Twister Rips Up Main Street

This is what a tornado did to the main street of Wolbach, Neb., population 378, Tuesday afternoon. Twelve persons were injured as the twister damaged 90 per cent of the town's business establishments and 70 per cent of the homes. It was only one of many that struck Central Nebraska and in which two persons were killed. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Dixie Rises Strong In Indiana Primary

Wilkinson Scores On Opening Play

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP—Former football coach Bud Wilkinson made his political debut a spectacular one Tuesday, winning the Republican nomination for the senate by a landslide.

His Democratic opponent in next fall's general election won't be decided until a May 26 runoff primary between incumbent Sen. Howard. Edmondson and state Sen. Fred Harris.

All three are seeking to fill the last two years of the term of the late Sen. Robert Kerr, D-Okla.

Oklahoma voters, who turned out in record numbers, cast ballots on a number of other issues and candidates, beating a controversial right - to- work law which would have banned compulsory union membership.

UNDER HALF

Wilkinson's vote was less than half piled up by Edmondson, but it was nonetheless impressive in a state which has traditionally voted Democratic.

Voters approved a constitutional amendment reducing the residence requirements for voters, but rejected a proposal to allow legislators to set their own pay.

Tabulation of votes in the Democratic Senate race and on the right-to-work issue indicated close decisions most of the night. Leads switched frequently.

Former Gov. Raymond Gary, making a do-or-die bid for political life, held the early lead for the Democratic Senate nomination. Edmondson's lead spurted and early today, Gary fell to third spot behind Edmondson and Harris.

DEFEATED

The right-to-work issues also appeared certain for victory, but went down to defeat when votes came in late from large cities with the heaviest concentration of union workers.

Despite defeat, supporters of the measure indicated they may seek a recount.

In congressional races, only incumbent Rep. Victor Wickersham faced a runoff May 26 for the Democratic nomination. Incumbents Ed Edmondson and John Jarman won Democratic nominations, and face Republican opposition in November. Rep. Carl Albert, House majority leader, was unopposed.

Rep. Tom Steed defeated his primary opponent and was elected to a new two-year term. He has no Republican opponent. The only other incumbent congressman, Republican Rep. Page Belcher, was unopposed.

Here's the voting outcome in the top races, with only a few precincts unreported:

Republican Senate: Wilkinson 95,815, Tom Harris 17,989, Forest Beall 7,618.

Democratic Senate: Edmondson 207,665, Fred Harris 184,625, Gary 167,947, Willard Owens 14,443.

Right-to-work: Against 370,524, in favor 344,890.

GEORGE WALLACE
. . . scores 30 per cent

30 Per Cent Of Votes Go To Wallace

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Gov. George C. Wallace, the Alabama invader who championed states' rights, claimed a victory for his cause today, but Democratic Gov. Matthew E. Welsh held the field for President Johnson in Indiana's presidential primary.

Wallace, who made his campaign a crusade against Johnson's civil rights bill, piled up a big protest vote in Tuesday's balloting, but his showing fell short of the upset race he ran in Wisconsin against another favorite-son stand-in for Johnson.

GOLDWATER

In a Republican race all but eclipsed by the steaming Democratic contest, Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater grabbed Indiana's 32 votes at the Republican National Convention.

But former Minnesota Gov. Harold E. Stassen, his only serious rival, made an unexpected dent in his margin.

All of the 51 Democratic votes at the Democratic national convention will be controlled by Welsh.

With 4,240 of 4,416 precincts counted, Welsh had captured 355,632 votes to 165,437 for Wallace.

That gave the Alabama governor 29.6 per cent of the Democratic turnout and 17.6 per cent of the total vote.

Three minor candidates split 27,309 votes.

Goldwater polled 227,703 votes in 3,701 precincts, Stassen had 91,119. That gave him 26.9 per cent of the Republican turnout, Goldwater had 67.1 per cent.

NEGRO LAWYER

Frank Beckwith, a Negro attorney from Indianapolis, captured 14,698 GOP votes. Joseph G. Ettl of South Bend had 5,646.

Except for the upset total Wallace polled in Wisconsin April 7, in his first Northern foray against the civil rights measure, his Indiana showing would have been a major surprise.

Running against Wisconsin Gov. John W. Reynolds, Wallace captured 33.7 per cent of the Democratic vote and 24.4 per cent of the total turnout.

Welsh blamed Republicans who switched ballots for the Wallace showing.

The Alabama governor insisted, "It shows that the great number of people in every state share our philosophy."

Wallace had invited Republican backing, saying a substantial showing would foster conservatism in both parties.

'Another Victory Without Winning'

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Describing his showing in the Indiana presidential primary election as "another victory without winning," Alabama Gov. George Wallace said he has strengthened his prospects for a good vote in the Maryland primary May 9.

Wallace, elated over his vote after a concentrated campaign in Indiana, said he plans to make no major changes in his strategy.

Wallace said he is certain a great number of people share his views on states' rights—"as they have shown in Indiana and Wisconsin."

Taft, Young Top Ohio Senate Picks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rep. Robert Taft Jr., son of the late Ohio senator dubbed "Mr. Republican," and Democratic incumbent Stephen M. Young hurdled the civil rights issue to clinch senatorial nominations in Ohio's primary.

Ted W. Brown, secretary of state and a veteran vote getter, banked on his civil rights opposition in a sharp clash with Taft for the Republican nomination but failed to carry a single county in Tuesday's voting.

"The results indicate that the civil rights issue perhaps was not as important as Mr. Brown thought," Taft said in a victory statement.

Young's nomination was unintentionally challenged by ailing Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., who withdrew from the race too late to have his name removed from the ballot.

THERAPY VOTE

Glenn, the first American astronaut to orbit the earth, drew a solid "therapy vote," but it was less than half Young's total.

Returns from 9,370 of the state's 13,311 polling places gave Taft 446,742 votes and Brown 126,466. On the Democratic side, Young polled 330,831 and Glenn 148,170.

The peppery 75 - year - old Young immediately girded for a showdown with Taft in the November general election. He accused the Republicans of making his U.S. Senate seat their No. 1 target nationally.

"I welcome this challenge," he said, adding Ohioans had a clear-cut choice "between a general supporter of the Johnson-Kennedy program and a general opponent."

CIVIL RIGHTS

Young also has supported civil rights legislation and has said "there cannot be any compromise on civil rights."

The big question in Ohio's political picture today was what effect the primary had on Sen. Barry Goldwater's chances for support of Ohio conservatives in the Republican convention in July.

Brown had termed himself a "Goldwater - type" Republican and had assailed Taft as "too liberal" to follow in the footsteps of his father.

Taft stood on his record in the House where he had co-sponsored the controversial civil rights bill. He referred to himself as a "thinking conservative, not a blind conservative."

Ohio's 58-vote Republican delegation is pledged to Gov. James A. Rhodes, an uncommitted favorite son.

STAND-IN

The state's 99-vote delegation to the Democratic National Convention is pledged to President Johnson through a stand-in, Albert S. Porter of Cleveland.

Neither party had serious contests for convention delegates.

Glenn's surprising vote caused some observers to speculate that he might return to politics later.

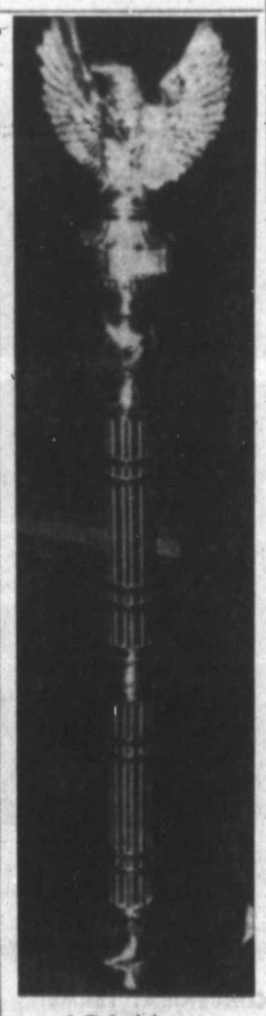

The space hero's first venture into home state politics lasted only 73 days. He suffered an inner ear injury in a fall against a bathtub in his Columbus apartment Feb. 26 and withdrew March 30 when his recovery was slower than expected.

WEBB ROAD OPEN FRIDAY

The new entrance, from Marcy Drive to the north gate of Webb Air Force Base, will be formally dedicated at a ribbon-cutting ceremony at 10 a.m. Friday.

The program, not yet complete, will feature talks by Wing Commander Col. A. F. Taute, and Big Spring Mayor George Zachariah. Col. Taute will then cut the ribbon officially opening the new entrance.

The widening, re - paving, establishment of interchanges, and landscaping, with new signs, was a joint effort of the State Highway Department, Webb AFB, and the City of Big Spring, in an effort to beautify the area and make it safer for traffic entering and leaving the base.

75 Nations Back Tariff Reduction

GENEVA (AP) — The drive started by the late President John F. Kennedy to lower world trade barriers was given a ringing endorsement today by officials speaking for 75 nations at the Kennedy Round of tariff talks.

Without dissent, they endorsed an agreement by the world's trading giants — the United States, Britain and the Common Market—to set a goal of a 50 per cent cut in tariffs across the board.

France objected to a U.S. attempt to make the sharp cut the official aim of the negotiations, and so the 50 per cent figure remains only a goal.

Talks were opened Monday by nations belonging to the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade—GATT.

OTHER PROBLEMS

A statement summing up the preliminary talks said the final tariff reductions would be linked with the solution of other problems in negotiations that are expected to last as long as two years. In theory, the tariff cuts should result in more business for all and a brake on rising prices.

The United States is particularly interested in maintaining its market for farm products. At the closed meeting, Christian A. Herter, President Johnson's chief representative, expressed disappointment that more progress on agriculture had not been made.

Delegates reported that the morning meeting went smoothly with no major changes in the statement Tuesday night on setting the tariff-cutting goals.

HIGHER RATE

Other problems to be dealt with include:

—Situations where the United States has a much higher tariff rate than the Common Market.

—Nontariff barriers to trade such as "Buy America" in the United States and special health requirements for imports into many European countries.

—Tariffs that cannot be handled by a percentage rule, but must be negotiated separately.

Help was promised to underdeveloped countries, including especially deep cuts in tariffs by some members.

The statement also welcomed the interest of Communist Poland. Czechoslovakia already is a member of GATT, and Poland and Yugoslavia take part in some of its work.

COMMUNISTS

There are difficult problems in trading with the Communist countries, where most business is handled by the government.

American officials were pleased to pin down the 50 per cent figure, even as only a basis for work. President Charles de Gaulle's government, fearful of tougher foreign competition for France's growing industry, had opposed setting this reduction, the maximum allowed by American law, as the official aim of the talks.

Four Negroes Leading Alabama County's Vote

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP)—Negroes in Macon County, where racial tension still simmers in the wake of school desegregation, apparently have defeated white opponents in a Democratic primary.

All four Negro candidates seeking county offices led the ticket in Tuesday's election.

One faced a possible runoff against a white incumbent, but there were enough uncounted votes—mostly in predominantly Negro precincts—to win outright.

With four boxes untabulated out of 20 in the county, the Rev. V. A. Edwards led the runner-up by 209 votes in the race for a seat on the county governing body. He was shy of a majority, however.

Negro voters outnumbered white electors by a slim margin of 16.

Edwards, religious extension director at Tuskegee Institute, had 1,229 votes; incumbent Virgil Guthrie had 1,020; Hoyt Sheppard received 598; Herman Daughtry 371; and W. C. Dillard 1,449.

Dr. C. G. Gomillion, professor of sociology at the famed Negro college, drew 1,493 votes for a seat on the county school board now held by Emerson Guthrie, a brother of Virgil Guthrie. The incumbent had 949 votes and O. C. Bryant 805.

Two Negro businessmen, William J. Childs and William C. Allen, were nominated for justice of the peace in separate races. Childs, a service station owner, had 989 votes to 710 for Kyle Freeman. Allen, who operates a merchandizing store, led James R. Perry Sr., 970 votes to 654.

It was an historic climax to a long struggle for voting rights which finally gave the Negroes an unquestioned majority at the polls after a federal judge ordered all qualified applicants registered.

Elsewhere in Alabama, two Negro women also sought nomination in the primary, but both were defeated.

Amelia Platts Boynton of Selma made an unsuccessful race for Congress against Rep. Kenneth Roberts in Jefferson County (Birmingham), a Negro school teacher, Bernice Johnson, lost in her race for the county school board.

Business Fine But Lyndon Touches Other Problems

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson said today he is pleased with the direction the nation's economy is headed but is concerned with some other aspects of America, including diseases, poverty and civil rights.

