Eighth Victim Of Train-Truck Collision Near Shallowater Dies

Eight Others Hurt As Area Toll Soars

By TOM DAVIS
Avalanche Staff Writer

BODIES of eight Latin-Americans, three from one family, lay in a funeral home and homes of relatives here last night—victims of a train-truck crash near Shallowater Wednesday morning that took the heaviest single-accident toll in South Plains history.

Nicholas Padron, 87, 1110 Third street, died at 10:15 p. m. Wednesday in Lubbock Memorial hospital to add another figure to the death list which had stood at seven. Eight were injured.

Four Still in Hospitals

Four of the persons riding in the death truck remained in Lubbock Memorial hospital late last night, and four others had been dismissed after treatment for less serious injuries. The accident occurred shortly before 9 a. m.

In addition to Nicholas Padron, the names of the dead and their ages were given by relatives as:

A. C. Quirino, 45, 223 Ave. K, owner of the truck and boss of the crew.

Francisco Quirino, 15, his son.

Raymond Hernandez, 16, 145 Ave. P.

Fred Padron, 14, 1110 Third street, grandson of Nicholas Padron.

Angelo Gonzales, 13, 115 South Ave. K.

Joe Moreno, 16, 1102 Sanders street.

Moreno died at 10:20 a. m. at West Texas hospital, and Fred Padron died at 10:40 a.m. at Lubbock Memorial hospital.

Head Injuries Fatal

Head injuries accounted for the deaths of all eight victims. Every one of the 16 persons in the truck—three in the cab and 13 in the truck bed—were either killed or injured.

A northwest-bound Santa Fe freight train crashed into the side of the truck shortly before 9 a. m. Wednesday—the third collision of a train with a motor vehicle in the area in 13 days.

Two persons were killed and three injured when a freight train demolished a truck near Anton on Nov. 9. Three died of injuries received in a car-train crash at Brownfield on Nov. 11.

Two other persons were killed in a train-truck crash near Snyder about three weeks ago.

The eight killed Wednesday brought the South Plains traffic death toll to 90 thus far this year—only one short of the 91 deaths which Texas highway patrol district officials forecast last January for the entire year. Of the 90 dead this year, 33 have been killed in the past 25 days—another record for the area.

Bodies of the cotton pickers, all residents of Lubbock, were scattered for 100 yards down the right-of-way from the crossing, located about three miles southeast of Shallowater and about 11 miles northwest of Lubbock. The truck

Pall Of Death Covers Homes

A pall of death hung over Lubbock's Little Juarez last night as five families mourned for their eight relatives who died in the Wednesday morning train - truck crash.

It was easy to find homes that death had struck.

Little groups of residents of the Latin-American quarter stood in front yards, waiting to pay their respects to the bereaved.

Visitors Are Steady

Cars were parked in front of the humble homes, and a steady stream of visitors came and went.

In one house, a mother mourned for her dead son whose body lay in a casket in the front room. Other members of the family tried to keep her in the bedroom, but she returned again and again to look on the face that was her son's.

Each time, she broke into screams and violent sobbing and was led back into the bedroom. Tears streamed down the father's face as he tried to console his wife but could find no solace himself.

Four of the boys were brought home to their families and friends for wakes.

The bodies of the father and two sons of the Quirmo family remained in the funeral home, along with the body of Nicholas Padron, but the paths to the doors of their homes were not empty.

Quietly, the callers would speak a word of sympathy as they shook the hands of survivors and removed their hats. The pattern was the same. No long talks—just a word before moving on to visit another family.

For some of the families, death brought problems other than sorrow. It would take money for services. But those asked about this problem proudly said they would manage and needed no aid. However, one family was assisted by an employer in meeting costs of funeral arrangements, a grateful father said.

Bowed heads and dark eyes filled with sorrow told all too well that it would be a sad Thanksgiving day in Little Juarez.

City Boards At Odds Over Zone Change

By H. I. KEIFER
Avalanche Staff Writer

TWO actions without precedent in the 11-year relationship between the city commission and the city planning commission featured the semi-monthly meeting of the city commission Wednesday afternoon.

One was the unanimously declared intention of the commission to reverse a ruling by the planning group so as to permit the establishment of retail businesses on Thirty-fourth street between Avenue X and Adams avenue, a distance of three blocks.

Reappointments Studied

The other was the taking under advisement of the recommended re-appointment of two planning commissioners whose five-year terms expire Dec. 1. They are Dr. J. T. Krueger and J. D. Hassell, jr. The commission asked the planning group to make "several" recommendations for these positions so as to permit a choice in making the selections. Both of these were first actions of their kind since the planning commission was created in 1938. It was the first time the commission has proposed a reversal of a planning board action and the first time the group has indicated an intention of considering a change in any of the planning group membership.

Speculation was immediate as to what the planning commission's reactions would be to these developments.

Resignation Believed Possible

Among the considered reactions some or all of the planning group members might resign from duties which carry no salary, involve much work and bring a great deal of criticism with few commendations.

The members of the planning group are K. N. Clapp, chairman, and Homer D. Grant, Chas. A. Guy, J. H. Murdough, W. L. Bradshaw, Krueger and Hassell.

Events leading to the city commission's actions have been developing several weeks.

'Nuisance' Law Okayed In City

A "nuisance" ordinance of far-reaching scope was approved on final reading by a 3-2 vote as one of several matters of important business transacted at a six-hour semi-monthly meeting of the city commission Wednesday afternoon.

Mayor W. H. Rodgers and Commissioners E. K. Hufstedler and John Spikes voted for the ordinance. Commissioners W. B. Price and Clarence Whiteside voted against.

Recreation Building Sought

Other business transacted during the marathon session which continued long after nightfall included:

1. The first public announcement that a group of "interested citizens" are attempting to arrange for the erection of a large community recreation building including an auditorium seating 500 to 600 people.

2. A decision to seek the advice of those who long have been active in seeking a large public library for Lubbock as to whether they regard the Broadway Church of Christ, at Broadway and Avenue N, as suitable. Indications were that reactions to these inquiries will determine whether Lubbock is to have a library worthy of the community in the relatively near future, or whether it will be postponed into the in-

FRANCE REPORTS

U. S. May Have 'Baby A-Bomb'

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 23.— The London Daily Mail reported today that the United States "has developed a 'baby atom bomb' for tactical use in support of troops."

The report came from Fontainbleu, France. No source was cited for the report.

"This bomb, which could be dropped by close-support aircraft against tanks and infantry causing widespread devastation is a major step in strengthening the defense of Western Europe," the account said.

It gave no information on how an armed force using the bomb could protect its own troops from deadly radiation.

"The new atom bomb is probably not more than 250 pounds in weight," the story said.

Envoy Freed By Chinese

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23. — Elated by Angus Wards' release from prison, the State department today ordered him and his entire consulate staff to get out of Communist-ruled Mukden, China, "forthwith."

This latest action in the sensational case came with lightning speed after the 56-year-old diplomat himself reported that his four weeks imprisonment has ended in a Communist conviction and deportation order.

He added that he and the four consulate employes arrested, held, convicted and ordered deported along with him were able to be "up and about." All have returned to their homes in the consulate compound in Mukden.

The order to Ward and his staff to quit Mukden was easier issued than executed.

While top State department officials felt that their first objective had been gained with the physical freedom of the five men from prison, they were maintaining an anxious watch of incoming telegrams for first word that the Communists actually are making arrangements to get Ward and his people out of town.

HST Praises Career Of AEC Head

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23—David E. Lilienthal, the foe of extreme secrecy on the atom, today resigned as chairman and member of the Atomic Energy commission—partly, he said, in order to speak out "with greater latitude."

President Truman accepted the resignation, effective Dec. 31, with the "utmost regret." He named no successor to the commission which holds powers almost unparalleled in democratic government.

But Mr. Truman voiced confidence that "should the exigencies of the public interest demand"—presumably, if a war crisis comes—Lilienthal would stay his departure.

Praise Not Unanimous

In Congress, starting point of most of the Lilienthal battles that have splashed controversy over the front pages, there was regret at his departure and praise for his career, but it was not unanimous.

Now 50, Lilienthal sprang into the public eye as chairman of the Tennessee Valley authority. On Oct. 28, 1946, he was appointed chairman of the Atomic Energy commission. He stayed there three action-packed years, climaxed by last summer's investigation of a charge of "incredible mismanagement" in AEC.

A majority of the Senate-House Atomic committee cleared the agency of this accusation, made by Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa). Yet Mr. Truman may have had it in mind in today's letter to Lilienthal, released at the White House:

Criticism Is Mentioned

"You have indeed, through almost 20 consecutive years of public service in tough pioneering jobs—always under tremendous pressure and often under destructive criticism—earned the right to return to private life."

Now 50 years old, Lilienthal's most important jobs in those two decades of public service have been, first, the chairmanship of the Tennessee Valley authority and

Burglary, Thefts Are Probed Here

A burglary and minor thefts occupied police attention in Lubbock Wednesday.

A negro, detained briefly in connection with the investigation of a breakin at the W. C. Boyd service station at 2402 Broadway, was later released, police said.

Seventy dollars in cash and a $5 check were taken in the burglary, city detectives were informed.

There was no indication of how entry to the place was effected, police said.

Thefts Reported

M. H. Duncan of 2311 Thirty-fourth reported theft of $50 worth of box siding from the site of a church under construction at Thirty-fourth and Van Buren.

A starter, fuel pump, oil bath cleaner, distributor cap wires and seven spark plugs were stripped from an irrigation well engine, I. M. Billingsley of the Krueger farm five and a half miles south of the courthouse said

A 28-year-old negro, David Goree, was released to Hunt county officials who had asked his arrest on a robbery indictment.

Break In Coal Dispute Seen

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.— Coal operators today forecast a possible break in the strike-threatening mine dispute this weekend.

It was learned that a restricted number of northern mine owners are planning a meeting in Pittsburgh Friday.

Out of this session may come a resumption of contract negotiations with United Mine Workers

MINERS GROUP TO MEET

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23. (INS)—John L. Lewis was reported tonight to have called a meeting of the United Mine Workers' 200-man policy committee in New York on Monday.

This action, unconfirmed by union officials, led to speculation about two imminent developments in the strike-threatening coal-wage dispute. They were:

1. Lewis will meet with certain operators in New York early next week to seek a new soft coal contract.

2. The United Mine Workers' president may cancel the scheduled Dec. 1 deadline for another strike by 375,000 soft coal diggers.

President John L. Lewis whose 375,000 soft coal diggers are poised for another strike Dec. 1.

Talks May Be Renewed

One informant indicated that coal wage bargaining discussions may be renewed in Washington next Monday—just three days before the strike deadline.

It is felt that a resumption of negotiations would give Lews an opportunity to extend the current strike truce and avoid a pre-Christmas walkout of the miners who were idle recently and without paychecks for 52 days.

George Love, head of Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co. and chief spokesman for northern and western mine owners, reportedly has arranged for the industry meet-

Thanksgiving Service Starts Observance

By EMMETT SHOCKLEY
Avalanche Staff Writer

MORE than 800 persons attended the citywide Thanksgiving service held at the First Methodist church last night under the sponsorship of the Lubbock Ministerial association.

The Rev. Abe Hester, pastor of the College Avenue Baptist church, delivered the sermon, entitled "Thankfulness."

The program ushered in the city's observance of the traditional day. Similar programs were held at other points over the South Plains.

Stores To Be Closed

Today, stores and governmental offices will be closed in observance of the traditional fall holiday. Lubbock Public Schools and Texas Tech let out Wednesday for the weekend. But most cotton gins, filled with a backlog of seed cotton despite a 24-hour schedule, will continue to operate over the holiadys, an indication of the abundant harvest on the South Plains this season.

Rev. Hester said in his sermon at the special program that few people today take time to be thankful for the material blessings they receive, and that one of the greatest needs of people today is to develop a habit of thankfulness.

Should Give Thanks

"We should give thanks not only for the things that are pleasant, but for those that are painful as well," he stated. In explaining his statement, he said that some of the greatest Christian blessings have come from sorrow. "Some wonderful things can come out of suffering," he said.

He pointed out how famous people have transformed their sorrows and pains into blessings to mankind, giving as examples the

Reasons To Be Thankful Cited

(By The Associated Press)

There's this to be thankful for:

It looks like the weather will be perfect for Thanksgiving—and football.

The turkey will cost plenty—but not so much as it did last year.

The train, plane or bus you travel on may be crowded, but it probably won't be as bad as it was on other Thanskgivings of recent years.

And even for stay-at-homes, in small towns or in the cities, there is likely to be some way to celebrate the holiday besides eating turkey and trimmings.

Weather To Be Good

The good news from the Weather bureau is that throughout most of the country there will be clear weather through the Thanksgiving weekend—except, possibly, for light snow around the Great Lakes.

The cold weather expected in many places will just make it seem more like Thanksgiving.

A sign in a Salt Lake City restaurant window—showing a full course Thanksgiving dinner for 85 cents—is too good to be true. The menu is dated 1932.

In New York City such a dinner will cost $4 in a chain restaurant.

But the Labor department says you can be thankful that a typical home Thanksgiving dinner for a family of four will cost only $5.07 this year. Last year it cost $5.47.

No price was given out on the traditional turkey dinner that President and Mrs. Truman will eat with relatives at Blair House—the temporary White House—in the middle of a quiet Thanksgiving day.

And the Labor department's

China, Soviet Clash In UN

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Russia called the Chinese Nationalist delegation a bunch of pygmies today and said Moscow no longer recognizes their right to represent China in the United Nations.

Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Prime Minister Stalin's top diplomat, told the 59-nation General Assembly the Nationalists here couldn't represent China even if they wanted to because — he said—350,000,000 of China's 450,000,000 people have recognized the Communist regime headed by Mao Tze-Tung in Peiping.

He told the Soviet foreign minister that God and the conscience of the world will indict Russia even if the Nationalists lose their seat at the UN.

The heated exchange occurred at Flushing Meadow as an offshoot of debate on proposals for banning

Chinese Government To Abandon Capital

CHUNGKING, Nov. 23. — The Chinese government today streamlined itself and prepared to abandon Chungking and follow its armies as Red trops surged to within 70 miles of the city.

Every indication pointed to Chengtu, 170 air miles northwest in Szechwan province, as the first stopping place for this new mobile government. But Premier Yen Hsi-Shan refused to conform or deny it. With the possible exception of Korean Ambassador Shin Suk Woo, no foreign diplomats are expected to accompany Yen on his wanderings.

Just when the signal to quit Chungking would be given seemed to be up to the oncoming Communists. If they keep thrusting from the northeast, east and south the hour may come soon.

The defense ministry admitted the Reds had laid siege to Wulung, only 70 miles to the east. (This put them 25 miles nearer Chungking than they were 24 hours earlier).

28 Texans Expected To Die Over Holiday

AUSTIN, Nov. 23. (AP) — The State Highway patrol set out today to help save the lives of 28 Texans tagged as potential accident victims.

N. K. Woerner, traffic statistics expert, predicted there would be 28 deaths in the four-day Thanksgiving holiday, Thursday through Sunday. He hopes his prediction won't pan out.

A heavy concentration of patrol cars will work the highways leading to College Station tomorrow, with particular emphasis on the Austin-to-Bryan route which will be jammed with fans heading for the Texas-Texas A. and M. football game.

Capt. E. K. Browning, chief of the Austin district, will direct a nine-car patrol which will virtually convoy the stream of traffic over the 103-mile stretch.

Woerner, chief of the Department of Public safety statistical division, predicted two less deaths than last year's toll for the same period. He said this was because the highway patrol is at full strength for the first time in many years. There also has been a 10 percent decrease in traffic deaths this year.

Mild Weather Seen For Plains Holiday

A mild Thanksgiving Day is in store for the South Plains, the Weatherman said last night.

In fact, mild weather will prevail today over the state, according to an Associated Press dispatch last night.

The U. S. Weather bureau station at Lubbock Municipal airport said today's maximum temperatures should reach the high 60's, but warned that slightly colder weather is in store for the area late tonight and Friday.

Low temperatures late tonight and early Friday are expected to go down to the low 30's, the Weather bureau said.

And South Plains residents can expect some wind this afternoon, the Weather bureau said. Occasional gusts are expected to be as much as 20 miles per hour.

Wednesday was sunny and mild throughout the state, the Associated Press reported late last night.

SANTA FE OFFERS FAST SERVICE

Special Train Will Speed Area Cotton To Gulf Coast Markets

By ROGER SOUTHALL
Avalanche Staff Writer

IN an effort to aid in moving the bumper cotton crop from the South Plains area to downstate markets, the Santa Fe railroad, effective Wednesday, put on a "cotton special" which will provide through transportation of local cotton to Galveston and Houston.

Announcement of the special train was made by Santa Fe officials yesterday.

The train will make up in Lubbock early each night, leaving here about midnight. It will go to Slaton from here, where additional cotton will be loaded, leaving there before 3 a.m. on its non-stop run to Houston and Galveston.

Thus, South Plains cotton shippers will be given approximately 30-hour transportation service on their cotton from this area to the Gulf coast — faster service than has heretofore been available.

The average loading of a railroad boxcar is 130 bales. Hence, if 75 cars were carried on a Lubbock-to-Gulf Coast run, approximately 9,750 bales could be transported. A larger number can be carried, of course, if more cars make up the train.

Santa Fe officials pointed out

Panhandle Officers Erect Roadblocks As Three Knife-Wielding Prisoners Escape Amarillo Jail

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Nov. 23.—Roadblocks were up in the Panhandle for three prisoners who brandished a butcher knife and escaped from the Potter county jail today.

A fourth prisoner, Dwight Hoskins, 24, of Amarillo, indicted for murder, was with the fleeing men but was recaptured 15 minutes after the 3:30 a.m. break.

Sheriff Paul Gaither said an escape car may have been waiting for the men. He said the wives of two of the men visited them yesterday.

Meanwhile, demands for a "cleanup" in the sheriff's office gained strength among Amarillo businessmen as a result of the third break from the jail this year. Some expressed belief the county should have a new sheriff.

Those at large are Edward Leo and Leo Earl Rader, twin brothers, indicted for armed robbery, and James Farris, 21, who was awaiting the outcome of an appeal on a burglary conviction.

The Raders' wives were at the jail yesterday.

Jailer Jack Burgess, 64, said one of the men stuck the knife in his back and said:

"Open the tanks (cells) and you won't get hurt."

Burgess said the men forced him to open two cells with nine prisoners and six in the other. Only the four men fled. They locked Burgess in a cell.

The men climbed to the roof of the jail, on the seventh floor of the Potter county court house building. There they found a fire hose, anchored it and slid down to a fifth floor window. There they found a sleeping janitor, took his keys and gained the street. A

Voters Siding With A. & P. In Government Suit, Survey Shows

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
(American Institute Of Public Opinion)

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 23 — In the Federal government's case against the A. & P. Food Stores for alleged monopolistic practices, public sympathhy up to this point is heavily on the side of the A. & P. rather than the government.

Among persons who have heard or read about the Anti-Trust Division's suit, almost twice as many side with the company as with the government, a nationwide opinion survey shows.

Among persons whose families buy their groceries frequently or occasionally from A. & P. stores, sentiment is more favorable to the company than among persons who do not buy at the A. & P. The latter group tends to side with the government in the suit.

The favorable attitude toward the big grocery chain may be due in part to the intensive advertising campaign being carried on by the company in presenting its side of the argument and denying the government's charges of monopolistic and unfair trade practices. Government officials have complained that they are not in a position to advertise widely the arguments against the A. & P. and that therefore the public is not familiar as yet with the government's side of the case.

The American Institute of Public Opinion, in testing sentiment on the much-discussed case, approached the issues with strict impartiality, asking voters whether they have heard of the case, what the case is about, and which side they agree with at the present time.

Approximately seven out of every ten voters questioned said they had heard about the case.

"Have you heard or read about the U. S. government's lawsuit against the A. & P. food stores company?"

Yes	66%
No	34

Those who said "yes" were asked:

"Will you tell me why the U. S. government has brought this lawsuit against the A. & P. food stores company?"

More than two-thirds of the 66 per cent (a total of 46 per cent) said the case dealt with alleged monopolistic practices or that the A. & P. is considered "too big". The rest said they weren't sure what the case is about. Here are the results:

Gov't claims A. & P. is monopoly	25%
A. & P. prices cheaper, undersells, hurts competitors	9
A. & P. too big, must decentralize	4
It interfers with independent groups	4
Political considerations: Democrats against big business	2
Miscellaneous	2
Don't know	21
	67%*

(*The table adds to more than 66 per cent because some persons named more than one item.)

How They Side

All who said they had heard of the suit were asked:

"From what you have heard or read, with which side do you agree, the government or the A. & P.?"

Agree with government	16%
Agree with A. & P.	30
No opinion	20
Heard of Suit	66%

In making its analysis the Institute also tabulated separately the opinions of those who are familiar with what the suit involves and therefore could be considered better informed than the sample as a whole. Their opinions also divided nearly 2 to 1 in favor of the company.

