SOLON CLAIMS EXTRA SESSION IS NEEDED

GOVERNOR IS TO DECIDE ON MEET IN COMING WEEK

AUSTIN MEETING CLOSES WITH CLOUD OF DOUBT SURROUNDING FACTS

(By The Associated Press)
AUSTIN, May 1.—An extraordinary session of the Legislature is imperative to stabilize the credit of the State, J. A. Kemp of Wichita Falls, said here today.

State Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston, on the other hand, said he did not expect a special session until after the Democratic primaries, as it would evolve into a political mess.

Governor Miriam A. Ferguson will issue probably next week, says Senator Holbrook, a statement on her position relative to the special session. Kemp said if a special session is not called before the Democratic primaries, those urging validity of State bonds would have to accept what they could get. He remarked that nothing was achieved by the meeting of a committee of the House of Representatives.

Bondholders Are Anxious
Bondholders of the bonds in the East are anxious that the district bonds in Texas be validated and Mr. Kemp said that it would prove disastrous to Texas credit if the $50,000,000 bonds are not validated.

Senator Holbrook said that nothing concrete had been reached by the special session advocates and that he thought James E. Ferguson, husband of the governor, had correctly sized up the situation.

"If anybody in the State can get to the crux of this bond affair, Ferguson can," Holbrook declared. He then said that he especially was certain the Governor will make known her stand on the special session movement.

Thirteen Senators, Representatives, and interested men, participated in the session here today.

385 Oil Wells Are Texas' April Crop

AUSTIN, May 1 (AP)—In April 385 producing oil wells were brought in in Texas, the oil and gas division of the railroad commission announced today. Archer county led with 74 producers and Wichita was second with 46. A total of 911 permits to drill were granted. Archer led with 128. Permits of all sorts totaled 2,497, including "shooting" permits, and permits to "plug."

Debt Commission Is Nearly Through Work

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—The debt commission virtually cleaned up its work of funding America's ten billion dollar World War loans with the cancellation today of negotiations for settlement of Junco-Slavina's debt of $51,000,000. Junco-Slavina agreed to pay a total of $95,177,135 principal and interest, over a period of 62 years. Payments will be $200,000 annually for the first five years, increasing to $375,000 annually for the last fifty years.

Postponement Given In Mexicans' Trial

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., May 1 (AP)—Trial of eight Mexicans on charges of conspiracy to violate the neutrality laws in connection with an alleged plot against the Calles government, scheduled to open May 10 in Federal Court, has been postponed until May 17, by agreement between government and defense attorneys.

May Opens In Canada With Two Inch Snow

STANCIL BAGWELL TO BE MAYOR; JOURNAL TO BE PRODUCT OF BOYS

The Daily Journal of Thursday will be manned in the editorial and business departments by boys whose names will be later announced. Acting under the supervision of the Journal's editors and managers, the boys will be given full reign in the operation of the South Plains' only afternoon newspaper and the Journal will cooperate in the fullest extent with the National Boys' Week Plan.

Lubbock boys, all under the age of 18, who will have charge of the city affairs next Thursday as a part of the celebration locally of national Boys' Week were selected at a meeting Saturday night in the Police Court room at the city hall, and without an exception, expressed their intention of giving the city of Lubbock the best administration that has ever been experienced here. The meeting was presided over by Mayor Pink L. Parrish, who, as general chairman of the various committees named to prepare for the week's program, has taken a leading part in all negotiations.

The boys, selected from various walks of life take formal charge of the city's affairs in every department Thursday morning of the coming week, and will be officially in charge throughout the day. It has been explained by leaders in the Boys' Week movement here that the program is not confined to Boy Scouts as seems to be the impression with some, but includes every boy in the city, all of whom are urged to join in the celebration. A full week's program of activity, starting this morning with preachers' various sermons in the city will deliver a special sermon to boys, has been arranged.

$43,000 Paid Pro-Law Agents Is Claim Of U. S. Attorney Buckner In New York

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, May 1 (AP)—Evidence of $43,000 in graft paid prohibition agents and policemen by the largest rum ship ever captured here will be laid before the Federal grand jury next week.

United States Attorney Buckner demanded on this quick action today after studying memoranda found on the vessel and hearing the stories of Customs Guards who captured the Eker with $1,200,000 worth of raw alcohol below decks in special tanks. The books found aboard the vessel, from which the Captain and three officers escaped, also revealed the name of a member of the Dwyer liquor ring who is now under indictment in connection with other activities of the ring that controlled a large part of the bootlegging here.

Congressional Dignity Forgotten As Solons Play Annual Ball Game And Donkey Beats Elephant 12-9

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 1.—Congressional dignity was left at an almost deserted Capitol today while House and Senate adjourned to the American League park for a baseball game between House Republicans and Democrats. The donkey beat the elephant, 12 to 9.

It was a contest of "has-beens and never wasers" and both gave out at the end of the seventh inning when a half was called. As is customary, the two parties had an argument, Democrats holding up the game at one time to make a point of order that the Republicans were batting out of order. The decision of the umpires was overruled. They appealed to press correspondents for support, but the reporters decided in favor of the Democrats.

Proceeding the game, Representative Sol Bloom, a New York Democrat, won a single handed victory. He was high bidder at $500 for a baseball autographed by President Coolidge. Nick Altrock, comedian of the Washington Nationals, who was auctioneer, faked a temporary collapse when the bidding reached $500.

The gate receipts and Bloom's $500 will be donated to the Women's Congressional Club here. Sand lot nicknames were used for the day in place of "Mr. Congressman" and when Representative Busby, of Mississippi, took the mound for the Democrats, Altrock introduced him as "must be" better known as "Jeff." In the first inning, the G. O. P. batters scored seven runs. Representative McMillan, of South Carolina, who used to play professional baseball, however, from behind home plate, helped Busby by tending him delivery to a steady pace that yielded only two runs in the next six innings.

At first base for the Republicans, Representative Kelly, of Pennsylvania, showed several flashes of good baseball. Representative Montgomery, of Oklahoma, lasted the full seven innings on the mound for the G. O. P.

There were no home runs and two and three times party caucuses were called to fix blame for errors. Each time was a delay. The game attracted many prominent officials including Speaker Longworth, Secretaries Hoover and Wilbur and scores of House members and Senators.

"Yes Sir, It's Not My Baby"

Mrs. John Crowley thought she had given birth to a black haired son, but the Newark, N. J., city hospital gave her this red haired girl as her own, insisting that no mistake occurred. One thing is certain, Mrs. Crowley has a birth certificate for a boy, named Martin. Relatives are trying to straighten out matters.

RUM WAR DEAD LAID TO REST

Chicago Police Admit Clews Do Not Yield Fruit But Hope For Success

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, May 1.—The bodies of three machine gun victims of Chicago's inter-ethnic gang and liquor running warfare—the nineteenth, thirtieth, first and ninety-second within three years—were laid to rest today. It was conceded that four days of police investigation had accomplished nothing and officials and civic leaders attributed as to the method of investigation.

The coroner's jury of six prominent business men met late today and after discussion of two hours behind closed doors it was announced that the beginning of the inquest had been postponed until Tuesday, the day after that set for the calling of a special grand jury with Robert E. Crowe, the State's Attorney, as the officer in charge of the presentation of the evidence.

BONDS MADE IN INDIAN CHARGE

Oklahoma Officials Free For Time On Bail After Grave Counts Are Filed

(By The Associated Press)
MUSKOGEE, Okla., May 1.—T. A. "Berth" Chandler, of Tulsa, former Congressman from the first Oklahoma district, indicted by the grand jury here investigating Indian affairs, appeared before the United States Commissioner at Tulsa and furnished bond of $5,000. Nine other men indicted at the same time, including Shade E. Wallen, superintendent of the Five Civil Tribes, gave similar bonds here and at Vinita.

The indictment has not been made public but is known to deal with the operations of a small land company at Vinita in which the indicted men are alleged to be associated.

C. R. Trowbridge, of Washington, Interior Department inspector who arrived in the Indian reservation this morning, refused to reveal the purpose of his visit.

Spanish War Pension Bill Is Made A Law

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—The Spanish war pension bill was signed late today by President Coolidge. The measure, which adds to the annual charges of the government about $19,000,000, was approved only after the President considered at length the budget problem involved. It provides increased pensions for veterans, their widows and orphans, which brings the total for some classes to a maximum of $50 a month.

Unconscious, Girl Found In Chicago

CHICAGO, May 1 (AP)—Miss Mildred Furst, unconscious for hours from some unexplained cause, was identified today as a graduate nurse from Philadelphia. Miss Furst was returning from a visit to her fiancé at Fort Bayard, N. M., friends said. She was taken to the county hospital from a hotel where she was found unconscious yesterday. Physicians were unable to account for her continued coma. She had registered as from El Paso, Texas, and had a railroad ticket, which indicated that she had bought a round-trip fare in Philadelphia for El Paso.

1925 STATEMENT BREAKS RECORDS SECRETARY SAYS

MORE FOREIGN MONEY IN TEXAS NOW THAN IN FIFTY YEAR TOTAL

(By The Associated Press)
AUSTIN, May 1.—More foreign capital represented in aggregate capital stock was invested in Texas during 1925 than in the fifty preceding years collectively, Mrs. Emma Grigsby, Secretary of State, announced today.

Commercial development of the state is colossal and virtually every foreign corporation in the world is seeking a permit to do business in Texas, Mrs. Meharg declared.

Deposits Made Saturday
She deposited $121,712.55, receipts of April 30, today which established a record and brought the revenue for the month to $707,039.76.

Friday $99,444.35, receipts from franchise tax and charter fees Thursday were deposited, making a total of $221,156.75, a record for two days collection. Twenty years ago the receipts at the office of Secretary of State for one year amounted to only $6,000. March collections were $283,611.25, an increase of $24,000 over March 1925. From January 23, 1925, to January 23, 1926, $1,450,000 was collected, exceeding by $214,000 the largest revenue of the department.

Fear Is Eliminated
Foreign capital has found out that Texas is not opposed to investments here by outsiders and now they have no fear of the State and people," Mrs. Meharg said. She explained that during 1925 an average of 252 charters, foreign permits, and amendments to charters were granted and that numerous other corporations are seeking these state contracts, but have failed because they have not fulfilled the requirements of the law.

Confidence in the commercial development of Texas is seen through the eagerness of large and small corporations to do business here, Secretary Meharg said. She predicted that 1926 will surpass all others in the invasion of foreign capital into Texas. She said Texas people used to invest their money in the East, but now the Easteners are investing their money in Texas and are keeping their money within the state.

Two Children Dead In Film Explosion

ORANGE, N. J., May 1 (AP)—Louis Lelong, aged 14, and his sister, Mary, aged 2, of South Orange died in Memorial Hospital tonight from burns received when an motion picture film exploded as it was being exhibited to a group of children by the boy.

Children from the neighborhood gathered in the laundry of the Lelong home. Louis and Mary were burned on the face hands and body. After the explosion in the basement all the children except the injured dashed out and said nothing to the parents about the burning machine. The injured ones were discovered in a helpless condition and taken to the hospital.

Amarillo Takes Second Western Clash Yanks Sweep Series With Sens For 8th Straight Win

LATE RALLY WINS FOR GOLDEN SANDSTORM

The Amarillo high school Golden Sandstorm baseball crew invaded Lubbock for the first time in years Friday and Saturday, and returned to their homes with the scalp of the Lubbock high school Westerners dangling to their belts after two stormy sessions on the diamond. Lubbock went down before the Sandies at Merrill Park here Saturday afternoon 4 to 1 in the last game of the two game series after losing a much more hectic encounter Friday afternoon 12 to 10.

The Golden Sandstorm under the able direction of Coach Hayes, showed the usual Amarillo ability to rally in the later stages of the contest, and after playing scoreless for seven innings broke into a lead that the Westerners could not meet. A timely triple and a couple of costly errors gave him two runs in the eighth frame. The same performance was repeated in the ninth except that the one triple was a couple of singles.

Pitchers Both Work Well
Wright, Westerner southpaw, delivered a pretty game for his teammates, holding the visitors to six hits, and gathering eleven strikeouts, but four errors in the pinches cost heavily. Bassett, Amarillo southpaw, apparently was master of the occasion at all times, and with but two exceptions was never in danger, despite the eight errors that his teammates made behind him. Bassett drew a total of sixteen strikeouts during the nine innings.

The Westerners made a threatening move toward a score in the fourth inning when Adkison led off with a single and Ridge reached second on Townes' error at second. Wright was called out at the plate on what was termed interference on an attempted squeeze play. Adkison returning to third. With two men on, Payne and Smith struck out retiring the side.

The Westerners counted first in the sixth when Ing reached first on Fairley's error at short, advanced to third when Adkison singled to left, and then scored on Larson's sacrifice bunt. Gore struck out to retire the side.

Opening the ninth Twones struck out, and Boyles reached first when Adkison booted his grounder; Boyles was forced out at second on Baird's grounder. Reeder singled, scoring Hoira, and took second on the play, and Reeder scored when Bassett singled. Fairley struck out.

The box score: Amarillo AB R H PO A E... Lubbock AB R H PO A E... Total 34 4 6 25 8

Score by innings: 000 000 022-4... Summary: Three base hits—Reeder; sacrifice hits—Larson, Boyles; bases on balls off Wright 15; struck out by Wright 11, Bassett 16; hit by pitched ball by Wright (Boyles), by Bassett (Ing); Umpire, Jackson; time of game 2 hours.

POST GOLF TEAM TO PLAY HERE

Ed Quail and Jimmie Sampson, Post City golfers deluxe, will tangle with Spencer A. Wells and Jo Dick Slaughter, of Lubbock, on the municipal links here today, beginning at one o'clock, and one of the toughest matches of the year is expected.

While it is true only in an unofficial sense the match will probably decide the championship of this part of Texas. All four of the principals are recognized as being in the "charmed circle" of West Texas golfers and a gallery is expected to be on hand to watch the play.

New Record for Hoff

Charley Hoff, the vaulting Viking, leaped to a new American outdoor record in the pole vault at the Drake relays last week, clearing 12 feet 9 1/2 inches. It beat the best previous mark hung up a few weeks ago by Lee Burgess of the University of Southern California by several inches. Hoff is here depicted getting over at the record height. He had plenty of room to spare, apparently, and as many experts predict, should top the 14-foot mark ere he returns to his native Norway.

SPORTS WIN FIVE SIX RECORDS FALL INNING GAME WITH CATS AS HARTZ WINS AUTO RACES

SHREVEPORT, May 1. (AP)—Main spoiled a pitching duel between Paul Wachtel of the Cats and Greely Adkins of the Sports and gave the locals a 1 to 0 victory over the Atzmon in four and a half innings today. In the first inning a base on balls, an error and a fielder's choice gave Shreveport a run. One Sport was on first in the fifth with none out when rain halted play.

DALLAS, May 1. (AP)—Scoring eight runs in the fourth inning, the Steers annexed the first game of the series from the Spudders here today by a score of 11 to 4. The victory sent Dallas into a tie with Houston for first berth as the Buffs were idle.

WARD T. VAN ORMAN WINS TROPHY IN NATIONAL BALLOON RACE FOR THIRD STRAIGHT YEAR; ONE HURT

(By the Associated Press) LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 1.—All contestants in the Litchfield Trophy and national elimination balloon race have landed with Ward T. Van Orman, pilot of the Goodyear IV, the winner for the third time in succession. The last balloon to land was the U. S. army balloon S-23, brought to land at Mount Holly, N. C., a small town eight miles west of Charlotte. Lieutenant William A. Gray, pilot of the United States army balloon, S-20, tonight wired H. E. Steubar, a friend here from Hitchins, Ky., that he hit some trees in the Eastern Kentucky mountains last night. Apparently Lieutenant Gray had been unable to reach a telegraph wire as his messages were filed at 9:27 o'clock tonight.

RED SOX WIN AND CHICAGO BEATS CLEVELAND

NEW YORK, May 1. (AP)—The Yankees made a clean sweep of their series with the Senators by annexing the final game today, 1 to 1, marking the eighth consecutive New York victory. Hoyt twirled for the Yankees and it was his fourth triumph of the season in five starts. Score:

WASHINGTON AB R H O A E... NEW YORK AB R H O A E... Score by innings: 001 000 000-1

PHILADELPHIA, May 1. (AP)—The Red Sox took the third and last game of the series from the Athletics today, 2 to 1. Winfield, with the aid of Todd's bat, finished on the long end of a keen pitching duel with Rommel. Todd crashed out four hits for a perfect batting average and scored both Boston's runs. His home run in the sixth inning broke up in a 1-1 tie and decided the contest. Score:

PHILADELPHIA AB R H O A E... BOSTON AB R H O A E... Score by innings: 000 100 000-2

PHILADELPHIA, May 1. (AP)—Six world's speed records were shattered today when Harry Hartz, 30 year old Californian, swept to victory in the 300 mile international race that opened the new track of the Atlantic City motor Speedway Association.

Flashing around the big mile and a half oval at dizzy clip without making a single stop, Hartz triumphed in a sensational struggle in which his two foremost rivals, Peter De Paol, American speedway champion, and Bob McDonough, another Californian, finished second and third.

A crowd of close to 30,000 spectators saw the picturesque speed chase in which only six of the sixteen starters finished the full course. Hartz not only clipped nearly five minutes from the world's record for 300 miles, set last February 22, at Miami, Fla., by Depond, but carried off $12,000, the winner's share of the $50,000 in prize money distributed to the contestants.

Hartz's time for the 300 miles was 2 hours, 14 minutes, 14.18 seconds, as compared with DePaol's mark of 2:19 12.95. His average speed was 134.1 miles an hour as compared with DePaol's 129.15.

Although officials tonight had not computed the exact times, it was announced that five other world's marks also had been smashed.

WARD T. VAN ORMAN WINS TROPHY IN NATIONAL BALLOON RACE FOR THIRD STRAIGHT YEAR; ONE HURT

AMARILLO METROPOLITANS MEET LUBBOCK HUBBERS IN CONTEST AT MERRILL PARK THIS AFTERNOON

The Metropolitans, Amarillo's bid for amateur baseball honors in West Texas this year will be seen in action at the Merrill Park here this afternoon against the Lubbock Hubbers, and one of the best games that has admittedly the South Plain's best bid, been or will be seen on a local diamond this season is anticipated.

The Hubbers, with the spark of intense rivalry between the two Plains cities rekindled as a result of the double win Friday and Saturday of Amarillo high school over Lubbock high, will make an effort to avenge the "home town" for the former losses.

Skipper Allen, who has been in Rotan the last three days of this week, officiating in a three game series between Rotan and Waxahachie that has proved disastrous to the former city, home of Vernon Underhill, husky pitcher who played with Lubbock last year, was expected to have returned late last night or early this morning, and will have his nine in readiness for the contest this afternoon. About the same line-up that has appeared to date this year, and almost the same as that which won the Denver tournament last fall, will be used. No selection of a pitcher to handle the game for Lubbock had been made Saturday pending arrival of the skipper.

Amarillo's line-up, listed as among the best, will be bolstered by possibly four members of Coach Payne's College Matadors, three of whom live at Amarillo, and have played there before, both in high school and amateur ball. Rumors here Saturday were to the effect that Ike Curtis, catcher; Guy Hayden, first baseman; "Windy" Nicholas, third baseman; and "Red" Hamilton, shortstop, would play with Amarillo. Whether or not such will be the case could not be definitely learned Saturday.

The game will begin at 3:30 at the Merrill park, with Jack Letzwick, former Texas league artist, slated to do the officiating.

SUZANNE LENGLEN NOT COMING TO AMERICA

ROME, May 1. (AP)—Miss Suzanne Lenglen, French lawn tennis star who is visiting Italy, today denied that she had any intention of going to America.

When asked concerning the agreement said to have been reached calling for her appearance in the United States, she said:

"I haven't the slightest intention of going to America, or playing any matches in America. I play for my own pleasure, and am completely free to do so when and where I desire. This is merely another one of the many canards launched by the so-called sporting writers in the United States who seem to take pleasure in inventing all kinds of unpleasant and untrue things about me, cooking up matrimonial prospects and similar nonsense every week. Why they do it is a mystery to me."

NEW YORK, Apr. 29. (AP)—Miss Suzanne Lenglen's apparent disavowal of tentative arrangements for coming to this country this year to appear in moving pictures and play exhibition tennis evoked from Charles C. Pyle today the comment that the French star "has merely decided to make no formal confirmation until her status as an amateur player is cleared up."

William H. Picken, Pyle's European representative, declared that signed agreements which he obtained constituted Pyle's best endorsement of his good faith.

Congenial employment is the best physician.

Star Vaulteur

35 Frank Glaser, a sophomore, Marquette University, has one of the greatest pole vaulters in the midwest. Glaser has been clearing 12 feet 6 inches consistently and in a recent indoor meet defeated Paul Harrington, famous Notre Dame star. Coach Jennings of the Marquette school expects Glaser to garner many points this season.

Billy Evans Says

Discards Deliver
Certain major league managers appear to have unusual success with discards.

Wilbert Robinson of the Brooklyn Nationals has always been such a leader. He has been particularly fortunate with pitchers labeled through by other managers.

Credit for this unusual success with discarded twirlers has been attributed to the fact that Robinson as a player was a great catcher, a fine coach of pitchers.

It is beginning to look as if Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Cardinals is to share the spotlight that has been playing on genial Wilbert Robinson for these many years.

When I talked with Hornsby at the spring training camp of the Cardinals this year, I was positive the former gave him much concern.

"Rital clubs may not see it as I do, but I figure Keen, Hunzinger and Johnson are going to be a great help to my club.

"They have shown plenty of stuff and under the direction of Bill Killefer should be much improved pitchers this year. I am positive the former 'Cub manager will just about make my pitching staff."

"I know that Keen and Hunzinger can do and everybody wants me that Johnson, who once cost Detroit a lot of money, should win for me.

"Hunzinger has had the benefit of several years under Metkew and that means much. However, I intend to start Hunzinger and give him a four or five-day rest between games. With New York he was a relief pitcher almost entirely and he is hardly strong enough for that role.

"I also intend to use Johnson and Keen as regulars and am pretty sure they will deliver."

That Hornsby had the right dope a month before the opening of the season has been proven by the excellent work of these three pitchers.

Every game they have worked has been of the highest order and in most cases a victory has resulted.

Colorful Club
When Hornsby discussed the chances of his club to win the National League pennant, it he dwelled on the spirit of the club as one of the most important factors.

"The team has fight and confidence," is the way Hornsby summed up his club.

As a matter of fact, Hornsby has by his own play inspired the club with the fighting spirit that is going to make the Cardinals troublemakers. Hornsby does everything he asks his players.

Five Grid Teams Already Signed For Games At Fair

Five of the strongest High School Football teams on the South Plains have been lined up to appear here during the Panhandle South Plains Fair September 29, 30, October 1 and 2, according to Jas. H. Goodman in charge of athletics. Three other teams will be secured to fill out the program which will include a game Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday afternoons and Saturday morning.

The teams who have already been secured to play here next fall are: Plainview, Floydada, Slaton, Lamesa, and Lubbock.

Several other teams have signified their wishes of playing before the fair crowds but definite arrangements have not yet been made, according to Goodman.

Baylor Man Breaks World Discus Record

WACO, May 1. (AP)—Jack Taylor of the Baylor track team, smashed the world's record for the discus throw in the dual track meet with S. M. U. this afternoon, when he hurled the plate 157 feet, 10 1/2 inches. The world's record is 157 feet, 1 5/8 inches and a Southwestern conference mark is 124.

Baylor won the meet from Mississippians, 64 1-4 to 52 1-2. Taylor, captain of the track team, has exceeded the officially recognized conference discus mark in recent meets, namely, against Rice with 138; against Texas A. & M. with 142; and against Texas Christian University with 146. In practice during the past week, he has been making above 150 feet, coach Wolf says. This is Taylor's second year of conference competition.

Occasionally something bad happens a good man to Heaven—for instance bad brakes.

OFFICIALS WILL BE RELIEVED BY LUBBOCK LADS

Commissioner, to relieve J. H. Hankins; Homer Hunt, President of the senior class at Lubbock high school, Street Commissioner, to relieve R. W. Blair; and Lawrence Green, President of the junior class at Lubbock high school, Police and Fire Commissioner, to relieve J. O. Jones. City Manager: John Ingram, to take the place of A. B. Davis. City Attorney: Roland Lewitt, of Troop No. 2, Boy Scouts, to replace E. L. Klett. City Secretary: Foy Branch, of the Newsboys' Forum to replace Froelund W. Grose. City Treasurer: Floyd Norman, of Troop No. 1, Boy Scouts to replace J. M. Denman. City Health Officer: Sam Henry, Jr., of Troop No. 2, Boy Scouts to replace Dr. J. W. Rollo. Fire Chief: Reuben Byers, of the Newsboys' Forum, to replace W. E. Twitty. City Tax Assessor and Collector: Robt. Maxey, of Troop No. 1, to replace R. A. Holland. Police Court Judge: Wesley Dock, of Troop No. 1, Boy Scouts, to replace

Jas. H. Goodman. City Engineer: James Roberts, of Troop No. 5, Boy Scouts to replace Harry N. Roberts. Scouts Are Policemen

Police Department: Boys from Troop No. 4, Boy Scouts, under the leadership of K. N. Clapp, were selected for this department at the request of Chief of Police T. E. May due to the special training they have been given, and to the discipline that makes the troop outstanding in the organization. Earl Turner was selected as Chief of Police department, Murray Ballenger was named Desk Sergeant, and Alfred Adkinson was named motorcycle patrolman. Other officers were named as follows:

Leland Mast, Henrie Mast, Melvin Coy, Lynn Gordon, Wallace Smith, Eugene Adair, Brent Campbell, Winifred Overstreet, Alaric Davis, John Vickers, Earl Calloway, John Hopper, Ben Atcheson and Edward Minor.

