

SCHOOL CHAIRS conspicuous with absence seem desolate indeed. This first grade seating arrangement, grouped for reading, was empty and quiet on the last day of school. The seats will not be occupied until next September when once again the room will be filled with discordant sounds. Another crop of youngsters will inhabit this domain.

43 Receive Diplomas, End Careers At OHS

Forty-three Olton seniors, some unable to constrain tears, came officially to the end of high school training Friday night with completion of the 1963 commencement exercise. A standing-room crowd that overflowed from the auditorium into the hallway, heard Roy Bass, Lubbock attorney, make the main address.

For the seniors, it was an end to a perfect day. Well-applauded addresses were also made by Ilona Tanner and Tanya Bryant, salutatorian and valedictorian.

Miss Tanner said in part: "Thus far we have acquired only pieces of knowledge. We are on the threshold of greater learning."

"Personal gain is not the most important. We must in our own way find the solutions to prejudice, hatred and warfare. We must work so society as a whole will profit."

She called for finding a better way of doing things and making ordinary tasks challenging and exciting.

Miss Bryant said: "This is a beginning—not the end." "Today," she continued, "is the true reality. Tomorrow is a dream and yesterday only a memory. We must live each day separately."

She added, "We never know where our influence ends."

Miss Bryant named three factors garnered from high school which will contribute toward success.

They were: Self discipline, ambition and determination.

"These three shape our lives," said the valedictorian; "they open new avenues and make for successful living." "We are the future minds," added Miss Bryant, "we need to live for our country and for God."

Bass told the graduates, "you have been spoon-fed with the truth and now is the time to digest for yourself—strong meat, not milk."

He encouraged them to be courteous non-conformists.

Bass told the seniors, "ignore what you believe to be rumors, stick to the facts."

"Don't be content with being a sinner or living in the shade of others," Bass added. Learn to expand but learn also how to handle the expansion," he advised.

"This is a generation of sitters," he continued, "with people doing what they have to do and nothing else—with people getting as much as they can and putting forth as little effort as possible."

"As long as we've been sitting, something ought to have hatched out," pricked the attorney.

He told the seniors, "you are setting a pattern for your lives right now. When you grow older, you will be a little bit more of what you are now. He called for parents to let go.

"Independence," said Bass, "is a marvelous thing, and the ideal parent makes himself progressively unnecessary."

66 In Graduation At Junior High

Friday at the junior high graduation exercise, 66 students took the giant step that made them members of a new caste system.

In September they will enroll as high school freshmen.

The class was commended by Principal E. J. McKnight and Superintendent Johnny Clark Jr. Salutatorian Roger Thompson and Valedictorian Jeanne Hughes both made addresses.

Thompson said, "It is sad to leave the familiar, but we are excited for the new life and its associations."

He commended teachers of the junior high level, saying, "We are deeply appreciative of the inspiration our teachers have given. They have helped us aim high and reach toward a worthwhile goal."

He added, "To compete in the world today, there is no substitute for education."

Miss Hughes said, "We look backward with cherished memories, but still realizing our futures have no limits."

"I hope our teachers will never be disappointed in us when they follow us into the future."

Superintendent Clark told the graduates, "perhaps you can realize more now the importance of goals." "I'm expecting much from you in high school," he added.

Clark encouraged them not to think about dropping out of school but rather to think of their nation and individual families.

"I realize you have worked eight years to achieve this goal," said Clark, "I know at times it has been discouraging and rough." But it's only the beginning to something better, he added.

He told the graduates that by extra effort, a good attitude and determination they could make themselves a more joyous future.

A group will make the march downtown to advertise the two-week run of the school.

Times for the summer Bible training have been set from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30.

Although classes will be given for two-year-olds programs are set up to take care of three-year-olds through age 13.

Commencement services will be held the final night.

Intermediates will attend "teen time" in the evenings.

Thundershowers, accompanied by high winds, moved out dark rolling clouds here Monday afternoon sending a number of Olton people scurrying to storm cellars.

Rainfall was estimated from .15 to .25 of an inch as wind whipped the rain in stinging gusts.

Some of the rain was intercepted.

He counseled the seniors to "healthy conceit", never for them to do less than their best.

In the course of his address, Bass said that some conformity is good and some a curse.

"I would like to see courteous non-conformity sweep from coast to coast."

"We need backbones instead of strings, blood—not dishwater and a brain rather than a sponge."

Wilson's answer had questioned the handling of the absentee voting in the election, and the votes of five persons who had cast absentee ballots.

After conferring with attorneys for both sides, Judge Boone recessed the hearing until June 10 at 10 a.m.

Fourteen witnesses were called to the stand Thursday, all by the plaintiff.

Attorney Owen sought to establish the residence of nine persons before and after the election, and whether they had voted in the election. Election law provides that a person must be a resident at least six months to be qualified.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Luera testified they moved from Olton to the Otis Hair farm outside the city in the middle of February.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Garcia testified they had lived in the city since January of 1963, saying they had lived on the Joe Roberts farm five miles from Olton prior to that time.

Serbando Casarez told the court he had lived on the C. E. Hysinger place five miles from Olton the past year and a half.

Justo Garcia said his residence is now in the city, but that he had lived on the K. Trotter farm at the time of the election.

Robert Garcia told the court he was a resident of the city and that he had been since September of 1956.

All testified they had voted in the April 2 city election.

Also called to the stand was Hugh Alexander. His testimony indicated that Mr. and Mrs. Raul Fuentez had lived on his farm just prior to the election.

W. G. Finney, election judge on April 2, also was called to the stand.

Finney testified he delivered the ballot box and stub box after the polls closed to the city hall, where the boxes were locked in a vault. The next morning, Finney testified, the boxes were taken out of the vault and turned over to Deputy Sheriff V. L. Smith.

