Priest Seeks Release Of 19 Hostages

ORURO, Bolivia (AP)—Catholic Church leaders were reported today trying to secure the release of a group of hostages, including four Americans, held by Communist-led tin miners.

A standoff prevailed between government troops and armed miners in the Catavi area where the hostages were held as pawns for two Communist union leaders arrested by President Victor Paz Estenssoro's government. The government still insisted it would not trade the arrested men for the hostages.

Msgr. Andrew Kennedy of St. Louis, Mo., a member of the staff of the Catholic vicar general in La Paz, arrived in Oruro en route to Catavi, 30 miles away.

TO MEDIATE

Informed sources said Msgr. Kennedy had been in contact with representatives of the miners' union and the miners were willing to have him mediate the dispute.

The priest was also said to be carrying a letter to the miners from the two jailed union leaders, Irineo Pimentel and Federico Escobar. Both have been indicted on charges of sabotaging government mine operations, attempted murder and promoting anarchy.

There was no word of any direct negotiations between the government and the miners for release of the hostages. But tension in the area eased somewhat after a Defense Ministry statement said troops would not move against the defiant miners and President Paz Estenssoro ordered army patrols withdrawn from Catavi.

CONFLICTING

There were conflicting reports about how many men were being held hostage.

Newsman who visited Catavi Tuesday saw 11 others besides the four Americans—a Dutch mine manager, a German mine superintendent and nine Bolivian technicians.

However, the government mining agency, Comibol, reported there were 19 hostages—the four Americans, the Dutchman, the German, 11 Bolivian technicians and two Bolivian government officials.

Full Load Plus Probe For Warren

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chief Justice Earl Warren, keen-eyed and vigorous at 72, will shoulder his full load of Supreme Court duties while heading the presidential inquiry into President John F. Kennedy's assassination.

That is just an assumption, since Warren has uttered not a word publicly on his plans. But his associates and friends claim they know Warren's views quite well enough to predict his course.

EXTRA LOAD

He is resolved to absorb his extra load as chairman of the bipartisan presidential commission by working nights and weekends, taking advantage of holidays and court recesses, and possibly giving up all or part of his usual three-week Christmas trip home to California.

There may be one case, far ahead, which Warren will avoid. If the Supreme Court ever entertains an appeal from a Texas murder case involving Jack Ruby, the court's opinion is sure to carry a notation at the bottom reading:

NO PART

"Mr. Chief Justice Warren took no part in the consideration or decision of this case."

Ruby, 32, is the man charged with slaying Lee Harvey Oswald on Nov. 24, two days after Dallas police charged Oswald with assassinating Kennedy. Ruby's pistol obliterated all hope of fixing Oswald's guilt by the only sure way, Oswald's own confession.

FOR CREATION

Thus Ruby not only is indirectly responsible for creation of the Warren commission but also figures heavily in its investigation.

There is no law or court rule which says a Supreme Court justice may not participate in a case in which he has prior knowledge or interest. It is up to the conscience of each justice. Warren's conscience, like the justice himself, works overtime.

FRIENDS ADD TO FUND

After a dismal day Wednesday, friends rallied today to support of the CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND. Five gifts brought the total so far to $351.

Still, this is far, far under what will be needed to assure firemen of adequate funds for renewing toys and for providing a sack of Christmas goodies for kiddies who otherwise would have nothing. Whatever funds are left are used all during the year for emergency drugs, etc., so that when you give, you go on spreading cheer all during the year.

Please, please bring or mail your gifts to the Herald for grateful acknowledgment.

Economy Ax Whacks Two Bases In Texas

Furious Solons Jolt McNamara

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced today that, in an economy action, he had ordered 26 military bases in the United States and seven bases overseas to be closed or substantially reduced.

McNamara told a news conference, "I have every reason to believe that studies now under way will lead to further reductions in the coming months."

The defense secretary said that, when the 33 bases are closed or reduced over a period of up to 3½ years, he expects annual savings of $106 million. The move will cut off 8,600 civilian jobs and result in a reduction of about 7,800 military personnel, McNamara said.

Every civilian employee whose job is eliminated will be offered another job opportunity, McNamara promised.

To achieve the $106 million reduction while offering new jobs to the dispossessed, McNamara said there will be a freeze on hiring at certain other installations, as well as normal attrition.

The 26 domestic bases to be closed or reduced are located in 14 states, and the seven overseas bases are in three foreign countries.

Included are 14 Army installations, 12 Air Force, and seven Navy.

The hardest hit state was New York, which will lose seven bases. California loses four bases, and Texas, President Johnson's home state, Louisiana and Alabama each lose two.

Arizona, Arkansas, Georgia, Illinois, Mississippi, Nevada, New Hampshire, North Carolina and Ohio also are affected, with one base each.

No naval shipyards were on the list of Army, Navy and Air Force bases due to be axed or reduced in scope.

Rumors Wednesday said McNamara would move to close naval shipyards in Boston, Philadelphia and San Francisco. One base in Ohio also was mentioned.

House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., acting for the entire Massachusetts delegation, carried to President Johnson Wednesday night a bipartisan protest against rumored closing of the Boston Navy Yard.

Other protests rained on the White House from Pennsylvania, California, New York and other state congressional groups.

Blizzard Late In Arriving

A blizzard slated to hit the area this morning is running late and will be on hand to night, according to the weather forecast for Big Spring.

The temperature did fall to a cold 24 degrees early this morning for the lowest reading of the current fall. However, the sun was up and at work Thursday and blue skies, almost 100 per cent cloudless, were overhead at midday. The high on Wednesday was 30 degrees.

The forecast for tonight calls for return of the clouds possible snow or freezing rain, and the temperature is to fall to 31 for the low. The weather man feels that the 31, which should greet early risers Friday, will be about as high as the temperature will go Friday.

High for today was expected to be 45 degrees. A fleeting flurry of sleet peppered the area at 10 p.m. Wednesday. The fall was too brief and too light to make much of an impression, but a few scattered crystals were still in evidence after daylight.

And 'A Merry Christmas'

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson wishes nine-year-old James Weaver a "Merry Christmas" as she hands him a Yuletide gift at the District of Columbia General Hospital. Mrs. Johnson, on her first official goodwill mission as

First Lady, toured the children's wards, handing out toys and wishing the junior patients a quick recovery by Christmas. (AP WIREPHOTO)

President Orders Cabinet To Help Reduce Spending

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson has put members of his Cabinet on notice that he expects them to give their personal attention to his campaign to hold down federal spending.

Winding up another busy day in which he again put heavy emphasis on economy in government, Johnson called in his Cabinet Wednesday to talk over a variety of matters.

These included, in addition to the federal payroll, the health of the nation's economy, unemployment and methods for dealing with it and an evaluation of the strategic nuclear forces of the United States and the Soviet Union by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

The Cabinet meeting followed a trip by Johnson to the Pentagon where he told top men of the military establishment that he is counting on them to protect the country's purse as well as its safety.

But Johnson assured the military leaders that he does not "intend for one moment to give up the gains and strength" of the last three years.

White House sources said Dr. Walter W. Heller, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, reported to Johnson that the gross national product—the value of all goods and services produced—soon will pass $600 billion at an annual rate.

Wheat Bill Hits Snag

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's proposal to speed a new federal wheat program through Congress has run into a Senate slowdown.

Sen. Allen Ellender, D-La., Senate Agriculture Committee chairman, told a reporter that he doubts the White House plan could win congressional approval soon.

Informed sources said the Johnson proposal involves tacking the emergency federal wheat program onto the House-passed cotton textile subsidy bill.

If the Senate could attach an emergency wheat program to the House-approved cotton bill, the usual Senate delay for hearings and committee procedure could be avoided.

In the House, meanwhile, an agriculture subcommittee opened hearings Wednesday on wheat legislation.

The prospect of a decline of as much as $1 billion in the income of wheat farmers next election year—because they rejected a mandatory federal control program in a referendum last spring—has many members of Congress worried.

Assistant Senate Democratic leader Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota said he had discussed the need for speedy action on new wheat legislation with Johnson.

"If wheat prices drop from $2 a bushel to $1.25 or less it will be a sad day for the nation's economy," Humphrey said. "We have delayed too long already on new legislation and this must be a first order of business."

Lodge Gets New Aide

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson is sending career diplomat David G. Nes to South Vietnam to serve as the key No. 2 man under Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

Authoritative sources said today Johnson personally approved the selection of the 46-year-old Foreign Service officer who has a distinguished World War II combat record. Nes replaces William C. Trueheart, whose two-year tour of duty expired last October.

The appointment comes at a time when Lodge's name is figuring in speculation about the 1964 Republican presidential nomination. But he has stated he is not a candidate and does not intend to run.

Lodge, the 1960 GOP vice-presidential candidate on the ticket headed by Richard M. Nixon, was named to the Saigon post last summer by the late President John F. Kennedy.

Nes, born in York, Pa., is a Princeton graduate and took a master's degree at Harvard. He was a company commander in the famed Merrill's Marauders, who fought a guerrilla war against the Japanese in Burma during World War II.

Nes joined the Foreign Service in 1938. He has served in posts from Glasgow and Paris to Tripoli and Rabat, Morocco.

BOY AWAITS GIRLS

Quints Due Home For Christmas

ABERDEEN, S.D. (AP)—The Fischer quintuplets, three months old next Saturday, probably will all be home for Christmas.

Arrangements are being made for two of the four girls to go home Saturday noon. James Andrew, the only boy, went home Nov. 30. The other girls should go home soon, too.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fischer, are acquiring more domestic help for their rented home in northeast Aberdeen.

when he weighed 10 pounds, 5 ounces. He has been described by the family as "a very good baby." Fischer has said there have been no problems at the Fischer home since the boy left St. Luke's Hospital.

The Fischers have five older children, so if the girls make it home by Christmas it should be a lively holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fischer recently picked out $100 in toys donated by a chain store.

The four girls, still in the hospital nursery, are growing. Latest hospital reports list Mary Ann's weight at 6 pounds, 13 ounces; Mary Magdalene 8-5; Mary Catherine 7-13 and Mary Margaret 8-1.

All are reported doing fine.

The quint's father has returned to his job as a shipping clerk in a wholesale grocery warehouse here and at the same pay.

A financial windfall came from the sale of rights to exclusive stories and pictures.

Mary Ann Fischer, the quint's mother, is picking up the family routine. Her mother, Mrs. Elmer Brady of Hecla, S.D., is helping her.

A new home promised by the city of Aberdeen is still in the planning stage.

PREMIER JOMO KENYATTA WAVES FREEDOM ARTICLES

Kenya Gains Its Freedom

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Nearly 100,000 Africans whistled, sang and cheered today as Kenya became Africa's 35th independent nation.

But even as the shouts of "Uhuru" (Freedom) echoed through the streets of this former British colonial capital, monumental problems confronted the new nation. It must conquer frontier warfare, tribal rivalries and economic difficulties.

When the Union Jack was hauled down and Kenya's flag of black, red and green went up amid wild jubilation at Nairobi's Freedom Stadium, Britain relinquished its last colonial holding in East Africa.

FLYWHISK

The Africans roared with delight and Kenya's Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta joyously waved his flywhisk—an African symbol of authority—at the midnight ceremony.

The wives of white settlers wept and their husbands swallowed hard as they considered their future as a minority of 50,000 in a nation of 8.5 million Africans.

Forty-eight hours earlier, the spice island of Zanzibar, just to the south, received its independence in a similar ceremony ending 73 years of British protection. Both countries will remain in the British Commonwealth.

Britain's Prince Philip represented his wife, Queen Elizabeth II, at both celebrations.

FIREBRAND

Kenyatta, the legendary "burning spear" of the Mau Mau terror a decade ago, is no longer the firebrand who headed the African nationalist movement and spent eight years in British detention. Now 73, Kenyatta has called on his nation to forgive and forget the bitterness of the past as it wrestles with its problems.

Kenyatta accepted from Prince Philip the formal instruments of independence enacted by the British Parliament.

Bobby Gradually Returns To Task

WASHINGTON (AP)—Slowly and quietly, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy is easing back into the public life that was so shattering altered by an assassin's bullet three weeks ago. He still is the attorney general, the nation's top law enforcement officer, even though he no longer holds the intimate White House role he delighted in when his brother, John F. Kennedy, was president.

He attended a groundbreaking ceremony Wednesday—his first official public appearance since his brother's funeral. He didn't say anything. He just stood and watched. The playground is in the heart of the city, and he frequently has shown concern for the city's underprivileged children.

He has made no public statement of his plans. He has permitted no news interviews. But the general understanding continues to be that the 38-year-old attorney general will remain on the job as long as President Johnson wants him to.

"I'm not worried about Bob one bit," one close friend said. "I'm convinced he'll always be in public life—and that he will get along just as fine on his own as when he was part of that brother team. But as far as I know, he's kept his own counsel about his plans."

On chance meetings in the hallway, his characteristic "How are you?" in the flat Boston accent sounds the way it used to. The rather shy smile still is there. A few days in Florida and a full week back on the job seem to have restored him to typical excellent physical condition.

He attended a Cabinet meeting at the White House Wednesday.

Elderly Chiefs Fire Denials

WASHINGTON (AP) — Angry denials came from both branches of Congress Wednesday at suggestions that elderly leaders step down to make room for younger men.

House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., was asked at a news conference whether he planned to resign the job that puts him next in line for the presidency. He snapped: "I am amazed that you would ask such a question. Is there no limit to decency?"

Stalking angrily from the room, the 72-year-old speaker suddenly turned and snapped: "I was elected speaker and I'm going to remain."

McCormack became next in line for the presidency with the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. There have been suggestions in some newspapers that McCormack should resign in favor of a younger man.

There also was a blowup on the Senate side involving the man next in line after McCormack, Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., 86-year-old president pro tempore of the Senate.

Jackie Buys New Mansion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy has purchased a 169-year-old Georgetown house with 14 rooms and plans to move in with her two children by mid-January.

The three-story brick home is across the street from the residence of Undersecretary of State and Mrs. W. Averell Harriman, where Mrs. Kennedy is living temporarily.

Purchase of the property at 3017 N Street was announced Wednesday, five days after Mrs. Kennedy moved out of the White House.

The price Mrs. Kennedy paid the owners, retired businessman James McMillan Gibson and his wife, was not revealed. But the house had been on the market for some time listed at $225,000. Recently, the asking price had been dropped to about $190,000, real estate agents in the area said.

The house is one of the oldest in Georgetown, a commercial and residential area founded even before the District of Columbia was established.

A wealthy early settler, Ninian Beall, built it for his son, Thomas. The house has been the residence of the late Adm. Alan G. Kirk and onetime Secretary of War Newton D. Baker. The 14 rooms include a spacious first-floor drawing room and dining room, with a master bedroom and library on the second floor, each with a fireplace.

Before moving in Mrs. Kennedy may take her two children, Caroline, 6, and John Jr., 3, to Palm Beach for the Christmas season they traditionally spend with their grandparents there.

Meanwhile, President Johnson signed into law Wednesday a special bill to give Mrs. Kennedy and her children Secret Service protection for the next two years. It also provides for office space for 12 months and $50,000 for staff salaries during that period.

Mrs. Kennedy also gets free mailing privileges for life and the bill authorized payment of $15,000 for the late president's funeral and burial expenses.

Million Flock To Guadalupe

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Indians in colorful Aztec costumes and dancing to the beat of drums greeted thousands of devout Roman Catholic pilgrims converging today on Mexico's greatest shrine, the basilica of Guadalupe.

A river of humanity was expected to flow all day through the centuries-old basilica on the outskirts of Mexico City.

A crowd estimated at nearly one million swarmed the streets. Pilgrims came from all parts of the nation by plane.

Flags and flowers decked the interior of the basilica. Catholics knelt and prayed before the main altar, where the cloak of the Mexican peasant Juan Diego—on which the image of the Virgin Mary reputedly appeared—is on display.

The appearance dates back to 1531. It was recognized as a miracle by the church in the 1940s after centuries of research.

Much earlier the Virgin of Guadalupe was venerated as the patron of Mexico and later of all the Americas.

