Three weeks from today (Aug. 5) Texas voters will have an opportunity to cast ballots on nine proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution.

The most important of these undoubtedly is Amendment No. 2, known as the Water Development amendment. However, the others command considerable interest and voters interested in their government will want to weigh them carefully before marking their ballots.

For example, Amendment No. 1 has been referred to as a "clean-up" measure. It would repeal sections of the Texas Constitution which have been determined to be obsolete, superfluous and unnecessary. The sections involved are mostly those which actually do nothing at all, except take up space in the Constitution.

Some of these sections were adopted for specific purposes, which already have been accomplished and which never will occur again. One, for example, authorizes the legislature to appropriate funds for the 1936 Texas Centennial. That, of course, was accomplished 33 years ago and never will recur.

Another authorizes pensions for veterans of the revolution against Mexico, a long obsolete provision.

Also there is a provision appropriating three million acres of public domain for erection of the state Capitol. This was accomplished a long time ago and if there ever is a need for an appropriation to build another Capitol, it cannot come from the same source because that source no longer exists.

Then there are some sections which have become obsolete because they are in conflict with the Constitution of the United States. The "separate-but-equal" schools provision for white and Negro children is an example of this type of obsolescence. This section has been invalid since 1954 when the U.S. Supreme Court held that it violated the 14th Amendment to the Constitution of the United Staes.

The State Constitution is subject to the same aging process as city ordinances, and just as cities have found it advisable to update their local laws to keep abreast of the times, the state finds itself in need of bringing its own guidelines up to date.

Short of a complete re-drafting, the clean-up amendment may be the best method of uncluttering the State Constitution. — WACIL McNAIR.

RODEO FEATURE — Butch Kirby, 12, of Elk City, Okla., will put on an exhibition of Roman riding during the specialty act he and his mother, Mildred, will present during the Scurry County Rodeo opening Wednesday night.

Parade To Launch Rodeo Tomorrow

A big downtown parade Wednesday afternoon will launch the 1969 rodeo season in Snyder.

The parade is set for 5 p.m. and the first performance of the rodeo will begin at 8:30 p.m. in the rodeo arena west of town.

Several special features have been booked for the rodeo this year.

One of the special attractions will be the trick and Roman riding exhibition by a 12-year-old boy and his mother, Butch and Mildred Kirby of Elk City, Okla.

Another major feature will be the saddle bronc riding contest between a team from South Dakota and a team from Texas. The inter-state rivalry attracted widespread attention last year and is expected to produce heated competition again this year. The riders in this special event will be competing for purses in excess of $1,000. In addition, the Western Development Co. of Rapid City has declared that it will finance the steak dinners for both teams if the Texas team wins. Ezell-Key Grain Co. of Snyder has vowed to buy the steaks if the South Dakota team wins.

Cecil Harris of Houston will be the rodeo clown. He is known as one of the very top amateur rodeo clowns in the business.

The rodeo producer is Sloan Williams of Hungerford, who is returning with another fine string of rodeo stock.

Rodeo dances will follow the performances each evening in the pavillion at the rodeo grounds. Hoyle Nix and his West Texas Cowboys, who have appeared in similar roles here for several years, will play for the dances each evening.

The rodeo will continue through Saturday night.

War Erupts In Central America

By RAUL BARNICA

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — A new undeclared war raged in Central America today between Honduras and El Salvador, with each accusing the other of aggression. The Organization of American States ordered a peace team down from Washington.

Honduran authorities charged that Salvadorean ground forces invaded Honduras Monday at two points, and that Salvadorean planes made widespread attacks. Unconfirmed reports said seven cities were bombed.

A dispatch from Guatemala, which borders both countries said Salvadorean officials reported some 1,000 Honduran troops had crossed the border into El Salvador. Sources in Tegucigalpa said the Honduran air force's World War II Corsairs also crossed the frontier and ran into heavy antiaircraft fire.

President Fidel Sanchez Hernandez of El Salvador held a three-hour emergency meeting with his cabinet, then announced he had ordered his army "to exercise the right of legitimate defense."

A government statement, broadcast from San Salvador, said the Salvadorean forces had been ordered into action after "continuous attacks by Honduran troops on the Salvadorean frontier, violation of air space and the knowledge that Honduran troops and air force personnel had mobilized in Santa Rosa de Lima for a large-scale attack."

Two Honduran towns reportedly suffered a "high" number of casualties from the Salvadorean air attacks. They were Ocotepeque, a town of about 5,000 and Santa de Copan, with 9,500 residents.

Absentee Voting Begins Wednesday

Absentee voting will begin Wednesday at the County Clerk's office for the Aug. 5 State Constitutional Amendment election.

Nine proposed amendments to the State Constitution are being submitted to voters in the election.

Persons who will be out of the county on election day may cast absentee ballots beginning tomorrow and continuing through Friday, Aug. 1.

City Tax Hike Due For Next Budget

Snyder City Councilmen have instructed City Manager George Patterson to prepare the budget for the city's fiscal year beginning Oct. 1 on the basis of a tax rate of $1.85 per $100 valuation.

This will represent an increase in the city's ad valorem tax rate of 20 cents per $100 valuation. The present rate of $1.65 has been in effect for the past 13 years.

Earlier, the council had indicated that some $50,000 to $60,000 in new funds would be needed for the coming year's budget to merely keep operations at the present level. And such an increase, it was emphasized following a budget work session last night, would be on the basis of looking just one year ahead.

The increase of 20 cents in the tax rate will yield approximately $37,000 based on the current valuations of about $20 million and the 97 per cent collection record of the past few years. The city expects to increase its revenue by another $20,900 by increasing the garbage collection fee by 50 cents per month and by another $3,400 by negotiating an increase in the franchise fee of Lone Star Gas Co. from two per cent of its gross receipts to three per cent of its gross receipts.

Even so, the new budget likely will defer several items and projects which had been requested, it was noted.

Committee To Study Car Insurance Rates

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith named a committee of nine today to investigate the "spiraling cost of private auto insurance rates."

He appointed former Gov. Price Daniel, who did battle with the insurance industry in 1961 over Hurricane Carla losses, to head the group.

Also on the committee are Highway Commission Chairman DeWitt Greer and former Secretary of State John Hill, who lost a race for governor in 1968.