He urged the Advertising Council in a prepared speech to get in the front lines in the war on poverty.

"There is hardly a community in this country where poverty does not have some beachhead, and the hardest battles are going to be fought right in your home town," Johnson said.

He said the war on poverty makes good sense economically, estimating that $1,000 invested in salvaging an unemployable youth can return $40,000 or more in his lifetime.

"But it's almost insulting to urge you to enlist in this war for economic motivations. This is a moral challenge that goes to the very roots of our civilization and asks if we are willing to make personal sacrifices for the public good," Johnson said.

"I can say the same thing about the civil rights legislation now before Congress. Those who say this is a political gimmick are doing a gross injustice to the basic convictions of a democratic society: that men cannot live unto themselves alone; that the right kind of democracy is bound together by the ties of neighborliness."

Surely, he said, enlightened businessmen believe that all members of the public should have equal access to public facilities, be equally eligible for federal benefits financed by the public and should have an equal chance to vote for public officials and to send their children to good public schools and to contribute their talents to the public good.

"These are the goals of this bill—and these are the moral objectives," he said.

Calling the advertising executives "the great persuaders," Johnson asked their help to communicate the urgency of these programs. "Help us to persuade the frightened, the skeptical, and the cynical that the American society is in the balance and the future of our land at stake," he said.

Johnson said that as long as business, labor, and government operate in an atmosphere of mutual trust, "I see no reason why the expansion should not continue."

He said almost every day brings good news about the economy and that many people have been surprised by what the free enterprise system is doing.

Only this morning, Johnson said, Chairman Walter W. Heller of the Council of Economic Advisers told him private nonfarm residential construction outlays rose slightly in April. The preliminary figures estimated outlays to be 10 per cent above a year ago.

Johnson spoke of "tragic, terrible diseases" such as cancer and multiple sclerosis, but told the advertisers that "the most dangerous sickness of all, especially in a democracy is public apathy."

JURY TRIAL ISSUE

Vote Likely Today On Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — After 49 days of talk in the civil rights debate, the Senate finally reaches the voting stage today on one of the dozens of amendments pending to the bitterly disputed bill.

Only an informal agreement has been reached for this initial test. But supporters and foes of the measure said that at least one vote would be taken, probably late in the afternoon.

The vote, on a jury trial amendment of Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., will not be especially meaningful except possibly as an ice-breaker in the marathon debate.

PROMPTLY

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he was hopeful his colleagues would go ahead promptly and take all of the votes needed to dispose of the jury trial issue, finishing with it tonight or Thursday.

But he pointed out there is no assurance that this can be done.

Ordinarily when the Senate begins voting on amendments to a major bill, the leaders have obtained an iron-clad agreement fixing an hour for the roll call or limiting debate on each amendment to an hour or two.

FALL SILENT

But nothing of the kind has been possible on the House-passed civil rights bill. Thus a vote can come only when the 19 Southerners fighting it fall silent and permit the test.

Both Democratic and Republican leaders voiced concern Tuesday that invitations from President Johnson for an out-of-town trip might delay the final jury trial votes until next week.

The President, leaving early Thursday for another tour of Appalachia, invited senators from the states he will visit to accompany him.

NEGOTIATIONS

It was learned that a Democratic leader protested sharply to the White House, declaring this would mean an upset to the delicate negotiations which finally had produced a willingness for some votes.

However, some of the senators said they would decline the invitations and remain behind for the votes.

Mansfield told a reporter no request from any senator had come to him for delays because of the presidential trip. He said that if there were absentees, he would be glad to arrange pairs —a device often used to protect a missing senator on a vote.

Off the Senate floor, Democratic and Republican leaders continue a series of meetings with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy which may have much to do with the final fate of the bill.

Navy Vessels Collide At Sea

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The aircraft carrier Lake Champlain and the destroyer Decatur collided 150 miles east of Cape Henry today during anti-submarine warfare operations.

Atlantic Fleet Headquarters reported no one was injured.

A fleet spokesman said the Decatur's superstructure was damaged heavily in the collision. There was no apparent damage below her main deck.

One airplane aboard the Lake Champlain was damaged.

The collision occurred as the destroyer was moving away from the carrier after refueling, the spokesman said. Visibility was four miles and seas were moderate.

U.S. Envoy's Ouster Talked

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—A resolution is before the Argentine Senate requesting the government to expel U.S. Ambassador Robert McClintock because of a comment he made about the cancellation of Argentine contracts with U.S. oil companies.

The resolution, submitted Tuesday night by five leading senators from President Arturo Illia's Peoples Radical Civic Union, accused the ambassador of interfering in Argentina's internal affairs.

McClintock had planned to leave Argentina Sunday. He is being replaced by Edwin Martin, former U.S. assistant secretary of state for Latin-American affairs.

The senators were irate over an article Saturday in the newspaper El Territorio, of Posadas, which quoted McClintock as saying U.S. investments in Argentina would end because of the oil contract cancellations.

The U.S. Embassy on Monday corrected the statement to read that "the climate for North American investments in Argentina has been adversely affected by the annulment of the oil contracts."

City's Census Proves Costly

PASCO, Wash. (AP)—Pasco city officials should have quit while they were ahead.

About a month ago they ordered a new head count hoping for a substantial increase in the per capita distribution of state liquor and gasoline taxes to cities.

The census, which cost $1,567, showed a population loss of 823 since last year, down to 15,677. As a result, Pasco stands to lose about $13,100 this year in state funds.

Independents Plan Push On Natural Gas Controls

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Independent oil operators are perfecting plans to make a third effort to have Congress remove wellhead prices of natural gas from federal control.

The Independent Petroleum Association of American instructed its officers Tuesday to be prepared to place a "complete decontrol" bill before the new Congress next January.

The 7,000-member association meanwhile will conduct an intensive campaign with an objective of "convincing the public and members of Congress of a need for such legislation.

The gas price policy was adopted at the concluding session of the association's mid-year meeting.

The policy statement said the Federal Power Commission has experimented 10 years with unsuccessful price control formulas and the situation has become intolerable.

"There is no justification for the regulation of the price of natural gas at the wellhead by the federal government," the statement said. "It is wrong in principle. It has been proven wrong in practice."

Rep. John Bell Williams, D-Miss., who has a decontrol bill before the current Congress, agreed.

"Congress, in passing the natural gas act of 1938, did not intend wellhead prices to be controlled by the federal government," Williams said.

Decontrol bills have been passed twice previously by Congress only to be vetoed by former Presidents Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower. President Lyndon B. Johnson, as a senator, supported both of the vetoed bills.

Robert W. Henderson, a Dallas, Tex., attorney told the independents the FPC's current efforts to develop an area formula to control prices consume so much time and money most small producers cannot participate.

Legal Officer Says Better News-Lawyer Ties Needed

FORT WORTH (AP)—A legal officer says lawyers and reporters should cooperate better in news coverage of trials.

Homa S. Hill, State Bar of Texas official from Fort Worth, told a group of newsmen cooperation is necessary to "educate ourselves where we can stop and start in the right of a man to a fair trial versus freedom of the press."

Hill has been critical of news coverage of President Kennedy's assassination and the trial of Jack Ruby, condemned slayer of the alleged assassin.

Hill, chairman of the state bar's public relations committee, participated Tuesday in a panel discussion with newsmen at the Press Club of Fort Worth.

He was sharply challenged on remarks he made in Washington last month at a newspaper convention, where he called coverage of the Dallas events the work of a "mob," and said the reporting heaped slander on Dallas and ridicule upon Texas.

Hill refuted a contention that the bar group is a private organization and has no business setting news policies.

The attorney said the press and bar "must protect each other. There must be certain restrictions."

He cited a canon of ethics of the state bar which paved the way for television and still photography coverage of Texas court trials.

In view of the Dallas coverage, he said later, this policy would probably be reversed by the bar "if a vote was taken today."

Hill asserted that the question of how far the press can go without infringing on a defendant's right to a fair trial is currently being discussed all over the United States.

To help reach a solution, the bar will hold seminars next month with press representatives to discuss the problems, he said.

Annual Gin Meeting Set

ACKERLY — The annual meeting of Farmers Co-op Gin No. 2 members, in the Ackerly community, will be held Saturday, at 8 p.m. in the Sands High School auditorium. All of the more than 350 members are urged to attend, chairman Ray Adams said Tuesday.

"The gin turned out 5,172 bales during the past cotton season," Adams said, "and all members will receive dividends for the year. Dividend checks will not be quite as big as those last year, but will include not only ginning receipts, but profits from the sale of feed, seed, some fertilizer, and insecticides, along with some implement accessories."

One new director will be elected, or the out-going man re-elected, Adams said.

DEAR ABBY

Try To Find Out The Facts

DEAR ABBY: We were married 14 years and I never dreamed that anything was wrong with our marriage. Suddenly my husband started to take an interest in poker. Last March he went to a poker game that lasted all week. At the end of the week, a woman called me three times in one day telling me that she and my husband were "in love" and he didn't have the nerve to ask me for a divorce. I told her if my husband wanted a divorce he would have to ask me for it. He still hasn't asked me, and I am keeping my mouth shut. But he still "plays poker" all night twice a week. I am 33, she is 29 and my husband is 35. If he gets up the nerve to ask me for a divorce, it will tear up two sets of children. Ours are 5, 7, 10 and 12. Hers are 4, 3 and 10 months old. What should I do? WAITING

DEAR WAITING: Get some counseling from either your clergyman or your family service association and try to put your marriage back on the track. Find out why it became necessary for your husband to seek female companionship elsewhere. You may not like what you learn, but it could save your marriage. Good luck.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: When I had my marriage announcements printed, I had the following message placed at the bottom: PLEASE — NO GIFTS! I did it for three very good reasons: (1) I do not need anything. (2) I have no room in my small apartment to store anything. (3) I have no time to write "thank you notes." In spite of this, the gifts poured in. Why can't people be more considerate and oblige? ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: Aw c'mon. Ingrained responses are not easily changed. Surely you can find something other than your friends' generosity to "annoy" you.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: If that 16-year-old girl, whose drinking father hocked her boy friend's ring, wants to get the ring back, all she has to do is go to the pawn shop and demand it. If they do not deliver up the ring, she can get the cooperation of the police in recovering stolen property (her father DID help himself to the ring, she stated). Otherwise, she can (through a lawyer) replevy the ring by legal process. It all depends on how far the girl wants to go in making things uncomfortable for her father. In my book, anyone who hocks property he does not own is no better than a common thief.

Unemployed Miners Work For Kids' Aid

HAZARD, Ky. (AP)—On an abandoned strip mine bank in eastern Kentucky, Rufus Neace of Hazard was doing his first regular work in nearly two years.

Neace and 29 companions were planting trees over several acres, to stabilize land ravaged by a strip miner many years ago and then abandoned in piles of barren earth and rocks uprooted as the coal was removed.

Their employer: The U.S. government and the State of Kentucky. The program: Aid to unemployed parents of dependent children.

RATHER WORK

"This is a real fine program," Neace said. "I'd rather work myself. I'm used to working."

Neace has six children, but he had been out of work since he was laid off from a sawmill job in Michigan. His unemployment compensation payments were exhausted long ago. Like many others who left, got jobs, then lost them, he had come back to the hills of eastern Kentucky—home.

His companion, Harold Sumner, of Viper, was in a similar situation. With three children, Sumner found no demand for unskilled labor.

Does he mind working for a welfare check? "I think it's all right," he said. "It's sure a lot better than laying around and doing nothing."

ALL COUNTIES

That partly explains the theory behind the unemployed parents program started in parts of Kentucky recently and due to be expanded to all 120 counties next year.

Unemployed parents work to receive benefits under the federal-state program.

Ralph Wells, state economic security supervisor at Hazard, said the work program is gaining wide acceptance in this poverty-stricken area.

It is also developing as a tool to clean up and beautify eastern Kentucky, scarred by mining and lumbering projects and by floods that damaged property and scattered debris through the valleys.

District Forester Lyle R. Shoemaker, who supervises a nine-county forestry region, is watching over the project to stabilize thousands of acres of abandoned strip mines. The men are becoming adept at fighting forest fires, too, he said, a ready labor force for the critical first hours after fires are spotted.

Killed In Mishap

PORT ARTHUR (AP)— Lori Ann Frazier, 4, was killed Tuesday when a car driven by her grandfather backed over her at nearby Groves.

Post Office Adjustments Have Little Effect Here

Patrons of the Big Spring post office will not be materially affected by the recently announced adjustments in parcel post and post office window services, according to A. A. Porter, assistant postmaster.

