STRIKER ON UNPAID HOLIDAY

Relaxation is one way to pass away the unexpected idle time afforded by a strike. Miss Marie Zimmerman, 309 Twenty-fifth Street, is shown above playing with her three dogs in her front yard. OVERTIME FOR OFFICIALS

Extra work at unaccustomed tasks is the fare for management employes of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. here while union members are out on strike. F. L. Texas Cities Offer Aid To Stop Strike

By The Associated Press

The Texas League of Municipalities offered Saturday to help work out a settlement of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. strike.

Through its president, Mayor Jim Wright, Weatherford, the league offered to set up a fact-finding board to meet with representatives of Bell and the CIO Communications Workers of America.

Wright made the offer in letters to Walter Prehn, Dallas, Texas manager for Bell, and T. E. Webb, Dallas, Texas CWA-CIO director.

Prehn said late Saturday he had not received the letter but it would receive "serious consideration, just as would any such offer."

Webb was not immediately available for comment But a CWA-CIO spokesman said "of course the offer will be considered we're anxious for an honorable settlement."

There seemed little likelihood, however, that the letters would reach Prehn and Webb before Monday. On that day company and union negotiators are to return to the bargaining table in St. Louis in a new effort to end the strike by 53,000 Bell workers in six states.

The municipalities league president suggested a "mutually agreeable solution" could be found through studies of the suggested fact-findnig board.

"If such a solution can be discovered in Texas," he declared, "it might well point the way toward similar settlements in other states."

The fact-finding board would be composed of "unprejudiced and impartial city officials who would explore every avenue of equitable settlement.

If the Bell company and the union wanted, Wright said, the fact-finding board could be created on a system-wide basis, with the municipality leagues of the several states involved working together to name a fact-finding board.

Prehn said he did not wish to comment at length until he had seen the letter. "But the offer will get serious consideration," he said. "We're interested in anything of that kind."

Meanwhile the union appeared hopeful about the talks to start in St. Louis Monday.

Enrollment In Schools About Same As 1952

A total of 2,204 students enrolled in the Snyder schools last week during its pre-registration period.

The figure indicates that school enrollment will be about the same as it was last year. During pre-registration last year, 2,315 students enrolled.

Not all the students who will go to school here registered last week. During the entire school year last year, there was an average membership of 2,878 students, are more than 500 more than registered early. On the last day of school last year, membership rose to 2,469.

Registration by schools this year were 510 in the high school, 320 in the junior high, 375 in West Elementary, 197 in Central Elementary, 332 in East Elementary, 266 in North Elementary, and 204 in the Central Primary.

Negro students, who go to the Abraham Lincoln school, will not register until school starts Sept. 3.

School officials are now considering applications submitted for seven positions still open here. About 25 new teachers have been hired so far as replacements or to take new positions, according to M. E. Stanfield, assistant superintendent.

Plans will be complete next week on opening activities of the school, Dr. Cecil Yarbrough, superintendent, said.

Red Air Plan To Be Turned Down By West

BERLIN, Aug. 22 (AP) — The Western Allies are turning down Russia's proposal for just one big air corridor to Berlin because they fear it might prove a trap in case of another blockade, an informed Allied source revealed today.

The West proved once—during the 1948-49 blockade—that it could feed Berlin by air through the existing system of three 20-mile-wide corridors across Soviet-occupied East Germany.

Allied airmen are not sure the airlift would work with just one wide corridor. So they are taking no chances.

"The single corridor idea is a dead duck," a Western official said.

This kills the only big plan presented during five months of 4-power talks on the problem of air safety over Germany.

The talks are continuing. But the high hopes with which they began have faded. Some kind of face-saving agreements may eventually emerge. But they are most likely to be of minor importance.

One thing the West wants to make sure: whatever changes are made must not in any way restrict the present aerial access to Berlin.

There's another angle that officials diplomatically refuse to discuss: the daily flights of Allied planes across the Soviet zone over three separate routes provide some limited observation of what's going on there. It was easy to detect, for instance, the recent abandonment of four Soviet fighter bases.

Although each of the existing corridors is only 20 miles wide, the way they are spaced provides a visual sweep over a wide area.

Set up by 4-power agreement right after World War II, one corridor to Berlin runs from Hamburg, another from Brunswick, the third from Frankfurt. It is more than 200 miles from the north to the south corridor at the zonal border. Each stretches more than 100 miles from west to east.

A single central corridor would cut this sky view to a fraction.

Stock Market In Steep Drop During Week

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (AP)—The stock market slipped into a steep fall this week.

The break was not extensive but it was the worst since the declines that sent the market to the lowest point of the year early in June.

Virtually all sections of the market participated in the decline. Exceptions were the utilities and what are known in Wall Street as defensive issues.

What Wall Street is on the defensive about is a readjustment of business expected late this year and next year. What form this readjustment will take depends upon individual evaluation of economic factors.

An old fashioned "bust" isn't anticipated. One of the favorite expressions in Wall Street is "rolling correction." By that is meant that one industry or segment of the economic will readjust after another so that the economic correction will be a gradual affair.

There were plenty of excuses for selling this week. Among them were the upheaval in Iran, the crippling strikes in France, the Korean debates in the United Nations, and the freely voiced predictions of curtailed steel demand.

Price weakness in the stock market was concentrated in the first three days. Monday's market was moderately lower with trading volume under a million shares and the market was down rather sharply.

The slide continued Wednesday at a much faster pace. Late in the day a recovery erased a good part of the early losses. As it turned out, that buoyancy carried through into Thursday when the market steadied and managed a small advance on light volume. That state of affairs continued through Friday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks on the week declined $1.30, the same amount of decline registered the week ended June 13 when the low of the year was touched. The average now stands at $107.60 as compared with the year's low of $104.20.

Crash Is Fatal To Air Force Cadet

Killed was Cadet Richard L. Brown, 22, Port Arthur.

His Port Arthur address was 3230 15th St.

Wainwright Improved On 70th Birthday

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Aug. 22 (AP) — Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, the hero of Corregidor, today was reported "greatly improved" on the eve of his 70th birthday anniversary.

The general was admitted to Brooke Army Hospital here July 6 aftir reportedly suffering a stroke. He has been and still is on the seriously ill list despite today's more optimistic report.

NAMES OF THOSE RECEIVING DROUTH AID LISTED TODAY

On an inside page of this paper is a story which carries a list of some 500 Scurry County residents who had received drouth relief feed through Aug. 18 and the amount each received.

The local drouth comittee received permission from state Production and Marketing Administration officials last week to release the names to the newspaper.

The newspaper had asked Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson for clarification of a section in the PMA instruction book which prohibited the release of PMA records. An answer was later received, not signed with the full name of the sender. It stated:

"Your wire secretary Benson. County drouth committee followed instruction in not making available to you names of individual farmers receiving drouth relief aid. Information is considered confidential and release would not be in public interest. Summary information on program can be made available to you."

It was signed "Gordon Administrator, Washington, D. C."

Some of those listed in today's paper as receiving aid under the tax-supported program are at least moderately wealthy.

Shah Promises Iran's Friendship With World

FHA Housing Program To Be Broadened

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Federal Housing Administration announced today liberation of its insured mortgage plan to encourage builders to take older houses in trade for newer dwellings.

FHA Commissioner Guy T. O. Hollyday said the broadened program will help builders finance repairs on older houses and refinance existing mortgages on them.

Under the new FHA ruling, a builder taking an old house as a trade-in on a new home may get an FHA insurance commitment covering 80 per cent of the first $7,000 of value plus 60 per cent of the balance up to a total mortgage of $10,400.

Hollyday said the decision to liberalize the mortgage insurance plan in this fashion was made as a result of experiments that have been carried on in the field of trade-in houses.

"Analyses of trade-in house deals have shown," he said, "that it pays to do a thorough reconditioning job on the old dwelling rather than just taking care of the bare necessities. When the trade-in house is put as nearly as possible in a new house condition the economic value is increased.

Adenauer Is Under Propaganda Attack

LONDON, Sunday, Aug. 23 (AP) — Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov told East German Communist leaders today that West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is "leading Germany towards a new war." Malenkov's bitter propaganda attack on the West German leader came in a Moscow address to the East German Communist delegation called to Moscow last week for talks in the Kremlin.

Malenkov's remarks were broadcast by Moscow radio and picked up in London.

The broadcast said Malenkov charged that the Adenauer government does not want Germany to get a peace treaty, and added:

"It does not want a peaceful settlement of the German question. The Bonn bosses are pushing Germany on the road to a new war.

"They are again setting Germany against the peoples of Western and Eastern Europe."

This kind of language was common in the era of Stalin but is new in the Malenkov regime.

Adenauer policy, Malenkov said in a blast apparently aimed at influencing the coming West German elections, "is full of consequences for the German people, the same consequences to which the country was brought by the policy of the Hitlerite clique.

"Mankind has condemned the heads of this clique as war criminals. But are not Adenauer and his group following in their footsteps?

"Will German mothers watch silently how the militarists are preparing for new and more terrible slaughter for their children?

"Will German youth agree to provide its blood for the war machine of American aggressive circles?"

Iran Throws Royal Spree

TEHRAN, Iran, Aug. 22 (AP)—Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi returned in triumph today to his troop-guarded capital and the tearful adulaton of royalists who overthrew a government that had wanted to hang him. They kissed his boots and kissed his hands.

"I cannot contain my immense joy," the 33-year-old monarch said, and tears glinted in his own eyes.

Officials in formal coats and pin-striped pants flung themselves to the ground in welcoming the Shah at Mehrabad Airport while special royal guards looked on stony-faced, cradling their light machineguns. Tophats rolled away unnoticed.

Though the Shah was a royal refugee in Rome when his followers unseated Premier Mohammed Mossadegh Wednesday by an uprising that left 300 dead, he was in fighting garb when he expertly landed his private plane on Iranian soil.

He wore a brilliant uniform as marshal of the air force. The uniform was shipped to him at Baghdad, where he made an overnight stop on the way home. He had outlined his aims there:

"As you know, sometimes in history we must fight. But I can tell you that in the future of my country only freindship and brotherhood will exist."

There were rumblings of potential trouble—of a possible counter-revolt by Mossadegh's Nationalist followers and the Communists he lately had wooed. But Tehran was calm. Security measures were tight. Troops and police watched the flag-bedecked streets and guarded the royal palaces.

Mossadegh and six of his lieutenants were prisoners.

Hossein Fatemi, the foreign minister who had openly declared the Shah a traitor who must forfeit his life for opposing Mossadegh's bid for dictatorial powers, appeared to be a fugitive.

Premier Gen. Fazollah Zahedi, Mossadegh's successor, told newsmen today that it seems Fatemi escaped, though a royalist broadcast over the Tehran radio Wednesday said he had been "torn to pieces." Fatemi apparently is alive, the Premier said.

Zahedi, a palace favorite who engineered the coup, went aboard the Shah's plane as it stopped rolling.

"I want to be the first to greet him in our land," he said.

Dignified men prostrated themselves before the Shah. Crowds wept openly. The Shah's brothers, Ghullam Reza and Hamid Reza, kissed his hand.

Preceded by a flying wedge of police, the Shah made his way to a 50-foot line of foreign diplomats waiting to greet him. The envoys included U. S. Ambassador Loy Henderson and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Lavrentiev.

Then, flanked by six carloads of police, the Shah's car set out for a journey beneath triumphal arches to the heart of his capital.

Every military precaution was taken to insure his safety. Hundreds of soldiers cleared the way in the early morning. About an hour before the Shah's arrival, tanks moved into position at side streets to guard the 6-mile route.

Tonight the Shah was at home in his heavily guarded palace in the city. A special royal guard stood with arms in shooting position and tanks were stationed near the entrances.

FBI Nabs Man Wanted For Many Slayings

LOGANSPORT, Ind., Aug. 22 (AP) —FBI agents today captured a 23-year-old convicted rapist wanted in the murder of a Kansas City priest, in the shooting of a soldier in Missouri and for questioning about the recent Pennsylvania Turnpike slayings.

Agents seized William J. Townsend here just 10 minutes after he arrived in Logansport, where his father, a minister, lives.

Missouri authorities issued a pickup order for Townsend Wednesday. They quoted Mrs. Clara Lyston of St. Louis as saying Townsend admitted killing the Rev. Robert A. Hodges.

The pirest was found shot to death near Kansas City last month on the bank of Little Blue River.

Lt. Chester Oliver of the Missouri highway patrol said there was evidence Townsend and a gang may be implicated in the turnpike shootings. Two truck drivers were found shot to death in their vehicles along the road last month and a third was wounded.

Two federal complaints are on file against Townsend in Missouri. They charge him with fleeing the state to escape prosecution in the shooting of soldier Gordon Bunfill near New London, Mo., on Aug. 11, and to escape questioning in the slaying of Father Hodges.

A third federal complaint filed in Louisville, Ky., Aug. 18 charges Townsend with interstate transportation of a stolen automobile.

Townsend is also wanted in Indiana. He escaped from the Indiana Reformatory June 5 while serving a 2 to 21-year sentence from Huntington, Ind., for rape.

SPEEDUP ORDERED

Collective Security More Important Than Red H-Bomb

DENVER, Aug. 22 (AP)—Foreign Aid Chief Harold E. Stassen said after a conference with President Eisenhower today that Russia's indicated possession of the hydrogen bomb underscores the importance of free world collective security.

At the conference, Stassen gave the President a report showing a big speedup in U. S. deliveries of military equipment to friendly countries all over the world. Stassen later told newsmen he believes current prospects for world peace are "somewhat brighter" than they were when Eisenhower took office.

He noted, however, that the President has stressed that "the grave danger of war is a continuing matter."