Hill is a lawyer who has won a number of suits against insurance companies.

Others named are Dr. Alford Hazzard of Austin; Edwin Merriman of Lubbock, president of the State Society of Certified Public Accountants; W. O. Shafer of Odessa, former president of the state Bar of Texas; Sam S. Wood, editor of the Austin American-Statesman; Eddie Barker, news director of KRLD-TV in Dallas; and Harry Hubbard Jr. of Austin, legislative director of the Texas AFL-CIO.

The AFL-CIO has opposed insurance rate increases for years, saying insurance companies are profiting without higher rates.

Smith charged the group with making "a thorough study to determine the facts behind the spiraling cost of private auto insurance rates." He said he expects the committee to complete its work by early fall.

In his "charge to the committee," the governor specifically asked for a study of the possibility of mandatory liability coverage, reduction in rates for careful drivers, possible higher rates for persons with high accident records, the possibility of including investment income in determining the financial strength of insurace firms and the broadening of rate brackets.

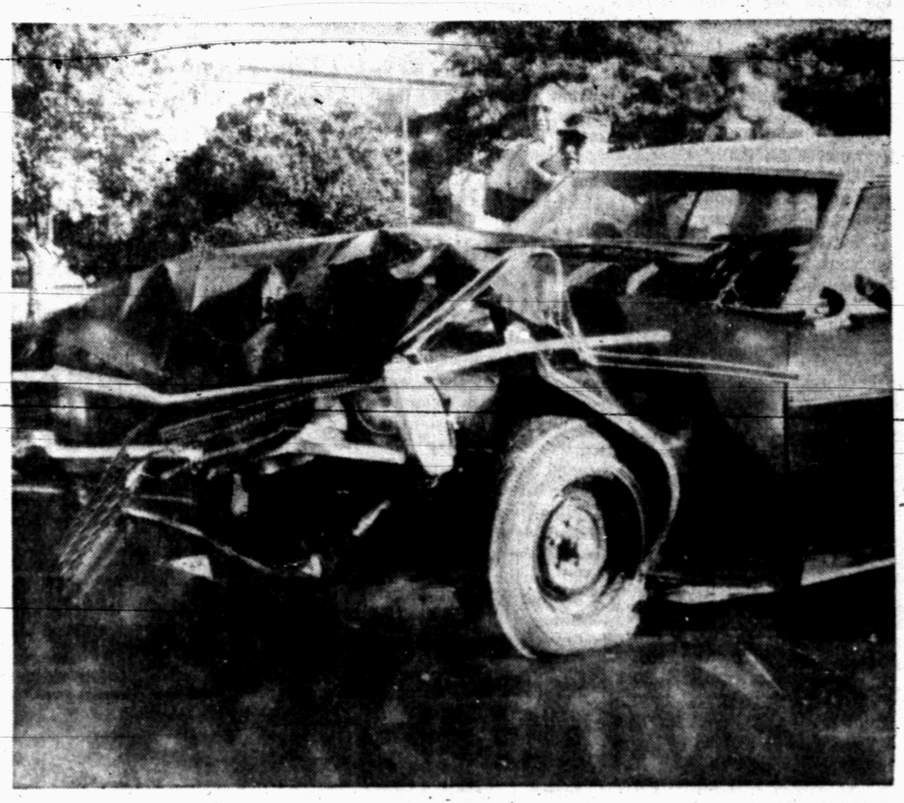

He also asked the group to make detailed comparisons of Texas insurance rates of accident frequency, repair costs and the effect of concentration of cars in urban areas with those in other states.

Comparisons also will be made of the various age groups which auto insurance covers.

"Much publicity has been given to the difference between auto insurance coverage between young and older age groups and the accident rates involved. We want this committee to delve into not only the issues named but into all aspects of the auto insurance rates on private passenger vehicles," Smith said.

The governor said Thursday the 11.4 per cent average statewide private passenger car insurance rate increase recommended by the state Insurance Board staff bordered on the catastrophic.

He also said he would summon the presidents of several representative insurance companies to Austin to discuss the proposed increase.

Mrs. Lena Ruth Stansell, secretary at the school administration building, had painful cuts and bruises. She was taken to the hospital by private car.

The 1968 Ford driven by Judge Taylor and the 1969 Chevrolet driven by Mrs. Stansell were heavily damaged in the crash.

HAVE NO FEAR

Astronauts Are Ready To Go

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —The three astronauts are ready to fly to the moon. They say they are not afraid. They are confident their spaceship and training will see them through.

The rocket that will vault them is receiving the final servicing for liftoff at 9:32 a.m. EDT Wednesday. The weather outlook is good.

"The three of us have no fear of launching out on this expedition," said Neil A. Armstrong, set to become earth's first messenger on the moon. "I'm sure that American ingenuity and American craftsmanship have given us the best equipment that can be made available. We are happy to be ready to fly."

Armstrong appeared at a televised news conference Monday night with Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., who will follow him down the steps of their moon landing-craft, and Michael Collins, who will orbit overhead awaiting their return.

Not far away, bathed in floodlights like the pampered star it is, stood the 36-foot tall Saturn 5 rocket that will propel them onto the journey dreamed of perhaps since man first walked the earth.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and former President Lyndon B. Johnson were to be among the million persons expected at this moonport to see the launching.

In the lunar module, which is nested beneath the command and service modules, is a disc the size of a half dollar inscribed with messages of congratulations and goodwill from 73 nations. The microdisc will be implanted in the powdery moon soil.

Russia, which sent a mystery satellite to the moon—with arrival timed nearly to coincide with America's historic launch—delivered no message. Some experts saw in their unmanned vehicle an attempt to pluck soil samples from the moon and return them before Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins can deliver theirs eight days after liftoff.

Asked if he would be disappointed if the Russians first snared lunar dirt, Aldrin said: "I'm sure all of us would. We'd like to return with everything we set out to do on this flight."

What they set out to do was proposed by President John F. Kennedy in 1961: "I believe that this nation should commit itself to achieving the goal before this decade is out, of landing a man on the moon and returning him safely to earth."

Their precise flight plan calls for going into moon orbit at 1:26 p.m. EDT Saturday, undocking the lunar lander from the mother ship 24 hours later, and touching down on the moon at 4:19 p.m. Sunday.

