

To those we love and see each day and other loved ones far away . . . To all good friends whose friendship means so much and those with whom we're somehow out of touch.

Holiday superstitions

For thousands of years man was troubled by incidents and mysterious events which he believed were caused by good or evil forces. Many of these beliefs have been cast aside as man has come to understand the world about him. Others have persisted.

Some odd and amusing superstitions are identified with the Christmas season, an appropriate time for forecasting and fortune telling.

The weather on each of the 12 days of the holiday observance is supposed to foretell what the weather will be in each of the months ahead.

Good health is assured to those who eat an apple at midnight on Christmas Eve.

It's bad luck to let any fire in your house go out during the Christmas season...and woe unto those who let their evergreen decorations fall or who throw them away. You should burn them or feed them to your cow.

In Sweden, trolls are reputed to roam the countryside at dawn on Christmas morn. Best stay indoors.

It is believed that a cherry tree branch, standing in water, will bring good luck if it blossoms by Christmas.

In Greece, old shoes are burned during the Christmas season to prevent misfortune in the coming year.

In some countries, a child born on Christmas Day or Christmas Eve is considered lucky. In Poland, however, it is believed the child will turn into a werewolf, and, in Greece, that the new baby will turn into an evil, half-human monster called a Kallikantzaroi.

You'll have as many months of good fortune in the coming year as the number of houses in which you eat mince pie during the festive holiday.

CORN COB ART FOR CHRISTMAS from the fifth grade in H.P. Webb Elementary is on display in the glassed-in bulletin board area in the foyer of the school.

Places named for holiday

A close look at your atlas will reveal many cities and other geographical locations named for the most loving holiday of the year.

To name a few . . .

Mistletoe, Kentucky.

Noel in Missouri and Virginia.

Holly in Colorado, Michigan and West Virginia.

Bethlehem in Connecticut, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, New Hampshire, and Pennsylvania.

Christmas Cove, Maine.

Mount Holly in New Jersey and Vermont.

Santa Claus in Idaho and Indiana.

And, Christmas in Florida and Michigan.

Traveling around the globe we find two islands, each called Christmas Island . . . one in the Indian Ocean; the other, one of the Gilbert Islands, in the Pacific.

HIGH SCHOOL BULLETIN BOARD in the hall entrance to the school wishes all who view the display a Merry Christmas

Today, and always, may you enjoy the unbounded spirit and transcendent joy of Christmas. Our thanks to gracious friends.

Allcorn was also leading scorer in the hometown's 35-18 stomp of Friona. Mark Brown got 8.

Boosting his scoring, Allcorn led the Olton squad with 26 points in a 42-30 win over Shallowater. Jimenez got 10.

Eighth grade boys fell 17-46 to a strong Dimmitt squad. Ricky DeLa Garza scored 7; Freddy Sifuentes, 6.

Against Friona, Sifuentes scored 5 and Melvin Washington, 4, in a 9-12 loss.

Why wreaths used as decor

One of the most popular Christmas ornaments is the wreath, used to decorate doors, windows, mantles and holiday tables.

Its use can be traced to the Advent wreath of Lutheran origin, but its beauty and sense of joyous anticipation has made it popular with other English and American religious groups.

The advent season, a time of preparation for the coming of the Christ child, is celebrated on the four Sundays before Christmas.

Traditionally, the Advent wreath is made of evergreens interlaced with red ribbons, and holds four candles. One candle is lit on the first Sunday of Advent, two the following Sunday, and so on, until the four candles are lit on the fourth Sunday.

The candles are lit as a symbol of the light that will come to the world with the birth of Jesus Christ.

Doll Making Hobby Turns Into Business

Doll making was something Ramona Reyes had not done before November even though she's the mother of six daughters.

"My girls were tom boys," she says with a smile.

Ramona got into the "doll business" when she borrowed a pattern for a large rag doll complete with yarn pony tail, full-skirted dress and frilly pinafore apron. She was going to make a special gift for a special little girl - a doll for her God-daughter at Christmastime.

The doll making rush began late in November when Olivia, Ramona's seventh grade daughter, took the finished doll to school to show friends. She returned home that afternoon with an order for her mother to make three. Since that time Ramona has had orders for as many as she could find time to make and there hasn't been a lot of time for the busy homemaker who does housecleaning for others.

Ramona got her idea to make the first doll after helping an older daughter, JoAnne, make several dolls for a Jamaica held in the fall by the people of St. Peter's Catholic Church. The Jamaica, a Mexican bazaar, is an annual affair sponsored by the different organizations in the church to raise funds for special concerns of the church.

