes far on returning punts and kick-offs. He has punted with the best this fall among the top kickers. Heineman received honorable mention on national listings.

They Remember Tarbox

Halfbacks: Bronko Smilanich, Chisholm, Minn., (Arizona university), and Elmer Tarbox, Higgins, Tex., (Texas Tech). Smilanich received first team recognition for the second consecutive year. He also has received honorable mention on two national accounts, and was named on the West Coast All-Slavic eleven for this fall. The Minnesota youth led his team mates in 1936 with a total of 552 yards gained running for an average of 7.1 yards per try; and in the current season ran in second place with a total of 541 yards for an average of 3.7. He led the team scoring in 1936. He is a merchant of long gains with exceptional ability to veer, swerve, pivot and side-step. A top forward passer, he made 50 per cent of his 1937 tosses complete. Tarbox is a hefty halfback 186 pounds. A neat blocker and elusive runner as well as a power performer, Tarbox will long be remembered by Tech opponents.

Fullback: Walter Nielsen, Redondo Beach, Calif., (Arizona university). "Hoss" Nielson earned his name because he usually has one or more riders on his back for the last 10 yards of a lengthy ramble. Nielson does the heavy punting. During the 1937 season he led his team with a total of 552 yards running for an average of 4.8 per try; led the team in scoring with 63 points. He pounds center for lengthy runs, fast and shifty he is a rare 210-pound fullback. Nielson is a top blocker and a good passer. He tackles without mercy. Second team recognition was given Nielson a year ago by the conference coaches.

Here's 1937 All-Border Conference Squad

FIRST TEAM			SECOND TEAM
Player	School	Pos.	Player	School
Ramsey	Texas Tech	End	Malcolm	New Mex. Aggies

West Point Cuts Army Grid Eligibility To 3 Years

WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 7. (AP) —The U. S. Military academy today changed its eligibility rules for varsity athletics to make them conform with the rules at the Naval academy at Annapolis and the "leading civilian colleges in the country."

The change would make Army rules comply with other colleges in permitting varsity athletes only three years of collegiate playing eligibility. Up to now, Army has permitted any student to play three years for West Point varsity teams, regardless of the number of years the athlete has played in other colleges before coming to West Point.

Major General William D. Connor, superintendent of the academy, made the announcement which ends the eligibility rules that caused Army's famous "break" in athletic relations with the Naval academy in 1928 and 1929.

Hub Basketball Team Plays Frenship Cagers Tonight

Sam Rosenthal's Hub Clothier basketball team, local semi-pro outfit which hopes to set the South Plains woods afire this season, seek a bit of revenge tonight on the Frenship high school court at Wolfforth.

Beaten by a last minute rush last week 27 to 28 by the Frenship Independents, the Hub Clothiers return tonight for another try.

Majors Split On Type Of Pellet For 1938 Wars

By EARL HILLIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—The National and American leagues, which used the "rabbit" baseball through their "boom" in 1937 campaigns, split wide open today on the kind they will use in 1938.

The National circuit voted unanimously to use a slower, more heavily covered ball next season, and less than an hour later the American League decided to retain the faster pellet which it has used many seasons and which the Nationals had used four years.

The junior circuit decision in favor of the faster ball was seen as the possible beginning of a "feud" between the majors over types of balls to be used.

Attendance Is Up

The new National League ball, technically known as the No. 4 ball with five strands in the seams instead of four, is expected to result in a year of improved pitching and tighter games in the senior circuit and another of long distance blasting and wide open tilts in the American League. The powerful world champion New York Yankees led the movement for retention of the livelier sphere.

The last time both circuits used different balls was in 1933, when the National clubs performed with a No. 5 ball, even slower than the one they will use next season. The ball the American clubs will continue to use is known as the No. 3 type. The separate actions were seen as a virtual "switch of horses in midstream" as the National League's 1937 attendance was higher than any year since 1930. The junior circuit also reported a big increase in attendance.

"The new ball will give the pitchers a better grip," said Ford Frick, National League president, "but it will not impair the possibility of long hits if the ball is hit right."

Cincy Gets Big Game

It was learned senior circuit officials were hopeful of reducing the number of "cheap" homers and scratchy hits off good pitchers made with the lively sphere.

Other action by the American League included acceptance of the National League's recommendation the all-star game be held in Cincinnati next season. The American League also voted to continue paying umpires to work spring training series games and to continue its $500 award to the junior circuit batting champion.

The National club owners voted renewal of Cincinnati's application for seven night games in 1938. The American League previously had turned down Cleveland's application for night dates.

The "ivory" trade market, one of the dullest in years, hit a new low. Vice-President James A. Mulvey of Brooklyn departed for the East, putting a fresh damper on the now faint report the Dodger pitching star, Van Lingle Mungo, may be traded. Several possible American League trades, involving Detroit, Chicago and St. Louis, fell through as numerous managers packed bags to leave before tomorrow's joint session of the circuits before Commissioner K. M. Landis.

Jack Hagen Tries Skill On Clever Jap Here Tonight; Moran Meets Tremaine

TONIGHT'S PROGRAM

Curtain raiser—Otto Ludwig, Hamburg, Germany, vs. Jack Mandell, Boston. One fall or 20 minutes.

Semi-final — Sailor Moran, Bald Knob, Arkansas, vs. Andy Tremaine, Tucson, Arizona. One fall or 30 minutes.

Main event — Jack Hagen, Shreveport, vs. Tetsura Higami, Tokyo, Japan. Two out of three falls or 2-hour time limit.

Added attraction—Introduction of Lubbock High school Westerners and coaches, special guests of Auditorium.

Place and time—The Auditorium, 8 o'clock.

Jack Hagen had best look to his "buttons" before closing in with the cunning Japanese athlete, Tetsura Higami, tonight. Higami, one of the best defensive grapplers ever to show here, has made a study of the human nervous system, and he knows just where a boring thumb will do the most damage. He can protect himself with this type of work in almost any circumstances, and, given the chance, will climb astride his opponent and proceed to induce sleep, calm and peaceful slumber, without the aid of drugs or weapons.