The celebration was highlighted by a pontifical mass and a procession around the basilica's plaza.

Another religious event being held here simultaneously is the first full conference of the Protestant and Orthodox Commission on World Missions and Evangelism of the World Council of Churches.

Reunited With Dying Son

Five-year-old Bradley McDonald, a victim of leukemia welcomed his stepfather Gordon James McDonald home from prison in Vancouver, B.C., Wednesday. McDonald, who admitted theft of $680 to pay for toys, clothing and medical care for the boy, had a six-month prison term cut off Tuesday when an appeal court said mercy was warranted. The boy is not expected to live for more than a year. (AP WIREPHOTO)

New Mexico Governor President Of Oil Compact

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—New Mexico Gov. Jack Campbell, a lawyer formerly associated with oil trade groups, is the new chairman of the 33-state Interstate Oil Compact Commission.

Campbell, 47, was elected Wednesday to succeed Gov. Matthew Welsh of Indiana.

He immediately praised a move by President Johnson this week and called for full speed on completing a comprehensive oil and gas conservation efficiency study. The commission is making it at the request of Interior Secretary Stewart Udall.

Johnson on Monday advised Udall he wants the Interior Department instead of the White House to set national oil policy. Campbell said the decision was good news to the compact and its member oil states.

"This gives us an opportunity to re-establish what has been a reduction of the lines of communication between the oil states and federal agencies," Campbell said. "We cannot reduce our guard against federal encroachment on states rights but there are problems we must discuss with federal agencies."

Example Tells Story Of West Texas Boys Ranch

Last year a 14-year-old lad's parents dumped him. Without friends or a home, he lived in the county jail for three weeks before he was referred to West Texas Boys Ranch near Tankersley (Box 1624, San Angelo).

The ranch was filled to capacity, but this youth had been in no trouble and he deserved a break. Somehow the ranch made room for one more.

The road has been rough for this lad, but he has proven what it takes to make something worthwhile of himself. This year he is one of four candidates chosen to compete for the top honor of Boy of the Year at the ranch.

This is the type of story that the ranch deals with daily. The ability of the ranch, however, is limited because of lack of funds. During the 1964 Christmas season, supporters of the ranch are hopeful that West Texans will remember the ranch and the boys in their giving. Donations of any size will be appreciated, especially so because donations are falling short of previous years.

Prison's Honor Camp Shut Down

MOUNDSVILLE, W.Va. (AP)—Camp Fairchance, West Virginia's home for trustworthy convicts, is being closed.

Penitentiary Warden Otto C. Boles said he is discontinuing the 18-year-old camp because it needs renovation and "walkoff escapes" have become too frequent.

Profit Share Dispute Builds

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A tense struggle between management and labor over terms of the Mexican government's compulsory profit sharing plan simmered today.

With an announcement giving details of how the plan will work expected soon, each side pushed its views in appeals for public support.

The final decision lies with a commission of government, management and labor representatives. It was holding lengthy closed sessions.

The commission must decide what percentage of profits will be shared with workers and under what conditions.

Its decisions will affect both Mexican and foreign-owned firms. The largest foreign investment in Mexico comes from the United States. The American Chamber of Commerce in Mexico estimates the total at $1 billion.

The commission began work early this year with the aim of making possible the first profit-sharing next January, based on 1963 earnings.

The key issue in the struggle between management and labor is whether the sharing should be based on gross profits or investors' earnings should be deducted first.

There was little public opposition from management to the plan in principle, but labor insisted that management was trying to torpedo it by haggling over details.

Profit-sharing was made compulsory under legislation which President Adolfo Lopez Mateos pushed through Congress in 1961.

The unblocking play is a maneuver available either to the declarer or the defenders. It is accomplished by deliberately dropping an honor prematurely while the player retains a lower card in the suit, and its purpose is to facilitate entry into partner's hand. Today's hand presents an interesting case in point.

West opened the queen of diamonds against three no trump and he was permitted to win the trick as South held off in both hands. The diamond continuation was taken by the king, and declarer immediately led a small club since several tricks were required in that suit to bring the total up to nine. West played low and North's king won the trick. On the club continuation, East was in with the queen.

He was out of diamonds and could not further the development of partner's suit, so he shifted to a spade. South saw that, if he finessed and it lost, West would be able to clear the diamonds while he still held the ace of clubs. Declarer therefore played the ace of spades, noting that he still had a quick stopper in the suit as long as East was kept out of the lead.

West's ace of clubs was now dislodged, dummy won the diamond return and South ran for cover with nine tricks—one spade, three hearts, two diamonds, and three clubs.

East missed his chance to be a hero when South led a club at trick three to North's king. Since East was out of diamonds and was therefore no longer able to assist in the development of his partner's suit, he should at least have tried to stay out of West's way. The queen of clubs serves no useful purpose since it must fall on the next lead of the suit from dummy. If West has any club strength it will stand on its own merits and does not require any promotion by East.

Had East dropped the queen of clubs under the dummy's king, West would have been able to get in twice during the establishment of the clubs—once with the ten to knock out declarer's last diamond stopper and once with the ace of clubs to run enough diamonds to defeat the contract.

Jap 'Meatball' Leaves Under Order By JFK

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—After 16 years in prison, Tomoya (The Meatball) Kawakita, convicted war criminal left for Japan today, a free man but stateless.

Kawakita, convicted of treasonable brutality while an interpreter for a Japanese prisoner-of-war camp in World War II, was granted freedom by the late President Kennedy in one of Kennedy's last official acts. Kennedy granted leniency on the condition Kawakita leave the United States and never return.

PASSPORT
Shorn of both Japanese and U.S. citizenship, Kawakita, 42, could not get a passport. After a month of negotiations, Japan authorized him entry as a "stateless person."

The native Californian departed nearby McNeil Island Federal Penitentiary late Wednesday. Kawakita was taken to the Seattle-Tacoma International Airport and released to Japanese consular officials.

He said he was very glad to get out of prison and was grateful to Kennedy. He said he had studied electronics in prison and would begin a new life in Japan with the help of cousins and friends there. Six hours later he left his native land forever.

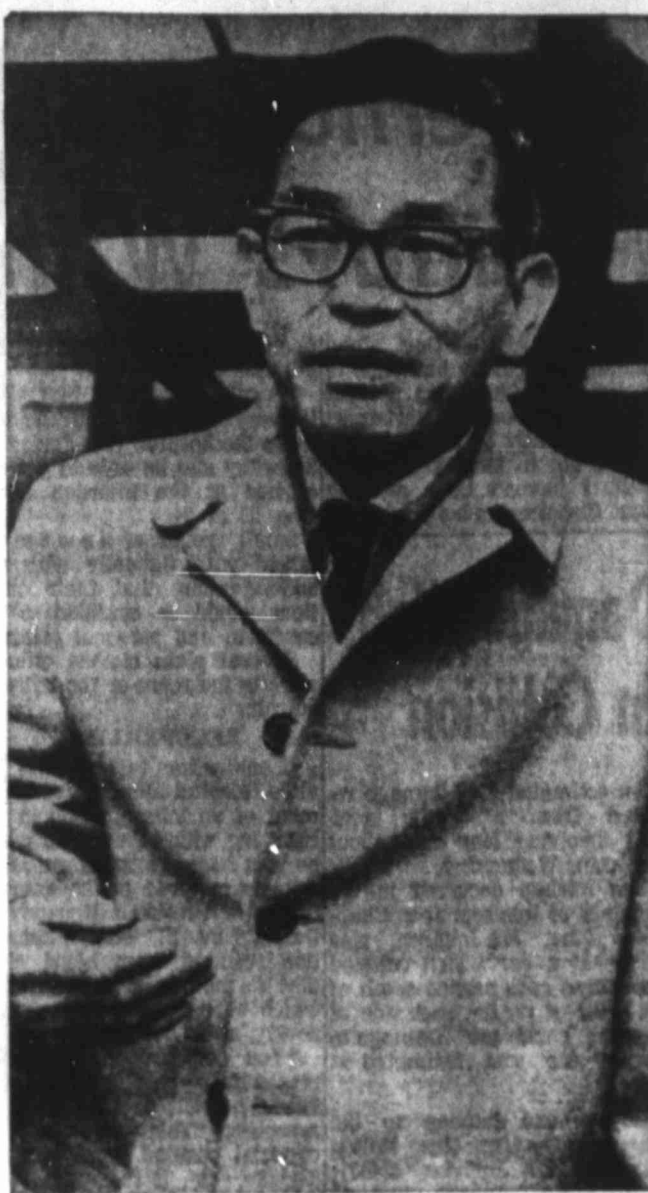

BRUTALITY
Born in Calexico, Calif., Kawakita went to Japan in 1939 to study. Convicted in 1948 of eight counts of treasonable brutality against Allied prisoners, Kawakita was sentenced to death and sent to Alcatraz Federal Penitentiary.

Former President Eisenhower commuted the sentence to life imprisonment, and Kawakita was transferred to McNeil Island.

He lost his Japanese citizenship when Japan disclaimed him after the war. He lost his United States citizenship following his conviction as a traitor.

Cardinal Spellman Plans Yule Trip To South Pole

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman, the Roman Catholic archbishop of New York, is going to the South Pole this Christmas.

Cardinal Spellman is the Church's military vicar of the United States. Every Christmas he visits servicemen overseas.

The U.S. Navy's antarctic support force announced today that the cardinal will celebrate midnight Mass Christmas Eve at the Amundsen-Scott South Pole station. Then he will return to the American antarctic expedition's main base at McMurdo Sound for Christmas afternoon services.

After the McMurdo services he will fly to Byrd station, 800 miles from McMurdo. Because he will cross the International Dateline, he will spend another Christmas Day there.

Temperature Dips To 6 As State Cold Wave Lingers

By The Associated Press

Texas' already numbed Panhandle froze a bit stiffer Thursday and the first half of a wintry one-two punch thrust deep into the state's midsection with traces of snow, sleet or freezing rain.

Skies cleared and temperatures plunged to 6 above zero at Amarillo and 7 above at Dalhart, but quickly started climbing as bitter north winds switched to the southwest.

With a second blast of arctic air due to knife into the upper Panhandle by evening, however, no marked relief from the biting cold was in prospect.

Ice glazed bridges and overpasses for a second straight morning over much of North Texas. There were even a few grains of snow mixed with the moisture in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. Freezing rain or sleet fell as far south as Waco and Ft. Hood. Traffic accidents laid to the storm already had claimed six lives in Texas. Renewed icing threatened to add to the toll.

There also was very light sleet or snow before daylight in a West Texas triangle between Midland, San Angelo and Mineral Wells.

Occasional snowflakes mixed with freezing drizzle chilled scattered areas over an area 120 miles south of Breckenridge-Denton-Sulphur Springs.

Somewhat later a broken area of light freezing rain, snow and sleet embraced McKinney, Mineral Wells, Stephenville, Waxahachie, Kaufman and intermediate points, including Fort Worth and Dallas. It gradually moved east to Texarkana.

South of the freeze a line of light showers again fell in South Central and Southeast Texas. Predawn temperatures sagged to the low 40s along the coast.

The Weather Bureau predicted occasional snow flurries in Northwest Texas again by evening with arrival of the fresh norther. Temperatures were expected to dip as far as 5 above zero in the upper Panhandle by early Friday.

Forecasts called for lows ranging from 17 degrees in North Central Texas to the 30s in southern sections, where occasional rain was expected to continue Friday.

Ruby's Attorney Plans Test By Top Psychiatrist

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—One of the next steps in Jack Ruby's defense will be to arrange for a nationally known psychiatrist to examine him, his counsel said Wednesday.

Melvin Bell, the Californian who heads the Ruby legal staff, said the psychiatrist will be asked to see and study Ruby, 32, in his county jail cell.

Ruby, who killed accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, awaits trial Feb. 3 on a state charge of murder.

"Since we will claim that Ruby was temporarily insane when he shot Oswald, psychiatric testimony will be of great importance in this case," Bell told the Dallas News by telephone from his San Francisco office.

Tascosa And Miller Favored In Games

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sixteen teams vie for final spots in Texas schoolboy football's next to the last go-round this week. The seers say those left when the firing ends will be Amarillo Tascosa, Corpus Christi Miller, Graham, LaMarque, Dalhart, Liberty, Albany and Hallsville.

If that's what happens, then the finals next week will be: AAAA—Tascosa vs. Miller. AAA—Graham vs. LaMarque. AA—Dalhart vs. Liberty. A—Albany vs. Hallsville.

Eight other schools hope to make these predictions go awry. Chances are that part of them will succeed.

Garland challenges Tascosa in the only AAAA game matching unbeaten teams. Garland has the guns, particularly with Danny Sims, the talented field goal kicker. The game could be that close—decided by a field goal.

Garland once won the state championship with that same weapon.

Spring Branch, unbeaten but once tied, challenges Corpus Christi Miller. It could be quite a challenge, too. Both teams hold decisions over Corpus Christi Ray, indicating they are virtually equal.

Corsicana, undefeated and untied, is the stumbling block of the mighty Graham Steers, who did what no other team could do over almost three years—beat Dumas.

The other AAA semifinal matches Pharr-San Juan-Alamo, runnerup last year to Dumas, with LaMarque, with its mighty runner, Norman Bulaich.

La Marque is the state's top scoring team. It has rolled up 473 points in 12 games. Pharr-

San Juan-Alamo has been tough on defense.

Dalhart flings a 13-0 record with 455 points against Rockwall, a team that has shown it can get off the floor and come back like the wind. Rockwall lost to Lake Highlands 20-12 in early season then crushed Highlands 40-0 in the state playoff.

Liberty runs into Missouri City Dulles. Liberty has romped to 431 points—160 more than Dulles in an equal number of games.

Albany faces Petersburg, unbeaten but tied. Albany lost to Class AA Olney 8-6 to open the season.

Hallsville, the sensation of East Texas, faces George West, the power of the South. In the other A semifinal, Hallsville has the best defensive record of all playoff teams, yielding only 33 points in 13 games.

Here's how they look:

AAAA—Amarillo Tascosa vs. Garland at Amarillo Saturday, 2 p.m.—A vote for Garland. Spring Branch vs. Corpus Christi Miller at Spring Branch Saturday, 2 p.m.—Miller by a touchdown.

AAA—Graham vs. Corsicana at Arlington Saturday, 2:30 p.m.—Graham in a tight duel. LaMarque vs. Pharr-San Juan-Alamo at Corpus Christi Saturday, 7:30 p.m.—LaMarque will end Pharr's dreams.

Class AA—Dalhart vs. Rockwall at Vernon Saturday, 2 p.m.—a timid vote for Dalhart. Liberty vs. Dulles at Pasadena Friday, 8 p.m.—Liberty in a squeaker.

Class A—Petersburg vs. Albany at Lubbock Friday, 7:30 p.m.—Taking Albany without looking back. Hallsville vs. George West at Beeville Saturday, 8 p.m.—Hallsville will make it to the finals.

Staubach Says He Still Has Lots To Learn

NEW YORK (AP)—Now hear this from Navy's Roger Staubach:

"I have a lot to learn about passing. I figure I'll learn a lot more about football in the next year and a half. I'm going to work hard next season. I hope we can improve on this season's record."

That comforting news for Navy's opponents came from the All-America quarterback Wednesday night when he accepted the Heisman Trophy award as the top football player in the country.

Staubach led Navy to a 9-1 record, a No. 2 national ranking and a spot in the Cotton Bowl against top-ranked Texas. Jolly Roger was asked how he figures he has "a lot to learn about passing."

"Lots of times I wait for my receiver to get in the open before I throw," he said. "That's wrong. The pros throw to where the receiver is supposed to be." Did that mean Staubach was interested in a pro career?

"I have received questionnaires from professional football teams but I haven't talked to anyone because I still have a year and a half at the academy and then four years of service."

Among the other things, Staubach discussed was the best team he played against this season, and the support he received from the entire Navy team.

"I can't say enough about the support they gave me. Tom Lynch would do anything for me on the field or off and I feel the same way about him. If I hadn't been getting that second block I'd be scrambled eggs."

