Will Try To Get Action From Washington

Wives Of Servicemen Held By Chinese Reds Plan "Sitdown"

(By The Associated Press)

LONG BEACH, Calif., Dec. 1.—The wives of two servicemen held by the Chinese Communists since October of 1948 plan to stage a "sitdown" in Washington until something is done about their release.

So declared one of the wives, Mrs. Ruby Smith, yesterday. She said she and the other wife, Mrs. Elmer C. Bender, who is in Chicago, are keeping in touch by telephone and letters.

"We are going to Washington together the first of the year," said Mrs. Smith. "I don't know who we will see, but we're going to sit there until they do somethings."

The husbands, Navy Chief Electrician William C. Smith, of Long Beach, and Marine Master Sgt. Elmer C. Bender of Cincinnati, have been held by the Communists since the forced landing of their plane in Red territory.

Mrs. Bender told the Los Angeles Mirror by telephone that the only word she has received about her husband was from Marine buddies who said he was uninjured, and from

AMERICAN OFFICIALS CONCERNED

Nationalism Issue Looms In Germany

(By The Associated Press)

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 1.—American officials showed increasing concern today over the question of rising German nationalism.

U. S. High Commissioner John J. McCloy said last night there had been "some rise" in nationalistic tendencies in western Germany. But he declared he was not certain whether the increase was more than could be expected.

A high commission survey group, basing its report on a poll of 3,800 Germans, found today that nationalists are becoming more vocal with the lessening of Allied military controls.

The group reported some politicians were "beating drums" to gather nationalist sympathy but that there was no evidence of any general upsurge of the Nazi-type thinking among the rank and file.

Concern Is Expressed

Earlier McCloy had said he assumed there were "areas and groups still motivated by nationalism in its sinister sense"—meaning Naziism—as distinguished from healthy patriotism.

Some American officials have privately expressed concern at the increase of Nazi-type publications, particularly in Bavaria. Throughout Germany nationalists and neo-Nazi elements have moved more brazenly into the open.

There also have been increased stirrings by such groups as the "friends of Otto Strasser," followers of one of the founders of the Nazi party who is now in exile in Canada. Strasser's appeal for return to Germany has been rejected by the British.

A so-called "neutral movement," including a mixture of right and left wingers from both East and West Germany, is also appealing to German nationalism

Woman's Body Is Discovered

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Dec. 1 (AP)—A strange story of murder, once discounted as a hoax, became a reality last night with the finding of a woman's battered body.

Sheriff George Gibbons said 45-year-old Tommy King, a transient, led officers to the body of his wife, Ingrid King, 38. The body, fully clothed and wrapped in a pink blanket, was found between a river road and a railroad track.

Killed By Blows

Coroner W. E. Maxwell said the woman was killed by four blows on the head and apparently had been slain two weeks ago.

Last Nov. 21 Leavenworth, Kas., police said they were told a murder had been committed. They said the tip came from King's relatives.

St. Joseph police were asked to join in the investigation.

John W. Lard, St. Joseph chief of detectives, said the story finally was discounted as a hoax when a woman contacted him and said she was the person reportedly slain.

Woman Is Sought

Yesterday, however, King was taken into custody at Leavenworth.

Sheriff Gibbons reported King, after leading officers to the body, said repeatedly, "I'll take all the blame," but did not directly admit being involved.

No charges have been filed. A search is under way for the woman who contacted Detective Lard.

Light Showers Are Recorded This Morning

Temperatures Due To Drop Slightly During Afternoon

Decidedly colder temperatures, intermittent showers and strong winds ushered in December on the South Plains today, and the Weather Bureau said the minimum temperature in Lubbock early Friday would be 30 degrees.

Meanwhile the mercury hovered at 50 degrees early this afternoon, with only a two to three-degree rise above that seen before temperatures dropped again at 4 o'clock.

The Lubbock weather station was informed light showers fell this morning at Wink, Midland, San Angelo, Hobbs and Roswell, N. M., and intermittent sprinkles fell in the South Plains area, but no measurable amount had been recorded early this afternoon.

A feeble cool front limped into the Panhandle last night but made very little dent in temperatures. Amarillo and Dalhart both reported a low of 41 degrees.

Cooler Weather Due

Slightly cooler weather was forecast for both East and West Texas tonight and Friday. Yesterday's highs ranged from 81 at Brownsville to 62 at Amarillo.

A brief, light shower raised the curtain on December weather at 7 o'clock this morning in parts of the South Plains as the weatherman classified November an unusually dry month in an abnormally wet year.

Slightly cooler temperatures and partly cloudy conditions would prevail in the area this afternoon, said Harold Frost, chief meteorologist at the U. S. Weather bureau station at Municipal airport. The maximum this afternoon would be in the low 60's following a minimum of 42 this morning and a maximum Wednesday of 64, he said. The early-Friday minimum is expected to be in the low 30's.

Trace Of Moisture

Only a trace of moisture was recorded during the entire month of November at the weather station, sprinkles having fallen on both Nov. 11 and 12. Normal November railfall is .66 inch.

However, 1949 is still far ahead of normal rainfall, with 28.14 inches recorded as compared with the normal of 18.36 inches for the first 11 months.

During November, 23 out of the 30 days were clear, which is in itself an unusual record. Three days were partly cloudy and four were cloudy.

Mitchell Walter Stytull, 18, of Buffalo, N. Y., and George E. Read, 18, who said he lived in Lubbock, were held today in Lovington, N. M., jail for federal authorities in connection with their arrest Wednesday three hours after a car had been reported stolen here.

The 1941 automobile was valued at $800 by its owner, Alvin D. Warlick of 526 Forty-second.

Scott F. Coyote, 34, of Hammon, Okla., was remanded to jail in lieu of $1,000 bond after a hearing before Mrs. Olive Fluke, U. The complaint was issued upon oath of V. E. Bell, postal inspector. The bond was made returnable here at the next term of federal court.

Texas' Biggest JP Is Taken By Death

ABILENE, Dec. 1 (AP)—Abilene's 465-pound justice of the peace, W. A. "Bill" Ward, died today at a hospital here. He was 64.

"The biggest JP in Texas" suffered a heart attack Sunday. Survivors are his widow and one uncle, Sam Dryden of Abilene.

Ward became news last year when a newspaper story spread an appeal for a chair that would hold the big justice.

The chair had to be at least "36 inches across and plenty strong."

The Seminole Chamber of Commerce, a firm in Owensboro, Ky., and an Abilene department store each sent him giant chairs.

At home the JP slept on a reinforced bed. When he went to the hospital the bed went with him.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow.

Santa Claus Shot? Say It Isn't So!

CHICAGO, Dec. 1. (AP)—"say it isn't true," a dozen sobbing children begged the Chicago Sun-Times over the phone last night.

They had heard NBC Commentator Paul Long, reporting on the coal strike picture in Pittsburgh, say:

"John L. Lewis just shot Santa Claus. That's what one miner told me today in commenting on the coming coal strike."

The newspaper assured them the jolly gent will be around as hale and hearty as ever Dec. 25.

Told of the reaction, Long said in Pittsburgh: "You don't really mean that really happened! I can hardly believe it."

Judge Orders May To Jail

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (U.P.) — Former Rep. Andrew J. May (D-Ky) today was ordered to start serving on Saturday an 8 to 24-month jail sentence for wartime bribery and conspiracy.

Federal Judge Henry A. Schweinhaut turned down May's appeal for a reduction of the term.

May was not in the courtroom directed that he turn himself over to the marshal of the eastern district of Kentucky Saturday. May was at his home in Prestonburg.

Garssons To Jail

Henry A. Garsson and Murray Garsson, heads of a $75,000,000 wartime munitions empire from which May was convicted of accepting bribes, also were ordered to jail. In their cases the order was effective immediately.

May and the Garsson brothers were convicted in July, 1947, and received identical sentences in connection with $53,000 in bribes.

May was accused of using his influence as chairman of the old House military affairs committee to get the brothers war contracts.

Dallas Dickering For Kansas City Manager

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 1. (U.P.)—There was no official comment in Kansas City today, but there were indications Dallas, Tex., is considering L. P. Cookingham for its city manangership.

Cookingham receives $25,000 a year as city manager of Kansas City.

Dallas newsmen Allen Quinn of the Morning News and Barney Thompson of the Times Herald were in Kansas City yesterday. They indicated both Cookingham and Lyman S. Moore, a former city manager here, were being considered for the Dallas post.

