Death Takes Mrs. Floral Russell at Age of 97

Mrs. Flora Russell, who at 97 ranked among the county's oldest residents, died at her home at 1001 El Paso street Wednesday, September 5 at 3:30 p.m. In her lifetime that spanned almost a hundred years in Texas, Mrs. Russell had lived at Dallas, Nocona and in Collingsworth before the railroads reached them.

She was inactive only in recent years, after she broke her hip in a fall.

Mrs. Russell was born Flora Drake, the daughter of Robert and Lavenia Drake, on May 26, 1865 in Indiana. She was still small when her father brought his family to Dallas, a little inland town.

She was about 8 or 9 when the family moved to a new frontier, Montague county, and it was several years before the town of Nocona was founded nearby.

As a child she watched the big herds of cattle, strung out for miles, going up the trail. Indians still came through that section.

Mrs. Russell attended school in a little log house and sat on a log bench, her feet not reaching the floor.

She was married to Tom Russell in 1885 at Nocona, and they first came to Collingsworth county in 1898, settling at Aberdeen. Later they moved to Shamrock and in 1914 the family moved to Loco community. Still later they made their home on the Russell Ranch south of Childress.

After Mr. Russel's death in 1927, Mrs. Russell moved to her home in Wellington.

She had been a member of the Methodist Church since 1911.

Funeral services were conducted from First Methodist Church at 2:30 p.m. Friday, with the Rev. Davis Edens officiating. Burial was in the Needwood cemetery.

Pall bearers were Jimmie Cochran, Robert Lewis, Willie West, Everett Fain, Jake Lawrence and Auburn Keller.

Football Comes to Wellington as Rockets Open 1962 Season

Wellington Skyrockets open their 1962 season with a home stand against the Hollis Tigers Friday, September 14. The game will be played at Powell Field, beginning at 8 p.m.

It will be the first appearance of the Rockets under their new coaching team, Head Coach Don Beck and Line Coach Harold Lamb.

Beck this week reviewed for The Wellington Leader his team's prospects and named the starting lineups.

First turning his attention to Hollis, he said:

"From what we have been able to learn, Hollis is going to have a good football team. They have a fairly experienced team with good speed in their backfield. Their backs are small but quick. The line seems to be a rangy bunch of boys. They have had 2 scrimmages already this year and they have worked out longer than we have."

Tex Selvidge is the Hollis coach.

If a team ever had a motive for revenge, it is the Tigers. They were the only team to bow before the luckless 1961 Rockets.

"We have been real proud of the Rockets," Beck said. "We feel like they hit as well as any football team in the country. They are tough and aggressive and so far we have had very few injuries.

"We are going to have fair size, compared to a lot of teams, but we'll not be as big as many of the teams we will play."

Beck described the various positions.

"We have a pretty good size backfield in Raymond Sanders, Bobby Hudson and Gary Holliman. We have good running ability in some of our smaller backs such as Craig Bergvall, Lynn McLain, Danny Martin and Don Roark. But we lack speed. We also gained backfield depth with Pete Hughes, Ken Patterson and Gary White. We feel that if we had one or two real fast backs we would be hard for anyone to beat.

The line lacks in experience but has fair size and desire, as does the whole football team, the coaches feel.

There is fair size in Jennings Wells, Joe Rudy, Eddie Hale, Tim Bailey and Lyndal Bowen in the tackles. In the guards there is not as much size but there is more speed.

"We are real proud of Glen Thomas and Skipper Dur[illegible] their coach said. "We [illegible] three boys who can h[illegible] up in Charles Flo[illegible] Clubb and Calvin Ty[illegible]

"We lack experience [illegible] ters, but Ronny Nix is a fine job in filling this a[illegible] signment. We are given depth there by Lynn Wolf and Ray Floyd, both lacking experience but doing a good job.

"Our ends are small but aggressive. Bryan Hatch and Herb Duncan have gained the starting berths so far, but they are being pushed by Chester McLain, a talented sophomore, Joe Henard, and Dwayne Poteet.