But they'll have to wait before making their self-televised imprint on the moon. First they must check the systems to propel them back up to the orbiting mother ship with Collins aboard, then try to sleep for four hours.

Man's first step on the moon is set for 2:17 a.m. next Monday.

Their only hope of rescue is Collins, coming overhead every two hours in the immutable laws of space travel. He has the ability, at a tremendous cost in valuable fuel, of coming down within 9 miles of the surface.

"We would be prepared to go down to the absolute limit," said Collins. "It would be a decision that would be up to mission control."

Collins would be of help only if the lunar vehicle could not leave its self-contained launch pad and go that high to meet him. If not, their death would come after two days on the inhospitable, airless moon.

If everything goes well, they will lift off after a 22-hour stay—loaded with up to 130 pounds of moon dirt—and return to earth July 24.

"I wouldn't say fear is an unknown emotion to us," said Armstrong. "Fear is a characteristic particularly of a knowledge that there may be something that you haven't thought of and feel you might be unable to cope with. Our training and all the work that goes into preparation for flight does everything it can toward erasing those kind of possibilities."

Sen. Blakley Overcome By Smoke

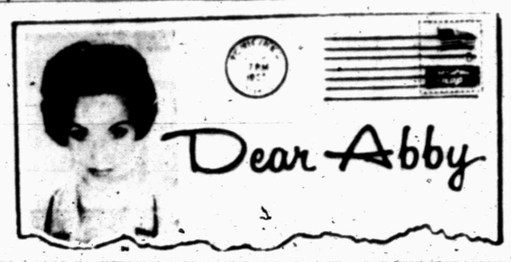

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) —Former U. S. Sen. William A. Blakley, 71, was overcome by smoke from a burning mattress in his hotel room early today.

The fire, on the eighth floor of the Commodore Perry Hotel, forced evacuation of about 40 guests, many in night garments. It was quickly extinguished.

Blakley was carried to the lobby and given oxygen. An ambulance took him to a hospital, apparently still unconscious. He was still clad in trousers and shirt.

Later a hospital attendant said Blakley was "sitting up and talking—doing fine."

Firemen said the mattress presumably was ignited by a cigarette. A guest smelled smoke about 1:15 a.m. as it spread into other rooms on the same floor. Hotel employes helped other guests grope to safety through the thick smoke.

DEAR ABBY: I suppose I would be criticized for anything my 11-year-old daughter so closely, but I don't care. She has three teen-aged brothers, and when she and one of them are doing something ALONE, I make some excuse to call her down to do something else. I have this theory that sex is sex to a boy until he reaches total manhood, be it his sister or cousin or, anybody else, and I will NEVER go off and leave them together all alone not even for 15 minutes.

I have a married daughter and I raised her the same way. I told her, "You don't wear shorty pajamas or your underwear in front of your father, brothers or any other man."

Also, when the girls are in bed, the boys stay out of their bedrooms, and the girls stay out of the boys' bedrooms when the BOYS are in bed. (Unless somebody is sick, of course.)

Some folks may think I have a dirty mind, but I know too many young girls who were started down the wrong road by "loving" relatives.

Sign me, "CAREFUL" IN W.VA.

DEAR "CAREFUL": I hope you are as conscientious about "enlightening" your children as you are "policing" them, or all your efforts will have been for naught.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Please settle an office argument. The girls in our office have been invited to a summer week-end at the lake, and the question of appropriate footwear has come up.

Open-toed sandals are very much "in" this year and most of the girls intend to wear them. Some of the older girls would like to wear them, too, but are hesitant because of their less-than-lovely feet, thanks to longtime wearing shoes.

They are told no one pays any attention to crooked toes or battered feet ruined by ill-fitting shoes. Is that true?

Your answer will be of interest to many women.

COFFEE BREAK GROUP

DEAR GROUP: I cannot agree that "nobody pays any attention. . ." etc. Some do and some don't. And whether a woman should expose her less-than-lovely feet in sandals is a personal matter. Personally, I would not.

DEAR ABBY: This is for CHRISTINE, the widow with four babies, ages 2, 1, and a pair of twins 2 months old. Her husband was killed in Viet Nam, and she keeps a picture of him in his uniform, framed and in her laundry room where she can look at it because that's where she spends most of her time. She doesn't whine, she says. "During the day when I am snowed under doing diapers I like to look at his picture and remember the love that created these tiny wonders of ours."

I have two babies, a year apart, and I thought I had it rough because my husband puts in such long hours and leaves me to cope with the kids alone. Now I realize how lucky I am to have a husband who comes home to me every night. I have nothing to complain about.

I wish there were something I could do for CHRISTINE. She's done so much for me.

If you've raised him right (and from your letter, I think you have) he'll not envy them for their material wealth. He'll probably be envied for his humility.

Mountain Climber Is Rescued

PINEDALE, Wyo. (AP) — The body of a mountain climber was recovered from a rugged peak in western Wyoming Monday night after a two-man team, led by a man called "The Fly," braved gale force winds in the rescue attempt.

Authorities said a man identified as John Hagen, 22, of Salem, Mass., apparently died Saturday night on the face of 12,500-foot Mitchell Peak while climbing with two friends. The body was brought down from the peak and taken to a funeral home in nearby Lander.

Swiss mountaineer Martin Epp, the man known as "The Fly," and Ken Clanton, an instructor at the National Outdoor Leadership School, fought 60 mile an hour winds on the mountain to recover the body.

Epp said progress down the mountain was extremely slow because of tangled underbrush and rocks. Clanton said Hagen probably could not have survived "more than five or six hours" on the ledge where he landed.

Hagen became separated from his two companions, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cook of Jamison, Pa., in the Wind River Mountains. Freemont County officials said the Cooks managed to secure Hagen to a rock ledge and made their way down the mountain. Hagen apparently died after they left, authorities theorized.

In Salem, Mass., Mrs. Virginia Berg, Hagen's aunt, said he worked in Wyoming's Yellowstone National Park as a teenager and later worked at a Boston mountain climbing equipment store.

Artificial Heart Is Developed

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Denton A. Cooley and his co-worker Dr. Domingo Liotta have developed a new artificial heart device that Cooley says will be kept on standby for use when a transplant is needed, but no human donor heart available.

"Within six weeks," he said, "We will have tested the best device."