The boys selected for the Police department were given first hand instruction by Chief of Police May in an afternoon session last night when the Chief explained the various duties that are contingent with each place on the force, laying special emphasis on enforcement of traffic regulations.

Men To Be Advisors Others of the youthful officials will seek out the business men whom they will represent at some time during the coming week, when they also will be given an insight into what is to be expected of them.

It is the plan of Mayor Parrish, he said Saturday night, to hold a regular meeting of the official City Commission during Thursday when the boy commissioners and mayor will be in attendance, and will be urged to make suggestions as to the best manner of procedure. Important matters of business in connection with the city will be brought up before the meeting, Mayor Parrish said.

This meeting probably will be held Thursday morning, and at noon, the boys and regularly named Commission will be guests of A. B. Davis, retiring City Manager at luncheon. This will include only members of the commission.

In short, every member of the city's official staff will make an effort during the day to impress upon their boy assistants the necessity of good citizenship to prepare himself for the task of eventually taking over the affairs in reality. The boys will go off duty at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Commissioners Open Highway Grease Bids

AUSTIN, May 1 (AP)—Bids were opened today and tabulated at the State Board of Control office for $500,000 worth of oil, gas and grease for the equipment division of the State Highway Department. There were nine bidders, offering first and second grade lubricating oils. Awards will be made by May 10. Roy L. Tennant, member of the Board of Control said, following receipt of recommendations from Estes, equipment engineer.

25 Texans Watch Bold HE ESCAPES WITH $2,000

(By The Associated Press) HOUSTON, May 1.—While 25 customers stood motionless in a grocery store here tonight, a youthful bandit sauntered in with the crowd and when he reached the cash register, held a gun on Jack Williams, cashier, crammed more than $2,000 in his pockets and sauntered coolly out of the front door.

The customers were prevented from interfering by the fear that there were other bandits in the crowd. The store is located on main street and is patronized by residents of the fashionable district of the city. The bandit made no attempt to rifle the pockets of the spectators. He escaped in a waiting car, and all efforts of police to apprehend him had failed late tonight.

May Day Is Quiet Affair In France

PARIS, May 1 (AP)—France observed one of the most quiet May Days in years. The signs of revolutionary violence, which occasionally makes May Day a lively one for police, was entirely lacking. Many manufacturers closed their establishments voluntarily as did many retail merchants. This move probably will strengthen suggestions which already have been made that May Day be made a legal holiday in order to deprive strikers of any excuse for demonstrations.

Coolidge Principal Speaker For Scouts

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—President Coolidge was the principal speaker on the program at the closing session tonight of the Boy Scouts of America's convention. He is honorary president of the organization. During the day, several thousand of the youngsters attended the meeting, visited the White House, and were photographed with the President on the South lawn. They greeted him with cheers and tossed their hats in the air.

COURT OPENS LAST WEEK OF CIVIL CASES MONDAY

The 72nd judicial district court will enter the last week of the civil docket here Monday with fourteen cases set down for trial during the week, and while the docket has not been cleared by any means, it has been considerably lightened by the disposal of many cases, some of which have been before the court for some time. Attorney Hill Stewart, who was elected by the bar at the opening of the term as special judge to preside in the absence of Judge Clark M. Mullican has handled the court affairs in an excellent manner, members of the bar said Saturday.

The following week, which is the last of the six weeks term will be given over to trial of criminal cases, and these also will be heard before Judge Stewart.

The Lubbock county grand jury which adjourned April 26 after returning twenty-one indictments, the most of which charges were more or less minor in nature, will resume its duties Tuesday morning of the coming week, and it was said in official circles Saturday that the balance of the week probably will be consumed by their investigations.

Inasmuch as the criminal docket for the last week of the term had been set before the grand jury began its investigations, it is believed probable that practically no indictments turned in by the grand jury will be reached at this term of court. Approximately fifteen criminal cases are set for trial during the week, with the docket still crowded, and the belief was expressed by court attaches Saturday that at least three weeks of the summer term, which begins August 16 will be set aside for trial of criminal cases. It was said Saturday that with 21 new indictments returned at this term and the number of felony cases already pending the total criminal docket for the August term would probably reach 100.

The following civil cases have been set down for trial the coming week, beginning Monday morning:

Mrs. M. L. Karr, et al vs P & S F Ry Co. 1937, No. 1.
Lubbock Irrigation Co. vs C. R. Thompson, et al 2127 No. 2.

WARNING AGAINST "TREE DOCTOR" IS ISSUED

A warning has been received by the local Chamber of Commerce from Porter A. Whaley, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce regarding a fake tree doctor who is operating in West Texas, claiming to be the representative of a Dallas concern who makes a specialty of doctoring trees. This party is in no way connected with the Dallas concern however and he has killed more trees in the towns where he has worked than he has cured, Whaley stated. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce recommends investigating such a person thoroughly before contracting for his services.

The message received from the general offices of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce of Stamford reads in part:

"We have this day received a telegram from one of the largest Chambers of Commerce in West Texas advising that a certain party is going over West Texas representing himself as being a representative of a large concern in Dallas which makes a specialty of doctoring trees.

AMERICAN LEGION WILL MEET MONDAY

The regular monthly meeting of the American Legion will be held at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening in the basement of the Leader Building. A part of the program prepared for the occasion has not been announced by the committee but they have promised "something interesting" for the evening. The quartet will sing.

Fans will be made for the proper observance of Decoration Day, May 30. Poppies have been requisitioned by the legion and will be sold here. These flowers are made by disabled veterans of the World War and proceeds from the sale will go into a fund which cares for the men.

The recent membership drive of the legion netted many new members and they are continuing to come in since the drive ceased.

RETAILERS PLAN A BIG SHOWING AT STATE MEET

Interest in the local Retail Merchants Association has made a steady increase in the past several months, according to Paul Shorrod, president and a large delegation is expected to attend the state convention of the retailers organization which meets in Dallas May 15, 16, and 18. The association voted to send a large delegation and to make a strong bid for the convention to be held in Lubbock next year. In making this bid, Lubbock will encounter strong opposition from a number of Texas towns who have the same intentions as Lubbock, Shorrod said, but if a big enough delegation can be sent to Dallas, with the advertising this section has regarding the rapid growth and development in the past several years, Lubbock stands a chance to secure the meeting which will bring over a thousand of Texas' most successful business men to Lubbock next year.

Port Arthur will be the chief opponent of Lubbock in the fight for the convention, Shorrod said, they having made a strong bid last year, losing to Dallas. The harbor city has already announced her intentions of asking for the convention for next year.

The chief reason the delegation is going to Dallas is to attend the convention and to receive the benefits to be received from the meetings and conferences to be held there. The general assembly will be composed of representatives from all lines of firms from all parts of Texas and each specific line of stores will have group meetings to work out problems pertaining to their individual trade. The general meeting will deal with subjects of interest to all retailers.

This is what a home in Deamont (Tex) looked like after a tornado struck the city. Two people were sleeping in a room of this house and were unhurt, although the chimney fell through the roof and dropped bricks all around their bed.

President Shorrod will attend a meeting of the Presidents association which will deal with subjects pertaining to Retail Merchants Association promotion work, like trade trips, pay promptly campaigns, trade at home campaigns, fairs, and other matters which need the united support of the firms.

Earl Herd To Be Shown At Fair Here This Fall

One of the several exhibitors in the swine department of the Panhandle South Plains Fair for this fall which will be held September 22, 23, October 1 and 2 will be the C. H. V. Earl herd from Fallett, Texas. L. R. Brodgen, of Lubbock, representative of the Earl herd in this section, who has sold over 100 head of fine bred Duroc Jersey hogs to South Plains farmers since the sale which was held in December, 1925 at which time 71 head were sold, stated Saturday that about 40 head of the best stock of the herd would be shown at the fair here this fall.

Earl is known over West Texas as one of the best breeders of high bred hogs and his herd is expected to give other exhibitors strong competition for honors.

'MY TOWN' CONTEST HOLDS INTEREST OF STUDENTS

A good interest is being displayed by a number of the best high school orators here in the "My Town" speaking contest which will be held during the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Convention at Amarillo, June 23, 22, 23, 1926, according to Miss Eula J. Hurst, of the High School who is in charge of the contest. A large number of high school students signified their intention of entering the contest last week when rules were announced by Miss Hurst and a general meeting will be held Monday at which time a number of others are expected to enter.

In addition to prizes to be offered to the winning speaker at Amarillo, J. B. Maxey, local Contractor has offered a twenty dollar gold piece to the winner of the local contest, who will represent Lubbock at the convention at Amarillo.

Every town in West Texas, affiliated with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be eligible to enter one high school speaker in the contest. The speaker must be a high school student in good standing and under 21 years of age. He must prepare his own speech and will be given five minutes to deliver it, speaking from memory or notes. The subject of each address will be "My Town" and the students will give a survey of the town which he is representing and reasons why it is the best town in which to live.

The winner of the contest at Amarillo will be given a silver loving cup, offered by Thomas Etheridge, Jr., of San Antonio, a hundred dollar gold piece, offered by Leon Shield, of Coleman, an $4 scholarship in the Texas Technological College. Cash prizes will be given to second and third places.

Chevrolet Climbs State Capitol Steps

Above is shown the 2,000,000th Chevrolet climbing the steps of the State Capitol building at Jackson, Mississippi. The incline is at a 45-degree angle.

"So many exactions are laid on commerce and finance that honest business men have a hard time to be sure that they are not lawbreakers; and a certain censorship of press, drama, and literature much worse than that of the ancient Sta Chamber is seriously urged.

"It actually is proposed to handcuff the mind of man, and muzzle ignorance and prejudice the jailers of the intellect and knowledge of the nation.

"America is Law-Ridden. It is a curious fact that in the second quarter of the Twentieth century American citizens are by law forbidden to do more things, and by law compelled to do more things than were the subjects of Czar or Sultan in the Eighteenth century.

"All this requires a prodigious number of government officials, agents and employees. Including all subdivisions of government, there are about 2,500,000 persons now in public service at a yearly cost of nearly four billion dollars.

"One out of every 11 workers in America is supported by the other 10. Most of these public officials and employees are necessary, but hundreds of thousands are superfluous.

"This is not the result of our modern democracy and complex civilization. The same mal-development of government—the same craze for over-regulation—took place in France under the subjugation of Louis XVI.

"Interference with the economic and social affairs of the people was then carried so far that there were government inspectors of sucking pigs.

"The only remedy for foolish and hurtful legislation is to choose our lawmakers with greater care and judgment. It all comes down to that in the end.

"If we continue to elect professional politicians whose chief concern is reelection, we shall continue to have bad laws and stupid laws, and an increasing number of them."

Regulation By Law Is A Mental Disease In America, Ex-Senator Beveridge, Indiana, Says In Talk

(By Associated Press.) TEXARKANA, Texas, May 1. — Regulation by law has developed into a mental disease in America, Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, former United States senator, declared here in an address before the tri-state convention of the Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas bar associations.

"The social and economic matings who try to make everybody else do what they want them to do."

"It is denied that the present evidence of law breaking were due to the effects of the war, but said they were caused partly by the numberless statutes, ordinances and regulations forced upon the people.

"Courts must strike down legislative acts which violate the Constitution—their power and duty to do so is America's last bulwark of freedom and safety."

"Statutes Are Scouted. Few things in fact can be regulated by statute, he said, and as an example he presented the Ten Commandments, many of which have been properly enacted into law, but no human law can compel the individual to love God, honor parents or purify the heart of covetousness."

"Everybody is so interfered with by impracticable legislation that a public psychology of antagonism to all law has been created," he continued.

"Many of these enactments not only are unworkable, but beyond the domain of law altogether.

"Most so-called laws that honest judges are called upon to declare unconstitutional ought never to have been passed. Legislators vote for them to escape the attacks or to win the support of the unthinking and emotional, rather than to stand by the Constitution and appeal to the sensible mass of the people.

Give Supreme Court Authority To Prescribe Rules Of Procedure In District Courts, Walsh Tells Bar

TEXARKANA, May 1. (AP)—Proposed that the Supreme Court of the United States be given authority to prescribe the rules of procedure and practice in law cases in the United States District courts was opposed here recently by Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Montana speaking before the bar associations of Texas, Louisiana, and Arkansas.

Senator Walsh explained that the Cummins bill now pending in the senate proposed to abandon the system dating from 1789 which provided that practice in the Federal courts, with few exceptions, should follow as nearly as possible the rules and regulations of state courts.

The proposal, which has been defeated twice in Congress, Senator Walsh said would insure uniformity of practice as between the different states.

"But it is undeniable that it would result in a lack of uniformity as between the practice in the courts of a state and the practice of the federal courts in the same state."

Uniformity as between the states would be convenient to those lawyers who try cases in many states, but to the humble lawyer whose practice is confined to the state in which he resides it has quite a different aspect.

"I am for the one hundred who stay at home as against the one who goes abroad."

"The more grave aspect of the question is that miscarriages of justice without number would undoubtedly ensue until a modification, such as application of particular provisions of the new system would be resolved. It is a tragedy when a good cause of action is lost by failure to observe some rule of practice or to misconceive the true purport of a statute in relation to procedure, or when a valid and meritorious defense becomes unavailable for a like reason."

Difficulties encountered in various states in efforts to prescribe the procedure of the state courts were outlined in detail by the speaker, and he pointed out the vast amount of thought and energy which had been put into such work.

"It is impossible to disguise the fact that the Supreme Court could not and would not do the work," he said. "It is overwhelmed with the labors now before it. Some radical change is needed to check the flood of cases that get a place on the calendar. It would be obliged to appoint a commission to prepare the draft of a code to the revision of which it would give such cursory attention as its other exacting duties would permit."

"The proposed law makes no provision for the appointment of such a commission nor for the creation of any fund out of which the members might be paid or clerk hire or other expenses met. Indeed, I am convinced that the well meaning proponents of the measure have no adequate idea of the magnitude of the task which would be imposed."

"It is reasonable to conclude that if the innovation which Congress is asked to institute should be sanctioned the practice in the federal courts in actions at law would become, as the practice in equity is, to no small extent a specialty."

One great difficulty would be selecting a code of procedure which would be acceptable, Senator Walsh asserted, and providing for all contingencies.

"Take the subject of assembling a jury for the trial of a case. That involves, in the first place, from what class jurors may be drawn, whether women, or instance, may be called, the qualifications and disqualifications of jurymen and exemptions from service. Then the manner of drawing a field in which great diversity exists as between the several states, the grounds for excusing from service and many other details."

"The task to be set the Supreme Court is not only appalling in its magnitude, but I venture to assert, in view of the radically different views of the bar, as exhibited in the statutes of the various states, the predilections arising from raising and experience, it is a well nigh impossible task."

PLANS COMPLETE FOR OBSERVANCE OF BOYS WEEK HERE WITH GIANT PARADE TO BE PROMINENT PART

Final plans have been completed for the observance of Boys Week, a nation-wide celebration in which Lubbock will play a prominent part this year, and one of the most enjoyable and profitable weeks' programs ever offered here will be presented, beginning Sunday morning, May 2, when pastors in every church in the city will bring a special message to boys that will be of much interest.

Every day of the week will have some part of the program that will be of much interest to lovers of boys, the program shows, but possibly the crowning event of the entire program, while not coming on the last day, will be the giant parade, that, according to present plans, will consist of 22 sections. This parade is scheduled to get underway at 4 o'clock next Friday afternoon.

Whitacre In Charge. Plans for the parade have been in charge of Chas. Whitacre, local insurance man, who incidentally is a World War veteran who was in charge of the American Legion parade last Armistice Day that drew such favorable comment from hundreds of on-lookers, and Mr. Whitacre has worked out the details of the parade with such precision that it is expected to be the best ever witnessed here.

In this work, he has been given the very able assistance school men, both from the public schools and Tech College, and other citizens of the city who are interested in proper observance of the occasion.

The parade will form at 3:15 P. M., and will be led by boys and their donkeys, followed immediately by two of Lubbock's most highly prized citizens, Mayor Pink L. Parrish and Edgar L. Hall, either of whom tips the beam at well beyond the 350 pound mark. The order in which the balance of the parade will follow was given out Saturday as follows:

Order Of Parade. DeMolays, Rotary club float, Tech College band under direction of Prof. Wagborne, Tech Cadets, High School boys, Junior high school boys, Kiwanis float, Central Ward school, American Legion float, High School band, Boy Scouts including all five troops of Lubbock, Elk float, K. Carter school Fire truck to be driven by young boys and Geo. M. Hunt school.

While the parade may possibly hold the interest of the greatest number of people of any particular part of the week's program, Thursday also is expected to be a red letter day with the boys, who will be placed in complete charge of city affairs, including the mayorality and police departments. This step was taken with consent of the City Commission in an effort to bring the younger generation to a realization of what will be expected of them in future years when they themselves are truly in charge of affairs.

Wednesday will be Education day, various speakers will visit each of the public schools and other places in the city where boys are wont to congregate, and stress upon the boys the importance of a thorough education.

Saturday, the closing day of the week's program will be given over to a track and field to be held probably on Tech field, when every boy who has an athletic turn of mind, will be expected to participate, and it is not the plan of those in charge of this feature of the program to run the races in heats, as is usual when a great number enter, but draw all in one line and start at the same time on various events that will be contested.

Corporation Judge Jas. H. Goodman has been in charge of this, and has a good program mapped out.

Bankers To Face Courts On Count Of Misapplication

KANSAS CITY, May 1. (AP)—L. C. Smith and G. M. Smith, of Kansas City, and M. M. Moss, former president of the Llano, Texas, National Bank, will go on trial here Monday in Federal Court, charged with misapplication of the funds of the Commonwealth National Bank which failed here in 1922. The indictments also charged conspiracy.

More than sixty witnesses have been summoned to appear against the defendants and the trial is expected to last two weeks. The defendants are charged with illegal exchange of eight drafts between the Kansas City Bank and the Union Loan Company of Ranger, Texas. L. C. Smith was president of the Commonwealth Bank and G. M. Smith was president of the board of directors.

Democrat Scores Coolidge In Talk

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 1. (AP)—Charging the Coolidge administration with failure to carry out party pledges and with favoring big business interests, Representative Oliffield of Arkansas, chairman of the Democratic Congressional committee, tonight urged Minnesota voters to rally to the Democratic standard.

Addressing a state-wide meeting of Minnesota Democrats, he assailed Congress and the White House for a "do nothing" and "let well enough alone" attitude.

"During all the more than five years of Republican misrule, he said, I challenge any man to cite the passage of piece of legislation with administration approval, which did first have the O. K. of big business.

"If I were a cartoonist, he shouted, 'I would draw a picture of a gold calf as the true emblem of the G. O. P. I would place Calvin Coolidge astride the calf instead of his electric hobby horse. I would have in this cartoon figures representing the Mellons, Gays, Duponts, Mills, Morgans and the other leaders, and dictate to the Republican party bowing down in humble supplication before the great god Greed."

CROSBYTON I. O. O. F. HOST TO 107TH ANNIVERSARY

Special to Daily Journal

CROSBYTON, May 1. — The 107th anniversary of the I. O. O. F. Lodge was celebrated here by special program put on by the Crosbyton Subordinate Lodge and local Rebekah Lodge. The Odd Fellows hall in the Ellison building was used.

Judge E. A. Watson of Crosbyton was master of ceremonies and kept things moving throughout the afternoon and evening sessions. He said that the strength of the community and individual groups was measured by the manner of association, and that he was glad that the friendship of our neighbors was so well demonstrated by their response to the invitations to come together for the celebration. Mr. Watson showed that Odd-Fellowship and the fraternity in general was realizing a substantial growth and that the social side of life should not be neglected by its members, but that there should be a repetition of such meetings as the one in progress. The principal addresses were made by Judge Jake M. Mabe, who gave the welcome on behalf of the local I. O. O. F. and Mrs. W. F. Essel giving the welcome for the Rebekahs. These were most beautifully responded to by Mrs. Sleg, of Slaton. The afternoon session gave way to the dinner hour which was well provided for at 6:30. Following the repast a well rounded program was carried out with Judge Pink L. Parrish, Mayor of Lubbock as the principal speaker. Mr. Geo. Stokes, who was reared in the I. O. O. F. home at Corsicana, gave a brief history of the management and conduct of the home.

Music and readings was generously provided by the Humphries Orchestra of the Smith community, Crosbyton High school orchestra, Crosbyton Pep Quartet and individuals.

Visitors from Lubbock, Floydada, Slaton, Spur, Ralls, Matador and Roaring Springs were present.

Meeting Will Be In Interest Of City Beautiful

Mayor Pink L. Parrish will make an address at a public meeting Tuesday evening at the court house in the interest of the City Beautiful contest being sponsored by members of the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs, according to Prof. W. R. Wagborne, Kiwanian, chairman of the committee in charge. It is hoped that a large number of citizens will attend the meeting, he said.

An effort is going to be made to interest the people of the city in "Street Beautiful" work, Professor Wagborne said, the plan being for the residents of a street to attempt to make their street the loveliest in the city.

Entrants in the contest must fill out blanks by June 1 and judgments will be made by a committee on June 1, August 1 and October 1. The winner will be determined by adding the points given on the three inspections. Three classifications will be judged according to size. Lots of less than 50 feet will be in one class, lots of from 50 to 75 feet will be in a second class and lots over 75 feet in width will be in the third group.

The house will not be considered in judging, Mr. Wagborne said, but the beauty of the surroundings will be judged. A man who does his own gardening will be considered separately from one who hires his work done. Permanent improvements as verandas, trees and plants that will live for years will count toward winning, he said.

INDIAN WARFARE INSPIRES BOND ISSUANCE

AUSTIN, TEXAS, May 1. (AP)—A Texas bill passed by the legislature on Monday, authorizing the issuance of $500,000 worth of bonds to finance the purchase of land for the University of Texas, is a direct result of the Indian warfare which has inspired the legislature.

The bill, which was introduced by Representative W. C. Gregory, authorizes the issuance of $500,000 worth of bonds, maturing 40 years from that time. They were, however, redeemable at the option of the state after Sept. 1, 1936.

Nineteen years after issuance of the bonds, Governor Sul Ross in a message to the house reminded that body that some provision should be made for lightening the interest charges of the bonds. He pointed out that the difference between even and five per cent, a figure the governor recommended, would result in an annual saving of $3,980.

The legislature evidently agreed with Texas was struggling valiantly to recover from four years of Civil War, and while Indiana was menacing her borders, the legislature authorized the sale of $500,000 worth of seven per cent frontier defense bonds, maturing 40 years from that time. They were, however, redeemable at the option of the state after Sept. 1, 1936.

Nineteen years after issuance of the bonds, Governor Sul Ross in a message to the house reminded that body that some provision should be made for lightening the interest charges of the bonds. He pointed out that the difference between even and five per cent, a figure the governor recommended, would result in an annual saving of $3,980.

The legislature evidently agreed of the 1889 session provided that these frontier defense bonds be called for redemption and be taken up out of special funds which had been set aside for state institutions from time to time. Inasmuch as the state was borrowing from the state, it was not deemed necessary to issue formal securities and "manuscript bonds" or I. O. U's with interest at five per cent were exchanged.

At maturity in 1910, these I. O. U's were taken up by the simple expedient of issuing other notes in their stead.

Phantom Ship' Limp Into Port And Death Is Cheated By Sturdy Seamen, For Weeks Short On Food

(By The Associated Press)
SAN DIEGO, Calif., May 1. — The four-masted schooner Irene which came into port recently a "phantom" ship after being given up for lost, was being prepared recently to return to the service of commerce.

While the half-starved crew recuperated from the effects of weeks of short rations, the vessel's master, Captain Allen E. Rosendal, took steps toward the disposal of the ship's cargo of lumber, originally for Florida delivery when the steamer sailed from Grays Harbor, Washington, 139 days ago.

Death Cheated By Landing
Arrival of the schooner barely cheated death which had grimly stalked the ship for weeks. Two members of the crew, Fred Dale and G. L. Peterson, already had broken under the unchanging and meagre diet and were critically ill when port was finally reached.

Blown far to sea by perverse winds, and then becalmed in the South Seas, the vessel's crew escaped death from starvation and thirst only thru good fortune that had failed them in every phase of their voyage. When they were ready for the end, with less than five gallons of fresh water left in the storage tanks, the sky darkened and torrents of rain struck the vessel. Rain caught in sails, replenished the supply of drinking water and netting of 2,000 pounds of sea food kept them from starving.

