Heavy U.S. Bomb Raids On North Viet Continue

SAIGON (AP)—An armada of 350 American fighter-bombers pounded anti-aircraft defenses and supply depots in North Vietnam around the clock tonight. "Every sign points to further operations," said informants, indicating a third day of heavy raids Tuesday.

It was the biggest air attack on North Vietnam since President Johnson's bombing halt three years ago.

North Vietnam claimed that five F4 Phantoms were shot down Sunday, two of them by anti-aircraft fire about 80 miles south of Hanoi. Radio Hanoi said two American airmen were killed when their plane crashed nose first into a ricefield. Earlier Radio Hanoi said that other "pilots were killed or captured" but gave no numbers.

The U.S. Command remained silent on Hanoi's claims and withheld details of the raids. But field reports from search and rescue units indicated there had been some American losses.

Informants said the raids in retaliation for the loss of six U.S. planes in the past 2½ weeks and as a warning to Hanoi "not to push" the United States too far. It was the ninth large-scale air operation inside North Vietnam that has been announced since May 1970.

Several hours before the air raids began, Radio Hanoi warned that no American prisoners of war would be released "so long as U.S. warplanes continue to violate North Vietnam and the Nixon administration refuses to take the steps necessary to end the war."

The strikes began Sunday morning from Air Force bases in South Vietnam and Thailand and from the carriers Constellation and Coral Sea in the Tonkin Gulf. The raids continued around the clock.

While informants in Saigon said the raiders were making an all-out assault to lessen the threat of North Vietnamese MIGs, surface-to-air missiles and anti-aircraft artillery, the U.S. Command said the strikes were of "limited duration" and would end at an undisclosed time.

The command said only "military targets" were being hit, but Radio Hanoi claimed that the planes bombed and strafed a hospital in Thanh Hoa, a provincial capital 70 miles south of Hanoi, and populated areas in two other provinces along the Laotian border.

The U.S. Command said the attacks were made "in reaction to enemy activity which imperils the diminishing U.S. forces currently in South Vietnam."

An informant cited the recent increase in MIG, missile and artillery attacks on U.S. planes bombing North Vietnamese supply routes along the border between Laos and South Vietnam.

Increasing MIG and anti-aircraft activity inhibits U.S. air operations over the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos where most of the supplies come into South Vietnam," said this source.

"These war materials, if they reach North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces in South Vietnam, can endanger the remaining U.S. forces."

The same supply routes also carry war materials to the Communist forces fighting in Laos and Cambodia.

In the ground war, a spokesman for the Laotian Defense Ministry announced that North Vietnamese and SUN CHALKS UP ANOTHER CRASH—The blazing orb of an "unwhite" Christmas sun on the plains has caused almost as many collisions as the brief local season of snow and ice. Mrs. Amelia Zanora, 511 Yeager, was driving east on Browning St. when, blinded by the sun, she struck a car driven south on Ward St. by Debra Thompson, 910 E. Browning. Terry Winters was a passenger in the Thompson vehicle and the Zanora children, Larry and Lisa, were riding with their mother. All were badly shaken but none were hospitalized. The force of the impact carried the cars into a nearby church yard. Mrs. Zanora was issued a citation for failure to yield the right of way by Lt. Thomas of the Pampa police department who investigated the accident.

16 Antiwar Vets Occupy N.Y. Statue Of Liberty

NEW YORK (AP)—Sixteen young antiwar veterans barricaded inside the Statue of Liberty said today they would not leave until President Nixon set a date for the withdrawal of all American forces from South-east Asia.

At Travis Air Force Base in California 18 enlisted men—just back from Vietnam where officials said they used narcotics, seized a floor of an observation ward to protest military drug treatment policies.

When the veterans took over the Statue of Liberty Sunday night, they had vowed to maintain their occupation until New Year's Eve to protest continuation of the Vietnam war. But this morning, after receiving what they called a consensus of veterans' groups—the world over, they issued a statement demanding setting of a withdrawal date.

The takeover of the statue in New York Harbor and the protest in California were two of several actions taken around the nation by antiwar veterans and servicemen during the Christmas season.

The statement of the statue occupiers said in part: "Last spring we threw our medals into the dirt because we thought it would end the war."

"Now, as we sit inside the Statue of Liberty, having captured the hope and imagination of a war-weary nation, we can no longer tolerate the war in Southeast Asia."

"Mr. Nixon, you set the date—we'll evacuate."

The veterans were occupying the 100-foot-square pedestal of the 305-foot-high national monument. Their takeover was described initially by Vietnam Veterans Against the War as "a symbolic action...to show support for anyone who refuses to kill."

Mercury Likely To Drop Tonight

The Associated Press reported today that Santa Claus has come and gone but the unseasonably warm weather still blankets Texas and should continue at least through today.

However, an Arctic cold wave to the north was expected to drop temperatures in the Pampa and Panhandle areas by Tuesday.

Christmas Day in Pampa was one of the warmest in weather bureau history.

It got up to 76 degrees Saturday afternoon in Pampa and zoomed to 75 again Sunday.

The warm, sunny days gave youngsters a chance to try out the bicycles and tricycles Santa Claus left on Christmas Eve.

The weather picture is expected to change tonight and tomorrow, according to forecasters at the Amarillo Weather Service station.

They say the mercury will begin to drop tonight after a relatively warm afternoon today and should reach no higher than the 40s for a maximum tomorrow. There is even the possibility of snow flurries.

