Archer County Deep Well Makes Second Flow To Assure 1,000 Barrel Output

COMMITTEE VOTES STERLING'S OIL BILL

East Meets West In Showdown Fight On Oil Proration Today

AUSTIN, March 23. (UP)—Austin hotel lobbies tonight resembled the crowded condition of political convention times as advocates and opponents of proration of East Texas oil production converged here for tomorrow's hearing of the Texas railroad commission.

Proration advocates were first into action with a meeting in progress tonight of the central proration committee, headed by Robert R. Penn of Dallas. This committee is to report to the commission tomorrow the probable oil market for the 90 days commencing April 1, when present proration orders expire.

These existing orders do not include the new East Texas oil field in Rusk and Gregg counties, though they do include the Van field.

Separate hearings have been called on state-wide proration and to consider if Gregg and Rusk counties shall be prorated.

Courts May Rule

Gov. Ross Sterling, former president of the Humble Oil company and an advocate of proration for the East Texas field, may attend tomorrow's hearing. Former Gov. Dan Moody will attend as counsel for the East Texans opposing proration. It is frankly admitted that an attempt to extend proration to them will result in an appeal to the courts.

The legal ground for contesting proration of the new field is that proration is possible under Texas law only for the purpose of preventing waste. Oil being produced in East Texas is finding a market and so long as it does is not being wasted, the East Texans contend. The price, Chairman C. V. Terrell of the state railroad commission contends, has no bearing on the state right to prorate.

Similar objections to proration were stated in an attempt of Danciger Oil & Refining company to enjoin an order for Panhandle proration. The company lost the first stage of the legal battle in district court but the Texas court of civil appeals, the Texas supreme court and possibly the U. S. supreme court have yet to rule.

East Texas Holds Center

So great is the interest in whether East Texas is to be prorated that the hearing on it has overshadowed the hearing on statewide proration. Present allowable production in the state is 645,000 barrels a day. The new field is estimated to have a billion barrels.

A side angle to the proration dispute will also be aired tomorrow when the Texas senate is to consider prohibiting the proration of "marginal wells." In oil terminology "marginal wells' are ones in which the margin between operation and income is so slight that they must be run at full tilt to be profitable at all. In deep fields, this has usually been conidered 50 barrels a day. In some shallow fields it is but a few barrels a day.

A political angle also crept into

JURORS PICKED IN HENRIETTA MURDER TRIAL

Doctor Charged in Death Of Former Wichita Matron

Special to The Record News.

HENRIETTA, Texas, March 23.—Nine jurors were selected in district court here Monday to try Dr. H. L. Reed, former national guard captain charged with murder in connection with the death last April of Mrs. R. D. Longley, young Wichita Falls matron. The 20-year old wife died a few days after an alleged illegal operation said to have been performed here on March 27.

Indicted by the grand jury last May, Dr. Reed obtained several continuances on the grounds of illness and the first testimony in the case is expected to be presented upon completion of the jury Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Longley, daughter of J. T. Watts, a resident of Blue Grove for many years, was living in Wichita Falls at the time of the alleged operation. Mr. Longley was away from home at the time of his wife's visit to Henrietta, according to the state's theory of the case. After her death a few days later, investigation led to the filing of murder charges against Dr. Reed.

County Attorney W. J. Glasgow and C. C. McDonald, Wichita Falls, are handling the case for the state. Dr. Reed will be defended by the firm of Loftin and Hall, Henrietta attorneys.

Jury Selected For Jean Bank Trial

Special to The Record News.

GRAHAM, Texas, March 23.—The slow work of selecting a jury to try Erwin Spicer, Abilene man charged with the burglary of the Jean State bank, March 12, got under way in the 30th district court Monday afternoon. The courtroom was thronged and questioning of the veniremen was prolonged.

Spicer was arrested in Abilene the morning after the safe at the bank had been cut open with an acetylene torch and looted of $17,000. Officers were summoned when Spicer was seen spending burned money.

Hunter Russell and Ikie Weatherred are also charged in the burglary.

Before the Spicer case was called Monday, Bert Lemons was convicted of forging a $36 check and sentenced to two years' imprisonment.

Murray's Tax Demands Delivered to Solons

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 23. (AP)—An executive message was sent to the Oklahoma legislature today asking passage of a measure revising gasoline tax collections and another that would place an income tax on corporations and individuals.

The message also attacked Harry H. Smith, secretary of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association, Tulsa, as "having the viewpoint of a lobbyist." Smith has appeared before legislative committees recently opposing the graduated income tax corporation bill.

ADDING MACHINES IN BUSINESS 4,000 YEARS AGO

EARLY inscriptions made in 2300 B. C. prove that the Babylonians had an extensive system of mathematics. The first device invented for addition purposes is known as the "pebble-board." This was a ruled surface upon which pebbles where shifted about to represent different sums. In China today, calculation is done by means of movable beds, which are slipped along rods, indicating, by their position, a definite quantity. It was not until the year 1641 that the first arithmetical machine, as we know it, was invented by Blaise Pascal, a French mathematician. PLAN TO FORM OIL-GAS BOARD SURVIVES TEST

Bob Long Leads Opposition To Measure Proposed By Governor

DELAY DEFEATED

Heavy Duties Now Resting On Rail Commission Pointed Out

AUSTIN, March 23. (AP)—Governor Sterling's bill to create an appointive state oil and gas conservation commission weathered its first test tonight when the house committee on oil, gas and mining, voted to give it a favorable report. The vote was 11 to 8.

Several members of the committee had expressed a desire to continue the hearing until later in the week to gather additional data.

The bill was attacked as useless by Representative Long of Wichita Falls, who criticized several members of the committee for their attitude because it was sponsored by Governor Sterling. Long challenged proponents to show any reason why a separate commission should be appointed for oil and gas conservation.

The fight for the bill was led by Representatives McDougald of Beaumont and Howsley of Albany. McDougald claimed the railroad commission now was weighed down with numerous duties and could not handle oil and gas conservation efficiently.

The bill would create a commission of three to be appointed by the governor for terms of six years.

Tax Provided

The discussion on the bill was entirely within the committee, no person not a member of the committee appearing for or against it. The bill would levy a tax on one-twentieth of one per cent of the present price of crude to support the commission and administer the laws.

McDougald stated the oil industry should not be made a side issue with the railroad commission and should not be forced to play "second fiddle," declaring the railroad commission should be concerned primarily with transportation problems and that it had its hands full handling these matters. He said he was not criticising the railroad commission for failure to adequately handle oil and gas matters but that they simply were "overworked."

Long charged the bill was a "brain child" of the major companies and designed to give them a further hold on the oil industry. "The chairman of the conservation commission would be known as the 'oil king' and the other two commissioners as the 'dukes'."

Commission Defended

The fiery Wichita Falls member also charged the main purpose of the bill was to prorate the East Texas field and declared that proration was all that was behind it. He said the railroad commission had not failed in its duties but that it was handicapped through the ac-

Radicals Demand Extra Session to Vote Dole

WASHINGTON, March 23. (INS)—Spokesmen for 10 militant radical organizations, led by Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for president in 1928, today demanded the Hoover administration summon congress into special session to enact a dole for relief of the unemployed.

The group, a sort of "left wing" of the Progressives, held a brief conference first in the office of Senator Frazier, Democrat, of North Dakota, then visited Senator Watson of Indiana, Republican leader of the senate, in a body with their demand for a special session.

Watson announced he was unalterably opposed to a special session and to the dole, but promised to present their request before President Hoover upon his return from his Caribbean cruise.

Collapse of Scaffold Hurls Trio to Death

POWELL RIVER, B. C., March 23, (INS)—Three men were hurled more than a hundred feet to instant death here today when a scaffold used in dismantling a smoke stack collapsed beneath them.

The men were Bruno Gobbo, Gieuseppe Morello and Giacomb Peloso.

Spanish Revolutionists Sentenced to Prison

MADRID, March 23. (UP)—Six Republican revolutionaries were sentenced today to serve six months and a day for their part in unsuccessful revolt at Jaca last year.

Various members of the supreme tribunal which tried them put in private pleas for complete exoneration of the accused.

Retired Naval Officer Ends Life With Shot

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23. (AP)—A note in the hands of authorities today revealed Lieut. Com. Emory Winship, 59, retired naval officer and San Francisco capitalist, killed himself here Saturday because he feared he was losing his mind.

Due to the faithfulness of a negro valet, the note was not discovered until yesterday. Winship gave the note to William Myreck, valet, to deliver to Fred Rasmussen, manager of a building Winship owned.

The multi-millionaire shot himself as his estranged wife, the former Dorothy Lamont Blount of Macon, Ga., mounted the steps of the apartment to obtain her personal belongings.

Tyler Pastors Fight Sunday Moving Pictures

TYLER, Texas, March 23. (AP)—Authorities here today expected to file complaints against owners of three Tyler theaters who opened their shows yesterday for Sunday shows for the first time. The openings aroused opposition from local churches, one pastor signing the complaints charging violation of the Sunday motion picture closing law. Tyler is one of the few East Texas cities in which theaters have not been open on Sundays.

Child Dies in Flames As 50 Make Escape

DETROIT, March 23. (AP)—A 10-year-old girl was burned to death and four persons were injured in a fire which swept a six-family flat today. More than 50 persons were forced out of the building, some fleeing down a rear stairway and others dropping from windows.

The girl killed was Harriet Malach, daughter of Isaac Malach, tenant on the third floor.

Free Garden Seed Given Oklahoma Indian Tribes

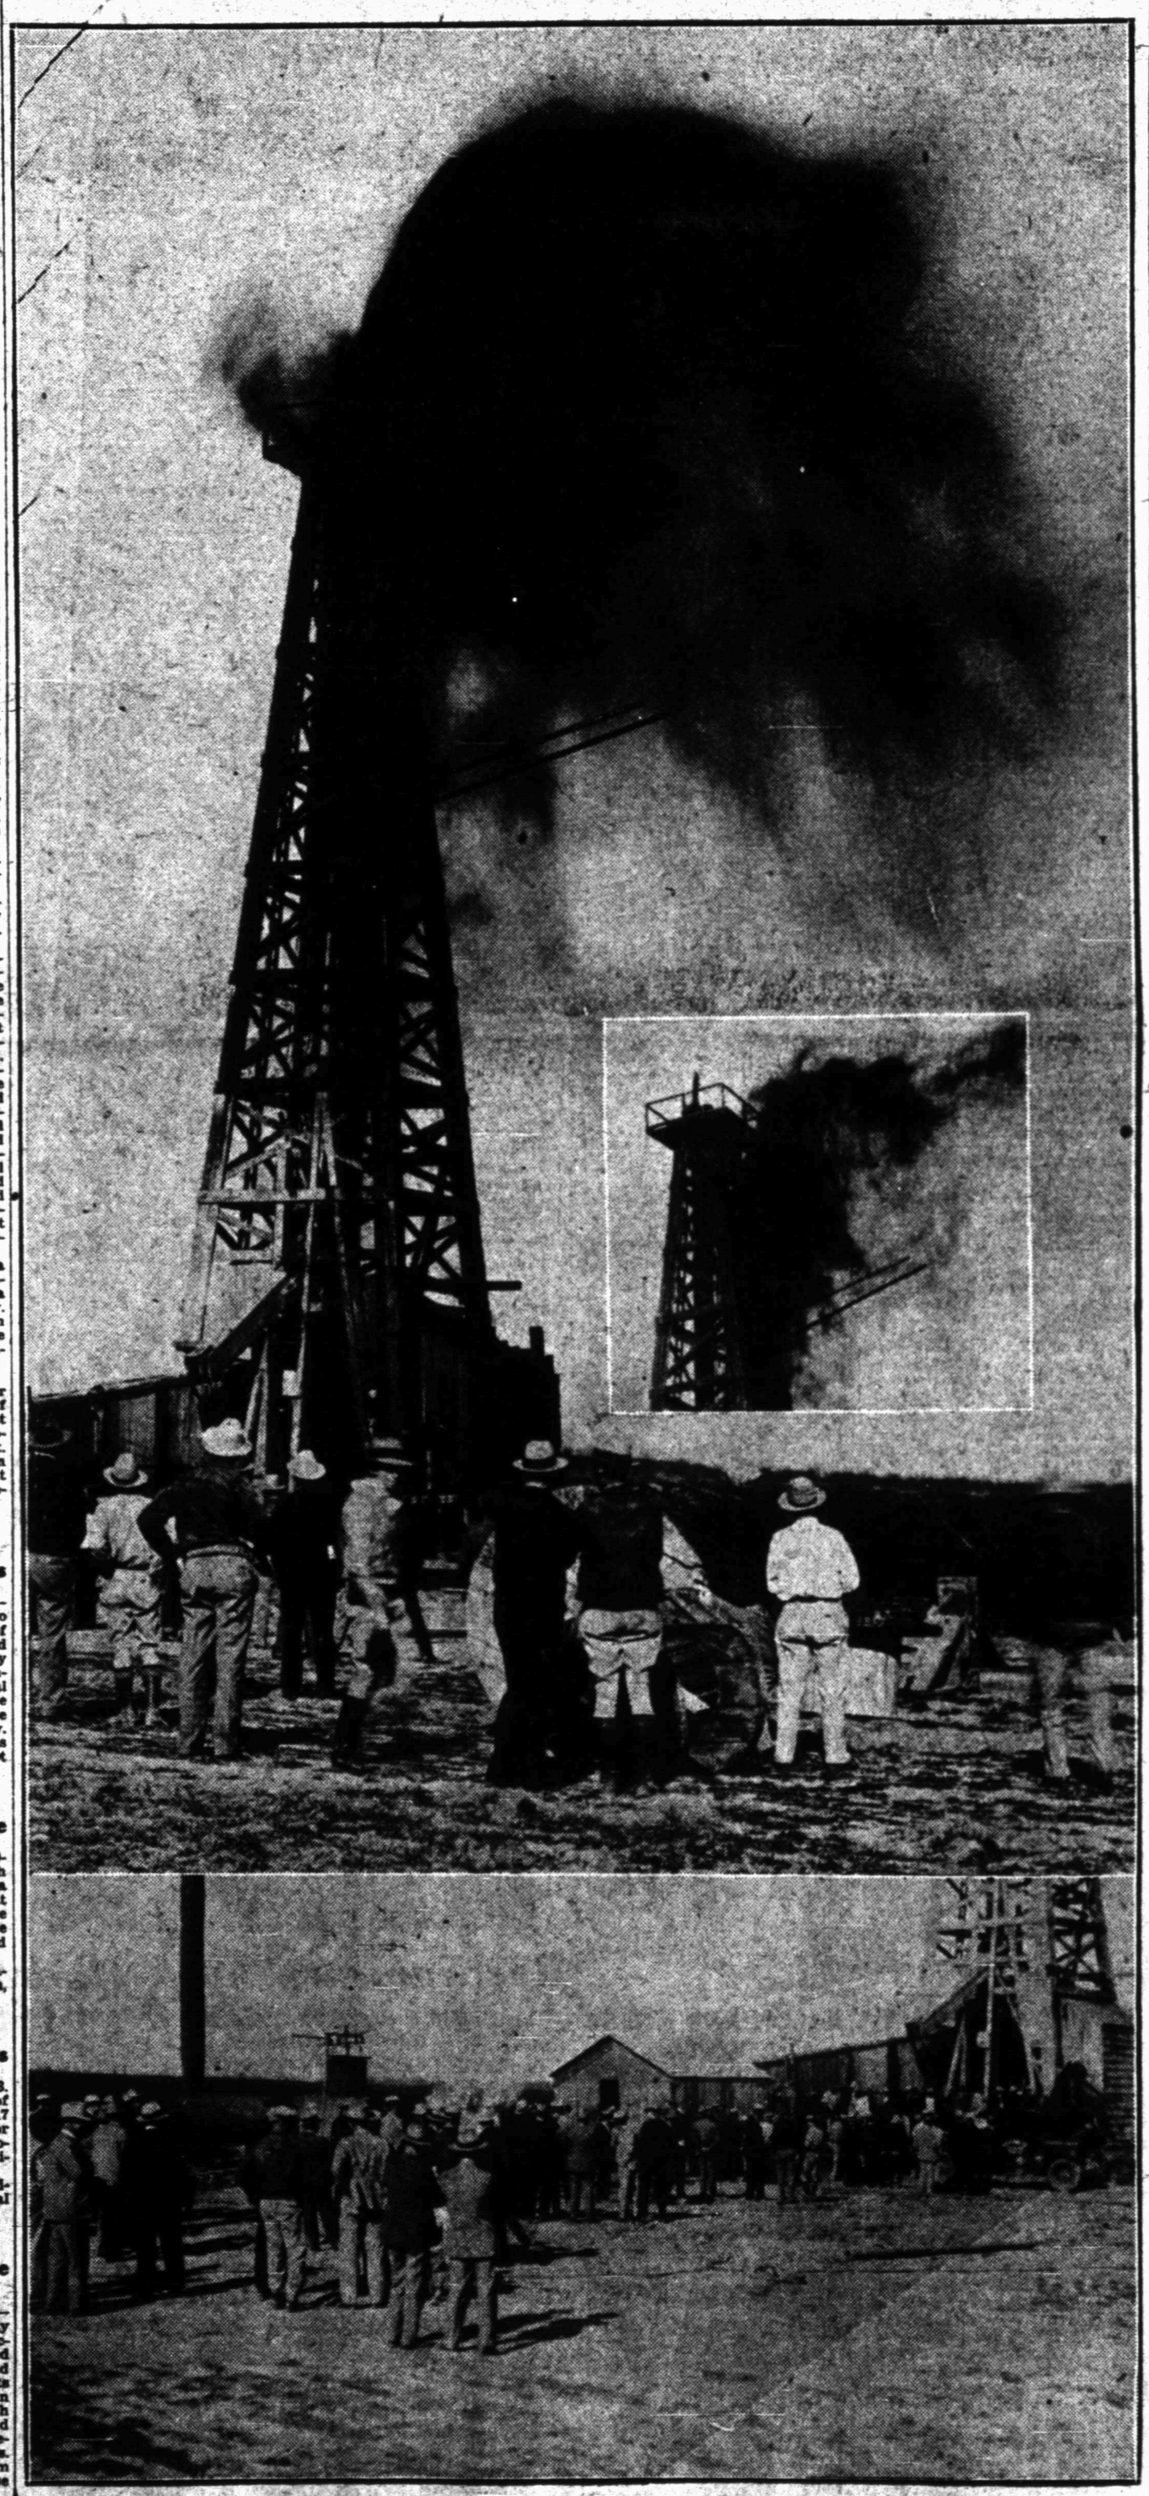

MUSKOGEE, Okla., March 23. (UP)—Approximately 10 tons of free garden seed were given the 17 field clerks and farm agents for the Five Civilized Tribes here today for distribution to 2,000 destitute restricted Indian families.

