Two New Farm Program Rules Announced Here

Two announcements of importance to cotton and feed grain growers of the county have come out of the ASCS office during the past week. One pertains to additional cotton acreage, and the other to skip-row planting.

The county has received an additional cotton acreage allotment from the state amounting to 625 acres, Millard Brown, office manager, said. In addition, growers within the county who are not using their cotton allotments this year have released 598.8 acres, giving a total of 1223.8 acres to be allotted among growers who have requested additional acreage.

The county ASCS committee met Friday to apportion this acreage and notices of additions to the allotments will be mailed this week, Brown indicated.

The base cotton allotment for the county this year is 70,550 acres.

Last year Collingsworth received only 75 additional acres allotment from the state, and 446.8 acres were released by county growers not using their allotments. This total of 521.8 is less than half the acreage available this year.

Concerning skip-row planting, Brown said that producers who plant cotton leaving at least four rows out of production can count this acreage as layout land in the feed grain program.

Heretofore, the fallow land left between rows of cotton could not be counted as layout land in the feed grain program.

"This will give producers an opportunity to make changes in their planting plans, but just remember that there must be four blank rows or more before you can use them as diverted acres," Brown pointed out.

The County ASCS committee has set 1.5 acres in a single field as the minimum that can be designated as layout land under the skip-row provisions.

Friday and Saturday

Dodson Co-op Annual Meeting and Sale Set

Dodson Co-operative Enterprises, which operates the co-op gin and elevator in that town, will hold its annual stockholders meeting and auction sale Friday and Saturday, April 27 and 28, Edwin Crowder, manager, announced this week.

The stockholders meeting will be Friday night at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium. At that time a report will be given of the year's operation of the gin and elevator, and the highlight of the meeting comes when the patronage checks are distributed.

In discussing the gin operation, Crowder said that the 6,248 bales this year is the largest number ginned in the co-op's history. While the total rebate figure was not revealed, Crowder added that it was the second highest in the gin's history.

"In 1955, our rebates were a little higher. That year, cotton came in over a longer period, and we did not have to hire extra help; the cost of labor was less and general costs were lower at that time, and that makes the difference," the manager pointed out.

The annual auction sale, a tradition in Dodson, will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday morning, and continue through the afternoon. The articles auctioned — seed, fertilizer, farm equipment and other items—are those carried in regular stock by the Dodson co-op, but bidding will be stopped before it reaches the retail price, Crowder said.

The Dodson school students will operate the concessions.

Mary Jo Craig, secretary to vice president J. F. Langley, is general chairman of this year's meeting. The featured speakers are Richard Kim, assistant professor of government at Hardin Simmons University who will address the morning session, and C. L. Young, president of West Texas Utilities Company, who will speak at the evening banquet.

Both Parties Announce Key Political Events

Key political events for county voters, both Democrats and Republicans, were announced this week by the chairmen of the two parties.

Except for the fact that most candidates are campaigning in the rural areas this week, little outward interest has developed in county and precinct races.

Only one candidate for state office stopped in the county during the last week, and the most persistent vote seekers were the men running for state representative, both Republican and Democratic.

Judge Jesse B. Owens, of Amarillo, seeking Place 1 as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas, stopped here a short time Wednesday, April 18, while he and his wife campaigned.

Democratic candidates Grainger McIlhany, Lester Jones and George Terry, and Republican Warren Fatheree, all seeking a place in the legislature, paid regular visits during the week.

Absentee Voting

Tuesday, May 1 is the deadline for casting an absentee vote, Lorene Jenkins, county clerk, reminded those voters who plan to be away from home on election day.

So far, only 29 absentee ballots have been cast, she said Wednesday morning.

Democrats

The importance of precinct conventions is stressed this year among the Democrats, G. B. Hopper, county chairman, reported.

Precinct conventions will be held on the day of the election, Saturday, May 5, at 3 p.m., at the following voting boxes.

North Wellington — District Clerk's office.

South Wellington — District court room.

Lutie — Gin.

Samnorwood — school.

Dozier — Church of Christ.

Marella — Pettitt's Store.

Dodson — school.

Republicans

Republicans will vote in two boxes, South and North Wellington, and all Republicans of the county will vote here, Emil Kersten, chairman, announced.

The voting place for Precinct 1, South Wellington, will be the fellowship building of the First Christian Church.

Precinct 2 voting box will be at the office of Tindall Gin No. 1.

Kersten urged Republicans of all precincts who anticipate being out of town on election day to vote absentee.

Absentee votes for Republican candidates will be cast at the county clerk's office, just as are the ballots for Democratic candidates. Kersten reminded those who vote absentee that their poll tax receipts will be held by the county clerk until after the election.

Republican precinct conventions will be held, and the places and time for these will be announced next week, Kersten said.

400 Expected

Greenbelt Annual Meeting Set Friday

Approximately 400 are expected to attend the annual meeting of members of the Greenbelt Electric Co-operative, Inc., to be held at the community building in Wellington Friday, April 27.

The program will begin at 2 p.m., according to George Henry, manager.

A. J. Garland, president, will be in charge of the meeting and will appoint election judges and give the president's annual address.

Judge Luther Gribble will read the minutes of the 1961 meeting.

