Armour Meeting To Stress Reopening Talks

An independent move to see if negotiations can be initiated between Armour Foods Company and the United Food and Commercial Workers Union (UFCW) was reported here Tuesday.

Armour announced April 29 that it would cease operations at its Hereford plant on Oct. 31.

Thomas Reed, plant employee and UFCW member, announced Tuesday that a meeting of employees has been scheduled for 2 p.m. Sunday at the Bull Barn.

"The purpose of the meeting is to see how much interest employees have in seeking re-negotiations between the company and the union," stated Reed. "It is strictly an informational type meeting. No vote will be taken," he stressed.

He added that he had visited with many of the plant employees and was serving as a spokesman for those interested in remaining in Hereford if the possibility of negotiations existed.

"We are not talking about a move to dissolve the union...our purpose is to determine if talks can be started between the union and the company."

Reed appeared at a special meeting of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce board of directors, asking them to consider a supportive role in the attempt to keep the plant in Hereford.

Ken Rogers, C of C president, announced that the board approved a motion that the chamber "help in whatever way possible to initiate dialogue between Armour and the UCFW union. He emphasized that the board is not taking "a stance in support of the company or the union."

"Our board had discussed this situation before, and we saw no course of action to pursue--except to say we wanted to keep the plant in Hereford. We have arranged for the meeting place Sunday, and we will help publicize the independent effort being made to bring about negotiations," said Rogers.

According to Reed, the economic situation across much of the rest of the country will be compared to Hereford during Sunday's session.

"No vote will be taken Sunday, but a question and answer round table session will be held following presentations by speakers," Reed stated.

Among the speakers will be professional individuals who will explain economic situations relating to their jobs compared to three years ago and projecting into the future.

"Our aim is to ultimately retain the Armour Foods Company plant here," commented Reed.

Carter Bags Delegate Victory

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
AP Political Writer

President Carter emerged today from the long presidential primary campaign with the Democratic delegate majority he needed for his renomination, but his moment of triumph was clouded by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's refusal to abandon his challenge.

Carter claimed a "wondrous victory" as the last eight Democratic primaries boosted him over the top in delegate commitments. He offered "the hand of friendship" to Kennedy in an effort to unite Democrats for the campaign against Republican Ronald Reagan.

But while Carter claimed victory in the overall race for delegates, Kennedy had his biggest night of the primary campaign.

The senator won five of the final eight Democratic primaries, including the largest state, California.

Kennedy also carried New Jersey, Rhode Island, New Mexico, and South Dakota.

Carter won Ohio, Montana and West Virginia.

Making clear his determination to carry his campaign to the Democratic convention, Kennedy told supporters Tuesday night that "today, Democrats from coast to coast were unwilling to concede the nomination to Jimmy Carter and neither am I."

Kennedy's longshot strategy for overcoming Carter's delegate lead called for a strong showing in the final primaries that might convince Democrats that Carter was a likely loser to Reagan in the Nov. 4 general election.

Reagan had no active opposition in the nine GOP primaries. He told a Los Angeles victory party:

"The road has been a long one and the mountain seemed pretty tall at times. But we've made it to the summit. Now, there's another one out there and our march begins again."

As soon as it was clear from the returns Tuesday night that he had the delegates to push his total above the 1,666 needed for the Democratic nomination, Carter joined 300 cheering supporters at a victory party at "The Buck Stops Here," a bar near the White House.

"As I stand before you, I have one deep feeling in my heart," said Carter. "That is thanksgiving to all of you who turned what eight months ago was a prediction of absolute defeat into a wondrous victory tonight."

But a dozen blocks away, another celebration was underway at the Kennedy headquarters.

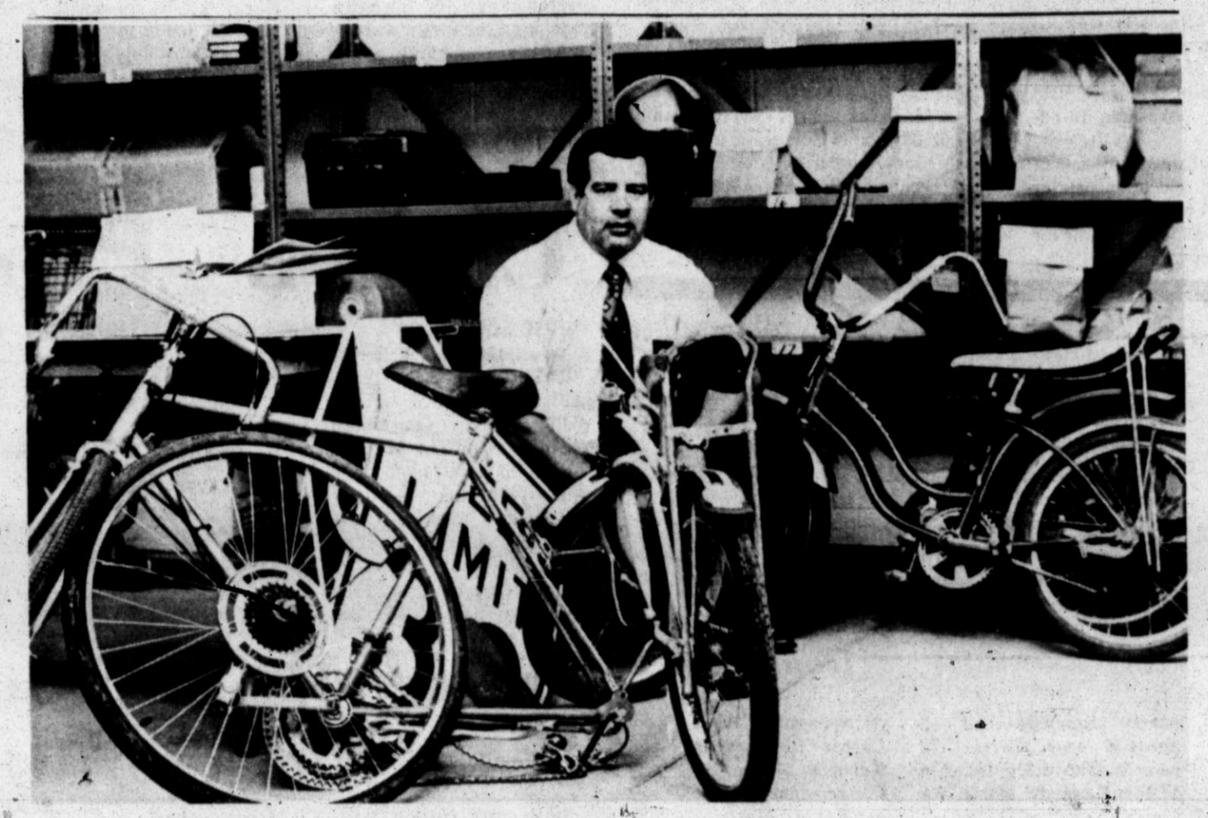

The Massachusetts senator, his wife and children at his side, claimed a "clear majority" of the votes cast on the final primary election day of the 1980 campaign "despite all the predictions that we could not win."

Kennedy repeated his offer to free his delegates at the convention if Carter would debate him. Carter has rejected the challenge.

Kennedy's effort to shake loose Carter delegates between now and August 11, when the Democratic National Convention convenes in New York, will run up against the numerical advantage the president has held since he whipped the senator in the Iowa Democratic caucuses last January.

With the votes still being counted in several states, The Associated Press delegate count gave Carter

Lot of Thefts, Few Recoveries

Sgt. Joe Brown, a detective with the Hereford Police Department, kneels beside bicycles which have recently been recovered by officers. Police have recovered only a handful of bikes recently, compared with the dozens which have been stolen from Hereford yards. The bicycle in the left foreground was in the process of having its paint removed when it was found by officers, who arrested a 17-year-old man in connection with the theft. Three more bikes were reported stolen from residences Tuesday. "Just drive around and look at all the bicycles lying in people's front yards, and you'll see why we're getting so many stolen," Brown said. See story on Page 2. [Brand photo by Paul Sims]

Tornadoes Rip Town, Kill 5

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP) — Frantic residents searched for missing friends and relatives today after at least four tornadoes smashed through this central Nebraska city, killing five persons, injuring 129 and destroying an estimated 100 buildings.

"It's terrible. It's pathetic," said Wendy Clark of the Grand Island Civil Defense office after four to seven tornadoes struck in a three-hour period Tuesday night.

Howard Maxon, acting civil defense director for Hall County, confirmed that at least five persons had died.

Observers said dawn unveiled an eerie scene. The city was without power. Water lay in the streets up to the hubcaps of cars and trees were strewn about.

A reporter for KHAS-TV in Hastings, Don Haddix, watched two of the twisters rake the city from his room on the 11th floor of the Yancey Hotel.

"It was a big, menancing thing," said the 25-year-old reporter. "It looked like a very dirty, wide mass of spinning dirt heading right towards me.

"I saw it work its way right into town. Then I saw another twister to the northeast," Haddix said. "About then I thought, 'I've got to get out of here.' There were power lines popping like fireworks in the distance."

Confusion reigned in the devastated city of 48,000 residents, situated about 150 miles west of Omaha.

"The city is in a state of turmoil," a Nebraska State Patrol trooper said.

More than 150 square blocks were heavily damaged. The path of destruction was six blocks wide and followed two of the city's major streets.

Both of Grand Island's hospitals were completely full with casualties, and facilities in neighboring communities were receiving injury cases.

Telephone lines were down in most of the town, and a broken gas main made fire officials fearful about the possibility of fire or explosion.

The odor of natural gas permeated the downtown area, according to a reporter for the Grand Island Independent. Officials at the Burdick power plant, where the main break was discovered, were working to shut off the flow of gas.

Gov. Charles Thone dispatched the National Guard to aid local authorities trying to cope with the broken gas mains, downed power lines and ravaged neighborhoods and

Khomeini: Iran Not Crazy

Hostages Start 8th Month

By The Associated Press

The 53 U.S. hostages began their eighth month in captivity today with Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini belittling President Carter and the Iranian regime throwing cold water on former Attorney General Ramsey Clark became a captive to speed the Americans' release.

Khomeini met with delegates to the "Crimes of America" conference and told them Carter fears the meeting because it will prove American wrongdoing in Iran. He also said he didn't know why European countries fear the United States or why they joined Carter's economic sanctions against his regime.

In addition, the ayatollah urged conference delegates to tell their countries the truth about Iran, and accused the foreign press of "telling the world that Iran is like a jungle where some crazy people are killing other people."