Lynch, the Navy captain, and Coach Wayne Hardin accompanied Staubach to the Heisman awards dinner. They let Staubach monopolize the talking but Hardin had this to say:

"I think we have the finest four backfield men ever put together although I'll admit I never saw the Four Horsemen in action. Staubach is a stick of dynamite. Johnny Sai runs the 100 in 9.7 and can break up any game. Pat Donnelly is the finest fullback the Navy ever had. Skip Orr is our leading pass receiver."

"But," he emphasized, "I can't say too much about Roger."

Neither could his father, Robert Staubach.

"We only had one child," he said, "but the good Lord gave us a good one."

Packers Sign One

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—University of Wisconsin co-captain and center Ken Bowman said he had signed a contract Wednesday with the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League.

Marv Levy Quits Post As California Coach

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Marv Levy, the young Phi Beta Kappa key holder who inherited a murderous schedule and an average set of players as California football coach, resigned suddenly Wednesday.

Levy, a surprise appointment in 1960 to succeed Pete Elliott, was brought to Cal after a 14-6 record at New Mexico. He was regarded as a good image for the state university trying to field teams made up of students bucking stringent grade and entrance requirements.

He leaves with an 8-20-3 record in four seasons—and the onus of having a 1-3 mark against arch-rival Stanford.

Like Stanford's Jack Curtice, fired late last year, Levy left after his best season, 4-5-1. The pressure on Levy began building up at the end of the 1962 season, but eased at the start of this one. The Bears' schedule pitted them against such teams as Notre Dame, Illinois, Duke and Pittsburgh.

The 38-year-old Coe College graduate and holder of a Harvard Master's degree in history said in his surprise dinner-hour announcement:

"I have decided that it would be in the best interests of the university and all parties concerned to resign. . . my reasons for doing so are personal in nature. It has been a wonderful experience working at the university and I wish every success to the members of the team in the future."

Dilworth Shines

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The U.S. Olympic hockey team, led by the three-goal hat trick of Dan Dilworth, continued its tuneup campaign by whipping the Madison All-Stars 9-2.

Garden City Cage Meet Under Way

GARDEN CITY — Garden City's annual basketball tournament gets under way at 2 p.m. and continues through Saturday night.

Eight teams are entered in each bracket. Jack Woodley will be a busy man for the next three days. In addition to serving as coach of the Garden City club, he is director of the tournament.

The Garden City tournament is held every other year—the school swaps out with Forsan in staging its meets. Stanton is the defending champion in boys' play.

A new champion is assured in the boys' bracket, since Stanton did not return. Two years ago, the Buffs toppled the Big Spring Sophomores in the finals, 59-49.

Trophies will go to the first, second and third place teams in each bracket, as well as to consolation winners.

In addition, individual awards will go to six all-tournament girls, five all-star boys, to one boy adjudged the outstanding player of his division and to the outstanding forward and guard in the girls' bracket.

Admission prices have been pegged at 50 and 25 cents per session.

Plenty of concessions will be available at the tournament site. Woodley has advised the Daily Herald.

Jockeys Fastidious With Their Dress

MIAMI (AP) — Jockeys are particular about their pants, and if you think that doesn't present a problem, ask Mrs. John D. Sheehy.

For 15 years this motherly-looking, middle-aged widow with a Tennessee twang in her voice has outfitted America's leading riders and her colors have been on everything from cheap claimers to Kentucky Derby winners.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Don Robbins, the local football mentor, dropped in on the Amarillo Tascosa dressing room after the Rebels' victory over San Angelo last Saturday and was surprised at the size of Pat Harkins, Tascosa's fine quarterback.

Don says Harkins dripping wet wouldn't weigh more than 150 pounds. Pat, who put the lie to claims that a modern T quarterback has to be tall and rangy, is the heart and soul of Tascosa's offense.

According to Robbins, the Rebels deserved their victory over San Angelo. The Rebels drove 34 and 77 yards for their TDs, at a time they trailed in the ball game.

Robbins came close to getting Don Meredith here to speak for tonight's banquet honoring the Big Spring Steers. Meredith would have flown out for the party, had he been able to get clearance from his club, the Dallas Cowboys of the NFL. However, the Cowboys are to sky to St. Louis early tomorrow for the final game of the 1963 season and Don's bosses were afraid he would miss the plane.

Boyd Converse, who brought a Paris Junior College basketball team here several years ago to play HJC, recently succeeded Carl Ellis as head football coach at Kilgore Junior College.

Converse quit a job as the assistant basketball mentor at Baylor to go to Kilgore.

The city of Lubbock will have played host to six playoff football games by this weekend and could conceivably be the site of a state championship contest next week. If Petersburg succeeds in defeating Albany this week, the Petersburg coaches likely will designate Lubbock as their "home field" when it comes time to choose a spot for the final game.

ENMU of Portales, N.M., where ex-Big Springer B. B. Lees is one of the coaches, finished its 1963 football season with a 6-4 record.

The Greyhounds had their star player, Pete Jaquess, signed by the Houston Oilers of the AFL. Houston could have picked up a sleeper in the boy, who gained 677 yards in 106 attempts for a 6.4-yard average over the year. Jaquess led his team in five of seven categories, including scoring. He crossed the goal line 17 times for 182 points.

Here's how the playoff football games look this weekend:

AMARILLO TASCOSA 22, Garland 15. Too much Pat Harkins and desire on the part of the entire Rebel team.

CORPUS CHRISTI MILLER 20, Spring Branch 12. It will be quite a feather in the cap of District 2-AAAA, should Miller go ahead and win the state title, since Miller lost to Odessa Permian.

GRAHAM 27, Corsicana 7. This Graham club isn't very deep in reserves, but it makes use of all its talent.

LAMARQUE 18, Pharr-San Juan-Alamo 7. Pharr-San Juan-Alamo has been getting past opponents by the skin of its teeth too long now. LaMarque will remain unbeaten.

DALHART 21, Rockwall 8. Dalhart looks to be the class of the classification.

MISSOURI CITY DULLES 13, Liberty 8. Just a hunch.

ALBANY 15, Petersburg 0. More poise in the playoffs.

HALLSVILLE 8, George West 6. A close one.

Banquet Tonight Honors Steers

The public gets an opportunity to break bread with one of the most successful Big Spring High School football teams in history at 7 o'clock this evening.

The Quarterback Club is honoring the gridders but the public will be opened to the party. Tickets for the banquet, priced at $2 each, are on sale at the Daily Herald office. The meal will be served at the Cosden Country Club.

Following the supper, a dance featuring live hand music will be staged for the gridders and their dates.

Capt. Ewing Werlein Jr., who is in the legal department at Webb AFB, will be the principal speaker at tonight's banquet. A native of Houston, Capt. Werlein is a graduate of Southern Methodist University and the University of Texas Law School.

Player of the Year certificates will go to a back and a lineman of the 1963 club. The awards are made annually by the sports staff of the Daily Herald.

New co-captains of the QBC, J. D. Stiehl and Frank Sabbato, will be introduced. They succeed Omar Jones and Herb Smith.

Coaches of the gridders will be guests of the club along with the athletes and cheer leaders of the school. One of the mentors will be delegated the job of introducing the boys and the girls.

Co-captain Jones of the QBC says a good meal will be served to the gathering.

This is the first of two banquets planned for the footballers. The other will be held by the Downtown Lions Club early next year.

Tickets will be available at the door tonight until the supply is exhausted. Jones stated this morning. Those who have waited to purchase ducats should get there before 7 p.m., however, Jones emphasized.

St. Louis Hawks Kayoed By Celtics, 104 To 95

By The Associated Press

Add another under-100 defensive performance to Boston's total, and, of course, another victory.

The Celtics played their 21st game Wednesday night, and for the ninth time this season held the opposition under 100. St. Louis was the latest victim, 104-95, as the Hawks dropped behind Los Angeles in second place in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association.

Defense is the reason the Celtics have an amazing 19-2 record. In the two games they lost—both to Cincinnati—the Royals went over the 100-mark. Boston, meanwhile, has been held under 100 only once, by Cincinnati. The Celtics, however, won that one.

metals and bolts of silk and nylon in all colors.

In addition to jockey pants and caps, Mrs. Sheehy turns out shirts in the colors of thoroughbred stables and blinker hoods for horses.

While much of Mrs. Sheehy's business comes by telephone, telegram or mail, many jockeys call in person to get their pants and insist on a perfect fit from waistband to ankles. They sell for $35 a pair.

The pants must be fitted so they won't sag when the jockey walks out into the paddock but won't bind when he mounts a spirited thoroughbred and draws his knees up under his chin. There must be room to pump those tiny legs in the heat of competition, too.

The pants are made without belt loops or pockets, with an adjustable strap in back and buttons in front. The tops are of nylon but they're elastic from calf to ankle and fit snugly around the lower leg.

A rule of The Jockey Club calls for riders to wear helmets, and Mrs. Sheehy makes caps to fit these.

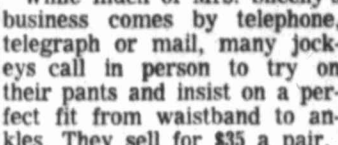

Shirts are made in one size full in the shoulders with ample room for action. If the sleeves are too long, the boys tuck them up with rubber bands around the wrists.

Nell Sheehy once worked in a garment factory in her home town of Milan, Tenn., and John Sheehy owned horses. After their marriage they traveled from track to track by trailer.

Every time they pulled into a trailer park, word spread that a seamstress had joined the colony. At Narragansett Park in Massachusetts she made some jockey pants for Frank Harris, a valet.

This led to other orders and when Sheehy's health failed, he sold his horses and said to his wife, "You make the pants and I'll sell 'em."

Sheehy died in October, 1951, but Mrs. Sheehy was encouraged to stay in business.

GEORGE HALAS
NFL Coach of Year

Halas Covets Second Title

CHICAGO (AP) — George Halas, the frisky, 68-year-old Papa Bear, has won one title, but would like another.

He's working on it.

In the midst of Halas' preparations for a likely do-or-die finale against the Detroit Lions Sunday for the Western Division title, Papa Bear was voted Coach of the Year in the National Football League by an Associated Press panel of sports writers and sportscasters from the 14 NFL cities.

If the Bears defeat the Lions, they will clinch the Western crown with an 11-1-2 record and be host to the NFL championship game at Wrigley Field against the Eastern champion—New York or Pittsburgh—Dec. 29.

If the Bears lose, and Green Bay wins Saturday at San Francisco, the Packers will snatch the Western title from the Bears, who have held or shared first place since the season started Sept. 15.

"Let's not talk about Sunday at the moment," said Halas when informed of his selection. "This is a great tribute which I sincerely appreciate," continued the NFL pioneer and pro Hall of Fame member. "But I am custodian of the honor only because of the splendid job done by our players and coaching staff."

Particularly, this honor reflects the tremendous performance by our defense which, I believe, now leads in 10 of the league's 13 defensive categories.

Would a sectional championship (the Bears' first since 1956) or even a league title (first since 1946) lead Halas into retirement?

"Let's cross that bridge when we come to it," said Halas, who has been associated with the Bears for 44 seasons.

Sands Tourney Begins Today

ACKERLY—With eight teams in the field in each bracket, the annual Sands Invitational Basketball tournament gets under way here today.

The race for the championship appears to be wide open in the boys' division. Stanton, Forsan and Westbrook will likely make serious runs on the championship.

In the girls' division, Forsan is a slight favorite to win in all, but faces strong competition from Sands, which is in the opposite bracket.

Pairings:

GIRLS DIVISION
Westbrook vs. Stanton, 8:20 p.m., Thursday; Forsan vs. Stanton, 4:45 p.m., Thursday; McCarty vs. Sands, 7:15 p.m., Thursday; Flower, Grove vs. Irs, 7:30 p.m., Friday.

BOYS DIVISION
Westbrook vs. Stanton, 8:30 p.m., Thursday; Forsan vs. Irs, 8:45 p.m., Thursday; Coahoma vs. Sands, 8:45 p.m., Thursday; Stanton vs. Irs, 1:45 p.m., Friday.

Championship finals are scheduled for 7:45 p.m. and 8:30 p.m., Saturday.

SMU Star Wins Punting Title

NEW YORK (AP) — It's getting to be a habit at Southern Methodist and Arkansas coming up with the national punting and punt-return champions.

Final season statistics by the NCAA Service Bureau today showed that Danny Thomas of SMU won the major college punting championship with an average of 44 yards for 48 kicks. He is the third SMU player to win the kicking title.

Cookie Gilchrist Is AFL Player Of Week

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Cookie Gilchrist, who says he never has been interested in breaking records but does, won't say whether he expects to smash a few more Saturday.

The 248-pound Buffalo Bills fullback named American Football League Player of the Week Wednesday by The Associated Press, goes against the New York Jets—the same team he almost single-handedly pulverized Sunday in War Memorial Stadium. Buffalo won 45-14.

The second meeting will be in the Polo Grounds in New York City.

Gilchrist was sitting on the bench in the fourth quarter of Sunday's game when the announcement was made that he needed only 32 yards to break the AFL's single-game rushing record.

"I didn't have any reaction," he recalled Wednesday. "I would have preferred to have Jesse Murdock stay in but (Coach Lou) Saban ordered me back into the game."

Murdock, signed by the Bills Nov. 1, had replaced Gilchrist only a few minutes earlier.

"When I got into the huddle, (quarterback Daryle) Lamonica told me 'We're going to get you those 32 yards,'" Gilchrist said.

He picked up 16. On the next play, he carried 43 yards to the Jets' six but a penalty nullified the run.

"I didn't feel rejected," Gilchrist said. "I felt that if Lamonica gave me another chance I could get those yards."

Lamonica did, time and time again. When Gilchrist left the game in the final minutes, he had run 36 times for 243 yards, an all-pro mark and 27 yards better than the previous AFL effort.

Gilchrist also scored five touchdowns rushing, an AFL record, as was the number of carries.

Other stars in last weekend's AFL action included Oakland's Art Powell and Cotton Davidson, and Kansas City's Dave Grayson and Sherrill Hendrick.

SHELTER MANAGEMENT COURSE
Men learn how to take charge in event of disaster

Exercise In Management Of Shelters Critiqued

The four-day course in shelter management being conducted at the Settles Hotel concludes today with critique of a shelter exercise held Wednesday night.

Course instructors are Dr. W. D. Bodine, Milton Don Timberlake and Clark Titus, of the Texas A&M Extension Service. The university has a contract with the Department of Defense, Office of Civil Defense, for conducting the course. Mrs. Christine Unger, education specialist with the OCD's Region 5 office in Denton, also is one of the instructors.

SHELTER MANAGERS
The purpose of the course is to train selected individuals as shelter manager instructors. Graduates will be qualified to train shelter managers and their staffs.

The shelter exercise Wednesday night provided practical experience in organizing a shelter staff and use of shelter supplies and equipment. Some 50 persons from area towns, including Big Spring, participated in the exercise. They simulated the conditions which would exist in a shelter during an emergency situation, coping with personal and social problems of shelter living.

SIMULATE ATTACK
The simulated attack began Wednesday afternoon, and instructors appointed Murray Cannon shelter manager. He organized teams to solve the various needs of shelter life. All of the equipment and supplies which normally are found in a shelter were available to the trainees. There were geiger counters, radios, food and first aid kits, and a log was kept of the simulated problems.

The course began Monday with instruction in weapons effects, protection against weapons effects and community shelter systems. Tuesday's program was devoted to study of shelter organizations and staff requirements, shelter supplies and equipment, and shelter operation and exercise.

Wednesday night's exercise was preceded by instruction in shelter living and planning and administering shelter management training programs.

W. W. Brown took over management of the shelter at 9:30 p.m. Wednesday. The critique of the exercise scheduled for today will conclude the training. Participants included shelter managers, Civil Defense officials, city officials and others interested in the problems of shelter management in Civil Defense.

Police Revoke Dancing Permit

Police Chief Jay Banks Wednesday said the dancing permit for Tommy's Cafe, U. S. 50 west, has been revoked. The owner has 10 days in which to appeal to the City Commission, he said.