Stassen's report on delivery of military equipment, made public for the first time, covered the first six months of the Eisenhower administration. It showed that from January through June the United States delivered $2,363,000,000 worth of military equipment abroad.

That was more, Stassen noted, than was delivered during all of 1952. During the first half of last year, he said, the total was $890 million while in the latter half it was $1,447,000,000.

Stassen, head of the Foreign Operations Administration, said the first order Eisenhower gave him last January was to step up delivery of military supplies abroad. The shortages which then existed, Stassen reported, have been almost completely wiped out.

Stassen's report dealt in part with the 200 million dollar Korean relief program which his agency administers. He said supplies and rehabilitation equipment already are being delivered in South Korea and that work toward rebuilding the war-scarred nation is well underway.

As for the economy of Western Europe, Stassen said production there is at the highest level since the end of World War II and that military output specifically is on the upturn.

U.S. To Continue Try For International Atom Control

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (AP)—The State Department believes prospects for international control of atomic energy are "dim" because of Russia's uncompromising stand on the question.

Nevertheless, it says the United States still favors international control and will co-operate with the United Nations on any effective plan.

These statements came from Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, acting secretary of state, in the wake of confirmation here that the Soviets have succeeded in exploding some kind of hydrogen device.

Smith's report was made public today by the office of Sen. Wiley (R-Wis), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, who is in New York attending the U. N. Assembly.

Wiley had asked for assurance from the State Department that the "full impact" of increasing atomic programs in foreign lands "is adequately reflected in our current military and diplomatic plans and policies."

In his reply, Smith recommended a greater exchange of atomic energy information with Allied countries.

"There are instances when immediate advantages might accrue to the United States should we exchange information with friendly countries," he said, adding that this did not necessarily mean the disclosure of classified information.

"The question of the international control of atomic energy and disarmament in general has long been in the forefront of thinking in the State Department," Smith said.

"While present prospects for the international control of atomic energy are dim because of Soviet intransigence, this government continues to support the United Nations' or any no less effective plan for . . . international control . . . "

In addition to renewing U. S. pledges for effective worldwide atomic controls, Smith stated:

1. "We believe that at the present time the United States is foremost in th field of (atomic) power development."

2. Among U. S. allies and friendly nations, England is ahead of all others outside the Iron Curtain "in the field of development of atomic power."

3. Canada, France, The Netherlands, and Norway are experimenting with atomic energy, the ultimate objective being the development of atomic power rather than weapons.

4. "It would be premature at this time to attempt to make plans for a general interchange of atomic power information," even though the United States and its allies might benefit.

New Sultan Gets Welcome

RABAT, Morocco, Aug. 22 (AP)—Mouley Mohammed Ben Arafa, the new Sultan of Morocco, arrived in this capital today and moved into his beautiful Morrish palace amid medieval pomp and African ritual.

Crowds lined the wide boulevards between the railroad station and the palace to catch a glimpse of the new Sultan but most of the spectators were French. Few Moslems ventured out of their crowded native quarters.

French officials admitted that most of the Moslems are in mourning over the exile of Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef, the nationalist-minded old Sultan who is a second cousin of the new.

A small, bearded man, Arafa was welcomed at the palace by Gen. Augustine Guillaume, French resident general, who deposed Youssef and put Arafa on the throne of this Northwest African Protectorate.

Arafa came in a special train from Marrakech with Thami El Glaoui, pro-French pasha of Marrakech, who led the Berber chieftains' drive to oust the former Sultan.

Nearly all the pashas and caids from southern Morocco came with them. Other pashas have been gathering for two days.

French observation planes hovered overhead as the train arrived, but there was no sign of any unrest in the city.

150 American POWs Loose

PANMUNJOM, Sunday, Aug. 23 (AP)—The Communists released 150 shouting and laughing Americans from Red prison camps today and told the United Nations Command another 150 would be sent home tomorrow.

An additional 250 South Koreans also will be repatriated tomorrow.

While the Americans exchanged today generally were in high spirits, Republic of Korea troops coming back from the Red northland were burning mad.

Some shook their fists and cursed Red Korean officers at the exchange point in angry demonstrations.

Probers Finding Skeletons In Many South Texas Closets

AUSTIN, Aug. 22 (AP)—Five days of hearing into complaints aimed at ousting 79th Dist. Judge C. Woodrow Laughlin of Alice have swung wide the closet doors of some of South Texas' political skeletons.

Witnesses have testified to stuffed ballot boxes, rolls of ballots tied with string, political threats, reprisals and fear in George Parr's South Texas political domain.

All of it was aimed at linking Laughlin closely with Parr and lesser lights in the political turmoil.

The parade of testimony brought comment from defense attorney C. C. Small Sr., that Laughlin was having to defend himself "against everything that has ever happened between the Nueces and the Rio Grand."

Nearly four days of the testimony came from Laughlin himself under a barrage of questions into his political and official activities before and after he became judge Jan. 1.

He admitted to only one mistake —the discharging of a Jim Wells County grand jury whose work was allegedly incomplete.

He said he always wanted to call that jury back after he found out it wanted to come back but he had been too busy before efforts were taken to the Supreme Court to force the recall.

More than half the 11 lawyers who brought the unprecedented ouster proceedings against Laughlin have been present at the hearing, often counseling with their attorney, Sen. William H. Shireman of Corpus Christi.

Among them was Parr-foe Jacob S. Floyd Sr. of Alice whose 22-year-old son was shot down a year ago in an ambush "a senior Floyd says was intended for him.

Much of the testimony has revolved around that slaying and the grand jury investigation of it which Laughlin is charged with obstructing.

Mrs. Floyd has frequently been in the audience.

Numerous South Texas political figures have made appearances at the hearing. Some of them have been called as witnesses. Some reportedly in Austin from time to time remained behind the scenes, never appearing in the court room.

Laughlin, portly and 40, showed no sign of fatigue or ruffle during his four days in the witness chair. During recesses he would chat amiably with reporters, his lawyers and others.

At the end of his testimony he took a seat behind his lawyer at the counsel table. He listened to testimony that followed with interest, but was generally poker-faced.

An exception was a slight flush when a neighboring district judge, Roger Thurmond of Del Rio, testified no judge should ever make his own selection of a judge to try a case against himself. Judge Thurmond termed it "just common sense."

It was possibly one of the hardest blows of the hearing against the accused judge.

A comparably hard blow was testimony from Dist. Attorney Bill Allcorn of Brownwood, who worked with the Jim Wells County grand jury in the Floyd murder investigation. Allcorn said Laughlin "beyond any question" delayed the grand jury's work.

The hearing is to resume at 9:30 a. m. Monday.

Eighteen witnesses now under subpoena are yet to be heard.

Not Even President Gets Special Care In Vermont

PLYMOUTH, Vt., Aug. 22 (AP)—Calvin Coolidge, a solitary, retiring figure in life, is almost lost in death.

Without a guide, his grassgrown grave in an unkempt cemetery is hard to find. Only the great seal of the United States on the small headstone indicates that his life differed from those of the farmer ancestors who lie buried with him.

There are many who would do better by the 30th President. But Plymouth resists. It's as if he was a son of the stony Vermont soil who had to go away for a while, but departed and returned still a native—not a celebrity. And the natives here don't go in much for show.

In a way, the cemetery itself tells the story. In the little hillside graveyard, not far from Coolidge's birthplace, several headstones have toppled in the snapping mountain frost. Hay, brush and the debris of withering floral tributes to Plymouth's dead are discarded nearby. There isn't even a sign to direct the dwindling stream of tourists who visit the cemetery in warm months.

Three years ago the state had so many complaints about its shabby condition that fieldstone steps, stone walks and terraces were built so visitors could view the headstone, no larger than any of its neighbors. But even yet, 20 years after his burial, fellow Vermonters still argue over whether the village or the state should cut the grass.

Visitors to Plymouth can see the country store once run by Col. John Coolidge, Calvin's father, and look into the backroom birthplace of a president.

Col. Coolidge sold the general store in 1917, but it hasn't changed much since the days when young Cal waited on customers. It is neat, white-painted and still has its birdseye maple and cherry counters, its cheese safe, spice cabinets, coffee bins and comfortable Franklin stove.

Today it's run by Mrs. Violet Pelkey. She sells postcards and a few souvenirs.

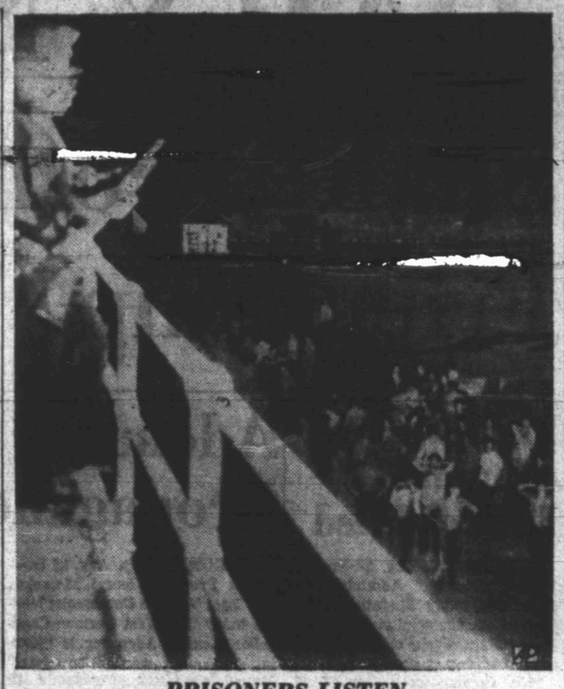

Across the street from the store is the Coolidge homestead where, on Aug. 2, 1923, the straight-lipped, laconic New Englander took the presidential oath of office by lamplight from his father, a justice of the peace. Miss Aurora Pierce, a frail lady of 86 who was the Coolidge housekeeper for a half-century, proudly shows off the room.

The town has lost a thousand of its population since the old days. It's reached by 10 miles of dirt roads through the Green Mountain foothills.

The state also has been balked in efforts to acquire the Coolidge homestead across the street from the store. Mrs. Coolidge, now living in seculsion in North Hampton, Mass., said she'd give the house to the state only after it showed it was making progress in preserving the tiny town by acquisition of the birthsite.

The chairman of the Historic Sites Commission summed up the whole impasse.

Said Vrest Orton with some feeling: "The more we do the less the Plymouth folk like it; the less we do, the less the rest of the world likes it."

PRISONERS LISTEN

Inmates of the Washington State Reformatory in Monroe, Wash., some with hands locked behind their heads, listen to officers manning the walls after nearly 300 prisoners started rioting. Five buildings were fired by the rioters who also ripped up one cell block. Some of the prisonery returned to their cells but 160 milled about the yard.

Boxer Gets Out Of Fight Racket, Turns To Acting

HOLLYWOOD, Aug 22 (AP)—"If a man is strong enough to fight, he's strong enough to work for a living."

That's Abel Fernandez talking. He's a 23-year-old who quit a promising ring career to become an actor.

The heavyweight slugger, a former Army and Golden Gloves titleholder, fought four years as a pro. He lost 6 out of 27 pro fights and was a favorite among the local fight crowd.

He has knocked out such heavies as Eddie Cotton and Tommy Harrion, and decisioned Sonny Andrews and Freddy Beshore. He was leading Leonard Morrow on points this year when he got a solid blow on the Adam's apple that stopped him and threatened serious damage.

He turned to acting and, by coincidence, his first two pictures are ones in which the stars are exboxers. He was in "Second Chance" opposite former pro heavy Jack Palance. Now, he's making "Alaska Seas" with Bob Ryan, who was an intercollegiate champ at Dartmouth.

"I don't think I'd be much good as a fighter anymore," Fernandez says. "I got to the point where I hated to hit guys. I was afraid I'd hurt them. I sent three boys to the hospital and spent most of my time visiting them. Fighters shouldn't care who they hit, or how or where.

"Fighting is brutal and very little money goes to the fighters. On paper it sounds good. Out of a $1,000 purse, the manager is supposed to get one third, the fighter two thirds. What really happens, of course, is that many managers dream up all kinds of expenses. Then out of his share, the fighter must pay for publicity, the corner man and seconds, also the training camp expenses. The fighter ends up with nothing for himself. It's a sucker's game."

Fernandez says he was much influenced by Joe Louis, who made millions but wound up virtually broke.

"The fight boys keep after me to return to the ring," he says. "I have one answer: 'Drop very dead.'"

Girls, ever think it would be nice to have a famous movie star give you a big hug and kiss?

It can be done as one teen-ager found out at Los Angeles International Airport. Big John Wayne arrived there from Mexican location scenes for "Hondo" and was met by his business manager, coproducer and various other males. As Wayne greeted them, he gave them big bear hugs. A teen-aged girl in the crowd yelled: "Hey, Mr. Wayne, you're hugging the wrong sex."

Wayne laughed, walked over to the girl, gave her a hug that lifted her off her feet and with it a kiss. The girl made only one comment: "Gee!"

Felony Charge Filed Against Snyder Man

Thomas Tatom, 35, of Snyder, was being held in the county jail yesterday afternoon in lieu of release on appearance bond of $1,000 set late Friday when he was arraigned on a felony complaint alleging theft.

Tatom was charged Friday with theft of two electric motors from Bill Davidson, manager of the Snyder Cooperative Gin Co, on or about May 18. The complaint was signed by Bill Love, deputy sheriff.

Tatom waived preliminary hearing on the charge when arraigned before W. C Davidson, justice of peace and father of the gin manager. The charge, as in all cases where preliminary hearing is waived, is to be considered by the grand jury. Most felony complaints are investigated later by grand juries regardless of preliminary hearings.

