Bizarre Story Of New Mexico Slaying Told To Officers

Texan Arrested In Kansas City Unravels Tale

Man Giving Name Of Layton Mosley Tells Of Killing Oil Field Worker, Burying Him

(By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 30.—Police and federal agents sought tonight to unravel a tangled story of a reputed New Mexico slaying told by a man suspected of motor theft, and also questioned him to learn if he had any knowledge of the disappearance of two East St. Louis, Ill., couples in May 1935.

Thomas J. Higgins, chief of detectives, said the man gave his name as Layton Mosley, 28, and said his home was in Fort Worth, Tex.

DARKNESS HALTS SEARCH

EUNICE, N. M., Sept. 30. (AP)—Darkness tonight halted a so far futile search by Lea county authorities for a grave in the mesquite flats north of here where a man held in Kansas City asserted he buried the body of a robbery victim.

Uncovered By Accusation

Higgins said Mosley after undergoing lengthy grilling about the ownership of a motor car in which he came here from Oklahoma City, and which police said was stolen from K. W. Dawson in Oklahoma City yesterday, made the slaying statement in reply to a random accusation by Detective Sergeant Prime McDonough.

After Higgins said he admitted the car theft, Mosley winced when McDonough shouted:

"This is more serious than car stealing. We've got a telegram from the South to hold you, that you are sought on a serious crime."

Man's Morale Broke

Higgins said Mosley's morale broke and he began telling a story of how he had shot and killed a man he named as Tom Deal, a Texas oil field worker.

After hearing details of the Deal slaying, Chief Higgins said, interest of police and federal bureau of investigation agents turned to the disappearance of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Lorius, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hebeler, all of East St. Louis, Ill., who disappeared on a touring motor car trip through New Mexico and other western states in May 1935.

Turned Back At Yuma.

Higgins, recounting Mosley's alleged story of the Deal shooting, said Mosley told police he had wandered aimlessly around the western part of the country early this summer after failing to gain entrance to California when officers turned him back at Yuma, Ariz.

Mosely told police he was hitchhiking in New Mexico when a man in a sedan (1936 Dodge) picked him up. This man Mosley said was Tom Deal.

At Pecos, Tex., Higgins quoted Mosley, they stopped to buy gasoline and Mosley saw his companion had a large roll of money.

Mosley said he crawled into the back seat of the car as if to sleep, and a few minutes later, Higgins said he related, he placed a revolver against Deal's head. He said Deal tried to seize the gun and in the

Governor Commutes Quesada's Sentence

AUSTIN, Sept. 30. (AP)—Governor James V. Allred tonight dramatically saved the life of Pio Quesada, thrice previously reprieved Mexican national sentenced to death in the electric chair.

In an eleventh-hour action, since Quesada was to die shortly after midnight, the governor commuted the sentence to life imprisonment upon recommendation of a majority of members of the pardon board.

Quesada, found guilty of slaying Fernando Ramirez by a Willacy county jury last November, escaped death by similar board action and a long-distance call to acting Governor Walter Woodul two weeks ago.

Prior to that his execution had been postponed on pleas of Mexican officials.

The board recommended a third reprieve a fortnight ago because his death would have occurred on a Mexican national holiday.

Fate Of Non-Intervention In Spain Rests With Mussolini

(By The Associated Press)

GENEVA, Sept. 30. — The League of Nations committee on political questions tonight adopted a resolution which would pin the fate of non-intervention in the Spanish civil war on Premier Mussolini's attitude towards withdrawal of Italian volunteers.

The resolution recommended an end to non-intervention unless Italy withdraws Italians serving with insurgent forces.

RUSHING REINFORCEMENTS

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Sept. 30. (AP)—Spanish government officers said tonight insurgents were rushing heavy reinforcements into Jaca, near the French border, to meet an unchecked Spanish government drive less than 20 miles away.

Recent threats the French border may be opened to munitions shipments for government forces gave the railroad center at Jaca strategic importance.

Delegates of Austria, Hungary, Bulgaria, Portugal, South Africa, and the Irish Free state opposed the resolution on various grounds. The two-and-ahalf hour debate centered on the section which said if negotiations for withdrawal of foreign combatants failed, members of the league which are parties to the Spanish non-intervention agreement "will consider ending the policy" of non-intervention.

President Eamon de Valera of the Irish Free State objected the section was a "threat" and said his government intended to preserve the policy of non-intervention.

Contend Compromise

British, French and Soviet delegates, however, contended that the resolution was a compromise which instead of destroying the non-intervention agreement held out hopes for making it effective. The proposal was adopted by a subcommittee earlier today.

Recognizing the existence of a "veritable foreign army corps" in Spain, the resolution virtually would give Mussolini the alternative of calling his Italian legions home or seeing the French frontier thrown open to arms and men for the Spanish central government.

The proposal must be adopted by the league assembly. It probably will be submitted Saturday.

Judith Allen Files Suit For $2,000,000 Against Dodge Heiress; Alienated Doyle

JUDITH ALLEN

MRS. GODDE AND DOYLE

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 30.—Judith Allen, screen actress, sued Delphine Dodge for $2,000,000 here today, charging the heiress had alienated the affections of her husband, Jack Doyle, boxer and actor.

The suit gave the defendant's name as Delphine Dodge Cromwell Baker Godde and said she was preparing to leave for Paris.

Miss Allen claims her divorce from Doyle, granted last April 28, has not become final and that she still is his wife. She charges that Doyle frequently has tried to effect a reconciliation, but that Mrs. Dodge used "wiles and means" to alienate his affections.

Offered Hundreds Of Thousands

The actress claims specifically that Mrs. Dodge offered Doyle several hundred thousand dollars to create a life of luxury for him and gave him gifts valued at thousands of dollars—all to entice him away from her.

Mrs. Dodge's actions, Miss Allen charges, persuaded Doyle to abandon his efforts for a reconciliation and completely destroyed his love for her.

Liquor By The Drink Is Proposed Again

AUSTIN, Sept. 30. (AP)—Bar-made highballs and cocktails to replace the homemade variety received overwhelming approval today of the house traffic committee.

The group recorded a 10 to 5 favorable report on a bill to legalize sale of mixed drinks in counties voting for such sale. Under existing law, hard liquors can be sold only by the bottle.

Ahead of the bill lay a rocky road. A few months ago, the opposition mustered small majorities in both houses. A possibility existed it would be thrown out on grounds it does not come within the governor's call.

The committee acted with surprising swiftness. Proponents turned deaf ears to pleas that a public hearing be held. George C. Moffett, "dry" representative from Chillicothe, pleaded in vain that "wets" themselves were divided on the bill because many feared it might lead to conditions which would bring back prohibition.

Today Is College And Press Day At Fair Here

Keys to the 24th annual Panhandle-South Plains fair today will be turned over to the more than 3,000 students of Texas Technological college, newspapermen of this area, and representatives from a dozen South Plains towns in addition to regular run.

A large crowd Thursday, though smaller than attendance Tuesday, Lubbock day, and Wednesday, children's day, fell short of attendance for the corresponding day for last year's fair by 987 persons, but sent skyrocketing to more than 85,000 the attendance since opening day, Monday.

Total Of 11,724 Thursday

Official tabulations late Thursday night showed the day's visitors numbered 11,724 as compared with 12,711 for Thursday of last year's fair, said fair officials. The total attendance, according to figures released by authorities, went to 87,339.

Honored visitors Thursday were residents and delegations from Ralls, Petersburg, Crosbyton, Lorenzo, Plainview, Anton, Sudan, Olton, Levelland, Amherst, Morton, Bledsoe, and Lehman.

Roosevelt Visits In Canada Thursday

LAKE CRESCENT, Wash., Sept. 30. (AP)—President Roosevelt arrived at scenic Lake Crescent tavern tonight after telling 3,000 school children in Port Angeles that "you can count on my help" in obtaining an Olympic National park on the Olympic peninsula.

The president was greeted by the children as he and his party again landed on American shores after his good will visit in Victoria, B. C., with Canadian officials today.

The president, during his brief Victoria visit toasted the king and talked again of the United States-Canadian friendliness.

He talked informally at a private luncheon given him at Government House by Lieut.-Gov. Erick W. Hamber of British Columbia.

Missing Transport Plane Is Landed Safely At Kingman

KINGMAN, Ariz., Sept. 30. (AP)—A private tri-motored transport plane, missing almost 24 hours with three men aboard, landed safely here today after a blinding rainstorm had forced an emergency landing in the rugged mountain country.

Pilot Garland Lincoln, Hollywood stunt flyer, said rain and lightning had forced the plane down near Seligman, Ariz., 90 miles east of here, and the three spent the night in the ship.

The plane was not damaged, Lincoln said. Other occupants were Earl Hobson, mechanic, El Segundo, Calif., and H. B. Taylor, of Las Vegas, N. M.

Oil Production Tax Increase Is Proposed

Raise From 2¾ To 4 Per Cent Of Value And Corresponding Levies Recommended

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Sept. 30.—A sub-group of the house revenue and taxation committee decided today to recommend boosting the oil production tax from 2 3-4 to 4 per cent of value and corresponding increases in levies on other natural resources.

Public hearings on the omnibus bill it favors will begin Monday before the main committee.

Would Yield $9,500,000

The sub-committee estimated the omnibus would yield an approximate $9,500,000 a year in additional revenue. It would include a ten per cent tax on admissions to picture shows and other amusements costing more than 40 cents.

PROPOSALS FOR SOLUTION

AUSTIN, Sept. 30. (AP)—Here are the proposals—extreme and middle ground—for solving Texas' financial problem with Governor James V. Allred perhaps holding the trump card because the legislature can consider only what he submits:

Allred—Vote new taxes to finance social security programs and reduce the general fund deficit.

Senator Wilbourne Collie — Reduce appropriations somewhat, collect delinquent taxes and develop some new revenue sources.

Senator T. J. Holbrook—Recall appropriation bills reducing them $7,000,000, abolish the liquor board and economize in other departments, begin a back tax collection drive and avoid new or additional taxes.

Levies on sulphur, natural gas, carbon black, cement and utilities except telegraph companies would be raised 46 per cent. Committeemen said telegraph systems were excluded because they now pay a much higher rate than telephone companies.

The committee also will recommend increasing the franchise tax

New Labor Split Is Threatened

(By The Associated Press)

DENVER, Sept. 30.—A new civil war which might affect every home builder in the country threatened tonight to break out in the American Federation of Labor.

Behind the scenes at the annual convention of the federation's building trades department, leaders of the 19 construction unions engaged in a bitter factional feud. Selection of new department officers and the present method of settling interunion jurisdictional disputes were at issue.

Leaders of one faction talked of leaving the department if the other had its way.

Both sides agreed that a split would mean a tremendous increase in the number of strikes resulting from jurisdictional disputes. Such strikes, they said, could affect anyone interested in building, from the federal government down to honeymooners putting up a new bungalow.

Jurisdictional disputes occur when one union protests the right of another to do a certain piece of work. The protesting union frequently strikes in an effort to win its point. Such a strike often halts an entire construction job.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 30. (AP)—Delegates to the annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, voted 182 to 1 today for unification of their branch with the Methodist Episcopal church and Methodist Protestant church.

Both cleric and lay delegates in the session presided over by Bishop John M. Moore of Dallas, Tex., chose to vote without a discussion on the question.

Tech Pep Rally Is Broadcast; Win Predicted For Raiders

By BILL TANNER

WILD cheering filled the student-packed gymnasium at Texas Technological college Thursday night, as Coca-Cola inaugurated the 1937 season of southwestern pre-football game broadcasts.

Candid cameras clicked as President Bradford Knapp praised the Tech team, and Football Commentator Ben Lee Boynton predicted a win for the Red Raiders against Montana's Grizzlies Saturday night.

Nine numbers by the band, and concerted yelling by the Saddle Tramps and the freshman boys spaced the regular speeches by Coach Pete Cawthon, Captain Red Ramsey, and Co-Captain Lou Jones. The playing of the official songs of both Tech and Montana brought applause from the entire student body, assembled in the east and north sections of the building.

Black Is To Ask Nation By Air Tonight To Judge His Fitness For High Tribunal

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Associate Justice Hugo L. Black will ask the public tomorrow night to judge his fitness for membership on the Supreme court.

For the first time, he will reply to those who accuse him of affiliation with the Ku Klux Klan and contend he thereby is disqualified for service upon the nation's highest bench.

Spoken, possibly, from his chambers within the glistening marble walls of the Supreme court building itself, his words will be carried to the distant corners of the country by the National, Columbia and Mutual Broadcasting networks.

It will be the first time a member of the court ever has delivered a radio speech of a controversial nature while in office.

What Black will say furnished a subject for excited speculation tonight. Will he deny the charges? Will he produce evidence that he long since servered any connection with the hooded order? Will he seek to disprove the newspaper articles saying he is a life member? These questions predominated.

Utters No Public Word

As yesterday, when 60 reporters beseiged him with questions upon his return from Europe, Black uttered no public word today about the Klan charges.

A close friend said he left home early in the morning.

"He wanted to be all by himself somewhere and work on his statement," he added.

Arrangements for the radio speech were made through Clifford Durr, Washington attorney at whose home the Blacks are staying temporarily. Kenneth H. Berkeley, Washington manager for the National Broadcasting company, made the announcement.

Scheduled For 8:30 P. M.

The speech is scheduled to go on the air at 8:30 p. m., central standard time, and while Black plans to speak for but 20 minutes a full half hour has been reserved for him.

Secretary Ickes had something to say regarding the Klan charges.

Asked for comment at a press conference, he retorted:

"He has been appointed, hasn't he? . . . why don't you interview former President Hoover? I really think the greatest expert on the subject of the Ku Klux Klan is Mr. Hoover. He expected Klan support and nobody criticized him."

Ickes added he was not intimating Hoover was a Klan member.

Chinese Holding War Positions

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Oct. 1. (Friday)—A bitter battle for Chapei, Chinese section north of Shanghai's International settlement, entered the fourth day today with no apparent change in the Sino-Japanese lines.

