Hospital Is Overcrowded With Babies

HOUSTON (AP) — The problem of overcrowding at the Jefferson Davis Hospital has become acute with new babies being put in cardboard cribs and strapped to stretchers.

An emergency meeting of the staff at the county operated hospital was held today to cope with the problem.

Between midnight Saturday and 8:30 p.m. Sunday, 25 babies were born. There once were 97 babies in the nursery for infants more than 24 hours old. The nursery's capacity is supposed to be 76.

"We took the cardboard disposable cribs and strapped them to stretchers so they wouldn't fall off," said Miss Elinor Hammer, assistant hospital administrator.

The hospital's board of managers appropriated $135,000 for immediate relief for the maternity ward and nursery last week, but the action came too late to avoid the weekend crisis.

The board recently asked Harris County commissioners for a six cent tax hike to accommodate their budget. The commissioners allowed a three cent increase. They later turned down a board request for a 3½ cent increase.

Italy's Premier Steps Down In Face Of Strike

Israelis Lose More Planes During Raids

By The Associated Press
The Israeli air force kept up its bombardment of Egypt's missile sites along the Suez Canal Sunday and admitted its third plane loss to the Egyptians in six days.

A military spokesman in Tel Aviv said the plane was hit either by a missile or by other anti-aircraft fire during a raid on Egyptian targets in the southern and central sectors of the canal. The two crewmen parachuted into Egyptian territory, the spokesman said, indicating that the plane was an American-made Phantom.

RECORD NUMBER

Cairo claimed two Israeli Phantom fighters brought down in the central sector of the canal and said their pilots, a captain and a lieutenant, were captured. However, the Phantom normally is manned by a two-man crew, and Israel denied the loss of a second plane Sunday. But the spokesman said it admitted in the past week set a record for the number of Israeli planes downed in one week since the 1967 Middle East war.

The Egyptians claim they have downed 11 Israeli planes in the past week and have captured three Israeli airmen.

Israel reported last November that it had destroyed all Egyptian missile sites near the canal. But sources in Tel Aviv say Egypt has now succeeded in stationing a network of mobile SAM2 sites in the canal zone despite round-the-clock bombing by Israeli planes.

MISSILE SITES

The military command in Tel Aviv distributed aerial photographs Sunday of what it said was a ring of six Egyptian missile sites under Israeli air attack "somewhere in the Suez Canal area."

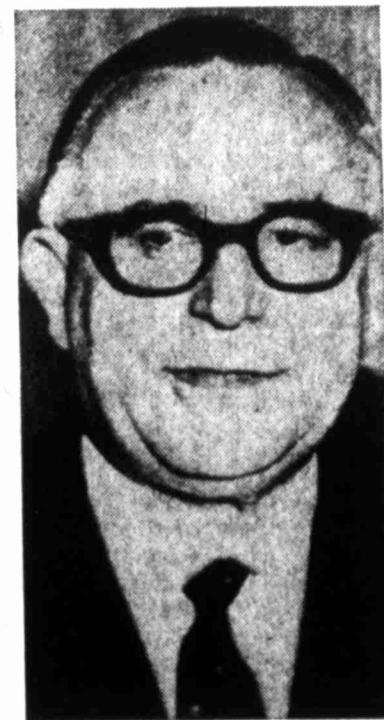

One missile was streaking from its launch pad and the other five were still in their launchers. Near the emplacements were puffs of smoke the Israelis identified as bomb bursts. A spokesman said the missile that had fired might have been set off by a bomb.

Tavern Gunfire Brings 2 Deaths

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Two men died and four others suffered wounds when gunfire erupted at a tavern on the city's west side early today.

Killed were Antonio P. Gonzales, 23, and Eddie Salazar, 32, both of San Antonio.

Three of the wounded were listed in critical condition. The other was treated and released.

RESIGNS — The Center-Left government of Italian Premier Mariano Rumor decided to resign Monday on the eve of a nationwide strike.

Tries To Stop Growing Feud In Parties

ROME (AP) — Premier Mariano Rumor resigned today to force a showdown with Italy's powerful labor unions on the eve of a nationwide general strike.

The dramatic move also appeared aimed at ending a growing feud between Socialist parties in his government.

The surprise action came after a 15-minute meeting of Rumor's center-left coalition cabinet.

The 55-year-old bachelor premier went directly from the meeting to submit his resignation to President Giuseppe Saragat at the latter's summer home on the Tyrrhenian Sea.

3RD GO-ROUND

Saragat asked Rumor and his center-left coalition cabinet to remain in office to handle current affairs while the head of state conducts consultations with political leaders of all parties.

It was Rumor's third government in 18 months and Italy's 31st since the fall of Fascism.

The resignation plunged the country into a deepening crisis marked by economic sluggishness and social tension.

Rumor's government, the third he has headed, was made up of his own Christian Democrats, Italy largest party; the leftist Socialists, or PSI; the moderate Socialists, or PSU; and the tiny Republican party.

TENSION

Since it was formed, it has been plagued by a deteriorating economic and labor situation and by tension between the two Socialist parties over cooperation with the Communists in the new regional legislatures that were recently elected.

The general strike is expected to take 12 million workers off their jobs and to cost one-half of one per cent of the country's total industrial production for 1970.

Since winter the unions have called numerous "political" strikes, in contrast to those held last autumn for higher wages and better working conditions. Now the unions accuse the government of delaying tax, medical and housing reforms.

GROWTH RATE LESS

The government contends that it cannot satisfy all the demands at once. It has warned that production is lagging behind expectations, with the growth rate so far this year less than 5 per cent.

Some moderate union leaders disapproved of the general strike, and the minority they represent said they would not participate. But the great majority of organized labor—including Communist and Catholic federations—adamantly refused to call off the walkout.

Expect Big Summer Push By North Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Key U.S. officials expect the North Vietnamese to launch a strong battlefield offensive before September to demonstrate their strength.

The move, authorities said, would be North Vietnam's method of saying its strength was not diminished by the two-month allied campaign that destroyed an estimated 60 per cent of the enemy's supplies stored in Cambodia.

There was no firm intelligence estimate of what form a new initiative might take. But military experts suggested the possibility of widespread rocket and mortar attacks against South Vietnamese cities and military bases accompanied, perhaps, by ground assaults designed to disrupt pacification.

If an enemy offensive should develop in July or August, it would come about the time the latest round of U.S. troop withdrawals was gaining momentum.

Adm. John S. McCain Jr., commander in chief Pacific, is opening a five-day conference today at his Honolulu headquarters to plan the specifics of the withdrawal of 50,000 more U.S. troops from Vietnam by mid-October.

Gen. Creighton Abrams, U.S. commander in Vietnam, is reported to have recommended a package which would pull out some 19,000 Marines, 17,000 Army troops, 10,000 airmen and about 3,000 Navy men.

There were indications at least one regiment of the 1st Marine Division and possibly the entire division may be brought out. This, in effect, would virtually end the Marine combat role in Vietnam and leave the remaining ground fighting to the U.S. Army.

Some sources have said they anticipate U.S. military leaders, who all along have favored a slower withdrawal pace, might once again urge a delay in removing further American forces.

However, top Pentagon civilian officials indicate they are unlikely to go along with any slowdown partly because of deepening budget pressures to cut war costs.

Despite top-level U.S. military reluctance to trim American ground combat power, civilian officials say military leaders recognize the budget realities and are unlikely to press very hard for a slower withdrawal.

Abrams considers the period between now and autumn as a critical time in the turnover of ground combat responsibilities to the South Vietnamese.

After the mid-October date for announced withdrawal of another 50,000 American troops, the U.S. is likely to reassess the performance of the South Vietnamese to determine whether U.S. forces should be trimmed at the planned rate. Plans call for a reduction in U.S. strength in Vietnam by a total of 150,000 men by next May.

As of last week, American troops in South Vietnam totaled 417,000 men, only about 10,000 below what it was in late April when President Nixon announced his intention to bring back the additional 150,000 by next spring.

Probe Bombing Of Editor's Home

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Akron police and the FBI today continued their investigation into the bombing Saturday night of the home of Ben Maidenburg, Akron Beacon Journal executive editor and publisher.

A metal pipe filled with explosives was pushed through the window of the garage attached to Maidenburg's tri-level house in Northwest Akron, police said. The bomb went off late Saturday causing extensive damage to the garage, the house and Mrs. Maidenburg's car.

No injuries were reported. The Maidenburgs were not at home at the time of the blast.

The National Socialist White People's Party — formerly the American Nazi Party — recently ran a tape recorded telephone message attacking the mass media and in particular the Beacon Journal and Maidenburg. The recording said the newspaper and Maidenburg promoted miscegenation that resulted in racially mixed offspring no one wanted and that to do something about the situation, "you should do something about Mr. Maidenburg and his pals."

Holiday Traffic Deaths Total 524

By The Associated Press

As the three-day Fourth of July holiday period ended, 524 persons were known killed in traffic accidents across the nation.

John Lawlor, executive vice president of the National Safety Council, said the probable reason for the figure being below the council's estimate of 560 to 600 deaths was that cars are becoming safer and more states are adopting stringent traffic codes.

This year's Independence Day holiday traffic death toll was about 100 less than last year's figure of 611, the highest for any three-day observance of the holiday.

The official holiday period was the 78 hours between 8 p.m. Thursday and midnight Sunday local times.

U.S. ASKS OTHER NATIONS TO JOIN IN

Seek Joint Effort On Space Station

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The United States is trying to convince other nations to join with it in a cooperative effort to create a true international space laboratory later this decade.

Specifically, American officials want several nations to participate in developing a large space station, which will accommodate dozens of men and women, and a space shuttle, a reusable rocket plane that will service the orbiting station.

Several countries are considering the proposal. Acceptance by them would be a financial lift to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, whose future programs have been delayed because of dwindling budgets. Development cost of the shuttle alone over the next seven or eight years is estimated at more than $10 billion.

Dr. Thomas O. Paine, NASA administrator, has led discussions in Japan, Australia, Canada and Europe, all of which have space programs. He recently headed a U.S. delegation which briefed the 10-nation European Space Research Organization (ESRO) in Paris.

Feelers for cooperation have gone to Russia, but as in the past there has been little enthusiasm expressed by the Soviets. Paine notes the United States has been involved in more than 250 space agreements with 80 nations. These include launching foreign satellites on U.S. rockets, placing experiments of other nations on American spacecraft, sharing moon rocks with scientists of other lands, and use of foreign ground stations for tracking and receipt of data from communications, weather and other types of satellites.

"By pooling the resources of many of these countries, we can work on larger projects with greater promise of return to all nations," the administrator said in an interview. "It would create a new capability for man to explore and utilize space."

"The United States is going to build the space station and the space shuttle," he said. "But I would like to see this project carried out as an international laboratory in space. If it's truly going to be a cooperative project, other nations should pick up part of the cost as well as provide the kinds of talent which they have available."

He said many countries could share in the practical benefits of a space station, such as communications, weather observation, survey of earth's resources, and engineering, medical and scientific research.

"But this also is a way in which other parts of the world can move to the forefront of science and technological advance, rather than working on their own separate programs, which tend to be some years behind what the Americans and Russians have done," Paine said. "This is an attractive opportunity for them, and I believe they're going to consider it very carefully."

Paine said the ESRO nations listened attentively during the Paris conference, in which the detailed U.S. proposal was presented by Arnold W. Frutkin, NASA assistant administrator for international affairs.

Frutkin told ESRO it could help plan the space vehicles, outfit and supply space station modules, develop subsystems, build experiments, provide astronaut-experimenters, man ground stations and evaluate results.

The giants of the American aerospace industry are competing for the right to build the shuttle and space station and many already have contacted foreign firms which could be come subcontractors.

County Has Drop In Bank Deposits

Loans and discounts gained but deposits dropped by a million and three-quarter dollars from a year ago, statements of Howard County banks showed today in response to a call of condition as of June 30.

Loans of $27,385 were up by $787,724, while deposits eased under the $50 million mark in amounting to $49,536,683, a decline of $1,830,363.