"We look for power running from Raymond Sanders, Bobby Hudson and Gary Holliman. We look for shifty running from Craig Bergvall, Lynn McLain, Don Roark and Danny Martin. We also know that our line will give us good blocking and also have proven backfield blockers in Sanders, Holliman and Hudson. Lynn McLain and Gary White have done real

KEEP BALL ROLLING
It's quite a feat to push this ball along a wire with a jet of water, when your opponent is trying to do the same thing. This is one of the standard contests of the Panhandle Firemen's Association, and while it provides fun, it also is a contest of skill. R. A. Mrs. S. B. Bowen, Long-Time Co. Resident, Dies

Mrs. S. B. Bowen, a resident of the county 47 years, died Wednesday, September 5, at 11:05 p.m. at the home of a son, Earl Bowen, following an illness that had become worse over a period of several months.

She was 79 years of age.

Most of the time after she came here, Mrs. Bowen and her husband lived in the Bowen community east of Wellington. Later they moved to their present home a few miles north of Wellington.

Mrs. Bowen's life was always centered in her family, but after that, her interest in her church and her friends of the community were her concern. She had been a member of the Baptist Church since 1900, and during the years the Midway Baptist Church served that section, she was active in its behalf.

She also participated in home demonstration club work.

Mrs. Bowen was the former Mollie Lula King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. King, and was born at Cleburne April 27, 1883. When she was only a girl, the family moved to Jack county, and she was married to Mr. Bowen April 26, 1899 in Jacksboro.

They continued living there until coming to Collingsworth

Phyllis Jean Cramer, 7-year-old Quail school girl, was killed instantly when she was struck by a pickup truck Monday afternoon, September 10, seconds after she alighted from the school bus on which she was returning home. She was the daughter of Mrs. Mary Jean Fisher of Quail.

The accident occurred at 3:40 p.m., 1.3 miles west of Quail, at the intersection of State Highway 203 and a county road according to Deputy Sheriff Kenneth Hodge, who investigated for the sheriff's department.

The driver of the pickup was Kirby Lee Word, 16 year old junior in Quail high school and son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Word, Hodge said. Word was riding with his son at the time of the accident, he added.

Dean Johnson, Quail senior, was driving the school bus on which between 15 and 20 children were riding, according to the information released by Highway Patrolman Dave Crossland of Shamrock.

Also assisting in the investigation was Police Chief Troy Marsh.

Judge Raymond Horton, coroner, pronounced the little girl dead at the scene of the accident. He was due to hold an inquest Wednesday morning, September 12.

The bus was making its first stop after leaving Quail, Hodge said, and the little girl was about the middle of the highway when she was struck.

Word's statement to officers was not released by the Highway Patrol. Investigation of the accident is continuing.

Phyllis Jean was born June 3, 1955, at Tyler, and she was

After a period of years in which she divided her time among her children, Mrs. Brown went to Plainview to live six years ago.

She was 88 years of age.

Mrs. Brown was the former Nancy Roberson and was born in Rogers, Ark., April 3, 1874, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Roberson.

Wires Pulled on School Buses

Vandals, working Monday night, Sept. 3, pulled the electrical wiring off four Wellington school buses, Police Chief Troy Marsh reported this week. They were parked at the bus barn on the high school compus.

No arrests have been made, but officers are still working on the case, Marsh added.

One bus was out of commission all the next day, and the others made their runs from 30 minutes to an hour late, according to Supt. J. L. Harper.

The vandalism was discovered by the bus mechanic, Hubert Baker, when he went to the bus barn Tuesday morning.

"In dollars and cents, the damage was only $30 or $40, but that doesn't count the worry and inconvenience," Supt. Harper said.

Not a Chance to Burn

CITY FIREMEN PUT OUT TWO FIRES DURING FIREMEN'S MEET

Wellington volunteer firemen put out two fires Saturday, Sept. 8, as they played host to the Panhandle Firemen's Association.

Both blazes started when gasoline ignited, and either could have meant the loss of life or heavy property damage without fast action on the part of firemen, Fire Marshal Troy Marsh said.

Steve Mattox, 9, was singed on the arms, face and ears about 10 a.m. when gasoline in a gallon jug ignited from a backflash as he tried to get a trash fire to burn faster, according to Marsh. He gave the boy first aid treatment and applied a special anti-burn preparation carried to all fires by the department.

The fire occurred at the home of the boy's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Roberson, 909 Fort Worth street.

The second fire, shortly after noon, occurred in Louis Allred's hangar at Marian Airpark. Gasoline overflowed from a power mower onto the hot motor, Marsh reported.