Mayor Wallace H. Savage of Dallas had no comment, but last October reportedly asked Cookingham to aid Dallas in choosing a city manager to succeed Roderick B. Thomas, who has resigned effective Jan. 1.

Cookingham said he had not been offered the Dallas managership.

Three Men Held In Theft At Dalhart

DUMAS, Dec. 1 (AP)—Three men were arrested in Dumas today just three hours after a tourist court in Dalhart, 47 miles away, was ransacked.

A salesman's car parked in front of the tourist court also was looted.

The three men arrested here by Dumas city patrolmen were driving two trucks. A considerable number of topcoats, raincoats and sample shoes—all for the left foot—were found in the trucks. Dalhart officers took the trio back to Dalhart.

Atlantic Pact Nations Agree On Procedure

Secretary Johnson Flying Home With Details For HST

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Dec. 1.—The 12 Atlantic pact nations reached unanimous agreement tonight on a plan to defend themselves against any possible aggression by Russia.

A five-hour session resulted in an agreement that top military planners of the western world hailed as the path to "international peace and security."

Plan Taken To Truman

Immediately after the session U. S. Defense Secretary Louis Johnson left by air for Washington to take the plan to President Truman.

Approval by the President will release a billion dollars worth of military aid for Europe.

Details of the plan, worked out by the Atlantic powers' military leaders in long sessions in Washington and this week in Paris, are secret. In general, however, it divides the defense task in the entire Atlantic area among five overlapping regional groups. The U. S. and Canada form one unit.

Another group is made up of the Brussels pact signers—Britain, France, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Nethe lands.

Fail To Get Change

The Brussels treaty, signed before the Atlantic pact, says all five nations will fight if one of them is attacked. But the Atlantic pact guarantees only that each of the 12 member nations will "take such action as it deems necessary" if another member nation is an aggressor's target.

Earlier the British, whose Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery already heads the Brussel group's overall military command, tried to get the regional pact's guarantee of stronger assistance modified to conform to the Atlantic treaty terms.

The British failed in that. Since t ey are still held to the strong commitment, they want corres-

Lubbock Boy Hurt When Hit By Car

Struck by an automobile as he crossed East Broadway this morning, 10-year-old Charles Donald Neely suffered fracture of his right leg, severe lacerations of his left leg and abrasions on the face.

His condition was described as fair at West Texas hospital at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Neely of Apartment courts on East Broadway, was struck about 7:45 a. m. as he started to cross the highway when going to a fruit stand across the highway from the East Broadway entrance to Mackenzie State park.

Horace Felder of 1708 Cain place in Morrow addition told state highway patrolmen he swerved his car in attempt to avoid the boy. The car struck a telephone pole. The boy was only a few feet away when the car came to a halt and the driver assumed the boy had been dragged by the right rear bumper.

Felder was driving toward Lubbock, bringing his small daughter to school.

The right side of the car was damaged.

Lubbock Boy Finds Body Of Roommate

Texas University Student Found Shot To Death; Gun Is Located Near Body

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Dec. 1.—William Sydney (Red) Miles, 18, freshman University of Texas student from Texas City, died instantly at 12;41 a. m. today from a pistol shot through the head.

He died in the bathroom of his A-Bar hotel apartment. A pistol was found at his feet.

Justice of the Peace Travis Blakeslee said he would delay a verdict until fingerprints on the pistol were checked by the Department of Public Safety and a parafin test was made to determine whether Miles held the pistol when it was fired. Miles was the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Miles, He was enrolled in the college of arts and sciences.

Irwin Jarett, 19, of Lubbock, Miles' roommate, told police Miles had been out with friends during the evening. When he came in after bidding his companions good night, he locked the door of the apartment from the inside and started for the bathroom with a chrome-plated pistol in his hand.

Jarett said he asked Miles, "What are you up to?" Miles did not answed but entered the bathroom and locked the door, Jarett continued.

A shot was fired almost immediately.

Student residents told police Miles' mother had tried to contract him by telephone several times during the day but Miles had refused to accept the calls.

Jarett said Miles had been ner-

SHORT ON MONEY FOR CHRISTMAS

Coal Miners Angry Over New Walkout

(By The United Press)

LIBRARY, Pa., Dec. 1—Angry miners leaving their jobs at the Montour No. 10 mine today for the fourth time this year had plenty to say as long as they were not quoted by name.

"I like the way I look," said one black-faced cutter. "And if I go shooting off my mouth, I might not look like that anymore."

"I've seen too many cases of fellows that got quoted criticizing the union's policy. Some of them had their families stoned. And some guys were kicked out of the union on phony charges and can't get a job any place in the country."

Operators Blamed

Most of the miners were sore. They didn't like the idea of striking right before Christmas. They blamed John L. Lewis and the coal operators. And the press came in for a share of their wrath as well.

Newspaper reporters and photographers waiting for them to come out of the mine bore the brunt of their anger.

"Get that damn thing out of here before I wrap it around your neck," one photographer was told. Another was chased by a miner who objected to having his picture taken. A reporter who tried to intervene had to duck a wild swing.

Later, in a neighborhood tavern, they were more willing to talk. But they still did not want their names used.

Afraid To Talk

"Look pal," one of them said. "I got plenty to say about this strike—and plenty of others. And you can print every blessed word of it. Just don't use my name. There ain't no tellin' what would happen. That would just be ask-

Steer Is Sold For $13,800

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (U.P.) — The grand champion steer at the International Livestock exposition sold at auction today for an all-time record price of $13,800.

The steer, bearing the name Judge Roy Bean of frontier Texas fame, was bought by the Dearborn Motor Corp. of Detroit, Mich.

The animal, a stocky, white-faced Hereford, sold for $11.50 a pound at a stipulated selling weight of 1,200 pounds.

Defeated All Others

The nation's finest steer was raised from a calf by the boys and girls of the Pecos county 4-H club at Fort Stockton, Tex. The animal had bested the cream of the nation's blue-blooded cattle for the winning ribbon at the biggest farm show on earth.

The price was 75 cents a pound above the former all-time high set lor last year's winner, an Aberdeen Angus named Old Gold.

Bidding was spirited in the crowded, hay-filled auction ring.

Three 15-year-old boys who were among the 50 young owners of the prize animal, proudly led Judge Roy Bean around the arena as the auctioneer pounded his

Action Draws Quick Cheers From Miners

Only Two Working Days Will Be Lost By Halted Strike

(By The Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 1—John L. Lewis' back to work orders for his striking United Mine Workers today drew quick cheers from his hard-pressed diggers.

Lewis' orders, backed up by his 200-man policy committee, reinstated the three-day week in hard and soft coal mines across the country Monday.

"That's good news," declared UMW Representative Dennis Marshall of the rich Pittsburgh district five when he heard the Lewis edict.

Men Glad To Hear It

"The men will be glad to hear it. The prospects of a Christmas without work weren't very bright for our men."

Lewis' order came less than 11 hours after the diggers quit the pits. Actually they lose only two work days—today and Friday — since Saturday is a optional work day. The mines are idle Sunday.

Today's shutdown was complete. Reports from coal-producing states indicated only scattered non-union strip (surface' mines and 16,000 progressive mine workers in Illinois were at work.

Only maintenance crews reported for work this morning.

In most mines, the 10 p. m. (CST) shifts worked a regular turn to get in a full day's work. This, however, is a preparatory rather than a production shift.

Meeting Was Postponed

Today's back-to-work order was issued at a thrice-postponed meeting of the United Mine Workers' 200-member policy committee.

The action came after Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said at Key West, Fla., that President Truman would not intervene in the coal dispute for at least 48 hours.

The strike was still on at the time of Ross' statement.

One question arising immediately was how the union will maintain its welfare fund, from which pensions and other benefits are paid to miners, on the basis of hundreds of separate contracts with various mining firms.

Only maintenance men reported at the soft coal mines today although they were presumed to have been called out with others.

Under the new policy an "irreducible minimum" of maintenance work will be permitted each

Five Injured In Ralls Collision

Three persons were taken to Lubbock Memorial hospital and two others to Crosbyton hospital early this afternoon for treatment of serious injuries suffered in a collision about 1:20 p. m. three miles this side of Ralls.

They were admitted as Mr. and Mrs. Tom H. Wright and their 3-year-old son.

The hospital had no further identification of the victims, it was announced at 2 p. m.