Cooley rejected criticism of his use of another artificial heart in Houston last April 4 on Haskel Karp, 47. Karp lived for 65 hours with the artificial heart before a donor could be found to supply a human heart. He died April 8, 38 hours after the human-heart transplant.

Cooley told a session of the 19th annual convention of the American Medical Association meeting here Monday that Karp was "at the point of death."

"If you have a dead heart and a live body and a live central nervous system," Cooley said, "I can see no moral objection to utilizing the artificial heart."

The use of the first device produced by Cooley and Liotta touched off a hearted controversy and prompted Dr. Michael De Bakey, a rival heart surgeon, to ask for an investigation to see if federal guidelines were violated.

The original heart, Cooley said, did not pump as strongly after it was implanted in Karp as the surgical team wished. "The output was somewhat marginal," he said. "We wanted to increase it, but it was working at the maximum."

Cooley said he thought the marginal output may have contributed to Karp's eventual death after the transplant, although what he called "enthusiastic" drug therapy to prevent rejection may have been more important in making Karp susceptible to the pneumonia which was the principle cause of death.

Cooley said in the new device, the chambers and pumping mechanisms have been redesigned, with compression working from four directions instead of one, as in the original device.

He said if a person's heart "died" during open heart surgery, it would justify the use of an artificial heart until a human heart was available.

"The source of donors has temporarily dried up," Cooley said, and cited the poor survival rates as the cause. But the results worldwide on heart transplants, he argued, are as good as the early results with kidney transplants.

"Now is the time," he said, "to do more cases rather than less."

Cooley has performed 20 heart transplants in 19 patients. Two patients survive. One has lived eight months, the other two months.

"Even a few months survival justifies the effort," Cooley said.

Both the Salvation Army and the Scurry County Boys Club are helped through the United Fund.

IPAA Urges Oil Imports Restraints

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Independent Petroleum Association of America urged the federal government today to hold the line on oil imports, rule out special quotas and restrict imports to crude oil and residual fuel oil.

The IPAA offered its recommendations to the President's Cabinet Task Force on Oil Import Control, which had invited comment from all interested parties.

The association said continued import restraints are needed to protect the domestic industry and thus prevent the nation from becoming dependent on foreign sources. This was the aim of the program as instituted by then President Eisenhower in 1959.

The IPAA, representing domestic independent producers, acknowledged that foreign oil is cheaper than domestic but said the nation could not depend on that situation to continue.

And even if it did, the IPAA argued, increased imports would cost the U.S. economy billions of dollars a year in lost production taxes, lease incomes, wages, and spending in other sectors by the domestic oil companies.

Five recommendations were made by the IPAA:

—Limit petroleum imports, except residual fuel oil, into the U.S. east of the Rocky Mountains to 12.2 per cent of domestic production-the present limit.

—Prohibit all special or preferential treatments for purposes unrelated to the security objective of the import program.

—In implementing import policy, place first priority upon domestic petroleum sources; then, other North American sources, other western hemisphere oil, and finally eastern hemisphere sources, in that order.

—Change the import program toward the objective of permitting only imports of crude oil residual fuel oil.

The statement was submitted in response to the questions posed last May 20 by Labor Secretary George P. Shultz, chairman of the president's task force.

September Meeting Set For Urban Plan

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith has called a statewide meeting, Sept. 7-9, to start work on a plan for Texas' urban areas.

The Texas Society of Architects will organize the September meeting, Smith said Monday.

