BRITISH SHIPS SHELLED

Bitter Protest And Warnings Issued Today

Serious Complications Are Feared; Quick Action For Explanation Is Demanded

(By The Associated Press)

Renewed Spanish insurgent bombings of British warships and merchant vessels and charges by Italy of Franco-Soviet violations of the "hands off Spain" agreement threatened serious international reverberations today.

Opposing Spanish armies clashed in two of the bloodiest battles of the civil war.

Explanation Demanded

Great Britain demanded a quick and satisfactory explanation from insurgents for two aerial attacks on her destroyer, Gallant, off the east coast of Spain.

She dispatched the destroyer Garland to Palma, Mallorca, held by insurgents, to back up her warning that she will not tolerate interference with her shipping. The Gallant was bombed twice yesterday but was not hit.

Steamer Is Shelled

Britain also considered making a formal protest over the shelling of the British steamer Thorpehall by insurgent vessels in the Bay of Biscay yesterday.

In Rome, government-controlled newspapers said that because other nations had violated the agreement not to send arms and volunteers to Spain, Italy might feel forced to take counter-action.

Usually informed sources said Italy and Germany might withdraw from the 27-nation agreement in protest against alleged forces aid to the Madrid-Valencia government, particularly by France and Russia. Italy and Germany have themselves been accused of repeatedly breaking neutrality pledges.

In London, the Spanish embassy declared it had received confirma-

Court Dangers Are Described

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Ignatius M. Wilkinson, dean of Fordham university law school, declared today the Roosevelt court program was dangerous to the continuance of constitutional democracy.

"Its ultimate effects will tend to undermine the independence of the supreme court and indirectly of all courts," he said in a statement prepared for the senate judiciary committee.

Would Create Vacancies

The administration bill, he said, seeks to create vacancies in the supreme court to enable the president to appoint justices who would be responsive to his views on social legislation.

"The real objection to the attitude of the supreme court on the part of many people supporting the plan," Wilkinson testified, "is not alone that the position of the court is a departure from the true meaning of the constitution in construing, for example, the general welfare clause, but rather that the judicial views in question are unpopular and out of step with the times.

Ruled By Public

"If the supreme court is to be made to respond always to the prevalent sentiment of the moment, ultimately it must become wholly subservient to public opinion."

James O. Monroe, Democratic state senator in Illinois, testifying late yesterday against the bill, urged substitution of a constitutional amendment.

"Black Legion" Exacts Toll In Tucson; Gangs Are Exposed

(By The Associated Press)

TUCSON, Ariz., April 7—Aroused by activities of a gang of boys who called themselves the "Black Legion" and branded their members with an ice pick, the Pima county coordinating council demanded of the Tucson city council today that it enact an ordinance censoring movies.

"Moving pictures of recent months dealing with Black Legion activities in the east and other vivid details of major criminal activities and methods are largely responsible for this deplorable situation," asserted Mrs. William Bray, president of the coordinating council.

Gangs Are Exposed

Police Chief C. A. Wollard said he had exposed three gangs of the boys, from nine to 15 years of age, who branded their members, levied a toll of petty thieving on merchants and householders, and operated from headquarters in a storm sewer beneath the city streets.

From the pockets of some of the boys questioned, Wollard said he took $107 in cash, a watch worth $50, shares of stock, and other valuables that had been stolen. The loot over a period of several months would total more than $1,000, he said.

The boys told of a leader who car-

Dog Locates Cash For His License

BUTTE, Mont., April 7. (AP)—The annual police drive to collect dog license fees was on and Bing, fox terrier, was without his new tag.

He scratched at the door of his master's home and stood there, holding something in his mouth.

When his master, John Gaffney, opened the door he discovered the bit of paper was a $5 bill. Going promptly to the dog license bureau, Gaffney bought a tag and received $2.50 change from the $5 bill.

Million Dollar Fire Reported

(By The Associated Press)

MANILA, Apr. 7—A million dollar fire swept over more than one and a half square miles of the thickly populated Tondo district today, leaving more than 10,000 persons homeless, one dead and eleven injured.

The entire Manila fire department, supplemented by fire equipment and soldiers from Fort Santiago, fought the blaze for more than four hours before bringing it under control.

Dies From Fright

One death was attributed to the fire. A paralytic residing at the edge of the fire zone died from fright. Many narrow escapes were reported as panic stricken residents risked their lives to save their possessions.

Starting in a laundry, the flames fanned by a stiff wind, raced towards Mania blay.

Relief agencies made plans to take care of the homeless.

Three-Year Sentence Given Everett McArthur Upheld

AUSTIN, April 7 (AP)—The court of criminal appeals today overruled state's motions for rehearings in the cases of H. B. Opp and L. E. Trimble, convicted of murder of W. R. Tomlinson in Menard county, Nov. 27, 1934. Both cases had been reversed and remanded.

Opp, tried in Burnet county on a change of venue, was sentenced to 30 years and Trimble received a five-year sentence in a trial in Gillespie county.

Conviction of Everett McArthur, sentenced to three years for the murder of Ben Speegle in Motley county Nov. 22, 1935, was affirmed. The indictment alleged McArthur choked Speegle to death.

Nome Is Badly In Need Of Jail; Bandits Break Out

NOME, Texas, April 7 (AP)—Nome needs a jail.

"When the constable arrests one outlaw and brings him in to the jail at Beaumont, three or four others bust loose on the community," a spokesman for a delegation requesting the jail before Jefferson county commissioners stated.

Commissioners agreed that a cell from the county jail annex, soon to be razed, may be installed in a building at Nome to serve as a temporary lock-up.

WAGES ARE BOOSTED

Arguments On Security Acts Called By Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, April 7. (AP)—The supreme court called today for arguments on constitutionality of federal and state social security legislation.

Up for debate at noon were two cases involving the Alabama unemployment compensation act, challenged by the Southern Coal and Coke company and the Gulf State Paper corporation.

Thousands Are To Be Called Back To Jobs

Peace Pact Is Signed Last Night By Officials From Both Sides Of Dispute

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, April 7.— A dramatic, midnight settlement of the $70,000,000 Chrysler strike that will send 85,000 workmen back to their jobs within two weeks was hailed today as the basis for permanent peace in the automotive industry.

Governor Frank Murphy, in whose office at Lansing the pact ending the month old strike was signed by high officials of the Chrysler corp. and the United Automobile Workers of America just before last midnight, expressed confidence that labor strife was near an end.

Agreement Satisfactory

Spokesmen for both corporation and union pronounced the agreement satisfactory. Interpretations of the formula that solved the long-deadlocked issue of "sole recognition" varied, however.

The U. A. W. A., throughout the negotiations for settlement of the strike that began March 8 had demanded sole collective bargaining rights. Its president, Homer Martin, commented that "I don't see how it could be any soler" since the agreement gave the union the "exclusive privilege in bargaining with the corporation."

B. E. Hutchinson, the corporation's finance chairman, said the compact was "non-exclusive" and "doesn't preclude our dealing with other unions."

Calls For Workers

Hutchinson said that calls would go out today or tomorrow for workers to report, and that normal operations would be resumed within ten days or two weeks. As soon as the 65,000 Chrysler employ-

Lynching Laws Are Debated

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 7— The house divided into three factions today over anti-lynching legislation, long a source of argument in congress.

Leaders called up for debate during the afternoon a measure by Rep. Mitchell (D-Ill), only negro member, levying heavy fines and prison sentences on state peace officers who permit a prisoner to be taken from custody and lynched.

To Prosecute Members

The house Republican membership, however, decided last night to support a proposal of Rep. Gavagan (D-NY) to authorize prosecution of members of mobs as well as peace officers involved.

It will be considered next Monday. Gavagan said Mitchell's bill had no teeth.

Both measures would make a county liable for damages in event of a lynching, payable to the victim's family.

Southerners Opposed

The third group of members, chiefly southern, opposes federal anti-lynching laws as an unnecessary invasion of states rights.

Chairman Sumners (D-Tex) of the judiciary committee said such measures "would attempt to extend a federal power and federal control over the states denied by the constitution." He said lynching had all but been suppressed.

Trail Of Clever Forger Is Leading Into Arkansas

Trail of an ingenious forger who has a habit of going into a town, depositing money in a bank and establishing a reputation for keeping up with his account—then passing a check forged on Broadway gin, five miles west of Lubbock—has extended into Arkansas.

The sheriff's department at Lubbock said this morning a $25 check had been passed at Prescott, Ark. A letter sent to Lubbock said a drug store had accepted several of the man's checks before and all had been good.

Approximately 50 checks had been stolen from the gin company about six weeks ago, said Bedford F. Carpenter, chief deputy sheriff, and several were passed in South Texas and in the Valley district.

Strikers Are Driven From Plant By Angry Farmers

HERSHEY, Pa., April 7 (AP)—Irate farmers and workers opposed to the union went into the plant of the Hershey Chocolate corporation today and drove sit-down strikers from the building.

The farmers whose market for some 800,000 pounds of milk daily has been paralyzed since the strike started last Friday, took matters in their own hands after they said sit-down strikers rescinded an agreement to come out by 1 p. m., the final deadline set by the milk producers and "loyal workers."

Pilot Is Believed Dead As Result Of Plane Plunge

GALVESTON, April 7 (AP)—Second Lieut. A. E. Livingston, 28, crashed into the Gulf of Mexico today as he towed a target in aerial gunnery practice of the 55th pursuit squadron.

First reports were meager but a brief radio message after the ship wreckage was sighted from above said:

"Airplane dived into water about three and half miles off shore; pilot apparently killed. Coast guard boats salvaging wreckage."

Texans Taking Their Heroes Seriously; New Row Raging

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, April 7—Texans take their memorials to heroes of the state's turbulent past very seriously.