Marr Funeral home of Ralls took the two passengers in the other car involved to Crosbyton hospital at Crosbyton.

Driver Is Identified

Driver of the car was identified as Robert Lee Mimms, about 45 of a farm south of Lorenzo. A negro man was with him but remained unidentified at the hospital at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Mimms was said to have head injuries and was critical in condition. He was in surgery at 2:30 p. m.

W. L. Marr, who raced to the scene in an ambulance, said both automobiles were heavily damaged, that they apparently had collided on a straightaway stretch of highway three miles west of Ralls. He said a sizeable crowd gathered immediately after the wreck.

NEW ORLEANS CHARGES DENIED

Pretender To German Throne Says "Expose" Political Plot

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 1. (AP)—A 26-year-old "pretender" to the German throne said today that attempts to expose him as an ex-actor wanted for robbery were part of a "political plot" to disgrace him and his new bride.

Prince Otto Wilhelm Hohenzollern, who claims to be the youngest son of the late Kaiser Wilhelm II, denied charges published by New Orleans newspapers that he "probably" was a former actor named Rico David Tancous.

Indicted For Theft

Tancous was indicted in Washington last June for stealing paintings valued at $4,000 from the home of former undersecretary of state Sumner Welles.

According to newspaper accounts, Tancous turned up in New Orleans last fall impersonating a German prince and wed wealthy Virginia Kirk, 36, after a whirlwind romance. The couple came to Mexico 10 days ago when the "exposes" were published.

Mrs. Hohenzollern said she intended to "stand by my husband."

She denied rumors that she planned to divorce him.

"I love him and I still believe in him," she said.

Prince Otto said he built his hopes for a restoration of the German monarchy on "hate and discontent created by false democracy in the American zone" of Germany.

Plot Is Charged

Prince Otto said his "exposure" was a plot to discredit him "instigated by persons who know that in my country a monarchist movement with its hopes centered on me is growing."

He charged that FBI agents broke into his hotel suite recently "taking documents they found at hand" including one of his passports. He said he still could prove his identity by other papers in his possession and his "great personal resemblance" to the kaiser.

"The Americans want to use me for their anti-German, anti-Soviet maneuvers," he charged. "They tried to make me attack Russia, but I cannot because the true salvation of Germany rests in an alliance with the Soviet Union."

Birth Kept Secret

Prince Otto said his birth at Doorn, Holland, in 1924 was kept secret by the Kaiser because of the terms of his abdication. He said the kaiser had been forced to renounce claims to the throne for his six older sons and wanted Prince Otto to have a legitimate claim.

The alleged date of Prince Otto's birth would make him the son of Princess Hermine of Reuss, the Kaiser's second wife, who was 37 at the time. She died in Germany in 1947 leaving a large estate to three children by a previous marriage whom she recognized as her only legal heirs.

Although the Hohenzollerns do not actively claim the German throne, Prince Louis Ferdinand of Hohenzollern is generally considered the pretender. He is the son of the former crown prince.

Jaycee Project Is Explained To Club

Barney Stagner, member of the Lubock Jaycees, was guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Lubbock 20-30 club, held Wednesday night in Hotel Lubbock.

Stagner spoke on the Jaycee's national project of finding out how the nation's governmental funds are spent. He also spoke on the Hoover commission for governmental reorganization, a plan which the National Junior Chamber of Commerce is endorsing.

Plans were made by the local club to meet with the Amarillo 20-30 club in Plainview on Dec. 10 for the purpose of organizing a Plainview 20-30 club.

Members also discussed inviting 20-30 clubs in this region to meet in Lubbock for their 1950 mid-summer convention.

Twenty-five members attended. Guests included Horace MacKensy, Paul Boone, and Stagner.

Deputy Faces Murder Charge For Shooting

MAGNOLIA, Dec. 1. (AP)—Deputy Sheriff G. W. Dickerson is charged with murder in the death of a man he shot while trying to arrest.

Dickerson was trying yesterday to serve a warrant charging Tommie Applewhite, about 45, with assault to murder.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Ed J. Damuth of Montgomery county said Dickerson shot Applewhite one time just above the heart when the man resisted arrest.

Dickerson was released under bond. He was expected to waive examining trial, and his case might be considered by the Montgomary county grand jury, now in session.

Applewhite had just left a general merchandise store and had been threatening the owner, T. H. Yon, with a shotgun, Damuth said.

Actress Should Be Good Enough To Give Idea

Scanty Garb Unnecessary For Sex Appeal, Bacall Declares

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 1 — Step right up, ladies and gentlemen, for some lessons in sex appeal. The teacher: Lauren Bacall.

In an unusually frank discourse, Prof. Bacall declared "you don't have to be uncovered to be sexy.

"Showing your legs or your bosom isn't necessarily sexy. It's a fallacy to think just because you're wearing a low-cut gown or a tight sweater that you look sexy.

"Sex should be subtly suggested. You do it with a look or an expression or with your voice." (She said this in her famed "if you need me, just whistle" tones.) I was beginning to get the idea.

"An actress should be good enough," she continued on the "bright leaf" set, "to put across the idea of sex without undraping herself."

You may recall that one of her many studio suspensions was for refusing the scantily-clad role of "The Girl From Jones Beach." No bathing girl, she.

"I have never posed for cheese cake," she remarked. "I just don't like it and I consider myself lucky that I haven't had to be subjected to it. I'm just not the type.

"There are lots of actresses who never pose for cheesecake, yet are considered sexy. Ingrid Bergman, for one."

As for the current trend of exposing the chests of male stars, she added:

"I think it's terrible. They are certainly scraping the bottom when they have to resort to things like that to sell pictures."

OUSTED UE SEEKS FUND FREEZING

New Electrical Union Claims Courts Hamper Member Drive

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1 (AP)—The CIO's new electrical workers union today digested a policy declaration aimed at court actions which the union said "harassed" its membership drive.

Some 400 delegates to the week-long convention, which winds up today, unanimously backed the declaration, first presented yesterday as a special statement by James B. Carey, acting leader of the union.

Asserting he meant no offense to "decent" judges, Carey urged federal and state courts to assess more carefully issues involved in suits brought against his union.

These actions, filed against the international electrical, radio and machine workeds (IUE) by the CIO-ousted united electrical, radio and machine workers (UE), seek to tie up union funds and in other ways to prevent a switch of allegiance by various locals.

UE Ousted At Convention

The IUE was formed after the UE had been ousted by the CIO's national convention at Cleveland early this month on the grounds the union was Communist-dominated.

"It is our firm intention," Carey declared, "to maintain the integrity of the courts. We would like to have support from the courts in the process, but we intend to maintain their integrity even without the support of certain judges."

"This international union and its affiliate locals are being harassed by federal and state courts throughout the country in its present campaign to increase its membership," the convention-approved statement said.

"Seemingly the courts, instead of taking cognizance of matters of general knowledge . . . are preferring to deal with these problems in terms of dry and dead court precedent and intricate questions of law."

Carey asserted that if by defiance of courts "it is meant that I intend to affirm the integrity of our courts against the onslaught of the Communist party, the statement is quite accurate."

His face flushed and his voice rising, the spare-framed, Carey told his hearers the IUE would not tolerate "the greedy hands of Joseph Stalin reaching into an American court to seize what did not belong to him."

"The membership of our union," he said, "is determined to resist legalistic maneuvers by Communists or by anyone allied with them, to seize their property, to prevent their use of that property, or to conduct their affairs as they themselves detrmine in meetings called for the purpose by their duly elected officers."

The convention spoke its mind also on U. S. foreign policy, adopting a resolution which:

Supported the European recovery program (ERP), Spain excluded; called for an end to partition of Ireland appealed for further aid to Israel and assistance in raising standards of living among Latin American peoples.

The resolution acclaimed CIO's resolve to forsake the World Federation of Trade unions and join in establishment of a new organization. It expressed alarm over "the collapse of China before the Communists" but was "deeply critical of the corrupt reactionary and anti-democratic policy of the Chiang-Kai-Shek government."

New DP Law Urged

It spoke out for a foreign policy "to bring the Asiatic peoples on our side," noting especially that "we must aid the Filipinos in development of self government and independence."

It recommended that Congress pass a new law to supersede the present displaced persons bill, which was denounced as unfair to Catholics and Jews; the extension of reciprocal trade agreements; further exploration of industrial problems of western Germany and Europe. Opposition was voiced to "any attempt to hand over control of atomic energy to the military."