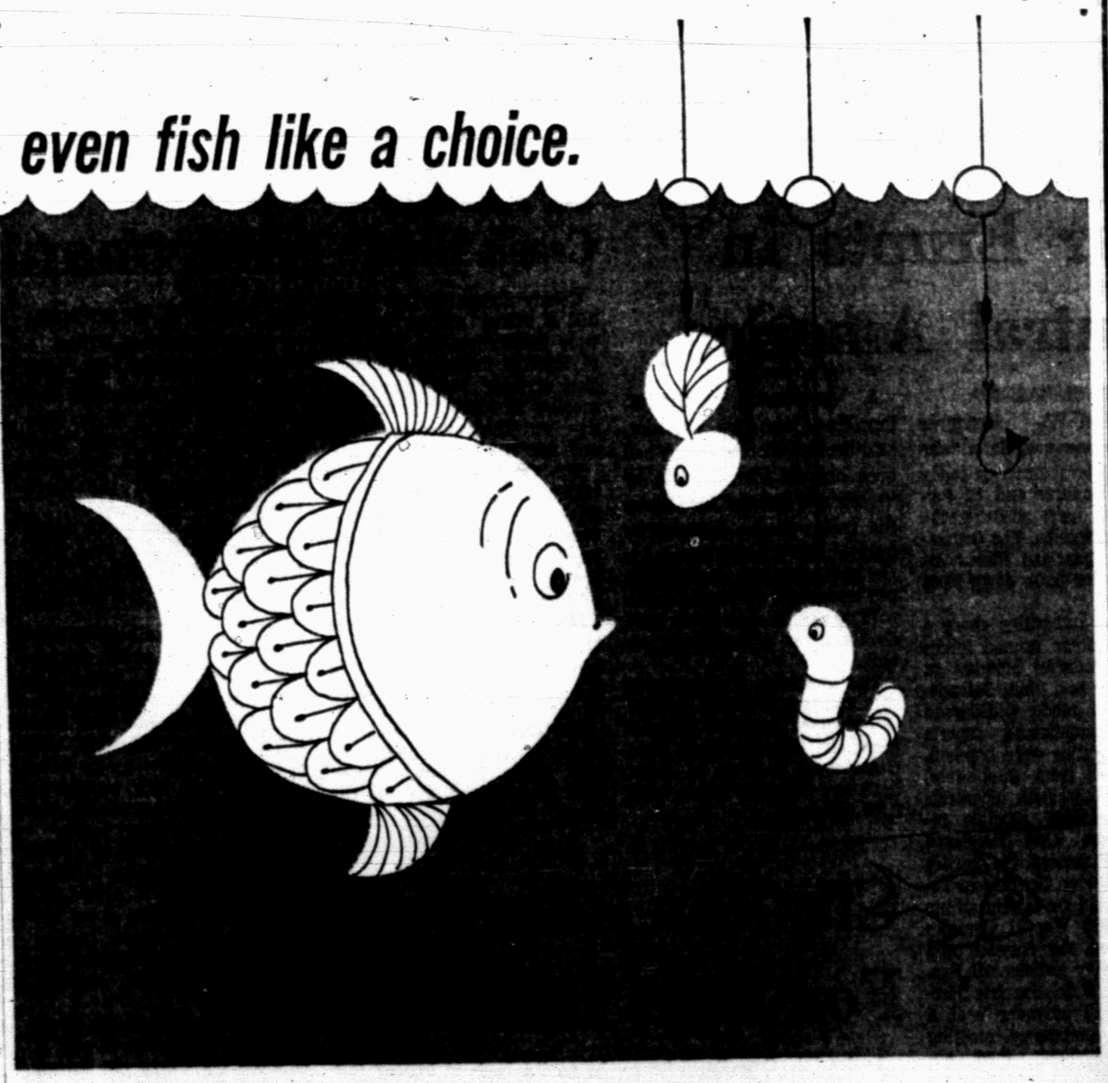

Among those expected for the conference are Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, the 1968 Democratic vice-presidential candidate, and Secretary of Transportation John Volpe.

"Our cities are not yet in crisis, nor are they yet burning," Smith said in a statement. "However, our transportation system are approaching saturation, we are facing creeping pollution; our rural areas are being depopulated; and in many areas we have inadequate housing and welfare programs."

Vietnamese Women Advise On Dress

NEW YORK (AP) — North Vietnamese women have been advised that there are certain fashion guidelines to be followed when fighting Americans, according to a translation from the Hanoi magazine "Tien-Phong", which appeared in the July issue of Atlas Magazine a digest of the world's press.

"A beautiful and serious dress symbolizes a clear, simple, optimistic and work-loving mind. Tight cowboy pants and waistline under the navel, hugging the hips and thighs of boys and girls are as bad as shirts with plunging necklines, with split fronts, showing the belly and armpit, or the thick and pointed bra style that looks like armor.

"It is quite wrong to say that all dresses are good enough to fight the Americans," the Atlas article continues. "Today's dress must be practical, scientific and esthetically appealing.

Scientists Work Quietly On Electric Car Development

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — While most Americans will be entranced tomorrow as the astronauts rocket through space, scores of scientists will be working quietly on the less glamorous job of moving earthlings at 45 miles an hour.

These are the men who are trying to perfect an electric automobile, the development of which seems to be stalled for the moment but which could result in a startling breakthrough.

Is the electric car for real? Ask the researchers for the big electric product manufacturers and you realize it is surprisingly real. And you get the same answer from the Big Three automakers too.

The state of the art is really more advanced than most Americans seem to realize. And the implications, too, are greater.

A successful electric vehicle suitable for volume sales would be as revolutionary a technological development as anything seen before in America, matched only by such products as airplanes, telephones and computers.

At the present time most of the large electric equipment manufacturers have development projects under way, and at least six small companies now are selling vehicles that can travel 100 miles at 40 to 50 miles an hour.

In fact, the major manufacturers of internal combustion engines also have been working on the project, although perhaps a little more quietly.

Scores of battery-powered transportation devices already exist: buses, industrial trucks, delivery vans, noiseless dairy trucks, golf carts, automatic trains.

A Southern California manufacturer has been making a lightweight, two-passenger electric car for six years. He sells about 150 a year, mostly to elderly and handicapped people, who drive them about city streets.

The spark behind development of the electric car comes as much from the negative factors of noise and air pollution from gasoline driven vehicles, as it does from the great potential market.

W. J. Clapp of the Edison Electric Institute, an organization of electric utilities, commented recently that one automobile traveling 30 miles at 60 miles an hour consumes more breathable air in that time than 100,000 people.

Clapp's viewpoint is perhaps prejudiced, but the point remains that many Americans are becoming deeply concerned with the air they breathe and feel the automobile is one of the chief contributors to pollution.

The fact that the electric car has not yet met with more acceptance is partially a tribute to the effective promotion of gasoline driven cars by the big manufacturers. In England, for example, 80 per cent of the vehicles used for door-to-door deliveries are electric.

The obstacles are real, however. How do you pack enough batteries into the car without eliminating the driver's space or increasing the weight to the point of diminishing return?

Recharging is a problem also. There are physical limits to the rate at which batteries can be charged. An experimental vehicle being used by General Electric, for example, requires eight hours to recharge.

And there is another obstacle also. It is habit. Although electric utilities are in the door-to-door business as much as the milkman or the mailman, few utilities use anything but gasoline-driven vehicles.

Acting Is Like An Echo

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "Your life is its own epitaph," said Claire Bloom.

"Your work isn't. I'm afraid acting has no longevity. It ages and gets out of date in 10 years. It's like an echo you leave with other people. When they die, then you're dead."

This was a surprising admission from the British-born performer, to whom acting has been a lifelong passion since at the age of five she quit playing with dolls because she preferred to recite Shakespeare.

But trying to figure out Claire is like trying to work a Chinese puzzle blindfolded. She has been an enigma since she played Ophelia as a teen-ager and at 20 startled the film world by being picked over hundreds of other girls by Charles Chaplin to appear with him in "Limelight."

Strikingly comely rather than arrestingly beautiful, the dark-haired actress was unusually self-revelatory during a recent luncheon at the 21 Club. Necks craned to watch her as she showed up in a French blue jumpsuit.

Under questioning, she said:

"I like to work in Hollywood, but don't like to live there. I'm too young to die."

"I've never played comedy except in Shakespeare. I'm better at playing neurotic women. But I'd love to do a romantic comedy film role."

"My philosophy? I know it's very popular to have one, but I don't. I wouldn't dare call my disordered thoughts a philosophy."

"When you're very young and you have terribly specific goals. Now I'd just like to take things easier and enjoy life more. It's terribly hard to find good things to do, but I like to think that the time between isn't wasted. There are so many things that enrich life. Every second is valuable."

"My best quality? It's probably persecerance. I never give up on a thing once I start it."

"My fears? I have periods when I'm afraid of everything, and periods when I feel strong enough to cope with anything. When I was a young girl and read Sinclair Lewis' 'Main Street,' I was afraid that I might be trapped in a situation I couldn't get out of. But I'll never feel that way again, because I've gotten so many things I've wanted."