Attitude Of Customers

A third question in the survey asked whether the respondent or his family buys groceries from the A. & P. frequently, once in a while, or not at all.

As might be expected, A. &. P. shoppers are better informed about the case than persons who do not shop at A. & P. stores. Seventy-nine per cent of the A. & P.'s regular or occasional customers have heard about the case as compared to only 46 per cent among those who are not A. & P. customers.

The A. & P. patrons are in general more sympathetic toward the company than toward the government so far as the suit is concerned. They side with the company by a ratio greater than 2 to 1.

Among the non-patrons who have heard of the case, the weight of opinion is on the side of the government, although a substantial number are still undecided.

Monopoly Charges Denied

The suit which was filed in September seeks to split A. & P.'s food empire into seven independently-owned retail divisions, and to abolish the company's purchasing department, field buying offices, national meat, butter, egg and poultry departments and other buying, merchandising or manufacturing facilities.

The government charges that the food store chain monopolizes a substantial part of trade and commerce and restrains competition in food making and sales.

The company's answer is that the A. & P. has only 7 per cent of the food store trade. "As every housewife knows, the retail grocery business is the most competitive in the country and we do only a small part of it," says a recent company advertisement.

The suit is expected to take a long time to be decided. The Institute plans to conduct fresh tests of sentiment as discussion continues and the government case unfolds to see whether sentiment continues friendly toward the company or swings over to the government side.

Evidence Sought To Support Young Girl's Tale Of Kidnapping

RED LAKE FALLS, Minn., Nov. 23. (INS).— Authorities scoured the Red Lake Falls area today for evidence to support a seven-year-old girl's charges against a Pennington county farmer that he kidnaped her.

Vivian Shannon identified Raymond Dempsey, 25, from her hospital bed yesterday as the man who abducted her and choked her into unconsciousness by a haystack in 20-degree weather.

Dempsey has steadfastly denied any connection with the case and told authorities when Vivian pointed to him that "I'm not the guy." He is married and has a three-year-old son.

Officials Consider Charges

Red Lake county authorities said they are considering charges of abduction, assault with intent to kill and attempted rape against Dempsey if they can substantiate Vivian's identification.

Vivian, who officers estimated was out in the sub-freezing weather for more than four hours, was hysterical and incoherent when she stumbled into a farmhouse near St. Hilaire. Her nose and several fingers were frozen.

The little girl told Sheriff Noel J. Proulx that a man picked her up about 5 o'clock Monday afternoon under threat of death and drove her around for several hours in "a new black car" with "either a dog or a deer" in the back seat of the vehicle.

She said the man's car later became stuck in a ditch and a motorist helped get the automobile started.

A farmer told sheriff's deputies that he had helped a motorist get his car out of a ditch Monday night and that a little girl and a deer's head were in the car. He later identified Dempsey as the man he aided.

Samson And Delilah Picked Out Of Hat

Truman, First Lady Attend Showing At Special Theater

BY ARTHUR EDSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 — President and Mrs. Truman went to the movies last night and had a fine time—it says here.

Reporters couldn't be too sure. For the movie the Trumans went to had only 71 seats, and news and radio men had to park outside.

The show: "Samson and Delilah," starring Hedy Lamarr, Victor Mature and George Sanders, plus a news reel featurinng shots made of Mr. Truman over the past year.

The theater: "The Academia," a newly built special theater set up by the Motion Picture Association of America. Its president, Eric Johnston, invited the Trumans, cabinet members and other government bigwigs to the grand but cozy opening.

Passed The Food

Eight members of the film association had suggested the film they thought the President should see, these names were put in a hat, and "Samson and Delilah" won.

This so impressed its director and producer, Cecil B. DeMille, that he came around in person to make sure the sound was adjusted just so.

During the course of the evening it developed that even if the President is going some place where only 71 guests will be admitted, it's quite a chore for those who watch over his safety.

Twenty-six District of Columbia policemen were on duty. Seven firemen sniffed the air suspiciously. An unspecified number of secret service men gumshoed about.

The show finally was over. Mr. Truman passed by a table stacked with enough food to satisfy a small army (he's watching his waistline), and after a few handshakes all around he and Mrs. T. went home.

Enjoyed Performance

Did he like it?

"He enjoyed the news reel very much," said DeMille. "He also said he liked my picture — but then, of course, modesty forbids."

"He liked it very much," said Johnston, "but then, of course, I don't want to be putting words in his mouth."

Tonight the association will show reporters the picture they said Mr. Truman liked last night. It's Mr. Truman's turn to wait in the lobby, but he probably won't. Wouldn't be fair to keep the cops out two nights in a row.

Middle Class Family In France Barely Manages To Make Ends Meet, Oppose Unstable Politics

EDITOR'S NOTE: In another series of articles describing the postwar plight of middle class families in Western Europe, Seymour Berkson, General Manager of International News Service, tells herewith of his visit with a typical French family in Paris. He has just completed a tour through Western Europe during which he visited and interviewed typical class families in England, France Germany, Austria, and Italy—all of which countries are receiving Marshall Plan aid.)

By SEYMOUR BERKSON
General Manager, INS

PARIS——It is only an hour and a half by plane from London to Paris, but the contrast in everyday life is amazing.

Although the two capitals are but a scant 260 miles apart, virtually every kind of food and luxury item that is so scarce or totally unavailable in London is plentiful and abundant in Paris.

The sharp contrast between life in London and Paris today led an American diplomat recently to quip:

"Life in Britain is going down and down in characteristically perfert order, while life in France is improving in equally characteristic disorder."

But beneath the surface of France's apparent recovery and well-being all is not as rosy as it would seem at the first superficial glance.

Shops Well Stocked

The shops, to be sure, are fill of a rich variety of commodities —not only foodstuffs and clothing, but all the luxuries that are so conspicuously absent from the shelves and windows of shops in London.

The joker is that prices have skyrocketed to such a point the average middle class city - dwelling family—not to mention the ordinary working man's family—can scarcely touch what is displayed so enticingly in the attractive shop windows.

Economic recovery — stimulated by Marshall Plan funds — has brought more products to the open market in France than at any time since the war, but the prices are so prohibitive only the well-to-do can afford to buy anything but the most basic necessities of life.

Here, for example, is the pattern of existence of a typical French middle class family which I visited and interviewed during my sojourn in Paris:

Dr. Jacques Laruelle is a dentist. He is 36, dark, slender, and frankly articulate about the problems of French families like his own.

Laurelle is married to a very pretty, young Frenchwoman of the same middle class background as his own. They have two boys, aged 8 and 6.

The Laruelles were married in 1940 after he was demobilized from the French Army. He had been in medical school at Paris when the war broke out.

Laurelle served in the Army medical corps until the fall of France. After his marriage, he had to complete his dental studies before he could practice.

Laurelle and his wife moved into a tiny flat where they lived a hand-to-mouth, undernourished existence until he completed his studies.

After receiving his diploma in July, 1941, Laurelle was fortunate enough to be selected to take over the practice of a dentist in the Parisian suburb of Choisey-Le-Roi who had died.

And that is where I found the Laurelle family living now—in a modest flat on the second floor of an apartment building overlooking the main street of Choisy-Le-Roi, an unpretentious suburban town inhabited mostly by people in very moderate circumstances.

The Laurelles' flat is divided into two sections:

Two rooms serve as Dr. Laurelle's dental ofifce and waiting room—both as modern and well laden with dental gadgets as any American dentist's office.

The remaining three rooms comprise the living quarters of the Laurelles and their two sons.

One domestic servant doubles as attendant in the dental office and housemaid. She helps Laurelle's wife with the housework when she is not busy in the dental office.

The maid is not a luxury but a necessity as Laurelle could not maintain his normal professional standing without someone to open the door for patients, show them to the waiting room, answer the phone when Laurelle is busy with someone in the dental chair, and keep the offices clean.

Must Budget Expenses

In fact, the most noticeable thing about the Laurelles' life is the manner in which every item has to be carefully budgeted to make ends meet even though their standard of living is below that enjoyed by such families before the war.

Dr. Laurelle works very hard at his dental practice from early morning until night.

His income is about 800,000 francs per year, before taxes. At the current rate of exchange this amounts to the equivalent of $2,285 per year—or $45 a week.

It is not only a much lower income than any dentist of equal standing would earn anywhere in the USA. But actually $10 a week less than the recently computed average wage of American factory workers.

Taxes Take Part

Taxes take about 20 percent of the Laruelle income and the basic necessities of life take all the rest.

"We simply cannot afford any luxuries or save a franc," Dr. Laruelle told me. "For a French middle class family this is against all tradition because before the war it was always the custom of people like ourselves to save at least a little money regularly and eventually to own a little home of our own or have some security for old age.

"We are very crowded in our apartment and we really ought to have a home separately from my office. But we cannot afford it. The prices of everything are so high and have increased so far out of proportion to any increase in the fees I can reasonably charge my patients, we have a constant struggle just to make ends meet.

"We can't save any money and we have no confidence in what any money we saved would buy in the future. So we live only for today. You will find that this is true generally throughout France among middle class families like ours."

The day I visited with the Laruelles their menu would have been the envy of any British middle class family living under Britain's grim austerity.

Breakfast at 8 a. m. consisted of the traditional bread, butter, jam, and coffe with hot milk.

Lunc hat noon (this is the Laruelles' main meal): A few thin slices of sausage and ham as an appetizer, roast meat, vegetables, mixed green salad, red wine, cheese and fruit, cake and demitasse of coffee.

Supper at 8 p. m.: vegetable soup, a southern French concoction made of eggs, eggplant, tomatoes and garlic all cooked together, followed by a salad, cheese and fruit.

It is obvious from the above, which was a typical day's menu, that the Laruelles eat well—their diet is many times richer and more varied than that of the same kind of family in London.

They make no bones about saying that proper and ample food for their two growing boys and themselves is their very first consideration in life.

The Laruelles must pay at least 350 francs (one dollar U. S.) per pound for butter.

Meat is plentiful and the price for ordinary cuts ranges from 200 francs (about 60 cents U. S.) a pound to 300 francs (about 85 cents U. S.) a pound.

Those prices for meat would not seem exhorbitant to an American housewife—until she realizes how far below the lowest level for comparable families in the U. S. A. are the incomes of European middle class families like the Laruelles.

The Marshall Plan may be doing France some good on a national economic scale, but middle class families like the Laruelles —which are traditionally bulwarks against Communism—have felt very little direct benefit from it thus far.

The Laruelles are too busy trying to make ends meet to worry much about the danger of another world war.

Like most Frenchmen of the middle class, Dr. Laruelle is conservative, detests communism, but fears with traditional French vehemence any rebirth of Germany as a world power.

He wishes instead of one cabinet crisis after another, France would have a stronger permanent government that could control the cost of living better in the interest of the people as a whole.

The Laruelles have an old "jolopy" auto of prewar vintage that rattles but runs.

Laruelle and his wife both smoke—but sparingly because even the cheap brand of domestic cigarettes they smoke costs 86 francs (about 25 cents U. S.) for a package of twenty.

Dr. Laruelle has held off buying a new suit this fall because the price has virtually tripled since the war.

A good suit would cost him about 35,000 francs ($100 U. S.) —more than his total income for two full weeks—a sum he cannot spare and still feed his family in the manner to which they are accustomed.

So the Laruelles—like virtually every other middle class family in France today—forego the luxuries of life and stretch their limited incomes as far as they will go in there times of unreasonably inflated prices.

"We live like what you call 'sports' in America," says Dr. Laruelle. "We spend what it costs to live today—and let tomorrow worry for itself."

Churchill Confined To Home; Former Minister Hit By Cold

LONDON, Nov. 23. (INS)—Winston Churchill is suffering from a cold today, but a spokesman at his London residence said "it is nothing to worry about."

His physician, Lord Moran, called on him this morning.

Conservative party headquarters said the former prime minister, who will be 75 years old Nov. 20, will remain indoors today and probably tomorrow on Lord Moran's advice.

Churchill cancelled a dinner engagement tonight at London's Inner Temple, where King George VI will be present.

Life Of Luxury Is Seen For Orphaned Monkey In Illinois

CHICAGO, Nov. 23. (INS).—An orphaned organ grinder's monkey named Rosa appeared destined for a life of luxury today.

Rosa, whose master, William Fontana, 58, left a $9,000 estate despite the fact he died from malnutrition, has been homeless since his death.

None of the heirs to Fontana's estate wanted her and the court didn't want her either.

Offers Pour In

But when her plight became public offers of a home rolled in. Probate Judge William F. Waugh said he will decide Tuesday which of five offers to accept.

The most attractive offer was made by Mrs. Elsa Burke, owner of an estate at Countryside Lake in Mundelein, Ill.

Mrs. Burke told Judge Waugh that she would let Rosa have the run of the estate, play with her four children for company and — have a room of her own.

Woman Claims Premonition Of Freedom For Brother

DETROIT, Nov. 23. (INS).— A sister of Angus Ward, whose release by Chinese Reds was announced today in Washington, declared she had a premonition he was going to be freed.

Mrs. Wave Ward Hansen, of Detroit, said she dreamed last night of his release. She explained.

"I was tired and went to bed early last night. I'm not superstitious, but I saw Angus just as clear as could be.

"He was carrying his suitcases in his hand and told me he was back here to stay until his next assignment."

She was still thinking about the dream, she said, when she received the phone call telling her of her brother's release. Th call came from another brother, T. R. Ward, of Allegan, Mich., the first be notified by the State department.

Both he and Mrs. Hansen journeyed to Washington last week to plead with the State department to bring pressure against the Chinese Reds to force their brother's release.

Tech Official Speaks At Joint Luncheon

Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, acting head of the education department at Texas Tech, Wednesday gave a brief history lecture to emphasize his speech, "America's Place in the Sun," at a joint luncheon meeting of the Exchange and Kiwanis clubs in Hotel Lubbock.

The professor asked his audience: "What has made our nation the greatest in the world?"

The United States, he declared, has only one-seventh of the world's productive land area and one-sixteenth of the globe's population yet produces 92% of the world's bathtubs, 85% of the automobiles, 68% of the telephones, 57% of the oil and 51% of the cotton.

"It's not because we have the greatest resources because Russia and South America lead us in that potential," he said.

"We like to think we are the most intelligent mass of people but tests indicate the French Canadians lead in that field," he pointed out, "and beauty experts say Latin Americans lead us in good looks, so, what is it that has made us so great?"

Answering the question, he said our democratic form of government offers the American people the incentives to "work, save and invest."

"Take that away from them and we will lose our place in the sun as did Persia, Macedonia, Rome, Spain and England," he warned.

"We are head and shoulders above other nations simply because we outproduced them," he explained.

M. B. Hilburn, jr., president of the Exchange club, introduced Kiwanis president Fred Sparks, who in turn introduced the speaker.

Minister Discusses Outlook For Peace Before Rotarians

"The Outlook for Peace As I See It" was the main topic of a talk Wednesday at the noon luncheon of the Rotary club by the Rev. H. I. Robinson, pastor of the First Methodist church.

Dr. Robinson deplored the pessimism of many, stating that he was hopeful for world peace through the United Nations organization. Pointing out that religion has played a major role in every world crisis in history, he indicated that it might be the chief cornerstone for world peace.

The speech came on a day set aside as "International Relations day." Alex McDonald introduced Dr. Robinson. The Rev. H. H. Bratcher, pastor of the St. John's Methodist church, gave the invocation.

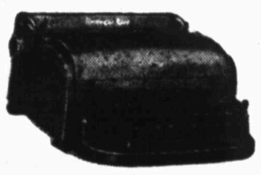

Guy Victory, club president, announced that W. G. Vollmer, president of the Texas and Pacific railroad, in Dallas, would be speaker at the club's meeting next week.

Visiting Rotarians, introduced by Odie A. Hood, included M. S. Doss of Seminole, Don Hunsaker of San Angelo, Tom Scott of Odessa, Ed Hearn of Little Rock, Ark., Bill Schneider of Kendallville, Ind., Walter M. Craig and Earl Kromer, both of Amarillo, Rufus Starnes of Abilene, Charlie Draper of Commerce, and O. D. Cardwell of Post.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

"GRATITUDE is the fairest flower which springs from the soul."

On this Thanksgiving day, 1949, we hope that the people of our great land will take time out from their family reunions, their feasting and their journeyings to consider what this day means.

The United States of America is a better nation for having established this day of hallowed origin, which, according to Webster, is a "day set apart for thanksgiving and praise to God."

WE like to think of what a wonderful heritage was left us by such folk as the Pilgrim couple the artist has pictured above. If they could return to the land from which they carved an existence they would find inventions beyond their wildest imaginings. The Pilgrim housewife would find she could prepare a bountiful meal in a matter of minutes, rather than half a day; the man of the house would discover that hunting in America has become a rich man's sport, a pastime, rather than a necessity.

Yes, the Pilgrims could learn much from us. What could we learn from them? One great truth —the world belongs to God.

Men may desecrate the world with blood but they cannot touch the heart of the earth. So long as the universe remains the winds will blow, the rains will fall, sunshine will pour down and the harvest will be gathered each fall.

The great laws of nature will be enforced by that Controlling Authority we call God. The stars will flicker in the velvet sky, the suns will rise and set and the birds will wing southward as the chill sets in.

Children will be born, to be a credit to their race.

It is God's world today; it shall always be so.

PERHAPS in our zeal in reviewing our accomplishments we forget we are the underlings, that to God belongs the honor and the glory.

Let us remember today as we look around us in Lubbock at signs of prosperity that we are but tenants of this universe. We have a charge to keep, a talent for which we are responsible, but it is only a loan. The world belongs to God.

Let us consider these simple truths and be thankful; as Walt Whitman wrote, "for health, the midday sun, the impalpable air, for life, mere life."

3 Good Ways To Prepare Stuffing

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Mention stuffing for the Thanksgiving turkey and Gertrude Blair starts thinking fast. Outstanding American food expert with a long line of wonderful cooks for ancestors, Miss Blair gathers the following recipes from her memories of old-fashioned feasts.

"Grandmother's Sage and Onion Dressing which we regarded so fondly was one of the easiest to make, mostly because Grandmother prepared the bread in the easiest possible way. She merely dunked the dry bread in water until well soaked, then squeezed it to fluffy dryness. No crumbs to roll, no bread to cut in cubes."

Sage and Onion Dressing
(For 12-pound bird)

Two loaves (second-day) bread, 1 tablespoon salt, ½ teaspoon dried sage, rubbed fine, ¼ teaspoon each of dried rosemary, thyme, marjoram rubbed fine, ¼ cup minced parsley, 1 cup celery leaves and top stems, cut fine, 1 cup finely cut onions, ½ cup melted drippings or butter or fortified margarine.

Soak bread in cold water, then squeeze dry, handful by handful. Add remaining ingredients except melted fat. Toss with two forks until well mixed. Add melted fat slowly, tossing as added. Stuff bird lightly. Any remaining dressing may be baked in one corner of the roasting pan.

Dressing No. 2

A dressing made with soaked bread squeezed dry has a slightly pudding-like texture. If you prefer one that is lighter and with more "grain," use the same ingredients as in dressing above, but mix as follows: Slice the second day bread; then cut into small cubes. Toast in a hot oven until lightly browned. Add remaining ingredients, except the fat. Mix well. Then melt the fat in ½ cup boiling water. Pour slowly over the dressing, tossing until well mixed.

Variations:

a) Add ¼ cup raisins; 2 tart apples, finely cut. Reduce onions to ½ cup.

b) Add one dozen oysters, each cut into several pieces. Use the oyster liquor as part of water in which to melt the fat.

Dressing No. 3
(Rich, fine, crumbly dressing for 12-pound bird)

One quart fine dry crumbs (can be made from 2 loaves bread), 1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts or pecans (optional), 1 large onion, finely minced, 1 cup celery leaves and top stems, finely cut, ¼ cup finely minced parsley, 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning, ½ teaspoon sage (dry and powdered), 1 cup butter or margarine, melted.

Mix ingredients in order named, tossing well to mix.

Dressing for Duck or Spare Ribs

One cup crushed pineapple, drained of juice, 4 tart apples, pared, quartered and sliced, ½ cup raisins, ⅛ teaspoon powdered ginger.

Mixx well. Use as stuffing for duck, spare ribs and any rich meat.

Mrs. W. M. Collins received the obligation as a new member.

Mrs. W. E. Klein and Mrs. J. B. Morrisset were hostesses.

Those attending were Mesdames G. W. Blair, E. G. Wylie, M. C. Davidson, M. N. Read, E. L. Snodgrass, W. F. Cole, John R. Hall, F. H. Zeitz, G. J. McCarty, J. L. Cobb, L. B. Wright, Albert Blackwell, L. Walthall, C. E. Ferguson and Fred Feris.

A nominating committee was named. Members are Mesdames W. E. Klein, G. W. Blair, E. E. Caddel, Albert Blackwell and E. G. Wylie. Officers will be elected at the December meeting.