Hear Radio Announcement
While playing pinocle April 9, Captain Rosendal and his wife, who made the trip with him, heard the announcer at radio station KGO, Oakland, announce in saddened tones that although the Alvena, a sister ship of the Irene, had arrived safely at Miami, mi, the latter apparently had been lost at sea with all hands.

Scholastics In Floyd County On Increase

LOCKNEY, May 1. — The scholastics for Floyd county will show a gain this year according to county school superintendent Price Scott. Floyd county has had a slight decrease while Lockney shows an increase of 29 per cent. Of the 30 rural schools 17 show a gain.

Many improvements were made during the past year among the rural schools. The county now has 17 brick schools of which 15 have teachers' homes. The total value of rural schools is $220,000.00 and the valuation of teachers' homes $12,000.00.

A Great Big DOLLAR DAY Monday

Here are a Host of Desirable Specials for One Dollar That Represent Savings of One-Third to One-Half

Our Dollar Days have always been noted for their full measure of value—for their varied assortments and for seasonableness. The list for Monday includes some items that are very seldom offered in these events—other than are offered this time at prices even lower than usual. It will be a big Dollar Day, one where you will enjoy yourself and profit on many needs that you are sure to have at this time. In these events we have never resorted to unjust price comparisons, or to over enthusiasm in our descriptions. You will find each and every item just as it is represented. That's why each month we see many of the same faces—why our biggest purchasers are those who have received big values on past Dollar Days. Shopping here Monday will be decidedly pleasant and profitable.

EARLY LUBBOCK NEWSPAPER TELLS SECRETS

Many Oldtimers, Still Residing Here, Written Up

By BLANCHE E. BEAN Journal Feature Editor

In the days when the old Nicolett Hotel was the gathering place of Lubbock...

Last year this paper was consolidated with the Texas Press, a paper that had started in Estacado and moved to Hale Center...

Advertisements carried in the paper were of firms in Lubbock, Plainview, Canyon, Hale Center, Amarillo and other towns on the Plains.

Pioneer Physician Advertised Dr. L. L. Dye, of Plainview, known by all pioneers in this section of the state...

J. D. Caldwell, who had a general store in Lubbock, was advertising groceries, saddlery and other articles.

Pete Caraway, Robert and Thad Tubbs, Tilda Westfarth, Frank Dowles, A. J. Clark, Oren Lee, Joe Earhart, Oscar Tubbs, J. J. Dillard, Ed Green, George R. Bean, Claude Green and Albert Taylor were the Beau Brummels of Lubbock at that time...

Men Were Organized In lieu of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs of which Lubbock is boasting 30 years later, the men of the city then had a patriotic club known as the L. A. S. S. organization...

However the programs were open to the public in many instances and one of these is written up in the spring of 1927 under the heading "The Boys Show Off—Handsome Young Daniel Webster and William Byrnes of Lubbock County Surprise the Natives."

The Meeting Although from the cartoons in this issue, it will be seen that some of the boys passed through some terrible experiences which contorted their usually serene and noble countenances into hideous sights to behold...

When the editor and A. J. Clark mounted the steps to the court room and took their places behind the presiding officers' table in a dignified and important manner...

Demands Too Much The recorder then called the roll and read the minutes of the previous meeting.

The regular order of business proceeded without a hitch till under the head of "Report of Committees," a committee man had the supreme gall to demand a report from the Grand Master to the committee.

George R. Bean then spoke as Stephen Austin, the father of Texas, and Claude Green followed with a biographical sketch of Sam Houston and the programme proceeded as follows:

Music: "San Milan, Oren Lee, declamation, Alistair W. Hunt; "Fanning," Joe B. Earhart; "David Crockett," W. Oscar Tubbs; "Santa Anna's Treach-ery," Pete R. Caraway; music: "Heroes of the Alamo," Jno. J. Dillard; declamation, Robert Tubbs; "F. R. Lubbock," Wm. G. Bean; declamation, Eddie B. Green; declamation, Jno. J. Dillard; declamation, A. J. Clark; music...

Another program was announced with the following on the program: Jno. J. Dillard, Albert J. Clark, Joe B. Earhart, Geo. R. Bean, Albert Milligan, J. Winford Hunt, Eddie B. Green, Wm. G. Bean, Essie Gholson, W. Oscar Tubbs, Alistair W. Hunt, W. Claude Green, Robert Tubbs, Thad T. Tubbs, Oren Lee and J. Jeremiah Dillard.

Met At Court House The court house, which stood in the center of the town until a few years ago when the present structure was erected, was the scene of most of the gatherings, including the parties.

A poem entitled "1896-1897—They watched but were disappointed," told of a party at the court house on the last evening of 1896.

Another event which was written in rhyme and which covers a column of the paper, is entitled "Lubbock's New Year's Ball." It was given at the home of Yancy Lee and P. O. Elick, who ran a restaurant, was the fiddler for the evening and when Jim McGuire began to call, "the boys each roped a maverick and began the New Year's ball."

Had A Wild Time Most of the boys had come into town from ranches in the surrounding territory for the evening for the poem continues: "They left the girls behind 'em" and galloped round the ring.

Lubbock boasted of a Dramatic Club during that time and one Christmas evening a play, "Crawford's Claim," was witnessed by most of the residents of the County.

Most of the boys and young women mentioned in the paper are still living in Lubbock. Some of them have died within the last few years and their families are living here yet.

Even though Lubbock was then a frontier town with a few general stores and scattered houses, people coming over the entire county to this center for all events, the editor was then protesting that people in the East thought this country was wild and that all of the men were romantic cow punchers.

Most of the landmarks of that day have disappeared except for the old Nicolett Hotel which still stands today on Lubbock's main street.

State Library Sends Supplementary Lists AUSTIN, May 1. (P)—The state library is sending to its 141 blind borrowers a supplementary list of books recently made available.

Of the titles of the supplementary list, 123 are in Moon type, the kind used chiefly by persons who have become blind after passing childhood.

The blind readers served reside in 88 towns.

Any person desiring a list of the books in Braille, Moon or New York point may obtain a copy by sending a postal request to the Texas state library, Austin.

'CURE ALL' MEN MUST GO TO COURT

TESTIMONIALS ARE TO BE BASIS OF DEFENSE IN KANSAS CITY

(By The Associated Press) KANSAS CITY, May 1.—Testimonials from patients and the policy of refunding money to "dissatisfied customers" will be used as a defense against indictments returned here yesterday by a Federal grand jury charging three companies with distributing alleged "cure alls" through the mails.

Indictment of the Kansas City concerns is the first step in a nationwide government investigation into distribution of alleged "fake remedies" through the mails.

The medicines mentioned in the indictments were supposed to cure many diseases. "Rattisnake oil," for deafness and "vitamins" to build up perfect bodies were included in the preparations analyzed by government chemists prior to the investigations.

Ten persons were indicted: Harold Melton Stuntz, director of a number of medicine companies; his wife, Bessie Stuntz; his father, Conrad Stuntz, and two brothers, Walter I. Stuntz and Ray Stuntz; Warren Burgess, Linn D. Johnson and Ward H. Webb, owners of an advertising agency which was thrown into bankruptcy last week.

The three companies are charged with operating more than thirty five distributing firms for "cure alls." They are alleged to have bought their medicines from wholesale drug firms and distributed the preparations under coined "trade names."

POETIC CHARACTERS WELL LOVED BY CHILDREN TO BE DEPICTED IN OPERETTA GIVEN BY WARD SCHOOL

Characters that have been made dear to the hearts of children by James Whitcomb Riley, Eugene Fields and Robert Louis Stevenson will be presented in an operetta, "Under the Sugar Plum Tree," which is being given by the K. Carter school and music department next Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

About 75 children of the school have costumed parts in the play, appearing as sailors, hunting lads, hunting lassies, picknickers, dream fairies, and Squirem Squees. In addition to the more prominent characters of Little Orphan Annie, Curly Locks, Alice, the Raggedy Man, Shuffle Shoon and others. Solos and choruses enliven the entire operetta. Mrs. Mamie I. Neal plays the accompaniment.

The operetta is an elaborate production with an appeal especially to children and to adults who have loved the poetic personages pictured by the "Children's Poet," Riley and Stevenson.

The cast of characters follows: Curly Locks, Charlotte Hopkins; Amber Locks, Fred James; Alice, Billie Bob Jones; Dickie, Troy West; Raggedy Man, Morrison Arnett; Shuffle Shoon, Billie Tubbs; Uncle Doc, Glenn Brazill; Orphan Annie, Mozelle-Law; Captain Sterling Wadwith, Sellers-Burney; Grafs, Edgar; Sinner, Jack Walker; Donald Lee Benson, Byron Brown; Joe Jackson, Berchie Barton; Hunting lads—Ray Johnson, Cecil Briggs, Leon King, Jack Garlington; Lennox Davies, Arthur Bradshaw; Duane Meier, Danny Thomson; Hunting Lassies—Helen Neal, Mary Wilson, Martha Dean Cosby, Ruth Wagner, Elsie Smith, Fannie B. Reister, Frances Clay and Peggy LeLand; Picknickers—Sam Weaver, Clyde Ballard, E. M. Smith, Padgett Maddox, Charles Musgrove, Louise Hodges, Mary Abney, Frances Abney, Maurine Vaughan, Hazel Pate, Nancy Ann Haddell, Helen Wagner, Jane Akers, Ernestine Johnson and Jackie Pierce.

Dream Fairies—Frances Wilson, Myrtle Bentz, Margaret Crosby, Virginia Hart, Martha Louise—Woods, June Wheelock, Nannie Overton, Aline Boussett, Alice Anthony, Claire Marie Donk, Effie Abbott, Joetta Beauchamp, Vera Simpson, Frances Jim Swan.

Squirem Squees—George Benson, Jr., Lawrence Banks, Dale Beckler, Herbert Woodward, Parish H. Healy, John Robinson, C. J. Briggs, Rudy Fischer, Billie Moad and Wayne Williams.

Miss West Reports On A. A. U. W. Meet At Monthly Dinner

A report of the meeting of the Southwestern division of the American Association of University Women, held in Hot Springs, Ark., April 22 to 24, was made by Miss Elizabeth West at the monthly luncheon of the Lubbock chapter of the association Saturday noon at Cheri Casa. Miss West attended as a delegate from here.

Mrs. Mary Doak was chosen as representative from the A. A. U. W. to the executive board of the City Federation of women's clubs. She had been a delegate to the organization and made a report on the Wednesday meeting of the City Federation. Committees on various activities reported. Mrs. William Dingus presided at the meeting.

Mrs. J. L. Holt, program chairman for the June meeting announced that prizes will be awarded at that time for the three best short poems on "How I Intend to spend the summer." These articles are to be written and handed to Mrs. Holt, Miss Ruth Horn or Miss Blanche Bacon before June 1. The five best poems will be read at the June meeting. Miss Gilkerson is to direct a pageant to be given at the next meeting and Miss Margaret Weeks is to conduct a round table discussion on conditions in South America.

During the luncheon, Misses Maude Eken and Lucile Davis, officers in the Woman's Athletic Association of the Tech, played ukuleles and sang popular songs. A color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the table decorations and sweet peas were used as plate favors.

A temporary State organization of the A. A. U. W. was formed at the meeting in Hot Springs. Miss West reported, with Mrs. Jessie Daniel Ames as president. A meeting is to be held in Dallas early in October for the purpose of forming a permanent organization. There are eight branch chapters in Texas. Miss West reported that chapters were urged to be strict in allowing associate membership only to women who have had one or more years in colleges who are members of the association or women holding degrees from certain approved colleges are eligible.

Members of the National association were given membership cards Saturday which admit them into the privileges of organizations all over the world.

Members who were in attendance Saturday were Miss Elizabeth Stafford, Miss Frances Whitley, Mrs. Clyde F. Elkins, Mrs. Mary Doak, Miss Johnnie McCreary, Miss Johanna Gilkerson, Miss Lila Gibson, Miss Margaret McNabb, Miss Alice Marie Jensen, Miss Virda Hinton, Miss Blanche Bacon, Miss Ruth Horn, Miss Flora McGee, Miss Elizabeth West, Miss Blanche Bacon, Mrs. J. L. Holt, Mrs. William Dingus, Miss Lilla Boone, Mrs. W. B. Gates and Mrs. R. A. Studhalter. Mrs. Percy Spencer was a guest.

Speaking of necessary evils, can anybody name one?

Eastern Star Women To Meet At Slaton Instruction School

A school of instruction for District 2 of the order of the Eastern Star will be conducted at Slaton Thursday and a large number of the members of the Lubbock chapter are expected to attend. Mrs. Velma B. Malley, worthy grand matron, of Ballinger, is to conduct the school, assisted by grand examiners and grand deputies of the order, according to Mrs. Len A. Mulican, worthy matron.

A regular meeting of the Jessie Chapter will be held Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Masonic Hall and plans will be perfected for going to Slaton on Thursday.

The school is being held in order that members of the lodge may become more proficient in the work of the lodge and it is thought that several certificates will be awarded Lubbock women.

Madame Matzenauer To Feature Initial Tech Artist's Course

Madame Matzenauer, one of the leading contralto singers of the Metropolitan Opera Company, is to be the principal attraction of the first Tech artist's course, according to Prof. W. R. Waggoner, head of the music department at the college. Five courses have been arranged for the course which is to be given next year.

This course is similar to courses offered in the leading universities and colleges of the state and tickets are to be sold at reasonable rates, according to present plans of the college authorities. It is hoped that 2,000 seats can be arranged in the Stock judging pavilion of the college and that stage facilities may be arranged to accommodate the artists.

The artists who will appear here will be among the best that have ever appeared in this section of the state. Mr. Waggoner said, and many of them are known by people here who have heard them during other seasons.

The first number probably will be given in November and the others will follow monthly until March, when Madame Matzenauer will be here. Arrangements are being made for this latter artist to sing during the annual spring music festival sponsored by the south Plains Music Association, although the college will sponsor her appearance. No artists are to be brought here by the music association for the festival next year.

A comic opera, a melodrama of rural life, a lecturer and a male quartet are the other attractions of the quarter. Dates have not been arranged for the appearances and these will be announced later.

"H. M. S. Pinafore," a comic opera in costume, is to be presented by the Davis opera company, the Old Homestead company will give "The Old Homestead," a melodrama of American rural life, the Schubert Male Quartet will give a program and Edwin M. Whitney, lecturer, will appear.

Tech Geology Group Studies Formations

Members of geology classes of Dr. Leroy Patton, of the Tech, made a field trip Saturday collecting specimens and studying formations in the canyon near Slaton. They left here early Saturday, riding to Burrus where they left a bus and walked through the canyon to Slaton, arriving there in time to catch the afternoon train to Lubbock. This group is planning a trip to Carlsbad, N. M., in the near future.

Those in the group Saturday were James Cook, Henry Mobley, Misses Alice Alverson, Josephine Witt, Viola Guy, Ora Mae Grissom, Willie Mae Hawthorne and Dennis Cobb and Thomas Pettit, Decker Ridge, Jackson, J. T. Gist, Walter Schneck, Eldon Thorp and Clarence Whiteside.

Dr. L. A. Pfeiffer, of the Tech faculty, entertained boys in all of his college classes, with a card party at his rooms, 1729 Main Street, Saturday evening. A few town guests were present. There were five tables playing during the evening.

Unique handkerchiefs are these, of blue crepe de chine, cut as flowers, hand-embroidered, and edged with gold.

She Simply Won't Wear 'Em

Dorothy Carrington, former University of Missouri co-ed, simply won't wear women's clothes. Arrested in St. Louis in connection with an embezzlement charge in Detroit, she was garbed as a man—and she told police that as soon as she gets out she'll dress as a man again, discarding the dress they're making her wear now. Photo shows her as she appeared at the time of her arrest.

CHURCHES

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Broadway and Ave. M.
REV. E. E. WHITE, Pastor
Two special services today. The boys of the church and their friends are given a cordial invitation to be present at the morning service. For either with their churches in the city the First Methodist Church will join in the observation of Boys' Week. The pastor, E. E. White, has prepared a special sermon for this occasion. The subject is "Wanted—A Boy." Every boy has his place; the world cannot do without them. It is well then that they be given recognition at this time. The hour is 10:45 a. m., Sunday School at 9:30 a. m.

At the evening hour the service will open promptly at eight o'clock. The third of the series on American Institutions and Ideals will be delivered. It is important that those who have been interested in this series be present. The subject is "Dangers Confronting America." Next Sunday night the subject will be "Will America Survive?" The choir will afford to miss the service tonight. Bring a friend. Epworth League at seven o'clock. Hear Dr. Hill of Canyon at this church Wednesday night. Mass meeting for boys and their parents.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Cor. 16th Street and Ave. J.
REV. W. P. JENNINGS, Pastor
We are planning to make Sunday a great high day. The young people and especially the boys will have the right of way. We want to start Boys' Week off with a bang, by giving them the very best service and message possible. Someone has said in substance, "That there is a feeling in the ranks of modern youth that their elders have missed the mark; that they have been guilty of divorce of religion and real life; and that they have purposefully thwarted every effort of youth to bring about a new union between religion and life." Be this as it may we know that there is a large place in the Kingdom for youth to fill and the church must try to understand the problems of youth. So our services Sunday will be in honor of our young people.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Cor. Ave. O and 15th St.
REV. GEO. VERNON HARRIS, Minister
Sunday, May 2nd.
Church school at 9:45 a. m.

The little church with the big welcome.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Cor. Ave. N and 14th St.
REV. JACK N. LEWIS, Pastor
Sabbath School 9:45 a. m. A school which is growing in influence for good should call for your presence on Sunday, Friday evening.

CUMBERLAND PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Corner Ave. O and 16th St.
K. L. ENGRAM, Pastor
Today opens the program for National Boys' Week. The service today at eleven o'clock at this church will be in honor of our boys. All fathers and mothers and friends of boys should be here and thus show their love for and interest in the boys. Boys will have a place in the service. Let's make this a great day.

Our Sunday school meets at 9:45 a. m. Let all be on time, and try to come prepared.

Christian Endeavor meets at 7:15 p. m. Evening worship and preaching at eight o'clock sharp.

Next Wednesday at 8 p. m., there will be a great union mass meeting at the M. E. Church South, in the interest of boys. Watch the papers for announcements.

You are welcome. Come.

Those in the group were Misses Fay Hunt, Dorothy Bushing, Louise Garrison, Eulalie Henderson, Maurine Jones, Jacqueline Edwards and Virginia Bacon.

WORK OF ENTIRE YEAR TO BE ON DISPLAY IN CITY SCHOOLS NEXT FRIDAY FOR PUBLIC INSPECTION

Local Women Attend Announcement Party For Miss Harrison

The approaching marriage of Miss Edith Harrison, Canyon, was announced at a bridge-luncheon Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace R. Clark, of that city. Misses Mildred and Laura Street, Mrs. W. B. Powell, Mrs. Frank Jones and Miss Mary Meador, all of Lubbock, were among the guests for the occasion.

Miss Harrison is well known in Lubbock, having visited in the home of Mr. W. B. Powell a number of times within the last few years and having been complimented with numerous social functions here. She is to be married to Oscar Eckhardt, director of athletics at the Northwest Texas State Teachers College, who has been in Lubbock frequently and has many friends here. The wedding is to be at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of May 16 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude N. Harrison.

Miss Harrison attended the Teachers College at Canyon and was director of dramatics at Idalou in 1924. Her parents are among the most prominent residents of Canyon. Mr. Harrison is mayor of the city and is an official in the Panhandle Construction Company.

Mr. Eckhardt is an ex-student of Texas University where he was an athlete of note. He is a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity.

President Horn Is Principal Speaker At C. E. Convention

Dr. P. W. Horn, president of the Tech, is to be the principal speaker at the Christian Endeavor Convention, meeting here Saturday and Sunday. About 250 young people of the Panhandle are expected to attend this conference which meets at the First Presbyterian Church with the Christian Endeavor Union of the city as host. The societies of the First Christian and Cumberland Presbyterian churches will assist in entertaining.

Jack Huppertz, field secretary of the Christian Endeavor, is to be the principal instructor and speaker from out-of-town for the meeting. He will talk on the State convention Sunday afternoon and will talk Saturday evening.

In addition to these, he will conduct a class. Miss Hattie Mae Woods, of Amarillo, district president, will be here and will assist in giving instructions. Other speakers are to be Dean J. M. Gordon, of the Tech; Rev. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, and Rev. W. P. Jennings, pastor of the First Christian Church.

Many social features have been planned in connection with the convention, including a tour of the city with a visit to the Tech on Saturday afternoon; a banquet Saturday night, and a tea and social gathering Sunday evening.

Services will begin Sunday with an early devotional and will continue throughout the day as they do on Saturday.

Dr. Horn is to talk on Sunday evening. Dean Gordon will speak Saturday evening and Mayor Pink L. Parrish is to make a welcome address on Saturday morning.

Marriage Licenses Granted 6 Couples

Marriage licenses were granted to six couples during the last week. They were as follows: F. R. Davis and Mrs. Herbert M. Cox, Charlie Burns and Miss Pearl Barber, Luther Qualls and Miss Reba Hunt, Lloyd A. Johnson and Miss Nannie Kate Patterson, R. W. Thomas and Mrs. A. B. Middleton, Robert Stone and Miss Ida Yates.

Episcopalians Will Sponsor Plays Soon

Ladies of the Episcopal Church are planning to sponsor three plays at the Palace Theater at the evening of May 2. Dr. L. A. Pfeiffer, of the Tech faculty, is to be director and a number of players who have been prominent in local dramatics are to be in the casts, according to those in charge.

Novel Bag

A handbag of white and black, with a dressed calfkin is one of the newest of fashion's novelties.

Menus for the Family

BY SISTER MARY
Breakfast—Steamed prunes, cereal, thin cream, poached eggs on Graham toast, milk, coffee.
Luncheon—Cream of tomato soup, croquettes, cross sandwiches, drop molasses cookies, milk, tea.
Dinner—Hamburg roast, baked potatoes, creamed cauliflower salad, fresh strawberry pudding, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

Try sweetening your breakfast cereal with fresh maple syrup. Syrup of sugar, strawberries are delicious served with maple syrup, too. In fact the taste of maple blends perfectly whenever plain sugar is used, and is a delightful change.

Cross sandwiches are rather out of the ordinary. Any kind of crisp "green" can be substituted for the cross. Tender dandelion greens are particularly good.

One cup minced cereals, 2 tablespoons minced pimento, 1/2 cup cottage cheese, 4 tablespoons finely chopped pecans or English walnuts, salt, paprika, mayonnaise.

The cross must be well crisp and thoroughly dried before mincing. Combine nuts, pimento, cream and cottage cheese. Add mayonnaise to make moist and add salt and pepper to taste. This mixture must be tasted because the seasoning and the amount of mayonnaise used will determine the amount of salt needed in the mixture. Spread on thin slices of buttered white wheat bread, cover with a second slice of buttered bread and cut in triangles.

Amarillo Visitor Is Honored With Party

Mrs. Roy Starnes, of Amarillo, was honored with a bridge party Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. A. Clark, 1604 Broadway, with Mrs. Clark as hostess. A color scheme of yellow and gold was carried out in the appointments for the party. Apple blossoms and snap dragons made the house more attractive. Orange ice was served with yellow iced individual cakes and sifted almonds. Gold colored chocolate dogs were used as plate favors. Guests for the afternoon included Mrs. Edna Swisher, Mrs. Richard White, Mrs. Grant, Mrs. J. T. Hutchinson, Mrs. Leo White, Mrs. W. R. Waggoner, Mrs. Starnes and Miss Virgie Johnson.

Tech Classes Enjoy Moonlight Picnic

Members of the Tech Sunday school classes of the First Baptist Church, accompanied by their teachers, Mrs. J. H. Hankins and C. D. Eaves, enjoyed a picnic at the Johnston ranch, near Slaton last evening. They gathered at the church at 5 o'clock and went from there in cars. Those in the group were Misses Ruth Noah, Vivian Bryant, Lola Mae Rozzell, Joe Noah, Katherine Cooper, Marie McDonald, Mary Ruth Reed, Marion Semon, Inez Arnold, Faye Kemp, Eileen Teague, Alice Clibinger, Ethel Caldeswell, Josephine Witt, Dorris Rollins, Pearl Hensley, Blanche Pank, Veda West, Ann West, Annie Clem, Beulah Morris and Mark Moore, Gordon Cobb, Hubert Alexander, Bruce Reed, Thomas Chapman, J. W. Hedges, Jack Camp, Riley Alexander, Allen Beatty, Fred Rollins, Clyde Neelley, Cymel Patterson, Royce Cheney, T. M. Nowlin, L. E. Payne, Miss Beulah Cleveland.