Higami put Otto Ludwig to sleep last week to win the final fall of the main event. He applies a hold in the vicinity of the victim's throat, but does no choking. He stops circulation of blood in the neck, shoulders and head, with the result his opponent slips peacefully off to slumberland. Dr. Mueller, the Austin chiropractor, had a similar hold, sometimes seen here. Higami's is more deadly, and he gets it more easily.

Hagen, quite a walloper himself since he quit the "gentleman" attitude for the rougher and more rugged villanish role, may be able to take care of himself, but Higami, who plays a waiting game, will be ready for any opportunity.

Higami's "war cry" just before he applies a defensive block or an offensive hold, adds color and merriment to the program. He lets go with an awful shriek when things get warm.

Andy Tremaine, burly Arizonan, came back to the local ring after a long absence and last week demonstrated he is in good shape. He'll need all he's got tonight when he meets Sailor Moran, the red-headed Arkansan famous for his heart punches.

A newcomer, Jack Mandell, makes his debut on the prelim, meeting the big German, Otto Ludwig. They say Mandell, a "blue-bellied Yankee" from Boston, is quite a hand at the rough and tumble game.

The Lubbok High school Westerners and their coaches will be special guests of Promoter Sled Allen tonight. They'll occupy a special section, and be introduced. The Texas Tech football squadsmen were guests last week.

Tech Basketball Improves; TCU Is Here Friday

They're getting ready to open basketball season out at Texas Tech.

The doors to the gymnasium swing open Friday night to the public, and a large crowd is expected to see the Red Raider cagers tie into the Texas Christian university Horned Frogs, of the Southwest conference.

Coach Berl Huffman reports improvement in the Red Raider ranks, although he is far from enthusiastic over the 1937-38 prospects. He lost the entire starting team of last season, with the exception of the grafty little guard, Paul Morris, who returns as captain of the Red Raiders this year.

Only Games In 1937

The Techs have been working out faithfully since the end of football season, and have negotiated the first practice steps rather pleasingly. No unstoppable offense has made itself known yet, and the defence is not all that it should be, but "the boys are coming along as nicely as one can expect."

Two games will be played with T.C.U., the first on Friday night, the second on Saturday night. They'll be the only games played here this year, the Techs returning from a road trip to meet A.C.C. here on Jan. 8-9.

Changing System Of Grading In Primary Grades Of Local Schools Considered

Meeting Set For Today On Plans

Invitations to presidents of Parent-Teacher associations in Lubbock to name representatives on a committee to recommend any changes they may wish in the system of grading pupils in city schools will be placed in the mail today, according to information given Tuesday night by W. B. Irvin, city superintendent.

At the same time, Irvin said that a meeting of a faculty committee is set for 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at Senior High school for further discussion and study of a new plan unlike any now in use in Texas of advancing pupils. It is known as the four-level plan, and has as its fundamental purpose the avoiding of unnecessary repetitions of work by the child who, under the present system, may fail of promotion.

Objections Are Voiced

A few parents, Irvin said, have voiced objections to the present system of reporting grades of pupils in the first through the fifth grades. Under that system, put into effect last year, the report card is marked either with the letter "S," which signifies "satisfactory," or with "U," meaning unsatisfactory."

Purpose in appointing the committee, he explained, is to determine whether it is the general desire that a grading system be employed to give the parent a more definite idea of the quality of school work his child is doing. The committee will be asked to make its recommendation to the faculty committee.

Systems Vary Widely

The system of grading in junior and senior high school pupils was described as differing widely from that in the primary grades. In the high schools, pupils are rated by letters, "A" being the highest and scaling down through "B" and "C" to "D," which is passing. Below "D" means failure.

The superintendent said the committee which will meet this afternoon is composed of the principal and one faculty member named by the principal from each of the city schools. No immediate or revolutionary changes in methods of promotion are planned, Irvin explained, and any revisions decided upon probably will not be put into effect until next year. Changes then will be gradual, if any are made.

As explained by the city superintendent, teachers are seeking a method of avoiding failures among pupils. As now happens, when a pupil fails of promotion, he usually must start once more from the beginning and go over all he has been taught with members of the new class. As a matter of fact, Irvin explained, the pupil probably has absorbed a considerable portion of what has been taught and the wish is to devise a system which will permit him to resume his studies from the point where his learning ends.

Band Concert To Be Given December 16

Annual fall semester band concert by the Texas Technological college band will be presented Dec. 16 in Senior High school auditorium by 90 members of the band, D. O. Wiley, director, announced.

Modern swing style music will be included. Several selections adapted from old negro ballads and spiritual songs will be presented "Mardi Gras," by Ferde Grafe, who plans arrangements for Paul Whiteman's orchestra, will be on the program.

The concert will be free to the public.

RECORD IS STUDIED

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7. (AP) — Federal officers studied today the record of John Timmy, 20, who pleaded guilty to sending a $1,000 extortion letter to Actress Marion Davies, because "I needed the money."

A report on Timmy's request for probation will be submitted by the officers next Monday when he appears before Federal Judge George Cosgrave for sentence.

Bibliographer Never Attended Beyond Grammar School But He Was Language Authority

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (AP) —A man whose formal education never carried him beyond grammar school died yesterday, the holder of degrees from three universities and known throughout the world for his scholarly achievements.

He was Dr. Wilberforce Eames, 82, chief bibliographer of the New York Public library.

Dr. Eames lived in a house so crammed with books that concrete props were necessary to keep the floors from collapse. His research unearthed so many valuable historical facts that he won the nickname of "the Sherlock Holmes of literary detectives." He was an authority on languages of the North American Indian, and could read Japanese and Chinese and many of the Banu dialects of Africa.

WITHDRAW APPLICATION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Jack W. Hawkins and Barney H. Hubbs, incorporators of the Odessa Broadcasting company, withdrew today their application filed with the communications commission for a radio station at Odessa, Tex.

Civilian Conservation Corps Is Able To Fit A Man Into Just About Any Kind Of Job

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—That complete catalogue for employers—the annual report of the Civilian Conservation corps—came out today with the dimensions of 350,000 men.

Anybody wanting to hire a man can find just about every kind from authors to big-chested boys ready to pound a police beat.

