WILL INSTALL NEW EQUIPMENT

ELLIS THEATRE IS PUTTING IN NEW WESTERN ELECTRIC TALKING EQUIPMENT

The Ellis Theatre will be closed next Wednesday night, June 18, according to the management, for the installation of new talking equipment but will be reopened Thursday night.

The new Western Electric equipment which is replacing the present DeForest equipment is the latest and best that can be bought. During the past year since the installation of the talking equipment in the Ellis, many improvements have been made in this line, just as there have been in the radio and other modern devices. All of these are employed in the new Western Electric units which have just been on the market for about ninety days.

In making this change Mr. Ellis, owner of the theatre, states, "I believe this new Western Electric motor generator set will give our theatre better sound than we have had in the past. As long as there is a chance of improving our theatre, we will do it, regardless of expense. We feel that the public is entitled to the best and we are going to give it to them."

Every part of the talking equipment will be replaced in the installation of the new Western Electric set, new and larger horns, generator, panel board and pick-up equipment. Like the old equipment, the sound is recorded on the film, which is by far the most satisfactory method of sound recording. Even a new screen will be installed. This equipment will be serviced by a Western Electric engineer very week to see that it is in perfect working condition.

In the near future, the American Theatre will be redecorated and remodeled and the present DeForest equipment will be installed there, giving Perryton two theatres equipped with sound.

TALKIE IS PAGE SUCCESS

OF PLEASURE" ADAPTED FROM "THE LONG WALKER" COMING

The management of the Ellis Theatre announces that the house will be closed next Wednesday night, June 13, at which time the present talking equipment will be dismantled and new Western Electric equipment installed.

Curves are needed to properly display the lines of the new dresses for the form-fitting styles call for feminine roundness to set them off. This means that the girls will be able to drop their rigorous diet measures for they will need more weight in order to reveal the softer contours.

Joan Crawford, the well-known Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star who will appear in her latest picture, "Montana Moon," at the Ellis Theatre on Friday and Saturday, favors following this latest style and to properly display one of her new form-fitting dresses she has allowed her weight to increase a few pounds.

GOES TO PRISON

STUDY CONVICTS' LIFE

Motion picture fans who have missed Richardo Cortez from the screen will find him back again in "Montana Moon," Joan Crawford's new talking-and-singing picture which will open Friday at the Ellis Theatre. John Mack Brown plays opposite Joan as the cowboy sweetheart and the supporting cast includes Dorothy Sebastian, Cliff Edwards, Benny Rubin, Cliff Edwards, and Lloyd Ingraham.

Goes To Prison

William Powell Learns All About Prison Life Without Being Convicted

"If I am ever sent to prison, I won't need a rehearsal." William Powell smiled as he wiped inked hands. He had just been finger-printed while cameras recorded the process for his latest starring picture, "Shadow of the Law."

"I have come to all kinds of bad ends in my screen experiences with the law, but this is the first time I have had my fingerprints taken," he said. "I have been shot, hanged, and put out of the way by various other violent means. So far as I can recall, however, I have never before been sent to the penitentiary."

Powell relaxed in his canvas-backed seat. "Yes, there must have been jails, but I can't recall them just now. No screen career as spotted as mine could escape them, but I never quite reached the dignity of a penitentiary before."

"It is a curious thing," he continued, "the way my screen work has centered about the law. I grew a mustache after my arrival in Hollywood five years ago, because I thought screen opportunities were better for a man with a mustache. Beginning with that mustache, I started breaking laws, and I believe I have broken almost every law that ever found its way to a statute book. In addition to a good many that legislators haven't yet thought of."

"Even when Paramount allowed me to reform, I couldn't get away from the law. I was set to enforce it as Philo Vance, the detective. Then, as the gambler in 'Street of Chance,' I skinned just outside the pale. Now, in 'Shadow of the Law' I'm getting a new experience."

Powell was asked on which side of the law he preferred to be.

"Spending strictly as an actor, not as an individual, I don't care a bit," he said. "I prefer the side that gives me the strongest characterization."

RADIO TURNS ACTOR IN

"CHILDREN OF PLEASURE"

Using a radio as an actor is one of the odd little tricks by which realism was lent the talkies in the making of "Children of Pleasure," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's romance of "Tin Pan Alley," playing at the Ellis Theatre next week.

Lawrence Gray, in the leading role, tunes in on a radio and hears it play his latest song hit for a scene.

It was accomplished as follows: A radio was set up in the scene and a film recording of the song wanted was played off in the recording building into a small transmitter which was picked up by the radio and played. And then, of course, the microphone on the set picked up the voice of the radio, and sent it back to be recorded on the film that went with the picture.

The new picture, which Harry Beaumont directed, is a romantic comedy of a popular song writer who marries a millionaire's daughter. Gray plays the song writer and Helen Johnson, New York stage star, the heroine. The cast includes Wynne Gibson, May Boley, Benny Rubin, Kenneth Thomson and Lee Kohlmar.

WHY MUSTACHES?

Did you ever stop to consider the psychology of the mustache?

William Powell, whose own creation, the "stream-line" mustache, was the result of mature study of mustache suggestion, has learned a lot from his experience.

Five years ago, he grew a mustache to further his screen ambitions. Three months ago, he shaved it off, for the same reason.

"I decided my best chance in motion pictures lay in menage roles," says Powell. "So I created a new type of mustache for myself, neither the close clipped nor unduly long form, but something in between. It opened a long line of villain roles for me. I stole the papers, leered at maidens, and did all the things villains are supposed to do."

However, he did those things in such a gentlemanly, suave way, that he eventually brought himself to stardom, still wearing his mustache.

When assigned his role in "Shadow of the Law," however, Powell was told that his mustache must go. In this picture, which will show at the Ellis Theatre next week, Powell has to go to prison—and prisons never admit mustaches.

The first cowboy chorus to sing for the talking screen is to be seen and heard in "Montana Moon," Joan Crawford's new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature which will open Friday at the Ellis Theatre. John Mack Brown plays opposite Joan as the cowboy sweetheart and the supporting cast includes Dorothy Sebastian, Cliff Edwards, Benny Rubin, Cliff Edwards, and Lloyd Ingraham.

