House Agriculture Committee Reports Farm Relief Act

URGES PASSAGE AS "ESSENTIAL IN EMERGENCY"

House to Begin Its Consideration Today

WASHINGTON, Mar. 21. (UP).—The house agriculture committee today reported the farm relief bill, urging its passage as "essential to the relief of a national emergency."

The house will consider the bill today, limiting debate to four hours under a strict rule to force it through despite growing opposition.

Chairman Jones left the agriculture committee last night, refusing to further sponsor the bill.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 21. (UP).—Chairman Morgenthau of the farm board announced today that the Red Cross will take over the remainder of stabilization relief wheat by August 1 and cotton by October 31.

AUSTIN, Mar. 21. (UP).—Governor Ferguson today signed the senate bill penalizing election officers for betting on elections and the house bill repealing the act providing for paid cotton gin inspectors.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—President Roosevelt arranged with his congressional leaders Monday night a legislative program for the present session including additional relief, unemployment aid and railroad and banking reorganization.

Statement Issued
The following statement was issued after he had conferred at length at the White House with 15 democratic and republican leaders of the senate and house:

"Most interesting discussion was held between the president and a number of senators and members of the house of representatives. The discussion covered many phases of the economic program.

"The subject discussed included, among others, farm relief through efforts to raise crop prices and legislation to prevent the foreclosure of mortgages on both homes and farms; a program to improve and coordinate railroad operations; all other problems relating to the general problems of transportation; and the immediate work in national and state forests, government aid to state and a future program of public works.

"In the field of banking, correction of existing abuses was discussed."

Norris' Statement
Senator Norris (Rep., Neb.), a Roosevelt supporter and long a champion of government operation of Muscle Shoals, said on leaving the executive mansion the power and Muscle Shoals issue had not been brought up directly in the conference.

He added:
"I think there will be no change in the farm program."

Asked for his opinion of the outlook for general legislative measures, he said:
"It is very agreeable."

Senator Wheeler (Dem., Mont.), said the silver question was discussed in a general way briefly and that the opinion seemed to be silver should be aided but that there was no detailed consideration of this matter. He expressed himself as optimistic over the outlook for the presidential program.

Two Episcopal Services for Week

Episcopal Lenten services will be held tonight at 8 o'clock and on Wednesday at 10 o'clock at Trinity chapel. Visitors are invited. The Rev. W. H. Martin of Big Spring will conduct both meetings.

The meeting Wednesday will be held in celebration of the holy communion and at that time members of the Woman's auxiliary will present blue boxes containing offerings to the church. These boxes are taken up every three years and given at the triennial meet of the church. The money goes to build parish houses, student centers, parsonages and other buildings sponsored by women's organizations.