"I didn't make any then," she says, "I was just a helper."

"It's fun," Ramona says, making pieces of fabric and trim turn into pretty dolls. "It's kind of hard selling them," she adds, "when I get through, I feel proud of them and want to keep them."

Although the pattern for the "Betina" dolls calls for yellow yarn for their hair, Ramona varies colors so that not all her dolls are blond. Her favorite, she believes, was an orange yarn "red head."

One and a half skeins of yarn go into Betina's hair while her body requires one-half yard of fabric. Her dress and apron use one yard each. She wears infant sized anklets.

Ramona has not tried making a boy doll by the pattern but believes it would not be difficult since she has made a "Raggedy Andy" by a similar pattern.

Residents of the Olton area for ten years, Ramona and Venturo moved into town seven years ago. One daughter, Aurelia, is a teacher's aide at Olton schools. Still at home also are Olivia and Cuca, seventh graders, Orelia, a fifth grader and Santos, a fourth grader. Two other sons are grown.

Christmas won't bring retirment for the new doll maker. At least one other is promised - to Olivia who started it all.

Plains Coop Oil Mill Financial Report Good

Directors and managers attending the 44th annual meeting of Plains Cooperative Oil Mill were extremely pleased with the financial statement presented by Manager Edward Breihan. He reported a total margin of $4,444,904 from the processing and marketing of 473,000 tons of cottonseed on the 1979-80 seed crop. As a result, PCOM members received $4.70 per ton in cash and $4.70 in equity credits.

The management and auditors were very pleased with these results considering the market pattern of this past year. PCOM was very pleased to announce that our new solvent plant is running and should bring many good benefits and higher dividends in the future.

Bible Study Course Offered Here By Wayland

A Bible study course on the life and letters of the apostle Paul will be taught in Olton by Wayland Baptist College.

The course, which offers three hours college credit, is being made available to Olton area residents through Wayland's Office of Special Services, and will meet each Thursday from 6:30 until 10 p.m. in the Education Building of Olton's First Baptist Church.

Classes begin Jan. 15 and run through April 9, with no class scheduled for March 19. Adults, regular college students, and high school students who have completed at least their junior year may receive college credit for the course.

To be taught by Dr. Ronnie Littlejohn, professor of religion at WBC, the class will offer a study of the life and times of the apostle Paul with an interpretation of his epistles in their historical setting. The textbook to be used is "Toward the Understanding of St. Paul," by Donald Selby.

"We're offering this course to people of the Olton area to provide them an opportunity to take a regular college course for credit close to home," explained Dr. Bill Hardage, Wayland's director of special services. "The course will also provide in-depth Bible study opportunities for pastors and other church workers."

Cost for the course is $155 for college credit, or the course may be audited for $100. Persons enrolling at Wayland for the first time must also pay a $15 application fee for admission.

Registration will take place on the first night of class; however, persons may also register in advance with their local pastor.

For more informaton, contact Hardage at 296-5521.

Origin of Xmas

Many people take offense at the term "Xmas," suggesting it is an attempt to take Christ out of Christmas, when actually it is merely an abbreviation of the word itself. In modern times the letter X is a way of crossing out unwanted information . . . and so, the misconception.

The X in Xmas is the Greek letter Chi, the first letter of Christ's name when written in that language. It has always stood for Christ . . . without any bad intentions.

This simple abbreviation dates back to about the 12th century and continues to be used to this day.

Naomi Wheeler Gives 'Keys' In Address To Lions Club

Naomi Wheeler, Lamb County Home Extension Agent, was guest speaker Tuesday at the luncheon meeting of Olton Lions Club.

"Christmas is an especially good time, I think, to think of seven keys to happiness," said Ms. Wheeler. "With the new year at hand, it's never too late to set personal goals. These keys open the doors to a more productive life."

"Our first key is to 'face reality.' We must realize that what we want is not always the way it is. We have to deal with life and we can't run away from our problems.

"We must adapt to change for we live in a world changing constantly. We don't change as fast so we have to adapts. When we learn to adapt, we'll be happier.

"Our third key is to 'control anxieties'. Statistics show that 60 to 80 percent of our physical distress is caused by anxiety.

"We must give of ourselves. We came into the world one hundred percent on the receiving end of the line. That reverses as we grow older. We all need to depend on someone else.