Early today there was a broad band of low clouds extending across much of the eastern two-thirds of the state and high cloudiness stretched across the west and northwest portions of Texas.

Warm southerly winds kept the pre-dawn temperatures mostly in the 50s and 60s across the state and near 70 in the extreme south.

The National Weather Service said there would be little change today with partly cloudy skies and mild to warm temperatures forecast.

A Pacific front in New Mexico will move eastward into Texas Tuesday with a cold front on the Plains moving southward into extreme North Texas later today.

It will be a little cooler behind the Pacific front and much colder behind the Plains front with mild temperatures elsewhere.

Holiday Traffic Toll Rises To 44 In Texas

ASSOCIATED PRESS

The toll of Texas traffic deaths reached 44 during the Christmas weekend, and Col. Wilson E. Speir of the Department of Public Safety expressed gratification that the list did not reach a total of 52 as predicted by the department.

In all, there were 66 violent deaths in Texas in the period which began at 6 p.m. Thursday and ended at midnight Sunday.

Shootings took 17 lives, two died in a plane crash, two were killed in train mishaps and fire took one life.

Col. Speir expressed appreciation to newsmen, law enforcement personnel and individual drivers for their efforts in keeping the toll lower than predicted.

The latest reported death was that of Nelson N. Moore, 44, of Detroit, Mich. He died when his car ran off the roadway and overturned Sunday about dusk in Denton. A companion, Marland M. Moore, 18, was critically injured.

The traffic death toll on the nation's highways reached 592 as the three-day Christmas Holiday weekend ended at midnight.

GI Addicts Protest Drug Plans

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Eighteen Army enlisted men, hours back from Vietnam where officials said they used narcotics, seized a floor of an observation ward here to protest military drug treatment policies.

The men, who officials said were aided by three former soldiers who were members of Vietnam Veterans Against the War (VVAW), used mattresses to barricade themselves on the second floor of the Second Aeromedical Staging Flight Facility Sunday night.

An Air Force official did not discuss the servicemen's drug problems but noted that the observation ward at the base operates as an overnight ward for returning servicemen awaiting flights to drug rehabilitation centers throughout the nation. No identities were released.

Oliver said the soldiers had been undergoing a complete drug detoxification program before returning to the United States.

The takeover was accomplished peacefully, the Air Force spokesman said, when the 18 men made their plans known to medical technicians who were on the first floor.

The spokesman said VVAW members got into the ward after entering the base during the evening under normal visiting procedures.

Although he said he didn't know the men's precise grievances, he said he thought they mainly involved pay procedures for drug patients returning from Vietnam and the length of time patients are held.

California Fire Victims Better Off Than Before

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Stan Levin and family woke up the morning after Christmas to find their home engulfed in flames. They just managed to escape with little more than the clothes they were wearing.

Friends, neighbors and strangers were moved by the tragedy.

Within a few hours donations began pouring in and now, much to his dismay, Levin says he is almost better off than he was before.

"I don't think it's fair for a family to come out of a disaster with more than they had when it happened," said Levin, an elementary school teacher.

A fire department captain loaned Levin, his wife, Estelle, and their three children a vacant house across the street; friends, neighbors and strangers filled it with furniture and groceries and neighboring children collected two jars of an undisclosed amount of coins and paper money.

"Bless them all for their tremendous generosity. I'm an independent guy and I hate taking charity but what can you do when people just take

'Hot' Snowman Anyone?

He may have fled the 70 degree Christmas weather but his owner feels someone coaxed the snowman away from his holiday vigil in the 2600 block of Duncan St.

The owner told police he looked into his yard about 9:45 p.m. and the snowman was there amid all the lights of Christmas. Five minutes later he was gone.

According to the police report he is about three feet tall, white, round, happy of face and wired for lighting up. Since the thief or thieves didn't take the light meter (about all they left in many places this year) it is felt he will be without his Yule glow.

Police are in a quandary. Will the missing figure grace a teenagers' room? — Find a home in a college fraternity? — Or is some callous thief trying to fence a "hot" snowman?

'Frame-Up' Denied In Dowdy Case

BALTIMORE (AP)—An important prosecution witness denied today that he ever bragged about framing Rep. John V. Dowdy in order to get the government to drop charges against him.

Nathan H. Cohen, who said he arranged a $25,000 bribe for the East Texas Democrat in 1965, was recalled to the stand by the prosecution to counter testimony given last week by a defense witness, Grayson Foster of Baltimore.

Foster told the U.S. District Court jury that on one occasion Cohen boasted of having evaded federal prosecution by telling the U.S. attorney for Maryland he paid Dowdy a bribe to get the lawmaker to influence a Justice Department probe into Cohen's now defunct home improvements company.

Cohen, returned to the stand as a rebuttal witness, said that "Grayson Foster accepted from the beginning the fact I had paid Congressman Dowdy for his services."

Cohen was asked by Stephen H. Sachs, a special prosecutor in the Dowdy case, whether he and Foster had ever talked about a frameup.

"The subject was never discussed," Cohen replied.

Cohen was the third rebuttal witness on the stand today as the bribery conspiracy trial of the 59-year-old lawmaker entered its eighth week after a four-day Christmas recess.

Final arguments before a jury of nine women and three men and Judge Roszel C. Thomsen, who indicated he would limit each side to two hours, could begin late this afternoon or early Tuesday.