Hail Hits Big Strip

Beaver County Gets Another Hail Loss, From Balke To 15 Miles East

Beaver, Okla., June 5.—Another hail storm hit Beaver county Monday at about six to seven o'clock in the evening, destroying crops along a strip approximately 4 miles wide, and extending from south of Balke to near Knowles. The storm seems to have traveled almost straight east for perhaps 15 miles after passing Balke in a northeasterly direction; and passing about six miles east of Clear Lake, turned northeast toward Knowles. The northern edge of the storm was about six miles south of Beaver, Elmer Boston suffering considerable loss. Southward from that point some of the losers were Dr. Davis, S. S. Strong, Ted Armstrong, Jim Barker, Erma Barker, Dick Fry and Dick Seese.

Over most of the territory hit the wheat was totally destroyed. The hail stones were about the size of cherries except in certain spots where it is reported as large as small eggs, or even as large as baseballs. This seems to have been the case as the storm approached Knowles. A car belonging to Lewis Lindsay, one of the core drilling crew working six miles south and one mile east was battered so that large dents appear in fenders, hood and even one lamp. The top was torn with a dozen holes large enough to put a man's head through.

Some of the farmers losing crops plan to put in broom corn, and others may summer fallow. The season is early enough to permit row crop if desired.

The hail was accompanied by a severe rain. Creeks were quickly filled to overflowing, and reports are frequent that people in the territory affected never saw the streams so high before, and never raised so quickly. At Beaver, where no hail fell, a gentle rain began at six p. m., and continued for about two hours, increasing in intensity during the first hour. The amount, by W. T. Quinn's gauge, was .90.—Beaver Herald-Democrat.

Mrs. Cleo Ferguson and little son returned last week from the Shattuck hospital.

SPEARMAN GETS UTILITY DROP

LOWER POWER, LIGHT AND WATER RATES ARE TO BE EFFECTIVE JUNE 1

Spearman, June 5.—The mayor and city commissioners of the city of Spearman this morning announce that through recent negotiations with the Texas-Louisiana Power and Light Company, the city of Spearman will pay less for electric current used in the future than it has ever paid in the past.

The reduction in price amounts to 25 per cent on all current used by the city for pumping or other power.

The reduction in the price of the current for lights in city hall, pump houses and on water tower, amounts to 500 per cent.

The reduction in the price of the current used for proposed street lighting amounts to about 25 to 33 and one-third per cent.

On current used in the school building the reduction amounts to about 150 per cent.

The reduction in power rate—all motors—amounts to 15 to 25 per cent.

The schedules agreed upon will be printed in next week's Reporter. These rates are effective as of June 1.

The city commissioners also accepted a proposition of the Texas-Louisiana Power and Light Company whereby a White Way for Main street and other street lighting is to be installed. The time of installation of all street lighting, however, is left with the city commissioners. This body does not know this morning when this improvement will be made.

The rapidly increasing amount of electric current used in Spearman, and the recent completion of many improvements by the company is doubtless in a large measure responsible for the generous reductions in rates agreed upon by the city commissioners and the Texas-Louisiana Company.

Not only is Spearman the best watered town on the north plains, but now the city commission announces a substantial cut in the water rate. The reduction in rate will amount to about 25 per cent, or from 40 cents to 30 cents per 1,000 gallons. On all water bills which are paid by the 10th of each month, a ten per cent discount is allowed, and when not paid by the 10th of the month, 10 per cent is added. The new rate card is effective as of June 1, 1930.

The city officials announce that as the amount of water used increases, the rate will be lowered. And this is mighty good news for Spearman folks who are endeavoring to make shade trees and shrubbery grow during this dry spell.—Spearman Reporter.

HARDESTY HAS NEW NEWSPAPER STARTING

Guymon, Okla., June 5.—Volume One, number one of the Hardesty Times is being circulated this week.

It is a new seven column newspaper issued for the town of Hardesty, the thriving new Texas County town on the Amarillo-Liberal branch of the Rock Island Railway. It is being published at the Herald office in Guymon, by Miller and Robinson. Judge R. L. Robinson of Hardesty is the editor and business manager, and has established a business office in Hardesty, and the Judge, who was a publisher before he was an exponent of the law, is giving the town a fine paper. If we are to judge by the first issue, Hardesty is fortunate in having the talent and experience of such a man as Judge Robinson to handle her newspaper enterprise and her business men evidently appreciate the value of a newspaper in building their community, as shown by the cooperation they are giving the Times.—Guymon Panhandle Herald.

Mr. and Mrs. Miles Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Claybaugh, Mrs. J. C. Hickernell and daughter, Virginia Ray, and Billie Ann Lamb were on a fishing trip in Oklahoma Sunday. For the big fish story just ask Mr. Edwards.

POSSIBILITIES OF POULTRY BUSINESS SHOWN

A profit of $2.13 per hen for the five months ending April 1 has been made by Mrs. S. W. Ridgway of Bexar county in a farm flock record contest according to G. P. McCarty, assistant county agent. In the 4-H club boy's and girl's class, Herbert Rittmann was leading with a profit of $2.13 per hen. His demonstration for three years has so established his reputation as a poultryman he was able to sell 42 settings of hatching eggs for $1 per setting during March. In the entire contest 13 flocks show profits for five months well above $1 per hen, which is considered excellent in view of the fact that a $2 profit per year per bird is counted meritorious in the poultry business.

SKIM MILK CHEAPENS EGG COST PRODUCTION

Skim milk in the poultry ration has reduced the cost of producing eggs nearly 5 cents per dozen for five Shackleford county poultry demonstrators. The milk permitted a cheap grain ration and resulted in a feed cost of 7.7 cents per dozen for eggs from these flocks as compared to an average cost of 12 cents per dozen in five other demonstration flocks where no milk was used.

It is pointed out by A. C. Magee, county agent, that 100 hens will consume with profit about three gallons of skim milk daily, and that when this amount is available the expensive protein feeds in the mash may largely be omitted. If cows are good, 100 hens to each dairy cow is a good balance to maintain between the dairy and poultry branches of the farm business, he says.

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Gidley and children and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Allen visited Sunday in the home of Mr. Allen and Mrs. Gidley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Allen, Gate, Okla. Marthaella and Chellis Gidley remained for a two weeks visit with their grandparents.