Ayatollah Mohammd Beheshti, Iran's justice minister, told reporters some of Clark's views were good, but he questioned the effectiveness of the Clark mission because of the U.S. government travel ban and its disavowal of the delegation.

He also reiterated that the hostages' fate will be decided by Iran's new Parliament, and that it was difficult to say when the issue will be debated. The interim head of the Parliament said last week the debate probably wouldn't begin until July 22.

Although Iranian Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh plans to meet with the former U.S. attorney general, he insists he will "not enter into negotiations with him" on

Gas Fee Not Dead Issue Yet

WASHINGTON (AP) — With both sides agreeing that Congress will vote to repeal President Carter's oil import fee, the question is whether opponents also have the strength to override his almost-certain veto.

Recent test votes suggest the two-thirds margin needed to override such a veto can be achieved in both chambers. But the White House is expected to wage a heavy lobbying campaign and some congressional leaders say they expect a close vote on the override attempt.

Showdown votes on repealing the fee, which would increase gasoline prices by a dime a gallon if allowed to take effect, were due in both the House and Senate today.

And by nightfall, a presidential veto could be on its way back to Capitol Hill. It was unclear, however, how soon an override vote might be scheduled.

The fee was to have taken effect at gas pumps May 15 but was blocked by a federal judge who said the president overstepped his authority in trying to restrict the impact of the fee to just gasoline.

The administration is appealing that court order.

Carter Support Wanes As Primaries Conclude

NEW YORK (AP) - President Carter faces major problems among Democratic voters in New Jersey, California and Ohio, three states he probably needs to win for another term in the White House, Associated Press-NBC News polls say.

Many Democratic primary voters in those states were unhappy with the choice between Carter and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy in Tuesday's primaries, which pushed Carter past the number of delegates needed for nomination. That dissatification could translate into defections from Carter in November.

In California and New Jersey - which Carter lost to Kennedy - only about a third of the Democratic primary voters said they plan to vote for Carter in November, interviews with voters outside precincts on Tuesday found.

He did a little better in Ohio, which he won. But even there, Carter does not now have the allegiance of a majority for November.

John Anderson, trying to become the first independent candidate to be in the White House, is the major beneficiary of the Democratic defections. But Ronald Reagan also picks up significant suport - particularly among conservative Democratic primary voters.

Anderson must qualify for the general election ballots in California and Ohio even to be eligible for their votes.

But the AP-NBC News Polls demonstrate Carter faces major problems as he bids for four more years.

In each state, Democratic voters were asked whom they would vote for in November in a race among Carter, Anderson and Reagan. Here is what they said:

California: Thirty-four percent said Carter; 23 percent Anderson; 19 percent, Reagan; 24 percent said someone else or were not sure, interviews with 2,128 voters showed.

New Jersey: Carter was the choice of 32 percent; Anderson 24 percent; Reagan 16 percent; and 28 percent named someone else or were not sure, according to interviews with 2,178 voters found.

Ohio: Forty-seven percent picked Carter; 18 percent

Recession Judges Confirm It's Here

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's all but official now: The U.S. economy is in a recession. All that remains to be determined is how severe it will be and how long it will last.

President Carter has previously said the nation is probably in a recession, but even the president isn't the final judge.

The authoritative word rests with a group of academic economists at the National Bureau of Economic Research in Cambridge, Mass., and they rendered their decision Tuesday.

The formal announcement said a recession probably struck the economy in January, earlier than most economists have thought. The scholars said recent economic activity peaked in January and has been moving down ever since.

"Unless there is an extraordinarily sharp and quick reversal in activity, this peak will mark the onset of a recession," they said in a statement issued after a meeting.

The panel of economists is known as the Business Cycle Dating Committee, whose chairman is Robert Hall of Stanford. A spokeswoman, Donna Zerwitz, said the decision was unanimous by the six economists who attended.

There already was widespread agreement that the economy had entered a recession, the seventh since World War II.

However, most economists have put the start of the downturn in March or April. One reason they have been reluctant to say it started sooner is that the nation's overall economic output, as measured by the gross national product, increased in the first quarter at an annual rate of 0.6 percent.

It is generally thought that a recession occurs when the GNP declines for at least two consecutive quarters.

Statue Hurt By Explosion

NEW YORK (AP) - A bomb blast at the Statue of Liberty, the first in the monument's 94-year history, caused an estimated $6,000 artifacts but did not damage the structure of the giant national landmark, officials said.

There were no injuries Tuesday when the blast occurred more than an hour after the last tourists left Liberty Island in New York Harbor. The bomb went off in the "Story Room" on the second floor of the three-story building at the base of the 305-foot monument.

But Kennedy Not Conceding

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has won some and lost a lot more these past seven months. But now Kennedy says the campaign has only just begun.

"Tonight is the first night of the rest of the campaign," the defiant Massachusetts senator said Tuesday night, although he was marking the end of a primary season that tracked his decline from frontrunner for the Democratic presidential nomination to the longest of long shots.

"The people have decided that this campaign must go on," he insisted after winning four of the day's eight Democratic primaries and leading in California, the biggest prize of all.

"The people have decided that relentless inflation and rising unemployment must be ended," he said, sounding anew the theme he has been sounding for months.

"The people have decided that what counts is not the quantity of delegates, but the quality of their lives."

President Carter has enough delegates to assure himself of nomination to a second term, but Kennedy didn't want to hear about that.

"I asked the voters to send a clear message on June 3 — that a candidate who refuses to defend his record in face-to-face debate is a candidate who should not be nominated," he said.

"The voters have spoken," he said.

He pronounced the final day of the primary season "the most important" and claimed a "clear majority" in the popular vote in the eight states — California, Ohio, New Jersey, New Mexico, Rhode Island, West Virginia, Montana and South Dakota.

Carter says he won't debate him because that wouldn't help the Democratic party. But Kennedy didn't want to hear that, either.

"I will continue to seek a constructive debate within the Democratic party," he told hundreds of cheering supporters, with his wife and their three children at his side.

"I will do so in a way that helps, not hurts, that unifies, not divides, the Democratic party."

He said again he will release his delegates to vote their conscience at the convention after a debate, and called on Carter to do the same. Kennedy aides also hope they can shake loose some of the president's delegates, either through persuasion or through a rules change at the convention itself.

He outlined several ways to continue campaigning, emphasizing that he has no yet made any decisions.

California Rejects Latest Jarvis Fight

LOS ANGELES (AP) - California voters, who made a nationwide celebrity of Howard Jarvis, have turned their backs on the salty-tongued tax crusader, repudiating his plan to cut state income taxes in half.

And in the first homosexual rights votes in the nation since 1978, residents of San Jose and surrounding Santa Clara County turned back by better than 2-1 margins measures aimed at prohibiting discrimination against homosexuals.

Jarvis' Proposition 9, which would have cut state income taxes more than $4 billion, was defeated by a 5-3 margin in Tuesday's voting.

The vote came almost exactly two years after the overwhelming passage of Proposition 13, the Jarvis-sponsored $7 billion property tax cut that launched a nationwide tax revolt.

"It represents the last hurrah of an aging demagogue," said Ralph Flynn, executive director of the California Teachers Association, which with other public employee groups had led the opposition.

Officials Attempt To Halt Refugees

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) - Federal officials trying to cap an exodus that has brought 1 percent of Cuba's population to the United States have sent a firm message to Cuban-Americans who are trying to use foreign vessels to bypass a ban on new Freedom Flotilla boats.

When the Panamanian freighter Red Diamond V arrived Tuesday, 74 passengers were arrested on charges of illegally importing aliens and conspiring to import Cuban nationals - the first time any people other than vessel captains have been arrested in the boatlift.

The passengers, mostly Cuban-Americans or resident Cubans, were charged because of a "particularly gratuitous violation of the law," said State Department spokesman Hodding Carter.

Meanwhile, in Arkansas, officials at the Fort Chaffee relocation center worried that recent outbreaks of violence there could hurt the hunt for sponsors for refugees.

Purported Iranians Assault Iraq Embassy

ROME (AP) - Two gunmen believed to be Iranians slipped into the Iraqi Embassy in Rome today, planted a time bomb and opened fire on embassy personnel, killing one Iraqi employee and wounding another, police reported.

Embassy guards returned the fire and seriously wounded one gunman, but the other fled on foot, police said.

One of the terrorists shouted "Viva Khomeini!" before pulling the trigger, a witness was quoted as saying.

The powerful timebomb, left behind in a bag, was deactivated by police bomb squads three minutes before it was set to go off at noon local time, authorities said. A police spokesman said it "would have leveled the entire block of buildings."

CBS Captures Ratings

NEW YORK (AP) — More people watched ABC's "20-20" than any other prime-time program in the week ending June 1, but CBS had the next six top-rated shows and won the week's ratings race by half a point, according to the A.C. Nielsen Co.

By finishing No. 1 for the week, "20-20" accomplished in less than two years what it took the pioneer, CBS' "60 Minutes," nearly a decade to do. In addition, NBC's entry in the newsmagazine competition, "Prime Time Saturday," enjoyed its best performance in months, finishing 32nd for the week.

ABC's program, which included reports on the Mount St. Helens volcano and sexual fantasies, had a rating of 22.7. That was two points better than "60 Minutes," which finished in a tie for fifth place.

Nielsen says that means of all the homes in the country with television, 22.7 percent saw at least part of the ABC program and 20.7 percent tuned in for "60 Minutes."

CBS' victory, with a rating of 14.8 compared to 14.3 for ABC and 13.7 for NBC, was the No. 1 network's fifth in a row. The networks say the rating means in an average prime-time minute during the week, 14.8 percent of the nation's TV-equipped homes were watching CBS.

It was a week dominated by repeats, and of the 10 top-rated programs, only the two newsmagazines and "Bob Hope's All-Star Comedy Birthday Party" had not been shown before.

In addition to the Hope special on NBC, several other movies and specials fared well.

"The Great Smokey Roadblock," an NBC movie, was 12th, while an ABC motion picture, "Fun and Games," was No. 13. A first-run offering of "That's Incredible" on ABC finished 18th, with Part II of another NBC movie, "The Golden Moment: An Olympic Love Story," 20th. The first chapter was broadcast the week before.

The theatrical film "Semi-Tough" on ABC was No. 28 and CBS' "Ladies and Gentlemen: Bob Newhart" was 31st.