The cafe was the scene of a scuffle last Monday night in which T. E. Hopper, 37, Snyder, received a stab wound in the back, police said. Hopper was treated at Howard County Hospital Foundation and Clinic for the wound, and he was released Tuesday night.

Harold Ray Anderton, 20, Coahoma man who was arrested Tuesday in connection with the stabbing, posted $3,500 bond and was released from county jail. Bond was set in Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter's Court.

Police said Anderton signed a statement in which he admitted knifing Hopper during the scuffle at the cafe. The charge against Anderton is assault with intent to commit murder.

75 MILES
Ford put in a bid. Word leaked out from Ford headquarters that he would build a city 75 miles long in the South, that he would manufacture everything from auto parts to textiles.

When Ford and his friend, inventor Thomas A. Edison, made an inspection tour to Muscle Shoals in Ford's private railroad car, enthusiastic crowds greeted them.

Critics said the price Ford proposed to pay for a 100-year lease on public property was skimpy. As part of his proposed payments, Ford said he would turn into the U. S. Treasury an annual sum of $46,547. Ford suggested that if the government

TVA Again Edges Into U. S. Politics

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Tennessee Valley Authority, which has been praised as a vast wonderwork for the people's benefit and denounced as a socialistic menace—is a bone of contention once more in national politics.

The betting in Washington is that no matter how the political wars come out, TVA will proceed on its way, unsold, undismembered, untouched in any major way. It is that popular with a lot of people in seven Southern and border states.

The issue, which has been center stage off and on for 45 years, bobbed up again when Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said he favors selling the giant federal corporation that provides electric power at bargain rates, flood control, navigation channels and other services.

STATEMENT
The outcry from TVA's friends was such that Goldwater issued a five-page statement, amplifying and clarifying his stand.

Over the years since 1918, the argument over TVA has involved such names as Presidents Calvin Coolidge, Herbert Hoover, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Dwight D. Eisenhower; Henry Ford and Sen. George W. Norris of Nebraska.

would put this in a bank that would pay 4 per cent interest, compounded semi-annually, the result after a century would be a multi-million dollar fund that would amortize the cost of the power facilities.

WITHDREW
After long fighting in Congress, Ford withdrew his offer with a blast at "Wall Street bankers."

Power and chemical companies made rival bids and struggled for years in Congress. The result was a standoff.

Meantime, Norris was in there pitching. A progressive Republican who later changed his label to independent, Norris was a plugger for public power. He was also an expert in congressional maneuver, including the tactic of delay and filibuster.

Seeing no immediate chance to attain his heart's desire—the multipurpose development by the government of the Tennessee River watershed—he got Congress to approve government operation of Muscle Shoals. Coolidge gave this the pocket veto treatment in 1928.

HOOVER VETO
Another bill pushed by Norris was vetoed in 1931 by Hoover with the statement that putting the government into business "is not liberalism, it is degeneration."

Then came the depression, the defeat of Hoover by Roosevelt, and Norris' dream came true. A multipurpose TVA was enacted in the fast-action "first 100 days" of the Roosevelt regime.

On the Tennessee, which flows 650 miles from Knoxville, Tenn., to Paducah, Ky., and on its tributaries, TVA now has 32 dams, plus huge steam plants generating electricity. TVA's many other functions range from reforestation to disease control.

Wendell Willkie, unsuccessful Republican candidate for president in 1940, once tangled spectacularly with TVA. That was in the 1930s when Willkie was president of Commonwealth & Southern, a huge utility holding company. The fight ended when TVA paid Willkie's company $78.6 million for its Tennessee properties.

SOCIALISM
Eisenhower once called TVA creeping socialism. But he said recently he did not favor selling it. This would be fine in theory, he said, but if it actually happened, "Those portions of the South that are reached by the TVA would be completely bewildered and would be very, very antagonistic."

The late President John F. Kennedy recently glibly at Goldwater with the remark that, "I do not believe that selling TVA is a program to put people to work."

Goldwater said he never meant to propose putting a "for sale" sign outside TVA offices. He said taxpayers could save millions and get better service if much of TVA's work were turned over to states, private investors and government agencies other than TVA.

FBI Pushes Search For Kidnapers

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The FBI dispatched a dozen men to the San Fernando Valley north of Los Angeles during the night, arousing speculation that agents might be on the trail of suspects in the Frank Sinatra Jr. kidnaping case.

The FBI acknowledged it had men in the area but wouldn't say what they were doing.

Newsman learned through police that several residents of the area telephoned the West Valley Police Station, saying men believed to be FBI agents were checking houses on one street and stopping cars at intersections in the same neighborhood.

NOT TOLD

Officer Gene Radomski of the West Valley division of the Los Angeles police department said it was "strictly an FBI operation." He said police hadn't been told the nature of the FBI activity but assumed it was connected with the Sinatra case.

Wednesday, after Sinatra Jr. was returned to his family for $240,000 ransom, Los Angeles Police Chief William H. Parker complained his department was left completely in the dark on developments in the case.

AS A TEAM

"This is the first time in my memory that we have been faced with probable criminal activity in the city of Los Angeles and have been unable to (respond)," Parker said at a news conference. "We have always worked as a team with law enforcement agencies."

Parker said he didn't want to interfere with the FBI. "I'm sure they had adequate reason for not bringing us in," he said. "I am just pointing out our position. I am concerned with the criticism we may ultimately receive in a case which we have been deprived of any opportunity to solve."

LAKE TAHOE

Sinatra Jr., a slender, 19-year-old who has followed his father's footsteps by undertaking a singing career, was abducted by two armed men Sunday night from his motel room at a Lake Tahoe resort on the California-Nevada border. He had a singing engagement at a casino there.

Fifty-four hours later, after his father arranged to have $240,000 planted at a pickup point in West Los Angeles, Sinatra Jr. was released on a freeway about two miles from his mother's home in the Bel-Air section of Los Angeles.

The youth told newsmen later he was kept blindfolded during his captivity but "wasn't harmed at all."

He said he cannot discuss details of the abduction until the FBI finishes questioning him.

FB Defeats Soil Bank Ban

CHICAGO (AP) — The American Farm Bureau Federation's annual convention headed for adjournment today after turning back a proposal to seek repeal of a controversial $250 million soil subsidy program for farmers.

This program, authorized in 1936, has been making government payments to farmers for carrying out approved soil and water conservation practices. The practice of making payments for application of fertilizer, lime and seed at a time when too much was being grown has been criticized for years.

After a lengthy debate, the delegates voted Wednesday to stand by last year's resolution which pledged the big farm organization to work for legislation and administrative regulations that would limit payments to permanent type conservation practices, such as terracing, leveling and irrigating cropland and the building of stock ponds and wildlife refuges.

On the big agricultural issues of crop controls, price supports, compensatory payments to growers for reducing production, the delegates voted to reaffirm last year's platform directing the organization's officials to seek a greatly reduced government role in farming.

The convention was expected to re-elect without opposition its two top leaders — President Charles Shuman, an Illinois farmer, and Vice President Walter Randolph, an Alabama farm leader.

Quebec Earth Slide Buries 4 Brothers; Others Saved

ST. JOACHUM DE TOURELLE, Que. (AP) — A huge earth movement Wednesday night swallowed up four brothers in a truck and three hillside homes, demolished a highway bridge and carried four other homes into the St. Lawrence River on a sea of mud.

Except for the brothers, no other deaths were reported in the sudden earth shift in this small Gaspé Peninsula community 275 miles northeast of Quebec. But the situation was so confused that officials said there may have been more fatalities.

A pit 150 feet deep and a half square mile in area was opened in the Tourelle Creek Valley 300 to 1,000 feet above the Gaspé Highway.

CAR LOST

Quebec provincial police said a car also was swallowed up by the earth movement but that its occupants—a couple—were pulled out of the mud by rope.

The truck carrying the brothers vanished. They were identified as Johnny Therrien, 32, and his brothers, Raymond, 28; Benoit, 22, and Onesime, 20.

Constable Martin Gauthier said fishermen in three boats rescued at least six persons from the houses swept into the river. No other occupants were believed lost.

TREMBLING

The disaster came at 5:30 p.m. with a trembling of the earth. An elderly woman whose house was carried away said she barely had time to lift up the telephone and ask the operator to get help. Within moments water swirled up to her knees. She fled the dwelling just before it was swept away amid chunks of earth as big as the house.

The giant earth movement also tore up a portion of a secondary road on which the truck and car were traveling. The thick grey mud moved down the hillside into the bed of Tourelle Creek and into the St. Lawrence River.

GASPE BRIDGE

On its way it knocked out the 50-foot Gaspé Highway bridge that crosses the creek just before it feeds into the St. Lawrence.

It was a near-zero, stormy night and police had to use ski-equipped vehicles.

A Red Cross volunteer from nearby Ste. Anne Des Monts described the disaster scene.

"There was a gap in the highway. No one could get across. People were standing on both sides, scared and afraid. There were no light, no telephones, nothing. It was terrible, very, very cold and windy."

SPOTLIGHTS

"I spoke with the police and they put spotlights on two houses floating in the St. Lawrence River. Later, two more were carried down the creek into the river."

A provincial surveyor, Gilbert Sasseville, said the earth movement may have been caused by an underground lake. He said there had been landslides in the area before.

Dedication Set

A Devotional For The Day

He that hath seen me hath seen the Father. (John 14:9)

PRAYER: O God, our Father, we offer Thee our love and gratitude. We thank Thee for Thy Son through whom Thou, the invisible and most high, becamest visible to mortal man. Through Him who is the way, the truth and the life we pray. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

On Its Way Out

In one last successful effort to continue the bracero program, Sen. Allen J. Ellender asked just for "one more year." If the program would be extended for one more year, Ellender said he would not take part in any further extensions.

Ellender argues that farmers need one more year to adjust themselves to the use of domestic laborers or turn as much as possible to mechanization. Observant farmers have been able to read the signs before now, signs that Congress would certainly not continue an agreement indefinitely by which Mexican citizens were imported to this country to compete directly with rather than supplement citizen workers.

In pleading for this last extension

Ellender made another special plea: Do not amend the bill to require employers to offer domestic farm labor most of the benefits guaranteed foreign workers by the U.S. Mexican agreement. The Senate accepted this amendment in August, but the House deleted it and the measure is now back in the Senate. The amendment, Ellender said, "would have the effect of more or less killing the bill." The Senate agreed not to reinstate the amendment.

Yet what could be more reasonable than that United States citizens be granted the same wages, hours, working conditions and benefits as those guaranteed to alien workers? No one can seriously contend that we should treat aliens better than we treat Americans.

Uncertain But Current Best Hope

Expropriation of U. S.-owned oil properties by Argentina probably destroys any hope that private U. S. capital, in effective quantities, will be available to build up the economies of Latin America. The implications of this conclusion are far reaching.

It must be conceded—as the Department of State already has—that a sovereign government has the power to nationalize industries owned by foreigners or its own citizens. But it also follows that the nationalizing government must make prompt, fair payment for the properties taken over—something that Mexico did only after a long delay and something that Cuba has never attempted to do.

Other Americans may as well realize, too, that Latin Americans are exceptionally sensitive to the presence of large foreign holdings in their country—industrial or otherwise. Instead of accepting foreign investments as a form of partnership dedicated to the development of the country, Latin Americans tend to consider the presence of large forms of foreign investment as economic colonialism. Even if we find it difficult to understand, this needs to be kept in mind. A form of Marshall Plan assistance through the Alliance for Progress now appears to be the only major alternative to development by private U. S. capital. Even here, it would be best to proceed indirectly in the opinion of Alberto Lleras Camargo, former president of Colombia.

"The newly formed Inter-American Development Committee may be the means of solving the existing misunderstandings which harass and hinder the march of this (spirit of Punta del Este) policy and counteract its beneficial effects on the hemisphere," Camargo wrote in the current issue of Foreign Affairs.

Are the American people prepared to consider their commitment to the Alliance for Progress as a long-term investment in the development of Latin America? If not, the noble sentiments which brought the alliance into being will be swept away with the winds of change. Furthermore, there can be no guarantee whatsoever that the plan, an alternative to communism in one sense, will succeed at this moment however, it seems to be the only hopeful alternative.

Commercial Limitation Form Of Control

WASHINGTON — One of the most dangerous tendencies nowadays is the inclination to deal with any inconvenience in the life of the nation by saying, "Let the government take care of it." Yet this is the very difference between a government that can lead eventually to destruction of individual initiative and enterprise in the community.

The latest example of this trend is the announced determination of the Federal Communications Commission to regulate what shall be presented to the people on radio or television. No such power is really granted under the Constitution to any governmental agency. The FCC insists it is not applying censorship but merely fixing "standards," yet the very word furnishes a device for governmental intrusion whenever it pleases. A subcommittee of the House Commerce Committee has just approved a bill to prohibit the commission from wielding any such power, but the FCC is holding hearings nevertheless in the belief that it does have this authority.

Just now the controversy is centering on how many "commercials" can be used in connection with a given program. Offhand, this might seem a plausible regulation. The average person doesn't like to have his radio or television programs interrupted so much and, on the surface, it would appear logical that the FCC should have control over commercials. But those who acquiesce in the use of such authority haven't stopped to examine just what is involved, especially the possibility that television and radio can be materially weakened by governmental intervention.

If there are too many commercials, for instance, the public has the right to decline to listen to them, and the advertisers could soon discover that they are not getting the sales results they anticipated. This is the natural way for the subject to be dealt with under a free-enterprise system.

If, however, the government is to step in and regulate media of expression, the responsibility for a business failure that may ensue is not going to be assumed by the government.

THE COMMERCIALS which sustain a radio or television program furnish the money to pay for the overhead of the station, the cost of the various stations and their personnel, and the cost of the services of the many individuals employed in the actual production of shows. The whole operation involves the delicate question of price-making by the broadcasting companies.

THIS CONSTITUTES governmental interference with price-making by a private enterprise. It negates the principle of the whole free-enterprise system. It is argued, of course, that radio and television are different, because the air waves are controlled by the government. But this is tantamount to saying that, because the government builds the highways, it may determine how often certain cars can use such thoroughfares or at what prices the goods transported thereon are to be sold.

If the government is to take over everything connected with the air waves just because it was originally given the power to prevent collision of frequencies or to regulate mechanical operations on the air due to the limited number of wave lengths, then in the end government control can be envisaged for every form of publication—including the printed word—on the theory that the government transports the publication in the mails. Public indifference is the usual reason why government gets deeper and deeper in control of private enterprise.

Billy Graham

It seems to me in these days there is so much sorrow, fear, and anxiety. There just seems to be an epidemic of trouble in the world we live in. It would seem that after two thousand years of Christianity that the world would be better than it is. D. R. I believe it was Dean Inge who said: "Christianity has not failed; it has not been tried." In my judgment this is the reason why there is so much unrest among individuals and nations—we have tried to build a world without God. You see, man was not made to live separated from God. We were made for His fellowship and communion. But, in our independence, we would like to "do it all by ourselves," and depend on our own self-sufficiency.

Jesus said: "Except we are converted and become as little children, we shall in no wise enter the kingdom of heaven." Little children are dependent; they are trusting, and they are humble.

A little child being put to bed by her mother was afraid. "Is the moon God's light?" she asked. "Yes," answered her mother. "Will God blow out His light and go to sleep?" was the next childish question, and the mother said: "No, my child, God never goes to sleep." Then in the child-like faith, the child said, "Well, so long as God is awake, I'm not afraid." This kind of faith can dissolve our doubts and anxiety.

Age Questions Loom In Succession Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — The important problem of age gets scant notice down through the generations as constitutional experts argue a question as old as the Constitution itself.

Who should succeed to the presidency if there is no president or vice president? Should it be a member of Congress? Should it be a member of the president's Cabinet, starting with the secretary of state?

You can do arithmetic which will show that over the past 30 years, on the average, the secretary of state was younger when he began his job than the speaker of the House or the Senate's president pro tempore.

THEN YOU run into an old truism: It's not just a question of age but how good a man is at whatever his age happens to be. Right now age is getting attention because under present law next in line behind President Johnson for the presidency, if he died, are two aging men:

House Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass., and Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., the Senate's president pro tempore.