GUYMON EDITOR URGES CONVERSION OF ABANDONED WARD SCHOOL INTO A MODERN MUNICIPAL HOSPITAL

Giles Miller, editor of the Guymon Herald, in commenting on the opening of the Plaza Hospital in this city, urges the conversion of their south side ward school into a hospital. This ward school was built several years ago at a cost of many thousands of dollars to the taxpayers of the Guymon district, but it has proven to be a "white elephant", and very unsatisfactory in many ways. The great majority of the pupils and their parents prefer to go to the large central school even though the distance is a few blocks more to walk. We quote the Guymon Herald as follows:

"Last week's issue of the Ochiltree County Herald of Perryton, Texas, announces the completion and opening of their new fifty thousand dollar May & Budd Hospital with a twenty-five bed capacity which is modern in every respect. This is a one-story Spanish type structure, and the illustration brings to our mind the possibilities that Guymon has of turning that south side school structure of ours into a modern hospital. With almost daily calls for medical and surgical attention on the part of the people in this vicinity, Guymon needs such an institution. It may be necessary to enlarge this structure at a later date, but the possibilities of turning this into a splendid hospital are evident by the illustration of the Perryton institution. While hospitals in themselves are many times unprofitable institutions from a financial standpoint, they add greatly to the prestige of any city, and Liberal, Kansas, and Dalhart, Texas, ascribe much of their popularity to the advantage afforded the cities by their hospitals. With very little more expense, our south side school structure could be turned into a thoroughly modern hospital, and it is serving no purpose at the present time. It is doubtful if the people of Guymon will ever be satisfied to segregate their children to this ward school, and from the expression from the youngsters themselves, we know they will never be satisfied with such a disposition. Let's make it into a hospital for Guymon."

ENID BANKER GETS A REPLY TO HIS NOTICE

An Enid banker recently received the following letter from one of his customers:

"I wish to inform you that the present condition of my bank account makes it impossible for me to send you a check in response to your request."

"My present financial condition is due to the effects of Federal Laws, State Laws, County Laws, Corporation Laws, By Laws Brother-in-Laws, Brother-in-Laws and Out-laws, that have been foisted upon an unsuspecting public. Through these various Laws, I have been held down, held up, walked on, sat on, flattened and squeezed until I do not know where I am, what I am or why I am."

"These laws compel me to pay a merchants tax, capital stock tax, excess tax, income tax, real estate tax, property tax, auto tax, gas tax, water tax, light tax, cigar tax, street tax, school tax, syntax and carpet tax."

"In addition to these taxes I am requested and required to contribute to every society and organization that the inventive mind of men can organize. To the Society of St. John, the Women's Relief, Navy League, the Children's Home, the Policemen's Benefit, the Dorcas Society, the Y. M. C. A., the Boy Scouts, the Jewish Relief, the Near East, the Gold Diggers Home, also every hospital and every charitable institution in town, The Red Cross, the Black Cross, the White Cross, and Double Cross and the Purple Cross."

"The government has so governed my business that I do not know who owns it. I am suspected, expected, inspected, disrespected, examined, re-examined, informed, re-informed, commanded and compelled until all I know is that I am supposed to provide an inexhaustible supply of money for every human race, desire or hope of the human race, and because I refuse to donate to all and go out and beg, borrow and steal money to give away, I am cursed, and discussed, boycotted, talked to, talked about, lied to, lied about, held up, held down and robbed until I am nearly ruined, so the only reason I am clinging to life is to see what the hell is coming next."

In Praise of Earthworms

If the earthworms were to publish a magazine, some dramatic success stories would be recorded.

It would tell, for example, the remarkable career of John G. Worm. Born of humble parents, in dark surroundings, he managed by his own effort to push himself up to the surface. There he was spied by Fortune in the form of a robin, which snatched him high into the clouds. His moment of elevation was brief, but while it lasted the vision was splendid.

It would tell of Frederick L. Worm, who was working along quietly one day when an upheaval tossed him to fame and glory. Success was attended by pain, as is often the case. He was impaled upon a fishhook and carried away to be immersed in a strange element. There his life ended, but not before he had done the biggest job ever achieved by any member of his family. The fortune he landed devoured him, but it was a big fortune.

To the other worms these stories might be discouraging. "Fame is for the few," they would say. "Nothing ever happens to us. We just stir around awhile and die."

It would surprise them to know that a book was written about worms by the great scientist Darwin. Their surprise would be intensified if they were to learn that this book makes no mention of the exceptional members of their tribe. The few worms that are carried into the clouds, or succeed in landing big fish, are dismissed by him as of small importance.

But the great mass of unknown worms, who spend their whole lives beneath the surface of observation, he hails as the most important creatures in the world.

If for one year they should cease their industrious digestion of the leaf mold and their incessant stirring of the ground, no crops would grow, and animals and men would die.

I think that Darwin's book on earthworms should be a part of all education, along with the inspiring biographies of the great. It would tend to teach us humility. We human beings who walk so proudly as monarchs of the world—what are we anyway? Beneficiaries of the worms, without whose leave we could not live a year.

As for fame, it is stimulating, and lifts the spirit of the crowd. But shall we despair because to most of us it is denied?

Beneath the surface life is carried forward by the sustained loyalty of the mass. And who shall doubt that there are Purposes as far beyond our reckoning as our lives—which they make possible—are beyond the vision of the worms?

EARLY PREPARATION INCREASES PROTEIN

"The soil and climatic conditions have almost everything to do with the protein content of wheat," says H. M. Bainer, director, Southwestern Wheat Improvement Association. Continuing he says, "Of course the farmer is unable to control the climate, but he can control his soil conditions to a large extent. It is definitely known that nitrogen is the principal constituent of protein and that the protein content of wheat varies in direct proportion to the amount of available nitrates in the soil. Anything, therefore, that can be done to increase the available soil nitrogen will increase the protein in wheat. The two most practical ways of increasing the soil nitrogen are through early preparation of the seedbed and by rotation of wheat with legumes."

"Early preparation puts the soil in a splendid physical condition. It keeps down the weeds and gives the heat, sunshine and soil moisture a chance to manufacture and accumulate such nitrates and other plant foods as are required to produce high protein wheat. This early work will not only increase the protein from 1 to 2 per cent but will increase the yield from 3 to 7 bushels per acre. On the other hand, wheat ground prepared late, usually grows a heavy crop of weeds, before it is worked, which uses up the moisture and nitrates and by the time the seedbed is ready for wheat, too little time is left to accumulate the nitrates that are needed."

"Where the rainfall is sufficient, some of the best legumes to grow in rotation with wheat are alfalfa, sweet clover, cowpeas and soybeans. Where the rainfall is limited, sweet clover is the best legume to use. Properly inoculated legumes have the ability of increasing the soil nitrogen, with the result that the following wheat crop produces an increase in yield of 5 or more bushels per acre with from 1 to 3 per cent more protein."