Stored only a few feet from the blazing mower was 500 gallons of high octane gasoline, according to the fire marshal.

Forrest Watson, a pilot for Allred, was at the hangar at the time of the accident, he added. There was no damage except to the mower.

Looking Ahead

There are many people in this country who firmly believe that everything will take care of itself, if given enough time, and that no help is needed from the government or any other agency for anything. They believe that our problems on unemployment, inflation, the communistic threat and everything like that will be cured if you just ignore them for a long enough period of time.

That might be true in some ways, but what would happen to the country in the meantime?

Those people might do well to remember the saying, "The time to repair the roof is when the sun is shining" This could well apply to many of the problems of our country today as well.

Right now, unemployment is dropping — fast. More people are employed than ever before. Just the same, it might be well to look ahead, and plan public works programs as a kind of "insurance" to take care of excess unemployed persons, if and when the time ever arrives.

The recent slump in the stock market might be interpreted as some kind of a warning. Inflation cannot last forever and no government can support a large portion of the population with relief grants for any period of time without getting into serious trouble —The Sullivan (Ill.) Prograss

...boys could save some ...y on this if they would just wait a little while until Khrushchev gets his defensive missile launchers set up in Cuba.

When Castro starts defending himself with these new toys, and blows a hole in the White House lawn, it could be filled up with water and make a nice swimming pool for the lawmakers at Russia's expense.

Even out here in the country where the air and people's hearts are pure, both Republicans and Democrats look on an Independent as a political scab.

But the mature mind recognizes that facing life as a bare-faced Independent requires considerable moral courage, of about the same stature as it takes to give it back when a cashier hands you too much change.

In fact, living openly as an Independent proves that a man's devotion to principle surpasses his lust for a government job.

The feeling around here is slightly rife that Soviet scientists are smarter than ours because they get more mileage out of their space ships.

But an experienced objective thinker can see that our trouble is not so much being behind in know-how as being backward in do-how.

Our scientists can dream up as fabulous machines as anybody, but too many of our unfireable workers can't even assemble a car that will run 100 miles before some screw falls out.

I see where the government is fixing to re-train citizens who can't find any work at the jobs they know how to do.

And all social redeemers are wise and gifted, so it will be arranged that re-trainees will get re-trained for jobs where their natural talents can see some action.

Which won't be much help to people whose main talent is for spending somebody else's money, because this skill only qualfies a man for a job as congressman, and the job opportunities in this field are limited.

The Public Health Service has noticed an alarmingly high rate of dying from heart disease among American males aged 45 to 54.

Which has triggered the normal bureaucratic reaction, and $152,000 worth of scientists has been hired to study the reason for the serious loss of taxpayers in this highly productive age range.

As a public service, for free, my beat-heart neighbor explains that the American male's shortevity is caused by worry over how to pay the taxes to pay for such projects as studies on why he worries.

I see where a rich Oklahoma rancher in a Democrat area got 20,000 people out to a Republican rally by serving a free barbecue.

Preachers also use this tactic sometimes, and draw big crowds of sinners and backsliders by holding church suppers.

Seems to indicate that neither the Devil nor party loyalty has got much chance in competition with a plate of barbecue and beans.

NEW CAR INSURANCE PLAN PLANNED

AUSTIN.—Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo, whose heckling led the State Board of Insurance to abondon the safe driving plan of auto insurance, says he will try next year to pass a new law on the subject.

He wants the board to take insurance company profits into account in setting insurance rates.

Presently the Board takes losses and expenses into account, then allows the companies five per cent for taxes and profits.

Hospital Auxiliary Opens Year With Invitation to Membership

St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary opens a new year of work Friday, Sept. 14, with an invitation to all interested women to become members.

The meeting will be in the staff room of the hospital at 4 p.m.

Mrs. B. M. Sims heads the auxiliary this year, succeeding Mrs. L. C. Hill.

"This is an organization in which all area women can serve in capacities where they are needed," Mrs. Sims said. "And regardless of their talents, there is a place for them."

There are three types of membership in St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary, it was pointed out.

First is active membership—the one in which the organization is most interested.

Associate or inactive membership is set up for those women who want to be identified with the auxiliary but who cannot be active in its work.

Life membership is achieved by those who give $25 or more to be placed in the Auxiliary loan fund. This fund is to aid area students interested in some phase of medical study—nursing, or medical or x-ray technology, or medical records.