Three Police Held Hostage By 3 Bandits

COLOGNE, Germany (AP)—Three gunmen held up a bank opposite the Cologne Cathedral today and drove away with two police hostages. Armed police and thousands of spectators helplessly watched the noon drama.

The gunmen took with them the equivalent of $60,000 in West German marks. The hostages, described as high-ranking police officers, had exchanged themselves for employees of the branch bank.

Nixon, Brandt To Hold Summit Talk in Florida

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP)—President Nixon has arrived here to meet with West German Chancellor Willy Brandt for the fourth in a series of six summit talks he is having with allied leaders.

"The President feels this is a particularly timely point to have further discussion with Brandt, and he is looking forward to them," Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said after Nixon's arrival here Sunday night. "He feels they will be productive, as the others have been."

Nixon, anticipating his trip to Peking in late February and to Moscow in late February and to Moscow in late May, met earlier this month with Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau, French President Georges Pompidou and British Prime Minister Edward Heath.

He will confer next week with Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato at the Western White House in San Clemente, Calif. At a later date in Washington, he will meet with the Italian prime minister.

The American and West German leaders will talk in one of two bayfront homes Nixon owns here. Secretary of State William P. Rogers flew to Florida with the President and he will meet simultaneously in a nearby hotel with his Bonn counterpart, Foreign Minister Walter Scheel.

Nixon, just before flying here, placed a telephone call to Washington Redskins Coach George Allen to commiserate on the Redskins

President Reveals Aims Of Red Capitals Trips

NEW YORK (AP)—President Nixon says his visit to Communist China "is just to open communication" while his summit talk with Soviet leaders will be "basically a substantive meeting."

Time magazine reports.

Time, which names the President as "Man of the Year" in its current issue, quoted Nixon as saying that the success of the two visits "will be determined by what follows those meetings, not the communiques that come out of them."

Nixon said the most important decision he made in 1971 was to go to mainland China, but stressed that its importance lay "in terms of building to the long-term future. It may well benefit the present occupant of this office, but somebody five, 10 or 15 years from now," he said.

On the domestic front, the President said his most difficult decision was his move to impose controls on the economy.

"I don't believe in controls as an end in themselves or on a permanent basis. On the other hand, I am an activist—nobody believed that until this year. Being an activist, I felt we had to jolt the American economy on the inflation side," he said.

Later, talking generally about the decision-making process, Nixon said, "Great decisions, if they are to be good decisions, must be made coolly...The decisions that are important must be made alone."

He said the American people want to think that if there is a crisis, the President "will be cool and sober. They also want to think that he's a human guy who likes his wife and kids and a good time."

Two Superpowers Said Losing U.N. Influence

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China assessed its first session at the United Nations today and concluded that the United States and Russia are losing influence there while the medium size and smaller nations are gaining strength.

An editorial in the official Peking People's Daily warned, however, that "the two superpowers are unreconciled to their defeat and will continue to push the policy of hegemony in every way."

The editorial said once again that China will never become a superpower but will instead champion the causes of the world's "third countries."

It said the General Assembly session which ended last Wednesday was of particular significance because it admitted mainland China and expelled the Nationalist over U.S. objections and because it called for a cease-fire and troop withdrawal in the India-Pakistan war after Russia vetoed similar resolutions in the Security Council.

This reflected sharply that the just voice against big-power hegemony gained an upper hand at the General Assembly, raising the spirit of the medium and small countries and severely puncturing the arrogance of the superpowers," said the editorial.

"This session of the U.N. General Assembly is an important sign that it is more and more difficult for the two superpowers to continue to control and monopolize U.N. affairs as in the past."

The United States and Russia "colluded and at the same time contended with each other in furtherance of their interests," Peking said.

"While intensifying their contention, they will make deals behind the scenes whenever possible. They obstruct or undermine in every possible way anything unfavorable to them and even refuse to carry out the reasonable resolutions and decisions adopted by the United Nations."

Dear Abby

Jealousy always a terrible mistake

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Marv and I are in our early 20's, and have been married almost three years. Marv works about 30 miles from where we live, so he put an ad in the paper for a rider to share expenses to and from work. He got one reply. From a FEMALE!

I saw her once and I don't want her riding with my husband. She's about my age, very pretty, and dresses real nice, only she wears her clothes very short. (Her dresses look like MY blouses.)

I told Marv to keep advertising until he got a male. He said he wouldn't. I even cried and begged, but he insists that he loves me, I am foolish to be jealous, and until I grow up we will always have trouble.

Abby, I can't help being jealous when I think of that girl sitting next to Marv nearly two hours every day in her short skirts.

Should I keep after Marv about this? If you tell me to stop nagging him, I will, but if you say he shouldn't let this girl ride with him, I'll keep nagging him until he stops.

I have been very cold to Marv and not much of a wife to him since this girl started riding with him.

SILLY OR NOT?

DEAR SILLY: I can understand your jealousy, but I think you're making a terrible mistake to (a) nag Marv to dump the girl rider; (b) punish him by being "cold" to him. Now is the time to be warmer than ever. The best excuse in the world for a man to crawl into somebody else's bed is because he was kicked out of his own.

DEAR ABBY: My 4-year-old son is a very friendly child. Too friendly, in fact.

If I take him to the supermarket, he approaches strangers with, "Hi. How are you?"