Festive Touch Suggested To Improve Thanksgiving Turkey

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Your Thanksgiving turkey will taste even better than usual if you serve it with a festive fruit platter. To make this sweet accompaniment drain a canned cling peace halves from their syrup and fill with the following:

SPICY WHOLE CRANBERRY SAUCE

Ingredients: 2 cups water, 1 one-inch stick cinnamon, ½ teaspoon whole cloves, juice of ½ lemon, 4 cups fresh cranberries, 2 cups sugar.

Method: Put the water, cinnamon, cloves, and lemon juice in a large saucepan and bring to a boil. Add the cranberries and cook until all the skins pop open. Add the sugar and stir until dissolved; cook rapidly for 2 or 3 minutes. Cool before serving. Makes 1 quart.

If young people are going to drop in for a Thanksgiving snack, you might set up card tables with individual Pumpkin Chiffon Tarts and marshmallow-topped cocoa. You can use inexpensive and convenient orange and green paper mats and favors.

PUMPKIN CHIFFON TARTS

Ginger Snap Tart Crust—Ingredients: 33 large old-fashioned ginger snaps, 6 tablespoons softened butter or margarine, 6 tablespoons sugar.

Method: Roll ginger snaps into fine crumbs and put into a bowl; add the butter or margarine and the sugar. Mix well. Divide mixture evenly into 8 individual metal or cardboard tart shell pans. Using the same size pan or back of spoons, press mixture firmly into an even layer against bottom and sides of each pan. Chill in refreigerator before filling.

Pumpkin Chiffon Tart Filling—Ingredients: 1 cup canned pumpkin, 3 eggs (separated), 1 cup milk, 1 cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon ginger, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine, 1 envelope unflavored gelatin, ¼ cup cold water.

Method: Cook pumpkin in top of double boiler over boiling water for 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Beat the egg yolks, milk, and ½ cup of the sugar together, add to pumpkin with salt, cinnamon, ginger, nutmeg, and melted butter or margarine. Cook, stirring constantly, until of custard consistency, about 15 minutes. Remove from heat. Soften gelatin in cold water and add to hot mixture, stirring until dissolved. Chill until mixture begins to stiffen. Beat egg whites stiff, gradually beating in remaining ½ cup of sugar; fold into pumpkin mixture. Pour into ginger snap crumb crust. Garnish with sweetened whipped cream. Chill until firm.

'Grand Old Man Of Washington Gambling' Cashes In His Chips

BY- BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. — The obituaries of Jimmy La Fontaine called him the "grand old man of Washington gambling." That would have pleased Jimmy. All he wanted was to be liked . . . and to take the house "edge."

The 81-year-old man lived and died without a vestige of swank. Bradley's in Palm Beach, the Beverly in New Orleans, the Mound Club outside of Cleveland, the places across the river from Cincinnatti, the old Clover Club on the Coast, and the slick joints north of Miami and south of Palm Springs, and a dozen other spots were a thousand times fancier than La Fontaine's.

But hardly more interesting, though Jimmy considered such gee-gaws as lady customers, floor shows and food the natural enemies of a good quiet evening of gaming. He would have none of these around his ramshackle place.

Rare Transformation Tried

Jimmy's dice tables saw senators, cabinet officers, diplomats and high-powered lobbyists rubbing elbows with routine Washington and Baltimore hoodlums, crummy hangers-on and other nondescript shooters, including newspapermen trying to transform a sawbuck into rent money. I can vouch for the latter.

Some of us even delegated our master shooter and odds-knower, Walter Haight, to handle the bones for us. If Haight was suffering from a tennis elbow or bowed tendon (which interfered with his body-English on four's and ten's) we'd throw in Shirley Povich, or the holder of our sprint championship, Jack Espey.

More than one Washington newspaperman picked up a job at Jimmy's during the series of recessions that struck the newspaper business there in the early '30's. One of our crowd even rose to the eminence of senior pilot of a blackjack table, and grew a fashionable stomach to fit the role.

Line Strategy Played

Jimmy's place was passed by tens of thousands of motorists traveling between Baltimore and Washington for many years, but only a comparative handful knew what lay behind the routine fence and its billboards. The ramshackle building itself actually straddled the boundary line between the District of Columbia an[illegible]land. It was said to be [illegible]e for him to move his equipment from one side of the main room to the other, depending on which branch of the constabulary was pole-axing the double front door.

But he never had too much trouble with the cops of either the District or Maryland. But the Feds got him in 1931, fined him a grand and sentenced him to nine months for income tax evasion.

He had some kind of working agreement with the Maryland racing father whereby he shut down when the ponies were at Laurel, Bowie, Pimlico or Havre de Grace. Seems his horse rooms took too much play away at such times, or his wheels and tables skimmed off too much of the area's available "ready."

Calling Cards Come

It was always a matter of question as to just how much of the place La Fontaine personally owned. At one time he probably had it all. But then one night in the '30's several very tough citizens presented calling cards at the door. The calling cards were tommy guns. They moved in, but being wise as well as tough they kept Jimmy—a wheezing, gray-haired, friendly old guy—as a front.

The change made little difference in his method of living. He and his family lived in a quiet row-house in an old neighborhood of Washington and as far as local historians and crusaders could glean, the fellow never once bought a checkered suit or a flashy pin.

One night, years ago, a fellow came into La Fontaine's and blew about $5,000. He whacked himself clean, so, as was the custom of the house, he was given cab fare home. Half an hour after he left, there came a tremendous pounding and screeching at the guarded front door. There stood a weeping lady. She was swinging an umbrella.

Sad Tale Told

A goon pulled her inside, to quiet her (perhaps the only woman who ever entered Jimmy's) She kept up her screaming until Jimmy himself appeared. Then she told him that she and her husband had saved for years to get that $5,000; that it meant their future, their home, the welfare of their kids.

Jimmy counted off the money, gave it to her, showed her to the door and told her never to let that so-and-so-and-so out of the house again. But the next night he was back. And a little tipsy. Jimmy gave him a stern lecture on gambling and, as he was throwing him out, recounted the story of his wife's visit.

"But I ain't married!" the guy protested.

Then he began laughing, and through his gasps he told Jimmy the true story. He had picked up the lady on the cab ride into town, and had told her his name and his sad story of the evening.

"She jumped out of the cab at 15th and H," he said. "Never saw her before or since."

It nearly destroyed Jimmy's faith in human nature . . . but he went on to live to the ripe and happy 80's, and when he turned in his chips they called him "the grand old man."

And in his line he was.

School Board Turns Thumbs Down On Gifts For Teacher

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Nov. 23 (AP) — The Bethlehem school board has turned thumbs down on Christmas gifts for the teacher—too much competition between little Johnny and his classmates.

Joseph W. Hedge, superintendent of schools, said yesterday board members decided the competitive nature of the gift giving among the school children had become too expensive for smaller incomes families to bear.

Robbery Suspect Found Innocent

WACO, Nov. 23. (AP)—Ollie Otto Prince late today was found innocent of charges that he robbed the First National bank of Mount Calm.

The acquittal verdict was returned by a federal court jury which had heard Prince deny from the stand that he robbed the bank.

It also had heard W. S. Costlow, Corsicana plumber, testify that he was working at the Prince home from 1 p. m. until 2 p. m. Nov. 22, 1946, the day of the Mount Calm robbery, and that Prince was there all the time.

Earlier the bank's assistant cashier, Mrs. Alice McKinney, had identified Prince as the man who robbed the bank. She had set the time of the robbery at 1:15 p. m.

Prince's acquittal today still leaves him with 45 years given him on conviction of robbing two other banks.

Yesterday the curly-haired, 44-year-old Corsicana used car dealer was convicted in federal court here of robbing the Malone State bank Oct. 5, 1948. Earlier a Dallas federal court jury had convicted him of the March 3 robbery of a Rice bank.

The Mount Calm bank was robbed of $4,100.

Defense attorneys Howard Daily of Dallas and Julius Jacobs of Corsicana told reporters they would appeal yesterday's conviction. The sentence in the Rice bank case already is on appeal. Prince is in the hands of the federal marshal and will be held in jail at Marlin.

The jury returned its verdict today at 4:10 p. m. after an hour and a half of deliberation.

Three government witnesses pointed out Prince in court as the man who robbed the Mount Calm bank.

When defense counsel called Prince to the stand Jacobs asked: "Did you rob the First National bank of Mount Calm?"'

"I certainly did not," Prince answered emphatically.

Costlow testified he repaired a sink at Prince's home. He said Prince was there when he arrived and was there when he left at 2 p. m. after finishing the job. He said Prince paid him $1.50 by check for the work.

Army Orders Assignment Of Reservists To Proper Units

The Army has directed that all Organized Reserve corps members not presently on duty with the Army be assigned to an appropriate ORC unit by Nov. 30, the local ORC instructor's office has been informed.

Members of the inactive or honorary reserve and reserve officers on duty with the Army as enlisted men or warrant officers will be assigned to an appropriate ORC control group. These groups are units established to facilitate uniform administration of reserve personnel not otherwise assigned.

Procedures governing mobilization designation to Regular Army units also have been announced. A mobilization designation is the selection of an individual to fill an authorized vacancy upon mobilization in a Regular Army unit. These vacancies consist of spaces authorized and considered necessary to reinforce the existing Regular Army unit.

U.S. Defense Officials Launch Study Of German, Jap Methods

BY FELIX COTTON
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23. — U.S. officials mapping civilian defense against atomic attack said today that a study has been launched into German and Japanese wartime experience with housing, health and evacuation problems.

The study is already under way in Germany. Japanese Supreme Commander Douglas H. MacArthur is to be asked to assemble similar information in Japan.

John K. Meskimen, deputy director of the office of labor affairs under U.S. high Commissioner McCloy, has returned to Germany with a full bill of particulars on what data is wanted from that country.

German Answers Sought

Meskimen has been requested by Washington agencies to get his information from the Germans who handled these problems in wartime.

The Germans showed great ingenuity in caring for civilians under the most extreme difficulties. U.S. agencies concerned with civilian defense want to find out how they met these problems.

The matter was threshed out in a recent meeting attended by Meskimen and representatives of these agencies: State department, Defense establishment, the National Security Resources board, the General Services administration and the Housing and Home Finance agency.

Official Requests Reports

Ralph R. Kaul, director of the NSRB division of housing and community facilities, asked Meskimen for a series of reports on German wartime housing utilization, emergency housing and disaster relief.

Meskimen was requested by Dr. Norvin C. Kiefer, director of the NSRB health resources division, for reports on the following:

Wartime housing occupancy; limitations on living and sleeping space; factors related to lighting and ventalation; minimum levels of heating and types of heating; water supply; precautions to assure safety of water supply.

Other Factors Listed

Plumbing Standards; sewage disposal; emergency clinics and hospitals; precautions to prevent spread of contagious diseases; community kitchens; sanitation and precautions to prevent contamination of food; laundries and day nurseries.

The general services administration, charged with the disaster relief assignment under civilian defense, asked for information on German evacuation experience under bombing conditions.

NSRB officials charged with manpower problems requested aid on how to care for workers and keep factories operating where homes had been knocked out and factories were left reasonably unimpaired.

Federal Aid To Education Seen As Wedge For Complete Control

ABILENE, Nov. 23. (AP)— Federal aid to education would mean eventual federal control, Don H. Morris, president of Abilene Christian college, declared here today at the Texas council of church-related colleges' 10th annual meeting.

Said Morris, "if federal aid comes, control may be negligible at first but as a strong central organization is perfected over the years, it is quite possible that the thinking of a half dozen men could, through our schools, eventually control the thinking of the entire nation."

President B. Guerrant of Austin colleges said church-related colleges are necessarily different from state-supported schools.

"For them not to be different would be a travesty—we would be misusing the funds," said Guerrant.

The greatest thing about church-related colleges is the philosophy of their curricula, Guerrant declared. Philosophy of their curricula—"they have motive," said Guerrant. "A positive Christian atmosphere, in word and act, must prevail if the faculty and administration of a church school is to be true to its purposes."

Denfeld's Removal Not To Be Probed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23. (AP)— The reasons for removal of Admiral Louis E. Denfeld as chief of naval operations will not be probed by the House Armed Service committee. Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) so told newsmen today.

Denfeld's removal followed the committee's recent investigation of national defense policies which brought into sharp focus differences of opinion among Navy, Army and Air Force leaders. The admiral, a "star" witness, criticized defense policies. His removal was requested by Secretary of the Navy Matthews.

Some committee members claimed the committee was assured by Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson that no witness from the armed services would be penalized for freely expressing his views. Denfeld's removal to another post, they said with considerable heat at the time, was a violation of this assurance and an indication that Denfeld was demoted "because he talked."

Matthews said that Denfeld was removed because he lacked qualifications in that he was not in full sympathy with policies governing unification of the armed services. He and Johnson both said there was no retaliation involved.

Eviction Of Reds From Housing Projects Urged By U.S. League

CHICAGO, Nov. 23. (INS)—Immediate eviction and permanent exclusion of Communists from government housing projects was urged today by members of the U.S. Savings and Loan league.

The league meeting in its 57th annual convention in Chicago, also recommended that the Public Housing administration be prohibited from building more dwellings as "long as excess-income families remain in the existing projects."

In asking Communists be banned from housing projects, the league declared the recent conviction of 11 Communist leaders "emphasized the character of the . . . party as an instrument for the violent overthrow of the government."

Westerners Solid Favorite Over Brownfield Here Today

District 3-AA Winners Go After Tenth Victory At Jones Stadium

Lubbock's high-scoring Westerners will be heavily favored to close out their first perfect regular season schedule since 1917 when they square off against the Brownfield Cubs at 2:30 p. m. today at Jones stadium.

Coach Pat Pattison's Westerners, with the District 3-AA grid crown already in the bag, will be after win No. 10 of the 1949 campaign. And, despite injuries to several key performers, they are odds-on choices to tack another defeat onto the record of the winless Brownfield squad.

If Lubbock comes through as expected, it will mark the local team's first unblemished regular slate since 1917, when a team coached by R. B. Galbraith finished without a setback, then walloped Sweetwater to become "uncrowned champion" of West Texas. At the time, there was no state playoff.

Large Crowd Expected

If the weather remains clear, a large turnout is expected for the encounter, with a crowd of 7,000 persons expected, Lowrey estimated. Ticket sales thus far have been good, and the athletic office will be open from 8:30 to 11 o'clock. Tickets go on sale at the gates at 12:30 o'clock.

Already winner of 3-AA play, the Westerners will be out to remain in the select circle in Texas, which has but four Class AA schools with perfect records this season, and take a spotless slate into next week's bi-district clash with the winner of District 4-AA, which will be decided today when Austin of El Paso plays El Paso High.

Brownfield is a decided underdog in this Thanksgiving battle, having dropped nine straight decisions in as many starts this year. Coach Tracy Kellow started the season with a young, inexperienced group which has not been able to find itself.

In contrast to Brownfield's lack of accomplishments is Lubbock's string of victories. The Westerners have scored 325 points in nine games, an average of 36.1 per game, to only 72 for the opposition. Brownfield has made 33 points, allowing the opposition 327.

Co-captains for today's clash will be three Westerners — Wayne Noland, Curtis Roberts and Don Hufstedler. All have seen limited service this year.

Injuries Hamper Squad

Injuries have hit the Lubbock squad in the past two weeks, and three regular starting linemen will not see service today. Right End Billy Wright is nursing a seriously bruised toe; Tackle Joe Brock has an injured knee; and Guard Freddy Gray is out of action due to a bad knee and bruised toe. Fullback Malcolm Young will be used sparingly, if at all. Injured in the Odessa game, Young is still limping as the result of a sprained ankle which kept him out of last week's contest with Midland. Quarterback Bobby Brown, who missed last week's fray, will return to competition this afternoon.

The Brownfield squad is physically in good shape, according to Coach Kellow, but the lack of experienced substitutes will hinder the Cubs against the heavier Westerners.

The Cub starting lineup will average 149 pounds per man, compared to approximately 173 for the Lubbock eleven.

Brownfield has been trying to rig up a defense this week against the powerful Westerner machine, but how well Lubbock is stopped remains to be seen. Offensively the Cubs will rely on their four backfield men for a possible scoring punch. Quarterbacked by Dale Cary, 138, the Cubs have John Franks, 140, at left halfback, John Thompson, 140, at right half, and Billy Patterson, 155, at fullback.

Offensive Stressed

In the last two games Lubbock has been playing rather uninspired ball. Against Midland last week the absence of Brown, Young, Brock and Gray was felt considerably, but at no time was there any danger of losing the contest as five Midland passes fell into the hands of Lubbock defenders and gave the team a comfortable lead.

Workouts this week have been concerned largely with offense, using substitutes in the positions of the injured Westerners. Probable starter for Wright at the right terminal will be Dean White. Ross Craig will start again at left guard and Douglass Ross at left tackle, shifting over from his normal right tackle post. Roberts will be at right tackle. Mack Taylor, who scored 18 points against Midland will be at left half, and Wayne Stroud will move from that spot to fullback.

If the game goes according to the way it is generally conceded to go, Lubbock substitutes will see lots of action in what could turn out to be the last Westerner home game of the year.

In the bi-district game and all others, it will be necessary to flip a coin for the site of the game unless an agreement can be made. The one exception would be Pampa in case Lubbock met that team in the quarter-finals. Then the game would be played in Lubbock.

Kasaboski Downs Overhull In Go

Referee Al Getz failed to see a foul that would have disqualified Alex Kasaboski in the third fall of the main event at Sled Allen's arena last night, the mad Russian winning a rough and rugged main event from George Overhull.

In the semi-final, Andy Tremaine showed how unimpressed he was with the Gray Mask by taking two out of three falls from the face-covered westler. And in the preliminary, Herb Parks proved that Salvador Flores wasn't ready for the main event by taking the 20-minute prelim easily.

Overhull started the main event off right by subduing Kasaboski in 16 minutes with a full nelson, much to the pleaure of the big crowd. Kasaboski had pulled hair, hit, choked and done everything on the shady side that he could to weaken Overhull, but the former Golden Sandie took it and dished out his own share of punishment.

But Kasaboski came back in the second fall to elude the eager Overhull just when it appeared he might win the match in two straight falls. Kasaboski slammed Overhull to the mat, turned him over and applied a half crab that had the Amarillo wrestler pleading for Getz to end it. He did in 15 minutes.

The final fall went to Kasaboski in three minutes, again with a half crab and some double assistance from Getz. Ovehull had a full nelson on Kasaboski, who hugged the ropes. As Getz tried to break the hold — and did — Kasaboski fouled Overhull and tossed him to the mat. That was the match.

Tremaine had no respect for the Mask at all and handled him easily in taking two straight falls. The El Paso grappler met every trick that the Mask could try and showed him some of his own. Tremaine took the first fall in 17 minutes with a rocking chair and the second in 14 minutes with an inside cat toehold.

BROWNFIELD FOOTBALL SQUAD—Coach Tracy Kellow's Cub squad, which this afternoon at 2 meets the powerful Lubbock Westerners in Jones Stadium, is shown above. The Westerners are expected to take the game in stride as they conclude their District 3-AA season. The Cubs don't appear capable of handing the Lubbock eleven its first defeat of the year, but they might make it close. Shown above, left to right in the front row, are Willis McNeil, quarterback; Hartsel Blake, guard; Bobby Carter, guard; Charles Mayfield, guard; Billy Patterson, fullback; Graham Swain, guard; Dale Cary quarterback; Jimmy Milner, end; John Bailey, center; Calvin Farris, end; Donny Boyd, quarterback; Bobby Latham, halfback. Second row, Richard Sturges and Bryce Wagner, managers; Coach Kellow; Doyle Bradley, quarterback; Graves Nelson, fullback; Orbra Rowden end; John Burris, tackle; Joe Don Auburg, end; John Thompson, halfback; Doyle Newsom, tackle; Sam Ritchey, guard; John Franks, halfback; Clyde Chambliss, halfback; assistant Coach Toby Greer. Third row, Don Jones, tackle; Allan Orr, tackle; Howard Swan, tackle; Dean Murphy, tackle; E. H. Crossland, tackle; Aubrey Neighbors, tackle; Billy Noble, end; Bradley Seaton guard; Paul Billings, halfback; and Assistant Coach Faris Nowell.

H-SU's Cowboys Invade Lubbock

Border Loop Title At Stake Saturday

Hardin-Simmons and Texas Tech will be performing before a capacity crowd, from all appearances, when they collide in the game that decides the Border Conference title here Saturday.

Morley Jennings, Tech athletic director, said yesterday that the advance ticket sales were proceeding rapidly and that few good reserved seats remained. Reports from Abilene are that Hardin-Simmons supporters have grabbed up all available tickets there and will seek more when they get here.

The Cowboys went through another long session in Abilene yesterday, getting ready for Texas Tech. Coach Warren Woodson is seeking his first victory over the Red Raiders since 1946, when he upset them 21-6. And the Cowboys will be ready for this game, which could mean their first loop title since 1946.