The convention yesterday was told by air force Secretary W. Stuart Symington that there is only one country "capable of delivering a devastating surprise attack against us through the air; and we know also that this country now has the equipment needed to deliver such an attack."

Without mentioning Soviet Russia specifically, Symington said "the same country has made most significant advances in the field of atomic energy," adding.

"Until there is world control of force in this air-atomic age, America must have a strong team of land, sea and air power, even if the cost of such strength affects our standard of living."

LOOKS like a Jet Plane
TRAVELS the same way

YOU see it quick-stepping along the highway—and you can't miss the parallel.

You glimpse a bold front end—sleek tapering fenders—flaring, streamlined roof lines—even to "double bubble" taillights, here is the look of "the fastest thing that flies."

Then you try one on the road, courtesy of your Buick dealer.

Adjectives flock into mind—"agile"—"nimble"—"eager."

You realize that here is action, swift and easy—action born of Fireball valve-in-head straight-eight power—action floated on soft coil springs that, for all their lightness, keep your grip on the road sure-footed and firm.

This you tell yourself, is traveling as traveling should be.

Comfortable—in the spacious manner of king-size interiors. Easy—in the lightness of controls, which can include even the magic of Dynaflow Drive* if you wish. Pleasurable—in the wide, wide outlook that's yours, and the inner satisfaction of having a Buick for your very own.

And we might add another thing, just by way of being practical.

It's frugal too. Frugal in a first cost that's actually less than for some sixes. Frugal in the surprising way such a sizable car gives the go-by to gas pumps.

And if you have Dynaflow, frugal even in many upkeep costs you can forget about—such as clutch troubles, transmission maintenance, even many engine servicing costs.

Why not put yourself into one of these jet-lined beauties right now? It's more easily managed than you might imagine — as you'll see by talking to your Buick dealer.

These dresses for the holidays make the most of high color, rich fabrics. The model (left) wears a "sin" red taffeta dress with snug, short-sleeved bodice and skirt drapery that wings out from one side. At right is a cocktail dress of flower-embossed, bronze-colored brocade with short sleeves, tailored belt, and slashed hemline. Styling here is deliberately kept simple to show off the elegance of imported fabric.

Party Fever: Rustle Fabric, High Color Set For Holiday Hi-Jinks

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Fashion Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (NEA) — Dresses that have caught party fever show it by their high color, their sumptuous fabrics.

Jewel-like green, lilac, rose, dusty blue, champagne color, bronze and a red called "sin" will brighten the holiday scene.

Taffeta is favored for the informal party dress that goes to almost any gathering except a ball. Its skirt is full of rustle, its silhouette draped. Sometimes the skirt, as is the case of one "sin" red dress of Molly Parnis' design, stands out from a snug short-sleeved bodice to make a spectacular pouffe at one side.

Vying with taffeta for holiday honors are slipped satins and rich brocades. A cocktail dress of Pauline Trigere's design owes its elegance to a flower-embossed bronze-colored brocade. So handsome is the imported fabric used to make this dress with short sleeves, tailored belt and slashed hemline, that styling is kept simple to show off the elegance of the material.

Christmas Season To Be Initiated With Dance At Club

Decorating the ballroom will be two large Santa Claus faces framed by red and silver metalic wreaths hung over each mantel. From each wreath will be Santa in his sleigh with eight reindeer descending toward a miniature house set in a snow scene.

The more serious theme of Christmas will be used in decorations in the dining room. Centering the table is to be the traditional manger scene in a silhouette study. In the background will be a skyline view of Bethlehem, with sand dunes, palm trees and oasis made from sea foam. In the foreground will be figurines representing Mary, Joseph and the Christchild in the manger. Above the scene a lighted star with rays made from spring silver will radiate toward the manger.

ONE DEFENDANT SUICIDE VICTIM

Yugoslavia Opens Espionage Trials

(By The United Press)

SARAJEVO, Yugoslavia, Dec. 1 The government charged Russia today with direcing a widespread spy ring through Soviet embassy officials. It also announced that one of 12 accused Russians had hanged himself rather than stand trial.

Only 10 of 12 scheduled defendants appeared in Sarajevo district court when the spy trial opened this morning. The public prosecutor said that one defendant hanged himself in his cell yesterday and that another is ill in a hospital.

Case Is Opened

Enver Krzic, deputy public prosecutor of the Bosnia-Herzegovena republic of Yugoslavia, opened the state's case against the 10 defendants by charging they engaged in espionage directed by the Russian embassy.

The court adjourned until tomorrow as soon as the charges were presented.

Krzic said the suicide victim, before hanging himself, confessed he had worked for the Russian intelligence, for the Russian embassy and "for his homeland and Soviet citizens."

The 12 defendants were among some 12,000 white Russians who fled to Yugoslavia after World War 1. Some 6,000 remained and acquired Soviet citizenship when the Red army liberated Yugoslavia during World War II.

Coal Strike Is Not Ruled As Emergency

KEY WEST, Fla., Dec. 1. (AP)—Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said today President Truman will not intervene in the coal strike for at least 48 hours.

Asked at a news conference when the situation might become a sufficient emergency for Mr. Truman to invoke the Taft-Hartley act, Ross declined to say.

"Will this be an emergency in 15, 30 or 90 days?" he was pressed.

"All I can say is it is not an emergency today, nor will it be tomorrow," Ross declared.

The President talked the situation over with John R. Steelman, assistant in charge of labor and economic matters, who kept in touch with Cyrus Ching, federal mediation chief.

Mr. Truman went about his vacation routine as usual, walking, swimming and sunbathing.

Mary Haworth's Mail

Would It Lighten Girl's Spirit, Help Her Morale If She Left Scenes Of The Past?

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Does it help or harm one's emotional balance to leave a place where one has been unhappy? Although my life is peaceful at present, the place where I am living has been the scene of so many emotional storms in the past that I am miserable here. The city itself reminds me of the unpleasant past.

I have an even disposition ordinarily, but I am losing my self control and seem unable to bear the slightest strain. Each day I feel that I must escape these surroundings, that I must go somewhere else a long distance away.

I don't like to hurt my family by leaving, and in a sense I am tied by financial responsibilities, but I could solve that problem by sending money if I go away. I am quite young and feel as if I could make a fresh start by getting away from the vapors of the past. Please give me your opinion. Signed: N.S.

SOME EMOTIONAL CLIMATES ARE BAD

DEAR N. S.: Certain kinds of emotional climate can be bad for one—just as certain geographical conditions are unfavorable to human health and would need to undergo great hygienic improvements to be made safely habitable.

Thus in meeting your question—"Does it help or harm one's emotional balance to leave a place where one has been unhappy?—it is important to consider what kind of emotional climate surrounds you at home, in the bosom of your family.

Since you are quite young, have never yet lived apart from your family, and today look back on your past as unpleasant history scarred by many emotional storms it seems logical to suppose that (1) your family has been the consistently most powerful influence upon your spirit and experiences, and (2) that this influence, or the results upon you, are not good.

Your reference to your ordinarily smooth disposition, now beginning to crack up, unable to bear the slightest strain, suggests: 1. That you inherited a strong constitution, capable of withstanding a lot of punishment, and that you've been trained (or expected) furthermore to endure disagreeable stresses without protest. 2. But that the tension and frustration of existing in a caged or wing-clipped manner, without encouragement or opportunity to soar happily and successfully in socially expressive ways where you are, is doing violence to your emotional health.

OLD HURTS HEALED BY HEALTHY GROWTH

VERY LIKELY your most recent distress is linked to disappointment in love, because such misfortune is the usual portion of youngsters who've had little happiness at home; and in unhappy youth the common reaction to romantic heartbreak is to brood on escapist plans, on the supposition that one's brie: might dissolve in transit if one fled far enough away to fresh surroundings and new adventures.

And now, coming back to your question, I wish to emphasize: 1. Running way from the scene of unhappy personal history will not of itself change your future experiences for the better. 2. However, in order to clear ground (or provide elbow room) for revising and impoving your personality, and establishing harmonious relations to others, you may have to put wide distance between yourself and your family.

One cannot break physically with "the vapors of the past." One can only continue to grow, so that gradually the past is left in the distance, an interesting experience, part of the pattern of the tapestry that is one's life. But in order to grow, it is sometimes necessary to procure conditions favorable to growth. And it is for you to decide whether you have the stamina, ingenuity and self-starting capacity to separate from family and make a success of establishing independent roots. There is nothing in your sketchy letter that sheds any light on your character resources. M.H.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of The Lubbock Evening Journal.