The stolen motors were valued at about $100 each by the gin, and the complaint listed the value of both simply "in excess of $50," which makes a theft a felony instead of a misdeameanor.

Gordon Goss Sells Queen Drive In Here

The Queen Drive In cafe, 506 East Highway, was purchased by L. W. (Buck) Hatfield of Sweetwater, from Gordon B. Goss effective Auyust 8.

Hatfield is a former resident of Snyder, having lived here in 1951, but since has operated drive in cafes in Odessa and Sweetwater.

Goss has owned and operated the Queen Drive In for about one year.

The new owner said "AAA" Root Beer will be added to the line of drinks and shortorders served at the cafe. It will be served in frosted mugs. He said free root beer would be given with each sandwich order Monday and Tuesday.

Hatfield is married and has a six-months -old son, Larry Don Hatfield.

DO YOU REALLY WANT TO TAKE OFF THAT UGLY FAT?

Here is an inexpensive home recipe to take off ungainly weight and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Just ask your druggist for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Mix with grapefruit juice as directed on label and take according to directions.

Now you may slim down your figure and lose pounds of ugly fat without back-breaking exercises or starvation diet. It's easy to make and easy to take. Contains nothing harmful.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the sensible, easy way to reduce, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

Mrs. W. H. Lee, 1627 Santa Monica, San Antonio, Texas, wrote us as follows:

"I am proud and happy to say I am more than satisfied with Barcentrate. I think it is the best remedy and reducer I have ever taken. I have lost 20 pounds."

RED FACES FOR TRUCK BORROWERS

A truck is a truck, and one black truck looks a lot like another black truck—at least to Bill Butler and Jesse H. King.

Butler and King borrowed a pick-up truck from Jack Capterton yesterday morning to haul trash away from the rodeo grounds. They drove the truck downtown, parked it for a few minutes while they had a cup of coffee, and then proceeded to their trash moving job.

When they returned the truck to Caperton, he asked them where they got "that one." He pointed out that it had a deluxe cab instead of a standard cab, which was what he had loaned them. Deciding it was really not a joke, the three checked with the police department and found that Howard Franklin had reported his black pick-up stolen.

Yep, it was the same truck. The two had been parked side by side at the curb and the borrowers just made the wrong choice.

No hard feelings. Just red faces.

Poultry Market Holds Up Fairly Well In Trading During Week

AUSTIN, Aug. 22 (AP)—Poultry:

Local Drouth Group Explains Program, Lists Aid Receivers

Every person in Scurry County who has cattle or sheep is considered eligible here to buy cheap government feed through the Production & Marketing Administration.

At least the person is eligible, according to Max West, a member of the emergency feed program committee here, if he cannot maintain his herd successfully by purchasing feeds at commercial rates.

Drouth committeemen said that as far as can be determined here, there is no person at this time who can maintain his herd without losing money by buying commercial feeds.

The purpose of the emergency feed program, which has been in operation more than a month here, is "to keep livestock off the market, to keep them in the area to supply the need for stock here when normal rainfall starts again, and to help stock raisers to keep their good breeding stock," West said, adding that by selling his herd, a stock raiser could tear down a good herd he has spent long years building.

FEEDS RATIONED

The program is not to insure the stock raiser profit but just to "stay in business," according to the committee. The feeds are rationed, allowing the stock raiser to use it only for maintenance of the herd. The feed is not to be used to improve conditions of the livestock but to hold them where they are, members said.

The stock raisers are allowed to order a 30-day supply of feed at one time, and the supply is figured on the following basis. For the purpose of the program, an animal unit is considered as either one cow, two yearlings, three calves, or five sheep. For each animal unit, the stock raiser can order a 30-day supply of one of the following — three pounds of meal or cake; two pounds of meal or cake plus four pounds of corn or wheat or plus 12 pounds of oats. If the stock raiser wants only one type of feed, he cannot order more than the amounts specified here, committeemen said.

At the end of the 30 days, the stockman can order another 30-day supply. For these feeds, the stock raiser pays per 100 pounds $1.75 for meal or cake, $1.84 for wheat, $1.79 for corn, and $1.57 for oats.

QUALIFICATIONS

Qualification for ordering the feeds is simple. The stockman must be one who cannot maintain his herd in a relatively satisfactory condition without using the feeds sold at lower rates. In a telegram to state committees, the secretary of agriculture said he felt that those who could maintain their herds without the program would not apply and left qualifications to the discretion of local committees. No oath of any kind or even a financial statement is required before the stock raiser applies for the feed.

A five-man committee was set up to administer the program, with office workers of the PMA aiding them. Glenn Tate, chairman of the PMA county committee, was appointed chairman of the emergency program committee by Ezra Benson, secretary of agriculture. Benson specified that the county agent, who is Oscar Fowler, and the Farmers Home Administration supervisor, Robert Deaton, also serve on the committee. The committee was to choose a banker and rancher to serve. Members chose H. W. Cargile, vice-president of the West Texas State Bank, and West, a rancher.

CHECK APPLICATIONS

Tate, as chairman of the committee, spends most of his time in the PMA office taking applications and working with the program. Each Tuesday afternoon at 1:15 o'clock, the committee meets in the directors' room of the West Texas bank and goes over that week's applications, usually about 100 of them. No application has been turned down by the committee yet.

After applications are approved, orders are sent to the state office for the amount of feed needed here. The feed is shipped in carload lots, so orders cannot be placed until the committee is reasonably sure a carload of the kind of feed being ordered will be used.

No hogs or poultry can be included in the program, nor can feedlot operations of any kind, West said.

The following is a list of those who were delivered the feeds here up to Aug. 18, along with the number of pounds of feed received.

Time To Begin Guessing On Auto Changes

DETROIT, Aug. 28 (AP)—This is the season of the year when American motorists start guessing what engineering and styling changes will go into new model automobiles.

The 1954 models will start coming from the assembly lines within a few weeks but it will be mid-January before the last has been introduced.

Although this should be an off-year for major changes, at least a couple of makes will boast major design departures. Industry gossip—lacking any comment from authoritative sources—is that both Cadillac and Oldsmobile of the General Motors group are planning substantial changes.

One certainty about the 1954 models is that several will have new engines of higher horsepower and compression ratio. There are reports the entire Ford line of Ford, Mercury and Lincoln cars will have new engines, although no other revolutionary changes are planned.

Chrysler, other member of the industry's "Big Three," has many engineering projects under way in its laboratories, but has given no hint of changes planned for 1954. Industry circles generally expect the new Chrysler Division's fully automatic transmission will be made available for Chrysler's De Soto, Dodge and Plymouth.

One maker reportedly plans to introduce a 235-horsepower engine in his 1954 line. Cadillac's 210-horsepower engine currently is the industry's highest power output unit. Several others are expected to boost horsepower rating closer to the 200-mark.

Despite this trend toward more powerful engines little is being heard now about the so-called "horsepower race" among the car makers.

Engines with 9-to-1 compression ratio reportedly will be brought out by several producers in the medium and high priced fields. The present top is 8.5 to 1, in the 1953 Buick line. Higher compression ratio engines generally require much higher quality fuel than so-called "regular" gasoline.

No Injuries In Wreck Near Ira Yesterday

No one was injured yesterday morning when a 1946 Ford club coupe overturned a half-mile north of Ira on the Big Spring highway, Bill Love, deputy sheriff who investigated the accident, said.

The occupants of the automobile were two airmen from Webb Air Force Base at Big Spring, en route to their homes at Childress. They said they lost control of the car when it ran off the pavement. No other car was involved.

Love estimated damage to the car at $285.60. The accident occurred at about 11 o'clock.

Has Fish To Fry

AURORA, Colo. (AP) — C. E. Tupps, mayor of this Denver suburb, is a beef raiser by trade and he didn't know what exactly to do with the 200 pounds of fish he and his wife caught during a Gulf of California vacation. Then he hit upon a solution — a free fish fry for city employes and their families at the fire hall. About 150 showed up.

DEDUCTABLE NO GOOD

Snyderites Are Not Hurt By Ruling Under Insurance Law

Not many Snyder residents will be affected by a recent ruling of the Department of Public Safety that deductible liability policies are unacceptable under the state driver responsibility law.

A check with several insurance agents here indicates that no special attempt appears to have been made here by insurance firms handling deductible liability policies to sell them.

Agents here said that none of the capital stock insurance companies have tried to sell policies other than the standard ones approved by the state board of commissioners. Of five here interviewed, only one had received literature from an insurance company on the policies.

Tommy Deffebach of the Deffebach Insurance Agency said that a mutual firm which the agency does not represent had sent literature on the policies. He added that he knew of no persons here attempting to sell them.

The liability policies have been sold as $50 and $100 deductible throughout the state at premiums considerably lower than the policies giving full coverage. Garland Smith, state casualty insurance commissioner, informed the public several days ago that the deductible policies are not acceptable under the state law.

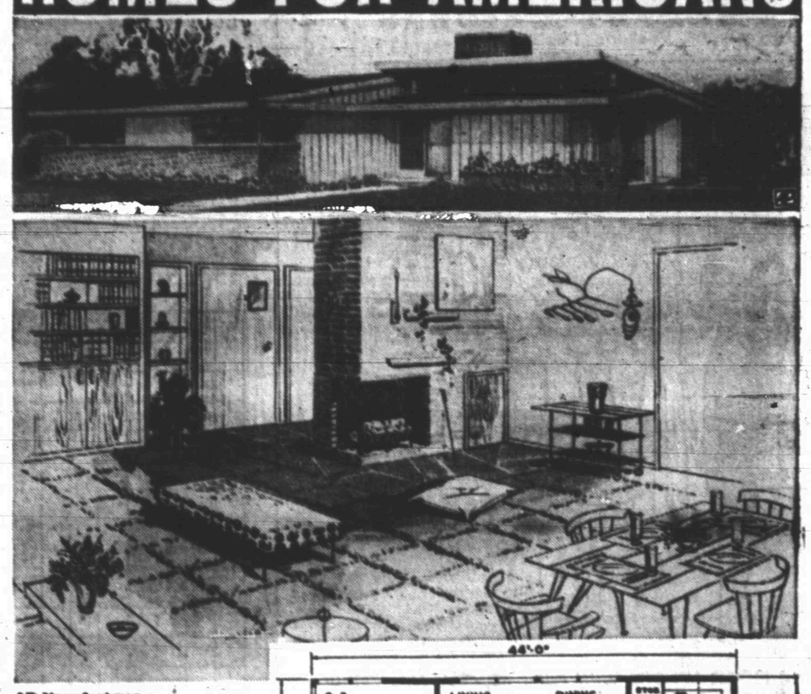

Deffebach quoted J. B. Alderdice, chief of the safety responsibility division of the Department of Public Safety as saying the "plan of certain insurance companies to write $50 and $100 deductible motor liability coverage has been duly considered and such plan has been found unacceptable in fulfilling the provisions of the motor vehicle safety responsibility act."

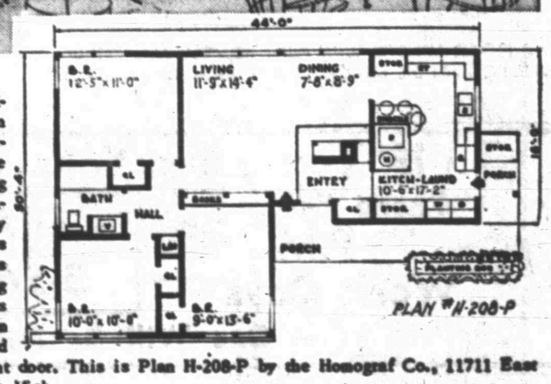

Minimum requirements of the act include $5,000 for bodily injury to one person, up to $10,000 for bodily injury to more than one, and $5,000 property damage. The state law requires that those complying to the law by carrying liability policies must have full coverage on those minimum requirements.

Mrs. Ben F. Pinnell of Pinnell Insurance Agency said that several mutual firms have been selling policies amounting to almost worthless paper. Most of those firms sell by direct mail, she said, and are not represented by local agents.

Deffebach, Mrs. Pinnell, Ben Costin of Costin Insurance Agency, Mrs. Roy Stokes of the Lewis-Stokes Agency, and Tony Holcomb of Holcomb Insurance Agency all said they knew of no attempts made in Snyder to sell the policies, unless the firms trying to sell them have been dealing by direct mail.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

AP Newsfeatures

SMART ECONOMY is envisioned in this modern design of a house that needs no basement. Although there are three bedrooms, a large living-dining room and combination kitchen-laundry, the house covers only 1,059 square feet and contains only 10,618 cubic feet—figures that largely determine building cost. Interior sketch shows the living-dining room from its garden side looking toward the corner fireplace and front door. This is Plan H-208-P by the Homograf Co., 11711 East Eight Mile Road, East Detroit, Mich.

Elephants For Jordan

JERUSALEM (AP) — Elephants are more economical than camels and donkeys—at least in field work—according to the Indian Commercial Attache in Alexandria who has recommended importing them to the Middle-East, the Arab Jerusalem - Old City daily "A-Diffa" writes.

Jordan agricultural experts have apparently agreed. The Amman Chamber of Commerce has invited its members to file their orders for the animals.

THE ADVENTURES OF PATSY

Native Dancer On Top Again, Wins $112,600

CHICAGO, Aug. 22 (AP)—Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's sensational Native Dancer, given a brilliant ride by Eddie Arcaro, burst to the front midway in the stretch to win the $112,600 American Derby today going away by two lengths over James C. Brady's Landlocked.

Harvey C. Fruehauf's Precious Stone was third, three lengths behind, and Harry N. Eads' Sir Mango finished fourth in a field of eight.

Van Crosby and Thaxter were scratched.