The Auxiliary, more than 20 years old, aids the hospital in various ways. It is one of the means by which the hospital is interpreted to the community. It helps with various projects undertaken by or in behalf of St. Joseph's. Then all members of the Auxiliary do volunteer work on the floor, some of them many, many hours in the course of a month.

Farmer's Co-op Gin

Your Cotton Is Insured from field through gin

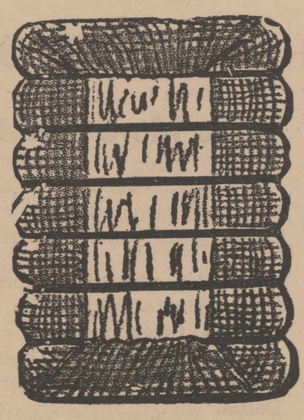

When you gin at the

Farmers Co-op

The Farmers Co-op Gin has always maintained insurance to insure against loss by fire the cotton of its customers while the cotton was in the process of being ginned.

The gin now also carries a "floater" which insures the seed cotton of its customers while in transit from the field to the gin and on gin premises

To afford this broad coverage the insurance company has stipulated that the customer must agree prior to the beginning of the ginning season to have all his cotton ginned at the Farmers Co-op Gin.

We Offer Many Services

Again in 1962, as in each year of the past 35 years, every cotton grower is invited to take advantage of the services and the benefits that have been offered cotton producers since this gin was founded.

SERVICE FIRST

The rebates you receive at the end of the season are not the only benefits you receive when you bring your cotton to the Farmers Co-op Gin. There are others that are more immediate.

MODERN MACHINERY

As most of you know, we have one of the most modern gin plants in the entire southwest, especially designed and constructed to serve the needs of producers of this area.

CLEANING EQUIPMENT

Our cleaning equipment has been completely overhauled with Grid Bars installed of screens and is one of the important factors in getting you a better sample as does our 3-million BTU burner for our drying equipment which also enables us to do a more efficient job for you.

2-PLANT CAPACITY

Two of the most modern gin plants — housed in the same building — give us the capacity to turn out the cotton without keeping our customers waiting. The gin was designed to get the top dollar out of your cotton by doing a better job on every bale.

MORE PARKING

We have purchased one entire block north of the Denver tracks on Highway 83 and this will be used in addition to the parking spaces used in other years to provide you with ample parking space.

NUMERICAL ORDER

We will gin your cotton in the order in which it is weighed in. An attendant will show you where to park after you have weighed and we will get it to the suction when your number comes up. You do not have to be present.

1½ Million in Rebates

We consider these our most beneficial services; but it should be remembered that the Farmers Co-Op Gin has paid over a million and a half dollars to its members in rebates since it was founded. It is easy to become a member—just gin one bale and you are entitled to all benefits in proportion to the amount of cotton you gin.

COTTON BUYER

We have a cotton buyer on hand here at the gin and will pay top market prices for your lint and your cottonseed if you want to sell.

We will also process your loan papers right here at the office. Your papers will be handled here and you will not have to wait for your money.

We Have Plenty of Defoilates of All Kinds

David Kersten, a Former Resident Takes Bride in Oregon Ceremony

Miss Sandra Ann Culvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Culvey of Eugene, Oregon, wore a gown of embroidered nylon organdy for her marriage on Saturday, Aug. 18 to David Louis Kersten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Kersten of Hayden Bridge Road, Springfield, Oregon, formerly of Wellington.

The double ring ceremony was performed at 4 p.m. in the First Baptist Church in Eugene by the Rev. Lester Allison, pastor. During the ceremony James Kays sang. Organist was Mrs. Allison and candlelighters were twin sisters, Miss Rosalie Smith and Mrs. Bruce Stansfield.

The bride's gown, made by her mother, was styled with a skirt in four tiers that deepened and terminated in a chapel train at the back. The fitted bodice was fashioned with Sabrina neckline and long sleeves, and her elbow-length veil of illusion was gathered to a crown of pearls and aurora borealis. With her bouquet of white Shasta daisies and yellow rosebuds surrounding a yellow-throated orchid, the bride carried a keepsake handkerchief which the groom's mother had carried at her wedding.