Miss Kathryn Atkins will be honored with a reception at the home of Mrs. F. R. Friend, 2005 Broadway, from 3:30 until 4:30 o'clock next Saturday afternoon. Hostesses for the occasion will be Mrs. Friend, Mrs. J. F. Bacon, Mrs. E. L. Robertson, Mrs. Eastin Wolfarth, Misses Blanche Bacon and Mamie Wolfarth.

Here's the first photograph of Slaton's new community clubhouse, erected at a cost of $20,000, by the county commissioners. It is one of the finest buildings of its kind in west Texas.

CITY PROBLEMS TO BE DISCUSSED BY EXECUTIVES

(By the Associated Press) All phases and problems of municipal development will be discussed here July 22-24 at the annual convention school of the Texas Commercial Executives Association.

The program, as arranged by W. E. Donovan, Gonzales; Ralph Bradford, Corpus Christi; and J. E. Bell, San Benito, permits a full discussion of every topic presented. Copies of every paper to be read will be distributed to each member before the convention opens, thus enabling the secretaries to formulate ideas on every subject.

On the opening day, A. L. Burge of Port Arthur will respond to the address of welcome; W. E. Long, manager of the Austin chamber of commerce, will deliver the annual president's address, and R. Q. Lee, president of the West Texas chamber of commerce, will be the main speaker at the luncheon.

HIGH HATS' LITTLE WORRY TO GUIDE AT RESORT

FORT DAVIS, Tex., May 1. (AP)—The Texas cowboy does not give a whoop to put it mildly—for anyone who comes into his domain wearing the high hat. And if some newly-rich person seeking a touch of western atmosphere "puts on the ritz" it is inevitable that that person's dignity will be largely deflated by means of a severe "cussing-out" from the cowboy.

Ask Pete—he knows. Pete Crawford is a cowboy guide of Alpine who brings his string of cow ponies here every summer for city folk from the north as well as from the larger Texas cities who spend their vacation in the Davis mountains.

Pete is somewhat of a "dude wrangler," minus the "dude" rasches that have come into popularity in Wyoming. He furnishes ponies and guides for "dudes" who would follow the trails up the lofty peaks near here or go hunting in the wild Big Bend country.

It is his experience that the very wealthy and the people of moderate means, who work 50 or 51 weeks out of the year, make the best "dudes."

"The working people don't care who knows that they're working people, and they're just out for a good time, and they have it," Pete said. "And the really big man who has more money than he knows what to do with doesn't show off. You wouldn't know him from the poor man out here. But the fellow with a little money always tries to make people think he's somebody. He does it everywhere he goes, but he doesn't get away with it with us cowhands. We don't have to take it, and we don't."

Governors Of Five States Invited To Attend Annual Session Of West Texas C. Of C. At Amarillo In June

FORT WORTH, May 1. (AP)—Governors of five states, former Governor Frank Lowden of Illinois, and the chief executives of Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas, have been invited to attend the annual convention of the West Texas chamber of commerce at Amarillo, June 20-23.

Wade and Porter A. Whaley of Stamford, manager of the chamber, will go to Amarillo to confer with the Amarillo board of city development officials on details of the program, the tentative outline of which already has been approved and is now made public.

Wade and Porter A. Whaley of Stamford, manager of the chamber, will go to Amarillo to confer with the Amarillo board of city development officials on details of the program, the tentative outline of which already has been approved and is now made public.

Monday will be Shrine and Rotary Day. The convention proper will be opened at 2 a. m. by President E. Q. Lee of Cisco, singing of "America" by the convention body, music by massed bands, singing of "The Eyes of Texas" by 500 school children, the address of welcome and response, appointment of standing and special committees and the annual address of the president will occupy the morning session.

At noon Monday there will be at least three luncheons, including those for officers and executive board and for the traveling men. In the afternoon there will be special features,

GO see something new this summer

See here, my man, saddle my horse and be quick about it," the visitor ordered. The mayor looked up, glanced at the speaker, and replied, "All right." He did as he was told, and the visitor rode off on the trail.

Pete mildly rebuked the mayor for complying with the command, but that official merely shrugged his shoulders.

When the man who had ordered the mayor about returned from his ride and was informed by Pete of the "cowboy's" real identity, he was amazed. Thenceforth, he gave no more orders.

BURNING OF HOTEL IS REMINDER OF "LOST" CITY

HOUSTON, May 1. (AP)—Dispatcher from Taylor to the Associated Press telling of the destruction by fire of the New Southern Hotel at New Birmingham served to recall to Houston steel men the tragic history of that once busy smelting center in Cherokee county.

The hotel was the sole structure left in a town that once boasted 15,000 population—a town now commonly spoken of as the "forgotten" or the "vanished" city. The town was founded in 1859 by eastern investors intent on developing the iron resources of East Texas.

The smelters have fallen into decay, a corroding mass of metal and crumbling brick. The ore pits from which quantities of iron were smelted are mere depressions in the soil. The once busy streets now echo nothing more than the soft footfall of a straying cow. Residence streets, once noted for their beauty, are scarcely discernible amid the ruck of rotting timbers. New Birmingham is dead.

Operation on the ingenious theory that 40,000 acres of timber land would furnish ample charcoal for smelting purposes by natural growth after cutting, an eastern company, one of whose stockholders was said to have been Edwin Gould of railroad fame, ran several smelters at New Birmingham for about three years. Failure of the timber supply within easy transportation distance contributed largely to the downfall of the enterprise.

Lignite, available in quantity around New Birmingham, was tried for smelting but was not found practicable. The town was unique in that it was believed to have been the first city in Texas to have a zoning ordinance. The city council decreed that portion of the city adjacent to the tracks of

NATIONAL MUSIC WEEK--MAY 2-8 "Give more thought to music" "Music For Everyone" Everyone For Music

This year National Music Week is May 2-8. We are always glad to do our part to make music more popular. The home without music of some kind is not complete. With the opportunities on every hand to have music in your home, there is no valid reason for any home being without it.

Table listing piano models and prices: PIANOS ($305, $350, $440), PLAYERS ($450, $530, $615), GRAND ($785).

The Embarrassing Moment

"No, I do not play. My folks did not give me piano lessons when I was a child." What a world of regret in those words, so often spoken. Will it be said of you when your child grows up?

In the press of modern activities and diversions, how easy it is to overlook this element of the child's education. Yet how little it takes in comparison with other responsibilities and pleasures, to give your child the advantages of an education in music. How much it means in later years.

Now, as ever, the piano is the universal instrument for the home. No matter what your diversions may be in music, the piano is the foundation for real musical education, understanding and personal accomplishment. Whether it be a grand or an upright, as the space available may decree, we are here to serve you intelligently and conscientiously in your choice of an instrument for your home.

The VICTROLA is the best means of educating your family in music

With one of these instruments in your home you can bring in the world's best artists and make them play and sing for you at your pleasure.

There is no method of getting a musical education at a small expense equal to this.

Small models of Victrolas at $15 and up. The new Orthophonic models can be secured at $85, $110, $150 and $300

1926'S STANDARD BEARER

Calvin Coolidge isn't the only republican with a yearning to lead the republican party in the 1928 national election. If the democratic national committee is to be believed. The committee asserts that the reason congress has failed to do anything for the farmers is because there so many rival aspirants in the dominant part for the privilege of heading the procession in 1928 that they have failed to get together on farm relief.

These aspirants, says the democratic national committee, are Coolidge, Dawes, Lowden, Borah, Hoover, Longworth and Watson. In the list are a president, a vice president, an ex-governor, two senators, a cabinet member and the speaker of the house of representatives.

The third-term bar will likely eliminate Mr. Coolidge. He has had but one full term, but the portion of the Harding term which he served out will very likely cause the party leaders to select someone else. For political purposes, Mr. Coolidge has twice been president—and that is enough.

Borah is out because he isn't popular with Eastern republicans. Lowden has been out of politics for some time. Dawes isn't in very good standing with his party leaders in the senate, due to his overweening ambition to make the senate take up less time in conversation. Longworth, Hoover and Watson are, in the order named, the best picks. Longworth is considered to have inherited much of the prestige of his father-in-law, the late Theodore Roosevelt, and doubtless would make the best all-round candidate the G. O. P. could select. He is from the state of Ohio, where many presidents come from. He has plenty of money, is popular in the circles where he moves, and is possessed of considerable political experience.

TEXAS IS GROWING

A New York bank has discovered that the value of Texas manufactures is now a billion dollars annually, almost equal to the output of raw materials, and that the value of the products shipped through the ports of Texas is greater than through the ports of any other state.

The world is slowly discovering Texas.

The industrial and agricultural development of the state has been slow, because of the immensity of the task. But it has been sure. Texas is building solidly and sensibly. None of your booms for Texas!

As a matter of fact, statistics will likely reveal that Texas in the last five years has surpassed both Florida and California in actual development. West Texas alone is able to hold its own with California, while the balance of the state can take care of Florida very handily.

Texas is not carrying out its development with a blare of trumpets and the throb of drums. It is going about its business in a workmanlike manner, avoiding the pitfalls of a boom and building securely.

The entire South is in the midst of a mighty development era, and Texas is leading the South in this important work.

We need art and vivacity and an occasional touch of uniqueness to give variety to life and to prevent men and women from becoming dull and commonplace and uninteresting. A little color adds immeasurably to the beauty of a landscape.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By CHARLES P. STEWART, NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON. — When Major L'Enfant laid out Washington, he evidently meant Pennsylvania avenue to be his show street. Having staked it out, from the point where the White House now stands to the spot he had chosen for Congress to meet, we can imagine him putting his finger down on the former site on his plan and saying, "Here's where I'll have the executive mansion, and off there, a mile and a half to the eastward, and facing in that same direction, will be the capitol."

Without precisely being a slum, the district east of the capitol distinctly is a second and maybe even a third-rate neighborhood. Except for a block or two up near the treasury building, Pennsylvania avenue is a street of tumble-down old rookeries. It isn't even an average thoroughfare. It looks like sixty. The capitol faces the east only theoretically. For all practical purposes the back door is the front one. Government buildings are scattered hither and yon all over town and out into the country, without the slightest regard for "ensemble" or harmony or convenience or anything.

Journal Jobs

What happened? Why, here's what happened. As soon as they got onto what L'Enfant had in mind, a bunch of real estate sharks gobbled up all the land east of the capitol site and another bunch gobbled up everything along both sides the "avenue."

Then they slapped on the most unholly prices—for those days.

Panel 4: 'I see your point of view better than Miss Morton does, or Parrish here. No doubt Nona understands, though. You are very fond of this man, and believe that other women want him. You let him have your money, because you are attached to him, and want to believe what he says. Anybody that does anything against him, is your enemy, too, is that right?' Panel 5: 'You said something!' the girl returned. Her hostile eyes still were inspecting Audrey. 'I think you will agree,' Morton continued, 'that I have been pretty good to you, in a way.' 'Good!' There was a bitter sneer on the girl's lips. 'You pretended to be getting me a good job, in the show, because you were sorry for me! But I know! You were trying to get square with me for what happened in Nona's apartment, that time. You wanted to separate me from Joe, so this girl here could have him!' She pointed to Audrey.

THESE WOMEN

NEA FICTION
HARRY MORTON, attractive to women, middle-aged, wealthy, unmarried, maintains a home in Peoria and an apartment in Chicago. His adopted daughter AUDREY, loves him. So does NONA, a Chicago stage girl. To learn how stage girls manage to attract Morton, Audrey hires a male dancing partner, who tries to extort $1000 from her. Morton confronts the man, who is called "Joe" and drives him away. Nona accepts Morton's proposal that she leave the show for which she is rehearsing, and be Audrey's dancing partner. With Morton and JOHN PARRISH, Morton's secretary (who is in love with Audrey) they go to a Russian tea room. Nona calls attention to the people at another table. A moment or two later, Nona said: "Look now! Quick!" Audrey looked in the direction that Nona indicated. She saw a fat, heavy-faced man, sitting with a thin girl, who was lighting a cigar. "Who are they?" Audrey said, turning back to Nona. "I never saw them before." "Why, Nona said, "I thought you met that girl! Anyhow, she's the girl from whom Joe gets his money. Joe's the fellow who tried to hold you up for a thousand dollars."

Morton touched her on the arm, and again addressed the girl. not to be mistaken, Audrey shivered. "I believe that girl would stab me!" she gasped. "But how does she know who I am?" Morton had been watching the little drama. "Not so hard to guess," he said. "You are with me, and with Nona. She knows us, and she has found out from Joe that I am your guardian. It's like adding two and two." Nona was arising. "Wait here a minute," she said. She walked to where the girl and fat man were sitting, and in a moment was leaning over their table. The girl looked up at her, in cold hostility. Nona began a rapid speech, motioning toward Morton's table. The girl shook her head. Nona stooped down, and whispered to her. The fat man, after a moment's attempt to listen, philosophically poured himself a glass of liquor, and gulped it, with an emphatic smack of his lips. Evidently Nona gained her point. With a few words of excuse to the girl, she turned to Morton's table. Parrish arose, and offered his chair. The girl refused it. "Nona says you've got some explanations to make, and I want them!" the girl said. "I'm willing to listen to what you have to say." "She's coo-coo," Nona confided to her companions, "but I brought her over anyway. Sit down!" She pushed the girl into the chair, and herself sat down alongside. "She has the idea that Audrey is trying to take her Joe away from her!" she explained. Parrish, who had brought another chair for himself, let out a quick exclamation. "That is an absolute outrage," he said. "Keep quiet, Parrish," Morton ordered. Turning to the girl, he went on: "Did this young man of yours tell you that he had tried to extort a thousand dollars from Miss Morton?" "It's a lie!" the girl cried. "She just tried to frame him! He wouldn't fall for her, and she was trying to get even!" Audrey was crushed. She buried her face in her open hands, and moaned: "This is terrible! It's awful!" Morton touched her on the arm, and again addressed the girl. "I see your point of view better than Miss Morton does, or Parrish here. No doubt Nona understands, though. You are very fond of this man, and believe that other women want him. You let him have your money, because you are attached to him, and want to believe what he says. Anybody that does anything against him, is your enemy, too, is that right?" "You said something!" the girl returned. Her hostile eyes still were inspecting Audrey. "I think you will agree," Morton continued, "that I have been pretty good to you, in a way." "Good!" There was a bitter sneer on the girl's lips. "You pretended to be getting me a good job, in the show, because you were sorry for me! But I know! You were trying to get square with me for what happened in Nona's apartment, that time. You wanted to separate me from Joe, so this girl here could have him!" She pointed to Audrey. "It's something I do not want to talk about," he said, astutely. Morton, behind, had caught the words, and so had Audrey. He slackened his pace, so the other two could go ahead. "Let's let them talk it out," he suggested. Audrey nodded, and they remained several paces in the rear, for the remainder of the walk. They could see the little, quick motions of Nona's right hand, as she talked earnestly to the young man beside her, Parrish, and kept his face straight forward, and protruded his elbow, so the girl who clung to his arm would be as far from him as possible. In this order, they arrived at the Morton apartment, and together went up the elevator. Parrish gave an audible sigh of relief when he turned to Audrey and shook Nona's hand from his arm. "I have a golf suit, now," he said. "Would you like to play tomorrow, before you rehearse?" "Is it necessary to have a special suit to play golf in?" she asked, innocently. Morton laughed. "That's my fault," he said. "I suggest that he get those clothes, and he has been waiting for his first golf game until the knickerbockers were ready. Can you show him how to hold the clubs?" "I'm afraid I'm too busy," Audrey said. "Nona and I are working every afternoon, and I get so tired, I don't think I can play." Parrish's face fell. "I just thought it might amuse you," he said. "Audrey compressed her lips, and was

COMMITTEES ON PRIZES IN FARM PROGRAM MEET HERE; PLANTING IN COUNTY GETTING WELL UNDER WAY

A committee from the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce which was named to take charge of the apportionment of the $1,750 offered by the organization as prizes in three branches of the better farming program being carried on through County Farm Agent David F. Eaton, met in the office of Mr. Eaton here Friday afternoon when the matter of apportionment was discussed, but no final decision was reached. The committee is to meet again next Monday night when it is hoped that allotments to the various departments may be made. Mr. Eaton said Saturday.

The prizes as offered by the Chamber of Commerce are as follows: $1,000 for grain production; $500 for cotton, and $250 on a home project, but the number of places and amount of prizes in each place is to be decided by the committee. The grain contest will be carried on similar to the one last year and that view of so much benefit to farmers throughout the county, and in which a great number of farmers entered. The cotton contest will be not for encouragement of more acreage, which is being discouraged, but for the production of more cotton on fewer acres, with intensive rather than extensive cultivation being urged. Definite rules of this contest have not yet been arranged, but it has been announced that it will be carried on similar to the state-wide contest sponsored by the Dallas News.

The Home Project contest is designed to cover a much wider group of activity than the other two, taking into consideration the work in ladies and boys and girls clubs. Farmers Begin Planting. In the meantime, farmers throughout the county are now in the first stages of intensive planting, with soil generally in the best condition that has prevailed for several years. The rains of recent weeks have put an exceptionally good season in the ground and the land which had been broken out, had been replowed and harrowed to conserve the moisture. Some planting already had been done, but to this date, this has been on a very small scale, with farmers waiting in readiness for the weather to break permitting them to take the fields, according to Mr. Eaton, who reports that as a general rule farmers are planning to begin planting in real earnest the first of the coming week. A warning, however, has been sounded in this connection, both from Mr. Eaton and from Don L. Jones, superintendent of the experiment station here, who say that planting should be done very cautiously, especially if the seed to be used have not been given a germination test. It has been found, these men say, that was made from the surplus wood of the structure and is to be presented to Stephen F. Austin College of this city. The fort is in reality the cornerstone of the Nacogdoches of today. While the city was really founded in 1715, the site was abandoned when the Spanish force was withdrawn in 1729, to be reoccupied in 1778, when the fort was built. The fort served many purposes. It was once the home of one Cordova, who made the mistake of exposing the cause of Mexico against American colonists who considered themselves mistreated by the Mexican government, with the result he was forced to flee for his life. The law had its inning in the old redoubt. For years court sessions were held between its gray walls and it is believed here that the judicial system of Texas had its beginning in the old fort. John Barkeycorn held high wassals there and for over half a century it sheltered the peaceful pursuits of a general merchant. It is recorded that at the time of its removal in 1902, the fort has such an unsavory reputation that many residents of the city entered its walls for the first time when a memorial service was held immediately preceding the razing. LOCKNEY POULTRY MEN PLAN FOR ANNUAL SHOW LOCKNEY, May 1.—At a meeting of the Floyd county Poultry Association here Tuesday night, officers were elected and plans made for holding the 1926 show which will be held in Lockney December 11 to 15 inclusive. Arch Muncy Floyd, county farmer, was elected president and E. S. Shoaf, secretary of the Lockney Chamber of Commerce was re-elected secretary. Other officers were H. P. Coleman, first vice-president, Charles Rollman, second vice-president, J. R. Whitfill, third vice-president, Treasurer, Burton Thornton. The directors are: W. W. May, Mrs. S. Rollo, Lemons, Robt. Smith, Jr. Dave S. Battey and Mrs. J. D. Christian. Members of the association pledged themselves to donate 50 settings of eggs to the Junior club members. Floyd county has led all West Texas counties in poultry for several years and it is believed that a 100 per cent increase will be attained in 1926. The association held one of the largest shows last year ever held in this section, and it is believed that this year's show will cooperate a thousand birds. LEADING BALL PLAYERS AUSTIN, Texas, May 1. PRICILLA DEAN'S NEW STORY IS A WINNER

Priscilla Dean has an excellent story in her first starring vehicle for Metropolitan Pictures Corporation under the direction of Edward Dillon. It is "The Danger Girl" and is an adaptation of "The Bride" a stage play written by George Middleton and Stewart Oliver, which proved most successful. It will be on view at the Lyric Theatre Monday and Tuesday. "The Danger Girl" is a mystery melodramatic motion picture and one ideally suited to the talents of Priscilla Dean, who is known throughout the world as the dramatic screen star. In this production Miss Dean is surrounded by the best array of screen talent extant—players who have distinguished themselves by their remarkable performances on the screen. John Bowers has the leading man's role. Arthur Hoyt, whose friends and admirers are legion, has an important comedy part. Gustave Von Seyffertitz, whose work in "The Goose Woman" was great favor, has in "The Danger Girl" another characterization more powerful and mystifying than anything he has ever done. Strikers Driven Out By Sheriff's Forces PASSAIC, N. J., May 1. (AP)—Several hundred persons gathering in front of Belmont Park, Garfield, for a meeting to test the sheriff's power to prohibit assembly during operation of the riot act, were driven away today by deputies armed with riot guns and uniformed policemen with clubs. There was no clash between strikers and officers.

MANY BEAUTIES TO ATTEND REVUE AT GALVESTON

GALVESTON, Texas, May 1. (AP)—The "Sunny South Special," as the train bearing the excursionists from Iowa and Nebraska to the first International Pageant of Pulchritude and seventh annual Bathing Girl Revue, Galveston May 15-17, is to be called, is going to be a "veritable trainload of beauties," according to advices received from I. G. Miller, district passenger agent of the Missouri Pacific Lines at Omaha. Besides the guest of honor, "Miss Nebraska," the candidate for international beauty honors selected by the Omaha Daily News, which paper is also sponsoring the special, more than a dozen other entries in the pageant will board the train en route. "Miss Canada" coming from Winnipeg, will join the party at Omaha, as will "Miss Lincoln" and "Miss Sioux City." Other beauties and their chaperones who will ride the special are "Miss Little Rock," "Miss Hot Springs," "Miss Texarkana," "Miss Monroeville," "Miss Jefferson City," "Miss Parnassus," "Miss Pine Bluff," "Miss El Dorado," "Miss Alexandria" and "Miss New Orleans." This announcement has had much to do with the deluge of invitations for stopovers, from many cities en route. Promises of automobile sight-seeing tours, dances, receptions, luncheons, barbecues, fish fries, and even boxing matches and athletic meets, are held out to the mid-westerners by civic organizations and the mayors of a score of more cities. As many as possible of these invitations will be accepted. Among the scheduled stops already arranged for are Hot Springs National Park, Arkansas oil fields, Ozark mountains, White River region and New Orleans, besides the three days in Galveston for the pageant. The return trip will be made over a different route.

Supplying Service Is Not Like Selling Commodities

If the people of this community have immediate need for a large quantity of building material or groceries or any commodity they go into the market and buy what they need. Such things are made and stored until they are required. This is not the case with electricity, gas, telephone conversations, or transportation, for instance. These must be used as produced or they become useless. They are services. Take the case of this company. Our duty to the community requires that we have capacity always ready to supply the greatest demand for Light and Power service that may be made upon us by our customers. It also requires that our facilities be ready ahead of immediate demands so that the community may grow. The service of Light and Power is one of the vital things in which the interest of the people served makes it important to them that they be familiar with it and understandingly cooperate so that it shall be sufficient for the present and have a margin to grow on.

COTTON GOODS REPORT

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP)—Cotton goods showed a little change today at the opening of the month. Curtailment of 25 per cent of production has started in Southern mills for the goods and silks.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP)—The unfavorable British labor news was reflected by a moderate decline at the opening of the cotton market today.

The market opened steady at a decline of two to eight points under liquidation by recent buyers and some Southern or local selling which was probably inspired by the weakness of Liverpool and the British labor troubles.

AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY RAPIDLY DISCARDING 'HORSE AND BUGGY' INHERITANCE, DODGE BROS. SAY

The automobile industry is rapidly discarding the last vestige of its "horse and carriage" inheritance.

Since the first buggy was equipped with a gasoline motor, carriage builders' methods have directed body construction. The contour has, of course, changed radically since those early days. But in many cases bodies are still built around a wooden frame, over which is placed a thin sheet of metal, a compromise between the carriage and the modern motor car.

The modern trend is discussed by J. R. Edwards, writing in the Automobile Digest, who said that automobile designers all over the world are dissatisfied with composite wood construction and art following new paths.

"Designers," he said, "are dissatisfied with the old combination of wood and metal bodies. In their quest for a suitable one, they have taken opposite paths, one (the European group of designers) to a body of wood with a cloth covering that is flexible in every part, and the other (the American designers) to a steel body designed to remain inflexible. Which will become the final type, time will tell, but the less flexible, all-metal body would seem to have the superior handicap."

Of the steel body, he said: "Due to the greater strength of steel, much less of this material need be used. Moreover, steel is a more tractable material than wood, and it can be formed into sections that provide even greater strength for the amount of material used than is apparent from the relative strength of steel and wood. A pillar or beam can be constructed of steel that will not only be stronger than a similar one of wood, but also lighter.

"These bodies may be built with steel framing that are both stronger and lighter than similar bodies built upon a foundation of wood. This feature not only makes possible a lighter and stronger body, it also allows many providing more room inside the body with the same outside dimensions.

"The pillars between the doors in closed bodies and between the doors and the windshield, may also be made smaller, allowing clearer vision. More than one accident has occurred because a portion of the road was concealed from the driver by a wide strip of body between the front door and the windshield.