In winning his 18th race in 19 starts, the big gray stepped the mile and a furlong in 1:48 2-5, only 1-5 second off the track record set by Colosal in 1948. His winning share was $66,500 to boost his earnings as the fourth leading money winner of all time to $743,920.

The Dancer carried 128 pounds, top impost of his career, and was ridden for the first time by an unfamiliar jockey, Arcaro.

His regular rider, Eric Guerin, was serving a 10-day suspension for a foul.

Sir Mango set the early pace and looked as if he might be Native Dancer's chief threat as he was in the Arlington Classic last month. At the start of the stretch, Sir Mango still on top, Landlocked was second by a length, Precious Stone was third, and Native Dancer fourth.

On the last turn, Arcaro brought the Dancer through from the inside to the outside and started to move. At the eighth pole the great gray champion shot to the front and the outcome was never in doubt.

A crowd of 37,108, largest at Washington Park since 1951, backed the Dancer down to 1-5. There was no show betting. The winner returned $2.40 and $2.20. Landlocked, winning $25,000 for second, paid $3.80. Precious Stone's third prize was $12,500 and Sir Mango picked up $7,500.

Three-Run Homer Wins For Indians

CLEVELAND, Aug. 22 (AP)—A three-run homer by Bill Glynn and five-hit pitching by Mike Garcia brought the Cleveland Indians a 4-1 victory over the St. Louis Browns today, the Tribe's fourth straight win. Garcia struck out nine in posting his 15th victory against seven losses.

Fricano Downs 17 Yankees, Robinson Hits Two Home Runs

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (AP)—Marion Fricano needed relief help from Morrie Martin in the ninth inning to put down a New York Yankee uprising in the ninth for a 10-4 Philadelphia victory today after retiring 17 men in succession from the first to seventh inning. Eddie Robinson helped the A's nail it down with his 18th and 19th homers, each with a man on base.

Despite the defeat the Yanks maintained their nine-game lead on the second place Chicago White Sox who bowed to Detroit 2-1 in 11 innings.

Fricano, 30-year-old righthander who was beaten by Whitey Ford Monday night 10-3, got even with the Yankee lefthander this time. Ford gave up four runs, including Robinson's third-inning homer with Dave Philley on base, before he gave way for a pinch hitter in the sixth. It was Ford's fifth defeat against 15 victories, breaking a five-game winning streak. Fricano evened his season record at 7-7, the first time he ever whipped New York.

From the first to the seventh, Fricano was superb. A scratch single by Hank Bauer off Pete Suder's glove in the first was the only Yank hit until Yogi Berra doubled down the right field line with one out in the seventh. He had walked Berra after Bauer's single in the first and then kept the bases clear.

Braves Win In 14th

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 22 (AP)—Johnny Logan slashed a single over Ralph Kiner's head in the 14th inning today to give the Milwaukee Braves a 2-1 victory over Chicago and extend their winning streak to seven straight, longest of the season.

Australian Men Down Yankees In Semifinals

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 22 (AP)—Rising to impressive heights, Mervyn Rose and Rex Hartwig brightened Australia's recently tarnished tennis prestige by defeating America's best, Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert 4-6, 6-4, 6-3, 9-7 in men's national doubles semifinals today.

The Aussie second-stringers, rated below 18-year-old oldsters Lewis Hoad and Ken Rosewall, needed only one and a half hours to avenge the U. S. Davis Cup aces for the five-set setback suffered at the Newport Casino last week.

Rose, who shared the national titles with Seixas here last year, and Hartwig gained their decisive victory by blasting Trabert's supposedly invincible service.

A domestic team has not won the national team title outright since Gardnar Mulloy and Bill Talbert prevailed here in 1948. Now those oldsters—Mulloy, almost 39, and Talbert, crowding 35, are finalists again.

Passed over as U. S. Davis Cup possibilities, Mulloy and Talbert amazed an overflow 5,000 crowd by displaying all of their oldtime court wiles to defeat Straight Clark and Hal Burrows 4-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4 in the other semifinal.

Clark and Burrows had boosted American morale for next December's challenge round by upsetting Hoad and Rosewall in the quarterfinals.

As was expected, Louise Brough and Mrs. Margaret Osborne Du Pont became finalists for the 10th time since 1942 in women's doubles.

They humbled British Wightman Cup players Helen Fletcher and Mrs. Jean Quertier Rinkel, 6-2, 6-1, in their semi-finals.

Title defenders Doris Hart and Shirley Fry made the final round yesterday.

Charles L. Storrs

New Football Coach For Jr. High School

Charles L. Storrs, 35, will join the coaching staff of the Snyder schools this fall to bring the total number of coaches to seven.

Storrs will be head junior high school coach, assisted by Jimmy Williams, who handled junior high sports last year. In addition to heading up the program, Storrs will handle eighth grade teams, while Williams will coach seventh grade teams.

A veteran game scout, Storrs will also scout for the high school team this year. He and Jack Dillon, B team coach, will take on the first scouting job of the season, watching Bowie of El Paso play at Las Cruces, N.M., Sept. 11.

Storrs was born at Shallowwater June 3, 1918. He attended Lubbock High School in 1934-36, where he quarterbacked three years for the football team and was selected to the all-district team one year. Later attending Texas Tech, Storrs played left halfback for the Red Raiders from 1937 to 1940. He graduated in 1941 with a bachelor's degree in business administration.

After graduation, Storrs went to Littlefield as an assistant coach for one year, then went into the Navy as an ensign, working in the military athletic program. During his four years in the Navy he coached a pre-flight unit football team in Georgia, which finished the one season he coached with eight wins, one loss, and one tie. The loss was to Louisiana State University. Most of the teams his squad played were from colleges, such as Alabama, Tulane, Pennsylvanian, and others. He served at several bases as athletic director, putting in part of his time in North Africa.

Storrs came out of the Navy that time as a lieutenant, and went to San Angelo High School, where he was high school end coach for four years.

In 1950, Storrs, a reservist, was recalled into Naval service. He went to Great Lakes Naval Training Center and served two years as athletic director, then served another year transporting troops between the U. S. and Germany. He made 12 trips to Germany during that year, which just ended several days ago. He emerged from active duty this time as a lieutenant commander.

Storrs is married and has one daughter, Linda Beth, 10.

Detroit Wins 2-1 In Eleven Inning Game

CHICAGO, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers triumphed over the Chicago White Sox 2-1 today in an 11-inning contest that came to life in the extra frames.

The winning run was scored by Tiger third baseman Ray Boone who was driven home by Walt Dropo.

The game was a pitcher's battle between right handers Ned Garver of Detroit and Bob Keegan of Chicago.

The game went into the extra innings with no score, and the action started. Jim Rivera muffed Don Lund's short fly in the tenth, enabling the Tiger left fielder to reach second. He scored a few moments later on John Bucha's single.

Orestes Minoso led off the tenth for the white sox with a single. He was forced by Rivera, who stole second and was driven home by Bob Boyd's single.

Aviation Gas Supply Good In Free World

By CHARLES HASLET

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (AP)—For the first time since the outbreak of the Korean War, the government sees indications that the oil industry can met essential civilian and military needs for aviation gasoline in the free world.

The Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD) says the aviation gas situation still is "tight" but it knows of no actual shortages now. While foreseeing no shortage in the near future if world conditions remain unchanged, PAD is reviewing the whole situation.

Actual figures on aviation gasoline production are not being made public. PAD says they are restricted information.

But PAD does say that due to industry and government efforts, the output of aviation gasoline has more than doubled since 1950 in the United States.

The Korean truce, according to military experts, is expected to have little effect on overall aviation gasoline requirements. The nation and its allies still will have to maintain aviation strength and a training program.

PAD estimates it will be at least five years before any appreciable reduction in military or commercial requirements is brought about by replacement of gasoline-engined aircraft by jet planes. Jet fuel generally has been in ample supply.

When the Abadan refinery in Iran was closed down in June, 1951, some 18,000 barrels of aviation gasoline a day was lost to the free world.

Refinery experts estimate that even if the refinery should be reopened soon for free world use, six to eight months would be needed to get it back into full production.

A sign of the easing of the shortage came in a recent PAD inquiry to commercial aviation gas makers as to what effect repeal of the agency's order No. 4 would have on output—a prelude to possible revocation of the order.

Order No. 4 was one of two designed to increase military aviation gasoline production by making more alkylates—high grade gasoline—available for stepping up octane rating.

The other order prohibited use of alkylate gasoline in automobile fuel.

These orders, with others, increased production of aviation gasoline by 12,200 barrels daily, PAD estimates, helping offset the Abadan refinery losses.

The shortage was so severe soon after the Korean fighting broke out, one official disclosed, that U. S. planes could not have flown from Tokyo one day in September, 1950, if a tanker had not arrived at 8 a. m.

"Ever since," he said, "we have been pressing for increased capacity and industry has more than doubled capacity."

Thick ReefPay Is Proved In Dawson Tests

Seaboard Oil Co. No. 1 Herman Pettaway, Southeast-Central Dawson test, has proved for 248 feet of reef lime pay between 7,885 feet and total depth of 8,133 feet.

The No. 1 Pettaway has had six drillstem tests in that formation, each of which has flowed oil.

The latest test was taken from 8,083-133 feet with the tool open two hours. It had gas in four minutes, mud at the surface in 12 minutes and oil in 14 minutes.

The flow was run to pits for three minutes and then turned to tanks for one hour and 43 minutes. During this time, the well made 117.24 barrels of oil flowing through a three-eighth-inch choke. Surface flowing pressure was 610 pounds.

After the tool was closed an additional 22.80 barrels of oil was unloaded from the drillpipe. When the tester was finally pulled, another 19.32 barrels of oil and 390 feet of oil and gas-cut mud was recovered. There was no water.

Open flowing bottomhole pressure ranged from 2,850-3,400 pounds. Shutin pressure after 15-minutes was 3,475 pounds. Gravity of the oil is 40.5 degrees. The gas-oil ratio on the last test was 281-1.

Operator then started coring at 8,133 feet and intended to core to 8,183 feet. After the core is pulled and the core hole reamed, a drillstem test is to be taken. Representatives of the operator said it would be sometime today before the test would be taken.

Lease papers filed in the office of the Dawson County clerk indicate that more than $68,000 has been paid for six leases and royalty deeds in the area around the No. 1 Pettaway. All the transactions were on property in block 33 and 34, with the major portion of it in block 34.

Wolfcamp Makes Shows At Andrews Wildcat

Slight shows of oil and gas were uncovered on a Wolfcamp drillstem test in Atlantic Refining Co. No. 1-A-9 University, wildcat in South - Central Andrews County, three miles northeast of the Triple N multipay field which produces from the Ellenburger and Mcknight formations.

No. 1-A-9 University was tested in the section from 8,421-451 feet. Tool was open two hours. Recovery was 900 feet of slightly oil and gas-cut water blanket and 90 feet of slightly oil and gas-cut mud.

Flowing pressure was 400 pounds and 15-minute shutin pressure was 500 pounds.

Operator was preparing to core ahead.

Location is in 13-9-University Land survey, seven miles south of the town of Andrews.

Third Producer Found In Dawson San Andres

R. R. Herrell and J. C. Williamson of Midland have completed their No. 1 Smart as the third producer in the Southeast Cedar Lake—San Andres field of Northwest Dawson County.

The project pumped 97 barrels of oil plus 1.2 per cent acid residue in 24 hours on the potential test. The production is from open hole between 4,912 feet, where the five - and-one - half-inch casing is cemented and the total depth of 4,986 feet. That interval had been treated with 9,000 gallons of acid.

The new producer is 16 miles northwest of Lamesa and 2,310 feet from north and east lines of 111-M-EL&RR. It is five-eighths of a mile northeast of the opener of the field.

Pure Completes Well In Kelley-Snyder Field

Pure Oil Co. No. 4 J. S. Head, Kelley-Snyder field well, has been completed for an initial production of 259 barrels of oil.

The well flowed 11 hours on the potential test through a three-quarter-inch choke. Gravity of the oil was 42.9 degrees. Water was 38.47 per cent.

Gas-oil ratio on the test was 858-1. Production is from perforations at 6,840-899 feet on derrick floor elevation of 2,454 feet.

The No. 4 Head is 467 feet from east and 2,684 feet from south lines of the lease in section 255-97-H&TC.

DRILLING REPORT

Urice Drilling Co. No. 1 Rosa Harper, Howard wildcat four and one-half miles north of Big Spring, is at total depth of 9,514 feet in Mississippian and preparing to plug and abandon.

The No. 1 Harper has had no shows of oil or gas in comercial quantities. Contract depth was 9,500 feet. The project is in section 15-32-tln-T&P.

• • •

Magnolia Petroleum No. 3-D Conrad, East Borden test in the Lake Thomas area, is swabbing to test. Casing has been perforated from 4-318-342 feet. These perforations swabbed dry in four hours and were treated with 5,000 gallons of acid. They swabbed dry again, and testing on this zone is continuing.

• • •

Hunt Oil Co. No. 1 Morgan Jones, Crosby County wildcat, is drilling in lime below 4,630 feet.

• • •

Texas Pacific Coal & Oil No. 1-A Tom Spencer, Howard wildcat, is drilling below 9,995 feet in an unidentified dolomite. The project ran a three-hour drillstem test Friday, during which it has a gas volume said to be 20,000 cubic feet per day plus oil and oil and gas-cut mud.