ABC had three of the week's five lowest-rated programs, including a movie, "The Gumball Rally," 61st. It was followed by "Hal Linden's Big Apple," also from ABC; an NBC News special, "To Be a Doctor;" "The Yeagers" on ABC; and "Citizens for LaRouche," a political spot on CBS.

Here are the week's 10 highest-rated programs:

"20-20," with a rating of 22.7 representing 17.3 million homes, ABC; "The Jeffersons," 22.6 or 17.2 million, "Dallas," 21 or 16 million, and "Alice," 20.9 or 15.9 million, all CBS; "Dukes of Hazzard" and "60 Minutes," both 20.7 or 15.8 million, both CBS; "Trapper John, M.D.," 20.4 or 15.6 million, CBS; "Three's Company," 20.2 or 15.4 million, ABC; "Bob Hope's All-Star Comedy Birthday Party," 19.7 or 15 million, NBC, and "Taxi," 19.3 or 14.7 million, ABC.

Citizens Protest Prison

By SUSAN STOLER
Associated Press Writer

RAYMONDVILLE, Texas (AP) — The scene at the Willacy County Courthouse Tuesday night was a mini-version of what took place two weeks ago in Starr County — local citizens speaking against a state prison.

Insurance businessman Fred Hernandez had hoped local merchants would turn out in favor of building a 4,000-inmate maximum security prison in this job hungry area.

When the hour-long session ended, Hernandez said he was abandoning plans to woo the State Department of Corrections to build here.

"I always said I would go with the majority of the people," he said.

"I'm going to drop it, call it quits, because I get the message."

State prison officials have not proposed openly another site since plans to purchase Starr County land fell through. Gov. Bill Clements has kept alive speculation over a Rio Grande Valley site by saying property in Willacy or Cameron county might be available.

The 80 people who filled the courtroom Tuesday came mostly from Lasara, an unincorporated community in western Willacy County. Hernandez has said that area has several large, irrigated farms that might be prime spots for a prison.

Joe Flores, Lasara school superintendent, said the district would lose between $15,0000 to $20,000 in annual taxes if the state purchased 5,000 acres and took it off the tax rolls.

"I agree we need industry, but we don't want that kind of industry," he said.

The same concerns expressed in Starr County were voiced here. Local citizens feared loss of farm jobs, danger from escapees and the overall economic impact of the prison.

"Now I can sleep in my home with my doors open," said Joe Mendez Jr. of Sebastian. "If we have a place like this, we are not going to have any trust around here anymore."

Hernandez said in opening remarks to the audience that Willacy County needs an economic boost from somewhere.

"We have a very high unemployment rate. If we were to have more industry like the rest of the valley does, I would probably oppose a prison. But anything would help because we're in terrible shape," he said.

Only one person spoke in agreement.

"If it's going to bring jobs to this community, I'm for it," said Juan Zavala. "I'd rather sleep with my doors locked if it will keep my children from going off to San Antonio to get jobs."

Willacy County is 70 miles east of Starr County. Both have large migrant farm-worker populations, are heavily dependent on agribusiness, suffer high unemployment and lack industry.

The maximum security prison envisioned by the State Department of Corrections could have a $3 million payroll, employ 300, take 4 12 years to build and cost $62 million.

Community sentiment will weigh heavily in the State Prison Board's next choice of a site, board members have said.

businesses.

The extent of injury and damage was still unclear, primarily because of the difficulty in reaching some areas and the lack of communications.

A house-to-house search and rescue effort was under way as Nebraska State Patrol troopers, National Guardsmen and local volunteers went searching for people feared trapped in their homes.

Authorities said at least 20 people in five different families were known to be still inside their twister-torn homes.

A bowling alley on the southeast edge of town was destroyed, but police said it was not immediately known if anyone was injured there.

About 10 people were trapped for several hours inside the wreckage of a pancake house before they were free just after midnight. Several of them were reportedly injured.

Grand Island Fire Department officials said one man was found dead in the wreckage of the Pagoda Lounge. His identity was withheld until his relatives could be notified.

1,921 and Kennedy 1,210.

On the Republican side, with 998 needed for the nomination, Reagan had 1,463, George Bush 202.

With 53 percent of the vote counted in California, Kennedy had 769,463 for 45 percent of the vote and Carter had 648,575 or 38 percent. The returns had Kennedy leading in races for 166 delegates and Kennedy winning 133.

Other state results in the Democratic race were:

In Ohio, with 97 percent of the precincts reporting, Carter had 51 percent of the vote to 44 for Kennedy. Carter won 84 delegates and Kennedy 77.

New Jersey, with 99 percent of the vote counted, gave Kennedy 56 percent and Carter 37 percent. Kennedy won 68 delegates to 45 for Carter.

West Virginia, with 90 percent of the vote counted, gave Carter 62 percent and Kennedy 38. Carter won 25 delegates and Kennedy 8.

With 100 percent of the vote counted in Rhode Island, Kennedy had 68 percent and Carter 26 percent. The delegates split 17 for Kennedy and 6 for Carter.

In South Dakota, with 99 percent tallied, Kennedy had 48 percent the vote and Carter 46. The delegates split 10 for Kennedy and 9 for Carter.

New Mexico, with 99 percent counted, gave 46 percent of the vote to Kennedy and 42 to Carter. Kennedy won 10 delegates and Carter 10.

Montana, with 90 percent of the vote tallied, gave Carter 52 percent and Kennedy 37 percent, with Carter winning 10 delegates and Kennedy getting 9.

With the primary season history, Carter carried 24 states and Kennedy 10.

But Kennedy won several large industrial states including New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, California and Pennsylvania. He also scored a narrow victory in Democratic caucuses in Michigan.

release of the hostages, who were seized Nov. 4.

Clark made his offer Tuesday at the "Crimes of America" conference in Tehran. Attending were delegates from some 50 countries, including the nine Americans with Clark who are defying President Carter's ban on travel to Iran.

"I am so sure it is imperative that the hostages be released now, so important to the fulfillment of the Iranian revolution which it is damaging in a hundred ways, so important to the individual rights of the hostages and so important to peace on earth, that I offer today to take the place of any hostage if that will help resolve this tragic crisis," Clark said.

"Taking hostages uninvolved in the specific offense for which you are concerned can't be justified in a country which wants to live in peace. The seizure of the hostages here is understandable in human terms. God knows it is understandable. But it is not right."

Clark, an activist lawyer who served as attorney general in the administration of President Lyndon Johnson in the 1960s, said the hostages were the "wrong people" to punish for the abuses of the U.S.-backed regime of deposed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, which he said "brutalized millions."

"Of course, the United States leadership still clings to the ideas that it can control the destinies of other people. You must help show the American people that that policy can't prevail, that it is impossible to subjugate a people," Clark said.

He urged the "anti-imperialist" conference delegates to press their governments to help found an international court of justice to try persons like the shah, ousted by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's revolution in January 1979 and now living in exile in Egypt.

The State Department has expressed concern the Clark delegation's presence at the conference may be construed as U.S. government approval for the meeting, which State Department spokesman Hodding Carter has labeled a "propaganda circus."

But Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie said Tuesday the Carter administration was "neither secretly nor openly behind" the Americans' mission and would consider the outcome of the trip in determining whether to press charges.

Clark and the other Americans attending the conference could each be sentenced to 10 years in prison and fines of $50,000 if they are convicted of violating Carter's travel ban, imposed in April as part of the U.S. effort to isolate Khomeini's regime.

Meanwhile, Tehran Radio reported three more drug smugglers were executed today. Scores have been executed in the past few weeks under the anti-drug campaign led by Ayatollah Sadegh Khalkhali.

AP News Analysis: Carter in Command

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent

To hear Sen. Edward M. Kennedy tell it, President Carter is really in trouble now.

Carter claims to have clinched renomination, and the delegate numbers bear him out. But Kennedy says the Democratic Party doesn't really want Carter, adds that he, not the president, is the candidate who could capture the big industrial states in the fall.

There are certain logical flaws in Kennedy's argument. One is that Democratic voters chose an odd way to express the distaste Kennedy perceives, since they have awarded Carter more than 1,924 nominating delegates — a majority with 258 votes to spare.

They may not be enchanted with Carter; there are polls attesting to that. But they're even less taken with Kennedy, the pre-season favorite who fell fast once the voting started.

As he celebrated his capture of a delegate majority and more, Carter recalled the days when Kennedy was being billed as unbeatable. He thanked the supporters "who turned what eight months ago was a prediction of absolute defeat into a wondrous victory tonight."

Without question, Kennedy had his best day of the long season in the final round of presidential primaries. He won five, including the biggest of them all in California.

That gives him a total of 10 primary election victories, five over a three-month span, five more on Tuesday.

Carter won three of the final primaries and ran his total of primary state victories to 24.

Kennedy said that didn't count. He said Tuesday's voters had declared they weren't going to concede Carter's nomination, and neither was he. "The people have decided that this campaign must go on, and the people have decided that relentless inflation and rising unemployment must be ended, and the people have decided that what counts is not the quantity of delegates but the quality of their lives," Kennedy said.

While Carter was declaring the nomination campaign to be over, Kennedy was contending it has only entered a new phase. He said he would outline his future course "at an appropriate time," which probably means as soon as he and his advisers figure out a game plan.

He can keep daring Carter to debate him, and suggesting that they both release all their delegates so Democrats can have an open convention, but that won't work. The whole point of the five-month primary and caucus campaign was to close the convention, with both candidates trying to accomplish just that. Carter has succeeded, unless Kennedy can get a majority of delegates to adopt rules that waive the commitments of the primaries and the caucuses. That is not likely.

named Anderson; 15 percent Reagan; and 20 percent gave another answer, interviews with 2,307 voters there found.

Of course, more of the defections came from Kennedy voters than from Carter voters.

While from two-thirds to three-quarters of the Carter voters said they would back the president in November, less than one in five of the Kennedy voters said they would.

This potential defection for Carter is a reflection of the overall dissatisfaction with the choice offered in the Democratic primaries.

Funds-Mishandling Trial Testimony Continues

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A Carrizo Springs bank, ordered closed because of questionable financial deals, often was called a "golden goose" by an Eagle Pass banker-rancher being retried for misapplying its funds, a former bank officer has testified.

The testimony came in the second day of Enrique Salinas' new trial on federal charges of misapplying funds from the bank closed by the Texas Banking Commission in June 1976.

Salinas, 38, was convicted in August 1977 along with Citizen State Bank President Lewis Woodul and Sanchez on charges of conspiracy, misapplication of bank funds and falsifying bank records.