"It is in the frame joints, however, that the biggest advantage in the all-metal frame is to be had. With metal these joints may be riveted or welded together, making the several parts as firm as if they were actually one piece. There are no screws to loosen, under repeated strains and twists or from swelling of the wood under seasonal changes.

"From the standpoint of safety, the steel body leaves little to be desired. The principal reason for the modern all-steel road coach is the safety to passengers it affords in case of a wreck. There is no reason why the all-steel automobile body should not furnish a proportionate amount of safety in case of an automobile accident, particularly cases involving a turnover of a closed body job. A modern all-steel body has sufficient strength to support its chassis in practically any type of turnover, excepting, of course, a drop down over the side of a precipice, and even in such a case it should furnish more protection than a body whose principal framing is of wood."

"That the degree of safety found only in all-steel construction is influencing sales in the automobile field to a marked degree, is evidenced by the enormous production of those manufacturers, who are standardizing on this type of body.

Dodge Brothers, Inc., for example, who use only the all-steel body, are enjoying the greatest volume of business in their history. They were first to break entirely away from the time-worn wood or composite bodies and enter the field of thoroughly modernized construction—the all-steel construction.

2 DEPARTMENTS IN OLDS PLANT COMBINED
In recognition of the close connection between automobile service and sales, these two departments of Olds Motor Works have been correlated by the appointment of a service promotion manager who will work under the direction of D. S. Eddins, general sales manager. T. H. Stambaugh, who has had extensive automotive experience both in sales and service, has been appointed to the position.
Mr. Stambaugh is a native of Lansing, Michigan, where Olds Motor Works is located, and his first position was with that company. After a year with Oldsmobile, Mr. Stambaugh spent three years in banking and then joined the Maxwell Motor company both in the factory and as a field service man.
Following a year's service in the Marine Corps, Mr. Stambaugh took charge of service in the Denver zone for the Chevrolet Motor company. He was transferred to Sheridan Motor Car company when General Motors organized that division, and later joined the Durant Motor company of Indiana as service manager. He was later made assistant to the general manager, continuing in that position until transferred to Flint as assistant to the general manager of the Flint Motor company, which position he held until coming with Oldsmobile.

BRITON PLEASD PERFORMANCES WITH HUP-8

Edgar N. Duffield, British automobile authority, is enthusiastic over the Hupmobile Eight, which he recently put through its paces over British roads. Writing in The Auto, leading English motor magazine, he says, in part:

"I am nothing if not candid. I have never sat behind a more wonderful motor than this of the Hupp. Until its air-intake was really fierce I could not hear the engine, and even when the car was running at a pace which I have not the hardihood to mention in cold printer's ink, there was only the faintest sibilance of the carburetor to be heard."

"Of course the engine will run very slowly. It should. One expects good slow-running from such an engine. But the surprise, to me, was the remarkable stream of power available. That there should be plenty of power from an engine of such volume was intelligible; but the joke was that even when the yield was at its most sensational, this engine was still a pattern of refinement."

"There are very few faster cars on the road than a Hupp straight eight. I wondered if the speedometer-reading was dependable, because when this car is progressing at quite an immoral pace she rides so sweetly as to feel not at all fast. I therefore checked the meter by Portsmouth Road mile-stones, to find it as near right as makes no odds. I do not doubt it now; but that makes only safer my statement that there are very few cars on our roads potentially faster than a Hupp straight eight. Her acceleration from 25 to 50 miles per hour is electrical, and as free from fuss or noise as can be wished."

'TRADE INS' WILL FEATURE TIRE SALE

Featuring "Trade Ins," something which is said to be new in this section of the country, the Howell Oil Company, General Tire dealers will open a gigantic tire sale Tuesday morning at the 555 Pilling station, Main street and Avenue M. E. L. Howell, one of the owners told the Journal yesterday.

According to the announcement made by Mr. Howell his company will accept old tires as part payment of new General tires and every effort will be made to make it "worth every motorist's while" to purchase new General tires during this sale.

"Tires values beyond compare will be offered during this sale," Mr. Howell stated, "and bargains which will bring everyone's attention are being offered."

The sale starts promptly at eight o'clock Tuesday morning and will continue for an indefinite time.
NEW YORK, May 1. (AP) — The New York State Athletic Commission today paved the way for a welterweight champion fight here by declaring Jack Dempsey eligible and by granting Tex Rickard a license to stage open-air boxing shows at the Yankee stadium.

NEW WILLYS-KNIGHT SIX SEVENTY DEVELOPS GREATEST POWER, TEST COMPILED BY FACTORY INDICATE

Tests recently completed by the engineering department of Willys-Knight Six Seventy motor show that this power plant develops greater horsepower per cubic inch of piston displacement, throughout its entire range than any other stock American built automobile engine.

The motor in this car is of the high speed type with a bore 2 1/16 inches and a stroke of 4 1/2 inches. This gives a piston displacement of 158 cubic inches and the maximum motor efficiency is gained at a speed of 3400 rpm.

At this point, the actual developed energy is 53 brake horsepower which is the highest power ever attained in any American built motor of stock design, per cubic inch of displacement.

The results, in performance, are shown in very rapid acceleration, a pronounced ability on hills and a speed range well in excess of 60 miles an hour for the sedan model.

In general, the principles employed in the construction of the Willys-Knight Six-Seventy are in line with the European type of construction, concerning which there is universal interest at the present time. The European builders have concentrated their energies in building motors of high power development. It is interesting to note that the only stock motor in the world, which equals the Willys-Knight Six-Seventy is a Knight sleeve-valve motor built by the Daimler Motor Co., of Coventry, England.

An advantage of Knight motor construction in developing high speed motor operation is found in the fact that it is not necessary to utilize a valve design which may readily be rendered inefficient through the action of the exhaust gases on the valve mechanism.

The construction of the sleeves which control the intake and exhaust operations in the Knight type motor is such that motor speed may be increased without results that are detrimental to the long life and continued performance of the power plant.

The country may now look forward eagerly to a special Muscle Shoals section of the Congressional Record—Indianapolis Star.

Defendant Wins Case Involving Lease On Building

A decision favoring the defendant in the case of J. J. Richards vs. J. M. Peddy, et al, involving the lease on the brick business building at the corner of Main and Ave. G here, was handed down by Justice W. E. Johnson in Justice of the Peace court here late Friday afternoon.

The case grew out of a lease contract given by plaintiff Richards to defendant Peddy and his partners in the Texas Tire and Vulcanizing Company, and a later change in majority ownership in the business. It was brought out in testimony during trial of the case that plaintiff had refused to renew the lease in the event that controlling interest in the business was sold by Peddy and associates at the time renewal of the lease was brought up for discussion. Testimony brought out the fact that controlling interest in the business was sold to Peddy and associates, but that the deal did not involve in any manner the lease on the building.

The law firm of Vickers, Campbell and Schenck represented the defendant, and the plaintiff was represented by Attorneys R. A. Sowder, and Homer L. Pharr.

No appeal in the case had been filed by the plaintiff Saturday, but counsel intimated that such a move was contemplated.

Texas Solon Fights Old French Claims

WASHINGTON, May 1. (AP) — Representative Box of Texas today attacked in the House the proposal to settle three million dollars French reparation claims arising from damage to American shipping by the French prior to 1891.

He said recognition of such claims would establish a precedent under which countless claims would raise in the future.

The Senate yesterday placed at the bottom of the calendar a bill for settlement of the claims.

TEXACO GASOLINE

What it Does

(1) IT GIVES YOU A QUICKER START
On account of the low initial boiling point, and high percentage of the volatile fractions which vaporize quickly in a cold engine.

(2) IT GIVES YOU A QUICKER PICKUP
Because of its higher volatility and low end point, it forms a dry gas in the manifold which feeds evenly to the cylinders and avoids flooding.

(3) IT GIVES YOU MORE MILES PER GALLON
Because it works best on a leaner mixture—more air, less gas. This insures fuel economy that shows itself in more miles per gallon.

(4) IT GIVES YOU RELIEF FROM CARBON OR SPARK KNOCK
Because it has anti-knock qualities and smooth combustion characteristics tempered to engine needs.

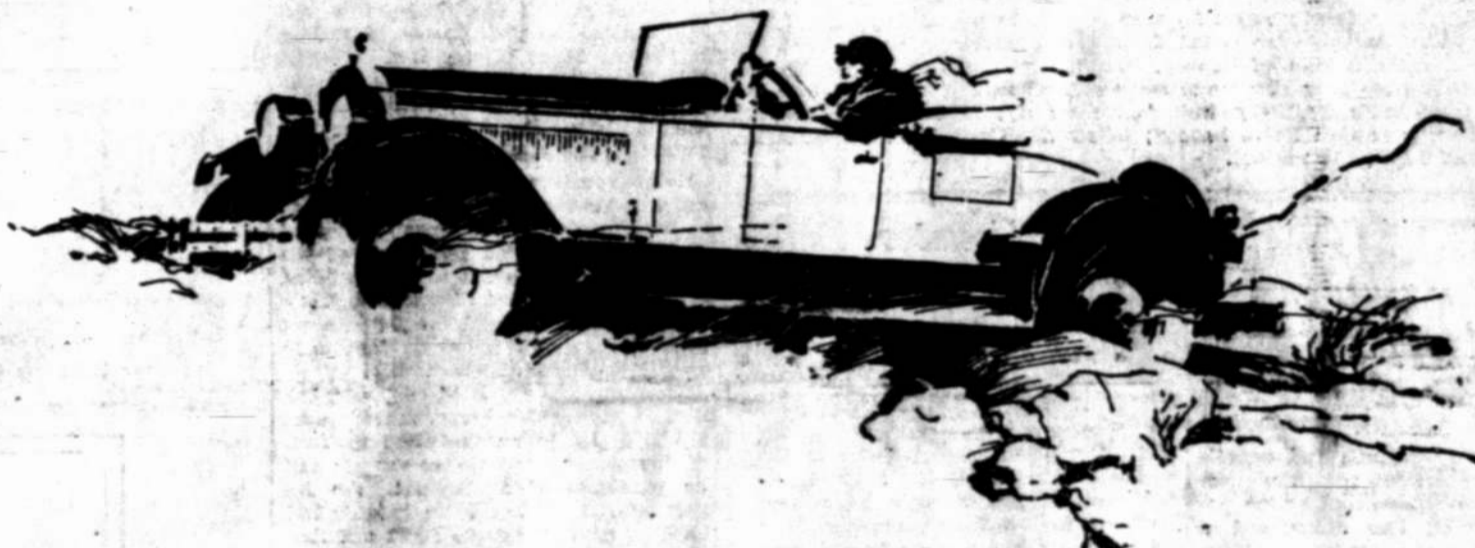

(5) IT GIVES YOU BETTER LUBRICATION
Gasolines with heavy ends do not vaporize and burn completely. They dilute the crankcase oil because the liquid gasoline cuts the oil film and seeps past the piston rings.

The new Texaco Gasoline leaves no heavy ends. It forms a dry gas. It burns completely. It does not flood the cylinders. All this means less crankcase dilution, hence better lubrication.

Supreme for a Generation

TWENTY-SIX years ago the first Packard car was built by a wealthy man for his own use. It was the finest car he knew how to build. Friends who wanted the best regardless of price ordered cars from him. So was a business born.

And that business, started as a rich man's hobby, has now grown to be the largest builder of truly fine cars in all the world.

For as the public has learned to use sound business judgment in buying motor cars, Packard volume has grown, costs have been lowered, and the saving resulting from vastly increased production passed on to Packard buyers. Packard cars of today are finer cars by any standard of comparison than Packard ever built before. Yet they cost far less than the Packards of even ten years ago.

Packard engineering supremacy has been proven again and again—on land, in the air, on the water. Packard beauty and distinction have been acclaimed and imitated the world around. Packard comfort and performance have been impressed by the most extraordinary tests.

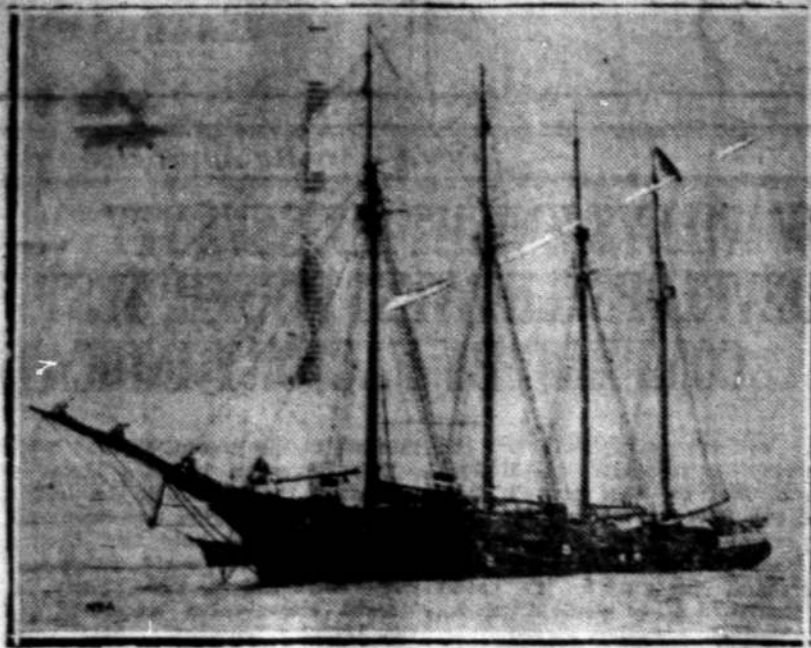

And when Packard prices and Packard's liberal monthly payment plan are considered, it is not surprising that nearly twice as many Packard cars were sold last year as in 1924.

Missing 130 Days, Makes Port With All Safe

Missing at sea for 130 days, the prey of alternate storms and calms, the four-masted schooner Irene finally made its way to San Pedro, Calif., after being given up as lost. The schooner sailed from Grays Harbor, Wash., Dec. 14, for Miami, Fla., with a load of lumber, but was driven far off its course. There were raucous cries about one more day when it finally reached the harbor. But the crew's first cry was, "Give us a smoke." Upper picture shows the schooner in San Pedro harbor; below are Captain and Mrs. Allen E. Rosendal and Irene, the mascot.

NEW RECORDS SET IN SHIPPING OF AUTOMOBILES

Recent summary of statistics on the automotive industry as compiled by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce show a new March shipping record established by the entire industry. March, 1926, shipments for the industry were increased 19 per cent over the March, 1925, shipments. March reports issued by Olds Motor Works, Lansing, Michigan, covering actual Oldsmobile retail sales show an increase of 31.3-19 per cent for March this year over March last year.

The automotive industry in its entirety made a 19 per cent increase in March shipments over shipments of February this year, while the increase in Oldsmobile retail sales for the same periods is 33.3-18 per cent. For the entire first quarter of 1926 according to the statements of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, the automotive industry gained 26 per cent in shipments over the same periods during 1925. Oldsmobile retail deliveries for this same period show an increase of 65.4-10 per cent over the first quarter of last year. While the bulk figures for the industry show a marked increase in production the Oldsmobile figures are based on actual retail deliveries and are indicative of a remarkable gain in public preference for Oldsmobile expressed in actual sales to consumers.

Preliminary reports for the first ten days of April and orders on hand at Olds Motor Works according to statements issued at their plant at Lansing, Michigan, indicated a new all time record in monthly retail sales during April.

FIRE PREVENTION MEANS IN TEXAS SHOW GAIN

HOUSTON, May 1. (AP)—Enthusiastic reports concerning fire prevention measures taken in a number of Texas cities have reached here from the headquarters of the National Fire Protection Association at Boston. A field engineer of the association has commended the authorities of Dallas, Galveston, Fort Worth and Wichita Falls for their efforts toward the elimination of fire hazards. Austin, he reports, is seriously deficient in fire protection facilities.

Dallas receives the most enthusiastic praise from the association's engineer. A fire prevention cabinet composed of city officials and members of the chamber of commerce, a new building code; an inspection bureau with a force of four men and hearty support from the press are cited as factors in reduction of Dallas fire losses. Houston, says the field engineer, has shown considerable improvement over 1925 fire protection facilities through the increase of the water supply and the purchase of a fireboat. An inspection bureau has been established, the duty of which is to ferret out first hazards and eliminate them.

LETTER OF TEXAN RECALLS DAYS OF FIGHTING

LIBERTY, Tex., May 1. (AP)—Among the "Texans" that has come to light revealing the high hopes and deep despair of that critical period in the history of the state when force of arms was resorted to which led to the establishment of an independent political entity of the Lone Star State is a letter written by Provisional President David G. Burnet to Judge William Duncan of Trinity shortly before the decisive battle of San Jacinto. The letter is in the possession of Mrs. Julia D. Welder of Liberty, a grand-daughter of the recipient.

At the time the letter was written, the Texas Declaration of Independence had just been adopted and many of the colonists, fore-seeing a perilous era were returning to the United States. As a result of Provisional President Burnet's letter, Judge Duncan experienced a change of heart and was so impressed with the confidence expressed by the provisional president that he not only enlisted in the Texas army, but sent his son, William B. Duncan, a beardless youth of 15, to serve under William M. Logan on the Mexican frontier.

The letter, which the provisional president freely underlined for emphasis, follows: Oakland, Wed. 23 Mch 1836. Wm. Duncan, Esq. Dear Sir: I write in great haste and only to say to you that I feel great unwillingness to have you sacrifice a choice league of land by a precipitate leave.

ing the country. You will believe that I have some means of being informed in relation to the public affairs—and I know you will believe that I would not purposely deceive you.

It is my clear and decided opinion that the Mexican forces will never cross the Brazos river. They may possibly cross the Colorado but I do not believe they will. The casualties of war are to be sure very uncertain—but if we can keep the enemy at bay for two months, Texas will be safe—free and INDEPENDENT. It is too late now to wrangle about little matters of policy. The question for us to determine is whether we will abandon Texas and go back poor and out of buying or whether we will manfully defend the country and reap a rich reward of all our toils and privations. I have adopted the latter resolution, and mean to carry it out. It gives me pain to see any of my old friends about to make a hasty sacrifice of valuable land that will at no remote period abundantly compensate them for all their sufferings. I would not mislead you and that I am only prompted by a friendly feeling for you and your family.

In haste, yours,
David G. Burnet.

NEW TEXACO GAS WELL RECEIVED BY PUBLIC

After years of research and experiments, the Texas Company, a pioneer firm in the development of better petroleum products, has announced a gasoline, advertised extensively as The New and Better Texaco Gasoline. E. M. Jones, local agent for the Texas Company stated here Saturday.

The gasoline has been made possible in commercial quantities through the Holmes-Massey process, a patented method of refining that is owned and controlled exclusively by the Texas Company, Mr. Jones said. The new product is not a mixture with benzol or with any other similar product or chemical; it contains no dopes or poisons; it is a pure unadulterated gasoline produced from selected crude oil.

The new product has met an exceptionally popular reception since its introduction here just a day or two ago, Mr. Jones said, and it is standing up to every requirement claimed for it through the producing company.

Five cardinal virtues were cited by Mr. Jones in claiming superiority of this new product over other mixtures as follows:

It gives you a quick start on account of the low initial boiling point and high percentage of vaporization. It gives a quicker pick-up because of its higher volatility and low end point, forming a dry gas in the manifold which feeds even and avoids flooding. It gives more miles per gallon, because it works best on a leaner mixture which insures fuel economy that shows itself in more miles per gallon. It shows relief from carbon of spark or spark knocks, because it has antiknock qualities and smooth combustion characteristics tempered to engine needs. It gives better lubrication because it leaves no heavy ends forming a dry gas and burning completely not flooding the cylinders with the result that less crankcase dirt is encountered.

In making this new gasoline, the Texas Company has made an important contribution to driving pleasure and economical operation of the automobile. Mr. Jones said, and the development of this most satisfactory motor fuel is in accord with the Texaco policy of keeping just a little ahead of others in meeting the demands of the motoring public.

LONDON—Betty Blythe thinks she looks better revealing her ankles. She insisted on showing them in a movie of "She" it developed in her suit against the producer for a salary. The producer thought her change was unjust to the part.

Kiddie Coaster Takes GIRL RIDES ON SKATES Boy To Mother's Home

(By The Associated Press) COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 1. — Homosickness, a pair of roller skates and a kiddie scooter may have set some world's travel records in Ohio today.

Eight year old Edward Davis, Cadiz, Ohio, wanted to see his mother, Mrs. Catherine Davis, in Wheeling, W. V., 25 miles away. So he mounted his scooter and made the trip in five hours afraid to halt passing motorists lest they return him to his sister in Cadiz. A bus driver told her, however, and she brought him back after a sisterly slap.

Roller skates were used by Bessie Hall, 18, stranded with a small show in Piqua, Ohio, in an effort to reach her home in Huntington, W. V. She took the road to Toledo by mistake and skated 35 miles before officials of Wapakoneta, Ohio, found her, foot sore and nearly exhausted. They paid her railroad fare to Huntington.

USED CAR WEEK!

Beginning Saturday, May 1st

Studebaker

Here is a List of
CERTIFIED
Cars We are Offering This Week

Beginning Saturday, May 1st, we will have all our used cars on our Sales room floor for the inspection of the public.

Our used cars are priced to sell and you are protected on your purchase with the nationally known Studebaker pledge to the public on used car sales.

Here is a list of some of the certified used cars we are offering this week:

- 1—1925 Special 6 Studebaker Phaeton.
- 1—1925 Special 6 Studebaker Sport Roadster.
- 1—1925 Standard 6 Studebaker Phaeton.
- 1—1924 Special 6 Studebaker Sedan.
- 1—1924 Special 6 Studebaker 5-Pass. Club Coupe.

Studebaker Pledge to the Public on Used Car Sale

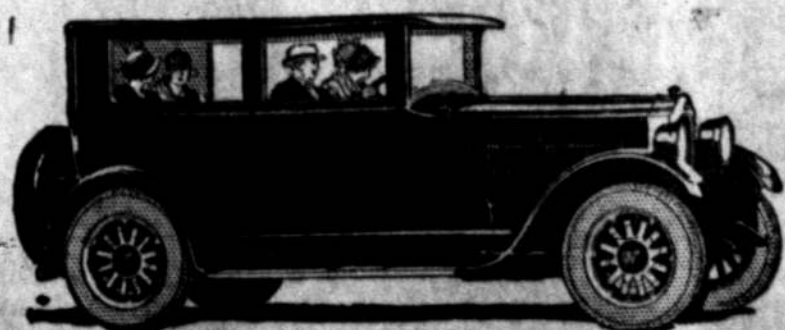

- 1—All used cars offered to the public shall be honestly represented. If a car is suitable only for a mechanic who can rebuild it, or for some one who expects only a few months' rough usage on a camping trip, it must be sold on that basis. Each car must be sold for just what it is.
- 2—All Studebaker automobiles which are sold as CERTIFIED CARS have been properly reconditioned, and carry a 30-day guarantee for replacement of defective parts and free service on adjustments. This is possible because tremendous reserve mileage has been built into every Studebaker, which it is impossible to exhaust in years.
- 3—Every used car is conspicuously marked with its price in plain figures, and that price, just as the price of our new cars, is rigidly maintained. The public can deal in confidence and safety only with the dealer whose policy is "one price only—the same price to all." For to sell cars on this basis, every one of them must be honestly priced to begin with.
- 4—Every purchaser of a used car may drive it for five days and then, if not satisfied for any reason, turn it back and apply the money paid as a credit on the purchase of any other car in stock—new or used. It is assumed, of course, that the car has not been smashed up by collision or other accident in the meantime. Don't be without a good car when you can buy values like these—your investment safeguarded by the Studebaker Pledge. Buy out of income at the lowest time-payment rates known to the industry.

We are Also
Offering the Fol-

Used Cars
at Very Reasonable Prices

- 1—1924 Light 6 Studebaker Touring.
- 1—1923 Special 6 Studebaker Touring.
- 1—1923 Light 6 Studebaker Coupe.
- 1—1923 Light 6 Studebaker Touring.
- 1—1925 Buick Roadster.
- 1—1923 Buick Touring.
- 1—Red Bird Overland Touring—almost new.
- 1—1924 Dodge Touring.
- 1—1922 Dodge Touring.
- 1—1922 Dodge Roadster.

We have several cheaper cars, such as 1925 Ford Roadster; 1924 Ford Touring; Overland Touring; Dodge Touring; Nash Touring; Big 6 Studebaker Touring; Ford Coupes—all very cheap, but too good to salvage.

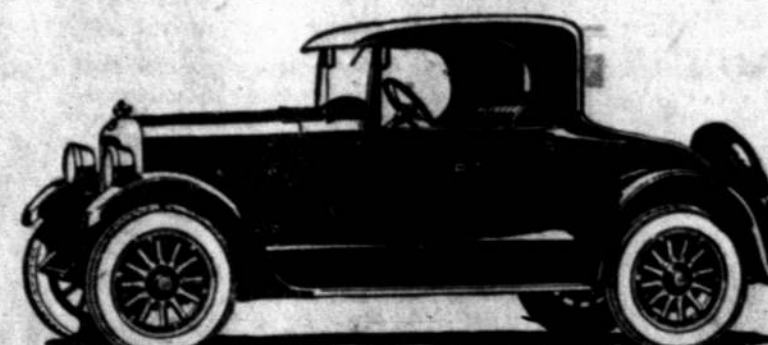

All cars are subject to inspection and will give demonstrations. If you are interested or will be interested you should pick out one to suit you. A deposit will hold one for you. Cars sold on payment plan.