If they are in a hurry and ignore him, or answer him curtly, he persists, "How are you? What's your name? Where do you live?" And he keeps it up until I demand that he stop.

I suppose I should be glad that he is so outgoing and friendly, but I sometimes wonder if it is wise for youngsters to be so forward and aggressive with strangers.

Should I try to keep him from being so friendly, or do you think it might thwart his personality?

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: I would teach my child to REPLY when spoken to, but I would discourage him from getting too friendly with strangers.

DEAR ABBY: I am deeply concerned over the letter from the mother who heard her 16-year-old son making obscene telephone calls.

You told her that her son desperately needed professional help, and urged her to seek it. But you didn't mention the stiff penalty the law now imposes for this offense.

Two years ago our son, who was then 17, went to court for making obscene phone calls. He was lucky to be let off with 30 days "observation," and two years' probation, but he could have been sentenced to as much as ten years!

In the last few years the law has really cracked down on those found guilty of making obscene telephone calls. I implore you to advise that mother of these facts. Or better yet, print this for those who do not realize the seriousness of such an offense.

WENT THRU IT

DEAR WENT: Thank you for your very informative letter. It just may make some would-be offender think twice, and then decide it's not worth it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO JACK C. IN CLEVELAND: You are right on target, Jack. Along with fire prevention, one should be reminded that every home should have a fire extinguisher. I have mine hanging on the kitchen wall, and I hope I never have to use it!

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

TUESDAY, DEC. 28

Your birthday today: Consolidation is your challenge this coming year despite an apparent need for expanded communications—perhaps in advertising, publishing, and the like, according to the nature of your vocation. Today's natives usually are highly individual, ingenious, sometimes domineering.

Aries March 21-April 19: Anything you say now is apt to be taken in context other than intended. Realizing this, make use of the discrepancies or keep still.

Taurus April 20-May 20: Action speaks louder than any words available to you now. Keep matters simple by wasting no time.

Gemini May 21-June 20: Your pet heroes turn out to be as human as everybody else, with faults and lapses as serious as any of your own.

Cancer June 21-July 22: Somebody is intent on reminding you of a flaw or a forgotten promise. Do what you may to alleviate matters.

Leo July 23-Aug. 22: Build a constructive, generally helpful public relations sort of day on good humor and general promotion.

Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22: It will help if you can see that most of what comes to your attention is superficial and temporary in nature, of relatively low importance.

Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 22: Cut out, clear out, get out of whatever ruts you've settled in. Move up, at least in symbol and spirit. Enough is going on to provide cover and company for all your doings.

Scorpio Oct. 23-Nov. 21: Call in specialists, advisers, get a second opinion on a long-standing question. Even a small move now brings repercussions later.

Sagittarius Nov. 22-Dec. 21: It's up to you to make the most or the least of today's story, but there's more noise than fact in most of it.

Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 19: A plethora of happenings right at hand are sufficient to keep you busy. Tidy up for the year's end.

Aquarius Jan. 20-Feb. 18: Be selective in exploring possible schedules. Much that clutters the scene is apt to disappear shortly.

Pisces Feb. 19-March 20: A positive attitude concerning your resources serves you well. Pay your share of group or family expenses but no more.

Husbands Take Over

"Husband's Night" was held recently where the husbands take over the offices of their wives, was held recently by Upsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi in the Hospitality Room of Citizen's Bank.

Harvesters Meet Bobcats Tonight

The Hustling Harvesters will be on the road to another tournament the next three days at Hardin-Simmons University. Cage action starts tonight for the 12 and one Harvesters with a 5:30 p.m. game against the San Angelo Bobcats.

The Pampa squad will be playing in division two of the tourney. The Cowboy Club Basketball Tournament will be playing host to a total of 16 schools with entries coming from class AAAA and AAA schools.

Entered in the meet besides the Pampa cagers are: San Angelo, Abilene, Sweetwater, Wichita Falls, Snyder, Andrews, and Abilene Cooper in Division Two.

In Division One there are: Wylie, Merkel, Breckenridge, Anson, Luenders-Avoca, Crane, Albany and Hawley.

The Harvesters have won the Top O'Texas Invitational and the Midwestern University Invitational thus far and have recorded 12 big wins this season.

The only Pampa defeat came at the hands of the Midland High Bulldogs who start 6-10. Ronnie Taylor and average about 6-5 plus on their starting lineup with several 6' players on the reserve squad.

Pampa's height comes from Mike Edgar 6-6 and Donnie Cain 6-5. Cain was selected the Most Valuable Player in the Midwestern Tournament and is the key to many of Pampa's offensive and defensive plays.

The Harvesters are looking stronger this year than ever before and have already defeated the defending Bi-District Champions, the Plainview Bulldogs, twice.

The Plainview team knocked Pampa out of state competition last year in the Amarillo Civic Center in a clash for Bi-District honors.

Richard Bunton, 6-3, has been playing some outstanding basketball this year and has helped the Harvesters to dominate the backboards against most of their opponents. Bunton has the season high points in a game record with 35 against Woodward in the Top O'Texas championship game.

Support the Hustling Harvesters at home and on the road.

Hot Golf Balls Add To Distance

PANORMA CITY, Calif. (AP) — As an amateur golfer, Andy Anderson warmed up his golf balls with an ordinary warming pad before he took time off from his insurance business and went out to the course.