Former Lt. Governor Is Kiwanis Speaker

John Lee Smith, Lubbock attorney and former lieutenant governor of Texas, today gave Kiwanians a brief history of the rise and fall of the Roman empire in a lecture on "Money" at a luncheon meeting in Hotel Lubbock.

"Money is the lifeblood of a nation," he said, "and a stable currency will support any nation, large or small."

He also showed the members coins issued during the Roman regime and pointed out that when the empire was at its greatest, the currency wasn't debased but when at its lowest ebb, just before the final disintegration of its power, the currency was only 5 per cent of its original value.

In comparing the Roman Empire with the United States, he warned "the same thing can happen to us."

He said the Roman empire faltered because the currency was debased, thereby mortgaging future generations who could not or would pay off the indebtedness.

Bob Allen introduced Smith. Fred Sparks presided and Rev. Hubert Bratcher gave the invocation.

Communists Covering Errors, Pravda Says

LONDON, Dec. 1. (AP)—Entirely too many Communists leaders are covering up for friends who make mistakes at work, the Soviet newspaper Pravda said today.

An editorial broadcast by Moscow radio told Communist leaders they must put the party, the Soviet state and the Soviet people above everything — even above friendly relations.

The editorial cited two instances in the towns of Artemovsk and Nikolayevsk where men who didn't know their jobs and made serious mistakes were allowed to continue working. Their Communists friends even covered up for them until their shortcomings became so bad they had to be removed.

Pravda said this sort of thing happened where the Bolshevik principles of criticism and self-criticism within the party are violated.

Michigan Man Builds Benches For McAllen

McALLEN, Dec. 1. (AP)—What McAllen needed was benches in the park, the man from Michigan decided.

So Harry Gilfillan of Battle Creek, Mich., who came south to spend the winter, set to work building benches.

City officials said it was okay and this week Gilfillan had built a dozen benches placed at strategic points around Archer park. He was still building more.

"If the mayor will let me, I intend to keep building all winter," he said. He has no family and no plans for working anywhere this winter.

LOVINGTON, N. M., Dec. 1 (Special)—Voters of Lovington will go to the polls Dec. 9 to vote on a $325,000 bond issue to finance purchase and extensions of the city's water and sewer systems.

H. N Roberts, Lubbock engineer, has been selected to revise and extend the systems if the bond election carries.

KERR SUMS UP POLITICAL SCENE

Some Democrats Worry About Over-Confidence In Election

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Democratic chances in next year's congressional elections look so good to some party members they are worrying about over-confidence.

That was the plain implication today in a sum-up of the political situation given a reporter by Senator Kerr (D-Okla). Kerr is a former governor and national convention keynoter who keeps his eye on the national barometer.

Unimpressed By Opposition

"The people are so aware of the nation's progress both at home and abroad under Democratic leadership that I think they will give it their approval in the 1950 elections," Kerr said.

"At the same time, they are so unaware of any constructive effort by the opposition as to be even less impressed than usual with that opposition."

Kerr didn't put it into words but there was evidence that he believes along with some other Democrats that things look a little too good politically for their party.

Some of them frankly, if privately, are afraid the Democrats may fall into the over-confidence trap they say was sprung on Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and the Republicans in the 1948 presidential election.

Riding Crest

The feeling that the Democrats are riding something of a political crest now seems to be shared by some of the Republicans. These party members say privately they don't see any signs now of a GOP resurgence.

The result of the New York senatorial election apparently contributed heavily toward this attitude. Republicans made a respectable showing in an election where the odds were against them, but the point is they didn't get the victory that would have given them a lift.

Ordinarily the opposition party can count on gaining seats in Congress in non-presidential years. The Republicans made such gains in 1946 that they surprised even themselves by taking over control of both houses.

GOP chieftains are scarcely hoping for any such result next year. Their task is especially tough in the Senate, where so many of the majority party candidates are from the south where Republicans have not any hope of picking up seats.

CANDIDATE—Maj. Joe Foss, above, wartime Marine Corps air ace and holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor, has announced he will be a candidate for Republican nomination for governor of South Dakota.

Million-Volt Kiss Suit Against British Ex-Dancer Is Withdrawn By New Yorker

LONDON, Dec. 1 (INS) — Lady Cunliffe-Owen suddenly withdrew today her "million-volt kiss" suit in London against the former British dancer Miss Marjorie Daw.

She had accused Miss Cunliffe-Owen, the adopted name of Miss Daw, of libeling her and "enticing" her late husband, Sir Hugo, multi-millionaire tobacco magnate.

Sir Hugo, when he died in 1947 at the age of 77, left the 43-year-old Miss Daw half of his estate valued at nearly four million dollars.

Love Letters Cited

Lady Cunliffe-Owen, 53, the former Martha Shaw of San Francisco who now lives on Park avenue New York, had her attorneys read into the court record yesterday a series of 30 torrid love letters exchanged between Miss Daw and Sir Hugo.

All these, including Sir Hugo's reference to Miss Daw as "darling, sweetie pie," were stricken from the court record under unspecified settlement terms.

One letter exchange between Miss Daw and Sir Hugo said "miss your million volt kisses."

Lady Cunliffe-Owen's attorney said that Miss (Daw) Cunliff-Owen had expressed regret that the letters "caused pain" to Sir Hugo's widow and that the defendant made it as plain as possible that she never made "any implication as to the morals or paternity of Sir Hugo's children."

Case Publicised

The court said that there was no official settlement of the case, not even any obligation on Miss Daw's part to pay court costs.

In withdrawing, Lady Cunliffe-Owen's attorney spoke of the "wide publicity on both sides of the Atlantic" in the case, and said that she realized that if it were continued it was "bound to involve a large number of persons other than those directly concerned."

One of the "love plot" letters read in court spoke of the possibility of Miss Daw becoming chaperone to Sir Hugo's daughter, Diana, the present Mrs. William Gavin Buchanan of Toronto, Canada.

The letter, written in 1946 when Diana was 18, said that in this way "there would be no scandal."

BLACK JACK HAD INSIDE TRACK

Gen. Pershing Gave Security Officers Scares During War

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—The old soldier was a sick man—even back in April, 1944, but the weight of the years hadn't knocked the fight out of his heart.

J. J. P. called an aide to his bedside at Walter Reed hospital and dictated:

"Statement by general of the armies John J. Pershing on D-day, June 6, 1944. (Remember this was in April!)

"American troops have landed in western Europe. The day of invasion has arrived."

The old man signed his name to the statement, half-licked the cover, and sent it along—by regular mail—to the office of war information.

Top Secret Stuff

The intelligence was, of course, a top drawer secret. President Roosevelt, himself, wasn't sure whether the planned landing would come off on schedule. But the old-timer who had slogged through the mire of France in another war to lead his men to victory was confident that the sons of his boys from World War I would come through.

This part of the story has never been told before about "Black Jack," as the general affectionately was called.

Anyhow, the statement arrived in the morning mail along with a lot of stuff that was destined to be pitched into the wastebasket. The man who opened it was Sam Davenport, one of the executives in the OWI office and now editor of the office of coordinator of information for the House of Representatives.

"The thing had come unsealed," the affable Davenport told me. "After I read it, I was trembling so that I couldn't remember the combination to our vault."

Does It Again

Davenport has the statement. It is a treasured possession and lies in his safety deposit box.

"That's the way old "Black Jack" operated, though," he said. "He was trusted implicity, out of respect to his position. He knew every secret as soon as the high command did, or before, sometimes, and the old man lay there on his bed and followed the second world war by radio and maps. But he'd give you a fright the way he'd send things through the mail."

Members of the high command visited the ailing Pershing and asked him to hold his horses. The general wasn't used to (1) taking orders; (2) holding his horses.

The liberation of Paris approached. The general did it again. He had inside information.

Couriers Ignored

Three days before it happened he dictated a statement, with nurses and doctors and other people who could have tattled:

". . . Today Paris is free; the sons of the Americans who fought to preserve the freedom of Paris in 1917-18 have had a prominent role in the liberation of 1944."

The general had a squad of couriers at his commend for secret stuff. Did he use any? He did not. This one also went along by regular mail; this one also half-licked for sealing.