For instance:

The corps has three men over seven feet tall, and 19 who are four feet high.

There are 37 of the enrollees who can expand their chest eight inches.

Director Robert Fechner's got 70 lads who weigh 270 pounds or over.

That's six teams and four subs!

Sixteen authors, the report states, are ready for the waiting world, as are 10,342 cooks and 130 reporters.

The CCC also has 80 men ready to slide down the brass poles of fire departments, and if any city wants some more policemen the corps has 60 itching to get their hands on a nightstick.

There are 140 musicians—what a band!

The report also shows that the CCC has 426 men 65 years old or older, that Texas has the biggest contingent of native sons, 21,992.

Building Permits Continue To Keep Active Pace For Month

Building permit totals for December continued to climb steadily Tuesday with authorization of new construction to cost $7,657.50.

They were to S. H. Reid, jr., owner, and R. E. McCurdy, contractor, for a two-story tile residence to cost $4,500 at 3024 Twenty-first street; to A. M. Leftwich, for one-story masonry business building costing $2,500; to J. M. Tapp for frame residence costing $500 at 1818 Avenue E; and to B. B. Ater for reroofing and repairing residence costing $157.50 at 1619 Tenth street.

Permits totals for December were increased to $44,678 and for the year to $1,562,112.

Parents Of Students In Bands Have Organized Parents' Club

Parents of students in Senior and Junior High school bands have organized a Band Parents' club in the Lubbock High school auditorium, according to announcement Tuesday.

Mrs. D. O. Wiley, wife of the director of Texas Technological college band, was chosen president, Mrs. G. M. Flenniken, vice-president, Mrs. G. A. Brown, secretary, Ray Dickey, treasurer, and Mrs. C. W. York, chairman of the executive committee. H. A. Anderson, director of Senior High school band, and Lynn Gray Gordon, leader of Junior High band were selected as ex-officio members of this committee.

The purpose of the organization is to raise funds for instruments and otherwise to further interests of Lubbock school bands, said Mrs. Wiley.

A called meeting will be held soon after the holidays, she added.

ACCIDENT VICTIM BURIED

PALESTINE, Dec. 7. (AP)—Funeral services were held here today for Melvin Denson, 35, who died in a hospital last night of a broken neck received in an automobile accident.

Mrs. Sallie Denson of Palestine, his mother, is a survivor.

Trophy Which Tech Team Won Arrives

A silver trophy 26 inches tall was received at Texas Technological college this week from Kansas City, where the senior livestock judging team representing Tech won first place in livestock contests at the American Royal exposition Oct. 16.

The trophy must be won twice in succession before it can be retained, said Ray C. Mowery, animal husbandry professor and coach of the team.

The trophy was given by the Weekly Kansas City Star. It was won in 1934 by Texas A. & M. college, 1935 by Oklahoma A. & M. college, and in 1936 by Iowa State college.

"Coming Events Cast Shadows"

"COMING events cast their shadows before.

The adage is ancient, but one of peculiar significance for Lubbock and South Plains in view of the airmail pickup test scheduled here Friday by Eastern Airlines.

It well may prove the event to foreshadow the air mail and passenger line service Lubbock has sought so long and for which, The Morning Avalanche is convinced, the need is increasing in this city as the Hub of the South Plains.

No one can say immediately just how important the test may prove. It may mean nothing. Even if it should mean an airline connection, it may be months away.

But the fact that Lubbock has been added to the list of Texas cities designated for the pickup test indicates that someone in important quarters has been impressed with the possibilities here. Especially since Lubbock was a last-minute addition when the city originally was not intended for a test at all. Someone somewhere thinks enough of Lubbock to risk certain expenses to make the test.

Whatever the possibilities and whatever the effect, business men and citizens generally, not only of Lubbock but of the entire South Plains, can lose nothing by cooperating with the chamber of commerce in its endeavor to insure that the plane will leave here with a heavy load. It may do no good. But the cost will be insignificant to those cooperating and it can do no harm.

Something To Look Out For

A LUBBOCK man who, in the vernacular, "knows his cotton," is responsible for a disquieting thought in connection with present common methods of harvesting the crop.

Until a few years ago, cotton had to be picked fairly "clean" to be successfully ginned. Today, the staple is plucked still in the boll or burr, the harvest thus being speeded and cheapened because the modern gin handles it without difficulty.

But one thing the gin cannot do. It cannot return the burr to the soil. And the Lubbock cotton man mentioned above suggests that eventually, the process will prove costly to the soil.

As he related, the boll, or burr, is more than one-third potash which is one of the richest and most necessary fertilizers. Eventually, unless the potash is replaced, soil even as rich as that of South Plains will be drained of a very necessary element.

The problem, perhaps, is none for immediate alarm. Nevertheless, it may be a factor to be taken into consideration by the landowner looking to the future.

There's No Room For Cheering

THE National Safety council is giving cheers, seemingly ill-founded, over the traffic accident record in the nation for the year thus far.

Figures are cited that 31,950 persons were killed in the first 10 months of 1937 as compared with 29,560 for the same period last year. The increased death toll this year over last is 2,390 persons, or approximately 8 per cent. This, according to the safety council theory, compares with an increase of 9 per cent in auto traffic. From that fact, the safety council expresses satisfaction.

How any feeling of satisfaction of any kind can be justified is hard to understand. On the basis of figures, the ratio of fatal accidents to volume of traffic continues about the same. To be satisfied in any measure with the 1937 record would be to indicate a degree of satisfaction with the outrageous death toll of prior years when we know that our nation's loss of life on the highways has been a cause for horror. It seems to The Morning Avalanche that merely holding our own in the matter of fatal accidents in comparison with increased traffic volume means we are losing ground.

Deaths thus far merely prove that the fight for highway safety has little more than begun, and that much still is to be done in the way of education and enforced regulation of automobile driving if the accident toll is to be reduced materially.

"Post to be lighted during holidays," Eddie Warren says in the Post Dispatch.

The One-Minute Sermon

Rejoice, O young man, in thy youth; and let thy heart cheer thee in the days of thy youth, and walk in the ways of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes: but know thou, that for all these things God will bring thee into judgment.