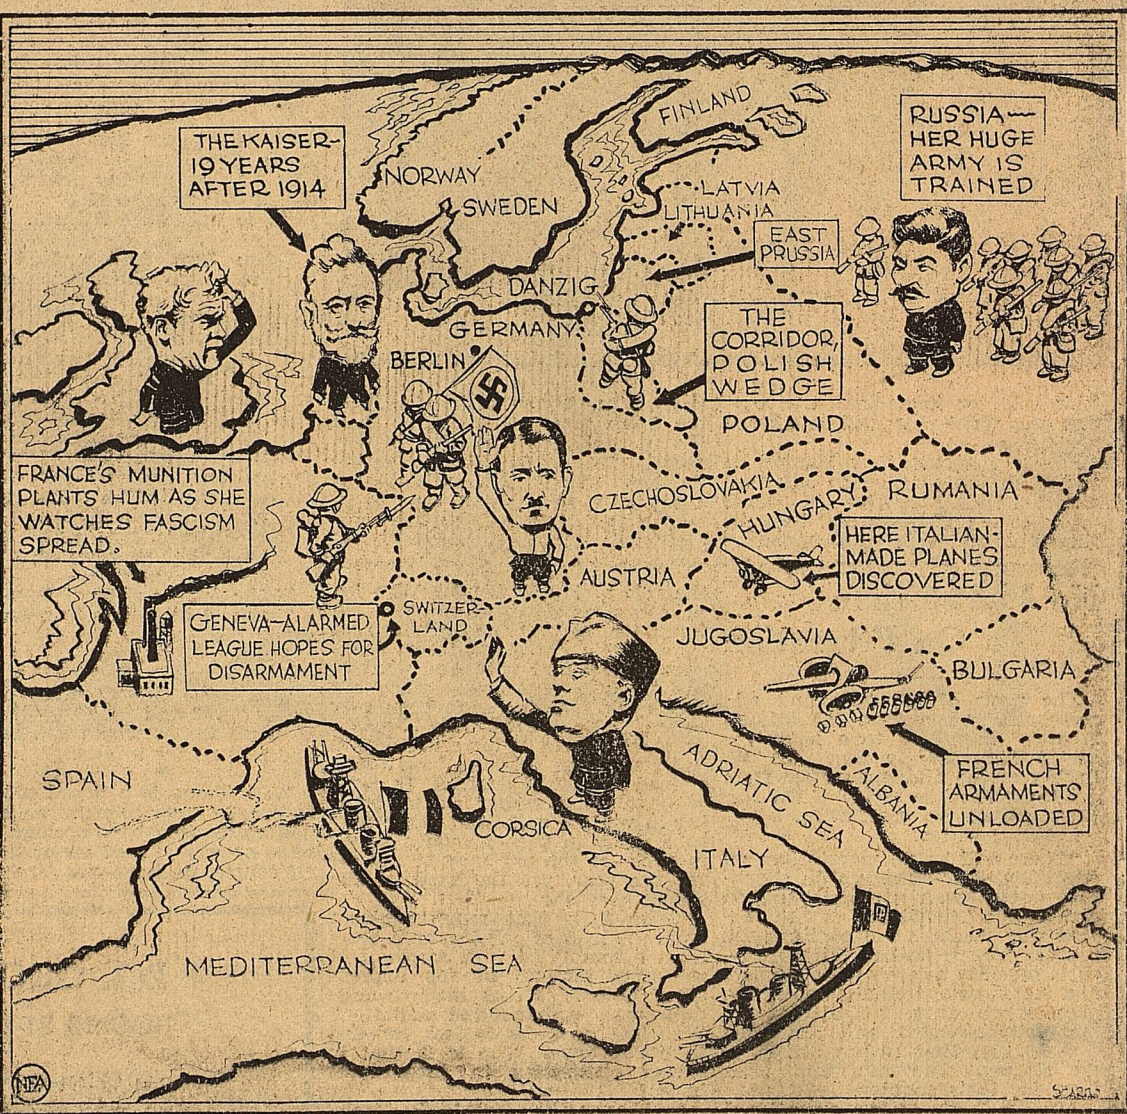

22 Enlist First Night in Course

Twenty-two members of the Sunday school department of the First Baptist church enlisted Monday evening for a study course in the "Normal Manual," to be taught by the Rev. Winston F. Borum.

Refreshments were served between the two instruction periods, by Misses Eula Mae Caffey, Willie Merle Caffey and Imogene Hale. It was announced that anyone may take the course.

Present were: Mr. Borum, Claude O. Crane, Alvin Hicks, J. C. Hudman, Lowell Webb, Leon Ranson, Albert Stone, Mmes. K. B. Coleman, J. R. Gregory, C. B. Ligon, Carl Young, D. B. Hughes, J. E. Hardisty, M. D. Cox, Fielding Lee, L. D. White, Floyd, T. D. Mize, J. W. Seale, F. H. Latham, Iris Bounds, and John Dunagan.

A War-Cloud View of Tense Europe

War clouds hover over Europe as, on several fronts, guns bristle and nationalism flares. This animated map shows Europe's sore spots—the Polish Corridor, the Franco-German frontier and the "powder-barrel" Balkans. Hitler's Nazi troops are guarding the Rhineland and Saar borders, while Paris fears open clashes. Polish soldiers occupy the Corridor while Hitlerites organize in East Prussia. Europe again is splitting into factions. France has her Little Entente—Poland, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Yugoslavia. A million and a half men are armed in these four nations. Italy regards the Entente as a machine-gunned fence about her. And France, watching Fascism rise in Germany, Austria and Hungary, fears a new Triple Alliance. Italy points to French munitions shipped to Yugoslavia. France points to Italian airplanes in Hungary. Britain, hoping to avoid conflict, says Premier MacDonald has offered disarmament plans to Mussolini, will ask a "new deal" for Germany and Hitler openly flaunts the Versailles treaty and French munitions plants hum.

$300,000 IS CUT OFF NATL. GUARD APPROPRIATION

AUSTIN, March 21. (UP).—The house today cut $300,000 from the national guard appropriation. An amendment was expected proposing that the entire appropriation of $400,000 be wiped out.

Representatives Rogers of Celeste said it would be better to spend a tenth of the amount planned for preparedness in teaching peace.

Late News

NEW YORK, March 21. (UP).—President George A. Sloan of the Cotton Textile institute, announced today that the institute will support a minority to legislate on the morals of the citizenry.

"Everybody uses cotton" is this year's theme. The usual newspaper advertising campaign is planned, he announced.

TYLER, March 21. (UP).—The Peoples' Petroleum Producers, Inc., today petitioned Federal Judge Bryant to cite the railroad commissioners in contempt of court for promulgating East Texas proration orders. It was alleged that present orders conform with the order which had been invalidated.

HARBIN, March 21. (UP).—Japanese troops today annihilated 300 bandits at Sanchienfang. Six Japanese were killed and eleven were wounded.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 21. (UP).—Four were arrested here today as suspects in the kidnaping of Peter Myers, 15, Saturday night.

RACE HORSE BETTING BILL LOSES IN HOUSE VOTE 71 TO 63; DEBATE CONSUMES ENTIRE SESSION MONDAY

AUSTIN, Mar. 21. (UP).—Hopes for a second vote on the race-horse betting bill were dashed when it was shown that the defeating ballot yesterday was validly taken.

Representative Laird denied that his vote was cast on the late Monday when he was away, the alleged violation by which a new ballot was sought.

AUSTIN, March 21.—The biennial attempt to legalize the wagering on horse races in Texas failed again late Monday when the house killed a bill that would have permitted establishment of pari-mutuel wagering.

The bill failed of engrossment by eight votes, 71 to 63.

Acrimonious Debate
Debate lasted all day and grew acrimonious as the bill neared Representative J. C. Duval of Fort Worth, author of the bill, charged the clergy with "mixing too much into the affairs of the legislature" while Representative Harry N. Graves of Georgetown asserted the proposal was a "monstrosity" and that it would be "an unfit legacy to leave to the children of the state."

The house action was made final when a motion to reconsider the vote and table the bill carried, 66 to 65. When a bill is tabled it cannot again be placed before the legislature.

Although the bill failed of engrossment, it received more support than was accorded it two years ago. Duval made a strong appeal for passage, saying it was time the government returned to the people some of their liberties and that it was an unsound principle to allow a minority to legislate on the morals of the citizenry.

He was particularly critical of the attitude taken on the race horse betting bill by the clergy, saying he had voted against the bill two years ago on the strength of their presentation but later found they were "untrue."

"The American people are tired of this hypocrisy and people should be allowed to exercise their own consciences and determine what is right and what is wrong," Duval said.

W. T. Waggoner, wealthy Texas sportsman, has established an extensive racing plant. He asserted that when the bill was up two years ago, it was represented to him that the people of his county were against the bill and that he had been "deceived," Duval said.

Betting on horse races has been prohibited in Texas since 1909. (See RACE HORSE BILL, page 6)

UNEMPLOYMENT PROGRAM GOES TO COMMITTEE

250,000 to Be Given Work by Summer if Bill Successful

WASHINGTON, Mar. 21. (UP).—President Roosevelt's unemployment relief program was referred immediately to the house labor committee following the president's message today.