Harold Hawk and Augustus Moore have just recently returned from a business trip in central Kansas and a visit with friends in Salina, Kans. President T. T. Roberts, of Randolph College, spoke at the Christian church Sunday evening. Following a splendid children's day program under the direction of Miss Mildred Potter. His message on Christian education was to the point and appreciated. Randolph College last year had the best basket ball girls team in America. The topic of President Roberts address was "To Govern Education by Making it Christian Education and Turning Its Forces to Developing and Building and not to Destruction." He, perhaps, is the most forceful speaker that ever appeared in the Christian church.

Miss Nobody from Nowhere

BY ELIZABETH JORDAN

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

A beautiful young woman finds herself on the sidewalk in a strange city. She cannot remember her name or where she came from. She has nothing in her purse to tell herself who she is. A young man who has seen her in the hotel where she is stopping notices her and takes her to the hotel in a cab. There they find that she registered, in French, as "Miss Eve Nobody of Nowhere." The clerk has been calling her "Miss Parsons." The young man tells her she is in New York. His name is Eric Hamilton, of Chicago. She is terrified at her loss of memory. He asks his friend, Dr. Carrick, a nerve specialist, to call at the hotel. Dr. Carrick talks encouragingly, but says he will send a nurse to stay with the mysterious "Miss Parsons" that night.

"Miss Nobody" listens while Hamilton tells her what the doctor has said, then steps into another room. When the nurse arrives, the girl has vanished from the hotel!

Eve's departure was simple. She went out of a back door into the servants' hall of the hotel, where she encountered a young French porter, who claimed to recognize her. He had seen her in Paris. "Then you know my name?" she demanded eagerly. But the porter had forgotten that. He would write at once to a friend in Paris and find the name of the American young lady they had both admired. He tells her of an apartment house where the janitor, he thinks, would take her in. Meantime, while Hamilton is anxiously hunting up the nerve specialist for advice, Eve gets into a taxicab and drives away.

She arranges with Marcel's friend, the janitor of a dingy little apartment house on the East Side of New York, for a small furnished apartment. He tells her not to be frightened if she hears the young woman who occupies the next apartment come in very late in the morning. Eve wonders what sort of a place place she has gone into.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

The third night in the new quarters was another nightmare. For the mental fog did not lift. She was not to be relieved from it, then, in the three days. She had not realized how great her hope had been, how strongly it had buoyed her, till she felt this staggering blow of disappointment. But time, even three days of it, does something for one at twenty-three. The nightmare was not so bad and hope's whispers were louder. This would not last long. This could not last long. It might end at any minute.

In the meantime she would occupy herself as much as she could. If it were to last, a reconstruction of life would be necessary. But as yet she closed her ears to the sound of battles in the future. If she must fight them, she would be up to them; at least she began to hope she would. But surely she could give herself a week of waiting.

The days were as alike as telegraph poles along a country road. She walked and read and kept her record with brief exactitude. All the time Memory was at her side like a motionless black figure, seemingly preparing to move, yet never moving.

WHAT DR. CALDWELL LEARNED IN 47 YEARS PRACTICE

A physician watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible. Hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the system and is not habit forming. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic purges and purges. He did not believe they were good for anybody's system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to the nearest druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, or write "Syrup Pepsin," Dept. B.P., Monthsville, Illinois, for free trial bottle.

ing. A hundred times a day Eve caught at the trailing end of some suggestion which refused to be caught. She realized that these frantic, futile clutches were wearing her out, yet she dared not discontinue them. At any minute one of them might lead her back. . . .

She spent most of her afternoons in the reading-rooms of the library, walking to and from this refuge, for the exercise. Several times she met Miss Davenport on the stairs of the old apartment-house, and was glad to observe that the young dancer had lost her look of acute physical suffering, though her face still had a bluish pallor.

The late afternoon of the fourth day was brightened by a visit from her neighbor. The girl breezed in without waiting for an answer to a rather assertive knock, revealing herself clad in a red Japanese kimono, with slippers and silk stockings to match. Her bobbed hair, which was naturally wavy, shone from a recent brushing. Eve observed with pleasure as she rose to greet her that there was no frowns in the appearance of the new-comer. She was as immaculate as a red carnation and had the grin of a friendly puppy and a taking air of camaraderie. Nothing about her suggested the stricken figure of a few nights before.

"Hello," she began, and added ingratiatingly, without giving her hostess a chance to reply "got any cigarettes you can spare?"

"No, I don't smoke. I'm awfully sorry."

Miss Davenport sighed. "I'm out," she said. "I'll have to send Smith to get some."

But she made no move to leave, and Eve smiled at her, patting her head. "What's your line?" the caller suddenly demanded.

"My line?"

"Yep. Your spiel," the other explained. "You gotta have eats, ain't you? How'd you pay for 'em?"

"Oh, you mean how do I earn my living?" Eve's sense of pleasure in the interview perished. "I'm resting now," she said in a tone that forbade further inquiries; but she softened it by asking interestingly, "What do you do?"

"Me? I dance at Jake's."

Miss Davenport gave the information in a tone which implied that her mind was on something else. "Where's Jake's?"

Miss Davenport gave the information, and went on with the gusto attending an evidently enthralling subject. "Jake's," it appeared, was not what you'd call one of the town's swell joints. Neither was it a tough one. Eve inferred that it lay in comfortable security somewhere between these extremes, and the speaker added that Jake himself was a good egg.

"You don't need a letter from your pastor to get into Jake's but you sure get kicked out quick if you don't behave yourself while you're there." Ivy enthusiastically testified. "You shake a loose ankle, too, don't you?" she ended, so suddenly that Eve was startled out of her caution.

"I don't know," she admitted. "Huh?"

"I mean I don't know whether I'm a good dancer or not."

That brought another stare. Then Miss Davenport rose.

"You come into my joint an' I'll soon tell you," she remarked with decision.

She led the way back to her own quarters as she spoke, in superb assurance that she would be followed before accompanying the other girl across the hall.

Miss Davenport's joint seemed at first like the ghost of a room, in which the added specter of a piano grinned at the visitor out of the shadows. The place was clean but cluttered.

A tall mirror stood in one corner, and a photograph in another corner supplemented the musical atmosphere lent by the piano.

Miss Davenport wound up the phonograph. She put on a record and the little room was filled with dance music, to which the hostess at once began to dance a fox-trot.

"Know this?" she demanded. "I . . . think so."

"Try it."

There was something in the music that was not unlike the hostess, and the guest responded to them both. She rose and took a few steps, at first tentatively, then with conviction.