Two directors will be elected. Nominated from District Two are Forrest Overton and E. A. Trench of Vinson, Okla., while the nominees from District Five are Russell Blanton and Kenneth Matthews, both of Rt. 2, Claude.

Following the business meeting, a musical program will be given by the Quail school chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Lowell Wells.

In discussing the meeting, Henry has pointed out that total assets of Greenbelt Electric Co-operative, Inc., now stand at $2,464,673.37 and that the average number of customers during 1961 was 2,678, a slight increase over the preceding year.

The co-operative operates in Collingsworth, Wheeler, Gray, Donley and Armstrong counties and part of Harmon county, in Oklahoma, and Childress county.

Large Crowds at Methodist Revival Here

Large crowds are attending the revival now under way at First Methodist Church, the Rev. Davis Edens, pastor, reported this week.

Dr. Marshall Rhew, pastor of First Methodist Church, Sweetwater, is the evangelist, and two members of the church, Fred Saied and John Lanman, are directing the song service.

"Our morning services on Prayer have been outstanding," the pastor said.

Three services are held each day, at 7 and 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

50 Dogs Get Rabies Shots

Approximately 50 dogs were vaccinated at the city's third annual Rabies Clinic Monday, April 23, Police Chief Troy Marsh reported.

He added that if there is sufficient demand, Dr. Bob Jones of Childress will return for another session.

Loyalty Day Sponsored by VFW May 1

May 1 is National Loyalty Day, and the Glynn Moore Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars is asking all business houses to display the flag. The announcement was made jointly by Herbert Bearden, Commander, and Louis Berg, 18th District Vice Commander.

All city residents who have flags are also asked to display them, Berg said.

May 1 was designated National Loyalty Day by an Act of Congress in 1958.

Dodson Club Visits Mangum

The Dodson Science Club recently visited points of interest in Mangum, including the city electric light and power plant, the Gold Star Dairy, Dr. Pepper Bottling Co., and Southwest Food Company where fried pies and potato chips are made, the brick plant, Armco steel where tin horns for bridges are made, and the Mangum Star newspaper.

The students saw each of these plants or businesses in actual operation.

Going were Sharon Ford, Shirley Motsenbocker, Linda Watson, Jan Gulley, Carolyn Sexton, Jerry Whitfield, Glen Hunt, Bobby Motsenbocker, Louis Wilkerson, Garth Lewis, Tommy Hunt, Larry Ellis, Kenneth Norman, and Sherry Crownover. T. E. Lennon, superintendent of schools, was sponsor.

Paper Pick-up Due Friday

The regular old newspaper pick-up will be held Friday, April 27, when an effort will be made to get enough papers to complete a truck load, Quenton Brewer announced.

To date, a building has not been secured for storage, Brewer said.

He requested that papers be put out early in order that the mothers of Little League baseball players may pick them up.

City Council Condemns Alley

The city council, in its last meeting, passed an order condemning the alley along the south side of the McMillin Addition and in additional action returned the land to Mrs. Dudley McMillin.

The alley was established when the McMillin addition was opened. The subsequent opening of the Green Addition, to the south, made the alley unnecessary, Mayor Hiram Cudd said.

On Wellington Visit

Splendor of American West Praised by Belgian Professor

A professor from the University of Liege, Belgium, who has fallen in love with the American West and its people, voiced her enthusiasm recently as she visited with relatives here.

Prof. Simone d'Ardenne was the guest Monday, April 16, of Mrs. A. C. Boverie. Accompanying her here were Mrs. Constance Schulz of Tucson, Ariz., Mrs. Clem Boverie and Mrs. Jules Boverie of Lubbock.

Their next stop would give Dr. d'Ardenne a taste of real ranch life, at Flying H Ranch near Roswell, N.M., home of other members of the Boverie family, Mr. and Mrs. Clement Hendricks.

Prof. d'Ardenne is a Land Grant Visiting Lecturer at the University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo., a lectureship set up in observance of the 100th anniversary of the establishment of the Land Grant Colleges.

Her field is Chaucer and Middle English literature.

There is a difference in her students in the University of Liege and those of the American universities where she has lectured—but it is not in the field of their studies or their knowledge.

"It is the informality — the affection of my American students. It is a pleasant feeling," she said. To illustrate she gave a slight, formal bow to show the manner in which a European student would greet a professor—then a gay, light-hearted wave as typical of those she receives from her MU students.

A warm, vivacious woman with quick wit and engaging charm, Prof. d'Ardenne is eager to learn from her students, too. She wants to return with a full knowledge of American slang.

Here she learned about a "square," as it would apply to an older person out of tune with youth.

"Why, young people are improving," she laughed. "When I was young, we called someone like that 'old hag'."

Many Americans who go to Europe seek the roots of their family, looking up European cousins of remote degree. Prof. d'Ardenne did just the opposite. Coming to the United States, she hunted her American kin, and found them in the Boverie family.

This is her second stay in the United States as a visiting lecturer. In 1956-57 she was here as a Fullbright lecturer, visiting in 11 universities. Among them were the University of Montana, University of California at Los Angeles, Redlands University and the University of Michigan. At that time, she met with the Boverie family in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Pete Boverie at El Paso.