Japanese heavily bombarded the section and the North railway station to the northeast of it throughout the night.

Fierce fighting was in progress near the boundary of the International settlement where opposing Chinese and Japanese groups fought hand to hand and with machine guns for a block of foreign houses on Range road and the Pantheon theater.

Officials said about 90 tracts in Baffin bay and Laguna Madre remained to be awarded out of thousands of acres submitted to bids Sept. 7.

Way Is Paved To Recall Regular Appropriations

Senate Prevents Appropriation For Expenses And House Gives Concurrence; Taxes Studied

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Sept. 30. — A group of senators demanding economy before new taxes sprang a startling "coup" at the special session of the legislature today aimed at forcing reconsideration of appropriations made last spring.

While a committee of the house worked on an "omnibus" bill to raise $11,000,000 revenue for social se-

HOW IT COULD BE DONE

AUSTIN, Sept. 30. (AP)—How the senate investigating committee thinks state expense could be reduced and new social security programs financed without more taxes:

Excess fees from departmental operations would yield general fund $1,600,000

Proper allocation of occupation taxes would yield general fund an additional $2,000,000

"Diligent" collection of delinquent taxes $5,000,000

Probable revenue from existing taxes in excess of other estimates $2,000,000

Reduce current appropriations by $3,500,000

Total $13,100,000

curity and eliminate a treasury deficit, the senate prevented a complete appropriation for expenses of the session until a decision on trimming government costs was had.

Reduces Salaries-Mileage Bill

It reduced from $100,000 to $80,000 an appropriation approvel in the house to pay salaries and mileage of the legislators in order that when a similar bill comes up later attempts can be made to attach amendments reopening the whole problem of appropriations. The house concurred.

In some quarters the move was regarded as similar to the one initiated in the senate last year when deliberalization of the old age assistance law was effected despite bitter opposition in the house.

Recommends Recalling

It came soon after a senate committee which studied governmental expenses several months recommended recalling appropriations for the biennium, reducing them by $7,000,000 and levying no additional taxes at this time.

Before agreeing to postponement of a decision, Senator Clint C. Small of Amarillo, twice a candidate for governor, urged amendments to divert to the general revenue fund $1,600,000 in excess fees now held in several special funds and certain occupational taxes allocated to the schools.

Might Not Be Offered Again

Declaring that if the expense bill was not used as a vehicle to consider cutting expenses the opportunity might not be offered again, he said it would be criminal negligence to "neglect this chance to save the state a useless waste of money."

Governor James V. Allred, who called the session Monday for the sole purpose of raising revenue to

South Awaiting Wallace's Talk

(By The Associated Press)

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 30.—Cotton experts of nine Southern states conferred today on details of the administration's 1938 farm program even as they speculated on the nature of Henry Wallace's proposed permanent policy for the South's "money" crop.

The Wallace proposal, to be outlined at a public meeting here tomorrow, was expected to embrace a statement of the secretary's belief the cotton problem can be solved only through a new approach.

Much Study To Staple

Sources close to the secretary said he has developed much study to the staple and methods for disposal of this year's estimated 16,000,000-bale crop.

Before leaving Washington today, Wallace said he would attempt to convince southern leaders his "middle way"—a course midway between abandonment of world markets and unlimited expansion of acreage—should be adopted.

The acreage goal for cotton growers in 1938, as set by Wallace, is from 29,000,000 to 31,000,000 acres. This, under current yield, should produce from 10,500,000 to 11,000,000 bales.

THEY WEREN'T CURIOUS

LEAVING an indifferent America behind, the Reverend Ernest Jardine has sailed back for England where he no longer holds church portfolio or parish. The good Reverend, you remember, was the ecclesiastical hero of the year when he flew the channel to bestow the blessings of the church upon Wallis Warfield and the Duke of Windsor and thereby heaped upon himself the displeasure of his superiors.

Soon, thereafter, the Reverend Jardine was brought to this country by a lecture manager. An itinerary had been arranged around the country and the preacher announced, upon arriving, that his sermons would not make capital of his part in that famous marriage ceremony. But before half his pulpit tour was over, his representative was forced to cancel the venture as a "bad flop." The Reverend Jardine drew no gate worth mentioning, though all his personal proceeds were to be turned back to charity. So, by mutual consent, he has settled back to his modest hearth in England, to rest and complete a book he started before he felt the world knocking at his door.

THE SAXETTE BAND

BECAUSE 400 pupils from the ward schools in Lubbock, almost four times the number expected, have signed up to play in the saxette band, a reduction in the price of the instrument has been made, according to H. A. Anderson, director.

The instruments will cost $2.30 plus the freight and all above actual cost of them, plus 25 cents retained to be used for music, will be returned to the pupils, Mr. Anderson said. He expects the shipment within the next week or ten days.

After recovering from his surprise at the interest pupils are taking in the saxettes, Mr. Anderson is looking forward to the time when the pupils will play in the Junior and Senior High school bands. Whether or not a child is musically inclined may be determined by the way he understands the little musical instrument, which is somewhat like a flute in tone. We are as anxious as the youngsters to see how the bands sound.

SHARING HER KNOWLEDGE

IT took a woman to decide that today's young people might welcome a more personal gift than successful men have seen fit to give. Maude Adams, 64, who retired from the stage nearly 20 years ago, is preparing to share her are, her years of experience, her remembered triumphs with a group of girls who grew up too late to know her name as their mothers and fathers knew it.

The creator of "Peter Pan" and other Barrie roles is taking over the drama department of Stephens, a junior college in Columbia, Mo. In giving these young women the benefit of her own rich experience, perhaps Maude Adams is pointing the way for women who have reached the top in other fields.

Wouldn't such a relationship with youth be the happiest, most worthwhile ending for any successful career? Need a woman's useful life be finished when age forces her to turn aside from the main stream?

Maude Adams has done a splendid thing even if she alone is willing to make youth such a personal gift as sharing a rich past in achievement. But how much more she has done, if her new work inspires others to seek this way of living in a younger generation.

Tech Journalism Department Is Interested In Producing 'Harness' Newspaper Workers

To produce newspaper men and women instead of "journalists" is the aim of the new journalism department of Texas Technological college.

Practical instruction is emphasized through reporting for newspapers, reading of selected periodicals, and the like.

Is Operated Separately

Creation of the journalism department, which is operated separately from the English department this year for the first time, was preceded by enrollment gains of journalism majors for several years, according to figures from the office of Cecil Horne, department head. Enrollment almost doubled in three years.

In 1933-34, 78 journalism majors were registered; in 1934-35, 103; 1935-36, 109; and 1936-37, 151. Three were graduated in 1933, 5 in 1934, 14 in 1935, 5 in 1936, and 16 this year.

Incentive is offered through two scholarships of $50 each to be awarded this year for the first time to advanced reporting students doing the best work. The Wilbur C. Hawk Memorial scholarship will be given by Gene Howe and the Globe-News Publishing company of Amarillo and a similar scholarship will be awarded by Avalanche-Journal publications.

Announcement of a $100 annual cash award to be given by Mrs. J. T. Hutchinson of 1519 Broadway was made Thursday afternoon. The award will be given to the sophomore or junior journalism major who makes the highest scholastic average for the year. Mrs. Hutchinson, who was graduated from Tech with a bachelor of arts degree in history in 1934, has studied journalism courses.

Offered Laboratory Work

Journalism students are offered laboratory work on the Toreador, student newspaper two afternoons each week, and six hours' laboratory work for three hours credit each semester. Students in an advanced class report for Avalanche-Journal publications in two weeks shifts.

In addition, a few students can learn practical newspaper work in the college print shop, the photographic studio, and an independently operated engraving plant, and about 20 students work each year on the college yearbook.

The department hopes to have a journalism reading room in the library to be constructed, said Horne.

Experience also is offered on the Tech Journalism News, quarterly bulletin giving information about the departments and journalism graduates. An alumni magazine is being issued for the first time this year. Calvin Hazlewood is editor.

Delegates Attend Meeting

Instruction is offered each spring at the Southwestern Journalism congress, to which Tech sends large delegations.

The West Texas Press clinic was organized under direction of the journalism department. It will meet annually at Tech. At least 50 high schools are expected to send teachers and students to the first meeting Nov. 6.

Forty-nine hours credit is offered in Tech courses in various phases of newspaper work, including copy-reading and headline writing, editorial writing, reporting, photography, advertising and typography.

New faculty members were appointed this year with the view of emphasizing the practical phase.

Culver Hill, advertising director in a department store, was appointed recently acting part-time instructor of typography and advertising. Winston Reeves, who is installing a photographic studio, is new part-time instructor and is teaching a course in photography.

Mrs. James G. Allen continues as instructor in journalism. She recently wrote several articles.

Memorial Service Planned By DAR

Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Nancy Anderson chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will place a bronze marker bearing the national D. A. R. insignia on the grave of Mrs. J. R. B. Cooper, who was an active member of the chapter at the time of her death.

The dedication of the marker will be read by Mrs. Bradford Knapp, regent.

Friends of the late Mrs. Cooper are invited to attend the service.

YOU CAN THROW CARDS IN HIS FACE ONCE TOO OFTEN

WHEN you have those awful cramps; when your nerves are all on edge—don't take it out on the man you love.

Your husband can't possibly know how you feel for the simple reason that he is a man.

A three-quarter wife may be no wife at all if she nags her husband seven days out of every month.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life. 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

Funeral Rites Held Thursday For Mrs. Oscar Marchbanks

SLATON, Sept. 30. (Special) — Mrs. Oscar Marchbanks, 71, of Slaton was buried in Englewood cemetery after 3 o'clock rites read by the Rev. C. W. Foote, pastor, at the First Methodist church this afternoon. She died Wednesday.

Mrs. Marchbanks, formerly Miss Nellie Sublima Lee, was born in Jack county and, when a child, became a charter member of the Presbyterian church at Jacksboro. Later she joined her husband, whom she married in 1888, in the Methodist faith.

Of four children born to Mr. and Mrs. Marchbanks, only a daughter Mrs. Joe Walker of Slaton survives. Two sisters, Mrs. McSpadden of Brownfield and Mrs. J. T. Bell of Long Beach, Calif., survive, as do a grandson, and the husband.

Bar Association Ranks Split Over Black Question

pression Will e Fourthcoming

(By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 30. — The Justice Black question split the American Bar association wide open today in an uproarious meeting climaxed by a drive for a resolution condemning judicial membership in a secret order "actuated by religious and radical animosity."

Tonight the resolution committee struggled with the thorny task of drafting a suitable expression and tomorrow will come the vital struggle on whether agreement can be reached by the convention on any public declaration.

Refuse To Drop Subject

The bar's general assembly killed a suggestion to make a specific investigation of "the latest appointee (Hugo L. Black)," but by a narrow vote of 193 to 161 refused to drop the entire subject.

The assembly preserved a portion of an original resolution on the Black question, coupled to it some new ideas and recommitted the whole task to the resolutions committee.

The train of events began Monday night when 73-year-old Robert Lee Tullis, former Louisiana State university law dean, itnroduced this resolution:

"That it is the sense of this association that membership in a secret, oath-bound order actuated by religious and racial animosity is incompatible with membership in the Supreme court of the United States and that the relevant facts in regard to the latest appointee to that high post should be ascertained by an impartial committee of five created by this association."

Resolution Reported Adversely

The resolution was reported adversely from committee today with the statement "there is nothing now pending in respect of which the association could take any effective action."

Almost immediately Lessing Rosenthal of Chicago proposed a substitute urging public senate hearings of future appointments.

Arguments sprang up over whether the substitute could be received and it was finally offered as a separate resolution. During rapid-fire debate on that question A. L. Yantis of Shelbyville, Ill. judge of the Illinois state supreme court of claims, moved the entire Black question be "postponed indefinitely" but a standing vote defeated him 161 to 193.

Hay Assumes Peacemaker Role

Assuming the role of peacemaker, Charles M. Hay of St. Louis, unsuccessful Democratic nominee for the United States senate in 1928 and a supporter of Alfred E. Smith, told the assembly:

"If ever a resolution ought to receive careful consideration, this is it.

"We don't want to do anything here that will muddy the waters any further in America or do anything to increase feeling. . . . In God's name let's not have the members of this association contribute anything to further the bitterness."

His suggestion the committee "report back immediately, taking into consideration all these resolutions" was adopted by an almost unanimous voice vote.

Regardless of the assembly's final action on the Black question, it must be ratified by the house of delegates before it becomes the official expression of the bar association.

In a minority report on another resolution Hay deplored the close supreme court decision that held some New Deal legislation unconstitutional.

Had Not Enjoyed A Well Day In Past Seven Years

Smothering Spells, Indigestion, Kidney Troubles, Loss of Strength And Energy Had Made Mr. Hess Miserable—Until He Began Gly-Cas

"I would not take anything for what Gly-Cas has done for me," said Mr. L. B. Hess, 2104 Front Street, Amarillo, Texas. "For the past seven years I had not known what a well day was. My stomach simply would not digest foods properly. I felt as if I was sure to die after eating as I would suffer so with the cramps. Gas formed in abundance, bloated until my heart was crowded and I could hardly get my breath and endured smothering spells. My kidneys were out of order too and was up at all hours of the night. Attacks of indigestion often bothered me causing me terrible suffering. I spent much money doing my best to find relief but meeting only with repeated failure until I began Gly-Cas—it went right to the source of my health troubles."

Mr. L. B. HESS

"By the time I had taken Gly-Cas just two days all those cramps had left me entirely," continued Mr. Hess. "Now I am feeling like a new man. I sleep good the entire night through, eat and enjoy my meals without any distress afterwards and those years of poor health are now at an end. Gly-Cas is truly one medicine that gives the health "nature intended."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns. adv.

Leases Are Filed On More Land In County

Leasing activity in Lubbock county cropped out again this week with four leases conveying exploration rights on 2,622 acres of land having been filed at the office of Ed D. Allen, county clerk.