"The things I like? People who are aware of what happens around them, who are open to anything, and who are good at their jobs—the color yellow because it's like the sun and makes me happy—mornings, before you start going downhill—reading, the greatest pleasure in life—baroque music—just plain quiet, the sound of silence—placid waters—the smell of herbs growing wild in Sardinia—the taste of white truffles cooked in Italy—shopping for soft, casual, comfortable clothes—the gleam of mellow gold jewelry—and men who are brighter and quicker than I am."

"The things I dislike are intolerance, because I'm intolerant but try not to be—fried foods, root beer and weak tea—the dreary smell of cabbage being boiled to death, because it symbolizes to me a whole sad way of life—the sound of street generators on a hot day—hack writing and semiclassical music—Christmas, New Year's and birthdays—pompous people."

Junior Editors Quiz on SHAKESPEARE

QUESTION: What was William Shakespeare's real name?

* * *

ANSWER: English records show that on April 26, 1564, a child named William Shakespeare was baptized in the church of Stratford-on-Avon. He married in 1582, left Stratford in 1584, went to London and became an actor. He began to write plays for his theatrical company. They were well received and the author made enough money to buy several houses. He was 52 when he died, a well-known but not famous man, perhaps because his writings were only in manuscript. After his death, as these works were printed and circulated around the world, people realized that here was perhaps the greatest literary genius ever known. The familiar quotations above are a few of the countless words and phrases Shakespeare originated. Because of the range of his knowledge, people began to wonder how a simple country actor could have learned so much about life. Some suspected that the brilliant, worldly Earl of Oxford may have written the plays and poems and, not wishing his name to be attached to the then vulgar world of the theater, hired the actor William Shakespeare to appear to be the author. Most experts discount this and similar theories. Genius, they claim, can flash up from any social level. So the answer to our question seems to be, William Shakespeare.

Mikan Steps Down As Cage Boss

NEW YORK (AP) — George Mikan has stepped down as commissioner of the American Basketball Association.

He announced his decision Monday as the ABA opened a two-day meeting in New York, where it is setting up its new headquarters. Mikan gave personal and business reasons for his decision.

"My home is in Minneapolis," Mikan explained. "My family is there, and I have other business interests there that demand my presence. Rather than attempt to serve the league as a commuting commissioner, I have decided to step down."

ABA headquarters are being shifted from Minneapolis to New York.

James C. Gardner of Rocky Mount, N.C., ABA president, announced that Assistant Commissioner Thurlo E. McCrady will head the New York headquarters under a new title, that of executive director. Also moving to New York is Lee L. Meade, public relations director.

Landry Likes Rookie Backs

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) —A pair of 203-pound running backs, both rookies, are impressing Coach Tom Landry in early workouts at the Dallas Cowboys' preseason training camp.

David Hendrix 6 feet-1 of Livingstone College in South Carolina, and Claxton Welch, 5-11, of Oregon, charged through the line Monday in two workouts on the California Lutheran College campus.

Meanwhile, Roger Staubach, former Navy standout quarterback, passed the ball with authority, using his familiar rollout and the standard drop-back patterns.

David Bickey, a rookie back from Arkansas, was on the receiving end of some Staubach tosses.

A free agent tackle from Colgate, Peter Nagle, left camp for personal reasons and Randy Casey, another tackle from George Fox College, was banged up in a line play and will miss about two days of workouts.

Gilbert To Sign, States Coach

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP) — The general manager and coach of the Fort Worth Braves football team said Monday former Texas Longhorns' star Chris Gilbert will sign a contract with the Braves, and not with the New York Jets.

John Hatley told a news conference, "We'll sign Chris Gilbert this week."

Hatley, in Longview to promote an exhibition football game between the Braves and the Lake Charles (La.) Pelicans, said, "We hope to have him in the League game on July 26." Hatley added that Gilbert would not play in the Braves' first exhibition game this Saturday.

Gilbert set a record at the University of Texas as the greatest ground-gainer in Southwest Conference history. He was the 5th-round draft choice by the Jets, but the size of the bonus he reportedly wanted kept him from signing with the world champs.

Gilbert met with Braves owner Tommy Mercer on Sunday and reported, "I feel at this point I'm closer to signing with the Fort Worth Braves than I am with the New York Jets. One more meeting, and I'll know for sure."

Hatley told newsmen Monda he understood Gilbert was "in excellent shape and is looking forward to the 1969 season since we are now in the Continental League."

He added, "Gilbert, a Texas star, will certainly be a big drawing card for our ball club."

Hatley said Gilbert would be allowed to live in Houston, Austin or Fort Worth and could commute to games and practice sessions by plane.

The Braves are scheduled to play Shreveport July 19 in Van, Tex.

Mercer and Gilbert were slated to meet again this week, in Fort Worth, but the exact time of the meeting was not disclosed.

Rebs, Braves Win In Teenage Action

The Rebels rolled over the Sports 3-0, and the Braves topped the Buffs 7-4 in Junior Teenage action unreeled at Towle Park diamond Monday night.

In the first game, which went five innings, the Rebels garnered 13 runs on 7 hits, while the Sports were shut out by Reb pitchers Jimmie Don Dyess and Kevin Jones on only 3 hits.

The Rebs jumped out to a two run lead in the first inning as Danny Brumley, who walked, and Louis Loyd, who reached base on an error, both scored.

The Sports managed to shut the gate on the Rebs in the second frame, but the eventual winners tallied 3 runs in the third, as Gary Patterson reached first on a fielder's choice and eventually scored as James Hood singled and Sammy Lee Harrison tripled. Both boys also crossed home plate.

The biggest inning for the Rebels was the fourth, when they gathered in 7 big runs on 4 hits, and 2 walks. Those scoring were Richard Cornett and Donald Davis, who were issued fee passes to first base; Brumley and Loyd, who singled, Patterson, who got on base on an error, Hood, who doubled, and Dyess, who reached base on a single.

The final run for the Rebs came in the fifth frame and was tallied by Patterson, who got to base on an error. He was helped around the bases by Hood's single.

For the Sports, there were no scores, but a number of opportunities as they left men on base in every inning but the first. Gary Coffee got one single and Norred managed two singles for the only hits by the Sports.

In the nightcap, the Braves took a one-run lead in the first, and had built it to a 7-0 lead after four innings, but had to choke off rallies in the last three frames to get their 7-4 victory.