Three loads will be sent to Ardmore. Distribution will be general over Eastern Oklahoma.

Volunteers Check Fire In Home at Charlie

Special to The Record News.

CHARLIE, Texas, March 23.—Voluntary fire fighters probably saved most of Charlie from destruction today when they extinguished a blaze which a strong north wind threatened to spread to all parts of the town. The fire started in the E. S. Hammond home in north Charlie. The bucket brigade saved most of the house, the flames destroying the roof over two rooms. The fire started from sparks from a heater. Furnishings in the house were damaged.

EXCITED CROWD SEES TEST IN PROLIFIC FLOW

1,000 Visitors Jam Lease To Glimpse Producer In Real Action

DEEPER JOB PLANNED

Operators to Put Down 5,000-Foot 'Twin' To No. 1 Wilson

By JIMMIE MAXWELL

Flowing a solid stream of oil over the crown block of the 100-foot derrick for 5 minutes, rated at 125 barrels per minute, that drenched with a shower of high grade petroleum the wheat fields in all directions, the Deep Oil Development company-Lindsay Drilling company No. 1 L. F. Wilson in block 76, A. T. N. C. L. survey, four miles north of Archer City, late Monday afternoon went on record as Archer county's first deep oil producing well.

The well, which has become the sensation of North Texas, made its initial flow Sunday afternoon and in a 12-minute period shot a stream of oil accompanied by high gas pressure 250 feet across the slush pit.

1,000 Cheer Lustily

Approximately 1,000 visitors witnessed the well's performance Monday and were amply rewarded by the wonderful sight. When the well began its flow a mighty cheer went up from the 1,000 or more throats that resounded for miles around. Bankers, oil men, ranchers and representatives of several major companies, with the usual scouts at hand, joined in the demonstration.

The well is the first to be brought in from this new horizon at 2212 feet. Prior to the discovery of this pay, production in the county was limited to the depth of 1750 feet. Owners of numerous wells on the adjoining tracts to the Deep Oil company holdings, which heretofore were abandoned at a much lesser depth, will, it is expected, begin immediate plans for the deepening of these tracts in an effort to encounter the deep oil sand.

Second Test Planned

According to Harry Hines, general manager, another test will be started about 100 feet north of the discovery well. This will be drilled to a depth of 5000 feet. The purpose of this offset is to some extent to determine the exact thickness of the sand in the discovery well. Mr. Hines also stated a string of eight-inch pipe will be run to the top of the sand at 2212 feet to shut off 141 feet of open hole which may cave at any time. No further sand will be drilled as in its present condition the well is showing for 1,000 to 1,100 barrels.

Will C. Young, a firm believer for many years in a deep oil future for Archer county, will begin at once the deepening of his No. 1 Langford well in block 148, Harris sub-division, to the new depth. This test is about two and a quarter miles south of the discovery well and was abandoned some time ago as a failure at 1445 feet.

The bringing in of this well has had the effect of giving a more optimistic feeling among all classes in North Texas, and all it needs is some sort of improvement in the industry, and in a short period this portion of the state will again regain its old position as one of the most active oil areas in the country.

The Pictures—

The biggest thrill since the days of the great Burk boom.

That's what they said late Monday afternoon when the Deep Oil Development company's No. 1 L. F. Wilson shot a stream of oil from a 10-inch pipe over the top of its 100-foot derrick. At the left the picture shows just how it looked to a thousand or more Wichitans at the site of the well near Archer City.

The inset shows the stream of crude as it hit the crown-block, and below is a portion of the crowd grouped around the derrick before the big flow. The pictures were made for The Record News by Harold Story of the S. & S. Commercial studio.

FARM BOARD'S ACTION BRINGS WHEAT CRASH

Retirement From 1931 Crop Buying Rouses Storm

WASHINGTON, March 23. (UP)—A quick sequence of falling prices, criticisms and substitute suggestions resulted today from the federal farm board's announcement it would not support the 1931 wheat crop by buying.

Senator William E. Borah, Republican, Idaho, who has been criticising the farm board for some time, said the end of the stabilization program was inevitable since it "was leading to disaster." He said he would rather see the 200,000,000 bushels of government wheat ground into flour at government expense than kept as it is.

"If the farmer must face the market of 1931 without the aid of the government he at least ought to be permitted to face it without being embarrassed or handicapped by the government," he said.

Borah said it was too late to "talk about anything like systematic crop reduction" this year.

Stone Unmoved

Gloomy predictions of 50-cent wheat and heavy financial losses to growers and the government failed to have any apparent effect on the board's chairman, James C. Stone. Stone was his usual cheerful self as he walked into a press conference late in the day.

"Well," he said, smiling, "I can see you're just loaded with dynamite for me today."

Stone followed the market throughout the day, saw wheat prices break from 2 to 12 cents on the Chicago board of trade, and watched July wheat drop into the 50-cent class for the first time since 1895.

Stone denied a statement by Senator James Watson, Republican, Indiana, that the senator understood a third of the wheat purchased with federal funds had deteriorated until it was longer fit for human consumption.

Warns Farmers

He also denied the board's finances forced it to retire from the market. "We will have more than $100,000,000 from the $500,000,000 revolving fund that is uncommitted," he said.

"We made the announcement because we felt the farmers were entitled to the information before they begin their spring plantings, and in the hope it would reduce the planted acreage."

There was a feeling that the board's policy in wheat would be followed in cotton as well, although Stone declined to verify this interpretation. The cotton policy for the next crop has not been discussed, he said. Cotton futures declined on the market today after the break in wheat.

Watson suggested the equalization fee system of farm relief as "the only remedy" for the agricultural situation. This method was embodied in the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill which President Coolidge vetoed twice, in 1927 and 1928. It provides for exportation of surplus crops to maintain domestic levels.

Murray's Liquor Ring Charge Brings Probe Of Capitol Cafeteria

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 23. (UP)—Another investigation came into being today to dog the faltering steps of the 13th Oklahoma legislature.

While the state highway department remained under the eyes of a joint legislative committee, Gov. W. H. Murray decided all was not well with the capitol cafeteria where servants of the state enjoy their noon repast.

Charging that the cafeteria afforded a base for possible operations of a capitol "liquor ring," Murray sent a special message to the legislature asking the inquiry.

Liquor Permit Charged

The governor said after a two-day investigation he found operators had a permit to sell liquor and that prices charged for food were exorbitant.

The house promptly passed a resolution authorizing the investigation.

"It would be a very ugly story should it develop that officials whom I suspect from the evidence I have, really own the lease," Murray's message said.

The cafeteria lease is owned by the Davlew Operating company.

The governor recommended that the lease be cancelled and that the state assume operation.

Cement Inquiry

Senator Max Garvin, a member of the highway investigating committee, charged that cement companies were seeking to have Commissioner Lew Wentz removed from the commission.

The charge was made in a statement by Governor Murray that corporation lobbyists were striking at him over the shoulders of his two Democratic appointees on the commission.

"I was one of the first members of the senate who declared himself ready to remove Wentz to have harmony in the highway commission," Garvin said. "But after finding it is the cement companies rather than Murray who wish Wentz removed, I have changed my mind."

Contract Defended

Officials of the Oklahoma Portland Cement company of Ada who were awarded a private contract for 800,000 barrels of cement by Chairman Sam Hawks and Commissioner J. F. McKeel over Wentz' protest, appeared before the committee today.

"The clause protecting the state against reduction in cement prices was intentionally left out of the private contract because we quoted a price on most of the material below manufacturing cost and freight rate charges," M. O. Mathews, general manager of the company, testified.

The senate passed a bill providing for a free text book commission to oversee free text book matters. The vote was 23 to 11.

Speaker Carlton Weaver appointed a house committee to investigate the cafeteria with H. M. Cornutt, Osage county, as chairman.

tion of former Gov. Dan Moody in vetoing an appropriation to enable the commission to gather its data for proration.

Long predicted that unless the present method of proration was changed in the immediate future that proration would become a thing of the past and that in its present state it was unjust and unequitable, the major companies dictating the amount of oil that could be produced in a given area.

"I've no more confidence in the governor because he happens to be governor, than I have in Old Man Spivans," Representative Long said.

"The reason why the railroad commission hasn't been able to do everything necessary is that high-powered Dan Moody vetoed the appropriation to carry out the common purchaser law.

"A bunch in Wichita county said they were for this bill, but I think they backed down.

"This bill means proration for East Texas, nothing else.

"I think President Hoover has a hand in this. Herb and Old Andy Mellon told Texas 'We don't give you anything up here until you prorate East Texas,' and when Herb crooked his thumb Ross came running.

"Besides, I think in the next three or four days you will find proration and the common purchaser law put into effect, as a result of this hearing starting Tuesday."

Seven Hurt as Cars Crash Near Electra

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, March 23.—Seven people were injured, two seriously, in an automobile crash which sent two automobiles hurtling through the air 12 miles east of Electra, near the Burnett ranch about 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. One of the cars, containing five passengers, crashed into a tree with such force as to tear the top completely off the machine.

The injured are: J. T. Davis, both legs broken and deep cuts; Mrs. J. T. Davis, severe scalp cut with possible skull fracture; Mrs. W. P. Melton, broken arm, ribs and bad head cut; Charlie Turner, deep cuts on head and face; Mrs. J. M. Bolen, slight cuts to knee and foot; Mrs. D. K. Campbell, wrenched back; Mrs. Lillian Gilmore, sprained hand.

All the victims were residents of Electra. The accident occurred when the two cars, both moving toward Wichita Falls, attempted to pass on the highway. Wheels locked, one machine was shunted against a tree; both overturned.

County Highway Patrolman C. L. Bradford and Noah Daves were the first to arrive at the scene. They administered first aid to the more seriously injured and summoned a Totten brothers ambulance. Mr. and Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Melton and Charlie Turner were taken to the hospital where they were resting quietly Monday night. The other three were dismissed after emergency treatment.

Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Gilmore were driving together in one of the cars.

Junior C.-C. to Repeat All-Night Radio Bill

Duplication of the all-night broadcast Saturday over KGKO sponsored by the Junior chamber of commerce will be made from time to time during the year, Paul Hines, radio chairman, said Monday. Distant towns of the nation were reached by the radio station here during the program, Mr. Hines said, and communications still are being received.

EAST TEXAS OIL BATTLE OPENS

Oil Men Gather at Austin For Hearing

the oil tangle. The elected Texas railroad commission supervises oil and gas through a division.

Delay Seen

Gov. Ross Sterling has advocated an appointed oil and gas commission. A house committee hearing on the bill advocated by the governor was in progress tonight.

One view tonight was that East Texas proration will not be ordered at once. Some believe any order will be deferred until there has been a session of the eight states oil conference, in which California, New Mexico, Louisiana, Arkansas, Kansas, Wyoming and Oklahoma are being invited by the Texas legislature to participate.

It differs from a recent interstate conference at Texarkana in having the state oil commissions, attorneys general and legislatures represented as well as the governors.

EAST TEXANS TO ATTEND HEARING

TYLER, Texas, March 23. (AP)—Groups of East Texans described by one of their leaders as "a little band of independent oil men, horny-handed farmers, merchants, and country bankers who feel that they have a perfect right to attend a hearing ordered by the men they helped elect" today boarded a special train and set out for Austin to oppose proration of their oil fields before the railroad commission Tuesday.

Originating at Longview, the train picked up coaches at Gladewater, Kilgore, Overton, Arp, Troup and likewise carried delegations from Tyler, Henderson and other points. The anti-proration battalion received a rousing send-off at every stop made by the train.

Carl Estes, Tyler editor and leader of the anti-proration forces, issued a final statement of the eve of the hearing, indicating that the East Texans might take their case to court in the event of an unfavorable ruling by the commission.

"Until Tuesday," Estes said, "we remain in suspense as far as the railroad commission is concerned; but in the event that honorable body rules against us we may take our case into the courtroom, where in our opinion it rightfully belongs.

"When the special train pulls into Austin no political pilgrims such as Chairman Terrell referred to in press dispatches Monday will be on it. There will not be as many of us as there would have been had not Chairman Terrell's statement inferred that our farmers would not be allowed to speak out in their simple manner, as our forces boast no technical experts."

NACOGDOCHES TO FIGHT OIL CURB

NACOGDOCHES, Texas, March 23. (AP)—Plans to ask immediate injunction against proration of oil in this district if the railroad commission decides in favor of such a step at Austin tomorrow were perfected tonight at a meeting of Nacogdoches county residents. H. H. Peabody was chosen to head the group asking the injunction.

F. M. Adams and Ralph McAllister, attorneys, were named to draft the petition, which will be filed in third district court before Judge C. E. Brazile if the railroad commission act unfavorably. Court now is in session.

MARSHALL VOTES AGAINST PRORATION

MARSHALL, Texas, March 23. (AP)—By a vote of 11-7 a committee representing the chamber of commerce and the Lions, Kiwanis and Rotary clubs decided today to oppose proration of the East Texas oil field before the railroad commission at Austin Monday.

Bryan Blalock, representing a client at the hearing, was authorized to cast a vote for Marshall against proration.

Embattled Communist Claims Three Victims

FORT FRANCES, Ont., March 23. Usciski stolidly walked 14 miles to Pinewood and surrendered to the Canadian national railway station agent.

5,000 Texas Farmers Get $877,299 in Loans

FORT WORTH, March 23. (AP)—More than 5,000 Texas farmers have received loans totalling $877,299 from the St. Louis federal farmers' seed loan office, T. Weed Harvey, director, said today.

Harvey, who is assistant chief of extension work in the United States department of agriculture, paid a brief visit to the office today to confer with O. S. Fisher, administrative officer in charge.

These loans to Texas farmers were made before the office here was opened, Harvey explained, and all supplementary loans on these same applications have to be handled by the St. Louis branch because legal papers pertaining to the applicants are filed in that office.

All new loans are handled by the Fort Worth office.

ATWELL HEARS LIQUOR CASES

24 Charges Disposed of In First Day's Grind

Liquor charges against 24 persons were disposed of Monday by Judge William H. Atwell in the first day of the March term of the federal district court for the northern district of Texas.

Of the two-dozen alleged offenders arraigned Monday on charges of having violated the national prohibition laws, 21 entered pleas of guilty. Jury trials followed pleas of not guilty entered by the remaining trio.