The total since Saturday was boosted to 7,4[illegible] acres and the entire total under lease for the county climbed to approximately 57,000 acres, according to tabulations from the office of the clerk.

All but 480 acres of land on which the rights were conveyed Wednesday was leased by W. R. Chancellor of Lubbock. Two of his leases were for five years. Most of the leases filed have been for ten-year periods.

Chancellor obtained from the Texas Land and Mortgage company, limited, acting through B. F. Brewer and Hector Mackay, its agents, rights on: 673.77 acres in the southeast quarter of the TT Railway company survey 8, block A; 513.77 acres of the HE & WT Railway company survey 41, block A, abstract 59; and 634 acres, a part of the HE & WT Railway company survey 52, block A.

Chancellor also obtained rights from Mrs. Sarah J. Sides and others on 320 acres described as parts of surveys 2 and 3, block RG, TT railway company survey.

John L. Baldridge, Lubbock oil man, obtained oil and gas exploration rights on 480 acres described as the west half and southeast quarter of section 21, block E-2, certificate 1870, abstract 270. Rights were obtained from W. N. Nabors and wife.

Rockefeller Center is the largest building project ever undertaken by private capital.

Dud Wright at the Nat immediately. Contests already have been started to eliminate some of the entrants, so many have asked for the privilege.

Has Sensational Singing Find

After two successful seasons at Casa Manana in Fort Worth, Whiteman comes to Amarillo for the one night engagement. With him will come 20 musicians and ten other entertainers including 10-year-old Jeanne Ellis, sensational singing find of Whiteman's.

Also included in the Whiteman organization will be Roy Bargy, pianist, who has made "Rhapsody in Blue" one of the most famous pieces ever composed. Bargy has played the Gershwin number more times than any other person in the world. It's Bargy who lifts the heavy load of conducting from the maestro's shoulders—for the pianist often takes the baton while Whiteman mingles with the dancers.

Others Are Featured

Also with the Whiteman orchestra are Jack and Charlie Teagarden, Vernon boys, Jimmy Brierly handsome Tenor, Mike Pingatore, the banjo wizard, Marian Manners, attractive singer.

Concert tickets cost 40 and 75 cents and $1 and $1.50, while dance tickets are $2 per person plus tax. Reservations in the newly decorated night club are 50 cents and may be made by writing Dud Wright at the Nat, Amarillo.

Total Of 3,102 Now Enrolled

A trend toward technical training was shown in figures given by President Bradford Knapp at Texas Technological college Thursday afternoon and showing that 3,102 students have paid fees for the fall semester.

Engineering, home economics, agricultural, and arts and sciences division showed enrollment increases, in that order.

Enrollment in the engineering division to date is 736, or 171 more than the entire fall semester enrollment last year. Home economics enrollment is 393, an increase of 86 over last fall semester; agricultural is 396, an increase of 68; and arts and sciences is 1,539, an increase of 36. Thirty-eight graduates had registered up to Thursday afternoon. Number last fall semester was 55.

In addition to the 3,102 students, more than 100 have obtained permits to register but have not paid fees.

Officers Are Concerned With Solution Of Burglaries Here

Police and the sheriff's department, concerned with an apparently growing difficulty in solving two major and several lesser burglaries recently perpetrated in Lubbock, Thursday were given respite from additional felonious crime.

Elbert Owens was brought here from Vernon by Grady Harrist, deputy sheriff, to face a charge growing out of an alleged worthless check.

Authorities investigated a report a woman had entered a Twenty-first street residence but had taken nothing; a Boy Scout cornet was reported stolen from a scout tent at the fairgrounds; three Post boys were being sought after having left their homes.

Rewards totaling $350 had been offered for apprehension of those responsible for the $3,000 burglary of Hanna-Pope & Co. Sept. 19 and two burglaries, netting more than $2,000, of Nineteenth Street pharmacy.

Ambassador William C. Bullitt Arrives Thursday For U. S. Visit

NEW YORK, Sept. 30. (AP) — William C. Bullitt, American ambassador to France, arrived today on the French liner Normandie with his 13-year-old daughter, Anne. The ambassador said he did not want to discuss European conditions.

The Library of Congress was established in 1800.

Suit Is Filed Here Against Officials

Lubbock county, through Judge J. J. Dillard and the former county commission, composed of P. B. Penney, T. L. Holt, B. O. McWhorter, and J. T. Pinkston, faces a $9,000 action in 72nd district court as result of an Oct. 14, 1935, action of the commissioners court.

J. W. Boyd and Miller R. Boyd, plaintiffs, brought the action, alleging a packing and slaughter house northeast of the city had been reduced in value from approximately $5,000 to $1,000 and that plaintiffs had been damaged another $5,000 through having to go out and buy livestock for slaughter purposes, because the court had discontinued a road along the north section of the town to the place.

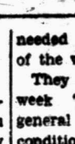

The court's order was opposed to legal provisions, the petition set out in asking for a mandatory injunction for a new road and judgment against defendants individually and against their bondsmen.

Rain Is Reported Badly Needed In Winter Wheat Territory

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30. (AP) — Crop experts at the weather bureau reported today rain was badly needed in "practically all districts of the winter wheat belt."

They said rains during the past week "were inconsequental and general moderate rain is needed to condition the soil for plowing and seeding in delayed areas, and to insure germination."

Priority Ruling In Act Upheld

(By The Associated Press)

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 30. — In a decision vital to administration of western range land under the Taylor grazing act, sectional priority rulings on issuance of grazing permits have been upheld here.

S. H. Moyer, examiner for the division of grazing, affirmed the ruling of the Colorado regional grazing in denying a grazing permit to Joseph F. Livingston and Glade Cook of Pagoda, Colo.

Leader In Fight

Livingston, a sheepman, leader in a fight against alleged "grazing discrimination" who fought priority rulings with the slogan "the shepherds of government should shear, not skin, their sheep," was ruled unqualified to obtain the permit because he had not grazed his sheep on public land in Colorado grazing district No. 6 for two years prior to passage of the Taylor act, June 28, 1934.

The two-year ruling was passed by the Colorado district because, officials said, it was necessary to prevent overstocking with resulting range detriment. The secretary of interior concurred, saying it was advisable for orderly administration.

Claimed Ruling Contrary

Livingston claimed the ruling was contrary to the Taylor act and that the secretary of interior had no right to adopt the priority standing rule.

Western grazing men considered Livingston's appeal a test case on all priority rulings. Under the Taylor act, 80,000,000 acres of public domain are available for grazing.

The case was heard here by Moyer during July. His decision was mailed to Salt Lake City from Washington, D. C.

Livingston's attorneys have ten days in which to file notice of appeal to the secretary of interior through the division of grazing offices here.

Thomas B. Hale, 81-year-old Lancaster, Mo., justice of the peace, has married between 2,500 and 3,000 couples in the last seven years.

TAX ROLLS ARE LARGER

TAHOKA, (Special) — Lynn county's tax rolls for 1937 are over $400,000 larger than for 1936, A. M. Cade, assessor-collector, reports. His were the 21st to be filed in Austin.

This year's totals are $6,163,425 compared with $5,759,095 last year.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Twenty-Three Are Sentenced To Death In Soviet Crop Sabotage

MOSCOW, Sept. 30. (AP)—Twenty-three persons were reported sentenced to death today for crop sabotage.

Eight were condemned to death in Leningrad province for offenses against the Soviet agricultural program.

Four in Moscow province and four others in the Azov, Black sea, region were ordered executed for infesting grain in warehouses with weevils. Seven in Karelia, were convicted of seeking the restoration of capitalism by mismanagement of collective farms.

Retail Sales Up 16 Per Cent

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Sept. 30.—Department store sales in principal cities in August registered an increase of 16 per cent over July, says the monthly business review of the Federal Reserve bank of Dallas, released today. This was more than seasonal, the review says, and the gain over a year ago widened to 11 per cent the largest increment shown by a year-to-year comparison since May.

Wholesale distribution in the eleventh district, the review says, after holding up well throughout the late spring and early summer months, increased less than usual from July to August, but maintained a margin of nine per cent over a year ago.

Bank Debits Are Higher

Bank debits, while seven per cent smaller than in the previous month, exceeded the total in August, 1936, by 19 per cent. The number of commercial failures and the amount of liabilities involved, as compiled by Dun and Bradstreet, the review says, "were lower than in either July this year or August last year."

The output of petroleum, which had increased somewhat in July, the review says, rose to a new high level in August, but declined in the first half of September when allowables in Texas were reduced. "Nevertheless, the daily production rate at mid-September was higher than in any month prior to August."

Weather avorable For Crops

In agriculture, the review reports weather conditions in August generally favorable for crops in the eleventh district despite heat and drouth in the forepart of the month. It says department of agriculture estimates as of Sept. 1 reflected upward revisions in the prospective production of several crops. The major increase, it says, was in the indicated production of cotton, which, on the basis of the Sept. 1 estimate, is the largest crop since 1931.

"Cotton prices declined further between Aug. 16 and Sept. 16," the review says, "reaching the lowest level since 1933."

Ranges deteriorated in August but the outlook for fall pasturage was improved by heavy rain falling in most sections since the middle of August. Livestock generally is in good flesh except in the dry areas.

Construction Shows Gains

The review says the largest monthly volume of new construction work in more than six years was started in this district in August. It quotes the F. W. Dodge corporation that although residential building increased, the expansion was chiefly in public works and public utility construction. The valuation of building permits issued at principal cities, the revew says, although seasonably larger than in July, was smaller than in the corresponding month of 1936.

The review says daily average gross deposits of member banks in the eleventh district rose $8,646,000 in August, principally at country banks. The loans of weekly reporting member banks increased further by $3,820,000 in the four weeks ended Sept. 8, but their investments were reduced by $1,140,000. Member bank reserve balances declined in the third week of August, the review says, but by Sept. 15 had risen to $182,493,000, which is $2,833,000 higher than a month earlier.

The review notes that "effective Aug. 31, 1937, the discount rate of the Federal Reserve bank of Dallas was reduced from 2 to 1 1-2 per cent."

WINS POSTPONEMENT

AUSTIN, Sept. 30. (AP)—Because it was daylight at 5 a. m. on June 2, Ross Castillo won a postponement in his district court trial for burglary here.

Castillo was charged with burglary of a residence at "night time." The point that the offense did not occur at night was sustained by the weather bureau's records which showed it was daylight at that hour.

MAKES HIGH RECORD

LAMESA, (Special)—Curtis L. Meeks, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Meeks of Welch, near here, was high point man from Texas in about 25 men entered in the national rifle matches at Camp Perry, Ohio. Meeks is a first sergeant, 142nd infantry, Texas National guard. He is a senior law student in the University of Texas.

DANGEROUS DAYS AHEAD

Don't rely on makeshift refrigeration methods during Fall and Winter months

● These are dangerous days for food. For many people, believing that the "cool weather" of fall and winter protects food against spoilage, rely on makeshift refrigeration that does not provide protection. ● The truth is that nature seldom maintains food-protecting temperatures, and those who rely on inadequate, unreliable refrigeration are actually risking their health and wasting their money. ● It is false economy to be without the protection Frigidaire with the Meter-Miser provides. Spoiled food takes its toll in many ways. Don't take needless chances. ● Even with a limited income, you can own and enjoy a Frigidaire. For Frigidaire with the Meter-Miser pays for itself out of the savings it makes, and pays a profit besides! ● Come in and we will prove it to you. Ask about our pay-as-you-save purchase plan.

SPOILED FOOD WARNS TOO LATE!

Food may look good, smell good, and taste good and yet be unfit to eat! Food spoilage does not always warn of its presence. No one should take chances. For safety, keep food at temperatures between 32 and 50 degrees Fahrenheit, all the time. Frigidaire with the Meter-Miser provides constant safety-zone temperatures, and proves it with a Food-Safety Indicator on the outside of the cabinet door, always in plain sight.

City Officials To Convene Oct. 6

(By The Associated Press)

BEAUMONT, Sept. 30. — Final arrangements for the 25th annual convention of the League of Texas Municipalities to be held at Mineral Wells, October 6, 7 and 8 were made here when Lieut. Gov. Walter Woodul conferred with Mayor P. D. Renfro, president of the league.

Associated groups that will hold meetings at the same time are the Texas chapter, Municipal Finance Officers' association, the Municipal Utilities league, the Texas City Managers association and the City Attorneys association.

Woodul, with Attorney General William McCraw, will speak at the banquet to be held the night of Thursday, October 7. More than 250 Texas cities are expected to have representatives at the meeting.

Officials of the various groups are; League of Texas Municipalities, Mayor P. D. Renfro, Beaumont, president; vice presidents, R. G. Williams, city manager of Bryan; William V. Brown, mayor of Texarkana, Texas; R. E. Rouer, city attorney, Fort Worth; Bill Taylor, city manager, Longview and Max Starcke, mayor of Seguin, Texas. E. E. McAdams, Austin, is executive secretary.

Officers of the Municipal Finance Officers association are: president, T. B. Marshall, assessor and collector, Austin; J. M. Barker, auditor, Amarillo; F. A. Quin, auditor, Galveston; L. L. Williams, city manager, Crystal City; Raymond Edmonds, city clerk, Beaumont; Theo. Jones, city secretary, University Park and E. E. McAdams, secretary, Austin.

Officers of the Municipal Utilities league are: T. S. Mitchell, utilities commissioner, Greenville, president; vice president, R. P. Reagen, city manager of Burkburnett; L. G. Wines, mayor, Brownfield; H. S. Frady, mayor, Yoakum; W. A. Wilkerson, manager of utilities, Hearne; R. E. Ward, manager of utilities Georgetown; L. R. Burrow, city manager, Spur; R. G. Williams, city manager, Bryan and T. E. Craddock, city manager, Seymour. M. F. Runnion, Greenville, is secretary.

Officers of the Texas Managers' association are; Guiton Morgan, city manager, Austin, president; vice presidents; S. H. Rothwell, manager, Sweetwater; G. H. Petkovsek, manager, Beaumont and A. H. Balch, Tyler.