Davenport, who revised and okayed the general's salty statements, has settled down a little now. As House coordinator he answers the questions of congressmen about how to quiet a love-sick pekingese or great dane, how to administer the right pills or gout and how to tie a black bow tie.

But his ulcers still give him miseries every time he thinks of how Black Jack jumped the gun on the modern experts—via the mail.

Christmas Activities Planned By Jaycees

Santa And His Reindeer Will Come To Brownfield Saturday

BROWNFIELD, Dec. 1—The answer to a child's dream will come to Brownfield at 3 p. m. Saturday when Dancer, Prancer, Donder and Blitzen, four of Santa's famous reindeer from the frozen Arctic, will draw a large sleigh bearing the "jolly old fellow" himself down the city's streets.

Santa's reindeers were rounded up for this year's Christmas travels at Golovin, Alaska, on the north side of the Bering sea. They were flown from Alaska to Seattle, Wash., then down the California coast and on to Texas. They will be brought to Brownfield by their owner, Grady Carothers of Goldthwaite, Tex., as the main feature of the Christmas parade, sponsored by the Brownfield Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Candy To Be Distributed

The parade will form at 2:30 p. m. in front of the First Baptist church on West Main street. Led by city police and highway patrol cars, the procession will march down West Main and around the courthouse square. Also in the parade will be the high school band, Terry County Sheriff's posse, Santa's sleigh and reindeer, and commercial floats.

Two hundred pounds of candy have been purchased and sacked by Jaycees and will be distributed to children along the route of the parade.

Treasure Hunt Set

Hundreds of Christmas lights are being strung across downtown streets by the city utilities department and will add their glow to the Yuletide scene.

In addition to Saturday afternoon's parade, Brownfield Jaycees are sponsoring a treasure hunt Dec. 20, and a Christmas home decoration contest, which will be judged between Dec. 14 and Dec. 24.

Lewis Simmonds is chairman of the Jaycees' Christmas activities committee. Other members are David Nicholson, Crawford Taylor, Bob Tobey, Conrad Vernon and Frank Szydloski.

Neither botanists nor physicists can explain satisfactorily the process by which sap rises to the tops of trees.

Westerners Slate Final Workout For Clash At El Paso

Lubbock Gridders Will Leave Here Friday For Border City

The Lubbock Westerners are scheduled for their last workout on Chapman field today before boarding a bus at 7:15 a. m. Friday which will take them to El Paso for Saturday's bi-district tilt with Austin High.

On that game rests a trip into the quarter-finals of the state schoolboy Class AA playoff, and Coach Pat Pattison and assistants Bill Floyd and Fred Taylor have been working hard to ready the team for the Panthers.

Ticket sales at the high school indicate that a sizeable crowd of Lubbock fans will make the trip to El Paso for the 2:30 p. m. encounter, and E. J. Lowrey encourages all fans who haven't done so to get their tickets today.

Wednesday the Westerners continued to work hard on offensive plays, with a cool breeze spurring them on.

Ball-Handling Good

Ball-handling was sharp in yesterday's practice, with the four regulars working together again. Bobby Brown was at the quarterback slot in the varsity lineup, with Wayne Stroud and Charlie Williams at halfbacks and Malcolm Young at the fullback post. The starting foursome is expected to be at full strength Saturday for the first time since the Lamesa game.

At ends Wednesday were Garnet Reeves and Billy Wright, and playing tackle were Douglas Ross and Curtis Roberts. Guards were Ross Craig and Sammy Modrall, with Douglas Wienke completing the varsity at center. This eleven will probably take to the field against Austin's Panthers.

Passing Being Polished

Passing was the main weapon being polished in the drill, and all the quarterbacks were getting their share of practice.

Offensive running plays by all three Westerner elevens were run against the Cowhands, who could not stop the offensive slants in a dummy workout. Tackle Joe Brock and Guard Freddy Gray took part in the workout, but both were favoring their injured knees.

Austin High Squad In Good Condition

EL PASO, Dec. 1 (Special)—Coach Red Harris sent his Austin High school Panthers through a long, hard workout here today with emphasis placed on offensive manipulations designed to offset the Lubbock High school scoring power and defensive play.

But before the scrimmage session opened, Coach Harris showed pictures of the Austin-El Paso High school game to his squad. Mistakes were pointed out and corrections made on play to tell the players where they could improve their attack.

Panther Team Ready

The Panther drills this week indicate that they will be entirely ready for the highly-touted Westerner team from Lubbock that plays here Saturday. Noel McCormick, Jerry Baker and Ted Feidner, all fast backfield men, showed that they will have the ground attack ready to roll. And Jim Agee and Richard Thurman, both able runners as well as passers, were tossing the ball accurately.

Austin's tough defense, headed by Center Bobby Dirmeyer, and Guard Bill Reese, appeared set for the Lubbock team. The Panther defensive unit allowed only 14 points to go on the scoreboard against Austin on conference play.

Drill On Kicking

Only 21 points were scored against Austin in their final five games, so the high-powered Westerner eleven will have its job cut out for it Saturday afternoon.

Punting and place kicking also came in for attention Wednesday. Harris and Fred Salem and Leslie Rutledge, assistant coaches, aren't letting anything escape them as they prime the Panthers for their Bi-District struggle. Feidner is the team's top punter and Freshman Fred Kriss has added 23 points after touchdown as the specialist in that department. Guard Bobby Saucedo probably will handle the kickoff chores.

Grid Winners Are Selected

By ED FITE
United Press Sports Writer

A busy weekend of schoolboy football gets underway tonight. And when it's finished, the playoff race will be pared down to the quarterfinals Class AA and Class A and to the finals in the City conference race.

Atlanta and Mineola, a twosome of small-town East Texas powers, collide at Longview in the only game tonight to touch off the fireworks on the 18-game weekend schedule.

An even dozen games will be unwound, Friday afternoon and night, and five more will come off Saturday in all three divisons.

Port Arthur still reigned as Class AA favorite, while New Braunfels was rated tops in Class A and San Antonio Jefferson in the City conference.

Tonight's contest between the Jackrabbits and Yellowjackets at Longview will be a virtual toss-up, with Mineola perhaps rating a narrow edge.

Friday's pairings and how they look from here:

City conference:

Dallas Sunset at Fort Worth Paschal (night)—Sunset on its defenses.

Coyotes Are Picked

Class AA:

Wichita Falls at Pampa (2 p. m.)—Wichita Falls did it once 14-6 and doesn't seem to have lost any power.

Highland Park at Paris (2 p. m.)—The Scotties by two touchdowns.

Marshall at Conroe (2:30 p. m.)—Marshall in a fair breeze.

Corsicana at Austin (2 p. m.)—A tossup, but a slight nod to Austin.

Harlingen at Alice (night) — Alice won a 20-13 verdict earlier and Harlingen has slipped since then. Alice.

Class A:

Lefors vs. Littlefield at Amarillo (day) — Littlefield on its depth.

Notre Dame Is Ranked As Clear 27-Point Favorite Over SMU Eleven This Weekend

BY DR. E. E. LITKENHOUS
Reg. U. S. Patent Office

Notre Dame's clash with Southern Methodist highlights the final slim card of the season this week end.

The Irish, ranked No. 1 in the nation by the Litkenhous Difference by Score Ratings, will add the Mustangs to their long list of uninterrupted conquests. The Ratings predict a 27.6 margin for the South Bend powerhouse.

Miami will suffer its second straight defeat when the Hurricane is muffled by Maryland. The Terrapins figure to beat Miami by 6.7 points. Alabama should master Auburn by 16.9 in an intrastate battle, while South Carolina is favored over The Citadel by 22.4.

Three bowl games get the post-season "season" underway with affairs planned at Toledo, Evansville and Bakersfield. Cincinnati should get the honors in the Glass Bowl at Toledo over Toledo by 16.2 points. Evansville should make the home crowd happy in the Refrigerator Bowl by whipping Hillsdale 14-0. Taft Junior College is a 9.4 winner over Boise J.C. in the Shrine Potato Bowl.

Following is the week-end schedule of college football games with Litkenhous Difference by Score predictions. The figure after the name of each team is its power-point rating. The figure in the last column is the difference between the ratings and therefore the approximate probable difference between the scores they will make in the games. McNEILL SETS PACE

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 1 (U.P.) — North Texas State Halfback Ned McNeill stacked up 631 yards in 136 carries to lead the Gulf Coast conference in rushing during the 1949 football season, it was announced today.