Dan Sanchez Jr, former vice chairman of the now defunct bank, testified Tuesday that Salinas often referred to the bank as his "golden goose."

"As is the goose that laid the golden egg?" Assistant U.S. Attorney Ray Jahn asked.

"Yes," replied Sanchez.

After the first trial, Salinas was sentenced to 12 years in prison and fined $25,000 by the late U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr.. Woodul was sentenced to five years in prison and Sanchez, four.

But the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals reversed the misapplication of funds convictions, leaving intact the other convictions.

Salinas remains under a five-year prison term and a $10,000 conviction on those intact convictions.

Prosecutors chose to retry Salinas on only three of the 12 original misapplication charges.

Both Woodul and Sanchez have testified against Salinas this time as part of an agreement to avoid further prosecution, officials said.

Woodul, who said he now works clearing brush on a South Texas ranch, testified Monday that he and Sanchez each signed $60,000 Citizens State Bank loans to themselves in 1976 at Salinas' request.

Salinas told them, Woodul said, that the money would help pay for the Citizens State Bank stock Salinas held as security on an $866,25(loan made to the bank two years earlier by a San Antonio bank.

Salinas is being retried for the two $60,000 loans and for a third loan made Dec. 2, 1975 to Maverick Air Inc. for an airplane.

Jahn told the jury the plane actually belong to Salinas' Bensal Corp. the entire time and that the Carrizo Springs bank never had an interest in it as security for the loan.

Councilman Intensifies Squabble

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — A councilman escalated the squabble between city fathers and disgruntled taxpayers when he filed a libel suit against a citizens' group trying to kick the entire council out of office.

Councilman Jack Best said in his suit that the Corpus Christi Taxpayers Association has defamed him in their recall petitions and he wants $17 million in damages.

"My honesty and integrity have been challenged by members of the taxpayers association," Best said Tuesday after filing the suit. The dentist declined further comment.

"We are completely flabbergasted," said association secretary Joe O'Brien, who is named with the 15-member board and as an individual in Best's lawsuit.

The association began circulating the recall petitions last week after the council declined to withdraw a lawsuit filed against everybody in town.

The council filed its suit last month to challenge the validity of a tax limiting proposal, known as Proposition 1 that was approved in an April municipal election.

Ann Landers

Abused Teenager

DEAR ANN LANDERS: How old do you have to be before your parents stop hitting you?

I am 15, a girl, and yesterday I was beaten up again by my father. I won't go into detail because it is too humiliating--but I have bruises on my face and a terrible-looking black eye. He knocked me around because I answered him in what he called "a fresh tone of voice."

I'm sure I am not the only kid who gets pushed around like this. I need to know if this is a right of parenthood. My father seems to think it is. Am I being overly sensitive? Please express your ideas on this subject. My father shoves your column under my nose a lot so I know he reads you every day. I really need some help.--Black And Blue in Long Island

DEAR B&B: I am opposed to hitting children of any age--with the exception of an occasional swat on the seat when a preschooler does something that might endanger his life, such as running into the street.

Surely a teenager should not be knocked around--and the thought that a father would do this to his daughter makes me sick. Your dad needs help, and he probably knows it. I hope he will write to Parents Anonymous, P.O. Box 344, Torrance, Calif. 90501. Please see that he sends a self-addrssed, stamped envelope. If he refues to do so, YOU write. This organization does a wonderful job for families with the problems you describe.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: As you can see, I am an inmate at the central prison in Raleigh, N.C. I have met some weird people since I came here a few months ago, but the one I am writing about is the oddball of all time.

I'm sure you are aware that a lot of us lose our wives and sweethearts while doing time. On top of all the other things we have to worry about, this problem can make life plenty miserable.

The oddball is in my cell block. He just got a letter from his wife telling him she had an affair with a man at work. Her conscience was bothering her, and she wanted to "clear the air." The dude also has four kids.

Instead of getting upset he wrote and told her (dig this) that he understands how a woman can get lonesome with her man doing time and he hopes she will take precautions and not get pregnant. Also, he would appreciate it if she kept it "private," so as not to embarrass the family.

I wouldn't blame you if you thought this letter was too crazy to print. I think the guy ought to be in a strait jacket. Do you agree?--It Takes All Kinds

DEAR KINDS: No. In my opinion, he is extremely compassionate. You can be sure he is hurt by his wife's unfaithfulness, but his generosity of spirit and willingness to accept her human frailty is certainly admirable.

CONFIDENTIAL to One Whose Ship Never Came In: Are you sure you sent one out? Too many people sit around waiting for something wonderful to happen when they haven't done anything to deserve it.

What's prudish? What's O.K.? If you aren't sure, you need some help. It's available in the booklet: "Necking and Petting--What Are the Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611, enclosing 50 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN

Some European travelers got home Saturday evening, just in time to miss the Pioneer Day celebration in which they usually have a part.

Rachel Henslee has been visiting in England several weeks, while Margaret and Major Schroeter have been motoring around all over the continent with their granddaughter Julie of Dallas, who is the daughter of Paul Schroeter.

Rachel accompanied her daughter-in-law, Merle, and baby granddaughter back to England early in May after they had spent some time in Hereford with Merle's parents, The Troyce Carmichaels, and other family members. The Schroeters went over a little later.

Merle and Maj. Don Henslee, not to mention baby Jennifer Anne, live at Lark Hill, County Wilshire, near Salisbury.

Don, who was an instructor in the advanced artillery school at Ft. Sill, Okla., went to England a year ago as an exchange teacher in the Royal School of Artillery and will be there another year.

Although they made trips into London for the sights of the city, also to Bath and other cities in that part of England, Rachel says her greatest pleasure was in living at one spot for a time, seeing the real rural England and getting acquainted with some of its people.

She also enjoyed meeting the other exchange teachers and their families, from as far away as Australia.

The Schroeters wound up their tour at the Henslees' home in England--Merle is their niece--and Rachel came home with them.

I haven't talked with them yet, but aim to get a better account of the trip. I hear that a highlight was a visit in Italy with a friend Major made when he worked at the POW camp here during World War II. Italian prisoners of war lived there, as you may know, and some Hereford people got well acquainted with many of them.

The nicest letter from Janie Banner, now of Lubbock, came after she found this column back in The Brand and recalled some of the doings when she and I were working together before her marriage.

That was quite a time ago, as she said her oldest daughter, Angela, is eight years old. Janie, nee Reinart, began work on the paper as a high school student and stayed after she married Mark Banner until Angela was on the way.

The Banners have two more daughters, five-year-old Renee and Melani, 3. Then there's son Marcus, six months old now. The two older girls go to St. John Neumann's school and the whole family attends that church. Mark is with the Safeway Stores.

Also, Janie reported they pretty often see Marshall and Kyle Day who seem to be busy and happy living at Seminole, where Marshall is publisher of the newspaper, and son Marsh is growing up fast.

Marshall is another of the old hands at The Brand, from times that we remember happily, no matter how hectic they were then.

Coupons Can Stretch Budget

COLLEGE STATION -- You might save $1,000 a year on your food budget -- if you attack it with coupons!

That's almost a promise from Dr. Rose Tindall Postel, a foods and nutrition specialist on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Manufacturers have offered special coupons and other saving devices for years, but until recently consumers may not have been diligent about using them," she reminds us gently.

A study by the Nielsen Clearing House found that in 1977 only 27 percent of U.S. households took advantage of coupons -- although 74 percent of those same households were aware of coupons.

ATTACK WITH CARE!

Of course, consumers should use coupons with wise-shopping tactics -- make sure the refund offer actually ends up being a savings, Dr. Postel cautions.

Don't buy a much higher-priced item just to get a small refund, she explains.

COUPON VALUES

Here's a look at today's coupon values compared to those a few years back:

In the 1960s, the average refund offer was worth about 30 cents. By 1977, it was about 80 cents.

Now the average refund is about $1.25.

Last year manufacturers offered about 7,000 different refunds. Most were for cash, about 62 percent. Another 22 percent were good for further food purchases, and the rest were for checks.

WHERE TO FIND COUPONS

Where to find coupons is a

About 26 percent are on tear-off pads in grocery stores.

Around 16 percent are in food packages -- or on them.

A remaining 17 percent appear in a combination of the above methods.

Dr. Postel says most of us overlook coupons in the print forms -- where coupons appear most frequently. On the other hand, we use coupons on packages and inside them seven times as much as we use those in print forms.

Reagan's VP dilemma

LOS ANGELES (NEA) - Ronald Reagan's key aides here conceed their candidate is facing a major problem over his choice of a running mate. What's worse, none of them has yet been able to figure a way out of this bind.

Nearly everyone in the Reagan camp agrees that the strongest running mate for the former California governor would be Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee. They think the Senate minority leader would serve as a link to the more moderate elements of the party, would likely prevent Reagan from losing many votes to independent candidate John Anderson and would make an excellent showing in debates with Vice President Walter Mondale.

But if Reagan chooses Baker, he will break a direct promise to a major special interest, thus casting himself as a candidate who breaks his solemn word when doing so becomes politically expedient.

Reagan has said that his running mate must share his views on all major issues. Baker and Reagan have differed on such major issues as the Panama Canal treaty, but that is considered past history by the Reagan camp. They now pronounce Baker sufficiently in agreement with Reagan on most of the issues.

But there is one big exception: abortion.

Reagan has long been on record as opposing abortion. He received much support in the primaries from right-to-life groups, which see him as the only major presidential candidate with a steady anti-abortion record.

Those same groups consider Baker to be one of the Senate's strongest supporters of abortion. They calculate that he has taken the pro-abortion side 27 times in 28 key Senate votes on the issue since 1973.

Making Reagan's problem even worse is the telegram he sent to a major Chicago-based right-to-life organization just before the critical Illinois primary. In that telegram, he promised flatly that if nominated he would choose "a pro-life running mate."

Then in a major interview with the Wall Street Journal, Reagan was asked to list those issues on which he thought he and his running mate could disagree. Reagan named the Panama Canal and a Kemp-Roth type of sweeping tax cut. But on abortion, he insisted that "it would be very hard for me to accept (a pro-abortion running mate) because I feel that we are talking about the taking of a human life."

So, a classic no-win situation has arisen: Choosing Baker would break a direct promise. But not choosing Baker because of the abortion issue would brand Reagan as a zealot, or at least as being so dogmatic that all the old questions of whether he has the mind set to be president will be raised again.

