Ambulance Director Says Patients Do Have Choice

Closest Appropriate Facility May Include Several Hospitals

You DO have a choice when you are faced with being taken to a hospital, by ambulance from the Bailey County Ambulance Service!

That's the positive response by Richelle Watkins, director of the Bailey County Ambulance Service on Tuesday morning.

"We have a written protocol, and under the direction of our medical director, Dr. Bruce Purdy," said the ambulance director.

According to the protocol, the patient, according to the severity of their illness or injury, may be taken to the nearest appropriate facility. "We try to do that in the safest, fastest and most efficient way," added Mrs. Watkins.

"We want to take people to the hospital of their choice," she added, "and will try to do that, except in some cases when it will be time for the ambulance service to intervene -- in instances when the patient is critical, and it will be appropriate to take them the fastest way to an appropriate facility."

In that event, we will discuss the alternatives with the family. For instance, for a critical cardiac patient, we will probably be using the helicopter (Air Ambulance) from Lubbock. The helicopter is equipped with advanced equipment and procedures. Through past experience, the Bailey County Ambulance Service has found the helicopter can meet the ambulance on the highway in minimal time.

Another alternate is taking the patient by ambulance to Lubbock.

Other alternative hospitals include Clovis, who is equipped with some trauma capability and orthopedics. The hospital at Portales, which is likewise equipped, and who will transfer by air ambulance when deemed necessary and South Plains Hospital at Amherst, not trauma equipped.

One matter of concern for the Bailey County Ambulance Service is that people are afraid to call for a "false alarm," said the ambulance director.

"Do not be afraid to call the ambulance," she said. "There is absolutely no charge unless we transport the patient. The EMT's will check the patient, and we will advise if the patient needs to be transported to the hospital. At that time, when we transport, is the only time there is a charge."

Mrs. Watkins said they had much rather people called, than perhaps to wait and lose a patient, or allow a patient to become very critical, and with the emergency life support

This month, the drawing will be for $25, $50 and $100, added Morris. Also, as an additional prize, Levi, in conjunction with the local C.R. Anthony Store, will be giving away a Mongoose Mini-Scooter.

All you have to do to be eligible to win the Mini-Scooter, is go by the C.R. Anthony Store in Muleshoe and sign up.

Remember, you have to be present to win the MAC Bucks, which may be spent at any of the more than 40 local businesses who participate in the promotion.

MHS Band All Fired-Up For This Year

Last weekend, the seminar was titled "Attitude Concepts for Today," and members of the Muleshoe High School band had expressions from "Excellent workshop," to "It was great," to describe their reaction to the Lubbock seminar for more than 220 band officers from across the South Plains.

Held at Monterrey High School in Lubbock, the six-hour motivational seminar was presented by Tim Lautzenheiser, nationally known lecturer. He has presented his leadership/motivational seminar across the country to high school and junior high school students, according to Mighty 'M' Band Director, Mark Heidel.

The band director said the students responded very well to the clinician, who spoke on what components make up leadership and what motivates leaders.

Brandon Carpenter said "It was an excellent workshop, the best I have been to since I have been with the band."

"I thought we would be bored. But Mr. Lautzenheiser really kept us going all the way through," said Ronnie Gail Barrett.

Michelle Finney commented, "I thought it was great." She added, "He told us don't be scared. You got to do something. If you want to make it happen, you have to do it."

"It was a great experience," said Greg Garcia. "I liked the

'87 Football Contest Offers Larger Prizes

Greetings, football fans! It's time for the ever-popular, fall feature, the Muleshoe Merchant's Football Contest. And, there's good news this year. The weekly prizes have been increased.