Last summer during the Texas Centennial exposition a storm of contention arose over placing an equestrian statue of "Buffalo Bill" Cody on the grounds of the main exposition in Dallas. Patriotic societies vehemently protested Cody's flamboyant career included a bit of spying for the Union cause in the war between the states and thus he was bereft of all right to a place of honor in a state which had thrown its weight with the Confederacy.

Much argument ensued, even in the courts, before bearded Buffalo Bill astride his pony was placed in stone on the Centennial grounds.

Then there was another argument of similar magnitude about a Centennial sculpture depicting a pioneer and his rugged family. Shocked Texans protested the statue was unrepresentative because it was embarrassingly un-

Posse Today Battles Arizona Badlands

GLEN C. MOSER
Pilot Of Lost Plane

(By The Associated Press)

McNARY, Ariz., April 7—A posse of some 25 picked men plunged at day break today into the eastern Arizona "badlands," in search of a wrecked airliner and its eight occupants, deemed certainly dead.

Their goal was the rugged western slope of 10,500-foot Baldy peak, where the tangled ruin of the once-proud skyship was located from the air yesterday.

Snow Is Deep

Seven miles of pathless wilds lies between the searchers and the wreckage, almost hidden in a grove of quaking aspen on the mountainside. Snow lies from four to six feet deep on level stretches and fills box canyons to a depth of up to 20 feet.

Flying the Douglas transport, twin ship to the wrecked airliner, Major A. D. Smith, TWA division superintendent, Bill Boyle, TWA pilot, and C. E. Vebien, chief Douglas test pilot, took off here shortly after 8 a. m. (MST) for the scene.

Airport officials here said the plane would fly over the wreckage, as a guide for ground searchers and then would go on to Los Angeles.

Impossible To Survive

Those who saw the wreckage from the air yesterday were unanimous in their certainty none of its occupants would have survived what appeared to have been an almost headon plunge against the moun-

Four Naval Fliers Fall To Death In Flaming Wreckage Of Ships; Search For Bodies Launched

(By The Associated Press)

SAN DIEGO, Calif., April 7—Patrol craft searched the sea today for three missing victims of a mid-air collision which sent four navy fliers plummeting to their death in the flaming wreckage of two bomb-laden airplanes.

A naval board of inquiry was called to meet aboard the aircraft carrier Lexington and investigate yesterday's tragedy while the search went on 40 miles offshore.

Worst Mishap In Years

Victims of the worst navy airplane accident here in 10 years were: Junior Grade Lieut. Ludwell R. Pickett, of Coronado, Calif., formerly of Pocahontas, Ark.

Junior Grade Lieut. Joseph J. Loughlin, Long Beach, Calif., formerly of Wilmington, N. C.

Chief Machinist's Mate Harry M. Bradley, San Diego, formerly of Osceola, Ia.

Aviation Machinist's Mate John J. Carney, first class, National City, Calif., formerly of East St. Louis, Ill.

Enveloped In Smoke

Sailors who witnessed the collision told of a roar that "sounded like a clap of thunder," then the plane apparently sideslipped and landed on the plane underneath it. Naval officials denied there was a mid-air explosion.

For a moment, the two ships were enveloped in black smoke, seamen said. Then they plunged 500 feet flaming into the sea.

Lieut. Loughlin, whose death was ascribed to drowning, fell clear of the wreckage as he neared the water. His body was recovered.

Sandstorm Added To Week's Weather Variety Here

South Plains weather again illustrated its leap frog tendency this morning as wind velocity reached 40 miles an hour from the northwest, and a sandstorm was added to the week's weather variety of snow, sleet, rain, and balmy warmth.

Extremely low air pressure indicated that the dust will remain throughout the day, the airport reported.

Temperature was 59 degrees shortly before noon, and minimum today was 42 degrees, at 6 a. m.

Jumping from sunshine and warmth of Saturday, the weather Sunday included rain, sleet, and snow, then leaped back to two comparatively warm days.

Triple Killer?

ROBERT IRWIN
See Story Below

Insane Slayer Being Sought

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 7—The object of squint-eyed Robert Irwin's affections fled from her Long Island home to escape the chance of a sudden and devastating rage today such as Irwin is accused of in the triple murders of Beekman Hill.

As New York's 19,000 policemen searched faces on broad avenues and narrow cross streets in an effort to apprehend the suspect in the killing of Veronica Gedeon, artists' model, and two other persons, Mrs. Ethel Kudner left her Astoria residence for an unnamed destination.

Guard Is Established

Several detectives were detailed to guard her and others were assigned to her home.

Assistant Chief Inspector John A. Lyons said that it was the sculptor's infatuation for the then Miss Ethel Gedeon, dating from 1932 when he was a roomer in the Gedeon home, that led Irwin to take the lives of "Ronnie," her mother, Mary, and a waiter, Frank Byrnes, at Eastertide.

Inspector Lyons said Irwin was described by one doctor as a victim of dementia praecox with homicidal tendencies expressed in tendencies to throttle others. Veronica and her mother were strangled to death.

CLEMENCY DENIED

NEW ORLEANS, April 7 (AP)—The state pardon board today unanimously denied clemency for Ralph Eisenhardt and Gladstone James, sentenced to be hanged Friday in the Gretna jail for the 1935 robbery-slaying of Vincent Bologna, a grocer, at McDonoghville.

Hints Of Extra Session Being Heard Today

Quick Action On Race Horse Wagering Bill Is Blocked Again By Senate Vote

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, April 7—Gov. James V. Allred's determination that the state race horse bill and its implications of track wagering shall be repealed gave expression today to a threat repeal might be submitted to a special session of the legislature if it should fail of passage at the regular sitting.

At his press conference he said: "If I can help see that there is a vote on the issue, I'm going to do so. We'll cross the special session bridge when we get to it."

Fourth Attempt Fails

A fourth attempt within 24 hours to set the repeal bill for early floor consideration failed in the senate today.

The vote to set the proposal for tomorrow was 12 to 12, whereas a two-thirds majority would have been required. Sen. Joe Hill of Henderson started to move for a setting at a later hour tomorrow, but decided against it after Sen. Clay Cotten of Palestine said he was "tired of all these motions which do nothing but kill time."

Cotten had been voting for the special setting proposals.

New Bill Introduced

A new pardon board bill designed to eliminate the objections which Allred raised in his veto of a previous bill was introduced by Sen. Wilbourne B. Collie of Eastland. The bill would locate the board at Austin, as desired by the governor. It would require a representative of the board to visit prison properties at least every 30 days.

The senate set for special order next Monday the soil conservation bill by Sen. E. M. Davis of Brownwood.

Swindling Case Opened Here

Ned Baum, real estate promoter, took refuge behind small type print as his trial opened before a jury in county court this morning on a charge of misdemeanor theft and swindling in connection with a town lot development project adjoining Presidio on the Mexican border of Texas.

The small type figuring in early testimony of the trial described certain conditions under which various individuals could gain possession of lots in the Presidio town addition.

Charged In Weems Case

Baum is charged specifically in the case with having obtained $2.46 from Mrs. H. L. Weems, farm housewife residing eight miles southwest of Lubbock, on the representation that she had won two town lots in a drawing, and that she could gain title to the property by paying $37.50 to the real estate firm of which Baum was a member for title and abstract.

Through complaint and early testimony in the trial this morning, County Attorney Robert J. Allen developed his preliminary contention that property represented by Baum as having a value of $350 was, in fact, not worth the $2.46 Mrs. Weems gave him as first payment toward title and abstract.

Woman Takes Stand

Mrs. Weems was the first witness to take the stand this morning of more than a dozen subpoenaed by the state, and told of having left her name at a "drawing" at the last Panhandle-South Plains fair in Lubbock. Several weeks later, she said, Baum called at her home and told her she was one of 25 "lucky winners" among 15,000 to

Outlook For Oil Industry Said To Be Very Bright

HOUSTON, April 7 (AP)—W. S. S. Rodgers of New York City, president of the Texas Company said last night the outlook of the oil industry was "extremely bright."

Rodgers came here from New Orleans. He said he had no comment on the C. I. O. drive to unionize the oil industry.

While in Houston the executive said he would divide his time inspecting his company's holdings in the coastal area, golfing and a banquet given by the Old Timers club, recently organized by employes of the Texas company in Houston and vicinity.

"The Texas railroad commission acted very wisely in cutting back the state's allowable for April and is doing a good jb in conserving natural resources along with the other conservation committees in the mid-continent area," Rodgers said.

When asked about extension of the Connally hot oil act, Rodgers said it was "significant that the bill passed the senate without a dissenting vote."

A treatise published in London in 1703, stated the belief that birds migrated to the moon, and that the journey took two months to complete.

Irrigation Plan Is Being Asked

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP) — Congress received today bills proposing a $6,000,000 irrigation program in Quay county, N. M., in connection with the $12,000,000 Conchas flood control project under construction on the Canadian river near Tucumcari.

Representative John J. Dempsey of Santa Fe requested a $6,000,000 appropriation for irrigation purposes in a conservancy district below the Conchas project.

Offered In Senate

Senator Carl A. Hatch and Dennis Chavez introduced an identical bill in the senate.

Both measures entitled the project the "Arch Hurley conservancy district." Sponsors said the district was being so incorporated in New Mexico in honor of Arch Hurley of Tucumcari, an advocate of the project.

Hurley conferred with Dempsey today about the proposed legislation.

Dempsey said the program would provide for a 42-mile-long canal carrying water from the flood control reservoir into the irrigable area near Tucumcari. Laterals from the main ditch, he said, would irrigate 53,000,000 acres of land.

The irrigations work would be constructed under the federal reclamation law which requires irrigation farmers contracting with the government for water supplies to repay the construction cost within 40 years. The government would charge no interest.