Couple Warned

Cognizance was taken by the court of destitute circumstances described by various of the defendants. One such defendant was fined $1, and a young married couple were assessed 25 cents each with the admonition "never to be brought before this court again." Such leniency did not imply a lack of severity toward other alleged offenders, however. The heaviest penalty imposed during the day was assessed upon J. M. Brewer, apparently a mere youth, who was sentenced to pay a fine of $400, serve 30 days in jail, and forfeit his car.

Sentimental objection to impartial and effective enforcement of law was deplored by Judge Atwell in his charge to the 20 grand jurymen impaneled at the opening of court at 10 o'clock Monday morning. The time has come, he declared, to think of law as designed for the protection of those who are not criminals, rather than primarily for the punishment of those who are criminals.

W. L. Andrews, rancher and business man of Archer City, was appointed foreman of the grand jury, whose members had been qualified by Mrs. Sarah Menezes, assistant district attorney. A petit jury consisting of 32 men also was impaneled by Judge Atwell before the civil and equity docket was called for settings of cases.

Convictions in the liquor cases called Monday for prosecution by E. Crippen, assistant district attorney, were as follows:

On pleas of guilty, J. P. Bimrod, alias John Bimrod, 30 days; Mrs. Julia Cantrell, $100 fine; Mrs. Bertha King, $1 fine; Willis Bartley, 30 days; W. H. McBride, $125 fine; Cordie McBride, case dismissed; J. P. Bimrod, $150 fine; Mrs. Clara Pearl Bimrod, dismissed; C. G. King and Opal King, 25 cents fine each; Vice Ivey, $350 fine, and B. F. Stivers, $75 fine.

Lloyd R. Burton, possession, 10 days in jail; J. C. Banner, possession, $175 fine; Charley Harris, possession, $200 fine; W. L. George, possession, $100 fine; G. E. Malone, possession and transportation, $100 fine and car forfeited; Lowell J. Overall, possession and transportation, $100 fine and car forfeited; J. M. Brewer, possession and transportation, two cases, $400 fine, 30 days in jail, and car forfeited; Alfred Watts, possession and transportation, $100 fine, 30 days in jail, and car forfeited; L. Frank Ammons, possession and transportation, $25 fine and car forfeited.

Class Visits Court

Pleading not guilty to charges of possession of liquor and maintaining a common nuisance, Claude Caviness and T. R. Bowling were tried before a jury. A verdict returned in about 30 minutes after conclusion of the hearing imposed a fine of $125 and 30 days in jail upon Caviness, and placed Bowling's punishment at a fine of $125. Matt Lindemann, charged with possession of liquor in connection with his alleged possession of property in Clay county on which a 100-gallon still was located, was acquitted in a jury trial. He was represented by Robert Crain.

Members of the civics classes of the Junior college were in attendance at the morning session of the court, in charge of Miss Lorena Friend, member of the college faculty.

Marshal S. L. Gross has as deputies for the court term here Douglas Campbell, Fort Worth; E. R. Goss, Dallas; J. T. Bentley, J. T. Ritchie and Tom Ball, all of Wichita Falls; T. S. Christian of Ringgold, and Miss Katherine Whyte of Dallas.

'Black Phantom' Suspect Nabbed

A negro, armed with a .45 caliber army revolver and believed to be one of a pair of black bandits who have conducted a number of hijackings here in the past 10 days, was arrested late Monday night by Sheriff Perry Browning and Deputy Pat Allen.

Victims of numerous robberies will view the negro Tuesday in an attempt to identify him as one of the two who have nightly hijacked other negroes, Sheriff Browning said.

The negro, who was arrested as he emerged from an alley near the Memorial auditorium, had been under observation by members of the sheriff's department for some hours.

CHILDREN SHOULD HAVE WHOLESOME DESSERTS DAILY

Puddings and Custards Essential for Maintaining Correct Weight

Puddings made of rice, tapioca or cornstarch; custards and ice cream are appropriate desserts for the development of the growing child who is underweight. Such a dessert not only supplements the other food in the meal but causes the child to leave the table satisfied.

The part sugar plays in making these desserts appealing should be considered in relation to other foods. Those which are carriers of vitamins, minerals and roughage can be made as inviting as desserts by the use of sugar as a flavor. Cabbage, onions, cauliflower, turnips, tomatoes, peas and other vegetables—canned or fresh—are much improved in appetizing qualities when seasoned with a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt. Likewise sugar is ideal on fruits and cereals.

Doctors and dietitians approve this use of sugar. For, when the flavor of a food is inviting to the taste, the flow of gastric juices is increased, thus aiding digestion. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

YOUTH'S DEATH OPENS INQUIRY

Note Left in Hospital Hints At Abduction

EL PASO, Texas, March 23. (INS)—El Paso police today wired Chicago authorities to intercept the body of George Orstrom, 22, who died here yesterday, and hold it for a possible postmortem examination.

The request was made as authorities became more and more puzzled about circumstances surrounding Orstrom's death, his possible knowledge of the Virginia Brooks abduction and murder case and a strange death-note found by his bed.

Orstrom was taken from a Chicago-bound bus when he complained of feeling ill. He died within a few hours at a hospital here and doctors attributed his death to natural causes. For that reason, no inquest was held.

When his body was removed from the hospital cot, a note saying "I feel honor bound to tell all I know about the abduction," was found by nurses.

It was presumed the note was written by Orstrom shortly before his death and was meant to attract doctors or nurses.

Police do not know what abduction he referred to, but regard it as a possible clue in the Brooks case, since Ostrom boarded the bus at Los Angeles.

The note was scribbled on the back of stationery bearing the name of Frank Johnson, 6068 Tyron avenue, Van Nuys, Calif.

Legion Leaders Visit Stamford

Special to The Record News.

STAMFORD, Texas, March 23.—R. O. Whiteaker, department adjutant of the American Legion of Texas, accompanied by Mrs. Whiteaker and Mrs. F. H. Carpenter, department president of the American Legion auxiliary, were in Stamford Monday night for the regular meeting of the Vernon D. Hart Post No. 100 and the local auxiliary, which met in a joint session.

Mr. Whiteaker made this visit in appreciation of the cooperation of the post's splendid service to the state department and its excellent percentage of Legion membership. Mrs. Carpenter came in interest of the auxiliary.

An informal reception was held at the hall following the business meeting, honoring the visitors and other guests from Rule, Sagerton, Luederz, Haskell, Hamlin and other surrounding towns.

The Stamford post raised $190, from its membership at the meeting last Monday to pay a note on the building.

Fourth Counterfeit Suspect Is Sought

VICTORIA, Texas, March 23. (AP)—As a result of information obtained after the arrest of three Victoria men, federal authorities today sought a fourth man believed to have organized a counterfeiting ring and to have supplied the material and training for operations of what was believed to be an extensive plot.

When arraigned today before U. S. Commissioner H. L. Weigang, Mauro Sanchez, 30, farmer; Henry Saenz, 21, and Celso Saenz, 19, pleaded guilty to three counterfeiting charges. Celso Saenz was released on his own recognisance. The other two were remanded to jail in default of $1,000 bonds each.

Sanchez was arrested Saturday night and the Saenz brothers yesterday.

The federal officers said they had seized plaster moulds allegedly designed for making nickels, dimes, quarters and half dollars, broken moulds and a quantity of spurious coins, as well as more than 100 pounds of alloy metal.

Colorful Pageant To End Stamford Easter Services

Special to The Record News.

STAMFORD, Texas, March 20.—Closing with a colorful pageant, "The River Tomb," at St. John's Methodist church on April 5 services will be held during the coming week which will be of especial interest. The pastor, Rev. W. G. Fletcher, has visited in Jerusalem and is familiar with the places where occurred the incidents of the week in the Holy City which culminated in the crucifixion and resurrection of the Lord.

On Sunday morning, March 29, the service will be about the "Triumphal Entry." In the evening, "Jesus in Gethsemane." Monday evening, "Jesus Under Arrest"; Tuesday evening, "Jesus Before Pilate"; Wednesday evening, "Behold the Man"; Thursday evening, "The Bitter Cup"; Friday evening, "The Crucifixion"; Sunday morning, "The Risen Lord," and Sunday evening, the pageant.

Covering the town by 70 laymen going forth on each evening, this church is starting a series of evangelistic meetings. Supper will be served to the 70 laymen at the church before they go out to accomplish specific evangelistic tasks, Rev. Mr. Fletcher states. The workers are enlisted by the board of stewards and suppers will be served by women of the church.

AGAIN KONJOLA WINS TRIUMPHS

See How This Medicine of 29 Ingredients Works When Put To the Test

A medicine must have merit when seven million bottles are used in two years. Well, that is Konjola's record. Results are what count, and Konjola can be counted on for results. Take, as a typical case of Konjola at work, the happy experience of Mrs. Clara Binz, route six, San Antonio. Read her grateful words: "I had rheumatism in my right arm for seven years. Agonizing pains accompanied every attempt to use my arm. Gas bothered me after every meal, and I lost weight. I tried many medicines, but got no results until I tried Konjola. In three weeks rheumatism was conquered. My appetite is fine and I am gaining weight."

Mrs. Clara Binz

And see what Konjola did for Mr. Joe Gonzales, 90 Eighteenth street, Galveston. "Rheumatism and kidney trouble kept me in misery for eight years. The pain was frightful, and at times I could not close my hands. Again, I could not walk. How I wish I had taken Konjola sooner. Results have been wonderful; I feel like a new person."

Mr. Joe Gonsales

Mrs. Dorothy Brafford

And can anyone wonder that Mrs. Dorothy Brafford, 512 West Magnolia street, San Antonio is enthusiastic over Konjola! Think over her words: "I suffered long with nervous indigestion and stomach pains. Gas formed, no matter what I ate, and I often suffered terribly for hours after meals. Just three weeks on Konjola, and now I can eat anything. Konjola is truly wonderful."

So it goes whenever Konjola is given a chance to prove its merits and its worth. Konjola is for the aged or the infant; for all the family. Get Konjola at any drug store, and do not accept a substitute.—Adv.

DREISER CALLS AFFAIR CLOSED

Writer Says He and Lewis Are Good Friends

KANSAS CITY, March 23. (AP)—Theodore Dreiser has turned from the role of "the man who slapped Sinclair Lewis."

The author of "An American Tragedy," here last night, renounced any intentions of further combat with the red-headed Nobel prize winner and said he was "really a good fellow."

Referring to his slapping of Lewis at a gathering of New York literati Thursday night, Dreiser said:

"I couldn't sit there and swallow his insults. I don't like being cursed and accused of plagerism. I've answered that charge enough."

Asked if Lewis didn't turn the other cheek to receive the second blow, the novelist commented that, "if I remember rightly it was the same cheek I slapped both times."

"But that affair is closed," he said. "Lewis has a reputation for being offensive. I like Lewis and I believe Lewis likes me."

Extortion Trial Set for April 7

LAREDO, Texas, March 23. (AP)—District Attorney John A. Valls said today that Charles Schwartz, alias Victor Miller, would be brought to trial in district court April 7, unless released by habeas corpus, which the defense counsel planned to seek in the federal court at San Antonio.

Schwartz was indicted March 19 by a Webb county grand jury on charges of conspiracy to commit a felony in another state—Louisiana—as a result of the alleged extortion of $50,000 from Joseph Rosenblum, Laredo onion buyer, in New Orleans in 1929. A plea for a writ of habeas corpus was overruled by the district court Saturday. Schwartz was remanded to the custody of the sheriff.

WHEN YOU LIGHT THE BURNER of your gas appliance and the flame springs to life instantly, you see results--comfort--convenience--not causes.

Seldom, if ever, do you see the Service agencies that make this ideal fuel supply possible. Pipe lines, gas compressor stations, gas wells and manpower, Service!--the combination of efforts that brings natural gas to your burner and which plays a major part in the cost of your fuel supply.

The average price of gas at the well is six cents per 1,000 cubic feet while the average price of NATURAL GAS SERVICE delivered to the customer's burner for domestic and industrial purposes is 45 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. The former is fuel, the latter, a fuel Service that provides heat at the burner automatically, when and as you want it, without ashes, smoke, or soot, or the need for extra labor or storage. Back of the flame of your burner stands the Service of your gas company with its skilled employees and its facilities for delivering the gas. Service must be maintained! Service is what you are paying for!

The fact that your gas company must maintain the year round, at great expense, pipe line and compressor capacity equal to the coldest day of the year--even though this peak capacity is not required except on a few cold days in winter--is merely one of the items of this responsibility called Service. A vast army of employees and large capital resources are continually engaged in maintaining this dependable fuel supply. Drilling, the laying of pipe lines, the equipping of compressor stations, telephone lines, production, transmission and distribution activities represent a colossal investment in materials, equipment and personnel. A correlated system of Service that is synchronized with the broader development of the vast territory we serve.

Your Gas Company takes pride in the fact that it pioneered the production and transportation, in this section, of the only available fuel that can be utilized by the consumer without special handling or the use of costly mechanical accessories. Realizing our responsibility, we take the utmost precaution to assure you permanent fuel satisfaction by providing a dependable flow of gas--regardless of the weather.

An Old Maid Dies
She Leaves $100,000,000
Why Einstein Likes Us
New York's Virtue

By EMILE GAUVREAU

A French poodle is the only surviving "next of kin" of the Wendel family, the last of whom, Ella, died Friday evening at the age of 78, leaving an estimated fortune of $100,000,000. A fitting denouement!

The five sisters, immured in their musty old mansion on Fifth Avenue which admitted of no modern improvement, were all dead a quarter of a century ago, although they did not know it. In the midst of an extraordinary accumulation of wealth, which they did nothing to earn, they lived in practical poverty, like misers, denying themselves the humblest comforts.

"Live and let live" was not of their philosophy. They were natural hoarders of the wealth created by the workaday world, of which they formed no part. By every rule, this wealth never belonged to them, and if it flows back now from the dead to the quick, it will be like water seeking its own level.

The most significant and perhaps the least observed fact about the visit of Albert Einstein to these shores recently, and his announced intention of paying us a second visit soon, is that the gravitational center of the scientific world has shifted from Europe to America. We who have come of age need look no longer across the waters for authority or supremacy. The greatest thinkers on the continent come here now for experimental verification, consult with our physicists, accept their findings, and modify their views, in many instances, to accord with our own.

The same shifting of the gravitational center has taken place in the field of art, architecture, literature, drama, statesmanship and aeronautics. America has ceased playing the "sedulous ape" to everything and anything foreign. This is our true declaration of independence. Until now, intellectually, we have been living, it might be said, on a kind of articles of confederation. The experiment is over.

The representation of virtue as a straight and narrow path never showed itself more apt than it does today, when vice leads down so many broad and bewildering ways. In New York disclosures started with the sale of magistracies. That uncovered corruption in the ranks of politicians and judges. That in turn, put the spotlight on various professions. With the failure of several banks, the thread continued unbroken.

Charges and countercharges revealed the practice of framing women and other girls, until practically all government officials, were involved. And all of them, it now develops, were interrelated, one living off or supporting the other.

The Cretan labyrinth, which had 1,000 turnings, was not more complex or devious than our own modern labyrinth of crime. The fabled monster, the Minotaur, that fed on human sacrifices and dwelt in the Cretan labyrinth, was slain finally by the Greek hero, Theseus. Who will slay the Minotau that feeds on our integrity today? Or is this a labor which requires not a Theseus, but a Hercules, who, it will be remembered, cleaned the Augean stables, which hadn't been cleaned for 30 years, by causing two rivers to run through them.

Dreams That Came True

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE REDINGTON, of Vinton, Iowa, celebrated their 74th wedding anniversary the other day. They are not tired of each other. They have no complaints of cruelty, incompatibility, or unfaithfulness to make.

It is rather comforting to know that not everyone has a desire to change partners in the matrimonial game, quite as though luck was up to a roulette wheel with a croupier holding the stakes. There is something splendid in the knowledge that marriage can be permanent and lasting, if two people want it to be so.

Marriage is a partnership, but unless it is built on a rock where illness and bills and debts and colds and burned toast and flyers in the market can't knock a single brick from the chimney, it has a poor chance of lasting. If it would grow lovelier, after the first glamor of the new silver has worn off and the mint-green linen luncheon set has faded, it must sacrifice and laugh and be courageous. It must make memories which will hold two people closer together.

Mr. and Mrs. Redington can look back, down the long, long trail to the day when a boy and girl who were just a little bit frightened, took vows that were going to span three-quarters of a century. They built their dreams into something real and practical with their eyes on the dawn of a tomorrow. They accepted discouragements and never once thought that maybe a change of partners would help the game. They has a basis of love and understanding without which no marriage has a chance of surviving.