Before Finney left the stand, he was questioned by Wilson's counsel, Gowdy: "Did you all count the absentee ballots?"

"Yes sir," Finney replied.

Court Battle Looms June 10

BY BILL TURNER

The decision on Olton's mayor election contest will have to await a hearing June 10, but moves by both sides in 154th District Court at Littlefield last Thursday brought into sharper focus their intentions.

Gene Wilson, the one-vote winner and defendant in the suit, put himself back into the battle after earlier withdrawal of his answer to the contest.

Bill Thomas, the loser and plaintiff, indicated he would pursue the contest to the limit.

Wilson's strategy apparently is to force a new election. His attorney, Hank Gowdy of Littlefield, commented to reporters:

"Gene doesn't want to be mayor....he just wants the whole contest brought out. I imagine when this is over, the result will be a new election."

Thomas, meanwhile, presumably has his sights set on proving he actually won the April election, rather than losing by the 291-290 vote that was counted.

He also served notice at Thursday's hearing that he would file bond on the mayor's office, seeking temporary custody of the office, until the election contest is fully decided. Wilson's request for a full contest came as a surprise to some.

It was learned only shortly before the hearing that he had withdrawn his answer to Thomas' petition.

Thomas and his attorney went to court knowing Wilson's answer had been withdrawn. Wilson previously had submitted his resignation as mayor, although the resignation remains to be accepted by the city council.

At the hearing, Owen proceeded to win court recognition that he had established evidence of voting by several non-qualified electors.

His questioning of witnesses on their places of residence at the time of the April 2 election led District Judge Pat Boone Jr. to declare: "I believe a prima facie case has been established."

Judge Boone ordered the election stub box opened and instructed District Clerk Ernest Owen to begin a search for stubs signed by eight voters in question.

It was at this point that Wilson requested and received permission to re-instate his answer to Thomas' petition.

Wilson's answer had questioned the handling of the absentee voting in the election, and the votes of five persons who had cast absentee ballots.

After conferring with attorneys for both sides, Judge Boone recessed the hearing until June 10 at 10 a.m.

Priest Resigns As Band Director

Jim Priest, band director of Olton schools, has resigned. His resignation was submitted last week to school officials after completion of a two-year term.

Priest said he plans to enroll soon in West Texas State University. He will be attending on a teaching fellowship, working toward his Masters in music.

Priest is a 1955 graduate of Olton High School and a former band director in Carlsbad Junior High.

He was employed there for two years before taking the Olton position.

As a student here, Priest participated in all school sports and was a member of the all-state band.

Priest said, "I want to express my appreciation to students, parents and administrators for their unparalleled interest and support."

He added, "I wish only the very, very best for Olton bands."

Priest will be working under Dr. Ted Crager at West Texas State. Crager is widely known for his outstanding Buffalo bands.

Priest's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Priest.

Baseball Park's Dedication Set

Dedication of the new Little League ball park has been postponed until Friday.

President of the Olton Baseball Association Carrol Cox, made the announcement this week.

He said, "the bad weather has caused a postponement in dedication plans from Monday to Friday."

The Rev. John Lewis will make a short dedication address.

The contests which were scheduled Monday have been switched to Monday, June 3. The June 3 game has been moved up to May 31.

Meeting in the season opener Tuesday night were the Red Sox vs. Farmers Gin in the Little League and Cashway vs. Olton Bowl in the Pee Wee League.

The Pony League will play its first game here June 3, against Sudan.

Cox said that completion of the park was delayed because of rainy weather but that it is now rounding into shape.

"Unless it rains again," said the president, the schedule will continue as planned."

This week, final work was slated to be done on the cyclone fence and the concession stand.

"The field," said Cox has been harrowed, dragged and rolled twice each."

He told that the park meets all Little League specifications.

"There has been talk by some of the leaguers that they can hit homers easy in the park."

Cox said, "but the straight away right and left field fences are 176 feet and straight away center is 188 feet."

"It will be more difficult than they think," he added.

Post Office Bids Start

The Enterprise was notified by telegram this week that bids for Olton's new Post Office are being posted.

Announcement came from Ralph W. Yarborough, State Senator.