"Consideration of others is our fifth key. Our broken homes and troubled nations are proof of our lack of consideration. Sixth, we must curb hostilities. We need to sharpen our rough edges. We need a channel for our hostilities - hit a door - not someone. The difference in being mature is how we face up to our hostilities.

"Finally, and most important of all, we must learn to love. We need to genuinely learn to care about others. We really begin learning to love when we go outside our family circle."

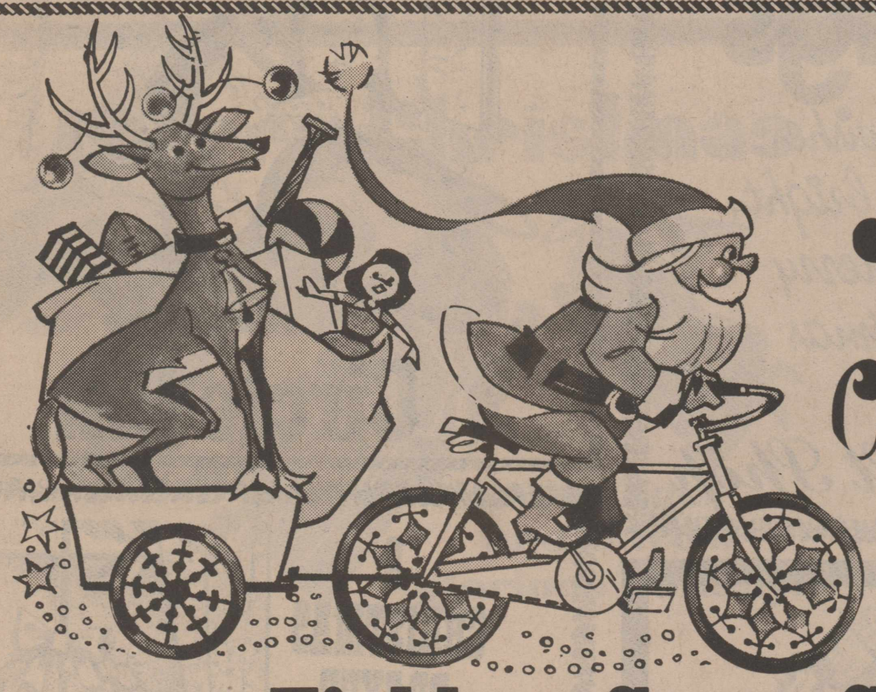

Other guests at the Tuesday luncheon meeting were Kathy Kelsheimer of Lubbock, Cleo Shipley and Lionesses Mary Bass and Pauline Strain.

Lion George Richardson announced that a report on the turkey dinner was unavailable. A disappointing number attend.

Lion Travis Hart announced the Ministerial Alliance was sponsoring a community shower Jan. 11 for Mr. and Mrs. Raymon Carson whose home was completely destroyed by fire. The event will be held in the community building.

Questions Asked About Eyes

Q. Do you do any charity work? By that I mean, do you take care of people who need your services but cannot affort to pay?

A. Yes. Our policy is the same as it has been for many years. If a person needs our services and has been certified by the School Nurse, the Welfare Department, the Lions Club Sight Conservation Committee, or some other authorized agency and funds are not available from any Governmental Agency, we will provide our services at no charge. We will supply a frame at no charge and bill the school or Lions Club [or other organization making the referral] for only the cost of the lenses.

Q. If I know someone, maybe a school child, who needs visual care, how do I help? What is the first step?

A. Contact the school nurse or a member of the local Lions Club in your area. They then certify that a person is needy and refer them to us.

Q. Last year at this time, because of crop damage, you offered your patients some relief in the cost of eye care. Do you have any plans for helping them again this year?

A. Yes, we have. We are living in most unusual times when everyone is trying to cope with double digit inflation. No one can escape the erosions of their buying power when the forces of inflation continue. In order to help offset the effects of rampant inflation, we have decided upon the following course of action in order to help our patients obtain the very best in visual care. From Dec. 1, 1980 through Dec. 30, 1980, the following policies will be in effect:

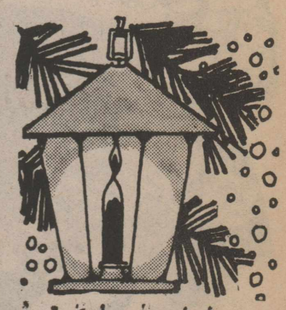

1. We will make available to our patients new, but discontinued frames at a savings of 50 percent. We have many current styles to choose from.

2. On second pairs of eyeglasses only, if the frame selected sells for $20 or less, we will give our patients the second frame at no charge [free].