Cash of $9,940,247 was up

$402,109, and total resources were steady at $56,361,111, which was up $100,543.

The banks had good reserves of bonds. The United States bond total was $3,965,346, down $1,141,230 from a year ago, but the county and municipal total of $9,589,631 was up by $1,714,881. The banks also held other (U.S. agency) bonds in the amount of $2,689,630, down $690,141, making a total of $16,244,609, or $116,490 more than a year ago.

The picture by individual banks showed:

FIRST NATIONAL — Loans $15,021,306.86; deposits $23,837,301.38; cash $4,307,762.62; total resources $27,505,571.56. In addition the bank had $881,203.34 in U.S. bonds, $3,471,425.05 in county and municipal bonds, and $1,952,125.45 in other (U.S. agency) bonds.

STATE NATIONAL — Loans $7,520,158.32; deposits $13,837,384.29; cash $2,540,640.06; total resources $15,824,709.37. In addition the bank held $1,258,463.92 in U.S. bonds, $4,329,538.04 in county and municipal bonds, and $15,000 in other bonds.

SECURITY STATE — Loans $3,418,622.23; deposits $9,813,434.17; cash $2,789,051.48; total resources $10,634,344.63. In addition the bank held $1,263,679.46 in U.S. bonds, $1,703,528.33 in county and municipal bonds, and $722,505.07 in other bonds.

COAHOMA STATE — Loans $1,425,723.92; deposits $2,048,563.79; cash $302,793.25; total resources $2,396,486.22. In addition the bank held $562,000 in U.S. bonds, $85,140.34 in county and municipal bonds.

Some Sections Get Showers

By The Associated Press

Showers and thundershowers washed the central Plains, the Carolinas and Florida early today as the most of the nation ended the Fourth of July holiday under clear skies and moderate temperatures.

More than one inch of rain fell in a six-hour period Sunday night soaking Cape Hatteras, N.C., and Homestead Air Force Base in southern Florida.

Local Boy Will Get FFA Degree

Dickie Stanley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Stanley, will receive the Lone Star Farmer's Degree, the highest degree awarded, during the Future Farmers of America State Convention next week.

Attending the convention with Stanley will be Leon Langley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Mattingly, and Ed Seay, advisor for the local club. Stanley is a 1970 graduate of Big Spring High School where he was president of the local FFA chapter. He plans to attend Howard County Junior College. Langley, vice president of the local chapter, will be a senior this fall.

The trip will leave July 14 for the meeting in San Antonio and return July 17.

There never was any doubt Echeverria would win, but Gonzalez Morfin refused to concede defeat. His supporters claimed there were many voting irregularities, but a government election chief rejected the claims. No violence or disturbances were reported. The turnout apparently was quite heavy despite a small "don't vote" campaign originated by disenchanted youths. The total of 22.8 million persons eligible to vote included about three million 18-to-20-year-olds who could cast ballots for the first time.

The president-elect, 48, who takes office Dec. 1, also claimed a resounding victory for PRI candidates in elections for 60 seats in the Senate and 210 in the Chamber of Deputies.

Echeverria said he would not consider the vote a triumph until he finishes his six-year term and Mexicans are satisfied he has fulfilled his mandate.

He is expected to make no changes in Mexico's foreign policy. During his wide-ranging, 22-day campaign he frequently referred to Mexico as a buffer between the United States and the rest of Latin America, and called for a renewed spirit of Latin Americanism.

"This election is a strong and decisive step for the strengthening of democracy in Mexico," he said. "The next government will increase the spirit of Latin Americanism. Latin America is a brotherhood. We are brother countries, and we must help each other."

Echeverria had the endorsement of outgoing President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz, barred by the Constitution from seeking a second term.

Heavy Losses In Fireworks

DALLAS (AP) — Officials blamed fireworks today for 20 residential fires that caused an estimated $125,000 to $150,000 in damage over the Fourth of July weekend in Dallas.

Fire investigator Jim Cooper said of the residential fires reported since Friday, two were two-alarm blazes. Witnesses at both two-alarm fires said they saw skyrockets fall on the roofs of the homes, both of which were one-story brick structures. Officials set damage for one home at $30,000 and for the other at $20,000.

Another fire department spokesman said the department received 158 calls between 6 a.m. Saturday and 6 a.m. Sunday. He said this included dwelling fires, grass and brush fires and garage fires. He said the majority was caused by fireworks.

The sheriff's office received reports of 12 grass fires in Dallas County the night of the Fourth.

Dallas police reported they received more than 1,000 complaints involving fireworks in a 48-hour period from 6 p.m. Friday to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Women Scientists Live At Bottom Of The Sea

ST. JOHN, Virgin Islands (AP) — Five women scientists break the aquanaut sex barrier today, diving into the clear waters off this tiny island to live and work for two weeks at the bottom of the sea.

They will have one concession to femininity—a hair dryer in their living capsule 50 feet below the surface. But they don't plan to spend much time primping.

Their work load will be as heavy as those of the 16-man teams also taking part in Teklite II, a seven-month program of underwater research that began in April.

"Sometimes people find it hard to take us seriously," says Dr. Sylvia Earl Meade, 34, of Los Angeles, the team leader. But she adds, "Most of the problems are in the minds of the men."

The other team members are: —Mrs. Ann Hurley Hartline, 23, a graduate student in marine ecology at Scripps Institute of Oceanography, La Jolla, Calif. —Dr. Renate Schlenz True, 33, a native of Brazil who holds a doctorate in biological oceanography and teaches at Tulane University in New Orleans.

—Alina Szmant, 23, also of Scripps, who holds a master's degree in marine biology. —Margaret Ann Lucas, 23, an electrical engineer who is studying for a master's degree in ocean engineering at the University of Delaware.

The women ended two weeks of special training Sunday.

While they are under the water, Mrs. Hartline and Miss Szmant will work together in a study of the responses of fish to visual dangers. Dr. Mead wants to find out which fish eat what and why. Dr. True will study the ecology of sea grasses.

Miss Lucas will be the habitat's engineer and a spare diver. Her biggest chore will be changing the canisters required to keep the nitrogen-oxygen mixture of the capsule's atmosphere constant.

Agriculture Dept. Speaks Up For DDT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department in refusing to suspend use of DDT immediately as asked by a group of conservationists has made clear it considers the pesticide to be one of the most beneficial ever devised for farmers.

This view was included last week in a reply to a U.S. Court of Appeals order for the department either to suspend federal registration for DDT immediately or give reasons for not doing so.

"DDT is one of the most important pesticidal chemicals that the farmer has ever had," Dr. Ned D. Bayley, director of science and education, told the court. Bayley signed the statement on behalf of Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin.

Moreover, Bayley said, "DDT is as important to the farmer as penicillin is to the physician." The department stood by its earlier decision to move slowly on restricting uses of DDT and other long-lived pesticides. The plan is for a gradual phasing out of "all but essential uses" of DDT by the end of this year and a continuing review of others on a use-by-use basis to see what action can be taken without upsetting the works.

Department surveys have shown that farm costs of producing the nation's food and fiber would rise appreciably if all pesticides were withdrawn and that this additional expense would necessarily be passed on to consumers.

Committee Moves To Limit Campaign Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate and House could spend for radio and television advertising. It also would require that broadcasters charge political candidates no more than the lowest amount paid by any commercial advertiser for the same time period.

The Senate bill also would repeal the equal time requirements for presidential and vice presidential candidates.

The amount candidates could spend would be 7 cents per vote cast in the latest general election for that office, or $20,000, whichever is higher.

Under this formula, the two major candidates for president in 1972 would be limited to spending about $5.1 million each for radio and television time.

This would compare with the $12.6 million spent in 1968 by Richard M. Nixon and the $7.1 million spent by Hubert H. Humphrey.

The National Committee for an Effective Congress, a citizens' group, has been leading the fight for the legislation. Russell D. Hemenway, director of the group, said action is needed because the "enormous cost" of effective campaign entails is no less than a national scandal.

"When a candidate who is not rich is forced to depend on large special interests for financing, the threat of corruption begins with the decision to run."

Search For Bombers Who Wrecked 36 School Buses

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP) — Police and Texas Rangers searched today for "psychopathic" bombers who late Saturday night blasted into junk 36 buses of the Longview schools which in September begin busing Negro pupils to formerly all-white classes.

Many of the buses—some 10 years old, some much newer—probably will have to be replaced. Some apparently need only glass replaced, but all suffered heavy damage, a school official said.

Police Chief Roy Stone and his lieutenants said there was no way to connect the bombings with school racial issues, but he did not wholly discount the possibility.

No one was injured and, except for the buses, holes in the paving and a hole in the bus yard fence, the only damage was to some windows in the school service center, blasted out by concussion. Tracks outside the bus yard indicated two men set the explosives.

Police Lt. Elmer Hanson said he heard the 11:22 p.m. blast at his home, more than two miles away. "It shook my house," he said.

Hanson said the bombers cut a hole in the high chain link fence surrounding the bus yard, then placed what he theorized were 2½-to-5-pound packets of plastic explosive under each bus. He said a slow fuse was used outside the fence to connect with a "very fast" fuse connecting the charges under 33 of the buses.

"When that slow fuse had given the bombers about a 14-minute start," Hanson said, "the fast fuse just set 'em all off almost like one big explosion."

The blast, which ripped holes of varying size up to four feet across in the asphalt pavement, damaged engines, blew fenders, radiators and bumpers from the heavy, 55-passenger buses. Inside, seats were scattered, glass broken and dashboards blown apart.

"If they had placed the explosive on the springs or inside the hoods, all the buses would have been blown to junk," Hanson said. "But they placed them on the pavement." "It just had to be some kind of psychopath," said Hanson, "who had somebody with him who knew a lot about explosives."

Chief Stone said he knew of no individual or group that had protested the busing of pupils set for the fall term which begins in September. He said that beginning with the fall term pupils of recently closed Negro schools would be bused to what had been predominantly white schools.

In the 1960s, he said, there had been some Negro sit-in demonstrations in the schools. "They were teen-agers and not led by any professional radical of any kind," he said.

Stone said his men and sheriff's officers would keep a sharp watch on the school bus-yard of nearby Pinetree and White Oak schools, but would not elaborate. Asked if he believed the bomber would strike again, he answered, "I just don't know."

N. L. Field, director of plant services for the 10,000-pupil Longview schools, said he would not attempt to estimate the damage but added, "We'll be mighty lucky it costs less than $1,000 each."

He said he had just ordered three new buses and "I'm mighty glad they weren't here must have 25 or 30 runnings."

Field said it would be "crowding us a lot to have the buses ready for school opening. We must have 25 or 30 runnings."

Even the buses under which no explosives were planted sustained heavy glass damage from concussion.

Strike Ends For Utilities

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Union workers of Gulf States Utilities Co. will be back on the job today, ending a 10-week strike, a union official said Sunday night.

John Gardner of Fort Worth, an international representative with the striking International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, said members voted over the weekend to accept a tentative agreement reached between company and union last Thursday during the third consecutive week of negotiations.

The vote to accept the new contract came at five separate membership meetings of Local 2286 of the IBEW, Gardner said. He said the vote was 926 to 378. About 2,200 persons belong to the local, he said.

The settlement gives the unionists a 17½ per cent wage hike over the next two years, Gardner said.

They get an immediate 7 per cent wage hike, he said, with another 5½ per cent next Jan. 3, and a 5 per cent raise Oct. 3, 1971.

The strike began April 14 against the Beaumont based electrical power company which operates in Southeast Texas and Southwest Louisiana.

"Over-all, I think it's a pretty good package," Gardner said. "The contract's better than they've ever had here before," he added.

The IBEW defeated a local union, the Independent Electric Workers Union, in a runoff representation election last October.

The independent union had represented Gulf State's employees for 12 years.

Woman Injured As Ferris Wheel Blown Over

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (AP) — High winds toppled a double ferris wheel at a Fourth of July carnival Sunday, injuring a Texas woman eight months pregnant.

Authorities said Geraldine Ellis, 18, of Grand Prairie, Tex., was treated at a hospital after she was hit by flying debris.