Barnhill May Change Posts

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Dec. 1 (AP)—It seemed more likely today that John Barnhill would seek to step down as head football coach but continue as athletic director at the University of Arkansas.

He has announced only that he will recommend a reorganization of the athletic department.

His use of the word "recommend" stirred more speculation, for he probably would not have to have permission of the board of trustees or the university's athletic council to take any step shorter than employment of a head coach.

In Little Rock, the Arkansas Gazette today said Otis Douglas, 38-year-old assistant coach and tackle for the Philadelphia Eagles, is likely to become head coach of the Razorbacks.

Alderson Sparks Red Raiders To 73-46 Win Over McMurry

Texas Tech has the rest of this week and until Monday in which to prepare for a four-day basketball excursion into South Texas, the Red Raiders ending a temporary home stand with a 73-46 defeat of McMurry last night.

The Raiders will leave here next week for games against Rice at Houston on Tuesday, Trinity Wednesday at San Antonio, Baylor Thursday at Waco and Howard Payne at Brownwood Friday. Before they leave, Coach Polk Robison is expected to send the courtmen through intensive drills.

Not that the performance last night was bad. It wasn't. The Raiders showed vast improvement over their Monday night exhibition game against West Texas State college, both in ball handling, shooting, backboard control and general floor work. But much remains to be done with the primarily sophomore-filled team.

Forward Jack Alderson, former Lubbock High school star, set the court pace with a dazzling 20 points, high for the night. Alderson was playing alert ball at all times, stealing shots from the Indians and driving in for crip shots.

Verdell Turner, another Westerner product, had 15 points to tie with McMurry's Dell Riley for runner-up honors. Turner had five field goals and five free throws, while Riley pitched in six baskets and three charity tosses.

McMurry was as badly outclassed last night as Tech was in its unofficial opener against West Texas State college. They seldom were able to drive through the Raider defense and had to try longer shots as a result. Moreover, last night the Raiders controlled the backboard and it paid off.

Raider Average Good

Tech was driving in for repeated crip shots, passing the ball in better shape and setting up plays that left players wide open. And where they had a predominatly sophomore team on the court, the McMurry team had five freshmen on the nine-man squad.

The Raiders showed a vast improvement in their shooting, hitting 34 percent for the game. They had a hot 48 percent in the first half and fell off to 22 percent in the second half when they showed signs of coasting and trying long shots without working the ball in to the goal.

Loop Rejects Three Schools

LEVELLAND, Dec. 1 (Special)—Sundown, Sudan and Seagraves High schools today appeared headed for competition in Class B of the University of Texas Interscholastic league.

All three schools last night failed to gain re-admittance to District 4-A when the district executive committee rejected their reinstatement applications.

The schools had been dropped from the district recently because their individual enrollments had dropped below the minimum Class A reqirement of 200 students. Each applied for re-admittance at last night's session here.

Will Enter Class B

A unanimous vote was necessary in all three cases, and each school fell short of the mark. The applications were voted on separately, with these results: Sudan—Four for, five against; Sundown—Five for, four against; and Seagraves—Three for, six against.

As a result of tonight's vote, the three schools now will be assigned to suitable Class B districts by Interscholastic league headquarters in Austin.

S. F. Johnson, O'Donnell school superintendent, presided at the meeting. Other superintendents present were Carl Macon, Morton; C. W. Grandy, Muleshoe; Joe Hutchinson, Littlefield; O. W. Marcom, Levelland; S. P. Cowan, Brownfield; P. L. Vardy, jr., Slaton; Vernon Brewer, Tahoka; and G. R. Day, Post.

At a simultaneous meeting of district coaches, 1949 all-star teams for the two divisions of the loop were selected.

Littlefield Sets Pace

A 22-man squad was chosen in the North zone, with champion Littlefield taking nine berths. Levelland placed five men, Sudan four, Sundown two, and Morton and Muleshoe one each.

Slaton walked off with top honors on the 4-A South first team, gaining five positions. Post had three, Seagraves two and O'Donnell one. A second all-division also was named by the South zone coaches.

Today winds up the last practice session for the Westerners before they go to El Paso for their important game with Austin High school. If the Westerner players set their minds on winning, and we have no question but what they will, they'll come home with the first leg toward a state championship. But they are apt to have a still fight on their hands. The Panthers can and will be tough. Lubbock, on the basis of its season's performance, should take Austin in step. If they concentrate on it, they will, but if they play looking ahead to the game with the winner of the Wichita Falls-Pampa game, they could have trouble. We look for the Westerners to display the class they have and win the game by some 14 or more points.

The Raisin-Sun Bowl situation probably confused some people. Texas Western had a bid to the Raisin, then accepted the Sun. Tech turned down the Sun, then accepted a bid to the Raisin. Confusing? Well, maybe, but perfectly correct. Texas Western merely held off taking the Raisin bid until they learned what Tech would do about the Sun. Chamber of Commerce pressure virtually forced the Miners to take the Sun Bowl berth. So when the Raisin came along with a guarantee of $5,500 more than the Sun would give and with a trip that was far more attractive than anything El Paso could offer, Tech took it. There was nothing underhanded about the deal and Tech's nose is clean.

But what amused us the most was the statement out of El Paso Tuesday night that the Sun Bowl committee (which is almost entirely C. D. Belding) had dissolved its agreement to have the Border Conference team as host. The implication was that the Border loop had treated the Sun Bowl outrageously, that there was both written and moral obligation for the Border winner to be the host team. The Sun Bowl committee voted to wash its hands of this obligation. Hogwash. There never was any written or moral obligation for the Border conference champion to be the host team. It was a snide trick the Sun Bowl committee worked up to insure itself of one team for a bowl that perenially is hard up for two teams. They did everything in their power to foster the belief that the Border champ had to perform in the Sun Bowl. And Tech upset that applecart.

We'd be interested to know whether Belding made the statement before or after he had received an official letter (if he did), telling him what Texas Tech's position in regards to the Sun Bowl was, is and will be henceforth. The understanding we have is that Tech was going to tell the Sun Bowl that it was, in polite language, attempting to throttle the champion of the Border Conference. The proposed letter also is or was alleged to have told the Sun Bowl that henceforth if Texas Tech won the Border Conference football title, Texas Tech would accept a bid if it saw fit or reject it if it did not—with no ifs, ands, buts or maybes. Furthermore, the alleged letter was going to rip the last shred of public doubt about any supposed tie-up between the conference and the El Paso bowl.

We aren't overly cordial to bowl tie-ups. In general, they discourage rather than encourage teams. Certainly the Rose Bowl has not gained from tying up the winner of the Pacific Coast Conference and the winner of the Big Ten. And while bowls attempt to get the best teams available, if a local team is playing they tend to pick a team that generally is weaker. The Rose was embarrassed by three consecutive defeats of its West Coast favorites. If it happens again this year, the critics are bound to howl louder than ever. And even the Cotton Bowl looked sort of silly turning down Villanova on the grounds that its one upset loss to Tulsa didn't recommend it. After all, Villanova beat Texas A & M 35-0, worst licking the Aggies took and more severe than any of the Southwest Conference teams or Oklahoma made it.

But there are enough bowls, if you're bowl-minded, to satisfy the majority of institutions. At the last count there were to be some 20 or more this season, not much of a drop from the past. One of the main differences is that Hardin-Simmons won't be appearing in three bowls this year. Not that that means there will be less bowls. Many of those in operation last year died of natural causes, leaving a few of the more established, both big and small, to gain. We have an idea that most of the bowl games will be pretty even, although there will be some cases in which teams are badly mismatched. Some colleges will howl because their teams didn't receive invitations and some whose teams did will wish they had stayed home.

Speaking of mixed up situations in bowl games, look at the records of sime of the teams matched this year. Louisiana State, which meets Oklahoma in the Sugar Bowl, whipped North Carolina and Rice. Yet the last two named will be the Cotton Bowl. Kentucky, which is going to the Orange Bowl, whipped LSU soundly. And Oklahoma, which will play LSU, outclassed Santa Clara, which will play in the Orange Bowl. Incidentally, the first odds have been released by Johnny McDonald, a prominent betting commissioner in Chicago. His selections include California over Ohio State by six points in the Rose Bowl; Oklahoma over LSU by seven points in the Sugar Bowl; Rice over North Carolina by seven and a half points in the Cotton Bowl; and Kentucky over Santa Clara by two and a half points in the Orange Bowl.