One of the Cowboy stars that the Raiders must stop is Fullback Ray Troutman, a 220-pound line crasher. Troutman caused trouble last year and this year will be even rougher as a senior. Along with Troutman, Tech fears the speed of Halfbacks Hook Davis, Dunnie Goode and Harry Taylor.

This will be the sixth time that Coach Dell Morgan and Coach Woodson have tangled. Coach Morgan's Raiders have won three of the games, lost one and tied another. And it will be the fifth time in those six meetings that victory—or a tie—will decide the title.

Yesterday the Raiders continued to ready themselves for their toughest game of the year by having intensive defensive and offensive work. Lights again were turned on in Jones Stadium and the squad kept out until a late hour.

Freshmen ran H-SU plays, with the defensive varsity breaking up most slants in good shape, but the passes Quarterback John Ford will throw still caused trouble.

Rice Reserves May See Action

HOUSTON, Nov. 23. (AP).—Coach Jess Neely of Rice indicated today his reserves will see plenty of action in the Southwest Conference championship tilt with Baylor here Saturday.

"We'll have to use quite a few of the regulars on both offense and defense," Neely said. "That means they'll have to get a little rest in both divisions of play."

He mentioned these reserves in particular; Backs George Glauser, Don Campbell, Gene Silver and Teddy Riggs and his twin guards, Derwood and Delwood Lee.

Neely said Fullback Bobby Lantrip still is pretty badly bruised from last week's Texas Christian game and that Glauser may have to take over more than usual Saturday.

Neely's two big centers and linebackers — Joe Watson and Gerald Weatherly — still are limping with leg injuries.

Rice has clinched a tie for the Conference championship but would have to share the title with Baylor should the Bears win.

An Owl victory or a tie would give the title — and the Cotton Bowl bid — to Rice.

Twenty-Five Games Are Scheduled

Regular Season Ends For Class AA Teams

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

The Texas schoolboy football campaign comes to a close this weekend except for championship play-offs.

Twenty-five games are scheduled. Four district titles in the City Conference and Class AA are on the line.

North Side meets Paschal with the Fort Worth district championship in the balance. Victory or a tie for Paschal will give it the title. Defeat will hand it to Arlington Heights.

The second City Conference district crown to be determined is at San Antonio where Thomas Jefferson and Brackenridge clash.

The other two district champions of the city conference have been determined. They are Sunset of Dallas, which plays the Fort Worth winner, and San Jacinto of Houston which meets the Fort Worth champ.

In Class AA El Paso High and Austin (El Paso) play for District 4 title. Austin can win it with a victory or tie, otherwise it will be thrown into a three-way deadlock between Austin, El Paso and Ysleta.

In District 11 Beaumont and Port Arthur, both unbeaten in Conference play, get together for the title.

District champions of Class AA already decided are Pampa, Wichita Falls, Lubbock, Abilene, Breckenridge, Paris, Highland Park (Dallas), Marshall, Conroe, Galveston, Corsicana, Austin, Alice and Harlingen.

This week's schedule:

Thursday — North Side (Fort Worth) vs. Paschal (Fort Worth, Jefferson (San Antonio) vs. Brackenridge (San Antonio), Amarillo at Plainview, Pampa at Borger, Vernon at Electra, Quanah at Childress, Lamesa at Midland, Brownfield at Lubbock.

Aggies To Face Longhorns Today

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 23. (AP)—Victory fires burned fiercely, as always, in Aggieland today. The critics called it insurmountable odds but Texas A. and M., thinking of last year when a downtrodden Cadet team ripped out a sensational 14-14 tie with Texas, looked to tomorrow as the turning point in Aggie gridiron fortunes.

A. and M. and Texas clash for the fifty-sixth time in the deepest and most storied rivalry of the Southwest.

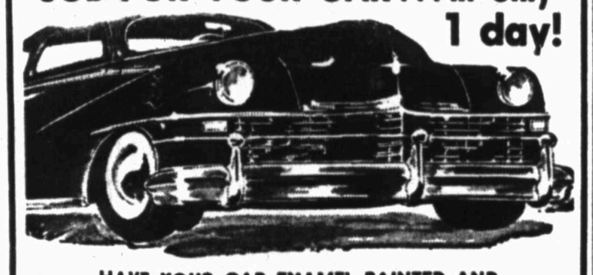

Both teams reach the big game with keen disappointment over what has happened to date. Texas lost four games by a total margin of 10 points. Texas A. and M. has taken one victory and gained one tie. The Aggies and Longhorns never were lower in the standings on the occasion of their Thanksgiving Day battle.

But this situation has no effect on an Aggie-Texas football game. Championships are not important —victory over the other is the high tide of any year.

Costa Rica had a record mid-year crop of cacao beans this year.

Littlefield, Spur In Title Game Today

5,000 Expected For Class A Tilt

LITTLEFIELD, Nov. 23. (Spl.) —The South Plains' Class A bi-district football championship will be on the line here Thursday afternoon when Littlefield's husky Wildcats entertain the Spur Bulldogs.

An overflow throng of at least 5,000 fans is expected for the "Turkey day" clash, which starts at 2:30 o'clock.

Coach J. S. Fikes' Littlefield club, champion of District 4-A, enters the setto as a mild favorite over Sam Hawkes' Spur aggregation, 3-A standard bearer.

Wildcat Record Tops

Boasting a crushing ground attack, Littlefield has rolled to nine straight victories since losing its 1949 opener to Dalhart. Last week, in the 4-A playoff, the Wildcats buried Slaton under a 47-0 scoring avalanche.

Spur suffered three setbacks during the regular season, to Hamlin, Haskell and Paducah, but finished strong to gain undisputed possession of the 3-A pennant. The Bulldogs walloped Floydada, one of the Plains' better Class A elevens, by 45-13 in their most recent start, indicating that Spur is just hitting its 1949 peak.

As usual, Littlefield will enjoy a distinct weight edge in the starting lineups. The Wildcat forward wall will average 176 pounds per man, compared to Spur's 170. In the backfield, Littlefield holds an advantage of 166 to 154 pounds per man.

Both teams are expected to be near top physical form.

Spur Features Passing

Spur will attempt to offset Littlefield's terrific ground power with an all-round attack featuring the passing of Quarterback Melvin Lindsey and the broken-field running of little Clyde Blair, speedy halfback. Lindsey connected for five touchdown passes against Floydada last week, while Blair has won all-district recognition for the last two years with his brilliant running.

Sparking Littlefield's assault will be a set of hard-running backs that includes Tom Bailes, Gene Renfro, Charles Askew, Frank Gage, Donald Crossley and Stephen Brock.

Thursday's winner later will meet the Phillips-Lefors victor.

The 1949 records and probable offensive starting lineups:

LITTLEFIELD RECORD—Littlefield 0, Dalhart 14; Littlefield 34, Roscoe 0; Littlefield 39, Morton 6; Littlefield 53, O'Donnell 0; Littlefield 47, Brownfield 7; Littlefield 48, Muleshoe 0; Littlefield 66, Sundown 0; Littlefield 7, Sudan 7 (Littlefield won on penetrations); Littlefield 20, Levelland 13; Littlefield 47, Slaton 0. White Sox Sign Up Illinois Wesleyan Baseball Player

CHICAGO, Nov. 23. (INS)—Farm club director John Rigney of the Chicago White Sox announced today the signing of Illinois Wesleyan university's baseball captain.

Alex Cosmidis will be sent to the Colorado Springs, Colo., Class A farm club of the White Sox. He plays either shortstop or second base. Cosmidis is originally from Fayetteville, N. C.

Olton, Meadow Clash

Bi-District Tilt Scheduled Today

OLTON, Nov. 23 (Special) — One of the largest football crowds in Olton's history is expected Thursday afternoon for the Mustangs' bi-district championship clash with Meadow's perfect-record Bronchos.

A turnout of at least 4,000 fans —nearly double the seating capacity of Olton's stadium—is forecast for this meeting of the South Plains' two top Class B teams.

Kickoff time will be 2 o'clock.

Rival Coaches T. M. Cox, Olton, and Lloyd Hunt, Meadow, said late today that they expect their squads to be near top physical form for today's title engagement.

Meadow goes into the tilt with a slight weight advantage. The Bronchos average 156 pounds per man in the line to Olton's 145, but Olton will have the edge in the backfield weight, 153-146.

Off the records, the Thanksgiving day tussle appears to be a toss-up. Meadow, running from the single-wing formation, has breezed to 10 straight wins—including a 21-0 decision over Class A O'Donnell—this season. Olton lost its opener to a powerful Class A Andrews, 44-6, then bounced back to wade through a tough district schedule without a setback.

The two clubs did not meet a common opponent during the campaign, so a direct comparison by scores is not available.

The Olton-Meadow victor will advance to the regional Class B finals, opposite the winner of the Panhandle playoff between White Deer and the District 2-B titlist, as yet undetermined.

The season records and probable starting offensive lineups:

OLTON RECORD—Olton 6, Andrews 44; Olton 28, Spade 0; Olton 39, Amherst 0; Olton 19, Springlake 13; Olton 56, Whitharral 0; Olton 13, Dimmitt 0; Olton 40, Farwell 6; Olton 32, Anton 0; Olton 39, Friona 0; Olton 19, Hale Center 8. Olton total points 289, opponents' total 71.

MEADOW RECORD—Meadow 32, Cooper 7; Meadow 12, Lubbock Pioneers 0; Meadow 31, O'Donnell 0; Meadow 19, Whiteface 0; Meadow 45, Petersburg 14; Meadow 26, Idalou 14; Meadow 44, Plains 6; Meadow 26, Ropesville 13; Meadow 46, Frenship 7; Meadow 23, New Deal 7. Meadow total points 294, opponents' total 68.

Joel Austin had four points for the Wildcats and Cricket Shirley led the Stampeders with three. Donald Dunagan led the Five Little Angels with 14 points and Douglas Tucker pitched in 12 for the Ghosts.

The club will be closed today, but five games are on the schedule for Friday.

RACE TRACK OPENS

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 23 (AP)—New Orleans fair grounds race track opens its 77th winter season tomorrow with purses for the 90-day running totaling more than a million dollars. A crowd in excess of 15,000 is expected to be on hand for the opening.

SPORTS Slants

BY CHOC HUTCHESON

It's all in fun, of course, but the nicknames some of these Lubbock Boys club basketball teams have chosen for themselves are a downright alarming "sign of the times" —if we choose to believe what the child psychologists tell us.

Maybe I came from a sissy neighborhood, but I recall that in the days of my youth we picked titles like Wildcats, Eagles or Mustangs for our athletic squads. Maybe, if we happened to be in a particularly tough mood, we went as far as Polecats or Buccaneers.

But apparently this coming generation has lost all love for the great outdoors. At Lubbock Boys club we find such monikers as Seventh Street Thugs, Alley Rat Five, Dirty Demons and Maulers, not to mention the Sorry Lot, Stampeders, Roughies and Unconscious Five.

As I understand it, these nicknames were chosen by vote of the boys, which leads me to wonder if the lads have been reading too many comic books, or viewing too many Humphrey Bogart films!

The important thing, of course, is that the local Boys club is fulfilling its intended mission — to provide a wholesome outlet for our youngsters' energies. The kid basketball leagues already are going full blast, and doing a great recreational job.

But, try as I will, I can't help but wonder whether someday I'll have a son playing forward for the Bootleggers, or maybe center for the Thirty-second Street Hoodlums!

Tracy Kellow, who brings his Brownfield Cubs here today to close out the 1949 season against the Westerners, is one of the guards on the official "All-Time Sugar Bowl" all-star team which includes such other grid greats as Sammy Baugh, John Kimbrough, Ki Aldrich and Davey O'Brien. Kellow played in the New Orleans classic with TCU in 1936, when the Frogs edged out LSU, 3-2 . . . At latest report, Jack Kramer still held a healthy lead over Pancho Gonzales in their pro tennis tour. Kramer is winning about three of every four matches . . . Another "old pro" who's doing quite well is Joe Louis. The ex-champ, even at a bloated 229 pounds, has been much too good for the younger heavyweights he's been meeting on his current exhibition tour . . . Thanks to Tom Suits of Petersburg, 271 pheasants soon will be roaming the South Plains. Farms in the Petersburg-Lorenzo area already have been stocked with 181 of the birds, and 90 more are due to arrive Dec. 2. At present, a four-year closed season for pheasants is in effect, which means that — if hunters cooperate by observing the law—the area may be fairly well stocked by 1953 . . . You can put the name of Wilford Moore on your list of "coming young coaches." The McMurry mentor, who's only 29, has turned out three conference champions in as many years as head coach . . . Lubbock's Westerners boast the state's longest Class AA winning steak. Counting two games won at the close of the 1948 season, the Westerners have won 11 in a row going into today's Brownfield game.

Alabama's Butch Avinger Is Voted Jacobs Blocking Trophy

DURHAM, N. C., Nov. 23 (AP) — Butch Avinger, 20-year-old Alabama junior, is the No. 1 blocker in the Southeastern Conference.

Coaches of the Conference have voted Avinger the annual William P. Jacobs Memorial Blocking Trophy, it was announced today by Hugh Jacobs, son of the late donor of the awards.

POLO GAME SLATED

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 23 (AP)—Polo teams of Mexico and the U.S. Meadow Brook club will clash tomorrow in the quarter finals of the Buenos Aires Province Cup tournament.

Berry To End College Career

FORT WORTH, Nov. 23 (AP) — Next Saturday afternoon—along about 5 o'clock—as the hush of football season's end falls over the stadium, the rock of Texas Christian will hang up his purple jersey forever.

Lindy Berry, one of the most durable men in college gridiron history and probably the busiest of them all, will be saying goodbye to four great seasons.. Then it will be pro football here I come.

The little guy, like the mail service, drove on and on through rain and snow and sleet—and the gore of fierce battle.

When he takes to the field Saturday against arch rival Southern Methodist it will be his forty-first game for the Horned Frogs.

In the two score contests in which he has been TCU's "perpetual man in motion," Berry has never known the glory of a championship. But he has known the glory of an individual greatness that could not be classified as personal—it made him one of the greatest "team men" in Texas Christian's football history.

The two-platoon system was only something he read about—it never applied to Berry. He played on defense as well as offense and Coach Dutch Meyer said he was more valuable at the former.

Which would be something great indeed. Because in his 40 games with TCU The Rock has played 1445 minutes out of a possible 2,400 and gained 6,547 yards—almost three and three-quarters miles.

This season he has performed 411 minutes out of 540 and last Saturday played 40 minutes while wearing a plastic mask to protect a fractured jaw, and he almost beat mighty Rice. Twice this year he has gone the full 60 minutes—against Mississippi and Texas.

Not once in the four years has he missed a game because of an injury—not once has he ever left the field except under his own power. His record is fantastic: He has carried the ball 564 times for 1732 yards, passed 437 times and completed 197 for 2489 yards, returned 107 punts for 1404 yards, ran back 32 kick-offs for 710 yards, intercepted five passes and returned them 180 yards, scored 17 touchdowns and passed for 12.

And, oh yes: As a freshman he caught one pass. It was for 32 yards.

Undefeated Lamar Meets Tyler Friday

BEAUMONT, Nov. 23. (AP) — Lamar college's Cardinals, only undefeated and untied junior or senior college team in the state, take on their biggest assignment of the season Friday night — the Tyler Apaches — with a probable bid to California's Junior Rose Bowl game going to the victor.

Also to be determined by the contest, the top junior college clash in the nation matching two of the National JC leaders, is the final outcome of the Southwestern Junior College Conference race.

Officials of the Junior Rose Bowl game in Pasadena Dec. 10 have expressed strong interest in Texas Junior college football and it is believed that the victor of the Tyler-Lamar fracas will get the nod to play the West Coast's representative to the fourth JC Bowl game.

Lamar, with a cinch co-championship, of the SJCC by virtue of their 14-7 triumph over Kilgore, will be seeking to annex their first clear title in their 17-year history.

Tyler, whose only loss was to Kilgore, 14-7, with four regulars sidelined, can capture a piece of the bunting by knocking off the Cardinals. Lamar would take the crown with a victory or a tie.

In racking up nine opponents and losing one game, Tyler has tallied 365 points to their opponents 26 while Lamar has counted 278 points to 73 for the opposition in nine games.

'Nuisance' Law Given Approval At Meeting Of City Commission

definite future.

3. The declaration that more vigorous efforts will be made to get a more accurate valuation for tax purposes of the stocks of merchandise carried in many stores. Some firms, it was charged, are rendering such property at 10 cents or less on the $1 of actual value.

4. Rejection of a proposal by City Manager Steve Matthews that a drainage ditch be excavated bordering the west side of North College avenue as a means of providing temporary relief from the flooding in Northwest Lubbock which invariably follows heavy rains.

5. Consideration without immediate action of an ordinance which would forbid airplanes to fly at altitudes below 1,500 feet over the city.

Parking Zone Extended

6. Approval of the largest extension of the downtown parking meter zone since the gadgets first were installed in Lubbock in 1937. The streets on which the meters are to be installed are: both sides of Broadway and Main from F to G; both sides of G from Broadway to Thirteenth; both sides of Thirteenth from G to H; the south side of tenth from G to H; the west side of G from Tenth to Main, and the west side of Texas from Eighth to Ninth. The program will involve the installation of more than 200 new meters.

The "nuisance" ordinance is one of the most remarkable and detailed documents ever made a part of city law.

Such a measure has been discussed from time to time for several years. Finally it was prepared and was passed on first reading last May 13—more than six months ago. It has been laying on the commission table for no explained reason since that time.

Most of the members of the commission professed surprise when it was pulled out of the mothballs Wednesday afternoon.

It makes a multitude of actions violations of city laws. Among other things, it forbids drainage of sewage, air conditioners and the like into gutters; requires owners of property to keep their weeds cut; allows the city to do the cutting, and assess the cost against the property, when the owner fails to attend to the job himself; gives the city authority to force owners of chicken, rabbit and similar pens to keep them in a sanitary condition; classifies barking dogs as nuisances, and many others.

Two Officials Overruled

Commissioners Price and Whiteside said they would like the opportunity to refresh their memories concerning the details of the ordinance before acting upon it finally. Other members of the commission, however, overruled them.

The plans for a community building were described by a committee composed of Lonnie Montgomery, Dallas Whaley, J. M. Harper, L. C. Nugent, Kenneth Cox and Robert Mason.

They said they have not estimated the cost of the project. But their hopes are, they related, to sell enough stock to public spirited citizens to finance the construction. They professed confidence that the building would pay for itself within a few years. After it is paid for, they said, the plans are to deed it to the city recreation department.

Site Is Asked From City

They asked the city commission to provide a site for the structure, suggesting the 2600 block on Avenue Q. Mackenzie State park is another possibility, they said.

Members of the commission expressed deep interest in the undertaking and invited members of the committee to re-appear when they are prepared to submit more detailed plans.

The suggestion that the Broadway Church of Christ property be purchased for conversion into a public library was made two weeks ago. Mayor Rodgers was asked to investigate the possibilities both of that building and of the First Baptist church. The first Baptist and the Brodway church have new edifices under construction further out on Broadway.

The mayor said the First Baptist property is available for $70,000 and the Broadway church for $135,000.

Report Made On Study

James Atcheson, architect, who was asked by the commission to study the feasibility of converting the structures into library purposes made his report at the meeting.

His report as to the First Baptist building was unfavorable. But he said the Broadway church could be converted into a "satisfactory" library at a cost he "guessed" at $100,000.

A $500,000 city bond issue was voted in 1947 for a library, but have not been sold.

Members of the commission decided to consult several of the persons who long have been active in the effort to provide a public library adequate for Lubbock needs. The clear implication was that their reaction will determine whether the commission goes ahead with, or drops, the Broadway church as a possibility.

Discussions of assessed tax valuations of stocks in Lubbock stores started when Ed Hearn appeared to protest the assessment of the merchandise in his ready-to-wear store at 2412 Broadway. Hearn said valuations shown on the tax roll at $15,000 should be reduced to $10,000 at the most.

The commission declined his request, but invited him to submit a sworn invoice showing the value of his stock. If that shows his assessment to be too high, members of the commission indicated, they will consider an adjustment of the valuation.

The protest, according to City Manager Matthews, led to a survey of valuations of merchandise as rendered by a dozen other stores. Members of the commission were of the outspoken opinion that all the renditions reported were far under actual valuations—some of them as low as 10 cents or less on the dollar. They said that steps to correct this condition will be taken when tax assessment rolls for next year are prepared.

In rejecting the city manager's suggestion that the ditch be dug along North College to ease the drainage problem there members of the commission declared they will continue their efforts to provide a storm sewer for the area as soon as possible. They rejected the ditch idea because, they said, in helping drainage for some portions of Northwest Lubbock, it would make the problem more serious for other areas.

Members of the commission expressed sympathy with complaints that there has been entirely too much low airplane flying over Lubbock — including several instances of "buzzing" from exceedingly low levels. An ordinance probably will be prepared in an effort to cope with the condition, officials said.

Cotton Special

that this is the first time such a "cotton special" has been attempted in this area.