Two other persons were injured slightly but declined treatment.

Showers Break State Heat Wave

By The Associated Press

A weak cool front broke up in South Texas today bringing drier air and clearing skies to most of Texas after a night of scattered showers and thunderstorms.

A few thunderstorms were reported early today 10 miles either side of a line from 20 miles southwest of Oklahoma City to 25 miles north northeast of Wichita Falls.

Earlier, light showers and a few thundershowers covered 30 per cent of an area 20 miles southwest of Amarillo to 20 miles northeast of Dalhart.

The thundershowers were a continuation of showers that pelted an area between San Angelo and Junction Sunday night.

Temperature readings early today ranged from the high 60s over portions of Northeast Texas to the low 80s along the coast.

Demos To Hear Financial Report

Democrats will hear a report on the year's activities and on the finances connected with the recent primaries at 7:30 p.m. today in the county courtroom on the second floor of the courthouse.

Cecil V. Riordan, retiring chairman of the county executive committee, urged all candidates in the first primary, along with all precinct judges and election clerks, and all other interested parties to attend the meetings.

Part of the session will be looking ahead to plans for the general election campaigns. Frank Parker, newly elected chairman, will take over the chairmanship from Riordan.

A LOVELIER YOU

Exercise Routine Is Not Too Strenuous

By MARY SUE MILLER

A spot-reducing routine is seldom as strenuous as rumored. The ones given today can be done lying down in the shade of a tree or garden umbrella. All you need in the way of equipment is an inflatable mat or the long cushion from an outdoor chaise. Here's the procedure:

1. Stretch out flat, back down, with arms at sides.
2. Raise both legs, perpendicular to sky. Fling legs wide apart, as far as possible hold position for five slow counts. Very slowly bring legs together and, without pause, repeat 10 times. Throughout, center weight on upper hips and contract abdomen.

3. Stretched out flat, place sole of right foot against inside of left thigh. Quickly swing leg out to right and immediately return foot to thigh; repeat at once with left leg. Alternating legs, continue for 20 counts. During swing, raise leg about two inches so that it does not touch mat or ground. Also, roll your weight across lower hips with each swing.

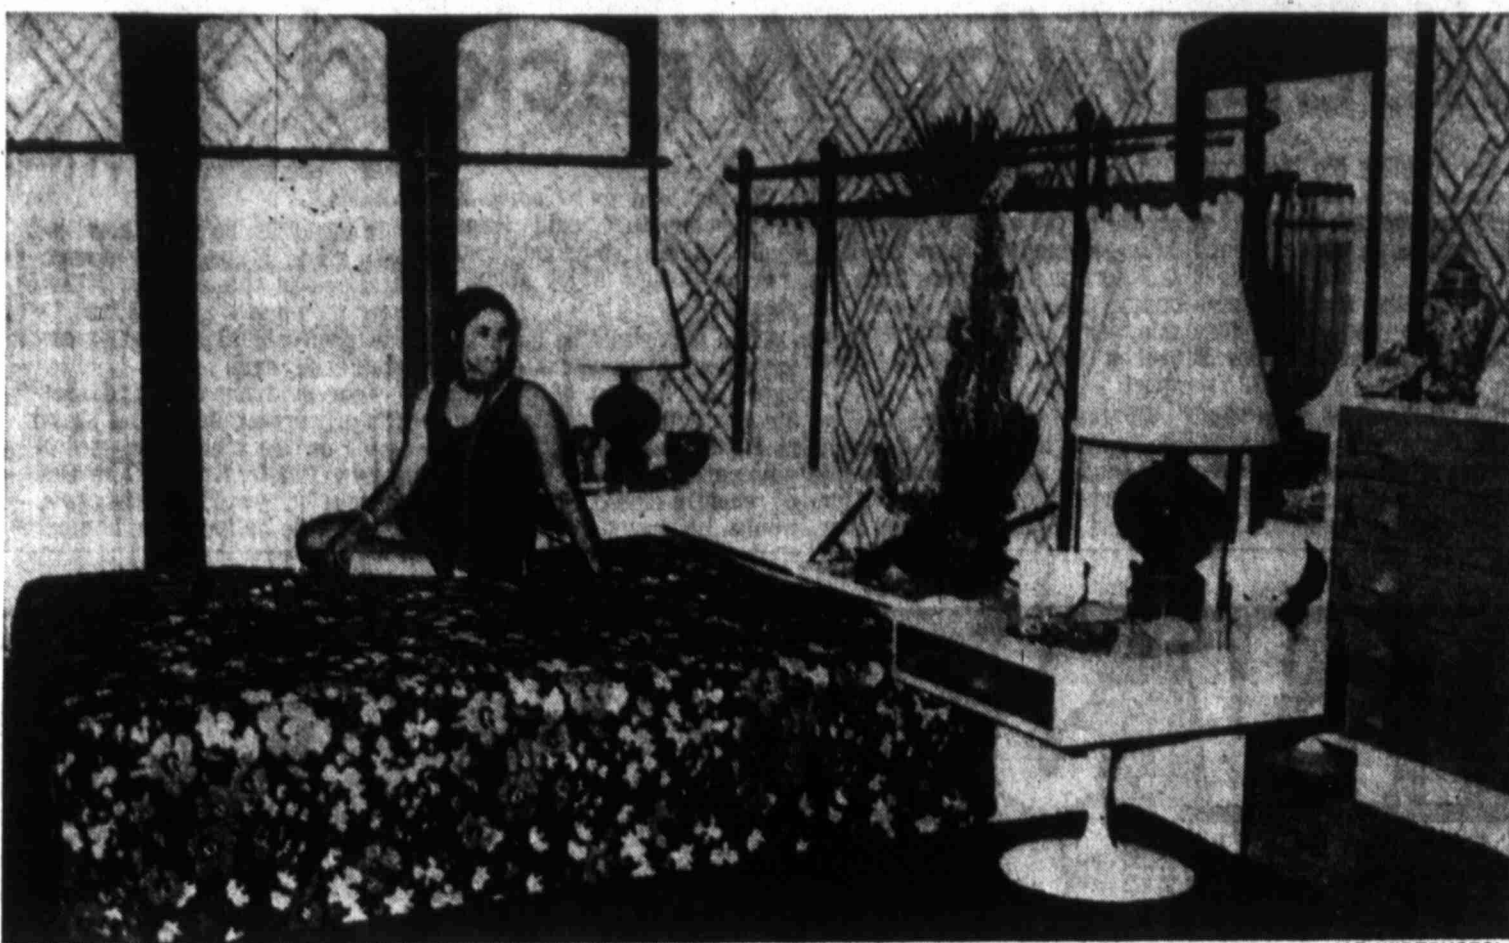

4. With legs stretched downward and resting on mat, pull toes upward toward body, then slowly downward. Repeat 20 times, work for tension in calf and ankle muscles.

You cannot know until you try how easy and effective the routine is. With minimum effort it improves the contours of your hips, abdomen, calves and ankles. By fall fashion time, let's say, by midtime!

SPOT REDUCING EXERCISES
Spot reduction — key to a proportioned figure. Exercise is the only way to trim those stubborn bulges . . . to lose inches exactly where you wish. My new booklet, "Spot Reducing Exercises," gives easy routines — 40 in all — for slimming the upper back, arms, midriff, hips, legs, ankles . . . Plus ideal measurements . . . other figure-trimming tips. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

We have jalousie-type windows in our cabin (not really jalousie — as they are larger and have only one pane of glass which opens out like an awning). My neighbor has only two panes of glass in hers and only covers the top pane. I have seen this type of window on travel trailers and boats.

I bought some material (the kind ordinarily used to cover lawn chairs), and made "pillowcases" to fit each window pane. They are easy to slip over a glass pane (just as when slipping a pillow into its case), and it keeps the sun out beautifully. If necessary, the cases can be removed in a jiffy.

My neighbor stitched cotton fringe around the three sewn sides of her panes, and her coverings look like tailor-made awnings.

Coahoma Club Has Breakfast

Coahoma Past Matron's Club members agreed to accept associate members during a meeting Saturday in Coker's Restaurant. Mrs. D. S. Phillips presided and Mrs. H. H. Tanner gave the invocation.

Breakfast tables were decorated in a Fourth of July theme with an Uncle Sam hat and miniature flags. Hostesses were Mrs. A. D. Martin and Mrs. Joe Rogers. Mrs. Rayford Beckham, Fort Worth, was a guest. The next meeting will be Aug. 3 with Mrs. Fred Beckham and Mrs. Bert Shive as hostesses.

It's a great idea to cover both top and bottom panes for privacy especially if you live in a trailer park and have a nosy neighbor on one side! . . . Selma S.

That's what I call a snazzy pillowcase that will never see a pillow!

Just think of all the types of windows this could be used on! If your budget is slim, opaque shower curtains or plastic tablecloths could be used. Also, by using this type of material, more light will come through.

If you use white canvas and wash and bleach them in hot water, be sure to place them back on the window while they are still wet as most of these kinds of materials shrink during the drying process. . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise: My neighbor said her doctor told her those slanted baby carriers are "worth their weight in antibiotics for respiratory illnesses" because the baby can be propped up.

I didn't have one but did improvise with my one-year-old. I lifted the head part of her mattress, put a firm pillow

(one of those wedge-shaped foam pillows) under it.

This elevates her head just enough that she can sleep comfortably when she has a cold. . . . Vera

Dear Heloise: When my husband and I got married, he owned a convertible which is the joy of his life. Every minute the sun is out the top is down.

Since I have long hair and a scarf is so hot around your neck in the summer, I knew I had to find an answer.

Now I just carry an invisible, regular-length hair net in my purse all the time (right in the envelope it comes in).

When we put the top down, I just slip on the invisible net.

I stay cool and when we arrive at our destination, I remove it and my hair is still in place. . . . Jean Milani

Honor America Day Called 'Kind Of Thing We Need'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Honor America Day, a Fourth of July celebration which attracted thousands to the nation's capital, has been hailed by its organizer as a great success and by President Nixon as "the kind of patriotic thing we need."

J. Willard Marriott, the motel-restaurant executive who was the main planner behind the gala show, said he received calls from all over the country after the day-long observance Saturday.

One of the calls came from President Nixon in San Clemente, Calif. Marriott said the President congratulated him for a great show.

The ceremonies had all the ingredients of a traditional Fourth of July celebration—the color, spirit and flavor. Only minor incidents were reported.

Elsewhere across the nation, Americans proudly displayed raised their banners with slogans such as "God, Guts and Gunpowder Maintain Liberty."

The noise of Independence Day included a 56-gun salute for the states and territories, and popping aerial bombs that showered little flags on Memorial bridge by the Lincoln Memorial.

Police fired a few tear gas grenades to disperse bands of young people around the Washington Monument, but no serious confrontations were reported.

Trouble erupted again Saturday night when hundreds of young persons threw firecrackers and rocks at stores. Some fighting with police also was reported.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Monday, July 6, 1970 5-A

Kidnap Youth Hero In Arrest Of Boss' Killer

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — A 16-year-old Texas youth was recovering from a bullet wound after a wild weekend during which he was kidnaped on his first day on the job at a service station.

Authorities credited Noye Hall of Gregg County, Tex., with playing a major role in the arrest of a Texas man accused of kidnaping Hall's boss.

The body of Brady Eugene

The gunman drove off after forcing the teen-ager into the bayou.

Hall crawled from the water and walked to a nearby empty farmhouse where he found a car with the keys in it. He drove to Benton, La., for help.

Jones was arrested a few hours later in Bossier Parish.

Vol Dooley, chief criminal investigator for the parish sheriff's office, said the car driven by Jones had blood on its license plate and in the trunk. Dooley said there were four bullet holes in the rear seat.

Weekend Violence Kills 76 Texans

By The Associated Press

Traffic fatalities soared to 37 in Texas during the Fourth of July holiday period to lead all categories in the Associated Press tabulation of violent deaths.

The count started at 6 p.m. Thursday and ended at midnight Sunday.