Another Slap at Marriage

MARRIAGE—always an interesting subject—has received another knock. It has been pointed out that of 12 women named recently by a jury of impressive members as the most outstanding of their sex in the United States only four were married. The four are Carrie Chapman Catt, Minnie Maddern Fiske, Grace Coolidge and Ernestine Schumann-Heink.

Very likely the endless argument of "home vs. career" will gain new impetus from this revelation and the advantage will seem to be on the "career" side of the fence. It is scarcely surprising that women, with the cares and responsibilities of managing a home and rearing a family, seldom achieve such distinctions as to become president of a college or a famous scientist. On the other hand, there are the names of those four to prove that marriage is not a bar to winning renown.

The eight women included in the list who are unmarried are: Grace Abbott, Jane Addams, Cecilia Beaux, Martha Berry, Willa Cather, Helen Keller, Florence Rena Sabin and Mary E. Woolley. They outnumber married members of the group two to one and yet there is one important argument for those who would rush to the defense of matrimony. Perhaps after all the jury of impressive members did not succeeding in naming the 12 women of the country who are really greatest. Almost everyone has known men and women living obscurely whose daily existence has touched sublime heights.

The answer for those who are disturbed by arguments concerning the greatest women is to make their own list.

Our National Anthem

ONE of the last acts of the 71st congress was to make the Star-Spangled Banner our official anthem. Perhaps it was the tune congressmen wished the nation to remember them by. At any rate, their action in thus creating a national anthem by law invites objections.

In the hearings on the bill made before the house judiciary committee, two sopranos were specially brought in to show the committee that the anthem could be sung. The conclusion of the committee apparently was that if two sopranos could sing it, everybody can.

But, as everybody knows, the tune is not at all easy to sing. Musicians call it awkward. It makes stirring band music, but for popular singing it is extremely difficult. It seems that those who advocated "America" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" as substitutes had a logical case. Both these songs are singable, patriotic.

And the strangest anomaly of all is that the tune of our now national anthem originally was an English drinking song, entitled "An-acreon in Heaven."

Felix Borowski thinks a better anthem is coming. Says he: "We are too young a nation yet, but our national anthem will come and when it does there will be no mistake about it—and congressional action won't be necessary to make it 'arrive.'"

Fadeout

Then count me out, my dear, if I must share you,
Your love is parcelled out in tiny bits;
And I for one have nerve enough to air you—
To say good-bye and laugh and keep my wits;
You claim I have no right to ev'ry moment,
That other lads must help you fill your days;
So be it—if I heard you right, your "no" meant—
That I am through with you and all your ways.

Well, have your fling, I'm not the lad to stop you,
My interest in you is at an end;
Remember me as one who had to drop you—
I'm certain that my heart will quickly mend;
So, after this, when I am speaking of you,
I'll use the past and not the present tense;
My best regards to all the lads who love you—
It's tough that they're so shy on common sense!
—Young Man of Manhattan.

Gag

It is supposed to have happened in front of the Roosevelt hotel in Hollywood last summer. Violinsky was standing near the entrance without having on a coat or hat. It was such a hot day.

"Isn't this marvelous weather?" asked another New Yorker. "Out here you don't have to wear a hat!"

"In New York," replied Violinsky, "you'd have a hat!"

Incidentially

It is George White who observes that the only people in Hollywood who wear high hats are the song writers—and the only time they take them off is when they are climbing into the upper berths on their way back to New York.

Overheard

During the performance of "The Wonder Bar," starring Al Jolson at the Bayes, the other premiere night, Mrs. Sid Silvers said to her husband: "Isn't that actress nice—and so young? She's younger than Fanny Ward!"

"What woman isn't?" snapped an eavesdropper.

"Always Belitlin'"

George Jean Nathan, the critic, was in the foyer of a theater the other night, scowling.

"What, I wonder," said a manager, "is the matter with Nathan? He seems very annoyed."

"He is vexed," retorted a listener, "because he's afraid they have a hit."

A Form of Criticism

Proverb under the glass top of a press agent's desk: "The ideal critic is the one who is hated—yet caressed."

Conversation After Midnight

You have a quaint effect on me!
I will not say I'd tell a lie—
At least, I'd not fib wilfully . . .
But when I come to make reply
To phrases put so feelingly,
I find I look you in the eye
And say—not what I mean, my dear,
But what I know you want to hear!
—ANNE CAMPBELL STARK.

The Big Mindreader

Milt Gross, the exaggerator, was in the office just now offering gags. He unfolded several of them, none of which seemed to click with the columnist. "You don't like that one, either?" he queried.

"Nope," we nope'd.

"Oh, well," he sighed, "I guess I'm not up to my usual low standard."

Success Minus

About three years ago he wasn't important so far as the Broadway belt was concerned. He was strictly an entertainer in a cafe. His first huge heartache happened to him there, though. The girl he adored for over two years was thefted by a money lad from downtown.

In time he got over it, as the saying goes. Because great success had favored him. He clicked in a show and his wage scale leaped. He was 'in the money." His marriage to a very popular and attractive woman was the talk of the town.

The other day she left him without even so much as a ta-ta. He thinks she is merely having a mood. He doesn't know that she ran off with the man who swiped his sweetheart a few years ago, the man who keeps "dogging" him even though he has become a Somebody.

Old, But Clean

Lou Holtz, the star producer of the "You Said It!" show, prefers the heeb gags that rocked Broadway in the latter 20s. His favorite he was saying last night, was the one about the smallie who was playing his first New York engagement at Loew's Delancey Street theater in the Go-Ghetto district.

Before the matinee he sent for the tailor. "Whatever you do," said the ham, "be sure and bring this suit back on time. I'm third on the program."

"Don't worry," was the indifferent reply, "I'm on second myself."

In Fewer Words

And those who think the younger generation have no respect for old age should read the jokes in some of these columns.

Did His Face Get Red?

A boy and a girl appearing in the chorus of a New York show were in love while the attraction was trying out in the suburbs. The gal then shifted her attentions elsewhere, and on the opening night in New York the shelved fellow noticed a huge basket of flowers in front of her dressing room. He replaced the sender's card with one of his own.

Several months later, when the show was closing, she mentioned it to the chap. "Do you know," she meow'd, "I never could understand how your card got in that basket of flowers which I bought for myself?"

As If You Didn't Know

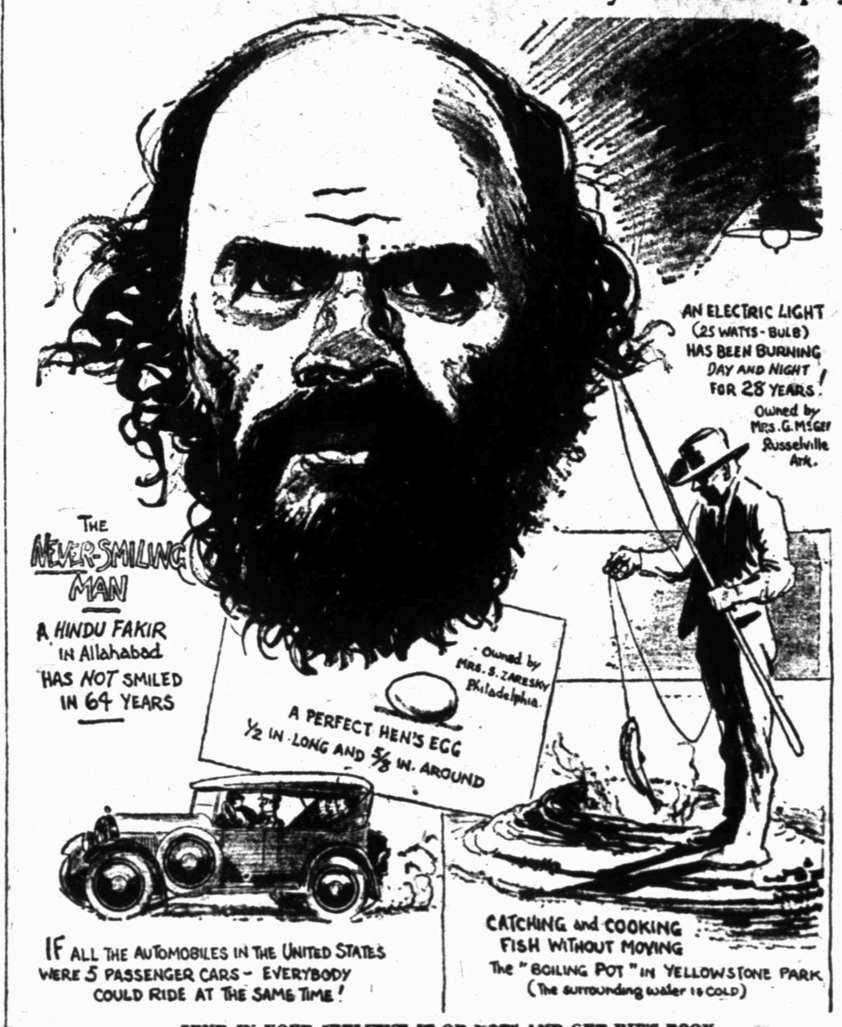

Take it from Barney (N. Y. Press) Kleig, there is but one big gag in Hollywood, and that is the other fellow's.

Passing the Test

"What makes you think he will make a good actor—because he can sleep until noon?"

"No. He has the gall to tell stale wheezes and if they flop he insults the audience—and, anyway, he can go a week without food."

Big Business Girl . . By One of Them

Synopsis of Preceding Installments

Claire MacIntyre, known as Mac, whose beauty and charm have made her the toast of State university, determines upon a business career after graduation. She and Johnny Goodman are desperately in love. Johnny tries to dissuade Mac from her career, but she is determined to succeed in business. Johnny, who is musically talented, would not be able to support her, Mac believes. Johnny goes to Paris at the head of a college orchestra, and Mac goes to Chicago. She enters the dry cleaning establishment of R. J. Clayton. The firm is having trouble with racketeers. Mac lunches with a racketeer leader and diplomatically secures a truce, but a rival gang destroys one of the Clayton trucks. Mac's cleverness has so intrigued Clayton, however, that he invites her to a party at his home. Johnny arrives from Paris. He and Mac have an ecstatic love meeting, but Johnny grows ill-tempered when he learns that she is going to her employer's party that night. They have a violent quarrrel, and Mac determines to flirt with her employer. Mac goes to the party, where she meets Mrs. Clayton. Clayton, known as R. J., invites her into the garden.

INSTALLMENT XIV

R. J. took Mac through the hall which cut through the house and led from the front to a door at the back opening onto his beds of flowers, which changed with the season. Just now there was very little left of them.

Mac and R. J. walked along the pebble paths to the gray walls by the lake. R. J. was talking the way gardeners do about their plants and although Mac could have understood if she had wanted to bother, she didn't know what he was saying. Like the beat of the piano in an orchestra, the thought of Johnny, Johnny, Johnny had throbbed in her brain all evening.

She wanted to see him again. She wanted to know how they would receive him out at the Villa Carlotta tonight, but most of all she wanted to be kissed by him again.

The little breeze from the water touched Mac's bare arms and neck. She had been a success tonight, and R. J. and she would get along even better after this, she felt. But she wished she could get away in a few moments and perhaps manage it so that Luke would take her to the roadhouse in time for Johnny's midnight speciality. She didn't know the plans for the rest of the evening. Undoubtedly the others were killing the effect of the food with a hasty attempt to drink a great deal.

R. J. covered her by her arm along a path which led farther away from the music. The moon on the water was like an absurd painting, but it turned it into a silver liquid and shed a hushed brilliance over the wide lawns and on the little beach.

"Happy?" he asked. "I'll bet you're dead tired, and here I am walking you all over the place and boring you to death. Let's sit down in this swing. I don't believe it's too damp."

There was a striped canvas swing out on the lawn, facing the lake. Mac leaned back on her elbow. She was completely hidden from the house.

"Here, let me give you a pillow." R. J.'s voice was rather husky and modulated to match the silence of their surroundings. Mac wondered if he was drunk. While she was wondering, his kiss came, unexpected and unpleasant to her. Although she had been leading him on, she really didn't know that he would respond. And R. J. didn't know it either. He thought he was sorry for her. "Poor child," he said, searching her face for any sign of fatigue or annyance, kissing her again, not passionately, but with finesse. Mac didn't resist him, but when he kissed her a third time, she stood up.

So it was as easy at that, she thought. And it hadn't even been unpleasant. She was puzzled. A moment ago, she had been thinking about Johnny—had wanted to be kissed by him—and the very next second had been kissed by another man and had liked it.

R. J. stood close to Mac, though they were in the moonlight and visible from the house. She let the night wind blow her hair back from her temples. He put his arm through the curve of hers and took her hand. She grasped his fingers naturally and in friendship.

"I hope you don't mind Claire. It's been a long time; I didn't know it was possible for me any more. We'll have to go back now—but I don't want to. I want to stay here and talk with you and look at you. I don't need to tell you how lovely you are. I've been admiring you all evening."

His seriousness and gentleness were very appealing. His sense of humor had conquered any conceit he might have had over his success and about himself as a great lover. He was not much taller than Mac, but his shoulders had been football shoulders—boxing shoulders in his day.

They strolled arm in arm, with long strides, leisurely and simultaneously, toward R. J.'s well-earned North Shore home. Two figures came down the path toward them.

"Discovered," R. J. whispered to her. And she didn't know whether he meant them or Hattie and Luke.

"Well, you two," Hattie called out, "it's too late to break away now. We saw you." Of course they hadn't seen the kisses, but Mac jumped. R. J. tightened his grasp of her arm, but let go of her fingers. "Luke and I decided that before you took to midnight bathing, we'd better interfere." Hattie was laughing, but her eyes were questioning and solemn.

"I thought," said Mac with a little laugh, "that Luke Winters was going to get tight on a large scale tonight."

"I am, lady," he promised solemnly. "I have a date with myself to do that thing. Or shake that thing. Wait a minute—where was I?"

Everybody laughed. It was evident he had been improving his time with a highball or so. R. J. smiled at her. She felt full of strength, knowing she had put a little spell on him.

They walked into the house. "What do you think we should do, Renwick?" Hattie was saying to him. Evidently she wanted to do something and didn't know just what it should be. The shallow hostess, thought Mac, caught with no tricks left to do.

"Why," he said, "I hadn't thought. Isn't everybody having fun?"

"I thought we might go some place and dance a little while."

"Whatever the rest want to do."

"I know a perfectly grand orchestra," Mac interrupted quickly, "and it opens tonight."

"Where?" several people asked.

"Johnny Goodman's Boys, out at the Villa Carlotta. They have been in Paris all summer. I knew Johnny Goodman at school."

"Ah," from Luke, "the boy-frien'." He waggled his finger at her and owlishly winked one eye.

She looked at him without smiling or saying anything.

"Why don't we go there, then?", said R. J. "It ought to be good for us to take a little ride, anyway. Where is it?"

"Out on the Rand road." Morton Walker was quick to display his knowledge of the city after dark.

As the party grouped itself for various cars, Luke had gone back to start his car and somebody was trying to argue him out of driving. The burden of the argument seemed to be that Luke couldn't get as drunk with a car as he could without. But Luke pointed out that this didn't follow at all, because he had often tried it, and it worked just as well either way. "Besides, I gotta look after my lil buddy, Mac. She's got it! And she's got itch! She's my partner. I gotta drive her."

At that moment Mac happened to be standing on the gravel drive with R. J. They heard Luke talking.

"He's due for a big celebration," said R. J. "He gets married next week. But you better not drive with him—come along with me."

Without asking what she thought about this, he put her in his own limousine. "There are more cars here than we know what to do with. I think we might as well lead the way, and the others can follow."

Somewhere a car roared, impatient to be off.

"Villa Carlotta," he said to his driver who sat outside the glass partition.

The driver nodded his head. They rolled away.

Jackson Issues Canning Report

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, Okla., March 23.—A report of meat canning in Jackson county prior to March 1 has been made by Miss Lemna Maloney, county home demonstration agent. Canning of meat to save feed, to prevent sale of poultry and livestock on the low market, and to insure the family meat supply was launched early last fall as a drouth relief measure.

A total of 144 carcasses of beef, pork and mutton were canned at demonstrations held by the county agent and farm women. Chickens and other poultry canned totaled 515.

Beef and larger animals canned netted 11,720 quarts and poultry 515 quarts making a total of 12,235 quarts of meat.

These figures do not by any means represent all the meat that has been canned in Jackson county, but only that portion which has been reported to the home demonstation agent.

Six hundred twenty-five Jackson county women attended 150 demonstrations on meat canning held by Miss Maloney and other trained club women.