Garza Field Given Locations, Producer

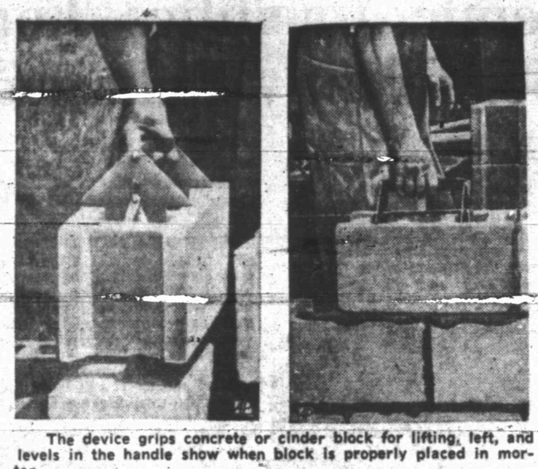

Two locations and a completion have been announced for the Garza field of Garza County.

Brown Brothers and others of Post No. 1 City of Post, Unit 32, was completed for a 24-hour pumping potential of 25.15 barrels of oil with 51 per cent water. Production is from perforations at 3,060-084 feet which were acidized with 4,000 gallons.

The project is located in the northeast quarter of section 1227, EL&RR survey.

Brown Brothers and others have staked the No. 7-G Montgomery-Davies for drilling by September 15 in the Garza field. Location is 1,170 feet from north and 330 feet from east lines of the lease in block 1233, EL&RR, one and one-half miles west of Post. Contract depth is 3,200 feet.

Duncan Drilling Co. of Big Spring No. 1 Simpson is to be drilled immediately. Location is 2,310 feet from west and 330 feet from north lines of section 10, block 5, K. Aycock survey, one-half mile southwest of Post. Projected depth is 3,200 feet.

The device grips concrete or cinder block for lifting, left, and levels in the handle show when block is properly placed in mortar.

New Tool For Laying Blocks Speeds Work

By The Associated Press

A new tool for lifting and setting concrete and cinder blocks has been designed to reduce the number of mashed fingers and worn out gloves encountered in such masonry work.

The tool comprises a sort of reverse ice tong arrangement fitting into the core openings of hollow blocks. The block is then lifted by the tool handle and placed into its mortar bed. Two spirit levels, one in the handle to give fore and aft readings, and one for cross checking, show when the block is properly placed, eliminating constant separate use of a level.

This device, called Lay-Level, is being marketed through hardware and building supply houses, priced at $5.95 (Manfacturer is Lay-Level, Inc., Box 99, Toledo 9, Ohio.)

Drilling Of Two Wells Set Northwest Of Post

The Alamo Corp. of Lubbock has set two projects for immediate drilling in the Garza field northwest of Post.

The No. 6 M. A. Gray will be 330 feet from west and 2,196 feet from south lines of 1215, TTRR survey, four miles northwest of Post.

The No. 3 L. L. Keeton is 330 feet from east and 1,263 feet from south lines of section 1237, H&GN survey, three and one-half miles northwest of Post.

Both will drill to 3,400 feet.

Ellenburger Wildcats Staked In Schleicher

Two new wildcats have been staked for immediate drilling in Schleicher County.

C. L. Norsworth, Jr., of Dallas has spotted the deeper of the pair in the southwest part of the county.

It is No. 1 H. B. Willoughby, 660 feet from north and east lines of 131, A, HE&WT and seven miles southwest of Eldorado. It will drill to 7,800 feet to the Ellenburger.

That is three miles east of Humble Oil & Refining No. 1 Spencer, Strawn gas discovery.

Lucerne Corp. of Dallas No. 1 E. Ottoe Williams, et al, is to be in East-Central Schleicher County. Projected depth is 5,500 feet for a test of the Ellenburger

Location is 330 feet from north and east lines of 13-1-GH&SA, 25 miles east of Eldorado. That puts it six miles northwest of the Webster — Ellenburger gas-distillate field.

World's Deepest Oil Well In California

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) —The world's deepest oil well is in California now.

Ohio Oil Company's exploratory hole in the Paloma field, 17 miles southeast of here, reached a depth exceeding the previous mark of 20,521 feet, established four years ago by the Superior Oil Co. in Sublette County, Wyoming.

A spokesman indicated the well is in lower Miocene era formation and probably will be deepened to reach Eocene sands, where geologists believe new oil bearing sands will be discovered. The well is known as KCLA 27-4.

Drilling began Oct. 23, 1951, and so far approximately 1½ million dollars has been invested.

Thompson Defends Production Control

AUSTIN Aug. 22 (AP)—The chairman of the Railroad Commission defended the system of controlling oil production this week.

Ernest Thompson obviously still was rankled by the question recently raised by Rep. Wolverton (R-NJ) of whether the commission "manipulates" production for the benefit of the industry rather than the public.

"The law requires us to determine market demand," Thompson said at this week's proration hearing.

Thompson then reviewed factors the commission considers.

He said the regulatory agency looks at the Bureau of Mines forecast of market demand.

The forecast may not be accurate but it's more than a mere guess, said Thompson—"It's an informed estimate."

He attacked the statement made before the House Commerce Committee that the Bureau of Mines lays out a pattern for control of oil production.

The Bureau of Mines forecast is not a directive. It's not a fiat. It's not a pronunciamento from on high," Thompson said caustically.

The commission also looks at latest reports on national stocks of crude and crude products. It looks at the "advance" nominations of major oil purchasers, who try to anticipate the oil they will want from Texas.

Then the commission holds its proration hearing, where purchasers can revise their estimates of needed oil. The commissioners or any interested party can cross-examine the witnesses.

"We look at the calendar, and we see it's September," Thompson continued, calling attention to the relation between stocks and the season of the year.

Sept. 1 marks the end of the touring season, with a resultant drop in gasoline consumption. It portends the approach of winter, when use of heating oil increases.

Because stocks of crude, gasoline, and heating oil are considered excessive, the commission whacked 119,691 barrels off the daily Texas allowable for September.

Thompson said plenty of serious consideration preceded that decision.

"A great many people seem to think there's nothing to (these proration hearings)," he commented. "That's because they don't understand how much advance work is done by our staff."

The idea is to conserve oil. Thompson said he thinks such conservation is highly important because America might have to rely entirely on her domestic supply in event of war.

"We not only don't have enough (domestic) oil to meet the demands of war, x x x I'm not even sure we have enough for peacetime needs," Thompson said.

Dickens County Field Finals Second Oiler

Pacific Western Oil Corp. has completed its No. 1 S. M. Swenson as the second producer in the Girard-Tannehill sand field of Southeast Dickens County.

The well flowed 19 hours through a one-quarter inch choke and made 118.78 barrels of oil and no water. Gas-oil ratio was 220-1. Gravity of the petroleum is 37.2 degrees.

Top of pay is 4,401 feet and plugged back total depth is 4,447 feet. Production is from perforations between 4,401-409 feet. Flow was natural.

Location of the new oiler is one location south of the discovery well of the field and in 162-1-H&GN. It is nine miles southeast of Spur.

Andrews Strike Gets Offset Test Staked

A one-location southeast offset to the Texas Company No. 1-H Parker, recently completed Wolfcamp discovery in Central Andrews County, has been staked by Magnolia Petroleum Company.

The new propect is No. 1 Frank Clarke. Drillsite is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 17, block A-46, psl survey and three-quarters of one mile west of Andrews.

Operations are to start at once on an 8,800-foot rotary contract.

Dawson Test Planned

Cities Service Oil Co. No. 3 Brennend is to be a one-location stepout from production on the northeast side of the Mungerfille-Pennsylvanian field of Northwest Dawson County.

It is 15 miles northwest of Lamesa and 1,899 feet from north and 467 feet from west lines of 78-M-EL&RR. Drilling to 8,700 feet is to start immediately.

Mau Mau Leaders Will Have To Serve Prison Sentences After All

NAIROBI, Kenya, Aug. 22 (AP)—The East African Appeal Court today ruled against a new trial for Moscow-trained Jomo (Burning Spear) Kenyatta and five others sentenced to seven years hard labor on charges of leading the anti-white terrorist Mau Mau organization in this British colony.

The ruling was a victory for the government prosecutor, who had appealed against the Kenya Supreme Court's order last month calling for a new trial for the six Africans on the grounds that the British judge who convicted them had no jurisdiction over the territory in which the long trial was held earlier this year.

In revoking the order for a new trial, the appeals court said the sentences against the men were restored.

Kenyatta's British lawyer, D. N. Pritt, said he would fly to London immediately to make a final appeal to the Privy Council, the highest appeal court in the British empire.

Sterling Test Fails To Locate Pay Zone

J. M. Hawkins, trustee, of Midland, No. 1 T. H. Humble, Central-East Sterling County semi-wildcat, has been abandoned at total depth of 1,564 feet.

It found no shows for commercial production. Location was 990 feet from south and 330 feet from east lines of 30-11-SPRR.

It was three and one-half miles southwest of Broome and a south offset to the discovery and lone producer in the Crandell-San Angelo lime field.

Drillsite Staked Four Miles Southeast Of Ira

H. M. Prior of Abilene has staked his No. 2 Shell Oil Co. for immediate drilling in the Sharon Ridge 1700 field four miles southeast of Ira.

The drillsite is 990 feet from south and 330 feet from east lines of section 102-97-H&TC on an 80-acre lease. Contract depth is 1,900 feet.

Exercise For Mailman

TARPON SPRINGS, Fla. (AP)—Thirty - five years a mailman, Charles E. Renfroe, 70, frequently plays 36 holes of golf before making his daily 15-mile round.

"That's to keep in trim," he explains.

He uses a bicycle to cover his mail delivery route and believes he has the first bicycle to cover his mail delivery route and believes he was the first bicycle mailman in the United States.

He is to retire soon because of age. That's when he plans to play a lot of golf because he will miss his postal activity.

Fisher Reef Discovery To Have Confirmation

Skelly Oil Co. will drill No. 1-A Shall as a north offset to the Canyon reef lime discovery in the recently opened Paul Hunter field of Northeast Fisher County.

Location is 330 feet from south and west lines of 76-1-H&TC, seven and one-half miles southeast of Rotan.

Rotary tools will be used to drill to 5,000 feet. Operations will begin at once.

Ellenburger Try Set

Standard Oil Co. of Texas has staked location for a 7,350-foot Ellenburger in West-Central Tom Green County.

It is No. 1 Flossie Wadlaw Moore and others. Location is 467 feet from south and 1,190 feet from east lines of J. Simpson survey No. 838½.

Drillsite is six miles northwest of the Bubenik-Pennsylvanian field and three and one-half miles northwest of Tankersly.

LOSERS IN STRIKE

Thursday the telephone workers started another strike. They are striking for higher wages. They struck for higher wages last year and won. No doubt they will win again this year.

Now, let's figure out who the loser is in these affairs.

Offhand it would appear that the telephone company is. This is not entirely true, however, since its loss will only be temporary. The real loser is the public—the telephone user.

In the first place the public is inconvenienced during the strike, though the dial system here limits the inconvenience to long distance users.

But where we get hit the hardest is in the pocketbook. Less than three weeks ago the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. was granted a rate increase here on the basis of insufficient earnings from the local exchange. Rates over the rest of the system are adjusted in the same manner.

If the company gives in to the union now, and public clamor for resumption of normal telephone service may help force it to, wages will be raised and the company's earnings will be cut. Then the company starts going over the country getting rate increases again to raise profits to "fair return" level.

That means it is not the company but the public that is giving the union its wage increase. Yet there is not a single person sitting at the negotiating table that represents the group that must do the giving.

There can be no doubt that out of many of these so-called wage disputes emerge some of the greatest conspiracies ever put over on the American people. Unfortunately they are not confined to just the telephone companies.

Many of the inflationary prices we pay today can be traced to "wage agreements." The parties involved agree to increase pay and then agree to pressure the government body controlling rates and prices for increases to the company. Last summer's steel strike was a good example of this.

The sad part about it all is that no matter what happens the public is most likely the loser, and there is nothing that can be done about it.

There are many persons who like to use their telephones who don't receive pay increases every summer just because it's been a year since their last one.

Old System Of Fire Warning Told Too Much

A change in the method of sounding the general fire alarm has greatly reduced the crowds of curious thrill seekers at the scenes of fire, Ivan Gatlin, fire marshal, said.

The fire marshal said that prior to Jan. 1, 1952, the fire department used a system of sounding different numbers of blasts on the big fire siren at the city hall to designate location of the fire in town. Practically everybody in in town learned the signals and made a mad dash for the fire as soon as the whistle blew.

"Under our present system four blasts of the siren are sounded automatically for all general alarms," Gatlin said.

No central alarm is sounded by the fire department if the fire is reported as a grass or automobile fire, and only one fire truck is sent to the scene. The truck has its own warning system of siren and red lights, and disregards all traffic signal lights, and stop signs, he said.

"In cities where fire-station control of street lights is in operation, all signal lights on the path of the truck will follow to the fire are turned to favor the truck—stopping all other traffic till the fire apparatus has passed, but we do not have central control of the lights here," he said.

He said that such control of the street lights is badly needed here, but would be expensive to install.

Of the old system of designating location of fires by the number of blasts on the siren, Gatlin said, "Even practically all the children knew the signals and would start running or riding their bicycles to the fires and would sometimes almost block the path of the fire trucks."

Although clumsy in appearance, an armadillo can run with astonishing speed when frightened.

Non-Academic Facilities For High School Greatly Enlarged

An entirely new department has been organized by Snyder High School this year to occupy a special building on the new campus.

It is the industrial education department, which will encompass some courses offered in the school previously and several courses beginning for the first time.

Four groups of classes will be taught in the new shop building, which is between the larger high school building and the football stadium. There will be classes in industrial arts, distributive education, industrial cooperative training, and agriculture.

Of four industrial arts courses to be offered, only mechanical drawing has been taught before here. Frank Miller, who taught math in the high school last year, will instruct that course this year. Two other courses will be taught by W. E. Raborn, a new teacher in the system who came here from Daisetta, Tex. His courses will be metal work and arts and crafts.