In the bottom of the first, Ralph Lewis walked, and was followed by another free pass to D'Wayne Riggs. Lewis then came home on Jockie Murray's two-bagger.

The Braves added four more runs in the third on walks by Riggs, Murray and Greg Godair, and singles by Joe Dale Price and Gary Smith. The final two runs for the Braves came in the fourth, when there were no hits, but there were four bases-on-balls. Scoring in that frame were Lewis and Murray, who had walked.

The Buffs, after not getting a man on base in the first four innings, began to come to life in the top of the fifth, when David Thompson doubled and Jimmy Brandon walked. Thompson scored the first Buff run.

The Buffs tallied once again in the sixth as William Patterson singled and eventually scored. Then in the final stanza, the Buffs scored two runs as Brandon reached base on an error, Ricky Berry walked, and Jack Rogers singled.

Junior Golf Tourney Set For Tee-Off

Entries were still coming in this morning for the Junior Golf Tournament which will be held Wednesday and Thursday at the Snyder Country Club.

A total of 17 had already entered, with more expected, according to Lonnie Crosby, club pro. He said that entries will be taken up to the tee-off time of 9 a.m. Wednesday.

The largest number of hopefuls so far are in the 14-15 year bracket, which has 7 contestants. Five have entered in the 16-17 year division, four in the 12-13, and one in the 18 and over.

Trophies will be awarded to the top shooters in the youngest three divisions, while those in the 18 and older bracket will be competing for merchandise prizes.

Tom Jackson, Scotch Plains, N. J., tackle, will captain Penn State's offensive team next fall.

Laver In Defense Of Tennis Title

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — King Rod Laver bids for a fourth straight U.S. Pro Tennis Championship against bridesmaid John Newcombe tonight in a showdown in the $33,000 tournament at Longwood.

Laver and Newcombe swept through the all-Australian semi-finals with impressive victories Monday night before an overflow crowd of 5,200, the largest pro turnout in Longwood history.

The 30-year-old Laver, an executioner on the court, and fresh from his fourth Wimbledon championship, continued a drive for top prize money of $8,000 by defeating Ken Rosewall, a two-time U.S. pro titlist 6-3, 5-7, 6-2, 6-0.

TAX ANSWERS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — I am having a sun porch put on my home. Will any of this cost be deductible?

A — No, this cost is not deductible. However, you may add the expense of installing the porch to the cost basis of your home. Your cost basis is the price paid for your home plus the improvements.

Q — I've accepted a job as a counseuor at summer camp. Will I be taxed for my food and lodging?

A — The value of your room and board will not be taxable as long as they are furnished on your employer's premises and for his convenience. Also you must be required to accept the lodging as a condition of employment. This is the case in most camp situations.

Q — When is the next payment due on my maid's Social Security?

A — The quarterly payment for the months of April, May and June is due July 31. Use Form 942, "Employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees," to file and pay this tax.

This tax is due when cash wages of $50 or more are paid to a household employee during a calendar quarter.

Q — I'm going into the furniture moving business. Will I have to pay the highway use tax on my trucks?

A — Whether a truck is taxable depends on its type and weight. Details are contained in Publication 349, "Federal Use Tax on Trucks, Truck-Tractors and Buses." Send a post card to your IRS district office for a free copy.

The publication gives the revised schedule of taxable gross weights effective July 1.

The schedule was revised because trucks are bigger and carry heavier loads now than they did when the original schedule was set up.

Q — How does IRS pick the returns that it checks?

A — All returns are checked for mathematical accuracy and completeness. In addition, certain returns are selected for more detailed examination.

This year IRS has started a new way of selecting these income tax returns for audit. Under this system, each return is analyzed by computer and receives a score based on possible errors. The returns can then be ranked as to their need to be examined.

Q — Would I lose my exemption for my son if he earns over $600 this summer?

A — The amount of your child's earnings will not necessarily change his status as your dependent if he is under 19 at the end of the year or was a full-time student during five months of the year. Under either of these exceptions to the $600 rule, you may continue to claim him as long as you provide more than half his support and the other tests are met.

Auction To Encourage Better Beef

WASHINGTON (AP) — A pilot cattle marketing program in Archbold, Ohio, could possibly be expanded to encourage higher quality stock moving into the slaughter market, says the Agriculture Department.

Usually, producers who sell cattle at livestock auctions do so on the basis of what the animals weigh and grade on the hoof.

But the auction project at Archbold—started last spring—permits a producer to sell his cattle to a meat packer and then be paid in a few days on the basis of the actual quality and amount of meat in the carcass.

Cattle producers selling directly to meat packers have been able for the past four years to be paid on the basis of "grade and yield" after their animals were slaughtered, but an Agriculture Department official said today that to his knowledge the Archbold experiment is the first for auction markets.

Experienced cattle buyers can look at a live animal and tell closely its quality and how much meat it wil produce, but the surest method is to examine the carcass after slaughter.

Thus, the spokesman said, the producer can know exactly how much meat he ha sold to the packer and can collect his price accordingly.

"This method certainly hsa the possibility of encouraging better than average types of cattle going into auction markets," the official said. "But right now it's still in the experimental stage. It's being watched very closely."

The Archbold project was developed by Ohio State University marketing specialists in cooperation with a local auction company, the official said. Two sales on the basis of grade and yield have been held.

Sex Activity Among Aged Will Increase In Future

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A Duke University psychiatrist says it is quite possible that sexual activity among eldarly pedsons will show a definite increase in the future.

The ability of sexual activity among the elderly is already appreciable at ages even beyond 75, Dr. Ewald W. Busse said today in a report to a symposium, "Physical Fitness and Aging," at the annual convention of the American Medical Association.

"Assuming that the health of the elderly will continue to improve, and assuming that neurotic sexual conflicts will be less prevalent, it is quite possible that sexual activity among the elderly in the years ahead will show a definite increase," Busse said.

He led up to his forecast by saying the situation at present is this:

1. In general, sexual activity between marital partners tends to be maintained until after the age of 75.

2. Approximately 60 per cent of married couples between the ages of 60 and 74 years of age remain sexually active.

3. After age 75, sexual activity declines, so as to include only 30 per cent of married couples that age.

But, he said, the continuation of sexual activity is dependent upon several interacting factors, adding:

"Among the married, the physical and mental health of the partner is important—as are the patterns of sexual interest and activity that have been established in early adulthood.