Watson Furniture Company Is Celebrating Third Birthday

Marking the third anniversary of the opening of the store, Watson Furniture company, 1112 Broadway, Thursday morning begins a sale that will extend into all departments of the business. The store is owned by H. A. Watson and managed by S. E. Jondahl.

Besides the retail sales room, which covers 18,000 square feet of floor space, there are two large warehouses for storage of surplus stocks.

Well Known Brands Handled

The company carries a complete line of items that go into household furnishings for all types of homes, large and small. The store features nationally advertised lines of merchandise, believing it can better stand behind its sales of these types of stocks, Manager Jondahl explained.

Kroehler furniture, Simmons mattresses, Firth rugs, Phoenix chairs, Armstrong linoleum and other well known names are to be found on merchandise on the floor. Complete lines of porch furniture, house draperies, floor coverings, lamps, gas ranges, stoves, etc., are to be found in stock.

New Machine Installed

"We have just installed a new carpet machine that will handle any kind of a job," Jondahl said in explaining that people were going back to carpets for floors instead of rugs. There has in recent years, he added, come a demand for an all-carpeted room instead of the rug.

Better grades of furniture also are being demanded, as the public finds its cash resources are firmer. Throughout Lubbock's trade territory the sales for the more expensive lines has shown a constant increase, Jondahl reports.

Cuff Links And Collar Buttons Again Are Popular With Men

DALLAS, April 7 (AP) — Myron Everts, Dallas jeweler, addressing the Texas Retail Jewelers association convention here today, said cuff links and collar buttons, dim memories to many men now nearing middle age, are rapidly coming back into vogue, and many snappy dressers are taking up the custom of wearing scarf pins again.

Everts said there was a general rebirth in the custom of wearing jewelry, a custom that men quit about ten years ago.

"Most of them had the same kind of buttons on their shirts that were on their underwear. They're getting away from that now."

R. J. Slagle, Houston, president of the association, urged jewelers to advertise more.

Slagle said imports of diamonds and various other items of jewelry have increased tremendously in the past two years. Diamonds are declared a safer investment than gold, L. S. Dickason, a past president, said. Officers will be elected tomorrow.

Suggestions For Safe Driving

(Talk Number Two)

OUR BRAKES

One of the most important things in Safe Driving is to be able to stop when necessary.

Constant or regular checking of your brakes is absolutely necessary to make your brake service always dependable.

Everybody knows this—but somehow don't attend to it regularly and systematically.

Brakes give you plenty of notice when they need adjustment—the responsibility is YOURS.

Drive so you won't need to use your brakes too often or too suddenly. That breaks them down and causes frequent adjustments.

Advertising In Newspapers Is Endorsed By Jewelers' Head

DALLAS, April 7 (AP)—Advertising in newspapers was endorsed strongly at the closing session of the Texas Retail Jewelers' association convention Tuesday.

R. J. Slagle, Houston, who was re-elected president, said:

"Advertising in local newspapers is the greatest business pulling agency open to retail merchants today. There is no doubt about it. Jewelers have not been taking proper advantage of their opportunities in this respect and as a consequence have been losing much business."

CORSICANA, April 7 (AP)—R. K. Finch, Richland, owns a turkey hen of championship calibre.

A total of eight eggs is the score for one day's individual egg laying effort, according to the information reaching Corsicana today.

The turkey hen, it is said, for the past several days made regular trips to the nest without results. Yesterday things were different. When she left the nest this time five eggs with hard shells and three soft shell eggs remained.

LUBBOCK EVENING JOURNAL

LUBBOCK, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 7, 1937

Snapshots by Collier Parris

Copyright, 1937

BIG TIME BASEBALL comes to Lubbock tomorrow—for approximately seven minutes.

As long as Santa Fe train No. 98, west to east, remains parked in front of the local station, that's how long the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National League will be in Lubbock. They are not booked to play an exhibition game, to address the Campfire Girls or even to sit around in our hotel lobbies and be gazed at.

Therefore we are not in the least excited or worried about having to make arrangements for a game they probably wouldn't play on account of the cold weather in West Texas; or to arrange lengthy interviews, or even to buy drinks, much less tie up their baggage and file suit in federal court.

In this respect, we are a lot smarter and more fortunate than our poor friend Jerry Malin of the Amarillo press, who hasn't yet recovered all his sanity or one fourth his enthusiasm for baseball since the Pirates done him wrong back in '32—or was it '33?

BUT GIBSON DOESN'T LIVE THERE ANY MORE

It was a long about this time of year. The Pirates and the White Sox were headin' home for the beginning of the season, and were playing exhibitions hereabouts. Jerry booked 'em for a game at Metro Park, and made elaborate plans. Oh, so elaborate. The teams got there. So did Ironhead George Gibson, manager of the Pirates.

There was a slight wind, such as generally blows over the Panhandle, even a trace of dust in the air, a very unusual thing. But the sun was shining, and very few persons walked or rode about protected by topcoats. Everybody was going to the ball game, because it isn't every day in the week that us West Texans get to see a couple of big league teams in action. Several carloads of us Lubbock folks went up, and carloads came from farther than Lubbock. And WE didn't think it was too cold. Nobody seemed to think it was too cold except Ironhead Gibson.

But Ironhead Gibson had gotten up on the wrong side of the bed. Biggest regret was, late in the day, that an open 15-story window hadn't been on that side of the bed. So the game didn't go on. The players didn't even go on the field. Ironhead said they might take cold, or something.

Well, Ironhead isn't with the Pirates any more. Guess Jerry just ran him plumb out of baseball. Malin asked for a grand and a half—got half a grand when the court acted about 15 years later.

The Pirates come through town today, headed for Texas' larger cities where they are scheduled to do some exhibitions. They're a pretty fair bunch of ball players, and should be way up there in the race this season. They were the league's best at batting last year, although they finished in third place, behind St. Louis and Chicago who tied for second. They led the league in team batting and they produced the league's batting champion—Paul Waner. So maybe we'd better welcome them through Lubbock.

POPULAR ROAD TEAMS ARE COMING THIS WAY

Getting back down to our size or approximately so, in baseball, let us report that other clubs of national fame, if not of the National League, are planning to visit this section. Publicity helps, and when it was bruited about that this section of West Texas was getting back into baseball, the calls came in for games.

Barnstorming teams have written and wired in, but they asked for too much guarantee, being unwilling to work on the usual percentage basis.

But the Lubbock Hubbers are about to contract for games with some of the country's outstanding traveling semi-pro teams, as well as some of the more important stationary clubs. Other clubs of the South Plains have received offers, and some have made agreements.

The latest "feeler" comes from the Hawaiian Baseball club, managed by Buck Lai, who used to play in the Southern Association and one year with the New York Giants. He managed the New York Bushwicks for a time, then took over the Hawaiian touring team in 1935. The Hawaiians make an annual tour of the United States. The team is sponsored by the Hawaiian government, and travels in a $4,000 bus provided by the government.

ALABAMA PITTS MAY BE WITH HAWAIIANS

According to the letter we have received from T. Y. Baird of Kansas City, who is making the touring schedule for the Hawaiians, the club will be in this section from May 10 to May 25. It would like an engagement here, and others at nearby towns. We have been authorized to reply to Mr. Baird that the Hubbers would like to play the Hawaiians on Sunday, May 16, or May 23. We are now trying to make the date May 23, which is a Sunday, and which is one week after the well known House of David team is booked to play in Amherst.

Hurchel Tapley, business manager and general handy man of the Amherst team, was a visitor yesterday, and told us of the pending House of David visit. The club has made no overtures to Lubbock so far as we know, but probably will be in the market. It is likely that the long whiskered boys will be back this way in August, and the Hubbers may meet them then. If the Whiskers play Amherst, we want to see it. So would a lot of other people, so we don't want the date with the Hawaiians here to conflict. A lot of folks would want to see them, to.

Tapley tells us that Amherst is getting ready for another good season. The Redpants will have virtually the same team that it had last year plus another pitcher or two. Tapley didn't know where Lefty Hambright is, and is not encouraging that person's return. Lefty is all right if he has a boss who can handle him. We'd like very much to have him here, as a pitcher—not a one-armed field manager and general pest. If he does come here, he'll toe the mark, which won't fit in with his idea of baseball life but which must, sooner or later, if he expects to carry on.

Amherst wants to start playing ball right away. Lubbock is trying to hold him off until about May 1, because the Hubbers would like to open with Amherst. In the discussion yesterday, it developed that Lubbock and Amherst might be ready and able to play about April 25, which is just three Sundays off.

In the meantime a lot of work is going on at the local ball park. Carpenters are building another grandstand. Painters are about through with the outside of the fence. You should drive by and take a look. A lot of green paint sure has helped the appearance of things. The inside of grandstand, and the bleachers will be painted gray.

And some fellows are trying to sell the park association some floodlights. Maybe . . .

Paul Worrying About His Job

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, April 7 (AP)—Was it a coincidence that Paul Waner's announcement that he is ready to talk business with the Pirates came the day after young John Dickshot, his successor in right field, got five for five? . . . How's this for press agenting? . . . Bill Cobb, ballyhoo expert at Louisiana State, writes, "confidentially, we may have another great team down here next season." . . . Leading "rookies" on the St. Louis Browns are Lou Koupal, 37, and Sheriff Fred Blake, 38. . . . Gabby (Old Sarge) Street owns a dozen fine homes at Joplin, Mo., and isn't worrying which way the baseball winds blow. . . .

Nebraska doesn't like the way Creighton university is dipping into the Omaha high school football talent. . . . Hank Leiber, beaned by Bob Feller Sunday, still has a headache . . . . Incidentally, the only man to get a hit off Feller this spring is Douglas Dean, New Orleans infielder . . . . Dean is called "Donkey" by his teammates because of his big ears. . . . The heat must be terrible down at Clearwater. . . . Here's John Gorman, Brooklyn business manager, predicting a pennant in 1940 . . . Burleigh Grimes may find it will take more than fancy uniforms to disguise those Dodgers.