It was estimated that 250,000 men will be employed by early summer if the reforestation and flood control plan is adopted.

A federal relief administrator's office, with procedure along three types of legislation: enrollment of workers for quick employment, grants to states for relief work and creation of a board of public works labor program.

"Unobligated funds, now appropriated for public works, would be sufficient for several months," he said.

The bill for a civilian conservation corps, asked by Roosevelt, was introduced in the senate by Majority Leader Robinson after his message.

HUNDREDS FLEE AS OHIO RIVER STAGES A RISE

CINCINNATI, March 21. (UP).—Hundreds more left their homes in West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky today as the Ohio river continued to rise. Crest of the flood was expected to reach 64 feet here tonight.

Rains yesterday added to the rise and increased the property damage which already had been estimated at more than a million dollars. There were 5,000 homeless along the river.

First Spring Day Brings Cold Wave

Spring made an airy entrance Monday and brought along mercury readings that were chilly reminders that, although the curtain officially has been drawn on winter, a few more cold waves are to be expected.

A stiff wind that rose out of the northwest early Sunday was responsible for a minimum temperature of 31 degrees on the first day of the new season. That was at 7 a. m. and the maximum reading was recorded during the mid-afternoon—only 57 degrees, breezes continuing to keep still throughout the day.

March is the average date for the last killing frost in the spring in this section, with April 23 the latest on record.

Editor's Note: Numerous readers of The Reporter-Telegram recently have voiced criticism of certain phases of articles written by Mr. Hogan, holding that the articles have attacked the Roosevelt administration. The Reporter-Telegram is printing Mr. Hogan's articles not as representing its editorial policies but to give the readers information gained from the author's first hand contact with legislative affairs in Washington. The Midland oil man and former senator from Montana sits daily in meetings of important senate and house committees, discusses with legislators the outstanding problems of America today and forms his conclusions from the information gained. The Reporter-Telegram regards the articles as highly informative, regardless of agreement or disagreement with personal views of the writer, and feels fortunate in being able to pass the articles on to its readers.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—It has been definitely decided that congress will remain in session instead of taking a three weeks recess as first proposed. It looked for a while as if the very foolish course of taking a recess would be adopted. The senate recessed from Thursday noon until Monday in order to escape having half-baked and ill-considered legislation forced through without a chance to study it. In the house the administration forces attempted to amend the new banking law by unanimous consent, but the fact that the law itself was only eight days old and had been forced through without even reading by the members made them balk at accepting the amendments in the same way. The proposed amendments are for the purpose of correcting the features of the bill to which Huey Long so vigorously objected.

The amendments were offered in the house instead of the senate so that Huey would not get the credit for their adoption. The purpose of the amendments is to save a large number of state banks.

Many newspapers that were clamorously demanding that congress follow the leader and adopt any legislation proposed by the "White House" are now demanding that congress kill this bill. Telegrams and

Three Candidates Seek Two School Board Places

Three names as candidates for school trustee had been filed prior to closing the ballot at 3 o'clock this afternoon, with two places to be filled in the election Saturday, April 1.

Roy Parks, Alvin Hicks and Paul Ryan were on the ballot. The two elected are to fill the terms of J. R. Martin and Hicks, elected a year ago.

Martin and Hicks, with W. A. Yeager and Frank Cowden, were elected at the regular school trustee election last year. In accordance with state laws, places were drawn for one- and three-year terms with the result that Martin and Hicks were to serve one year and Cowden and Yeager three years.

Board members who do not come up for a vote this year include Cowden, Yeager, Dr. John B. Thomas, James S. Noland and R. V. Lawrence.

FARM RELIEF IS TAKEN TO ECONOMY FIELD

WASHINGTON.—Agriculture, for better or worse, is out of the hands of the politicians.

The farmers are the intended beneficiaries of the most far-reaching program of economic rehabilitation that any government—perhaps excepting Soviet Russia—ever devised.

The man who will supervise this gigantic attempt to put agriculture on its feet is President Roosevelt's secretary of agriculture, Henry Wallace.

Wallace never held office before. He is an economist, an agricultural scientist, a dirt farmer and a business man who has been in constant contact with farmers and their organizations through his editorship of one of the most distinguished and successful weeklies of the middle west. He holds the respect of farmers, economists, scientists and politicians.

Right behind him, helping to carry the enormous burden of power which it is hoped can be used to save 10,000,000 farmers and their families from ruin, are Prof. Rex Tugwell and Dr. Mordca Ezechiel, economists who have specialized in agriculture. Tugwell, who was an economist adviser to Roosevelt in the campaign, is assistant secretary. Ezechiel, who has been assistant chief economist with the farm board is economic adviser to Wallace.

They are the "Big Three" behind the new farm program. They framed it with the advice of President Roosevelt, of farm organization leaders and other advisers. They are now trying to figure out how best to make it work.

He Thinks Farms
Wallace thinks in terms of farm prices, overproduction, taxes, acreage, planting, charts, yield, mortgages and the regular other aspects of the farm problem.

To a stranger he seems saturated and rather preoccupied with it. Handsome, medium sized, younger than his 44 years, wearing a rather unmythic, of hair having begun to gray, and with determined, thoughtful eyes among other semi-rugged features, he seems friendly but slightly hesitant and even diffident at times. But that appears due to his caution in making statements. One can't imagine the man ever going off half-cocked.

One of his friends is quoted as reporting:
"We took an adding machine last night and went to Henry's house and had a hell of a time!"

Henry himself would never use such language. In Wallace's Farmer, which his grandfather Henry, and his father Henry, edited before (See FARM RELIEF, page 6)

Capital Amused By Numerous and Senseless Yarns

WASHINGTON.—The most astonishing tip-off on the "Washington mind" if such a term may be used, has been supplied by the current deluge of rumors involving the Hoover administration and to a lesser extent, the death of Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana.

There would be no object in bringing up the yarns were not one of the most astonishing things that has ever appeared in the national capital. A check indicates the impossibility of locating anyone here who hasn't heard one or more scandalous tales of a type calculated to excite the whole world. Not many intelligent persons place credence in the stories, but the most common topic of entertainment here has been the repetition of the event, most absurd versions and excited speculation as to how all these tales ever got started.