But it is the west that she came to love.

"The country is so splendid," she declared.

Prof. d'Ardenne is professor of Medieval English Language and Literature at the University of Liege, and the first woman to serve as the dean of its faculty. She is curator of English studies, also.

Educated at St. Anne's College, Oxford, she holds a doctor's degree. She explained, however, that in European colleges, the title of Professor is preferred, instead of the American traditional use of Doctor.

Prof. d'Ardenne's visit in Wellington was short, but she left here expressing the hope that another lectureship will bring her back to the Untied States.

Preston Smith for Lieutenant Governor Post

The lieutenant governorship of Texas is a place of major importance, and the people of the state should take great care in choosing the man who will fill it. The lieutenant governor can, and frequently does, exercise more influence over the passage or rejection of proposed legislation than the governor himself. That is because the governor has nothing more than "jawbone control" over the legislators, while the lieutenant governor is a part of the actual lawmaking machinery.

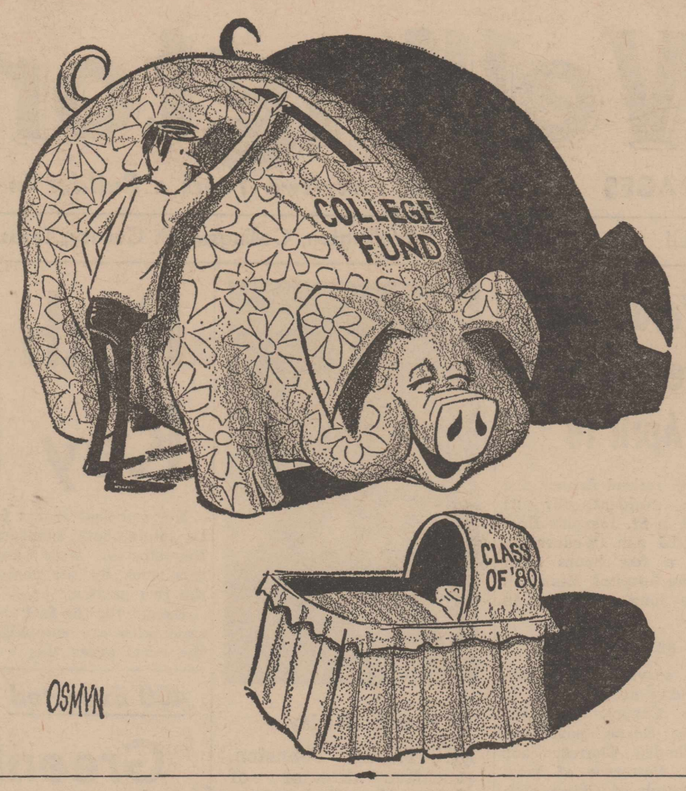

As presiding officer of the Senate, the lieutenant governor appoints all standing committees. The makeup of these committees has a great deal to do with determining what bill will be considered by the Senate and the form and circumstances under which they will come before it. Depending upon his skill and his personality, the president of the Senate also can exert great influence in other ways on the legislative produce of each session.

That makes it imperative that the voters act wisely in choosing a lieutenant governor. He should be a man of prior legislative experience—as all of the five candidates in the current race are. But he also should be a man who has demonstrated ability to live and work harmoniously with his colleagues, and who is able to command their confidence and respect. One who does not have these qualities can not hope to be effective as a lieutenant governor.

Outstanding among the five Democratic primary candidates in these needed respects, we think, is Preston Smith of Lubbock. He is thoroughly seasoned as a legislator by six years service in the House of Representatives and six years in the Senate. This experience in government is fortified by sound and growing success as a private business man. His views on state government, its attitude toward the citizens, its role in promoting the economic well-being of the state, are such that the conservative and the moderate can rally to him. Even those of a liberal disposition can be assured that there is nothing hidebound or reactionary in his views.

This is a race in which all the candidates except one have had experience in the Senate. But because of qualities he has shown himself to possess, we believe Senator Smith has a distinct edge. We believe the voters would serve themselves and their state well by electing him.—Ft. Worth Star-Telegram.

Never Too Late to Start

He Stood a Solitary Oak

(In Memory of Dr. E. W. Jones)

Throughout the ages, the oak tree has been honored as the most fitting symbol of strength and durability. It is a tree which is not only strong, durable, and a true wonder to gaze upon, but also a prolific species which multiplies itself and grows to staggering proportions from a tiny, seemingly insignificant, but truly virile seed—the acorn. It is a tree which touches upon every aspect of life, from the zenith of clear fresh air surrounding its topmost branches, to the nadir of profound probing into the moist, nourishing earth of its birth. It is a tree which knows a humble beginning but one which attains glory in its span of life. The oak tree is truly to be gazed upon in awe of its raw power, and at the same time, its practical utility and majestic beauty. It is one of God's noblest creations.

So, then, was Dr. E. W. Jones a giant oak tree of a man. He was a man who knew a humble beginning; yet a man who attained glory in his sixty-nine years on this earth. He was a man who stood tall among other men; a man whose life was an inspiration to others to pattern their lives accordingly. He was a man who touched the lives of many others—a strong, durable man whose dedication to his work, his sympathetic attitude toward the misfortunes, miseries and weaknesses of others made him, also one of God's noblest creations.