Therefore remove sorrow from thy heart, and put away evil from thy flesh: for childhood and youth are vanity.—Ecclesiastes, XI, 9 and 10.

The Story Of Jill...

By Mary Raymond C. NEA Service

CHAPTER XXV

It seemed strange, Alan thought, to be in New York in America again.

Six months had passed since his hurried departure that morning. It might have been yesterday. Things were so unchanged.

Rockefeller Center towering across the way. And early morning worshipers hurrying up the worn steps that led form the street to St. Patrick's Cathedral.

It was even stranger to be here in a new role. Not as a penniless young man at odds with his father, seeking a foothold in a big, strange city. But rather, as an artist returning with his father's full approval, called back by an amazing turn of fortune.

"Sun Over Seville" had really been sold by the dealer this time, and to an authentic purchaser. A connoisseur of art, who had paid $5000, and then had insisted on an exhibit of Alan's picture.

"It was a big opportunity for you," the dealer had written. "This man is one of New York's important patrons of art. You must come to New York immediately."

And strangest of all—with the world suddenly so friendly—that there should be no thrill or happiness for him.

He had not wanted to return. He dreaded the rush of unhappy memories that America would bring to him. He was afraid to open a paper, for fear Jill's face or her name would leap out at him.

Jill, by now, he was sure, had married Milo Montanne, and was living a luxurious life with him. During the six months he had been away, Alan had tried to put her completely out of his mind. He had told himself she was hard, unworthy, deliberately cruel.

Whenever he thought of Jill's loveliness, he would remind himself of that cheap, spectacular dance to the dreadful sound of the Wedding March in one-step time.

How could he think for a moment that he could love a girl who could do a thing like that!

He had reached his destination, and a servant was ushering him into a room filled with beautiful art treasures, rich with color.

A hand was suddenly on his shoulder. Alan turned to face the smiling dealer.

"So you're back! This time here to make terms, rather than seek them. I'm glad to see you, my boy. I think I shall be very proud one day to say I sold your first picture in New York. Sit down."

Alan sat down.

"It is scarcely believable," he said. "I am very anxious to meet the man who liked my picture so well. I'll be frank. I had become utterly discouraged."

"I know. Artists are like that," the dealer said slowly. "I think your first unfortunate experience had something to do with it. It was misplaced kindness on the part of Miss Wentworth. Poor girl!"

A chill of apprehension ran through Alan. Poor girl. What could he mean, speaking of Jill like that?

"I don't think Miss Wentworth is to be pitied," Alan said stiffly. "It seems to me she has everything to make her happy."

The dealer stared. "Is it possible you don't know that her father died? His fortune was lost, and the young lady is working in a department store."

"But her fiance!" Alan began. His voice shook. "Surely, he would not let her down because her father's business failed."

"I'm afraid Jeffry, that you don't understand the human heart," the dealer said softly. "The young man was not to blame. The papers carried the story. It seemed Jill Wentworth had become engaged to him to save her father's business. And after his death—the police tried to make something of a mystery out of a heart attack. Jill Wentworth asked young Montanne to release her."

"What mystery! Great heavens," Alan cried, "tell me something."

"I'm trying to tell you now, Jeffry. There was a blow on Mr. Wentworth's temple, which the police declared contributed to his death. They tried to place suspicion on the girl. But an old woman had seen her in front of an apartment on 67th street at the exact hour Mrs. Wentworth and the secretary had heard Mr. Wentworth fall. Curiously, Jeffry, it was the same apartment building where you also lived."

Alan's face was white. Jill had come to him that morning. And he had been away. Then, he had sailed for England, without knowing of her trouble. What could she have thought about his disappearance? And she had not married Milo. She had planned to, to save her father. And then when her father was dead, she had chosen to be poor rather than marry Milo.

He could have shouted his joy to the world.

"And now?" the old dealer said softly. "I suspect you have forgotten all about that meeting you are to have with Mr. Penwick this morning. You will be going to see Jill Wentworth. And isn't it fortunate that I've been keeping up with her through the newspaper stories, and am able to tell you where she is staying?"

"I wish I could be like the optimistic gentleman who said every day he was better and better," Patty said, speculative eyes on Jill's wan face. "But I can't. Every day you look worse to me. There's no need for you to be slaving in a store downtown, when I make enough to take care of both of us. And if you won't accept help from me, there are Jack and Sylvia offering you a home. Jill, as much as I'd miss you, I wish you would go to them. You're not used to hard work. I'm awfully worried about you."

The two girls were at the breakfast table at Patty's home.

"You needn't be," Jill spoke in a cheerful tone. "It's very good for me to work. Millions of other girls have to work. Why shouldn't I?"

"But those millions of other girls haven't been reared as you have," Patty countered. "You need time to become strong enough to take the tough breaks."

"I'm strong enough," Jill insisted. "Please don't bother, Patty. I don't know what I would have done without my job. It keeps me from thinking."

"Well, you certainly haven't much time to think, with all those frenzied females pawing over everything on the counter, Jill, I absolutely boil when I think of you behind a counter. Though, I'll be, honest—I was absolutely delighted when Barry had to go to work and he and his mother moved into a dinky little apartment. I always felt she was trying to throw suspicion on you to keep police from thinking—"

"Please don't talk about it," Jill broke in, her face white.

"I'm sorry, Jill. I'm no help at all," Patty said.

"I don't know what I could have done without you," Jill said. "If it hadn't been for you—finding the old woman with my scarf—the police would never have believed me—"

"Hush!" Patty said. "We're not going to talk about that either." She was thinking. "How easy it was for them to decide that it was nothing but a heart attack when they couldn't find a motive that would implicate anyone else."

"Gracious," Patty said now there's the bell. Who could be calling on us at breakfast time? You go, Jill, while I do things to my face."

Jill got up from the table and went into the small front room.

She was gone quite a long time. Patty, now roughed and powdered, was giving the breakfast dishes a vigorous bath in hot suds.

"Whatever can be keeping Jill?" Patty thought, finally. "She'll be late for work if she doesn't hurry up. And if she wants to keep that job, she'd better watch the clock."

She dried her hands on the dish towel and started to investigate.