Reagan's staff is trying to work him out of the bind. To start with, they got Baker to say publicly that he is not very interested in being vice president and that he does not expect to be. Thus, if Reagan has to pass him up, the excuse can be made that it was because Baker preferred to stay in the Senate.

In addition, Reagan pollster Richard Wirthlin has begun a national poll asking Republicans who they prefer as their party's vice presidential candidate. If Baker is the top choice — and many in the Reagan camp believe, or at least hope fervently, that he will be — Reagan can choose Baker on the basis that it is the will of the party.

Reagan insiders say that if the poll does not show overwhelming support of Baker for the No. 2 spot, the likely choice will be the man likely to cost Reagan the least politically. Their current thinking is that Indiana Sen. Richard Lugar fits this bill.

Meanwhile, the Reagan camp is trying to broaden its base among all elements of the Republican Party.

In recent days, Stuart Spencer and William Timmons, former aides of President Ford, have been invited to join the Reagan campaign in key positions. Both reportedly said they will have to think it over, but they will likely come on board before the Republican Convention in July.

THOUGHTS

Tuesday

We say "smoother than oil" but at least in one place in the Bible the expression "smoother than butter" is used.

"The words of his mouth were smoother than butter, but war was in his heart: his words were softer than oil, yet were they drawn swords." — Ps. 55:21

Wednesday

Ezekiel, prophesying the judgment that is to fall on Israel, uses the expression "weak as water." He is evidently referring to water as a drink compared with wine and strong drinks.

"All hands shall be feeble, and all knees shall be weak as water." — Ezek. 7:17

Texas Briefs

HOUSTON (AP) — Plans for a 71-story downtown skyscraper were announced Tuesday.

The 970-foot Allied Bank Plaza will be Houston's second tallest structure, exceeded only by the 1,002-foot Texas Commerce Tower now under construction. Builders of the 75-story Texas Commerce structure say it will be the nation's tallest building outside Chicago and New York.

Texas Allied Bank Plaza will be built by Century Development Corp., developer of Allen Center in the downtown area and the Greenway Plaza complex in the southwest area.

Kenneth Schnitzer, chairman, said the 71-story building will be the most expensive ever constructed here, costing $100 a square foot or about $200 million. Texas Commerce Tower is costing about $85 a square foot or $170 million.

HOUSTON (AP) — A county grand jury has indicted 10 men on charges alleging a statewide travel trailer theft operation.

Bill Eggleston, an assistant district attorney, said two men hired others to steal trailers worth $10,000 to $15,000 and then sold them for about $2,500 each. He said most of the vehicles were stolen from 19 dealers across the state.

Eggleston said the ring operated from September to May before being broken up by Galena Park police and a county organized crime task force.

HOUSTON (AP) — Vernon Eugene McManus, convicted in the 1977 death of a Baytown electrical contractor, has been sentenced to die Sept. 17 by lethal injection.

State District Judge I.D. McMaster set the date after defense lawyers were successful in removing a stay of execution appeal from the U.S. Supreme Court docket.

The lawyers took the action after the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals ruled McMaster could not hear other petitions filed by McManus until after the Supreme Court matter had been exhausted.

McManus has asked McMaster to set aside his conviction on grounds his defense lawyer and his wife Regina were having an affair at the time of his trial. McManus and his wife were divorced in 1979 and she later married the defense lawyer, Don Smith.

McManus was convicted in the death of Paul Cantrell whose body, along with that of his wife, was found in their Baytown home.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Five Texas high school seniors, including three from Dallas, have been named Presidential Scholars for 1980.

State Education Commissioner Alton Bowen said, the five from Texas are among 141 from all the states and territories who will receive medallions during a visit to Washington, June 29-July 2.

The Texas scholars are Miltum Tatum of Arts Magnet High School, Dallas; Keren Ware, Dallas Skyline; Susan Williams, Ursuline Academy, Dallas; Michael Dishart, Houston Cypress Creek; and James Heidt, Austin Anderson.

Names in the News

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — Actor Robert Young, who as Dr. Marcus Welby spent years cheering up fictitious patients, is being treated for hereditary "chemical depression," according to his doctor.

Dr. Eduardo Ricaurte said the ailment, caused by a lack of a biogenic amine, makes Young appear "dispirited, decelerated, joyless, unmotivated." The 73-year-old actor entered the Franciscan Medical Center on Saturday and also is being treated for high blood pressure.

Ricaurte said Young, best known for his roles in television's "Marcus Welby, M.D." and "Father Knows Best," was treated for the same condition in April and returned when he recognized "this change within himself."

NEW YORK (AP) — Garry Trudeau, who turned a cartoon depiction of college life into a comic strip read by presidents, is getting married to a host of the "Today" show.

Trudeau, author of "Doonesbury," and Jane Pauley will tie the knot June 14, according to sources.

The 31-year-old cartoonist won a Pultizer Prize in 1975 for the daily comic strip, which he began as an undergraduate at Yale University. It is now in its 10th year of syndication.

Miss Pauley, 29, joined the NBC early-morning program in 1975, replacing Barbara Walters. She also is Saturday anchor of the "NBC Nightly News."

NEW YORK (AP) — This year's beauty contests won't go on without Bert Parks after all.

Parks, who was ditched by the Miss America Pageant after 25 years of "There She Is, Miss America," has signed on as master of ceremonies for the Miss Young International contest.

Parks announced Tuesday he had signed a seven-year contract, at a fee he would not disclose, to host the contest for young women aged 15 to 20.

The 65-year-old Parks said he had refused a number of other offers to emcee beauty contests but was "delighted with the international quality" of Miss Young International.

He said being dropped from Miss America was a blessing in disguise, giving him a chance to do plays and movies.

LOS ANGLES (AP) — "Tonight Show" host Johnny Carson has entered a hospital for tests to determine whether he needs surgery on his left leg.

The 54-year-old comedian and late-night talk show czar entered Cedars-Sinai Medical Center on Monday and was to remain through today at least, officials said. The tests are designed to determine whether Carson has a blocked artery in his leg and whether surgery is needed to correct it.

Railroad Lines In Full Operation

By BOB FICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Freight trains of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad begin operating over Rock Island Railroad track in three states today despite another railroad's challenge to the federally approved takeover.

"We intend to operate over the full line eventually," an MKT spokesman said Tuesday after the railroad notified the Interstate Commerce Commission of its decision to assume immediate control of the 450-mile route from Herrington, Kan., through Oklahoma to Dallas.

Art Albin, attorney for the Dallas-based railroad, said the first MKT trains would operate between Dallas and Fort Worth and at several switching stations in Oklahoma and Kansas.

Operation of through trains over the route would depend on how soon inspection teams check track and signals and bring them up to federal standards, he said.

"Our personnel are heading out to centrally located spots to hire Rock Island employees and we've been working with various labor organizations to smooth the transition," Albin said.

He said the MKT had decided to begin running over the key grain-belt route after the ICC clarified the impact of the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway Co.'s appeal of the takeover.

"We talked to four or five offices at the ICC and they assured us that it, (the challenge) does not constitute a stay," Albin said.

The ICC granted temporary operating authority to the MKT last Friday based on its acceptance of shipper financing of the $3 million needed to start up the line, most of which has been idle for six weeks.

But the Frisco immediately appealed the ICC ruling, claiming it should have the right to operate the 34-mile section of the line from Fort Worth to Dallas. It had been serving that route under ICC direction since the March 23 expiration of federal subsidies that had kept the entire 13-state Rock Island system running.

Four Arrested For Phony Claims

HOUSTON (AP) — Four persons have been arrested and prosecutors say still more indictments may be coming in an investigation into the alleged filing of bogus workers' compensation claims.

Donald Alan Hecker, 34, a Houston attorney, former deputy constable Thomas Alyea and Keith and Karen Hardin, named in sealed indictments that charged them with engaging in organized crime, were arrested Tuesday. No bond had been set by late Tuesday night.

A fifth man named in the sealed indictments returned Friday, former Magnolia municipal judge and ex-police chief Joseph Salvaggio, 44, died Friday of natural causes.

Don Stricklin, chief of the special crimes bureau of the Harris County District Attorney's office, said the five persons indicted reportedly had been involved in filing the bogus claims since October of last year.

Assistant District Attorney Bill Eggleston said information from a former Magnolia police officer triggered the initial investigation into the alleged fraud.

According to the indictment, Keith and Karen Cardin approached a woman last December and asked her to take a job at a billiard parlor, then told the woman to fake an injury and file a claim.

Neither the woman nor the doctor was indicted by the panel.

The Lighter Side

Brrrrazen Bandit!

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Police say they have captured an armed man who romped through a residential area here at night robbing pedestrians in his underwear.

And why the skimpy attire?

Police said Waldo Rojas Hernandez, 28, told them he did the robberies in his underwear so that if he were caught he could say he had just been robbed himself.

A Key Of Dreams

NEW YORK (AP)— Status symbols come in all shapes and sizes, as big as a Rolls Royce, as thin as a blue chip stock certificate — or as insignificant-looking as a key.

Ah, but this key — fashioned of gold — opens the newest door to precious gems, objects d'art and assorted creations in gold and silver.

While most of us will be relegated to the "bargain" items on the first three floors of Aldo Gucci's "cultural concept in retailing," keyholders can zip skyward via an exclusive elevator to the "Gucci Galleria" and shop for splendid things amid splendid surroundings.

The new store opened Tuesday on Fifth Avenue.

The Bouquet Stinks

SOUTH HAVEN, Mich. (AP) — When it comes to wine, John Coleman knows his onions.

In a tearless, tongue-in-cheek ceremony Monday at his tiny Vendramino Winery near Paw Paw, Coleman presented his first bottle of onion wine to Lt. Gov. James Brickley.

"You can't imagine crushing 400 pounds of onions," Coleman told Brickley. "It was a week before anyone would come near me."

Coleman explained to the governor that the wine was for cooking, not drinking and quipped: "You wouldn't want to drink it on your first date.

Meanwhile the winemaker is working on his next projects — garlic, cucumber and lettuce wines.

Remember Your First One?

SAN DIEGO (AP) — David Ritter knew five police cars were chasing him at speeds up to 110 mph. But...

"I knew I'd get into trouble, but my wife was in labor and I had to get her to the hospital," he said Tuesday.

The chase went on down Interstate 5 along the Pacific Ocean for 10 minutes before Ritter finally pulled into a parking lot. Police, finally seeing the problem, got his 25-year-old wife Cathy to Doctor's Hospital shortly before the birth of their 8-pound son.

Police officer Don Labach said Ritter's ride was "not a very smart stunt — but I realize that in his excitement he lost his head."