Today, Andy Anderson isn't selling too much insurance. He's concentrating on warming up golf balls, or more accurately, putting together a golf ball warmer for those on the links who like the better feel and longer distance of a warmed pellet.

Anderson's production line for his Hot Golf Balls doesn't resemble that of General Motors. His partner, Allen Novak, who designed the warmer, directs the production. They have one official paid employee, a gal who does the soldering, and a few relatives.

Expansion is the aim of Anderson and Novak and so far, with limited advertising, they've had orders from throughout the world.

Why do you warm golf balls and how do you do it?

"We heat the ball to 105 degrees Fahrenheit which we believe gives the maximum performance," Anderson says. "A warm ball will travel farther than a cold one."

Then he adds, "Also, it's more pleasing to the touch when you've teed off."

He also says there is no rule against using such a pre-heated golf ball which he claims can travel up to 30 percent farther than normal balls.

When Novak was an insurance customer of Andy, the latter talked about the theory, and the former, an engineer, designed a heating chamber which works off AC electricity as a start. It also recharges the batteries which maintain the heat when you must unplug the gadget to put it in your bag.

The theory is much like that of a rechargeable flashlight only with a heating rather than an illuminating effect.

GUIDING HAND

Championship Dreams Seen By The Cowboys

MINNEAPOLIS—ST. PAUL (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys, declared Bob Lee, will be counting the championship share of the Super Bowl if they can duplicate their play in a 20-12 Christmas Day victory over the Minnesota Vikings.

"They had one penalty for five yards, no fumbles, no interceptions," the Minnesota quarterback said after the National Football Conference semifinal. "If they play two more games like this one, they'll be world champions."

The Cowboys will play the San Francisco 49ers, who lost 17-10 to Dallas in the NFC final in 1970, next Sunday for the right to go to the Super Bowl Jan. 16 at New Orleans. The 49ers defeated Washington 24-20 Sunday.

The Dallas Doomsday Defense gave up 311 yards against the Vikings, but could take most of the credit for the victory by intercepting four passes and recovering a fumble.

"We haven't been making mistakes the last eight games," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry, whose Cowboys are in the playoffs for the sixth straight year and still looking for their first world championship. "Every football game is field position and turnovers. Minnesota thrives on this."

But it was the Cowboys who blew the Vikings out of Metropolitan Stadium before a near sellout crowd of 49,100 by stealing the big play thunder.

"We were conscious that the Vikings make their living on fumbles and interceptions," said Cowboy running back

Calvin Hill. "So, we made sure we didn't give up the ball."

Mike Clark gave Dallas a 6-3 first-half lead with field goals of 26 and 44 yards—the first set up by Jethro Pugh's fumble recovery and the second on Chuck Howley's interception of a screen pass while blitzing.

"All we heard all week was how great the Viking defense was," said Howley. "We think our defense is pretty good too."

On the third play of the second half, Cliff Harris swiped a Lee pass at the Viking 43 and ran to the 13. Duane Thomas exploded up the middle from there for a touchdown and a 13-3 Cowboy lead.

"This was our best defensive game of the year," said Landry. "Harris' interception was the key."

Lee Roy Jordan later intercepted a Gary Guozzo pass on the Dallas 15 to stop a fourth period Viking drive and Herb Adderly picked off a Guozzo attempt on the last play of the game. Lee had two interceptions.

"Too many mistakes... we made too many mistakes," said Lee.

Ali Blasts Blin In Zurich Match

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — After shooting down Juergen Blin, Muhammad Ali has his sights on another target. It won't be Joe Frazier, though.

"Not until late next year, at the earliest," Angelo Dundee, Ali's trainer, said Sunday in answer to questions about a possible rematch with the heavyweight champion.

Ali, who knocked out Blin in the seventh round Sunday with a crippling right cross, is expected to fight again as early as March in Miami Beach. The opponent hasn't been named yet.

The former champion didn't appear to be looking ahead, though, when he took on the West German butcher before 9,000 fans at Zurich's Hallenstadion Arena.

"Blin was tougher than a lot of fights I've had such as Brian London, Buster Mathis and the first Jerry Quarry fight," said Ali, talking over music in his dressing room.

While a brilliantly-dressed African ballet troupe serenaded the flamboyant American boxer, Ali recounted the "difficulties" of the fight.

"Blin was no surprise, he was just tough," said Ali, flashing that well-known handsome smile. "He was hard to hit. He took a lot and just kept coming."

Talk Is Confusing American Football

NEW YORK (AP) — "Your American football is a jolly good sport," said Phineas B. Thistlewaite III, settling in a comfortable chair before a 24-inch screen, "but the rhetoric—the lexicon, you might say—confuses me terribly."

"Rhetoric? Lexicon? Oh, you mean the terms," he said. "Actually, it's all quite simple. There's the kick, the pass, the run..."

"No, no, my dear chap," interrupted Thistlewaite. "It's those other things—you know, those fellows who are always running for daylight."

"Daylight—that's just an expression," he explained as gently as possible. "Open field. Nobody around, you know, running for daylight. In a Monday night game?"

Thistlewaite's brows became furrows in typical English consternation and he said he also wondered if he were losing his hearing.

"They keep saying on this confounded tube that one of the athletes is having his bell rung I love bells. But I don't see any bells. I don't hear them, either."

"Getting one's bell rung—that's just a way of saying he's knocked out for a while," he said, our patience straining.