McCormack is almost 72; Hayden is 86.

NEITHER could be accurately described as a ball of fire. There were reports Wednesday that both might step down to let younger men be in line if anything happened to Johnson.

But when a reporter asked McCormack about it, he stormed out, saying: "Is there no limit to decency?" He had previously said he favors the present arrangement which puts him next in line for the White House.

And in the Senate, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana not only defended Hayden but practically called him a monument.

UNDER LAW for 94 years, from 1792 until 1886, this was the line of succession: The Senate's president pro tempore and then the House speaker.

Under a change in the law and for 61 years, from 1886 until 1947, this was the succession: the members of the Cabinet, starting with secretary of state. The law was changed again in 1947 and for the past 16 years this has been the succession: the speaker of the House, the Senate's president pro tempore, and then the Cabinet, starting with the secretary of state.

The average age of the Cabinet which Johnson took over from President Kennedy — in contrast to McCormack's 71 years and Hayden's 86—is 49 years. Secretary of State Dean Rusk is 54.

FOR THE past 30 years the average age at which a secretary of state took office—there were eight secretaries in that time—was 58.

In that same 30-year period the average age of the House speakers when they became speaker—there have been six—was 64.

But the picture gets a little mixed when it is remembered that some men stay on and on in a job, getting older, but still highly capable.

Tryon Impresses With Honesty

NEW YORK (AP)—The honesty of Tom Tryon, who may be Hollywood's next big star, is as impressive as his acting ability. A year ago Tom, who is 6 feet 4, dark and handsome, was a good journeyman actor well-known to movie and television producers, but comparatively unknown to the public.

Then Otto Preminger picked him over 20 other candidates for one of the best roles on the movie horizon for some time.

THE TITLE role in "The Cardinal" is in "The Cardinal." After viewing some of the early scenes, Preminger signed Tryon, who looks much like Bishop Sheen and Sir Laurence Olivier, for five more films.

Tom is neither Irish nor Catholic. He is of Dutch-English descent, and as a youth in Hartford, Conn., attended a typical New England Congregational church. "You know, big, white steeple, white pillars, and hard seats."

ALTHOUGH fascinated by the ritual of the Catholic Church, Tryon said his experience in portraying "The Cardinal" had not made him any more religious.

"I'm in no sense a convert," he said frankly. "But after President Kennedy's death — I don't usually go to church too often—I felt the need of being in one, and I went into a Catholic church, and I lit a candle for him."

"I felt at home there," he said.

TOM, WHO studied painting at Yale University, spent three years in the Navy. He didn't decide to become an actor until after he had tried a few walk-on parts in a summer stock company and performed such other theatrical chores as holding up television cue cards. After an apprenticeship on Broadway, Tom worked in about 10 films and more than a hundred television shows before Preminger, who has always had a canny eye for a promising newcomer, gave him the biggest break of his career.

"Television gives you the chance to learn to act in front of 10 million people," Tryon said. "But the trouble with it is that the industry has become too imitative. As soon as anyone comes up with a bright new idea, everyone else rushes in and tries to copy it."

"NOW IT is just rubber stamping saunas," Tom said that one of the funniest things about his recent fame came when a fan magazine writer asked him to name "all the disasters in your life, such as whether your mother ever fell down the stairs, and things like that."

When Tryon couldn't think of any, he said the writer finally asked him in desperation: "Well, didn't you at least have acne when you were a kid?"

To Your Good Health

Asthma Is Not A Single, Specific Disease

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D. Dear Dr. Molner: What about asthma? Is it contagious? Could it be closely associated with TB?—MRS. J. B.

No, it is not contagious. Asthma isn't a single, specific disease. It may arise from a variety of disorders.

Asthma means difficulty in breathing — coughing, gasping for breath, wheezing. The air passages are contracted, swollen or otherwise obstructed. The patient has a hard time both in inhaling and in exhaling.

In some cases hereditary factors are at least partly responsible, and the victim is more sensitive to ordinary irritants. Asthma, of course, can result from infection, but this is usually a temporary condition. Chronic asthma far more often is the result of allergy—dust, pollen, animal danders, or any number of things. Yes, medicines, too.

Particularly among children, food allergies should be suspected, and these allergies, while they may right themselves, may also persist. Such ordinarily healthful foods as wheat, eggs and milk are common offenders. The important thing is to find out what foods bring on an attack, and then avoid them.

Some of our most useful drugs also can cause allergic reactions in sensitized people — aspirin, penicillin, etc. Thus a physician asks a good many questions about whether some change in medication has coincided with the appearance of asthma.

Finally psychological conflicts or tensions are known to be associated with many asthma attacks. Note my term, "associated with." There is considerable reason to believe that asthma is the result of several factors instead of just one.

Fortunately there are drugs, such as ephedrine or possibly an antihistamine, which can be given to relieve an acute attack, and relax and open the air passages. In extreme cases oxygen may be given, too. Frightening as acute asthma can be, an attack usually can thus be halted before it threatens life. But after that, it is important to begin searching methodically for the various influences which can touch off further attacks.

Dear Dr. Molner: My two-year-old daughter has had asthmatic bronchitis for two winters. Our family doctor thinks she is young enough so that in six months it will be an allergy to something else anyway and wants to wait. Would I be wrong in taking her to a pediatrician for tests? I can't see her suffer another winter if she can be helped at all.—MRS. C. M. J.

Some childhood asthma tends to moderate. In severe cases, it is not so likely to do so. You would not be out of order in telling your doctor you would like to consult a specialist, perhaps a pediatrician, or perhaps an allergist.

Dear Dr. Molner: What are peptic ulcers?—MRS. L. W.

Peptic ulcers are those which are (or may be) irritated by pepsin or other digestive juices. Hence they are ulcers in the stomach or the adjoining duodenum. Duodenal ulcers are more common, as well as less dangerous, than stomach (or gastric) ulcers. Gastric ulcers have a much greater likelihood of being malignant.

Around The Rim

A Belly Full Of Nothing

Bolivia, once again, is in the news. Like many South American countries, the foment of revolution has never quite stilled since the yoke of Spain was thrown off.

A fellow newsmen I knew some years ago, was literally in love with the country. On two occasions he spent over a year there and came to like the people, if not their rulers.

MANY STORIES he tells from that country are quite different from those most often heard here. And as I read the dispatches from the current crisis, I can't help but remember some of his comments on the problems.

For instance, the present problems are said to be hinged on the Communist tin miners. There are not many Communists in Bolivia, he told me. But there are many hungry people, most of them aboriginal Indians. He said a handful of Communists often can gather together a small army of Indians in a demonstration against the government, merely by buying them one meal, or as little as a loaf of bread.

THE COMMUNISTS are rarely killed in such demonstrations, he said, as they flee before the government troops arrive. But some Indians are shot, others are jailed and these don't know what the demonstration was all about.

There is little "middle class" in Bolivia. The people are either of the proper family connections and in the "upper class," or they are destitute Indians working for very small wages in the tin mines. His description of the tin mines and working conditions sounded like something out of Dante.

HE HAD LITTLE to say favorably about the aristocratic leaders of that country. Apparently, they live much as their forebears did, before the time of the republic. There are but two kinds of people, the ruled and the ruler. Although the words "freedom" and "democracy" are used quite often of Bolivia, there apparently is nothing resembling that.

I guess the most horrifying story he told about is a pastime of some aristocrats he knew. On Sunday afternoons, he claimed, they take to their private airplanes and fly over the jungle areas, of which Bolivia has ample. They hunt for Indians, many of whom have never seen a white man, and fire a machine-gun at them from the plane. He declined to participate in this "sport" when invited.

HE HAS MANY stories to tell, all of them incredible to a student of America's fair trial, grand jury, habeas corpus, and other guarantees of freedom. He suggested once that perhaps these are the reasons other countries south of the Rio Grande are constantly having internal turmoil. Those people are hungry, he said. Many of them live and die without ever having one simple rounded meal. Life is merely a waiting between bites.

THE REAL problem, he said, is not between various ideologies. Those people will follow anyone who will promise them something to eat at some regular interval. The Communists were promising when he was there, he said, and the aristocrats were laughing. But he saw no danger of a Communist take-over at that time. They are few and not well financed; the aristocrats have power and are well financed, he explained.

The people in Bolivia need help, he said to me. I wish our country would help them. As it stands, neither side seems to be offering them the one thing they want most—something to eat.

Grandma's Potent Potions

Fie on its critics who say the medicine is behind the times!

Medically, the medicine has just caught up with Grandma, and there were no flies on her! Not on my Grandmother Callaway, certainly.

THE ASSOCIATION has just announced that Grandma's therapy for the common cold is still the best on record. This is no news to Grandmother Callaway's grandchildren, who have always put a lot more faith in her mustard plasters, flaxseed cough medicine and hot toddies than all the cold vaccines and expensive antibiotics on the market. Especially the hot toddies.

In fact, the hot toddies were only served when the patient was in extremis, and had failed to respond, so to speak, to the mustard plasters. There were some of us, however, who felt that anyone who could stand up to and survive one of Grandma's mustard plasters was as good as in the pink.

IT MAY HAVE been that our darling grandmother served up her hot toddy as a reward rather than a specific, although I think not. It was a magnificent brew of equal parts of boiling water and bourbon (if there was any other kind of whiskey in Idaho when I was growing up I never heard of it), sweetened with sugar and laced with lemon.

Grandma, a lady who never touched the stuff herself except in mince meat or plum puddings, didn't spare the bourbon when a hot toddy was indicated. That was when the victim was bedridden and had given up all hope of dying with his or her boots on.

No matter how much the victim was suffering at the moment the toddy was proffered, he was oblivious to mortal pain and toll within 10 to 15 minutes. He/she lay quietly, his face wreathed in a seraphic smile, out like a light.

THAT WAS WHEN Grandma set to work. All the patchwork comforters that her loving fingers had fashioned in previous years were now piled on the invalid. Only his nose was uncovered. It stuck out like an early-day snorkel to enable him to breathe. No Turkish bath ever produced as much live steam.

When the patient woke up—shucks, came to—he was a new man or woman, well on the way to recovery. And the family quart of bourbon was back on the pantry shelf, to remain there until the next batch of sniffling, mince-meat or plum puddings called for treatment.

GRANDMA CURED a cough with a homemade mixture of boiled flaxseed, honey and lemon. It was thick and syrupy, and anyone who thinks it wouldn't stop a cough is crazy. It would stop anything.

And in cold weather, if we kids came in from play with wet feet, out came an old milk pail saved for such occasions. In went boiling water and several tablespoons of dry mustard, stirred into a magic potion. In went our young feet and legs, and there we sat until our flesh was parboiled and the water grew tepid. But we didn't catch cold.

A PAINFUL SWELLING or skin irritation? On went one of Grandma's bread-and-milk poultices. And not so long ago when I was suffering the agonies of the damned from poison ivy—and many years after Grandma had gone to her heavenly reward—what did the high-priced specialist suggest to alleviate the pain and let me get some sleep?

Bread-and-milk poultices!

Worked like a charm, too.

Why, I haven't begun to exhaust Grandma's wonderful common-sense remedies!

And neither has the medical profession. Let it stick to Grandma, and that group has a great future ahead of it.

Some Strive Beyond Their Talents

WASHINGTON, D. C. — "Cousin Swift," said John Dryden to the coming author of "Gulliver's Travels," "you will never be a poet." Jonathan Swift had more sense than most of us, so he gave up verse writing on the advice of an expert and became master of just about the leanest, meanest, keenest prose style in the language. I can't find that he ever pined for rhyme.

BUT OTHERS have striven for accomplishment in fields beyond their talents, sometimes with bizarre results. French Emperor Napoleon III was said to be a superb horseman in the days when he was plain Mr. Louis Bonaparte. A skillful and intrepid steeplechaser, he might have made a name for himself in sports had he not gone off into imperial politics. There he was only a ludicrous imitation of his famous uncle, and the loser in 1870-71 of the war from which France is still striving to recover her grandeur.

THEN THERE'S Richard Nixon, whose name keeps sliding back into presidential lists for 1964. Had some wise kinsman said to Nixon in his formative years, "Cousin Dick, you will never be a statesman," and had Dick heeded, a great deal of brine would have been spared in his own tears and in the sweat of his henchmen. For had Nixon followed his natural bent, and polished his deadly skills as a politician, leaving statesmanship to the statesmen, he might have made a unique name for himself, perhaps the opposite number to Democrat Jim Farley, or perhaps would have become something this country never quite produced—a national political boss.

NIXON AND I reached Washington about the same time, during the life of the 80th Congress. His dagger then was still crimson with the blood of a Demo-Laborite congressman whom he had cut to pieces in Southern California. With superb political acumen Nixon sensed the publicity value of the Hiss case (I never felt he deserved all the credit he claimed; there were other House committee members at work), and in 1950 he left another mortally-wounded Democrat, the actress Helen Gahagan Douglas, behind him as he climbed to the Senate.

BY THIS TIME NIXON'S talents were clearly demonstrated. He could make almost any Left Winger look like a near-Communist, and this included the whole of the Left-leaning national Democratic party of that time. One who recognized the rare value of Nixon's rapier was Thomas Dewey, who saw to it that Nixon joined the Eisenhower ticket in 1952 as a "McCarthy in a white shirt."

But, like plain Mr. Louis Bonaparte, Nixon tried for something beyond his capacity—he tried for statesmanship. Nothing good has happened to Nixon since he began posing as a thinker and a leader. In the 1960 campaign, Lyndon Johnson used to put audiences in stitches with his skits on Nixon in London to visit the Queen, Nixon in Nelson Rockefeller's parlor, Nixon in the kitchen with Khrushchev.

INFANT SOPHISTICATES

Christmas Is A Challenge

NEW YORK (AP)—From the parents' point of view, each Christmas seems an even greater challenge than the one before.

Each Yuletide their socially adjusted, peer - oriented, television - indoctrinated offspring are a year older and several years more sophisticated.

While Dad is still fondly contemplating spinning tops and jack-in-the-boxes for Junior, his little chap off the old block is dropping loaded hints to Mom that he wants a giant cannon or a lion that roars back and roars.

READY OR NOT

Little Susie, judging by when her mother was a moppet, should be about ready for her first wetting doll. But what did Susie list to the department store Santa? She must have a doll that says 216 different things (not 215 or 217) and sport a wardrobe that will make Susie look shabby alongside her (and then Susie must have some new clothes too.)

It's Susie's sister Sally, older by a couple of years, who confides she doesn't really want anything for Christmas but a

Little Mothers

They love giving Bibsy her bottle and then watch her bubble and drool.

LITTLE THINGS COUNT

But the few little things to go with it include parents, boy and girl friends, furniture, houses, automobiles, costumes for every occasion, (and for her friends and relatives too), even her own dress shop which naturally should be well-stocked. Daddy will probably pick up Sally's Christmas presents last of all—the way from the bank's personal loan department.

Most parents, though, have learned to live with the inescapable truth that everything costs a tidy sum these days. Their chief concern often is whether a specific toy is both fun and good for the young one's little psyche. This year the toy range is wider than ever—from war to peace to jungle safaris—with the usual building sets and bicycles thrown in.

What do parents do? Well, suggest some psychologists, concentrate on the fun and the psyche will take care of it.

Fora Club Has Party At Inn

Spoudazio Fora Study Club members and their husbands met in the Patio Room of Holiday Inn Tuesday evening for dinner and a holiday party. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bizzell.

Twenty-four, served at the buffet, were seated at a U-shaped table where centerpieces were formed of mixed flowers in orange and tangerine tones. Secret pal gifts, placed beneath a lighted silver and green tree, were distributed by Mrs. J. M. Hill. Also, gifts were exchanged between Mrs. Bill Coleman, president, and members.

Following the dinner, the group adjourned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Cofer, 1707 Settles, for a social hour.

The holiday affair was arranged by members of the social committee, Mrs. Ennis Cochran, Mrs. Jo Bright and Mrs. Hill.

Gift Presented To Mrs. J. Hamberg

A farewell gift was presented to Mrs. John Hamberg Wednesday evening when the Bunclo Club met in the home of Mrs. Charles Campbell, 2900 Parkway Rd. Mrs. Hamberg is moving soon with her husband to California.