"And you didn't know whether you could dance!" Miss Davenport jeered. "Know this?"

She began to dance a rather intricate Charleston, and Eve shook her head.

"I'm afraid not."

"Well, try it."

Her persistence, though odd, was friendly and Eve tried it.

"Not so good," the hostess admitted. "This is the way. See?"

She went through the steps and made a few suggestions, put her guest twice through the dance, and dropped into a chair with a sudden look of exhaustion.

"I'm all in," she admitted. "It gets me that way, these days—even a little of it. Ain't it the limit, when I've always been so well? . . . Say, what's your name, anyhow?" she interrupted herself to ask.

"Personne."

"Person? I thought that's what Smith said 'twas. All right. Listen. Miss Berson, let's get down to cases. I ain't been doing this for my health, draggin' you in here an' puttin' you through a rehearsal. It's business. See? What I want to say is—you're out of a job, ain't you? Well, I'm the Jane can get you one!"

She was so beamingly satisfied with her little ruse and its success that Eve was touched.

"It's awfully good of you," she said warmly, but—

"But nothin', it's with Jake!" Eve shook her head.

"You're more than kind," she said. "I can't thank you. But dancing isn't my line."

"You ain't great," Miss Davenport frankly admitted. "But you're good. An' you got a nice look about you. You'd suit Jake like a poached egg suits toast. He likes 'em re-e-fined."

"I'm sorry," she said, "but it's out of the question. Thank you a thousand times, just the same. This world seems full of Good Samaritans."

Eve gave much thought to Miss Davenport's suggestion in the week that followed. If this thing was going on the time for reconstruction work must soon come. She must tackle the job of living. She must do something to earn money. She had paid seventy-five dollars for less than a month's rent—far to much. She could not live indefinitely on that remaining two hundred dollars. What wage-earning possibilities could she consider?

A second call from Miss Davenport answered the question.

At ten o'clock one night a week later a sharp tap on Eve's outer door was impatiently repeated before she could respond to it. The door opened before Eve could reach it, and the impulsive person on the threshold projected herself into the room.

It was Ivy Davenport, as resplendent as a Christmas tree and clearly dressed for Jake's; but the expression on her implish face was one of acute agony.

"Say," she asked without preface, "got a hot-water bottle?" As if in explanation of this abrupt request she clasped her side with her hand and lurched across the room, dropping with a groan into the nearest chair.

"One of my attacks," she brought out between stiff lips. "I get 'em every now and then, damn 'em, an' they're just hell. I started out thinkin' I'd got over this, like I do sometimes, but I hadda come back. They ain't killed me yet, so I guess this won't."

"But it'd help an awful lot if I could crawl into bed and make a pet of a hot water bottle."

"I'm terribly sorry," Eve hurried to her side. "I haven't a thing."

Ivy bent and twisted under a spasm of pain.

"Let me help you to bed," Eve said quickly. "Can you get back if I give you an arm?"

"I guess so . . . but don't rush me!" The girl stood up with a gasp, leaning heavily on the supporting arm.

"I'll put you to bed first. Then I'll run out and get a hot-water bottle. I suppose there's a drug store near here. Perhaps I can get something else, too. What helps you?"

"I got some medicine, but nothin' helps me like the hot-water bottle does. I took mine to Queenie Morris's, Sunday night, and forgot it the next mornin'. Whatcha know 'bout that? The one thing I ain't never without since these attacks began."

"Don't try to talk."

Eve helped her back across the hall and into Ivy's bedroom.

"You're awful good," Ivy groaned, lending herself to the ministrations like a helpless child. "I'll feel better soon's I'm between the sheets."

Undressing her was a simple process, and Eve performed it easily. She feebly indicated red pajamas lying across the foot of the bed, and Eve hustled her into them.

"It's a shame to leave you do all this," Ivy muttered. "But if I bent I'd never straighten out again."

"I'm glad to help you."

Eve got her into bed. As she did so she wondered if she had been a nurse in her previous state of existence. It was pleasant to discover that she could do things efficiently. It bolstered her self-respect.

"Now I'll go for the hot-water bottle," she told the patient. "Keep still till I get back. Hadn't I better call a doctor, too?"

"No, I don't want no doctor round me."

Despite her pain Ivy spoke sharply, almost roughly, and Eve felt a deepening of her strong fellow-feeling for this other girl, who so obviously shared her dread of the profession.

Before she left the apartment, she put the water on to boil. When she got back she filled the bottle and gave it to the sufferer, who settled it into place with a groan of relief.

"Most of the pain's here," Ivy said, vaguely indicating a region between her waist and her heart. "But none of the fool doctors could tell me what makes it longer now, but I over."

"I'll sit here till the amateur nurse chair close to the door. Just relax and try she added as she left the room."

Experience of large fleet owners re

the unusual reliability and econo

of the new Ford

A SIGNIFICANT TRIBUTE to the value of the new Ford is found in its increasing use by Federal, state and city governments and by large industrial companies which keep careful day-by-day cost records. In most instances, the Ford has been chosen only after exhaustive tests of every factor that contributes to good performance—speed, power, safety, comfort, low cost of operation and up-keep, reliability and long life.

Prominent among the companies using the Ford are the Associated Companies of the Bell System, Armour and Company, The Borden Company, Continental Baking Corporation, Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, General Electric Company, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Kellogg Company, Knickerbocker Ice Company, Morton Salt Company, Pillsbury Flour Mills Company, The Procter and Gamble Company, and Swift & Company.

Each of these companies uses a large number of Ford cars and trucks. The Associated Companies of the Bell System use more than eight thousand.

Modern business moves at a fast pace and it needs the Ford. Daily, in countless ways and places, it helps to speed the production and delivery of the world's goods and extend the useful service of men and companies.

Constant, steady operation over many thousands of miles emphasizes the advantages of the sound design of the Ford car, its high quality of materials, and unusual accuracy in manufacture. Beneath its graceful lines and colors there is a high degree of mechanical excellence.

An example of the value built into Ford is the use of more than two million roller bearings. They are within the car and you may not see them. Yet they play an important part in satisfactory, economical performance. Their function is similar to the fine watch.

Throughout the Ford chassis, roller bearing is used at every point where it is needed to reduce wear and give smooth, reliable mechanical operation.

At many points, as on the transmission counter-shaft, clutch release, pump shaft, and front drive shaft, ball and roller bearings are used. These less costly types of bearings are considered adequate.

Additional instances of the quality built into the Ford are the extensive use of steel forgings, enclosed four-wheel brakes, Reinforced Steel, four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, aluminum torque-tube drive, three-quarter rear axle, and the Triplex shutter glass windshield.