For a moment she stood quietly in the doorway—amazed eyes on two young people. Jill was standing near the door, close in some man's arms. He was kissing her!

The young man lifted his head at last. Patty caught her breath. Alan Jeffry!

She tiptoed back to the kitchen.

After another long interval, Patty walked briskly into the living room. And this time Jill's radiant face was lifted from Alan's shoulder.

"Where, may I ask, did you find that?" Patty mocked, gently.

"I didn't find him," Jill's happy voice rang out. "He found ME."

THE END

Two Tech Professors Given Recognition

Two professors of Texas Technological college received bids this week to be listed in the 1937-38, eighth edition of Who's Who in American Education. Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, associate professor of education, and J. T. Shaver, associate professor of education and psychology, received this recognition.

Dr. Jackson has been on the Texas Technological faculty since 1934. He received his B. A. and M. A. degrees from the University of Texas in 1918 and 1921, respectively, and his Ph. D. degree from the University of Airzona in 1933. In 1922-26 he was superintendent of the Dalhart schools, and has had experience in five summer sessions and as a tutor for two years. "The flying professor of Texas Tech" is the title popularly given Dr. Jackson.

J. T. Shaver received his B. S. and M. A. degrees from Sam Houston S. T. C. and Columbia university, and has been on the Texas Technological faculty since 1927. He was formerly superintendent of Bellville schools, and professor and instructor in other Texas schols and educator in numerous summer sessions.

The total front in the World War was approximately 400 miles long; American troops held about 25 per cent of it.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON

By Ray Tucker

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT has reached that tragic stage where he can confide his secret plans to nobody in Washington and expect them to be kept. His politically pathetic dilemma explains the slow-footedness among his advisers and the mood of uncertainty that prevails on Capitol Hill.

The President recently told a House leader of his plans for purging Senators who had fought him on the Supreme court reorganization measure. He explained that he had forgiven all except Burton K. Wheeler. Straightway the presidential confidant conveyed the bad news to the senator from Montana. Secretary Morgenthau informed legislators that the White House wanted any revision of taxes postponed until the regular session in January. But a cabinet member much closer to Mr. Roosevelt begged legislative leaders to softsoap business and industry without delay. You can imagine what an impression these mixed reports create on Capitol Hill.

For some reason Mr. Roosevelt seems to have lost his old spirit of self-assurance. After calling Congress into special session, he supplies the legislators with no cud to chew on, and then he goes fishing in the midst of a recession. It's no wonder that business and industry look to Congress rather than to the White House for a passport from the doghouse.

SHOWDOWN: Republican scouts on Capitol Hill have unearthed sufficient evidence of Herbert Hoover's ambition for the 1940 presidential nomination to hang him, politically. So Senate and House G. O. P.-ers form a unit in opposing his aims for immediate or eventual control of the party.

Anti-Hoover sleuths did some smart undercover work before the recent convention at Chicago, unearthing facts never before published. They conferred with Alf Landon, and from him they received assurance that in 1940 he would be boring for oil rather then delegates. Then they tackled Mr. Hoover, with the 1936 Vice-Presidential nominee—Frank Knox—as their salesman. He told the former President of Mr. Landon's abdication, and begged for a "me-too" statement that could not be misunderstood. "Frank," said Mr. Hoover, "I can't give it."

It was then that party engineers decided to spike the Hoover proposal for a mid-term convention in 1938—once and for all. They thought they had buried it—and Messrs. Hoover and Hamilton with it. But Mr. Hoover's friends have resurrected it, and another internal battle that will do the party no good is scheduled for St. Louis on December 13. There should be the showdown.

STERILE: Fiercest Republican fight now involves control of the executive group of the Republican National committee. It is this body which will choose the 100 G. O. P. politicos authorized to map a political and legislative program for the next few years.

Mr. Hoover's overzealous friends have been bombarding members with literature (magazine articles, newspaper stories and books) setting forth his qualifications to assume the role of "intellectual leader." The anti-Hooverites have conferred secretly, counted their votes and they believe they will have a slight majority at the St. Louis conference—despite a slick piece of work by the pro-Hoover John Hamilton, party chairman.

Mr. Hamilton called the critical meeting for December 13—a day when Rep. Joseph Martin of Massachusetts and Rep. Will Taylor of Tennessee may be stymied in the legislative chamber by the vote on the wage-hour bill. Both are violently anti-Hoover, but can't forsake their legislative for a political post. Without their presence the Hoover forces may win a technical triumph, and name a program committee to their liking. But it will be an empty victory for the Congressional crowd will boycott the whole affair—physically and vocally.

SLATED: An undercover movement for unofficial impeachment of Roving Ambassador Norman H. Davis is growing on Capitol Hill. Chief sponsors are Neutrality-man Gerald Nye of North Dakota and Isolationist William Edgar Borah of Idaho. They envisage Mr. Davis as a threat to America's traditional foreign policy of keep-out-of-Europe.

Senate investigators have scoured Mr. Davis' record as a diplomat from post-war days, and they aren't happy over their findings. In the first place, they regard him as excessively pro-British, and they are fearful of entanglements with 10 Downing Street. They have noted that he has served on foreign missions under such contrasting Chief Executives as Wilson, Harding, Coolidge, Hoover and Roosevelt, and they figure that a man who can perform for so many Presidents must be serving another master—probably Wall Street.

The anti-Davis tactics may not assume the form of impeachment proceedings at first. But it is almost certain that some senator will soon arise to ask an investigation of the roving ambassador's activities—and a full tale of his adventures will make sensational reading.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

NEW YORK has long since learned never to be surprised by anything Senator Borah does, but financial leaders are distinctly disappointed in Joe O'Mahoney.

The Wyoming Senator has been quite a hero to conservatives since the Supreme court fight last summer. That made his current revival—in collaboration with Borah—of his federal licensing plan for all corporations doing any sort of interstate business a doubly painful shock.

This proposal is more obnoxious to business chiefs than any measure sponsored by the White House. It would lay the foundations for regimentation that might make N. R. A. and the wage and hour bill look like kindergarten stuff. Apparently F. D. R. has little interest in it and its chances for enactment are slim, but the mere mention of such a fell possibility is anything but soothing to jumpy nerves. Business men expected Congress to hold their hand and smooth their pillow, not to suggest another smack on the nose.