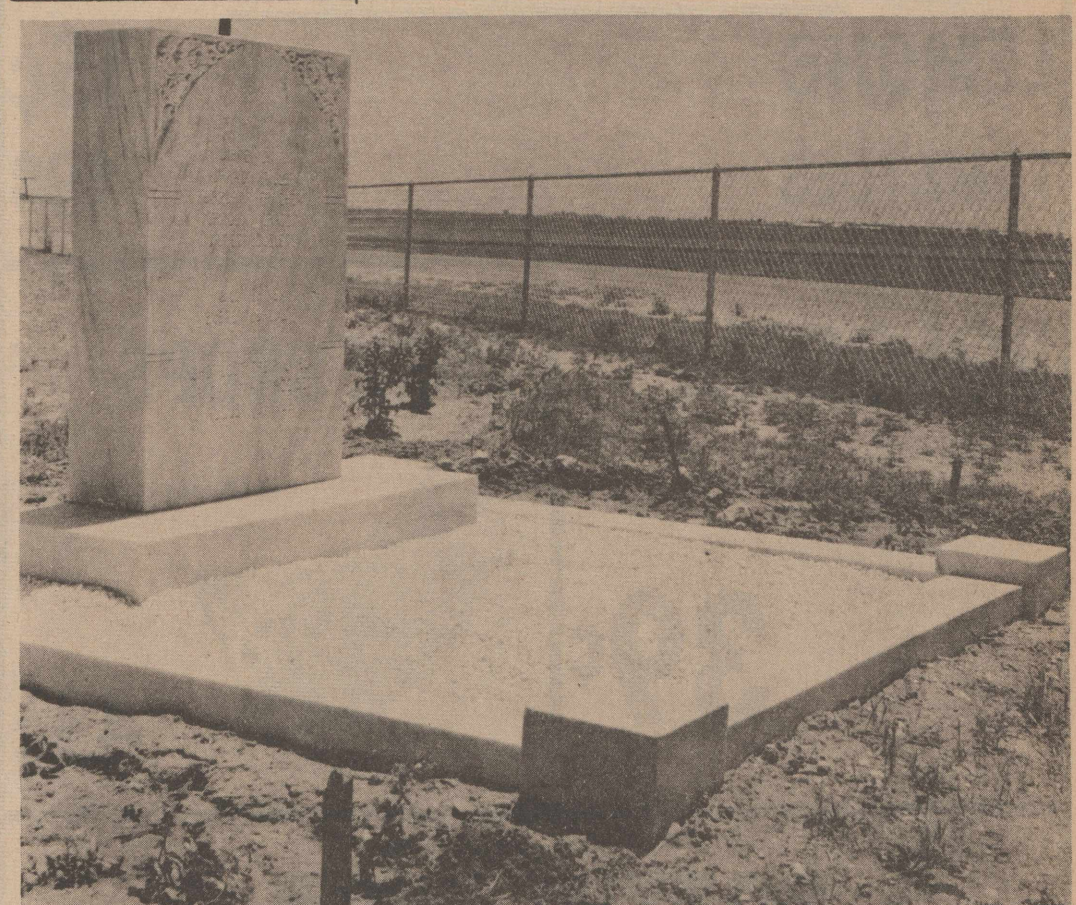

Bids are being posted, the message read, by the Post Office Department and will be opened July 5 in Lubbock.

Contracting companies will begin now to submit bids for the job.

Plans and specifications for the new building, are being made available to prospective bidders.

The site option will be transferred to the successful bidder, who will purchase the land, construct the building, and lease it to the Postal Department on a long-term basis.

"The new building," Postmaster General Edward Day has said, "is designed to carry out the Post Office Department's objective of providing newly constructed postal units where they are most urgently needed."

THIS MEMORIAL to seven students who died in a tragic car-train wreck last August recently was placed near the entrance of Olton Cemetery. The monument, of white Georgia marble, was sponsored by Percy Parsons and Conner Parsons of Olton, and Keith Franklin, owner of Lubbock Monument Works. A poem, "Crossing The Bar," is inscribed upon it, along with the names of the seven, five of whom were Olton High School students and two of whom attended Springlake High School. The fence in the background, which extends around the entire cemetery, was purchased with about $2,000 which was raised in a Memorial Fund, with contributions from the general public. Planned later is the addition of an archway for the cemetery entrance, also as part of the memorial.

Man Out On Running Water Draw Surprised To Discover Olton Still Has A Newspaper

Editor's note: A man living out on Running Water Draw who signs himself "J. A." and says he is referred to as the Running Water Philosopher has written us the following letter and has offered to write others. We will let our readers be the judge of whether we ought to give this fellow space every week. The letter follows, in his own language, insults and all.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:
I was sitting out here in the sun the other afternoon watching a newspaper being blown along the ground by the wind and I got to wondering if I'd read it, yet didn't want to get up to see as there's no use exerting yourself unnecessarily, saving energy is as important as saving money and is a lot easier, but later on in the afternoon it blew over close to where I was and since I was gonna change positions anyway I leaned over and picked it up and was surprised to find it was a recent issue of The Olton Enterprise, as I am frank to say I didn't know Olton still had a newspaper as I had been depending exclusively on the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal until they stopped my paper in 1959, although I don't seem to be much more confused than some people who're still getting the paper.

But since I have discovered The Enterprise is still in existence I figured you might be interested in an occasional letter from me if we can agree on a satisfactory price, which won't necessarily be high as a thinking man can find lots to write about without any trouble and down another wearing himself and his tractor out like some of my neighbors fighting careless weeds as though the stuff could finally be whipped.

Speaking of careless weeds, I noticed a Congressman in

ELECTION CONTEST HEARING

V. L. Smith, deputy sheriff here; Ernest Owens, district clerk; Charles Jones, county clerk; Leonard White, deputy sheriff at Littlefield; and Mrs. Bernice Smith, Olton city secretary.

These witnesses testified regarding handling of the election boxes after the election. Their testimony reflected that the ballot and stub boxes had been locked and sealed at all times since the election.

Gowdy questioned Jones concerning absentee ballots. The county clerk told the court his office did not handle absentee ballots in the election, and that no one voted absentee at his office.

After Owen had won court recognition of a prima facie case, he requested that the stub box be opened.

Judge Boone then ordered District Clerk Owens to open the stub box only and seek the names of eight contested voters.

The contested votes were those of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Luera, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Garcia, Mr. and Mrs. Raul Fuentez, Serbando Casarez and Justo Garcia Jr.

While the search continued Wilson approached the bench and requested that his answer to Thomas' petition be re-instated. Judge Boone, after speaking with attorneys for both sides, granted the request.

Stub numbers on the contested votes were recorded and Judge Boone ordered the clerk to put the stubs back in the box and lock it again.

Thomas' attorney recalled the district clerk to the stand and asked if the contestee (Wilson) filed any bond with the clerk in connection with the election.

"No sir," replied Owens, "not to my knowledge."

The questioning was apparently Thomas' notice that he would file bond on the office, thereby seeking temporary appointment to it.