The Ford policy has always been to use the best possible material for part and then, through large production, give it to the public at low

36 Square Inches of Compound Separation to Every Inch of Cut

AMPLE and efficient separation is important. In the Curtis Model 30 Combine, the grain—in the same place and at the same time—passes through a compound or two way separation, which is unaffected by uneven ground or side slope. There are over 5,200 sq. in. of separation or more than 36 sq. in. of separation to every one inch of cut. The straw and weeds are carried back to the straw spreader which deposits them over the field, while the grain drops down to the cleaner. The special Curtis Cleaning Unit embodies a fan of extra size with laminated fan boards mounted on malleable spiders which direct the blasts of air through the Adjustable Sieve and the No-Choke Chaffer, insuring perfectly cleaned grain in the bin.

Hi-Lo Bridge Club

Mrs. J. R. Thomas was hostess Friday afternoon to the members of the Hi-Lo bridge club and a few guests at the home of her sister, Mrs. Leo Johnson.

Mrs. E. L. Lawson held high score among the guests, while Mrs. J. C. May and Mrs. T. D. Moss received club favors. Delicious refreshments were served after the awarding of prizes.

Those enjoying the afternoon were: Meses. Van W. Stewart, Paul Hallow, T. D. Moss, Horace Lackey, Paul Bowen, Jas. F. Bray, Fred Hood, H. C. Sanford, Dewey Allen, Gladys Bray, J. C. May, Ed Lawson, Robert Lawrence, Frank P. Dodson, Fred Battle, R. T. Correll, T. A. Roper, Jas. E. Barbour, R. B. Orrill and Leo Johnson.

Sorosis Club

The Fine Arts department of the Sorosis club met at the home of Mrs. L. L. Lance on Wednesday afternoon, June 4, with Mrs. T. D. Moss and Mrs. L. T. Tucker assisting hostesses.

The study for the afternoon was "Norway, Sweden and Denmark." These topics were ably discussed by Mrs. D. D. Shanks, Mrs. R. T. Correll, and Mrs. H. I. Hudson. Miss Nellie Perry, the new chairman, read the club program for the coming year. The subject is "Famous Artists and Their Works."

Happy vacation wishes were exchanged and Grandmother Perry received a large majority. A delicious plate lunch was then served to the guests and members.

Good-Landers

Canyon, June 5.—Miss Margaret Good of Perryton, a former student of W. T. and LeRoy Landers of McLean, a student of the college here, were quietly married here Saturday morning with only a few friends witnessing the ceremony. Judge B. F. Fronabarger performed the ceremony in the county court house at 10 o'clock.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Good of Perryton. She obtained her degree from West Texas State Teachers College in the spring of 1929 after completing all four years of her college work here. During her studies here she was a member of the Lloyd Green Allen Scholarship Society and active in the affairs of the student body. She has been teaching in the public schools of Dimmitt for the past term.

Mr. Landers is the son of Mr.

and Mrs. T. A. Landers of McLean. He was reared in that city, completing his high school work there. He has been a student in W. T. S. T. C. since that time and is a candidate for his degree in the summer graduating class. Mr. Landers has taken an active part in both the scholastic and athletic phases of college life, being one of the first ranking tennis players for four years and the T. I. A. A. champion in tennis this year. He has been deputy county clerk for Randall county for two years.

The couple left immediately after the ceremony for Carlsbad, New Mexico, returning to make their home here during the summer months.

At the regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary Monday, June 2, the following business was taken up:

Mrs. Dewey R. Allen was unanimously elected secretary to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Allen King, who resigned.

It was reported by Mrs. Lawson, chairman of the clothing committee for children of needy ex-service men, that the box of clothing sent to Kerrville for the families there had been received, and they wished to thank every one, as clothing was needed very much.

A letter was received from our adopted man. He has been transferred from the hospital at San Antonio to the one at Kerrville. He has been in poorer health and they thought the higher altitude would help. The $5.00 sent him several weeks ago had been used to buy a hat and pay for laundering his shirts. It was voted that we send him $10.00, as he may be needing more clothing.

Mrs. Lackey, the Poppy Chairman, reported that we received $242.25 from the poppy sale.

It was voted that we have a "Tacky" picnic. Memorial day the Auxiliary helped the Legion with their services, and furnished the flags and decorated all soldiers graves.

We meet every first and third Monday in the month. All members are urged to attend these meetings, and we will be glad to welcome any new members.

Tacky Party

About 5 o'clock Monday afternoon some very respectable looking people were to be seen here and there on the streets of Perryton. The citizens of the town were much alarmed by they thought a band of gypsies had come to town. In reality there was no need for any fright for it was only the American Legion and Auxiliary staging their annual tacky party. This time they planned on having an open air affair at Jines Spring but owing to the rain it was held in the Legion hall as usual.

At 7:30 a bounteous buffet supper was spread and served to about fifty members and their children.

Various games were played throughout the evening.

Collinsworth-Parson

On the first day of June, the month of brides, Miss Loreatta Collinsworth and Mr. Ralph Parson were quietly married at Guymon, Okla.

Miss Loreatta is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Collinsworth and moved with her parents to this city from Frisco, Texas, about a year ago. During her brief stay here she has made a host of friends who regret to lose her but follow her with a shower of love, wishing her much love and happiness. She graduated from P. H. S. in May.

Mr. Parson's home is in Jonesville, Va., but he has been working in Perryton during the past winter as barber at the Sure Shave shop. He made many lasting friends as song leader for the senior B. Y. P. U. He has many sterling qualities.

This young couple left early Sunday morning for a honeymoon trip to Chicago, New York and other eastern points. After which they will be at home in Jonesville, Va.

LONG STRUGGLE NEARING AN END

"Few Bottles of Argotane Have Done Me More Good Than All Else Combined," Says Amarillo Mother

"I've had a long hard struggle with ill health, but by the help of Argotane I have found relief at last," said Mrs. L. M. Hassell, residing at 1610 Buchanan St., Amarillo, Texas. "I had gall bladder trouble and indigestion so bad for two years that my life was miserable, but I'm a whole lot better since I began taking Argotane, and medicine that is doing so much for suffering people can't be praised too much. I've spent lots of money trying to get some ease but it's the truth, two bottles of Argotane has done me more real good than everything else I ever took combined."