FRONT: The Committee for the Nation is a presistent outfit. Riding high in the first year of the New Deal, this group suddenly found itself banished to outer darkness when the Warren theory of money management by dollar devaluation was discarded by the administration in 1934. Ever since then its efforts to put over its pet monetary formula have been severely snubbed. The organization as such is apparently as dead as a dinosaur. But some of its key sponsors have never quit trying to hawk their panacea whenever they spotted the slightest opening.

They are at it right now, hot and heavy, behind the scenes. No attempt has been or will be made to revive the committee itself as an instrument of nation-wide propaganda. The devaluationists have adopted a more subtle technique. Farmers are traditionally responsive to inflation schemes. So the stunt is to work up the politically potent farm organizations to demand an immediate further cut in the gold value of the dollar to 50 cents as the only sure cure for the recession. The farm groups haven't committed themselves as yet, but some of them at least are bending an interested ear.

Watch for developments along this line. If they come, remember that the farm organizations are fronting for string-pullers.

SCATTERED: Tammany and its allies have succeeded in corralling a slight majority in New York's first city council elected by proportional representation.

This is quite a shock to anti-Tammany elements, but they will know better next time. The trouble was that they scattered their ammunition among too many candidates, whereas the Democratic county organizations concentrated on relatively few. It was a case of bird-shot against bullets. This mistake will not be repeated.

WONDER: Informed New Yorkers learn that Congressman Jerry O'Connell of Montana is pretty confident about grabbing off Burton Wheeler's Senate seat in 1940. He feels sure he will have strong administration support in the primary contest.

O'Connell went to Spain last summer. He works the radical side of the street and he thought the trip would be good politics. But now he is wondering about that angle. He has been hearing plenty from Catholic constituents since his return.

Winter Sports Camp For Tech Students Will Be Conducted

"Don't be a sissy! Join the crowd and have fun galore!"

This is the invitation sent out by the department of physical education for women of Texas Technological college. The department is sponsoring a winter sports camp for one week during the Christmas holidays. The dates set are from Dec. 22 to Dec. 31.

Skiing and ice skating occupy the center of interest on the program. The camp also will include golf, tennis, and horseback riding, at Bishop's Lodge, located near Santa Fe, N. M.

Anyone May Join

The camp was begun for majors in physical education, but anyone may join by calling or writing Miss Ella Riegel at the college.

Each person must have her own ski boots, skiis, and alpenstock. Two persons may jointly purchase equipment, which may be bought at Santa Fe. The approximate cost for a complete outfit is $15.

Arrangements have been made for room and board at Bishop's Lodge at a special price of $35 a week. Group instruction in skiing will amount to about $4. Those in charge of arangements estimated the total cost at less than $50.

Christmas Holidays To Open On Dec. 22

Christmas holidays for Lubbock public school children will begin on Wednesday afternoon, December 22, and end on January 3, 1938, it has been announced by Superintendent W. B. Irvin.

Pre-Christmas plans are being made in all schools according to their own liking, the superintendent announced. This year each teacher will decide what Christmas programs and entertainments his or her room shall have. Mr. Irvin explained that the personnel of the schools and rooms within the schools would be so varied that he did not think it wise to make any set rules.

As in former years some schools will collect fruit and canned goods as well as toys to help the Goodfellows and other such organizations in Lubbock.

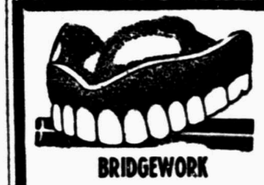

Several schools are planning special programs for the last few days before the holidays.

WHAT COMES OUT MUST GO IN!

An egg is no better than the feed that produced it . . . and a chick is no better than the egg from which it comes.

This is why most hatcherymen prefer eggs produced on EVERLAY and BIG 7 MASHES . . . The feeds that furnish the essential Vitamins . . . A-B-D-E & G plus 12 necessary minerals that insure Higher Hatchability and Faster Chick Growth.

Be Sure this season by using EVERLAY or BIG 7 MASHES.

TARZAN'S QUEST. No. 129 By Edgar Rice Burroughs

"You refuse to kneel?" asked Kavandavanda. "Most certainly," Jane answered. The kingly youth waved back the slaves who were advancing on her. A strange expression twisted his cruel lips, but whether it was from amusement or anger, Jane could not judge.

To Kavandavanda, this was a novel experience. Never before had anyone dared defy him. This girl intrigued him, and she was beautiful, too. He would question her. But she spoke first, "Free us, or my people will come and destroy you and your village!"

"They will not know you are here," the youth smiled confidently; "no one knows what happens in the village of the Kavuru or the temple of Kavandavanda. We guard our secrets carefully, and no man can penetrate the solid walls which protect us."

"Then you will not set us free?" Jane asked. Kavandavanda regarded her through halfclosed eyes. "No! The stranger who enters our gates must never pass again into the other world—you least of all. Many girls have been brought to me, but none like you!"

Germany To Buy U. S. Helium Gas

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. — The state department has authorized an agent of the German Zeppelin company to export 17,900,000 cubic feet of non-inflammable helium gas.

The authorization, paving the way for resumption of experimental dirigible flights between Germany and United States next spring, recalled the explosion of the German airship Hindenburg at Lakehurst, N. J., last May.

The authorization was granted to the American Zeppelin Transport, inc., of New York, which listed itself as agent for the German company. The gas is wanted by Germany for use in a new Zeppelin, the LZ-130.

DOWNWARD TREND REVERSED

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (AP)—Industrials led by steels, a burst of rallying speed at the tail end of today's stock market and definitely reversed a downward trend which prevailed during the greater part of the session.

Losses as much as 4 or more points in a few cases at the whirlwind finish were cut in the spot news to recoup much of the belated recovery wing and heavy afternoon selling, partly to short covering, some quick-turn speculative buying.

Steels were said to have grown bullish because of the feeling that President's return to the White House and other administrative moves to stop receding business may be in the making.