The over-all death toll reached 76. In addition to the 38 persons killed in traffic accidents, 19 drowned, and 11 were shot to death. Miscellaneous violence accounted for the rest.

Latest accident included: William E. Harrison, 42, of Temple burned to death in a fire that destroyed his home Saturday.

George Williams, about 60, of Mobile, Ala., was fatally shot in an incident at a Corpus Christi lounge.

Stephan M. Howell, 4, drowned Sunday in the swimming pool of the Fort Worth apartment complex where he lived with his parents on U.S. 81 south.

The body of Mrs. Hung Nui Chen, 81, was found Sunday at the bottom of the swimming pool at the home where she resided. Police said Mrs. Chen apparently fell into the pool and drowned.

Charles Robert Edwards, 71, of Magnolia, and his wife, Sally Jo Edwards, 69, were killed Sunday when their car veered off a farm road and overturned. Police said the accident occurred on Farm Road 149 about 500 feet south of Pinehurst. The pair died in a Houston hospital.

An unidentified man was killed and a second seriously wounded Sunday night when gunfire erupted in a Corpus Christi bar. Police tried at a late hour to locate relatives of the dead man.

Sally D. Oldham, 42, of Richardson and Roy Clark, 20, of Dallas were killed Sunday in a plane crash near Frisco in North Texas.

Jack C. Horton, 55, of Houston drowned in Galveston Bay Saturday.

Charter Group Begins Study

Acting chairman R. H. Weaver of the charter action committee has called a meeting of the 20 committee members for 7:30 p.m. this evening in the commission chamber of city hall.

This will be an organizational meeting, but after preliminary matters are handled, the committee is expected to go right to work studying possible revisions of the city charter. The charter was written in 1926, but has not been revised since 1951.

Bandmen To Attend Tech Music Workshop

Bill Bradley, Big Spring High School band director, and 16 Big Spring students will be attending the annual Band and Camp for pre-college students beginning July 12 at Texas Tech.

Bradley will be in charge of the third band in the workshop. Students will audition Sunday in Lubbock and be placed in one of five bands, to practice for two weeks and close the workshop with concerts July 18 and July 24.

Attending from BSHS are Becky James, Kent Fish, Mona Boadie, Caren Carlton and Susan Trim. From Rumses, Bobby Raney, Lance Pless, Keith Teal and Nancy Pope will be going. Representing Goliad will be Cindy Fortson, Cindy Coleman, Gary Stevens, Teresa Wickline, Teresa Smith, Grady Wiley and Maredene Margolis.

Approximately 600 young musicians are expected to sign up for the workshop which includes instruction in band, and instruction in twirling, drum majoring, theory, improvisation, rhythm, ensembles, stage band, conducting, twirling, etiquette and marching.

Nationally-known composer Frances McBeth, Ouachita University, Arkadelphia, Ark., will be guest conductor, and will serve as clinician for the camp's first band.

Charles W. Collier, about 58, of Austin was missing and feared drowned late Saturday when a violent windstorm overturned the Hurst boat docks on Lake Travis about 18 miles northwest of Austin. His wife, Lavonia Hurst, was taken to an Austin hospital. Three other persons were injured, their condition undetermined at a late hour.

Carl Lloyd Watson, 68, was shot to death in Houston Saturday night following an argument in a neighbor's yard. Police charged Billy Watson, 33, with murder in the shooting.

Cynthia Jo Robertson, 13, of Houston drowned Saturday night in Falcon Reservoir, not far from Laredo on the Rio Grande. Officers said she fell off a raft on which she had been floating with other young girls.

Dr. Lloyd Bows Out As Pastor Of First Presbyterian Church

By GORDON ZEIGLER

"I will not be your pastor after this day. I will not be here to bury your dead, marry your children or baptize your babies. These will be the responsibility of your new pastor."

Dr. R. Gage Lloyd gave his parting sermon Sunday at First Presbyterian Church where he has been pastor for 24 years. He urged the congregation to face the future "serving in new ways, in new areas, with a new vision and a new commitment to Christ." His communion Sunday sermon was entitled "A New Fellowship."

In a special ceremony the Lloyds were presented the deed to the manse at 401 Edwards where Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd have lived since coming to Big Spring.

Joe Moss read a resolution of appreciation from St. Paul Presbyterian which Dr. Lloyd helped organize.

Trustee Bob Middleton handed the deed to Dr. Lloyd, then Elmer Boatler spoke for the congregation.

"A few months ago the note of indebtedness for our church was burned. Without your counsel and guidance, Dr. Lloyd, this couldn't have happened so soon."

"For the last 40 years the home at 401 Edwards has been known as the manse but from this time on it will be known as the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. Gage Lloyd. I hope you have many years of happy retirement there and hope your influence for good will continue to be felt in the church, the community and the state."

Although the church board had already voted to present the manse, Dr. Lloyd was touched by the special ceremony.

"I guess you know this could get real syrupy if I don't watch it," he began.

Attending the Sunday service were many friends from Big Spring from other congregations as well as Dr. Lloyd's own.

Dr. Lloyd's daughter and family, the Walter Harrells, and their two children were here from Morristown, Tenn. Mrs. Lloyd's sister's family, Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Butler, Denver, Colo., were here along with the R. Blaylock family from Amarillo. Mrs. Blaylock is the niece of Dr. Lloyd.

Sunday evening Dr. Lloyd delivered his final message, "Beloved, Love One Another." After evening worship the Services were to be at 4 p.m. today in the River-Welch Chapel for Charlie Riddle, 79, who died Saturday.

Officiating will be the Rev. Fred Smith, Colorado City, and the Rev. E. G. Newcomer. Burial was to be in Trinity Memorial Park.

Survivors include five sons, one daughter, 22 grandchildren, 12 great-grandchildren, three sisters and one brother. Grandsons were to serve as pallbearers.

Services are pending in Dallas for Diana Lynn Davis, 6, daughter of S. Sgt. and Mrs. James M. Davis, formerly stationed at Webb AFB.

Diana drowned Saturday in Florida during a going-away picnic for her father, who has received orders for Vietnam. Diana was born Dec. 16, 1963, at Webb. Her father was stationed at Webb from 1962-1966. Her mother is the former Linda Walker, Luther.

Survivors include her parents, one brother, Mathew, and a sister, Ruth Marie, of the home; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Davis, Dallas; and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Walker, Luther.

Arrangements are pending at Memorial Funeral Home in Pasadena.

Mr. Read, who resided at 813 S. Center in Pasadena, leaves his wife; two brothers, Bill Read, Coahoma, and William O.

A PASSING DANDY — A part-time actor named Joe Naimah who's got a full time job as New York Jets quarterback using his passing arm to escort Italian actress Marita Cofin during a break in shooting of his new film in Rome. She stars in "The Last Rebel," a post-Civil War western.

Annexing Intech, TOPICS Report On Week's Agenda

City commissioners will be on the move the next few days as they consider retirement funds, the TOPICS program, annexation of the Intech property, and the selection of a new public works director.

A meeting of the committee appointed by the commission for the study of an increase in municipal retirement benefits will be held at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Commissioners George Zachariah and Wade Choate, comprise the committee which will meet with Assistant City Manager Roy Anderson to discuss the retirement system for city employees and consider revisions.

A special meeting of the city commission is slated for 11 a.m. Tuesday to hold a public hearing on annexation of the five-acre industrial site adjacent to Lorilla Street to be used for the Intech plant. International Technovation is planning to set up a plastic carton factory there.

At the same meeting City Manager Larry Crow is expected to make a recommendation for a director of public works. This job, vacated by Ernest Lillard in January, has been filled on a temporary basis by former utilities superintendent Bo Anderson. Crow told commissioners last week that he had received applications from several men qualified for the post, which he feels should be filled as soon as possible.

Commissioners will hold a luncheon meeting Wednesday to discuss upcoming projects with city planning consultant Marvin Springer. Springer, who has recently talked with Texas Highway Department officials in Austin, will relay the latest information on the TOPICS program.

The program, to be financed largely by state funds, is known as Traffic Operations Program to Improve Capacity and Safety. It will be designed to make changes that would increase, and improve traffic flow in Big Spring.

Springer is also expected to cover other problems soon to be faced by the city, such as the revision of ordinances covering the development and operation of mobile home parks. The city planning and zoning board recommended last month that a study be made of such ordinances in other cities.

Springer has studied extensively the trailer park ordinances of four cities, and met three weeks ago with city officials in McKinney to discuss that city's ordinance.

Joint sessions of the Boards of Equalization will begin Tuesday at 9 a.m. in the county courtroom. The boards will also hear questions from taxpayers on Wednesday and Thursday.

Taxing agencies represented by the various boards are county, state, junior college, Big Spring Independent School District, and the City of Big Spring. The agencies are meeting together for the convenience of taxpayers who have questions about their equalized assessments.

Howard County Commissioners serve as the equalization board for the county, state and junior college tax assessments. Commissioners are County Judge Lee Porter, Simon Terrazas, Precinct 1; Ray Nichols, Precinct 2; Bill Crocker, Precinct 3; and Bill Tune, Precinct 4.

Billy T. Smith, chairman; Pat Murphy; and Jack Shaffer serve as the joint equalization board for the City of Big Spring and Big Spring Independent School District.

R. L. Heith, chairman of the AFA convention's advance registration committee, has called a meeting for 5:15 p.m. today in the Chamber of Commerce office in the Permian Building.

The committee will be planning their campaign to get 75 local advance registrations. After these 75 AFA registrations are accepted, the rest of the advance tickets will be reserved for out-of-towners.

Home Like Cooking Is Specialty

THE DESERT SANDS
... Mr. and Mrs. Allan Risetter

When you're tired, or hungry, or you just need some coffee to cheer you up in the morning, Desert Sands Restaurant and Motel can be your home away from home.

This oasis has been owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Allan Risetter for five years, although it was recently completely remodeled.

Home cooking is the specialty there, with fresh, warm bread, cinnamon rolls and pies baked every morning by Mrs. Risetter.

Other delicious food is prepared by her two cooks, Beulah Melton and Rose Peralta. Rose specializes in the home-style Mexican food you will see on the menu.

Prompt service is provided by her five friendly waitresses.

The daily specials include a sirloin strip steak dinner for $1.79 and a rib eye steak special for $1.69.

"We also have delicious seafood plates and fried chicken," Mrs. Risetter said. "We are happy to prepare food to go and to accommodate private parties. Another specialty is our delicious coffee."

The Motel has 30 rooms, where courtesy coffee is offered to all the guests. All types of rooms are available, including family units with rollaway beds and baby beds for families with several small children.

"All our rooms have a home-like atmosphere," said Mrs. Risetter, "and pets are welcome too." She has two little black, brown and white spotted dogs of her own.

Each room has central heating, air conditioning, and a color TV set.

"Commercial truck drivers and Air Force personnel are given special rates, and our family rates are very reasonable," she said. The rooms are fully carpeted. All have double beds and showers, or tub-shower combinations. The Motel unit is set back from the highway for quiet, restful sleeping conditions. There are spacious parking areas for both the Motel and Restaurant.

"We'd like to invite the hometown folks as well as travelers to our Restaurant," Mrs. Risetter said. The Restaurant includes a cafe counter for quick service and a separate cocktail lounge. The large dining area has recently been painted in airy, spring green, and the tables and booths were rearranged for better seating. Heavy new carpeting has been laid throughout the Restaurant. High chairs are always available for small children.

The Desert Sands Restaurant and Motel are open daily and holidays from 5:30 a.m. to 2:30 a.m. The staff is eager to serve, whether it be for an early Sunday breakfast a festive Easter dinner, or leisurely Saturday supper. The atmosphere is certain to be congenial.