TOURIST ALREADY BEING SEEN ON HIGHWAYS

The advent of balmy weather is the signal for the great spring touring offensive and the vanguard of millions of cars freed of winter operating restrictions are beginning to be seen on highways and by ways headed for "parts remote." The family car will behave with maximum satisfaction on these expeditions if treated to a bit of cleaning up and tuning up before the start of the season, advises the Ford Motor Company. This advice, although directed primarily to approximately nine million Ford cars now in service, is applicable to cars of all makes.

Probably the first feature of the car to be scrutinized is the cooling system, the Ford service bulletin advises. Radiator and jacket should be flushed thoroughly, and if there is any evidence of scale, filled with a solution composed of water and about one and one-half cupsful of soda ash and the motor run for a few minutes. This solution, in turn, should be thoroughly flushed out. An inspection should be made of all connections of the system to make certain that they are tight and any evidence of looseness or poorly fitting connections corrected, especially in the fan and bracket.

In order to remove all particles of carbon from the engine, it is good policy to remove the crankcase bottom cover and clean it thoroughly. Gasoline is the life steam of the motor and care should be exercised that the various features of the fuel system function properly. The sediment bulb should be drained and cleaned and any slight obstructions in the feed line should be blown out.

The need of a thorough oiling and greasing is particularly urgent in the spring because of the fact that during the winter months, this attention is made unpleasant by cold weather. Here, Ford simplicity of construction will be appreciated by the owner for the accessibility of chassis points which require lubrication makes the oiling and greasing job the work of only a few minutes.

Tires will also probably bear some attention before the long tours begin. Every small cut or break in the rubber may harbor some small stone. A piece of glass which is steadily working its way toward the tube. A few minutes of probing will prevent many a puncture.

These features of the Ford car which require frequent and regular attention have been so simplified as to make it possible for the owner to keep his car constantly "in the pink." But for motor adjustment, replacements or other vital service, the owner is advised to place his car in the hands of the dealer from whom he purchased it and is best qualified to know its needs.

U. S. Senator Pat Harrison Proposes Relief For Farmer

WASHINGTON, May 1. (AP)—A motion to bring farm relief legislation immediately before the Senate was made today by Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi.

The motion apparently caught most Senators unawares, but Chairman Ferris of the public buildings committee forced a quorum all and after that debate became general.

Opposing the displaying of the $165,000,000 public buildings bill on the agenda, Senator Lenroot, Republican, Wisconsin, declared "no Senator need fear that agricultural legislation will not be taken up and voted upon before adjournment."

Senator Overman, Democrat, North Carolina, declared twenty states would go without appropriations under the building bill, but this was disputed by Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah.

Senator Overman conceded that $15,000,000 of the total would go to practically all states to complete buildings already authorized.

HUDSON -- ESSEX IN NEW RECORDS IN MARCH

A new high record both for manufacturing cars and for selling them at retail was established by the Hudson-Essex organization in March, according to figures gathered at the Hudson plant and forwarded to distributors and dealers throughout the country.

This was not only the largest March the company ever knew, it was said, but was also the largest month it ever knew, regardless of season.

In the month, more than 31,000 cars were manufactured and shipped, which is an increase of more than 75 per cent over the March of a year ago, which was itself an unusually good month. According to the best information available, this 31,000 cars was the largest number of six cylinder cars ever made and shipped in the history of the industry.

They appreciate it when an organization sets out to save them money on every part of their motor car investment. My experience has been too that the frankness and candor of the A. Y. D. idea is liked best of all. The at-your-door idea lets the buyer know at the start of the transaction just what the car with equipment will cost him, delivered at his door.

"It is a bit of progressive merchandising introduced into the automobile business by Hudson-Essex, and it establishes a practice which I believe is bound to become universal because the real boss of the industry, the public, has shown that it likes it."

Capitol Steps In Jacksonville Easy For A Chevrolet

The two millionth Chevrolet produced by the Chevrolet Motor company recently climbed the steps of the new capitol building at Jackson, Mississippi, while members of the adjoining state legislature viewed the performance.

A heavy rain preceding the event made the climb at a 45 degree angle hazardous, but failed to scatter a crowd of more than 7,000 which waited throughout the downpour. Burned patches of rubber on the steps marked the progress of the coach up the steep incline, indicating the power necessary to make the ascent.

The climb had been negotiated only once before and several powerful types of cars recently failed to arrive at the top.

Many members of the legislature themselves Chevrolet owners, greeted G. Porter Dukes, service manager of the Capitol Chevrolet company, local distributors, as he reached the summit of the capitol entrance. Several ornamental stone pylons on the ascent caused the car to proceed slowly and added to the difficulty of the feat.

After once making the climb, the car backed down, demonstrating the holding power of its brakes, and then repeated the demonstration. The car was a regular stock model and because of being the 2,000,000th Chevrolet produced, had been shipped to various cities of the country for exhibition. The Capitol Chevrolet company planned the stunt as a final showing of the car before selling it to a resident of Jackson.

A parade of several Chevrolet automobiles, driven by their owners and headed by the mounted police division of Jackson and the demonstrating car, preceded the exhibition at the Capitol. Mayor Scott, City Commissioner Hawkins and R. F. Hicks, assistant Chevrolet zone sales manager gave brief talks on completion of the ascent.

DENTISTS ELECT HOUSTON

WICHITA FALLS, May 1. (AP)—Dr. Trim Houston, of Corsicana was chosen president of the Texas State

Dental Society at the closing session of the house of delegates of the convention which closes a three-day session here yesterday. Austin was chosen as the meeting place of the convention for 1927.

PUBLIC HUNTING GROUND SOUGHT BY HUBBY

AUSTIN, May 1. (AP)—Creation of a vast public hunting grounds for the use and pleasure of the "average man" is the ambition of Turner E. Hubby, Texas game, fish and oyster commissioner.

Through the efforts of Commissioner Hubby and other friends of wild life, the 40th Legislature will be asked to designate the 40 mile north shore line of Matagorda Island off the southeast coast as a public hunting grounds. This section is termed by Hubby "a veritable hunter's paradise," as far as duck and goose hunting is concerned. Mr. Hubby is confident the Legislature will find a means of turning over the state owned land to the game, fish and oyster department.

"Something must be done to protect the hunter of small means," Mr. Hubby said. "During the past deer hunting season if a hunter had asked me where he should go to get a deer, I should have been forced to tell him that for such and such a fee he might be able to hunt in a certain pasture. For the life of me, I could not have told him of a single place in Texas where he might hunt deer without paying a fee to protect him from molestation. "Small groups of sportsmen are banding themselves and obtaining exclusive rights to hunt in a certain area. Some of these groups are willing to pay fabulous prices for the privilege. "There are a number of companies that would give much money for the right to control hunting privileges on Matagorda Island, for example. The state should make it possible for the average citizen, who gets to hunt only a few days of the season, to enjoy all the advantages of this hunter's paradise."

Creation of the state shooting grounds is not the only measure to be sponsored in the 40th Legislature by friends of conservation, among them Senator A. E. Wood of Granger and Representative O. H. Fetich of Fredericksburg.

A bill will be introduced providing for the appointment by the governor of a game commission of five non-salaried members with power to name the chief warden, who would be the executive head of the department. "We thought at first that the commission should be composed of three members; but Texas is so big it will be necessary to appoint five commissioners. If every section is to be represented, such a scheme would do much toward eliminating politics from the department."

Even more important than the appointing of the non-salaried commission is the changing of the name of the department to the State Department of Conservation, Commissioner Hubby believes.

"The name 'Game, Fish and Oyster department' appeals to but few persons. Practically every one is interested in the conservation of our resources, particularly of wild life. I believe the change would enlist the interest of thousands of Texans." Establishment of a 10,000 acre "farm" for the propagation of wild game life is still another proposal near the heart of Commissioner Hubby. He proposes to purchase this tract from the $460,000 in the special game fund. Deer, quail and other game raised on this tract would be distributed over the state.

Tree At Canyon Is Dedicated To Worker In P. T. A.

CANYON, May 1.—A new tree to be known as the Kendrick Elm now stands on the campus of the West Texas State Teachers college. The tree was planted April 23 by representatives of the Eighth District Parent-Teachers association, of which Mrs. J. I. Kendrick is president.

The tree is a Chinese Elm, chosen because it is sturdy and of rapid growth. Mrs. L. A. Ledbetter, State Director of Health in the Parent-Teacher association organization had charge of the ceremonies. She said: "This tree, which I shall name the Kendrick Elm is symbolic of the Parent-Teachers association. The national organization is the root, the state organization is the trunk, the local organizations are the branches, and the leaves are the individual members. As no part of the tree can live without the other parts so no part of the Parent-Teachers association can live to itself."

by reading Joyce Kilmer's poem "A Tree." President J. A. Hill, of the West Texas State Teachers college, Mrs. J. A. Hill, president of the College Training School Parent-Teachers association, Mrs. J. M. Crain, Mrs. J. E. Griggs, Mrs. Robert McGee, president of the Canyon public school Parent-Teachers association, and other officers of the Eighth District P. T. A. assisted in the ceremony.

An interesting touch was added to the ceremony by the presence of Mr. H. N. Cass, father of Mrs. Robert McGee, who as he placed his shovels of dirt around the tree roots said: "Two days after I am 53 years old, I help to plant this tree."

Officers of the Eighth District say that tree-planting will be a regular feature of their annual meeting. Mrs. J. I. Kendrick, in whose honor it was named, has been re-elected president of the Eighth District P. T. A. and will serve two years more in this capacity.

Legislature To Be Asked For Features

DALLAS, May 1. (AP)—The next Legislature will be asked to vote increased appropriations for music teaching in public schools and provide 500 acres in the Davis Mountains for a creative art center for Texas artists, says the legislative program reported today to the Texas Federal of Music clubs annual convention by Mrs. Charles J. Moore of Austin. "There are rural schools all over the State where the children don't even know the national anthem," Mrs. Moore declared.

"EXCLUSIVE CHEVROLET SERVICE"

QUALITY AT LOW COST

Ford Highest in Quality

When you know the facts about the materials used in Ford manufacture, you can readily understand why Ford cars serve their owners so long and dependably—for, after all, the basic quality of a motor car must be largely determined by the materials out of which it is built.

Take, for instance, steels—which comprise the major portion of the materials used in automotive manufacturing today.

No automobile, regardless of cost, can have more durable or more satisfactory steels than you get in a Ford—because Ford steels are the finest available for the purpose.

The upholstery used in Ford closed cars contain a much larger percentage of wool than is ordinarily specified. This is necessary because Ford upholstery must last a long time—like the rest of the car. Genuine polished plate glass is used for Ford windows and windshields.

The story is the same for every item of material used in Ford manufacture. If it isn't the very best obtainable for the purpose, it isn't used. It is logical that such extreme care in the selection of materials should result in a car that is without an equal when it comes to enduring service.

Lowest in Price

Yet—with all the recognized quality of Ford cars—Ford prices are the lowest in the world. Conditions that are absolutely unique in the automotive industry make this possible.

Every manufacturing operation, from mining of ore to final assembly, is under direct control of the Ford Motor Company. Iron is taken from Ford mines in Michigan; coal from the Company's mines in Kentucky and West Virginia. Ford glass plants produce the glass for windshields and windows; wood comes from Ford timber tracts.

Raw material and finished products are carried over Ford-owned transportation routes; coke ovens, blast furnaces, steel mills, foundries and saw mills—all are part of this complete organization.

In this way every possible manufacturing economy is effected. Under any other circumstances, Ford cars would cost a great deal more than they do.

A SPECIAL TRADE-IN SALE

Values Beyond Compare in the Tire Industry

Now is the time to buy your General tires for the year. Take advantage of our Trade-in Sale.

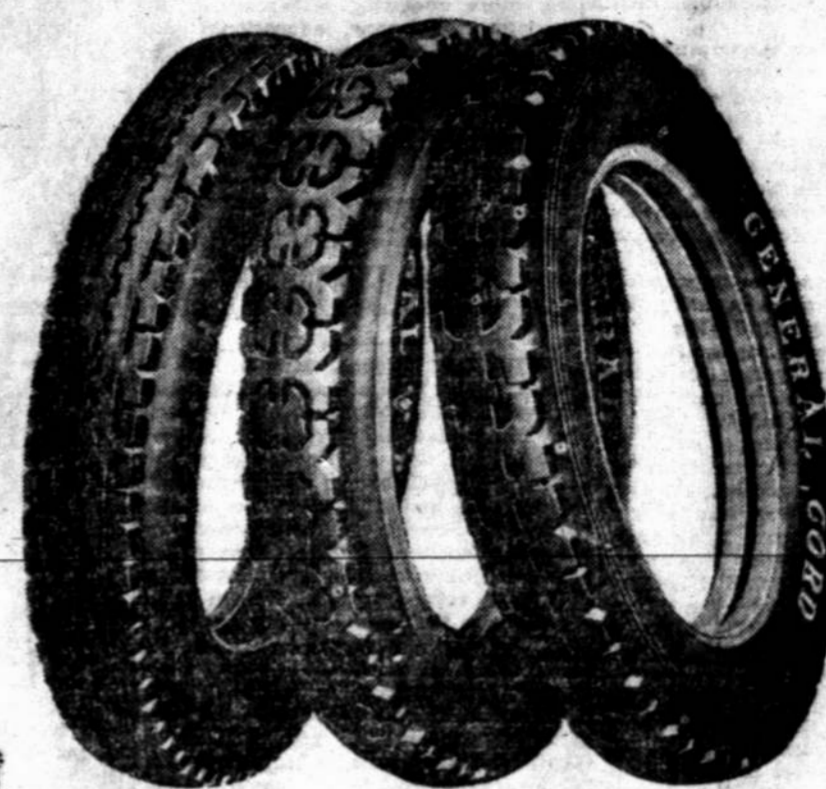

You can get going on Generals right now without sacrificing a single mile of the wear left in your old tires.

Our Trade-in Sale gives you an advantage over today's tire prices. In this sale we offset the cost by making special allowances on your old tires.

We are going to take into consideration the fact that when the high cost of rubber caused tire prices to rise, it also increased the value of the tires already on your car.

You can cash in that increased value by trading in those old tires now.

And plus that, they have a special trade-in value with us if they are tires you put into use before last September.

The Big
EXTRA ADVANTAGES

only Generals will give you

Mileage Incomparable

So many instances of the second 10,000 miles, and even the third, or more, that you hear our customers talking about it wherever you go.

Riding Comfort Unequaled

Because of General's low-pressure leadership in all sizes, both regulars and balloons, you really know the meaning of low-pressure comfort after you have taken your first ride on Generals.

Car Economy

The saving to the life of the motor and the car itself is due not only to General's low-pressure protection of body and mechanical parts, but also the minimum rolling-resistance in the tires, which makes every ounce of the motor's power count for the most and gets it over the hills with the least effort. It adds months and even years to the life of the motor itself.

Gasoline Saving

Due to the same feature of less rolling-resistance, you save gasoline when you ride on Generals. Sometimes the saving is as high as 20 per cent.

Trade in Your Tires for General
6-ply Balloons

Owners of the heavier cars now realize the tremendous advantages of the General 6-ply balloon—hundreds are changing to this improved balloon tire.

To run on General 6-ply balloons is to know real tire comfort and satisfaction—more mileage—no more punctures, than regular-size tires—the greatest riding comfort you ever experienced.

Reproductions from Saturday Evening Post, Collier's and Literary Digest, showing General's stand against the growing practice of substituting reclaimed rubber for new rubber in tires.

*You can't save rubber
by using less of it*

BY W. O'NEIL, PRESIDENT OF THE GENERAL TIRE & RUBBER COMPANY, AKRON, OHIO

In the news of the day practically every statement regarding rubber conservation supports the idea that rubber can be saved by using a few pounds less of it in a tire. This means substituting cheaper compounds, a growing practice that is not only short sighted but extravagantly wasteful. It is as fundamentally wrong as the subterfuge of putting sand in sugar or water in milk.

Putting shoddy or reclaimed rubber in tires does not save rubber. It reduces the cost of the tire several dollars but at the same time, by diluting the quality of the entire rubber structure, it takes out two-thirds of the wear.

This goes deeper than the tread rubber. It affects the quality throughout in the important rubber cushions that insulate and protect the costly fabric carcass. In addition the blowing out of inner tubes must be considered. This means more trouble on the road and the buying of more tubes.

Such saving of a few pounds of rubber in making a tire gives the consumer a negligible cut in his initial tire cost but a greatly increasing running cost. Using three sets of tires and tubes to go the distance one set of the best quality will travel, certainly does not save rubber.

The way to conserve rubber is to use it in whatever generous quantities are required to manufacture a tire that lowers the owner's cost per mile by giving the longest possible wear.

A policy of building more miles into a tire does more for rubber conservation than any efforts to save rubber by using less of it.

It's the second 10,000 miles that makes the big hit.

No matter how much or how little your present tires have been used, it will pay you to attend this Trade-in Sale.

As exclusive distributors of the General Tire, we are in the proud position of having a product that has not been tampered with.

There is no reclaimed rubber used in the General Tire, carcass or tread. This rigid maintenance of the same standard of quality as always has cost General a tremendous figure.

But the commendation coming from the press and the public, from bankers and business men everywhere, proves that General makes no mistake in keeping faith with public ideals, in sticking to the highest principles of manufacture.

It is such sound policies as this that in just ten years have brought this tire into foremost rank in nation-wide car-owner and commercial-user preference.

And now, with the quality of the General Tire more outstanding than ever before, we want more and more new customers to get acquainted with Generals—to get started on the tire that will hold their trade for life by sheer merit of unmatched quality and by delivering the longest mileage ever heard of in a tire.

We want every car owner in our city and vicinity to know about the General Tire. It stands so completely in a class by itself and is so sure to hold for years every customer starting with us now, that we are going to make it worth every man's while to come in during this Trade-in Sale.

CHEVROLET SHOWS CART CUT IN TWO SECTIONS

Recognizing the intense interest of the motorist in details of automobile construction which are ordinarily visible only during building processes, the Chevrolet Motor Company has prepared a coach with both body and chassis cut completely in two sections. Real "inside information" regarding the improved features of the new Chevrolet is obtained by a glance at the new cut-away model. Contrary to the practice of the old-time merchant who used to "put the best apple on top" this model exemplifies the policy of the motor car industry in seeking to give as full information as possible to the non-technical motorist who insists on knowing what is underneath the surface.

The interior of the motor and chassis are laid bare in every detail and every feature of the body—windshield and floor have been cut through, presenting a complete picture of materials and methods used in building the car. How durability and comfort are built into the modern automobile are graphically shown.

Cylinder walls and housings covering various moving parts have been cut open permitting a full view of the new light skeleton pistons, the improved lubrication system, advanced rocker arm mechanism and added cooling surface afforded by the new cylinder head construction.

The standard Flyer coach body has been ingeniously dissected, exposing the strong construction and artistic fittings of the closed car. Body-building, an art for centuries demanding the highest degree of skilled artistry since the early days when craftsmen gloried in the title "Coach-builder to the King" is here exemplified in the minutest detail of modern perfection. Impenetrability of the body is shown to have kept pace with the latest advances in chassis engineering.

The cut-away model is to be shipped to various dealers for display throughout the country.

BAPTISTS TO TAKE UP EVOLUTION AT CONVENTION

(By Associated Press.)
HOUSTON, May 1. — Information received here today from Nashville, Tenn., headquarters of the Southern Baptists, indicates that the question of evolution will be presented to the Southern Baptist convention here beginning May 12 and a determined effort made "to thoroughly denounce this theory in all its forms."

A resolution, sponsored by a group of representative pastors and laymen from a majority of the states in the convention territory, has been prepared, which in part follows:

"In view of the widespread agitation over the theory of evolution, as it is made to rest on the Bible account of Creation, and in view of the moral responsibility resting upon Southern Baptists to declare their position in positive terms on the religious issue that the evolution doctrine has brought about.

"Therefore, the Southern Baptist convention, assembled at Houston, Texas, hereby affirms its full and unqualified acceptance of the Bible account of creation, recorded in Genesis, as being a record of literal history given by Divine inspiration to Moses; we repudiate as unscriptural and scientifically false every claim of evolution that declares or implies that man has evolved to his present estate from some lower form of life."

"Hope is expressed by the committee sponsoring the resolution that it will be adopted unanimously and without discussion, so that the body will not have its attention distracted from the chief business for which it was organized."

Twenty persons from almost as many states have sponsored it, including Dr. J. E. Rogers, and Dr. P. M. Masters, Arkansas; Rev. W. S. Locke, Virginia; Ben W. Thomas, Georgia; Rev. J. B. Bounds, Dr. C. V. Morris, Oklahoma; Rev. R. C. Miller, Rev. George L. Hale, Missouri; Dr. John A. Huff, Rev. T. L. Hastings and Rev. T. V. Gaver, Louisiana; Dr. B. L. Motley, Alabama; Dr. W. P. ### COMMITTEES PLAN ENTERTAINMENT FOR WOMEN

HOUSTON, Texas, May 1. (AP) — Twenty-five committees of the most active Baptist Women of Houston have perfected their plans for the entertainment of the three thousand Baptist Women of the South, who will attend the annual Convention of the Woman's Missionary Union, auxiliary to the Southern Baptist Convention, that will be in session here May 10-16.

These representative women will come from the seventeen states of the south and the District of Columbia, composing the territory of the Southern Baptist convention, and will give themselves to a consideration of missions, education and benevolences in their several phases, including stewardship, prayer, and local church activities. About 25,000 local societies and organizations reported to this convention last year, with the prospect that this number will be materially increased this year.

Mrs. W. J. Cox, of Memphis, Tenn., is president of the Union, Miss Kathleen Malloy, Birmingham, corresponding secretary, Miss Juliet Myther, Birmingham, young people's secretary, Mrs. J. C. Lowndes, Baltimore, treasurer, Mrs. H. M. Wharton, Baltimore, recording secretary, and Miss Elizabeth S. Broadus, Louisville, vice-president emerita, while there are incidental vice-presidents and corresponding secretaries for each of the several states.

Good Faculty For Summer School At Canyon Announced

CANYON, May 1. — W. P. Clement, Dean of Wayland college, Plainview, will teach in the department of education of the West Texas State Teachers college during the coming summer session. Dean Clement is well known over the entire area which the Teachers college serves.

E. O. McNew, superintendent of schools at Ranger, will have a place on the summer normal faculty. Mr. McNew served as superintendent at Mineral Wells for several years and is one of the best known superintendents of West Texas. He will teach English history in the summer normal department which begins its work June 8.

M. E. Witt, who has taught in the Lubbock high school for several years and has taught in the summer session at Canyon before is returning to teach Science this summer.

Superintendent C. H. Dillehay, of Hereford, will teach summer normal mathematics.

The summer normal school is given for the benefit of teachers who wish to take state examinations to secure certificates. Only a few Teachers colleges in Texas will offer this work in 1926, and the Teachers college at Canyon has been chosen to serve all of Northwest Texas in this capacity.

Convicts Off to "Living Death"

First photo of convict shipment—France for the first time in two years is sending a shipload of prisoners to Devil's Island, French Guiana—a disease-infested jungle camp that convicts call "the living death." Here is a group embarking, under guard. Notice the types, gray-haired men, Negroes, peasants.

Two-Year Old Bull Is Bought For Herd Here

A two-year-old Jersey bull of the Tormentor breed from the Ed. C. Lester Gold Medal stock was ordered Friday by David F. Eaton, Lubbock county farm agent for the Mathis and Abney herd, six miles south of this city, it was announced here Saturday, bringing the total number of registered merit stock brought to this county the past spring and winter throughout the efforts of Mr. Eaton to eighteen, five of which were pure bred bulls.

The pure bred stock are being brought here as a part of the program of Mr. Eaton to not only increase the number in the various dairy herds throughout the county, but to bring the herds to better efficiency and higher production through pure bred strains.

The two-year-old bull ordered Friday is a grandson of Sophie 18th of the Tormentor breed on the side of his dam, and on his sire's side is a great grandson of the same bull and a grandson of Royal Majestic of St. Cloud, which makes him a grandson of the only two Gold Medal bulls that have been in Texas.

He is out of registry merit cattle on both sides that have made consistent records in production of butter

Humane Society Is To Rise Up To Aid Doomed Roosters

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., May 1. (AP) —The San Antonio Humane Society today announced its opposition to the intended slaughter of 10,000 roosters in this part of Texas.

Death sentences for the male fowls by May 1 have been urged by the agricultural committee of the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce, which said it had the encouragement of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The reason for the wholesale butchery is to prevent continuation of heavy financial loss through quick spoliation of fertile eggs.