3. If the frame selected for a second pair sells for more than $20, we will make the second pair available at a savings of 50 percent. Many of our patients need a second pair as a "spare" or in prescription sunglasses.

4. We will offer a 20 percent savings off the regular cost of contact lenses. [This can amount to as much as a $55 savings on soft contact lenses.]

NOTE: If you have had your eyes examined anytime during the past year [at our office or elsewhere] and would like to have a "spare" pair of glasses or prescription sunglasses, you can take advantage of these savings. [Visa and Mastercard will be honored.]

Christmas Greetings

Good will to all as we celebrate this sacred season together in love and friendship.

Stained glass

Imagine having stained glass windows in your home! Here's an easy way to decorate one or two of your windows for Christmas.

Choose your sunniest windows for the most dazzling and best effect. Draw your design on paper, or trace something from a magazine. Tape the design on the outside of the window.

For a small pane, mix about one tablespoon of glue (mucilage) and six drops of food coloring for each color you need.

Mix double quantity if your design is large.

Spread newspaper below the window to catch the drippings. Following the picture or design pasted on its outside, paint the "stained glass" window.

After the holidays, it can all be washed off with a wet cloth.

You'll find the glowing colors a holiday inspiration.

May you and your family savor the beauty and cherished delights of a wonderful Christmas!

May the spiritual peace of this Christmas enter into your lives. It's a time of joy...a time to wish everyone the happiness and contentment of the Holy Night long ago.
Our sincere thanks to all.

Reminiscing

By Lily May Silcott

Christmas Joy arrived early at the Tom McGill household in 1980.

During the 1979 Yuletide, and throughout the unseasonably hot summer that followed, McGill was suffering a malady that had interrupted his busy life some months before. Excruciating pain accompanying the illness and its necessary treatment made life most miserable.

But in a recent visit to his physicians he states jubilantly, "Three doctors dismissed me until next spring, when they'd like me to come in for a routine visit...This is all the Christmas I want....and it is the best one I have ever had."

Enjoyment of the present Christmas season gave Tom and Juanita cause to look back...and to contemplate "Christmases Past".

Tom remembers the first Christmas tree he ever saw. He describes it, "That lovely tree was in the pioneer home of the Fred Schreiers down in our neighborhood. Stella (the late Mrs. Lloyd Cowart) had decorated it with strings of popcorn, homemade ornaments, and small red candles which were burned a little. I thought it was the prettiest thing that I had ever seen as it stood in that room with the 12-foot ceiling. I don't remember if there was a Santa Clause...but there were apples, oranges and candies for all of us. I was about five years old. The evening was spent with Stella at the organ and her brothers, Charlie and Fred, leading singing.

I can't remember all of the neighbors present, but am sure that Lloyd Cowart must have been there for the party. He and Stella were later married and I have been given credit for serving as ring bearer at the ceremony...but my memory is a bit fuzzy there also."

Tom grew up associating the Christmas season with "hog killing". "During the holiday season we always butchered hogs, along with some of the neighbors. We'd kill from six to 18 fat hogs, depending upon how many negro families we had living at the place at the time...then, too, we always shared fresh meat with other neighbors.

"This meant cutting up all that meat, rendering lard, making soap and making sausage. We had a big sausage mill and we mixed all the meat trimmings for sausage in a big number three wash tub. We packed some of the sausage into bags and hung it in the garage. We fried a lot of it, packing it into jars or crocks and covering it with grease so that we were able to enjoy good homemade sausage in July!

"We later learned, through the Home Demonstration Clubs, how to sugar cure and smoke our bacon and hams, burning peach and apple tree limbs. We also buried our cured meats in the wheat bins. This sealing off all air and temperature changes preserved the meat...and kept it just great."

In later years, when the family was somewhat scattered, Tom and Juanita carried on the hog butchering traditions, working with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schreier who still lived in the neighborhood.

The most memorable Christmas in Juanita's childhood was spent in Lockney when she was only four years of age. The family home was under quarantine...all the children had scarlet fever. "Snow was very deep and the situation was very bleak...there was little likelihood that Old Santa would make a stop at a home flying that 'yellow flag of warning'. I remember how terrible we felt...and all that calomel that we had to take. Leo Ross was a baby at the time.

A wonderful Aunt, who lived in the neighborhood, came in a buggy through the snow and delivered a beautiful evergreen Christmas tree and gifts for all the children to the barn. My gift was a doll and a little doll trunk. This made it a time of great joy for all of us." Juanita has carefully preserved her little doll trunk and has had it professionally antiqued and inscribed...it remains a treasure chest for memories.