Story About Mellon
One of them was the wild tale that Andrew Mellon, who has been ambassador to England, had moved $5,000,000 in gold across the sea and wasn't ever coming home. Senator David Reed of Pennsylvania, Mellon's friend, dragged that one out in the senate for the purpose of ridiculing it and assured the country that Mellon was about to take off for America on the high seas.

Another of the most persistent absurdities is that $90,000,000 in gold is missing from the treasury and that all members of the Hoover administration are being watched pending an investigation. Apparently that sort of thing has spread rapidly over the country and it is this brief note helps convince anyone that such rumors are cock-eyed and crazy, so much the better.

Interesting Wine
Congressman O'Connor of New York, one of the most active beer proponents, was explaining that wine wasn't included in the house bill.

WASHINGTON, March 21. (UP).—The house today passed the Cullen beer and wine bill, legalizing 3.2 per cent brews April 7.

Speaker Rainey and Vice President Garner must sign before forwarding the measure to the White House. The senate adjourned until tomorrow, unintentionally delaying Garner's signature.

The bill legalizes and taxes the manufacture and sale of beer, ale, lager, porter, wine and fruit juices. It provides a tax of $5 per barrel and a $1,000 manufacturer's permit.

SCHOOLS HELP STAGE BENEFIT PRESENTATION

Schools of the city are giving invaluable assistance in preparations for "Casey's Trial" to be presented at the Yucca theatre March 30.

Officials of the women's clubs of the city said Tuesday. School children of the first and second grades will compose a goodnight broadcast for the concert, and high school girls will compose a song and dance ensemble.

In addition to these aids, Superintendent W. W. Lackey is aiding with transcripts of the lines for the varied performers.

Mrs. George Glass and her committeewomen Mmes. Fred Turner, M. M. Seymour, Tom Bobo, and Allen Tolbert in charge of children's singing, ask that those specially prepared for rehearsal, Clarence Scharbauer, in charge of the square dance, and Bob Preston, caller, want their performers at the Lions room at 7:30 Wednesday night.

New Watson is assembling an orchestra to play for the square dance, made up of Thomas Innan, W. H. McComber and Dr. D. K. Ratliff.

Mrs. Leon Goodman is arranging an old-fashioned garden number composed of six girls. The four selected are Mrs. Alf Reese, Mrs. Wade Stevens, Lucille McMan and Marguerite Bivins.

The hilarious comedy "Casey's Trial" is being presented by the Federated Women's clubs of Midland to raise money for entertainment of the annual district convention to be held here next month. The play guarantees laughs aplenty.

Scout Executives To Meet April 10

BIG SPRING.—A. C. Williamson, area scout executive, announced here today that there would be an executive board meeting of the Buffalo Trails council April 10. He said no site for the affair had been selected.

The meeting will be the first quarterly one of the year. Plans for the annual jamboree will be discussed. Williamson was here conferring with the troop committee of Troop No. 3. He had been to Odessa where he had attended a joint meeting of fathers and mothers, planning a program for Troop No. 58.

LESSONS IN BANKING

One of the things the national bank holiday did for us was to give us a little education about the relative places which currency and credit occupy in the economic life of any community.

The ingenious way in which a relatively small amount of actual cash gets pyramided, through credit agencies, into a large amount of working capital could not have been better illustrated. It was dramatically, and in some cases painfully, proved to us that we cannot do business on a currency basis—not even though the present supply of currency were doubled or quadrupled. We must have credit, and to have credit there must be complete confidence.

It is for that reason that the outlook today is encouraging. Confidence has been restored. We have had a useful lesson in what happens to us when depositors and bankers freeze on to their cash. From now on the way to full business recovery should be much smoother.

Initial Beer Shortage, Then Over-Production Feared for the U. S. A.

The hooves of "the brewer's big horses" (above) again will clatter over the pavements of the nation's beer centers, as many breweries prepare to revive this method of distribution despite the post-prohibition increase in motor delivery. . . . Breweries hold out the promise of work to thousands of jobless men.

Like homesteaders' impatiently awaiting the opening of new lands, brewers are preparing to rush into at least 22 states with millions of gallons of foamy beer, a survey of the nation's pre-prohibition brewing centers has revealed.

But between now and the hour that will mark the re-opening of a long-dormant industry, manufacturers will be grappling with problems of distribution, puzzling over questions of financing, and worrying about restrictions that are being set up by the various states.

There is even some concern regarding the production of sufficient beer. From the opening gong on the first celebrant day there will be plenty of it, properly aged, in the larger cities. Vast amounts of beer now are lying fallow in the tanks. And new machinery and speedier methods will permit a greater outflow than the same breweries produced during the banner year of 1917.

But for all that, a shortage is anticipated in many places after the first few days of sale. The fact is, in spite of the fortunes spent in re-opening and modernizing breweries, only about 300 of the 1000 that were operating in 1918 are actually ready to resume selling beer. Some 270 others, according to figures of the brewing industry, have placed contracts for equipment and will rush into competition a few weeks late.

Many thousands of new jobs already are being created. About 10,000 additional brewery employees are being engaged in New York and in Brooklyn, officials say. And most of the 8000 members of the New York state bartenders union expect to get jobs within a few weeks. Salaries already are established at a minimum of $25 a week with a $35 minimum when and if hard liquors is dispensed.

In Milwaukee, where famous breweries like Pabst, Schlitz, Blatz, and Miller expect to produce about 15,000,000 barrels of beer a year, some 4500 workers are expected to be hired for the plants alone. Added to this number the employees required for dispensing it, and the carpenters, builders and allied trades which will share in the new business, and the total of new jobs is expected to be at least 8500. In addition, Milwaukee brewers report they will be ready to go within three or four hours after their product becomes legal.