OTHER CRAFTS

Raborn's metal work course will include foundry, welding, sheet metal, machine metal, and forging, while in the arts and crafts he will teach leather craft, ceramics, plastics, and metal.

The fourth industrial arts course, woodwork, will be taught by W. A. Mayfield, who taught mechanical drawing last year. In that course students will learn to build with wood.

Distributive education, now in its fourth year here, will be taught by Daniel R. Martin, who came from Comanche. He replaces J. C. Evans. In that course, the student learns by working with downtown merchants, as well as taking instruction in the classroom.

Industrial cooperative training, formerly known as diversified occupations, is much the same as distributive education except that the student works in a skilled industrial trade. Like DE, the new program has a coordinator who instructs the students and aids them in their jobs in industry.

Heading that program this year is Waymon Mulkey, who came here from Summit, Miss., where he was vocational coordinator at Southwest Mississippi Junior College for three years.

Mulkey said students under the program will work for two years in recognized trades and have classes of related information at the school.

The industrial program and courses will take up most of the seven-room shop building. Equipment furnished includes power tools for work with both wood and metal such as wood and metal lathes, sanders, wood and metal shapers, drill presses, a table saw, jointer, surfacer, welding machines, a spot welder, and metal and wood band saws. Also available are dozens of hand tools.

Utility rooms provide facilities for finishing, gluing, and storage. Students will build projects with materials purchased through the school, getting them at low prices because the school can buy materials in large lots.

Other rooms in the building include the industrial arts classroom and shop, two agriculture classrooms, and one farm machinery and farm carpentry shop. The agriculture classes will be taught in the building by Billy Bob McMullan and Kenneth Goforth, both of whom taught in the schools here last year.

S/Sgt. Charles O. McNew, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McNew, 3713 Noble Drive, has written his parents of his recent promotion to that rank. He is stationed with the Military Air Transport at Hickam Field, Hawaii, where he has been 17 months. He was graduated from Westbrook High School and attended Sul Ross College before enlisting in 1950.

Ex-Convict Is Arrested Here

A misdemeanor charge alleging unlawful carrying of a pistol was filed yesterday morning against Richard Anderson, 51-year-old Negro ex-convict, arrested here by city police.

Anderson is being held in the county jail, having been transferred from the city jail to custody of the sheriff's department.

The complaint against Anderson was signed by Bill Love, deputy sheriff, as affiant, and Renal Roeson, district atorney, who took the complaint in the absence of Wayland G. Holt, county attorney, who is on vacation.

Anderson is to be brought before Ross Hemphill, acting county judge, in the absence of Edgar Taylor, who is also on vacation.

The sheriff's department obtained a report that Anderson had been convicted May 22, 1925, on a charge of murder and was sentenced to five years imprisonment; was convicted of armed robbery at Dallas in 1931, and sentenced to five years; was convicted on another felony charge in 1951 and given a similar sentence; and was charged with assault with intent to murder in Midland in 1938, of which there was no disposition listed. The report also listed other charges.

State law provides that a charge of carrying a pistol may be filed as a felony if the defendant has been convicted of a felony involving use of a firearm.

A .32-caliber snubnose U. S. five-shot revolver was confiscated from Anderson when he was arrested.

A letter 10 feet long and 20 inches wide which Pfc. Raymond J. Hunter wrote to his wife and infant daughter, Dotie Ray, is read by Mrs. Hunter at her home in New Orleans, La. The letter, written from Berlin, where Hunter is stationed, is bordered by cartoon characters drawn by the soldier and is written in long hand.

Australian Marriages

CANBERRA (AP) — Fewer Australians married in 1952, but governments statistics show they married younger. Last year there were 74,172 marriages, the lowest total for three years. But the average age of bridegrooms was 28.74 years, and that of brides 25.61, compared with 28.92 and 25.71 in 1951.

Two hundred and six girls of 15 years and under married last year, including one girl of 13. The boys were more cautious. They waited until they were 16 at least.

THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

VOL. 4, No. 98 | SNYDER, TEXAS, SUNDAY, AUGUST 23, 1953 | SECTION TWO

Many of the classroom teachers had not returned to their jobs last week, but most of them will be at work this week preparing their rooms for the beginning of school. Joel Griffin, left, principal of central elementary school, and Ray Reed, 14-year-old seventh grader, are shown distributing supplies to the class rooms.

Three of the four Tiger band twirlers for this year are shown above getting in shape for the first football game of the season. Head twirler Audralene Head, right, is demonstrating a difficult baton trick to LaJuana Rabb, left, and Sittie Harrell. Jane Houston, the fourth twirler, is not shown.

american designer's pattern

Cecil Chapman, a favorite American designer, has blended glamour and drama into this typically Chapman creation. Originally fashioned of blue-black taffeta, silk shantung or faille are also recommended as fabric choices for the dress. The pattern comes in sizes 10 through 18, with the size 10 pattern scaled to fit bust size 34, size 12 for 35½ bust, size 14 to fit 37 bust, size 16 to fit 38½ bust and size 18 to fit 40 bust. The size 12 pattern requires six and one-eighth-yards of 39-inch material or five and three-eighth yards of 45-inch material. To order, send 51 to Box 535, Dept. 183, G. P. O., New York 1, N. Y.

Mrs. Jimmy Beck was honored with a pink and blue shower Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Billy Evans on the Lamesa Highway.

Other hostesses were Mrs. Weldon Perry, Mrs. J. N. Ricke and Mrs. Horace Davis. Cake and punch were served to about 30 guests. Gifts were places in a green and yellow decorated box.

Out of town guest was Mrs. Beck's mother, Mrs. N. L. Beaver from Pecos.

Kemp Family Has Muleshoe Reunion

A reunion of the descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew N. Kemp of Inadale, held Sunday in Muleshoe, was attended by 10 Snyder members of the family.

Snyder residents attending were Mr. and Mrs. H. Roper, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Ramage and children and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Davidson and children. Mrs. Willie Spurlock of Brownfield, a former Snyder resident, accompanied the group. Mrs. Roper is a daughter of Mr. Mrs. Kemp. Nine of the 10 sons and daughters of the couple were present, with 137 persons present for the reunion.

Have you a recipe for banana cake? E. H.

Ours is a banana spice cake and calls for 1 and ¾ cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon baking soda, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon cloves, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, 2-3 cup mashed ripe banana, ½ cup butter or margarine, 1 cup sugar, 1 egg, 2-3 cup evaporated milk, 2 tablespoons lemon juice.

Sift together the flour, baking soda, salt, cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg. Slice bananas into a small bowl. Mash fine so there are no lumps. Measure banana. There should be 2-3 cup. Cream butter and sugar and beat in egg well. Stir lemon juice into milk. Add dry ingredients alternately with soured milk to creamed mixture. Stir only until combined each time; do not overbeat. Mix in mashed banana thoroughly. Turn into greased baking pan. Bake in moderate oven about 45 minutes. Remove from oven and frost with broiled frosting.

Ingredients in the frosting are ⅓ cup chopped blanched almonds, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, ⅓ cup firmly packed brown sugar, 1 tablespoon evaporated milk. Spread almonds in shallow pan and brown lightly under broiler. Melt butter in saucepan. Mix in toasted almonds, sugar and milk. Spread on baked banana spice cake and broil under broiler until mixture is bubbly.

How can I remove scratches on my wood floors? H. C.

Tiny surface scratches are usually hidden by waxing the floor. A shallow scratch can sometimes be made less noticeable by rubbing wood with the grain, using a liquid polishing wax and fine steel wool. Deep scratches cannot be hidden. If a wood filler does not provide the solution, the floor must be sanded smooth.

Richard Widmark Plans To Quit His Movie Job Soon

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — At a time when most actors are fighting to get into studios, Richard Widmark is anxious to get out.

The blonde actor from Sunrise, Minn., admits that he is going against the trend. But he says he can afford to.

"I don't own a Cadillac," he remarked in his dressing room on the "Hell and High Water" set. "I drive a '51 Oldsmobile that I bought used. I also live very sensibly. So I can afford to take chances on my career while some actors who live higher can't."

His contract with 20th Century-Fox is up next May. After "seven long years," he is not anxious to sign again. But it's not for the usual complaint—not liking the pictures he has been assigned.

"Some have been good, some not so good; I guess the average has been okay," he explained. "But I just don't want to be tied down any longer. There are too many exciting things going on outside. Not television; I'm not interested in that. But I do want to combine some stage work with pictures.

"I'm 37 now, and I figure I've got 10 more years as an actor before I fold up and they carry me away. I want to make the most of those years."

Widmark admitted that he was a little tired of hustling through service pictures. "It all started with 'Halls of Montezuma'," he said. "That was a success, so they started doing others."

Since then, he has been everything from a frogman to an infantry sergeant. He didn't mind too much at first, because he had the choice of fighting the war or playing a killer. At present he's a discharged lieutenant commander in "Hell and High Water," which concerns a group of civilians who visit the Russian atom plants in a submarine.

"At least I'm discharged," he said, but he figures he has the points to stay out of uniform in the future.

Hollywood has never quite been able to figure Widmark. Despite his dynamic film portrayals, he's a quiet, soft-spoken and modest fellow. Although he recently hired his first press agent (a sure sign he is going to free-lance soon), he has never appeared to care much about publicity. He is friendly with the press corps, but seldom very productive for copy.

He and his wife and daughter live quietly in a comfortable home that is modest by film star standards. The Widmarks are seldom seen in the night clubs or fancy parties and appear to have few friends in the movie crowd. One of Dick's few extravagances is owning a horse. He likes the outdoor life and is an ardent golfer, swimmer and tennis addict.

Although he has specialized in playing dim-witted gunmen and stouthearted servicemen, his work hasn't been overlooked by his fellow actors. When others players name the top actors of the screen, they almost always include Widmark. The kid has got to be good to get that.

Capsule Review: "Forever Female" is a somewhat talky, but generally diverting tale of life in the theater. The story of how an older actress makes way for the younger generation is told with likable humor and sentiment. There are few real surprises, but the proceedings move along with the polished air of slick magazine fiction. Pat Crowley is the big news in the film. As the struggling young hopeful she gives a laudable performance for a newcomer. William Holden, whose work is always believable, gives another accomplished job. Ginger Rogers is affected as the stage star, and Paul Douglas plays his familiar, blustery self. Good dialogue lifts the film out of the ordinary.

Battenfields Are Feted At Dinner

Dr. and Mrs. John Y. Battenfield were honor guests at a dinner and dance at the Country Club Thursday night celebrating their tenth wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Fritz R. Smith, Jr., were hosts to the approximately 40 guests present. A gift was presented to the Battenfields from Battenfield Hospital employes.

Centerpieces at the dinner were arrangements of red carnations in which minature stethoscopes and microscopes had been inserted. Out of town guests included Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Woods and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Dean, all of Big Spring.

Miss Norton To Wed Here Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Norton, 2701 Avenue F, have announced the approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Beth Norton, to John D. Clovis of Saint Mary's, V. Va.

The wedding is to take place at 4 o'clock next Sunday in the Twenty - fifth Street Church of Christ where Mr. Norton is the minister.

Mr. Clovis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Clovis of Saint Mary's. Both Miss Norton and Mr. Clovis are senior students at Abilene Christian College.

Superwoman Is Needed To Save Us From Destruction

EDGARTOWN, Mass., Aug. 22 (AP) —Humorist James Thurber, who says he isn't kidding, thinks a race of superwomen eventually will achieve world peace by forcing men to cease their warring. But this, unfortunately, may take 1,000 years.

"I consider the American woman the greatest potential power in the world—and altogether too complacent and lazy to do anything about it," the 58-year-old cartoonist-writed-playwright told me. In the next breath, he'll tell you he loves women.

"People have the impression I dislike women," he said. "That is entirely wrong. I always praise women highly. We get along fine.

"All my life I have been surrounded by females. I have a female wife, a female 21-year-old daughter who was married last February, a female cook and a female dog. I have always owned female dogs. I was brought into the world by a female doctor.

"When I had a nervous breakdown I consulted a woman psychiatrist. I have written prefaces to four books by women. A man who hated women surely would not go to that trouble."

Thurber, on vacation here, talked of this race of superwomen this way:

"Nature, as you know is making women larger all the time. Their feet are bigger, they are taller and broader every generation. After another 1,000 years of this evolution, during which man will lag far behind, women will be able to establish what man has failed to do in all the years of the 2,800 Years War—a lasting peace."

About that 2,800 Years War? What do you mean by that?

"People," Thurber says, "make the mistake of thinking there have been separate wars. Actually the world has been at war for at least 2,800 years. The first Punic War, the 30 Years War, the 100 Years War, the War of 1812, the Boer War, World Wars I and II and all the rest are only skirmishes of the 2,800 Years War. That's the name I've given it.

"Wars will never stop until the creative sex, which instinctively hates war, takes charge. Some guy, a scientist, said in a book called the 'Social Life of Animals' that man is the only species, from the slug and the potato bug to the elephant, that seeks to destroy its own kind. That is the driving impulse of the mob.

"Since women haven't the ambition to become mentally and morally strong enough to straighten out the world, they will have to become physically strong enough to do it. That will take another 1,000 years.

"Wouldn't I just love to be alive to see it! What a sight it will be when any woman can belt her husband clear across the room and tell him the place for the little man is in the kitchen and he'd better stay there if he knows what's good for him.

"Why, men won't be allowed to carry guns or sharp-edged weapons—or even matches—to make sure they won't be able to hurt each other."

What a day, gals!