As many as 500 people have had the use of the pressure cookers furnished by members of farm women's clubs. Twenty-five cookers were purchased for meat canning purposes.

City Plan Experts Hold Conference

DALLAS, March 23. (AP)—More latitude for small towns in civic restriction was advocated today by A. A. Long, acting city attorney of Dallas, in addressing the first southwestern city plan conference, in session here.

Many legislative acts apply only to towns of more than 12,000 or 25,000 population, he pointed out. He asserted that towns of 5,000 population or even less should be extended the right to assess property for city taxation, and that cities of 15,000 or more should have the right to establish building lines.

Dr. E. H. Cary, president of the Kessler Plan association, opened the meeting, attended by nearly 50 city plan experts.

Benefit Insurance Bill Given Favorable Vote

AUSTIN, March 23. (AP)—After considerable argument the house today passed a bill by Representative Savage of Dallas to liberalize fraternal benefit insurance laws. The bill would permit the insured to name any person as beneficiary and would permit the fraternal insurance societies to insure members without physical examination in certain instances.

It was opposed by Representative Graves of Georgetown and Van Zandt of Tioga. An amendment by Graves to require payment of claims within 60 days under penalty of 12 per cent in addition to attorneys fees and damages, was adopted.

An amendment to permit fraternal insurance societies not wanting to come under the provisions of the bill, to operate under the present law was voted down. It was proposed by Van Zandt.

Q.—Who was the first woman to fly an airplane in the United States?—D. T.

A.—Dr. Bessica Raiche of Santa Ana, Calif., was the first. She flew an airplane at Mineola field, Long Island, in 1910.

Q.—What proportion of the lawyers in the United States belong to the American Bar association? —C. M. J.

A.—The American Bar association says that between 20 and 25 per cent of the lawyers of America are members. There are between 20,000 and 27,000 members in good standing, and there are approximately 130,000 lawyers.

Q.—How many national forests are there in the United States? —F. S.

A.—There are now 150, with a total of 160,000,000 acres of land.

Q.—When was East Lynne first produced on the stage?—P. T. N.

A.—The theatrical career of East Lynne dates back to March 23, 1863, when it was performed at a New York theater, Tripler's hall. Clifton W. Tayleure, a Brooklyn playwright, prepared what was probably the first dramatic adaptation. Lucile Western was the first actress to play the role of Lady Isabel.

Q.—How many blue fox ranches are there in Alaska?—W. S.

A.—There are about 275 blue fox ranches stocked with 36,000 foxes. The investment exceeds $6,850,000. There are also about 90 fur farmers raising foxes, mink and marten in pens.

Q.—Why is the $2.50 gold piece no longer made?—S. W. L.

A.—By act of congress passed April 11, 1930, the $2.50 gold piece was discontinued. The coin was discontinued because it was not desired for circulation or commercial purposes. It was used mainly as a gift during the Christmas season and in January these coins were again returned to the vaults of the banks.

Q.—Where was the first railroad station built in Chicago?—H. N.

Q.—Will there be an eclipse of the sun this year?—J. D. W.

A.—There will not be a total eclipse in 1931. A partial eclipse of the sun will occur April 17 and 18, 1931, visible generally in eastern, central, and northwestern Asia. A partial eclipse of the sun, Sept. 12, 1931, will be visible in a small section of northeastern Asia. A partial eclipse of the sun, Oct. 11, 1931, will be visible generally in South Africa, the South Atlantic ocean, and central and southern South America. A total eclipse of the sun visible in the United States will occur Aug. 31, 1932. The path of totality crosses the northeastern parts of Vermont and New Hampshire, the southwestern part of Maine, and the extreme northeastern part of Massachusetts.

Q.—Please explain the term, horse latitude.—J. H.

A.—Horse latitude is the name given to the belt of calms in the North Atlantic ocean between the region of westerly winds of the higher latitudes and the region of trade winds of the torrid zone. Authorities differ in regard to the origin of the name, some claiming that it was derived from the fact that vessels with a cargo of horses were often so delayed on account of the calms that the animals perished from lack of water.

Q.—Is it easier to teach a male or a female parrot to talk?—J. S.

A.—The male parrot usually responds to teaching better than the female.

Q.—Is Franklin Baur broadcasting at present?—R. L. C.

A.—He is now off the air and is making phonograph records.

Q.—Did Indians formerly live on dog meat?—M. A. T.

A.—Dog flesh was used for ceremonial purposes only, because dogs were to them a clean animal, in the sense that they were not taboo to their gods.

The Record News Offers Booklet on Beauty Hints

The saying that beauty is but skin deep is but a skin-deep saying, according to Ruskin, and every beauty specialist and every woman knows that it is true. Beauty is deeply rooted in the general health, and all beauty has its beginnings in a healthy body, and its accompanying condition, a happy mind.

But there are many things every woman can do to preserve and to enhance the gifts with which nature has endowed her, and the Record News offers its readers a booklet, Beauty Hints, that covers this subject thoroughly. Send 10 cents in coin or stamps for cost and postage and secure a copy of this valuable publication.

Social Service Stressed By Floral Heights W. M. S.

Mrs. Earl Stuckey, general chairman of the social service of Floral Heights Methodist Woman's Missionary society, directed a special program in her work when members of the society met Monday afternoon at the church. Mrs. Austin Leach gave the opening prayer, and a solo in keeping with the service theme was sung by Miss Lucile Freet with Mrs. G. Wayne Barker accompanying.

Mrs. Glen Laskey talked on "Social Service in Expression of Jesus Christ," stressing social service as the practical expression of home mission endeavor. Mrs. Laskey compared the work to a great tree which represents Jesus Christ and the branches the division of social service, legislation, child labor, factory and cotton mill work and interracial contacts.

Ways to help the community were outlined by Mrs. A. L. Lane who stated the church had always been a social service center with the work carried out extensively by the missionary society. The work done by family relief committees, deaconesses and cooperative homes was described in detail, with special emphasis on the work of the day nursery.

Mrs. Henry Milliken described the work among negroes and the work done through Bethlehem community centers. The colored day nursery work and work in the colored schools was pictured.

Delegates to the annual missionary conference which convenes in Highland Park church, Dallas, in April, were named as follows: adult division, Mrs. H. W. Barton, with Mrs. Charles Crowell alternate; young people, Mrs. Fred Sehmann, Mrs. C. M. Goodwin, alternate; children, Mrs. J. A. Curtis.

Announcements were made of the quarterly meeting of the federated missionary society at the First Christian church Thursday afternoon and of a luncheon to be served in the church Tuesday noon by members of Mrs. J. A. Gardner's circle. Circle six, Mrs. Curt Buddrus, chairman, will have a luncheon in the home of Mrs. T. F. Hunter, April 1. Circle three led in attendance.

The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. W. B. Guthrie.

Those present were Mesdames A. F. Leach, J. C. Brown, E. Ratcliffe, D. M. Puckett, Merle Waggoner, R. R. Howard, C. M. Simpson, M. J. McGuigan, Earl Stuckey, A. L. Lane, S. M. Gose, G. E. PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

Time, indifferent old gentleman, seems to be pretty hard on women. I overheard one complaining to another at Kemp library Saturday evening. "If only each day had a few more hours," she said, "and each week a few more days, then I might get something accomplished."

◆ ◆ ◆

The trouble is that if every woman in the world joined in a protest it would make no difference to father time. Yet women go rushing about doing home work, club work and church work and even starting into the political field, and never realize they're overdoing until nerves collapse.

◆ ◆ ◆

Pioneers lived quite busy lives and the wives of the pioneers were as a rule, a happy group of women. But in 1931, women take up school and church and family work just as their grandmothers did and add to these the unending stream of new activities their grandmothers never knew. With the school, there's P.-T. A. and Pre-School and Mothers' Study clubs; Sunday school classes are divided into circles and missionary societies are divided into groups then federated into one. There are study clubs and bridge clubs and there is always something asked of the woman who can and will do things.

Tomorrow eternally steps on the skirts of today, as I know from experience. Women make plans to lead a quiet and systematic life and something at once breaks into the routine.

Some of them keep house so painfully that they cannot go into another's home and be quiet if a scarf is awry, a curtain not balanced with its sister curtains or an arm rest out of place. While they chat, they unconsciously straighten out things.

For those who are driven too hard by time, it seems to me nature is the best doctor. Men go fishing and forget worries in the sport. Izaak Walton was never crowded with unpleasant or overwhelming duties; nor as to that was Thoreau or Richard Jeffries, who kept so beautiful a calendar of the English country.

The whole earth is greening. On Tenth street there's a great redbud tree that takes one's breath with beauty and out on the Seymour road, the hills are covered with alternate carpets of purple and gold. There's magic in the fragrant days and the clear shining nights and a new moon hangs in the sky.

If a woman can call a halt and read the right sort of books, that is medicine for tired nerves. I think sometimes that many people only read so that they may tell of what they've read. I see many on a par with one who did not care for solitary reading. "Who knows that you read?" she thought.

Sun and Wind Bring Out Rusty-Brown Spots. How to Remove Easily

Even the fairest-skinned woman need no longer dread the sun and wind. Though they cover her face with ugly freckles, she can easily and safely fade out these homely blemishes in the privacy of her home with Othine-double strength.

It is seldom that more than an ounce jar of Othine is needed to clear the skin of the ugly, rusty-brown spots. After a few nights' use of this dainty white cream you will see that even the worst freckles are disappearing while the lighter ones have vanished entirely.

Be sure to ask for Othine-double strength at any drug or department store. Money back if it does not remove even the worst freckles and leave your skin soft, clear and beautiful.—Adv.

Highland Heights Divisions Study Indian Missions

TRUE TO THE COLORS

CAREFUL housewives say it's a shame the way gingham and cotton prints are often washed in scalding water. No wonder colors and freshness fade! . . . But perhaps you think you can't get things clean any other way.

Then change to White King! Made from fine vegetable and nut oils. White King Granulated Soap will form quick, creamy suds, will cleanse thoroughly, and will swiftly rinse away in the lukewarm water that preserves the life and color of delicate fabrics. White King is pure. That's the reason. And the same purity makes it effective for dishes and heavy washing too.

White King is economical: You'll only need a teaspoonful in the wash basin, a cupful in the washing machine, even in hard water. Try it—today. Recommended by your grocer.

Health Better Than Riches

"Before I was married, my mother and sister and I did all the farming work on a 64-acre farm for eleven years. I married a farmer and now in addition to my housework and the care of my children I help him with the outside work on our farm. After my last child was born, I began to suffer as many women do. Our family doctor gave me medicine but no results. One day he told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It's Time YOU tried one!

For that INDIGESTION

For 36 years, men and women by the million have settled stomach disturbances with a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet. A reliable remedy; a real relief. And you have never tried them! In 1894 a druggist sold his first package of Stuart's. Today they are a drug-store staple. The first thing that comes to mind when the stomach needs a sweetener. No burning soda! Just a happy combination of Calcium Carbonate (2½ times more effective than soda) Magnesia and other valuable ingredients. In ten minutes—or less—acidity is overcome; all that sourness dispelled.

Many parents have come to realize these tablets are ideally suited to children's digestive disorders. The tremendous sale of the family size boxes is proof of that. Next time a young stomach is complaining, think of Stuart's.

MAKE THIS TEST!

Purchase a 25c, handy pocket tin of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets from your druggist, use after meals and be convinced it is not necessary to suffer the distresses of indigestion.

STEENGRAFE ACCEPTS TERMS; DALLAS SERIES HERE PLANNED

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Well, the Spudders have at last encountered the new ball, and have found out what effect it will have on their hitting and pitching this year.

They played through a two-game series with the Dallas Steers last week-end, with the new ball in use all the time, and not a one of the team knew it until they were told, according to Manager Williams.

And you can add this to your collection of rasping requests of ragged rookies:

While in Dallas, one of the squad approached the hotel clerk with this:

"Say, what floor is room 308 on?"

I don't like cold weather, but I like an occasional chilly spell, because it gives Barry Holton a chance to wear that big fur overcoat of his. It's a monstrous big thing, and in it Barry looks like a great baron of old; and we venture that if we lived in the middle ages Barry would be a great baron, no less.

Not meaning that he is not a baron, or its equivalent now. Big, stern Barry may not rank in the millionaire class, but he is of the nobility of men. Several qualities mark him as belonging to that class. The Rambler, for instance, likes his booming, throaty voice. Again, he is the only man we know of who looks admirable with his hair parted in the middle. Barry's is all the more attractive because it's graying. And then he's big—a massive fellow. Like the ones they speak of in the closing verses of the fifth chapter of Genesis (which we read last night for the first time)—"mighty men, men of renown."

He has big grayish eyes, and when he is enswathed in that big black fur overcoat they peer out from the folds like searchlights. Yes, the only reason I like winter is that then I can see Barry and his overcoat.

The other chilly evening, I saw the overcoat coming down the street propelled by Barry. We chatted for a few moments, the subject eventually getting around to football. It will only be a few weeks now until the spring training period opens on the field behind the high school. Barry is now letting the boys show what they can do on the track and in the class room. As soon as the track season is over, and the boys persuade the teachers they are capable of making a good grade now and then, Barry will sound the first call, and work will begin.

It's two years now since Baron Holton started work coaching the Coyotes. Year before last they wound up fourth, and last year in the cellar, and pardon me for bringing up the last, painful subject. But the Baron expects to have a group of boys around him this year with considerable more spirit than last year's youngsters had, and hopes to bring the Wichita Falls High school out of the "weak sister" class in one sport at least.

The school certainly is a weak sister in other sports. Weak in basket ball, and, apparently, weak in track, if the scores of the practice meet with Electra last Saturday may be taken at full value. We all thought that at last the Coyote tracksters had found the light. They may have. Practice meets sometimes cannot be taken too seriously. Coach Hall's thinly clads may do better when the real thing opens.

But if it is at all possible, Baron Barry wants to put this city on the map when it comes to high school football. He's tired of losing teams, but he's not tired of working. Outside of keeping several jumps ahead of his pupils in the history classes he teaches at high school, he's always thinking of football.

As I have hinted, Barry is a picturesque character, probably the most picturesque football coach in this state. And it's not all in his appearance, although that contributes much. He's a man who likes young kids with spirit because he not only had that same spirit when a kid, but retained it as a youngster playing for Knute Rockne, and retains it right now when he dons football togs and goes out to show the boys what to do. We venture there is no coach in all the land who loves the game more than Barry, and who likes better to see his candidates match that eager spirit of his by working hard. Give Baron Barry Holton some players fit to be called by that name this year, and he will turn out a state contender or I'm no Rambler, and that's saying a lot.

Speaking of football, which we really shouldn't be doing at this baseball time of the year, George Gilmore Sr., of Olney, father of the four famous Gilmore brothers of Coach Acker's football, basket ball, track, and whatever other teams there are—Mr. Gilmore, I say, dropped in to see me the other day and joined me in wishing the old gridiron season was here once again. Mr. Gilmore knows a lot more about football than does the Rambler, but I learned a lot about it last season, just enough, however, to whet my appetite for more.

It's going to be the same old story down at Olney when the football season does open, but the story never appears to get old. The Cubs will have an excellent team, as usual, with their only drawback that powerful demon of over-confidence.

However, the Cubs no doubt have already started fighting this demon, since they took it in the neck in basket ball on account of over-confidence. It pays to be good, but not to think of it.

Stribling to Fight In Matamoras Sunday

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 23. (AP)—"Pa" Stribling, father-manager of W. L. (Young) Stribling Georgia's heavyweight title contender, today said Stribling would appear in an exhibition bout at Matamoras, Mexico, next Sunday.

"Pa" said he and his son and Mrs. W. L. Stribling would go to Matamoras by plane, leaving Ocklocknee, Ga., Thursday and stopping at Dallas to see the fighter's great grandmother.

GAMES WITH SAINTS BOOKED

Team Goes to Mineral Wells Wednesday and Thursday

By FRED THOMPSON

The sole unsigned player on the 1931 Wichita Falls ball club came to terms Monday when Milton Steengrafe, veteran pitcher, wired acceptance of his contract and added that he would leave later in the day for the Spudder training camp.

It was erroneously reported Steengrafe had left his Oakland, Calif., home last Friday. When a telegram addressed to him from the Spudder offices failed to reach its destination, it was assumed here the player had already departed for Texas. He had not at that time departed, however.

Steengrafe was reported a holdout for a higher salary than that offered him by the club this year. It was learned, however, that other considerations had entered into the big curve-baller's lateness in reporting, particularly the fact that he held down a good job in California and he was undecided whether to give it up and don a monkey suit once more. The lure of the baseball diamond prevailed, however, and the telegram received by Prexy Huff Monday stated Maul 'em Milt would roll into town late this week prepared to again deliver for the home cause.