Some misunderstanding seems to have arisen in regard to the changes made on orders of the postmaster general.

One feature, Porter pointed out, overlooked in earlier announcements, is that all essential postal services will be available on Saturday at the four contract stations in the city. These are located at Hemphill-Wells, Edwards Heights Pharmacy, Wacker's Store on 11th Place, and at Toby's, on Marcy Drive.

The new adjustments were officially put in effect Monday and are in accord with certain economy practices the postal department is adopting which will save several million dollars a year, he explained.

Porter said that parcel post routes will continue to be delivered every day in the week except Wednesday and that mailster routes and mounted routes will continue delivery of parcel post on a six day per week basis.

Porter said that he has been informed that nationally, parcel post deliveries on 24,934 city routes—where the carriers are "mounted" (vehicles) — on 32,299 rural delivery routes and 7,802 contract routes are not affected by the adjustments. On 78,576 city delivery foot routes, parcels up to two pounds and not larger than a shoe box will be delivered. About one-fourth of all parcel post packages are two pounds or less in weight.

The change order affects only parcel post routes (about 16,000 full and part-time routes in the nation). These routes will be in service only five days a week instead of six as in the past. Postmasters are instructed to adjust service to local parcel volumes and it is estimated only six to eight per cent of the total parcel post will be affected.

More postal personnel are being assigned weekend duties at many post offices and parcels will be speeded throughout the postal system for local deliveries to all points, including Big Spring. About 28,000 small and medium-sized post offices have no parcel post routes now and their service will not be changed at all.

Domestic money orders are about the only service affected by the consolidation of window service into one window on Saturday morning in some 12,000 of the larger offices.

Money orders will continue to be sold on Saturday, with a few exceptions, at all of the 7,000 postal contract stations such a those in Big Spring. The consolidated window will continue to provide stamp sales, parcel post transactions, registry, C.O.D. services and other essential services.

Porter pointed out that nationally there are 20,000 post offices which have never had n one window. Nat,b uturallyo but one window. Naturally, no change is being made in the type of service they issue.

"Actually," Porter said, "It is doubtful if any of our patrons will be aware of any difference in the services offered."

CAMPAIGN OPENS

Cox Questions Runoff Opponent's Credentials

AUSTIN (AP) — Jack Cox opened his run-off primary campaign for the Republican U.S. Senate nomination Tuesday by questioning the qualifications of his opponent, Houston oilman George Bush.

Bush, a first-time office seeker, topped Cox, a former legislator and seasoned campaigner, by some 17,000 votes in Saturday's GOP primary.

In a statement released by his campaign headquarters, Cox predicted he will win the run-off and said Bush lacks sufficient experience and is not an "unquestioned conservative."

"If my run-off opponent had sufficient experience, if he were an unquestioned conservative, if he had earned a solid following through a record of service in public office, if he had widespread contacts and broad knowledge of the Texas political scene based on a longer residence here . . . if he had these qualifications, then I would give him my wholehearted support," Cox said.

"Regrettably, he has none of these qualifications. Obviously, I have all of them."

Cox, a former Democrat who joined the Republican party about three years ago, said he is convinced "that many thousands of my regular supporters felt so uncertain of an easy primary for me that they applied their votes elsewhere or didn't bother to vote at all" in the first primary.

"We are confident," he said, "of a new surge of support from sources not available to our opponent, to carry us to run-off victory."

Blase New Yorkers Again Decline Aid In Rape Case

NEW YORK (AP) — Police have unfolded details of what they term a second case of shocking indifference by New Yorkers to young women being raped.

The latest instance involves a Bronx telephone operator. Police said she drew only blank stares from a crowd of onlookers in broad daylight as she screamed she had been raped and still was being attacked in the vestibule of an office building.

"Forty people could have helped that girl, but none of those jerks helped her," patrolman Norman Brown said in court Tuesday. He and another patrolman heard the screams as they passed the building.

George Coughlin, 26, married and the father of two, was held in $7,500 bail as the alleged rapist of Miss Olga Romero, 18, Tuesday. He worked in the same building as did the slim, five-foot victim.

Coughlin denied the charges. He said he found the girl naked and unconscious on the floor of the second-floor office and placed a jacket around her.

Miss Romero had blackened eyes, a bleeding mouth and neck bruises. She said the injuries were inflicted by her assailant, who stripped her and raped her.

The Bronx case recalled the fatal stabbing of Miss Catherine Genevese March 13 in Kew Gardens, Queens. Detectives later discovered 38 persons had seen the attack on Miss Genovese during a 35-minute period without aiding her or summoning police.

The death of Miss Genovese occurred in a quiet residential area in the dark pre-dawn hours. The attack was seen by persons from the apartment windows.

The incident involving Miss Romero was in daylight and on Tremont Ave., one of the Bronx's busiest thoroughfares. Police say those who failed to come to her aid were close to the attack and could clearly hear her shouts.

Tables Shown By Gardeners

The last scheduled meeting of the season for the Green Thumb Garden Club was a brunch held Tuesday in the Gold Room at Big Spring Country Club.

Hostesses were Mrs. Fred Lurting, Mrs. J. H. Fish, Mrs. H. C. Stipp and Mrs. J. E. Hogan.

The theme for the festive affair was "Table Arrangements," which was carried out with 10 tables exhibited which were set appropriately for various seasons and holidays of the year.

The main dining table was in a U shape, the head table being centered with a May Pole, its pastel satin streamers leading to May baskets filled with spring blossoms. Baskets placed at intervals along the side tables were filled with ivy and roses in shades of pink. Each place was marked with a miniature basket of tiny flowers. The baskets were brought from Mexico by Mrs. Lurting.

Preceding and following the luncheon, members and guests had time to inspect the table displays. All were festive, colorful and suited to the occasion they represented.

TABLE DISPLAY

The February table, prepared by Mrs. E. V. Swift and Mrs. Lester Morton, was called "Romance" and featured a Valentine theme. The round table was covered with a floor-length cloth of bright red, and the centerpiece was white chrysanthemums mixed with red heart silhouettes placed in a white cupid vase. A heart shaped cake, encircled with green fern, was frosted pink and decorated with a white chrysanthemum and red cupid figurine. The patterned china was used with napkins of Jamaican linen with embroidered lace.

Mrs. C. M. Adams and Mrs. R. B. Reeder prepared the March table which had an Easter theme. The china was patterned with small violet and yellow flowers which blended with the pink linen of the cloth. Centering the table was a gold container, encircled with Easter basket grass where colorfully decorated eggs were nestled. The container, too, held the eggs suspended from small branches. The coffee service and tray were of silver, and napkins were inscribed "Give Us This Day Our Daily Bread."

The April table was displayed by Mrs. James Duncan and Mrs. Ike Robb. Bright as spring sunshine, it held yellow woven placemats, yellow glassware and a centerpiece of yellow and white daisies in a yellow watering can. The white pottery plates held flower pots containing baked Alaska with a yellow daisy inserted in the meringue.

A Father's Day motif was featured on the June table, decorated by Mrs. H. W. Smith and Mrs. Merle Stewart. Yellow roses (and Father's Day cigars) were arranged in a brown ceramic pitcher depicting Rebekah at the Well. White paper rope mats were used with green napkins held by woven rings to which miniature fruit was attached. The china was in the Florentine pattern of pale gold fruit and was used with green glassware.

PATRIOTISM

Pride of country was evident in the July table designed by Mrs. Elmo Wasson and Mrs. A. Swartz. Stark white china and water goblets stood out against a cloth of royal blue linen, and matching napkins were topped with red carnations. Lying flat in the center of the table was a circle of silvered huckleberry leaves framing a silver emblem of the eagle and placed to the side were long - stemmed red and white carnations.

Mrs. J. M. Woodall and Mrs. Hayes Stripling Jr. observed Halloween with their holiday table. It was spread with a pale orange cloth and matching napkins, and brown tones were predominant in the fruit patterned china. Massive green candles supported orange and yellow crepe paper pumpkins.

A bountiful harvest was suggested by the November table provided by Mrs. Lee O. Rogers. Mrs. Robert Johnson and Mrs. J. R. Hatch. In the center, a cornucopia spilled fruit onto a gold colored cloth embossed with a border design in white. For the Thanksgiving dinner, china featured the traditional turkey design.

MRS. J. M. WOODALL

Mrs. E. B. McCormick, Mrs. Robert Piner and Mrs. Arch Carson prepared the table that brought a modern touch to the age-old custom of Christmas breakfast. A black wrought iron candelabrum held an arrangement of ten green tapers with the triangular center festooned with angel figurines and bright baubles. Green placemats, blue napkins and blue glassware blended with the green and blue pattern of white china.

During a brief business session, Mrs. Johnson announced appointments for next season. To serve on the project committee are Mrs. Duncan, Mrs. Piner, Mrs. Smith, and Mrs. Wasson. On the telephone committee are Mrs. Lurting, Mrs. Swift and Mrs. Fish.

Mrs. Merle Stewart will be chairman of the program committee, and working with her will be Mrs. Stipp, Mrs. Robb, Mrs. Swartz and Mrs. Woodall.

Mrs. Johnson is the new president, Mrs. Stewart is the vice president and Mrs. Morton is secretary-treasurer.

GUESTS

Guests introduced were Mrs. Jimmy Johnson, Mrs. W. E. Archer, Mrs. Morris Patterson, Mrs. Lloyd Wasson, Mrs. Horace Garrett, Mrs. E. L. Powell and Mrs. Charles Head.

Also, Mrs. Don Newsom, Mrs. Kimbell Guthrie, Mrs. Milton Talbot, Mrs. Harrol Jones, Mrs. J. A. Rattle, Mrs. A. F. Taute, Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow, Mrs. W. P. Edwards Jr. and Mrs. Jo Bright.

Others were Mrs. H. F. Schwarzenbach, Mrs. R. L. Beale, Mrs. J. Y. Robb, Mrs. E. V. Spence, Mrs. H. G. Keaton and Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper.

Gifts Used As Vases

Every hostess, at some time or another, is faced with the problem of giving a shower for a young bride-to-be. Every hostess, too, wants to make the shower she gives as attractive and as unusual as possible.

Why not make the actual shower gifts themselves a part of the decorations for the party. For a kitchen shower, for example, the mixing bowls or measuring cups to be given the lucky bride might be used as amusing containers for flower arrangements on a buffet table.

For a bathroom shower, hand towels might be used as place mats. A small fresh flower corsage could be pinned to the corner of each "place mat" as a decoration, and as an attractive favor for each guest to take home.

The new pyroceram kitchen utensils are an excellent choice of shower gifts. They are sturdy enough to be used on top of the kitchen stove or in the oven, yet are beautiful enough to be brought to the table along with even the finest china. Young brides love to start housekeeping with them. And, for the shower hostess, they make ideal flower containers.

If the shower is a china one, little nosegays might be arranged in demi-tasses.

Baskets, large sea shells, a particularly lovely old sugar bowl are all among the vases available. The unusual vase makes an arrangement of fresh blooms even more of a conversation piece.

P-TA Story Painted During Installation

The Big Spring City Council of Parents and Teachers met Tuesday at Cosden Country Club for an installation luncheon.

The installing officer was Mrs. Chesley McDonald, state vice president who conducted the ceremony using the theme, "Paint The P-TA Story." She used a large black easel and held a paint brush as she asked, "What kind of image are you painting in your local unit, and what are you building for your children?"

She used a magnifying hand mirror to stress that the image starts small with the local units and builds as the influence spreads to the council, state organization and on to national recognition. Mirrors were presented to Mrs. D. B. McCann, past president, and Mrs. Della K. Aghell, named "Mrs. P-TA."

The new council officers installed were Mrs. R. E. Ray, president; Mrs. Roy Watkins, vice president; Mrs. Hulan Harris, treasurer; Mrs. Roscoe Newell, recording secretary; and Mrs. E. C. Miller, corresponding secretary. Mrs. McCann presented the president's pin and gavel to Mrs. Ray and she, in turn, gave a gift of appreciation on behalf of the council and a past-president's pin to Mrs. McCann.

She thanked those working with her during the administration and recognized those working on the luncheon committees as Mrs. Granville Hahn, Mrs. Joe Moss, Mrs. Hull, Mrs. J. W. Lancaster, Mrs. Griffith, Mrs. Gerald Bennett, Mrs. Harris and Mrs. J. H. Homan.

Appointed to audit the treasurer's books were Mrs. Lancaster and Mrs. Moss. Named to approve the minutes were Mrs. Jess Majors, Mrs. Gerhart and Mrs. Jack Brown.

Honor guests were Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Alvie Cole, District 16 president of Sterling City; Superintendent Anderson, Sebron Williams, assistant superintendent; and Dr. C. L. Ainsworth, coordinator of elementary education.