St. Louis expects about 8,000 new jobs, and the putting back into circulation of about $8,000,000,000 in a short time after beer is offered for sale. The Falstaff Corporation plans heavy investments in new trucks and other equipment. Anheuser-Busch is preparing an elaborate system for distribution of beer to homes, hotels, restaurants, taverns and offices.

Reports from Chicago, Detroit, and Cincinnati—as well as Milwaukee and St. Louis, tell of the letting of contracts for the construction of beer gardens and taverns after the European style. And in those cities, orders for beer—both from prospective retailers and from individuals—are being received daily.

Once the supply begins to catch up with the demand, officials fear there will be overproduction. For scores of new breweries now are being built and financed. And old establishments are being enlarged. In addition, there are many new schemes and processes—mostly methods of quick "aging"—which may lead to the establishment of hundreds of small local breweries.

So the beer men say there ought to be a law—in fact, a number of laws—restricting the numbers of breweries in various states and providing something like uniformity in taxes and provisions for sales. "As things stand now," pointed out C. D. Williams, executive secretary of the United States Brewers association, "some states limit the number of breweries while their neighbors do not, and they differ widely in the amounts of taxes proposed, which range from $1 to $10 a barrel. Licensing is still under controversy, too."

"We believe that high imposts in the form of either licenses or taxes will defeat the whole object of state and federal revenue, and will throw the beer business right back into the hands of the bootleggers. There is a lot of nonsense being written about manufacturing costs and profits. As a matter of fact, under the changed conditions of today, we ourselves don't know what it will cost to produce and distribute beer, but we're sure that most of the current estimates are too low. Even so, a seven-ounce glass will probably sell for a nickel, and 24 twelve-ounce bottles will retail for from $2.15 to $2.75."

The Brewers' board of trade, a New York organization, and the United States Association of Brewers, admittedly have taken no precautions, made no plans, to combat the activities of racketeers. The problem, they say, is entirely up to the judgment and courage of the individual companies.

The industry expects the sale of beer to be mainly through grocery stores instead of over bars. Draught beer doubtless will be sold in restaurants, hotels and in some beer gardens. New York is expecting the return of the saloon, and the state of Illinois is inclined toward local option so that Chicago may have a chance to stand up to mahogany. Indiana's control plan, hailed as a model system, will permit the sale of beer at drug stores, groceries, restaurants, hotels, clubs and dining cars, but the first-mentioned four can sell the beverage only in bottled form and not more than 12 quarts to an individual. Luckies Please!

St. Moritz, Switzerland, where people gather to watch the cream of the winter sports.

They taste right...
they have character!

Only the finest of ripe, tender golden-brown leaves—the "Cream of the Crop"—are purchased for Luckies. Patiently we let these choice tobaccos age and ripen—that's Character. Then—for true mellow-mildness—these smooth, delicious tobaccos are "Toasted"—given that extra benefit so necessary for your smoking pleasure. For these two reasons—Character and Mildness—"Luckies Please!"

because "It's toasted"

If You Could Measure Taste

... you'd say that Sanitary Milk gives full measure in genuine delightfulness. Served as a nice cooling drink, as a tasty health potion or used as an ingredient in better cooking, Sanitary Jersey's Milk tastes better because it comes fresh daily from our own dairy farms. When the cost is the same, why not have the best—in this case, Sanitary Jersey's Milk.

SOCIETY

Baptist Circles Hold Meetings Monday Afternoon

Circles of the Women's Missionary society of the First Baptist church met Monday afternoon. Mrs. W. S. Steele was hostess to the Evangelists circle. The meeting was opened with a devotional reading taken from the 15th chapter of John and read by Mrs. George H. Halton. Members present voted to take a study course on the life of Miss Lottie Moon, a missionary to China. Pie and coffee were served to Mmes. Carl Young, Halton, J. T. Walker, D. E. Hughes, R. E. Witty and D. E. Scott. Misses Marjorie Ward and Ruth Smith and the hostess.

Ten members of the Lena Wimberly circle met at the home of Mrs. W. W. Wimberly. Mrs. J. M. White read the devotional and one chapter of the mission study book, "The Gospel to Red Men" was discussed. Approximately 15 members of the Annie Barron and Isadora Harmon circles met at the church for a short business meeting over which Mrs. E. W. Anguish, president, presided.

Methodist Circles See Clothes Made For Orphan Girl

A style show of the clothes made by Mrs. B. Frank Haag for an orphan girl the Methodist auxiliary is supporting in a Waco orphanage entertained members of both circles of that society Monday afternoon at the parsonage.

Models were Mrs. Johnnie Ratliff and Mrs. Kirby Sims. Following the show, the clothes were packed and will be sent to the girl as an Easter gift.

Mrs. John Dabbs, former soloist for First Methodist church and radio singer at Fort Worth, sang "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling." Mrs. Andy Norwood offered a prayer.

Mmes. L. B. Hankins, J. S. Nolan, W. I. Pratt and Fred Wemple presented topics on "The Deacons—Who Is She?"

Refreshments were served by the Mary Scharbauer circle to 42 members.

High School Annual Queen

Miss Evelyn Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips, who, in a recent contest, was elected annual queen of the Midland high school, is shown above. Her picture appeared in the Star-Telegram Sunday and will also appear in the high school year book. The Cateco. Miss Phillips is a member of the Theta Sigma sorority, a girls' organization.

PREFERS BIG MEN

LONDON.—One British manufacturing firm has such faith in tall men that it employs only men over five feet eight inches in height as salesmen. Other companies disagree and say that they have short men on their sales forces who can knock the big boys "into cocked hat." A doctor-psychologist said that little men have a harder time putting their personality over. But remember Napoleon. He was short!

HOSS COMING BACK

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—The auto

may have replaced the horse and wagon in the tastes of those who desire transportation, but when it comes to stealing, the old-fashioned horse theft is still the rage. Peter Grabbe, a hunkster, was eating his lunch when someone climbed on to the seat of his vegetable wagon, whipped his nag, and off he went. It was the first horse theft local police recall in more than five years.