It is hoped that the following poem will do him justice:

He stood a solitary oak
With roots sunk deep into the earth.

Towering o'er all, he witnessed death,
And helped bestow the gift of birth.

To spindly saplings which sprang up
Beneath his branches all around,
Love pulsed through his massive trunk
And warmed the cold and barren ground.
That all who saw his majesty
Might strive to grow as tall as he,
Though winter with its icy wind
Might wail and rage relentlessly;

Though summer, with its seething sun,
Might seek to wilt each bright green blade
Of the spindly saplings burgeoning
'Neath his cooling, boundless shade.

..Thus, ever upward did he grow,
And the Planter of His own great seed
Rejoiced with each new branch which formed
From every pure, unselfish deed.

Yes, he stood a solitary oak,
His mighty form encompassed all,
And, from such great heights, he heard
His Master softly, sweetly call.

Now his soul is soaring heavenward,
And we slender saplings, now grown tall,
Embrace his form in memory—
This mighty oak will never fall.

Lots of Smoke But no Fire

A big crowd, lots of smoke, and no fire resulted from an overheated motor at Dairy Mart at 1:10 a.m. Thursday, April 19.

Police Chief Troy Marsh discovered the smoke, notified the Fire Department, then entered the building and turned off the electricity, stopping the smoke.

The fire department siren at the city hall hung, however, and the alarm sounded would have done justice to a major blaze.

1924 Study Club Holds Guest Day Merienda to Honor Dist. President

A guest day "merienda" honoring the Top of Texas District President, Mrs. Jack Allen of Perryton, was given by the 1924 Study Club Thursday, April 19. The club room of the community building was festively arranged with items suggestive of the "Western Hemisphere Satellites." Members added to the gala occasion by wearing costumes in keeping with the Latin American motif.

The guests were greeted by the club president, Mrs. Mack Bush; Mrs. Allen; the City Federation president, Mrs. Zook Thomas; and Wellington's entry as the Federation Teacher of the Year, Mrs. Jack Davis.

Mrs. Bush began the program by reciting the Top of Texas District pledge. After welcoming the guests, she paid tribute to Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Davis. Mrs. Davis was presented the contest entry book prepared by Misses Sara Jones and Hattie D. Wells.

The program leader was Mrs. B. M. Sims, who gave tribute to the Organization of American States. She said that "of the many maladies that afflict Latin American nations, one of the most worrisome is their dependence on one or two commodities for the bulk of their export incomes; without foreign exchange, these one-crop nations are unable to industrialize and diversify, leaving them vulnerable to communism." Attention was called to the fact that since 1947 the total Latin American exports have increased slowly in comparison with those of the rest of the world. The speaker also mentioned the accomplishments of the Inter-American Commission of Women, a part of the OAS.

Dramatized customs of the Americas were presented by students of Wellington high school. Mrs. Bob McAlister, Spanish instructor, was narrator for these "lighter vein" renditions.

Janice Wood told some of the customs one must abide by when traveling or living "south of the border." Jennifer Singley and Elaine Crawley presented a dance, popular in Mexico today. These three young ladies have attended Monterrey Tech in Monterrey, Mexico.

Accompanied by Elaine Crawley, Mrs. Sims sang in Spanish "Maria Elena" and "Green Eyes."

A vocal duet of the club's collect was sung by Mmes. Bush and Sims. Miss Patsy Falk accompanied them at the piano.

The stage setting was a semi-circle. Focal point was a tremendous, multi-colored sombrero. The speakers used a lectern enveloped in wicker and accentuated with artificial tropical fruit. Other decorations in the room included maracus, bongos, pinatas, sombreros, and a quirt.

Mrs. Allen presided at the silver tea service from a table resplendent in red, white and silver. The table's centerpiece was a small sand-blasted tree embellished with brilliant red blossoms; a white fan entwined with silver lace spanned the base of the tree. Refreshments were delicacies exported from Latin American countries.

On the registration desk was a beautifully sculptured Spanish doll, very gay and lovely in her fiesta regalia.

The guest list to this Pan American observance included the Business and Professional Women's Club, J.F.F. Club, Excelsior Club, Domestic Science Club, 1954 Study Club, Belles Lettres, women faculty members, faculty wives, Wellington high school senior girls, and their mothers.

Film of Japan for Excelsior

The Excelsior Club met on Thursday, April 19, in the Greenbelt Co-op building, with Miss Dorothy Robertson as the hostess.

During the business meeting a committee reported bulbs were bought for the club's flower bed at Ellison Park.

Mrs. Tubal Cain was in charge of the program on Japan. She gave information on the type of land, its people, and schools, and stated there was little agriculture in the country, with the main means of livelihood being fishing.

Slides were shown which were taken by Mr. Cain while he was in the Navy.

A dessert plate was served to Mmes. Morris Sullivan, Edsel Bartlett, Cain, and Misses Inez Leach, Marie Shadid, and the hostess, Miss Robertson.

WE WORK FOR ALL INDUSTRY
in the Center of the Southwest

Modern industry is a complex structure. Manufacturers rely on others to supply many things, among them raw materials, machinery, power, containers, transportation.