"Jolly good, but what about those chaps running into the stands to catch passes. Now in rugby, our boys must remain on the field."

"Oh, no, Thistlewaite," he advised. "You always catch a pass in a crowd. That means some defender is within 10 feet of the receiver."

"Baffling, absolutely baffling," said the dazed visitor. "But what about this Mo fellow? He seems to bob up in every game."

"Mo? What do you mean, Mo?"

"You know, Mo—Mo Menum, or whatever his name is. He is always shifting from one side to the other—a fickle fellow."

"You mean momentum. That's not a man's name. That's... aw, forget it."

SKI AMERICAN by Robel Straubhaar 10---Snowplow Turns

By ROBEL STRAUBHAAR Weight on left ski...
Director, Crested Butte (Col.) Ski School

One of the great satisfactions in skiing comes to the beginner when he successfully completes the snowplow turn.

This turn, the simplest, is of great importance in the making of a good skier because it teaches the basic maneuvers of weight shifting.

You start the turn in the straight snowplow position, facing directly down the fall line. This fall line is the moment of steepest vertical descent. Shift weight to the left ski by pushing and the left knee inward and tipping the upper part of the body over the left ski. While moving to the right, start to turn in the other direction by moving the top of the body from the left side to the right side.

In this position, you gradually shift weight onto the right ski, the uphill one.

This forces you into the fall line and through it in an arc to the left. Once past the fall line, the right ski, the one which was weighted and was the uphill ski, becomes the downhill ski. The turn is now completed.

Start out with slow turns and gradually make quicker turns until you have successfully mastered this most important maneuver. During the turns remember to keep your pole tips in back of you, your arms relaxed, and don't stiffen your legs.

What Keeps Pampa Running?

Every one of us uses an average of three gallons of oil every day. So do all the other 205 million Americans. Oil and natural gas supply 75 percent of our energy needs; almost all transportation, most of what is used for cooking and heating, more than 40 percent of all our electricity.

A country that runs on oil can't afford to run short.

Age-Old Question

Discussing abortion, a topic which may be one of the decade's most controversial, the American Medical Assn. notes in a recent report:

"Although no new liberal state abortion laws have been passed this year (1971), New York's new law has had strong impact. Both maternal and infant mortality have dropped since the law went into effect, and the number of illegitimate births decreased for the first time in a decade."

The U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare's Center for Disease Control estimates that more than 235,000 legal abortions were performed in the United States in 1970. More are expected in 1971.

Many more than half of the abortions were performed in New York, the state with the most liberal of all U.S. abortion laws.

Robert Byrn, chairman of the city's anti-abortion "Right to Life League," recently asked a New York State Supreme Court justice to stop all abortions in the city until a suit he filed in early December was settled.

Byrn's suit was the first major constitutional attack on the state's liberal abortion law which has been in effect since July 1, 1970.

Byrn, most frequently described as a 40-year-old bachelor Catholic law professor, which he is, charges that the New York abortion law violates the 14th Amendment to the Constitution. The amendment says that no state shall "deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law."

The state judge formally appointed Byrn the legal guardian of "Infant Roe," a fictitious name representing all fetuses between four and 24 weeks of gestation who are scheduled to be aborted in New York City hospitals.

Until someone proves otherwise, I believe that human life begins at the moment of conception," says Byrn.

In fact, however, there is little agreement—on scientific, legal or theological levels—as to when a specific human life begins. Today we are really no closer to answering that question than were the ancient Greeks.

Aristotle, for example, believed that the male fetus had a soul 40 days after conception and the female had a soul 80 days after conception. (He didn't specify, however, an accurate method for determining the sex before birth.) Plato and St. Gregory contended, as does Byrn, that the soul was infused at conception, but St. Thomas Aquinas maintained that his did not occur until later.

It seems that this particular question will never be answered to the satisfaction of all. It is something like arguing about how many angels can dance on the head of a pin.

Byrn says that he believes each person "has the right to privacy in regard to our own person. But here there is a superior interest—the right to life."

The question, then, really does boil down to a definition of human life. But whose life? What of the life of the mother who may not want a child? Is her physical or mental health, or social well-being to be threatened?

Robert Byrn has accepted his appointment as the guardian of unborn fetuses in New York City. But his responsibility, it would appear, terminates with the birth of the infant and reverts immediately to its mother, the same mother who, for a variety of reasons, may not have wanted the child at all.

It seems unlikely that a court-appointed guardian of the "unborn fetus," which no longer exists after birth, can provide acceptable answers to the many questions in this debate.

'YEP, THINGS ARE BAD ALL OVER!'

Your Health

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb— It has happened again in our circle of friends. An apparently healthy man in his late 40s died suddenly of a heart attack. I worry that someone close to me or someone visiting our home will suddenly need help and I will not know what to do.

You could help a great deal by stating what happens to a person suffering from an attack and what we could do to help while waiting for a doctor or ambulance. There must be something specific that might even save a person or things one should not do.

Dear Reader—A very good question. About one out of four deaths in this country is from a heart attack. Briefly here is what I recommend:

1. Let the victim lie on his side with his face on the side and turned downward. This will prevent his tongue from falling back and obstructing the windpipe, or prevent choking if vomiting should occur.

2. Do not try to give him anything by mouth to eat or drink.

3. Feel for a pulse at the wrist or in the temple or feel over the chest for a heart beat. If he is conscious he will have one. If he has a heart beat, leave him alone and don't do anything else.