Happy 17th Birthday Lupe Cisneros

The Newspaper Bible

SOME DAY YOU'LL UNDERSTAND WHY

JESUS knew on the evening of Passover Day that it would be His last night on earth before returning to His Father.

During supper the Devil had already suggested to Judas Iscariot, Simon's son, that this was the night to carry out his plan to betray Jesus. Jesus knew that the Father had given Him everything and that He had come from God and would return to God. And how He loved His disciples!

So He got up from the supper table, took off His robe, wrapped a towel around His loins, Poured water into a basin, and began to wash the disciples' feet and to wipe them with the towel He had around Him.

When He came to Simon Peter, Peter said to Him, "Master, You shouldn't be washing our feet like this!"

Jesus replied, "You don't understand now why I am doing it; some day you will."

"No," Peter protested, "You shall never wash my feet!"

"But if I don't, you can't be My partner," Jesus replied.

Simon Peter exclaimed, "Then wash my hands and head as well — not just my feet!"

Jesus replied, "One who has bathed all over needs only to have his feet washed to be entirely clean. Now you are clean — but that isn't true of everyone here."

For Jesus knew who would betray Him. That is what He meant when He said, "Not all of you are clean."

After washing their feet He put on His robe again and sat down and asked, "Do you understand what I was doing?

You call me 'Master' and 'Lord', and you do well to say it, for it is true.

And since I, the Lord and Teacher, have washed your feet, you ought to wash each other's feet.

I have given you an example to follow: do as I have done to you.

Hebner Blasts 2 Run Homer To Break Tie Ballgame

Detroit Beats Mariners With Homerun

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

While Detroit was struggling with the Seattle Mariners, Tigers infielder Richie Hebner was sitting in the clubhouse. And, like the hero in an old cowboy movie, he made his appearance at the right time.

"I was back in the trainer's room with a heating pad and didn't go up to the dugout until the seventh inning," said Hebner, who suffers from lower back pain. "When I got up there (Manager) Sparky (Anderson) asked me if I could play and I told him I could."

With two out in the ninth inning and the score tied, Hebner batted for John Wockenfuss. He picked on Byron McLaughlin's first pitch, driving it into the lower right field seats for a two-run homer and giving Detroit a 4-2 victory Tuesday night.

"I'm really not a guess-hitter," said Hebner. "But I said if I've got to guess I'll guess fastballs and that's what he gave me."

"I got good wood on it but the way Tom Paciorek was going back I thought he had a chance to catch it."

It was Hebner's fifth homer of the season and his 34th and 35th runs batted in, tops for the Tigers.

In other American League games Tuesday, Milwaukee blanked Baltimore 3-0, Toronto edged California 7-6 in 11 innings, Cleveland needed 10 innings to down Oakland 6 6-4, the Chicago White Sox nipped Texas 5-4, Kansas City edged the New York Yankees 6-5 in 10 innings and Minnesota toppled Boston 9-4.

Blue Jays 7, Angels 6

John Mayberry's long single off the right field wall in the 11th inning scored Alfredo Griffin with the winning run as Toronto nipped California. The Blue Jays, who broke a four-game losing streak, had trailed 6-0.

Reliever Joey McLaughlin, 2-3, got the victory while Dave LaRoche, 1-2, took the loss.

Griffin beat out an infield hit to open the Toronto 11th and moved to third on a sacrifice by Al Woods and a long fly by Roy Howell. LaRoche then intentionally walked Otto Velez to pitch to Mayberry.

Brewers 3, Orioles 0

Moose Haas's five-hitter was backed by Cecil Cooper's seventh home run of the season as Milwaukee blanked Baltimore. Haas, 6-4, struck out six and walked two.

Sammy Stewart, 1-5, also allowed only five hits, but three of those were bunched in the second inning when Milwaukee scored twice. Cooper's homer led off the ninth.

Indians 6, A's 4

A two-run, two-out homer in the bottom of the 11th inning by Cliff Johnson gave Cleveland its victory. With two out, Mike Hargrove singled before Johnson lined his shot over the left field fence off Oakland starter Rick Langford, 4-4.

Victor Cruz, 3-2, the third Cleveland pitcher, got the victory.

Toby Harrah also homered for the Indians.

White Sox 5, Rangers 4

Harold Baines' eighth-inning double set up the winning run as Chicago edged Texas. With one out in the eighth, Kevin Bell walked and went to third on Baines' double to center.

Pinch-hitter Claudell Washington then grounded to shortstop Pepe Frias, whose throw home failed to get Bell.

Ed Farmer, 4-0, gained the victory although he gave up a pinch homer to Pat Putnam, his fourth of the season, in the top of the eighth as the Rangers tied the game 4-4.

Royals 6, Yankees 5

Clint Hurdle's 10th-inning line drive, which was misjudged by right fielder Dennis Werth, fell for a game-winning single and allowed Pete LaCock to score from third in Kansas City's victory over New York.

Dan Quisenberry, 4-2, was the winner with 22-3 innings of relief while Yankee reliever Ron Davis, 2-3, took the loss.

Twins 9, Red Sox 4

Rookie Rick Sofield drove in four runs with a double, and a three-run homer to power Minnesota over Boston.

Sofield's double in the fifth inning off loser Jack Billingham, 1-3, snapped a 2-2 tie and gave the Twins the lead for good. His homer in the sixth, his fifth of the season, capped a five-run outburst against reliever Keith MacWhorter.

Jerry Koosman, who evened his record at 5-5, allowed just five hits and also struck out three batters, giving him a career total of 2,001, making him 33rd on the all-time list.

Butch Wynegar homered for the Twins while Dwight Evans drove in all four of Boston's runs, two with homer.

Slip Past Braves 3-2

Giants Keep Winning Streak Alive

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

For eight glittering innings, Larry McWilliams had the San Francisco Giants on the ropes.

But he couldn't deliver the knockout punch in the ninth.

McWilliams and his Atlanta Braves were one out away from a 2-0 victory over the Giants, but never were able to get that elusive third out. Mike Sadek singled home one run and pinch-hitter Milt May doubled home two more off reliever Larry Bradford as the Giants pulled out a dramatic 3-2 victory.

"We've got to believe we can do this," said May.

McWilliams was sailing along with a crisp four-hitter before the ninth, when he gave up a leadoff double to Willie McCovey. McMilliams retired the next two batters, but walked Johnnie LeMaster and Atlanta Manager Bobby Cox brought in Bradford at this point.

Then Sadek singled home pinch-runner Roger Metzger and May pumped one into the left-center field alley for the winning runs.

In other National League games, the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Cincinnati Reds 5-1; the St. Louis Cardinals routed the New York Mets 8-1; the Chicago Cubs stopped the Montreal Expos 5-2; the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the Philadelphia Phillies 4-3 and the Houston Astros trippec the San Diego Padres 3-2.

The Giants beat the Braves for the first time in five tries this season, and kept intact a six-game winning streak by Vida Blue, the Giants' starting pitcher.

Dodgers 5, Reds 1

Ron Cey slugged a two-run homer to back the seven-hit pitching of Bob Welch and Steve Howe as Los Angeles beat Cincinnati and extended its lead over the Reds in the NL West to three games.

Tom Seaver, the Cincinnati starter, left in the sixth because of a strained left leg muscle suffered while striking out Dave Lopes.

Cey followed a walk to Dusty Baker with his sixth homer, a towering fly to left that struck the foul pole at Dodger Stadium. The Dodgers added three runs in the eighth, two on a single by Steve Garvey.

Cardinals 8, Mets 1

Keith Hernandez hit two homer, driving in five runs, and Ted Simmons added a three-run shot to back the five-hit pitching of John Fulgham as St. Louis defeated New York.

Simmons' homer, his seventh of the season, came in the first inning after a single by Mike Ramsey and a walk to Hernandez. Hernandez homered in the second and fifth innings, his fourth and fifth of the year.

Fulgham struck out seven and walked three, allowing the Mets' only run on Elliott Maddox's first homer, in the fifth.

Cubs 5, Expos 2

Jerry Martin belted a three-run homer in the second inning and Rick Reuschel scattered six hits to pace Chicago over Montreal.

Martin unloaded his eighth homer of the season on the first pitch to him from Ross Grimsley after Dave Kingman had led off with a single and Mike Vail had walked.

Pirates 4, Phillies 3

Ed Ott singled home the winning run in the ninth inning to lead Pittsburgh over Philadelphia. Ott delivered his hit with the bases loaded off reliever Tug McGraw after Vance Law singled and Willie Stargell and Bill Madlock were walked.

Grant Jackson, the fourth Pirate pitcher, picked up the victory.

Mike Schmidt, the NL leader in homers, hit his 18th for the Phillies, a two-run shot in the first inning.

Astros 3, Padres 2

Rafael Landestoy's two-run triple in the eighth inning broke up Randy Jones' shutout bid as Houston beat San Diego.

Jones held a 1-0 lead going into the eighth before the Astros rallied for three runs, two of them on Landestoy's triple to the center field wall. Craig Reynolds brought in the final — and eventual winning — run with a single off reliever Bob Shirley.

Dodgers Beat Shreveport 1-0

By The Associated Press

Larry Fobbs singled home the winning run in the 10th inning Tuesday night as the San Antonio Dodgers beat the Shreveport Captains, 1-0, in a Texas League baseball game.

In other Texas League games, Midland beat Arkansas, 8-2, Amarillo beat Jackson, 8-2, and Tulsa whipped El Paso, 9-1.

Fobbs' single drove Ricky Wright home with the winning run for San Antonio.

Brian Helton, 7-3, was the winning pitcher. The loser was Mike Glinatsis.

Dave Stockstill's solo homer and excellent pitching by John Perlman helped the Midland Cubs take an 8-2 victory over the Arkansas Travelers.