Work Is Started On Big Spring Amphitheater; Is WPA Project

BIG SPRING Sept. 30. (Special) —Location of the amphitheater in the city park was staked Tuesday morning with the return of the city's park extension project from the district WPA office with full approval. Not a single change had been made in the project by the district office. The amphitheatre was staked on the hillside just east of the swimming pool. The stage will be at the base of the hill and the seats will follow the hill contours to the top. Parking space is to be provided in several different areas.

The park project is for $33,330 of which $3,210 is the city's share. Of this latter amount $500 has been provided as an anonymous gift to the chamber of commerce for construction of the amphitheatre.

Other items called for under the project are a pumphouse, garages, softball bleachers, greens and tees, equipment shed, caddy house, shelters, toilets and general improvement. The last named item may include improvements of a drive around the park extension.

Giants Clinch National Pennant; Cats Bow, 10-0, In Dixie Series Opener

King Carl Puts Clincher Over For New York

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 30. — Climaxing their second straight "Frank Merriwell" dash down the stretch, the New York Giants clinched the National League pennant today.

They won their 15th senior circuit championship, their second in a row, and their third in five years under Manager Bill Terry by taking the opening game of a doubleheader from the Phillies 2 to 1.

To King Carl Hubbell, their southpaw great, went the honor of putting the old convincer on the drive by which they came from third place in July, and from seven games behind in early August, to retain the honors they won last year with a similar drive.

"Meal-Ticket" Hubbell pitched a five-hitter in the pennant winning game and had a shutout until Dolph Camilli tagged him for a homer with two out in the ninth. It was the Hub's 22nd victory of the year against eight defeats.

In the nightcap, fielding a makeshift team, the new-old pennant winners were beaten, 6 to 2.

FIRST GAME

New York	101 000 000	2	8 0
Philadelphia	000 000 001	1	5 0

Hubbell and Mancuso; Passeau, Mulcahy and Atwood.

Runs batted in: McCarthy 2, Camilli. Two base hits: Klein, Ott 2, Atwood. Home run: Camilli. Sacrifice: Ott. Double play: Scharen to Norris. Left on bases: New York 8, Philadelphia 4. Bases on balls: off Passeau 3, Hubbell 1. Strikeouts: by Hubbell 9, Passeau 1, Mulcahy 1. Hits: off Passeau 8 in 8 innings; Mulcahy 0 in 1. Losing pitcher: Passeau.

SECOND GAME

New York	000 010 010	2	8 0
Philadelphia	021 000 03x	6	9 0

Smith and Madjeski; Sivess and Stephenson.

Runs batted in: Stephenson, Scharein, Klein, Arnovich 2, Haslin, Ryan, Walters. Two base hits: Camilli, Norris. Home run: Ryan. Double plays: Madjeski to Ryan; Haslin to Whitehead to Leslie. Left on bases: New York 7, Philadelphia 5. Bases on balls: off Smith 4, Sivess 1. Srtikeouts: by Sivess 3, Smith 2.

Cubs Lace Reds To Extend Cincinnati Losing Streak

CINCINNATI, Sept. 30. (AP) — Chicago made it four straight over the Cicninnati Reds today, taking the last game of the year here, 4 to 1. It was the Reds' tenth straight setback.

Chicago	100 000 003	4	9 1
Cincinnati	000 100 000	1	11 1

French and O'Dea; Cascarella and Lombardi.

Pirates Beat St. Louis To Secure Bucs In Third Rung

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 30. (AP) — The Pirates jumped on Bob Weiland for four runs in the first inning today to beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 4 to 3. The victory, Russ Bauers' 13th, swept the three game series and virtually assured Pittsburgh of third place in the National league.

St. Louis	011 000 001	3	9 3
Pittsburgh	400 000 00x	4	12 0

Weiland, Sunkel and Ogrodowski; Bauers and Todd.

Dodgers Lose 15th Straight Game By Dropping Twin Bill

BOSTON, Sept. 30. (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers stretched their losing streak to 14 straight games today by dropping both ends of a doubleheader to the Boston Bees. They lost the opener 5 to 2 to Danny MacFayden's effective pitching and the nightcap 3 to 2 on Ray Mueller's homer.

FIRST GAME

Brooklyn	001 000 010	2	10 0
Boston	300 000 02x	5	7 0

Fitzsimmons and Phelps; MacFayden and Lopez.

SECOND GAME

Brooklyn	002 000 000	2	7 1
Boston	002 000 10x	3	10 1

Frankhouse and Phelps; Fette and Mueller.

Lubbock Cowboys Beat Spur Junior High School, 21-0

SPUR, Sept. 30. (Special)—Junior high school grid teams of Lubbock and Spur opened their 1937 seasons here today, a 21 to 0 victory going to the charges of Coach Mule Davis of Lubbock.

Halfback Bearden and Fullback Glaze were prominent in the Cowboy backfield, each scoring a touchdown and Bearden passing to Jarrott, end, for the third counter. The pass was good for 50 yards. In the line, Storrs at center and Holly at tackle played good games.

The Cowboy lineup: Hutton and Nabors, ends; Harris and Holly, tackles; Keaton and Butler, guards; Storrs, center; Walthal, quarter; Bearden and Griner, halfbacks, and Glaze, fullback.

"You Are Really Going To Catch It," Smith Warns Forward Wall In Drill

"You are really going to catch it Saturday night, and you'd better be ready. This is going to be a job for YOU, and you've gotta bust 'em."

It was Coach Russell "Dutchy" Smith securing his Texas Tech linemen, the boys down there in the front trenches who have to "go over the top" first. And Smith, who omits profanity in his speeches to the linemen, nevertheless spoke in strong language as he endeavored to impress upon them the danger looming Saturday night when University of Montana's Grizzlies come to town.

Just a day and a half to get those "bargain books" for Texas Tech's home football games:

The books contain tickets to the remaining five games on the Tech home schedule. The reduced price is $6.50, or a saving of about 35 per cent if you plan to see all the games.

Nearly 100 of the books remain uncalled for or unsold, Hugh "Bo" Williams said last night. Persons who reserved season tickets and who haven't called for them may procure them at the new reduced price, he said.

The scouting notes came in yesterday, and Coaches Pete Cawthon and Smith got down to a couple of days of earnest, insistent coaching. Tech hired a popular West Coast coach to scout last Saturday night's game between Montana and Whitman. The scout's reports indicate what the Tech coaches have feared all along—that Montana really has a football team this year. Coach Doug Fessenden admits it, and his club showed it in mowing down the Whitmans.

Just Look For Anything

"Your line has got to be on its toes, has got to be looking for anything and prepared to meet the hardest bunch of charges I've seen in a long time, and they're big and husky. If your line doesn't function properly, you're in for a tough game, and I don't mean perhaps," the scout said in his report.

Fessenden coaches the single and double wingback system, but apparently has settled definitely on the single wingback device. He has a squad of heavy, charging backs who can take off fast. The "Bierman" influence is evident in Montana style, the scout reports, and that style concentrates on power and ruggedness.

So it would appear that Tech's linemen have a full evening tomorrow. The Montana line is made up of rather large young men, averaging better than 200 pounds.

Best Team Of History

Montana's backfield featuring the play of Captain Milt Popovich, who plays safety position and who is termed "the greatest running back in the Northwest," is full of big, fast ball luggers, passers and kickers.

Every one who claims to know anything about football in that section freely admits that University of Montana this year has its best team in history, and that it should give the other Pacific Coast conference teams a heap of trouble.

The Montana team is to arrive here sometime today, after a brief lay-over in Amarillo. The club left Missoula, Montana, Wednesday, stopped in Denver for a long workout yesterday.

As for Tech's progress, it has been great since last Saturday's game. The clash with University of Texas proved to be a fine lesson for the Red Raiders. Mistakes brought out there are being slowly but surely corrected, and the good word is that fans will see a smooth Texas Tech team in action tomorrow night.

Alan Plummer Quits

Coach Pete Cawthon yesterday anhounced the loss to the squad of Alan Plummer, big halfback from Beaumont, who has been in the starting lineup in both previous games. Plummer, it was announced, elected to give up football in favor of professional wrestling. He has been bothered with a batch of sore ribs recently and apparently became disappointed with his failure to recover quickly. He was reported to be headed for Florida to join a heavyweight wrestling stable.

Gene Barnett, the passer deluxe, and little Bobby Holmes, fine broken field runner, will divide time at left halfback position, vacated by Plummer. Elmer Tarbox and Charles Barnard will alternate at right half. Charley Calhoun seems a fixture at fullback, although Miles Chapman has intimated he'll land the job. Ed Smith and Raymond Curfman still stand out as leading quarterbacks, with Smith probably drawing the starting assignment.

Secret Practices Tonight

Coach Smith announces no definite change in the line. Captain Red Ramsey and Thurman Bostick stand out as best ends, big Red Murphy and bigger Bill Davis at tackles, the senior veterans, Pete Owens and Lou Jones at guards, and Frank Guzick or Red Williams at center.

The team will practice against Montana plays tonight in a secret drill, dividing time between offense and defensive measures.

Van Noir Wins Feature Of Race Attraction At Fair

Van Noir, owned, trained and ridden by the veteran John Singleton—but not any more—responded nobly to left handed slaps on the flank, came up from sixth and last position to first and won the fifth and feature race at the Panhandle-South Plains Fair track yesterday going away.

It was a claiming race and Singleton, said to be the oldest active jockey in organized racing, gave up Van Noir, a 6-year-old black gelding, for $200. The horse, who has raced on numerous major tracks and once valued at close to $2,000, was content to gallop along with the field until the three-quarter turn of the one mile race. Then Singleton applied the bat, and Van Noir came up on the outside to pass Red Banner and Polonian and win by a length and a half. The time was 1 minute, 46.4 seconds. Red Banner, favored by many, took the lead and held it for three quarters, with Polonian, the show horse, close behind. Junior finished fourth.

Wins By Half Length

In one of the prettiest races of the day, Yankee Lad, L. Miller's 5-year-old gelding, nosed out Sky Hawk and Peter Pan in the half-mile, fourth race of the day. Jockey Brite rode Yankee Lad to a half-length victory. Sky Hawk was little better than a head ahead of Peter Pan, ridden by Miss Wantha Bangs, only woman jockey to perform here. Time for the half was 51.8 seconds.

Buddy Nile, G. T. George's 8-year-old horse, with Gruber up, won the quarter-mile opener yesterday, with Cross Fire 2nd placing and Deuce of Hearts running third. Miss Santa Fe ran fourth. Miss St. Joe won the 6-furlong second race, with Abe Furst second, Natemenor third. The third race went to Grand Title, neat gelding owned by Frank Zinn and capably ridden by Williams. Joker Joe placed, Carvil Hall, a favorite, came in third. Time for the five furlongs was slow, 1 minute, 2.5 seconds. It was a bad race from the start, Dry Brush, Line Dorman and Joker Joe offering lots of trouble at the gate.

Sandies Coast To 14-7 Win Over Classen Of Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 30.—Amarillo High school's Golden Sandies, Texas schoolboy grid champs, carried their attack into Oklahoma today, turned back Classen High of Oklahoma City, 14 to 7 in an intersectional game.

The Sandies put over a couple of touchdowns, made the conversions and coasted for the remainder of the game. Just before the whistle, Classen recovered a fumbled Amarillo punt on the Sandie goal line for its only touchdown.

Lubbock Leaves For Fracas At Oklahoma City

The Westerners board a special bus this morning for Oklahoma City where Saturday night they face Capitol Hill High school Redskins in a game that will test Lubbock's strength and provide a comparison of power in District 1.

The power-laden Indians last week combined fumbles and Pampa pass interceptions to drop a decision to the Harvesters. Coach Jim Lookabaugh is bringing his charges along slowly but surely.

Second Series Game

Sooner-Westerner series was begun last season when the maroon and white eleven invaded Texas. Lubbock will be out to even the tally with Capitol Hill since they lost that game, 14 to 6.

The Redskins are polishing up on a pass offense that failed to click against Pampa, according to advance reports from the Capitol Hill camp. Big Paul Woodson, burly fullback, will return to the line-up after substituting occasionally against the Harvesters. He was injured in an early season game.

Coach Weldon Chapman cannot put anything like full strength in the game Saturday night. Dependable Herb Leaverton's fractured hand has not responded readily to treatment, necessitating his giving it another week of rest. The 168-pound center is a bulwark on defense and steady plus on offense.

Venable Only Pivot Man

Leaverton's absence will put whole responsibility upon the shoulders of L. D. Venable, since Buford Gregory, third choice for the pivot job, received an eye cut in practice this week.

Neither will Harold Parsons, regular halfback, be ready for action.

The side injury that kept him out of the Slaton game is still bothering him. And Dutchy Cawthon is favoring a leg injury sustained against the Tigers. Coulson Paxton will replace Parsons again this week.

Coach Is Gloomy

"We cannot expect less than a three-touchdown defeat," said Chapman last night. "With their big fullback in harness and our line-up so badly shattered they will run over us at will."

At the terminal posts, Melvin Billings and Jack Coursey likely will get the call, and Capt. Babe Ritchie is certain to start at one tackle. Either James Sims and Henry Ford will be at the other.

Only at guard is Chapman blessed with what might be termed a wealth of material although at that position contestants are not too hefty. Four men are still fighting it out to win approval there. Jerry Nash, "Gotch" Sanders, "Hayseed" Alford and Joe Pytell are the men in question. The later has finally recovered from a lingering, though slight, illness, which has deterred his full show of ability.

At other backfield positions probably will be Bill Sessums, Rusty Johnston and Jumbo Webster. Dutchy Cawthon is slated to give the kinky-headed Sessums a breather before the game ends.

Special buses for rooters will embark for the Sooner capital Saturday morning, returning immediately after the clash. The Westerners will lay over in Oklahoma City until Sunday morning.

Full Schedules For Districts 4 And 5 Slated For Today

Both Class B districts of this section have heavy schedules, seven conference games in the two leagues being booked for Friday.