Miss Deanna Kersten, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. Other attendants were Miss Pamela Pashkowski, Miss Joeinne Thorne and Mrs. Othel Linville. They wore dresses of embroidered nylon over yellow taffeta and their flowers were white Shasta daisies arranged with yellow ribbon.

Cousins of the bride, Raylene Fuess and Donnie Lee Fuess served as flower girl and ring bearer.

Raymond Culvey, brother of the bride, served as best man for the groom. Ushers were Larry Whitson, Charles Cobb and Larry Corderman.

Bouquets of yellow and white Shasta daisies and yellow and white gladiolus decorated the church for the afternoon ceremony.

Following the wedding a reception for the couple was held in the church with Mrs. Kenneth Perini and Mrs. George Fuess, aunts of the bride, serving cake and punch. Assisting was Miss Dixie Huffman.

For a wedding trip to Seattle the new Mrs. Kersten wore a pink and white strip suit with patent accessories. They are now at home in Eugene. The bride is a graduate of South Eugene high school and the bridegroom is a graduate of Springfield high school. He is employed by an optical company in Eugene.

Rural Mail Carriers Begin Crop Survey

Postmasters of the county have announced that the rural mail carriers will begin distributing 1962 acreage survey cards to patrons on their routes during the next week.

The Post Office Department assists the Department of Agriculture in making the survey each year. These reports, directly from the farmers, are the basis for official estimates for the Texas acreage of all crops harvested in 1962.

Rural carriers out of Wellington who are participating are R. T. Savage, Route 1; Claude Savage, Route 2; Mrs. Earl Harrison, Route 5; and Rufus Sweat, Route 6.

Postmaster L. B. Bratten said that only rural carriers participate in this survey. Town carriers do not participate although they may have land owners and operators on their city delivery routes.

Mrs. Lela R. Maxwell, postmaster at Quail, said the survey for Quail, Route 1, will be taken by Lonnie Neeley, substitute rural carrier.

At Dodson, Ross Swift is the carrier for Route 1 from that town, according to Postmaster Howard Hunt.

All patrons receiving a card are asked to fill it out and return it to the mail box.

Co-op Gin Buys Parking Block

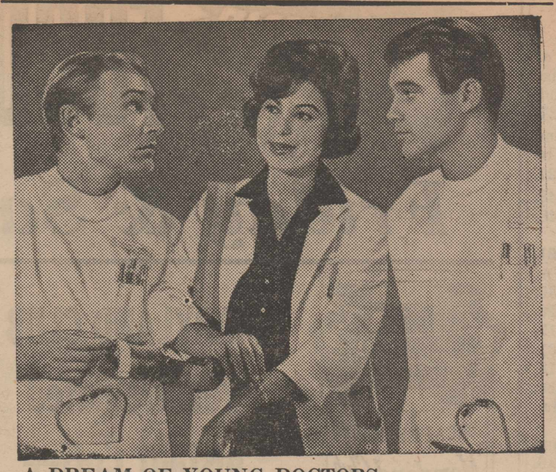

The Farmers Co-Op Gin has purchased an entire block on Highway 83 for additional parking space for the cotton trailers of customers of the gin, W. E. Marchant, manager, announced this week.

The lots are located across the Denver tracks (old Katy tracks) on Highway 83 and are immediately north of the gin plant. They have been cleared and are ready for use as well as the two blocks of land used by the gin in other years.

A driveway has been completed across the tracks from the gin yard and the parking lot is now ready for use.

Rocket B Team Opens Season Against Clarendon Thursday

The Wellington Skyrocket B team opens its season on its home field Thursday night, Sept. 13, meeting the Clarendon Broncho B team.

Game time is 7 p.m.

James Stavenhagen is the B team coach, with Head Coach Don Beck and Line Coach Harold Lamb working with him.

"The B team over all is small in size, but we have good speed in two or three backs," Coach Beck said in a pre-game review of the boys.

"We have many young kids playing B team football, but we have been quite disappointed in some of the kids whom we were counting on greatly to give us B team strength and depth," Beck continued.

"Several of the boys we were counting on either didn't show up for football or dropped out. Even with this deficit, we expect our B team to make a good showing on desire."

Stavenhagen will carry 20 boys on the B team squad. Seventeen are practicing now and three will drop back from the varsity squad to complete the roster.

Wellington grid fans are being urged to come out for the B team games..