4. If he is unconscious and there is no heart beat then you should attempt artificial heart massage. Breathing will usually be stopped also. In this case turn him on his back and put a small pillow under his neck to thrust his chin outward. Have him lying on a hard surface, like the floor, not a soft bed or couch.

5. Strike a blow with your fist on the chest over his heart and see if it starts on its own. Repeat if necessary.

6. If the heart doesn't start, sit down on your heels beside him and place the heel of one hand over the lower part of the breastbone over the heart. Place your other hand on top of this hand.

7. Now, keeping your elbows straight, raise up on your knees, exerting a quick downward pressure with your hands. This forces the breastbone down and compresses the heart. Then release the hands suddenly and sit back. Make one downward movement each second, compressing the heart at a rate of about 60 beats a minute. You can count one-thousand-and-one, and so on to help you keep a steady rate.

8. If someone else is present, he can do mouth-to-mouth respiration. Be sure the victim's throat isn't clogged. Then hold the victim's nose and exhale into his mouth at a rate of about 10 breaths a minute. If no one else is available you can stop compressing the heart about every 20 seconds and exhale three breaths into the victim's mouth if he is not breathing. Some patients will be breathing and this step can then be eliminated.

Is It Fair?

Senator Jim Allen (D-Ala.) has lashed out at the voting imbalance in the United Nations, asserting that "Aside from the lopsided amount of financial support the U.S. gives the U.N.—over 31 percent—we must consider the U.N. from the standpoint of whether we have sufficient voice in the organization."

He pointed out that there are 131 member nations of the U.N., each having one vote. "The 66 smallest in population have 151,700,000 people, less than 5 percent of the total U.N. member nation population," Senator Allen said, "and they pay only 12 percent of the cost." He asked, "Is it fair for 5 percent of the people to control the U.N.?"

"We should stop playing 'Uncle Sucker' to the morally and financially bankrupt U.N. forum which has assumed a remarkable likeness to the Biblical Tower of Babel," Senator Allen said.

Question Box

QUESTION: Union wages are blamed for high prices and inflation. What causes high prices and inflation, greater than ours, in countries with very low wages and where unions are rare?

ANSWER: Freedom Newspapers does not blame unions for inflation. Freedom Newspapers has constantly pointed out that inflation is caused by an increase in what passes for money that is not accompanied by an increase in production. It is caused largely by government printing currency in order to finance its deficit spending. That is what has caused inflation in the United States and in other nations of the world.

Unions, as well as businesses, chambers of commerce, cities, counties, school districts, state governments and others indirectly contribute to inflation when they encourage the national government to continue spending more than it takes in as taxes. Every subsidy by national government for industry, for agriculture, for cities and states and schools has been adding to the deficits, which "monetizing the debt." But unions cannot be directly charged with causing inflation when their members push for higher wages. Such pay raises, as well as current rising prices, are largely the result rather than the cause of inflation.

John Chamberlain in the November, 1971, Freeman magazine, however, makes one point in a review of Dr. Howard Kershner's new book, "Dividing the Wealth: Are You Getting Your Share?" Dr. Kershner has on occasion called union wage demands inflationary. Chamberlain writes:

"Professor Milton Friedman deeps saying that wage increases, even beyond productivity, do not cause inflation. Technically, of course, he is right, it is only an increase in the money and credit supply that causes inflation. But unproductive wage increases would result in a shrinking market and consequent unemployment if the money supply were not expanded, and where is the political party that can afford to go into an election year without validating the wage increases by flushing the currency? When productivity does not keep pace, it is, as Dr. Kershner says, the higher the wage the higher the price, and the smaller the quantity of goods that can be sold."

We think it is as wrong to blame unions for inflation, however, as it is to blame increasing prices for inflation. However, when industries, farmers and unions seek government spending programs which add to the financial deficits, they are encouraging the politicians to add to the inflation which hurts every one.

The rung of a ladder was never meant to rest upon, but only to hold a man's foot long enough to enable him to put the other somewhat higher.

E. Bengal: Trouble For India, Soviet

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) India and the Soviet Union may have won a lemon. Bangla Desh, or East Bengal, may turn out to be an albatross.

This reporter has traveled its length and has seen its hideous poverty and its bitter overpopulation. He has sat in the shade of houses in the hot East Pakistan sun and heard the hopelessness in the people's voices. They are an appealing and friendly people, but a visitor feels the great sadness in their souls.

For days on end East Bengal's prewar businessmen, government economists and planners and I have discussed the economic future. Without massive inputs of aid and capital investment, the country's outlook is bleak.

Without a multibillion dollar control of the rivers and flood plains the situation is hopeless. Some 75 million people are crowded into a small land the size of Wisconsin, 1,300 to the square mile. Monsoons hit the rice crops heavily. Cyclones and tidal waves take an awful annual toll. A cyclone late last year resulted in almost 250,000 dead.

The diet is deficient. Infant mortality is high. Cholera is endemic in the delta and in nearby Indian areas.

About 1.7 million tons of rice are imported each year to meet East Bengal's food deficits. The land and the farmer depend heavily on jute exports. But jute is under increasing pressure from synthetic substitutes and other fibers.

Neither India nor the Soviet Union have shown a willingness or an ability in the past to put in the foreign aid funds any place in the world on the scale Bangla Desh will require.