Episcopal Auxiliary Continued Reading Of Lenten Sermons

Continuing the reading of famous Lenten sermons prepared by prominent Episcopalian ministers, members of the Woman's auxiliary met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. E. Soper.

The Lord's prayer and a prayer for the auxiliary were repeated in unison.

Immediately following the roll call and the reading of the minutes, the treasurer read a report that showed a substantial sum has been raised by the auxiliary for the redecoration of the interior of Trinity chapel.

After the benediction, tea was served to 14 members.

Mrs. Dunn Reiger Hostess to Society

Mrs. Dunn Reiger was hostess Monday afternoon to members of the Woman's Missionary society of the First Christian church.

Following a short business meeting, Mrs. Rawlins Clark conducted a lesson study on the book of Nehemiah.

Members attending were Mmes. Paul Reeves, Guy Breneman, Charles Klapproth, S. P. Hall, E. C. Adams and Clark, Miss Josephine Guly and the hostess. One new member, Mrs. Mac O'Dell, was added to the roll.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Peach Mousse

1 tsp. gelatin
3 tbsp. cold water
1 lemon (juice)
1½ cups peach pulp
1-4 cup sugar
1 cup cream, whipped
1 cup social tea biscuits, crumbled

Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve over hot water, add lemon juice, peach pulp and sugar. Fold in whipped cream and crumbled social teas. Chill in refrigerator for several hours. 6 portions.

A dry chamois rubbed over your kitchen window when it is covered with steam will save washing it.

A new feeling for men past fifty

If you've let yourself grow systematically old, here is a way to stimulate yourself without the slightest harm, and, in fact, with effects beneficial to the entire body.

This method of stimulating a sluggish system to new life is a doctor's discovery, so no one need hesitate to try it or believe in it. It is a sane, sensible way to keep keenly alive.

The only medicine you take is a most likeable and remarkable syrup made with fresh herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. The benefits are many, and far-reaching. Its immediate effect on the lower bowel gets rid of lingering poisons better than a powerful laxative. In fact, you will need no other laxative if you take an occasional spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

If you regard yourself in fairly good health now, you might still find after a week or two of this gentle stimulation that you were only in a state of half-health before. It makes an amazing difference in the way one feels, especially at an age when one inclines toward auto-intoxication. (Daily headaches, failing appetite and tiring too easily are apt to be symptoms of a toxic condition.) Women, too, get decided benefit from a few weeks' regulation with this simple prescription that can be had at all times at any drugstore. Mothers give this same syrup to children, and raise their families without a day's worry over chronic constipation, or even the sluggishness so common in childhood. The bowels move like clockwork.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is perfectly safe for anyone of any age.

HOLCOME IS NEW CHIEF OF DIAMOND LOOP

ABILENE—The West Texas league baseball will line up for first official hostilities of the season April 22, possibly with as many as six teams entering into the argument. Another league meeting was held at San Angelo Sunday, after which came the announcement that the tentative membership now consists of Abilene, Hamlin, Texon, Coleman, San Angelo and Ozona. The last two named were said to be the only uncertain entries.

San Angelo is to decide by next Saturday its course of action. If any. Jake Young, Ozona team business manager, plans to learn at an early date the sentiment of the sportsmen in his town regarding the league. He said he felt sure his team would be ready to toe the mark a month hence. If Angelo doesn't come in, Ballinger may take the sixth slot.

A new set of officers was elected at the Angelo session. Mose Simms, at his own suggestion, was replaced in the president's chair by W. D. (Lefty) Holcombe.

beer bill because as he understood it, 3.2 per cent wine was "not very interesting."

"It may be," spoke up Congressman Florence Kahn of grape-growing California, hopefully, "we might be able to find a percentage that would make it interesting and intoxicating."

Green-Perkins Feud

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins sits at her desk facing two huge oil paintings of James John Davis and William Nuckles Doak, the two republican secretaries who preceded her, which just about cover the entire opposite wall. Biting is brisk in the labor department as to just how long she can stand it.

The feud between Madame Secretary and the American Federation of Labor, which began when President Green of the A. F. of L. denounced her appointment, will bear watching. The department and its bureaus are full of ex-labor leaders, backed by the federation, and current gossip is that many of those boys are likely to get the axe.

Various units in the labor movement already have protested Green's assertion that the department must be the A. F. of L.'s own garden. Miss Perkins, meanwhile, has been pleasant about it.

"If he won't come here to see me when there are things for us to talk about," she said, "then I'll have to go to see him."

Senators at Play

Senator Logan of Kentucky is perfecting his marksmanship—with rubber bands. During the debate on the Roosevelt economy bill he snapped several bands at the handsome neck of Senator Connally of Texas. Finally he hit the senator from Texas squarely on the neck, then bowed gracefully and retired from the field as Connally turned in surprise.

G. O. P. Publicity

The republican national committee apparently knows a good chance for economy when it sees it. Its large and handsome headquarters still remain, but only two of three shadowy figures may be found in the many suites of offices.

Wondering what was being done to oil up the G. O. P. publicity machine in face of the great flood of pro-Roosevelt sentiment, the correspondent found that the republicans just didn't have any more publicity staff at all. Later on, no doubt, the publicity machine—which never did match that of the democrats—will be resurrected.

Liquidating the Country

A Greater Ruth Chatterton Opens At the Ritz Wed.

The Ruth Chatterton of her glorious successes "Madame X" and Sarah and Son," returned to the screen of the Ritz theatre today in First National's colorful drama of the Barbary Coast, "Frisco Jenny," and gave the greatest performance of her career in this powerful drama.

In "Frisco Jenny" Miss Chatterton returns as one of the finest emotional actresses on the screen. Her portrayal of the sin-steeped mother who breaks every law of man but holds fast to the one great law of nature, mother-love, can be best described by that simple but sincere word "masterpiece."

The story and characterization are far cries from the "Broad A" drawing room parts which have been given recently to Miss Chatterton, but the capable star handles her delicate but difficult role with consummate skill. Doubtless much of the credit for Miss Chatterton's greatness in "Frisco Jenny" belongs to William Wellman, the director. Wellman, famous for his gangster-picture successes, guides the fragile beauty of his star along the coarse, hardened passage with unerring adroitness and understanding.