The hearing was then recessed and the witnesses who were called were ordered to report back June 10 at 10 a.m.

Wimberly Gets 35 Years In Robbery And Kidnaping

A 27-year-old Olton man last week was sentenced to 35 years in the state penitentiary for his part in an armed robbery and kidnaping.

Found guilty by a 69th District Court jury in Hereford last Thursday was James Wiley Wimberly.

Ronald Urban Trisler, 23, of Plainview held under a similar charge after accompanying Wimberly, was sent to Rusk State Hospital.

Both men were involved in the kidnaping of the Jack Nunley family of Hereford March 2.

Wimberly and Trisler were arrested by highway patrolmen between Hereford and Vega shortly after midnight March 3. They had several items in their car which had been taken from the Nunley home.

Earlier Nunley, his wife and their three children had been kidnaped and taken some 15 miles west of Hereford where they were abandoned in a dis-

Washington claimed a while back there were thousands of acres of land overrun with careless weeds in this country due to strikes which were then holding up production of farm equipment and he wanted them stopped, and while I'm not in favor of strikes by the other fellow as the less production there is the fewer goods the stores have to sell and the less credit there is for me, I would like to suggest to this Congressman that while maybe he can convince his wife strikes were to blame for the careless weeds on his farm, I ain't had no such luck. My wife just bluntly tells me I'm not using the equipment I've already got to any advantage and mentions a lot of other things which I am too much of a gentleman to repeat, adding that I'd have careless weeds, doesn't make any difference if I had twenty thousand dollars worth of equipment.

I'm in favor of this Congressman's eliminating careless weeds but if he thinks eliminating strikes will do it I'm afraid he's not taking a practical view of the matter. We're liable to have careless weeds on the farms of the world as long as a man had rather prop his feet on the porch than get corns on them following his mule or on other areas driving his tractor, and as far as I'm concerned that's gonna be forever.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

It is expected that an appeal will be filed in the court as Wimberly is sentenced.

District Attorney Bill Hunter stressed the seriousness of the incident after reviewing the testimony.

"We assume that in this county," he told the jurors,

"that a person is secure in his home. Crimes committed in our homes are much graver than those committed outside." He then asked for a "very, very heavy punishment."

In a statement following the trial, Hunter commented that Wimberly was not tried on the kidnaping indictment returned against him since a person can only be tried for one offense at a time.

He added that no decision had been made whether or not to try the suspect for the second offense.

Trisler, alleged to be Wimberly's companion during the robbery, was committed to the state mental hospital earlier this month.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Oatmeal Coconut Cookies

1 cup white sugar
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup melted shortening
2 well beaten eggs
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup regular oatmeal
1 cup coconut
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix. Shape into walnut size balls. Bake about 8 to 10 minutes in 375 degree oven.

These cookies will rise then fall and will be crisp and chewy, Mrs. Jones said.

"This is a big recipe," she added, "and persons should try half for a smaller recipe."

Mrs. Jones is an active member of the First Baptist Church and teaches a Sunday School class and sings in the choir.

She is interested in genealogy and plans to trace her family tree.

Mrs. Jones is outgoing president of the PTA and is also a member of Eastern Star. She has four children, George, Valda, and Janie at home and one married daughter, Mrs. Eddie Carson. Her hobbies are collecting antiques and sewing.

Wedding Vows Exchanged By Linda Royal-William Meadows

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Dewayne Stiles of Amarillo was the scene Sunday for the wedding of Miss Linda Evelyn Royal and William Meadows.

Miss Royal is the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Bobell of Oahu, Hawaii, and Clyde Royal of Columbus, Georgia.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Meadows of Olton.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. W. Winfred Moore, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Amarillo.

The bride was lovely in a white silk dress and pillbox veiled hat.

Mrs. Dewayne Stiles served as matron of honor. She wore a beige suit.

Standing beside Meadows as best man was Dewayne Stiles.

The bride was given in marriage by David Griffith. Orchid corsages for the girls were flown to the wedding from Hawaii.

Mrs. Meadows chose a white linen dress for her son's wedding.

A reception followed in the Stiles' home.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Moses, Olton, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Meadows, Spearman, Mrs. Brenda Hill, Plainview, and Mr. and Mrs. Morley King.

The bride graduated from Jordan High School, Columbus, and has attended the University of Georgia and the University of Hawaii.

She plans to finish her education this fall.

The bride-groom attended Olton High School 11 years and received his diploma while in the army. He is presently employed with the Amarillo Police Force.

The couple will be at home at 2710 Wichita Street in Amarillo.

After Effect Of Measles Could Pose Major Threat

Measles is almost as much an accepted part of childhood as bumps, bruises and abrasions. Over 90 percent of children will at some time have clinically evident measles.

Although the national death rate for measles in the U.S. is relatively low, its after effects in deafness and mental crippling can be serious.

In many parts of the world measles poses a major threat. In Africa and South America the death rate among children may be as high as 25 percent.

An average of 50,626 cases of measles were reported per year in Texas during the last six years. Thousands of cases of measles occur annually with minor epidemics appearing every other year.

The epidemic pattern is based upon a new group of susceptible children capable of supporting an epidemic.

Scientists made a break through several years ago in research on the measles virus. A strain of the virus was isolated in 1954. Work continued and in the spring of this year two types of measles vaccines were licensed for manufacture.

The two type vaccines—one prepared with live but greatly weakened virus, and one made with a chemically killed virus—may be administered separately or in a combination.

The live vaccine induces active immunity following a single dose and produces a mild non-communicable measles infection. Some fever and a measles-like rash usually occur about six days after vaccination, lasting from two to five days.