High score and most buncos were won by Mrs. Billy Holder. Second prize went to Mrs. Clifford Kobi and consolation to Mrs. Hamberg, Mrs. Carl Carlson won the floating and Mrs. Wendell Campbell the low prizes.

Following the games, gifts were exchanged. A Christmas cloth covered the refreshment table where candies were based in red and green pointsettias. The hostess presided at the silver coffee service.

Mrs. Harold Dietrich, 255-A March, will be hostess when the club meets at 7 p.m. Jan. 8.

Praise Proclaimed In Song Precedes Tea

"All My Soul This Night Rejoices" was the opening hymn for the Music Study Club's Christmas program Wednesday at the First Presbyterian Church. Following the program, members and guests attended a tea in the home of Mrs. Carl Marcum, 1506 Dayton.

The opening selection, sung by members and guests, was the Hymn of the Month with text by Paul Gerhardt and melody by Ebelling and Johann Georg. An oboe solo by Mrs. Douglas Wiehe was the Pastoral Symphony from the Messiah by Handel.

The program continued with Sticks' "The Angel's Song," sung by Mrs. Don Newsom; Brahms' "Lo, How a Rose 'Er Blooming," by organist, Mrs. Max Maguire; "Gesu Bambino" by Von, sung by Mrs. Rene Brown; a piano presentation, Variations On O Sanctissima, played by Mrs. James L. Manes; an Appalachian carol, "I Wonder as I Wander," sung by Mrs. Carl Bradley; and Mrs. Max Maguire's organ selection, "Jesu, Jesu Thou Art Mine" by Bach.

Concluding the program, the Club Ensemble under the direction of Mrs. Benjamin F. Meacham, sang Vazzana's "What Child Is This" and "Gloria in Excelsis" from Twelfth Mass.

HOLIDAY TEA

Study club members, with Mrs. Marcum, were hostesses for the holiday tea. Festive for the occasion, the Marcum home carried out an angel theme. The entrance featured blue and white angels on the door, and within the house, hung above the fireplace, a scroll bore a winged angel gowning in filmy blue nylon.

Cherubs edged in gold marked the white-swathed, translucent candle which formed a centerpiece on the tea

Artistic Ideas Shown In Display By Club

The Oasis Garden Club met Wednesday at the First Federal Savings and Loan Building for its annual Christmas observance. Mrs. Joe Johnson and Mrs. C. O. Hitt were hostesses for the event which included an artistic display of holiday decorations.

The refreshment table, spread with red net cloth over taffeta, was centered with a candy cane Christmas tree. Party food also featured the holiday motif. A report was given by Mrs. Johnson, projects chairman, in regard to the hanging basket project for classrooms at the Special Education School. She announced that the club's Christmas project is making small hanging baskets for the children to take home to their mothers.

Mrs. Hitt, Mrs. Klonka and Mrs. Leonard were named to a committee for work in areas in and around the sun dial at Howard County Junior College. Members elected Mrs. Toby Cook as a new member to the group, and a report on the Midland zone meeting was given by Mrs. A. Hohertz and Mrs. Johnson.

A show-and-tell program followed. Decorations, made and displayed by the members, included a pair of gold cone trees mounted on green felt for hanging on double front doors; net Christmas trees; a mantel piece featuring the madonna; a white felt door piece detailed with gold braid and ribbon; a Christmas cloth of red net and felt bordered with sequined Christmas bells and other symbolic art.

W. R. Laymans At Home Following Wedding Trip

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Layman are at home at 1810 Goodlad St. following a wedding trip to Sonora. The couple was married the evening of Nov. 28 at the Hillcrest Baptist Church. The Rev. H. L. Bingham officiated.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Albert Parker, New Haven, Conn., wore a two-piece suit of pale yellow with a small veiled hat of mink. Her corsage was white glameias.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Layman of Espanola, N. M.

Mrs. Herbert Smith was the matron of honor, and C. A. Layman, cousin of the bridegroom, best man. Avery Faulks served as usher.

A reception was held in the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Gregoire, 203-B Hunter Drive.

The refreshment table, covered with white lace over yellow linen, was appointed with crystal and silver. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with miniature bride and groom figurines. Other refreshments were made by S. Sgt. Herbert Smith.

Layman is employed at Cosden Oil and Chemical Co.

Christmas In Other Lands Presented

Fifth grade children of Park Hill School, representing Holland, Sweden, Japan, France, Mexico, Italy, Germany, England, Austria and Colonial America, presented "Christmas In Many Lands." The program was given at the school Tuesday evening for members of the Parent - Teacher Association. Mrs. Joe Moss presided and the devotion, The Christmas Story, was given by Mrs. Wendell Huddleston.

Following reports by Mrs. Martin Landers, treasurer, and Mrs. Zack Gray, secretary, Mrs. E. V. Swift announced plans for an aquatic club, with dues to help meet expenses of children who are not members of the YMCA. Huddleston gave a convention report pointing out the need for understanding the family story, the school story and the community story.

The program continued with a Christmas chorus composed of other fifth grade students. Katie Jo Kernodle expressed appreciation for the parents' attendance and joined with the chorus to sing "We Wish You A Merry Christmas."

Mrs. Sam McGarrity's room won the room count, and mothers of the fifth grade served as hostesses for the social hour. One hundred and 50 persons were served.

The next meeting is slated for Feb. 4 when the fourth grade children who are not members of

TOPS Cards Distributed

John TOPS Club cards were distributed among TOPS Pound Rebels Tuesday evening at the Settles Hotel. Seven members attended and planned for the installation of officers to take place at the next meeting Dec. 17. Also, at the next meeting, the queen of the month will be crowned.

Mrs. Wesley Yater won the door prize, a gold necklace and earring set.

After the meeting members adjourned to the Low Wheel Restaurant for low calorie refreshments.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Stockings Stuffing Serves For Pillows

Dear Heloise:

Here is a wonderful use for discarded nylon stockings and underwear.

I use them for stuffing pillows. It's a wonderful stuffer.

I buy colored prints and make my little pillow casings about 15 inches square and put a zipper along one side and make a "handle" on the other side of the pillow. These little pillows are much easier to carry if a person will sew a handle on them.

We don't just use these pillows in the car but we take them anywhere we have to do any sitting, especially when going to baseball and football games and have to sit on hard benches.

For another idea! I made two pillows the full width of the material (which is 36 inches) and stitched them down the middle, thus making two pillow casings 18 by 36 inches long (this makes two 18 inch pillows connected) and put a handle on each end. I stuff it with old nylon hose from both ends and put a zipper closing and handle on each end. This type pillows may be folded when carrying (they look like a suitcase or brief bag, Heloise) and they are nice if you have small fry who want to take a nap on the beach or at a picnic.

When using nylon hose just cut them up, discarding the foot part. When using nylon underwear cut off all elastic and cut in two inch strips or pieces.

These pillows are the nicest, softest cushions we have ever had. I have many friends now saving nylon hose and underwear for this very purpose.—Mary Beth Hermann

Ladies, the good thing about these pillows is they never sour, never mildew, they are extremely soft, may be pounded to fit any desired shape and are easily washed in your washing machine and dryer in a matter of minutes.

For people who do not have dryers just hang them on clothesline.

Nylon is poreless. Start saving your old nylons and all sorts of nylon underwear which is worn out. Don't throw them away, utilize them any way you can. Heloise

(Mail letters to Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald.)

Dinner Followed By Song Program

KNOTT (SC) — The Willing Workers' Class of the First Baptist Church and its teachers, Mrs. O. K. Fortune, were served a Christmas dinner at the church Friday evening. A program of songs was presented by Don Boyd with piano accompaniment by James Robert Haston. Also, Christmas carols were led by Mrs. Bobby Roman, and piano accompaniment was by her daughter, Sharon.

Mrs. Fortune, who will leave soon to make her home in Le-nora, received a gift from the class.

Others attending were Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Roman and children; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Haston and son; Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Jones and children; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Boyd and son and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cheatham and children.

Bride-Elect Has Pre-Nuptial Honor

A linen shower honored a prospective bride, Miss Sandra Baker, at the home of Miss Luan Phillips, 1702 Harvard. Co-hostesses for the Saturday event were Mrs. Wesley Phillips and Mrs. Charles Smith Jr.

About 20 guests were served from a refreshment table which was spread with white damask and centered with red roses. Miss Baker will be married Dec. 21 to Joe Bob Clendenin.

Observant Santa Declines Reward

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—When Mrs. Caroline Cogburn answered the telephone today, Santa Claus was on the line. He had found her wallet and the $43 she had saved to buy gifts for her five youngsters. An hour later Walter Cooley, 19, showed up with the money. He explained he had spotted the wallet in a shopping center parking lot, where he is working as Santa Claus. Cooley refused a reward.

Air Force Trains Chimps To Return Spacecraft To Earth

HOLLOMAN AIR FORCE Base, N.M. (AP)—Bobby Joe, a 6-year-old chimpanzee, has been trained to pilot a spacecraft back through the earth's atmosphere after a trip into space.

Bobby Joe is regarded as the Ph.D. of Holloman's famed Chimp College, an Air Force installation conducting some of the most remarkable research in the world.

The chimpanzee was trained for space pilot duty by learning to keep a small cross inside a circle on a lighted panel board. With two hand levers, one controlling vertical and the other horizontal movements of the cross, Bobby Joe follows the meandering circle over the panel with amazing accuracy.

A WHIZ
Spacecraft controls, say the experts, could be simplified for space flight by using the circle and cross tracking method.

Maj. Herbert G. Reynolds, chief of the comparative psychology branch for the aeromedical research at Holloman, said Bobby Joe would be a whiz at this.

"There is no question about it," Reynolds said. "He could guide a space vehicle into space and bring it back. He can sit and track for hours. His eyes do not tire too much. We hope he will get a chance."

When the 60-pound chimpanzee is working he does it very well. He has to keep the cross inside the circle for two 10-second periods before he is rewarded with a banana-flavored food pellet. During a 5-hour shift, he received 225 pellets.

COUNTING
In another room, a 5-year-old chimp named George, who walks as erect as a man, does his specialty—counting.

A panel with a small screen that flashes numbers sits at the end of George's cage. When a figure shows on the screen, George presses a lever an equal number of times. He pushes another handle to clear the panel. If he gets six right in a row, a reward pellet slips down the chute.

George recently had the number 7 included in his schedule—from 1 to 7. His hand counted out the other six numbers on the control lever quickly. When 7 came up, he hit the lever more slowly, counting each tap. He missed it a couple of times. George showed his training that day, however. He finished the sequence correctly and then looked for his reward. There was none. Again he did it perfectly, and again no pellet.

TUBE CLOSED
Upon examination, Maj. Reynolds found the tube closed. The chimp hadn't received a reward after three hours of work, but had continued to push the levers, each time the numbers came up. The scientists were elated.

Chimp College is a busy place. It has become the world's most famous chimp vivarium—animal colony—and its research with animals is being watched by scientists all over the world.

Enos and Ham were graduates of the school, which recently moved into a new $1-million complex.

Enos, the chimp who orbited the earth, died earlier this year. Ham, the even-tempered wrinkle-faced chimpanzee who was the first to ride atop a soaring rocket in a sub-orbital flight in 1961, is now a celebrity in Washington, D.C. National Zoo.

Chimp College also supplies animals to many universities and institutions around the country for experiments.

In a current program, six chimps from Holloman will undergo tests at the Navy Air Development Center, Johnstown, Pa., with six Navy men. A sailor and chimp are scheduled to ride together on a centrifuge. Animal and man will perform the same experiments for a comparative study of the effects of gravity.

DURABLE
"The centrifuge will move at 5, 6 and 8 G's," Reynolds said. "We want to see comparative studies in hearing and sight with the increased G load. The chimp is a real durable character and tougher in many ways than man."

Future projects at Holloman, Reynolds said, include breeding. All efforts there so far have failed.

Chimp College has a classroom section in one building and dorms, or vivarium, in another. The vivarium consists of a modern hospital, individual cages, heated and with water; and an outside run for each cage.

The hospital has 26 persons to care for the animals. In the hospital are a 500-milliamper X-ray machine, a biochemistry laboratory, a pathology laboratory, clinical laboratory, a surgical suite and a diet kitchen.

The chimp colony of 83 animals in the 6751st Aeromedical

Research Laboratory is divided into three groups. One group is the chimps just arrived from Africa and in quarantine. The second is the working animals and the third includes those used for other experiments.

EXPENSIVE
About 30 animals are kept a year from a supply of 250-300. They cost about $1,000 each and after training become much more expensive.

Most of the chimps are adolescents and their medicines reflect their age: sugar-flavored liquids found in any pediatric ward. The main food is a commercially prepared chimp chow. Fruits are used for dessert or supplements to the main diet.

A special delight is "chimp cocktail," a sparkling pink-colored concoction of gelatin, soft-boiled eggs, baby cereal and milk. Pellets and candy are the main rewards in the training system.

VANILLA WHITE FRUIT CAKE
Dessert combines raisins, candied fruit, almonds

White Cake Becomes Favorite Fruit Treat

Mixed fruits and vanilla extract combine to make this a flavorful vanilla white fruit cake.

VANILLA WHITE FRUIT CAKE

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1 1/2 tps. double-acting baking powder
1 1/2 lb. (1 1/2 cups) white raisins
1/4 lb. (1/2 cup) diced candied citron
1/4 lb. (1/2 cup) diced candied lemon peel
1/4 lb. (1/2 cup) diced candied orange peel
1/4 lb. (1/2 cup) diced candied pineapple
1/4 lb. (1 cup) silvered blanched almonds
2 tps. pure vanilla extract
1/2 cup (1 stick) butter or margarine
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup milk

5 large egg whites

Sift the first 3 ingredients together into a mixing bowl. Add fruit and almonds. Mix well and set aside. Mix pure vanilla extract with butter or margarine. Gradually blend in butter. Add flour-fruit mixture alternately with milk. Beat egg whites until they stand in soft, stiff peaks. Fold into the batter.

Line a greased 9 by 3-inch tube pan with brown paper. Grease paper. Spoon in batter. Bake in a preheated very slow oven (275 degrees F.) 3 hours or until done, keeping a large pan hot water in shallow pan underneath cake. Cool in pan 30 minutes.

Remove cake from pan to store airtight. Yield: 3 pound fruit cake.

DATE TREASURE LOAF

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour

1/2 tsp. salt

1/2 tsp. baking powder

1 1/2 lbs. (3 cups) fresh dates

1 (8 oz.) bottle maraschino cherries

1 lb. (4 cups) walnut meats

4 eggs

1 tsp. vanilla

1 cup sugar

Sift into large bowl: flour, sugar, salt and baking powder. Pit, but do not cut up dates. Drain cherries. Add dates, cherries and nuts to flour mixture without chopping. Stir till well coated. Beat eggs well; add vanilla and pour over flour-fruit mixture. Mix thoroughly; hands work better than a wooden spoon for this.

Line greased loaf pan (5 1/2 by 9 1/4 by 2 3/4) with heavy brown paper; grease well. Spoon batter into pan. Bake in moderately slow oven (325 degrees F.) 1 1/2 to 2 hours.

