OVERLAPPING SOMETIMES DESIRABLE. All government agencies are most sensitive to the accusation that they are overlapping in their authority, jurisdiction, or administration of programs. Generally speaking, duplication should be avoided because it breeds waste and confusion, but there are some areas so important to the public interest that a measure of overlapping is understandable and indeed desirable. Surely every person in East Texas knows that it is far, far better to overlap roof shingles than to permit a gap through which the rain can pour in.

A CASE IN POINT — Recent Small Business Committee hearings, before which I appeared as the lead-off witness, have already revealed that because of a weak, ineffectual enforcement program by the Federal Trade Commission, much of the protection provided by the Robinson-Patman Act, "The Magna Charta of Small Business," enacted in 1936, has been dangerously eroded. Specifically, our Nation's more than 40,000 corner drugstores are in urgent need of immediate help if they are to continue to withstand the devastating competition of national chains whose giant purchasing power provides easy access to credit. Loopholes and gaps have clearly developed that must be closed by better FTC enforcement in conjunction with vigorous prosecution by the Department of Justice as actually intended by the Robinson-Patman Act. It is better for the FTC and the Justice Department to "overlap" than expose a gap in our economic defenses that will destroy the corner drugstore and other small businesses by discriminatory pricing and a multitude of monopolistic gimmicks which cause the people to pay, and pay dearly for consumer necessities.

TIME FOR THE FAMILY — German sociologists, after computerizing their questionnaires on the subject, have come up with the finding that children and parents spend only 46 minutes daily in meaningful family communication and activities.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS and their parents should not become discouraged if the college of their choice turns them down, as chances are good that a student can get into college elsewhere, and furthermore, it is probably that he will be just as well off with another school. This is true because in many instances first choice is based on other than basic educational factors, such as the attraction of distant places. But should you get a rejection slip from your first choice, it would be wise to check into other possibilities without delay. In doing so, don't overlook these excellent junior colleges close to home: Lon Morris Junior College in Jacksonville, Panola Junior College in Carthage, Paris Junior College, Texarkana Junior College and Kilgore Junior College.

CONTAMINATED CIGARETTES. The manufacture of tobacco products is entirely free from effective government supervision. Insecticides can be sprayed on tobacco plants without fear of seizure for exceeding residue tolerance — in fact, there are no established residue tolerances for tobacco. Also, chemicals can be added for flavor or any other purpose, again without supervision or inspection on behalf of the consumer. All other products that people put in their mouth are subject to regulation by some government agency for the protection of the public — but not cigarettes!

USS FREEDOM — Since commenting in my Weekly Letter of April 13th on the need of at least one recommissioned battleship for shore bombardment support of our troops in Vietnam, the national debate on this subject has intensified and a decision is imminent. Traditionally, battleships are named after states, but since it is highly unlikely we will ever have as many as 50 of these giant vessels in service, it might be advisable to name a battleship for Vietnamese duty the USS FREEDOM. (President "Teddy" Roosevelt, in dispatching the "Great White Fleet" around the world, 1907-1909, largely battleships, gave symbolic meaning to our Nation's policy, "Speak Softly, but Carry a Big Stick.") The presence in S. E. Asia of the most powerful conventional arms warship ever built, the USS FREEDOM, would not only support our

Diane Marshall Gets State Degree

Diane Marshall, a member of the Rivercrest Chapter of Future Homemakers of America, was awarded the State Homemaker Degree of Achievement at the annual State Meeting held April 21-22 at the Municipal Auditorium in Dallas. Degrees were presented to members of the Texas Association by Susan Kay Reese, State Second Vice-President during the Friday afternoon session. Each recipient received a certificate, a long stemmed red rose, and a small gold torch—the symbol of the degree—to be worn on her pin.

The State Degree of Achievement is the highest honor which can be bestowed upon an FHA member. To obtain the degree, the member must work toward goals which will enable her to show growth as an individual, a member of her home, school, community, and FHA chapter, and as an interpreter of the total homemaking program. She must keep complete and accurate records of all her activities. First, she completes the Junior and Chapter Degrees, which are evaluated and awarded in the local chapter. Her work toward the State Degree is evaluated and approved by a committee headed by the Area Second Vice-President. The completed degree contains almost three years work and is a symbol of high personal achievement.

Diane, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Marshall, Bogata, is a Junior at Rivercrest High School. She is presently a member of the Rebel Band, Future Teachers of America, and National Honor Society; Vice-President of the Student Council; and Treasurer of the Area VI FHA Association. Diane is a member of the First Methodist Church and teaches an elementary Sunday School class.

Other members of the Rivercrest Chapter attending the State Meeting were Beverly Alexander, Kay Mayes, Rita Mauldin, Beth Gordon, accompanied by their advisors, Mrs. Bonnie Gage and Mrs. Anita Stubblefield.