Larry (Moon) Mullins, former Notre Dame, now coaching at Loyola (New Orleans) is the first coach to introduce the Rockne system into a major school in Louisiana . . . . While in Germany for the Olympics, Archie San Romani, the runner, got a group letter from a hundred coeds at Kansas Teachers' college . . . Archie took time out to answer each gal individually. . . . Dave Tyler, Hartford high school star who holds the interscholastic 220-yard free-style swim record, is ticketed for Yale via Mercersburg academy. . . . The Indians already are picking the Giants to repeat in the National league.

What happened to bust up the friendship among Tony Lazzeri, Frank Crosetti and Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees? . . . One correspondent wires they scarcely speak off the field. . . . Tony and Frank stuck together. Joe goes it alone. . . . Last season they were inseparable.

Joe DiMaggio Scheduled To Sit On Bench; His Arm Is Injured

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, April 7 (AP)—According to Dr. Earl Painter, trainer of the New York Yankees, Joe DiMaggio may be on the bench for six or seven more games. DiMaggio strained his throwing arm by cutting loose with several hard heaves.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—The northbound Philadelphia Athletics stop off here today to play the Little Rock club of the Southern association.

GETS BAT BACK

ORLANDO, Fla. — Al Simmons, a newcomer to the Washington Senators' lineup, got his old good luck bat back today. He'd lost it on a Japanese exhibition tour in 1932. The bat was just found in a Tokyo dressing room.

COMPLETE SCHEDULE

LAKELAND, Fla. — Archie McKain and Jim Henry, likely starting pitchers for the Red Sox, will toil against the Newark Bears today when the Bostons complete their Florida exhibition schedule.

Real Match In Feature Bout Is Promised

There's variety on the wrestling card at Sled Allen's Auditorium tonight. The supporting card offers a couple of rough and rowdy matches, and the main event, featuring Yaqui Joe and George Bennett, promises a real wrestling match. Gorilla Pogi from the Argentine meets Ace Freeman from New York in the semi-final. Tex Hager, a newcomer, does preliminary duty against Rod Fenton, the Canadian terror.

Yaqui Joe was an irate Indian last week when he flew into a temper and squelched the scowling Fenton in the main event, but he probably has cooled down and will demonstrate his best business tonight with Bennett, who also is a wrestler who goes by the rules.

Which does not mean that it will be one of those slow, "strictly scientific" contests of strength and trickery. They are scientific wrestlers to be sure and clean scrappers, in their native or natural moods. Bennett learned his, or the fundamentals of it, under a great wrestling coach, then observed the professionals to finish out his education. He has improved on it by adding tricks of his own. One of his best holds is the Indian stake hold, or death lock, with which he probably will try to stake out Mr. Yaqui Joe tonight. The hold was quite effective, a sure winner when first introduced, but most grapplers have perfected a block and a break for it. Bennett uses it as well as, or better than, most of the grapplers who have been around. When he puts it on like he wants it, there's very little to do but give up.

Joe Learned "Hard Way"

Bennett has other tricks, he is fast and slippery, strong and flexible. He is fairly young, and nothing if not durable.

Yaqui Joe, on the other hand, learned his "scientific" wrestling the hard way. He had few teachers, yet he picked up the fundamentals and improved on them without becoming a "villain" in wrestling. His flying drop-toe hold is one of his more serious weapons. He flipped it on Rod Fenton last week, after beating Rod up considerably, to win. Like the stake hold, it goes awry at times and is not too difficult to break, unless applied just right.

The supporting card offers considerable promise. It is a bit different than the usual run because it (1) presents a new face, mounted on a chassis that is supposed to be quite some shakes, and (2) brings back old Gorilla Pogi, the wild bull of the Pampas, who appeared on the first pro card here.

Pogi doesn't build up a lot of close friends, because that isn't his line. He is anything but peaceful in the arena, and he puts on a show along with it. He gets Ace Freeman, active, durable little Hebrew from New York, in the special event, and it should be quite a row.

The stranger is Tex Hager. The promoter doesn't know a whole lot about him because he's new to this district. News reports about him, however, maintain that he knows his way around the ropes.

Hager meets a tough test tonight. If he's able to stay with Fenton, even for 20 minutes, he'll do as a supporting card wrestler in these parts.

First Lady Of Turf Is Bidding For Kentucky Derby This Year

(This is one of a series dealing with the outstanding Kentucky derby eligibles).

BY ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK, April 7 (AP)—Mrs. Ethel V. Mars, America's first lady of the turf, is bidding for the 63rd running of the Kentucky derby at Churchill Downs May 8 with a five-ply entry that boasts quality as well as numerical strength.

Heading the delegation from the Chicago sportswoman's Milky Way farm at Pulaski, Tenn., are Reaping Reward and Case Ace. The others include Murph, Jawbreaker, and Military.

The Real Threat

Reaping Reward is considered the stable's real threat, however.

He whipped Pompoon by a nose in the mile and 70 yards of the New England futurity and then came back a week later to take the mile of the Kentucky Jockey club stakes at the Downs. His earnings were $56,965.

"Reaping Reward is well advanced after training since Jan. 8," writes Trainer Bob McGarvey from Arlington Downs where the five eligibles are receiving their final preparation before moving on to the Downs. "His only drawback is that he isn't such a good mudder.

Case Ace Dangerous

"As for Case Ace, there's a horse that will be dangerous if he will go the mile and a quarter. He can run on wet or dry ground, pavement or anywhere else."

McGarvey is not so sure but that Military also will develop into a dangerous contender. He ran a good race in the Santa Anita derby and since then has been training soundly.

IT HELPED HIM FORGET

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — Max Hawkins let a business associate use his new automobile and it was destroyed by fire. He went to a movie to forget it, won $475 as a bank night award.

Littlefield Will Prove Threat In District Meet

LITTLEFIELD, April 7 (Special)—Unless signs go wrong, the Littlefield Wildcats, champions of Lamb county, will be a definite threat in the district track and field meet at Lubbock April 17.

In the Class A division, Littlefield scored 76 points; Amherst was next with 43 and Olton third with 22. Sudan made 7 points.

Spade won the Class B division, scoring 50 points. Springlake, with 37 1-2, was second; Fieldton with 9 1-2, third and Hart Camp was fourth.

Bryant, star of former Olton teams, tossed the shot 51 ft., ran the high hurdles in 16 seconds in a couple of special events at the county meet.

Winners in the Class A division and their records:

120-yard high hurdles, Smith of Olton, 17.4 seconds.

100-yard dash—Elms of Littlefield, 10.7 seconds.

880-yard run—Smith of Littlefield, 2:07 minutes.

220-yard low hurdles — Stephens of Amherst, 27.6 seconds.

440-yard dash—Carter of Littlefield, 54.5.

220-yard dash—Stephens of Amherst, 23.8.

One mile run—Burgett of Littlefield, 5:01 minutes.

Shot put—H. Rowe of Littlefield, 36 feet, 9 inches.

Javelin—Baize of Littlefield, 142 feet.

One mile relay — Amherst, 3:41 minutes.

Pole vault—Blanchard of Amherst, 10 feet.

Broad jump — Stephens of Amherst, 19 feet, 10 inches.

Discus throw—Burleson of Littlefield.

High jump—Morgan of Littlefield, 5 feet, 5 inches.

Officials were County Athletic Director Bill Sanders of Littlefield, Demp Cannon and Wickerman of Texas Tech college, Lubbock.

Others Are To Be Chosen In Near Future

BY BILL BONI

NEW YORK, April 7 (AP)—President George Jacobus of the Professional Golfers' association today named six members of the United States Ryder cup team which will meet the British at Southport, England, June 29 and 30.

Other eligible and hopeful candidates began tuning their strokes for the remaining links tests which will decide the winners of the four vacant places.

Those Given Posts

Definitely allotted posts on the American squad, in addition to non-playing Captain Walter Hagen, are Gene Sarazen, veteran of all five previous cup clashes; Denny Shute, P. G. A. champion; Tony Manero, U. S. open champion; Horton Smith, the putting paragon; Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta.

Jacobus announced their names after a conference with Ed Dudley, chairman of the P. G. A. tournament committee.

A new method will be employed in picking the four remaining team members. A group of at least 12 candidates will be named after the sectional qualifying rounds for the P. G. A. championship.

To Select Others

The four players of this group who compile the lowest averages during the 36-hole qualifying round for the P. G. A. at Pittsburgh, May 24 to 30, and the 72 holes of the National Open at Oakland Hills, Birmingham, Mich., June 10 to 12 then will fill the vacancies.

Of the six named today, only Smith and Picard have won neither an American nor a British national title. Both, however, had been consistent money-winners. The biggest money winner, Harry Cooper, is ineligible for the team since he is not a native American.

Manero Is Freshman

Manero will be a Ryder cup freshman. Picard and Revolta made their bows at Ridgewood two years ago, winning in foursomes and singles. Shute played in 1931 and 1933. Smith in 1929, 1933 and 1935.

Most prominent among the winter's top flight campaigners in the race for the four openings are Sam Snead, fourth in the cash winning list; Ralph Guldahl, winner of the Radix cup for low average score of 71.63 during 1936; Ed Dudley, Paul Runyan, Byron Nelson, recent winner of the Augusta national and Jimmy Hines.

The Americans will be shooting for their first victory on British soil. They lead in the series, 3-2, but precedent favors the home side.

Big Three Of Cardinals To Open The Coming Season

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., April 7 (AP)—Manager Frankie Frisch of the St. Louis Cardinals plans to start the 1937 National league season with the big three of the Cardinal pitching staff, he said today.