The meeting closed with a prayer led by Blankenship.

"Graduation Day" was the theme used in decorations. The head table was centered with long-stemmed yellow roses tied in blue satin and flanked by giant report cards marked "Straight A", and a graduation cap and large diploma in honor of the retiring president. Items to help the new president "make the grade" were a stack of books, eye glasses, an apple, and classroom items.

Blue and gold runners on other tables were decorated with blue flowers, small diplomas and red apples.

The bride-elect's chosen colors of blue and white were used at the white lace covered refreshment table. A centerpiece of blue and white carnations was flanked by blue candles in crystal holders. Other appointments were of crystal and silver. Forty-three guests were registered.

The couple plan to be married May 30 in Wesley Methodist Church.

A panel spoke on the topic, "For Liberty and Light," at the Tuesday meeting of the Woman's Missionary Union at Stadium Baptist Church. They illustrated the program with a map that traced the development of early day Baptists who sought religious freedom in the United States.

Participants were Mrs. C. L. McKinney, Mrs. H. I. Cox, Mrs. L. H. Sims, Mrs. Arch Cameron and Mrs. A. C. Falkner. Mrs. McKinney read the prayer calendar, and Mrs. Sims worded a prayer for the missionaries.

Mrs. Dewain Cox was selected Sunbeam director and Mrs. Rupert Madrey was named Sunbeam leader. Reviewing council members for the Girls Auxiliary were Mrs. Arch Carson, Mrs. J. M. Guthrie and Mrs. Edwin Broadway.

Mrs. Falkner gave the closing prayer.

McClendons Tell Of Baby's Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Troy McClendon, 3801 Connally, are the parents of a daughter, Kimberly Karen, born May 4 at Howard County Hospital Foundation, weighing 9 pounds, 5 ounces.

The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Ivey, 2505 Carlton, and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McClendon, 1416 Sycamore.

TOPS Hear Of Hobbies

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Williams noted the use of a hobby as therapy for overeating and tense nerves when they spoke to the Pound Rebels of TOPS Tuesday evening in the Flame Room at the Pioneer Natural Gas Co.

They illustrated their presentation with displays of various craft materials, and Williams presented Mrs. Bob Wilson and Mrs. J. H. Talton with caricatures he had done of them.

Roll call was answered with a weight gain or loss, and Mrs. Bill Harp was recognized as the only member who has attained her scheduled weight loss during a year's planned program. Mrs. Al Scott was program chairman.

Visitors were Mrs. Wayne Beene and Dianna Williams.

The next meeting will be held at the City Park pavilion and the group will play miniature golf.

A. D. Brown has returned to his home in Ackerly following surgery at Baylor Hospital.

South American Study Presented

The monthly mission program was dedicated to a study of Argentina, Paraguay, Uruguay and Chile when the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church met in the sanctuary Tuesday morning.

The Lucille Reagan Circle had charge of the program and participants included Mrs. B. F. Faulkner who conducted the meditation and call to prayer, Mrs. Ben Johnson, Mrs. Charles Warren, Mrs. R. D. Ulrey, Mrs. John Shortes, Mrs. Roy Phillips and Mrs. D. A. Miller. The speakers were in costumes representing the native dress of the various countries and used fruit, flowers and vegetables to highlight their presentations.

It was noted that two or more languages were spoken at religious services in Paraguay. Uruguay has developed complete religious freedom concepts, and a movement in Argentina for Baptist advancement is set for 100 per cent increase in the next 10 years. The mission work in Chile was begun by an 80-year-old woman with proceeds from her bean crop.

Mrs. J. C. Pickle presided at the business session and announced plans for activities of the youth organizations. Mrs. W. F. Taylor and Mrs. Bill Younger worded prayers.

The general missionary program date for June has been altered to May 26 due to the vacation Bible school schedule.

Auxiliary Gives Mission Display

Girls Auxiliary groups from local Baptist churches presented a home and foreign mission display at the associational meeting held Monday evening at Stadium Baptist Church.

The First Baptist group display dealt with Alaska, India, the Orient and Mexico. Germany was depicted by the College Park girls and China was shown by the East Fourth Auxiliary. Prairie View showed work in Mexico and Westside chose Japan for their display.

The prayer calendar was given by Sue McKinney, and Linda Baird conducted the roll call. Sherry Thomas led the hymns.

Sickening Fare

From time to time hate mongers slip their poison products into the mail, and recently unsigned letters have borne some of the base allegations that Jews and Negroes (and we suspect any other group that didn't please the author) were Communists.

The mouthings contained in the printed folders enclosed would be ridiculous if they weren't so sickening.

This is exactly the sort of fare dished out by the Communists and the unlamented Nazis.

The most pathetic thing about this sort of venom is not that we have minds sick enough to conjure it, but that, as someone has suggested, there are a few people who would hear and cheer it if it were preached from the corner.

This poison has no place in a country dedicated to the worth of an individual. It should be met head on and buried for what it is.

More Time

This is a somewhat belated acknowledgement of reports that the earth has been rotating more slowly the past couple of years. It seems worth noting, especially since the astronomers put their clocks back a tenth of a second on April 1 to allow for the slower rate of spin.

A tenth of a second may seem like a fairly inconsequential fragment of time. But consider. This tenth of a second applies to everyone on earth. There are roughly three billion of us now. A statistician might say that this works out to a time gain of approximately 300 million man-seconds.

And what does 300 million man-seconds amount to? Substantially more than 83,000 hours. Which in turn is about nine and a half years. So humanity just gained nine and a half man-made years. Then there's the fact that the astronomical clocks had already been set back a tenth of a second just last November. That gives us another nine and a half man-years.

Which proves that figures can be kicked around to mean almost anything.

The Jury Trial Amendment

WASHINGTON — What's the "jury trial amendment" to the "civil rights" bill all about? On its face it seems to be a question of whether a person who could be put in jail on a charge of contempt of court should have the right to trial by jury. Would a person prefer to have judgment passed on him by a jury of 12 citizens or by just one individual—a judge?

This is not an easy question to answer. For sometimes a jury is not able to understand the fine points of the law and may make a mistake, whereas a judge who is familiar with all the intricacies of the statutes would presumably do a better job—though often some judges seem to be politically minded.

BASICALLY, the whole controversy arises now in connection with "civil rights" because of a fear that juries in the South may not administer justice as it should be. But the legislation pending in the Senate is designed to cover citizens in all parts of the country and to secure justice for everybody—not just people in one section.

What constitutes "contempt"? It involves disobedience of an order issued by the court or else misbehavior inside a courtroom. There seems to be universal acceptance of the idea that any disorder inside a courtroom should be punished by the judge without any jury trial. There is a distinct difference of opinion, however, as to what should be done with respect to disobedience of a court order outside the courtroom.

THE ISSUE as it is being debated in Congress is a very serious one. It is something that ought to be given many months of deliberation instead of just a few days. It strikes at the root of the American system of justice. The Constitution says plainly in three separate provisions:

1. "The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury."

2. "In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the state and district wherein the crime shall have been committed."

3. "IN SUITS at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved."

But the courts have arbitrarily tried to define a "crime" in different ways. As recently as last year in the proceedings for criminal contempt against Governor Barnett of Mississippi, the Supreme Court by a 5-to-4 vote decided against the request for a jury trial. Chief Justice Warren and Justices Black, Goldberg and Douglas dissented. In his opinion, Justice Black wrote:

"I think that this doctrine that a judge has inherent power to make himself prosecutor, judge and jury seriously encroaches upon the constitutional right to trial by jury and should be repudiated."

BUT, IN SPITE of these views expressed by the "liberal" justices, most of the "liberals" in the Senate will vote instead to repudiate the words of the Constitution.

There is a popular impression, moreover, that jail sentences are imposed only in the case of "criminal contempt," but actually an individual may go to jail in a "civil contempt" case as well.

CRIMINAL CONTEMPT usually results in punishment of the defendant by a fine or imprisonment, in a definite amount and for a definite time. Under the "civil rights" bill passed by the House, the judge would be able to try a criminal contempt case without a jury and impose sentence in certain instances where the fine was to be $300 or less or where the imprisonment is 45 days or less. But an individual also can be jailed in a civil contempt case. Whether a person is in jail for civil contempt or for criminal contempt, it is just as much a punishment or disgrace.

IT IS EVIDENT that neither side is all wrong or all right on this issue and that serious consideration should be given to the whole matter because it involves a precedent of far-reaching importance. It is just one of a number of "civil rights" measures that are being rushed through Congress because of political pressures and intimidation by threats of violence or street demonstrations. This is not the proper way to enact legislation dealing with fundamental principles of justice.

New Interest Fastens On Cuba Rumors

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two sorest points in American foreign policy now are the dilapidated condition of the war in South Viet Nam and Fidel Castro's continued survival in Cuba.

The Republicans will make them major talking points unless these conditions change before the presidential campaign. They're already doing it.

If the opposite happened—the Vietnamese war improved or Castro fell—President Johnson's political chances would take a great leap forward. He has a stake in both.

FOR THIS reason, while Viet Nam remains unchanged, special interest fastens on rumblings now heard that Cuban exiles are planning some action against Castro.

The Republicans didn't solve the Vietnamese war although they had a try at it. This country poured aid into South Viet Nam through President Dwight D. Eisenhower's last four years.

They had two years under Eisenhower to try their luck with Castro who took charge in Cuba at the beginning of 1959. He remained calmly unbudged.

The Democrats didn't do any better. They had more than three years under the administrations of President John F. Kennedy and Johnson to win in Asia and eliminate Castro.

BUT THE Republicans are now in effect calling the Democrats' namby-pamby on Cuba and Asia and demanding action while remaining vague on what kind.

The Democrats would escape the burden of having to explain if somehow they could find some solutions or make the Republicans share their burden.

They did manage to get Henry Cabot Lodge, who could wind up being the Republican presidential candidate, involved in Viet Nam by making him the American ambassador there. But he can't do anything by himself. He can only recommend.

It's doubtful Johnson can find a Vietnamese victory without far more direct American involvement than Democrats or Republicans have wanted to risk, since war with Red China could follow.

So the Vietnamese problem may drag on unchanged. But that's far away. Cuba and Castro, being closer, are more painful in some ways.

THIS GOVERNMENT got burnt in 1961 when Kennedy backed the disastrous invasion of Cuba by Cuban exiles but wouldn't support them when they were smashed on the beaches. The whole business was a fiasco and a national embarrassment.

The United States not only hasn't tried anything similar since but even stopped the exiles from using this country as a base for raids on Cuba. It tried to content itself by trying to ruin Castro by a boycott on trade with him.

This hasn't been successful, either, because the Allies ignore the boycott and keep on selling to him.

Now come rumors that the exiles are going to use some Latin-American country as a base for trying to destroy Castro through raids or sabotage or harassments. That may take some doing, if they try it.

NO MATTER how much the Johnson administration denied any complicity in this, the rest of the world would probably be unconvinced. It almost certainly couldn't happen without the Central Intelligence Agency knowing about it.

State Department officials—according to the phrasing of diplomatic reporters — appeared unanimous in negative reactions to reports that the exiles were getting ready to move against Castro.

But it would take some of the Republican heat off Johnson if some kind of action was taken against Castro, no matter how indirectly.

Golden Bonfire Of Memories

NEW YORK (AP)—Memory is the golden bonfire by which we warm our hearts in chill times.

The more you have to recall the warmer is the glow.

It kindles the spirit to look back now, for example, and remember when—

You couldn't put on your shoes without an instrument called a buttonhook.

ONLY SICK people and very small children stayed in bed after 6 a.m. Seeing the sun rise was a daily inspiration to a majority of Americans.

No one could judge a woman's age for sure, but half our male citizenry were convinced they could tell how old a horse was by looking at its teeth.

If something upset you, you said it gave you "the willies." Or, if you were feeling under par, you remarked, "I've got heeby-jeebies."

Repair costs around the house were negligible, as the only mechanical gadget that ever needed fixing was the well pump in the back yard.

ANYBODY WHO got a long-distance call on the telephone knew at once some relative must be dead or mortally ill.

A child then got a bigger thrill from riding up two floors on a department store escalator than a modern child does from riding in a jet plane from New York to San Francisco.

No kitchen was complete without a rolling pin, or a basement without a tub and washboard.

Air conditioning was simple. On hot summer days a housewife could always cool off by taking her rocking chair down into the cellar, and doing her darning there.

CHRISTMAS shopping for Dad was no problem. If his only necktie was still in good shape, he could always do with a new pair of suspenders.