The euphoria in Bangla Desh will last a few weeks or a few months. But the citizenry will not be happy for long regardless of how sincerely their rulers operate the government.

But if Bangla Desh through Indian and Soviet aid or through its own efforts and a miracle, should make any sort of progress, there will be the heaviest pressure from the Bengal areas in India to join the new state. There are other repressed groups in India, too, which would feel closer to a Bengal nation than to Hindu India, with its communal hatreds. There, "lesser" groups are held back through intense racial, religious and caste hatreds even deeper than the differences between East Bengal and West Pakistan, which is why the area was attached to faraway

West Pakistan in the first place.

If these prospects were not troublesome enough for the Indians, the Russians and the future rulers in Bangla Desh, then remember the People's Republic of China is close by. Already a small but energetic pro-Mao Communist party is operating in East Bengal and in nearby Calcutta. The Chinese have taken men out of the border areas these past few years for training either in northern Burma or Southwest China. Peking has supplied weapons to some of these underground groups.

Communist China cannot afford to allow the Russians to dominate Southern Asia, with feelers stretching out through Southeast Asia. This would leave Peking virtually surrounded, subject to Soviet whiplashing.

The Chinese already have accused the Indians of illegal border crossings into Chinese territory. There is no indication that Peking will put troops into the fray. But if ground to harass the Indian and Bangla Desh governments internally. How far they will be able to get with their own limited resources is uncertain. But that they will try is quite clear.

WIT AND WHIMSY

We heard that the White House staff has been busy buying fortune cookies to check on the prospects for the President's trip to Peking.

Many more people have TV on than watch it.

Why do the stout women with the large packages wait till rush hour to take the bus home from yule shopping?

Our neighbor is all lit up for the holidays.

There's a difference between being late to work and late to the office.

Getting drunk at work is not only imprudent—it's expensive. Everyone wants to get in on the bottle.

One of the most-gifted persons in the place is the purchasing agent.

Of course, we're not superstitious. (Knock on wood.)

This is the time of year when the kids stay home and watch mommie go buy-buy.

One day of standing in line to buy yule gifts brings out the Ebenezer Scrooge in us.

Friend across the desk says he's planning a new punch for the office party, and he'll hang it on the first guy who gets out of line.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

William Henry Harrison, aged 68, was the oldest person inaugurated as president of the United States. Harrison was the first American president to die in office, succumbing to pneumonia during the first month of his term. The World Almanac recalls. He campaigned for president using a "log cabin and hard cider" slogan.

Kennedy-Wiretap
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says he will renew in the next session of Congress the probe of wiretaps that led to his charge that President Nixon and administration figures have misled the public about the amount of eavesdropping government does.

The Massachusetts Democrat said figures he obtained in an exchange of correspondence with the Department of Justice contradict statements made by the President and by the government before the Supreme Court.

Electronic eavesdropping may be conducted without court approval to gather intelligence deemed to concern national security, but wiretaps to gather information for domestic criminal proceedings must be approved by a judge.

Kennedy said the President told the American Society of Newspaper Editors last April that national security taps by the FBI numbered fewer than 50 per year during his administration.

The senator also said the U.S. solicitor general filed a brief in the Supreme Court which said only 36 telephone taps were conducted without court warrants in 1970.

A letter from Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert C. Mardian, Kennedy said Saturday, showed "that a total of 97 warrantless telephone taps were operated in 1970—almost double the President's figure and almost triple the solicitor general's figure."

The Justice Department replied that Kennedy's allegations were misleading and erroneous.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—Deanne Parker plans to marry Lynn Castner on Sunday, but the bride will not become Mrs. Castner. She will be Ms. Parker.

They have signed a marriage contract, drawn by the bridegroom, that states she will keep her own name.

Ms., initiated by Women's Liberation advocates, is a contraction of Miss and Mrs. and can refer to either title.

Both are lawyers and say they are convinced that a woman can retain her maiden name when she marries—but they decided to sign the contract to avoid any complications.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A convicted murderer has testified in behalf of his victim's widow in a hearing contesting her right to workman's compensation insurance support.

Gary Law, sentenced to 7 to 14 years in prison after pleading guilty to murder, described Thursday for a state referee how he stabbed John A. Baker, a car salesman, during a test drive April 5. Baker's body was found two days later.

Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. and Kenny Ross Chevrolet have refused the widow's claim for $60 weekly support, retroactive to April.

Their objections center on the April 7 date on Baker's death certificate, which indicates the date his body was found, is two days after the date listed as the last day of his employment by Kenny Ross. His last day of employment is listed as April 5, the day he was killed.

A decision from the state referee is expected within 30 days.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—An airliner made a belly landing Friday at Houston International Airport because its landing gear failed to open.

No one among the 12 passengers and two crew members on Texas International Airlines flight was injured. The 15 passenger Beechcraft suffered minor damage. The plane circled the airport more than an hour to burn up excess fuel while firemen spread foam on a runway for the emergency landing.

MONTEREY PARK, Calif. (AP)—A woman police agent answering an anonymous telephone tip that Santa was pushing-pot at a shopping center after buying three lids of marijuana from him, officers say.

A lid is a measure based on what the lid of a tobacco can would hold.

Sam Salazar, 26, of Los Angeles dressed as Santa, was booked Friday for investigation of possessing marijuana, police said.