Dizzy Dean will be called on to pitch the opener, Lon Warneke the second game and Paul Dean the third, if the mound aces are not ailing.

The Cardinals will open the season at Cincinnati. The Reds will be their opponents in an exhibition game here today with Diz and Warneke scheduled to do the hurling.

Oakland Acorns To Receive Badly Needed Strength

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7 (AP) — Three badly needed players are on their way west from the New York Yankee baseball camp today to help pull the Oakland Acorns out of the Pacific coast league cellar.

They are Pitcher Jimmy Tobin, winner of 16 games for the Oaks last season; Outfielder "Chief" Ernie Koy, who batted .313 for Newark in 1936, including 21 home runs; and Catcher Bill Baker, who batted .297 with Newark.

Approximately 75 members of the Knights of Pythias representing many lodges of the Northwest Texas district were guests of the Lubbock organization at the lodge hall last night.

Judge I. C. Underwood of Marshall, grand chancellor, was main speaker for the program which began at 7 o'clock. Judging of man was the subject of his address.

Others Are Heard

Other speakers were: A. J. W. Schmid of El Paso, grand vice-chancellor, Frank E. Smith of Abilene, grand master-at-arms; and Theo. Yarbrough of Weatherford, grand keeper of records and seals. Glenn D. Chase of Plainview, district deputy grand chancellor, also spoke at the meeting.

Other district deputy grand chancellors who attended were: George E. Beard of San Angelo, Joe E. Childers of Abilene, Claude C. Christian of Paducah, and Sam Denny of Childress.

Initiation in the rank of page followed a supper. Principal speakers were introduced after the initiation.

Riley F. Hule, Russell S. Hardin, and Doctor G. H. Ater were in charge of arrangements.

The Lubbock chapter of the organization has made rapid growth in the last year, gaining first rank in the state in percentage of membership gain, said officials of the lodge.

Many other notable Pythians attended the district meeting last night.

Gwinn Henry Is Mentioned For Kansas Coach Post

KANSAS CITY, April 7 (AP)—The name of Gwinn Henry, already well known to the Big Six conference for his football coaching record at Missouri university, bobbed up today in discussions of the much-debated athletic directorship at the University of Kansas.

Henry, whose style of deceptive and speedy play developed championship teams at Missouri, has been recommended for the post by the recently created K. U. athletic board.

It must be acted on by the university's board of regents which failed to approve a previous recommendation of the athletic group.

The Kansas City Star said the regents will consider Henry's name at Topeka, Kas., today.

Routine Organization Held By Local School Board

Members of the city board of trustees began their "dull season" today after having completed the second and last of their major tasks of the spring with routine organization at a meeting in the office of Dr. J. T. Hutchinson at Lubbock sanitarium late Tuesday.

The first of the season's big jobs was performed last week when city teachers were reelected for the 1937-38 term.

Tuesday's meeting was held by statutory requirement, and within the space of a few minutes the board canvassed the returns of last Saturday's trustee election, declared R. F. Bayless, W. G. Alderson and E. Jack Parsons had been reelected, administered oaths of office as the three began new three-year terms, and then reelected present officers of the board. Dr. Hutchinson was chosen president for another year, W. B. Atkins vice-president and Bayless secretary.

Babe Herman Seeks Place On Cincinnati Red's Roster

LEESBURG, Fla., April 7 (AP)—Outfielder Floyd "Babe" Herman, National league veteran, sought the counsel of Manager Charles Dressen today in his effort to win a place on the roster of the Cincinnati Reds for 1937.

He got little consolation, Dressen informing Herman during a long distance telephone conversation to Glendale, Calif., that he must act on the contract submitted to him by Vice-President Warren C. Giles.

"You cannot expect to get the salary you drew last year," Dressen told Herman, in effect.

Priest Offers To Help Young Boy

DENVER, April 7 (AP)—A priest widely known for his work among boys, offered today to "make a man" of 15-year old Billy Meagher, Denver youth who confessed killing his father "because he made mother unhappy over another woman."

The priest, the Rev. Father E. J. Flanagan of Omaha, Neb., said he would appear in district court, when the youth goes on trial for murder, and ask for custody of the boy.

He came to Denver and investigated the case today, the Rev. Father Flanagan said, because he was "strangely impressed" by a letter the boy had written him asking help.

Billy, if convicted of murder at his trial would face a possible sentence of life imprisonment.

"The boy has many fine qualities," said the priest, founder of Father Flanagan's boys' home. "If the court will put him in my care, I know we can save him from a criminal career."

Old T-Bar Ranch Is Sold To Sheriff Of Gaines

SEMINOLE, April 7—Sheriff J. C. Sartin, who maintains a residence at Seagraves, has bought the old T-Bar ranch in the central part of the county from Marcus H. Snyder, brother of Fred Snyder of Lubbock. Mr. Snyder has been operating a horse ranch there.

The T-Bar includes two well improved sections and a lease on 40 more sections. Clive Sartin, son of the sheriff, has moved onto the place with the Sartin stock and is operating the outfit.

Mr. Sartin some time ago sold a ranch he owned near Lovington, N. M., and began seeking a new location. A. M. Malden, former Seagraves man, bought it.

Woman Claims Her Husband Married Her For Money

OAKLAND, Calif., April 7 (AP) — An annulment of her marriage to her fourth husband was obtained here by Lean Clampitt Sewell Kaley, one of the figures in the sensational Sewell-Emerson divorce case in Los Angeles two years ago.

She testified Charles R. B. Kaley, band leader, lived with her only one day and told her he married her merely for her money. They were married Dec. 6 after an airplane elopement to Las Vegas.

At the time of the Los Angeles divorce hearing, she was the wife of Barton Sewell, Beverly Hills sportsman and millionaire. Walter Emerson of Beverly Hills, named Sewell as co-respondent in his divorce action, and Mrs. Jane Scholtz Emerson named Mrs. Sewell as co-respondent. Both Emerson and Mrs. Sewell denied they were parties to any such "wife swapping" as was described in the testimony.

After the Emerson divorce, Sewell married Mrs. Emerson, and Mrs. Sewell married Kaley.

TRY THIS WAY TO QUICKLY RELIEVE ECZEMA ITCHING

If your skin is broken out with "fiery" or "weeping" eczema, you want to relieve the intolerable itching and burning as quickly as possible. Resinol Ointment does this and also combats the irritation caused by eczema—its oily base being ideal for penetrating the outer layers of the skin and securing deeper action.

Wash the affected parts with warm water and Resinol Soap. It is especially suited to tender skin—soaps containing too much alkali may irritate. After washing off scales and crusts, pat dry with a soft cloth. Do not rub.

Apply a thin layer of Resinol Ointment, letting it remain for several hours. Apply again liberally at bedtime leaving on all night. The longer Resinol is in contact with the skin, the more good it does.

Buy Resinol Soap and Ointment in any drug store. Sample free. Write Resinol, Dept. 16, Balto., Md.

The rippling rhythm of Dick Dickerson's orchestra adds a touch of the cosmopolite to Lubbock's downtown during the dinner period at Hotel Hilton. There the other night, The Plainsman noticed three of his favorite young men in the Dickerson ensemble: Vocalist C. A. There are no more gentlemanly, genuinely pleasant young men in these environs than those who make up that trio.

ACCORDING to a great many stiff-necked subjects of King George VI, Americans are a bunch of louts whose ignorance, superstition and coarseness are outstanding. We are to them, in short, several degrees in intelligence below the average, self-respecting Zulu.

That makes all the more ridiculous the latest superstition to rock upper circles of the dear old empire. Like many another, it has to do with the dire results which allegedly follow persons who dig up the remains of ancient Egyptians.

Yep, according to the latest information emanating from overseas, another ghostly Pharoah has been making trouble because inquisitive archeologists disturbed his bones. Sir Alexander Seton, of Edinburgh, Scotland, and his household are breathing more freely because a bit of bone is on its way back to the land of the pyramids.

Lady Seton, traveling in Egypt, found a little glass case enclosing a "genuine bit of bone from a tomb of Gizeh." She took the curio back to Scotland and the ghost trailed her.

Since then there have been such goings-on! A spectral figure goes about nights scaring visitors at Sir Alexander's country seat. Servants refuse to stay on the premises. Sudden illnesses of members of the family and all sorts of bad luck are charged up to the mischievous spook.

It is the best Egyptian relic story to come out of the British Isles since the opening of the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen in 1923. Tut's ghost got blamed for causing the death of several persons of note who were just onlookers when the tomb was violated. Of course some of the deaths were delayed a dozen years or so and various diseases including hardening of arteries were contributing causes.

But anyway, Sir Alexander Seton is taking no chances and the souvenir of his wife's Egyptian trips is on its way to a resting place in the land of the Pharoahs.

Positively ripping, eh wot?

ADOPTION of a radio code of ethics by the members of the Lubbock Ministerial association is something that has been needed here for some time and, we've no doubt, is needed in many another community where occasionally some pastor feels called upon to criticize, over the air waves, some other pastor or beliefs of another denomination.

Several times in recent months, KFYO listeners have been shocked and then disgusted upon hearing some man of the cloth tear into a colleague or another form of religion. Needless to say, radios were flipped off, or to another station, and the orator dropped considerably in the respect of many of his fellow-townsmen.

According to the new code, ministers will confine their radiorating to the preaching of the gospel as they see it, without bringing in the beliefs of others or without dealing in personalities.

That's the way it should be—and if there are any preachers here, either in or out of the ministers' organization, who decline to co-operate, the management of KFYO should cut them off whenever they violate the rules of propriety. Better still, before anyone is given the freedom of the airways, he should be called upon for his script, so it can be read and approved by KFYO officials before it is broadcast.