Summer Classes Still Open At Candyce Dance Academy

Enrollment is open all summer for the Candyce Academy of Dance in College Park Shopping Center. Candyce Bass, a licensed member of the Dance Masters of America, offers classes every day from 10 to 11:30 a.m. in ballet, tap, acrobatics and modern jazz. Classes are open for all ages beginning with three-year-olds. Baton lessons are also available from Nancy Young, member of the National Baton Twirling Association and a former Kilgore Rangerette. Dancing is not only fun, it also keeps muscles in tone. Ballet is the basis for all dancing, according to Miss Bass. It gives poise, self-confidence, coordination and body control. Modern jazz, Miss Bass says, gives self-confidence and expressiveness. Shy students make friends in their dance groups. They learn to feel at ease and confident.

Dancing is ideal for mature women. It is much more enjoyable than home exercising. Dancing is an art form, plus it helps slim a person by toning sagging muscles and shifting weight to the proper places.

Proper training in dance and acrobatics is important to prevent muscle strain and unattractive bulging muscles. A person must be ready for acrobatics, says Miss Bass. Too much acrobatics, too soon, can cause a person to begin to look like a wrestler.

Ballet should be the foundation of acrobatics, that is why students take combined lessons in the various dances. Tap dancing, for example, helps develop good rhythm, timing and coordination. Dancing is recommended for better coordination, minor crippling and flat feet — in addition to being lots of fun and giving a great feeling of self-accomplishment. She believes in keeping up with all the latest techniques in dancing. In August she will attend the Dance Masters of America teachers workshop in Boston, Mass. There, nationally known choreographers conduct classes.

Miss Bass is highly qualified as a teacher and studied under Gus Giordano, who wrote the "Modern Jazz Syllabus" and Enid Richardeau, who tutored Miss America for 1970. She is a graduate of The Hockaday School in Dallas and the University of Arkansas, and has been studying dance since the age of four.

COOL SMOULDERING RUBBLE — Firemen spray the pile of rubble — all that was left of an Air Canada Super-DC8 which crashed in a field near Toronto, Canada, airport Sunday, killing all 108 persons aboard.

Score Of Americans Among 108 Killed In Plane Crash

TORONTO (AP) — More than 20 Americans were among 108 persons killed Sunday in the crash of a Canadian jetliner landing in Toronto.

The Air Canada Super-DC8 crashed in a field about four miles north of Toronto International Airport after attempting to land for a stopover on a flight from Montreal to Los Angeles. All aboard were killed.

Of 89 identified victims, 23 were from addresses in the United States. There were 75 paying passengers, most of them from Quebec and California; two infants; 22 vacationing Air Canada employees and a crew of nine.

An airline spokesman said the plane had a capacity of 198 passengers and that on Saturday or Monday "it would have been full."

SECOND WORST

It was the first major crash at Toronto's international airport and the second worst in Canadian aviation history. The worst was on Nov. 29, 1963, when another Air Canada DC8 crashed 20 miles north of Montreal, killing all 118 persons aboard.

Queen Elizabeth II, arriving later Sunday at Frobisher Bay to start a tour of the Canadian North and Manitoba, expressed to Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau her "most sincere sympathy" for the families of the victims.

The airliner crashed at 8:10 a.m. after touching down at Toronto and then lifting off again to make another landing attempt. Ground control officials and police said the pilot radioed that one of his engines was on fire, and the control tower ordered him to gain altitude and jettison fuel.

FIRE

W. M. House of the federal Department of Transport, who is directing the investigation into the crash, confirmed that there had been a fire but said it had not yet been determined where it occurred before, during, or after the landing attempt.

The plane approached the runway in near-perfect flying weather. It rolled a short distance—some witnesses said it bounced off the runway—and then lifted off again.

While it was over the runway, the outside right engine dropped in flames to the ground. The plane was trailing flames and smoke and dropping pieces of debris as it left the airport area. Just before the crash, the inside right engine and a 15-foot length of wing fell 100 yards apart into farm fields.

The big jet crashed into a field 100 yards from a farmhouse, leaving a scorched hole 35 feet wide and up to seven feet deep. Sytze Burgsma, who lives in the farmhouse with his wife and 10 children, said the impact shook the house and broke windows. He said he shouted at his family to stay inside, then ran to the field "as that yellow insulation stuff fell like snow."

Burgsma said that when he reached the crash site, "everything was silent except for a hissing sound coming out of the hole."

Devotee Of U.S. Wins Freedom

EL PASO (AP) — Jesus Flores Hernandez, 28, who loves the United States so much he was willing to go to prison, was released from La Tuna Federal Correctional Institute and spent July 4 with his family in Juarez across the Rio Grande from El Paso.

Hernandez was released on the eve of Independence Day by Dist. Judge Ernest Guinn with only half his six-month term completed. His release came swiftly after officials learned his daughter, 7, had died in Juarez.

The Mexican national was sentenced March 28 on charges of illegal entry. Several times he had been escorted to the border and told to go home, but he always returned, and finally charges were preferred.

Highway To Cross Mafia Boss' Land Money Bills Before Senate

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Justice Department is probing plans to build a federally financed superhighway across five miles of bayou marshes owned by the reputed Mafia boss of New Orleans and his associates.

The six-lane Interstate 410 bypass is being routed to run directly through the marshlands of Mafia leader Carlos Marcello. The Associated Press disclosed.

A Justice Department source confirmed in Washington the expressway route is under what was described as intense investigation.

The source said the probe is focusing on whether improper influence was involved in choosing the superhighway route.

The federal government is slated to pay 90 per cent of the $170,000 now budgeted to buy the route through the Marcello marshlands.

The controversial section is part of a 48-mile bypass looping south of New Orleans. The $369 million project will provide two new bridges across the Mississippi River above and below the city.

Official I-410 planning maps of the Louisiana Highways Department include a red line tracing the path for a possible spur road from the nearby West Bank Expressway in suburban Westwego to an interchange leading to Marcello land.

The interchange, not yet permanently included in the final route, is believed to figure in the Justice Department probe.

If built, it would be the only interchange for several miles in either direction. Marcello's property in this area is enclosed in a new public levee and may be opened up for profitable commercial development when drained in the next few years.

The 60-year-old Marcello has been identified in congressional hearings as the Mafia boss for New Orleans and the Gulf Coast.

Although the I-410 route has not been announced publicly yet, bright red lines trace its path across the marshes on planning maps inspected at the Louisiana Highways Department headquarters in Baton Rouge.

Rex I. Wells, the Federal Highway Administration's route location chief in Washington, said a lake to the south of the marshes and the developed area along the West Bank Expressway to the north resulted in making the Marcello bayou lands the logical route for the superhighway.

"We're not crossing his property because it belongs to him and we're not steering clear of it because he owns it," Wells said.

The Senate will start off with a $17 billion appropriation bill carrying funds for the space program, the Department of Housing and Urban Development, the Veterans Administration and other government agencies. Next it will turn to health and other government money bill for the Agriculture Department.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fresh from a long Fourth of July weekend, the Senate takes up two appropriations bills this week before wading deep into another debate over United States policy in Southeast Asia.

The House, far ahead of the Senate in acting on appropriations for the fiscal year that began July 1, has a relatively light schedule this week. On the agenda are Senate-passed bills to provide an antitrust exemption for joint newspaper-publishing arrangements, and regulating issuance of unsolicited credit cards.

The Senate must dig into a backlog of work left undone during a seven-week debate over the Cooper-Church amendment to limit future U.S. military operations in Cambodia.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—With both sides vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠63 ♣AQ1095 ♠AQ10 ♣KJ9

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1♥ Pass 1♠ 2♦ ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Double. Your hand should produce at least the equivalent of the defensive book and anything partner can add will be so much gravy. A big demerit to anyone who bids two no trump.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠J ♣Q943 ♠AK2 ♠A10643

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1♠ Pass 2♠ Pass 2♥ ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three diamonds. An immediate jump to four hearts does not do full justice to this holding which is worth 17 points in support of hearts. By making a forcing bid in diamonds and following it up with a heart raise partner will get a complete picture of your values.

Q. 3—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠A83 ♣Q52 ♠106 ♣J7432

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East Pass Pass 1NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. While it is our practice sometimes to raise one no trump on only seven points plus a five card suit, we would never do it on such a shabby suit as this. Partner requires too good a fit to make it a reasonable gamble.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠J7653 ♣KQ864 ♠3 ♣Q10

The bidding has proceeded: West North East South Pass 1♦ 1♥ Pass Pass 2♠ ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Unfortunately there is no convenient action open to you. If partner had a very good hand he would have reopened the bidding with either a double or a jump bid, so game seems to be out of the question. Furthermore, his bidding indicates that you could expect very little spade support from him.

Q. 5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠6 ♠A52 ♠AQJ ♠K108643

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1♠ Pass 1♠ Pass 2♠ Pass 2♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. This looks like a complete misfit and one more bid could get you overboard. While it is true that you have adequate protection in the unbid suits, no trump seems unattractive, for you have no place to develop tricks.

Q. 6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠Q10 ♠AK32 ♠KQJ97 ♠K85

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1♦ Pass 1♠ Pass 1♦ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—This is a close call between two no trump and two hearts with a slight preference for the former. This hand falls a point short of the textbook requirements for the jump rebid in no trump (19 points), but it possesses the compensating feature of a good five card suit plus the fitting Q-10 in partner's suit.

Q. 7—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠76 ♠AK863 ♠AQ98 ♠A5

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West Pass Pass 1♥ Pass 4♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Five diamonds. Partner's jump to game after his initial pass indicates a hand that in support of hearts may be revalued at 14 or more points which with your 20 points could spell a slam. A Blackwood bid would be pointless because of the worthless doubleton in spades. If, over five diamonds, partner merely returns to five hearts you may decide to pass.

Q. 8—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠AJ10875 ♠6 ♠KQ9643

The bidding has proceeded: East South 1♥ ?

What do you bid?

A.—Two clubs. This is admittedly irregular, but the call is made in anticipation of conserving space. The auction will likely reach four hearts before it gets back to you again and you will find that, had you chosen to overcall with one spade originally, you would now be forced to bid five clubs. With the initial overcall in clubs, however, you can conveniently bid four spades and offer partner a choice of suits one level lower.

A Devotion For Today . . .

Serve the Lord with gladness: come before his presence with singing. (Psalm 100:2)

PRAYER: Merciful Father, we thank Thee for Thy sustenance in our moments of weakness. Help us to sing of Thy love and glory as we live according to Thy precepts. We ask in Thy compassionate Son's name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Unwelcome Task Of Redistricting

State legislators will earn their salaries and expenses next year. They will have to come up with a painful tax bill. But most of the caterwauling will come when they set about redistricting congressional and state Senate and House districts.

Population shift, particularly the movement from rural areas to the cities, will require wholesale realignment of districts. In Central West Texas and East Texas, for instance, almost any new district will put two present U.S. House members in the same district. U.S. Reps. Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls, Omar Burleson of Anson and O. C. Fisher of San Angelo face this prospect, as do Wright Patman of Texarkana, John Dowdy of Athens, Olin Teague of College Station and Bob Poage of Waco.

Equally as sad is the prospect for legislators. Perhaps as many as eight senators must be forced into four districts. Eleven out of 22 House districts will have to be combined.

At least one special session will be required for redistricting. Tempers will be ruffled. Very few representatives or senators will be satisfied with the final product. They might not take up the job at all, in view of the hard feelings that will result, if the law did not require it.

The Legislative Redistricting Board, made up of the lieutenant governor, House speaker, attorney general and commissioner of the General Land Office, is required to redistrict legislative districts if the legislature fails to act.

If the legislature were to fail to reconstitute congressional districts, a three-judge federal court in Houston would take over the job. That court has already decreed that present congressional districts do not conform with the one-man, one-vote ruling of the U.S. Supreme Court. The alternative would be districts fashioned by federal judges or the requirement that all U.S. House seats be filled with at-large elections — a horrible prospect for all House members.

So there is no real alternative for the legislature. It must act, distasteful as the task will be.

First Lady's Goodwill Mission

The American First Lady's trip to Peru was one of those acts which can do more than all the diplomatic treaties ever put on parchment to unite two peoples. It is proof that the United States and Peru, whatever their recent controversies, are united in a desire to help the upwards of a million Peruvians afflicted by the recent mammoth earthquake.