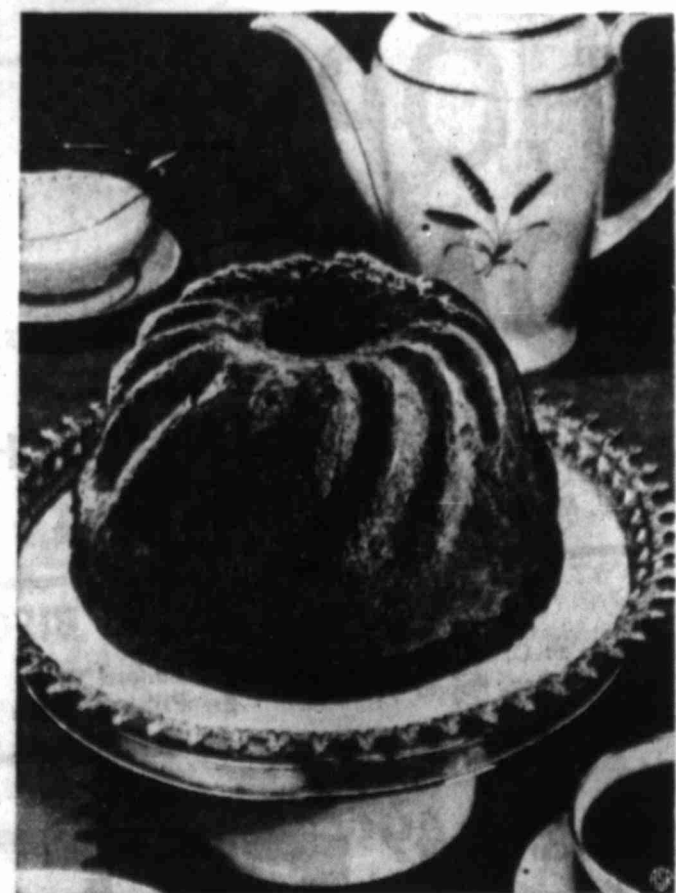

Delicious Steamed Pudding Will Make Your Guests Want More

This excellent steamed pudding is a perfect holiday dessert. Serve it hot with deliciously thick Foamy Sauce: Beat 3 egg yolks slightly and add 1/4 cup confectioners' sugar, 1/4 teaspoon of salt, 1/2 teaspoon of vanilla, and if desired 1 1/4 tablespoons of brandy. Beat until very thick and about the color of a lemon. Whip a cup of cream and fold into the egg mixture. Chill before serving.

HOLIDAY CHOCOLATE PUDDING

1 cup mixed candied fruits and peels
1/4 cup water
1 1/2 tps. rum extract
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
2 tps. double-acting baking powder
1/4 tsp. baking soda
1/4 tsp. salt
1-3 cup butter or margarine
3/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 egg
3 sqs. unsweetened chocolate, melted
1 cup milk
Combine mixed fruits, water and rum extract in a saucepan. Bring to a boil over high heat; then reduce heat and simmer until all liquid is absorbed, stirring occasionally.

Sift together measured sifted flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Cream butter; gradually add sugar, continue creaming until blended. Add egg and chocolate; beat until smooth. Alternately add flour mixture and milk, beating well after each addition. Stir in fruit mixture. Spoon evenly into a well greased 2-quart mold. Cover tightly with greased aluminum foil and place mold in a pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 1 1/2 hours, or until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean. Pull away from the sides of the mold. Serve hot. Top with Foamy Sauce, if desired. Makes 12 servings.

Christmas Fruit Cakes And Breads

No Christmas is complete without the traditional fruit cake. It is perfect to serve as a dessert with the holiday feast or goes well with punch or coffee at a party.

Make your fruit cakes now and put them aside to mellow.

The food section this week features fruit cakes and Christmas breads.

HOLIDAY FRUIT CAKE

1 (15-ounce) package each dark seedless raisins, golden seedless raisins and seeded Muscat raisins
1 (11-ounce) package currants
3 cups sliced pitted dates
6 cups thinly sliced mixed candied peels
2 cups each candied pineapple pieces and halved candied cherries
1 tablespoon each cinnamon, allspice, nutmeg, mace, ginger and salt
1 cup brandy or sherry
2 1/2 cups each sliced almonds and chopped walnuts
2 cups butter or margarine
3 cups brown sugar (packed)
1 cup golden molasses
3/4 cups thick strawberry preserves
12 eggs
1 teaspoon soda
2 tablespoons water
6 cups sifted flour

Combine raisins, currants, dates, candied peels and fruits with spices, salt and brandy in large mixing bowl. Mix thoroughly using hands or large spoon. Cover and let stand in cool place overnight. Add nuts. Cream butter until soft. Blend in sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in molasses and strawberry jam. Blend in well beaten eggs. (Batter may appear slightly curdled but this is normal.) Dissolve soda in water and add immediately to creamed mixture along with flour. Beat to blend thoroughly. Pour batter over fruits and nuts. Mix very well, until fruits and nuts become completely coated. (Use hands for mixing.) Turn batter into 2 prepared (10-inch) tube pans. Bake in slow oven (275 degrees F.) 3 1/2 hours or until cakes test done. Remove from oven; let cakes stand 15 minutes then remove from pans. Remove paper lining when cakes are cool.

If desired, brush warm cakes with brandy wash (1/2 cup white corn syrup blended with 1/4 cup brandy). Makes 2 (10-inch) fruit cakes about 6 1/2 pounds each.

To prepare the pan, grease lightly, then line with heavy brown paper. Grease brown paper.

STEAMED RAISIN PUDDING

2 cups dark seedless raisins
1-3 cup sherry or orange juice
1 cup butter or margarine
1 1-3 cups light brown sugar (packed)
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 eggs
1 cup sifted flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
5 cups fine soft stale bread crumbs
1/2 cup each chopped pecans and packaged toasted coconut
2-3 cup milk

Chop raisins coarsely. Add wine and set aside. Cream butter with brown sugar and vanilla until mixture is light and fluffy. Beat in well beaten eggs. Re-sift flour with baking powder and salt; combine with bread crumbs, nuts and coconut. Add to creamed mixture alternately with milk, about one-third at a time. Stir in raisins and wine. Spoon into well greased 8-cup pudding mold. (Mold should be about two-thirds full.) Cover tightly. Place mold on rack in large kettle of boiling water. Water should come half way up mold. Cover pan tightly and steam in continuously boiling water 3 hours, replenishing water as needed. Serve pudding warm with favorite sauce. Makes 12 servings.

For fruited hard sauce, combine 1/2 cup chopped dark seedless raisins, 1/2 cup chopped mixed candied fruits and 3 tablespoons brandy. Cream 3/4 cup butter with 1 (1-pound) box powdered sugar, 2 teaspoons vanilla and 1 tablespoon half and half until very light and fluffy. Stir in fruit mixture. Cover; chill several hours. Makes about 4 cups.

DANISH KRINGLER

3/4 cup (1 1/2 sticks) butter, softened
1 package active dry yeast
1/4 cup warm water
1/3 cup milk, scalded
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon lemon extract
1 egg
2 1/4 cups flour
Two-thirds cup apricot filling
Egg white, slightly beaten
Granulated sugar

Divide butter in half; on waxed paper spread each half to measure 7 by 7 inches. Chill. In large mixing bowl combine yeast and water; cool milk to lukewarm and add to yeast mixture. Add sugar, salt, lemon extract and egg; beat until thoroughly blended and sugar is dissolved. Gradually add flour; mix until smooth. On well floured board, roll dough to an 8 by 12-inch rectangle. Place one of the butter squares, butter side down, to cover two-thirds of dough; peel off waxed paper. Fold unbuttered third of dough over center third; then fold remaining third over top. (This makes three layer rectangle measuring 8 by 4 inches.) Again fold one end over middle third and fold other end over doubled layer. (This makes a nine layer rectangle measuring 4 by 2 2-3 inches.) Wrap in waxed paper and chill 30 minutes.

Roll dough again to an 8 by 12-inch rectangle; add remaining butter square and fold as before. Chill several hours or overnight. Cut dough into two equal pieces. Working with one piece at a time roll to measure 20 by 6 inches. Spread center with 1-3 cup apricot filling. Fold one lengthwise edge over middle; moisten with water and fold other edge over top to make dough 20-inches long and 2 inches wide.

Place on a buttered baking sheet, brushed edge down, to form a circle. Seal joining ends, seal up with egg white and sprinkle with granulated sugar. Bake at once 25-30 minutes or until golden brown in a preheated oven 350 degrees F.

MRS. JACK C. PRICE AND JACKIE ANN

Land Of Midnight Sun Presented Problems

By JO BRIGHT

"One of the first things we did when getting settled in our home near Fairbanks, Alaska, was secure heavy draw drapes. That's the only way I could get the children to sleep."

The speaker was Mrs. Jack C. Price as she explained the problem of convincing youngsters that it really was bedtime even though the sun might be shining brightly.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Price were stationed at Elmendorf Air Force Base from 1956 to '59, and she enjoyed every day of it. It was the only time she was able to accompany her husband on a tour of duty outside the continental United States.

"When the hours of daylight and dark became different from what we were used to I simply closed the drapes and watched the clock," she continued.

"Otherwise, the children felt they should stay up all night. It was just the opposite during the hours of darkness."

BASE HOME
The Prices make their home now at 27 Albrook, Webb Air Force Base, where he is commander of the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron. When interviewed Mrs. Price had barely had time to empty the ashtrays and gather up the cups. She had been a hostess Tuesday morning at a coffee for wives of the squadron members.

Enjoying the decorations and a few cookies, Jackie Ann, 2 1/2, a tiny, brown-eyed blonde, was dressed for the season in an at-home smock of bright red.

ACTIVE FAMILY
The Prices have two teenage sons who help keep their little sister in check—and spoil her a bit, too. They are Rick, 17, and Mark, 14. Rick, a senior at Big Spring High School, is president of the National Honor Society and likes to play sandlot football. Mark, a ninth grader at Goliad Junior High School, is secretary of the honor society and vice president of his grade. He plays on the school basketball team.

Frequently the boys go with Mrs. Price when she does the weekly shopping on Saturdays. Because of their varied interests and her husband's activities, it is often impossible for the family to have meals together.

"I may have dinner prepared for one by 4:40 p.m., and if the other will be held up for several hours I use a divided aluminum plate, covered with foil, to keep a hot meal ready," said Mrs. Price. "This way, I can wash the dishes and clear the kitchen before bedtime."

She said that the men of the family prefer lots of good meat and potatoes to fancier dishes. Price and the boys like to hunt and fish and over the gun case are a dozen bowling trophies. The Prices were both reared near Grand Junction, Colo., which she describes as the best hunting and fishing area anywhere. Her mother, Mrs. Margaret McCowan, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Price, still live there and will spend time together at Christmas.

WARM RECEPTION
The Prices came here in 1960. She said that this is only the second time they have had base housing available during the 15 moves they have made during 19 years of marriage.

"We moved here on Monday, went to a dinner party on Tuesday — and haven't stopped since," said Mrs. Price. "This is the first place we have been to have such a remarkably warm and friendly base-community relationship. When we have to leave, we'll remember it—and miss it."

MEXICAN WEDDING CAKES
1 cup butter or margarine
1-3 cup sugar
1 tsp. almond or 2 tps. vanilla flavoring
2 1/2 cups sifted all purpose flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1 cup finely chopped pecans
Red and green food coloring
Work butter and sugar together until creamy. Stir in flavoring. Stir in flour, salt and nuts. For colored cookies — divide dough in half, color red and green or leave plain. Chill several hours.

To shape for family size, roll in one-inch balls, place on greased baking sheet and flatten to 1/4 inch thickness with cheesecloth covered glass. For dainty cookies leave in one-inch balls and roll in powdered sugar when cool.

To bake cookies place in moderately low oven 325 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes just until cookies start to brown around the edges. Keeps well when frozen.

PECAN PIE
8 inch pastry shell, uncooked
1 cup brown sugar, packed
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1 tsp. flour
2 eggs
2 tps. milk
1 tsp. vanilla
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup whole pecans
Heat oven to 375 degrees. Mix together sugars and flour. Thoroughly beat in eggs, milk, vanilla and melted butter or margarine. Fold in nuts and pour into unbaked shell. Bake 40 to 50 minutes.

SWEET POTATO BALLS
1 can sweet potatoes or yams
2 tps. butter or margarine
1 1/2 cups crushed wheat cereal flakes
Salt to taste
6 or 8 marshmallows
Drain sweet potatoes. Mash with potato masher. Add melted butter or margarine and salt to taste. Fold marshmallows in palm of hand and form sweet potatoes around it to make a ball, roll in crushed cereal.

Place in buttered pan, bake 25 minutes. These may be made up the day before and placed in refrigerator until needed.

Current, Future Budgets Under Study At Capitol

NEW YORK (AP) — Next to the tax cut bill now before the Senate the most pressing matter in the eyes of business are two budgets: —The current one on large parts of which the Congress is still debating. —The new one to start next July on which President Johnson and department heads are now laboring.

Both could see final economies from earlier estimates. But both could be affected, either for more or less spending, by the reaction, governmental and private, to President John F. Kennedy's death.

Many business firms and the economy in general—jobs, production schedules, sales, profits, personal income, the value of the dollar—will be affected whichever way the decision goes.

SPENDING

Johnson has pledged thrift and care in spending. The new budget now being hammered out for submission to Congress in January will show how much spending can be held down, or how much it will be expected to increase from built-in forces.

The current budget, for the fiscal year that started last July, is still in flux. The Congress has cut some of the appropriations that had been asked by Kennedy. The House so far has trimmed an apparent $5.5 billion from presidential requests for $92 billion. But many of these cuts in authorization don't really curtail actual spending under past authorizations.

And some see a chance that Kennedy's death may encourage the Congress to restore some of his requests for such projects as foreign aid and space exploration.

The big question business is asking is what priorities Johnson will give to these and other projects. Space projects affect many business firms and whole communities. Expansion or curtailment of spending in this field would be top news for them—new orders, job security or payroll expansion. Defense spending in general and various forms of welfare programs will touch many corporations, many cities and regions. In the over-all picture, the total of Washington spending—above or below $100 billion?—will have a direct effect on the economy. The as yet unresolved questions: How much money will the government take out of the economy in taxes? How much will it pump into the economy in spending?

The size of the federal deficit will play a part in future inflationary pressures, in the size of interest rates, in the fight to cut the surplus of outflowing dollars over return flow in international payments.

The deficit in the current fiscal year is estimated at $9 billion.

Fined For Giving Kids Happy Pills

COLLINGSWOOD, N.J. (AP)

A man and woman have been fined $1,000 each and given six-month suspended sentences for handing out tranquilizer pills as "trick or treat" candy to children last Halloween.

They are Mrs. Edna McCrory, 39, a Philadelphia divorcee, and Frederick E. Waterhouse, 60, of Collingswood.

Mrs. McCrory stated she gave the pills to the children by mistake.

There was no indication any children took the pills.

Pope Willing To Confer With Orthodox Leader

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A

Vatican official said today Pope Paul VI has indicated a willingness to meet Patriarch Athenagoras I, spiritual leader of world Orthodoxy, during the Roman Catholic leader's trip to the Holy Land Jan. 4-6.

The official said the Pope informed Athenagoras about the purpose of his Holy Land trip and in doing so indicated a willingness to meet the patriarch in Palestine if Athenagoras decides to go there.

In announcing his unprecedented trip a week ago, Pope Paul said he hoped it would serve the cause of Christian unity.

Athenagoras, spiritual leader of 150 million Orthodox Christians, proposed last Friday that a Christian summit meeting be held in the Holy Land during the Pope's visit there.

The official said the Pope made no mention in his letter of Athenagoras' proposal for a conference of Christian leaders.

No Roman Catholic pontiff and Orthodox patriarch have met since the East-West schism of 1054.

Chou Maps Albania Visit

LONDON (AP) — Diplomats said today Premier Chou En-lai of Red China will interrupt a tour of Africa briefly to visit Peking's lone friend in Europe, Albania.

The diplomatic authorities said the Chinese Communist leader's campaign to win friends and influence people will take him through nine African countries.

Albania is the only Communist nation in Europe to give its full support to the Chinese in their ideological dispute with the Soviet Communists.

Unrepentant exiles from the Soviet bloc, Albania's Communist rulers back the hard line of Peking against the coexistence policy of Premier Krushchev.

Therefore Chou's appearance in Tirana, Albania's capital, almost certainly could:

1. Have the effect of deepening the Peking-Moscow political dispute.

2. Be regarded as an official blessing by the Peking government for the stand the Albanians have taken against the Russians.

Peking has not yet announced Chou's detailed itinerary. But a check among African and European diplomats shows that Chou and a big entourage will be visiting the following:

The United Arab Republic, Algeria, Morocco, Albania, Ghana, Mali, Guinea, Tanganyika, Uganda and the Somali Republic.

FLAPPER STAR HELEN KANE

Comeback For Boop-Boop-A-Doop?