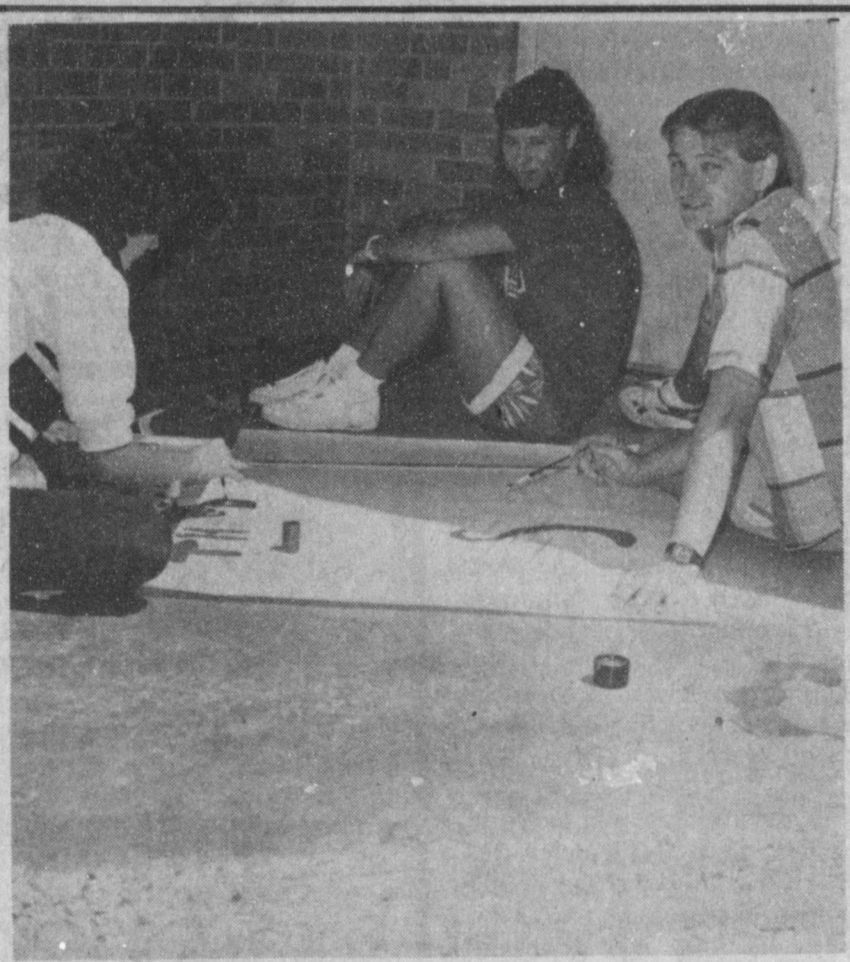

That's right, for the first time in several years, the weekly prize money has been increased. This year, the first place each week will pay $10, $7.50 for second place and $5 for third place. Plus, there's still a grand prize at the end of the contest. The grand prize, going to the contestant who accumulates the most points during the football season, will be $50.

Contestants will receive 10 points for first place win; 6 points for second place and 3 points for third place. In the event of a tie, the weekly prize money, and points, will be split.

Also, it will be easier to designate your choice of a winner in the weekly contest. Simply circle who you think will win the game, as shown in each ad on the contest page. The only thing you have to write in will be the tiebreaker score, along with your name and address.

And, remember, you must put the tiebreaker score in the appropriate box. Entries without the score, such as 21-10, will be discarded, and cannot be counted. Each year, several entrants forget to put their name and address on their entry. Obviously, you cannot win anything if your name and address is not included.

THE DEADLINE FOR COMPLAINTS WAS YESTERDAY-- That's the slogan being painted on a poster by band officers Monday afternoon at Muleshoe High School. Working on the poster, are from left, Ronnie Gail Barrett, Michelle Finney and Brandon Carpenter. The band officers are all fired-up for the school season, and ready to 'really put on some shows for the public, the students, and the school faculty.'

Mules Off To Tangle With Olton Mustangs

This is it, folks! The beginning of an exciting new football season in Muleshoe. Mule Mania is evident everywhere, including at the "Mule Bustin" painting on the north side of the old St. Clair Department Store building.

Friday night, the Mules, the Mighty 'M' Band, parents and football fans will be streaming toward Olton, where the Mules will be taking on the Olton Mustangs for season openers.