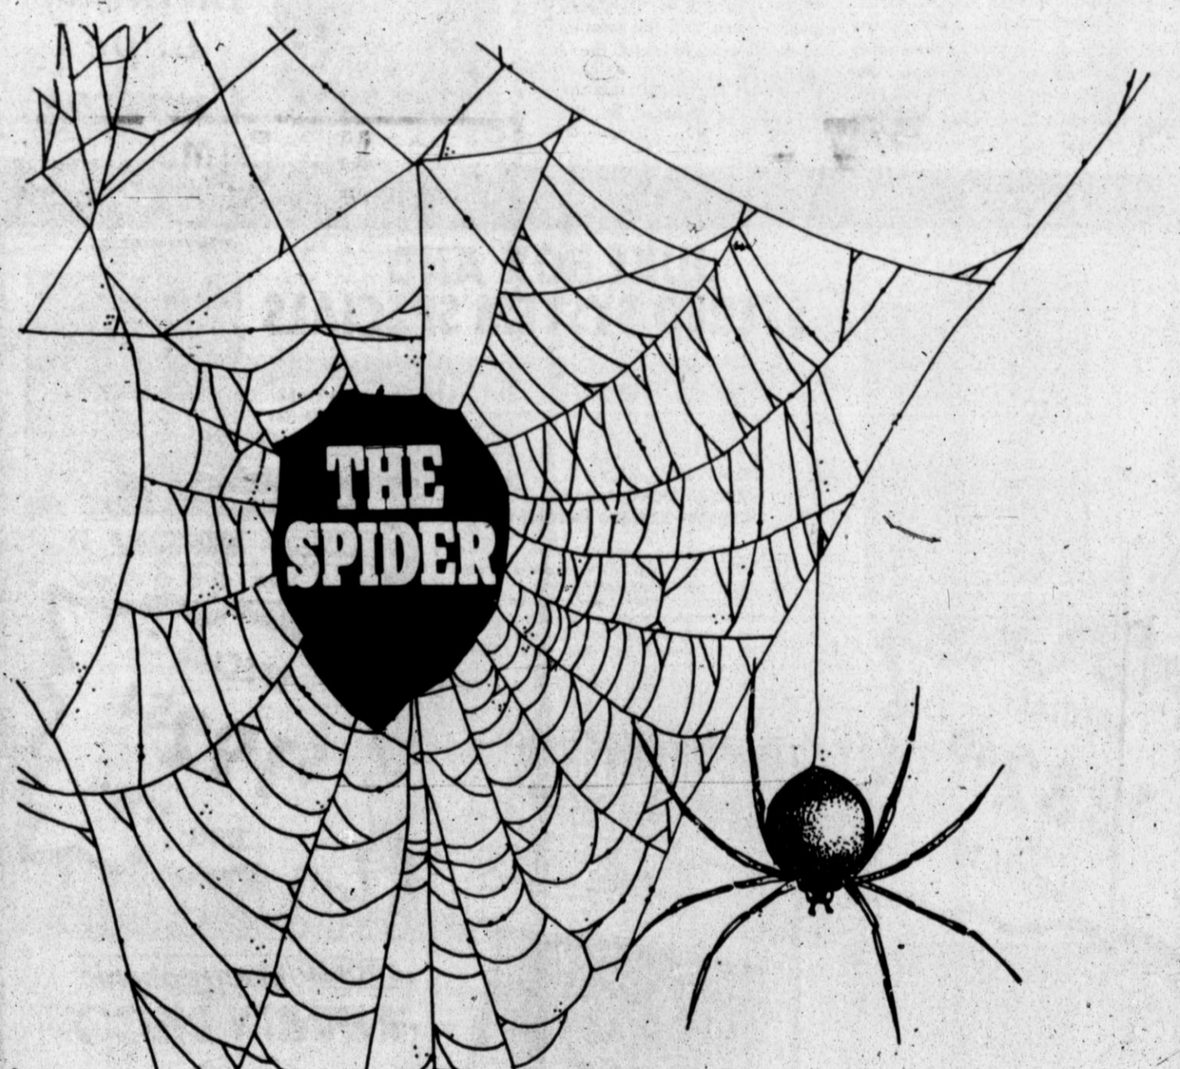

Perlman, 4-3, held the Travelers scorless through 6 innings, but needed relief help in the final 2 innings from Herman Segelke.

Jerry Don Gleaton limited the El Paso Diablos to 3 hits and his Tulsa Driller teammates exploded for 8 runs in the eighth inning as Tulsa beat El Paso, 9-1. El Paso's only run came off of Dave Crutcher, who relieved Gleaton in the ninth inning.

Gleaton's record is now 7-2. The losing pitcher was Steve Brown, 5-5.

A two-run double by Curt Reed helped the Amarillo Gold Sox jump to a 4-0 lead in the first inning and Amarillo coasted to an 8-2 victory over the Jackson Mets.

During Mark Twain's days as a newspaperman, he was editor of a small Missouri paper. One day he received a letter from a subscriber, stating that he had found a spider in his paper, and asked if this was an omen of good or bad luck.

Twain replied: "Finding a spider in your paper is neither good nor bad luck. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising so that he could go to that store, spin his web across the door, and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

Reserve Oats Called

WASHINGTON — The national average market price for oats has reached $1.51 per bushel, the level requiring the U.S. Department of Agriculture to call the commodity from the old farmer owned grain reserve, Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland said.

Calling loans on oats in the reserve means that farmers have 30 days from the date of notification of the call to repay their old reserve loans or convert them to new reserve agreements.

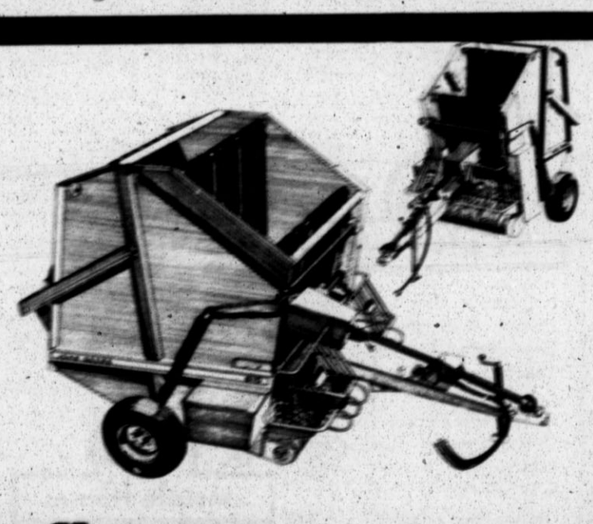

Under the grain reserve program, farmers own the comodities and are not required to sell their grain. If they do not repay the loan or convert to new reserve agreements, however, they must forfeit the grain to the Commodity Credit Corporation. About 33 million bushels of oats are in the farmer-owned reserve, including 22 million bushels under old reserve agreements.

County offices of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service will officially notify producers their grain has been called and the date by which the loan must be redeemed or placed under a new agreement.

Under the farmer-owned grain reserve program, established by Congress in the Food and Agriculture Act of 1977 and designed to stabilize marketing, farmers are eligible to place wheat and feed grains into a reserve during periods of low prices. In return, farmers recieve CCC price support loans on the grain in reserve as well as annual storage payments. If prices rise to the "release" level, farmers can repay the loan and market the crop without incurring a penalty.

The call level for feed grains under the old reserve program is 140 percent of the national average loan rate and under the new reserve program 145 percent. The 1979 loan level for oats is $1.08 per bushel. Data used by CCC in determining the call level includes a daily report by the Agricultural Marketing Service which shows prices at selected markets, and a month-end Economics, Statistics and Cooperatives Service report of prices received by farmers

An Achievement in High-Yielding Grain Sorgums

SG 688

We at Garrison feel that SG 688 is one of the BEST hybrid grain sorgums. This hybrid has early maturing, high yields that are comparable to other longer maturing grain sorgums. If you're looking for a hybrid that makes high yields on less water then the SG 688 is what you should be planting.

Jack Streun of Hereford, Texas planted SG 688 in 1979 and with average irrigation practices made ouer 9000 lbs. per acre on his entire crop. Not only does this hybrid have early maturing, high yields, but also greenbug tolerance.

Need for cataract surgery?

DEAR DR. LAMB — Is the ultrasonic method of cataract removal accepted and approved by the medical profession? If so, where can I find a doctor who uses this procedure?

DEAR READER — Yes, this method enables the eye surgeon to make a very small incision, fragment the cataract and suck out the little pieces. There is some advantage to having a very small incision as opposed to a larger incision.

A decision as to whether a person needs a cataract operation and what kind of surgery should be done depends on the nature of each individual case. To find out if you're really a candidate for surgery and, if so, what kind of surgery you need, you'll certainly need the evaluation by a competent ophthalmologist.

Meanwhile, I am sending you The Health Letter number 13-6, Your Cataracts Are Coming. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My nine-week-old niece was diagnosed as having galactosemia. She was only two weeks old. She had all the symptoms and a blood test showed that she was lacking an enzyme. She also had jaundice and an enlarged liver. Her liver is still enlarged. Is this normal?

We understand that with the galactosemia she will never be able to have any milk products or sugar in her diet. We're told that if she stays on a very strict diet, free of milk and sugar, that she can live a normal healthy life. Is this correct?

DEAR READER — This is a very rare disease and there are two types of enzyme deficiencies that can cause galactosemia. And, of course, I can't tell from your letter which form your niece has. Galactose is one of the three basic single sugars. It's only formed in making milk. It is not found in any sugar except milk sugar. The other two single sugars are glucose and fructose. The combination of these two provide ordinary table sugar. Glucose and fructose are the source of starch in vegetables and the sugars in fruit.

Babies with galactosemia are deficient in an enzyme that enables the body to metabolize or break down the galactose sugar into carbon dioxide and release its energy. Because of this, in the classic form the galactose products will accumulate in the liver, causing the liver enlargement and they can also accumulate in the eyes causing cataracts. It's perfectly true that if the child's problem is discovered very early and all sources of galactose are eliminated from the diet that the child will get along all right, provided there are no other metabolic problems present.

Now since ordinary table sugar does not contain any galactose, in the classic form of the disease it shouldn't cause any difficulty unless there are other enzymes missing that interfere with the metabolism of these sugars as well. Your niece's doctor, I'm sure, will be familiar with this and know whether it's advisable or not. If your niece just has the pure galactosemia and does not use any milk or any foods made with any milk at all in her early life, she should have a good chance of leading a normal life.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Recently at a clinic I had a colon X-ray. They found two small polyps. I looked polyp up in the dictionary and it said a tumor. The doctor wants to see me again in two months.

I detest colon X-rays as I was sore for a week afterward, not to mention all the procedures during and after the X-rays. Is a polyp likely to become cancer?

I'm a 72-year-old woman and I do not want to go through all this again but neither do I want to neglect something that could turn into cancer.

DEAR READER — Yes, a polyp is a tumor or lump that grows in the lining of the digestive system or other cavities — in this case, the lining of the colon or rectal area. Many of these are found on a routine examination such as an X-ray of the colon as you had. They may cause no symptoms at all. Others, located in the rectal area, may be large enough to interfere with elimination. Sometimes a polyp will cause bleeding.