Clinical reaction are reduced sharply if standardized Measles Immune Globulin is given along with the attenuated vaccine but at a different site and with a separate syringe.

It is hoped that this vaccine will react much as an actual case of measles might. However, this is a question researchers have yet to answer.

Reactions are infrequent when the inactivated vaccine is administered, ordinarily in three monthly doses. The protective effects beyond six months, however, are unknown.

Another method is to administer live vaccine from one to three months after one or two doses of inactivated vaccine have been given. In this case, clinical reactions are sharply reduced and protection is increased over that of the inactivated vaccine alone.

Immunization is particularly recommended for children and those especially prone to develop serious complications.

Many questions are still to be answered in the next few years. For the present, however, vaccine is available for those who need it. Your family physician can recommend the type and time for immunization.

Credit Manager Attends Session

Mrs. Marcelle Loveless, manager of the Olton Credit Bureau, has returned home after attending the 63rd annual Texas Credit Conference in Galveston.

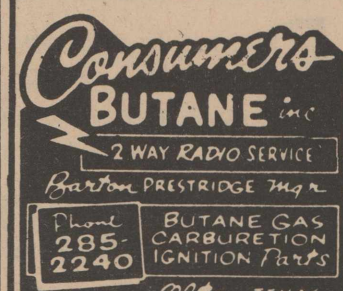

It ended Tuesday night, May 21.

She attended sessions of the Retail Merchants Association and the Associated Credit Bureaus of Texas, two of the five credit organizations sponsoring the conferences.

During the two-day meetings, instructions were given on how to increase the efficiency of services offered by credit bureaus, and on how new types of services can be instituted to benefit business and professional offices and stores in a community.

WITH THIS GAS YOU CAN BET YOU'VE GOT HOT WATER THAT IS REALLY HOT!

Housing Growth Is Impressive

How much of Lamb County's annual economic activity is due to housing construction? How does the local production of new homes compare with that in other parts of the country?

Answers to these questions are contained in reports issued by the U. S. Department of Commerce. They show, for every city and county in the nation, the number of new dwellings erected over a period of 10 years.

Locally, the amount of such construction and the changes that have been wrought by it are impressive when viewed in perspective.

The reports show that no less than 2,556 dwelling units in Lamb County, or 30.3 percent of the present total of 8,419, were built since 1950.

Many old houses were torn down in connection with this building and re-building surge. How many is not stated.

As a result of these changes, the occupancy rate per housing unit in the county now averages 3.5 persons. Throughout the country as a whole, the average is 3.4 per unit.

Various factors are listed as responsible for the spurt in home building that took place in the 1950-60 decade.

Primarily, it stems from the desire of most families to have places of their own. This desire they were able to gratify as their incomes grew larger and as mortgage financing became easier. It brought home ownership within their reach.

Nationally, as a result, some 63 percent of the families now own their own homes, as against 55 percent in 1950. It is estimated that an additional 10 to 12 percent have sufficient income and savings to become home owners if they want to.

For its size, Lamb County had a high rate of new construction in the 10-year period. It amounted to 120 dwelling units per 1,000 residents, based on average population.

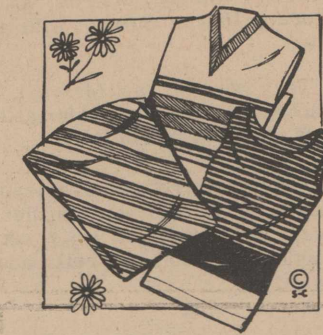

Its effect, because it stimulated activity in allied fields, was several times that great.

Research Man Is Promoted

Charles Rosen was recently promoted to the position of Laboratory Assistant at the High Plains Research Foundation.

He has been on the field staff at the Foundation for two years. In his new position, Rosen will be assisting Dr. Arthur Gohlke on research being conducted in the Foundation's Killgore Research Laboratory.

He will be responsible for the operation of laboratory equipment being used to investigate problems in soil and plant relationships.

"The promotion of Mr. Rosen to this position will result in an acceleration of the research program being conducted at the Foundation," stated Dr. Gohlke, soil scientist.

Rosen completed his high school education at Idabel, Oklahoma, and farmed in southeastern Oklahoma before joining the staff at Halfway last September.

He is married to the former Louise Corgill of Plainview. The Rosens live near the Foundation at Halfway.

DAUGHTER HOME

Mrs. Ed Thompson and Barry are in Abilene this week to bring Linda Gail home. They plan to visit in Fort Worth before they return.

WHO'S NEW

Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Dickson are the parents of twin boys. John Alvert weighed 5 pounds 9 ounces and Jack Robert weighed 6 pounds 4 ounces. They were born May 23, at the Plainview Hospital and Clinic.

The Dicksons have one other child, Debra Gail, age two.

Mr. and Mrs. Luis M. Ped-roza, Olton are parents of a five pound 12 ounces boy. The Pedroza's have not named him yet. There are eight other children.

DAUGHTERS HONORED

Three daughters of a former Olton woman, Mrs. Glenn Davis, formerly Virginia Dear, were honored at Celeste school for special achievements. Bonnie Elaine and Helen Oleta Davis were presented certificates of award for perfect attendance during the school year. Glenda Gail Davis received an award of being on the Honor Roll all year.

SISTER VISITS

Visiting in the J. M. Hodges home was Mr. Hodges' sister, Mrs. Ben Hill of Bowie. Mrs. Hill's son, Benny Hill, and grandson, Peter Hill, were also guests.

IN COLORADO

Wayland Sets Up Camp

Summer basketball camps at Wayland Baptist College in Plainview will get underway June 5 for young basketball players with a desire for improvement.