Nine Areas Served

In Lubbock the train is scheduled to load cotton which has come from compresses in Littlefield, Brownfield, Lubbock, Ralls, Levelland, and Plainview, and leave here about midnight each night. At Slaton cotton from Lamesa, Tahoka, and Slaton compresses will be loaded. The freight will leave there before 3 a.m. daily.

The train is scheduled to arrive in the Galveston-Houston area prior to 7 a.m. of the second day after leaving Lubbock, thus virtually assuring cotton shippers of the South Plains that their cotton will reach the coastal markets in approximately 30 hours.

The "cotton special" will remain in operation as long as is needed by area shippers, railroad officials said.

No Car Shortage Seen

Also of interest to South Plains cotton men was the announcement at the same time yesterday that the Santa Fe railroad has accumulated a large backlog of boxcars in this area. It is anticipated that the railroad will have a sufficient quantity of cars to take care of all loadings offered for the special train.

Officials of the line said yesterday they anticipated moving at least 75 boxcars each night from this area, and more if need arises.

They pointed out that there are at least 12 compresses in this area which will benefit from the special train. They urged the cooperation of area cotton shippers, as well as those persons who actually load the cars, to make the venture a success.

To assure success of the special from the standpoint of the railroad, officials said that Santa Fe personnel from here to the Gulf Coast have been alerted to watch the train and see that it moves downstate without excessive delay.

Burglary Probed

short, took his money. He was jailed on a drunkenness charge, officials said.

Abel Bustillos, 37, of 120 Ave. M, was released from the county jail after posting bonds on charges of possession of marijuana and liquor law violation. The charges stemmed from a Tuesday night raid by officers in which 31 marijuana cigarets and several containers of whiskey were found in the man's residence.

Stolen Car Recovered

T. L. Duval of 3410 Twenty-fifth, who had reported his 1940 automobile stolen Tuesday, informed police he had found it abandoned near railroad trackage here but that the generator and radio had been stripped from it. He said his loss would approximate $120.

Chris Haskins and R. O. Christesson, respectively of the state and municipal police, arrested a man for investigation into drunk driving a mile east of Five-Point intersection on Thirty-fourth, after complaints from several women there Wednesday.

Mrs. A. R. Lee of 2118 Twenty-fifth said clothing, mostly children's, valued at $20 had been stolen off her clothesline.

Frank Roberts of 1930 Ave. N said two valuable birddogs had been stolen from the residence of a relative seven miles northeast of Ralls, and said a substantial reward would be paid for their return.

Suitcase, Clothing Stolen

Albert Fulcher, of Big Spring, informed police of the theft of his suitcase and clothing from a car parked in the 1700-block Ave. G Wednesday afternoon.

Herbert Whitlock, 25, of 1411 Ave. F, was arrested by sheriff's deputies on a charge of aggravated assault. His wife lodged the complaint, officers said.

Ted Harvey, 37, of Lubbock, was fined $25 and county court costs after pleading guilty of aggravated assault upon Joe Stansell Nov. 15. The complaint alleged he struck Stansell with an unknown object and bit him on the right ear and thumb.

Curtis Kilgore was fined $200 and costs on a plea of guilty of liquor law violation, county court officials said.

BROWNWOOD BOY KILLED

BROWNWOOD, Nov. 23. (AP)—The death of a 12-year-old newspaper carrier boy today ended 748 days without a traffic fatality for Brownwood. Gerald Price died in a hospital a few minutes after his bicycle and a truck collided as he was going to the business district to get copies of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram for delivery.

NEWS BRIEFS

Six permits for residences issued to Johnie Arnold, builder, and 10 permits for residences issued to R. and W. Development company helped raise the month's building total to $3,321,602, records at the office of Lloyd Ross, building inspector, revealed Wednesday afternoon.

Two Lubbock residents, Mrs. Evie Rowan, 65, of Lubbock Route 1, and S. D. Jordan, of 2419 Thirty-fifth, were taken to Lubbock Memorial hospital by Rix ambulances shortly before 8 p.m. Wednesday. Both were admitted as medical patients, attendants there said.

The Thanksgiving service of First Church of Christ, Scientist, 2202 Broadway, will be held at 11 a. m. today. The order of service includes the reading of a lesson-sermon on the topic of "Thanksgiving," after which opportunity will be given for testimonies of gratitude appropriate to the occasion to be expressed. The public is invited to attend the service.

Firemen made two runs to minor blazes Wednesday night, records of that department showed. A trash fire in an alley in the 1200-block between Texas Ave. and Ave. G, was extinguished about 7:50 p. m., a blaze in a small shack near the West Texas compress southeast of the city about 10:10 p. m.

Sentence Suspended In Plainview Killing

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 23. (Special)—Juan Jimenez, 30-year-old Floyd county field worker, was found guilty of the murder without malice of Dennis Lee Penwell of Plainview on May 21 and given a five-year suspended sentence here tonight in the 64th District court of Judge C. B. Russell.

The 12-man jury, headed by foreman G. B. Billington, was out a little less than an hour. Its recommendation for a suspended sentence added to the number of character witnesses presented for the defense accounted for the court's decision, observers said.

Jimenez, along with his brother and another Latin American, passed through Plainview on the date of the murder and stopped to eat at a carnival. Jimenez spilled some water accidently on a man and a fight ensued. Penwell, an innocent bystander, was stabbed by Jimenez with a long-bladed knife during the free-for-all that followed.

Carnival employes held the Latin-Americans until local officers arrested them.

Two panels of jurymen, one of 40 men and the other of 60 men, were called yesterday and today. The jury selection, which began at 10 a. m. Tuesday, was completed at noon today. The entire 100 men were examined, the last two being accepted.

The jury's verdict was returned about 10:30 p. m. today.

Prosecuting attorneys were Joe Cox, district attorney, and Joe Sharp, county attorney. Jimenez was defended by Sam H. Allred and E. H. Boedeker of Lubbock.

The jury included Ralph May, Charles Vanderpoel, Clyde Meredith, C. B. Cline, R. V. Payne, Lon L. McDaniel, J. L. Monroe, jr., M. E. Waldrop, R. O. Pennington, Joe Don Scott, Milo McCasley, and Billington.

Service Sets Theme

Apostle Paul, who wrote some of his greatest works while in prison, and Helen Keller, who, despite deafness and blindness, has been of inestimable value to the handicapped.

Dr. Travis A. White, pastor of the First Christian church, presided. The invocation was by Capt. Tom Gregory of the Salvation Army. Other ministers participating were the Rev. Dave Zacharias, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church; Dr. C. A. Bickley, pastor of the Asbury Methodist church; and Dr. J. Ralph Grant, pastor of the First Baptist church. Organist was Mrs. Mamie I. Neal.

The program committee consisted of Dr. Grant, the Rev. David Sieberg, pastor of the Shepherd King American Lutheran church, and the Rev. Hubert Bratcher, pastor of St. John's Methodist church.

The Senior High school chorus, directed by J. M. Penn, sang "The Pilgrim's Chorus" (Wagner) and Kipling's "Recessional" (DeKoven). Travis Hammer and Yona Parr were featured as soloists in the latter presentation.

Quiet Day Is Seen

The day for the most part will be highlighted by grid games and family reunions.

Lubbock public school children will be free until Monday morning, with the exception of Carroll Thompson Junior High school students, who will attend school Friday and half a day Saturday to make up time lost at the beginning of the school year.

Texas Tech students were dismissed Wednesday afternoon, but college officials announced that administrative offices would remain open on Friday and Saturday.

Area sports fans will have a choice of three top-notch gridiron battles on slate this afternoon. The Lubbock Westerners will close their District 3-AA campaign against the Brownfield Cubs at 2:30 p. m., in Jones Stadium here.

Elsewhere, Littlefield and Spur clash at Littlefield at 2:30 p. m., in a bi-district class A conference game, and Meadow's Bronchos will tangle with the Olton Mustangs at Olton at 2 p. m., in a class B bi-district tilt.

Special religious services in Lubbock today will include two Thanksgiving Masses to be read at St. Elizabeth's Catholic church, Main and Ave. W, at 7 and 9 a. m., and a service at 10:30 a. m., at the Redeemer Lutheran church, Twenty-second and Ave. W. The Rev. Karl W. Keller, pastor, will preach on "How to Celebrate a Thanksgiving."

Congregation Shaareth Israel will defer its Thanksgiving service until the regular Friday service at 8 p. m., according to Rabbi Julius Kerman.

City Boards

the zoning of Thirty-fourth between Avenue X and Adams. Building there now is restricted to family dwellings and apartment houses. A vigorous movement has been persisting, and gaining momentum, for a change in zoning so as to permit the erection of retail businesses along that stretch.

Changes Are Requested

Requests for the change have been made to the planning commission a number of times. The planning board has unfailingly rejected them, contending that retail business is too widely and too unsystematically scattered in Lubbock already.

A few weeks ago, some of the interested property owners appealed to the city commission from the planning board's ruling. Members of the commission referred the matter back to the planning group with the message that the city commission believed the change should be approved. The planning commission stood pat.

New Appeal Filed

The property owners went back to the city commission Wednesday afternoon. More than a dozen were present, declaring the represented more than 90 per cent of the front footage of property between X and Adams on Thirty-fourth.

Among them were Roy Furr, head of the food store chain bearing his name, and Harold Humphries, partner in Davis & Humphries, operators of the Piggly Wiggly stores. Both would like to build in that area.

Others included Mrs. Grayce Garrett, J. J. Scharnberg, M. H. Duncan, Clem B. Boverie, Jeff Prather, R. L. Wilkinson, Clifford Williams and Max Tidmore.

Ordinance To Be Prepared

The upshot of extended discussion was instructions by the city commission to City Attorney Vaughn Wilson to prepare an ordinance for submission to the Dec. 8 meeting providing for the zone changes.

Members of the city commission were unanimous in declaring their intent to vote for the ordinance. The members are Mayor W. H. Rodgers and Commissioners W. B. Price, John Spikes, E. K. Hufstedler and Clarence Whiteside.

They emphasized, however, that action on the proposed ordinance must be preceded by a public hearing at which everyone wishing to appear for or against it will be given opportunity to be heard.

The reasoning of the commission appeared to be that a zoning change favored overwhelmingly by those who would be affected could not properly be denied.

Recommendation Read

The disposition of this matter was followed by the reading of Clapp's recommendation that Krueger and Hassell be re-appointed to the planning board when their present terms expire Dec. 1.

"I'm not ready to act on recommendations now," Whiteside objected.

Further discussions led to the request that the planning commission recommend six appointees so as to give the city commission a choice in filling the two positions.

There was no criticism of Krueger, Hassell or any of the members of the planning commission. On the contrary, members of the city commission praised their work.

But the city commission indicated the opinion that it might be desirable to work new faces into the planning commission from time to time.

They asked that a list of nominees, from whom two would be appointed, be submitted to the city commission's next regular meeting on Dec. 8.

Russia, China Clash

atom bombs and for control of atomic energy by international agreement.

The Russian and Chinese spokesmen made their statements against the backdrop of two important political developments in China; (1) the Nationalist government's decision to abandon Chungking, and (2) the Communists' release of Angus Ward, American consul-general at Mukden, and his staff from prison under a deportation order.

Russia Opens Dispute

Vishinsky touched off the fireworks here when, in the middle of a long speech on atomic energy, he shouted that Russia does not regard "the Kuomintang delegation" as the legal Chinese spokesman.

This was interpreted as indicating that the Soviet Union will play a leading role in the impending battle to get the Chinese Communists a big power seat in the UN. Satellite Poland already has indicated it will take an active role in this fight.

When Vishinsky completed his speech, Kan demanded the floor. He shouted nervously: "Mr. Vishinsky, your mere wish will not put the Chinese Communists in our seats in the Assembly."

Two Youths Remain In Jail In Connection With Shooting

CROSBYTON, Nov. 23. (Special) — Two Latin-American youths, ages 18 and 20, remained in jail here today while charges of assault to murder were being prepared against them in connection with the shooting of Lewis Anaya, 17, near Lorenzo Tuesday night.

Anaya, who was shot in the left cheek by a .22 caliber rifle, was reported in "fairly good" condition by attendants at the Crosbyton hospital. The bullet, which had lodged in the youth's neck was removed by surgery earlier today.

The shooting reportedly climaxed an argument between several cotton workers on a farm 10 miles south of Lorenzo, Sheriff Foy Addison said.

Lilienthal Quits As Atomic Chief

second, the chairmanship of the AEC.

In both he was often a center of bitter controversy.

During his TVA days, he was a frequent target of Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn) of the Senate Appropriations committee.

Early this year, Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) charged there had been "incredible mismanagement" of the AEC under Lilienthal.

The Senate-House Atomic committee held lengthy hearings on the senator's charges. In the windup, the Democratic majority of the committee reported that the facts did not support the Hickenlooper charge.

GOP Filed Minority Report

Republican members of the committee made a minority report critical of some phases of AEC's operations.

Lilienthal was appointed chairman of the Atomic Energy commission October 28, 1946.

The White House said no successor has been chosen.

It is known that Lilienthal has not been too happy about the secrecy in which the AEC, under the law creating it, must do its work.

In an address in New York last month, he said "we should stop this senseless business of choking ourselves by some of the extremes of secrecy to which we have been driven."

At the AEC there was no word on Lilienthal's specific plans after his resignation becomes effective. Reporters were told that he did not have anything to add at this time to the White House announcement.

Greater Inocme Sought

Lilienthal's letter suggested, however, that like some other figures who have left government service in recent years he is concerned about making greater financial provision for his family.

The wording of the AEC chairman's letter of resignation—that he wanted wider latitude for discussion of public questions—led some to speculate that he might run for office—possibly the Senate next year.

Senator Hickenlooper, whose charges against Lilienthal and AEC included not only mismanagement but security flaws and the loss of a quantity of uranium from a laboratory, commented tonight:

"I look forward to a new stimulation in our atomic program."

Hickenlooper issued his statement at Des Moines. He noted that he called for Lilienthal's resignation last May. In the best interests of our atomic program."

Solon Praises AEC Chief

But Senator Douglas (D-Ill) praised Lilienthal as a "great public servant who deserves the thanks of the nation for the job he has done under trying conditions."

Senator O'Conor (D-MD) said the resignation "is very much to be regretted—I hope the President can find another man equally able to carry on the work so successfully undertaken."

Senator Flanders (R-VT), who voted against Senate confirmation of Lilienthal two years ago, said he hoped the resignation would "do away with a lot of the hush-hush secrecy about atomic matters."

In a book published 1st month, titled "This I Do Believe," Lilienthal proposed that all educated and qualified men and women take time from their private careers to serve the government.

"What I urge," he wrote, "is a fluid kind of citizen-service in which men and women move from private life into public service for a period of years, and then back to private life."

Fought Many Skirmishes

If he had hoped for such a career personally, his wish was long denied. One emergency after another kept him at a government desk. He became a TVA director in 1933, at the depth of depression. He became chairman just before World War II, and guided TVA's vast wartime expansion.

Along that route were many skirmishes with those who feared TVA's encroachment on private power development. Part of the time, he was aided by TVA's power manager, J. A. (Cap) Krug. Krug resigned as secretary of interior just 13 days ago.

When President Truman took office in 1945, one of his first acts was to reappoint Lilienthal chairman of TVA, over the bitter opposition of Senator McKellar (D-Tenn) and others.

Then, when war ended in the ominous, mushrooming shadow of the atomic bomb, Mr. Truman chose Lilienthal to guide the powerful agency whose performance might spell doom or security for the nation and its allies.

"Make no mistake," said one White House familiar tonight, "the President hates like hell to lose Lilienthal."

HST Stood By Nominee

The President stood by his nominee through one of the most acrimonious confirmation battles ever witnessed on Capitol hill.

For 11 weeks the hearing raged. Lilienthal alternately was lauded as a believer in true democracy and denounced as a "soft man" toward Communism. The stakes were great, for senators several times spoke of the chairman as being "the most powerful man in the world."

McKellar and others blasted him as "leftish." a "New Dealer," an advocate of "big government." His supporters declared his record was that of a strong administrator and strong believer in republican government. On April 9, 1947, more than five months after the nomination, the Senate confirmed him by a vote of 50 to 31, along with four other commissioners.

In the more recent clash over atomic policy, ten Democratic members of the Senate-House Atomic Energy committee issued a majority report upholding Lilienthal completely. The record, they said, showed no sign that Russia was aided in producing atomic bombs by any leaks from AEC.

Ward Ordered

and at least two Europeans, Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Shiro Tatsumi, the Japanese wife of a Japanese-American employed by Ward. The Tatasumis are reported to have four children with them.

Trial Is Finished

The first big break in the case since the consul general was arrested on Oct. 24 came in midmorning when the State department announced it had received word that the Communists had finished their trial of Ward and his associates and that they had been released from jail. Ward immediately telephoned American Consul General O. Edmund Clubb at Peiping. Clubb rushed a dispatch to the State department.

Important details of the international incident remained to be filled in. Ward hasn't had a chance to tell his side of the story. The Communists charged him with beating a Chinese employe of the consulate. State department officials have insisted that the charge was trumped up.

Questions Unanswered

With important information lacking, there were as yet no precise answers to other momentous questions. It could not be ascertained whether the Chinese Communist have rushed the Ward case to a conclusion in response to increasing pressures of world public opinion, or whether Russia had intervened, or whether Secretary of State Acheson's appeal to 30 nations for concerted action had given some indirect help.

What seemed most likely, however, according to responsible officials here, was that the Communist authorities at Mukden had persisted in carrying through according to their own designs a plan to make Ward and his people leave the country under the disgrace — from the Red Chinese viewpoint — of a Communist court sentence.

Reds Face World Opinion

On the other side of the ledger, it appeared possible that the Chinese Communists would lose face with the foreign world even though they gained internally as a result of the maneuver. Acheson has accused them of violating the decent rules of civilized behavior with respect to a foreign official.

The most practical result of American denunciations of their conduct appeared to be to persuade the British and possibly other European countries to delay until after the first of the year recognition of a Chinese Communist government.

Meanwhile the State department and the Chinese Reds had a number of other difficulties to iron out. These included the prolonged refusal to permit Brig Gen. Robert B. Soule, American military attache, to leave Nanking where Chinese employes of a private club of diplomats have made wage claims against him.

On the other hand State department press officer Michael McDermott said three members of the American consulate staff in Shanghai who had failed to receive exit permits as required prior to Oct. 18 had recently been permitted to leave the city.

State department continued to await new word from the Soviet Union on the fate of two ECA staff members held by the Communist regime in Northern Korea. Russia agreed to intervene in their behalf.

U.S., BRITAIN RUN INTO "IRON CURTAIN" IN HUNGARY

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Nov. 23. (AP).— The United States and British legations ran up against a stone wall today in their efforts to talk with two western business executives jailed by Hungary on charges of espionage and sabotage.

The Hungarians are holding Robert A. Vogeler of New York, 38, an assistant vice president of the International Telephone and Telegraph company, and Edgar Sanders, a Briton who is local I.T.&T. representative. Imre Geiger, a Hungarian national who is managing director of a company subsidiary, is also under arrest.

The Hungarians said Vogeler and Sanders confessed to the charges.

The U. S. legation said it had received no answer from Hungarian authorities on a request to talk with Vogeler. Similar treatment was accorded the British legation. Official requests for interviews were made after the Hungarian foreign ministry delivered the western envoys communiques disclosing the arrests.

deputy on duty discovered the break.

The Rader twins are charged in the armed robbery of two Amarillo supermarkets and are wanted in connection with supermarket robberies in Los Angeles and Oklahoma City. They were arrested in Lubbock a month ago.

The Globe-News said the escape of the four men from the Potter county jail had resulted in demands that Sheriff Gaither resign.

The sheriff, who returned tonight from Huntsville after delivering some prisoners, said he has no intention of resigning.

Today's jail break was the third this year from the Potter county jail.

The newspaper carried a series of interviews with local businessmen. Some of the business men interviewed expressed belief there should be a new sheriff and others said there is need for a "cleanup" in the sheriff's office, the News-Globe said.

Eighth Victim Of Crash Is Claimed a 1948 Dodge, was demolished.

Six ambulances from three Lubbock funeral homes brought the dead, dying and injured to hospitals in Lubbock. The ambulances came from McDonald, Rix and Sanders funeral homes.

All bodies were taken to the McDonald Funeral home. The three Quirino dead remained there last night, along with the body of Nicholas Padron, but bodies of the other four victims were taken to the homes of their relatives in Little Juarez.

The injured included:

Isaac Quirino, 18, son of A. C. Quirino and driver of the truck, treated and dismissed at Lubbock Memorial.

Edward Quirino, 11, son of A. C. Quirino, fractured vertebrae.

Yvonne Quirino, 13, daughter of A. C. Quirino, broken left leg and possible internal injuries.

Cleto Quirino, 16, son of A. C. Quirino, fractured right arm.

Maria Padron, 14, of 1110 Third street, orphan granddaughter of Nicholas Padron and cousin of the dead Fred Padron, shock and minor lacerations.