West Texas Utilities Company is both an industry and such a supplier. The product we make — electric power — is used by other industries in our service area.

We are proud of this close relationship. It is our job to provide a plentiful supply of electric power today. It is our obligation to increase the supply as present industries expand and new ones come in.

Our current expansion program anticipates continuing industrial growth. One example is our new Oak Creek generating station pictured above, with another and even larger plant already on the drawing boards.

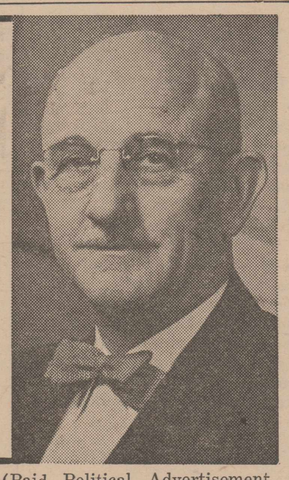

To aid in industrial development, we will continue to tell the Nation's industrialists that "...in this area lies opportunity," as evidenced by the many industries thriving today in the CENTER OF THE SOUTHWEST.

I Pledge to Do My Best:

To revise the complex State Sales Tax Law.

To secure the 87th District's fair share of money available for highways and farm to market roads—money that is available now but being used elsewhere.

To examine the insurance Merit Rating System and make revisions so badly needed.

Survey Areas Needing Quail After Carla

AUSTIN.—Surveys now are being made in the coastal areas hit by Carla last September, in an effort to determine quail losses. Following this, a re-stocking of quail from the Tyler State Game Farm will begin as soon as mature birds are available, according to W. J. Cutbirth, Jr., assistant executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

In many areas along the middle and upper coast of Texas, quail were annihilated during the Carla disturbance last year. Some landowners have reported a few birds migrating into the area, but generally the breeding stock is very low, according to the reports. A check is now being made of these areas. They will be re-stocked with birds from the hatchery on a no-cost basis, in those areas where the need is shown.

In other areas, individuals desiring quail for restocking now can file their application with the Game and Fish Commission. Birds will be available for this purpose at 50¢ each, which is approximately half the cost of production, according to Cutbirth.

When applications are filed, the area is inspected by Game Department personnel as to the availability of food and cover. If these two items are found ample, authorization then is issued for the purchase of quail for restocking purposes. These applications should be sent directly to the Game and Fish Commission in Austin.

Some quail also will be available without charge this year for re-stocking by 4-H and FFA Clubs, under a program recently adopted by the Game and Fish Commission.

POPULATION CHANGES IN TEXAS GIVEN ..

AUSTIN. — Population estimates prepared by the Population Research Center at the University of Texas reveal that 94 of the 143 counties which lost population between 1950 and 1960 registered an increase during 1960-61.

Forty-nine counties continue to lose population.

Research Center figures only 66 counties lost population between 1960 and 1961, as compared with the 143 during the previous decade.

A geographical pattern indicates that counties which have grown in the past 11 years are concentrated in the Gulf Coast area, the Northwest and in a belt running from Cooke and Grayson counties on the North Central Texas border to Travis and then curving southwest toward Maverick.

Counties with an 11-year loss are scattered, but tend to be concentrated in a wide belt running from southeast to northwest in the center of the state.

Incorrect Mail Addresses Cost for Publishers

With postal regulations becoming more strict every day, persons who depend upon the mail for delivery of letters, magazines and newspapers will do well to make sure their correct addresses are always listed.

Postal authorities had some friendly advice along this line. Be sure your address is correct. Give only your box number if you are served by a post office box. Give street and house number if you are served by city carriers and give your route number if you are served by rural route carrier.

So far, first class mail is given preferential treatment where incorrect or incomplete address is given, but this may end soon.

In the case of newspapers and magazines, where the addressee fails to inform the publishers of a change of address or lists an incorrect address, the subscriber may fail to receive the publication.

Many newspapers when they receive the post office 10-cent charge for mailing papers to incorrect addresses, simply remove the subscriber's name from their lists. Some others simply absorb the extra cost—but do so grudgingly.

As for The Wellington Leader, henceforth, when a subscriber changes his or her address and fails to inform the publisher, the name will be removed from our mailing lists.

April 30 Deadline to Render Property Tax

April 30 is the deadline for this year.

Texans to render their property for state and county ad valorem taxes, Miss Louise Fulcher, tax assessor-collector, reminded this week. It is necessary that property be rendered by this time if a homestead exemption is claimed.

Both real and personal property are to be rendered by this time, she continued.

The principal types of personal property assessed in Collingsworth county are livestock, farm equipment, including combines, motor vehicles, semi-trailers and airplanes.

Boats and farm trailers are being taxed for the first time

Irrigation wells are considered personal property for taxing purposes in this county.

The state law actually specifies a much longer list of personal property to be taxed, but no taxing units carry the requirements that far.

Business and professional men are generally required to render all merchandise, furnishings, fixtures, business automobiles and equipment.

Property not rendered for taxes is placed on the unrendered tax roll and the taxing agency places such valuation thereon as it considers fair.