EVERY man has the right to his own beliefs. Every pastor should have the freedom of the air, after necessary financial arrangements have been made, to preach his own particular brand of gospel and theology.

But no man should have the right to use his radio time to the disparagement of another, or the religion of another.

If a pastor wants to raise hob with another pastor, or if he wants to belittle another belief, we suppose that is his affair. He has a pulpit to use at least until his church members grow weary of the practice.

Use of any radio station for that practice is to be condemned by all who believe in the freedom of religious worship.

'Eve's Orchard'

BY MARGARET WIDDEMER
Copyright, 19137, NEA Service, Inc.

SYNOPSIS: Eve Mannersfield goes back to her 200-year-old house and orchard in Connecticut after five working years in New York. She plans to rent, marry gay, slim Denny and return to Manhattan apartment life. But the tendency to stay in her beloved old home grows. Uncle Henry, an old family friend, moves in to help Eve run the place. Peter the penniless artist, his wife Marylin and their serious young son Judge, join the menage as boarders. Calm, practical George Cleveland loves Eve, but she thinks only of Denny.

Chapter 20
No Free Boarders

Judge gave a yell, hastily muffled, of small-boy laughter. Ellen, trimly wrapped in Eve's calico apron, her sleeves turned back, pulled Eve down into the empty chair. "Sh-hh!" she said. "We hoped we'd be able to get you out here, but we didn't know how. There are only enough chops and peas and pie for two, or at most three; so we got it up we'd eat out here—this being a supper, you see, but the others getting a dinner—and bring 'em in a tray."

"Grand!" Eve said without further discussion. She dropped down, with a passing hug to Judge and passed her plate for everything.

"And I made the cocoa!" Judge said with swelling pride, "But it's Uncle Henry's cow milk—"

"Now, son—" said Uncle Henry.

Judge squealed and said: "Oh, I forgot! But now she knows, can't I tell? Can't I tell?"

Uncle Henry looked at Judge with mild reproof. "You got to learn to keep other folks' secrets, son, if you're goin' to work round with me."

Judge was so sensitive, and one never knew what it would be about, that Eve was prepared to see the little boy, tired already by a long auto ride, flush up, or even nearly cry. But somehow he and Uncle Henry had established an understanding already. He was more like a real child than Eve had ever seen him, and accepted the words sensibly.

"I guess you're right," he said. "I just didn't think. But . . . you tell, then."

"Yes, confess all, Uncle Henry! Did you bring the cow over in your suitcase?"

Judge giggled again, and started to speak and put a hand over his mouth desperately.

"Well daughter, there isn't much to tell, except that I wasn't sure whether Bill Keeler would have got around to havin' old Belle butchered. I havin' no place to keep her when at Emily's. But you have a tight cowshed, and there's plenty pasturage. So Oliver and I just walked down and found out Belle was still in the land of the livin', and led her home. I tell you," said Uncle Henry gently, "I was right glad. I always liked old Belle. Guess I'll have time for churning. I mostly did it anyhow."

"And he says that when the summer people get here he can sell all the butter we don't use—and eggs—" chanted Judge. "Isn't it grand? I think he's very generous, because nobody said he was to!" he added, puzzled.

"I aim to pay my way here, son. Everybody has a right to pay their way."

Judge took a deep drink of cocoa, and thought hard for a moment. "You know something?" he finally said, looking solemnly round at them all, with a mustache of cream on his upper lip. "That's an idea I've always had myself. You and I must be very much alike, Uncle Henry."

"I guess we are, son," said Uncle Henry seriously. "I guess we are. Now if you've eaten all your skin will hold, which it looks like to me, do you want to take the tray in to your parents when Ellen gets it fixed?"

They sent Judge in, very careful and proud, with the first course, the canned soup Eve had bought for three people frugually the day before.

Crullers For Uncle Henry

She wanted to laugh. Now it was the cow! Belle would be a help, no doubt of that. But she was one more thing to be uprooted when the renters came! Well, it was no worse than the chickens, except that Uncle Henry would have his parting with her over again. . . .

"While they're eating the rest," Ellen told Eve, "Uncle Henry and I want to talk to you."

Uncle Henry said nothing. He merely went on with his salad; then he produced a box of crullers from behind the breadbox, and all three attacked them.

"Not as good as what your aunt used to make, Evelina," he said. "But I sort of felt like crullers, so I got 'em at the grocer's last night."

"I'll make you a batch," Eve promised recklessly. She wanted to make crullers for Uncle Henry, and give Judge a college education and endow Peter and Marylin for life and establish Ellen in a repertory theater; that was how she felt toward everybody, with the feel of Denny's arms around her still.

Uncle Henry's face brightened. "They do set better on the stomach," he admitted. But he took another commercial one, just the same; while Ellen resolutely began talking.

"We got you alone to make sure you didn't impulsively keep the Featherstones free," Ellen said sternly. "Uncle Henry's going to carry his end, I refuse to come near unless I can do it on a modest cash basis week-ends. We're about to have an understanding. All you have is your savings account. I think you were crazy to throw up your job just to come out and clean this house, but that's your party. You'll probably get another job or marry, but neither one is quite so sure as death and taxes."

"The Featherstones don't want to be kept free," Eve said meekly. "They only want me to carry them till their income is due, June first."

"Renters are mostly over one way or the other by May fifteenth," said Uncle Henry, as if they were a disease. "But that's six weeks, daughter."

"Come on then before Marylin goes to bed," said Ellen. "We'll come back and do the dishes afterwards."

Uncle Henry and all, they trooped out of the bright orderly kitchen and crossed the chilly hall to the old parlor. Peter and Marylin were just finishing their apple pie, with Judge curled on the hearth deep in an enormous, dampsmelling black book he had dug out of the attic—"Deeds of Daring of the American Soldier in the Civil War."

He had set the tray on an oval tip-table drawn from against the wall; Peter had brought in more wood for the fire. Marylin was propped up in the big armchair with cushions. Peter, his long legs wrapped around the legs of the upright Sheraton sidechair, his thinning untidy hair engagingly mussed over his forehead, sat across from her, watching her wants with his usual devotion.

"Just a scrap more coffee, sweetheart," he was suggesting, holding the little tarnished silver pot over her cup temptingly.

"Oh well, dear, I might as well be hung for a sheep—" Marylin said.

"Darling sheep!" said Peter, and leaned right across and kissed her as he filled her cup, then turned the pot upside down over his own. "Eve, somebody in this house makes swell coffee," he went on as they entered. "And is this a grand meal? The Featherstones feel like boa constrictors."

'Were You In The Civil War?'

Judge leaped up, clasping his book, and ran to Uncle Henry. "Uncle Henry, see what I found up garret! Uncle Henry, were you ever in the Civil war?"

"Well, no, son," said Uncle Henry, "but my grandfather was, and he told me some about it. Come over here by this other lamp in the back

LET THE JUSTICES KEEP ALOOF

While The Journal can understand full well that Supreme court justices, being human, resent implications of the President and his followers that they are doddering, inefficient and unfair, never-the-less we wish they would remain aloof from the controversy raging over the proposed reorganization of the judiciary.

Mr. Hughes' remarks, and then, later, additional statements by Mr. McReynolds, are not destined to do any good and they may do some harm. If the court is to become active in its own behalf, criticism heaped upon the Roosevelt reorganization wing for resorting to all sorts of political skulduggery cannot have their full force upon the average man who, we think, dislikes as much to see the justices on the firing line as he does the President and his jumping-jacks.

The court can best serve its own ends, and that of orderly, constitutional government, by going quietly and sagely about its business while the furore rages without.

To adopt an aggressive policy of entering into the wars would only weaken the court's position and, in the case of heated argument, might lend ammunition to those who would place the court, along with much of Congress, directly under the thumb of the White House.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Holywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, April 7—Short takes: A lot of eastern financiers have been seen around the screen colony lately. They may be here merely on routine business matters but there's talk that they plan to turn the tables on movie exhibitors by organizing the banks to have theater nights.

Some of the studio publicity offices have received letters from John Boettiger, a Seattle newspaper publisher, asking for more attractive girl pictures (that is, bathing suits and such) for publication. You may recall that, besides being a son-in-law of the President, Boettiger is a former executive of the Hays office.

Myrna Loy continues to be terribly embarrassed by the report which has been going around ever since she was glimpsed knitting tiny garments on the set of "After the Thin Man." She also knitted on them in the picture, and they afterward were given to an expectant friend.

Nevertheless, Miss Loy and William Powell will be shown as parents in the next Thin-Man flicker—for there is to be another, though the title isn't set. Perhaps "In the Wake of After the Thin Man."

Melvin Purvis, former uppercase G man, finally has decided to have a picture career, which will begin as a series of detective thrillers.

While waiting around Hollywood making up his mind, he solved his personal romantic mystery—he'll marry Janice Jarratt, America's most-photographed model, who won a contract with Universal. She'll retire.

Sleuth Purvis will not appear in pursuit of Mae West, who is known hereabout as Public Anatomy No. 1.

Like Girls, Like Ma

First came Olivia de Havilland, then her sister, Joan Fontaine. Now their mother, billed as "Meg Sheridan," is playing on a local stage in "Tovarich." This is Mrs. de Havilland's first professional work, although she studied under the great Sir Herbert Tree and taught her daughters how to act. Chances are she'll soon sign a screen contract.

Tola Birell and Wright Ludington, of the flying Ludingtons, are serious. So are Russell Gleason and Cynthia Hobart, and admit it.

Marlene Dietrich and Herbert Marshall are making a new twosome. What the colony needs is a book, kept up to date with daily supplements, titled "Who's Whose in Hollywood."

Can The Noise!

A thunderstorm over Burbank halted production at Warner Brothers the other day because the rumbling could be plainly heard even in the heavily insulated sound-stage buildings.