Frank Moreno, 16, 1102 Sanders street, dismissed from West Texas after treatment for minor head injuries.

Others Are Dismissed

Julian Rubio, 17, 103 Ave. M, dismissed from West Texas after treatment of head, shoulder and leg injuries.

Juan Inojosa, 24, who gave his address at 20 Romero street, Lubbock, fractured ribs, treated for fractured ribs at West Texas hospital and dimissed.

The four remaining in Lubbock Memorial hospital were described in "fairly good" conditions, with the exception of Yvonne Quirino, who was reported as "only fair."

Isaac Quirino, driver of the truck, was quoted by his attorney, Winston P. Brummett of Lubbock, as saying:

"If the train ever whistled I never heard it."

Brummett said Isaac told him the window of the truck cab was down on his side and that he thought the other window was down.

Wouldn't Discuss Crash

Isaac last night refused to discuss with a reporter any thing pertaining to events prior to the crash and referred the reporter to his attorney.

Maria Padron lay on a hospital cot last night in a room with three other survivors of the tragedy and said she remembered nothing of the crash. She said she and Yvonne Quirino had crawled into cotton sacks on the floor of the truck in an attempt to ward away the early morning cold.

Cleto Quirino and his brother, Edward, in the same room with Maria and Yvonne, also said they could not recall what happened. Apparently they had not been told of the deaths of their relatives and friends, for they asked where they were and if they were injured. Evasive answers were given to their questions.

Services Not Set

Funeral arrangements had not been made for any of the dead last night, but the McDonald Funeral home reported that tentative plans call for all services to be held at various times in the St. Joseph's Catholic church.

Members of the Quirino family, residents of Lubbock for six years and former residents of Colorado City, said their three dead probably would be buried in Sweetwater.

Highway patrolmen were continuing their investigation last night. From the wreckage and accounts by witnesses and the injured, it appeared that the train struck the truck on the right at the cab.

Although Isaac, the driver, escaped with only minor cuts, his father and brother, Arthur, riding with him were killed.

The truck and crew had come from Lubbock and were headed for the Werner Teggeman farm, a mile and a half from the wreck scene.

Wayland Penney, 15, of Shallowater, witnessed the crash from a distance of 120 yards.

Crash Is Described

He told a Highway patrolman that he saw the truck turn off the highway paralleling the railroad track and onto the north-south dirt road crossing the tracks. He said the truck apparently made no effort to stop.

Observers testified to the terrific impact of the collision which apparently turned the truck completely over and around in midair.

D. H. McKeever, who saw the crash from a quarter of a mile away, said he saw bodies thrown clear by the impact.

Engineer of the train, William M. Rust, and the fireman, W. W. Hollingsworth, both of Slaton, reported the train was traveling 40 miles an hour.

Hollingsworth said he saw the truck turn off the highway onto the crossing. When he saw the truck was not going to stop, he tried to yell at them.

"They were that close to the locomotive. After we hit, the train traveled seven telephone poles before it could be stopped."

Other train officials were M. C. Hodge, conductor, W. V. Childress and P. L. Martin, brakeman. They agreed the train was not exceeding 40 miles an hour. All are of Slaton.

A wooden cross-arm warning sign at the crossing was smashed to kindling wood in the crash, and pieces were found under the wrecked truck with their grim warning: "Look Out For The Cars."

Contract Expired In June

Discussions between the union and bituminous mine owners for a new wage agreement to replace the contract which expired last June 30 were broken off late in October after nearly six months of futile bargaining.

Federal Mediation Director Cyrus S. Ching recently abandoned mediation efforts and turned the coal controversy over to the White House.

President Truman declared, however, that he was planning no immediate intervention. He said he would use the Taft-Hartley law injunction weapon to protect the nation against a coal crisis but indicated he would not move until after a new strike was underway.

This left it up to Lewis and the operators to make some move toward averting the scheduled Dec. 1 strike. Lewis announced through a spokesman some days ago that he was willing to confer with the mine owners but the operators have been sitting tight.

Chest Drive Lags By More Than $20,000

The Lubbock Community Chest drive, with $78,521.31 of its $98,850 goal realized, will relax a bit over the holidays but will continue the push at the first of next week, Earl E. Kerr, Chest manager, said Wednesday night.

"We can expect to judge the end of the drive when the weekend collections are turned in and the present $20,000 deficit is pared down," he stated.

Chest Chairman J. Ray Dickey issued an appeal to all workers in the drive to turn in what money they have collected by the end of this week.

More than 278 unit accounts have not been reported in any way, Dickey said.

Lubbock Man Posts $1,500 Bond On Theft Charge Here

John H. A. Dahse, 41, of 2124 Twenty-first, Wednesday posted bond of $1,500 on a charge of theft by bailee brought against him Tuesday, the sheriff's department said.

A Lubbock woman, Mrs. E. C. Debusk, alleged in a complaint before District Attorney Lloyd Croslin that Dahse and his wife, with whom he is jointly charged, converted to their own use furniture owned by the complainant and valued at $1,500.

The furniture, Mrs. Debusk said, was situated in a house rented from her by the accused Dahse's wife had not been arraigned.

Curiosity Of Youth Stressed In Address At Dinner Meet Here

Mrs. Paul Whitney, a long-time worker with American youth, was guest speaker last night at the monthly dinner meeting of the Lubbock Knife and Fork club in Hilton hotel.

Her topic was "What About Our Younger Generation?"

Mrs. Whitney pointed out that youth is curious — that a youngster is intrigued by a tavern when he passes by one, and is likely to "explore" for himself to satisfy his curiosity.

American Life Changes

In her talk, she pointed out that American home and social life has changed greatly within the past 50 years. Children in earlier years were more closely associated with their parents and their homes. Now, she said, four out of five women have some kind of outside employment and children are, as a result, left to care for themselves as they see fit.

Mrs. Whitney believes that the first step in understanding a child is to understand his parents and home environment. As a result she has visited thousands of homes.

Love, Respect Needed

Mrs. Whitney also told her listeners that no child can have a normal "growing up" period without the love and respect of his parents. She told of several cases in which children felt they were not loved — or wanted — by their parents.

She also advocated teaching children to solve their own problems, and if necessary, creating problems for them to solve, in order that they might learn to be leaders.

Mrs. Whitney was introduced by Mrs. Roscoe Wilson.

Invocation was given by W. W. Campbell. Dr. A. G. Barsh, club president, presided.

Evidence Completed In Damages Trial

Evidence was completed Wednesday afternoon by both sides in the $38,500 damages action of Buna Lofland against Richard E. Jackson and The Avalanche-Journal Publishing company.

Judge G. V. Pardue of the 99th judicial district ordered the jury to return at 1:30 p. m. Friday to hear his charge and arguments of counsel, inasmuch as today will be observed generally as a holiday.

Witnesses for the defendants at the afternoon session of court were James Dallas, a photographer who took pictures of the scene where Jackson's car allegedly struck Miss Lofland Nov. 24, 1948, causing severe injuries to her; Mrs. Jackson, wife of the defendant; Wayne Henly, advertising manager, of the newspaper; and Parker F. Prouty, president of the publications company.

The plaintiff called Miss Mary Ellen Dye as a rebuttal witness, and J. H. Felton, business manager of Lubbock Memorial hospital, to prove hospital expenses of Miss Lofland.

Jackson spent most of the morning session on the witness stand, relating his version of the mishap. He said he made a turn at Fourteenth and Ave. L, place of the accident, and was suddenly blinded by sunshine. Witnesses, or some of them, testified Jackson was en route to his work, and was not driving in scope of his employment by the newspaper at the time.

Mrs. Jackson testified she, as her husband and Mrs. Earl G. Williams earlier had told the jury, heard Miss Lofland say from her hospital bed that the accident was as much the plaintiff's as Jackson's fault.

Judge Pardue overruled a motion of the publications Wednesday morning for an instructed verdict in its favor.

Lamb Officer To Take Custody Of Prisoner Recaptured Here

Lamb county officials notified the sheriff's department here Wednesday they would send an officer to accept custody of Lloyd Eddie Burgess, 23, of Azle, who escaped from the county jail in Littlefield about a week ago.

Burgess, who "walked off" when he was conferring with a caller at the jail, was arrested here Wednesday by two police patrolmen, T. L. Avary and R. A. Thompson.

Police informed Sheriff Sid Hopping of Littlefield, and the sheriff said he would come here today to accept custody.

The patrolmen saw a car they recognized from pickup orders and made the arrest.

Burgess was held in Littlefield on a charge of felony swindling by worthless check.

Lubbock, Fort Worth and Hale county also have check warrants naming the man, Sheriff Hopping said he had been informed.

Exercise, Fresh Air Lengthens Long Life

Lubbock Man Considers Move To Plains Best In 100 Years

Living on the Plains where he has received plenty of exercise and fresh air has lengthened his life, J. A. Syfrett of 308 Uvalde said Wednesday as he celebrated his 100th birthday.

Looking at his cake decorated with 100 candles, he said, "I'm thankful for this birthday cake and for my friends and for the kind treatment I have received."

He came to the Plains in 1895, from Rising Star, bringing his family and his belongings in a wagon train made up of two wagons drawn by oxen and five drawn by horses.

Likes To Exercise

"The best move I ever made was when I came to the Plains and the worst was when I left," he has told his family on many occasions. He left the Plains for a few years, living in California, Arizona and New Mexico before returning to Texas to liveabout 25 years ago.

What would he advise someone else to do in order to reach the age of 100?

"I'd tell them to live a Christian life," he said. "That makes you lead a clean life. It all connects up."

He believes in "treating people like you want to be treated."

He likes exercise, formerly taking regular walks but being forced to abandon those after falling and injuring himself. He at times swings his arm in order to get his exercise.

Open House Held

Mr. Syfrett was born Nov. 23, 1849 in Orangeburg, S. C. He moved to Texas when 24 years of age, living at Marquez in Leon county until after 1880 and then going to Coleman county.

After coming to the Plains, he lived at Hale Center 11 years. He has lived in Lubbock the last 25 years.

An open house for friends of Mr. Syfrett was held from 2 to 5 p.m. Wednesday at the home. Mr. Syfrett lives with a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Syfrett.

He has six sons and daughters, 34 grandchildren, 74 great-grandchildren and 16 great-great-grandchildren.

Oldest Church Member

Five of his sons and daughters were here. They are Mrs. Robert Graham of Florence, Ariz., R. W. Syfrett of Bakersfield, Calif., Mrs. Julia Alexander of Turlock, Calif., Mrs. O. V. Mayben of Denver City and the son with whom he lives. One daughter, Mrs. Beulah Botts of Abilene, was unable to attend.

Mr. Syfrett's wife died in 1921.

He has been a member of the Masonic lodge 27 years and a member of the Baptist church 83 years.

He was recognized in the service Sunday morning at Calvary Baptist church, of which he is the oldest member. Rev. C. J. McCarty, pastor, presented him with a gift on behalf of the church.

Armed Guards Seek Escaped Prisoner

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 23. (U.P.)—Guards armed with riot guns searched rain-swept McNeil island today for a convicted bank robber who escaped from the 4,000-acre island "prison without walls."

The search started after Henry Clay Tollett, 55, Ada, Okla., failed to answer the noon roll call yesterday.

Few Able To Escape

Guards were concentrating their search in the belief that Tollett was still on the penal island. Few men have been able to swim from the federal penitentiary to the mainland, three inviting miles away.

Sheets of blinding rain, billowed by 25 mile-an-hour winds, slowed the search. Bloodhounds housed at the penitentiary were not used immediately because the rain-soaked ground would not hold the scent.

Washington state police ordered two cars to patrol the west side of Puget Sound adjacent to the island in case Tollett attempted to risk the tricky currents and dangerous undertows.

Serving 25 Years

Tollett was serving a 25-year sentence for bank robbery and assault with a dangerous weapon. He was sentenced May 27, 1948, for two bank holdups, one at Sweet Home, Ore., the other at Oakland, Ore.

The stickups netted him nearly $100,000. His record also listed four sentences in Oklahoma's McAlester prison for robbery and larceny.

Guards said Tollett was working in the prison cannery shortly before he was missed. Officials said there were "several ways he could have gotten out," but they refused to elaborate.

The McNeil island federal penitentiary has been called a "prison without walls." The natural barrier of the sea takes the place of the usual grey stone surrounding prisons.

Desperadoes Admit Burglaries After Reformatory Break

(By The United Press)

HOUSTON, Nov. 23—Two 'teen-age desperadoes who stole horses to leave an Arkansas reformatory and then burglarized 75 places in Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas were held by officers here today.

The boys, both 16, were nabbed last night just as they broke into a chain grocery store.

Officer A. H. Suchina said they were busily trying to force a side door off its hinges. One of them had a .45 caliber pistol and leather gloves, admittedly stolen here.

The boys readily admitted being absent from the Pine Bluff, Ark., reformatory for three weeks, during which time they went on a burglary rampage in the three-state area.

The youths boasted that they rode four horses "into the ground," then caught a freight train to get out of Arkansas.

Police said they would be returned just as fast as they got out.

With German pulpwood reparations deliveries to France ending, the recent fires in the Landes and Gironde forests, destroying some 100,00 acres of pulpwood timber, are considered in France a national disaster and a blow to the nation's economy.

Hale County Cotton Piles Up At Gins

HALE CENTER, Nov. 23. (Special)—Central Hale county's 1949 cotton harvest is snowballing into a record smashing total.

Today the five gins in this area reported more than 16,000 bales have been ginned to date and gin managers estimate that the crop is only about half processed.

Each of the five gins is far behind in ginning with trailers, trucks and wagon loads of cotton parked in every available vacant lot near the gins. All five gins are from 200 to 400 bales behind.

Cotton awaiting one gin is strung out for more than two city blocks, with the loaded vehicles parked hub to hub.

Farmers are using both hand labor and mechanical cotton pickers to gather the crop while fair weather continues. All gins are operating around the clock, except during occassional breakdowns.

Emotional Needs Emphasized

Scientists Discuss Humane Approach To Home Building

BY DON WINKS
INS Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Nov. 23. (INS)—A group of architectural experts opined today that not even a heap of livin' can make some houses a home.

Not only that, said the group, but many houses can even make livin' a neurotic experience by failing to provide for the emotional needs of its occupants.

The conclusions came today out of a meeting designed to promote "a humane approach" to home building. It was sponsored by two government housing experts.

Scientists Discuss Problem

Leonard G. Haeger, director of the division of standardized building codes and materials, and E. J. Herringer, a U.S. sanitary engineer, called 24 university of Illinois scientists together to discuss the problem.

Mrs. Harry C. Kehm, director of the association for Family Living, which participated in the conference, told the group:

"A house must provide for some emotional needs. It must be a real home, not just a shelter."

And Prof. R. A. Jones of the University of Illinois department of architecture, added:

"Social well-being and mental health are not satisfied by mere material requirements in a house."

Family Needs Cited

He pointed out that although a kitchen may be large enough for the kids to play baseball in, it still may not provide for the particular needs of the family.

Dr. Herman Koepp-Baker of the university's department of otolaryngology (ear and throat specialist) had another "humane" point to make.

Even a room with such poor acoustics that the little woman can't hear her soap opera as she putters around the kitchen may lead to serious repercussions which Dr. Koepp-Baker puts like this:

"When you don't hear, you don't understand. When you don't understand, tension and mental stress are created."

LUBBOCK MORNING AVALANCHE

Lubbock, Texas, Thursday, November 24, 1949

Citizenship Day To Be Observed Here Friday

DeMolays To Take Over Offices

Lubbock DeMolays will take over the offices of city and county governments Friday, when they observe Citizenship Day here for the first time.

About 140 members of the E. Y. Lee chapter of the order will take part in the citizenship lessons by filling the offices for one day under the direct supervision of the city and county officials.

Mayor for Friday will be Tommy Cooper, master councilor for the chapter, with Richard Bean taking over from Steve Matthews as city manager. District Judge will be Jim Bob Bryan, with Milton West acting as district attorney. Lynn Turner will be county judge, and Jack Adamson, county attorney.

By studying the duties and functions of the offices and departments, it is hoped that the boys will receive invaluable insight to the duties and responsibilities of citizenship.

The youths will meet with City Manager Steve Matthews and other city officials at 7:30 a.m., Friday for preliminary instructions on how to handle the affairs of the day.

Boys who will serve in district and county positions for the day will report directly to the proper officials.

Idea Brought Here

The idea for Citizenship Day in Lubbock came after it was discovered that Fort Worth and Wichita Falls chapters were practicing Citizenship Day, and local boosters obtained information concerning it from Fort Worth members.

City and county officials were contacted and gave a favorable reaction to the idea. The city commission formally adopted a proposal establishing Citizenship Day, and county and district officials gave their individual approval.

The chapter here is sponsored by the Lubbock Shrine club, and is directly under a DeMolay Advisory council, which is composed of local Masons. C. B. Boydston heads the advisory council.

Others Are Named

Other DeMolays who will hold district and county offices are Billy Sylvester, district clerk; Richard McCollum, county clerk; J. Q. Warwick, jr., county tax assessor-collector; Clifford Jeffreys, sheriff; George Guy and James Grace, justices of peace; and Carl Ince, constable.

Those to hold city positions besides Cooper and Bean, will be Brodie Adair, city attorney; Bill Griggs, city secretary; Gene Dean, airport manager; Jimmy Sexton, city auditor; Robert Lockhart, electric department superintendent Ray Shook, city engineer; Bennie Meador, fire chief; Wilson Downs, health department director; Barry Allen, parks department superintendent.

Marlin Hamlin, personnel director; John Cammack, chief of police; Richard Hitt, garbage and alleys department superintendent; Grady Workman, purchasing agent; Carl Hart, jr., recreation department superintendent; Johnny Batson, street and water department superintendent; John Norcross, city tax assessor-collector; Earl Fournier, water and light office superintendent; Al Alschuler and Thomas White, fire captains; and Jack Burt, assistant city manager.

Other members of the local chapter will serve in positions inside departments and divisions.

Middle Class Britons Unhappy With Present Lot, Lubbockite Says

L. E. PARSONS

The lot of the middle-class working people of England is worse now than in the years prior to the present labor government, a Lubbock resident returned from a six-week tour of England, France, and Switzerland said Wednesday.

L. E. Parsons, head of the textile engineering department at Texas Tech, declared that although a few of Britain's workers feel more secure now than previously the majority of them are discontented over their lot in life. Parsons returned to Lubbock Tuesday.

Parsons and the deans of 10 other textile schools in the United States made the European trip, visiting textile and other industrial mills throughout all three countries in an effort to broaden knowledge of educational concepts methods and equipment.

Textile Industry Outmoded

"The British textile industry is far behind that of the U. S. today," Parsons asserted. Machinery is outmoded and only years of leadership prior to World War II and industrial "know-how" can ever put English textiles back on a plane equal to that of America.

Lack of competition between companies more than the war was blamed by Parsons as responsible for the British lag in keeping apace of mass-production trends. Textile mills are situated almost within each other's shadows, he said, possibly explaining the lack of competition.

Food and clothing are extremely scarce on the tiny British Isles, he said, and a fuel shortage is quite evident in the face of an approaching winter. Heat in hotel

Election Count Becomes Official

AUSTIN, Nov. 23. (AP).— The state election board today made the already-known results of the Nov. 8 special election official.

There was no major change from unofficial results gathered by the Texas Election bureau, although the formal count varied.

The official results showed that two of the 10 proposed constitutional amendments were adoped; that George O. Nokes of Corsicana defeated Phil Willis of Kaufman for the state Senate in the Sixth District; that 21 members were elected to the State Board of Education.

Winners in races to fill vacancies in House seats were Fred V. Meredith, 52nd District; James C. Sewell, 58th; Woodrow W. Bean, 89th, place 2; Harold M. LaFont, 125th District.

Loss Is Shown

The much-argued amendment that would have set up annual sessions of the legislature and put memebers on annual $3,600 salaries lost by a whopping 224,911 to 72,266 official count. The election bureau's final report Nov. 10 showed it losing then 209,247 to 71,376. That last election bureau report was on 251 of 254 counties, 134 complete.

The district court amendment was adopted 161,449 to 134,252; the rural fire prevention districts amendment adopted 153,253 to 145,298 under official tabulation.

The official returns went into the state archives without anything heard from Coryell, Grimes, Jack, McMullen, Pecos, Presidio, Refugio and Stephens counties. In almost all elections, some county oficials fail to get their returns in.

Presiding at the election board session was Secretary of State Ben Ramsey. Executive Secretary William L. McGfil represented Gov. Allan Shivers and First Assistant Attorney General Joe Greenhill represented Attorney General Price Daniel.

(The final results in the 19th District state education board contest were: J. M. Rankin of Ralls, 4,199; E. H. Boulter of Lubbock, 4,414.)

Gifts Bring Cheer To Survivor Of Flying Nursery Plane Crash

By EINAR WYLLER
INS Staff Correspondent

DRAMMEN, Norway, Nov. 23.—Norwegian gifts of chocolate, flowers and other items poured into Drammen hospital today for 11-year-old Isaac Allal, sole survivor of the "flying nursery" plane crash Sunday near Oslo.