"Frisco Jenny" has everything a picture needs to be great entertainment. Supporting the glamorous star is a fine cast, and a story crammed with action. One of the scenes depicts the earthquake that razed San Francisco, and it is undeniably one of the most thrilling ever filmed. Huge buildings actually rocking and crashing around the fleeing, frenzied citizens offer a faint idea of the breath-taking drama of the picture.

"Frisco Jenny" will be hungrily welcomed by fans.

Race Horse Bill

Facing meet was held at Arlington Downs last spring and a test was made of the statute against betting. The court of criminal appeals held the contribution system, used in the test case, was illegal.

Bitter Contest

Throughout the day, speakers took the floor alternately for and against the bill. It was bitterly contested from start to finish.

The first assault was made by Representative H. H. Ray of Troy, who offered an amendment to strike out the enacting clause, but later withdrew it.

Ray termed the bill "iniquitous" and said that it was "so sugarcoted that it sounds like a Sunday school meeting," and that he would rather see the schools close than have them operated on money derived from a tax on race track gambling. The bill provided that a portion of the revenue be allotted to the school fund.

Graves declared the bill would be a "pitfall for the weak" and that it would lead to untold trouble and misery. He criticized Waggoner's interest in the bill.

"There is not a single good feature about the bill," Graves stated. "It never had any good features and never will. It will corrupt the morals of every boy and girl in Texas. If it is such a good idea to repeal the statute against gambling on horse races, why not repeal all the gambling statutes? If it is passed it will be an evil as long as it remains on the statute books."

The purported activities of "political preachers" was scored by Representatives T. H. McGregor of Austin and John M. Mathis, Sr., of Houston.

Representative A. B. Tarwater of Plainview, leader of the agricultural bloc, denounced the bill. Tarwater said sponsors had misrepresented the benefits that would be derived by the farmers from the development of racing in Texas and that it was a subterfuge to hold out the hope of increased agricultural prosperity because of its provisions.

The Constitution of the United States, together with acts of Congress and foreign treaties made under its authority, comprise the supreme law of the land.

Prisoners Not Yet Apprehended

SWEETWATER.—Officers still were searching at midnight last night for two prisoners who earlier in the evening sawed through cell-window bars and escaped the Nolan county jail here.

One of the fugitives was S. D. Dick, under sentence totaling 18 years, recently received when he was convicted on charge of hijacking. Authorities said he has a police record. The other was a man named Stalcup, facing a charge of automobile theft.

The break was discovered about 10 o'clock by Jailer "Red" Pool, who estimated it occurred only a short time before.

Officers in nearby cities were notified.

age means 92 cents a bushel for wheat.

A member of the house asked me last night if I could tell him what the bill meant. Having labored through its details, and knowing the plans and ideas of the man who framed it, I was unable to tell him. One congressman exclaimed, "Well, why in hell couldn't they say so and not give us all a headache trying to figure out what they meant?"

Personally, I think the friends of the measure are making a mistake in not being frank and straightforward about the whole business and say—this bill is to make the secretary of agriculture a dictator over the farming business of the United States. This course is necessary because that great business is bankrupt and all other business. No ordinary remedies can cure it. Therefore the secretary shall fix the prices of basic farm products, shall reduce acreage to estimated needs and shall have back of him all the power of the United States government in enforcing his program.

That is exactly what it is proposed to do. Its success or failure will depend largely on the manner of enforcement.

It can be truthfully said of Secretary Wallace and the men working with him that they all will work hard and honestly to make a success of it if it is passed.

The members of congress feel they must pass some farm bill. A new senator from Montana, who arrived today, told me he had read the bill on the train but could not understand how it would work, but would vote for anything that would change farm conditions. That's about the viewpoint of all of them.

Reich

This program of the new administration, announced by publication of the draft of an enabling act, shared interest with reports from Munich that the police there had prevented an attempt on the life of the chancellor.

The act the Reichstag will be asked to approve would empower the government to promulgate laws even if those laws conflicted with the constitution. It would remove the control of the Reichstag and the Reichsrat over such legislation. In the field of foreign affairs it would vest sole responsibility over future treaties with foreign powers in the government itself, taking that function from the Reichstag and the Reichsrat.

Dictatorial powers will be asked until April 1, 1937, "or for the duration of the present government."

Conoco Winners Announced Tonight

Winners in the recent contest to name Conoco's bronze gasoline will be announced this evening by radio. It is believed by H. M. Becherer, proprietor of the Conoco station on West Wall street. He says the following stations should announce the awards from 9:30 to 10: Chicago, WMAQ; St. Louis, KSD; Kansas City, WDAF; Shreveport, KTBS; Dallas, WFAA, and San Antonio, WOAI.

Less Commercial Air Announcement

Consistent with its policy of giving the public what it wants, the American Tobacco Company, sponsors of the Magic Carpet program, after due experimentation, have decided to limit their commercial radio copy to an absolute minimum—a minute and one half or less per one hour program. The good-will created by this move is considered ample compensation for the limited commercial copy, it was stated.

It is felt that, being one of radio's largest advertisers, their action will be followed by the sponsors of several other well known commercial programs. The shortening of advertising copy is generally deemed one of the most important strides taken in commercial radio broadcasting in recent years.

What is to their knowledge the shortest commercial announcements now in use on the air are being heard during the Magic Carpet program over a nationwide NBC WEAF network every Tuesday and Thursday evening at 10 p. m. (EST). With the commercial announcements consuming less than a minute and a half of broadcasting time, listeners are afforded 58 1-2 minutes of entertainment, more than is now offered by any sponsored program on the air.

Several Changes In Club Ladder

The country club golf ladder has again shifted its rungs.

Joe D. Chambers won over Bill Moran, two and one, Sunday to go a step higher on the Sand Belt Golf association team; Elliott Miller won, four and three, from De Lo Douglas and Harry Adams won from Red Knight, one up on 20 holes.