A spirited rise ahead throughout at talk of substantial military expansion coupled with plans for heavy government spending for rearmament, farm improvement and public works projects formed the forward impetus, however, were unable to retain headway and some rails lacked sustaining support.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 4 at one point at 66. Transfers totaled 965,270 shares compared with 836,-300 yesterday.

Death Ends Colorful Career Of Methodist Negro Bishop Sunday

JACKSON, Tenn., Dec. 7. (AP)—It was ended this week the long and colorful career of the Rev. Isaac Lane, negro who rose from slavery to a bishopric in the Methodist Episcopal church, South. He was 103 years old.

Born of slave parents near here in 1834, Bishop Lane was ordained by the Methodist church in 1866.

Seven years later he was made a bishop and took an active part in establishing a negro branch of the denomination.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 7. (AP)—Cotton was under the influence of the coming government crop estimate today and trading was limited to evening-up transactions. The close was steady, net 2 points higher to 3 lower.

Longs liquidated throughout most of the session but enough trade calling and covering developed to hold fluctuations within a narrow channel. Uncertainty regarding the farm bill and a desire to hold off new commitments until after the final official forecast is issued tomorrow restricted activity.

Business was extremely narrow throughout the day except toward the close when last minute balancing were encountered. Most months finished at the lows.

Dec. closed at 7.99, Jan. at 7.95-bid and Dec. spread at 8.12-bid. Spots lost 2 points with middling at 8.02. Sales totalled 4,002 bales.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (AP)—Cotton sagged in quiet trading today.

March sold off from 7.92@7.86 and closed at 7.87 with final prices 3 to 6 points net lower.

The market opened unchanged to 3 points lower under moderate hedge selling and liquidation. During the greater part of the day prices ruled about steady at slight losses, but toward the close more active hedge selling caused additional declines of a few points. The trade was anticipating somewhat increased crop figures above the November indication for 18,243,000 bales in tomorrow's final government estimate.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 7. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 7.84 cents a pound, average for the past thirty market days 7.87 cents a pound.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 7. (AP)—At least temporary supression of the Argentine crop scare forced wheat values downward 1¼ cents a bushel today despite Argentine reports of a wet harvest.

Traders generally were inclined to await official confirmation of recent sensational Argentine crop damage reports, and meanwhile North American export business came to a virtual halt.

Liverpool quotations much lower than due acted as a big weight on the wheat market here. The chief reason cables gave for the downward course of Liverpool was that reductions of ocean freight rates were asserted to have put Australian wheat into line for delivery on Liverpool futures contracts.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were ½ to 1 cent under yesrteday's finish. Dec. 95¾@95⅞, May 93½@93¼, July 86⅝@86⅞, corn 1⅛ to ⅞ off, Dec. 54¼, Maf 57⅜@⅝, 57⅝, oats unchanged to ⅛ lower, rye unchanged to ⅜ up, and provisions 2 cents to 7 cents down.

Tumbles of Liverpool wheat prices were in the face of Argentine reports showing Buenos Aires had received 3.44 inches of rain, Santa Fe 4.05 inches and Entre Rios 2.24 inches. Under usual circumstances, such rains would be looked upon as torrential, implying great delay to movement of wheat, as well as severe impairing of crop quality.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Dec. 7. (AP)—Demand was good on the cash grain market today. Estimated receipts wheat 12 cars, corn 11, oats 1, and sorghums 4.

Wheat: No. 1 soft red winter 1.10¼@1.11¼, No. 1 hard 1.12¼@1.13¼.

Barley: No. 2 nom. 61@65, No. 3 nom. 60@61.

Sorghums: No. 2 yellow milo per 100 lbs nom. 1.04@1.06, No. 3 milo nom. 1.01@1.03, No. 2 white kafir nom. 1.01@1.03; No. 3 kafir nom. 98@1.00.

Corn, shelled: No. 2 yellow 70@71; No. 2 white 72½@74½.

Oats: No. 2 red 44@46; No. 3 red 42@43.

Hughes Rites To Be In Hereford

Funeral services for J. A. Hughes, 54, will be conducted at Hereford Methodist church, with the Rev. M. M. Beavers, pastor, officiating at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Hughes died at his home 1912 Avenue N, of uremic poisoning after five days illness.

The body will be taken to Hereford this morning. Sanders Funeral home is in charge of arrangements here.

Lived Here 15 Years

Hughes had lived in Lubbock for 15 years and was a pioneer of West Texas.

Hughes had served as county judge at Hereford. He had been in the insurance business here. At time of his death, he was acting treasurer and instructor of candidates in the Masonic lodge.

A large number of members of the lodge will go to Hereford to attend funeral services, and the Masonic lodge there will direct burial. It was said at the lodge hall. Hughes had gone to Hereford in 1892.

Survivors included his wife; one son, Newell Hughes of O'Donnell; two daughters, Miss Maurine Hughes, secretary to Jim Reid, city building inspector and Miss Madeline Hughes, teacher at Toyah.

Masons Asked To Meet

All Master Masons have been asked by Guy Casey, worshipful master, to meet at the lodge hall in the Citizens National bank building at 11 o'clock this morning to leave for Hereford to attend funeral services for J. A. Hughes who died here Tuesday morning.

Although Masons at Hereford will be in charge of burial services, members of the lodge here will participate in rites and will act as pallbearers, Casey said.

Casey asked that all Master Masons attend who possibly can. Hughes was a member of the lodge here and directed most of the burial ceremonies here when the lodge was in charge.

Grass Fire Tuesday Is 241st Alarm For Department In '37

A grass fire at 1941 Avenue N at 3:50 o'clock Tuesday afternoon was extinguished by firemen to increase total number of alarms to 241 for the year. Calls were received for two automobile fires Tuesday morning.

The total already exceeds the average of between 190 and 200 a year, it was said at the fire station. The increase this year was attributed to the large number of grass fires.

A 1933 model car owned by a negro was considerably damaged at about 6:45 a. m. Tuesday in 2000-block Avenue E. Firemen from station No. 2 extinguished flames of an automobile a short distance out of the city limits on Brownfield highway about 1:30 a. m. yesterday. Owner of the car, a 1933 model (Ford), with a Dallas county license, had not claimed it at a garage here, police said this morning. The owner was not present when firemen arrived.