One of the boxes of chocolates was reported to have come from King Haakon.

The little boy who escaped with only cuts and scratches in a disaster that took 34 lives, including those of 27 other Jewish refugee children, slept well last night in Drammen hospital.

Boy To Leave Hospital

An Israeli official attending his bedside said an X-ray examination showed that no bones were broken and Issac is expected to leave the hospital in two or three days.

He will rejoin other Jewish children in a rest camp in Norway, pending their transfer to Israel. Isaac and the other children were enroute from North African slum areas to rehabilitation centers before such a transfer.

Physicians said that Isaac's amazing escape apparently left him mentally uninjured as well as physically sound.

The Orthodox Jewish congregation in Norway sent a telegram of sympathy to the Jewish congregation in Tunis. It offered to undertake to bury the dead children with full Jewish rites if it is decided not to return the bodies to Tunis.

Tragedy Kept Secret

Other children at the Norwegian rest camps have not been told of the tragedy in which Isaac's two brothers and his sister were among those killed.

The bodies of 32 persons have been recovered from the crash scene 25 miles southwest of Oslo The bodies of a man and child had not been located at a late hour.

Officials of Aero Holland, the company from which Jewish relief officials chartered the ill-fated plane, arrived to investigate the cause of the wreck with Norwegian officials.

Officials theorized that a faulty altimeter might have been responsible since the plane was on a true course to Oslo but was flying too low.

Tech Judgers Go To Chicago

Three Texas Technological college judging teams will compete this weekend at the annual International collegiate judging contests.

Fresh from a second-place win at Kansas City Tuesday, the crops judging team will arrive in the Illinois city today for their contest Saturday. The livestock team will also arrive today for competition Saturday. While members of the meats team left Wednesday afternoon from Lubbock for contests Tuesday.

Tough Competition Seen

The individual contests will find the Tech teams competing with others from leading agriculture schools throughout the United States. This is the first year Tech has entered a team in the meats judging contests and it is the only non-land grant college approved for competition in the livestock division. The Tech group placed 10th among 31 contenders in the latter division last year.

Two representatives from Tech will also attend the annual meeting of the National Block and Bridle club being held simultaneously with the judging contests in Chicago Monday afternoon. The two men, Buddy Winters and J. H. Heath, will be on hand to receive possible achievement honors for the Tech chapter. Secretary W. J. Krueger of the group prepared the achievement report for the local organization which will be entered in competition with those of other chapters.

Practices Held

The livestock judging team made seven practice judging stops on their way to the Chicago meet, including one each at Oklahoma A. & M., Kansas State college, Iowa State college, and four farms. The meats team will stop at Swift and Company in Kansas City Friday and Saturday for warm-up tests and will visit the same company in Chicago Monday for a similar purpose.

Members of the three judging teams include: Livestock (besides Krueger, Winters, and Heath)—Robert F. Fee, Doyle E. Lane, and William Rogers; Meats—Glenn Quattlebaum, Frank Young, Willard Hill, James Waddell; and crops—Marion F. Baumgardner, Raymond Reeves, Roy Martin, and L. W. Rosenbaum, jr.

Team coaches include Ray T. Crane of the animal husbandry department, meats; Stanley Anderson, animal husbandry department, livestock; and Cecil Ayers of the agronomy department, crops.

WE ARE BLESSED

Let Us Give Thanks

NO PEOPLE on earth ever have had more cause for true Thanksgiving than do those of the United States today.

It would be a waste of space, and a hopeless undertaking, to try to enumerate the reasons for national thankfulness. All are familiar with them. They surround everyone. For the stark proof of their reality, it isn't necessary to do more than consider the plight of the other peoples of the earth. The most fortunate among them envy us; the great majority exist in slavery, privation and ignorance, with no hope for the future save that which gleams brightest in our own land.

The fact that we are so much more blessed than most other peoples does much more than call for the expression and feeling of devout Thanksgiving on this day. The true spirit of Thanksgiving inevitably must intensify the consciousness of our Christian obligation and responsibility to strive to do more toward sharing our blessings with others. Our feasting today will be less appetizing for those who pause for meditation upon the tragic and unquestionable fact that untold millions are starving. The tragedy of the starving is not relieved by the further fact that nearly all of us would share our feast, unhesitatingly and gladly, if it were possible to do so.

Those who experience, in any degree at all, the true spirit of Thanksgiving today—and, thank Heaven, most of us do—will be less inclined to be critical of, and more inclined to be generous toward the many efforts which strive to share our blessings with the less fortunate. True, some of the efforts are not deserving. But most of them are, and there is no better day to recognize this fact than Thanksgiving—and remember and apply it after Thanksgiving has passed.

This peculiarly is an occasion for turning our mind's eye toward the pathetic peoples of the world and, in humble Thanksgiving, confess that, "There, but for the Grace of God, am I."

Luck, Or Genius?

MANY of those who bow and scrape in the presence of British Field Marshal Viscount Sir Bernard Montgomery during his current visit to the U. S. will do so with a degree of tongue-in-cheek. "Monty" has lost much in stature both in the popular and militarily expert eye since the end of World War II.

Victory in Europe found in full bloom a legend of "Montgomery invincibility." He was the field commander at El Alamein, where was turned the tide of the struggle for North Africa and possibly of the war. His forces scored distinguished successes in Italy and, later, in Northern Europe. He is one of three British wartime commanders of land forces who never suffered defeat—the Dukes of Marlborough and Wellington were the others.

But several circumstances suggest that Viscount Montgomery has been given a good deal more personal credit than was his due. The commanding general and the strategist at El Alamein was not Montgomery, but the present Field Marshal Viscount Sir Harold Rupert Leofric George Alexander. The campaign in Italy was not one of which the Allies were proud. In Northern Europe, Montgomery stalled so long that military authorities charge him with having imperiled the success of the invasion. And it does not appeal to most Americans that Montgomery virtually required his subordinates to refer to him as, "the Master." It may have been significant, too, that his appointment as commander of the land forces of a Five Nation European union two or three years ago caused quite a few squawks.

It may be, of course, that Marshal Montgomery will be ranked by future historians among the greater battle commanders of all time. But it still is a fact that some of his contemporaries, do not share that view. They attribute most of his military successes less to his personal genius than to the fact that, in nearly all his battles, he confronted the enemy with overwhelming power.

The Cameo

By VIRGINIA TEALE
Distributed By NEA, Inc.

(THE STORY: Hagar Blair and Andrey Yakov both want to buy a valuable cameo. Both Nell O'Neill and Tom Falter claim to own it. All live in a western art colony. Hagar, setting out to see Falter about the cameo, finds the cameo box in her car, and the cameo is gone. Meanwhile, Nell and Yakov have gone to Bob's place, where Tom O'Neill, Nell's husband, is in his cups. Learning that Falter might be at his home, Yakov slips out. Later Nell goes, leaving Tom alone with Bob Knox, the proprietor.)

X

UPON recovery from her first minutes of stupefaction after finding the empty cameo box on the seat of her car, Hagar Blair had driven up Hillside Road to think out what her discovery might indicate, and what to do about it.

Opening the box, she ran her fingers across the purple velvet lining—idly she picked with her fingernail at the edge of the cushion. The cushion tilted. Hagar attempted to push it back into place, but it had become wedged.

Using a hairpin as a lever, she dug carefully at the side of the velvet cushion to put it straight. It finally popped out. Hagar brushed the loose glue out of the box, blowing into it to remove the small particles. She held it close to the light to appraise its condition, and it was then that she noticed the numbers.

There were two sets of figures, engraved one beneath the other and a single figure at the bottom. Probably some jeweler's code number, she decided. Arranged in a peculiar way, though, for that sort of thing: 10-4; and below that, 8-2; and below that, 6.

She pressed the cushion back in place and closed the box.

She started the motor. Pulling the wheel hard over, she whirled the little car around and pointed its nose downhill.

SHE brought the car to a bouncing stop in front of Falter's mail box. As she climbed out and slammed the door, she war jeering at herself:

"So far, old lady, you've behave like a stupid cat worrying at the tail the lizard has left behind." She climbed the steps to Martin's porch. "Well, here's hoping it's not too late to catch the lizard!"

Hagar saw a light inside and pounded on the door.

"Falter? Hey, it's me! Hagar. I've come to talk business."

She leaned against the door. It creaked open about two feet and stopped.

She stepped inside and looked around: What a pigsty! There was a bottle of red wine overturned on the floor, and a murky pool had spread out, around and under it.

Probably lying drunk on his Probably lying drunk on his bed, Hagar decided, and made up her mind to prove it. She approached the half-open door of what she judged would be the bedroom and peeked inside.

She froze for a few seconds, then her body perked up into boardlike stiffness and she tottered back into the studio.

Though she could not now see through the bedroom doorway, the picture on the other side was photographed on her brain.

Martin Falter, in blue and white striped pajama trousers, sprawled across the bed, the hair on his naked chest matted with glistening dark red, his head lolling on the edge of a round pillow-bolster, and the whole dreadful tableau startlingly illuminated by the light of a fluorescent reading lamp.

Her eyes lost their look of vacant horror and became only astonished and curious as they darted over the disordered studio. Except for the spilled wine, Hagar thought, there was no sign of a fight. She noticed, then, that the front door was wide open and went over to close it. She reached for the knob, paused a moment and pushed the door closed with her foot.

Cinching up her nerves, she decided to look for the cameo in the bedroom.

Taking a pair of gloves from her pocket, she slipped them on and walked through the bedroom door on tiptoe and closed it behind her. She kept her eyes off the bed as much as possible.

ON the floor, near the closet door, she saw an open suitcase; a number of clean shirts and socks were strewn around it. Hagar concluded the bag had been already searched and turned her attention to a wardrobe chest opposite the bed. She examined the contents of the drawers and found but a few odds and ends of clothing.

Slowly, then, her eyes averted, she advanced toward the bed. She crouched beside it and, feeling as though she were about to touch a dead snake, slid her hand under the pillow bolster. There was nothing tucked away there, and she was about to withdraw her hand when she realized that the area under the pillow was hard and smooth rather than resilient. She pressed her fingers down on what seemed to be a wood panel about 10 inches wide which extended from her edge of the bed to a point almost halfway across.

She sat back on her heels and considered: There seemed to be a rectangular piece cut out of the mattress, and in the hole there seemed to be some sort of compartment or box resting on top of the springs. Hagar realized that there was no way of exploring further without moving Falter's body. She shivered. Then, warily, she untucked the sheet from the side of the bed and peered underneath. Fitted in snugly between the mattress and bedstead was a gray wooden box of a type used by carpenters to carry tools. Hagar slid her hands in on each side of it and pulled—it slid forward quite easily.

Hagar glanced up at the bed and her stomach churned! The pillow bolster was settling as she moved the box from beneath it and Falter's head and shoulders had begun to slant toward her!

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

THERE seems to be a widespread idea among an ever growing number of people that the reading of newspapers and magazines, the listening to radio commentators and the looking at television forums is supposed to take the place of thinking.

BRANDEIS

Naturally, being a so - called columnist myself, I want you all to have the highest respect for columnists.

Radio commentators and television "analysts" likewise have their place in modern life—I may be one myself some day.

But columnists, commentators and analysts are like the architects who plan the building.

They furnish the idea. They draw the plans.

But they go farther than that. They are also the bricklayers—and every word they write or speak is another brick that has to be laid so that the building may be completed.

But a building is of no earthly use unless it is occupied and made to function for its intended purpose.

Newspapers, magazines, radio, television, are the buildings.

You are the occupants.

Their thought and opinions are the plans. Their words are the bricks. They furnish the light, heat, the appliances and gadgets that make a building livable.

* * *

BUT it is up to you to use those appliances properly.

An overloaded switch may cause a short circuit.

An oil burner unattended may cause an explosion.

Words, sentences, thoughts, improperly constructed, may well cause short circuits of the mind and explosion of the spirit.

Without thinking after reading, listening or looking, you are apt to become the victim of propaganda or rabble rousing.

You are liable to become infected with the poison of prejudice.

Remember that we who make words and thoughts and opinions our business are not supermen or women.

We are simply manufacturers and merchants. We make and sell FOOD for thught. You have to eat it and digest it.

SMALL BUSINESS PAYS

Capital Lobby Active

BY RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON: — Another flagrant example of how billion-dollar industry bamboozles corner-store merchants, shopkeepers and low-bracket manufacturing firms to pull its legislative chestnuts out of the fire at the Capital has been discovered by investigators for the Wright Patman Small Business Committee of the House of Representatives.

The operations are conducted by two organizations which have the same officers, although members and subscribers are kept ignorant of the connection. The president and leading figure in both groups is De Witt Emery, who owns the Monroe Letterhead Corporation of Akron, Ohio. For his work he receives $18,000 a year in salary, and about $12,000 annually for rent and printing provided by his Akron firm.

TUCKER

His two organizations are known as the Small Business Economic Foundation, Inc., with headquarters at Chicago, and the National Small Business Men's Association, Inc., with its main offices in the Windy City.

ANTI: Both lobbies are anti-Taft-Hartley, anti-double taxation, anti-Truman, anti-national health insurance etc. The following appeal for funds from the National Small Business Association, Inc., gives a general idea of their objectives:

"If the labor bosses and their radical and communistic cohorts can be stopped or slowed down to a walk on labor legislation, then there's a good chance of stopping most, if not all, of the Administration's program of national socialism.

"If you agree that our organization should meet the labor bosses head-on in a knock-down, drag-out fight (what other organization of business men do you belong to or know of that would dare to do this?), and if you agree that an all-out effort should be made to keep this country from going further down the road toward national socialism, then we'll be glad to have your cooperation and support.

COST: "Eighteen dollars," continues the Emery found-raising appeal, "isn't very much for any business man to invest in support of our efforts. Nor does eighteen dollars go very far in carrying out such a program — the (enclosed) ad in ten papers cost over $10,000 —and that's why we need this amount from thousands and thousands of business men."

It is probable that many small business men agree with these objectives, and are willing to come across with only $18 a year. But many of them are not damaged by the Taft-Hartley Act, since they don't come under it, and many more do not suffer from taxation on both corporate profit and dividends.

In fact, as recent election outcomes suggest, many may have a sneaking sympathy for Truman proposals that benefit them.

FINANCED: But the hypocrisy, according to Representative Patman, consists of the fact that Mr. Emery never lets his small business frends know that his sister organization, the Small Business Economic Foundation, is financed by the greatest concentration of industrial wealth in the United States. These corporations have few common interests with small shopkeepers, supply firms and minor manufacturers.

Although professing to fight for small business, Mr. Emery has drawn funds for his Small Business Economic Foundation from seventy firms with assets running into billions and millions. Here are a few of his "small business" contributors, together with their assets:

Standard Oil of New Jersey, $3 billion; United States Steel, $2 billion; Standard Oil of New Jersey $1 billion; Socony-Vacuum, $1 billion; the Texas Company, $1 billion; Sears, Roebuck, $712 million; Chrysler Corporation, $541 million; Republic Steel, $489 million; Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., $424 million; Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., $344 million; American Rolling Mill Co., $316 million; Inland Steel $292 million; Goodrich Rubber Co., $266 million; Celanese Corporation; $256 million; Hiram Walker, $154 million; Borg-Warner, $151 million; Marshall-Field, $108 million.

SHOW: The Small Business Economic Foundation, although organized in 1946, has never filed under the Lobby Registration Law. In 1948 it collected about $69,000 from members and friends.

The Small Business Men's Asociation is registered. It was formed in 1937. Its annual take is about $160,000, suggesting that the little fellows have been more generous than the corporations whose chestnuts they are dragging out of the legislative fire.

OFFICERS: In view of the studied effort to disassociate the two Emery groups, the one appealing to huge corporations and the other to lower-bracket groups, here is a list of officers of the two organizations:

President of both, De Witt Emery; vice-president of the Foundation and trustee of the Association, E. N. Calhoun of Pittsburgh; Secretary of both, W. J. Boos of St. Louis; General Counsel of both, J. Raymond Tiffany of Montclair, N. J.; Treasurer of the Foundation and trustee of the Association, A. F. Mathews of Saginaw, Mich.; economist for both groups, Dr. Alfred P. Haake of Park Ridge, Ill.

Down Memory Lane

(Taken from the files of The Lubbock Morning Avalanche, Nov. 24, 1929.)

Mrs. Clifford L. Dean and Mrs. John Paul Newman were hostesses for a party Friday evening in the home of Mrs. Dean, 2601 Twenty-second.

Roses and chrysanthemums formed an attractive decoration for the entertaining rooms, where bridge was the chief diversion of the evening. Favors were given Miss Alma Spikes for high score and Miss Virginia Conley for high cut among the ladies, and Wylie Dallas for high score and Royce Waters for high cut among the men.

A salad course was served to Messrs. and Mesdames Marlin R. Smith, Claxton Draper, Gaylord Hankins, Lorenz Ellis, Wylie Dallas, O. E. Brashier, I. F. Holland, E. Y. Freeland, Royce Waters, W. D. Girand, and T. B. Duggan; Mesdames Byron Brown and W. S. Moss; Misses Blanche Bacon, Virginia Conley, and Alma Spikes; and Messrs. Jess Lockhart, W. J. Howard, and Leonard Pearson.

The Man Is The Important Thing

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — So the Republicans are going to throw a big box supper here on Abe Lincoln's birthday, next February 12, at one of our local arenas, with "speaking" and square dances and the like to show that they are the party of what Henry Wallace called "the common man."

You can get in for a dollar and for another dollar you can get a box supper which, we presume, to carry out the motif, will contain some clammy, cold fried chicken and a dab of uninviting potato salad and a slab of cold apple pie. Or, if you can't quite go that, then you may bring your own box supper.

STOKES

All of this by way of contrast to Democrats who are going to sit early next month in the Waldorf-Astoria in New York at a $100-a-plate feast, all dressed up, to start their fund-raising campaign for the 1950 elections.

Question Is Posed

Is the theory of this box-supper technique that Senator Taft of Ohio, for example, would have more appeal if he should wear dirty overalls and a floppy farm hat, with a straw in his mouth and a smudge on his face, and would get out and get red in the face square dancing?

We hope not. For we like Senator Taft the way he is, the way we know him in the Senate, the way we saw him campaigning out in Ohio last year, standing on the courthouse steps in small towns, dressed in a sober business suit, with his watch chain dangling across his stomach, clinking the loose change in his pocket, and talking very earnestly—just the way all our fathers used to look and act. That way he seemed so dependable, and reliable, and comfortable, and altogether American.

THIS Republican experiment poses the old question about whether clothes make the man.

Some years ago there was a local politician with a constituency on the east side of New York, a gay bon vivant sort of fellow who liked night life and all that went with it, including soup and fish and a top hat. Did he put on old clothes to campaign? Not he. He appeared in his resplendent best always, top hat and all. His constituents loved it—and kept re-electing him. And Jimmy Walker, who was mayor so long, was always Jimmy Walker the dandy.

For a slightly different twist of the history of costume in politics, there's Cal Coolidge, the plain fellow from Vermont who was President. He would dress up in most anything the zaniest news photographer would suggest. Some of you of the older generation perhaps can still remember those newsreels of Cal in full cowboy regalia, and how he stepped so gingerly down the steps of that house out west so he wouldn't trip on the unaccustomed spurs, with that silly, anxious grin on his face.

It didn't seem to matter. They voted for Cal.

Then there is Governor Dewey of New York who studiously avoids stunt pictures with strange regalia—funny hats, Indian headdress and the like—showing thereby what most of us think is sound sense. Yet he could not get enough votes to make the White House in two tries.

FDR Never Out Of Pattern

Franklin D. Roosevelt never stepped out of his role of Hudson valley country gentleman for any pretense at rubbing elbows with the mob, yet the mob liked him the way he was.

By way of contrast this reporter recalls the 1940 campaign, with Mr. Roosevelt making his procession about the country in the grand manner, like a potentate, while his opponent, Wendell L. Willkie, was seeking out working men, such as in the stockyards of Chicago and other places, and telling them how he had "worked with these hands," holding up those nicely manicured emblems, and making sarcastic references about Groton and Harvard where his rival had gone to school.

Yet these people kept on voting for Mr. Roosevelt.

* * *

MR. WILLKIE was a very intelligent and urbane person. He couldn't quite fit into his "common man" act with its slumming episodes that some campaign advisers had thought up for him. It is doubtful if it matters much today whether Republicans gather at a box supper or Democrats eat in elegance at the Waldorf.

There's probably more to it than that.

If another Abe Lincoln comes along it probably won't matter whetner he wears a topper, or occasionally indulges in a 'cookskin cap for effect, or is immaculate like Tom Dewey, or a sobersides like Bob Taft.

When he comes along the people will find out.