The best-known golfer in America was John D. Rockefeller Sr. If he really liked you, he gave you a shiny new dime as a sign of his approval.

You were a real sport if you wore a pair of pearl-gray spats, and gave the barber a dime tip when you got a two-bit haircut.

Any teen-ager who had to ask his parents for spending money was regarded as shiftless, and it was felt he was bound to come to no good end.

Billy Graham

I hear you speak of "making a decision." For the life of me I can't see where making a choice can change one's life. Will you please explain? G.B.

Making a choice—just any kind of choice, cannot change your life. It is the kind of redemptive choice, the one that our Lord commends, that can make your life full and abundant.

Herbert Agar once said: "We have forgotten that man is creating his tomorrow at every moment by his thoughts and motives today." Look at your own life. Where you have triumphed over temptation; wherever you have curbed a bad disposition; wherever you have been strong instead of weak, you have enriched your character.

Nations and individuals map their future by today's choices. When Germany endorsed Hitler, they went a certain direction that was dictated by that choice. When Russia chose communism, they mapped out a certain kind of future for themselves. When we choose Christ: decide for Him, His grace, His love, His power begin to play a part in our lives. Our lives take on a new quality. We can never be quite the same again. The decisions of today, right or wrong, determine what our tomorrows shall be. "Seek ye first the kingdom of God . . . and all these things shall be added unto you."

Against Fires

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The Wisconsin Conservation Department is going to put a new weapon into action against forest fires on the Apostle Islands in Lake Superior. It is an LCM (landing craft, machine) once used by U.S. Army reservists in Michigan.

Neil LeMay, chief ranger for the department, noted that there had been several serious fires on the islands which have been difficult to fight because of lack of docks. The landing craft, capable of carrying several tractors and plows and about 15 men, could get equipment directly to shore.

Wisconsin will receive the vessel, under the federal government's excess equipment program.

All-American Before His Time

The phone rang and it was Dave Hopper on the line.

"Did you hear about Botchey Koch?"

I hadn't, and Dave said he had seen an item in a paper that Botchey had been found dead in his hotel room. It was a sad note, and a sad ending, for everybody loved Botchey, the first Southwest Conference football player to be named to a Walter Camp All-American team in the old Collier's magazine. In those days, this was regarded as the nearest thing to an official team.

DAVE AND I knew Botchey in our days at Baylor, and that was a long time ago. My introduction to him was rather impressive, for I was a green freshman — or Slime, as we were known—from the hinterlands. It was a custom for the upperclassmen to call on the Slimes and introduce themselves, then ask the befuddled freshman to call out the name and spell it correctly.

"You're Mr. Cook," I said, somewhat proud of my rapidly improving memory. "C-O-O-K, Cook!" Then, while Botchey spelled and punctuated it to the accompaniment of a good pine paddle, in the custom of those days, I learned a new way to spell Cook. Nor did I make the mistake of some of my fellow Slimes of pronouncing his name as Mr. Kotch.

AS I SAY, this experience impressed me. I was all the more impressed when I learned that this lordly sophomore was supposed to be the star guard on the football team. He had been highly regarded on the basis of his play at Temple High School, and he richly deserved it. Morley Jennings, our coach, made Botchey a regular from the start. For the next three years, Botchey, with Puny Witcher at the other guard spot and Louie Paradeaux at center, became about the most formidable middle section in the conference. In his senior year Botchey had the regional sports writers behind him, and when the team traveled to Lafayette, Ind. for a game against Purdue, he caught the eye of a few of the metropolitan writers.

BAYLOR PUNCHED over one touchdown and had a sparkling punt return by Jake Wilson called back, else it might have scored a stunning upset. But it was the play of Botchey that stood out most. After the game the Purdue coach told Mr. Jennings that he would gladly trade any two players he had for Botchey. Later in the season, Botchey pulled the impossible when he broke through the big TCU line, blocked a pass as it left the hands of the passer, then caught it in the air and scooted for a touchdown.

HE WAS ideally built for a guard, something on the squatty side. His powerful shoulders were rounded, his helmet sat almost down on his eyes, his long torso made his piano legs seem shorter than they were, and he never played more than five minutes before his jersey was out and flopping over what looked suspiciously like a fledgling pot belly. But he was quick, he was fast, he was powerful, and above all he had a flaming competitive spirit.

Off the field, he was a lovable character. I guess he could get mad, but I never saw or heard of him being that way. Press notices didn't bother him any and he always gave credit to Puny Witcher for making him look good. He was just as warm to the newest and lowest Slime as he was the most influential person on the campus. He was your friend and you never doubted it.

IN A WAY it was too bad he played when he did, for had he been 20 years later when the conference had commanded attention, he would have gone on to a brilliant pro career. The real tragedy, was that old Botchey took the easier course and at times indulged too liberally in drink. But to those of us who knew him best, he was and always will be All-American.

Slobs Behind The Wheel

WASHINGTON — It may be a grisly pun, chum, but we're in for a bumper crop of traffic deads this year.

March, always a good month for prying mangled human rubbish out of wrecked automobiles, was particularly bountiful. The drunks, semi-sightless and sociopaths who infest our highways racked up 3,420 victims during the month—a tidy seven per cent increase over the same period last year.

THAT WAS NO fluke, either, for the first quarter of the year shows 9,900 traffic fatalities, up 16 per cent from the same quarter of 1963. These figures mean that with a little luck the year's harvest will exceed 50,000 dead and perhaps 2 million injured, of whom about 10 per cent will be permanently disabled.

There are a lot of reasons for the growing scandal of casual killing on our highways. Ordinary slobism perhaps should be accorded first rank. But witless, pompous and craven state bureaucracies are entitled to a large share of the blame.

The prudent traveler will always eschew automobiles if it is his purpose to reach his destination safely. My own preference is the airplane, since exposure to surly and—or indifferent railroad personnel causes the melancholy humors to gain the ascendancy in my viscera. But as benighted as the steam car people can be, they are better company than the egocentric incompetents and homicidal nuts who have made American highway travel a species of Russian roulette.

ON THE SCORE of air travel, an item on the ticker recently noted that Eastern's air shuttle between Washington, New York and Boston is three years old. With pardonable pride the Easterns told me that in that time the shuttle has carried 5,322,508 passengers with a 100 per cent safety record (not the 99.9978 per cent you can expect on any scheduled airline, but 100).

There is, of course, no inherent reason air travel should be so much safer than travel by automobile. The reason it is can be found in the painstaking attention to details affecting reliability. Not long ago I got aboard an airplane that had ended a trip and discharged 95 passengers less than an hour earlier. Did it take off immediately, on the theory that it had been checked out before departing on its previous trip? Not on your life. The flight engineer did his walk-around inspection, and control surfaces were tested and engines checked before takeoff.

HOW MANY times have you walked around the family heap to check tires before bashing off to the flicks with Mum and the tads? When's the last time you had the muffler vetted to see if carbon monoxide is seeping into your car? Do you test brakes, brake lights, turn-indicator and horn before every start? And can we assume you've had your eyes checked and the old blood pressure felt in the last six months?

If you can answer yes to any of those questions, you are one motorist in a thousand. And until you (and everybody else on the road) can answer yes to all of them, you are not a safe driver—and your means of transportation is far more hazardous than the great iron birds.

The Myths Are Our Undoing

WASHINGTON—Was Stalin a pre-revolutionary agent for the Russian Czar? Did Stalin poison Maxim Gorky, a Communist literary hero? If the answers are affirmative (or even if there's enough plausibility to start a scandal), will Khrushchev soon use accusations for another round of de-Stalinization propaganda?

THESE WOULD be extravagant speculations if they came from any ordinary source. But they come from Isaac Don Levine, the anti-Red Russian who fled the terror in his native land 40 years ago, and returned last year for a visit and reappraisal. He's written a book about it—"I Rediscover Russia."

Levine feels that the Communist Revolution began to subside with Stalin's death and later dishonor. He feels that Chinese communism under Mao Tse-tung is a low-grade imitation of Stalin's essentially Oriental tyranny, which the wily Khrushchev knows how to handle. The split between the West and East of the Communist World is seen by Levine as an outcropping of much internal evidence of the crack-up of the 50-year-old Red Revolution.

"AT LAST . . ." Levine writes, "we have come to the stage when communism in practice is demonstrating its internal incurability, its ideological bankruptcy . . . Khrushchev's portentous boast that communism will bury us . . . against the realities of that poverty-stricken land, seemed like a grim piece of buffoonery."

Unhappily, however, the Free World is no more able to throttle the Communist serpent in its days of senility than in the days of its infancy, when Winston Churchill was the only Anglo-American statesman who preached for its ruthless destruction. We are, indeed, as Senator Fulbright has told us, the victims of "myths"—but not the kind that the senator named.

THERE WAS the myth, as Robert Murphy recently pointed out, that Khrushchev would have started a world war over Cuba if we'd dared to win the Bay of Pigs battle in 1961. There is the myth, flagrant at the time of the Wheat Deal, that we are serving the Free World interests by feeding the Soviet's starving economy. And there is the myth that we must fear nuclear holocaust, or world disapproval, if we dare to win the war in Vietnam.

The master myth of all seems to be the delusion of the Western democracies that everything will turn out well if only we "live right" in our foreign and domestic policies.

OUR MORAL abhorrence of war permits our enemies — in Hungary, Suez and Cuba — to commit unrestrained atrocities. Our love of peace continues to lead us into disarmament treaties to our own disadvantage. Our wealth requires that we pour out conscience money into Foreign Aid. Our guilt demands that we go the absurd lengths of domestic self-punishment in penalizing free enterprise and invading personal liberties to finance the poor and equalize the Negro. And although the Communist Revolution may be waning, we do not become correspondingly strong. The myths are our undoing.

Removal Of Prostate Doesn't Destroy Potentcy

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Are all questions in your column really sent by people asking advice. My question was not answered.

Anyway I can't agree with you that removal of the prostate gland does not interfere with sexual activity, because my experience has been otherwise. Although I am 67 I feel wonderful and my doctor tells me I am in excellent condition.—J. R. S.

Yes, ALL questions are from readers, but that doesn't mean I can use ALL the letters that are sent to me. I am trying to provide what people want to know, not what I might think they ought to want to know.

My answer remains the same on prostate operations. They do not destroy potency.

You must, however, keep two or three other thoughts in mind. First, potency dwindles as we grow older, and it does so faster in some individuals than in others. That isn't the fault of the surgery.

Second, psychological attitudes affect potency more than any other physical activity. In this regard, the vast majority of doctors have had the experience of having a man say he has "lost all his vigor." Where there is no real physical reason for this, by far the most successful "treatment" is to persuade the man to stop worrying — especially to stop worrying about virility. If possible, take a vacation, go on a trip, spend a little time relaxing and just having fun.

True, at the time of the operation there is bound to be some soreness, as after any surgery, but it is going to interfere only to a slight degree if any afterward, unless the patient expects it to cause trouble after he has recovered from the operation.

Whether the man is young or old (occasionally such operations are required early in life) potency is essentially the same afterward as it was before. If it isn't much afterward, it's usually because it wasn't much before, either.

Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter is 19, and from 5 to 7 days before her period she feels tired and weak, has nausea and headaches, and is irritable. She is regular, however. —MRS. D. C.

These are among the unpleasant problems which I lump together under "pre-menstural blues." You ought to be able to help your daughter by reading my leaflet, "Pre-Menstrual Blues." You can get a copy by sending 5 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

* * *

NOTE TO MRS. D. J.: I am not familiar with the sex book you mention, but if it were true (it isn't!) that "masturbation causes sterility," then the human race would have died out long ago. You've gotten hold of a book with some misinformation in it.

Shingles can be a painful disease! To receive a copy of my booklet, "The Facts About Shingles," write Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Top sports awards went to Marilyn McReavy, winner of Dibrell's Sportsmanship Trophy, and Richard Ebling, winner of the Ted Phillips Sportsmanship Award.

Ronald Hamby was cited as winner of the Wall Street Journal Scholastic Award.

Twenty - eight students were honored for scholastic excellence. They were included on the Dean's List.

Area Teased By Sprinkle

Big Spring and Howard County residents were teased by the threat of rain shortly after midnight Tuesday. Heavy drops began falling, leading some to think they were hail stones, but no rain was registered by the Big Spring Experiment Station gauge.

Texas Electric Service Co. switching station's gauge recorded .02 inch, while some gauges over the city reported only traces. TESCO's Chalk station recorded .30 inch but the fall was not widespread.

Heavy winds, beginning Tuesday afternoon diminished after 10 p.m. A heavy black cloud, forming to the southeast around 11 p.m. drew requests from area law enforcement patrols for information on possible turbulent weather.