"One advantage of rendering your property is that you can set your own valuation. Then if the county decides a higher valuation is in order, you will be given an opportunity to appear before the equalization board to explain why the higher figure should not be used in computing your taxes," Miss Fulcher said.

Thereafter, an appeal to the courts is possible in some instances. Generally speaking, however, the courts are unable to strike out a valuation unless the agency or board has acted arbitrarily and placed on the property a valuation higher than that placed on comparable property owned by others. If the property is not rendered, the valuation set by the taxing agency is final.

Miss Francis Drake, senior in the University of Texas, and Gus Drake, a student in the law school of the University, came for Easter with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Drake.

Mr. and Mrs. France Holley and James Holley went to Abilene Thursday, where they spent Easter with the Holleys' daughter, Mrs. Ralph Gray and children, Pat and Kay. Mike Gray, older son of the Ralph Grays, also visited there during the Easter holidays. He is stationed at an air base in Kentucky.

Richard Carter, who attends West Texas State at Canyon, was the Easter holiday guest of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Horton and John Alvin Horton.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Agee and daughter, of Kilgore, came for a surprise visit in the home of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Agee over the week end.

Investigate Two Rural Accidents During March

The highway patrol investigated two rural accidents in Collingsworth county during the month of March, according to Sgt. D. R. Dowdy, patrol supervisor of this area.

These wrecks accounted for one person injured and an estimated property damage of $960.

The rural traffic accident summary for Collingsworth county from January through March of 1962 shows a total of three crashes. As a result of these crashes there was one person injured, and the estimated property damage amounted to $1,360.

With the coming of April, motorists will be getting back out on the highways to enjoy the invigorating atmosphere and colorful countryside. The patrol supervisor pointed out that this will cause highway travel to be multiplying by leaps and bounds. He urges motorists, pedestrians, and all street and highway users to know and to obey the traffic laws, regulations, ordinances and their application, and pledge their continuous support of these laws, so that accidents may be prevented and safety universally promoted.

Childress county had 11 accidents with 8 injuries and $8,395 property damage in the period of January through March; Donley county had five accidents, three persons injured and $2,745 property damage; Hall, three accidents, none injured, and $875 property damage; and Wheeler, seven accidents, one killed, six injured, and $5,750 property damage.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

Economics expert says people are cheating the government by not having to pay income taxes on the free rent they get while living in their own homes.

It is figured that plugging this tax loophole would bring in enough extra revenue to finance a full cabinet-size Department of Getting Re-elected.

Which would take a load off the people in other departments who are now handling this work and they could put in more time on their regular jobs of aggravating the problems of Agriculture, Health, Commerce, etc.

Seems like when the Progressors take Liberalties with our U.S. Constitution, they always explain it's just an old out-dated document, and times have changed.

Times have changed, all right, like Supreme Courts used to go by what a law said, instead of what they thought it ought to say, and some stuff once came in quarts that now comes in fifths.

But, while changing times have made debt fashionable, they haven't yet changed enough to make taxes go out of style.

I see where after the big steel deal the other day, there are some folks wanting the government to take over price control in other fields also.

My thoughtful neighbor says he admires the President's method of persuading the steel people to back down on their price hike but he doubts the government ought to take charge of all prices.

Says Mr. Kennedy is pretty busy already, and it probably would be overworking him to ask him to throw one of those tantrums every time some Republican tried to raise the price on something.

I see where the Federals are getting kind of frantic for something else to tax, and so they want to put a tax on a man's boat.

Which may be necessary if we are going to go on supporting in its accustomed style our fine, super-charging, hot-air conditioned, power-steering, and otherwise loaded government.

But if the boat tax is passed, lots of people will squirm out of paying same, through the loophole of not owning a boat.

A lady scientist has been studying chickens and noticed that worried roosters are healthier than roosters that don't have any problems.

I guess our educated politicians know people are the same way, and we ought to appreciate how they are pouring on the taxes, so as to keep us worried and healthy.

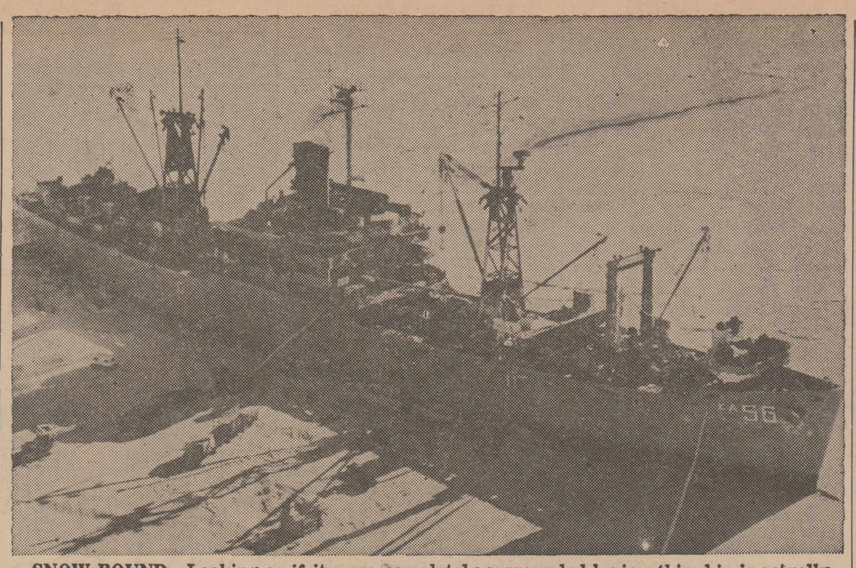

President Kennedy said he was going to improve our physical fitness, but my tax-bent neighbor says he didn't realize the treatment would be so expensive, and he had about as soon be sick and solvent.