Last year, the Mustangs were in Mule territory, and nearly sneaked one by the Mules as they came to Muleshoe to play football--and at the end of the third quarter, the Mustangs were leading 14-0.

Going into the fourth, the Mules finally settled down to play some football, and by the time the game was over, the Mules had pulled the first game out of the fire and won, 22-14.

By the time the game was over, the Mustang sideline resembled a battlefield, as several players were injured, and the decimated team also became a demoralized team.

Starting off the season, the Mules starting quarterback, Johnny Garcia, will not be starting, due to a leg injury. Jeff Hicks, back-up quarterback, will start the game, and Garcia may or may not see limited action.

Two other players were lost in pre-season action due to injury. Out for the game will be James Ziegenfuss and Glen Flowers. Both received pre-season injuries, and may be out for some time.

Olton's overall record last year was 2-8 for the season, and they finished fourth in district action with 2-3.

Glenn Johnson will be a first year coach for Olton, having come from the past eight years coaching college teams, at Eastern New Mexico University and West Texas State University.

The Mustangs have only five starters, and with only 22 varsity players last year, Johnson said he has 51 players this year to choose from.

Also last year, the Mules, with second year coach Dale Keeling at the helm, turned around a 0-9 season from the previous year to 5-5 for the season in 1986. They were fifth in the district, finishing 1-5 in district action.

This year, however, the Mules have 16 returnees and expect to provide a challenge for the other teams in the district.

Coach Keeling expects the strong Mule defense to come through again this year, and a more experienced offense to help make a difference.

Gametime is 8 p.m. at Olton--be there!

Tuesday morning, Coach Keeling was informed that the

Location Changed For Telethon This Weekend

Don Prather of the Triangle CB Club, longtime local sponsors of the annual Jerry Lewis MDA Telethon, has announced a change for this year.

Because of the difficulty of obtaining good entertainment, the annual telethon will not be held at the Bailey County Coliseum and Civic Center as it has been for the last several years. Not enough volunteer entertainers were available, said Prather.

This year, the Triangle CB Club members will be answering the phones from the home of Clara Lou Jones at 221 East Cedar.

Beginning at 8 p.m. Sunday, the telephone will be manned around the clock until 6 p.m. on Monday, September 7, taking your pledges for the fight against muscular dystrophy and other diseases. The number to call will be 272-3468.

Also, young people wishing to take donations for the MDA from door-to-door, may pick up kits and a T-shirt for identification from Mrs. Jones at 221 East Cedar.

A scholarship fund in the memory of Philip Jesko has been established at the Lazbuddie School.

For additional information, contact Superintendent Joe Hall at the Lazbuddie school.

The family of Philip Jesko also asks that donations, or memorials, to Philip Jesko, be made to the Parmer County Ambulance Service. They will use the funds to help purchase a heart monitor.

The donations may be made with Gary Brown at the Friona State Bank.

The Slaton Junior Rodeo sponsored by the Slaton Rough Riders, was held in the Fair Park Horse Pavilion last Saturday, August 29.

Dusty Rhodes, son of Joe and Darla Rhodes, and a junior at Muleshoe High School, was a contestant.

He brought home a first place in tiedown calf roping and a second place in the break-away calf roping events.

Matt Sowder, a 1987 graduate of Three Way High School, is the only Texan to be awarded the Congress-Bundestag Agricultural Exchange full scholarship in national competition.

He is currently attending language camp at the Carl Duisberg Centrum in Radolfzell, Federal Republic of Germany.

Upon completion, he will reside with a farm family at Bloemershien and attend a vocational agriculture school.

Prior to his departure from the U. S. on August 1, Sowder participated in a week long orientation in Washington, D. C.

Major Displays Are Scheduled For Field Day

Research which can help Bailey County farmers reduce fertilizer costs and make more effective use through application methods, as well as the latest scientific information on crop production and the control of weeds, will be featured during the 78th annual field day of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock/Halfway on September 8, Bailey County Extension Agent Spencer Tanksley reports.