District 5 has four title melees on tap and another of the "no-decision" variety. Three conference games will be played in District 4, with one intersectional fracas.

Schedules for Friday (*denotes conference games):

DISTRICT 5

*Lamesa at Post.
*Tahoka at Slaton, night.
*Crosbyton at Olton.
*Levelland at Ralls, night.
Lubbock Cowhands at Littlefield, night.

DISTRICT 4

*Spur at Flomot.
*Matador at Turkey.
*Estelline at Floydada.
Crowell at Paducah.

Little Rock Is Out In Front With Shutout

(By The Associated Press)

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 30—Big Dick Midkiff, former University of Texas star, held the Fort Worth Cats to five scattered singles tonight while his Little Rock Traveler teammates slaughtered the offerings of three Cat pitchers for 14 hits and a 10 to 0 victory in the Dixie Series opener.

Midkiff had the situation well under control throughout, the visitors only threat coming in the sixth when Mallon and Peel singled. McLeod forced Peel at second to end the rally. Midkiff's double in the fifth drove in two Traveler tallies.

Official attendance was 8,295. Governor Carl E. Bailey of Arkansas saw the game.

Jackie Reid started for the Texas Leaguers but went to the showers in the fifth after the Southern Association champions had combed his delivery for nine hits and five runs. The Travelers continued their assault against Clyde Smoll, a left hander, and the veteran Dick Whitworth.

Mrs. J. L. Morris Of Dawson County Heads Texas Home Demonstration Body

Run-Off Vote Is Held Thursday

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 30.—Mrs. J. L. Morris of Dawson county today was elected president of the Texas Home Demonstration association, succeeding Mrs. John Palmore of Ravenna.

Mrs. Morris was winner over Mrs. J. D. Bace of Harris county in a run-off election held this morning, made necessary when none of the four presidential candidates received

Two Other Candidates To Other Candidates

The other two candidates were Mrs. O. A. Blankenship of Potter county and Mrs. R. Ewells of Jefferson county.

Miss Ruth Lundy of Jefferson county was chosen as vice president-at-large in Wednesday's election, winning over Mrs. J. A. Lewis of Lamar county.

Uncontested offices filled included:

Mrs. W. W. Mitchell of Runnels county, treasurer; Mrs. Ernest Fincher of Liberty county, secretary; Mrs. J. O. Henderson of Smith county, auditor.

District Vice Presidents

District vice presidents included: Mrs. W. C. Henderson of Upshur county; Mrs. Clyde Laurence of Coleman county; Mrs. John Strauss of McLennan county; Mrs. A. J. Brown of Jefferson county; and Mrs. L. E. Drawe of Hidalgo county.

The association also voted to hold conventions away from College Station every two years. Other decisions made were to send a Texas woman and her pantry to the meeting of land grant colleges to be held at Washington, D. C., in December, and to pay membership dues of $25 in the association of County Women of the World, which the association voted to join last year.

An executive session this afternoon brought to a close the three-day convention, which was attended by 398 voting delegates and visitors.

Potts Heads Tech Grads Employed In Extension Work

Graduates of Texas Technological college employed in the state extension service have elected James W. Potts, demonstration agent of Garza county, president of their organization.

Through courtesy of the state service, the graduates met for luncheon during a recent meeting of county agricultural and home demonstration agents on the campus of Texas A. & M. college.

Jason Gordon, president of the Alumni and Ex-Students association of Tech and Parmer county agricultural agent of Farwell, greeted the group and explained plans under which the association is operating.

Miss Velma Anderson, Gaines county home demonstration agent, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Other Tech graduates employed in the extension service who attended the luncheon were: Vera Lee Jones, Bastrop; Leola Cox Sides, Bay City; Orene McClellan, Dallas; Carolyn Powell, Richmond; Chloie Huffaker, Plainview; Hazel Phipps, Levelland; Eunice King, Sherman; Jewell Hipp, Roby; Pauline Hargrove, Aspermont; Joelline Vannoy, Roby; Elizabeth Schott, Uvalde; G. Fair People Are Feted By Club

Exhibitors and officials of the 24th annual Panhandle-South Plains fair were guests of the Kiwanis club yesterday noon at the Hotel Lubbock and also furnished the program, an annual custom of the club. There were 18 show attaches present, not including W. L. Stangel, beef cattle department head and Kiwanian, who introduced the visitors.

President B. Sherrod introduced Kiwanian W. A. Williams of Vega, prominently mentioned as a possible candidate for lieutenant governor of this division of the Texas-Oklahoma district. Charles Whitacre, chamber of commerce goodwill chairman, announced a Plainview delegation would visit Lubbock at 1:40 o'clock. S. C. Wilson of the safety committee, called attention of club members to the need for safe driving.

Parker F. Prouty, program chairman for the day, called on Stangel to introduce the visitors.

Dallas Man Talks

R. L. Pou, dairy judge and former Texas A. & M. dairy department head, introduced by R. N. McClain, show department head, said it was his first opportunity to visit the Plains since Texas Tech was established. "I am very much impressed with the great development of this area," he said. "You have an exceptionally good dairy show here, especially Jerseys and Holsteins."

McClain, a former local Kiwanian, introduced H. B. Hales, Amarillo; Charles Franz, Canyon; O. L. Stansell, Floydada; Lee Rogers, Texas Tech herdsman.

Others Are Introduced

Stangel introduced Keith King, Victoria, Ill., and R. A. Hager, Cameron, Ill., milking shorthorn exhibitors.

Doug Pounds, Acuff, swine department superintendent, introduced R. E. Prewitt, Quamedo, Panhandle Swine Breeders association secretary; George P. Lillard, Arlington; Lee Lillard, his grandson; Franz; E. D. Heath, Hale Center; A. D. Wenzel, Wilson; J. H. Adams, Tulia; Williams and Fred Hale.

Williams, a Duroc-Jersey breeder and a Kiwanian, said it was his first opportunity to spend a week here at the fair, although he had been an exhibitor for several years.

Hale said there were "many good hogs," at the fair, adding "there are some of the best hogs in the United States." He said he was "glad to get back to the Panhandle-Plains, as I grew up in Swisher county when there were antelope on the plains."

Dewey I. Reed Named Head Of Amarillo Social Security Unit

Dewey I. Reed has been named as manager of the Amarillo office of the Social Security board, succeeding Malcolm A. George, transferred to Wichita Falls, according to word from Amarillo. Announcement was made by Oscar M. Powell, regional director.

Lubbock and other South Plains counties including Parmer, Swisher, Bailey, Cochran, Crosby, Floyd, Dickens, Garza, Hale, Hockley, King, Lamb, Lynn, Motley, Scurry, Terry and Yoakum are in the area.

Up to the present time only 18 claims have been filed in the 35 counties of the area, which had been expected to produce at least 750 claims.

More Extension Courses Open

Organization of additional classes by the extension department of Texas Technological college was announced Thursday by J. F. McDonald, extension director.

Dr. W. C. Holden, head of the department of history and anthropology, will give the first lecture of a course in History of West Texas and the Great Plains Monday night in Lockney. The lectures will be given each Monday night, alternating between Lockney and Floydada.

Miss Agnes True, associate professor of education and psychology, will give the first lecture to a class in Child Psychology Tuesday night at Brownfield.

At the invitation of R. H. Nowlin, Crosby county superintendent, the extension director will meet with teachers of that county Thursday night in Crosbyton to organize a class.

87 SPEED RECORDS BROKEN TO MAKE TIRES SAFER FOR YOU

Never Before Have Tires Been Put to Such Gruelling Torture

Ab Jenkins, World's Safest Driver, Establishes 87 New Records for Safety, Speed, Mileage and Endurance . . . He Drove 3,774 Miles in 24 Hours on the Sharp Granite-like Surface of the Bonneville Salt Beds at Average Speed of 157.27 Miles an Hour

AT SPEEDS as high as 180 miles an hour — with the hot, coarse, abrasive salt grinding, tearing, scorching his tires — Ab Jenkins' special racer, weighing nearly three tons, pounded over the Bonneville Salt Beds last week at such terrific speed that it caused the surface to break up. Before the end of the run the track was so pitted and rough that it was almost impossible to hold the car on its course. Yet Jenkins set 87 new World, International and American speed records on Firestone Tires.

Building tires capable of establishing such records is made possible only because of patented Firestone manufacturing processes. These exclusive features enable Firestone to provide car owners with tires that are extra safe.

For the greatest protection of yourself and your family equip your car with Firestone TRIPLE-SAFE Tires. By TRIPLE-SAFE we mean —

1 PROTECTION AGAINST SKIDDING — The scientific tread design gives longer non-skid mileage and stops your car up to 25% quicker.

2 PROTECTION AGAINST BLOWOUTS — Firestone Tires run up to 28 degrees cooler because every fiber of every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber by the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process. This counteracts the internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.

3 PROTECTION AGAINST PUNCTURES — Two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread add strength to the tire and give extra protection against punctures.

Now is the time to make your car tire-ssfe for fall and winter driving. Join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign today by equipping your car with a set of new FIRESTONE TRIPLE-SAFE Tires—the safest tires that money can buy!

Two Kinds Of Quarterbacking

THE Editor of The Morning Avalanche is in receipt of an editorial page from the Dallas Journal, on which appears an article by Walter Hornaday telling of Gerald Mann's turning down an appointment to a Dallas county district judgeship offered the young attorney by Governor James V. Allred. The Hornaday article must be a true account of what happened, since the page from the Dallas Journal came to this newspaper from Mr. Mann and clipped to it was a note from the latter stating that he would appreciate our using all or any part of it.

According to Mr. Hornaday, Mr. Mann turned down the proffered $7,500-per year judgeship because of his race next year for attorney general of Texas. Mr. Mann, says Mr. Hornaday, has been working for months on his attorney-general's campaign; has a skeleton organization in practically every county in Texas and, as he used to do when a great quarterback for Southern Methodist university, "decided in favor of a long pass and a score that would win the game, to playing safe and coming off with a tie."

The Morning Avalanche likes Mr. Mann.

Clean as the proverbial hounds' tooth, personable and friendly, the ex-Mustang gridster is an altogether commendable young citizen of 30 years of age. And if his "long pass" next summer doesn't wreck him, he bids fair to eventually go far in state-wide politics.

We are constrained to believe, however, that Mr. Mann is not as good a political quarterback as he was a football field general.

A term or two on a district bench in Dallas would have given Mr. Mann the legal experience—which he lacks at present—for an eventual tenure of office as attorney-general. Such service on the bench would have strengthened Mr. Mann from a standpoint of age and poise. And, what is very important to Mr. Mann, we hazard that he would have a better chance to be elected attorney-general four years from next summer than he will have in 1938.

HERE, in brief, is the situation in Texas as concerns the 1938 race for attorney-general. It is the situation in all parts of Texas. One needs only to contact political observers in the various sections to find it true.

Lieutenant-Governor Walter Woodul "is in the run-off."

With a fine and lengthy political record behind him, affable Mr. Woodul has many political friends in every part of Texas; his name is known to voters everywhere and he, too, has an organization in practically every county of the state. "If Woodul isn't the next attorney-general, the fellow who beats him will be," is the belief too general to discount.

Opposing Mr. Woodul are four promising young fellows known as "Jimmie's young men," because each has been and in most cases still is a protege of the governor. They are Mr. Mann, Governor Allred's former secretary of state; Everett Looney, former assistant under the governor when he filled the attorney-general's office; Judge Ralph Yarborough, another former assistant attorney-general who since has been appointed to a district bench in Austin by Governor Allred; and Bob Calvert, the governor's choice for speaker of the house in the last session of the legislature. All of them are commendable youngsters but even their most loyal friends realize that not more than one of them can expect to survive the first primary next summer. Neither has a state-wide following and not more than one of them could have the support of the Allred machine, even if the governor took an active part in the campaign, which he is not expected to do.

WHILE we admire Mr. Mann's spunk in "shooting the works," and while that sort of quarterbacking probably is all right in a schoolboy grid combat, we believe his turning down the district judgeship was an error in judgment comparable to passing from behind his own goal line on the fourth down, in the fourth quarter with his own team leading, 3-0.

Because he is the right sort, because his record, both personal and political, is so clean, we hope the result of Mr. Mann's choosing the "long pass" in 1938 will not hurt his future.

But if he's going to make touchdowns on the hectic gridiron of politics, he's going to have to get a more thorough knowledge of the game and learn to call signals more likely to bring results.

If he doesn't, his "season" will be a failure.

Murder On The Bluff... By Esther Tyler

SYNOPSIS: A mysterious shot kills Jude Blinshop, my old flame, at the start of our stormy week-end at Farrington Bluff home of Michael's aunts. Strange attacks follow; then we find the body of Michael's mad father below the bluff. Stout Victorian Aunt Martha is shot in the shoulder and nearly finished with sleeping powders. The Skipper, Mike's tall tweedy younger aunt, disappears; we find her six hours later, bound in the loft, all but dead. A shot draws us to the room of Higgins, the butler, whom we had strongly suspected shortly before. He is dead supposedly a suicide.

Chapter 4B
Murder No. 3

I blinked dazedly. That was the question. What earthly reason could there be for Higgins' amazing actions? A contented, gentle old man with the rest of his life mapped out for him as pleasantly as anyone could wish, suddenly goes haywire and kills a girl he has known since her babyhood a man whom he has spent a good part of his life caring for and finally attempts to kill the two people who represent all the family and security that he has. It didn't make sense. There could be no question of money as a motive. I happened to know that the entire Farrington fortune had been left in trust for Michael by his grandfather with a request that Higgins be provided for as long as he lived. The only solution seemed to be insanity.

"It's a hopeless mess, William. Can you think what could have ailed him?"

William shook his head. "Must have been plumb nutty. I guess. Didn't seem like that, but he must have been. Funny. You know when I was working for the Blinshops I always thought Higgins was crazy about Miss Judith."

I looked around that bare little room and shivered. Then I walked out—very softly.

My watch said 20 minutes past six. There was little point in trying to hustle people off to bed. We were bound to be routed out again within a very few hours, and I knew from experience that a little sleep is worse than none at all. It was highly doubtful that anyone would be able to sleep anyway.