Milt will arrive in good physical shape, if not in the very pink of condition, the telegram said, for he has been working out at home while pondering over the problems affecting his livelihood.

Dallas Series Here Planned

The Spudder offices also announced Monday negotiations were under way for a home series with the Dallas Steers. Should the deal go through, the Steers will play here Wednesday and Thursday of next week. Prexy Huff added that he was dickering for an exhibition game with some other Texas team.

If both propositions go through, it will give the Spudders an unexpected number of exhibition games, and speed up immeasurably the conditioning process, especially in view of the announcement Monday morning that Prexy Huff, while in Fort Worth Sunday night after leaving the Dallas game, had completed arrangements for a two-game exhibition series with the St. Paul Saints at Mineral Wells, Texas, tomorrow and Thursday.

After the Wednesday and Thursday games this week, the Spudders again will play the Saints Saturday and Sunday, this time on the home lot. It will be the first appearance of the Spudders in a real contest at Athletic park.

Spudder fans who watched the once-great Grover Cleveland Alexander limp from the park after trying to pitch in a Dallas series here toward midseason of last year may get a chance to see him again on April 12 next, when the bewhiskered House of David team appears here for an exhibition game. Prexy Huff said he could get no assurance that Alexander would pitch, but that in all likelihood the scarred veteran would appear on the mound. Alexander, according to reports, still is a drawing card, a much better drawing card than he was after his utter flop on the Spudder park diamond last year. For behind his grizzled features there still is a halo, however indistinct, that speaks of the years when he had a $50,000 arm.

Pitchers Bear Down

The Spudder gang arrived late from Dallas Sunday night, and were allowed to snooze Monday morn, but in the afternoon Skipper Williams put all hands through a routine, but energetic workout. The pitchers, for the first time during the training camp period, were ordered to bear down, hence all manner of curves, fast ones and hippity hops were slicing the plate as the batters lined up for batting practice, Williams made no announcement of reductions in the squad.

The skipper was conservatively enthusiastic, if you get what I mean, over the way his players behaved in the Dallas series. Frankly, few of the higher-ups considered the team would be so fortunate as to get an even break in the series. Williams was pleased at the showing made by his pitchers, both regulars and rookies. Vincent's apparent mastery of himself, and his exhibition of control was anything but bad news, and the way Lester White carried on was likewise glad tidings. Ash Hillin also came through with well nigh perfect control and this brought a wide grin from the skipper, who counts on Hillin doing many things in baseball way this summer. E. K. Martin was the most praised of the recruits, the youngster handling first base very creditably, and handling some plays in the manner of a tried and true veteran, the skipper said.

Tomorrow another routine workout is scheduled. Then Wednesday morning the team will bop in cars for the 90-some-odd-mile trip to Mineral Wells, and take on the Saints of St. Paul.

St. Louis Browns

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 23. (AP)—Manager Bill Killefer, of the St. Louis Browns, today conducted a school for his erring players who yesterday lost their third exhibition game. Pitcher George Blaeholder and Second Baseman Oscar Melillo came in especially for defensive practice. Outfielder Larry Bettencourt and Pitcher Fred Stiley, Brownie cripples, joined Ralph Kress, at Miami today for treatment by a specialist.

Larry Cox Signs To Complete Cats' Roster

FORT WORTH, March 23. (AP)—"All we need now is the pennant."

Those were the words of Roy Meehan, secretary of the Fort Worth baseball club this afternoon as he blotted the signed contract of Larry Cox. The Panther right fielder had been unable to reach a salary agreement with the club and his contract had remained unsigned.

The signing of Cox completed the roster of the Panthers. "We're glad that Cox is signed and believe that he should have a good year," declared Meehan after his pennant statement.

Cox also expects a good year.

Cards Will Consider Trading Chick Hafey

BRADENTON, Fla., March 23. (AP)—President Sam Breadon of the St. Louis Cardinals said today the club would consider trading Chick Hafey, slugging outfielder, who is holding out for more money, but it would be difficult to arrange a satisfactory deal because of Hafey's value.

Before the game with Phils, Breadon conferred with L. R. Ruch, president of the Philadelphia club. No statement was forthcoming, but it is known the Cards would like to get Chuck Klein of the Phils.

The season's prize deadlock resulted after Commercial league bowling matches at the Spudder alleys Monday night. The end of the three scheduled matches found the First National bank and the Parfet and Martlew teams tied for first place, and the other four teams in the league tied for second.

The First National team met defeat in two of three games with the Wolff Brothers team, Parfet & Martlew's defeated the Texas Electrics two out of three games, and the City National team took the odd game from Staley's to bring about the queer appearance of the standing column.

The Commercial league season ends next week.

Golf Association Meet May Be Held at Tulsa

TULSA, Okla., March 23. (UP)—Possibility that the Professional Golfing association's annual tournament will be played here was admitted today by Joe Dahlman, professional at the Tulsa country club and former state president of the P. G. A.

Dahlman said A. R. Gates, business administrator for the national P. G. A., had said professionals wished to play their annual championship in Oklahoma this year.

Texas Teams Win in Opening Round Of Girls' National Cage Tournament

DALLAS, March 23. (AP)—Girls' basket ball teams from Wichita, Kan.; Monticello, Ark.; Mingus, Texas and Houston triumphed in afternon games in the start of the fourth annual Girl's National Amateur Union athletic tournament here today.

Victorious teams were not pressed to win. Mingus opened the tournament by defeating the Greenwald girls of Hutchinson, Kan., 41 to 18. It was an easy contest for the fast playing Texans.

The A. & M. college girls of Monticello played a clever game to eliminate Lucas Undertaking team of Fort Worth, 41 to 29. The Aggies were superb on long shots.

Foley brothers of Houston, displaying a crew of sharp-shooters, defeated the Northeastern Teachers college of Tahlequah, Okla., 46 to 16. The elongated Foley players got a big lead after the first quarter, and toyed with their opponents in the last chapter.

An upset occurred in the final afternoon game when the Palace Cleaners of Wichita, Kan., defeated the Dallas Telephone girls in a hard-fought 35 to 23 contest. The Cleaners jumped into an early lead with three mid-court shots, and stayed in front.

The Oklahoma Presbyterian college girls of Durant, Okla., opened the night play with a 43 to 28 verdict over Western Union of Dallas. Harris led the Durant scoring attack with 11 field goals for 22 points. Gory was high scorer for Western Union with 14 points.

Giants, Sox Don't Like Night Game

HOUSTON, March 23. (UP)—The New York Giants and Chicago White Sox may have written a new chapter into the history of major league baseball with their extra inning game under the flood lights of Buffalo stadium Saturday night, but they are not proud of it. Nor do they believe they have written it with indelible ink.

In the opinion of players, coaches, managers, night baseball is not for the majors. Its very purpose defeats it so far as the big leagues are concerned.

Baseball under flood lights took hold in the minor leagues because it was impossible to operate at a profit under normal conditions. In the majors last year, baseball touched a new high and apparently it does not need artificial respiration.

Climatic conditions would make night baseball uncomfortable for both spectators and players in major league cities during the greater part of the season. In addition the Sox and Giants agree night baseball would handicap the players. There is a strain on the eyes in working under artificial light which is absent under natural conditions.

Saturday night's experiment convinced the players that it is easier to hit the ball at night but that drives will not carry through the mist-laden air for the distances they do during the day.

From the spectators' standpoint, correspondents with the Giants and Sox agree that arc lights take the personality out of baseball. The features of the players are undistinguishable and the outfielders are mere blurry figures.

On long flies in the Giants-Sox game, the ball disappeared from spectators' range of visibility when it still was 10 or 20 feet above the fielders and it was impossible to determine whether or not the ball was caught until some seconds afterward.

Stallworth Issues Uniforms To Indian Hopefuls

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, March 23.—Coach Stallworth has issued uniforms to Indian hopefuls from among whom the 1931 Indian football squad will be selected, and practice training has started. Some of last year's men include Norman, Rogers, Faircloth, Cox, Harrell, Richardson and others.

Those receiving uniforms and in the tryouts include, Kincannon, Jarrell, Day, Merrick, Klepper, Taylor, Mitchell, Mendenhall, Toland, Kennington, Wilson, Wallace, Drummond, Organ, Davis, Garner, Wheat, Ball, Edwards, Dansby, Braselton, Malone, Creed, Underwood, Marsalis, Blue, A. W. Hall, Willis, Page, Smith, Jones, Bolton, Barnett, Moore, Harrell, Cox, Faircloth, Richardson, Rogers and Norman.

A number of non-conference games will be played during the season, Coach Stallworth has announced. One of these falls on Thanksgiving, and it is hoped this will be between Quanah and Chillicothe.

Frog Tennis Team Wins Over Teachers

FORT WORTH, March 23. (AP)—The Horned Frog netters of Texas Christian university, led by Capt. John McDiarmid, defeated the East Texas Teachers tennis team here today in straight sets in both doubles and singles, the East Texas team failing to win a single set.

SCHOOL TENNIS TOURNEY NEARS

Drawings for Eliminations To Be Held Today

By BILLY JENKINS

Monday afternoon Dean S. H. Rider announced that high school netters would not complete the practice tournament because many of the contestants were slow in playing their matches, and there will not be time for the regular elimination tournament. This delay was due to the windy weather the last few weeks.

Dean Rider also announced that the drawings for the elimination tournament would take place immediately after school Tuesday afternoon. There are about 20 athletes in the practice tournament, but it is expected that many more will report for the eliminations. The winner of this tournament will represent the Wichita Falls High school in the district meet next month. The tournament in doubles will take place after the singles tournament is over.

RUFUS KING BEATS GOLDEN OF ELECTRA

Rufus King got revenge yesterday afternoon when he defeated Roger Golden of Electra in a tennis match at the local country club. Rufus swept through the two sets with that perfect form that is common to that minature player. He defeated the Electra entry in only two sets, and won by the score of 6-0 and 6-3. He allowed Golden only three games during the entire match.

Last Saturday Roy Curfman defeated Rufus in a hotly contested battle. Although King did not have the pleasure of defeating Curfman Monday, he drubbed one of his schoolmates badly.

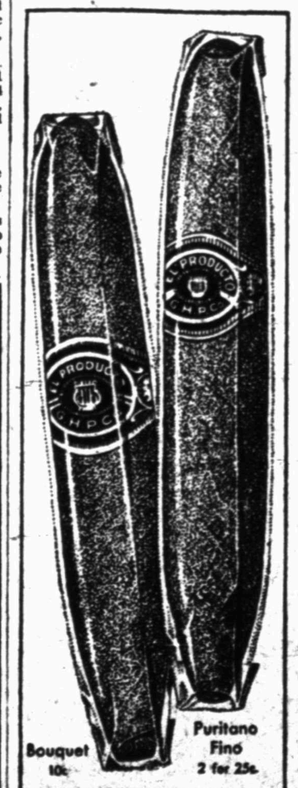

Stephen Powers and King defeated James Parr and Roger Golden in the doubles match by the count of 6-2, 2-6, 5-0. When the second set was finished the sun was going down, so they played three out of five games for the third set. The Wichita pair had been a bit slow in the second set, but they changed their pace and took the first three games of the third set.

There was a great difference in the size of the two teams on the court. Parr is about six feet tall and Golden a bit shorter, while Stephen and Rufus will barely reach the five-foot mark. Electra managed to take both matches last Saturday, but they were a bit off form this time.

Training the Memory

Possibly everyone has heard of some memory expert who claims to remember the name, address, telephone number and occupation of everyone to whom he has ever been introduced. It is true that some people are undoubtedly endowed by Nature with phenomenal memories, although the claims made are usually exaggerated, and are often the result of learning little tricks for refreshing the memory.

It is estimated that there are at least 600,000,000 nerve cells in the brain. Each one of these nerve cells may have hundreds of small branches which form numberless combinations with other cells. Sensations entering the brain through the eyes, ears, or other senses are selected and carried in some way to special groups of these cells. Through repetition, these impressions may make special groups of cells function more easily.

Memory is undoubtedly a complicated process, for it consists in the ability to recall and visualize that which has occurred before. We probably think of having the thought force travel over the groups of cells which were affected by previous experiences.

It is true that no amount of training will create a good memory if the brain cells are defective, but it is often possible for one with a weak natural memory to surpass one of exceptional ability through learning to train the mind more intensely.

A good memory depends upon the power of grouping ideas so that they are in rational order. The one who thinks most strongly upon the things he desires to memorize will have the best memory, if other conditions are equal.

Many persons have remarkable memories of all the facts concerning their particular specialties, and yet may have poor memories in other fields.

Your memory is created mainly by impressions coming to the brain through the eyes, ears and muscle sense. Most people do not realize how important the muscle sense is in memorizing. Whenever you speak you are forcing the muscles of your lips, tongue and vocal cords to act, and the brain also receives the impression of their movements, so that one of the easiest ways to memorize is to speak out loud whatever you are trying to memorize.

The loss of memory which comes on in old age is usually due to the destructive effects of toxins in the system. The nerve cells of the brain are especially easily damaged. Apoplexy or concussion of the brain may cause a temporary or permanent loss of the memory.

In improving the memory it is important to increase all of the channels of elimination, overcoming anemia, dyspepsia and constipation. The toxins from intestinal poisoning are undoubtedly one of the greatest factors in producing a bad memory.

The one who would memorize must learn to think properly, clearly classifying events in his mind and associating new ideas with previously learned facts.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Holes in Lungs

Question—T. H. D. asks: "Where there are holes in the lungs can new tissue be grown by the right diet and living?"

Answer—Lesions or pockets which have formed in the lungs will in many cases heal through proper treatment. The new tissue will be mostly scar tissue and tubercle which are partly formed from the calcium which the blood deposits around the inflamed areas. The formation of such tissue is probably only of value in that it is used in healing the affected part. It is doubtful if any scar tissue formed is ever the same as natural lung tissue through which oxygen may be absorbed and poisonous gases eliminated.

Milk Diet

Question—R. F. asks: "Is milk good for anemia?"

Answer—In some cases of both primary and secondary anemia patient receives good results from taking a milk diet, providing this is supplemented with the use of non-starchy vegetables several times a day.

Rheumatism at 70

Question—V. B. M. sks: "Will a man of 70 years of age get over the rheumatism or not by fasting, and if a person is underweight is fasting good for him?"

Answer—It is always possible to eliminate rheumatic poisons and get over the soreness which goes with any kind of rheumatism, but it is not always possible to remove the bony growths which have formed in long-continued cases of arthritis. Those who are underweight get quicker results from fasting and therefore do not have to fast as long to get the same results as one who is overweight.

P.-T. A. Completes Year's Scrap Book

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, March 23.—The Thompson Ward Parent-Teacher association has completed its scrap book and entered it in the contest sponsored by the 13th district organization. The book is blue with gold lettering and the writing is mounted on blue paper. Clippings from newspapers giving advance accounts of the meetings and also clippings following the meetings have been arranged in the order of the meetings.

Inside publicity is also included in the book. Invitations and letters were sent to the 280 parent homes represented in the school asking them to come to the meetings and health charts were sent to the homes for the benefit of the organization, the register books, the attendance pictures, standard of excellence, and the year book.

Those responsible for the preparation of the book are Mrs. W. M. Austin, chairman; Misses Eura Wilkinson and Mabel Swafford.

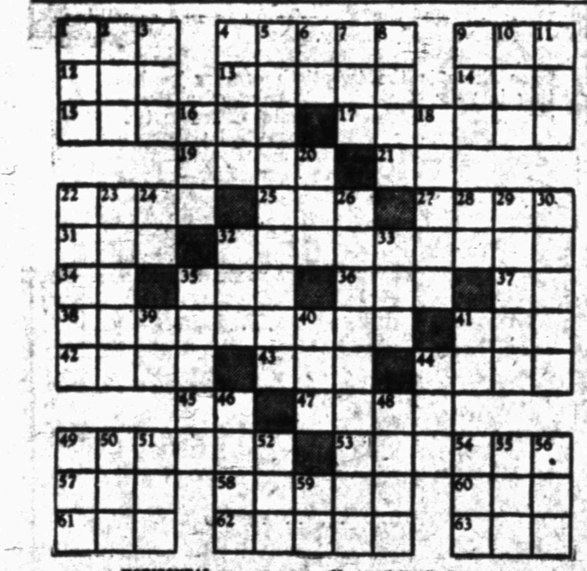

Electra P.-T. A. Visits Barwise Organization

Special to The Record News.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, March 23. (AP)—Cotton was lower today under liquidation, together with some local and commission house selling, which appeared to be inspired by relatively easy cables and the publication of reports from Washington regarding the stabilization policies of the federal farm board. The latter appeared to have an unsettling effect on sentiment, which was promoted by weakness in grain, and probably accounted for some of the selling. May contracts sold off to 10.80 and closed at 10.82, with the general market closing steady at net declines of 17-23 points.