The TAES/High Plains Research facility at Halfway, 14 miles west of Plainview on U. S. Highway 70, is host this year, Tanksley said. The annual program alternates between the Lubbock center and its Halfway site, he explained. Tours will begin at 1 p.m. and conclude at 5 p.m.

Five major displays are planned on the motorized tours of the research plots and facilities. Doug Nesmith, research associate in soil fertility and field day chairman, said these will feature reports and demonstrations on types of cotton developed for new farming systems, effects of climate and soil types on grapes, effects of conservation tillage cropping systems on crop yields and weed control, adaptation of chemigation to center pivots, and the amounts and methods of fertilizer application for maximum benefits.

The Texas Forest Service will present red oak trees to 250

MRS. KYLE ALLEN REYNOLDS
(nee Vickie LaRayne Webb)

Candlelight Ceremony Unites Miss Vickie Webb, Reynolds

Miss Vickie LaRayne Webb became the bride of Kyle Allen Reynolds in a candlelight ceremony Friday, August 21 at 7 p.m. in the First Missionary Baptist Church. The Rev. W.L. West Jr. of Ennis, Texas read the double ring vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Webb and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Horn of Muleshoe and Mr. and Mrs. Strickland of Teneha. Reynolds is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Haley Reynolds of Littlefield and the grandson of Mrs. Jimmie Woolover of Littlefield.

Vows were exchanged under a brass archway of silk greenery with peach and apricot roses. Two heart-shaped candelabras were placed on either side of the archway.

Kristi Rowland, pianist, accompanied Wayland Webb and Terry Webb, brothers of the bride, and Shana Blackstone as they sang.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of bridal taffeta by Mori Lee. The princess bodice design featured an English net yoke, a wedding band collar, and basque waistline. The bodice, collar and yoke were adorned with re-embroidered Alencon lace, medallions embellished with seed pearls.

The Juliet puff sleeves were formed of Schiffler embroidered lace with Alencon lace at the points of the wrists. The full boffant skirt fell to a cathedral length train. The entire hemline had pick-up tucks to reveal the wide ruffle. Each tuck had a large Alencon lace cameo and the edge of the ruffle was also finished with a band of Alencon lace.

She wore a finger-tip length veil attached to a crescent headpiece of white silk flowers and pearls. Delicate sprays of wired pearls extended softly around the crown.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white rosebuds, white lilies, miniature apricot and peach roses, with teal gypsophila and satin ribbons.

Following tradition "something old" were rings carried in the brides bouquet belonging to the bride's paternal grandmother and the groom's maternal great-grandmother. Pennies minted in the couple's birthdates were worn in her shoe. "Something new", her gown and pearl earrings given to her by the groom. "Something borrowed", a white Bible with lace coverlet belonging to her sister, and "something blue", her garter made by her grandmother.

Mrs. Becky Turney, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Kim Key served as maid of honor and Lauren Corkey was bridesmaid.

They wore tea length peach satin peade soie dresses with sweetheart necklines and short puffed sleeves. They each carried crystal candle holders with miniature apricot and peach roses with teal and white babies breath with bows and satin ribbons.

Jamie Fitzgerald served as flowergirl and Johathan Turney, nephew of the bride, was ring-bearer. Amanda Clark, cousin of the bride, was train bearer.

Haley Reynolds, father of the groom, served as best man. Heath Reynolds, brother of the groom, and Doug Gilbert of Littlefield served as groomsmen. Todd Eady of Littlefield and Brett Brown of Lorenzo seated the guest.

Another new innovation by the ambulance service is the memorial division. You are encouraged to make memorials to both the living and the deceased, said Mrs. Watkins. Any memorials we receive will be placed in a special account set up through the county, and will be used to purchase equipment and special materials.

"Each dollar will be put right back into the county," added the ambulance director. Most of the personnel from the Bailey County Ambulance Service are attending various classes, and their number continues to grow, as classes are completed.