"When I first began taking it I couldn't eat anything without hurting me. Any of the heavy or nourishing foods sour on my stomach and I would be very bilious. I was fearfully nervous and when I fell asleep at night the least noise would wake me. My head got so dizzy at times that I would reel. "What caused me to take Argotane was reading so many statements about others in the papers and now I'm talking Argotane every chance I get. I can eat just anything I want and enjoy it and never feel the slightest bad effect from it. I sleep every night."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Perryton at the Shindler Drug Co. 20-11-c

FORMER RESIDENT OF COUNTY PASSES AWAY

P. M. Ferguson, age 73, a former resident of Ochiltree county and the father of J. W. Ferguson and J. V. Ferguson of this community, passed away at his home in Deora, Colo., last Tuesday. Funeral services for the deceased were held at Springfield, Colo., where burial was made.

Obituary

Pleasant M. Ferguson was born in Tennessee, August 25, 1856. He departed this life, June 3, 1930, age 73 years, 8 months and 8 days.

He was converted very early in life and united with the M. E. Church South, of which church and Sunday school he was an active worker. He always felt the responsibility of spreading the gospel to a lost world and was more than willing to help with his time and means.

He made friends with those he came in contact with, was especially kind of children and always had their love and respect.

When a child he moved from Tennessee with his parents to Denton county, Texas, where he grew to manhood. On June 18, 1877, he was united with Nancy J. Gray in marriage. To this union were born eleven children, six boys and five girls. One son and one daughter preceded him in death. The surviving children are: J. W. Ferguson and J. V. Ferguson, Perryton; P. L. Ferguson, Boise City, Okla.; E. C. Ferguson and L. L. Ferguson, Pritchett, Colo.; Mrs. B. R. Monigold, Barnsdall, Okla.; Mrs. Lydia Westerman, Fowler, Colo.; Mrs. G. P. Wooten, Dumas; and Mrs. E. H. Beagle, Springfield, Colo.

At the time of his death there were the following relatives surviving him: a wife, nine children, fifty-nine grand children, twenty-six great-grand children, two brothers and three sisters.

In the winter of 1897 he moved with his family to Cordell, Okla., and settled upon a homestead where he lived until 1911. He then moved to Ochiltree county and settled upon the old Branson ranch near Huntington. In the spring of 1917 he moved to Deora, Colo., where he was residing at the time of his death.

Funeral services were held in Springfield, Colo., and he was laid to rest in the Springfield cemetery. Pallbearers at the services were his five surviving sons and one of their cousins, Gilbert Ferguson, Cordell, Okla.

There were sixty-four of the family relatives present at the funeral services, among the number was his wife, nine children, one brother, one nephew, the rest being grand children and great-grand children. A large number of neighbors and friends from Deora, Colo., were in attendance.

In the passing away of this dear one, we have lost a darling husband, a dear father, a brother, grand father and great grandfather. "We sorrow, but we do not sorrow as those that have no hope. Tho he be dead, yet we know that he shall live again."

"We know that our Heavenly Father doeth all things well, and our lot is His gain and we humbly bow our heads in submission to His will. There is a vacant chair and a vacant place in our hearts. Through sadness and sorrow we are made to draw near Him who is able to heal the broken and wounded hearts, and fill the vacant place."

As the family circle is being broken here upon earth we pray that we may make the preparation and live such lives here, that we will be re-united on Heavenly shores, where the circle will never be broken.

"Asleep in the arms of Jesus, Oh, calm and sweet repose. We know that thy dreams are peaceful, No pain thy spirit knows."

ATTEND FUNERAL RITES OF FATHER AT CLYDE

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Shanks returned home Sunday from Clyde, where they were called to attend the funeral of Mrs. Shanks' father, D. W. Alsbrook, age 70, who was found dead in a well into which he had fallen last Thursday morning.

The following article concerning the accident was clipped from the Abilene Morning News:

Clyde, June 5.—Funeral services are to be held here Friday afternoon for D. W. Alsbrook, 70, prominent truck farmer of Clyde who was found dead in a well into which he had fallen this morning. His body was taken from the well by neighbors after Mrs. Alsbrook, seeking him shortly after noon, saw his hat floating in the well.

There was no water in the lungs when the body was recovered, and except for a slight bruise on the head there were no marks on the body. It was thought Mr. Alsbrook was stricken by a heart attack as he was drawing water. He had been setting out pepper plants and was preparing to water the field.

Although the land on which he was working is owned by F. P. Boyd, Mr. Alsbrook owned his home in Clyde and a farm west of here. He was well known throughout this vicinity, owning stock in the First State Bank here and in the Clyde Mercantile company. He had lived in Clyde for about 20 years.

Mr. Alsbrook is survived by his wife and five children, Mrs. David Shanks of Perryton, Mrs. Carlos Richter and Mrs. Rex Shanks of Loreda, Mrs. Ruth Crowley of Fisher county and Harry Alsbrook of Bristow, Okla. All the children were expected here for the funeral which will be held at the family residence at 3:30 p. m. Burial will be in the Clyde cemetery.

MRS. D. C. WELDON

Miss Marion Roseta Hooper was born October 2, 1874, at Magazine, Ark., and died June 9, 1930, at her home in Perryton, Texas.

When just a child she professed faith in Christ and united with the Cumberland Presbyterians later she joined the Baptist church.

In 1891 she was united in marriage with D. C. Weldon. To this union ten children were born. All are living. They are John Thomas, Edgar Elmore, Harman Newton, Eugene Victor and Francis Mae, Perryton; Warren Richard, Chickasha, Okla.; Ben Henry, Cedar Lane, Texas; Joseph, Altus, Okla.; Mrs. Sally Orinda Smythe, Gray, Okla., and Mrs. Pearl Emerson, Teskahoma, Okla.

Funeral services were held at the Weldon home Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. C. Lex Shelby and Rev. Edgar A. Irvine. Interment was made at the Ochiltree cemetery.

FUNERAL HELD TUESDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. John Appling were held at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Leonard Frye, Tuesday evening, June 10, with Rev. L. O. Byerly in charge. Interment was made in the Gray cemetery.

Mrs. Appling was 85 years, 7 months and 16 days of age. She made her home with her granddaughter, Mrs. Frye, who lives near Gray, Okla. Beside the granddaughter, she leaves a son, Willie Appling, Tarkio, Mo., and eight grandchildren to mourn her passing.

FUNERAL SERVICES TODAY: THREE O'CLOCK

Charlotte Julia, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Tevis, passed away Tuesday, June 10, at the Shattuck hospital, following an astero-myelitis operation. Charlotte was always happy and cheerful and her death comes as a dark shadow to her friends and to her relatives who loved her so dearly.