Tuesday's high temperature was 98 degrees and the low for the 24 hours, ending at 8 a.m., was 57 degrees. The temperature today was expected to climb into the high 90s, and the weatherman held out no promises of moisture.

Firemen Snuff Out Minor Blazes

Firemen were called to the west end of the Texas and Pacific Railway yards at 9:05 a.m. today to extinguish a fire that occurred in oil wastes in the area. Damage was slight, and the cause of the blaze was unknown.

Tuesday, firemen put out a trash fire in the Northside Park about 4:30 p.m., and answered a call to the Western Car Co., 2114 W. 3rd, where a short in a neon sign had caused a fire. Damage was minor.

Sewage Plant Repairs Due

City Manager Larry Crow Tuesday said a representative of the Dorr Company will be in Big Spring this week to repair a sludge digester at the new sewage disposal plant.

Crow said that, due to some malfunction of equipment, the digester is giving off foam, and the repairs should correct the situation.

The city has not formally accepted the sewage disposal plant, but met recently with Shiflet Brothers, contractors, to discuss a disagreement concerning a basin which "floated" out of the ground.

Work has been done on minor electrical jobs since the meeting, Crow said, but the work has not been completed. Another meeting to discuss the disagreement may be set up at a future date. Crow said the next step is up to Shiflet Brothers of Abilene.

The city has retained $10,500 in liquidated damages and about $5,000 to cover cost of the remaining work.

National Cotton Week Plans Are About Complete

Plans are about complete for observing National Cotton Week, with cotton goods being promoted in all business houses dealing in such products, and a pageant to select the "Maid of Cotton," Jimmy Taylor, chairman of the cotton week committee, said Tuesday.

"There will be $1,066 in gift certificates given by 57 Big Spring merchants," he said. "These will be in varying amounts and will be given on the night of the pageant at the city auditorium May 14."

Merchants will push cotton products in their advertising, in show window displays, with streamers and placards, and several bales of cotton, furnished by West Texas Compress & Warehouse Co., placed in store lobbies, on the courthouse square, and other places.

First Diesel Fire Truck Due Today

The first of two new diesel fire trucks, being purchased by the City of Big Spring, was expected to arrive on a railroad car sometime today.

City Manager Larry Crow said when it arrives, the 500-gallon pumper probably would remain on the railroad siding until a factory representative of the Mack Co. inspects it. The Fire Insurance Board of Texas also will have an inspector on hand when the truck is unloaded. The truck will not be accepted until after it has been thoroughly inspected, Crow added.

The city manager said the second new diesel is expected to be in Big Spring May 14. Both new fire stations will be opened on the 15th, if everything goes according to schedule.

Fire Chief H. V. Crocker was expected to be released from Medical Arts Clinic Hospital today. He had been admitted for treatment of a stomach ailment. Twelve new firemen have been hired by Crocker during the past two months. The last four will not officially begin work until Monday.

Crow said the new employes would be given an intensive training program next week.

When the new trucks are put into operation, they will be the first diesels used by a fire department in Texas. Firemen say the diesel units have better pumping capacities than trucks with standard engines. Also, the diesel trucks require less maintenance and repairs. Firemen will be able to pump a maximum of 1,100 gallons of water per minute with the new trucks.

New men hired by the fire department over the past two months: J. T. Boney, Donald Joe Eggleston, Donald Ray Hiltbrunner, Jimmy Roy Lockhart, Charles Adams, Wilford White, Orbin Daily Jr., Don Worthan, Jerry Don Kingman, Herbert G. Patton, William E. Jennings and Charles Wink.

He was elected as first governor of the newly created district 2-S4 in 1959. Currently he is chairman of International's membership development and retention committee.

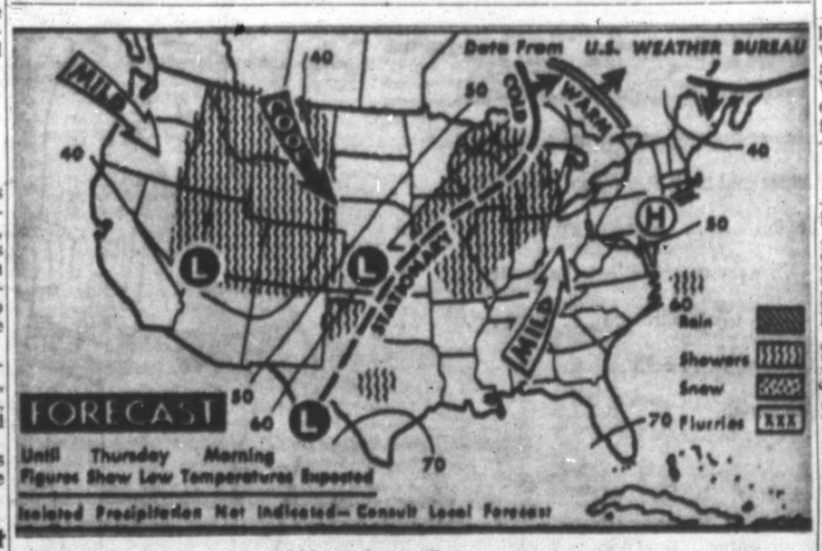

He attended the University of Arkansas School of Engineering while a member of the Armed Forces and served in the European Theatre with the 4th Infantry Division.

The bidding:

Opening lead: Queen of ◇

It was necessary for declarer to manage his resources with great care in today's hand against a pair of defenders who leveled a full scale assault against his trump holding.

South's jump to three spades over North's opening bid of one no trump is technically one point shy of the book requirements which specifies 10 high card points. Possession of two five card suits as well as an abundance of intermediate spot cards, however, provides a comfortable degree of compensation. Holding ample trump support and a doubleton, North naturally proceeded to four spades.

West opened the queen of diamonds and was permitted to hold the trick. The jack of diamonds was continued which declarer ruffed in his hand. A small heart was led and the jack finessed from dummy, losing to East's king. The ace of diamonds forced South to ruff again reducing him to three trumps.

A spade was now led and, when West followed with the ten, the king was played from the North hand. The ace of hearts was cashed and then a small spade was returned and declarer's nine was successfully finessed as West showed out. South was quite willing to lose this trick for, if West turned up with the queen of spades, it would assure a three-two split in trumps, and declarer would be able to claim the balance of the tricks and his contract.

When West showed out on the second round of spades, South was obliged to proceed cautiously inasmuch as he was down to one trump in each hand while East had two left. The queen of hearts was led which East ruffed; however, this turned out to be the third and last trick for the defense. The spade return was taken by declarer and he proceeded to run the established heart suit plus the top club honors.

Mexico Ready For Jap Couple

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Mexican government is pushing preparations for the coming visit of Japan's Prince Akihito and Princess Michiko as their arrival time neared.

Workers prepared posters, placards and other decorations to adorn this capital of five million residents when the royal pair parades through its principal streets next Monday.

Construction Has Increase

There was an increase in both business and residential construction in Big Spring during April. Residential construction values totaled $206,293 and business values were $93,480, for a total overall worth of $299,773.

This represents an increase of $65,203 in construction values over the preceding month. March values were $143,395 in residential construction and $91,175 in business activity. The amount of increase for business was $2,305, and for residential construction $62,898.

Business permits also were on the increase with 14 being issued at city hall in April, compared with 11 in March. A similar increase in permits for residential construction, from 47 to 49, gives an overall increase in the number of permits issued —from 58 to 63.

Although eight new residences were built in each of the past two months, the value of new residences for which permits were issued in April was $155,500, compared with a value of $114,000 for March.

Three of the four new businesses for which permits were issued in April are service stations. The fourth permit, issued to Ruppe & Baldwin of Dallas, is for a shell for a business building at 1907 Birdwell Lane.

Also during April, permits were issued to Berea Baptist Church for a new $30,000 building at 4204 Wasson Road, and to the Jehovah Witnesses for an $8,000 building at 1011 N. Runnels.

Astronaut Alan Shepard Receives Langley Medal From Smithsonian

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Smithsonian Institution Tuesday presented its rarely awarded Langley Medal to the first American astronaut, Navy Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, who serves as chancellor of the Smithsonian, presided at the ceremony marking the third anniversary of Shepard's historic 15-minute Mercury-Redstone flight. Shepard was carried to an altitude of 116 miles, a maximum speed of 5,134 miles an hour, and a water landing 303 miles southeast of the Florida launch site.

Members of Congress, officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Smithsonian, and members of Shepard's family witnessed the presentation.

Warren cited Shepard for "courageous and pioneering contributions to scientific research as the first American to fly in space and the first to control the attitude of a spacecraft while in flight and during a condition of weightlessness."

The chief justice noted that the medal has been awarded only 10 times in the 56 years since its establishment in 1908.

The Wright brothers—Orville and Wilbur—received the award in 1910. Other recipients have included Glenn H. Curtiss, Charles A. Lindberg and Richard E. Byrd.

The medal is named for Samuel Pierpont Langley, aviation pioneer and secretary of the Smithsonian from 1887 to 1906.

The Smithsonian Board of Regents awards it for "specially meritorious investigations in connection with the science of aerodromics and its application to aviation."

Rotarians Told Of Bond Election

Rotarians heard two programs Tuesday. Bennett Brooke, member of the Big Spring school board of trustees, told of the proposed school bond election, and how it will be financed. Goliad Junior High School choir, directed by Don Morton, rendered nine numbers in a National Music Appreciation Week program.

Brooke told Rotarians of the need for enlarged and modernized buildings and facilities to care for a heavily overburdened system to give students the best that can be offered in a school system. He stressed the need to enlarge the high school, built to accommodate 750 students, to a plant to handle 2,500 students which will be the approximate enrollment by the time the building could be completed. This will also include physical education and vocational training facilities, class rooms, laboratories, and modernization of the present building, with site development. He also told of the enlargement of Runnels Junior High school, other elementary schools and one new elementary school, and urged all members to attend a citizens committee meeting Thursday night at the high school auditorium where a full explanation of the proposed long-range program, with a question and answer period, would be given to all interested taxpayers.

The 50-member Goliad Junior High choir was introduced by Mrs. Carl Marcum, who said the program was in commemoration of National Music Appreciation Week.

Odessa Broncs Nip Big Spring, 5-4

A three - run home run by James Edwards in the fifth inning offset the effects of a similar smash by Howard Bain in the sixth as Odessa nudged Big Spring, 5 - 4, in a District 2-AAAA baseball game here Tuesday afternoon.

Edwards' blow came with Randy Walker and Tres Bars on base.

Bain's blast on Big Spring's behalf in the sixth arrived with Charley West and David Agee up front.

Big Spring scored again in the seventh when Bobby Griffin, who had walked, rode home on a single by Van Tom Whatley and an error.

Griffin, who came on in relief of Gary Miears in the fifth inning, did some splendid hurling for the Longhorns. In 1 2-3 innings of pitching, he didn't yield a hit or a run, walked three and struck out five.

With the sacks loaded in the sixth, Griffin settled to fan Bob Green and Bars in succession to get out of the jam.

Al Langford Quits Grid Job To Become Principal

AL G. LANGFORD

LAMESA (SC) — Al G. Langford has been elevated from head football coach to principal of Lamesa High School. He succeeds Bill Reeves, who resigned recently to accept a graduate fellowship at Texas Tech.

Langford has been head mentor here for three season, coming from Gatesville. The 36-year-old Howard Payne graduate compiled a 19-11 won-lost record in the three campaigns here.

Langford's elevation was a unanimous decision on the part of Lamesa trustees. His salary was set at $9,129 a year.

An announcement on filling Langford's post at the helm of the coaching staff is expected in the immediate future.

Langford said he felt he had several more good coaching years ahead, but indicated he could not pass up the opportunity of entering the administration field—a longtime ambition.

There is some speculation that the new coach will come from within the Lamesa system. One of the names mentioned is that of James Kauffman, an aide on the Tornado staff and head track coach.

Braves Romp Past Devils

The Braves turned on their run machine Tuesday night in the National Little League and bombed the Devils, 17-3, in one of the most lop-sided games of the still young season.

Larry Brown led the Brave attack with three hits in five trips to the plate while both Dave Duncan and Larry Vasquez had two-for-four nights at the plate. Carl Johanson was the only Devil to get two hits.

Cubs Squeak Past Wolves

BROWNFIELD — The Brownfield Cubs nipped the Colorado City Wolves Tuesday, 8-7, and pulled the District 3-AAA race even tighter as both clubs now show loop leading 6-2 marks.

The game was a field day for hitters with five home runs being tapped.

Colorado City—David Bearden, Larry Dombarsky, and Perry Millsap; Brownfield—Amalio Garcia and Archie Jennings.