At this time, there are six paramedics, including, Randy Watkins, who is senior paramedic; Raymond Davis; Steve Abel; Linda Arthur; Jana Turpin and Randy Lane.

There are two Critical Care Nurses, Sharon Ernst and Bill Holland, who both work under direction of Dr. Purdy.

Wayne Wauson is crew chief for the 14 volunteer EMT's. They include Todd Ellis, Joe Don Prather, Mary Hicks, Curby Brantley Jr., Tamara Bean, Starla Ellis, Gary Watkins, Michey Wales, Ricky Mata, Alex Garcia, J'Don Kube and Jackey Burris.

Those listed are the only EMT's, paramedics, critical care nurses involved with the Bailey County Ambulance Service, said Mrs. Watkins, who has had questions about other people serving on the ambulance.

"We have a full slate of very qualified, very able, well trained people," she said, "and we are very proud of each and every one who works with us."

There are several different events coming up in the near future for the Bailey County Ambulance Service, and many of them will involve the public, added Mrs. Watkins. "We want the people here to know who we are, and understand how we can help them."

Now in his 31st year of football forecasting, Bob Harmon's prognostications are published in over 400 newspapers... dailies, weeklies and college publications...in 45 states.

Harmon uses a formula to arrive at the rating for each of the more than 640 football teams that he follows each fall. The score that is predicted is simply the interpolated difference between the numerical rating of one team and the numerical rating of its opponent.

And, though boasting a college forecasting accuracy equal to any in the nation, The Harmon Forecast makes no wild claims of unbelievable guessing percentages. Harmon has a proven accuracy over the past 30 years of between 73.6 percent and 77.9 percent. His pro forecasting average is between 64.3 percent and 74.2 percent.

Also this year, some high school football games may be included in some or all of the contests, and some pro football games may be used.

According to Jimmy Cisneros, "It was a great experience. My highlight was when 14 people got around a person lying on the ground. The person was lying there rigid, and we were told to use two fingers on each hand and lift the person up. They had to have a lot of faith to do that."

Rachel Pineda liked the workshop "because it was different, exciting. We had a good time and it was really motivating."

Texas A&M, LSU Game Headline Attraction

Saturday is no token weekend for college football. Though the date is two days prior to Labor Day, 26 of last year's 36 bowl teams will be in action. And a few will even be involved in conference competition.

Two of last season's league champions challenge each other in College Station, Texas. Texas A&M, Southwest Conference title-holder, hosts L.S.U., South-east Conference king, in one of the first headline attractions. In their opener last fall, the Tigers from Baton Rouge rolled over A&M 35-17. We're making L.S.U. the favorite again Saturday. The Tigers finished #4 last fall, but fell to Nebraska in the Sugar Bowl 30-15. The Aggies were also beaten in post-season

Mid-Size Family Farm Faces Future Trouble

Recent research regarding the economics of farm size indicates why the mid-size family farm is dying.

And technology changes in the future will make it even more difficult for these farms to compete, according to an agricultural economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M University.

Dr. Ronald D. Knutson says that although the mid-size family farm has been the backbone of U.S. agriculture, it is bearing the brunt of current financial stress.

Knutson adds, "There is a consensus that agriculture is likely to be dominated by small farms that earn the majority of their income outside of farming and by large farms."

He says that the family farm survival problem has been referred to as "the disappearing middle."

Knutson defines a mid-size family farm as one that meets the following conditions:

•A majority of both the management and work must be done by the operator and his family.

•A close association must exist between the household and the business.

•Managerial control must be exercised by the operator.

•The farm must obtain a majority of its income from farming.

Knutson says that research conducted during the past five years on this subject in the Agricultural and Food Policy Center at Texas A&M University sheds some light on why "the mid-size family farm is disappearing."

He says, "There has been progressive expansion in the most efficient size of farms and, as a result, mid-size family farms have been losing, or have lost, their comparative advantage."