A report received here after the close of the market said the federal farm board had made no statement regarding the 1931 cotton crop, and added that cotton stabilization purchases so far had been confined to the 1929 crop. Liverpool cabled that local covering in that market had been supplied by Manchester and Continental liquidation and reported buyers of cotton cloths and yarns cautious with a moderate turnover.

Houses with Japanese and other trade connections were said to be buyers here on the decline. Southern selling was said to be very little in evidence and the bulk of the offerings were attributed to liquidation of scattering account.

Futures closed steady, 17 to 23 points lower; spot quiet; middling 10.80.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 23. (AP)—Somewhat more activity featured trading in cotton here today but it was at the expense of values as prices eased off steadily during the morning session, due to weakness in stocks and wheat and the announcement of the farm loan board that it would buy no wheat of the 1931 production for stabilizing purposes. Traders believed the same policy would apply to cotton. Longs liquidated and ring traders sold. After opening 3 points down despite steady Liverpool cables prices eased off all morning finally showing losses of 21-23 points from Saturday's close.

The market recovered 2-5 points from the lowest during the early afternoon on covering. Exports for the day were large, 35,688 bales, of which 11,700 bales were for shipment to India. The local banks have reduced the interest rate on margin certificates from 2½ to 1½ per cent.

The market continued to rule steady in the late afternoon in sympathy with some improvement in stocks and closed 3-5 points above the lowest, the general market showing net losses for the day of 16-19 points.

Port receipts 12,434; for week 18,502; for season, 8,341,340; last season, 7,996,911. Exports 35,688; for week 45,836; for season, 5,349,256; last season, 5,650,438. Port stocks 3,911,707; last year, 1,980,783. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 92,886; last year, 96,529; spot sales at southern markets, 5,839; last year, 4,645.

Unfavorable Wheat Market Has Depressing Effect Upon Stocks

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, March 23. (US)—The stock market today had to contend with a decidedly unfavorable wheat market situation among other unfavorable developments pertaining to dividends and earnings.

With this weight of opposition, it was surprising that stock prices did not slump more than they did. The day's net declines were limited to an average of less than a point for the entire list. A remarkable technical position, created by unceasing short-selling, with resultant building-up of a very extensive bear account, undoubtedly accounted for the market's relative stability in the face of the steady stream of bearish news.

Here and there, however, a stock broke loose from the main body to suffer a sharp decline for reasons quite obvious. From the very opening, the stock market was aware of the public disclosure of the farm board's decision to withdraw from the farm commodity markets upon the termination of the present crop activities.

Sharp declines in wheat and other grains naturally imparted considerable nervousness to stocks, but at no time during the session was there evidence of any great outpouring of stocks for sale. Volume was maintained around the two-million-share level.

U. S. Industrial Alcohol provided the day's most drastic decline, the stock selling down to a new low, off over 7 points net on the day. It is fully recognized now that the $6 dividend on this stock will be lowered. Talk of its complete omission seems ill-founded, since the company last year earned close to $3 a share; it closed 1930 by making enormous write-offs on inventories. At one time during the day, the nearest bid was 5 points away from the last sale. A further decline in Liquid Carbonic inspired talk that the dividend on the issue may be completely omitted.

Despite the general tendency toward lower levels, a few stocks, under aggressive sponsorship, managed to attain new high prices. Auburn was the outstanding performer on the bull side, attaining the best price of the year on a sharp advance which finally closed the stock up over 4 points on the day. Volume of trading in the stock, however, suggested that considerable profit-taking had developed.

Freeport-Texas was another strong issue, likewise reaching the best price of the year on activity attributed to Cutten interests. The stock today sold 50 per cent higher than the lowest level of 1931.

Throughout the list is was evident that the strongest displays were being made by stocks harboring extensive short interests. Thus, Westinghouse Electric closed a fraction higher, nothwithstanding persistent endeavors by the bears to force it down.

Railroad stocks as a group were lower, and closed less than 2 points above their lowest average price of the current year. Public utilities were likewise fractionally lower on the average.

Stocks affected by farm conditions were under pressure, Case Threshing declining over 3 points. This stock has been supported for weeks merely by the sizeable short interest.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, March 23. (AP)—Sharp fluctuation in the contract grain markets had some effect on cash grain at Fort Worth Monday. Wheat was stronger but corn, oats and sorghums all sagged.

Quotations basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, of any protein, 79½@81c.

Corn—No. 2 mixed, 70½@71c; No. 2 white, 73@73½c; No. 2 yellow, 73@73½c.

Oats—No. 2 red, 42¼@42½c; No. 3 white delivered Texas group 1 points, 41¾@42½c.

Barley—No. 2, 55@56c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100 lbs., $1.23@1.25; No. 2 kaffir, $1.20@1.21.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 23. (AP)—Confronted by official announcement that United States government-sponsored efforts to stabilize grain prices would not be extended to 1931 crops, June wheat collapsed 11½ cents here today.

The spectacular drop was associated with flurried attempts to adjust the Chicago market to a world competitive export basis, especially a level low enough to rival Canadian wheat as shown by reduced quotations at Winnipeg. Uncertainty as to how existing huge wheat holdings of federal farm board allies would be disposed of added to trade nervousness, and the Chicago market plunged down to below any level since 1895, when July wheat sold at 50½c a bushel, the lowest point touched since dealings in monthly future delivery contracts were first started.

Today's maximum setback of Chicago wheat values was in the June delivery, which slipped from 76½c down to 65c. Transactions in June delivery were of comparatively small volume, however, and other months showed a maximum loss of but 2⅝c.

Wheat closed nervous, ranging from a shade to 2⅝c under Saturday's finish, except June delivery, which finished 9c off. Corn closed 1@1⅛c lower, oats ⅛@⅞c down, and provisions unchanged to 5c decline.

Corn and oats owed their weakness entirely to the action of wheat. Corn touched a new low price record for the season, May 62¼c.

Provisions were easier, influenced by downturns in hog values and in grain.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, July 58⅞@59c, 60⅛@⅝c; Sept. 59⅝@61⅛. Corn, May 62⅝@½c, 63½c; July 64⅛@⅝, 65⅝@⅛, 63½c; July, 64⅛@⅝c, 65⅝@⅞c; Sept. 64½@⅝c, 65⅝c.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, March 23. (AP)—(USDA)—A liberal run of cattle around the 11 market circuit had a depressing influence to the trade on killing classes but there was a fairly broad country demand for replacement stock at fully steady prices. Fed steers, yearlings and fat she stock found a slow outlet at prices unevenly steady to 25c lower. The lower grades of steers generally showed the most decline. The bunk of fed steers and yearlings at the river markets ranged from $7.00@8.50 with choice steers in Chicago topping at $10.50. Yearling heifers in Chicago realized $9.25 while choice mixed yearlings at Kansas City brought $9.00. The bulk of replacement steers are selling from $6.50@8.50 with short yearling stockers upward to $9.25. Aggregate receipts estimated at 68,900 show a decrease of 10,000 from a week ago.

Increased supplies of sheep prompted an uneven decline in fat lamb prices with most points on the close reporting losses of 25c or more. Some weakness also prevailed on aged stock. Outsiders in Chicago paid up to $9.25 for fed wooled lambs while at Kansas City native spring lambs sold up to $11.75. Total offerings were around 103,800 as compared with 90,471 last Monday.

Hogs found a slow outlet at values unevenly steady to 25c lower. Most markets showed losses of 5@10c. The supply numbering around 118,800 was 24,000 under a week ago.

AROUND THE RADIO CLOCK

(Time is central standard throughout)

NEW YORK, March 23. (AP)—Clarence Darrow, noted criminal lawyer, playing the part of the defense attorney in the radio presentation of "The Trial of Benedict Arnold," is to ask for clemency.

Mr. Darrow, who is doing his first bit as a radio actor, together with James M. Beck, former solicitor general of the United States, who takes the part of the prosecutor, said that would be his plea when the defense side of the case is heard in the broadcast on the second and concluding episode next Sunday night. In the first episode last night the prosecution presented its testimony.

The trial, one of the series of "Famous Trials of History," and a Sunday night feature on WEAF and stations at 9:15, is to be followed by those of Napoleon Bonapart, Mary Queen of Scots, Aaron Burr and others.

Mr. Beck and Mr. Darrow, playing their radio roles as they would act in a real trial, wrote their own parts. The broadcasts are made from the stage of the NBC Times Square studio, which is laid out to resemble a courtroom. All other members of the cast, including the judge, played by Louis Hector, are radio actors.

Crane Wilbur's story of a struggling young musician, "The Haunted Violin," is to be presented by WEAF and network in two episodes, the first at 10:15 Tuesday night and the second on the following Tuesday. Ota Gygi, concert violinist, takes the leading role.

O. H. Caldwell, former member of the federal radio commission, is to discuss radio receivers in the first of two Tuesday talks on WEAF and stations at 10:30 p. m.

The theme of the Voters' Service, WEAF and hookup at 6 p. m., is to be "Tariff and the Market Basket."

Electra School Debate Tryouts Set for Tuesday

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, March 23.—Tryouts in the debate contest of the high school will be held Tuesday, according to E. E. Rogers, principal of the high school. The six candidates for the boys' team and the three candidates for the girl's team will discuss either an affirmative or negative speech on the debate question: "Resolved, That a Substitute for Trial By Jury Should Be Adopted." The contest should be very close as the squad has been studying for more than a month on the questions. Different teams have also debated in practice tilts with other schools.

Those trying out are T. C. McCorkle, Dean Cunningham, W. B. Teel, W. B. January, Oren Waters and Keith Chunn for the boys and Marjorie Beasley, Oleta Bowling and Pauline Bogart for the girls. Two speakers and a substitute will be chosen for each team.

Memphis Income Tax Shows 1931 Decrease

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Texas, March 23.—The income tax report for Memphis showed almost 95 per cent decrease over the taxes for the corresponding time last year. The amount of income tax paid in is approximately $500 as compared to $10,000 paid for 1929.

According to J. B. Wright, public accountant, approximately 90 individuals and corporations have paid income taxes here. The bulk of the tax was paid by 10 or 12 persons, with the largest single tax paid estimated at $145.

JOINER WELL RUNNING WILD

George B. Ray Confronted By Outlaw Gusher

Special to The Record News.

HENDERSON, Texas, March 23.—What promises to be the largest oil well in the Joiner area blew in today on the Birdwell tract southeast of the Joiner extension and spewed wasted oil under the rotary top at an estimated rate of between 15,000 and 20,000 barrels per day.

It is the R. M. V. Oil company's No. 1 Birdwell, 150-acre lease on the M. J. Pru survey.

The crew was putting down drill pipe preparatory to running tubing when the well came in and then went out of control this morning. Even at that time, mud was being pumped into the casing in an effort to keep the well under control.

Stops in the rotary top prevented the flow from hitting the derrick top. While some of the oil is coming through the rotary top, a majority of it is running through the six and five-eighth inch casing under the derrick and is being lost.

A blow-out preventer is being installed and mud pumped into the hole and workmen expect to get the well under control by night-fall, George B. Ray, partner in the company, said this noon.

Members of the company and George Ray, of Wichita Falls; McClanahan of Dallas; and Venerable of Amarillo. The company, in addition to the 150-acre lease on the Birdwell track, has a 200-acre adjoining tract.

Bringing in of the well expands the Joiner extension field a mile and a half southeast of the Lide-Rowe No. 1 Young, nearest producer, and vindicates, in part, the Guy V. Lewis Smith county well northwest of it.

Although the well is located in granted proven territory, blowing in of the well to such proportions came as a distinct surprise.

All traffic is being stopped a half mile from the well and precautions are being taken to prevent fire, Ray said.

Seniors at Stamford Give Play April 3

Special to The Record News.

STAMFORD, Texas, March 23.—Members of the senior class of Stamford High school will stage their senior play "Listen in on the Campus" on April 3 at the city auditorium. Proceeds from the play annually go to pay for the farewell gift of the class to the school.

The play is being directed by Mrs. Dayle Middleton, local teacher of expression. Elizabeth Roberts takes the role of Corrine Cameron; Virginia Harris, that of Theodore Van Dyke; Virginia Ramey, Bettina Burton; Ruby Wedeking, Marion Meredith; Lois Chandler, Nora, the maid; Alice Lyles, Gail Overton; Margaret Upshaw, Molly Moore; Irene Rucker, Courtney Calhoun; Ruby Gould, Jennifer Layne; Inez Meeker, Cecile Shirley; Modelle Fitzgerald, as Ruth Reaves. Male roles are taken by Jack Moore, Douglas Baker, Hubert Bounds, Hulon Lanmon, Tom Alexander, Randell Cannon, Buster Hall, Lorne York, R. C. Metcalf and Roy Rosene.

EACH CLASSIFIED AD is an argument in favor of your seeing what this section holds for you each day.

There Are Various Ways of Doing Things

But There Is Usually ONE BEST One!

That holds true in locating a desirable rental location. There is the old time method—wearing out shoe leather—and disposition—looking up and down this street and that one—trying to find something desirable—usually failing.

Then there is the twentieth century method—sitting in your easy chair in front of a fireplace or electric fan—reading the rental offers in the Daily Times and Record News Classified Columns—making the selection EASILY and Conveniently—then getting in touch with the advertiser—and arranging to view the property.

Which is the best? Not a difficult question to answer, is it? Remember this when YOU are seeking a location and when you have rooms to rent.

Our courteous ad taker will receive your Classified Ad and help you to word it, then our collector will call the next day. These accounts are "accommodation accounts" for the convenience of our patrons in transacting business over the telephone.

Classified Ad patrons desiring to have ads charged must have a telephone listed in their own name. No book record is made by the publishers on account of the great number of transactions, hence the necessity of collecting promptly.

Correction of errors in Classified Ads must be made before the second insertion. No allowance will be made for more than one incorrect insertion.

Cancellations and adjustments regarding errors should be telephoned to the Classified Ad department between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m.

Ads accepted for afternoon paper up until 11 a. m. same day.

Morning paper up to 6 p. m. for the following morning.

Sunday paper up to 7 o'clock Saturday night.

Same copy in both papers.

THE CLASSIFIED DEPARTMENT IS OPEN ON SUNDAYS from 4 to 6 p. m. and telephone orders for classified ads to be inserted or to be discontinued will be accepted.

Exceptions: Want ads will be accepted over the telephone for all excepting the following classifications: Situations Wanted and Wanted to Rent. Ads for these classifications are cash with the order and will not be accepted over the telephone.

The Times reserves the right to classify all Classified Ads under the appropriated headlines and to revise or to withhold from publication any ads deemed objectionable.

AUCTION BRIDGE MADE SIMPLE!

Lesson No. 43

INFORMATORY DOUBLES (CONT'D)

IN Auction if the opponent bids following an informatory double, the double is nullified as far as fourth hand is concerned. Second hand should be careful not to double dealer's No Trump unless he can play a major suit, because a major bid is requested by such a double. Again if dealer bids a suit, second hand may use this double to ask for a major suit bid from partner, if he holds four of a major suit and some help. If he has no major bid but has dealer's suit stopped twice, he should bid No Trump in response to the double.

ORDINANCE NO. 1049

An ordinance ordering an election in the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, to be held on the seventh day of April, A. D., 1931, for the purpose of submitting to the qualified voters of the city of Wichita Falls, for adoption or rejection, amendments to the existing charter of the city of Wichita Falls, designating the places at which said election is to be held, appointing presiding officers thereof, and declaring an emergency.