FLIGHTS BEYOND SPEED OF SOUND COMMONPLACE

Leading Test Pilot Claims Barrier To Supersonic Flight Virtual Myth As Plane Improvements Appear

MUROC, DRY LAKE, Calif., Nov. 23. (INS)—Gene F. May, America's No. 1 test pilot, insisted today that the long-feared sonic barrier is virtually a myth and that flying into the hitherto "never-never" reaches of the sky is becoming commonplace.

May made his remarks at a press confab at the Air Forces' base at Muroc Dry Lake where a demonstration of the world's fastest jet and rocket-powered plane, the Skyrocket, failed to materialize.

The sleek craft, the D-558-2, developed a faulty engine which forced the scheduled demonstration of the faster-than-sound aircraft to be cancelled.

Speed Of Sound Passed

Officials of Douglas aircraft, designers and builders of the plane, and Navy officials disclosed for the first time that the plane has repeatedly exceeded the 760-mile-per-hour (at sea level) speed of sound in its more than 100 test flights.

The noted test pilot said that the Douglas craft has outdistanced the speed of its own passage at a lower altitude than any other plane to give it the undisputed title of "the world's fastest plane."

May said that on one occasion he even streaked into the silent realm of supersonic flight while in a climb.

The first of many supersonic flights in the Douglas Skyrocket was made last June 24.

Many Flights Made

Since then, the test pilot related, he has made so many supersonic flights that he lost count of them long ago. He told newsmen:

"They are all just routine flights now. There is no sonic barrier to a properly designed airplane like the Skyrocket.

"Any properly qualified pilot could be checked out for supersonic flight in two hours."

"You could shut your eyes and fly through the 'sonic' barrier. It's not rough at all. It's more than like hitting a slightly turbulent air mass. The pilot's reactions are just the same.

Sound Left Behind

"Once you clear the barrier, it's even smoother on the other side. You can't tell the speed anymore and you're not conscious of the sound at all. After all, you're surpassing the speed of sound and the sound of the engines is way behind you."

The 15,000-pound Skyrocket has a wingspan of 25 feet and is 45 feet long. It carries 250 gallons of aviation gas for the jets and 1½ tons of rocket fuel.

Air conditioning keeps the cockpit temperature at a comfortable 70 degrees. Without air conditioning on an average 100-degree day on a speed run, it would be 240 degrees inside the cockpit.

Strikers carrying Soviet flags rioted recently in Brazil.

Farmers Warned On Crop Price Supports

DALLAS, Nov. 23. (AP) — Sen. Lyndon Johnson warned farmers today that price supports may turn out to be "fools' gold."

He spoke at the 16th annual convention of the Texas Farm Bureau federation.

He called farm price supports by the federal government artificial and unenduring and said:

"I believe you can, through your energies and your talents, someday eliminate the need for price supports on most of your crops."

Johnson continued—"price supports are not intended to make you wealthy. They are intended to keep the whole nation wealthy.

History was made at Bo, Sierra Leone, Africa, where the mean temperature is 80 degrees, when hailstones fell.

All-Time Record Price Paid For Steers In Chicago Yard

CHICAGO, Nov. 23. (INS)—A world's record open market price for prime steers of $42.25 was paid today at the Chicago stockyards for 19 Aberdeen Angus steers.

The peak price was given for a carload shipped by Schmidt brothers of Delmar, Ia., and exceeded by 50 cents the previous world mark of $41.75 set just three weeks ago.

The cattle will be slaughtered for use in clubs and exclusive hotels.

The lot bought by the Chicago packinghouse of Wilson & Co., 1,176 pounds and consisted of throw-outs from the International Livestock exposition which opens Saturday.

In Omaha, a 1949 high of $41.00 for the yards was paid for a load of prime steers.

LET'S PAUSE A MOMENT--AND THINK OF THANKSGIVING

Isn't it an ironical fact that only the homeless know how thankful a man with a home should be . . . that only the starving know how thankful the well-fed should be . . . that those who have lost their freedom treasure it far more than we who live daily under its blessing.

Ironical, yes . . . but perhaps it is natural, too. As we go about our daily pursuits it is quite easy to become less sharply aware of the things we have to be thankful for. And that is the reason for a Day of Thanksgiving.

Will we not agree that Freedom is our greatest blessing? Our freedom to worship as we wish . . . speak or write what we please? And may we suggest that your freedom to select or reject your screen entertainment purely on its personal appeal to you individually . . . and not as dictated by a propaganda bureau . . . is also a great Freedom.

We, the management and personnel of the Lindsey Theaters, are thankful for your continued support which enables us to bring you the world's greatest entertainment . . . daily.

Plainview Employes Honored At Dinner Sponsored By Public Service Company

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 23. (Special) — Thirty-five Plainview employes of the Southwestern Public Service company, and their guests, were honored at a service awards dinner held recently at the Hilton hotel. This was the first service awards dinner held in the division, and 95 company employes, including the Plainview group, received awards for periods of employment ranging from 5 to 30 years.

Twenty five year awards, a pin with two rubies, went to three of the Plainview employes. Each of the three, Robert A. Anstad, construction foreman; Miss Vaneta I. Cross, accounting department; and Oscar M. Seal, operator, has an actual total of service of 28 years. However, as the pins and scrolls were awarded in five year groups, they received 25 year awards.

'Miss Mattie' Present

Another of the distinguished guests was the lady known to all of Plainview, and throughout the Southwestern Public Service company system, as "Miss Mattie." That, of course, is Miss Martha Siler, switchboard operator and receptionist in the division office.

Miss Mattie received a 20 year award, a ruby-jeweled pin. Her actual years of service total 23 and she told the assemblage, "I'll be back for that second ruby just two years from now."

J. M. Collins, division manager, was master of ceremonies for the dinner. Mr. Collins, recipient of a 20 year award, introduced J. G. Ausman, of Amarillo, vice-president of the Southwestern Public Service company, who made the awards. Mr. Ausman told the group that they were the most important element in the success and growth of the company.

Monroe Lions Rank Second In District, Members Told

MONROE, Nov. 23. (Special)— The Monroe Lions' club ranks second among the 77 clubs in District Two T One, Lewis B. Cooper, Zone one chairman, told the group at the annual Key night presentation and Thanksgiving service Tuesday night in the New Deal high school lunch room.

Award keys were presented to seven members who have helped build the Monroe club during its membership drive, following an adress by Rev. H. Taylor Pendley of the Abernathy Baptist church. The club also voted to buy 5 chairs for the new Community clubhouse here and set its next meeting for Dec. 5.

Members earning the award keys included John Abbe, Bruce Gentry, Bruce Gentry, jr., P. B. Justice; M. F. Thurman, D. Webster, and Bill Baucum.

STOCKS SHOW NEW GAINS

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. (AP)—Another flood of extra or increased dividends helped keep the stock market pointed upward today.

Traders operated in highly selective fashion, however, and a considerable number of leading issues were allowed to drift a bit lower.

Closing prices, nevertheless, showed a clear cut majority of gains running from fractions to around a point. Losses were equally small.

Buying interest sharpened slightly late in the day and final prices in most cases were tops for the session.

Substantial business kept the ticker tape jogging steadily along through the day, somewhat of a novelty for a pre-holiday market. Sales of 1,460,000 shares compared with 1,400,000 Tuesday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .1 of one point to 68.5.

The apparent contradiction between a decline in the 60-stock average and the majority of gains over losses was due to the fact that several stocks in the average sold ex-dividend.

Southern Pacific, for instance, closed Tuesday at 47. The stock today, though, was quoted ex-dividend $1.25 a share—that is, the purchaser of the stock would not receive a recently voted dividend of that amount. The stock closed today at 46, which in computing the average was figured as a net loss of 1 point—from 47 to 46.

The stock actually gained ¼, for all other purposes. The net gain of ¼ was figured from Tuesday's close of 47 minus 45¾ to 46.

45¾ to 46. ¼ ¼ ¼ ¼ ¼ ¼

Studebaker closed ⅞ lower at 26 after losin gas much as 1⅜ on an opening sale of 2,000 shares. The company announced after the close Tuesday that the board had voted a $1.25 special year-end dividend, which apparently did not measure up to market expectations.

Union Pacific dropped a point immediately following news of the usual quarterly dividend and closed ½ down at 82½. The board did not repeat the extra voted at this time last year.

Liquor stocks came up fast near the finish. American Distillers ended 1½ ahead at 34 and fractional advances were posted for Schenley at 31 and National Distillers 22⅝.

Motors, other than Studebaker, also ended on a strong rising note. Chrysler gained 1¼ at 61¾, General Motors ¾ at 67, and Packard 61¼ at 4.

Rubber issues also did fairly well as a group, possibly a reflection of tire price increases. Fractionally up were Goodyear at 40⅞, Goodrich 70⅛ and U. S. Rubber 33¼.

Active stocks fractionally up included Armour and Co. 7⅛, Republic Steel 24⅛, and International Hydro-Electric 8½.

On the losing side were Du Pont, Bethlehem Steel, Montgomery Ward, Radio Corp., Consolidated Edison, American Woolen, Santa Fe, and Standard Oil (NJ).

Corporate bonds showed only minor variations.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 23 (AP) — Efforts to extend the grain price advance ran into difficulties on the board of trade today. Selling pressure, some of it profit-taking weighed down on the market.

Prices started out steady on buying tied in with export sales of wheat, corn and soybean oil. Once this demand was satisfied, however, the market started to slip. Most contracts went below the previous close.

Wheat closed ½-1⅝ lower, December $2.14-2.14⅛, corn was ¼-1¼ lower, December $1.27-$1.27¼, oats were ¼ lower to ¼ higher, December 75, rye was ¾-1¼ lower, December $1.31¼, soybeans were unchanged to 1 cent higher, December $2.26-$2.26¼, and lard was 5 to 7 cents a hundred pounds lower, December $10.25.

Tech Officials To Consider Purchase Of 500 Ewe Lambs

Dr. Ray C. Mowery, head of the Texas Tech animal husbandry department, and J. P. Smith, manager of the Pan-Tech farms at Amarillo will go to San Angelo Saturday to consider the purchase of 500 ewe lambs for the farms, Dr. Mowery said Wednesday.

The 500 ewes, if bought, would be used for foundation stock at the farms, the AH head announced. He said he would return to Lubbock Saturday night before attending the annual meeting of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' association in San Antonio next week.

Texas Tech Offices To Close For Thanksgiving Holiday

Administrative offices of Texas Technological college will be closed today only for the Thanksgiving holidays, Dr. E. N. Jones, vice-president, announced Wednesday.

Classes were dismissed on the campus Wednesday afternoon and will resume at 8 a. m. Monday, Dr. Jones said. Staff offices other than administrative will be closed throughout the holiday period, he added.

Britons Unhappy

rooms, he declared, is furnished only at extra cost.

Cream, Milk Absent

"Britons must save their ration points for a week or more to even buy a small roast," the Tech professor observed. Butter is usually available but nowhere in England could one buy a glass of milk or have cream for his coffee. What looked to be skimmed milk could be added to coffee, he said.

Describing the entire country as drab and seemingly bare, Parsons expressed the opinion that the present labor government will be unseated in forthcoming English elections.

"I talked to many persons over the nation," he said, "and most expressed the same views as our bus driver who declared that he voted for the labor government but that he would not do it again." A shift back from the left more towards the "middle way" is indicated, he added.

Better Conditions In France

Living conditions in France are not nearly so dreary as those across the English channel, he declared, while those of Switzerland are quite pleasant. During his visit to the latter country, Parsons visited with Ralph Wild, a former Texas Tech student who was here in 1945, he said. Wild's father operates several textile mills in Switzerland.

Adequate farm and dairy land on which the French and Swiss grow much of their own food was accredited for the brighter living conditions by Parsons. In England, he said, it is impossible to even approach raising enough crops to feed the populace. Acre after acre of turnips are seen there, he noted, since that vegetable is also fed to dairy cattle.

Potatoes, Brussells sprouts and turnips are the chief diet in England, he said, while so-called "utility" clothes are the chief wearing apparel. Despite the fact that their country turns out fine textiles, the British get only the poorer grades in most cases because most of the fabrics are exported, the textile head asserted.

Christmas Toys Present

Nylon stockings can be had in England only on the black market, although they can be bought at the finer stores in France and are plentiful and cheap in Switzerland. Even in England, however, there is a large stock of toys for the 1949 Christmas tree, he said.

From a textile educational standpoint, Parsons related the British have highly-trained staffs and are almost equal with the United States in the matter of research. Only by digging in still further and working even harder, however, can the textile and other businesses pull Britain out of its deep financial strain, the Tech educator believes.

"Devaluation will help England in the long run," he declared, "but not enough to set her back on her feet financially. That can be accomplished only by producing and exporting more goods in exchange for American dollars."

Greater Security Doubted

Parsons expressed the belief that the labor government is sincere in its efforts, but he doubts if the English worker has any more security now than in prewar years. America's workers have more social security and other employe benefits than does England's, he declared.

Nor is the upperclass benefitting from the present government, according to Parsons. In fact, he said, the wealthy are being wiped out through high taxes.

"The labor government subsidizes almost everything," he declared, "and that is one of its main troubles. To meet all its financial obligations it is taxing the British people to death. Their lot in life is falling instead of rising."

The European trip was made by the 11 textile school deans as their 17th semi-annual meeting to discuss textile problems. The group spent most of their time in England, journeying to Switzerland for four days and to France for five. They returned to New York Monday, from where Parsons flew to Lubbock via Dallas.

NEUTRAL GERMANY ALSO URGED

Quaker Group Offers A-Bomb Control Plan To U. S., Russia

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—The American Friends service committee today gave the United States and Soviet Russia a working plan for control of the atom bomb and preservation of international peace.

The Quaker organization proposed that the atomic bomb stockpiles of both the U. S. and Russia be placed under United Nations seal and that the production of all fissionable materials be "halted and verified" pending completion of control treaties for all types of armaments.

The group also recommended that a unified, neutral Germany be established as a European "buffer" state and eventually be admitted to the United Nations after all U. S. and Russian occupation forces have been withdrawn.

Officials Given Copies

The proposals were made in a sweeping study — "the United States and the Soviet Union" — published today by the Yale University Press.

The Quaker organization said the study—prepared by a 15-member committee—was presented to Dean Acheson, U. S. secretary of state, and Alexander Panyushkin, Soviet ambassador to the U. S.

While in keeping with repeatedly expressed Quaker belief that war between the U. S. and Russia is not inevitable, the study declared that if the present "tensions" increase, armed conflict may result.

The friends service committee said that in preparing the study its authors consulted with diplomatic and military authorities, both U. S. and Russian. The identities of those consulted, however, were not disclosed.

Similarities In Aims

The study included eight "basic considerations:"

1. There is a widespread desire for peace among the great masses of people throughout the world.

2. Communism is likely to exist "for a considerable period of time" but it is "equally unlikely" that Communism will attain predominant influence in areas of the world where the western European cultural tradition has taken root.

3. There are important differences between the aims and methods of the U. S. and Russia but there also are important similarities.

4. There is the possibility of enough accommodation to permit the differing systems to compete peacefully."

5. Russia and the U. S. each fears domination and direct military attack by the other and the rest of the world is afraid of winding up in the middle.

Arms Race Big Factor

6. Any arms competition is likely to be an important contributing factor toward war.

7. An arms race can weaken Democratic nations by restricting civil liberties and forcing a reduction in the living standard, yet it would serve to strengthen a totalitarian state.

8. The evidence does not justify the conclusion that either the U. S. or Russia intends in the foreseeable future to promote its foreign policy by means of military aggression.

Among the recommendations in the study were: That any attempts to correlate Marshall plan countries with American export of surpluses be dropped; that the U. S. reduce its restrictions on exports to Russia and eastern Europe, and that new studies be made of credit extensions to promote East-West trade.

In connection with the German problem, the study declared the present partition of that country merely serves to accentuate the tension and "provides no assurance that German unification may not come as a result of East-West military conflict."

Army Liberalizes Training For Women Reserve Corps

The Army this week announced liberalized training procedures for women in the Organized Reserve corps, Col. Oscar B. Abbott, chief of the Texas Military district, said in Austin.

WAC Reservists now may be attached to any ORC unit, including combat type units. In these units, they will be used for administrative duties, and may participate in field training with the unit, if appropriate facilities for women exist.

No unit consisting solely of women will be organized to carry out the program to utilize and train WAC members of the active reserve.

Former members of any of the women's services of the armed forces may apply for assignment by contacting Major James Samsel, local ORC instructor with offices in the Lubbock Cotton Exchange building.

Church Suggests 'Take' Isn't Worth Burglars' Trouble

ABILENE, Nov. 23 (AP) — After four or five burglaries at the church, Pastor Earl Hamlett of the St. Paul Methodist church asked the Abilene Reporter-News to publish this plea to future burglars:

"In the last few months St. Paul church has been broken into four or five times. I think anyone else planning to do the same thing should know that we do not keep our collection money in the church safe.

"It is deposited in the night depository of the bank.

"Pickings are either very slim or non-existent and never worth the trouble, regardless."

Tentative Agreement Between Meat Company, Union Reported

CHICAGO, Nov. 23 (INS) — Armour & Company, one of the "big four" meat packing companies, was reported today to have signed a tentative agreement covering 25,000 CIO United Packinghouse workers in 21 plants.

A union spokesman said details of the agreement would not be disclosed until it is submitted to the membership for ratification.

The spokesman said terms would parallel those of a contract reached with Swift & Co. last month which included changes in the rate schedule but no general increases.

Negotiations are continuing between Armour and the AFL Amalgamated Meat cutters union which represents another 15,000 employes in 13 different plants.

Contracts for both unions expired last Aug. 11.

Court Removes Publishing Ban

PASCO, Wash., Nov. 23. (AP) — Supported by a victory in the first round of a court challenge, Publisher Glenn C. Lee announced today the Tri-City Herald was proceeding to publish the fourth in a series of articles criticising the quality of work in a Pasco housing project.

The article will be published today. The series was stopped Friday by a restraining order issued in superior court. The order was at the request of the Columbia Construction company, the builder of the controversial low cost housing project. It is a Federal Housing administration-approved project.

The Herald's article today — the one that was blocked temporarily by the court order — says the AFL plumbers' union was so dissatisfied with the work of its members in the houses that it fined them.

Judge Dissolves Order

The restraining order against publication was dissolved yesterday by Judge B. B. Horrigan. He held that the newspaper could not be restrained in advance from publishing the article.

But, Judge Horrigan warned, the Columbia Construction company will have the right to ask the court for a contempt citation if the Herald "persists" in publishing additional articles on the project while a collection case by the company against a house buyer is pending.

The restraining order was issued by the court last Friday. The newspaper's attorney, Charles Powell, argued that it infringed on the constitutional guarantee of press freedom.

Lee praised Judge Horrigan's lifting of the restrainer as giving assurance "once again that a free press will continue to be heard not only in the Tri-City area but in the nation."

Clippety-Clop Of Popular Song Proves Too Realistic

HOUSTON, Nov. 23 (U.P.) — The clippety-clop of "Mule Train," current popular song, sounded fine last night on Dick Gottlieb's car radio.

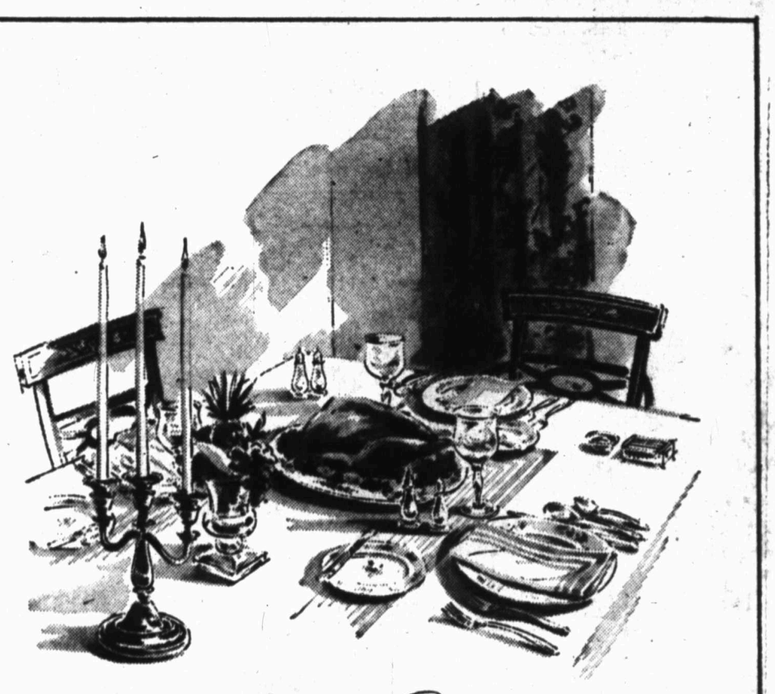

Then when the clatter echoed a little too strongly, Gottlieb, announcer for radio station KLEE, sighted a big gray mule.

Before he could swerve, it clippety-clopped right into his car's grill and front fenders. The mule got up and walked away after doing damage estimated at $100.

"It could have been worse," Gottlieb philosophized. "What if I had been listening to 'Chattanooga Choo-Choo?'"