Nor is it too much to expect that the spontaneous goodwill felt on both sides as a result of Mrs. Nixon's trip and of the other expressions of United States help will smooth the path for a resumption of past friendship between the two lands.

But perhaps most important of all, Mrs. Nixon's visit is a reaffirmation of the concern which the United States has traditionally felt for suffering peoples abroad. Such a reaffirmation is particularly needed at this time when so much of the world has begun to feel doubts about America as a result of the war in Southeast Asia.

Some suggestion had been made that President Nixon himself go. He felt that for him to have gone would have made the trip too formally official. Furthermore, there is nothing like a woman's gentle spirit in time of need.

David Lawrence The 'Anti-Negro' Accusation

WASHINGTON — It isn't often that the White House takes the trouble to issue a rebuttal to a specific speech of criticism in the racial controversies of the day. But evidently the address by Bishop Stephen G. Spottswood, chairman of the board of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, charging that the Nixon administration has become "anti-Negro" was too much to let go unchallenged.

The White House sent a telegram to the bishop signed by Leonard Garment, chief liaison man for President Nixon with civil rights groups. The message minced no words and answered the bishop's speech point by point.

MR. GARMENT declared at the outset that the comments were "an unfair and disheartening attack" on the administration in view of all the efforts it has made to advance civil rights. He detailed how the construction trades have been opened up to Negroes on a major scale for the first time. He noted that $1.5 billion has been proposed to aid desegregation in the schools and help fund experimental projects to promote interracial experiences among children where racial isolation persists. He emphasized the landmark family assistance plan which, he said, would provide for the first time a floor under the incomes of every family, and the greatly improved food-assistance programs. He pointed out that President Nixon has named "more blacks to policymaking positions than any previous administration." Mr. Garment declared:

"IN ADDITION, your comments misstate and misrepresent the record of the administration so as to present it in a highly distorting light." The telegram gave details about the progress in the public schools, particularly in the 11 southern states where the number of black students in desegregated systems will have increased from 164,000 at the end of the 1968-69 school year to well over one million at the start of the 1970-71 school year.

MENTION WAS made also of Bishop Spottswood's charge that the administration has weakened the voting rights act, when, as a matter of fact, "only a week ago, Roy Wilkins, Clarence Mitchell and Sen. Brooke, 'hailed' the President for signing the bill and praised his 'statesmanship' for doing so."

This, of course, is not the end of the story. Sooner or later, there will have to be an explanation as to why the Nixon administration was jumped on by the chairman of the board of the NAACP, while coincidentally so many members and officers of the same organization are working in harmony with the administration and are praising its efforts.

SCHISMS OCCUR, of course, in all groups which are dealing with legislative matters, and the NAACP is composed of extremists as well as moderates. It may well be that within the organization there will be further discussion as to what the association's attitude toward the Nixon administration really is and whether a declaration of some sort should be made to clarify its position so far as the public is concerned.

Clearly, the Nixon administration is not comfortable with the charge that it is "anti-Negro" — something that probably will have a political effect in the next campaign. For the administration is just as much interested in black votes as white votes, and is not trying to cater to either side — this is what its spokesmen are saying whenever they discuss politics with the press.

John Cuniff Eyeing The Sanctuary

NEW YORK (AP) — You may be sure that a lot of companies are eyeing the bankruptcy laws these days as they scrounge for capital with which to pay their bills.

The Penn Central Transportation Co. decision to seek protection from its creditors in the law was not an isolated example. Less well known companies are taking similar action every week.

To name a few: Four Season Nursing Centers, a glamor company just a few months ago; Dolly Madison Industries, a conglomerate doing more than $100 million a year; Milo Electronics, listed on the American Stock Exchange.

Each has had its individual problem and so it may not be fair to group them. But there is one pervasive theme through most filings these days, and it concerns liquidity.

LIQUID TEST
A company is liquid when it can meet its bills—when it has assets that can readily be converted to cash to pay obligations. It has little to do with size; a candy store can be more liquid than an airline.

Many powerful companies are now undergoing liquidity strains, if not crises, and some observers believe the temptation to use Chapter 11 of the Federal Bankruptcy Act may become quite enticing in the next few weeks.

This is the chapter that permits a company to continue operating while it works out its finances, fully protected by the courts from lawsuits by creditors. It gives the company a breather. And officers retain control.

The present concern about corporate bankruptcies really relates to the immediate future, to the expectation that corporate bankruptcies may spread as the liquidity strains persist.

But why should so many companies be illiquid?

For a number of reasons. Bad management is near the top of the list. During the 1960s some companies were carried along by mere momentum. Errors were buried by prosperity. Somehow, everything turned out right in the 1960s.

OVERCONFIDENT
A decade of such prosperity left some executives confident they could do no wrong. In their view, there was no reason for not looking onward and upward, no reason not to continue expanding as if tomorrow always would be better.

Then came the slowdown. The Nixon administration was forced to take blunt action against the growing inflation; it had to slow the expansion because it was becoming an illusion of inflation rather than real progress.

One way of bringing about a slowdown is to restrict the supply of money flowing into the economy via the Federal Reserve banks. It was done.

Hal Boyle Down Memory Lane

NEW YORK (AP) — No stage on earth is as mighty as the human mind.

No other platform can manage so many changing sets, scenes and circumstances as the mind does in the twinkling of an eye by a mere shift of thought. No theatrical warehouse stores as many moving relics of the past as the human memory.

Your own supply of mental souvenirs is pretty extensive if you can look back and remember when—

It was girls, not boys, who said after washing their hair, "I can't do a thing with it."

Tombstones were more interesting to read, because they usually had more engraved on them than simply names and dates.

An ice-cream cone cost a nickel—and was worth every penny of it.

FRIDAY FARE
One of the ordeals of a Catholic childhood was the inevitability with which the baked macaroni and cheese arrived on the dinner table every Friday night. Wouldn't mother ever forget just once and serve chicken-fried steak?

If you asked the average American what Cambodia was, instead of identifying it as a country he would probably guess it must be something that women wore.

America was still so rural that most kids lived in places where they could stop off and catch a frog on the way home from school.

You were thought to be something of a sissy if you'd rather play tennis than baseball. Golf was sneered at as "pasture pool."

COD LIVER OIL
Every mother was firmly convinced that her children would become stunted or "be weakly" if they weren't regularly dosed with cod liver oil.

Childhood also was haunted by the adult-inflicted belief that if you accidentally swallowed a grape or watermelon seed you were practically doomed to get appendicitis.

When you saw a window containing a framed flag with a gold star in it, you knew that some hearts in that home would never be fully happy again.

To Your Good Health She Says She's Not A Compulsive Eater

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: I cannot say that I am a compulsive eater because I often wait until 3 or 4 o'clock in the afternoon before eating anything at all but ... Once I taste the smallest morsel of food, I cannot leave food alone. I just keep eating until I am ready to burst and nearly get sick. I think the proper term for me is "food-aholic."

Would you suggest hypnosis for me? I shall become very much overweight if this does not stop. — R.H.

Or should we say that you're not a compulsive eater until you start eating?

However, your first mistake is waiting until mid-afternoon before eating anything. You are bound to be ravenously hungry by that time. It is entirely possible that this is intensified by some physical condition which ought to be attended to.

Instead of hypnosis, I would suggest that you change your eating pattern completely. Start with a high-protein breakfast and limited or low amount of carbohydrate (especially sugar). Say some cereal, an egg, a strip or two of bacon. For lunch, a sandwich and some milk, or perhaps a salad. Then an average dinner.

Skipping meals is not a wise way of controlling or losing weight. Regular meals of relatively low caloric content (not too much starch, sugar and fat) prevent you from ravenous spells. The meal-skipper too often merely builds up a bigger appetite for the next meal. And spends some hungry hours looking forward to it, which makes it harder than ever to hold down to moderate helpings. I mentioned physical conditions which might have a bearing on your particular problem. One is hypoglycemia, or periods of low blood sugar, which is known for bringing on episodes of suddenly ravenous hunger. (Proper spacing of meals and care to emphasize protein foods will help this.)

The other is the question of how your thyroid gland is functioning. If it is somewhat off from normal, appropriate medication ought to help you a lot.

The way you are going — fasting until afternoon — is probably the worst thing you could do. Try my suggestions.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is a cystocele and what surgery is involved if any? — H.A.T.

A cystocele is a sort of internal hernia. The tissues which support the bladder become weakened and part of the bladder pushes through into the vagina. It may be slight or may be severe.

If severe enough to warrant repair, it can be repaired surgically like any other hernia. It is not an unusual operation. Cystocele, because of incomplete emptying of the bladder, predisposes to urinary tract infection.

You can lose weight if you really want to. Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," tells you how — naturally and without gimmicks — to the level that best suits your individual needs. For a copy, write to Dr. Thosteson, care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Around The Rim

A Man And His Wallet

One thing and another:

A story I know you can appreciate originates in Atlanta where a harried man, caught in a crowd, felt someone jostle him and instinctively felt for his wallet. It was gone.

He spotted the person who had brushed against him, a seedy character who might have been thirsting for the purple grape.

THE 'VICTIM' yelled and lunged at the fellow, tearing his shirt before the set-up party broke away and hopped into the closing door of a city bus that was pulling away.

The 'victim' reported the incident to police and dejectedly went on to work.

Came evening, he went home, where he was met at the door by his wife. Before he could tell her what happened, she asked:

"Honey, did you know you left your wallet on the dresser?"

ORDINARILY, I am a trusting person but I was suspicious of a restaurant I entered recently which displayed the sign:

"Crepe suzettes — like Mother used to make."

STRANGE, how you can live most of your life without once hearing of a place and then hear the name repeated twice in a matter of hours.

I wrote a story recently in which I mentioned a calf-roper named Bobby Ragsdale. His home is Chewchilla, Calif.

Within 48 hours, I read an item about the nation's youngest grandmother — she's 31. Her home: Chewchilla, Calif.

ONE OF THE oldest stories in the newspaper profession, and one of the best, concerns the Johnstown Flood.

A young reporter assigned to do a story on the deluge started his story thusly:

"God came out of the mountain today. . ."

His sage old boss cabled back: "Forget the flood. Get me an interview with God."

BECAUSE MOST of the nation's population was born since World War II, you must consider yourself past middle age if you are older than 27.7 years. If you've reached that milestone, half the people are younger than you.

That information is supplied for 29-year-olds who don't trust anyone over 30.

Andrew Tully Patriotism For Right Wing Only?

WASHINGTON — Fourth of July, 1970, is over—but the nausea lingers on. Not from any gastronomic excesses, but from the doctrinaire bilge served up by the wet pants liberals to explain why they couldn't really, you know, give their country an old-fashioned hug and kiss.

MOST OF THE ideological offal was aimed at the Bob Hope-Billy Graham-Walt Disney celebration in this schizophrenic hamlet, but the sick-making drivel was mouthed wherever people gathered to salute the Fourth. Its gist was that a genuine, bottled-in-bond, sobbing liberal had nowhere to go because patriotism has become the property of the rightists, you know.

Locally, an emetic was served up by Bill Raspberry, Negro columnist for the Washington Post, and it saddened me because young Raspberry's writings in the past have always made such realistic sense.

RASPBERRY "explained" the dilemma of "many people who dearly love America." They feared to take part in the Washington celebration because it would "identify them with rightwingers or hardhats or war hawks. You can work yourself sick trying to make America live up to her noble ideals; but if you're a liberal, you hesitate to call it patriotism. . . if you're black, you avoid actually saying the words: 'I love America.'"

And try this one for logic: "HONEST, NOW, when the car in front of you has a decal of the American Flag in the rear window, don't you assume that the driver is a conservative or worse?"

I find it incredible that one of those on the left side of the aisle who has been critical of Nixon and Agnew for allegedly dividing the country could write such words. "Bring us together, indeed!"

Or, as Raspberry put it, "worse." Could this bright young man really have intended to convey the message that conservatives are evil? Apparently.