Snapping on the low lamp on the dresser, I turned out the glaring overhead lights. Gently I closed the door on Higgins' room and made off in the direction of the main house. Cold showers, breakfast and a plan of action were in order.

Michael's room was empty, but in mine the Skipper was still sleeping soundly. Gay was standing at the window.

"Where are the others?" I whispered.

"I'm not sure. They went down the hall somewhere—Miss Farrington's room, I guess. Jim—are—are—you sure it's over?"

"No." Her hands were restless. "Whatever possessed him? Does anyone know?"

I drew her into the next room. "I doubt it," I said, "and I doubt if anyone ever will. Now listen, kid. Go take a cold shower and freshen up. William will stir up some breakfast. See that Aunt Martha does the same thing and send Mike along to me. All the majesty of the law is going to be loose around here in a little while and it isn't going to be much fun."

"O. K." There was something about the jaunty tilt of the kid's chin that I liked. I stopped her.

"Gay," I said, "there'll be a pretty big fuss over this in the papers. If Mike suddenly gets noble ideas about not soiling the hem of your gown don't let him get away with it."

She flashed me a grin that sent my spirits soaring.

"Some," she said, "if he thinks he can get away from me now he'll need the militia to help him."

Michael Gets A Shower

Her feet clattered cheerfully down the hall. Hauling out clean clothes, I felt a little better. It was over at last. I was jumping around in the bowel when I heard Michael come in. Grabbing a towel, I strode dripping after him.

But if my spirits were up his were hitting a new all-time low. He flopped down on the bed.

"Don't be such a damned Pollyanna," he growled.

My spirit began to slide. "How's M. Farrington?"

"How do you think? Jim what the devil do you suppose ailed him? Why did he do it? It's—it's—"

"Cut it out, Mike," I said. "We don't know and probably we never will. What difference does it make now? Get into that shower. You're all in."

Michael kicked at the rug. "It makes a lot of difference. Higgins never had a thing wrong with him in his life. And he never did a thing in his life but look after my damned family."

Michael has an Irish streak which calls for the noble and highly dramatic. Right then I had no answer for him. I felt rather like a person lost in the woods who knows there is an animal of some sort behind him, but doesn't dare turn around to look. Higgins must have had a motive. But just then I didn't care to turn around and look at it.

"The police," I said, "will have no reason for thinking anything but that the poor old chap lost his mind. You haven't either. Stop trying to dig yourself up a family skeleton. Go take—"

"The hell with your shower!" Michael exploded. "Who gives a damn what the police think? I've got to know why he did it. I've got—"

"—to take a shower." I finished grimly. Picking him up clothes and all, I carted him struggling into the bathroom. It was something of a job to hold him but he was thoroughly doused before he managed to send me crashing on my ear and stalk out. I threw him a towel.

"Take a rubdown." I said.

"You go to hell!" But he caught the towel with his bad hand. I grinned and set to work on my own dressing, leaving him to his fuming. The atmosphere was so natural that I could have whooped for joy. I was busy with my tie before he got to the point where he could directly address me.

"Do you suppose there is any way that they could leave the aunts out of all this? If the story about my father hits the headlines Aunt Martha will never get over it. Foster ought to be able to keep them away from the Skipper for a while anyway."

I said, "I think the best thing to do, Mike, is for me to go into the village on the first boat that gets here. I'll go straight to Foster and leave it all up to him. Then if he'll let me, I'll push on to the Blinshops'. Ought to be back by seven tomorrow night, easily."

Michael was silent for a moment. "That's decent of you, Jim."

I climbed into my coat. "Forget it." I said. "Keep your ear cocked for the Skipper. I'll see how the breakfast is coming."

Splotch On The Wall

In broad daylight, the effect of the electricity in the hall was rather ghostly. The sooner we got all the lights out and the house nearly normal, the better for everyone concerned. Switching them off as I went, I headed down the hall and into the servant's quarters. At the head of the back stairs I remembered the lights in Higgins' room and in Judge's. I turned back. With my eyes averted, from the bed, I made for Higgins' dresser. And then something leapt into my throat.

Directly in front of me at the level of my eyes was a splotch in the wall plaster and within that splotch the bullet which had ended Higgins' life. Passing a bewildered hand over my eyes, I looked again. There was no mistake. The bullet was there. Was my memory of the situation blurred? I rushed to the bed and flung back the blanket.

Higgins lay on his back with his arms flung out at his sides, the revolver tightly clenched in the right hand. In his right temple was the bullet hole and in the left, the nasty gash made by the bullet tearing through. But the mark in the plaster was in the wall on his right!

Ideas began bouncing through my head. A man falling in a faint or for any reason other than a blow, falls on his face. Unless Higgins had been sitting on the bed, he could never have landed in that position. Could he have been sitting? I crouched until my head was approximately at the level of a person sitting on the bed. For a bullet to have passed through both sides of the man's head and landed where it had, it must have passed right through the top of his skull. And Higgins' wounds were in his temples.

Much as the idea of the old man's guilt hurt, I wanted the whole thing to be over with. Perhaps, I reasoned frantically, the impact of the bullet spun him around. Perhaps—My next realization sent me staggering against the wall. The revolver was in his right hand, and Higgins had been left-handed! Murder number three!

Right then and there my state of mind clarified. All along I had been nearly as much afraid that we would catch the murderer as I was that we wouldn't. But I thought of that tortured old face as I had last seen it alive. I took one more look at it as it was then. And I wanted that murderer. If it was Michael himself, I was going to see him die before my own eyes.

My mind began to work as coldly as if it were dealing with a problem in bridge. Not the Skipper. I had been sitting beside her when the shot was fired. Furthermore, the murderer had put her behind that chest. Higgins must have seen them, to his undoing.

I devise a trap for the murderer, to morrow.

Twenty-Two Planes Stop Here Thursday

Coming here from Fort Sill, Okla., 22 planes on a student cross-country flight from Kelley field, San Antonio, stopped at Municipal airport Thursday. This was the third group of cadets to make the flight and land in Lubbock within the past two weeks.

The planes, army pursuit type, carrying 26 persons under command of Capt. B. M. Hovey, landed at five minute intervals, the first one coming in at 9:45. They began taking off at 11:20 for Abilene.

Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Technological college, O. V. Adams, dean of the division of engineering at Tech, and a number of students interested in aviation met the cadets at the airport.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

CORDELL HULL suspects that he must wage two wars on the Sino-Japanese front—one against the Japanese Foreign office and the other against the government-controlled press. Tokio has mobilized headlines as well as howitzers.

Balked by stubborn Chinese resistance, the Japanese have recruited their official press services to smash morale on the mainland. Their chief aim has been to convince the Chinese that occidental nations—the United States and Great Britain—have washed their hands of Far Eastern problems and left China to her fate. They have also emphasized in their official press the rebuffs which Hitler and Mussolini have administered to 10 Downing street. But their most brazen move, as confidential dispatches prove, was to spread the story that Ambassador Johnson had been ordered by Washington to quit his Nanking post during the recent bombardment.

That report, distributed by the Japanese press agency and then relayed to this country, was absolute propaganda. Mr. Johnson, like Admiral Yarnell, had full discretionary power to stay or leave, with the qualification that he was not required to expose himself or his staff to needless danger. The stars and stripes still fly in the Far East, despite propogandists' attempts to tear it down.

INVITATION: An extremely close friend of President Roosevelt recently outlined his political and presidential plans for 1940. Allowing for changes which circumstances may make, it is probably the first and most authentic exposition of F. D. R.'s post-White House attitude.

Mr. Roosevelt will not seek renomination, but he will attempt to name his heir—a man with his social and economic twist. He has not yet selected a successor for various reasons. Though he wants a man who shares his economic and political views, his favorite must first demonstrate that he can command and corrall independent political support. Any member of F. D. R.'s household who wins a governorship or senate seat in a key state next year—New York, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana—will immediately become eligible for the presidential blessing.

There are at least eight presidential hopefuls in Mr. Roosevelt's immediate circle, including cabinet members, emergency chieftains like Mr. Hopkins, and governors like Frank Murphy of Michigan. But they've got to produce evidence of independent political support before they get a White House benediction. That's the lowdown, boys, so step out and show your stuff!

PRACTICAL: The most energetic and enthusiastic candidate for Mr. Roosevelt's mantle is the supposedly 'shy and diffident' Henry Wallace. Rival members of the cabinet are so convinced of his political ambition that they have organized a "stop Wallace" movement.

Mr. Wallace demonstrated his susceptibility to the political itch, in the minds of his fellow-men and foemen, when congress enacted the sugar bill discriminating against Cuba, Hawaii and Porto Rico. Cabinneteers Hull and Ickes fought it to the bitter end on the ground that it meant profit for American refiners as against our colonial producers. But Mr. Wallace, after opposing it before congressional committees, caved in and recommended that the President sign it.

Mr. Wallace, like Mr. Roosevelt, played practical politics. The measure had the backing of western liberals and eastern reactionaries, forming an unholy combination of sugar producers and refiners. Mr. Wallace may not realize it, but he may have stubbed his presidential toe on a sugar bowl.

KLAN: President Roosevelt, to use a pugilistic phrase, intends to roll with the punch which critics of the Black appointment have aimed at him. He hopes to weather the shower of political distrust, and emerge from the controversy with at least a split decision.

At the outset Mr. Roosevelt was bitter against Mr. Black, and had fully determined to clear his own skirts by demanding a public resignation. Then he learned from his scouts that the indignation was rather restricted geographically—New England, New York, Illinois. He also discovered that the appointment had probably won or held as many supporters in other sections—the South and Middle West, as it had cost him in anti-Black territory. So what did the White House do?

It has begged labor's spokesmen—William A. Green and John L. Lewis—to withhold their fire, even though the resurrected Klan chiefly combats the C. I. O. and A. F. of L. in their attempt to organize Southern industrial workers. It has urged prominent Catholic laymen to suppress a religious revolt based on the Black nomination. And Mr. Roosevelt has mobilized his No. 1 Brain trusters—Felix Frankfurter, Ben Cohen and Samuel Roseman—in a drive to quiet and pacify the Jews. So it looks as if Mr. Black's $20,000 salary and pension are safe.

CRUCIAL: Though few people seem to sense it, the first test of John L. Lewis' political power will be staked in the Detroit mayoralty election on October 5. In this industrial, C. I. O.-organized metropolis Mr. Lewis will subject his authority to a trial at the polls.

Mr. Lewis is backing Patrick H. O'Brien for mayor, and five candidates for a 9-man common council. If the C.I.O. hieftain wins, he will have the largest say and influence in this country's fourth largest city. Chief opponent of the Lewis mayoralty nominee in this non-partisan election is John Smith, who has the open support of Governor Frank Murphy and the silent backing of National Chairman Farley. For the first time the New Deal and the C. I. O. clash at the ballot box.

Messrs. Roosevelt and Farley are more concerned over the outcome than they dare to admit. Should the Lewis candidate win, which seems probable now, the mine leader will immediately become a political boss with whom the national chairman and the President will have to bargain even more generously than they have in the past. So—like Messrs. Roosevelt and Farley—keep your eyes on that Detroit election!

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

NEW YORKERS have discovered that the compromise bill affecting the lower courts which John Garner jammed through the senate just before congress adjourned to end the Supreme court fight has much sharper New Deal teeth than they realized at the time. The New Dealers took shrewd advantage of conservative relief at abandonment of Supreme court reform.

One of the provisions is that a case involving the constitutionality of a law can no longer be tried by a single federal district judge as hitherto. Instead the senior judge of the Circuit Court of Appeals for the circuit in which the case arises must appoint two other judges to sit with the district judge who would formerly have had sole jurisdiction. One of these two additional judges must be a member of the Court of Appeals.

This system is being tried for the first time in the suit of 19 utility companies to have the T. V. A. declared unconstitutional. The way it is working out gives the plaintiffs a severe headache.

STACKED: Here's the lineup. Before this law was passed, the initial trial would have been conducted by District Judge John J. Gore at Knoxville, Tennessee. Judge Gore, whose appointment predates the New Deal, was the one who granted an injunction to the utilities forbidding T. V. A. construction until the case was settled. This injunction was subsequently overruled by the Court of Appeals.

Under the new dispensation, senior Judge Charles H. Moorman of the Sixth Circuit court has designated his colleague Florence E. Allen and District Judge John D. Martin of Memphis to sit with Judge Gore. The three will have equal voices in the decision.

Judge Moorman, like Gore, was a pre-Roosevelt appointee. But he decided against the utility plaintiffs on every point, including the injunction, when the T. V. A. appealed Judge Gore's original ruling.

Judge Allen was the first woman judge of a Court of Common Pleas, the first woman to be named to a State Supreme court, and the first woman to hold a high federal judiciary post. She has been mentioned by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt as desirable timber for the Supreme court and has shown a general sympathy for New Deal aims.

Five CCC Enrollees, Mechanic Are Charged In Attack Case

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 30 (AP)—Charges of criminally attacking two Phoenix women, whom they accidentally had forced into their automobile on a downtown street, were filed against five CCC enrollees and a mechanic in justice court here today.

The accused enrollees gave their names as:

Samuel K. Oate, Turley, Okla.; J. W. Allen, 21, Abilene, Tex.; M. L. Will Hall, 22, Fort Sumner, N. M.; John Harrison, 20, Mineral Wells, Tex.; Robert Shugart, 25, Eastland, Tex.

The mechanic still is being sought by police.

The women, both waitresses, are 30 and 32 years old.

The alleged attacks occurred Saturday night.

TARZAN'S QUEST, No. 71

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The wide-eyed Annette beckoned to Brown and pointed to the bit of burned fabric. With a whistle of keen delight he picked it up, walked over to the prince, and thrust the piece of cloth suddenly under his eyes. Sborov's face turned a ghastly, ashen gray.