The school has been described as "just the prescription for overcoming faults and getting a jump on the 1963-64 cage campaign."

Coaching techniques will be employed by Harley J. Redin, Wayland athletic director, and Clifford Ozmun, basketball coach.

Interested boys are asked to enroll immediately.

In addition to detailed study in basketball fundamentals, boys attending the camp will get a taste of swimming, trampolining, and tennis.

Total cost of the camp is $67. Sessions run 10 days each.

This is the last summer that Texas high school players may attend basketball camps, but by interscholastic League rules, eligibility standings will not be affected by the camp.

DAUGHTER HOME

and unexpected, represent benefits due them under the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance system. They are entitled to them because of their contributions, over the years, to the OASI trust fund.

Then why are they not receiving them? Simply because they did not apply for them. Why did they not apply for them? Because they did not realize they were entitled to them.

The OASI officials themselves were startled to discover recently that there are more than one million people in the United States who are eligible for pensions but are not getting them.

When it became apparent that there were more of them than had been realized, they gave their giant computers the task of finding out just how many. An avalanche of names poured out of the machines.

For every 17 people or so who are receiving monthly pension checks, there is an additional one, it develops, who should be but is not.

In Lamb County, there are an estimated 120 of these non-collecting eligibles.

They could be receiving anywhere from $40 a month, which is the minimum amount paid, to the present maximum of $254 a month.

The average old-age benefit, according to the latest OASI figures, is $76.18.

On the basis of this average, the 120 local beneficiaries who are on the missing list are passing up payments aggregating about $9,142 every month, or $109,680 a year.

Some spot-checking on the part of the Government reveals that there are many reasons to explain the failure of qualified people to apply for their pensions.

Most of them didn't think they were eligible. This was frequently so in the case of men and women who continued working beyond age 65.

Others thought they didn't have enough working quarters to qualify. They were unaware of changes in the rules that reduced the number of quarters needed.

A large number of others had the false notion that a person had to be needy to be entitled to Social Security pensions.

Doctors Need Consent To Give Medical Care

It's a good idea to give written consent for necessary medical care if your child leaves home for a visit or a camping trip, or if you plan to be away for any length of time.

For example, a summer camp nurse may bring a boy into a hospital with an acute case of appendicitis. But the doctor may well hesitate to go ahead and operate without the parents' consent.

Is the doctor arbitrary, and is such permission just a legal technicality? No, he is well within his rights, though he may give first aid—but only for emergency treatment where a child's health or life may be at stake.

He is likely to put off follow-up care until he can reach the child's parents. A relative or baby sitter generally cannot grant consent for a child's treatment.

Even an adult must request treatment and grant consent to medical care on his own before a doctor can give it to him. Children cannot do this.

By going to your doctor you show your willingness and consent to accept his treatment. Your consent is assumed also when you ask for a house call by the doctor, or if as a result of an accident you come to a hospital for emergency treatment.

If you are unconscious, the doctor may well give you emergency care, yet later he should get your consent to further treatment.

Minors cannot consent to medical treatment, and accept in dire emergencies their parents or guardians must give it for them.

The consent should not be broadly or loosely phrased, but should be as specific as circumstances permit.

The principal reason for having the consent in writing is to avoid later misunderstandings. It is a protection both to the patient and physician.

Lions Meet Next Week

Olton Lions are beginning to roar with anticipation of the District 27-2 State Convention upcoming June 7, 8 and 9 in Lubbock.

Already they're whipping around the local Country Club Course, refining their golf. A good number will compete Friday, June 7, at the Convention Golf Tournament.

Lion golfers from the sprawling district will tee off at 8 a.m. at Lubbock's Hillcrest Country Club.

By that afternoon, they should be sufficiently warmed for the 10 p.m. bowling tournament.

Lionesses will keep a close eye on their mates the final night of the convention. That's when the queen's parade is slated in Lubbock Municipal Auditorium.