BUT RASPBERRY'S worst goof was in his admission of something I have always suspected of the wet pants set. He wrote that it was easy for supporters of the Nixon administration to take part in the official celebration of the Fourth, whereas his "liberal" brothers were hesitant "to declare their love of America lest they appear to support policies with which they disagree profoundly. So they place no flag decals on their windshields."

IN SHORT, patriotism is possible only if an American happens to agree with the administration in power. I cannot read Raspberry's mind, but he seems to be saying that the Hope-Graham-Disney celebration "would have met his ideological standards had it been sponsored by a Kennedy — or a Gene McCarthy or a Johnny Lindsay — administration."

It is sad for all of us. Sad because by their dialectical gyrations, the super liberals have managed to deprive themselves of the No. 1 fun holiday on the calendar. And sad because they have managed to suggest that the day celebrates something disgraceful rather than the world's first glorious step toward democracy. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Burleson Reports Watch For Counterfeit Money

WASHINGTON — In writing about the Secret Service last week, it was indicated the subject this week would be counterfeit money. The Secret Service, which has the responsibility of coping with counterfeiting, has a big job.

Counterfeiting is one of the oldest games in history and is today on the rise. One reason is the fact that large quantities can be produced by improvements in photography and printing equipment.

ALTHOUGH OUR BILLS are produced from plates made by the finest engravers in the world, counterfeiters are able to fool the unsuspecting. The Treasury Department is now studying ways to make it even more difficult to copy our currency.

Counterfeiters usually stick to producing bills of $10 and $20 denominations although $1 to $50 bills have been in circulation.

The producer of bogus bills usually sells them to a dealer for 10 cents or 15 cents on the dollar. The dealer then sells them to a distributor for another reduction and finally to the passer who pays from 25 cents to 35 cents on the dollar, depending on the quality. These people are expert and the appearance of genuineness reduces the risk of being caught. The risk is great and counterfeiters are finally apprehended but not before a lot of people have been their victims. It is a very difficult task but the Secret Service is doggedly expert in its work.

A FEW POINTERS are helpful in identifying counterfeit bills. It is important to examine the portrait. The portrait is more intricate and an example of the fine art of engraving. Counterfeiters have never been able to exactly duplicate the picture. The fine screen of regular lines forming the background in genuine currency usually becomes broken and ragged on counterfeit. This is particularly true of the eyes. On the genuine currency they stand out, almost sparkling. They are clear and on a clean background. The counterfeit blends into a sort of smudgy background and will likely be too light or too dark.

ANOTHER POINT is that the portrait distinguishes the bill's denomination. Some counterfeiters raise the denomination by scraping off the number on small bills and replacing a higher one. The denomination and the portrait always go together from the portrait of George Washington on the $1 to that of Chase on the $10,000 bill.

The seal on the bill is telltale, if examined carefully. On good currency the saw-tooth points around the circle are identical and sharp at the tips. Fake notes are likely to be irregular and broken.

COLOR IS IMPORTANT. Federal Reserve notes have a green seal and serial number while United States notes have a red seal. Should colors of the seal and serial number differ, it is an imitation. Unevenly spaced serial numbers should be a warning.

Counterfeiters have a difficult time in imitating the blue, silk threads imbedded below the surface in genuine bills. More often the threads in counterfeit are more coarse and the color not true. Some manage to imitate these threads with pen and ink lines but they are detectable on close examination.

The thickness of currency is often a sign of good or bad money.

Dove Rules

DEERFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A cooing, pecking mourning dove is ruling the Deerfield police station with an iron beak.

The feathered jailbird had to be arrested for trying to roost on the heads of two children and attempting to peck its way through the rear door of a home here.

A visitor to the police station said he thought it was a little odd that a police department should be harboring a peace symbol.

"Why not?" said Patrolman William E. Behnke, "birds of a feather flock together."

Weaver-Nieto First In Munny Partnership

Two former Howard County JC players, Mike Weaver of Big Spring and Jeff Nieto of Dallas, won the first annual Big Spring Munny Partnership Golf tournament Saturday and with it $100 each in merchandise.

The two fired a 63 Sunday to finish with a 36-hole score of 128, 18 shots under regulation figures.

Weaver and Nieto finished three shots ahead of Marvin Williams and Jerry Barron, both of Big Spring, who were tied with the youthful pair after the first day. Williams and Barron finished with a 66 Sunday.

In third place were Buck Drake and another HCJC ex, Teddy Griffin, who had a two-day score of 134.

Seven teams got into the prize money in each flight. The tournament attracted 170 players in all, considered a splendid turnout.

In the handicap division, Max Pitts and Jimmy Shoultz prevailed after a "sudden death" playoff with Delmer Turner and Dr. Bobby Gross, that was determined on the second extra hole. The two tandems had tied at 130.

All alone in third place were Tinker Bailey, Forsan, and Terry Pate, who had a 131.

Some of the players who earned prize money could not accept it because they have high school eligibility remaining. They will instead get appropriate trophies.

One father-son combination, Ed and Jimmy Wilkerson, finished in a deadlock for sixth place in the Handicap division. Another, H. D. and Jimmy Stewart, were all alone in seventh place.

Jimmy and Milton Jones, the first day leaders in the handicap division with a 62, had trouble Sunday and finished out of the money with a 36-hole aggregate of 137.

Results, with players from Big Spring unless otherwise listed:

SCRATCH DIVISION

Mike Weaver-Jeff Nieto, 65-63, $100 each in merchandise.

Rebs Nip Alpine

The Rebels from the Sophomore league, fortified by several players from the Hi Junior circuit, administered a baseball lesson to the Alpine teen-age team Saturday in a holiday game at Alpine.

The Rebels jumped all over Alpine pitching for a 22-2 victory. Shutout in the first inning, the Rebels warmed up with two in the second and then got on their way with five in the third.

Meanwhile, John Knoppel and Thomas Gonzales divided chores on the mound, pitching superlative ball. Alpine observers said they had never seen a teen team hit the ball as the Rebels did Saturday.

Youth Field Limited At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The tennis stars, leaving Wimbledon for another year, cast an inquiring eye at three youngsters who could be the stars of the future—Byron Bertram, Sharon Walsh and Evonne Goolagong.

Bertram, a 17-year-old South African, won the Wimbledon junior boys' title for the second straight year.

Miss Walsh, 17, of San Rafael, Calif., won the girls' championship.

Miss Goolagong, a 18-year-old Australian Aboriginal whose talent has been a big talking point, won the Women's plate event—a consolation tournament for first and second round losers.

The three youngsters were bright spots in a Wimbledon tournament that was notable for the success of the old brigade.

Both the main titles went to famous players who had won them before—the men's crown to John Newcombe of Australia, the 1967 champion, and the women's to Australia's Margaret Court, who had won it in 1963 and 1965.

None of the eight quarter-finalists in the men's singles was under 25.

Of the women's quarter-finalists, Cecilia Martinez of San Francisco, who is 23, was the only one who caused any surprise by getting to that stage.

The absence of outstanding young players was a main topic of conversation among players, officials and fans.

Françoise Durr of France, who reached the women's semi-finals, said: "The trouble with youngsters today is that they don't want to put in the hard work that is necessary to take you to the top."

Zarley Fires Five-Under Round To Win Canadian

LONDON, Ont. (AP) — Kermit Zarley stepped to the microphone after a long presentation ceremony to accept the $25,000 first-place check in the Canadian Open Golf championship and the public address system suddenly began an ear-splitting, high-pitched squeak.

"It looks," said Zarley after the noise had been conquered,

"like everything I touch today turns on."

He turned on a five-under-par 67 Sunday to come from four strokes off the pace and win by three with a nine-under 279, making this national championship his second tour victory.

"Now I can kind of plan my schedule a little," the 28-year-old former collegiate champion from Houston University said. "I lost my non-exempt status this year and have had to qualify on Mondays. You get to fighting it that way."

"You play and play and play. It's best to play a few weeks and rest. Now I can do it."

The victory, snapping a year-long slump for Zarley, insures him of an exempt status for at least a year.

He hadn't been a factor through the first three rounds, but bolted past the altering leaders with four birdies in a stretch of five holes, beginning on the eighth, and won comfortably.

Gibby Gilbert had a 71 for 282 and second place and made the biggest run at Zarley, his charge falling when he three-putted the 17th for a bogey.

Chi Chi Rodriguez, with a 75, and Bob Stone, 74, shared third at 283 while Labron Harris followed at 284. Phil Rodgers was alone at 285.

Most of the third-round leaders had their difficulties on the rolling, 7,168 yard, par 72 London Hunt and Country Club Course. George Archer had to birdie the last hole for a 77 and 286. Mike Reasor, alone in fifth place going into the windy final round, took a 78 for 288. Canadian amateur Gary Cowan drifted back with a 79 for 290.

Donna Nearly Blows It But Repeats As Champ

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP) — "I was just so glad it went in because I didn't want to come back tomorrow," said an exuberant, but exhausted Donna Caponi after her second straight U.S. Women's Open victory.

"I'm just so tired... so tired of thinking because I got myself into so much trouble out there," she added Sunday after her one-stroke victory over Sandra Haynie of Runaway Bay, Tex., and former champion Sandra Spuzich of Indianapolis.

And get herself into trouble she did.

Miss Caponi, who entered the final round of the $30,000 classic with a four-stroke lead on a three-under-par 210 over the 6,210-yard Muskogee Country Club course, finished play with a three-over-par 287.

Before culminating play with a double bogey 6, the attractive 25-year-old brunette carded five bogeys—on Nos. 1, 6, 8, 11 and 15.

"I played so badly," she said afterwards. "I only had one birdie all day."

That was with a 15-foot putt on the par 5 No. 13.

Leading Miss Spuzich by two strokes and Miss Haynie by three after 17 holes, Donna failed to get onto the 18th green in three. Her regulation fourth moved only a few feet and her fifth shot sailed four feet past the pin.

Miss Spuzich, however, missed a six-foot putt and a chance for a playoff and it was Donna's championship with a four-foot putt.

"It was the same thing last year," whispered sister Janet from sidelines before the winning putt. "She made it then. She can do it again."

Those four feet were worth $5,000 to Miss Caponi, who has won four tournaments in her five-year career, and it moved her up to sixth place in the Ladies Professional Golf Association money standings with more than $12,000 for the year.

Misses Haynie and Spuzich earned $2,000 each as runners-up, followed by Kathy Whitworth of Ocean Shores, Wash., and Sandra Palmer of Lake Arrowhead, Calif., who won $1,100 apiece with 289's.

Jacklin Favored In British Event

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) — Tony Jacklin said today he is "just scrambling around" on the golf course since he won the U.S. Open Championship but he might put it all together to retain his British title in the 72-hole battle which starts here Wednesday.

"I'm in bunkers and getting out of them and I hole a putt when I need it, it seems," said the 25-year-old English phenomenon.

"Anyway, I'm ready."

The bookies, who made Jacklin a 6-1 favorite for the British Open crown against an incredible field of 136 professionals and top amateurs appeared to feel the same way.

The odds however, may be shifting by mid week.

Experts who watched the weekend 36-hole pro-amateur challenge performance at Troon in western Scotland noted a distinct Australian challenge.

Frankie Had It But Let It Go

SENDAI, Japan (AP) — Frankie Crawford of Los Angeles almost gave himself a dandy early birthday present—the World Boxing Association featherweight crown.

Crawford, who will be 23 on Thursday, floored the champion, Japan's Shozo Saijo in the first round with a left hook for a mandatory eight-count in their title fight in this northern Japanese city Sunday night. Saijo rallied and retained his title on a close 15-round decision.

"I should have followed up in that first round," lamented the disappointed challenger from California. "Even so I thought I won it."

Two of the three officials voted for Saijo under the five-point must scoring system. The other called it a draw.

The referee, Yusaku Yoshida scored it 71-67 and Nick Pope, an American judge, 71-70, for a 60-60 draw.

A crowd of 7,500 jammed the 6,400-seat Sendai Sports Center and saw the 23-year-old Saijo make the fourth defense of the crown he won from Raul Rojas at Los Angeles in September, 1968.