Eagles Rock Midland, 15-4

ABILENE — The Abilene Eagles won their third victory in a row Tuesday in District 2-AAAA circles as they ripped past the Midland Bulldogs, 15-4, in a batter's dream.

Three pitchers paraded to the mound for the Bulldogs in an attempt to stop the rout with Cecil Adams being charged with the loss. Charles Farr was the winner although he was only one of three Warbirds to see mound service.

The biggest problem was the wind which came in to the ball park in gusts, sometimes as high as 40 miles-per-hour. It made pitching hard but gave the batters a field day.

Tigers Edge By Lamesa

SNYDER — The Snyder Tigers pulled into a three-way tie for first place in District 3-AAA Tuesday as they won a 1-0 squeaker over the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes.

The Snyder run came in the first inning.

Permian Trips Up Bobcats

SAN ANGELO — The league-leading San Angelo Bobcats suddenly found themselves in a lion's den Tuesday as the Permian Panthers rose to the occasion with an easy 7-1 win over the Bobcats in District 2-AAAA action.

The loss, coupled with Odessa's 5-4 win over Big Spring, left the league lead in a tie between San Angelo and Odessa, each having 7-2 district marks.

The Bobcats made four errors as they couldn't seem to do anything right and only one Permian run was earned — that coming on a walk. Ronnie Henson was the loser while Alan Moravcik was credited with the win.

Kiwanis Will Honor Hawks

Big Spring Kiwanis Club will pay honor to Howard County Junior College athletes at the club luncheon Thursday in Settles Hotel.

The club devotes one meeting each spring to recognizing the HCJC boys and girls tennis teams, the college volleyball and the girl's basketball team. Several awards are made each year by the club.

Guest speaker for the luncheon will be Coach Anna Smith of the HCJC staff. She will introduce the guests of honor and report on the athletic achievements the college has made in the past year.

Hawk Hopeful

Bobby Sorenson (above), an HCJC miler, will be one of the athletes local fans will be counting on in the May 15-16 National Junior College Track and Field Meet. Sorenson finished second in the mile in the Western Conference meet at Roswell, N.M., last week.

Ray Washburn Earns Spurs With Cards

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

"We couldn't want him much better," said St. Louis Manager Johnny Keane. "It means an awful lot to us to have him back."

Keane was talking about pitcher Ray Washburn, who Tuesday night made his first start since returning from the minors and scattered seven Philadelphia hits before needing ninth-inning relief help in the Cardinals' 2-1 victory over the Phillies.

Washburn has purposely been brought along slowly by Keane, who feels the young right-hander figures heavily in the Cardinals' National League pennant chances. A healthy Washburn would give St. Louis a starting staff that also includes Ernie Broglio, Bob Gibson, Curt Simmons and Roger Craig.

Apparently, Keane's patience is going to be rewarded.

Washburn had a two-hit shutout for six innings, but seemed to tire in the eighth when Tony Gonzalez homered, and Ron Taylor came on in the ninth to finish up.

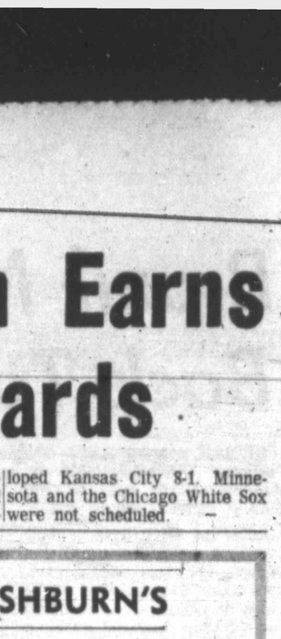

At San Francisco, meanwhile, Giants' Manager Al Dark took an extra precaution with Willie Mays, pulled him out of the line-up because of the cold weather and let the Alou brothers, Matty and Jesus, lead the way to a 2-1 decision over Houston.

Elsewhere in the National League, Milwaukee's Warren Spahn stopped the New York Mets 6-0 with a four-hitter for the 63rd shutout of his career and Frank Robinson hit two homers in Cincinnati's 5-4 victory over Pittsburgh. The Los Angeles Dodgers and Chicago Cubs were not scheduled.

In American League action, the New York Yankees edged Detroit 4-3 in 10 innings, Boston blanked Cleveland 4-0, Baltimore nipped Washington 2-1 and the Los Angeles Angels walloped Kansas City 8-1. Minnesota and the Chicago White Sox were not scheduled.

PAT WASHBURN'S The Roundtable

About a week ago, just in passing, it was mentioned in this column that Regret has been the only filly to win the Kentucky Derby, a feat she had accomplished in 1915. An indignant female race fan picked up the phone and informed this corner that she had won money on a filly who took first in 1935-36 (She couldn't remember). Well, she's wrong—in 1935, Nellie Flag came in fourth and Gold Seeker finished ninth in 1936 . . . Incidentally, over the years, 29 fillies have been starters in the Derby . . . QUOTABLE QUOTES:

OBIE BRISTOW, former Big Spring Steer football coach:

"Sometimes, in football, there can be an advantage in ignorance. When I first came here as a coach, I knew very little about line play. But I had my own conception at the time of how it should be done—only an idiot would have tried it—and it was so radically different than anything anyone else used, that it caught the other teams off guard and actually worked."

AL LOPEZ, manager of the Chicago White Sox:

"Players are striking out more than ever before, and it's largely because of their lust for home runs. The combination of cheap home runs and the alarming total of strikeouts is hurting the game. I'm not opposed to the home run, when hit by a legitimate home run hitter. But when little guys weighing 150 pounds begin knocking them over the fences with regularity, something should be done about it."

Grocer's Grid Career Encompassed 7 Years

By PAT WASHBURN

If ever there was a man who loved football, it would have to be Travis Reed. After all, not many men can lay claim to having played seven years on the gridiron for a high school.

"I'd just go to school in the fall during the football season and then drop out in the spring and go to cowpunching for my father," he says laughing. "That way I could get in more football—back in the days I played, a boy wasn't eligible for just a certain number of years. If you went to high school, you could play. It was as simple as that.

"I was 19 before I ever graduated—why, if I had gone to school the right way I would have been out three years earlier. I started playing on the scrub team when I was 12 and I was still going strong seven years later. I guess football was all I lived for."

The memories of those years at Comanche are slowly fading away for Travis. He's forgotten a lot of things and some facts have mellowed with age. But he will never forget 1913, when the Indians played for the state championship against Houston High, only to lose 20-0.

"We had a great team that year," he recalls. Number-wise it was a small team—why, there were only 12 men on the whole squad. That means there was the coach and one substitute on the bench. But we were pretty lucky since none of us really got hurt bad. That was kind of surprising since the game was rough in those days—after all, the playing fields were just hard, packed dirt with no grass. But we had a great team. There was many a morning we'd get up at 4 a.m. and run three or four miles before breakfast.

"We were West Texas champs. We beat the number one team in Central Texas, Fort Worth Northside, and then whipped the champion of North Texas, Amarillo, and that set up the state championship game. Houston High beat us down there in Austin, but not badly. That really put Comanche on the map just coming close to a school from a big town like Houston."

TRAVIS READ

Upon graduation, Reed made an overseas tour with the army in World War I as a clerk at an artillery headquarters where "I'd work 10 minutes a day and be through." After six months with the army of occupation in Germany, he returned to the United States and entered the grocery business in 1919. He's been in it ever since, with his present store, at 711 Scurry, being in use since 1930.

"Most people thought I was crazy for building way out on the outskirts of town. They thought I'd soon go out of business. But here I am 34 years later with a good trade and and some customers that have been coming to me ever since I opened.

"I've been in this business for a long time but there's nothing else I know."

At 72 years of age, Reed is still an avid football fan and one of the first to buy a season ticket to all the Steer football games every fall. He's seen a lot of good players and coaches throughout the years, the best of whom he rates Carl Coleman and Obie Bristow. But his biggest thrill was seeing his grandson play on Coleman's 1953 squad that went all the way to the state championship game in Port Neches.

It's been a full football life for Travis Reed.

Brazil Northeast Area Back To Normalcy

RECIFE, Brazil (AP)—The "violeros" are back to the old standby ballads after a brief fling at political songfests.

As in the olden days of their supposed colonial origin, the violeros, or traveling singers, once again are spinning simple yarns of village life — extolling some heroic deed, or sneaking in a bit of ripe gossip for whatever cruzeiros the hat will catch from street audiences. As recently as the pretransistor era, the violeros linked remote villages to neighboring current events.

But no more of this "give us land and bread—or death" routine in song. Or ballads about how great things will be after Arraes and Juliano take over. The people who paid for that kind of music—friends of Gov. Miguel Arraes and the Castrofte peasant leader Francisco Juliano—have been taken away.

REFORM CRUSADE

The violeros, like the rest of northeast Brazil's underprivileged millions, are about back where they were before the great reform crusade began here some five years ago.

There were only a few tears among them when the effort collapsed with the ouster of the Joao Goulart government last month. There was little to show for it: a few graves, some catchy slogans, the fading memory of a few extra cruzeiros spent in lively big towns like Natal and Recife.

There were even fewer cheers for the new leaders and their new order.

The indifference is a product of old disenchanments. It seems there've been as many promises as there are people in this poor corner of Brazil's northeast.

OVERPOPULATION

The eight - state area is plagued by overpopulation, among other ills. U.S. agronomists estimate that under the most advanced farming techniques, the northeast's productive acreage can support less than half its present 22 millions.

Although desperation drives out an estimated 100,000 every year, an explosive birth rate increases population 700,000.

There have been large-scale government efforts, with some U.S. assistance, to improve the situation but in many cases these efforts have been sidetracked or distorted by political machination and horseplay.

A continuing drabness has bred deep-rooted apathy.

Take Coque as an example.

Two years ago when this reporter first visited this stomach-wrenching Recife slum, there was a hint of pride in the air over the opening of Yuri Gagarin School No. 15, named in honor of the Soviet cosmonaut.

PROMISES

When the far-leftist regime of Miguel Arraes came to power 16 months ago amid a flood of utopian promises, the school was converted into a banner-bedecked center of the Popular Cultural Movement, an alleged front for Marxist operations.

After a heavy rain the roof caved in and the center was closed.

How about Brazil's new government and its pledges to help the little man?

"We've waited this long," Claudio Oliveira, a carpenter, says. "We can wait some more to see what comes out of it."

This just about sums up the grassroots view of the new government in this ancient port of 800,000.

At a higher level, indifference turns to cautious hope. In the business community there is some optimism.

Church Law Views Differ

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Northern bishop and a Southern bishop held differing interpretations today on a new Methodist Church law saying persons of any race are eligible to worship or hold membership in any Methodist church.

Bishop John Owen Smith of Atlanta, Ga., said the key word is "eligible." He said that doesn't mean persons of any race must necessarily be admitted to any Methodist church.

Bishop James K. Mathews of Boston, said it is his feeling that Methodist churches are under a "compulsion of faith" to abide by the intent of the law, and thus are obligated to throw open their doors to everyone.

The church's general conference, holding its quadrennial meeting in Pittsburgh's Civic Arena, adopted the new law Tuesday night. Approval came on a show of hands and without debate.

The law reads: "The Methodist Church is a part of the church universal. Therefore, all persons, without regard to race, color, natural origin, or economic condition, shall be eligible to attend its worship services, to participate in its programs, and to be admitted into its membership anywhere in the connection."

Bishop Smith was asked to give his interpretation of it.

He said: "All people are eligible. Eligible means they are free to go and should be admitted. I don't know if that makes it binding on them to be let in."

If a person would be kept out of a church, the bishop added, it would not be a matter of prejudice but a matter of custom, particularly in the South.

Bishop Mathews said it appeared to him it is the responsibility of pastors to see that the intent of the new law is fulfilled. But the job of enforcement would fall to bishops if disputes arose, he said.

Fulbright Says Reaction 4-1 Favorable To Speech

LONDON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said today his mail is running 4-1 in support of a Senate speech in which he criticized U.S. government policy on Cuba.

This was his call March 25 for acceptance of Fidel Castro's Communist regime. He urged abandonment of the American boycott "because it has failed" and ruled out two alternatives—invasion and blockade—on the ground they would entail dangers of nuclear war.

"The volume of letters is beyond anything I have had in 20 years' experience," Fulbright told newsmen. 'It—the speech—provoked a lot of comment... that was the objective.

"Cuba is a more sensitive subject than I had thought. It is a matter of great emotional concern as well as political and military concern."

Fulbright added that as long as the Castro regime continues subversion of its neighbors, he does not think the United States should trade with Cuba.