"If we don't give these young boys our support, we can't expect them to continue their enthusiasm for the game," it was pointed out.

B team members are:

Ends: Adam Garcia, Freddy Bobo and Gary Bergvall; tackles: John Maxwell, Lorenzo Aguirre and Ted Holsomback; guards: Don Sweat and Sammy Hollingsworth; center: Larry Henard.

Quarterbacks: Danny White and Wayne Barton; fullbacks: Andy Moreno and Wayne Barton; halfbacks: Sam Hughes, Jackie Needham and Jackie Duncan.

Wellington Gin Adds Park Space

Alonzo Cartwright, manager of the Wellington Gin, said that his company has bought the lots just east of the gin plant to provide additional parking space for the cotton trailers of their customers.

The block is the old site of The Farmers Gin, and in recent years has been used by the City of Wellington as a storage place for brick and concrete. It has been cleared and is ready for use as a parking lot for the gin.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wooldridge left Saturday on their vacation. Their first stop was in Dallas where they visited their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Don Morton. Later this week they will continue on to Arkansas.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Vaughan of Amarillo spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt James.

Travis Clement, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Harwell, E. W. Clement and Guy Clement attended the funeral of Parker Bourland, a brother of Mrs. Travis Clement, in Vernon Sept. 5.

Much Great Plains Program Work

Soil Tour Members See Major Land Conservation Practices

In one short, fact-packed trip approximately 130 farmers and business men and agriculture students saw several major types of soil conservation being done in Salt Fork Soil Conservation District.

This came on the annual soil conservation tour, held Friday, Sept. 7, under the sponsorship of the district supervisors, ending with a barbecue in Ellison Park.

Part of the projects were several years old, and the results of the work could be seen. Others were just started.

At the C. A. Wilbur farm at Houselog, the group saw terraces and a proposed waterway to be constructed under the Great Plains Conservation program.

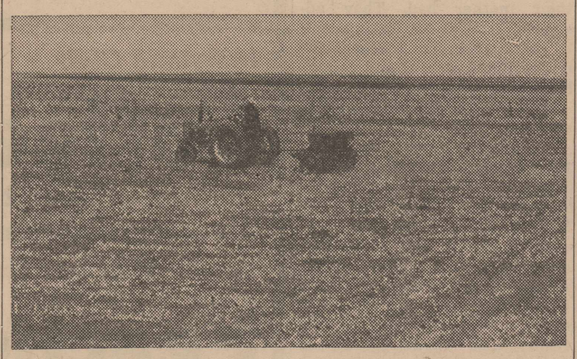

"Under the Great Plains program, the government pays a part of the cost of conservation work," explained Bob Crawford, work unit supervisor of the Soil Conservation Service. "In Wilbur's case, it was 70 per cent."

The second tour stop was at the James Doneghy farm in the Swearingen community, to inspect first year seedings of switchgrass and Indian grass on 270 acres. Crawford said 20 pounds of nitrogen and 10 of phosphate per acre was applied. "There is a good stand and the pasture has been mowed to control weeds."

L. A. Gilmore's farm southwest of town has an erosion control dam, and the tour group also saw three-year-old switchgrass plantings. He believes part of the success of this planting is due to its being planted in a dead litter cover, Gilmore grazed 41 head of cattle on the 60-acre field all summer. The group also saw a water storage facility at this farm.

"I used to have that pasture in cotton and I wasn't making anything on it," Gilmore remarked to Crawford. "I'm making a lot more now it is in grass and is grazed."

At a second farm belonging to James Doneghy, tour members saw mesquite killed by aerial spraying in July. Doneghy got a 100 per cent top kill, using a formula of one-half pound of 2-4-5-T in a gallon of diesel oil and enough water to make a four gallon mix. This is the standard spray used for aerial treatment of mesquite.

GRASS PLANTING

One of the stops on the Soil Conservation tour Friday, Sept. 7, was at the L. A. Gilmore farm southwest of Wellington, to see a fine stand of switch grass. Here Gilmore is shown as he sowed the grass, using the grass seeder belonging to Salt Fork Soil Conservation District.

Although only two months have passed, Crawford pointed out that blue grama and side oats grama are coming back in the pasture and have made a good seed crop.

As a bonus which Doneghy had not counted on, he got an excellent weed kill from the spraying, according to Crawford. The cost of this spraying was figured at $3.10 per acre.