"The blood must have spattered," Brown barked. "That's why you burned the coat you wore when you killed your wife!" "Don't" Alexis screamed. "My God, don't! I tell you I never touched her." Quickly, however, the prince regained control of himself.

"Yes," he said suavely, "it was my coat, but somebody stole it from my baggage." "Tell it to the judge," snapped Brown. Then Jane interrupted sharply: "This matter had best be left to the courts. Our job is to get out of this jungle—if we can."

"I guess you're right," Brown admitted. "Annette found the evidence, so she'd better hold on to it until the time comes." Sborov watched Brown hand the tell-tale bit of fabric to the girl, and he vowed to himself she would never produce it in court!

Listen Folks—

Here's what Woody-Kutch says in their market report from Ft. Worth.

Monday's cattle run of nearly 130,000 around the circuit was the heaviest for one day's receipts in several years. This run followed a general 25c to 50c decline on all grass cattle last week, and was heavy enough to break the general grass beef cattle prices another 25c Monday, and Tuesday barely steady at the decline. There wasn't a single market point in the whole country, except Lubbock, that escaped this wave of depressed prices amounting to 15c to 25c on cheaper cows, and 50c to 75c lower on all better butcher kinds of cows, heifers, steers... with heavy calves 75c to $1 lower than 10 days ago. Don't sound so good, but when we quote the market conditions "a spade is a spade" with us."

SPECIAL: We will have some sheep for the sale. If you have any sheep for sale or want to buy sheep get in touch with us.

We wish to thank those who have shipped to us and we solicit the business of those who have not shipped to us, promising the best service and sale ability possible.

REAL ESTATE

We have recently witnessed drastic recessions in stock market quotations. In contrast to this, real estate markets, during month by month, Roger Babson and other economists, substantially that real estate is headed for much higher prices, with a peak in 1940 to 1943.

Our sales show many wise investors putting their money into safe, advancing Lubbock real estate.

AMONG OUR LISTINGS ARE TWO OUTSTANDING VALUES. AND IF YOU ARE INTERESTED IN PROVIDING YOURSELF WITH A NICE HOME, AND AT THE SAME TIME MAKING AN INVESTMENT THAT WILL PAY OFF IN DOLLARS AND CENTS, WE BELIEVE YOU WILL NOT HAVE TO LOOK ANY FURTHER. WE WILL BE GLAD TO SHOW YOU BY APPOINTMENT.

'Coup' Is Sprung By Legislators

meet needs of old age assistance, needy blind, dependent children, teachers retirement and the general treasury, has refused to submit reconsideration of appropriations, saying it would lead only to confusion and defeat of his demands for new taxes.

Many Can Be Corrected

"There are glaring errors in the appropriation bills which cannot be eliminated but many things which can be corrected," Small said. "We want to take care of the situation by savings instead of new taxes.

"If we do it there will be no necessity to levy taxes to take care of the blind and the dependent children. Moreover, it will be more efficient, for the money will be available now and there will not be the expense and the red tape of collecting taxes yet to be levied."

Other capitol developments included:

Allred Issues Warning

Governor Allred warned that unless the state acted first there was a strong possibility the federal government would prompt the field of oil taxation.

Creation of a standing committee with broad powers to inquire into lobbyists' activities was proposed by Rep. J. Bryan Bradbury of Abilene.

The house killed a resolution authorizing an exhaustive governmental survey in the interest of efficiency and economy.

A bill providing for a cotton research laboratory, approved last spring but vetoed by the governor because of the expense, was thrown out in the house as not within the session's call.

Both houses adopted a resolution requesting the federal government to send more cotton classers to Texas.

Because there was nothing to do pending drafting of tax bills in committee, both houses adjourned until Monday.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
THE STATE OF TEXAS
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Lubbock County, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Howell Davis, Owen Davis, O. R. Davis, jr., Obbie Davis, Pat Davis, P. B. Davis and Mary Davis, the unknown heirs and unknown legal representatives of Howell Davis, Owen Davis, O. R. Davis, jr., Obbie Davis, Pat Davis, P. B. Davis and Mary Davis by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest county where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the 99th District Court of Lubbock county, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Lubbock, Texas, on the First Monday in November A. D. 1937, the same being the First day of November, A. D. 1937, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 23rd day of September, A. D. 1937, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court as No. 7418, wherein H. C. Glenn, Receiver for Temple Trust Company, a corporation, is Plaintiff, and Bennett Burton and husband, Eddie Burton, Mabel Wright and husband, P. B. Wright, Frank Davis, and Howell Davis, Owen Davis, O. R. Davis, jr., Obbie Davis, Pat Davis, P. B. Davis and Mary Davis, the unknown heirs and unknown legal representatives of Howell Davis, Owen Davis, O. R. Davis, jr., Obbie Davis, Pat Davis, P. B. Davis and Mary Davis, are Defendants, and said petition alleging that on or about the 1st day of September 1937 plaintiff was lawfully seized and possessed of the following described land and premises, situated in Lubbock county, Texas, holding and claiming the same in fee simple, to wit: The east half of Lot 20 and the west half of Lot 21, Block 5, of Ellwood Place, an addition to the City of Lubbock, in Lubbock county, Texas. The defendants unlawfully entered upon said premises and ejected the plaintiff therefrom, to his damage $5,000.00.

Plaintiff prays for judgment for the title and possession of the above described land and premises, and for such other and further relief, special and general that he may be justly entitled.

Herein fail not, and have you before said Court, at the aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Lubbock, Texas, this the 29th day of September, A. D. 1937.

LEADERS BACK AWAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 30. (AP)—Gold mining issues forged to the front in today's market but many leaders backed away after an early forward thrust.

Steels, motors and rails tripped over selling at the close and even coppers, favorites most of the day, retreated from their best levels. A number of specialties did well on small turnovers.

With the news lacking important stimulation for either side brokers attributed the late set-back principally to cashing in of profits by traders who were on the buying end in the preceding two sessions.

Transfers totalled 1,045,498 shares as against 1,351,530 the day before. The Associated Press average of 60 issues was unchanged at 56.6.

Copper stocks were at their best in the morning as export metal held around yesterday's level and copper futures pushed up substantially.

Price tasting on new 1938 automobile models found the motors listless. Some quarters thought potential buying resistance was possible in this field although officials of the principal companies forecast highly satisfactory sales next year.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 30. (AP)—Cotton prices today finished the month in new low ground for the season on most positions under pressure of hedge selling and other offerings induced by continued favorable weather, disappointing foreign markets and increased crop prospects.

Occasional flurries of trade calling and covering were encountered during the session but were supplied at inconsequential rallies and final prices were steady at net declines of 2 to 8 points.

Near months were ignored during most of the trading and late positions asorbosbtde bulk of the pressure.

Speculative interests remained inactive and trading was limited to professional transactions with most of the offerings coming from persons who purchased the actual cotton in the interior.

Final prices were near the bottom with Oct. at 8.31, Dec. at 8.26, Jan. at 8.25-bid, March at 8.31@.32, May at 8.38 and July at .46. Spots were steady 4 points lower at 8.26 for middling. Sales totalled 15,675 bales.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sep. 30. (AP)—Cotton continued to decline tody with all deliveries but October establishing fresh lows for the movement.

December eased from 8.2@8.15 and closed at 8.16 with final prices 4 to 9 points net lower.

The market eased 3 to 6 points lower at the opening in sympathy with Liverpool cables and under southern selling and far eastern offerings. Favorable weather over the entire belt brought in other liquidation, but during the middle of the morning prices recovered most losses after the pressure let up. Failure of the stock market to maintain early steadiness was disappointing and when southern selling was renewed in the afternoon prices gave way.

There were 14 additional October notices issued by spot houses.

Exports 43,935 making 837,768 so far this season. Port receipts 89,723; U. S. port stocks 2,434,531.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 30. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 8.14 cents a pound, average for the past thirty market days 8.82 cents a pound.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 30. (AP)—Despite the largest export business in United States wheat this season, wheat prices here turned downward late today and ended with net losses all around.

A sharp break in quotations on October delivery of wheat at Winnipeg, together with an increase of hedging and speculative selling pressure in the corn market did much to pull Chicago wheat values lower at the last, after advances of about 1½ cents here were witnessed. Contributing to the late reaction of wheat here was the fact prices had risen to the highest point touched in several weeks, and that profit taking sales of futures rather than new buying ventures appeared temporarily to form the rule.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were ⅜ to 2 cents under yesterday's finish, Dec. $1.08½@1.08⅜, May also $1.08½@1.08⅜, July $1.02, corn 1¾ to 2¼ cents down, Oct. 70¼, Dec. 63⅛@63¼, May 63¾@63⅞, oats unchanged to ¼ off, Dec. 31⅛, and rye at ¾ to 1 cent setback, Dec. 80. The outcome in provisions varied from 17 cents decline to 12 cents advance.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Sept. 30. (AP)—Demand was good for wheat and fair for other offerings on the cash grain market today. Estimated receipts were: wheat 19 cars, corn 7, oats 1, and sorghums 3.

Freight paid to Texas Gulf ports, domestic rate, or Texas common points.

Tigers, Pups Battle At Slaton Tonight

SLATON, Sept. 30. (Special)—The Slaton-Tahoka football game originally scheduled to be played at Tahoka Friday afternoon has been transferred to Slaton and will be played here Friday night, Superintendent David Lemon announced today.

The Tigers are smarting under their 19 to 0 licking administered by the Lubbock Westerners last Friday, and are preparing to shoot the works against the scrappy Tahoka eleven. The Tiger mentors witnessed the chewing and shaking the Bulldogs gave the Littlefield Wildcats last week when the alert Tahokans held the Kittens scoreless for three quarters, before the powerful Cats finally hit their stride and steamrollered the Bullpups in the last quarter.

This showing has caused considerable worry in the Tiger camp, as several of the Bengals are nursing injuries received at the hands of Babe Ritchie and company.

Sino-Japanese War

Chinese Communists were mustered to join their former enemies, Chinese nationalist troops, on the northern fronts. An American observer reported tens of thousands of warriors of all Chinese clans are leaving interior and coast cities for the North China and Shanghai battlefields.

Fail To Budge Chinese

Japanese were reported continuing their advances in the north. But around Shanghai, terrific Japanese assaults failed to budge the entrenched Chinese. A Japanese spokesman admitted Nippon's forces had made only slight gains.

Far to the south, Chinese reported Japanese warships destroyed a fleet of Chinese junks at Swatow. Nanking, China's capital, had its third day of respite from Japanese bombardment. Officials said they believed Japanese withheld their raiders because of hostile world opinion.

May Boycott Jap Goods

(A Japanese spokesman at Geneva said bombardment of Chinese centers will continue, if necessary. In London, the British labor party planned to demand an emergency session of parliament as the first step toward a world boycott of Japanese goods.)

Canton, like Nanking, had respite from Japanese bombardments. North of Canton, however, a school, several houses, and a Confucian hall were reported destroyed at Tsingyuen. Civilian casualties were estimated at 200.

A new "uplift" movement sweeping China bans bobbed hair, permanent waves, slit skirts and walking arm-in-arm; and forbids women to appear on the stage in scenes with men.

Pep Rally Broadcast

Austin last week, and the excellent prospects for the Montana game, praised the club for its courage and showing when "outnumbered, outweighed, and outfinanced" by Dana X. Bible's Texas Steers.

The program, carried to Texas listeners by the Texas Quality Network, was heard over stations WFAA at Dallas, WBAP at Fort Worth, WOAI at San Antonio, KPRC at Houston, and KFYO at Lubbock. The broadcast also was the first of a series of Tech pep rally features to be sponsored by the Texas-New Mexico Utilities Co., and to be broadcast over KFYO at Lubbock.

"The objejcts of this friendship are strict solidarity between the two revolutions (Fascist and Nazi), the rebirth of Europe and peace between the peoples worthy of the name."

(In Berlin, Mussolini had predicted Europe would turn Fascist. he had joined with Hitler in renewed denunciation of communism.)

Italy welcomed Premier Mussolini home from his visit to Germany in the style to which he long has been accustomed—that of a Roman conqueror.

New Mediterranean Patrol Plan Is Submitted Thursday

PARIS, Sept. 30. (AP)—A new Mediterranean warship patrol plan giving Italy a sector cutting across the main sea routes was sent today to French, British and Italian governments for approval.

The new proposal would permit Italy to police the north African coast from Tunisia to the mouth of the Suez canal, her own coastal waters, and a sixty-mile wide path across the Mediterranean from Italy to Africa.

The new proposal was designed to bring Italian warships into the nine-power patrol to combat attacks on shipping as an outgrowth of the Spanish civil war. Under the new plan, it was announced, France and Britain would have "practical control" over main shipping routes in the Mediterranean.

were "taking in" the fair here, publicized the annual Turkey show to be held next month at Plainview and a "Jamboree" at Levelland. It was announced officially, too, that visitors to the fair here Thursday were invited to a Dawson county celebration.

Tabulations for the first four days of the fair this year showed an increase of 830 persons over the corresponding days for last year, and the entire attendance is expected to set a new all-time high.

Special visitors and guest entertainers Thursday were high school bands from Plainview and Levelland which joined the combined pleasure and booster delegations from the two places.

In addition to members of the press and students of Texas Tech, today's honored guests include visitors and delegatons from Littlefield, Abernathy, Hale Center, Floydada, Lockney, Tulia, Amarillo, Silverton, Canyon, Kress, Happy, and Muleshoe. Fair officials said they expected large numbers from all those towns.

Between the five horse races which are scheduled to begin at 3:15 o'clock, vaudeville acts will be presented by Michael's Big City circus. The circus also will entertain tonight. Tonight's program will begin at 8 o'clock.

Later Saturday Night

It was announced that Saturday night's circus performance will begin at 9:30 o'clock, allowing Lubbockites and out-of-town visitors to complete their shopping before going to the fair. It was pointed out also that it would give residents of Lubbock who work until 9 o'clock ample time to attend the performance after closing hours.

With favorable weather conditions today, attendance is expected to exceed Thursday's figure by a considerable number, it was pointed out.