A second frustrating Christmas season in her memory came a few years later when the family home was north of Olton. The Bryant children were ill with small pox. While they were again under quarantine, she recalls, "A neighbor, A. C. Brigance, brought our groceries and other necessities, delivering them to the gate for Daddy to pick up. But Mrs. Brigance just ignored that warning flag and came right into the home and helped Mother take care of us. She was certainly a wonderful friend and neighbor." That year also...Christmas blessing meant being well again.

Thomas William McGill, son of Thomas Elmer and Lillie McGill, was born in Madison County, Tenn. His mother had chosen to return to her native state for the birth of her first child. They returned toTexas when Tom was six weeks old. The family moved, however, back to Tennessee for about three years but the father's health was not good in that climate and a return to Texas was made in 1917. The home place southwest of the city was purchased at that time. There McGill became one of the first cotton planters in the area.

Tom and his younger sister, Eva, rode the five miles to school on horseback for a time. Later school busses made it possible for them and the other children, Lillian, Elmer and Lowell, to attend with a little more ease. Tom drove one of the school busses while he was in high school, receiving $20 per month for the effort. He was graduated in 1931.

The father's untimely death Aug. 5, 1932, left 19-year-old Tom to carry on the farming operation. Tom and his father had made a trip to Arlington with the view of the son's attending the A&M University located there. But college had to be forgotten, and the young man who had always "followed Dad around" took over responsibilities of the farm.

Another tragic blow was suffered by the family when three months later Eva, the second child, died.Mrs. McGill's bravery and encouragement brought the family of four remaining children through the difficulties. Times were hard for everyone. Comodity prices were very low. Living was supported chiefly by grading milk and eggs for necessities. Tom gives credit to neighboring families, the Burruses, Wickers, Schreiers, Roses and others for much advice and assistance during these years. He especially remembers, also, how very helpful Mrs. Roy (Eunice) Burrus was during the family's periods of bereavement.

Mildred Juanita Bryant, daughter of Don and Murzia Bryant, was born in Lockney. She attended the first four years of school at Muncy, a small comunity near Lockney. She remembers the move to Olton in a covered wagon. The first day's journey brought them to Plainview, the second, to their home north of the city. In the family also were three brothers, Leamon, Elmo and Leo Ross and one sister, Ouida. Born later in the Lamb County home was another daughter, Jolene.

Juanita has fond memories of Saturday afternoons during those early days. If the parents did not drive into town...then Juanita and the brothers, via horse and buggy, made the exciting trip to take produce to sell, buy needed supplies and purchase ice for the Saturday night treat...ice cream.

Entering Olton schools in fifth grade,she was graduated in 1932. Tom and Juanita were married Nov. 28, 1934 in Clovis, N.M. Their four-year courtship had not been completely without its ups-and-downs...especially for Tom. He never knew what kind of reception he might receive from the three brothers when he made his Saturday night call to see Juanita. At times he was thrown, floundering in the dirt, by a tightly stretched (but un-noticed) wire, much to his chagrin and the expense of a 75 cent cleaning bill 'for that black suit.'

At other times the path from the front gate to the front door was littered with carcasses of dead rabbits...some of which inadvertently made their way for further deterioration in the trunk of the family Studebaker that Tom drove. He says that he never knew what to expect from behind the bushes when he arrived at the Bryant home. "I didn't know which of the boys was responsible for all of my misery...if I had known...there would have been one less brother! And, too, I always suspected J. C. Hamby was chargeable for some of the pranks. But, at least they learned they were dealing with a determined old boy."

Tom remembers that Jolene, the baby sister, was a "little smart-alec with a tricycle," who spent a great deal of time sitting on his lap.

He concludes the episode by saying "We were ready to get married two years before I could raise the $85 it took to furnish our first home. Dad had built a four room house at our place, at the cost of $1260, saying that someday he'd need a "weaning pen."

"I had a mattress, and traded three bushels of wheat for a bedstead. For $85 we furnished the house, including a new kerosene cookstove and $13 worth of groceries."

The McGills fondly remember the miscellaneous shower given for them by Mrs. Margie Slatten. Among all the other nice gifts, Mrs. D. A. Barnett presented six red hens, carefully chosen as layers, and a kerosene lamp.

Farming at the home place continued until the McGills rented the C. A. Crump farm, south of the city. In the mid-forties they moved to a new home on this land, leaving the "weaning pen" for the next brother in line.