But the sound crews kept busy through the storm. They placed their microphones outdoors and recorded several minutes of rattling good thunder, the film of which will be filed in the studio's library of noises.

An actress named Sheila Fulton changed her name to Sheila Manners and was so known while she worked in westerns and went about with Ernst Lubitsch. Recently she changed it again, to Sheila Bromley, and has won two dramatic parts—in "Lady Be Careful" and "China Bandit." Now she has decided to try comedy, and is looking for still another name.

Practically Childless

John Qualen, screen papa of the Dionne Quins, has been demoted. In "Angel's Holiday," he has only one daughter—Jane Withers.

Hollywood's male dress extras are a standing army. They almost never sit down while waiting around the sets because sitting means spoiling creases in their trousers, and tailor bills mean cash. Each man must own and maintain his own wardrobe. One extra says he owns 26 suits and never has sat down in one of them except for the actual shooting of a scene.

* * *

All the executives' relatives employed by the studios have got good and tired of the jokes about them, and it's rumored that they'll organize and start a studio of their own.

Recent Supreme Court Decisions Served To Roil Judicial Waters, Dutcher Declares

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 7—The fact that both sides claim they have been helped, and that the judiciary issue has been clarified by the Supreme courts new minimum wage decision, doesn't really mean that this major development hasn't actually made the waters muddier.

Dutcher

In effect, one man has amended the constitution.

A few days ago the constitution, according to the only authoritative interpretation—that of the Supreme court—said states couldn't have minimum wage laws for women and children.

Now the constitution says such laws are permissible.

The difference is that Justice Owen J. Roberts, youngest member of the court, who voted no in the 5 to 4 decision against the New York minimum wage, now has given his support to Washington state's minimum wage law in a favorable 5 to 4 decision.

This ability of Roberts to switch from one side to the other on such an important issue makes him a very important man. He becomes even more important than the President, at such times, as he is able to say what shall and what shall not be the law of the land.

Hughes Omits One Fact

Chief Justice Hughes conspicuously omitted one fact when he undertook to explain how a court majority, such as was now approving the Washington law, had turned down the New York law last year. Last year, he said, the court had he'd that it could decide only whether the New York case was distinguishable from the Adkins case in 1923, in which a District of Columbia minimum wage law was killed and whether the state of New York had asked for a reconsideration of constitutional principles decided in the Adkins case.

The court decided that the state had not asked for such a reconsideration and hence wasn't entitled to it. (Hughes was a member of the four-man majority which stood for upholding the act.)

But last fall the states of New York and Illinois came back to assert that the court had been mistaken and they requested, emphatically, such a reconsideration in a petition for rehearing. The petition for rehearing begged that the court not permit the rights of millions of working women to be jeopardized and obscured by legal technicalities.

And the court refused to grant the rehearing. That was before President Roosevelt sent his sensational message to Congress asking for power to "pack" the court.

The opponents of the President's plan now say the court has proved it can function flexibly on issues of majo social-economic importance.

Administrationists say the decision helps them in their difficult task of convincing the country that t constitution isn't a fixed, immuta document which compels the cou to interpret it along hard and f rules. Also they say, the dissent the four most conservative justi has shown that "we must get th four men off."

Ends Bizarre Situation

It is at least a striking sidelig on the effect of Roberts' decision uphold the Washington law—wh means many other states also c have minimum wage laws—that ends a bizarre situation in whi although a majority of justices w had participated in minimum wa law decisions had found such la to be constitutional, the laws h been killed.

An Oregon law had been upho in 1917 because the court split 4 4 on it. The District of Columi law was invalidated by 5 to 3 a the New York law by 5 to 4. T combined box score on the three d cisions showed that ten justices h voted in favor of such legislati and seven against.

Counting the Washington st decision the quartet of Sutherla McReynolds, Butler and Van D vanter has stood solidly agai minimum wage laws in three su cessive decisions. But on the th and last occasion they couldn't a fifth man to go along with ther

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 7 (AP)—Cotton futures opened weak, 17 to 28 lower under heavy domestic and foreign liquidation, lower markets aboard. March 14.12; July 14.02; Oct. 13.50; Dec. 13.44; Jan. 13.37; March 13.56.

Rumors in New York of the possibility of [illegible] and London gold price, although change in the Washington, denied from liquidation. [illegible] counted for active interest [illegible] Liverpool and the continental heavy sellers here but attracted offers of about $1 a bale. Wall street and local buying to cause rallies of 9 to 17 points from the lows.

Liverpool also turned buyer here on the narrower differences but the undertone continued nervous, July which had recovered from 13.97 to 14.10 was selling at 14.06 after the first half hour when prices showed net losses of about 13 to 18 points.

The first weekly weather report of the season reported normal progress in seeding in eastern districts although cold weather was delaying seeding in the west. The monetary rumors, however, commanded attention and other factors were neglected.

Liverpool declined with easiness in other markets.

The market was barely steady later in the morning in the absence of a follow-up to early buying. Although trading became less active the market sagged under scattered liquidation as nervousness continued. July sold off from 14.10 to 14.01 and prices generally showed net loss of 18 to 20 points by midday. A private report estimated farmers intentions were to plant 10.6 per cent more land to cotton than last year. March domestic cotton consumption was estimated in the trade at 790,000 bales against 665,000 in February and 551,000 in March last year.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, April 7 (AP)—Cotton dropped a dollar a bale at the opening of the New Orleans market today in an extension of Tuesday's decline. The trade and speculators were selling freely.

Sharply lower cables from Liverpool touched off the drop.

May opened 19 points lower at 14.08, July was off 17 points at 13.95, while Dec. was an even dollar a bale lower at 13.51.

As overnight news presented nothing new the dip was attributed to profit taking and long liquidation. After the first sell off stop loss orders were uncovered and this helped to precipitate the decline.

Covering by shorts at the early lows and some buying in new crops by ring professionals appeared before the end of the first half hour. Trading was active.

For most of the morning the market held around a dollar a bale lower. While a little buying cropped out on the publication of the government's weekly weather report for the cotton but, it did not prove sufficient to lift prices much.

Options were trading quietly at net loss of 75 cents to $1 a bale at the mid-way mark in trading.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, April 7 (AP)—Led by steels, motors and coppers, stock market leaders today were routed for losses of 1 to 5 or more points.

At the height of the selling wave in the morning the ticket tape was 3 minutes in arrears. Activity slowed appreciably later and near the fourth hour extreme declines were shaded a bit.

Spurring the downfall was a sharp drop in major commodities, another decline in U. S. government securities and recurrent, but officially denied, rumors the treasury was considering lowering its buying price of gold as a means of keeping a boom from getting out of hand.

Settlement of the Chrysler strike failed to stimulate this issue which after a moderately delayed opening became one of the list's weak spots. There was talk of a union drive on other automotive sectors. General Motors backed away along with Electric Auto-Lite and Briggs Mfg. Auburn, on the other hand, pushed up a point or so. Reo Motors was resistant on reports a group of eastern capitalists had bought into this concern.

Auto Strike

es resume work, 20,000 workers in supply companies will return to their jobs.

Ward's automotive reports estimated today that Chrysler employes lost $9,000,000 in wages during the first four weeks of the strike, which now is in its fifth week. Ward's also estimated that the automobiles which normally would have been produced during that period would have sold for $60,000,000 at the factory.

Welfare Load Boosted

Added to that strike cost was a vast increase in the welfare load which probably approximated $1,000,000.

The settlement provided for further negotiations, to begin tomorrow, on such issues as seniority and methods of dealing with grievances. Today, Governor Murphy planned to bring together representatives of the U. A. W. A. and the Hudson Motor Car Co. and the Reo Motor Car Co. in separate conferences to seek a termination of strikes which have closed those plants.

Swindling Case

16,000 who had registered for the town lot drawing. She and her husband, her testimony continued, made the first of an installment plan of payment for title and deed on Baum's representations of value of the property. Thereupon, she related, she received an especially printed receipt taken, the state alleges, from a thick pad of similar instruments.

Another witness during the forenoon was T. J. Wages, farmer residing six miles northwest of Lubbock, who related that Baum had informed Mrs. Wages that she also was a "lucky winner" and that $35 was paid to the defendant for abstract and deed. The receipts Wages and Mr. and Mrs. Weems received and offered in evidence, each bore the notation that they were conditional upon stipulations printed in the back, in small type. Both Mrs. Weems and Mr. Wages quoted Baum as having mentioned that the drawn property was near a school site, near the town of Presidio and of his having referred to irrigation, oil and other mineral possibilities.

The county attorney sought to develop through witnesses that the property is desert, cactus studded, rugged, approximately three miles from the town of Presidio and without suggestion of improvements.

Indications at noon today when Judge J. J. Dillard recessed court were that most of the afternoon would be required to complete the testimony.

Statements By Pair Quoted

(Special To The Journal)

DICKENS, April 7—Contradicting statements attributed to Phillip Pair as to how his 20-year-old wife, Agnes, was fatally wounded in their home last October 3, reached the district court jury this morning before which the 25-year-old McAdoo community farmer is being tried on a charge of murder in connection with her death.

L. D. Ratliff, jr., county attorney and assisting in the prosecution, was the state's star witness of the forenoon, and read to the jury a statement purporting to have been made and signed by Pair two days after Mrs. Pair was killed by a shotgun charge through her breast. That statement quoted Pair as saying that he and his wife were scuffling playfully over the gun when the shot was fired.

Outside Of House

Ratliff's testimony followed previous statements quoting Pair as having said that he was outside the house when the fatal shot was fired.

Among other witnesses called by District Attorney Alton Chapman during the forenoon were Bill Kenney, undertaker and Dr. Bob Alexander, both of Spur, who described the death wound; Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Bromley of McAdoo, and Charles McLaughlin, former Dickens county judge.