Traveling to Quail, the tour men saw a waterway on the farm belonging to Frank Kennedy, vocational ag instructor. He planted it in cane to form a dead litter, and next spring he will seed switch grass under his Great Plains Conservation program, with the government paying approximately 80 per cent of the cost.

"The waterway is around two and a half acres and it saved from 8 to 10 acres of cotton being washed out this year," Kennedy said. "The water used to go diagonally across the field, now it runs straight."

Crawford added that such a waterway system can be used on most farms as an outlet for the terrace system, saving breaks and washing in the middle of the terraces.

The stand of switchgrass visited on the W. C. Harwell farm northwest of Wellington bore no resemblance to the shinnery patch it was a few years ago.

Harwell plowed up the block of shinnery sand and put it in cultivation for four years, then planted it to a dead litter crop and seeded switchgrass.

"It's really in good shape, just beautiful," were remarks that were heard. The field is in the soil bank at present.

"When it comes out of the soil bank, I'm never going to plow it up again," Harwell said.

Van Pelt to PCA Area Meet

MEMPHIS.—James Van Pelt, general manager of the Memphis Production Credit Association, will attend the semi-annual conference of the West Texas Production Credit Association Managers' Association, to be held in Midland Sept. 17.

The day-long conference will be held at the Sands Hotel in Midland. Topics will include current problems and conditions in agricultural credit and methods of providing improved credit and services at the lowest possible cost through the Production Credit system.

Attending the meeting will be W. H. Calkins, vice president of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston, discount and supervisory agency for all 36 Production Credit Associations in Texas. The bank provided more than $420,000,000 in loan funds in 1961, highest in its history.

David K. Workman of Stanton, general manager of the Western Production Credit Association, will be chairman of the meeting.

The 12 home-owned and operated Production Credit Associations to be represented at the meeting provide more than $125,000,000 in short and intermediate credit each year in a 104-county area to their farmer and rancher stockholder-borrowers.

The Memphis Production Credit Association, serving a nine-county area of Northwest Texas and the Panhandle, provided over $2,000,000 in agricultural credit during the past fiscal year.

Owned and operated by 600 farmers and ranchers in Hale, Childress, Donley, Collingsworth, Hardeman, Foard, Cottle, Motley and Eastern Briscoe counties, the association operates offices in Memphis, Wellington, Matador, Paducah and Quanah.

CONVENTION TIME IS NEAR

AUSTIN. — Democratic and Republican leaders are busy planning their state party conventions to be held on Sept. 18. Republicans meet in Fort Worth; Democrats meet in El Paso.

For the first time in many years careful attention is being paid to the party platforms,

Two big endorsements given to John Connally, the Democratic nominee for governor, hinge on what the platform says. The State AFL-CIO and Political Association of Spanish-Speaking Organizations both want to be sure the platform is not in opposition to some of their hoped-for legislation before their endorsements take effect.

Because many Texans remain undecided, both parties hope to gain votes by what they say in their platforms. But the problem is the same as usual. They have to keep the friends they now have, while trying to attract new ones.

So, the careful, slow and demanding process of democracy goes on and on.

Superior Machinery

AND AN

Experienced Gin Crew

MEAN . . . Better Service

AND . . . Bigger Profits

At the beginning of the 1962 harvest, officers and directors of the Dodson Farmers Co-op Enterprises extend a cordial invitation to use our services and facilities during the season. You'll get greater net profit on your cotton.

This gin was planned and built with one idea in mind: to serve the cotton grower better. Our machinery incorporates a number of features not found in the average run of gins. These distinctive features include:

- Super Champ cleaners that take out sticks on machined cotton as well as dirt and trash.
- Two drying operations instead of one
- The Super Type Line Cleaners . . . Carding Lint Cleaners first remove pin trash and shale, then the Moss Combs give smoothness and blend spots, bringing many light spot grades up to white grade.

We have added Wilson Mann to our gin crew and this means you will get a better turnout and a better sample when you gin at the Dodson Farmers Co-op Enterprises Gin.

At the end of the season, those appreciated rebate checks will bring you still more money. THE MORE YOU GIN, THE LARGER YOUR REBATES.

We are handling cotton for the Plains Cotton Co-Operative. This year each gin has its individual basis sheet and this will be a decided advantage in getting the best grade and price for your cotton.