Rev. C. Lex Shelby will have charge of the funeral services, which will be held at 3:00 o'clock today, Thursday, at the Baptist church. After which the remains will be laid to rest in the Ochiltree cemetery.

A complete obituary will be given next week.

CROSS
 Prior, D. D.
 The work of Jesus 1800 years ago, with worthwhile power whereby Time is A. D. 1890.
 The nearness in time between Heaven and earth is indicated by the promise made to the penitent thief on one of the three crosses. Jesus said, after his entreaty, "Today thou shalt be with me in Paradise." Paul in II Corinthians 5: 8 makes it clear that "To be absent from the body is to be at home with the Lord."

VALUES
 A boy is worth $9,333 when he is born, if his family has an income of $2,500 a year, an insurance expert calculates. That is what it would take, put out at interest at 3 1/2 per cent to rear him to the age of eighteen and produce the net income which he may be expected to earn from then on. It costs the average family $7,238 to bring up a boy and put him through high school. By the time he is eighteen, however, he is worth $28,654, again figuring his potential earning capacity.
 On that basis the male population of the United States is worth one trillion, one hundred and forty-four billion dollars.

GASOLINE
 Cheaper gasoline and a smaller surplus of heavy fuel oil are the results expected from the adoption in this country of a new German process for adding hydrogen gas to crude petroleum. This is one of the revolutionary discoveries of science, which are being made so rapidly that every industry has to be constantly on the lookout lest its whole methods have to be changed over night.

Not so many years ago gasoline was a waste product. Then Daimler invented the gasoline engine and that part of the petroleum suddenly became the most useful. The Diesel engine, which uses heavy oil fuel, has not yet been sufficiently developed to consume anything like the surplus left after the gasoline has been extracted.

DEFENSE
 Thirty-seven ships of war steamed into New York harbor through the fog the other morning. Overhead 160 Navy airplanes, loomed from the deck of the airplane carrier, "Saratoga," soared over the city. It was the Navy's demonstration of strength, and an impressive one.

Navy men do not like the program of reducing armaments. They would like us to believe that all the rest of the world is watching for a chance to pounce upon us and that only an enormous Navy can keep us from being gobbled up.
 One does not have to agree with their point of view, however, to admit that a battle fleet in the Hudson River is a magnificent spectacle and that flock of airplanes can draw everybody away from their desks and tools to the roof-tops to watch the show. We older folk will never get over our wondering at seeing men fly. To the youngsters it is already commonplace.

ENERGY
 Most people think that the brain needs as much food as the body does. People complain of fatigue after mental effort, and because they feel as tired as if they had been using their muscles they think they must have used up as much energy as if they had been working with their bodies.

Scientists at Wesleyan University have been studying the energy requirements of brain-workers for years, and have announced that all of the energy expended in a solid hour of the most intense mental effort can be replaced by eating half of a salted peanut! Five minutes spent in dusting a desk consumes more energy than an hour of hard mental work at the desk.

Much of the so-called mental fatigue is physical fatigue. The writer who is tired after a day at the typewriter or pen is tired because of the physical effort of writing. Many who complain of brain-fag after a day of business conferences should rather complain of "talk-fag." The physical effort of continuous speaking is a great energy-consumer, as every orator and actor knows.

Most often, so-called mental fatigue comes from the failure to eliminate wastes properly from the body. The one thing the brain-worker needs most is physical exercise in the open air.

MOVIES
 Mr. Will H. Hays, President of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, very courteously writes to me concerning a comment in this column a few weeks ago to the effect that the movies do not give a real picture of life, and sends me a quantity of printed matter to prove that the picture men are doing their best to keep the movies pure.

Purity is one thing and intelligence is something else again. You can lay down rules which if followed, will prevent the movies from giving offense even to the most prudish mind. There are no possible rules by which people who do not know the difference between truth and falsehood can be prevented from putting false ideas on the screen.
 The motion picture is today the most influential force in the world, because it impresses the very young through the most effective channel for impressions, the eyes. For that reason, the movies are a fair target for criticism all the time.

Carrot Croquettes
 Scrape and boil some young carrots. Boil till about half done, then drain dry, and grate them. Add enough thick cream sauce to bind the puree together, with one egg to each cup of the mixture, sugar and salt to taste. Set away. When quite firm, form into croquettes, dip in egg and fine bread crumbs, repeating the dipping if necessary. Fry in deep fat.

Macaroni Croquettes
 Boil one-fourth pound macaroni in salted water until very tender. Drain and toss in a saucepan with one heaped tablespoon butter, and one tablespoon of cheese. Spread on a well-buttered platter, about one inch thick, cover with a buttered paper, press it well down and set away to cool. Divide with the back of a knife into six parts, roll each one in grated cheese, then in beaten egg and in crumbs. Fry in very hot fat till well browned. Drain and serve.

Fish Croquettes
 2 cups cold boiled fish
 2 cups hot mashed potato
 1 tablespoon butter
 1/2 cup hot milk
 1 egg
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 1 teaspoon chopped parsley
 Pick the fish over carefully to remove skin and bone; mince fine; combine all the ingredients, mix thoroughly and let cool. When cold, form into balls, dip into beaten egg, roll in crumbs, fry in hot fat. Drain on brown paper.

Shad Roe Croquettes
 4 shad roe
 3 tablespoons butter
 4 tablespoons flour
 1 teaspoon salt
 Juice of one lemon
 Few grates nutmeg
 Few grains cayenne
 1 cup milk
 Boil the shad roe fifteen minutes in salted water, then drain and mash. Melt the butter, add the flour and seasoning, add the milk slowly, cook until thick and smooth. Mix the roe with the sauce, cool, shape and fry as directed.

NEW GAS FLOW AT THREE-WAY
 Mr. Howard of the firm of Howard & Garner, owners of the 6,000 acres of leases in the southeast part of the county centering in Township 1, Range 18, informs us that Mike S. Karcher and associates who are drilling the test known as the Three-Way well located in Section 11 in their block, are setting casing at 3730 feet. A second flow of gas of substantial quantity was struck just above this point and is being cased off and the drill will go on down. Just what will be found in this test is yet to be determined, but the Wilcox sand is anticipated between 4,880 and 4,850 feet, and there is always the possibility that either gas or oil or both may be picked up before the bit reaches the Wilcox horizon. The hole at the present time is in good condition and very little trouble from that source is anticipated.—Guymon Herald.