Miss Lucy Smithers, Secretary of the Humane Society, today made this statement in opposing the plan:

"The society feels its duty to raise its voice in defense of these fowls which cannot speak for themselves. It does not believe the necessity if great enough for such drastic measures as are proposed. It is violating a provision of nature which may lead to disaster."

NEW YORK—The politicians are talking quite a bit over the fact that Mayor Walker was a guest at the annual ball given by Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hearst. The mayor was in plain evening clothes. Most everybody else was in costume.

WARNING IS ISSUED TO YOUTHS IN THEIR GAMES

Many complaints are coming into police headquarters here in connection with the practice of over-energetic boyhood of the city encroaching on private property in the pursuit of pleasure, according to Chief of Police T. E. May, who Saturday issued a warning that boys in their play must use care in their baseball games or other pleasurable pursuits and not damage property adjoining the scene of their game.

Various citizens complain, the Chief said, that the lawns, flowers, shrubbery, etc. are being trampled down by boys who play baseball on vacant property adjoining theirs, with an occasional broken window light or other damage of this nature.

C. OF C. ORGANIZED AT PETERSBURG TUESDAY

PETERSBURG, May 1.—Every business firm in this city was represented at a meeting held here at which time a chamber of commerce was organized and permanent officers were elected. E. S. Shoat, secretary of the Lockney chamber of commerce assisted in the organization and outlined a membership campaign. Shoat told his audience that his town was glad for him to assist their neighboring towns in perfecting organizations, and that Lockney was proud of the fact that she could call all of the towns of the plains her friends. H. B. Adams, Lockney editor was also present and made an interesting address on organization and cooperation.

The newly elected officers are C. T. Hudleston, president; Charles Shuler, vice president; R. E. Jefferies, secretary and treasurer. Directors, Y. F. Walker, E. B. Shankle, Jess Boyd, Roy McDaniel, and N. W. Sells.

Slaton Merchants Plan To Conduct Weekly Trades Day

Special To The Journal.
SLATON, May 1. — A movement has been started by all of the merchants of Slaton to conduct a weekly trades day, on every Wednesday. Each merchant is to place a special price on one article, and no two merchants are to duplicate the same article. At the close of the first trades day, local merchants expressed themselves as believing that the movement was to be a marked success, though this day was cold and rainy, quite a number of people from the rural district were in Slaton taking advantage of the special bargains which were being offered.

An effort is being made to convince all of the people who live within Slaton's trade territory, that Wednesday is Slaton day.

Mystery of the Titled Beauty and the Beauty Doctor

And How the Courts Will Now Have to Decide Whether Lady Diana Manners Really Had Her Face Made Over Between Shows.

At the left: Photograph furnished by Dr. Henry J. Shireson, Chicago Plastic Surgeon, Purporting to Show Lady Diana Manners as She Appeared Before Her Alleged Operation, With the Features Affected Indicated by Numbers—1, Showing Eye Line; 2, Mouth Line, and 3, the Sagging Chin. At right: Lady Diana as She Looked After the Operation is Alleged to Have Taken Place.

HAS a modern miracle been performed? Did Lady Diana Manners, who plays the part of the Madonna in the spectacular drama, "The Miracle," have her face surgically lifted between shows? Dr. Henry J. Shireson, who claims he wielded the knife on the most beautiful woman in England, is backing his claim in court. Lady Diana, while admitting being used by Dr. Shireson, denies the operation on her face, and states that her mother, the Duchess of Rutland, was the only member of the family to be surgically treated in Chicago.

Dr. Shireson offers to give $5,000 to charity if the scars from his knife cannot be found hidden under Lady Diana's hair. Moreover, he has instructed his attorneys not only to sue the titled actress for his bill, but also for an extra $100,000 due him, he claims, because of the discredit her denial of the operation has cast on him and his profession.

According to the famous beauty surgeon, he performed a "five-angle lift" on Lady Diana and an "eye rejuvenation" as well as a lift on her mother, the Duchess of Rutland. Then came his bill of $1,000 for Lady Diana and $1,500 for her mother. And following the bill came denial by Lady Diana that she ever had the operation. According to Dr. Shireson, there remained nothing else for him to do but to sue.

Dr. Shireson's story of the affair is as follows:

Lady Diana Manners while playing in Chicago met several of his patients, who are outstanding examples of what plastic surgery can accomplish. Among those whom he has operated on have been Fanny Brice, whose nose he straightened; Traly Shat, a famous stage beauty, off whom he carved sixty-four pounds, and Pearl Gardner, a Chicago society girl, who had twenty pounds of fat removed. Dr. Shireson states that Lady Diana therefore called one day at his elaborate offices in the State-Lake building and said:

The Duchess of Rutland, Mother of Lady Diana Manners, Who Admits Having Been Surgically Treated by Dr. Shireson in Chicago at the Same Time Her Daughter Was "Laying There" in "The Miracle."

"I am beautiful enough for any human part, but to play the Madonna in 'The Miracle' I must be ethereal. What can you do for me through the science of plastic surgery?"

According to Dr. Shireson, he outlined the operation that might be performed and Lady Diana immediately made all arrangements for it. The part of the Madonna in "The Miracle" is played by two women, who alternate every third day, because of the tremendous emotional strain of the part. Therefore Dr. Shireson proposed to take advantage of those three days' absence from the stage to perform the operation and permit the preliminary healing.

Following the operation, Dr. Shireson states, Lady Diana returned to her home and rested. Three days later when it became her turn to assume the role of the Madonna on the stage, he says he suggested a slight enlargement of the crown she wears on the stage, to hide the bandages she still had about her forehead, and she was able to go through her performance without even her associates being the wiser as to the operation.

The Duchess of Rutland, mother of Lady Diana, was so pleased with his handiwork on her daughter's face, according to Dr. Shireson, that she became his next patient.

"The Duchess had a complete facial lift," states Dr. Shireson, and she does not deny that she was one of his patients. "She also had quite the latest thing in plastic surgery, 'eye rejuvenation,' which removes the wrinkles from around the eyes. If I do say so myself, they were good jobs, both of them. The Duchess, especially, looks years younger."

But then came the little matter of the bills for the operation, Lady Diana's denial that she had had one, and the suits that Dr. Shireson is bringing.

He states: "Well, they came to my office about their bills. Lady Diana's bill is for $1,000, the Duchess, for $1,500. I guess they forgot they were in America. They began talking right away about deferring payment."

"Lady Diana assured me they were very, very, very much pleased with the work, and that she would recommend me to her very good friend the Queen of Rumania, and goodness knows what other royalty and nobility by way of good measure.

"I said that that was very nice of her, and suggested that a check for $2,500 would be perfectly all right. She mentioned some more names and titles and things. My reputation would be made, I would be hobnobbing with royalty, and, well, what was $2,500 between friends?"

However, Dr. Shireson decided that cold cash means more than coronets, and a check in the hand is worth two promised introductions even to the Queen of Rumania. He therefore called on the courts to do a little financial surgery, and summons were served on both Lady Diana Manners and the Duchess of Rutland just before they left Chicago.

Lady Diana when asked about the little matter of Dr. Shireson's bill allowed her face to be examined and then said: "Am I any different? Are there any scars, or anything to show that I have ever had a facial operation?" She then gave a formal statement denying that she had any connection with a beauty surgeon of Chicago.

Friends of Lady Diana, while they also deny the surgical uplift, suggest that she may have gone through the "plaster" process and so have given rise to the present story. This consists in lifting creases from around the eyes by heavy court plaster pulling the skin up to the temples. They also give a slightly different account of Lady Diana's last visit to Dr. Shireson's office.

According to them, while waiting for the Doctor in his reception room she examined a photograph album and among the pictures found one of herself autographed with her name and ex-tolling Dr. Shireson for his good work with the knife. According to her friends, Lady Diana then removed the picture and asked the beauty surgeon for an explanation of how he obtained the picture with a signature that she did not recognize and which was her name. They claim that Dr. Shireson was a great deal abashed over the incident and was unable to offer an explanation and that Lady Diana neither returned the photo nor said goodby when leaving.

On the other hand, Dr. Shireson claims that the picture of Lady Diana's operation will be found hidden under the edge of her hair.

As he describes a typical face-lifting operation, it consists of a slight cut on each side of the temple. This is then stitched up, the skin of the face being drawn smooth and taut, removing the slack tissue around the chin and mouth, which are the first signs of maturing beauty. The incisions on each side of the forehead is such that an anesthetic is unnecessary, and when they are properly stitched up, leave little trace at all after perfect healing.

"Eye rejuvenation," according to Dr. Shireson, is the latest and most important contribution of plastic surgery. He states that a woman's eyes are the frame for her soul, and if a woman would preserve her charm, it is of fundamental importance that she preserve the youthful look about her eyes. Therefore, to eradicate the wrinkles that gather about the eyes in the early thirties the eye rejuvenating operation is imperative.

This operation consists of a tiny cut in the corner of each eye. The skin is then drawn tightly in, removing all traces of wrinkles, and when sewed up the soul of a woman of forty looks out through the windows of youth, according to Dr. Shireson's claims. In like manner a double chin can be corrected and any other slackness of the face eradicated.

A new departure in plastic surgery, according to Dr. Shireson, is the rejuvenation of bodies. This has been brought about by the demands of fashion for slimmness. According to Dr. Shireson, the technique of such operations is as follows, but should only be attempted by a specialist in the work:

"In abdominal operations and work on the hips, for which recently there has been a large demand, a 'watermelon slice' is used. This removes the surplus fat of hanging abdomens and bulging hips. The skin which is left bagging where the fat has been removed is rolled under and stitched.

"The main point to be remembered in operations on the body is that it is no trick to lop off superfluous fat. Any carver can do that. The real art of fat removal operations consists in shaping the figure while you operate. And the reward is in creating a really beautiful figure of womanhood."

STORY OF COWBOY EVANS, WHO WOULDN'T QUIT

He Laughed In the Face of Misfortune and Turned It Into Fortune

By a Staff Correspondent

Throughout the shallow oil belt of Central West Texas, Cowboy Evans' name is on every operator's lips. It is Cowboy this and Cowboy that, with every one sincerely glad he has made his strike at last—after four years of weary trying.

Until the middle of January of this year Evans was adjudged to be the unluckiest operator in Texas, and the grittiest. He had a clear title both ways. His grit is of a superlative order as you shall see, and as for his luck—well, out of forty holes drilled thirty-eight were so dry they made the scouts thirsty just to look at them.

The unlucky part is happily past now. Cowboy has triumphantly sent home to roost more than one adage of the Oliver Optic and Pluck-and-Luck order. The fellow who said "Genius is ten per cent while stick-to-it-iveness is the other ninety," called Cowboy Evans' card to a turn. His luck came good when he moved his little spudder on to a ten-dollar acre lease in Brown County, brought in the discovery well in the pool now bearing his name, and sold his one-fourth interest to the Humble Company for $75,000.

How He Got His Name— Cowboy!

That's an odd name for an oil man. Of course you want to know how he got it. It was in 1913, when he was still young in the oil business but already well known for his bad luck. A driller said one day, "Say, friend, as an oil man you're a first class cowboy"—and it stuck.

He was a first class cowboy. Or had been. He was born at Pecos in '92 and raised in the saddle. He knew the cattle business as he knew nothing else, and yet, on the Davis Mountains range, they had never called him Cowboy. They just called him El, which happened to be his real name. It remained for a driller to ironically give him the name the oil fraternity knows him by now.

It looked like the driller was right. When Cowboy took his first flyer in oil all he knew about it was that it was black and came out of the ground. He couldn't even hold a job dressing tools, and when he did learn enough to make $50 a month it was literally at the bottom of the ladder. The job consisted of hoisting barrels of fuel oil on a truck and unloading the oil at the rig for the engine. At that it was uplifting work. In fact, consisted exclusively of lifting. But Cowboy had a stout back as well as a stout heart, and got along.

A Wife Worth Having—

This is not to be Cowboy's story alone, but his wife's, too. We'll let you decide—after you have learned about Mrs. Cowboy Evans—why, after all, her husband made a success in the oil game. We are going to tell you about a bride, reared in luxury, following her man in poverty (and it was just that, "black, abject poverty"), with three children and the youngest an infant of two months. In a minute or two Cowboy will tell you that story, with portions of his own. Bear in mind that he is a very modest young man. Much of what we learned about his career was gotten from others. He himself has a horror that his friends will think he is tooting his own horn, and that is something the Evans boys don't do.

A bit of background first.

The Evanses belong to the aristocracy of the Davis Mountains. They have been cattlemen out there since 1884, the year that George Wash Evans crossed the Pecos river to homestead state land for his herd. That grand old patriarch passed on January 13, 1925, leaving behind an estate that had been worth millions and eight boys to carry it on, of whom Cowboy was third to the youngest. The Davis range generally breeds large men, and the Evans boys are mainly small, but what they missed in stature they have made up in backbone.

When the Crash Came—

They showed that in the trying days of 1920-21, after the bottom fell out of the cattle business. When the slump came Cowboy and two of his brothers, Joe and Dub, had 14,000 head of cattle worth $240,000 at $50 a head, 250,000 acres of land in fee and under lease, and $182,000 in working capital. As Cowboy tells it (his story begins here):

"We were apparently making $40,000 a year but actually we were spending $70,000. I knew that meant trouble, and foreseeing the slump I told the boys I was going into the oil business on my own hook and make some money in five years. I picked oil because it was the only business big enough and fast enough to furnish me enough money to redeem my credit. I saw that we could never pull out of debt if we all stayed with the cattle, even if we wore blue duckings. It was plain to me that our only salvation was in raising new money somewhere, and I decided it could be raised in oil."

Joe and Dub were dubious. They feared their venturesome brother couldn't make the grade, especially without some working capital, and they had none to give him. But he told them to watch his smoke, and in November of 1922 pulled out of Pecos—without a dollar.

Lands in Louisiana—

"I went to Shreveport, Louisiana, to look over the shallow pool," said Cowboy. "I had enough sense to know that shallow oil was my game; I couldn't have made even a start toward financing deep drilling. The first thing I did was to secure leases on 500 acres of land. I did that by wading through the swamps and interviewing negro landowners. I got that stuff on five months' drilling contracts—but the pool did not spread that far, and I never made a dollar."

"COWBOY" EVANS

and was sitting in the lobby one night wondering when he would get next—when along came the Kind Hearted Stranger.

"I met a man," said Cowboy simply. "He had oil interests but was too busy to look after them. I said, 'I'll look after them for you in return for my board bill here.' He laughed and replied, 'Go to it.' I saved him $500 on one deal and remitted every penny. He never knew just how broke I was."

Gets His First Job—

Cowboy hadn't gone into the oil business to look after other men's interests. He jumped out again on his own, sold a few leases here and there, and raised enough money to buy transportation to Moran, Texas. He went to Sedwick nearby and "braced" Chandler & Elliott for a job. They were drilling on the Carter farm—the well that subsequently opened the Sedwick pool.

"What kind of a job?" asked Chandler. "What do you know about the oil business?"

"Not a blasted thing," announced Cowboy. "I don't know about anything but to work."

He got the job. It was hauling fuel oil in a truck to two rigs, for $50 a month. Cowboy wasn't used to manual labor and the work nearly killed him for awhile, "but" he said grimly, "I kept 'em going."

Forms a "Partnership"—

He worked on four more wells and began to get acquainted. He had already learned that most oil men were fair and square, and was looking for a partner.

"There was a fellow," he said, "a good driller and a good man owning a good Model H rig, but not a good trader. He couldn't make it. I advised him to quit drilling on a footage basis. I told him he ought to have an interest in every well he drilled. He said capital was needed for that. I said, 'You just pretend that I own half of the rig and let me run it, and I'll show you how to make it pay.' He agreed, and in three days I made a contract to drill a well at a dollar and a dollar-fifty a foot plus a fifty-fifty interest in production."

"We had no money for buying lines. I gathered up junk lines in the field, spliced a line from five pieces, and drilled 225 feet of hole with 300 feet of pipe—all we had—in a bad caving country. The driller adjoining us set three strings of pipe and couldn't get his hole below 700 feet, while we drilled 225 feet with our junk—and got a well."

Started, But Still Broke—

That well started Cowboy Evans in the oil business—but still broke. He was allowed a one-third interest and it netted him only $250 after the bills had been paid.

"It was high time I was making a start," he said. His wife and children had followed him into the oil fields, and they were living in a two-room shack, without chairs, and sleeping on the floor. Mrs. Evans was Jim Powell's daughter, a Davis Mountains girl. When Cowboy had married her in 1914 and in the intervening years until 1922, she had never known the meaning of poverty. In the eight years following their marriage Cowboy had done a turn as manager of the Cowden Cattle Company and had made $25,000 for himself. But she knew all about poverty now. It didn't take any figuring to prove they were very, very poor when Cowboy escorted them to his two-room shack, or when he came home one night and explained the absence of his only suit by saying he had pawned it—for twelve dollars.

"We were paying $15 a month for our shack and owed a month's rent," he said, going on with his story. "I told the owner that our pride wouldn't allow us to remain longer, but that I'd pay him some time—and I did. We moved into a tent next to the shack, and lived there for the next seven months. My oldest child was then seven and the youngest a year old."

What His Father Saw—

Cowboy hadn't written a word to his brothers about his troubles, but they suspected it. One day his old father walked into the tent.

"What he saw nearly broke his heart," said Cowboy. "He didn't do a thing but go home and buy a $250 rig and have it shipped to me."

"From then on," laughed Cowboy, "I began to earn my reputation as the unluckiest operator in Texas. That rig never stopped until I had drilled thirty-three holes with it, and I carried a bet in every hole I drilled. I had decided to make or break myself on that basis of having an interest in every job. In two of the holes I got a little oil, but I didn't make a dime. Bills piled up faster than I could meet them, and I was breaking all records for cheap drilling."

It was March of 1925 before I made a dollar clear out of oil—after drilling forty holes and raising $45,000 out of the blue sky. I drilled ten holes at a total footage of 3,120 feet, moved the rig ten times, bought parts, paid for repairs, and hauled water and fuel—for a total outlay of $1,140. And that included my living expenses from June to October of 1924. In three years I didn't have a suit of clothes and my wife wore her wedding dress around the tent."

Moves to Eastland County—

In October of 1924 Evans moved to Eastland County and drilled a well for $650 cash and a one-third interest. He drilled every foot himself and carried the hole 700 feet in a granite formation and on a fault line. It was his fortieth well—and first. Once more he was flat broke. "From that well," he said, "I moved over to a lease near Pityman to drill two wells for A. A. Hutton, who had put up $1,000 to buy a forty-acre lease offsetting the Doc Sirman pool. The first well was a dandy, 62 barrels flush production—my first real well and the prettiest sight I ever saw. We drilled twelve wells on that lease, I carrying the working interest as usual, and our first pipe line check amounted to $19,600."

"Half of that money was mine. It was the first money I had seen since I left the ranch, but Lord! it didn't stay with me forty-eight hours. I owed it all, and more, for my operations, and besides I had a silent partner who got half of my half."

His Deal With Haggard—

The silent partner was J. E. Haggard of Wichita Falls, R. O. Harvey's private secretary. Evans had met Haggard at Moran in January of 1924, scraped up an acquaintance as he did with every stranger, and made a deal or so with him.

"The deal hadn't made us a dollar," said Cowboy, "but I had every confidence in Haggard and believed he had the same in me. In October of that year, before moving to Eastland County, I got in my truck and drove up to Wichita Falls to see Haggard. He had nothing except his salary. He said to me, 'Cowboy, we'll cut it in two. I'll keep half and we'll put the other half in your operations and you use it any way you see fit. You are going to win out if you live, and I think you'll live.'"

"Every month," said Cowboy, "Haggard put $250 in my hands. That ran our operations and paid my living expenses on the side. He's been my partner ever since and will continue to be as long as he wants to. The day I made my deal with him was one of the luckiest of my life. We made money from then on, and his share of the partnership is already $55,000. The Putnam job cleared us of debt, and when we went into the Crosscut field south of Cross Plains we had plenty of credit. We drilled fifteen wells of which six were producers, and made some real money."

The Big Strike—

In December of last year Evans and Haggard turned their attention to the Rising Star district. On November 23rd the Humble Oil & Refining Company had opened a shallow pool in the Blake community south of Rising Star with a 20-barrel well on the Stover farm. Evans and Haggard, with Mack T. Anderson and C. G. Shults of Rising Star as partners, secured a lease on 26-1-4 acres of B. F. Dunn's farm one mile south of the Humble's Stover well. They paid $10 per acre for the lease.

Evans did the drilling. When the hole was 500 feet deep he and his partners sold one-half interest to Barney Carter and associates of Ranger, for $4,000. Two weeks after the trade had been made Evans brought in the well flowing eighty-six barrels daily at six inches in the sand. It was later deepened and flowed 632 barrels in a twenty-four period, the greatest production Evans had had. The well and acreage were sold to the Humble Company for $200,000 with a three-way split: $75,000 to Anderson and Shults, $150,000 to Barney Carter et al for their $4,000 investment, and $75,000 to Evans and Haggard.

"My theory of operation had vindicated itself," said Cowboy, "and that was to drill a well so that you could drill one more—also to leave your excuses behind and bring home the deposit slip."

Pays His Debts—

Cowboy didn't spend his profit on a limousine or a trip. Not at all. He paid debts with it. He had been buying back cattle debts for several months, and on the day he received a telegram confirming the Humble Company he was in Pecos interviewing his banker.

"I had got there on the morning train," he said, "and when the messenger came that the Humble deal was through I drew checks for $25,000 to apply on some of my old cattle notes. They included two or three that had been outlawed. I had been sued for debt and judgments entered against me, and I had lifted some of the judgments with my profits in the Putnam field."

Since he handled in the oil game Cowboy has started a half-million dollars' worth of business. His utter honesty, as well as his grit, is a byword in every oil field he has operated in. He is now drilling four shallow wells and starting deep tests in Coleman and Brown counties. The oil fraternity is watching him eagerly, even there'll be plenty of loyal chaps to rejoice with him.

Said Cowboy in parting: "Being a cattleman all my life, I've always had the idea that the rancher was the squarest man on earth. After doing business with oil men since 1922 I want to admit them on equal footing with the cattlemen. They are straight shooters and game-losers. I'll tell the world."

Britain to Control Air

The British Broadcasting Company, which is a combination of wireless equipment manufacturers and has a monopoly on broadcasting in Great Britain, will be taken over by government control, according to English dispatches. A government committee has been inquiring into the business with the object of drafting a comprehensive plan to govern broadcasting in the future.

Radio Ad Rates

Many broadcasting stations are now making public their advertising rates. One western broadcast station has a rate ranging from $30 for a quarter of an hour during the day to $120 for one hour at night.

Whiten Skin with Lemon

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quart-amount of the whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleacher. You must use this remarkable skin purifier. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared—advertising.

A Child's Laxative which Mothers Can Rely On

Dr. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept "suffered up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he constantly advised mothers to give only a harmless laxative which would help to establish natural bowel "regularity."

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin mothers have a regulating laxative which they can depend upon whenever a child is constipated, bilious, feverish or sick from a cold, indigestion or sour stomach.

All children love its pleasant taste. Buy a large 50-cent bottle at any drug store. It sells so well that you will see how perfectly it cleanses and relieves the bowels of infants and children.

4000 MILES LIKE NONE!—Over Land and Sea Phone Unite Kin

THE SAFFORDS AT CHICAGO TALKED TO RUGBY, ENGLAND.

BY ROY J. GIBBONS
CHICAGO, May 1.—William H. Safford was resting in his Chicago apartment, his work done for the day, when suddenly the telephone sounded. Please hold the wire for Rugby, England, said the operator. "But your kidding," said Safford. The operator assured him no was trying to fool him. And because he had been too startled to do anything else, Safford hung onto the wire. A moment later and radio his- was made.

Clear and strong into the ear piece came a voice that Safford would have recognized anywhere. It was his son-in-law, Arthur A. Oswald. To reach Chicago that message had to jump across 3200 miles of water and then by land wires an additional distance of about 1100 miles. "But I heard him just as plain as if he had been in the next room," says Safford. "We talked over 20 minutes. The conversation was perfectly distinct—in fact it was better than a local talk."

Safford's son-in-law is one of a corps of engineers assigned by the American Bell Telephone Co. to the Rugby station where trans-oceanic radio sets have been going on for some time.

Linking the old with the new world by wireless telephone has been accomplished before. But the conversation which Safford had with his son-in-law is the first on record where ordinary apparatus of the telephone subscriber in a city removed from the Atlantic seaboard has been employed.

Eight-Foot Horn Gives Full Tones

CLEVELAND, May 1.—A straight horn, eight feet long, increasing uniformly in cross-sectional areas, is the ideal type of loud speaker for your receiver.

Experiments with all sorts of loud speakers have brought this conclusion by Professor Dayton C. Miller of the Case School of Applied Science here, and perhaps the most famous authority on sound. Professor Miller lately won a $1000 reward for his "ether-drift" experiments by which he tended to disprove an important link in Einstein's theory of relativity.