I see where Income Tax Extractor Caplin put out a statement the other day, and he thanked us people for "voluntarily" assessing ourselves and paying our taxes.

My sensitive neighbor says he feels bad about maybe getting credit he doesn't deserve; sort of like being thanked for living.

But he has to admit that although he worked hard on his 1040, to fix it so he is reasonably sure he can stay out of jail, it is stretching things a mite to call it "voluntary."

McDaniel Picked for Trading Cards

Lindy McDaniel of Dodson is now starting his eighth season in the majors and second in the "Cardboard League."

The 26-year-old St. Louis Cardinals' pitcher, who has been throwing well in spring training, is one of 200 major leaguers selected for trading card "All Stars." Some four million cards with his photograph and major league record have been printed on the backs of cereal boxes and are now getting into circulation among the clip and flip trading card set.

McDaniel, who made his major league debut in 1955 after being signed to a bonus contract by the Cards, has a seven-year pitching mark of 63 wins and 44 losses, and an earned run average of 3.84.

Lindy had the best year of his young career in 1957 when he posted a 15-9 record. In 1960, he led the league with a winning percentage of .750 on 12 wins and 4 losses. Last year he posted a 10-6 record as the workhorse of the Cardinals' staff.

In Grapefruit League competition, Lindy pitched well in pre-season exhibition contests.

Regardless of his early season showings, the six-foot-three McDaniel is already a hit with the cornflake card collectors. And while he's busy tucking away pitching victories in his hip pocket this season, he'll be winding up in several million small-fry hip pickets himself.

This is our 11th sale. If you are wondering why we do it, so are we. It's not to reduce inventory, because we would just have to buy more merchandise. Owens & Scott Will Observe Anniversary

The Owens & Scott Super Market will observe its 13th Anniversary this week end with an anniversary sale and free prizes for its customers. The partnership of Owens and Scott was formed in 1948 and since that time the store has been developed into a modern Super Market rivaling any in the Panhandle.

George Scott, manager of the store, began work for Steve Owens in 1935 and remained until he entered the army in 1945.

In speaking of the Anniversary, Mr. Scott said: "We are grateful for the opportunity of living and being able to operate a business in such a splendid part of Texas as the Wellington area, and naturally we appreciate our friends and customers. For them we have planned this special event and invite them to come to see us next Friday and Saturday."

The Super Market was completely remodeled last fall and the formal opening of the remodeled store was held on Dec. 8. Since that time new improvements have been added.

In addition to Mr. Scott, other active workers in the store are: Carroll Daves, sales manager; Agnes Martin, checker; Jimmie Thompson, stocker; Dee Holliman, butcher; Clifton Lee, butcher's helper. On Saturday, the following extras are employed: Oliver Bishop, Dwaine Poteet, and Olin Moore.

Town-Country Store Opens for Business

Opening of the Town and Country Store as a general dry goods business was announced this week by the owner, J. T. Slay.

The store is located on the east side of the square, in a 50-foot building occupied as temporary quarters by City Grocery.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther McPherson will manage the business, Slay announced.

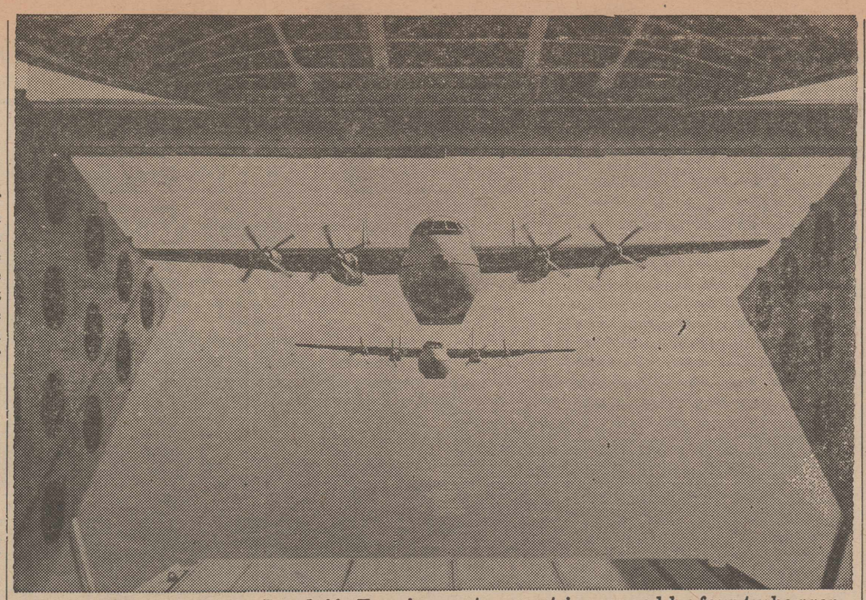

For the past six years, McPherson has been in charge of Slay and Ward, a store operated by J. T. Slay and L. E. Ward.