Those visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Pittman Sunday were her nieces, Mrs. Patricia Beamon of Martinez, Calif., Mrs. Bertie Thomas of Richmond, Calif., Mrs. Bell Saunders and Mrs. Beulah Deatridge of Shawnee, Okla., Mrs. Frank Newman of Mt. Pleasant, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Austin of Dallas, Mrs. Etta Blalock, N. B. Blalock and Harvey Blalock of Wilkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Rayford Pittman, Jerry and Terry, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Blalock and Alpha, Mrs. Craline Black and Dannie, all of Maple Springs and Mrs. Verberth Wyatt of Talco.

troops but would also be a visual reminder that the strongest nation on earth is prepared to use its every resource, if necessary, in defense of Freedom.

MEN—6, WOMEN—3, is the score chalked up by two University studies which found that the average man loses his temper about 6 times a week, and the average woman only 3 times. But the relative intensity of these temper tantrums has yet to be determined — if the ladies get twice as angry as the men, the score might be considered about equal.

NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE — As of July 1, 1966, our Wildlife Refuge System, the largest in the world, contained 312 refuge units with a total of about 28 1/2 million acres. An interesting 28-page pamphlet prepared by the Fish and Wildlife Service, describing our beautiful wildlife areas, is available free to constituents upon request to my office.

Austin. — Legislature showed signs of quick response to the request by Gov. John Connally to postpone writing a tax bill until next year and to adopt a state governmental budget for only half the fiscal biennium.

Both House and Senate budget-writing committees will scrap their biennial appropriations measures and have one-year bills ready for action this week.

In an unusual night speech to a joint session of the House and Senate, Connally pledged to call a special session next year to pass a 1968 appropriations bill and consider necessary new taxes. Overall purpose was to break legislative logjams on major legislation.

State financial picture appears to be this: Under the one-year budget plan, about $137,000,000 in additional spending can be done in the year starting next September 1 out of the general revenue fund. Because in past years the estimates of Comptroller Robert S. Calvert have been conservative, there generally is a surplus left at the end of each year. Connally thinks a surplus of $50-60,000,000 might be in sight a year from now. Thus the size of the tax bill to be passed could be that much less than it would have to be if it were passed now.

This $50,000,000 or so would not actually be "saving," since Connally expects the Legislature to spend the same amount on two one-year budgets as on one two-year budget. However, the Governor figures that if business growth continues to gain, revenues from present taxes will bring in more than had been expected, and thus make it possible to get by with a smaller tax increase.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, after initial doubts on wisdom of the procedure, urged the Senate Finance Committee to go along. Smith cautioned the legislators not to take the new financial procedure as an invitation to spend more freely and to clear up any legal questions at an early date. Lieutenant governor, who contends that no new taxes are necessary, viewed Connally's proposal as "at least partial recognition that our financial salvation does not necessarily and exclusively lie in passing a big tax bill at this time."

EDUCATION MEASURES — House of Representatives passed two measures of the education package sponsored by Rep. Alonzo Jamison of Denton. One would allow some college-educated persons who did not take all the required education courses in college to qualify as teachers. Other would allow persons already knowledgeable in American and Texas history and government to take advance-standing exams, and if they make an A or B, receive that grade without having to take the course. It also would exempt some out-of-state graduate students from having to go back and take undergraduate history and government courses.

RAILROAD CROSSINGS — A measure acceptable to both the Texas Motor Transportation Association and the Texas Joint Railroad Commission would require that all crossings be marked with advance-standing signs and that they be maintained in good condition.

House passed a bill raising maximum unemployment compensation from $37 to $45 a week and hiking weekly wage to qualify for top benefit from $69 to $85.

Total number of registered voters for 1967 is 2,982,862, according to figures compiled by Secretary of State John Hill.

Postal Certificates Earn Final Payment

"United States Postal Savings Certificates which are on deposit at post offices will cease earning interest for depositors on April 27, 1967," Postmaster Westbrook said today. Nationwide, the Post Office Department is holding more than $90 million in the now obsolete program which was discontinued by the Congress on March 28, 1966.

As of April 27, a year ago, Postal Savings were discontinued, and no deposits were accepted by the Post Office Department. Certificates whose anniversary dates have been reached since last April 26 have earned their final interest payment, the Postmaster said.

On June 30, he said, all remaining funds in the program will be turned over to the Treasury Department to be held in a trust fund until liquidated. There they will remain available for payment without time limitation whenever proper claims are received.

The Postmaster urged that all Postal Savings depositors close out their accounts and invest their funds into United States Savings Bonds or the new Freedom Shares, which on May 1, will pay 4.7% interest.

Holders of Postal Savings certificates can arrange to redeem them simply by applying at the post office where the certificates were issued. The postmaster there will provide guidance and necessary forms to assist in cashing certificates. All transactions can be handled by mail, and certificates issued to persons now deceased can be cashed by legal heirs in accordance with State laws governing such distributions. Again, the postmaster at the issuance post office will render authorized assistance.