"Probably metal is the best material, the inside being smooth and polished and without obstructions," explains Dr. Miller, in describing the ideal loud speaker. "Many trials with such a horn indicate conclusively that speech is more natural and music very much more musical. The richness and tonal body of orchestra tone-color are reproduced marvelously well."

"It is not the material of the horn that is concerned," he stresses. "It is the column of air inside. The horn is simply a shell that separates a certain quantity of air of a certain shape from the general mass of air filling the room in which the loud speaker is located. The thing of acoustic importance is the cone of air inside the horn."

Just to Shape Sound— "It is necessary that the walls of the horn should enclose a column of air of the desired shape, volume and length, and that it should permit of the freest possible vibration. Beyond this it should have no effect."

"In order that the diaphragm may deliver its energy most effectively, the small end of the horn should be small. It should not be too small, else the long slender tube of the throat will introduce friction and obstruct the free vibration of the air column."

"In order that the energy may be properly distributed over the auditorium, the large end of the horn should be relatively large. Theory indicates an inconveniently large opening, and in practice a compromise with a smaller opening is generally adopted."

How Speaker Is Tested— Professor Miller invented a peculiar instrument called a "phonodek" to test loud speakers and other sound producing instruments in his laboratory here.

Each of 80 organ pipes, covering the usual musical range, is sounded before the phonodek and a photograph is made of its normal tone. These pipes are then taken into another room, where each is sounded again through a microphone and the sound, picked up by the loud speaker under test, is again picked up by the phonodek and photographed.

Thus it is possible to compare the original sounds of the organ pipes with those made by the loud speaker.

What Broadcasters Are Doing

An attempt to transmit the voice of President Coolidge, never before heard outside of North America, to the countries of South America, will be made April 9 by stations WRC, Washington and WJZ, New York. At this time the president will formally welcome delegates to the first Pan American Congress of Journalists to Washington.

Two series of talks, one on Farm Fire Prevention and the other on Forest Conservation, are being broadcast by station WCCO, St. Paul, Minnesota. The first series is heard on Monday nights and the second on Fridays.

Many items of interest to women are broadcast during the "Woman's Hour" from 4 to 5 o'clock each Friday afternoon from KYW, Chicago. This program includes music, proposed to entertain afternoon visitors in the home.

The latest orchestra playing for KPO, San Francisco, and connected to the studio by remote control was "off the air" on the fourth day of its appearance when a fire threatened the building in which the orchestra played. Henry Halsted's orchestra deserted the building three minutes before they were due on the air. However, the orchestra appeared next day on the KPO program.

TRY IT!

It's unwieldy, but if you want proper reproduction, set up an eight-foot horn as your loud speaker, says Dr. Dayton C. Miller of Cleveland. He's an authority on sound.

Try a New Slogan On The Radio!

BY ISRAEL KLEIN
Science Editor
America's slogan spirit has struck the business of broadcasting, more so than any other popular industry in the country. Here at last is a chance to catch the ears of millions with clever word play and catching call letters. As a result, no other highly advertised industry has reached the color and popularity that the radio business has attained, excluding its novelty and mystery.

Not only slogans but call letters have been sought to mark definitely a station, or the organization owning it. So we have call letters acting as initials of the owner, or as initials of the slogan, and slogans reverberating the thoughts and purposes of the broadcasters.

Out of the 540 or more stations in the country, the Department of Commerce has allowed call letters to more than 100 that would reflect the initials of the individual broadcaster. And in a few more cases, the call letters even advertise the broadcaster's business.

They're Tell-Tale— Thus we have such call letters as KOP, for the Detroit police force and WTAX, for a hardware store at Streator, Ill. Generally, however, the call letters form initials for names or slogans, and in many cases they're a happy and profitable combination. WAIT, for instance, is the call for the A. H. Waite and company at Taunton, Mass. WLT, for Lt. Brothers, at Philadelphia, and WDAD, for "Dad's" store at Nashville, Tenn.

There's a drawback to this call letter and slogan business, however. Broadcasters in this country are limited to the use of calls beginning with K or W. The result is that many enterprising station owners have to let the first letter hang and play around with the rest of their call. In such category are, among many others, WREO, for a famous auto, WAHG, for the A. H. Grebe Company, and KOIL, for an oil company.

New Ways in Spelling— The slogans, also, have to be fashioned with this limitation trailing along. Therefore, we have to compromise our language and our spelling to such slogans as "Kum to Hot Springs," for KTHS, or "Where Cheer-Awaits U," for WCAU, or "Kall for Dependable Magnolene" for KFDM.

In the rush for identifying call letters, some broadcasters have had to be content with playing second fiddle. For instance, the First Baptist church of Knoxville, Tenn., got to Washington ahead of the First Baptist church of Memphis, when these novel combinations were handed out. So we hear KFBC for the Knoxville church, while Memphis Baptists have to be satisfied with only the last two letters of their call, KGBC identifying them.

But how fortunate they are, to have got even that. Consider the unfortunate position of such stations as KZKZ, or KZKQ. They can't even fashion a catchable slogan out of those initials, let alone having them stand for a name.

An interesting analysis of college life, its reaction on the student and on the community, was delivered Friday evening, April 30, Conn., by R. K. Morton. The speaker was a graduate of Boston University and at Harvard. His subject is, "College: From the Inside Out."

The stage and screen have pictured history. Literature has narrated it, and now radio will attempt to recreate it in the broadcast studio. Station WGN, Chicago, is beginning a series of attempts which open up this new field. The series which attracts WGN's attention concerns old-time prizefights. The first of these was the famous 75-round affair between Jake Kilrain and John L. Sullivan for "the championship of the world." The entire scene of action, including a characterization of those who attended, was reported in a similar fashion to our modern sport returns.

Announcements concerning numbers to be broadcast from station WHT, Chicago, are limited in time and follow a standard form, according to the station's new policy. The name of the performer, his selection and the call letters of the station precede the number. Following the selection is an announcement of the name of the performer, his selection, the call letters of the station and its location. All other matter is eliminated from announcements.

WEAF, New York city, has added Arnold Morgan to its staff of announcers. Morgan was a member of the original "Everready Group" and is now tenor soloist at the Grace Episcopal Church, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The series of Sunday night operas broadcast by WJZ, New York city, is meeting with popular favor from radio listeners. The operas to be broadcast in the near future are: May 9, "The Flying Dutchman," by Wagner (in German); May 23, "The Secret of Suzanne," by Wolfe-Ferrari (in Italian); June 6, "La Traviata," by Verdi (in Italian).

Howard Melany, who is now on a concert tour, singing at many leading radio stations and making phonograph records, a short time ago walked into the studio of WCCO, St. Paul, unheralded and asked for an opportunity to broadcast. His try-out convinced the program directors that he was well worthy of a place. As a result of these concerts, publicity obtained in the press and over the radio made success possible.

The Mysterious Fascination of Crooks for Innocent Girls

The Sensational Cases of Baltimore's "Tiger Girl," Raised in a Good Home; Irma Sullivan, the Small Town Belle, and Others.

another photograph of Mrs. Irma Durkin, Beautiful Young Bride of Chicago's Most Notorious Gunman, Taken On Her Honeymoon, During Which She Says, "Durkin Bought Her Every Luxury."

Mrs. Margaret Whittemore, "The Tiger Girl" of Baltimore, and Wife of Richard Reese Whittemore, Whose Ardent Love for Her Bandit-Husband Prevents Her from Believing That He is as Bad as the Police Say He Is.

Below: Martin Durkin, the Chicago "Sheik" Gunman, and His Bride, Irma Sullivan Durkin, Whose Loyalty Is Apparent in Her Statement: "I'll Wait Fifty Years for My Marty."

THE world and the police may call Richard Reese Whittemore a killer, a thug, a gunman, a robber and a generally depraved creature, but there is one person who will never be convinced by anything that is said about him.

"Nobody who is so good a husband could be so bad a man," says Margaret Whittemore, the "Tiger Girl" of Baltimore and wife of the man whose career has just been brought to a halt by the New York police.

The fact that the charges against him involve murder and robbery does not seem to daunt the young wife. She promises to wait for him no matter what happens. That may be a long time, for the District Attorney at Buffalo, where he faces trial for his life, expects to send him to the chair.

This amazing loyalty has had its duplicate many times over in the experience of the police. Almost every notorious criminal who has ever slipped into the meshes of the law has had a wife or sweetheart whose love remained staunch and true in the face of danger and degradation.

These crooks seem to have a fascination for innocent young girls that no terror can weaken. For more often than not these girls attached to notorious bad men are girls who have had sound raising and parental protection from the world.

Martin Durkin who is accused of having killed several men, who has wounded at least a dozen men in his daring encounters with the police, whose career as a sheik has included three marriages and another lengthy episode with a married woman, was captured at St. Louis in the presence of a young bride of a few weeks. She was tearful at the misfortune of being caught, but did it affect her attitude toward her husband? Not much!

"There never was a kinder, better, grander fellow anywhere than my Marty," says Irma Durkin, and she has every intention of waiting fifty years, if need be, for him. She, too, may have a longer wait than that. Helen Patterson, the beautiful young divorced wife of Otto Young Heyworth, millionaire, counted the world well lost for "Dapper Don" Collins. When he was arrested in Paris she had herself wheeled into the prison in an invalid's chair although she was suffering the results of a serious fall, in order to go through the wedding ceremony they had agreed upon. Collins, however, refused to permit her to make this sacrifice.

Is there some secret well-spring of attractiveness in the make-up of what is known as a criminal character that appeals to the unsophisticated young girl? Margaret Whittemore was born of most respectable, religious parents. Her mother was a home-loving housewife, her father a tailor. Her Sunday school teacher described her as a "bright, pert, pretty child and a favorite in the neighborhood."

She and young Whittemore were childhood sweethearts, and when she married him she was little more than fifteen. He had already started his criminal career by stealing spoons at the Sunday school picnics. He seemed to have an irresistible urge to take things that did not belong to him.

Before many years had passed he was in the Baltimore jail, serving a sentence of three years for burglary. He was a model prisoner and came out into the world again ready for whatever might happen.

Things did happen, and it was not long before he was back in the Baltimore penitentiary for a fifteen-year sentence. Robbery was again the crime. It was while serving this sentence that he killed a guard with a piece of lead pipe and escaped.

The rest of his story is one of spectacular hold-ups and daring, boldly planned robberies, which on one occasion at least, involved murder. The scene is laid in Cincinnati and New York, the New York of exclusive hotels, of softly-lit night clubs where the underworld rubs elbows with society, of Fifth Avenue and fashionable midtown.

All through this picture runs the gleam of the golden hair of the "Tiger Girl." The police say she was at his side through it all, even during several of the hold-ups. The slight, small figure in its expensive clothes and furs, the blonde hair carefully combed, the finger tips brightly varnished, was the queen of her little world. There are tales of Whittemore's wild jealousy of her. One of his gang accuses him of having shot a man named Kenny, in Baltimore, because the unfortunate man happened to pay attention to Margaret.

And all the while her family did their utmost to pry the girl away from her evil associates, but she would hear nothing of any plan that would separate her from her husband. He was showering her with all the luxuries she craved, and her love for him has not wavered in the nine years of their marriage. Through the lean years as through the fat years she has remained devoted to him.

Irma Sullivan Durkin's marriage to Marty Durkin, if it was a marriage, was shorter but just as eventful, and she is no less devoted to her Don Juan.

Irma Sullivan was the belle of Cornell, Illinois. Her father was the village blacksmith, and his pretty daughter was the first girl to be invited to any church social or dance or basketball game.

The village sheiks were hers for the taking. But they seemed dull to her, somehow. When she was sixteen she visited her married sister and, on the beach of Jackson Park, Chicago, she met young Durkin. He appeared to her instantly. As she says, "He was the swiftest looking of the fellows on the beach."

There were daily swims after that and rides or walks or movie shows. But Irma was too young to think seriously of his proposal, and after she returned home she rather lost track of him all to the police, Marty has another legal wife and the marriage was merely a gesture. However that may be, they started on an elaborate honeymoon which was, incidentally, a game of hide-and-seek with the police.

When the Durkins returned to Chicago under the chaperonage of the police, Irma was brought face to face with another girl who had shared Durkin's life, Betty Werner.

Betty stood by Durkin and protected him when the Chicago police and the Federal authorities were on his trail. On one occasion at least, she made it possible for him to escape when he was the hands of the police.

Unlike Irma Durkin and Margaret Whittemore, Helen Patterson had seen something of the gay white way before she met "Dapper Don" Collins. She came from a tiny village of West Virginia and took Broadway by storm with her shining blue eyes, her red gold hair and her astounding beauty. A job on the stage was hers for the asking and a millionaire husband her due. She married Otto Heyworth a few months after she came to New York and she was divorced from him within a year.

It was after the divorce that she met Collins. Something suave, cool, daring in the man must have intrigued her for he became a constant companion, and she consented to marry him. When he was arrested in Paris a year later, she insisted that the marriage take place anyway. He assured her of his undying love but told her to consider carefully before taking so rash a step.

Each of these cases indicates a powerful attraction that seems to have something uncanny in it. Can there be some attraction in the daring of the criminal character that appeals especially to unsophisticated girls?

Dr. L. Pierce Clark, a noted psychiatrist whose association with the Manhattan State Hospital, Randall's Island and Letchworth Village make his observations doubly valuable says that the so-called bad man, that we call the criminal man is simply a natural man. He is one in whom the natural impulses are less inhibited than in the conventional man.

On the other hand, the good girl is hemmed in on all sides by conventions and rules. And the more she is checked in her natural impulses, the more likely she is to be attracted to the man who is natural. Those qualities that are necessary to a life of crime, recklessness, courage, and daring seem heroic to the girl who has never been allowed to do anything that Nature proscribed her to do, anything that was outside the rules of her Sunday school training.

The life of a crook's sweetheart may be alarming and hazardous but it is eventful. Is that, perhaps, the reason why she will follow the bandit who flashes a bulging pocket-book and opens the door to a road that promises romance? The police merely shrug their shoulders at this. All they know is that there's usually a "jane" mixed up with a desperate man and his desperate deeds.

though she read of him occasionally in the papers and she still remembered him with a little flutter of the heart. He turned up again in the Fall of 1925; suddenly, without warning, he rang the bell of the little house in Cornell one evening and the startled girl forgot the basketball game she was going to that evening, forgot her family and friends in the joy of seeing him again. A low, blue sedan was parked across the street. Without a word she left home and all her possessions. They were married in East St. Louis. That is, a ceremony was performed. But according

WILL ROGERS: ROGERS SEES COFFEYVILLE AND LORIMER

BY WILL ROGERS

All I know is just what I read in the papers, or what I encounter as I leap from crag to crag. Everybody will start reading the papers, now the baseball season has opened. I played Philadelphia the night before the season opened and was to go to Princeton the next night, and as it's near, I was able to be at the baseball opening in Philadelphia, the Phillies and the Braves. Now, I know a lot of you will think I overlooked a comedy crack if I don't say something about not really seeing a big League Game yet. But there is where you are wrong. Both teams looked mighty good. Any team that has Bancroft on it is a Ball team, and the Phillies got some great material in that trade with the Giants last year.

They had all the opening day ceremonies. All you need to open a baseball season nowadays is a Band and a Mayor, and most any town has both of them. Sometimes it's hard to tell which is the worst.

In some Cities they meet at the plate and march to center field where the flag pole is, and raise last year's Pennant. Well, Philly and Boston are original. They didn't do that. They met and marched out there and instead of raising a Pennant, they just stuck to the regulation stuff and raised the American Flag. I don't care how low down a team gets in baseball, that is one thing that is never denied them. They are always allowed the same use of the flag as the good teams are. That's one thing that makes Base Ball as Democratic as it is.

Well, the Band led the parade to Center field. It was led by a little fat guy that everybody thought was John McGraw. The players of both teams come next, all out of step. Somebody must have told them out there that they were all out of step and that they should lead off going back with the other foot, and as they come back they did all change and that made 'em just as much out of step as they had been going out. They had three Umpires. One to correct the other two.

Old Walt Johnson— But the game I would have given a bad of gum to have seen that day was the one my old friend Walter Johnson pitched, when he beat the Athletics 1-0 in 15 innings. Twenty years in the big League, and hold 'em 'em for 15 innings. Well, I were was tickled. And I know something here else they were tickled. That was in a nice, prosperous-looking brick house, just out towards the river from Coffeyville, Kansas. I was right in that very house about four weeks ago when I played Coffeyville. They certainly were nice to me, and everybody asked me what I wanted to do and where I wanted to go. I said, "I want to go see Walter Johnson's Mother if she is here," and out John Ellis took me, and say what a treat! Honest, she is just Walter. Looks like him and acts just like him. What a fine pleasant old Lady! There, right in the middle of the Living room was the biggest Loving Cup in or out of captivity. It's the one that Washington Fans filled full of money and gave him one time.

That's been the most wonderful part of this trip I am on. I have met the greatest lot of folks that I would never in the world have had a chance to meet otherwise. Now Coffeyville, that's just 40 miles from where I was born and I have a ranch now. It used to be when I was growing up to about 10 or 12 years old, our trading place. We drove there in a buggy or wagon to do our trading. I met the old timers who knew my folks, the old Merchants, Reeds, Barndollars. The old Hotel is there yet where we used to stop. It was run then by the Kloehrs. Saw and had a long talk with John

"Robbing is one profession that certainly has advanced."

Kloehr, the man that shot the Daltons. He showed me a wonderful Medal that the Chicago Bankers gave him, with a big Diamond in the center. And I want to tell you he don't show that to everybody. He is a very quiet, retiring fellow. He gave me the whole tale of the shooting. He is and always has been a very highly respected citizen of a great community. I saw the grave where they were buried, all together, with just a piece of iron piping marking the spot. She is a real live, buzzing City now. Harry Sinclair, the big Oil Millionaire, used to live there, and he has built a tremendous refinery that employs lots of people. They gave me a Luncheon that was upstairs in one of the Dining rooms, and right in the middle of the Luncheon they brought in a Real live Bull. It's a great place. Fine people, and I can imagine the rejoicing there when "old Barney" set the Philadelphia down without a smell of the home plate.

Oh yes, to show you how Robberies have changed since the day of the Daltons. There had been a robbery 2 days before and the robbers had taken away the whole safe. And the man had advertised if they would bring the safe back there would be no questions asked. I asked John Kloehr why he didn't shoot some of the robbers nowadays. He said, "Lord, will I couldn't afford to buy enough ammunition."

Robbing Has Advanced— Robbing is one profession that certainly has advanced in this country. And the remarkable thing about it is there is no schools or anything to learn you to rob. No other line, outside of Drinking, can show the progress that Robbing has in the last 5 years. We spend billions of dollars on education, and we are no smarter today than 30 years ago, and we spend nothing to foster Robbing, and here it is one of the most skilled industries we have. So it sometimes makes you think what's the use learning people anything, anyway. Let 'em alone, and they will progress quicker.

Speaking about what you read in the papers, we see where what the papers are pleased to call "Bloody Herrin," the mining town in Illinois, has broke out again. Now, I played that section. There is several dandy, nice little hustling towns of from 5 to 10 thousand or so, and we played Frankfort and also went to Herrin, and we had a lot of their people up to our show, and I never was as surprised in my life. I had just got fuss and argue, call each other names, they just shoot it out if it's necessary. I am mighty glad to have been in there and met them. I know I have a lot different opinion of them than from just reading about "Bloody Williamson" County.

Well I have seen America from top to bottom. I had lunch yesterday at Philadelphia with Mr. George Horace Lorimer, Editor of the Saturday Evening Post, and I am going over to Europe for the Post. I am going all around over there. I am really going to represent President Coolidge. You see, he hasn't a Col. House to run over and fix up things, so that is what I am to be. I want to get away about the middle of May. I want to catch Mussolini while he is going good, and before some better shot gets in their work. I am also to go to Ireland and see what's keeping them so quiet, and if they really are happy, and into Germany and Russia and Spain. I want to see what reason they had for wanting to try to get into the next war by way of the League of Nations.

Oh yes, even next week I will have something to tell you about Canada. I am going up there in a couple of days. In the meantime my connection goes out to Brookhart of Iowa and McKinley of Illinois. They were both good Boys when they had 'em. I look for quite a good many new members of next year's cast of our "Washington Follies." It's taken some of them three elections to learn that America didn't want to join any of Europe's Luncheon Clubs. (Copyright, 1926. The McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

my impression of them from what I read, and when I got there and met them they will stack up with any community in the country. There is not a lot of Murderers and Cut throats there. They are real people, congenial, hospitable. But instead of being like a lot of communities,

New Travel Books Given Absorbing Insights Into Strange People in Far Away Lands

By the Book Survey NEW YORK, May 1.—We will not be among the 500,000 persons who already are booked for passage to Europe this summer. But if we were, there are a number of books we would be certain either to read before starting or would take with us. And having read them our entire viewpoint on traveling might be changed. Such is the rare quality of these volumes that the several million stay-at-homes can engage in intimate peerings denied to the average Baedeker-guided tourist.

If you are searching for the sort of travelogue that does little more than verbalize a Cook's tour, then leave these books severely alone.

Outstanding in the list is Waldo Frank's "Virgin Spain" (Boni and Liveright). William McFee, who is Philosophy and analysis dominate, rather than the customary rhapsody of customs and scenes. Yet it manages to tap the very heart and blood of a nation; the background is grim and chaotic and the types are fine cameo.

Next there is a truly enchanting thing, "Sicilian Noon" (Knopf), by Louis Golding.

Golding wandered through Sicily afoot, and he gives those intimate and glamorous pictures which can be

RADIO SHORT CUTS

Before attempting to charge a battery from the DC light circuit determine the polarity of each power line. When the negative lines is put in salt water, bubbles will form, while no action will take place around the other lead. If you connect the wrong leads to the battery you may buckle the plates, discharge or short-circuit the battery or sulphate the cells.

Shielding of sensitive sets increases selectivity. Line the cabinet with copper or brass sheeting to keep unwanted energy from coils, but keep the shield out of the field of the radio-frequency instruments.

If your two-step amplifier as a whole causes distortion, try a .001 mfd. fixed condenser across the plate and grid of the last transformer or use a power tube in the last stage.

Antenna and ground leads to the set should be as far apart as possible. Keep one at right angles to the other if you can.

ing "light" on a wire, they should have as free a path as possible. Therefore use stranded wire for the aerial. As direct currents flow "deep," use a heavy single wire for the battery leads.

An inverted cardboard candy box may be used as a rack for tubes removed from the set. Place the tubes in holes in the box cut to the specific size of the bases of the tubes instead of allowing them to lie on a table.

Ammonia or soda water, quickly applied, will prevent damage from acid dripping while taking a hydrometer reading of the A battery.

Place the heated soldering iron in an asbestos-lined preserving jar to keep it hot when working on your aerial.

VARIETY of line is offered in the Spring mode. There are coats and frocks which show the straight and slender line, and other models which are flared. Some of the new styles combine the circular line with the straight, as in the plaid coat illustrated today.

Taffeta has been revived. It is seen in frocks which show fullness in various forms. Ruffled skirts, circular flounces, godets and plaits are among the features which contribute to the silhouette in the Spring mode.

THERE has gradually come into fashion a new line. It is the full skirt, related to the circular skirt which began its vogue with the godet.

The new fullness is seen in taffetas so perky that the ruffled effect is emphasized. Compared to this line, the slender silhouette of the one-piece coats and frocks becomes more interesting. It is popular by contrast and, perhaps, because women have grown accustomed to this line.

Pastel plaids are among the new fabrics. The coat illustrated on this page proves the beauty of this style, especially when the silhouette effects a charming compromise between the straight line and the circular. A panel of the material sweeps down the front of this coat, its outline being accented by the use of a colored broadcloth piping. The pockets are built on the curved line, just beneath the circular line of the panel. Fullness at the back of the godet, caught in at the hips, falls into a sort of godet on either side.

A circle of georgette is splashed with hand-painted flowers and these are outlined with silver thread to match the silver girdle of the dance frock depicted. A silver rose is stitched to the frock at the shoulder, while the sleeves are just long enough to make this frock appropriate for tea time as well as the more formal occasion of dinner or dance.

For the girl who goes to business, there is the frock which combines two silk crepes. Light colored crepe is used for the blouse, extending to a zig-zag line below the hips, where a ruffle of the darker crepe joins it.

At the bottom of the dark crepe silk, a band of lighter silk is used. The sleeves are touched with the darker crepe just above the cuffs, and a dark string tie matches the color of the embroidery on either side of the blouse.

One-piece frocks are not straight and slender as they used to be. Another model shows a ripple in the skirt on either side or a cut-work panel down the front of the frock. This cut-work embroidery matches that on the sleeves. Like most of the new necklines on street frocks, this model has a string tie which can be crossed to the back, permitted to float into ribbons, or tied into a bow at one shoulder, as in the illustration.

You will note that the hats worn with these costumes are all small. With the plaid coat the hat is of felt, slashed at the crown and piped with ribbon. With one of the street frocks is worn a hat of light straw with a sheaf of organdie flowers at one side. The new tam style is portrayed in a hat of embroidered silk.