An odd twist infused itself into the last match. Knight chipped his approach shot into the cup on the ninth hole for a 39, but shot the second round in 47, giving him a bad ending.

Chambers was three up at the turn of his match with Moran and won on the 17th hole.

Qualifying under a new decision of club nabobs will begin this afternoon and be concluded Saturday evening.

This decision resulted from a need of letting new members get a feel of the club. One of the original proponents of the domestic allotment plan and the bill which he helped frame empowers him to invoke the main provisions of that plan. He has favored an "early retreat" from millions of acres of farm land that are now operated with resultant him and which his 17-year-old son, Henry B., probably will edit some time in the future—you find regularly two pages entitled "Sabbath School Lesson" by Henry A. Wallace himself. The journal's slogan is "Good Farming, Clear Thinking, Right Living."

His Writings

Wallace's Farmer and Wallace reflect each other. Since his father became secretary of agriculture in 1921 he has been an active editor, producing a magazine of surprising high quality in which he simplifies economic and farm problems. You find his editorializing on "Early or Late Corn for Silage," "State Taxes for Local Schools," "Check Up on Your Seed Corn," "How Clean Ground Saves Spring Pigs," "How British Lord Prices Have Risen Since England Went Off Gold," and a hundred other subjects. He has been writing a separate column for farm boys and girls in which he explains such matters as the relation of the gold supply to farm prices.

Neither a spellbinder nor a back-slapper, he has grown through his writings and his ceaseless nonpartisan battle for the farmer's interests into one of the biggest figures in the grain region.

Stodious and reserved he is regarded as a voice of authority by hundreds of thousands of farmers. His confidence was demonstrated when they and their friends endorsed him so enthusiastically for his present post that there was hardly any competition for the job. An independent reporter, who advised the farmers during the campaign that they had "a chance with Roosevelt but none with Hoover."

An Inflationist

Wall street sat up and blinked when it realized the new secretary was an advocate of inflation, but Wallace has remarked that they have another fellow here who takes care of the money and that he "won't be butting in on the job." He is on record as asserting that "the United States has only the choice between inflation and the wholesale repudiation of debts." He has told the farmers that if the United States went off the gold standard, prices would rise at least 20 per cent.

He favors tariff revision as a means of aiding the farmer. He is one of the original proponents of the domestic allotment plan and the bill which he helped frame empowers him to invoke the main provisions of that plan. He has favored an "early retreat" from millions of acres of farm land that are now operated with resultant huge overproduction—and he is now empowered to withdraw that land under the new rental plan.

"Out where the tall corn grows," he may not have made it grow any taller, but he did make it yield from four to ten bushels more an acre through his experiments in high-production corn. He began his scientific experiments as a young man and until he came here still supervised his own farm at Polk county, Iowa.

A Practical Farmer

Long ago he branched into economics and for years has been in contact with many of the country's leading economists. Among his books are "Agricultural Prices," "Corn and Corn Growing"—a widely used textbook—and "Correlation and Machine Calculation."

Children judges of prize corn some time ago, he said:

"Show corn ideals deal too much with beauty and too little with utility. Whether corn has smooth or rough kernels means very little more than the presence or absence of a dimple on a pretty girl."

Wallace has always been practical like that, advising farmers not only as to their crops and the bigger problems of their industry, but also on their home lives, their family budgets, their faith in God and their community affairs. Recently he addressed a message to the young farm folks, urging them to keep down expenses during the distress period, to wear their old clothes a little longer and to go in for amusements that didn't cost money.

He has three children. He is a vegetarian, refrains from eggs, raises in Iowa. His chief recreations are tennis, volleyball and badminton.

WANT A JOB?

LONDON.—With millions out of work, there are few unemployed who are rushing to take the job caretaker for Newstead Isolation hospital. For a salary of $10 a week the caretaker is supposed to cultivate the garden, cut the grass, keep the gardens, grounds and walks neat, maintain and repair the motor ambulance, convey patients to the hospital, take charge of clothing, maintain the disinfecting apparatus, carry out disinfecting operations, tend the furnace, carry coal to the wards, chop firewood and clean the windows. His spare time is supposed to be spent in making himself useful.

...Mechanic Elder Schaffner Found the Hidden Quart... Also that Without it, Motors Show 50% to 60% Greater Wear ...So He Switched to Conoco

MECHANIC SCHAFFNER REPORTS ON DISCOVERY:

"I never did believe what Conoco Germ Processed oil would do; not until an Essex owner, with 25,000 miles on his speedometer, asked me to check his motor and put in new parts where necessary. It surely surprised me; clearance of pistons was only four 1-thousandths; of bearings only three 1-thousandths of an inch.

Stop Cruel Motor Wear . . . Escape its Painful Cost

Don't Wait Another Day to Drain and Refill With Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil

To a motor, lack of lubrication is cruelty indeed. You are too "humane" to permit it, if only you knew the truth. But motors suffer in silence till costly damage is done. Then you pay . . . and pay . . . and pay.

50% of motor wear occurs in the moments following a cold start. Ordinary oil drains back into the crankcase and leaves the motor dry, till it is pumped back up again. Not so, with Conoco's hidden quart. It stays up in the motor and never drains away.

This is proved. Even with the crankcase empty, due to accident, users of this oil have driven many miles, without damage, on the "hidden quart alone.

Isn't it smart and thrifty to have a "hidden quart up in the parts of your motor, where you are sure it cannot fail? It is so simple to be safe! so foolhardy to be in doubt. Tend to it today. Go now, drain and refill with the "hidden-quart oil. Do it for safety's sake.

the "hidden quart"

THAT STAYS UP IN YOUR MOTOR AND NEVER DRAINS AWAY

* The Germ Process (exclusive Conoco patent) imparts to this motor oil that peculiar ability to penetrate and combine with metal surfaces. Of the first filling about one quart will "hide" itself up in your motor's precious working parts. This hidden quart never drains away. It becomes a part of the motor itself, worth its weight in gold.