College Plans Music Festival

In the bouyant and gay mood of spring, Howard County Junior College's third annual Festival of Light Music is putting on its final touches.

The curtain goes up at 8 p.m. on May 16 (Saturday) and May 18 (Monday) in the college auditorium. As usual, there will be unique lighting, sets and costuming.

Ira Schantz, head of the vocal music division of the HCJC music department, will direct the choir in its colorful extravaganza.

Much of the music will be done in the Fred Waring manner, and selections will include such favorites as "You'll Never Walk Alone" from "Carousel"; "Once Upon a Time" from "All American"; excerpts from "West Side Story"; "It's a Grand Night for Singing," from "State Fair"; plus themes from movies such as "Ben Hur" and "King of Kings"; and a number of other currently popular and enduring favorites.

Tickets for the event are going on sale at $1 for adults and 50 cents for students and children. Proceeds go to the college music scholarship fund.

North Viet's Funds Frozen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury announced Tuesday it is freezing all assets of North Viet Nam in this country.

The Treasury said that it was adding North Viet Nam to the list of countries which will come under foreign assets control regulations.

In addition to blocking any North Vietnamese assets which may be in the United States, the action also prohibits all financial and commercial transactions betwen Americans and North Viet Nam.

The action was taken, the Treasury said, at the recommendation of the State Department, in the light of the continued Viet Cong Communist aggression in South Viet Nam.

REV. JACK POWER

Rev. Power To Get Honor Degree

An honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity is to be bestowed upon Rev. Jack Power, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church in Big Spring, by the Bible Baptist Seminary at Arlington.

Rev. Power, along with Rev. R. L. Thorne of Butler Baptist Temple, Butler, Pa., will be recognized by the institution at commencement services May 14.

The school said "These men are chosen on the basis of their loyalty to the World Baptist Fellowship and the Bible Baptist Seminary, as well as specific accomplishments in the work and service of Jesus Christ."

Rev. Power is in his 13th year as pastor of the local church. During this time the church has entered four major building campaigns, with the pastor continuing his evangelistic work.

He is a native of Erath County, had high school work in Florence Hill and Grand Prairie. He made a commitment to the ministry some 27 years ago in Grand Prairie and was ordained in the Calvary Baptist Church there.

During depression days, he carried on evangelistic services at any available place, and at any proper opportunity. He later attended the then new Bible Baptist Seminary, then went into regular pastorates.

He organized and built a church at Littlefield, and remained there five years as pastor. Later he was seminary evangelist in Fort Worth, became pastor at Decatur and served five years, then went into radio evangelism for a time before coming to Big Spring.

Reports Due

Subcommittees will be called on to make reports to the public health and safety committee, when it meets Thursday at 5:15 p.m., Charles Weeg, chairman, has said. Other items of interest to the welfare of the city will also be brought up, Weeg said, and all members are urged to be present.

Attends School On Traffic

Ernest Lillard, director of public works, is at College Station attending a short-course in traffic engineering.

Instruction in traffic characteristics and traffic studies began Monday on the campus of Texas A&M University. Other course instruction includes traffic signals; traffic signal systems and signal installation and maintenance programs; parking and traffic accident analysis; and traffic signs and markings and maximum use of existing facilities.

The school is jointly sponsored by the Texas Transportation Institute and the Texas Section, Institute of Traffic Engineers.

Board Approves Apartments Over Resident's Objections

The planning and zoning commission Tuesday approved a request by Kent Morgan for a zone change from 1F-2 (single family residential) to MF (multiple family), and approved a replat for the Coronado Hills Addition.

The property affected by the Morgan request includes eight lots north of Sixth, divided by Linda Lane, and west of the Ponderosa Apartments.

J. D. Jones was the only member of the board who voted against approval of the Morgan request. Voting for approval were George Elliott, Joe Jackson, Horace Reagan, and Wendal Parks.

Jay Powell, affiliated with the Ponderosa Apartments, spoke for Morgan on behalf of the request, saying another apartment complex, similar to the Ponderosa Apartments, would be developed on the site. He said there would be 40 apartments, and each apartment would be larger than the units in the existing complex. He also told the board the proposed area (lots 4 and 5 of block 9 and lots 14 through 19 of block 4 of the Hall Addition) had never been developed as a one-family housing area for which it was zoned.

Three home-owners spoke against the request. They were W. E. Taylor, 604 Linda Lane, Mrs. S. R. Myers, 1421 E. 6th, and Mrs. A. W. Henry, 1423 E. 6th. Mrs. Henry said there already is a traffic problem in the area. She also complained of excessive noise from some of the tenants. Mrs. Myers said she opposed the request because a request of hers had been disapproved.

Taylor said he did not think the foundation of the present apartment complex was strong enough to support the apartments. Complaining that he had to secure the aid of the fire department to get into the city hall building where the public hearing was held, Taylor also said he thought his property was located within 200 feet of the property affected by the request.

Taylor said, in his opinion, his property had been devalued $1,000 by the existing apartments, and that it would be devalued another $1,000 by the construction of others in the area. He said a promise was made to put a brick or masonry retaining wall between the apartments and houses on Circle Drive, but had never been carried out. He complained of trash on a lot north of the existing apartments, and he said several home owners in the area agreed with him in disapproval of the request. Persons paying off a 25-year GI loan on a house, who are faced with continual depreciation, do not approve the request, he said.

Powell told the commission he did not think "we have degraded the neighborhood." There are no cracks in the foundation, he said, and there is a waiting list of persons who would like to rent apartments at the site.

Jones, who voted against the request, said he was not sure, but he thought Morgan or his associates had stated the property west of the existing apartments would be left for one-family residential use, if permission was given to build the apartments.

A spokesman for Ray Parker, Odessa developer, said the Coronado Hills Addition had been replatted for residential use, and he introduced plans which commissioners inspected. City commissioners, about a year ago, had asked that the development be replatted for residential use, stating that a plat for apartments would not be approved.

Both recommendations of the zoning board will be considered by city commissioners at the next meeting, May 12.

George Reynolds Releases Record, Has Good Sale

George Reynolds, former Big Springer and now an announcer on Radio KFST, Fort Stockton, has a new phonograph record on the market and, according to word reaching his father, G. F. Reynolds, Settles Hotel, the disc is having a good initial reception.

Young Reynolds, who left here about 14 months ago, worked on local radio stations. Since he was a young boy, his father said, he has strummed the guitar and sang. His new record has "Sue" on one side and "Tough Guitar" on the reverse.

Two hundred copies of the record were sold the first day it was offered in Fort Stockton.

Reynolds, who attended school here from kindergarten through one year in Howard County Junior College, will be in Big Spring on the night of May 16 to appear with a country music show "Louisiana Hayride."

The elder Reynolds said that tickets for the show will be on sale at the Record Shop.

'Use It Or Lose It' Air Service Hearing Opened

DALLAS (AP) — A "Use it or lose it" airline service hearing involving Trans-Texas Airways stops in Galveston, Brownwood and Morgan City, La., opened here Tuesday before Civil Aeronautics Board examiner Thomas Wrenn.

Dallas and Fort Worth will be involved in the hearing as "interested parties," and both will argue—as will the three cities involved — that service should be continued.

TTA has made it clear it would prefer to continue service to Galveston and Brownwood, but has no position as to retention of the Morgan City service.

The policy of the CAB has has been that boardings in a city should average at least 5 passengers a day to justify airline service.

Until recently neither Galveston nor Brownwood was meeting the 5-passenger requirement. TTA added new service April 27 to Galveston and now that city claims an average of 5.3 passengers a day, attorney Ervin Apffel said.

Robert Gray, Brownwood attorney, said that city had noted an increase in recent months because of an 11-month-old industrial park and that an average of 5.2 passengers a day is the current count.

Morgan City was represented but did not supply any current passenger statistics.

Dallas, Fort Worth, Tyler and Midland-Odessa will take part today and Thursday.

All the cities will express the wish that service be retained to Galveston and Brownwood.

TTA maintains two daily nonstop flights between Brownwood and Dallas and two one - stop and one four-stop flights from Dallas to Galveston. It has one-stop and two-stop service, Galveston to Dallas via Houston.

Witness Of Alleged $50,000 To Yarborough Disappears

DALLAS (AP) — An air of mystery continues in the wake of Sen. Ralph Yarborough's lingering dispute with Gordon McLendon over an alleged $50,000 contribution, a political child of the Democratic primary.

Ernest Keeton, Pecos Negro and former Army sergeant thrust into a role in the controversy, remained out of sight Tuesday after disappearing on the eve of Saturday's election.

He is believed in the El Paso area, but the FBI office in the West Texas city refused to comment on the case. Efforts to find him in El Paso and its Mexican counterpart, Juarez, have failed.

Last Friday, the Justice Department said Keeton repudiated a statement he made on television about seeing Yarborough receive $50,000 at the home of Billie Sol Estes in November, 1960.

NOT SEEN

On election day after Keeton was questioned by FBI agents, a friend called Keeton's employer and said he would not be able to report for work. Keeton's mother in Pecos says she has not seen her son since, and does not know where he is.

Keeton and Midland policeman James Fonville both said on a McLendon telecast they made sworn statements about witnessing the gift transfer at a barbecue given by Estes, the convicted swindler.

Yarborough, called the charge an "infamous lie," called upon the FBI to investigate the matter.

The senator said later he did receive about $900 in contributions the day of the Estes barbecue from donors which included the former West Texas promoter. But Yarborough said the money was given to him by W. J. Worsham of Pecos on a plane flight from Pecos to Austin.

SCARED

Fonville continues to maintain he saw Yarborough given an envelope containing $50,000. He said Keeton appeared scared after the FBI began its questioning.

Yarborough was quoted in the Dallas Morning News today as saying he has three law firms briefing his legal rights in the campaign charges.

The senator said the accusation could have had an effect on the election if Keeton had not denied his televised statement. As it was, he won the primary by a substantial margin.

In Washington Tuesday, Yarborough continued to criticize what he called McLendon's "electronic blitz" of television and radio campaign advertising. McLendon owns several radio stations.

The senator told newsmen that radio-television monitors to check November's general election campaigns might be a good thing for both the Democratic and Republican parties.

THE 'BIG LIE'

Yarborough, accusing McLendon of using the "big lie technique," was asked whether he would investigate McLendon's radio-television usage through his capacity as chairman of the Senate commerce subcommittee on communications.

"If it was any other senator besides me, I'd certainly look into it," Yarborough said.

Meanwhile, McLendon told the Dallas Times Herald he has refused to give the FBI a statement until the agency tells him what it knows.

McLendon, contacted in Washington, said FBI agents requested an interview with him last weekend.

"I told them I would gladly talk to them as soon as I have been provided with information they have already turned over to Senator Yarborough," the radio executive said.

He added: "I have very little information that would be of use to them."

The Dallas FBI office referred all questions on the case to the Justice Department in Washington.

Dallas Airport Ruling Examined

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board was asked Tuesday to review a ruling by one of its examiners against designation of a regional airport for the Dallas - Fort Worth area.

The request was made by the board's Bureau of Economic Regulation, by Fort Worth and its Chamber of Commerce, and Citizens Aviation Association of Dallas.

Dallas and its Chamber of Commerce served notice they would support the examiner's decision and oppose a review.

The bureau asked the board to review the April 7 finding of examiner Ross Newmann that it would not be in the public interest to designate either Fort Worth's Greater Southwest Airport or Dallas' Love Field as a regional airport.

Thunderstorms Advance Over North Texas Area

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms advanced eastward with increasing intensity across northern Texas early today, spilling rain and some hail. High winds buffeted some sections.

The North Central Texas counties of Wise and Cooke were placed under a severe thunderstorm warning before dawn.

A line of heavy thunderstorms packing heavy rain, some hail and surface winds expected to gust to 60 miles an hour swept over the Graham-Jacksboro area.

Lines of thunderstorms formed throughout the night, beginning from Childress in the Panhandle south to Big Spring, and moved by dawn from near Gainesville to Mineral Wells.

Thunderstorms also rumbled through the Wichita Falls, Abilene and San Angelo areas. Pea-sized hail fell in the West Texas town of Stamford. Dallas and Austin received heavy rain.

Scattered showers also broke out in Central Texas.

Skies were a gray mass of clouds in Central and East Texas. It was clear to partly cloudy in most western sections.

Cooler temperatures set in over Northwest Texas. Predawn readings ranged from 44 a Dalhart to 81 at Laredo.

More thunderstorms and rains were expected over North Central and southeastern areas of Northwest Texas tonight and Thursday. Scattered showers are due in South Central and Southeast Texas.

Sky conditions are expected to remain much the same over the state through Thursday.