At the same session, Dr. Lawrence E. Lamb of Baylor College of Medicine, Houston, Tex. —one of the world's pioneering centers in heart transplant research—criticized "the theatrics of artificial hearts and transplants."

"While a few surgeons make headlines with human experimentation," he said, "the real battle against disease, death and debility is being waged in the unglamorous area of preventing heart disease . . . "if the money spent on the artificial heart was spent on really launching a preventive program, thousands of lives could be saved."

Dr. Lamb named no names in saying that "artificial hearts and heart transplants . . . have produced an abundance of headlines and little else other than notoriety for a few surgeons."

But he is on the staff of the same medical school as Dr. Denton A. Cooley, who holds the world's record or the number of heart transplant opertions.

Cooley was also on the AMA convention program. He disclosed in an interview Monday that he and an associate have developed a new and apparently improved artificial heart device, and that it should be ready for use within six weeks.

About 22,500 doctors are attending the five-day convention. The AMA says it represents about 66 per cent of the nation's 325,000 doctors.

C5A Wing Didn't Pass Static Test

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The controversial C5A super transport has suffered what could be its first major test failure—a wing cracking under pressures 22 per cent below the contract-specified level.

The Air Force disclosed Monday the wing cracked during ground-static tests of a C5A airframe minus tail assembly at the Marietta, Ga., plant of the Lockheed Georgia Co.

The impact of the break on the over-all program, and why it occurred, is being assessed by the Air Force and company engineers. Completed models will continue test flights in the meantime.

The C5A—world's largest air transport—has been the focus of considerable criticism in Congress because of soaring expense.

Under original plans, the Air Force intended in 1965 to buy 120 models for $3.1 billion but that has escalated by $1.5 billion, according to official estimates.

In the face of the criticism, a major Pentagon argument has been that the plane has been meeting or exceeding virtually all contract specifications.

The 230-foot jet plane, capable of carrying tanks, helicopters, trucks and troops, recently made its first cross-country flight and appeared to be performing highly satisfactorily.

On Sunday, however, came the wing crack.

While the nose and tail were held down, a special test rig forced the wings upward in a trial of their strength. Then the break occurred in a wing near the point where it joins the fuselage.

Specifically, the crack occurred under pressures amounting to 128 per cent of the design load limit, which is 738,000 pounds. The Air Force said the contract calls for the company to demonstrate that the airframe can withstand 150 per cent of the load limit.

The idea of using pressures beyond 100 per cent of the load limit is to "verify the additional margin of safety," the Air Force said.

The static tests help engineers calculate stress distributions [illegible] rame to sustain ultimate loads under critical conditions.

Scott Bay Fish Kill Is Probed

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Water Quality Board has ordered an investigation of a large fish kill over the weekend in Scott Bay near Baytown.

"If we can determine the cause, it is hopeful that some legal or punative action can be taken," said Hugh Yantis Jr., executive director of the board.

A spokesman for the board said thousands of small, white fish washed up on shore near the 5800 block of Bayway Drive.

Working with the board's staff on the investigation, a spokesman said, are the Harris county attorney's office and other local government agencies.

JAYTON, Tex. (AP) — Assistant coach Ralph Newton has been named head football coach at Jayton High School. He replaces Bob Coleman, who has accepted a coaching job at Van Alstyne.

Winnie Judd Admits Her Identity

MARTINEZ, Calif. (AP) — Winnie Ruth Judd, fabled trunk murderess of the 1930s, says she'd like to return to Arizona on her own, prove her sanity and then go to Paraguay to work with children.

But Mrs. Judd, now a grandmotherly 64, was ordered held without bail for Arizona by Municipal Judge Sam Hall at a hearing Monday where she quietly admitted her identity.

Arizona's first extradition papers were returned to Phoenix for technical reasons, but Hall said "we will try to get the state of Arizona to move promptly."

He gave that state until Aug. 4 to act.

Mrs. Judd was discovered in this town northeast of San Francisco June 27 working as a domestic in nearby Alamo under the name of Marian Lane.

Until Monday's hearing, she clung to that name despite fingerprint checks by sheriff's officers showing her to be Winnie Ruth Judd.

At a news conference after the hearing she told reporters why she had asked Hall to let her go back to Arizona voluntarily:

"Because I feel that having lived here for seven years, going to college, taking a few courses and graduating, I can prove my sanity and free myself legally."

She was convicted in 1933 of murder, accused of slaying two girl friends in Phoenix and shipping their bodies to Los Angeles in two trunks. She was arrested when she sought to claim the trunks.

Condemned to hang, she was judged insane 72 hours before her scheduled execution. She was committed to Arizona State Hospital at Phoenix, escaped six times through the years, but always returned until 1962 when she walked out for the seventh time and went to California.

She said that since coming to the Bay Area she took night courses at the Oakland College of Medical and Dental Assistarts and "tried so hard to block the past out and live in the future."

Mrs. Judd hopes that Gov. Jack Williams of Arizona will pardon her, and added that if this happens she would like to go to Paraguay.

"I want to help the children there," she said.

Hypnosis Helps Kick The Habit

NEW YORK (AP) — "For your body, smoking is a poison . . . you need your body to live . . . you owe your body this respect and protection," pschiatrist Herbert Spiegel murmurs during hypnosis sessions to cigarette-puffing patients trying to kick the habit.

Dr. Spiegel reported Monday to the American Medical Association's 118th annual meeting that his development of a single, 45-minute treatment method using hypnosis has enabled one out of five "hard core" smokers to quit, and that it offers some help to many others.

The technique afterwards calls for 10-times-a-day, quickie "self hypnosis" sessions by the patient to thwart the smoking urge.

Spiegel, 55, a Columbia University faculty member, said the patient is taught a self-hypnosis technique for application 10 times a day—20 seconds each time—to reinforce the will against smoking.

The technique differs from others, he said, because iit advocates a "positive" approach to quitting.

Of 615 patients treated up to six months ago, Speigel said, one of five heavy smokers had stopped completely. And he said about 90 per cent of the group had experienced some favorable impact from the treatment in terms of giving up smoking for periods of less than a week to more than five months.