Whereas, on the second day of February, A. D., 1931, a resolution was duly passed by the board of aldermen of the city of Wichita Falls giving notice of the intention to pass an ordinance providing for the submission to the qualified voters of the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, of proposed amendments to the existing charter of said city; and,

Whereas, notice of intention to submit such charter amendments was given by publication in Wichita Falls Record News, the official newspaper of said city, published in said city, and which notice was published for ten days, the date of the first publication thereof being not less than twenty days next preceding the date of this ordinance; and,

Whereas, the board of aldermen of the city of Wichita Falls deems it proper to submit proposed amendments to the present city charter to the qualified voters of the said city, an opportunity having been afforded persons to appear for and against said amendments; therefore,

Be it ordained by the board of aldermen of the city of Wichita Falls, Texas:

Section 1: That an election be held in the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, on the seventh day of April, A. D., 1931, for the purpose of submitting to the qualified voters of said city, for adoption or rejection, the following proposed amendments to the existing charter of the city of Wichita Falls:

AMENDMENT NO. 1

To amend section 34 of the city charter of the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, so as to hereafter read as follows:

"Section 34: At 8 o'clock p. m. on the Monday next following the regular municipal election the board of aldermen shall meet at the usual place for holding such meetings, at which time the newly elected aldermen shall assume the duties of office. Thereafter the board of aldermen shall meet at such time and place as may be prescribed by ordinance, but not less frequently than once each month. Special meetings may be called by the mayor and shall be called by the city clerk upon the written request of three aldermen or the city manager. All meetings of the board of aldermen, and of committees thereof, except as hereinafter provided, shall be open to the public and the board shall provide by its rules that citizens shall have an opportunity to be heard at any such meeting in regard to any matter considered, or to be considered, thereat. Executive sessions of the board of aldermen may be held when considering the advisability of appointing or removing officers or employes of the city, or when considering any litigation to which the city is a party, or the settlement thereof, or any matter likely to produce any such litigation, or when considering the purchase of any public utility or other property, and when determining the policy of the city relative thereto, but no vote shall be taken except in open meeting, after such executive session is over and announcement of that fact is made at the door of the city hall where such meeting is held. The board of aldermen shall be the judge of the election and qualification of its members, subject to review by the courts, but any alderman convicted of a felony while in office shall thereby immediately forfeit his office. The board may determine its own rules of procedure, punish its members for disorderly behavior and with the consent of four-fifths of all the members, may expel an alderman. A majority of all the members elected to the board of aldermen shall constitute a quorum to do business, but a smaller number may adjourn from time to time."

AMENDMENT NO. 2

To amend section 81 of the city charter of the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, so as to hereafter read as follows:

TAXES—WHEN DUE AND PAYABLE INTEREST AND PENALTIES

Section 81: All taxes due the city of Wichita Falls shall be payable at the office of the city assessor and collector, and may be paid at any time after the tax rolls for the year have been completed and approved, which tax rolls shall be completed and approved not later than October first, and no demand shall be required to be made upon any taxpayer whose duty it shall be to attend at the collector's office and pay the same as aforesaid.

Unless otherwise provided by ordinance as hereinafter provided, all taxes levied and collected for the year 1930 shall be paid by February 1, 1931, or thereafter bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, and all taxes hereafter to be levied for the year 1931 and subsequent years shall be paid by the first day of February of the year succeeding the levy, and when not paid by February first, shall thereafter bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, and in addition thereto there shall be collected an additional 10 per cent upon the amount of such taxes as a penalty against the person, firm or corporation failing, neglecting or refusing to pay such taxes by the time when the same began to bear interest as aforesaid, which penalty shall be collected by seizure and sale of personal or real property of the delinquent or by suit, the same as herein provided for the collection of taxes.

A lien is hereby created on all property, real and personal, in favor of the city of Wichita Falls for all taxes, ad valorem, occupation or otherwise, assessed against such property. Said lien shall exist from the first day of January in each year until the taxes are paid; such lien shall be prior to all other claims, and no gift, sale, assignment, or transfer of any kind, or judicial writ of any kind can ever defeat such lien, but the assessor and collector of taxes can pursue such property and whenever found may seize and sell enough thereof to satisfy such taxes, or the city may enforce and foreclose said liens, by suit or otherwise, in any court having jurisdiction, and may cause all or any part of such property to be sold to satisfy such taxes.

The board of aldermen may, from time to time, by ordinance provide that all taxes due the city of Wichita Falls for the year 1930, and—or any subsequent year or years, may be paid in equal installments, but in no event to exceed four such installments, and may fix the times when such installments shall become due and payable, and may provide that failure to pay any one or more of such installments when due shall render all of the unpaid balance of such taxes delinquent, and the penalty accrued thereon and may provide the time when and the circumstances under which the penalty on all such taxes shall accrue thereon, and may fix the time when the interest on such taxes or unpaid balance shall commence to run but the rate of such interest shall never exceed six per cent per annum.

Upon the adoption of such ordinance or ordinances the time of payment and the like therein, shall supersede and take the place of the aforesaid provisions of this section applicable thereto.

This amendment shall not affect the validity of any taxes levied and assessed for the year 1930 and prior years.

Section 2: That the polling places and presiding officers at said election, shall be respectively as follows:

Amendment No. 1—Do you vote to amend the present city charter of the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, by amending and changing section 34 to provide that the board of aldermen shall meet at such time and place as may be prescribed by ordinance, but not less frequently than once each month?

Answer: Yes. No.

Amendment No. 2.—Do you vote to amend the present city charter of the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, by amending and changing section 81, so that the board of aldermen may by ordinance provide for the payment of taxes for the year 1930 and subsequent years in not to exceed four equal installments, and provide for penalty and interest on delinquent taxes, and also change and amend said section and provide that the city of Wichita Falls shall have a first and superior lien to secure the payment of all taxes?

Answer: Yes. No.

Section 6: All voters desiring to vote for the adoption of any of the proposed amendments shall permit to remain on their ballots, with respect to each proposed amendment which they desire to have adopted, the word: "Yes." And those opposed shall permit to remain on their ballots, with respect to each amendment which they desire to have rejected, the word: "No."

Section 7: The city clerk shall at once mail a copy of each of the proposed amendments to every qualified voter in the city of Wichita Falls, as appears from the tax collector's rolls for the year ending Jan. 31, 1931.

Section 8: A copy of this ordinance shall be sufficient notice of said election, and thirty days' notice of the time and place (or places) of holding the said election shall be given by publication of such notice once each week for four weeks, the date of the first publication being not less than thirty full days prior to the date of the election.

Section 9: The fact that the present charter of said city is inadequate, and the importance of the proposed charter amendments, creates an emergency and an imperative public necessity for the suspension of the rule requiring ordinances to be read upon more than one day and for the immediate taking effect of this ordinance, and such rules is hereby suspended, and this ordinance shall take effect immediately upon its passage and approval.

Passed and approved this, the 2nd day of March, A. D., 1931.

Walter Nelson Jr., mayor.

Attest: W. E. McBroom, city clerk.

HOSPITAL TO CUT EXPENSES

$12,000 Reduction Planned For New Budget

Plans for reducing operating expenses of the Wichita General hospital by at least $12,000 in 1931 were revealed to members of the city council Monday night by Dr. C. R. Hartsook and Harvey Harris, representing the hospital board.

As shown in a summarized report of the finances of the General hospital for the past year, its practice is divided into two classes, free and paying patients. With an expenditure of about $5.38 per day during the past year for each charity patient, the hospital was required to call upon the city and county for more than $47,000. The amount received from paying patients was $59,432.35, with probably $1,000 yet to be collected, Dr. Hartsook said.

During the year 1931, both speakers predicted, the hospital will be able to do its work with no more than $35,000 furnished by city and county. About $6,000 will be saved by means of salary reductions, it was said, and various other economies have been applied.

A report of the board of appeals consisting of Charles I. Francis, chairman; Luke W. McCrory and Leon Deaton, was received and filed. The board was appointed recently to review the council's action in rejecting the application of J. H. Allison for permission to erect a gasoline filling station on the southwest corner of Taylor and Tenth streets.

An ordinance was passed on an emergency reading, closing the alley back of the new federal building site, between Lamar and Travis streets, in compliance with the federal government's requirements.

C.-C. Committee To Plan Trade Trip

Definite plans for the first trade trip of the season will be made Tuesday noon when a committee of the manufacturers and jobbers division of the chamber of commerce meets at the Holt hotel with the trade tours committee of the Junior chamber, it was announced Monday. The committee is composed of Roy Mann, chairman; L. H. Estes, H. R. Cramer, Luther Robertson, and Paul Putty. The standing committee of the Junior chamber is headed by J. H. Durnal.

Anti-Administration Candidates to Speak

Supporters of P. B. Cox, Fred Cone and W. D. Corlett, candidate for election to the city council in the election of April 7, will open their campaign in a meeting to be held at the Bangel Junior high school Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock, according to W. E. George, general chairman of the movement.

All of the three aldermanic candidates will be presented to the audience present, Mr. George said, and a number of their supporters will speak.

WICHITA MAN DRINKS POISON

Youth Near Death After Girl Refuses Plea

A young Wichita Falls man was in a critical condition at the Wichita General hospital late Monday afternoon after he had been found unconscious on the floor of an office in the Hamilton building, according to information given by hospital authorities.

Near the man, according to information to police, was found an almost empty bottle which had contained a disinfectant. First aid was given by a physician in the building before he was taken to the hospital.

Although in a critical condition, attending physicians expressed the belief that he would recover. Refusal of his attentions by a young woman was given as the cause of the youth's attempt to end his life.

Brothers Face Charge Of Assault to Kill

Barney and Ladonia Stout, brothers, were charged with assault with intent to kill in complaints signed by Deputy Sheriff Pat Allen and filed before Justice of the Peace R. V. Gwinn Monday morning, according to Mike Anglin, assistant district attorney.

With a bullet wound in his arm, Ladonia Stout was transferred Monday from the Wichita General hospital to the Wichita county jail, it was said. His brother, Barney, is still under treatment at the hospital, according to the information given, his skull injured by a blow with an automobile piston.

Boswell Attends City Building Conference

An open forum for discussion of municipal problems during the southwestern conference on town and city building Monday and Tuesday in Dallas is being attended by John Boswell, manager of the chamber of commerce here. The conference is expected to be attended by 1,000 city officials, chamber of commerce heads and civic leaders from over the entire Southwest, according to information received here.

Called by Father's Death

J. W. Duncan, bailiff of the 89th district court, has gone to Moody, Texas, where he was called by the sudden death of his father.

A few weeks ago, there was printed in this column a prediction that seven pictures—"All Quiet on the Western Front," "Holiday," "Journey's End," "Anna Christie," "The Big House," "With Byrd at the South Pole" and "Tom Sawyer" would be included in the list of the annual "best ten" for 1930.

◇ ◇ ◇

Just one of those pictures missed the list—"Tom Sawyer," and it very nearly made the grade, landing on the roll of honor instead. The other six named above, together with "Abraham Lincoln," "The Divorcee," "Hell's Angels" and "Old English" made up the 1930 list, polled from a vote taken by 333 motion picture critics, representing 293 individual daily newspapers, three syndicates serving about 450 additional papers and 36 fan and trade publications.

◇ ◇ ◇

In addition to the 10 on the list of superlatives, 44 were on the honor roll, as having gotten at least 10 votes for the list. These included such successes as "The Big Trail," "Let Us Be Gay," "Min and Bill," "The Green Goddess," "Young Man of Manhattan" and "Tol'able David," and a few choices that were not so good.

◇ ◇ ◇

It is interesting to note that three pictures dealt with war—"All Quiet," "Journey's End" and "Hell's Angels"; one with a purely scientific subject, "With Byrd at the South Pole"; one with a social problem, "The Big House"; one with history and a great figure, "Abraham Lincoln"; one with a characterization, "Old English"; leaving just three as plain, unadorned plays—"Anna Christie," "Holiday" and "The Divorcee."

◇ ◇ ◇

It is also interesting to list the characters who made names for themselves or who repeated their former successes in these ten. Lew Ayres, Walter Huston, Ann Harding, Colin Clive, Greta Garbo, Marie Dressler, George F. Marion, Wallace Beery, Robert Montgomery, Chester Morris, Admiral Richard E. Byrd and some unnamed penguins, Norma Shearer, Richard Barthelmess and George Arliss were brought to the forefront in these pictures.

◇ ◇ ◇

That leaves out Ruth Chatterton, Frederic March, John Barrymore, Claudette Colbert and Will Rogers, who may have a chance in 1931 to land alongside of Richard Dix, whose picture, "Cimarron," is my first nomination.

SERVICES FOR MRS. MARCUS

Last Rites for Pioneer Set Wednesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Pauline Marcus, 86, early settler of Wichita Falls, who died at her home in Dallas Sunday, will be held Wednesday at Dallas, according to information received here.

Mrs. Marcus' death was caused by heart trouble, from which she had suffered for several years. She was recovering from a heart attack, it was said, when a fatal relapse occurred. She had resided in Wichita Falls for many years prior to her removal to Dallas about 25 years ago. Her husband was engaged in business here for many years before his death about three years ago.

Mrs. Abe Marcus, a daughter-in-law here, left Monday afternoon to attend the services. Mr. A. Marcus, a son of Forth Worth, also survives.

Kiwanis Club Hears Talk by Vernon Man

Need for a higher type of citizenship more generally prevalent among the population of our country was declared before members of the Kiwanis club Monday noon at the Kemp hotel by Ed Gossett, Vernon attorney.

The speaker laid particular stress upon the alleged failure of American citizens to exercise the privilege of the ballot accordig to their enfranchisement. Civic indifference, he declared, is more fatal than civic infidelity to the progress of civilization.

The speaker was introduced by Pat Hardage, program chairman.

Canon Arthur Rudd, of the staff of Washington cathedral at Washington, D. C., gave a brief description of that edifice. Vocal solos by Robert Duke, tenor, accompanied by Miss Ruby Murrell, constituted a musical program.

I. O. Boosters To Sponsor Ball Team

Plans for entering an amateur baseball team in the proposed Merchants' league in this city for the ensuing season were tentatively adopted Monday noon by members of the I. O. Boosters club.

Dr. Fred Gross, secretary, and Frank Schram and Sam Hord were authorized to complete plans for such an enterprise.

Miss Maggie Joe Bell, clarinet; Buster Railey, clarinet; Benjamin Bushfield, trumpet, all of whom won gold medals in competition among the wind instrument pupils of Leo M. Underwood, presented a musical program. They were accompanied by Miss Mildred Anderson, pianist.

Airplane Brings Wichita Woman From Kerrville for Operation Here

Within a few hours after she was rushed into an improvised flying ambulance at Kerrville, Mrs. Guy J. Scholl, 1671 Dayton, was resting quietly after an emergency operation for appendicitis in the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital Monday night.

Mrs. Scholl, wife of a geologist for the Arkansas Fuel Oil company here, ordered a plane from the Wichita Falls Air Transport company when she was suddenly stricken while visiting Kerrville friends. A. J. Overstreet, pilot, with Dr. W. L. Parker, took off from Staley field at 10:30 Monday morning and had their patient and Mr. Scholl safely aboard for the return trip at 1:45 Monday afternoon.

Seats in the four-place cabin Stinson used for the flight were rearranged so as to afford ambulance facilities for the patient, who made the 300-mile flight without difficulty.

An ambulance of the more usual type awaited her when the ship landed here at 4:55 and she was taken at once to the hospital, where the operation was successfully performed.

ROUGH

Low-Brows of Junior C.-C. to Give Program

A gang of "roughnecks" will have charge of the luncheon program of the Junior chamber of commerce Friday, April 3, at the Kemp hotel, it was announced Monday by Maurice Cheek, president.

"The roughnecks," Mr. Cheek said, "are a group of irresponsible, irrepressable, irreconcilable, low-brows, who, through their peculiar natures and innate inclinations, have automatically banded together for no good purpose. They have served notice that they will take charge of the next luncheon program and have warned the president, the secretary and other God-fearing members of the Junior chamber of commerce not to be present at the luncheon or else . . . ."

The band of ne'er-do-wells, Mr. Cheek added, plan to meet Tuesday to make arrangements for the program.

Couple Face Charges Under Narcotic Law

Charges of possession, sale and transportation of morphine were filed Monday morning with M. E. Peters, U. S. commissioner here, against a man and woman arrested Sunday by city and federal officers, according to information given The Record News. The woman's bond was fixed at $2,000 and that of the man at $1,500. According to city officers A. L. Stubblefield and Ellis Summers, the woman had 49 grains of morphine and the man 40 grains.

HEALTH TALK

Dr. F. R. Collard will speak over radio station KGKO Tuesday morning on the subject "Vaccination Against Smallpox," it was announced Monday. The regular Tuesday medical talk is scheduled at 10 o'clock, lasting 5 minutes. It is sponsored by the Wichita County Medical society and the Wichita County Tuberculosis association.

Guinn Williams Ill at Hospital

The condition of Congressman Guinn Williams, representative of the 13th district, who is seriously ill with influenza in the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital, was reported improved Monday night.

Representative and Mrs. Williams who make their home in Decatur, were in Wichita Falls visiting their daughter, Mrs. Ted Harris, at the time the congressman was stricken Saturday night. They had planned to go on from here for a visit to California.

Although the patient has rallied from the seriousness of the first days of his illness, he is still not allowed to have visitors, hospital attendants announced.