Houston Man To Address Group

Homer G. Hewitt of Houston, past president of Texas association of Life Underwriters, is scheduled to arrive in Lubbock early today for the luncheon sponsored by Lubbock chapter of the association at which he will be honor guest and principal speaker at Hilton hotel at noon.

Chas. A. Whitacre said that members of the chapter have been asked to bring as their guests friends who are not life insurance men. Whitacre is president of the chapter, membership of which includes underwriters in more than a score of South Plains towns.

Hewitt's subject will be, "Life Marches On." The address is the third of a series of programs arranged for selected clubs by O. D. Douglas of San Antonio, state president. Hewitt spoke in Big Spring and will be in Amarillo Thursday.

The speaker, who has been connected with Northwestern National Life Insurance company more than 18 years, is a past president of Houston chapter and was the first Texas man to be given the honorary award of "chartered life underwriter" by the national association.

Two Railroads Ask ICC Permit For Improvement Debentures

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Two railroads disclosed to the Interstate Commerce commission today plans for spending $6,600,000 for new equipment and improvement of existing shops and rolling stock.

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe asked permission to sell $3,900,000 of 2 1-4 per cent equipment trust certificates for proposed new equipment purchases in a $4,881,088 program.

Trustees of the Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad company asked approval of an $1,800,000 issue of certificates of indebtedness, to bear maximum 4 per cent interest, with proceeds to be applied to various improvements.

Had No Faith In Gly-Cas Until He Gave It A Trial

Now Like New; Poisons Driven From His System, Stomach Regulated, "Dead" Feeling Has Gone From His Limbs

"Gly-Cas was miraculous in my case," said Mr. J. A. Green, Hawley, Texas (near Abilene). "Regardless of my diet, indigestion, gas and bloating was sure to follow every meal I ate. Often it was difficult to get my breath and the suffering would become so severe I could hardly stand it. I would have dizzy spells so bad I would fall out of a chair. My limbs became badly affected too, actually felt as if they were "dead" and I could hardly walk at all. I was in bed off and on for over a year. It was impossible for me to wear my shoes, my feet were so bad. When I first began Gly-Cas I had no faith in it, but once I gave it the opportunity to help me I got the surprise of my life."

"Gly-Cas eliminated the poisons from my system almost at once," continued Mr. Green. "My stomach and bowels were regulated and I began to eat and enjoy foods I had been denied for years — and without any ill effects afterwards. That gas and bloating has gone entirely, dizzy spells no longer bother me and that "dead" feeling has left my limbs entirely. It is wonderful to feel so well again. Sufferers need not experiment any longer for Gly-Cas is the outstanding medicine of them all."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by, all the leading drug stores in surrounding towns. Adv.

Work Is Progressing On Tech's Library

The new library being constructed on the campus of Texas Technological college will begin taking definite shape soon after Jan. 1. Foundations and first floor retaining walls have been completed.

Construction has been progressing rapidly, and weather conditions have been of slight hindrance, according to W. A. Swanson, superintendent in charge of construction. "The variable Texas climate will have quite a bit to do with the future progress of the building, however," he said.

The structure will be modeled after the chemistry building and will accomodate approximately 1500 students. It will be completed about the middle of July, 1938. Approximately 35 men are working on it.

Construction of the entire frame of the building will be completed about the middle of January, then finishing touches on the general skeleton can be made. Assembling of the walls will begin the second phase, constructor said.

Butler Funeral Held Tuesday

(Special To The Avalanche)

SPUR, Dec. 7.—Last rites for Joe Butler, manager of the Swift gin here and who was found shot to death Monday near the roadside three miles west of here, were held this afternoon at Spur Methodist church.

Hundreds of Butler's friends and acquaintances thronged the church to pay their last respects to the ginman who had been active in civic affairs here for many years.

Youth Discovers Body

Doyle Holloway, 14, discovered the body as he was hauling a bale of cotton to the gin and reported the incident to officers. Sheriff J. L. Koonsman immediately began an investigation.

The body was lying face upward, feet pointing from an automobile, in which Butler had gone hunting. A 12-gauge shotgun, with one empty shell in the barrel, was lying in the front seat of the car. The barrel extended out of the door. Butler had been shot through the heart and apparently died instantly.

He is survived by his wife.

Verdict of inquest by J. B. Jopling, justice of the peace, was still pending late tonight.

Midweek Service At Church Is To Begin At 9 O'clock Tonight

Midweek evening service at Central Baptist church will begin at 9 o'clock tonight instead of 7 o'clock and those attending will remain to listen in on "the singing convention of the air" which is to be broadcast over radio station KRLD, Dallas, from 11 until 12:30 o'clock, Rev. Jeff D. Welch, pastor, has announced. A large radio has been installed in the church.

A large attendance is urged, Mr. Welch said, because 100 song books will be given by the program sponsors to the largest church group listening in.

Teachers are to meet at the church at 9 o'clock, prayer service will be conducted at 9:30 o'clock and group singing of church hymns will be the diversion until time for the broadcast, the minister said. The public is welcome to attend, he further stated.

The Lubbock quartet, composed of Central Baptist members, will appear on the KRLD program. They are Clyde Burleson, first tenor; Earl Thompson, second tenor; M. M. Weeks, baritone, and Stanley Webb, bass. They left Tuesday for Dallas and will return Thursday.

Sour cream is used by many housewives in preference to sweet. They think it adds a mellow flavor.

Presbyterian Men To Attend Turkey Dinner Meet Tonight

A turkey dinner "and all the fixins" with a special program will be given by the men of the First Presbyterian church tonight at o'clock in the church social rooms, for the men of the church. Announcement was made of the affair by C. A. Bruner, president.

Rev. J. Hodges Alves, rector St. Paul's Episcopal church; Dean James M. Gordon, Texas Technological college and J. W. Holloway, a retired railroad man and a teacher in the Bible school, will speak.

The program will follow the service of the meal, Bruner said.

The first college daily in America was known as the Daily Illini. It began as a thrice-weekly publication in 1871 and became a daily in 1907.