NEW CHART RELEASED

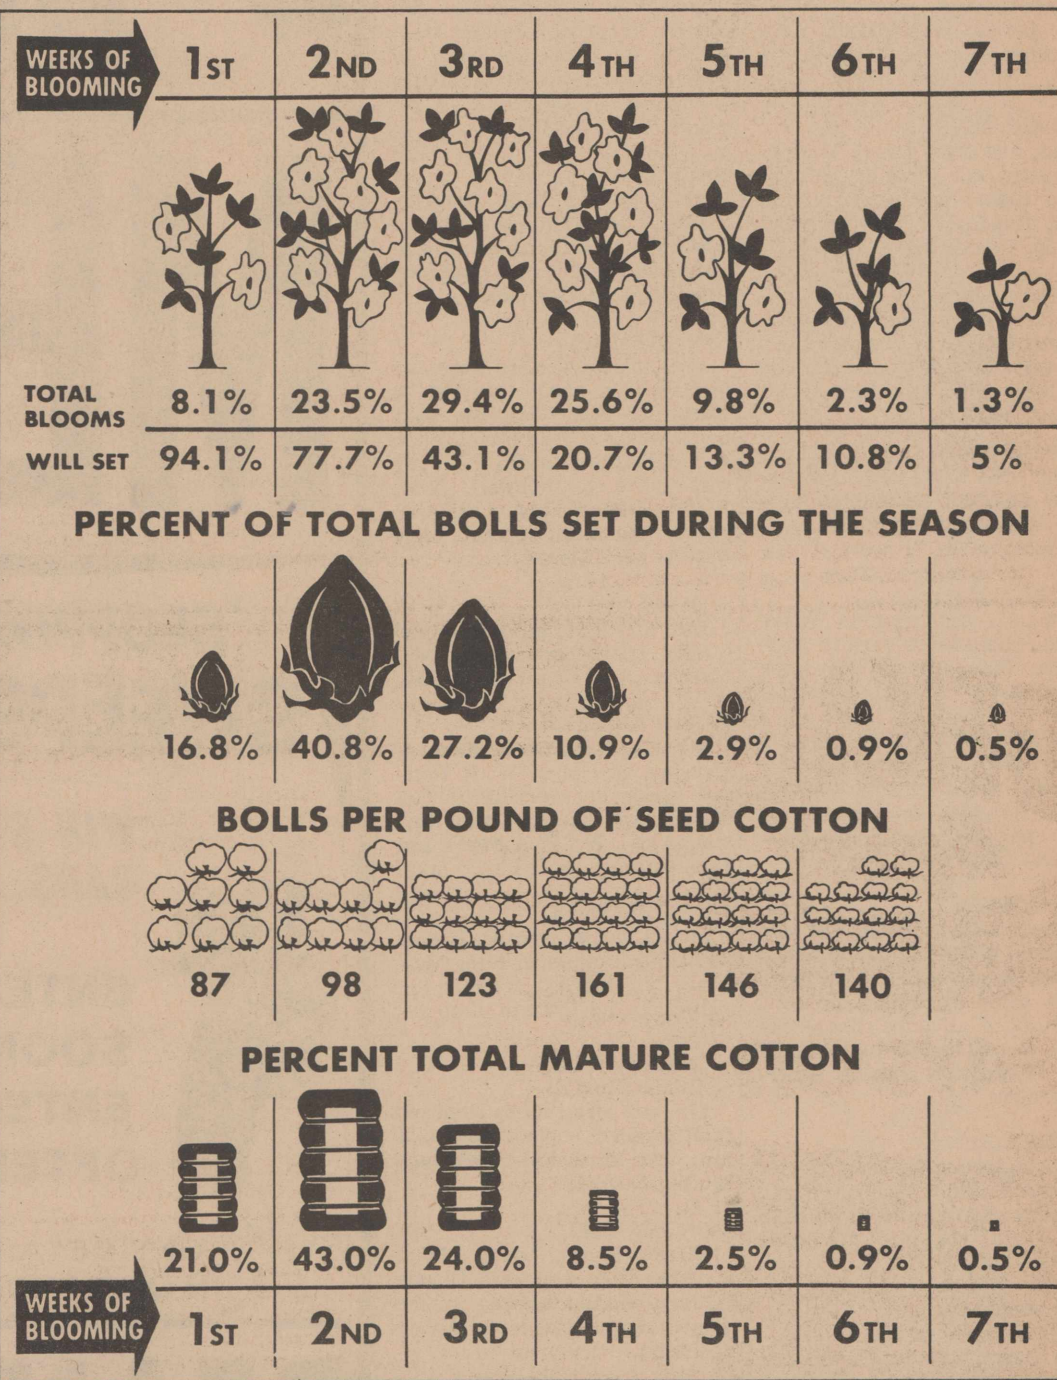

Study Of Fruiting Habit Of Cotton Plant Cited As Valuable Aid To Cotton Farmer

A new, easy-to-understand chart showing the fruiting habits of the typical cotton plant has been released in this area. The chart is a simplified form of a continuing study by leading cotton research men, on fruiting of the typical cotton plant, under average weather conditions, if unhampered by insects. The chart is divided into seven weeks of cotton blooming and demonstrates that the greatest volume of mature cotton results from the early blooms. More than half of the total bolls and 64% of mature cotton results from the first two weeks' blooms. And 88% of the total mature cotton is picked from the blooms of the first three weeks. For example, in the first week only 8% of the blooms occur but they develop into 21% of the mature cotton. By contrast, the fifth week has 9% of the total blooms, which results in less than 3% of the total cotton.

This fruiting pattern clearly demonstrates the importance of keeping insects infestations to a minimum, particularly during the early season.

It is essential that early squares be protected, and the Plainsman Farm and Ranch offers quality insecticides that will insure this for you.

Aerial and ground applications may be secured (turnkey) by contacting the boys at The Plainsmen in Olton. Adv

School's Out!

BUM'S RUSH is put on here by high school students. They made their final sprint out of school doors Friday. Several of them came back to school Saturday for report cards.

MISS DORIS Thurman, first grade teacher, is typical of the situation presented elementary teachers Friday. After books were checked in, very little desk space was available. Students packed the books to the book room, thinking it was fun.

TURNING in school books in elementary school was a pleasant job Friday. These smiling students line up to check their books into their teacher. Friday was a happy day for teachers too.

MOMENTS before marching into the auditorium for commencement services, seniors paused in the hallway. Forty three of them received diplomas in the graduation exercise. The group was lauded by administrators as one of the very best classes to ever graduate from Olton.

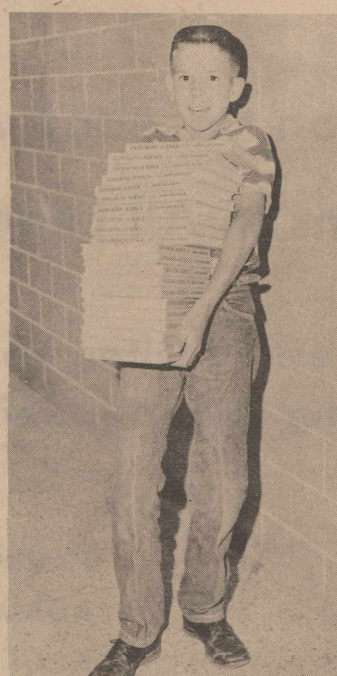

SOME laughed and some cried after the graduation. Here a junior says goodbye to a senior. Parting is such sweet sorrow.