We Are Now Receiving Grain

Let Dodson Co-Op Enterprises take care of your entire Fall harvest. It will mean more money in your pocket.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

The five cent letter and the eight cent airmail will be here next year if a proposed bill is passed. It also calls for an increase on second class mail which would affect newspapers and on third class mail which concerns circulars and other bulk mail. It would also eliminate the free-in-county provision for newspapers. This latter item has been of little or no concern to this newspaper ever since city delivery was started.

As a matter of fact The National Editorial Association, representing non-metropolitan papers, has been on record as favoring the abolition of the free in county provisions for over 20 years. Up at Canadian Ben Ezzell, who has free in county circulation, says he does not want it and this is true of a majority of the weeklies. They want a fair rate based on actual cost of handling their publications and not something that was pulled out of thin air to cover up the larger subsidies and free stuff of government.

In other years The Readers Digest alone has cost the postal department more than all of the weekly newspapers of the United States combined.

Congressmen loved to talk about the free in county subsidy for newspapers as they explained to their constituents about some huge subsidy to airlines or passenger ship lines. When they became irked at something the newspaper had reported about their voting in Washington or their junketing in Europe they doted on telling the voters of all the help the newspapers were receiving. They will be reluctant to abandon this talking piece, but it looks like they are going to be forced to do it.

The bill also provides for $315 million for "public services". This is a polite term for the free mail sent out by congressmen and senators as well as all the other departments. What the newspapers would like to see come about is to have an appropriation for each classification so the people could know how much postal money is being used by each department such as war, agriculture, commerce and of course congress. It won't be done any more than the postal department finances will be put in the black.

The harvest moon is shining in all its wonderful beauty and you do not need to stay up late to see it. The calendar says the full moon will be on Saturday, September 15, but at the time of the autumnal equinox the moon rises at about the same time for four or five nights. That is the reason it is called the harvest moon. Farther north where the weather is often very uncertain the harvest moon was of great benefit to the farmers of America and Europe in getting in their crops.

The same phenomena occurs in October only to a lesser extent and is known as the hunters moon. Here on the plains our harvest is just beginning to get in full swing in October and that may be the reason there is some confusion as to which moon is which. Anyway the September and October full moons are the most beautiful and the most easily observed of any of the year to people living north of the equator. It is the opposite south of the equator. Spring is about to start in South America and Africa.

This goes to show that you get a quantity of flash news in this newspaper. The above information has been written down for only ten thousand years. It may have been known a million years before, but the cave men knew nothing of farming even if they did try to picture write about hunting.

Little accidents can be painful and dangerous. Was out at Dozier last week and Cortez Barnett was still shaking hands with his left hand. About six or seven weeks ago he broke off a piece of fish fin in the index finger of his right hand. The piece of fin was removed but the tendons in the finger became infected and he is having to take penicillin even yet.

Mrs. O. A. Kiker reports that the paragraph about the spraying planes scaring the eggs out of her chickens produced immediate results. She says the planes started skirting around her house the next day. I told her at the time that the airmen undoubtedly did not have the least idea what they were doing to her chickens. Thanks, gentlemen.

FIREWOMEN WINNERS
Women are "firemen" too. The Women's Auxiliary Team from Friona won the pumper race, unloading their hose, connecting it, and getting ready to pump water in 19 seconds. Their only concession was that they used a lighter weight hose than men contestants.

B&B to Hold Grand Opening This Week End

B&B Electric will hold its grand opening in its new location on the south side of the square Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 13, 14 and 15, owners Lucien Bearden and Quinton Brewer have announced.

The business moved recently to this building two doors from the end of the block, from the location on East Avenue it had occupied since its organization.

The new business home is one of the more modern in town, having been remodeled a few years ago.

"This will be much more convenient for our customers and it will give us an opportunity to properly display our lines of merchandise, a field in which we are expanding our business," the owners said.

B&B Electric was established by the two owners 7 years ago, and has grown to be one of the larger electrical contracting businesses of the south western Panhandle. Not only does the firm operate in Collingsworth county but much work is done in adjoining counties and for an even greater distance.

Employed by Bearden and Brewer in B&B are Harry Lowell Patterson and John Alvin Horton, both experienced in electrical work. Miss Patsy Norman is in charge of the office.