During cross examination of the last three, the defense attempted to use them as character witnesses and each said that, so far as he knew, Pair's reputation was good.

To Conclude Testimony

The district attorney said during the noon recess that the prosecution's direct testimony might be completed during the late afternoon. Attorneys H. A. C. Brummett of Dickens and W. D. Wilson of Lubbock did not state whether the defendant will testify in his own behalf, although that has been indicated.

Six witnesses were called by the prosecution Tuesday afternoon, and through them the state struck at possible theories of defense.

M. T. "Lone Wolf" Gonzaullas, chief of the bureau of intelligence of the state department of public safety, gave testimony designed by the prosecution to show that the hammer of the shotgun with which Mrs. Pair was killed could not have been pulled back accidentally. That testimony, by the prosecution's admission, was aimed at the possible contention by Pair that the gun was in his hands, but that the shot which killed his wife was not fired intentionally.

Shotgun Shells Bought

Through the testimony of another witness, John Alexander, an oil man of McAdoo, the initial attempt to establish premeditation was made. Alexander said that shotgun shells similar to those found at the Pair home were bought from him by the defendant not more than one hour before the shooting. The state must prove premeditation beyond a reasonable doubt before a first degree murder conviction may be returned.

The district attorney also struck at the possible defense that Mrs. Pair herself inflicted the fatal wound, either accidentally or intentionally, through the testimony of Jim Williams, sheriff of Crosby county and a qualified finger print expert. He said that although 13 prints were found on the death weapon, none was that of Mrs. Pair and several were made by the farmer. The witness admitted, however, that several unidentifiable smudges were on the gun.

Sheriff Williams was called to the stand after two witnesses had quoted Pair as declaring soon after the tragedy that his wife had shot herself. One of those witnesses was Mrs. E. C. Robertson, a neighbor, to whom Pair made the first report of the tragedy. The other witness was District Attorney Chapman who took the stand to place in evidence a statement signed, but later repudiated, in which Pair related he heard a shot inside his home and rushed inside to find his wife fatally wounded.

tion of the reported landing of 10,000 Italian troops at Cadiz, Spain, as aid for insurgents on March 22, 23 and 24.

Meanwhile, northern Spanish insurgents led by General Emilio Mola fought fiercely in their drive toward Bilbao, forcing Basque defenders of strategic mountain passes along the Durango road, 16 miles from Bilbao, to retreat up the sides of Amboto peak.

Insurgents were said to have captured large ammunition supplies and to have found 876 government dead in one sector of the Durango fighting.

In the southern province of Cordoba, government troops repulsed insurgents in a bloody battle, and advanced within three and a half miles of Villaharta.

Could Cut Main Line

A short drive from Villaharta would enable the government soldiers to cut the insurgents main line of communication, the Cordoba-Penarroya road.

Government advices said 400 insurgents were killed at Mount Chimorra, in Cordoba province, captured by government troops.

At Valencia, the air ministry announced government planes bombarded two trains at insurgent-held Algeciras, in southernmost Spain. The government navy ministry also charged that German warships were helping insurgents in the Bay of Biscay.

Over the Basque capital of Bilbao, objective of the northern insurgent drive, a squadron of between 30 and 40 planes supplemented Mola's attack by bombing front line defenses of the city.

Water Pumpage In Lubbock Is Showing A Decline

Influence of recent rainfall and snow has resulted in less water pumpage at Lubbock, despite an increased number of consumers, records in the office of the city engineer, Marlin R. Smith, show.

Pumpage from March 1 to April 1 was 47,799,200 gallons, as compared with 45,797,200 gallons for February, but under the March, 1936, total of 52,951,100 gallons.

March and early April precipitation here last year was much lower than moisture total for that period this year, however.

All previous pumpage reports for 1937 had been higher than for corresponding months of 1936, records showed.

The lightest day in March was on the 14th, when 1,142,500 gallons was pumped, the heaviest day was March 20, with 2,094,100 gallons. The March average was 1,541,900 gallons, below the March, 1936, average of 1,768,900 gallons.

The latest memorial battle rages here. Patriotic societies have protested putting the names of President Roosevelt, Vice-President Garner, Governor Allred and other Texas office holders on a shaft to the heroes of San Jacinto—where Texas won her independence from Mexico in 1836.

The shaft—to cost $1,100,000 and to be the tallest in the nation—is under construction as a government project with the state board of control in charge. Daughters of the Republic of Texas and Sons of the Republic of Texas demanded of Chairman Claude D. Teer that all names of individuals be placed, if at all, inside and not outside the shaft. The patriotic groups called a mass meeting for tonight to further their fight.

parlor, and I'll show you the battles he was in."

Peter had brought in the lamp which Uncle Henry had filled and set on the dining-room table, and lighted it for the other end of the room, where he had been drawing for a little while, evidently before he had dinner. The old man and the child went off and opened the book on the table. Eve appreciated the delicacy that withdrew Uncle Henry from the discussion.

"I always said that what Judge needed was somebody who would appreciate his fine old republican virtues," said Marylin lazily. "I'll bet Uncle Henry will be telling Judgie his duty to the community in 10 minutes from now, and Judgie simply swelling with delight at learning it, won't you, darling child?"

Judge did not wriggle as usual when his mother was delightfully humorous about him.

"I guess so, Marylin," he said abstractedly, not hearing a word she said. "How do you pronounce Antietam, Uncle Henry?"

"Antietam, Oliver," said Uncle Henry, also unheeding. "It's an Indian name, likely."

"An Indian name. That's very interesting. You know most everything, don't you, Uncle Henry?"

"All through?" Eve asked, and on their assent lifted the tray.

"All through, and on the verge of going to our little white beds," said Marylin, yawning. "So far exile's grand, do you know, darling? It's going to do us both all the good in the world, aside from keeping you from going mad with solitude."

Peter patted his wife's hand. "She's a brave little lamb isn't she?" he said, smiling up at Eve proudly.

Ardrienne Ames Is Granted Divorce From Her Mate

LOS ANGELES, April 7 (AP)—The story of Adrienne Ames, screen actress, that her actor-husband, Bruce Cabot, drank to excess, threatened her, swore at her and broke furniture won her a divorce today.

It was the second divorce decree she obtained from Cabot in the last year.

She was given an interlocutory decree last July, but Cabot flew to her in New York and there was a reconciliation. Everything went well until last January when they separated again.

Sketchy But Distinct Stories Of War Days Are Remembered

By PAUL WHITE

Persistance of the capacity to retain and enlarge upon stories to which the mind has responded is particularly prevalent among Texas Technological college students concerning incidents that happened during the World War.

To the question, "What can you remember about the World War?" several 19-year-old students gave sketchy but distinct stories about the great war. Having been born in the period of the war, the history-making epoch had been so deeply impressed in their minds by gruesome stories that today, 20 years after the United States intervention, students now they know these things to have happened themselves.

Recall Economic Situation

Students whose ages range from 22 to 27 recall, without hesitancy, the economic situation during the struggle.

"Cornbread for breakfast—brown sugar—white Karo syrup to sweeten my breakfast food—meat, bread and potatoes. That was our bill of fare day in and day out. Realizing that white sugar would be prorated, my mother bought a 100-pound sack from a grocer who lived next door. A few days later government men began checking up and we had to part with the sugar. Yes, my stomach well remembers the World War," said a 27 year-old engineering student.

One boy who was born in 1910 described patriotic pictures in the home-town school. He told of the girls knitting mufflers, gloves and woolen caps for the boys overseas. He well remembered the gloves without forefingers so "the boys could shoot their guns." Recalling the saving of peach seeds and other fruit stones, he explained they were used in the making of gas masks.

"I can remember one lone star shining in my aunt's window to signify she had a boy 'over there.' And a letter one day saying he had been killed by a sniper in action. Shot between the eyes, he had been buried with his buddies in Belgium. I well remember the postman bringing that letter," a journalism student recalled.

"But when the boys came home—that is a scene that appears within irregularity. I was staking our cow when guns started firing at the railroad station. I ran there as fast as my legs would carry me. Upon arriving I found everyone there with all kinds of guns and shells lay all over the platform," he continued.

Humorous Incidents Recalled

In the interview most students could recall humorous incidents as well as tragic ones. One boy told of living in the St. Louis valley during the war when he was 4 years old.

"The United States had just entered the struggle and an international labor organization had men working the country trying to stir people to strike," he said. "I had heard so much about German spies that one day when a stranger came to our home to get some food I hurried into the next room and found my popgun. My intuition told me to protect my mother from those spies so I aimed my gun and told him if he was a German I would shoot him. Later my mother told me his face turned awfully red."

Of the younger students their answers to the question came in sketchy patterns.

"Airplanes—6 cents for an ice cream cone—wearing sandals in the hot field with blisters on my heels—my slater swallowing a pin—my rag doll—and the shouting at the signing of Armistice," a 22-year-old boy said.

ON TOUR OR IN TRAFFIC BE MERRY
WITH YOUR ENGINE OIL-PLATED

Laugh off your old worries about warm-weather engine oiling . . . because Oil-Plating is so terribly hard to rub off, scrape off or burn off. Here is one form of lubrication which is not a mere shifting temporary oil-film. For in addition to the normal moving type of film, vastly strengthened, Conoco Germ Processed oil forms a stationary Oil-Plating.

The explanation is that patented Germ Processing makes this oil really plant itself on bearings, shafts, and upright surfaces too, such as cylinder walls. Not even the good old Law of Gravity can make Oil-Plating drain down. It's always up there all the while your car is parked, or showing its heels in the open. None of that much-mentioned starting risk for you . . . No anxious eye on the heat indicator . . . Lots longer between drinks of oil, in your old or new car, with its engine lastingly Oil-Plated by Conoco Germ Processed oil. Continental Oil Company