NEW YORK (AP) — Remember when Helen Kane sang boop-boop-a-doop back in 1928?

Well, the onetime voice of Betty Boop in the movie cartoons is living in an apartment in the Jackson Heights section of New York City now, hoping for a comeback.

"I feel fine now, thank you," said Miss Kane, who has had four operations for cancer in the past seven years, the last one Dec. 6.

She says she's finishing a book about her career, wants to do some television, and has had some offers for a movie about her life.

She still speaks in that piping voice that sounds as if she's suppressing a laugh.

Miss Kane, who made 14 movies for Paramount, saw one of them on television not long ago.

"I was the peppy one, I was the flapper," she said. "There I was, looking about 16, laughing, and jumping on and off horses."

Her last movie was "Heads

Up," with Buddy Rogers in my name in lights. I used to sit in a coffee shop across the street and look at it."

Miss Kane's first big success was with Paul Ash, an orchestra leader, at New York's Paramount Theater in 1928. She'd already done dramatic stock, appeared in night clubs with the four Marx brothers and in Schubert revues.

After 10 auditions for Ash, they let her sing one song in the show.

"Then they put in more songs. After the fourth day they put it down any fancy age for me. It's not that long ago."

Injunctions Filed By Labor Board

Injunctions against three West Texans have been granted in federal district court to enjoin them from what the Department of Labor charged were violations of the Fair Labor Standards Act.

A. S. Arispe, Winters, was enjoined from employment of child labor contrary to federal interstate trade statutes. R. G. Sharp and E. Earl Martin, doing business as R. G. Sharp and Company of Lubbock, a cotton brokerage and export business, were enjoined from failure to pay legal minimum wage and proper overtime compensation.

The defendants were also restrained from withholding $2,900 allegedly due 20 employees for overtime compensation.

Oil Production Shows Increase

TULSA (AP) — U.S. oil production rose last week, mostly because of a higher December allowable in Texas, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Average daily production was 7,518,000 barrels, up 49,400.

Texas output was up 38,200 barrels a day to 2,614,200. Other increases included Louisiana up 7,495 to 1,470,270; New Mexico, up 3,900 to 296,000 and Oklahoma up 1,060 to 539,450. Arkansas produced 78,500 and Colorado 100,300.

Space Condition Machine Produced By Dallas Firm

DALLAS (AP) — A machine capable of duplicating the actual conditions that a spacecraft or satellite encounter while whirling through space is now in operation in Texas.

Dubbed the Space Environment Simulator, the device provides 1,300 cubic feet of "outer space"—the high vacuum existing at high altitudes, the intense solar radiation and the extreme cold of space.

The Space Environment Simulator, developed by Ling-Temco-Vought at Dallas, is a stainless steel, thick-walled chamber 12 feet in diameter and 11 feet long. When sealed powerful pumps reduced the pressure to the level encountered in space.

BITTER COLD

A cylindrical, black cold wall which lines the interior is cooled by liquid nitrogen and simulates the bitter cold of space by reducing the temperature to 320 degrees below zero Fahrenheit.

At one end of the cylinder a battery of 20 powerful Xenon-Mercury lamps simulate the intensity of the sun and duplicate its radiation spectrum, pouring out ultra-violet, visible and infrared rays.

A unique two-axis motion device mounted on the 12-foot diameter door enables an eight-foot diameter payload weighing up to 1,000 pounds to be rotated up to 55 feet per minute in one axis and 30 feet per minute in the other.

SPACE EFFECTS

Electronic devices and instruments record in detail the effects of space environment as the test payload makes its simulated flight.

Because the payload attitude and the solar intensity can be varied, the chamber can be used to simulate advance space vehicles on planetary missions as well as space flights around the earth and to the moon. The lamps can be timed to turn on and off to simulate the vehicle passing into the shadow of the moon, earth or other planets.

The simulator can be used to develop and test space suits, reaction control systems, optical and electronic systems, biological and life support equipment and other material and devices for satellites manned

Soviet Pays Back Taxes

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP)—Soviet Union, which for two years has refused to pay local taxes on a Long Island estate used by its United Nations mission, has finally come across with part of the money.

The payment of $31,459 in back taxes was received by the City of Glen Cove earlier this month and was announced at City Council meeting.

The Russians refused to pay taxes on their 36-acre estate, Killenworth, maintaining it is a diplomatic residence. The city contended that Killenworth is a summer and weekend retreat for the Soviet delegation and not its main residence.

The Russians started using the 49-room estate when the United Nations was located at nearby Lake Success, before the United Nations moved to Manhattan. Many of the Russians live at their U.N. mission on Park Avenue in Manhattan.

The Soviets, in handing over two checks to cover 1961 city taxes and 1961-62 school taxes, said they were making the payments under protest, Mayor Joseph M. Reilly said.

Reilly had said previously the city would sell the estate next June for back taxes unless the Russians paid up.

The Russians still owe $58,000 which represents 1962-63 city and school taxes on the estate.

Sub Honors Mr. Sam

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—A Polaris submarine named for former House Speaker Sam Rayburn, the political mentor of President Johnson, will be launched here Dec. 20.

Rayburn was the political mentor of President Johnson, who was here for the keel laying last December at the Newport News Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Co.

Two sisters of Rayburn will christen the missile-firing submarine. They are Mrs. S. E. Bartley of Bonham, Tex., and Mrs. W. A. Thomas of Dallas.

The Sam Rayburn is the tenth Polaris submarine to be launched at Newport News. Five have been delivered to the Navy, seven are still building and two are under contract.

Rayburn was in the House more than 48 years and was speaker more than twice as long as any predecessor.

No Answer On Tax Deduction

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service had no ready answer today to the question of whether Frank Sinatra may deduct from his taxable income $240,000 in ransom paid to free his kidnapped son, Frank Jr.

An IRS spokesman said that as far as can be determined, the agency had never ruled on whether a person who pays ransom could deduct it from his taxable income. "It apparently would depend on the circumstances of the case," the spokesman said.

The services does not comment on individual cases, and limits its statements to general terms.

Cuba Will Buy Uruguay Beef

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Havana Radio says Cuba has agreed to buy 500 tons of Uruguayan corned beef. Meat has been rationed at six ounces a week per consumer in Cuba and refugees arriving recently in Miami say there has been no distribution of meat for three weeks.

Supreme Court To Hear Case For Ranch Road

AUSTIN (AP)—The Supreme Court has agreed to hear arguments in the case of a Baylor County rancher who wants a road cut across the W. T. Waggoner ranch.

Wilmer Gieghorn, whose 1,600-acre ranch is entirely surrounded by Waggoner land, won approval from a district court for a road through Waggoner land to a part of his ranch north of the Wichita River.

The Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland upheld the decision. The Waggoner estate appealed to the Supreme Court, which granted an application for writ of error.

Waggoner estate lawyers told the Supreme Court the lower courts erred because the road would take away property rights from Waggoner without compensation and for a private use. Also, the application said the Waggoner estate was denied the right to due process of law by the rulings. Court records show there is a road through Waggoner land from a public highway to Gieghorn's home on his land. Gieghorn said he needed another road through Waggoner land so he could get to the northern portion of his ranch without having to ford the river.

Open At Vernon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Service Commission said today it will receive applications for postmaster at Vernon, Tex. The job pays $7,395. Applications must be filed with the commission, or postmarked, no later than Jan. 7.

Club Hears About Camp

B. M. Keese told the Downtown Lions Club Wednesday that Lions are at their best when helping crippled children and the blind.

He described work of the Texas Lions Camp for Crippled Children at Kerrville. Few, if any, clubs in the state have a better record of sustained support of the camp than the Downtown Club, Keese said. Each summer over 700 blind, deaf, mute and crippled boys and girls between the ages of 7 and 17 years are the guests of Lions Clubs over the state. Since 1953 more than 6,000 boys and girls have attended the camp and gone through a program (within their limitations) of swimming, sports, camping, handicraft and evening hiking. The camp has numerous buildings and dormitories and has a chapel for Sunday services.

In order that the camp can continue its mission of help after the camping season is over, a program of vocational training for the blind is carried on, starting each Sept. 1. Last year there were 113 adult blind enrolled in this program as guests of Texas Lions, said Keese. In addition to a regular assessment, the Downtown Lions eat sandwiches once each month and send the difference between the price of this and the regular meal to the Texas Lions camp.

The Downtown Club will man the Salvation Army kettles next Wednesday, it was announced. The traditional Christmas party for the children in Kate Morison School is set for Dec. 20. This has been going on for nearly three decades. On Jan. 11, the Lions Club annual banquet honoring the high school football squad will be held with James Tidwell as chairman.

Young Farmers Hear About Taxes

The Young Farmers Chapter of Flower Grove had a program on income tax at their recent meeting. Herman Caskey was speaker.

A course on welding, sponsored by the Young Farmers will be held Jan. 6-7-8 at the agriculture building of the school. All persons interested in welding are invited to attend. Eight boys and their sponsors attended the past meeting.

Memories Of Dark Past Revive In Nazi Trials

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Memories of the darkest Nazi past will be haunting the German Christmas season this year.

The largest war-crimes trial ever held before a German court opens Dec. 20 for 23 men charged with murder or complicity in the death of millions of prisoners at Auschwitz concentration camp.

The defendants include 22 former SS (Elite Guard) officers and men who helped guard and run this largest of Nazi death factories. Set up in German-occupied Poland, it was designed to exterminate the Jewish people and others proclaimed "unworthy of life" by Adolf Hitler and his henchmen. The 23rd defendant is a former Auschwitz inmate who won the confidence of his Nazi bosses.

BIG WHEELS

The trial recalls that of Adolf Eichmann, convicted in Israel two years ago and hanged for crimes against the Jews. In Frankfurt, however, the big wheels are missing. One is dead, and the other is believed to be in Latin America.

Richard Baer, last commander of Auschwitz, died last June while awaiting trial. Baer for years lived under an alias as a lumberjack in north Germany. He was finally traced and arrested late in 1960.

The other widely known Auschwitz figure is Joseph Mengele, the camp physician, who "selected" the gas chamber victims. Mengele, part owner of a machinery plant in south Germany, fled to Latin America after the war and acquired Paraguayan citizenship. The Frankfurt prosecutor has offered a $5,000 reward for information leading to his capture.

ADJUTANT

The top Frankfurt defendant is a former SS captain, Robert Mulka, 68, who was an adjutant to Rudolf Hoess, first Auschwitz commander.

Hoess was hanged in Poland in 1947. His detailed Auschwitz diary, to be part of the evidence in Frankfurt, estimated that 4 million people were murdered in the camp.

Mulka and several others, including three doctors and the chief camp pharmacist, were among the Auschwitz bureaucrats, as distinguished from the camp guards who join them in the dock.

Figuring among these is Wilhelm Roger, 58, alleged inventor of the "Boger swing," used during interrogation. The prisoner was made to lie on his back with a wooden board across his throat. The interrogator stepped on the board and started rocking until the prisoner was ready to talk—or died.

AF Assumes Gemini Lead

WASHINGTON (AP)—Groundwork for the Pentagon's "new" program for manned orbiting laboratories has been under way for months, with both the Air Force and the civilian space agency in on the preliminaries. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara put the project into high gear this week with his announcement that the Air Force had been assigned full responsibility for running it. The aim is to have an initial model of a "Gemini-X" without men aboard, in near-earth orbit in the first half of 1966 and to have the full-sized, manned laboratory aloft about four years from now.

Contracts for studies on the project already had been either let or invited by both the Air Force and Space Agency and the designing of the super-powerful Titan III rocket booster was well along before the formal announcement.

In disclosing the space laboratory venture, McNamara also announced termination of the Dyna-Soar orbital glider project.

A Pentagon spokesman said today that under an agreement between the Pentagon and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration it expects NASA will make available to the Air Force the data from its own studies of the feasibility and technique for multi-manned laboratories.

NASA announced award of one such study contract earlier this month to Douglas Aircraft Co. This study is aimed at refining NASA's concept of "a cylindrical six-man spacecraft" put into orbit by a big booster rocket.

In talking to newsmen Tuesday, McNamara side-stepped the question of how many men would be carried in the Air Force version. He said only that it would be more than two men (the number of NASA's own Gemini capsule project).

Snyder Man Hurt In Cafe Scuffle

T. H. Hopper, 37-year-old Snyder man, was released from Howard County Hospital Foundation this week after receiving treatment for a knife wound in the back. Police said Hopper was knifed about midnight Monday during a scuffle with a 20-year-old Coahoma man at a local cafe. No charges have been filed against the man.

Dear Abby

Always In The Drink

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow who has recently been shown a lot of attention by a doctor. (He has never been married, and is considered quite a catch.) I enjoy his company and am flattered with the attention he's been giving me; but here is the problem. When we are out socially, he drinks like a fish. You can't tell a 56-year-old man that you refuse to ride with him when he's been drinking, so I just close my eyes and go. Is there a diplomatic way to handle this, Abby?

LUCKY

DEAR LUCKY: Lucky is right! If you like his company and he drinks like a fish, tell him you would be glad to swim with him, but you don't want to ride with him. Suggest he call a taxi when he's had a few. If he refuses, let some other "lucky" lady have him.

DEAR ABBY: This may seem like a silly question, but I am 15 and would like to know if a girl is supposed to say thank you when a boy or a man opens a door for her. Or should she just accept it as something they are supposed to do?

JUST ME

DEAR ME: Even though a courtesy is expected, it should always be acknowledged with thanks.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I had a double-ring ceremony when we were married, only he never wears his ring. Once he said he lost it, and as soon as I told him I'd buy him another one he found it somewhere. Another time he came home with his ring in his wallet. He is always making up some excuse for not wearing his wedding ring. I don't believe a word he says. I got mad and told him if he wasn't going to wear his wedding ring, I wasn't wearing mine, either. I took mine off and haven't worn it in a week. We have two children and I know it doesn't look right, but do you blame me?

NO RING

DEAR NO: Two wrongs don't make a right. Put your wedding ring back on and find out what there is about your married life that makes your husband like to pretend he is single.

CONFIDENTIAL TO VIV: If you thought your boss was out of line, you should have either put him in his place, or given him your notice. What did you expect your husband to do? Go to the office and knock his block off?

What's on your mind: For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Poll Tax Deputy At Union Hall

Employees of Cosden refinery and others who live in the vicinity of the plant can now obtain current poll tax receipts at the building of International Union of Operating Engineers.

Mrs. Zarah LeFevre, county tax assessor-collector, has appointed Mrs. Wilma Grice as a special deputy and empowered her to issue poll tax receipts. An applicant needs only to go to the building of Local 826 and fill out his application. A poll tax receipt will be issued by Mrs. Grice on payment of the $1.75 fee.

Mrs. LeFevre said that she also has two other special deputies who will begin issuing poll tax receipts Jan. 2. These are Cecil V. Riordan and his secretary, Margaret Suffield, at 2100 Eleventh Place.

Other special deputies may be appointed later as the deadline for paying poll taxes pushes nearer, Mrs. LeFevre said.

Enlistees Can Stay At Home

Young men who enlist in the U. S. Army during the holiday season may spend the holidays with their families.

Those enlisting from Dec. 9 to Jan. 1 may be granted up to 15 days leave before reporting for basic training. This leave policy will permit young men to spend the holiday season with their families while drawing full pay and allowances.

Further information on the Army's Christmas leave offer and other pertinent information may be obtained from Sgt. Raymond J. Woolverton, 2074 W. 4th, or by calling AM 4-8940.

Tax Collections Running Behind

Tax collections for 1963-64 by the Big Spring Independent School District through November are 4.2 per cent behind a year ago, according to a report from J. O. Hagood, tax assessor.

At the end of November, the accumulated total collected was $1,112,445.25, or 78.8 per cent of the total roll. A year ago 83 per cent had been collected.

During November, $361,392.53 was collected on current rolls and $1,473.28 in delinquent accounts.

Collections from the Gay Hill area total $89,619.04 and, from the Center Point area, $17,411.16, according to Zarah L. LeFevre, Howard County tax collector, who is handling collection from these districts this year.