Knutson adds that a study to be released soon relating to the economics of size bears out the cost advantages for large farms in the nation's three largest crop producing states.

The study revealed that in California cotton production costs per pound decrease as size of farm increases to at least 8,000 acres.

In Texas and Kansas, the study also disclosed that wheat costs per bushel decline as production reaches the 4,000-acre mark.

Additionally, the research showed that in Nebraska, corn costs fall on farm sizes of up to 3,700 acres; while in Kansas, sorghum costs became progressively lower as production reached 4,000 acres.

California rice producers realized progressively lower costs as production reached or exceeded 6,000 acres, according to the study.

"The study documented in every instance that large farms do have lower unit costs of production," Knutson says.

He points out that large farms are able to buy farm inputs at lower prices and market their production at higher prices.

"If quantity discount purchases are not available from farm supply firms, large farms become classified as distributors and receive up to 20 percent discounts on inputs," Knutson explains.

Large farms also are able to sell their commodities at higher prices and are more effective at developing and implementing marketing plans, he adds.

Research also indicates that large farms may be more progressive in adopting new technologies than mid-size family farms.

"The studies show a positive relationship between the adoption of management factors on dairy farms and size of farm. The result is that large dairy farms have a higher average output per cow," Knutson says.

"The research results should not be surprising. They are consistent with trends that have been taking place in agriculture toward fewer-but larger-farms," he adds.

Nevertheless, the "disappearing middle" is an important agricultural policy issue, Knutson says.

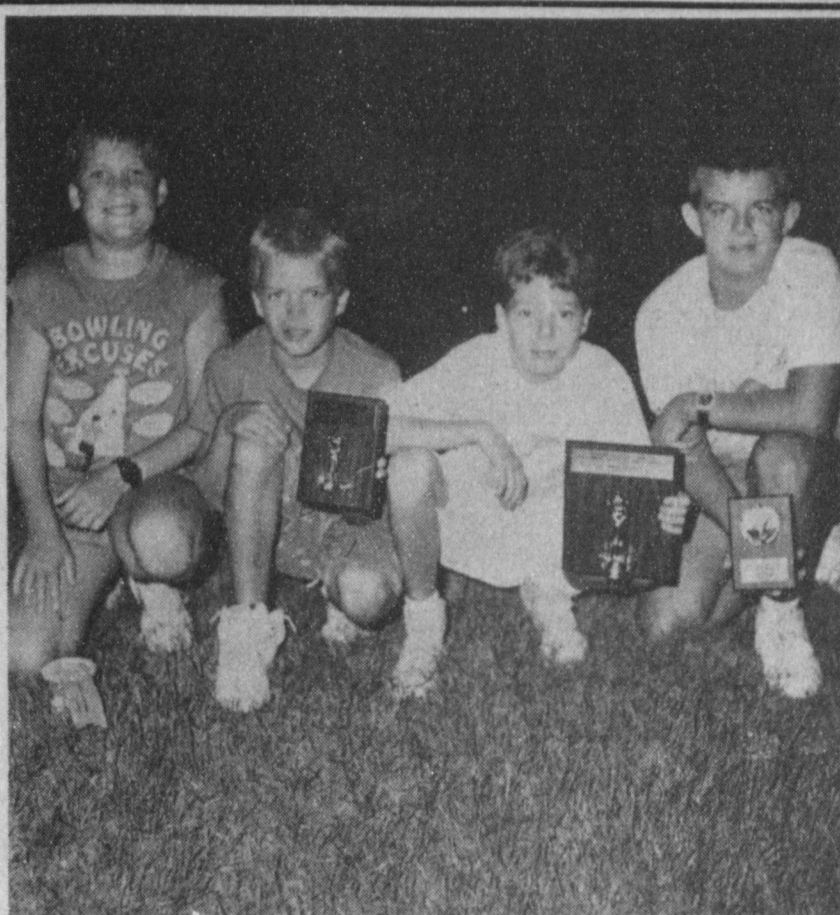

"This is particularly significant since future technological