Korean Veteran Tells Of Russo-Japanese War, 1904

By DOLORES KETCHERSID

A Korean veteran visiting in Snyder can tell of his experiences with the Russians, only from a different angle than usually told these days. Alex Bondorvitz of Detroit, Mich., is a Russian and fought with them in Korea against the Japanese in the war of 1904.

Mr. Bondorvitz is visiting here with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Egner, 3006½ Avenue V. With him is a friend, also from Detroit, Miss Anna Prezekup.

Although the war happened almost a half-century ago, Mr. Bondorvitz still recalls incidents. Korea then was an untamed country. Soldiers were forbidden to leave camp except in groups of at least two, not because of the enemy, but because tigers were likely to attack. Grapes and nuts were in abundance in the country which has a terrain resembling Colorado or New Mexico, he said. The population of the country at that time was sparse.

A Russian soldier was paid only about 50 cents per month, but even then Mr. Bondorvitz made money. He sold oranges to the enlisted men or drummed up other business. He said he didn't spend it like his comrades did either. Large sacks of tobacco could be bought for as little as a nickel. Mostly, the soldiers wrote home for money instead of trying to exist on what the government was paying, Mr. Bondorvitz said.

From Korea the trip to his hometown of Mintz in the Georgian republic took 48 days.

He was 28 when he came to America. The Russian revolution was quite a shock to him since the imperial army was so strong, he said. The naturalized American doesn't approve of the forces that are in power in the Soviet Union now. "This country is the best one in the world because it is a free country," he said. Mr. Bondorvitz said private enterprise is unheard of in Russia.

One of the first jobs he had in America was in Detroit which was just beginning to boom. There he worked for the Ford Co. until he reached retirement age. For a short while when he first arrived in American he worked in a match factory in Oshkosh, Wis., for 16 cents per hour. But the people were mostly German there so he moved back to Detroit.

Regardless of his long years in this country, Mr. Bondorvitz speaks with a heavy Russian accent. Miss Prezekup explained that there are settlements in Detroit of foreign peoples so that English was rarely spoken by the older residents. However, the younger generations, she said, are forcing their parents to learn the language by refusing to speak anything but English at home. Coming from a Polish family, she and Mr. Bondorvitz occasionally converse in Russian, although she said she is more fluent in English.

Gradually the older persons are beginning to speak more English. "But when he and my mother get together, boom — native tongue," she added.

Miss Prezekup and Mrs. Egner were in the WACs together in World War II in Fort Sumner. Mr. Bondorvitz is proud of Miss Prezekup's being in service and he, himself, wanted to enlist but was told he was too old.

CLUB DANCE

There was crowded floor at the Country Club Friday night when members and guests danced to the music of the Whippoorwills and Georgia Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. YOUNGER had as their guests his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. MEDK[illegible] of Oklahoma City. Another visitor was no newcomer to the club. She was Miss Snyder of 1951, Miss NANCY TEAGUE. Nancy, a University of Texas graduate, worked in Houston on television this summer and will probably be a TV program director in Lubbock this fall. She is visiting here in the home of Mrs. A. C. PREUITT and ROBERT PREUITT, Nancy's fiance. Robert is a senior student at West Point.

One Snyderite, JOAN LANSFORD, had bad news to impart to friends at her table. She had recently received word that she wasn't selected for the finals of the Miss Wool contest. However, maybe it all worked out for the best since Joan's allergic to wool.

Back in town in time for the dance was JIM PHILP who was recently transferred to Tulsa, Okla. He works for Sunray Oil Co.

Included in the collegiates at the dance was Miss MARIANNE RANDALS who will return to Texas Tech this fall. Marianne wore a pale pink net dress and matching bangs. She said the beauty operator just sprayed the color on them. Friends tell us the last time she had her bangs done they came out gray.

Another college student making the most of the last days before the shool term opens was MARVIN SENTELL. Marvin is a law student at the University of Texas.

Black seemed to be a favorite color for cocktail dresses that night. Mrs. M. M. KEEBLE wore a black net one with a matching stole. Her chignon wasn't a cleverly matched hairpiece, either. We hear her hair is actually long enough to sit on. Also wearing black was Mrs. RUSSELL YOUGESEN, Mrs. CHARLES McCALEB and Mrs. CLYDE SMITH.

One of the deepest sun tans at the dance was Mrs. JAMES ROSSER'S who gets it playing golf. Friday she was reputed to have played about 31 holes.

25 YEARS AGO

(Taken from the files of THE SCURRY COUNTY TIMES for Aug. 23, 1928.)

On Monday morning of this week 10 boys from over the county gathered at the Koonsman Ranch 13 miles northeast of Snyder to get Hereford calves to feed for the Fort Worth Stock Show.

Each boy drew for his turn to do the picking. Doyle Mebane got first pick, and in a split-second had selected the calf that he wanted. As Alvin Koonsman could catch or cut out the calves, each boy would get his rope or halter on his calf.

Boys getting calves were: S. D. Hays, Doyle Mebane, Doyle Blakely, Horace Patterson, J. H. Russell, Buster Garner, Crowley Gardner, Martin Murphy, Lube Barber, Leroy Graham. Boys feeding calves of their own or some other calf are: J. T. Beaver, Young Rucker, Lowell Stoker, Weldon Alexander, Bap Birdwell and Johnnie Jordan.

Some 100 persons gathered at the Pearson family's farm Tuesday to work out the crop for the Pearson children. The readers of the Times-Signal and many others will remember from the last issue of this paper the account of the death of Mrs. May Bell Pearson, who lived four miles out of Snyder on the Post highway. Mrs. Pearson and her children were farming, the father and husband having died last February.

At an enthusiastic meeting of the boosters for the Scurry County Fair Monday, the full program was generally outlined and plans completed for the three big days. President Joe A. Merritt has announced the various chairmen of the committees that exhibitors may readily get in touch with them. Let us all plan now to have old friends and relatives home for the three days and make the Scurry County Fair one big family reunion wherein the strangers within our gates may be made to realize the enormous progress made in this section on all lines of agricultural activity.

In honor of Miss Eva Mae House of Abilene, Miss Baby Dale Warren entertained a few of her friends last Saturday night with a bridge party at her home.

Bridge was enjoyed throughout the evening, after which ice cream and cake were served to the following: Misses Bobby Chambers, Floye Brownfield, Lucille Brown, Mariwade and Mildred Harless, Lessie Johnson of Lamesa and Eva Mae House of Abilene, and Messrs. Brud Boren, LeRoy Fesmire, Bob Smith, Raynes Sparks, Ralph Crenshaw, Fred Merrill, and William Frank Warren of Dallas.

Miss Gwendolyn Chambers entertained with a kitchen shower Saturday afternoon at her home, honoring Mrs. Robert H. Curnutte, Jr., a recent bride. Bridge was played during the afternoon, high score favor going to Mrs. Amos Joyce. Mrs. Curnutte was announced the winner of the booby prize, which proved to be a bundle of many useful gifts.

NEWLYWEDS REUNITED

Mr. and Mrs. Aldy Stephens, New Richmond, Wis., embrace after being separated for two weeks in different wards at the Sister Kenny Institute in Minneapolis. Married June 13, the two became ill with polio two weeks ago and were taken to the institute. Patiently waiting to take temperatures is nurse Vivian Hannan.

Honolulu Zoo Hornbill Birth

HONOLULU, Aug. 22 (AP)—A production that's really a production—that's the birth of a baby Indian pied hornbill.

It was an epic ornithological event when the first one ever born in captivity made his debut here a few weeks ago—the happy ending to three months of painstaking effort. Zoo officials were elated. And males will be pleased to know they gave credit where is was due—to the baby's shovel-beaked father.

Papa first sealed Mama in a comfortable old apple box, carefully building a mud plaster wall over the open end and leaving a small hole for food.

In such a well-kept zoo as Honolulu's, that was largely a bow to tradition. It goes back to an ancient hornbill habit of sealing an expectant mother in a hollow tree to protect her from monkeys and egg-eating snakes, both abundant in the native habitat of India.

Papa passed food through the little hole daily until mother and child emerged three months later. Baby was 2 months old by then. And Papa had the habit. For several days he absent-mindedly kept poking food through the mud slit.

But Papa came through the whole experience most creditably, zoo officials agreed, looking down their noses a bit at Rufus, a distant cousin, who created such a nuisance in the Wall Street financial district of distant New York the other day.

Rufus, a bachelor, turned into quite a man-about-town, hornbill version. He escaped from his cage and for days flitted from one bank building to another. Traffic was blocked in the streets and hundreds of people skipped lunch to cheer and applaud. Rufus did everything but take a bow.

Before hunger finally got him—and he walked into a food-baited coop—Rufus had established himself as quite a ham. But zoo officials explained it: Rufus is from Siam, not India. Indian hornbills are the home-loving type.

Leo G. Proctor Is In Hawaiian Marine Base

Pfc. Leo G. Proctor, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Proctor, 325 Thirty-first Street, has arrived at the Marine Corps Air Station at Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii.

He will be assigned to the 1st Provisional Marine Air - Ground Task Force which will receive six months of coordinated training with Marine Air Group 13.

Proctor entered the Marines in 1952. He was employed by the Hudson Engineering Company in Midland prior to that time.

Scurry Man Back From Korea; Hopes To Start Farming Soon

Three Scurry County brothers who enlisted in the Marine Corps at the same time and were later separated will be in close contact with each other until they are ready for discharge in six months.

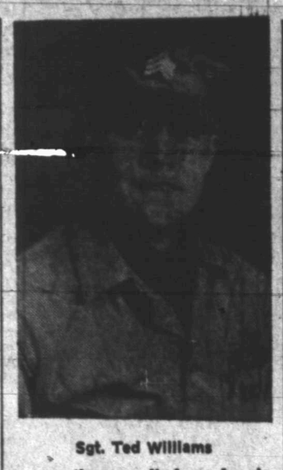

They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Williams, who live four miles east of Snyder on the Roby highway.

Sgt. Ted Williams, 21, one of the sons, is now home on a 30-day leave after returning from 11½ months overseas, most of which he spent in Korea. After his leave, he will go to Treasure Island Naval Base at San Francisco, Cal. His twin, Sgt. Fred Williams, and the third brother, Sgt. Bob Williams, 19, are now at Barstow, Cal., both rifle coaches.

Ted Williams, who spent much of his time as sergeant of the guard which looked after a batallion area in Korea, came home with three purple hearts. He was first wounded after he had been in Korea about four months, hit in the left arm by shrapnel. He spent 15 days in the hospital recovering from that wound, then went back to the front. Last January, his second wound was a bullet graze on a leg, for which he received aid but was not hospitalized. His third was about three days later, when he caught more shrapnel in his right hand.

NO BIG PUSHES

The recently-returned veteran, who said he and his two brothers plan to return here to farming as soon as they are discharged, opined that the Korean war was "all a bunch of bull," in which the troops just tried to hold the line because they were never given enough men to make a big push.

The three began their hitch in the Marines Feb. 13, 1952, enlisting with several other Scurry County men. The entire group of men took boot training together before being separated. Fred Williams was immediately sent overseas, where he stayed more than a year and participated in Heartbreak Ridge and Bunker Hill operations.

Shortly after Fred Williams went overseas, Sgt. Kenneth Head of Snyder followed him and served a year in Korea and about a year in Japan, where he is still stationed.

OTHER SNYDERITES

When Ted Williams went overseas a year ago, two other Snyder men who had been with him since they enlisted, Sgt. Glen Merritt and Sgt. Gerald Peterson, went with him. All were together in Korea. Another Snyderite, Cpl. Clint Eldon Floyd, was with the three men until they went overseas. He went to Korea several months later. Ted Williams said he saw Floyd several times in Korea and had also seen Floyd's brother, Cpl. Eddie Don Floyd, who went into the Marines several months later than did the large group of Snyder men.

Ted and Fred Williams were both promoted to corporal in March, 1951, and both made sergeant in June of the same year. Bob Williams has been a sergeant since December.

One of the Williams men's older brothers, Faxon Williams, served in Germany during World War II. He is now farming near Snyder.

A younger brother, Tommy, became 19 last week and registered for selective service. Mrs. Williams said Tommy believes he will go into the Navy before the selective service board calls him for induction.

"I hope he's not thinking of the Marines," Ted Williams said.

Herbert J. Idle, a Chicago waterworks employe, holds a check for $307,500—described by sponsors of a puzzle-quiz contest as the largest amount ever awarded in a contest—after receiving his award from former Vice President Alben Barkley. Idle, 55, is expected to retain $132,500 after taxes.

Pyron Cemetery Will Be Cleaned Friday

T. B. Soles of Pyron will be on hand with a truck to haul trash and junk away from the cemetery.

Rough Purse Snatcher

HOUSTON (AP)—A teenager who punched a 50-year-old woman in the stomach and escaped with her purse wanted cash instead of jewelry.

The purse, with three rings valued at $3,200, was found in a ditch. The youth had taken $33 in cash.

Mrs. Byrdine Harrison told police yesterday a teenager struck her and grabbed her purse while she was walking on a Houston street.

Sgt. Hiroshi (Mike) Miyamura, 28, of Gallup, N.M., has won America's highest award for heroism, the Medal of Honor. He got the news when he and 59 other GIs were repatriated in Thursday's exchange at Panmunjom. News of the award had been kept a secret because of possible Communist retaliation against him. He killed from 40 to 50 Chinese while covering a squad retreat before his capture.

28 ARE ELECTED

Cover Crops Needed Now To Stop Blowing Next Spring

While most farmers have seen the cost of the three-year drouth to themselves in crop failures, many in this area fail to see the serious damage and greater cost of wind erosion.

Wind erosion, according to Jake Hodges, chief of the Soil Conservation Service here, has carried away "literally tons of fertile topsoil which cannot be brought back" in the Upper Colorado Soil Conservation District, which Hodges and his conservation team aid here.