Both Mr. and Mrs. McPherson had a number of years prior experience in retail merchandising, and for several years she was associated with a ready-to-wear store.

A general line of dry goods, including items for men, women and children, will be carried, according to McPherson.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Derryberry and boys, Miss Edyth Jackson, and Mrs. S. B. Jackson visited in the home of Mrs. Jackson's daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Travis Readnour and family, of Gage, Okla., recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bollen and children, of Amarillo, visited Sunday and Monday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Hopper.

Planting Time for Temporary Pasture Near

COLLEGE STATION.—Summer temporary pastures are a good bet for anyone owning beef or dairy cattle, says E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist. These pastures produce better quality forage than permanent pastures and this results in more beef or milk per acre.

In addition, they permit resting of permanent pastures and ranges, and they often provide a source of hay.

Best quality Sudangrass is an excellent grass for temporary pastures, says Trew. A slightly less desirable plant is a Sudan-Johnsongrass hybrid. These grasses are coarser and of a lower quality than Sudan, but they often produce higher yields. Sudangrass sorghum hybrids can also be used. These are coarser still, but they produce good yields and appear palatable.

Pearl millet is suggested for use on poor, acid soils, on severely eroded heavy soils and on soils where Sudan "yellows out," he says.

Summer temporary pastures can be planted any time after danger of frost is past, explains the specialist. If the pasture is to be used for grazing, the seed should be planted in 36-42 inch rows. For hay production the seed can be broadcast or close drilled.

Correct fertilizer recommendations should be obtained by soil testing, emphasizes Trew. Application should be in bands 2-3 inches below and to the side of the seed at planting. If additional growth is needed after each grazing down or cutting, topdress with 30-40 lbs. of nitrogen, providing adequate moisture is available.

For local recommendations and publications on summer grazing crops, see your local county agent, suggests Trew.

Mrs. McMillin established her insurance company here several years ago, entering the business field here after long experience in banks in Oklahoma City. She has been active in civic work and in the Business and Professional Women's club. Only recently Mrs. McMillin returned from a vacation in Hawaii.

Allen entered the insurance field last year, and prior to that, he was acting postmaster four years. He also has had a number of years experience in business in Wellington.

Spring's Here; Fish Biting, Birds Nesting

AUSTIN.—Doves are beginning to nest, and the bobwhite quail are calling. H. D. Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission, says the game wardens and biologists throughout the state are now reporting nesting activity of game birds. Dove nests have been reported throughout the state, and quail are pairing off for the season.

Most of the Texas lakes also are reporting heavy runs of white bass and crappie. Although the March winds continue into April, fishing on inland waters has been very successful, with some unusually large bass reported this spring.

On the coast there was a slight rsn of Spanish mackerel, which received a setback from north winds during recent weeks. However with the warming of the water, mackerel fishing is expected to be hot again in a short time.

Let's Talk Politics

LESTER A. JONES
Candidate for State Representative 87th District

FARM-TO-MARKET ROADS

I am a Democratic candidate for State Representative from the 87th District. This is the eighth in my series of weekly newspaper columns and radio speeches.

I have said in previous newspaper columns that the present representative of this district has become more obligated to the lobbyists in Austin than he is to the people of the 87th District. This has now been proven beyond any doubt by the invasion of this district by these Austin lobbyists. They have asked sponsorship of local groups and have been refused this sponsorship. That made no difference to these lobbyists. They came right on into this district on their own to tell you how to vote in a local election. The most effective way of telling these lobbyists to stay out of a local election is to vote for Lester A. Jones on May 5.

The present representative of this district takes much credit for our road system. Let's look at the condition of our road system as late as January 3, 1962. The governor addressed a joint session of the House and Senate on that date and his address is entered in the official House Journal. A few of the remarks contained in this address are: "On the farm-to-market road question, I vetoed the second-year Colson-Briscoe program in the sum of $15 million because there was no provision made by statute for maintenance of farm-to-market roads." . . . "A proposal which I submit in bill form by which the Colson-Briscoe program of $15 million per year for construction would be restored and continued, and that maintenance funds would be provided . . . freeing the primary highway system of a present maintenance load of 18 million per year." I maintain that the legislature had this system so fouled up, the governor of this State had to write a bill to provide adequate financing of the farm-to-market road system.

If robbing Peter to pay Paul — using primary road funds to support the farm-to-market road system denotes "a proven leader in drives for improved road systems," I personally need a little more explanation of-how that works. I cannot call this confusion an example of fiscal responsibility. As your representative, my solution to expanding our farm-to-market road system would be direct. We should provide adequate funds to continue progress of the farm-to-market road system without interfering with our primary and interstate highway system.

My next newspaper column will not introduce any new issues. I believe in fair play in all things. Introducing of new issues or charges at this late date would not give my opponents adequate time to inform the people of this district of their stand. I have used official documentation in my campaign and I will place my future in your hands on the merits of each issue I have discussed during the past eight weeks.

A detailed talk on this subject will be made on radio Friday of this week.