ANTICS in the world of the little people went more or less unnoticed Friday at the high school graduation service. These youngsters were brought out into the hallway after becoming restless. The twin boy seems to be whispering sweet nothings. Just like a girl to pretend lack of interest.

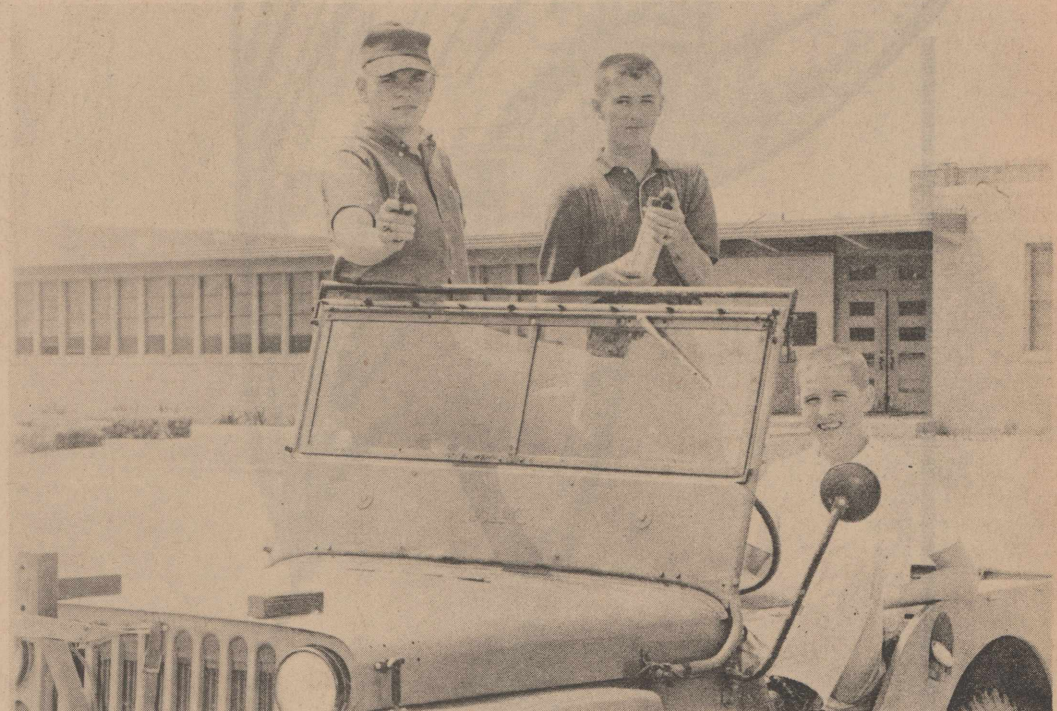

HOLLY Daughtrey and Janet Spain helped celebrate a fifth grade school party Saturday. They were hiding out here on an old tire to keep cokes and sandwiches to themselves.

LOADED with books to be checked in on the last day of school is Mike Phillips. He's the fifth grade--make that sixth--grade, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Phillips.

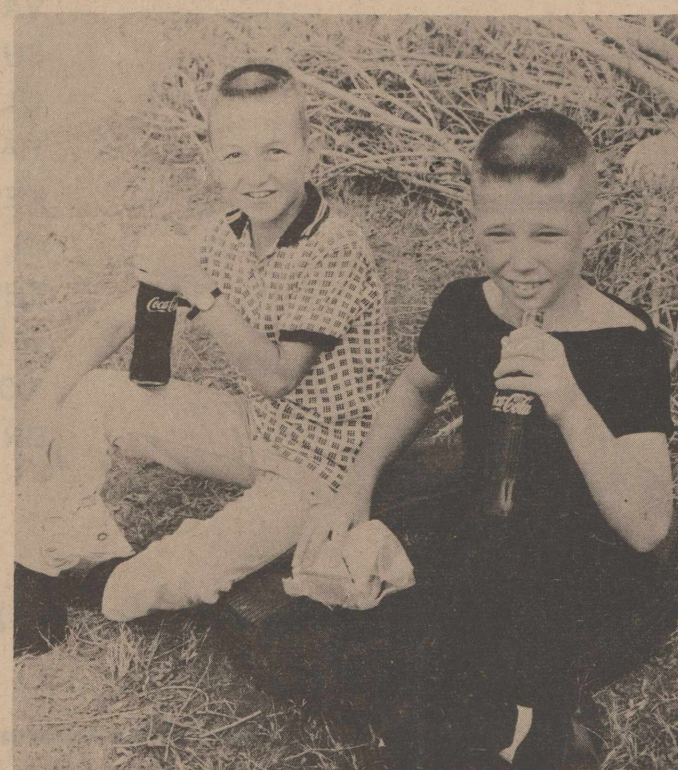

LAST piano lesson for the summer is taken by Joy Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Clark, Jr. Her teacher is Honerhea Morrison.

END of school was evidenced Saturday by actions of these three high school boys. Their game was water guns and fire extinguishers, filled naturally with water. It was all in fun though for a festive mood was created by the last day of school.

REPORT cards were items of interest Saturday when students made the return to find out the worst. Student pictured here had little to worry about, she didn't miss a day of school. Color her dependable.

GARY Gregory, left, and Gary Rogers sip liquid refreshment at their after-school party. The boys and their classmates got together for eats and a little baseball.

A FIFTH grade class takes to the wide open spaces for an after-school picnic. This picture was taken on the last day of school near the Olton football field. Notice that boys and girls of the same ages are not sitting together. That will change.