Livestock judging for the fair was completed Thursday afternoon and show officials were united in declaring quality shown here was the equal of any other show this year.

Results in the Holstein-Friesian and Guernsey classes were announced by R. N. McClain, superintendent, while Douglas Pounds gave results in the Poland China groups. R. L. Pou, Dallas, called winners in the cattle and Fred Hale for the swine.

Hales Win Most Honors

H. B. Hales and sons, Amarillo, won a majority of the first honors in the Holstein-Friesian class, including both grand championships. Tierra Blanca won three first to 19 by Hales and sons. Hales won five second places; Tech won four second and seven third places; Tierra Blanca also won three second places, two thirds and two fourths.

In the Guernsey groups only Tech exhibited, winning eight firsts and two grand championships, one second, one third and one fourth.

Divide Grand Championships

Tierra Blanca and Lillard farms divided the grand championships in the Poland China judging, the former taking the male and the latter the female honors. Tierra Blanca also won seven first places, 14 second places and five third places; Lillard won nine firsts, three seconds, two third, three fourth and two fifths.

John H. Adams and his son, Jack, Tulia, were competitors, the father taking five first honors, a second and a fourth, with Jack winning five third places and one fifth. L. E. Countess, Idalou 4-H club boy, won a third and a fourth and Lee Lillard, jr., a fifth.

R. E. Prewitt of Quamado, secretary of the Panhandle Swine Breeders association, gave the futurity results. Prewitt, veteran swine breeder, praised the work of club boys.

the acreage diverted to soil conservation, the major basis of payments in 1938 will be on cotton grown.

Each farmer will be given his proportionate goal. When he has fulfilled requirements for proper use of diverted land, he will receive two cents a pound on his cotton from the government. If he goes over his cotton goal, or if he reduces his crop to less than 75 per cent of his goal, his payment will be diminished accordingly.

In addition, 70 cents an acre will be paid for each acre taken out of cotton production and diverted to soil conservation purposes.

Body Found In River But Doubt Expressed It Kidnaped Man

VALPARAISO, Ind., Sept. 30. (AP)—The body of a man was found in the Kanakee river today, but a check in description prompted the sheriff's office to express doubt it was that of kidnaped Charles S. Ross of Chicago.

After a cursory examination, Sheriff Freeman Lane said the body answered the general description of Ross, 72-year-old retired greeting card manufacturer, who was abducted near Chicago last Saturday night.

But a family spokesman in Chicago said Ross had no tattoo marks, whereas the right forearm of the body had been tattooed.

Elks Initiate New Members In Ceremonies In Famed Caverns

CARLSBAD, N. M., Sept. 30. (AP)—In depths of Carlsbad Caverns, 291 candidates took their vows Tuesday as one of the largest classes ever initiated by the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks in the Southwest.

Grand Exalted Ruler Charles Spencer, Hart of New York led the group of initiates and club members from over the Southwest down seven miles of winding trails to the Big Room, about 750 feet below the surface, where the ceremonies took place.

News Briefs

Lubbock county teachers will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the chapel of the First Methodist church for purpose of organizing the County interscholastic league for the 1937-38 scholastic term. A. L. Faubion, director-general last year, issued the call, said Joseph R. Griggs, county superintendent of public instruction. All schools except for the Lubbock city system are affected.

Mitigation of punishment for Ed Gammage, Slaton negro, was provided Thursday afternoon when County Judge J. J. Dillard set aside a verdict entered Sept. 18 assessing the negro $100 fine, costs of $22.40 and 30 days' imprisonment in each of two cases of liquor law violation. A committment had been issued on that date. Judge Dillard's Thursday judgment modified the assessment to 12 days in jail and court costs "to be paid in cash," the jail sentence to be retroactive as of Sept. 18—in each of the two cases. The negro had been releasd Thursday afternoon.

Judge E. L. Pitts of 99th district court Thursday had certified to his disqualifications to hear two cases ex parte the estate of Earl Johnson, deceased, hinging on appointment of an administrix and appealed from county court. Judge Pitts had presided in county court action built around the case, which had developed over an approximate six-year span. Johnson, was a negro. Counsel for both sides in the case of Jenkins against Bankers Health and Accident company, for sick benefit, had made motion for judgment but Judge Pitts had not set date for hearing. Case of Mrs. Theresa Walcott against W. W. Stanley, to try title and for damages, had been set for today, and there are two contested divorce actions to be heard.

S. A. Debnam, county agricultural agent, and W. B. Elkin, cattle and sheep ranchman, both of Midland, were in Lubbock Thursday in connection with a sheep feeding arrangement whereby Elkin may ship several hundred four-year-old ewes here for being fed out this winter. They had closed no contract, Debnam said.

Bond of $750 was posted Thursday afternoon by Estes Bowman, youth charged with attempted passing of a forged instrument, said the sheriff's department. A companion, a juvenile, had been released the day before to District Judge E. L. Pitts, who has concurrent jurisdiction in juvenile cases with County Judge J. J. Dillard.

Carl Svenson of the division of engineering, Texas Technological college, is in Austin today for a meeting of the board of registration for professional engineers, of which he is a member. He was recently named to the board by Governor James V. Allred and the senate has approved the appointment.

The Ralls cooperative gins are turning out cotton fast, said R. L. Travis, a Crosby county commissioner, while here yesterday. On Wednesday the two gin plants at Ralls turned out 130 bales, and 115 the day before. There are two independent gins in Ralls that are also busy. They have a classer working for the three groups.

C. T. Potts, sr., of the Barton community, said yesterday he had put 20 more claves on feed. His grain sorghum crop is very good, he said. Potts has several sons feeding 4-H club calves.

Extension of the store space 65 feet, or more than double, to permit enlargement of activities, was announced yesterday by Elmo Adair of the South Plains Music Co., 1214 Broadway. The rear section of the building, formerly used for other storage purposes, is being taken over. A repair department, a refinishing department, studios, storage space and other activities will be housed in the new space. In addition, a larger band instrument space is to be available.

Charlie Marshall of Memphis was in Lubbock Thursday announcing a convention to be held in Memphis Oct. 9-10 by the Panhandle-State Singing organization. He said W. A. Womack, chairman of the organization, was making plans to accommdate delegates from a large number of South Plains towns.

Miss Allie Hevia of Rio de Janiero, a former Texas Technological college student, will return to Lubbock, sailing in November, according to word received here. Miss Hevia has been in Brazil since July.

Bond of $500 was posted Thursday by H. S. Jones, who has been charged that morning with violation of state liquor laws after a raid late Wednesday in 1600-block Avenue D. John T. Willis, superintendent of the Texas Liquor Control board, Mack Wilson, Sam Fort and C. C. Cox, inspectors of the control board, Jim Robinson, deputy sheriff, and Arlie Rush, police patrolman, were on the raid, which the authorities said resulted in confiscation of approximately two cases of beer. Jones had been convicted of a similar offense March 15 and had paid only $50 of a total assessment of $121.40, records showed.

Figures on total enrollment in the Civilian Conservation corps at the close of the final day for registration were unavailable Thursday night when officials could not be contacted. Enrollment for districts 1 to 12, inclusive, in Lubbock, and for districts 16 and 17, near Amarillo, was completed Thursday evening.

Crop judging and meat identification teams composed of 4-H club boys will leave at 6 o'clock this morning for College Station and one-day contests Saturday. Homer E. Thompson, assistant county agent, and C. T. Potts of Barton will drive the boys there in their automobiles. On the meat team will be Junior Burleson, Buddy Marcy and Allen Gamble, all of Woodrow; on the crop judging team, Ralph Shipman of Roosevelt and A. J. Bryant and Truman Woods, both of Estacado.

Indian summer, recognized by numerous inhabitants as the most pleasant time of the year, Thursday continued with its dawn chill and its dusk cool edge. A mercury range of 31.5 degrees was recorded, with the maximum temperature 83.5 degrees. The 6:30 o'clock report of Municipal airport showed a clear sky, unlimited ceiling and visibility of 10 miles. The barometer stood at 29.97 and the column slowly was falling. Temperature was 76 degrees. Extreme temperatures at main line station of West Texas Gas company were 86 and 51.

Charges that two women fortune tellers had taken $20 from the pocketbook of a Lubbock negro, were investigated by police at the fair grounds Thursday. The man, his wife and daughter identified two women. The sum of $15 was handed over to the negro after an informal court at the fair grounds.

H. J. O'Hair, of Coleman, who had been in failing health for several months, died at his home, it was learned Thursday. Mrs. Hattie O'Hair, his daughter-in-law, moved to Coleman early this year to be at his bedside.

The demand of 400 pupils in the Lubbock ward school, almost four times as many as was expected, caused a reduction in the price of instruments for the Saxette band, directed by H. A. Anderson. Delivery of the instruments is expected within the next few days.

Tangled Tale Of Slaying Is Told

scuffle it was discharged, wounding Deal in the left side.

Was Still Breathing

"'He grunted, fell over,'" Higgins quoted Mosley as saying. "'I pushed him aside and started west. I turned off a side road near Pecos and then at Kermit started for Eunice, N. M. Mr. Deal was breathing. I figured I would drive up near a hospital and dump him out.'"

But, Higgins said Mosley told police fear mounted in him as he drove along, and he stopped along the way and stole a shovel. Near Hobbs, N. M., according to his story, Mosley stopped at a desolate spot and dug a hole. He related he dragged the still breathing Deal from the car and because he couldn't bury a living man, Mosley told police he shot him between the eyes. Then he related, he buried both Deal and the revolver.

Scattered Sagebrush Over It

Higgins said Mosley then described how he shoveled the grave level and scattered sagebrush over it to obliterate marks of the fresh grave.

Higgins said Mosley related he took Deal's wallet containing $75 and his motor car drove to Fort Worth.

Police said they were of the opinion that Mosley was not manufacturing his story out of whole cloth. They expressed doubt however, that he had any connection with the disappearance of the four Illinois tourists, but said they would continue their questioning along this line.

Has Wife In Fort Worth

Mosley told police he has a wife living in Fort Worth, where he said she is employed as a bookkeeper. He told officers his father lived in Waco, Tex., but he did not disclose his name. He said his uncle at one time was chief of police at Waco.

A week or ten days ago, police said Mosley told them, using the name "Keith Perry" he married a girl in Oklahoma City, whose parents, he said, were attempting to place her in a reform school at Tecumseh, Okla.

He was arrested here after police saw the car parked downtown and observed the license number conformed with the plates on the car reported stolen in Oklahoma City.

Police said Mosley admitted he had been sentenced in Dallas, Tex., for cattle stealing and that 16 counts totaled 65 years against him. Mosley said he served a year of the sentence and was pardoned by Mrs. Miriam "Ma" Ferguson, at that time governor of Texas.

Mother Of Gene Howe, Amarillo Columnist-Publisher, Is Dead

Mrs. Clara Howe, 90, mother of Gene Howe, columnist and publisher of the Amarillo News-Globe, died at the Westport, Conn., home of her daughter, Mrs. Dwight Farnham, it was learned Thursday. Funeral services will be held in Falls City, Neb., where rest the bodies of Mrs. Howe's mother and sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Howe left Amarillo Thursday for Atchison, Kan., the former family home, en route to Falls City. Survivors include James P. Howe, of Walnut Creek, Calif., a son.

Mr. Howe's father, Ed W. Howe is seriously ill in Atchison, Kas., and for several months Baltimore and Kansas City specialists have said there is no hope for his recovery.

Four area offices were set up: Area 38 with headquarters at Lubbock, area 39 at Littlefield, area 37 at Spur, and area 36 at Hamlin.

Serve 24 Counties

The four area offices will serve the district of 24 counties just as the Lubbock district office had, with exception of the fact all financial supervision of work will be carried on in the state office at San Antonio.

Area 38 embraces the counties of Lubbock, Terry, Crosby, Lynn, Garza, Gaines, and Dawson; area 39 those of Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Cochran, Hockley, and Yoakum; area 36 those of Jones, Kent, Stonewall, Borden, Scurry, and Fisher, and area 37 those of Dickens, Floyd, Motley, Cottle, and King.

An engineer will be in charge of each area's work and will be located at offices in towns serving as area headquarters. Office rent will not be paid by the government, but by the towns in which the offices are located. Almost all persons who did not retain employment in the Lubbock office found employment either with private concerns or with area and state WPA offices, said officials of the Lubbock office.

Office equipment here was moved Sunday, some of it going to area, some to state offices.

The general purpose of the change was to insure administrative cost of the WPA's not exceeding seven per cent. The fact that office rental will not be charged to the agency, that field trips by automobile will be shortened and that financial supervision will be done in the state office should cut administrative costs, it is generally believed.

Quarterly Reports Not To Be Required On Social Security

According to a report of John B. Dunlap, chief of the field division of the collector of internal revenue, second district of Texas, at Dallas, to L. B. Barkley, deputy collector of the Lubbock office, it will not be necessary for social security taxpayers to make quarterly reports on forms SS-2 and 2a for the quarter ended Sept. 30.

Instead, Barkley was informed, a six-months report will be required for the period July 1 through Dec. 31, this year.

Further explanation had not been received this morning at the Lubbock office, said Barkley.

Appropriations by congress for the suppression of counterfeiting were first made in 1861.

Tech To Send Team To National Dairy Show Contests

Members of the senior dairy cattle judging team to represent Texas Technological college at the National Dairy show Oct. 9 at Columbia, Ohio, have been named. They are G. C. Shearer of Tulia, Archie Meekma, of Olton, Dean Harman of Tulia, and A. T. Fowler of Brownfield. The team consists of three members, and one of the students selected will be named alternate.

The team, with their sponsor, Casey Fine, instructor in animal husbandry, will leave Saturday and return to Lubbock Oct. 13. They will practice judging in Ardmore, Okla., at Oklahoma Agriculture and mechanical college, Kansas State college, and at Danville, Ill.

Twenty teams from United States and Canadian colleges are expected to compete in the show. Tech placed sixth last year and Dean Harman, of last years team, was individual high point man in the contest and also high point man in the Jersey division.