Without being able to see the polyp directly or being able to take it out and look at sections under the microscope, it's sometimes very difficult to know exactly what the nature of that polyp is. There is considerable professional disagreement about polyps. But, in general, some are benign and do not become malignant while other types have a much greater likelihood of becoming cancer.

If a polyp is low enough in the colon or rectum where it can be visualized and approached through a proctosigmoidoscope, it can simply be removed. That, of course, affords the opportunity to examine the tissue under the microscope so it can be established clearly what one is dealing with.

If the polyp is beyond the reach of the proctosigmoidoscope and small, the doctor may choose to observe it for a while to see if there is any change. If it shows changes, he would probably want to remove it.

There is enough possibility for some polyps to become cancerous that I think it is very important for you to do exactly as your doctor asks you to do. I realize you don't like the examination but it's far preferable to the procedures you'd have to undergo if you developed invasive cancer of the colon. After all, cancer of the colon is one of the most common causes of cancer deaths in the American population. A lot of these can be completely cured if they are detected early enough.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 14-6, Cancer: A Fact of Life. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. This issue will give you some basic information about cancers, including the terms that doctors often use and what to expect about spread.

Now I don't wish to alarm you. There are many people who have a polyp in the colon or rectum and the polyp never becomes malignant. I hope that will be true in your case. But at the same time, you don't want to overlook the opportunity to take early action if needed, because that can save your life and help you avoid a lot of uncomfortable situations.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Find the anthill

DEAR POLLY — We usually get some ants in our brick house when the warm weather comes. I wonder what we can do to solve this problem. — M.A.

DEAR M.A. — Try to find the anthill outside where the ant colony originates, and pour boiling water in it. There are several homemade remedies you might use inside where they seem to come in. My favorite is the use of cucumber skins. You might use borax powder. Many people claim ants never cross a chalk line. Fly spray helps, too.

A couple of weeks ago there was a group of ants in my bathtub near the drain. I sprinkled ground cinnamon all over them and they scattered very quickly. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Several weeks ago I read that a reader had spilled some white vinegar on the floor and noticed that ants would not travel over this spot. Since this is the time of year when those little pests get into the house I bought a bottle of white vinegar and poured it into an empty pump spray bottle. When I see any ants I spray the vinegar along their travel route. I like this as it is safe around food and not harmful like commercial sprays. — ERVIN

DEAR POLLY — I have several pretty tin trays that we used for snacks sometimes, but they took up so much room and were so hard to get out of the cabinet that I decided to hang them on a wall in the dining room.

I have eight of these trays so my husband made 16 small L-shaped wooden brackets — two for each tray. He painted them red, drilled a hole in the top of each and screwed them into the wall. The trays rest on the brackets and this makes an attractive and interesting wall decoration that many have admired. It is easy to remove a tray, wipe it off, use it and then hang it back up. — JEANNIE

DEAR POLLY — I put a pat of butter or margarine in the pan with anything that is boiling. Do not cover. Such foods as potatoes, macaroni and spaghetti will not boil over. — RUTH

Polly will send you one of her signed thank-you newspaper coupon clippers if she uses your favorite Pointer, Peeve or Problem in her column. Write POLLY'S POINTERS in care of this newspaper.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — When State Comptroller Bob Bullock announced a few weeks ago that he would allow his department employees to have their union dues deducted from their state paychecks, he created a swirl that has since generated into a windstorm.

Individuals who are dead set against unionization of state employees have been trying to find ways to prevent his dues check-off, and last week a suit was filed to stop Bullock.

Two state employees and the Texas Right to Work Committee have won a June 9 trial to determine if Bullock has the right to deduct union dues from state employees paychecks. Bullock had planned to start the check-off system last Sunday, having obtained a go-ahead from Atty. Gen. Mark White.

In filing the suit, the plaintiffs argue that the Texas Constitution gives Bullock no express or implied right to allow the check-off, and that such a check-off would violate the Right to Work law by becoming a political tool of department heads.

Bullock's attorneys argue there is nothing in state law to prohibit the check-off.

Clements Wants Ban

State law will ban the check-off next year, if Gov. Bill Clements has his way.

The Governor, who has warned other department heads not to follow Bullock's lead, said last week he will present "as a major item of business" a plan to ban union dues check-off for state employees.

Clements also wants a plan to store low and high level nuclear wastes. Although not in a crisis situation at present, Texas is approaching a crisis in storing such wastes, he said.

Strake and White

Texas Secretary of State George Strake and Atty. Gen. Mark White have bumped heads on the issue of which voters may sign a petition to put Republican-turned-Independent John Anderson on the Texas presidential ballot. At stake are the number of voters Anderson will siphon off from each party.

Strake, a Republican, said two weeks ago only Democrat primary voters could sign Anderson's petition. Last week, at the request of the House Elections Committee, the Democrat White ruled that both Democrats and Republicans who voted in last month's primary were ineligible to sign the petition.

Strake followed White's legal opinion by saying it was incorrect and does not matter, since he, Strake, is the state's "chief election officer" and makes him solely responsible for interpreting the state election laws.

Betty Ford Visits Texas

Two former first ladies got together last week when Betty Ford visited Lady Bird Johnson at LBJ ranch. Ford attended a Republican luncheon in her honor in Austin and endorsed Ronald Reagan for president.

When asked if she would consider voting for Reagan, Mrs. Johnson, the former Democratic first lady escorting Mrs. Ford, said "No!"

Killer Bee Reunion

Six of the 12 "Killer Bee" state senators held an anniversary reunion in the backyard of Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, last week.

The dozen senators were dubbed the nickname by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby after they broke a quorum and hid for five days to prevent a split presidential primary bill they considered designed to help Republican John Connally and conservative Democrats.

At their reunion, the Bees pointed out to reporters that their critics were wrong in predicting their defeat at the polls for their boycott. All who stood for re-election this year made it through the primaries.

Reagan Lists Armstrong

Ronald Reagan is looking for a vice president and his list holds four Texans, including former U.S. Ambassador to Great Britain Anne Armstrong, also GOP national chairwoman.

With her on the list are defeated presidential contenders, George Bush and John Connally, and Gov. Bill Clements.

Armstrong, a surprise addition to those eyed as Reagan's running mate, told reporters she would very seriously consider a spot on the ticket.

Vagrancy Measure Disputed in England

By ED BLANCHE
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — In the slang of Britain's black ghettos, the law is called "sus," short for suspicion. It is England's 1824 Vagrancy Act and it is under attack as a major cause of hostility between police and non-whites.

Politicians, magistrates, lawyers, immigrant community leaders and civil libertarians have long claimed the Vagrancy Act is outdated and widely abused by the police, especially against blacks.

Government statistics show that in this country of 56 million, with non-whites accounting for only 3.2 percent of the population, more than 40 percent of all people arrested under the Vagrancy Act are black.

Pressure is mounting on the government of Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher to scrap the law, which dates back to the Napoleonic Wars, and those demands are underscoring simmering racial tensions in Britain.

A strident campaign by the ultra-rightist National Front to halt non-white immigration, several violent race-related clashes and growing economic discontent among Britain's 1.9 million non-whites have stirred racial friction recently.

Britain has never had racial bloodshed like that which ripped Miami apart 2¼ weeks ago — terror provoked by confrontations between blacks and the police — but rioting erupted in a West Indian-dominated district of Bristol two months ago after white narcotics detectives raided a Jamaican club.

The Vagrancy Act allows police officers to arrest a person for turning a door handle or running down a street on grounds he is deemed to be acting suspiciously and may plan to commit a felony.

In the last decade, no more than 3,800 "sus" arrests have been made each year, with most of them taking place in London and Liverpool, both of which have large non-white communities.

Police chiefs deny they use the "sus" law against non-whites. They say more blacks are arrested because blacks are disproportionately involved in street crime in inner city zones.

Last week, the House of Commons' influential Home Affairs Committee declared the Act has become "a symbol of the fraught relationship between the police and young blacks....We are confident (its repeal) will be a gain to society in the improvement of police-black relations."

But it cautioned that repealing the controversial law was "no instant solution" to Britain's smoldering racial problem.

"It's not just 'sus' that's causing the deterioration in race relations," said Sam Powell, a 36-year-old community worker in the West Indian Brixton ghetto in south London.

"'Sus' is just one of many factors aggravating the problem. But it's one of the most acute. It symbolizes the whole thing."

Mrs. Thatcher's Conservative government, elected last year in part on pledges to toughen up law and order and curb non-white immigration, is not expected to abolish a law considered vital by some in combating worsening street crime, particularly in the black ghettos of big cities.

Sir David McNee, the stern Scots police commissioner of London known as "The Hammer," declared that abolishing the law "would leave an unacceptable gap in the law and encourage further street crime."

The liberal daily Guardian cautioned in an editorial last week that abolishing the law "will not transform race relations....But abolition would be one...significant way in which the government could demonstrate its commitment to improving race relations."

The Vagrancy Act went on the books in the turbulent aftermath of the Napoleonic Wars. It gave magistrates wide-ranging powers to deal with an embarrassing army of "rogues and vagabonds" — the human debris of a long war — and the widespread poverty that ensued as thousands of ex-soldiers were dumped on the breadline.

The House committee stressed that the Vagrancy Act is "contrary to the freedom and liberty of the individual" and that its repeal would significantly help counter hostility between the police and young blacks, many of them unemployed.

The committee said the "small gap" that would be left in the law was "insignificant and a small price worth paying in view of the implications both for civil liberties and for race relations."

Andrews Sheriff Kills Wife, Self

ANDREWS, Texas (AP) — When the Andrews County Sheriff's dispatcher answered the phone Tuesday morning, her boss, Sheriff J.A. "Bud" Gregory was on the line.

"I've shot Biddy. Now I'm going to shoot myself," dispatcher Delores Thompson quoted Gregory as telling her before he hung up.

She sent Chief Deputy Wayne Farmer to the Gregory home where Mrs. Biddy Gregory had been living since the couple separated about a month ago.

There, Farmer found the bodies of Gregory, 53, and his wife of 31 years.

Justice of the Peace G.A. Ragsdale ruled murder-suicide in the deaths and said the sheriff's .41-caliber revolver was the weapon used.

Texas Rangers, called in to investigate, found a note apparently written by Gregory requesting that family members be contacted. The couple had three grown children.

Mrs. Gregory had filed for divorce on May 12, nine days after her husband was re-elected to a fifth term as sheriff.