While still at the home place Tom relates a story of one of life's most embarrasing moments. He and Walter Rose had been losing chickens to some nighttime prowler and Tom felt that he knew who the thief was.

Hearing a noise in the chicken house about midnight, he hurriedly donned shoes...and little else...and made his way to the chicken house armed with a flashlight and a big stick. Entering the doorway, he felt sure he had the culprit cornered...and he did! Rushing toward him, right between his legs, was one of his biggest 'ole sows.' Carried, with his feet dangling in mid air, for the backward ride out into the barnyard astride the frightened animal...Tom could never decide which of them was the more frustrated.

TOM AND JUANITA MCGILL

February 5, 1941 the McGills' first child, Thomas Bryant, was born in Littlefield. He was promptly dubbed "Mack" by good friend Walter Schreier, and so he is still known today. A daughter, Coye Ruth, was born in 1946.

In 1951 the McGills bought land some 17 miles northwest of the city never intending to move there to live...."because from there you could not see the Olton water tower." But farming via long distance proved so involved, in 1953 they built a home on the Sunnyside place. Both Mack and Coye were so unhappy with the move that they made the transfer back into Olton School District, so that each of them could become second generation graduates of OHS.

Tom admits to bitter disappointment when Mack could not be interested in going to college following high school graduation. He wanted instead to begin farming, and the arrangement has proven to be a great association for father and son. Mack married his school day sweetheart, Miss Gayland Graham, and they live some ten miles northwest of the city. They are parents of two children, Sherilyn Ruth and Thomas Jarrod.

Coye is a '68 graduate of Texas Tech University. She and Alan Duncan of Shallowater were married in 1968. Now living in Plainview, they are parents of a son, McAlan.

Reviewing his life, Tom thinks that there are no "highs and lows". He explains, "Nobody was ever lower than I was when I began farming, so every step we have made along the way has been upward."

During his farming career he has served as secretary for the Olton Coop Gin when it was first organized; he has twice been a member of the board of trustees of Olton Schools; and has served as FFA Stock Show Director. The McGills are members of First Baptist Church.

The couple remembers their first vacation....an expense paid trip to Fort Wayne, Ind. to drive a bus back for Olton schools. They made later trips to Detroit, via train with the children, to pick up new cars and made sight-seeing side trips to such points as Niagra Falls. But their latest vacation tour with a real highlight.

Accompanied by her brothers and sisters-in-law, Elmo and Rowena Bryant, and Leo Ross and Lucille Bryant, and her sister and brother-in-law, Dale (Dude) and Jolene Chitwood, the four couples made a northwestern swing early this fall. Beginning at Las Vegas, Nev., they continued through Salt Lake City, Yellowstone National Park, with return via Mt. Rushmore and the Dakotas. Expressing great enjoyment of the outing, the McGills did not elaborate on the many pranks that must have been perpetrated in that party of eight....during 11 days of close association.

Tom and Juanita feel very fortunate to have had such kind, loving parents and happy childhoods. They say, "In spite of hard times, we didn't know anything but to be happy .... our parents made many sacrifices for us, for which we are grateful and thankful."

Family get-togethers for each side of the household have been numerous and fun-filled....with special emphasis placed upon the Christmas season.

Juanita muses, "Each year that time grows more dear and more precious. We like to remember that Jolene and Dude were married in our home on Christmas day, 1947. Then, there was that year that Coye, herself a prankster, opened all of the Christmas gifts during the night...carefully re-wrapped them....and kept it all a secret for several years.

"We've been fortunate to have Mack and his family and Coye and her family to share some part of the season every year ... and we treasure those days.

"Everyone in Olton is very special because of so many happy memories. The people in Olton are the very greatest. We are proud to be a part of this community and we hope....the Lord willing...to live here the rest of our lives."

With special thanks for your warmth and friendship we wish you a very Merry Christmas

INSUR-MATION

Keogh pension plans have always seemed attractive to me, even though I'm employed by, and a participant in the pension plan of a major corporation. I also "moonlight" by doing cabinetwork in my home which I sell independently. Would this "side-line" qualify me for the Keogh?

Yes. The Keogh is designed for the self-employed, even if that self-employment is "moonlighting" while covered by an employer pension or profit sharing plan. You can withdraw your Keogh savings in a qualified lump-sum at age 59½ and realize a good tax break or take the money on a pay-out basis. At this time, your income will generally have been somewhat reduced, subject to a lower tax rate, and the income you've invested tax-free over the years, in the Keogh, will be taxed at that lower rate.