"Even though recent rains have brightened the outlook for farming, there is no assurance that soil will not be removed by wind this coming windy season," Hodges said, explaining that fields that are bare will suffer from wind erosion.

Emergency tillage of the soil is no answer to controlling wind erosion, as farmers realized in trying that method during the past season, Hodges said. The method was not only ineffective but proved expensive because farmers were forced to plow the land after every shower in hope that they could prevent erosion. Many fields, he said, became so pulverized by plowing that further plowing did little, if any, good in preventing erosion.

Damage by wind erosion can become more critical here than the average person likes to believe, Hodges said, urging farmers to try the surest, least expensive, and most effective way to control wind erosion — providing the soil with good cover.

SHOULD ACT NOW

The cover may consist of living plants or dead residues from previous growing crops. It is usually too late, he warned, to provide the needed cover after the blowing starts. The blowing season is considered the period from January through March. The time to make preparations to protect the soil against wind is now, the soil chief said.

Recent rains have brought sufficient moisture to provide adequate protection by planting either type of cover. Of the two types of cover that could be planted the winter growing crops are considered the best for this general area, he said. If the cover is not to be followed by an early spring crop, a drilled crop of small grains such as wheat, oats, barley, and rye, or winter legumes, which serve as soil builders as well as covers, should be planted. Small grain crops will provide cover during the windy season and the stubble can be mulched next summer to provide added protection, Hodges explained.

For land on which an early crop is to be planted next spring, the dead crop residue cover may be used. Time for seeding is now if the land is not already seeded, he said, adding that very careful attention should be given to the management of the stubble residue. Perhaps the best management practice, he said, is to leave residue standing undisturbed until the windy season ends and the land is ready for seed bed preparation for following crops.

HELP SOIL

Cover crops will add organic matter, which helps to hold water, plant food, and air. Winter legume cover will add nitrogen, which is an essential plant food.

Hodges and supervisors of the conservation district urged all farmers to protect their farms by establishing protective covers. The district has available to farmers special equipment for seeding winter cover crops. One is a row seeder [illegible] seeding small grains or winter legumes between rows of present growing crops without harming the plants. Other equipment includes two grain drills, two grass drills, and four legume planters. Farmers can obtain the equipment by contacting any of the five district supervisors.

Supervisors of the district are Nolan von Roeder of Snyder, Houston Kimbrell of Ira, Alton Milliken of Fluvanna, Raymond House, Clairemont Route, and Frank Kubala of Hermleigh.

For the sandy soils of the Ira and Dunn areas, Hodges recommended that small grains or a mixture of rye and vetch be planted, the latter of which would be best, he said. For most other soils, the small grains or grain sorghums are recommended.

In connection with the cover crop program, the Borden County Production & Marketing Administration will assist farmers in purchase of the planting seeds.

To secure PMA aid in cover crops, farmers must meet the following requirements: a good stand must be obtained; the cover cannot be harvested for grain; sorghums, sudan grass, or millet cannot be grazed; and the crop must be left on the land until next spring.

Assistance which will be available in Borden County, or amounts per pound to be paid on the seeds, is 5 cents on grain sorghums, 10 cents on sweet sorghums, 15 cents on sudan, 13 cents on millet, 5 cents on oats, and 4 cents on barley.

SHAH SUPPORTERS

Royalists demonstrators ride through a Tehran street carrying the body of a dead rioter during the bloody nine-hour uprising in which Premier Mohammed Mossadegh was ousted and Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi was returned to power. The dead man's head is visible on the board atop the truck. Man in foreground holds a portrait of the Shah who was flying back to his homeland from Rome.

About Face In Farm Policies Of Red China

HONG KONG (AP)—The language of communism, where a stray becomes a deviationist and a one-syllable word is never used if a six-syllable word can be found, is getting some new twists from the Chinese.

Already there has been added the five-antis, or the wu-fan. It means the effort to stop bribery, tax evasion, cheating the state, stealing state property and stealing economic intelligence.

Now comes the "five-too-many".

The five-too-many has come to mean a national rural protest both by farmers and Communist rural workers against (1) too many tasks, (2) too many meetings, (3) too many documents and forms, (4) too many organizations and (5) too many concurrent posts for cadres.

This latest "five" springs from the Reds hurry-up efforts to remake the farm system of China, to change taxes, to kill landlords, to form cooperatives, to force donations and to increase production.

The Reds ignored the unrest until it became alarmingly widespread. Then they went into one of communism's typical stunts of tabbing it all a mistake, starting a reform movement which was an about-face, accompanying it with millions of words of criticism and self-criticism (a sort of national confessional).

It has come to mean the five-too-many.

Out of the five-too-many has come a few facts from the vast China farmlands. One is new proof that the Reds, working their will through great swarms of minor functionaries, get very few good ones. Another is that bad functionairies are inefficient, dishonest, stupid and venal, sometimes all four, that they seize power in remote areas and become little war lords in the old China fashion. Peiping usually discovers it about two years later.

COMMUNIST PAPER WRECKED

Office equipment of a Communist paper is burned in the street of Tehran during the nine-hour coup in which the followers of the Shah ousted the government of Premier Mossadegh. Members of the mob watch in background. At least 300 persons were reported killed in the bloody, unrestrained rioting.

Increase In Freshman Enrollment At McMurry Is Expected This Year

ABILENE — A 5 to 10 per cent increase in freshman enrollment is anticipated at McMurry College this fall, W. B. McDaniel, dean of the college, said.

Registration for freshmen at the college will begin Sept. 8, with dormitories open for freshmen only on Sept. 7. Junior, senior and sophomore students will register Sept. 11, with classes scheduled to begin Sept. 14.

The dory, a rowboat about sixteen feet long, is regarded as one of the world's most seaworthy small boats.

The eyes of a baby at birth are about two-thirds as large as they will be at the age of 8 or 9.

Alert Cops On Job

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Two alert scout car officers, D. C. Mosshart and P. E. Ming, spotted a flickering light in the early morning hours and radioed for help.

"Burglars using a welding torch on safe at this moment" at a vending machine establishment, the officers reported.

With reinforcements they closed in, guns drawn—and found a harmless, flickering light bulb.

Drop In New Oil Locations Is Recorded For 31st Week

A drop was recorded in West Texas drilling activity during the 31st week of 1953 with 54 locations, including 14 for wildcats, staked in 24 counties in Districts 7-C and 8.

The number compares to 89 locations, including 18 wildcats, spotted the preceding week.

Totals for the year now stand at 1,803 field tests and 541 wildcats, a grand total of 2,344 tests for oil and a weekly average of 75.61.

Totals for the first 31 weeks of 1952 were 2,585 field tests and 528 wildcats, a grand total of 3,123 tests for oil and a weekly average of 100.74. The comparative period of 1951 saw 3,390 field tests and 601 wildcats spotted, totaling 3,991 tests and making a weekly average of 128.74.

Seven counties in District 7-C gained 15 applications to drill, including eight for wildcats; while District 8 counties numbered 17 with 39 applications, including six wildcats.

District 7-C wildcats were: Crockett, three; Coke and Runnels, two each; and Tom Green, one.

District 7-C field tests were: Reagan, Runnels, and Schleicher, two each; and Upton, one.

Distrcit 8 field tests were: Andrews, Martin, Midland, Pecos, Scurry, and Terry, one each.

District 8 filed tests were: Andrews, nine; Crane and Terry, four each; Borden, Ector, Gaines, and Howard, two each; and Garza, Glasscock, Kent, Lubbock, Martin, Mitchell, Scurry, and Terry, one each.

FUTURE TEXANS NOW

Russell C. Artist, a Church of Christ missionary, and his wife arrived at International Airport in New York with their two children and four German orphans who will be adopted by families in Texas. The children are, left to right, Eva, 5, to be adopted by Mr. and Mrs. J.S.T. McDowell of Longview; Roland, 3, to go to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Greenhill, of Victoria; Anneliese, four months, to be adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Ennis E. Granthan, of Marshall; Timothy, 3, German orphan adopted by the Artists when he was 20 days old; Lothat, 2, adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Lacy, of Dallas, and Merilee, 11, daughter of the Artists.

Settlements On Texan's Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service has settled tax claims of $872,000 against Texans for $213,000 in the past year.

Since last August, 41 such settlements have involved Texans. The amount of actual back taxes claimed amounted to $493,000, but with interest and penalties in some cases added, the total claimed by the government was $872,000.

The smallest was a $130 claim settled for $45. The largest was $433,244, settled for $154,807.

The big claim involved the estate of Bennie Markusfeld, a Waco produce business owner who died Sept. 4, 1946. His executors were his brother-in-law, Herman Alexander, and a sister, Frieda.

The government claimed $182,048 taxes on income for 1942-1946. The government contended interest and penalties raised the amount to $433,244. The compromise settlement, accepted June 10, provided for an immediate payment of $26,807 plus $128,000 to be paid in 18 months.

The revenue agent said in the case:

"In view of the fact that it appears that the present offer ($154,807) represents the entire forced sale value of all of the assets left in the estate, plus substantial amounts from the transferees, equal to the entire amount received by them, . . . it is believed that the offer represents the total amount that the government can collect in any manner, and therefore it is recommended that this offer be accepted."

Strict Regulations On Leases And Boats At CRMWD Lake

Building and sanitation regulations for Lake J. B. Thomas are expected to be completed within the next two weeks, officials of the Colorado River Municipal Water District have announced.

Basically, the regulations are planned to govern the leasing of sites along the lake shore and the construction of buildings there, control hunting and fishing and establish sanitation practices.

Certain land areas are to be set aside by the district for public picnic and recreational areas. Others will be for commercial purposes such as the rental of boats and the sale of bait and supplies. The remaining land suitable for lots will be leased, with leases automatically renewable unless they are cancelled for violations of regulations. Leases may be transferred upon the approval of the district.

Roads from the district's major roads to private sites are to be built and maintained at the expense of the leasee.

Regulations concerning building at the lake are in part as follows:

"Any construction below elevation 2,265 feet (one foot above emergency and seven feet above service spillway levels) must be authorized specifically by the district.

"No habitation will be permitted within 75 feet, measured horizontally, from the normal water elevation (2,258 feet), except boat houses, piers and docks. Structures below 2,265 feet call for a release of liability to the district.

"Improvements cannot be made without approval of the district as to health and sanitation facilities, (and with the regard of safety to navigation and of the safety to others)."

All habitations along the marginal lands are to be equipped with septic tanks or toilets constructed and installed in accordance with approved plans. Garbage and trash, except that which can be burned, is to be collected and removed at least once each week. Fowls and livestock, with the exception of dogs and cats, may not be kept on lots leased from the district or others bordering the lake.

Swimming in the lake is not to be permitted within one-half mile of water intakes. These intakes are to be plainly marked.

No boats or docks may be operated at the lake without express permission of the district. Commercially owned boats which are to be kept for rental purposes must be licensed and will be subject to periodic inspection. Launching fees will be 50 cents per day or $5 per year. All boats are to be equipped with a life preserver for each passenger. No boat is to be allowed to carry more persons than its rated capacity.

Houseboats for domicile purposes are not to be permitted on the lake, and boats with overnight accomodations must have approved sanitation facilities.

All boats on the lake must be self-sustaining, either by patent methods, air tanks, compartmentation or composition. They are required to have under-water exhausts. Row boats, rafts and canoes have the right of way, with sailboats having right of way over power boats and outboard motors over inboards. Power boat operators are liable for damage which might result from their wake.

All boats on the lake must have lights from sunset to sunrise. Lanterns are required for hand craft, with all-around white lights plus red and green running lights for sail and power boats.

Hunting and fishing permits as well as permits for the operation of crafts or boats in or on the lake must be secured from the Colorado River Municipal Water District. Fees for permit are $5 per year for husband and wife, or 50 cents per day. No permits will be necessary for children under 17 years of age.

Fishing at the lake is to be closed until May, 1954, and will be governed by regulations already published by the district.

No Bids Taken On City Annex; Trucks Bought

All bids on the city police station and jail building were rejected when opened by the city council at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Lowest of the bids was for about 30 per cent more than engineer's estimates on cost of the construction had been.

E. L. Fikes Construction Co. of Snyder submitted the low bid of $20,995.05. Estimates made by M. R. Estes, engineer who drew the plans, had been about $16,500.

Other bids were submitted by Keenan Construction Co., Jones Construction Co., and Norcross Construction Co., all of Snyder.

Only 57 cents separated the two low bids for three pickup trucks purchased by the council Friday afternoon.

Three Ford one-half ton pickups were purchased from Wade Pipkin Motors of the low bid of $3,199, plus three old pickups being traded in by the city.

Ezell Motor Co. submitted the second low bid of $3,199.57 on three Dodge ½-ton pickups. Other bids were submitted by Snyder Truck & Tractor Co., $3,225 on International pickups, and Lamb Chevrolet Co., $3,375 on Chevrolet pickups.

City councilmen said they will consider cost-cutting alterations of the plans for the police station and jail building, and re-submit the plans for bids at a later date.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stokes of Snyder are the parents of a son born August 16 in a Rotan hospital. The baby has been named David Wayne Stokes.

Widow Sues Woman Who Lived With Her Husband For 27 Years

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The $30,000 suit that an Italian widow filed against the woman who lived with her immigrant husband for 27 years, has been settled for $5,906.

The court granted Mrs. Domenica Martinola, who lives in Italy, portions of her claim for money from the sale of an auto, home and life insurance policy.

The suit was directed against Mrs. Ethel Sandy Striano, who said that in 27 years she had worked side by side with Martinoli, helping him build a large business. She maintained she was entitled to everything she received.