Hardwares Still Unbeaten

The Hardwares made it hard on the Pirates, cramming across five runs in the first and nine in the second inning of their Hi-Junior League game Saturday. It was a simple matter to coast to a 15-2 victory.

Gatlin Jones allowed only two hits, while the Hardwares combed Bruce Felts, the loser, for nine. Jones aided his own cause with a homer in the second with none aboard.

The Hardwares boast a perfect 11-0 record, while the Pirates are 3-8. The box score:

McLain Tries, But Tigers Try Harder

By The Associated Press

Denny McLain is making up lost ground in a hurry, but he's got a long way to go to catch Jim Palmer.

McLain, making his second start for the Detroit Tigers after sitting out a half-season suspension, pitched seven gutty innings against Baltimore Sunday.

But Palmer, the Orioles' ace right-hander, blanked the Tigers on three hits over the full nine as the American League's East Division leaders scraped to a 2-0 victory.

In winning the rubber game of a weekend set, Baltimore stretched its margin to 5½ games over the sagging New York Yankees, who dropped a pair of 7-3 decisions to Washington in the day's only double-header.

Elsewhere in the AL, Minnesota drubbed the Chicago White Sox 12-3; California downed Oakland 5-1; Boston whipped Cleveland 8-4 and Milwaukee edged Kansas City 2-1.

In National League play, the New York Mets topped Philadelphia 5-4; Pittsburgh beat the Chicago Cubs 5-2; St. Louis trimmed Montreal 6-3; Cincinnati subdued Houston 3-1; San Diego nipped Atlanta 6-5 and Los Angeles shackled San Francisco 4-0.

McLain, who was rocked for three home runs and kayoed in the sixth inning of his 1970 debut against New York last Wednesday, came back to blank the Orioles through four innings despite control difficulty.

The husky 26-year-old right-hander, suspended by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn last April for alleged gambling activities three years ago, gave up one run in the fifth and another in the sixth. But he escaped further damage each time, leaving five base runners stranded.

Frank Howard drove in four runs with a pair of singles in the first game and Del Unser's two-run homer in the first inning of the nightcap sent the Senators on their way to a sweep over the Yankees, who have dropped eight of their last 10 starts.

Simpson Hurls 10th Victory

CINCINNATI (AP) — Wayne Simpson kept the opposition dancing to his tune Sunday because he had "the rhythm."

"He always has the better off balance," Houston manager Harry Walker said. "His rhythm makes him tough. He pitched an outstanding game."

Simpson's "rhythm" was the fastballs, curves and changeups he blended to hurl a four-hitter against the Astros and paced the Reds over Houston, 3-1.

The rookie, who once again looked anything but that, reeled off his 10th straight victory as he held the Astros hitless until the seventh and pitched out of jams in that inning and the ninth. He struck out seven and walked two.

His no-hitter bid was spoiled when Jimmy Wynn led off in the seventh with a single. One out later, Bob Watson singled. Simpson retired these in the inning without permitting a run and held the Astros to a single run in the ninth.

Gus Hutchinson mixes chemicals for a living—and also has apparently found the right formula for winning races in the tough Continental series for stock-block Formula A cars.

Hutchinson, a 40-year-old chemist, who lives in Dallas, christened the new Dallas International Motor Speedway road course by winning his second event in a row in the 14-race Continental which features cars that resemble those in Formula 1 and Indianapolis racing but which are restricted to 302 cubic inch stock engines.

one of five Minnesota runs in the third inning and slammed his 24th homer to launch a four-run fifth as the Twins sailed to their eighth victory in 10 games.

The Angels remained four games behind the front-running Twins in the West Division race as Jim Spencer knocked in two runs and Andy Messersmith posted his first victory since June 12 with late relief help from Ken Tatum. John Kennedy hit an inside-the-park homer to trigger a three-run Boston rally in the fifth that erased a 4-2 deficit and sent the Red Sox to their sixth straight victory.

Milwaukee's Skip Lockwood fired a four-hitter for his first major league victory as the Brewers snapped a five-game losing streak with a 5-1 win over the Cardinals.

conference broke up, Durocher exchanged angry words with Ellis and the brawl was on.

"It was just like a hockey fight," said Pittsburgh's Richie Hebner, who had tagged a two-run homer in the first inning. "I loved every minute of it."

When peace was restored, the Pirates finished beating the Cubs on the scoreboard and dropped Chicago five games behind first place New York. The Cubs led the division by 4½ games when their slide started June 21.

In the first inning umpire Tom Gorman was in a collision at first base and was knocked out. He had a broken ankle.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Hugh Richards of Mobile, Ala., took first-place Sunday night in the first interrupted Liberty Bell 300.

The super modified stock car race started Saturday night but had to stop after 60 of its 300 laps when a heavy rainstorm hit the area.

Richards was leading when the race was called off Saturday night and kept that lead Sunday, relinquishing it only for pit stops.

Individual trophies went to players on the Chippers and Permian teams, and team trophies were presented to the top two.

Jim Roger, center fielder for the Chippers, and Gene Everheart, Lamesa, tied in balloting for the most valuable player award. Dick Morrison, Webb AFB hurler, won the most valuable pitcher award.

Barometer's Stock Rises

Associated Press Sports Writer

Many will say this year's Suburban was not a true barometer of the handicapping division but it certainly sent the stock of a former $15,000 claiming horse rising.

Barometer, a 5-year-old gelding claimed last year by Marion B. Frankel, gained the first stakes victory of his career Saturday by taking the prestigious Suburban at Aqueduct.

Although the Suburban lost some of its glamor with Ogden Phipps' Reviewer sidelined with a hairline fracture of the cannon bone and Gene Goff's Nodouble scratched on race day because of a slight fever, Barometer still beat some good runners and did it impressively.

Angel Cordero Jr. got Barometer, who paid a winning mutual of $32.40, home 2½ lengths ahead of Elmdorf's Verbatim, with Sigmund Sommer's Hitchcock third. King Ranch's Gallant Bloom, the 1969 3-year-old filly champion, was seventh in a field of eight.

The winner carried 111 pounds over the 1¼ miles in 2:01.15 for first money of $71,565 from the gross purse of $110,100. Verbatim carried 116 and Dewan 113.

Howard B. Keck's Fiddle Isle, ridden by Bill Shoemaker, strengthened his claim to the turf championship by making the $4,250 American Handicap at Hollywood Park his fifth straight stakes win.

Barometer's owner, J. Paulson, said he was "very pleased" with the horse's performance.

Many Women In Line To Undergo Abortions

NEW YORK (AP) — Many women seeking abortions in New York State are encountering lengthy waiting lists for the operation, despite the elimination Wednesday of almost all legal barriers to termination of pregnancy.

New York City's 18 municipal hospitals reported Friday a waiting list of 1,686 women.

The sites, conditions and costs under which abortions were performed varied widely. Guidelines issued by medical groups allowed the operations only in hospitals or in clinics under certain conditions, generally limiting the number of abortions to the number of operating rooms available.

One administrator said his hospital was figuring on doing about 42 abortions a week. "Every operating room hour given over to abortion means an hour less for other operations," he said.

Figures gathered in New York City showed Saturday 334 abortions had been performed in hospitals since Wednesday when the new law, most liberal in the country, took effect. Of these, 258 were performed in voluntary, proprietary and state hospitals, and 76 in municipal hospitals.

Figures elsewhere in the state were available only on a random basis.

In New York City, in addition to the municipal hospitals, 55 voluntary hospitals and 26 proprietary hospitals were equipped to handle abortions. Roman Catholic hospitals performed no abortions.

Abortion now is available, in effect, on demand of the mother with concurrence of a doctor in the first 24 weeks of pregnancy.

The city has estimated that 70,000 abortions a year will be obtained at New York hospitals and another 50,000 at other institutions.

Under standards adopted by the directors of the New York City Health and Hospitals Corp., abortions may be given any woman 17 years of age or over, with or without parental consent, married or single and to some younger girls if they are married or "emancipated"—living away from home and supporting themselves.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Stick to the formal and conventional today and tonight. Otherwise you could get involved in a situation which seems to be unusual but beneficial. Actually, there can be a considerable amount of deception by self or by others. Unfortunate events can be avoided.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Keep busy with duties this morning as well as making your home and office neat and pleasant. Report with friends. Be sure you get bills paid. Show devotion to your mate this evening.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Home and family affairs should be your main interest today so get busy early. Begin an interest in that important area of your life. Then concentrate on vital business matters.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Put those wise ideas to work that will make routine chores more efficient and profitable. You have an opportunity to control those who can help you to get ahead faster. Be clever.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get busy and collect whatever is owed you instead of procrastinating about it. Then pay those bills before others bother you. Consult with experts and get good advice. State aims clearly.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can have a wonderful time with good friends today, so make appointments with those who have done you big favors. Be a happy and vital person.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Plan time to handle those personal duties that have to be done and you get rid of annoyances, too. Then off to some recreation with the one who is important in your life.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Forget all that investigating today and get busy socially which can bring much pleasure and profit. Make new contacts through old friends. Be happy with mate in the evening.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Do whatever your heart desires today and have control over your fortunes. Show you have real talent. Instead of just bragging about it, participate in civic duty that adds prestige to that which you now enjoy. Be clever.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make new friends and discuss new interests and ideas with them and you make progress. Be sure to plan now for that trip that is necessary to your welfare. Don't take any chances. In traveling.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Show those to whom you have made promises that you will keep them. Show particular devotion to mate and be happier yourself as well. Be more concerned with the financial.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Do whatever improves the relationship between you and associates. Talk over future operations and goals. If you want more harmony with others, follow through with such plans. Show wisdom.

TEMPLE LAWYER HEADS BAR BOARD

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Jim Bowmer, 51, of Temple was elected chairman of the governing board of directors of the State Bar of Texas Saturday. He succeeds Curtiss Brown of Houston.

Bowmer is a Bar director for the 11th District. He is a former co-chairman of the Bar committee that wrote the Texas code of criminal procedure. He holds academic and law degrees from Baylor University.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: My mother, who is over 80, recently returned a book she borrowed from me. In it I found a letter she had written to you but never mailed. My mother is a faithful reader and regards you as a personal friend. I hope you will answer in your column. Her letter:

"Dear Abby: If the traditional three-score-years may be accepted as a natural law, I have already snatched a whole decade. I have but one piece of unfinished business: Suitable disposal of my beloved pet, a cantankerous cat who has been a comfort to me during hours that could have been tedious without his attentive antics. He has warmed the years I have known him.

"If I may, I would like to do this: Should my feline friend live longer than I do, why couldn't he be put gently to sleep, wrapped in his favorite scrap of velvet, and tucked into my casket with me, cremated as I will be, and let the two of us remain cozily together through eternity? FAITHFUL READER"

DEAR FAITHFUL: Let's put it this way. If cats could talk, supposing your cat requested that should he die first, YOU be gently put to sleep and cremated with HIM, that the two of you shall remain cozily together through eternity. Perhaps you'd agree. But should you desire to linger a little longer among the mortals, you could have your say. Your feline friend cannot. Let nature decide.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I are planning our daughter's wedding next month. For the reception we have ordered ham. Among the guests will be a couple who are Jewish. I have been told that most people of the Jewish faith do not eat pork products. My problem: Should I approach these people several weeks before the wedding and ask them if they would prefer some other kind of meat? Or should I ask the caterer to prepare something else for them? Or is there perhaps some

The substitutions may run you an extra fin.)

DEAR ABBY: I think the wife who was mad because her husband's office girls gave him a birthday cake was foolishly upset. And her children would not have been hurt if she had taken the right attitude.

She should have said, "How nice! Now Daddy can have TWO birthday cakes. Isn't it lovely that Daddy's office girls think that much of Daddy to have a birthday cake for him at the office?"

My husband is a doctor and his nurses always have a cake for him at the hospital on his birthday, and I think it's great. I still have a cake for him at home.

On our son's first birthday, he had THREE cakes. I baked one for him and so did both of his grandmothers. Nobody was hurt or angry. He had that much more fun blowing out his one little candle three times.