Grid "Strike" Is Called Off

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1 (AP)—The San Francisco 49ers pro football squad called off a threatened strike today.

A team spokesman said the 32 players decided their obligation to fans who want to see them play the New York Yankees here Sunday was more important than their demand for a $500 bonus per player for the game. Sunday's affair is a semi-final playoff in the All-America conference.

Strike Is Threatened

Earlier team Captain Norman Standlee, 245-pound fullback and one-time Stanford great, and Halfback Len Eshmont, former Fordham flash, speaking as "elder spokesmen" said the men wouldn't show up for the game unless they were promised the bonus.

Tony Morabito, one of the club owners, said nothing doing. He told the 49ers to turn out for practice this morning or the season would be over as far as they were concerned.

The squad of 32 went into a huddle last night. They came out of it at midnight with the announcement there would be no strike. Their spokesman handed out a statement saying:

"It is the unanimous decision of the team that our first and most important loyalty is to the fans who have supported us so loyally. We feel the same obligation to the coaching staff.

"The . . . . business principle which brought about the difference . . . is secondary in the hearts of the team as compared to our obligation to our fans."

Bowling Results

Household Supply maintained its edge over West Texas Gas last night in the Business Bowling league by taking two games from Mark Halsey. West Texas kept the pace by downing Reeves Insurance in two of the three games.

High for the Householders was Jim Buckner with a fine 191-556 series, and Ed Hendrix rolled a 204-531 for the Druggists.

Leading the Reeves team was Pee Wee Bean with 176-489, and N. G. Terry was top for West Texas Gas with 168-425.

H. A. Watson paced Dahlson Furniture with a 179-508 night's work as his team rolled over Sears in two games, and E. H. Klein posted the best Sears effort, a 148-441 series.

Stanolind barely got by Hub Laundry in two games of its match, and E. L. Riggs' 484 series was high for the Pipers. O. C. Bumpass boasted the best for Hub Laundry, a 448 mark.

BRAND SWEEPS SERIES

Brand Auto Service, a new addition to the Ladies Commercial Bowling league, racked No Name 3 over the coals last night in league play, winning all three games.

Gypsie Hansen had the high series of the night for Brand Auto, a 180-520 offering, topping Zelma Zimmerman's 312-503 series for the losers.

No Name 7 lost two games to Hemphill-Wells, but Irene Daniels' 467 series topped Nora Lee McCasland's high for Hemphill-Wells.

Southwestern Public Service won its first two games against Nelson Electric before losing the third, and Bertha Thomas had a large share in the victory, kegling 174-456. Lovie Beavers split pins for a 150-436 series for Nelson's.

Two games were won by Russell Hardin Cleaners in their outing with Lubbock Tailoring, and Maxine Buckner's 469 three-game total was high for the winners. Helen Henkel was tops for Lubbock Tailoring with a 472 series.

Tremain Winner In Feature Mat Bout

Wrestling reached a new high last night at Sled Allen's arena, with three very good matches going by the boards before a good crowd.

With Ed (Strangler) Lewis doing the officiating, the grapplers settled down to stay close to the rules in all but a few instances, and Lewis was quick to catch rule violations.

Alex Kasaboski was disqualified in the first fall of his bout with Andy Tremain for illegal use of his fists. After being warned by Lewis against the use of kidney punches, the Russian continued to do so, thereby losing the first set-to after 15 minutes.

Both men came back strong in the second canto and mixed it freely. The Strangler had to break Kasaboski after 17 minutes which gave Tremain a chance to recover and win the fall and the match after 18 minutes with a rocking chair split.

The preliminary and semi-final bouts were commended by Lewis, who said that they were two of the best seen recently.

In the semi-final scrap Herb Parks and George Overhul put on a good exhibition of skill and science which brought applause from the crowd.

Parks was able to get the edge on his younger opponent after 32 minutes of the first fall, coming out of a shoulder pin to apply a cat toehold to Overhul and take the fall.

Both men were near equal and wrestled to the limit of the 45-minute period in the second fall, Parks being declared the winner.

Appearing in the local arena for the first time since early in the year, Jack Pappenheim went the distance with Salvador Flores in the 20-minute preliminary bout. Both fought hard for victory in a very clean match, but neither was able to pin the other for the required count.

Dallas Gambler Knows Slayer

DALLAS, Dec. 1. (U.P.)—Detectives today were confronted with the statement of a Dallas gambler that he knew but was unable to reveal the identity of a "mad killer" responsible for the death of his wife.

Herbert Noble, 40, described the "brains" behind the killing as the operator of several policy wheels here.

"But he is 1,500 miles from here now," Noble said.

Mrs. Mildred Noble, 36, was killed Tuesday when a homemade bomb attached to the starter of her husband's car went off as she prepared to drive away from her home. Noble had already left the house, driving his wife's car.

Other Attempts Made

Investigators agreed with Noble that a hired killer planted the bomb. Several attempts have been made in recent months on the Dallas man's life.

"All those plans to kill me have been made by the same man," Noble said. "He has killed a lot of people." Why he continues to try to get me is more than I can understand."

Noble explained he wished to cooperate with police, but added, "I don't think they can do much about it."

He said he wanted to remain in Dallas and "stay alive for another two years while my daughter completes her schooling. Then I may have other plans."

in a campaign for unification of Germany.

Although this form of nationalism may not be of a Nazi nature it is being watched carefully for fear its program may play into the hands of the Russian-led East German Communists who are using similar tactics.

Poll Is Taken

The high commission poll found an almost unanimous desire for unity of the Soviet zone with the Allied western zones, but about 70 per cent said they didn't want unification at the price of Communism.

German pollsters under American supervision found in their questioning of people in Berlin, Bremen and the American occupation zone that only five per cent believed in a type of nationalism associated with Nazi dictatorship and militarism. Half of those questioned could furnish no definition of nationalism at all. 65 per cent said they believed in a "patriotic" kind of nationalism without dictatorship or militarism.

Opposing nationalist attitudes of any kind were 20 per cent while five per cent gave no opinion.

Feeling Is Lacking

Nevertheless, the survey showed German feeling desiring the return of territories Germany lost at the end of the war—Silesia, East Prussia, the Sar, Danzig, Sudetenland, Alsace, Bohemia and even Austria. In Bremen one per cent said they wanted to get Austria back. Hitler joined Austria to Germany in 1938.

More than 80 per cent in Berlin and 60 per cent in Bremen wanted the return of Silesia and East Prussia, which has been handed to Poland, "even if this could only be accomplished by war." In the rest of the zone less than half took this view.

In Berlin 44 per cent were willing to risk war to get Danzig back.

But the general show of militaristic feeling seemed lacking. An overwhelming majority said they would rather see their sons in private business than in the army, even as officers.

The poll showed increased friendliness toward Americans and greater appreciation of American aid.

It also recorded a growing opinion that Germany started the war, that she would have lost the war even if Hitler had not interfered with the decisions of his generals and an even stronger belief that Germany would have lost the war if the generals had relied entirely on Hitler's intuition.

ponding influence over how their troops are used.

Compromise Suggested

The U. S., however, and the other 10 Atlantic pact nations, want the future Atlantic high command to be paramount, on strategy decisions as well as in name. Because of her great strength, America's point of view carries considerable weight.

One compromise suggested for today's meeting would give the Brussels pact nations special influence on western European strategy, but not complete control. One observer speculated Montgomery might get the No. 2 position on the Atlantic high command, immediately below the chairman of the joint U. S. chiefs of staff, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, who presided over the military conference here this week.

All indications here pointed to a settlement today of the dispute. Bradley told reporters he was "both satisfied and gratified" at the draft of the defense plans. Another high American officer said that after today's meeting "there will be no misunderstandings left among us."

Railroad issues made a particularly good showing after most had sold at net losses during the morning.

Marked up were Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Rock Island, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft, Bendix Aviation, Standard Gas & Electric $4 preferred, Kennecott Copper, Dow Chemical, Du Pont, General Electric, International Paper, and Universal Pictures.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—Cotton futures were steady in moderately active trading today. The market was supported by trade buying for mill and export account which readily absorbed hedge selling and profit taking.

The market was helped by the announcement by ECA of additional cotton purchase credits to Great Britain and France, aggregating $70,000,000. Dealers estimated that this would cover close to 450,000 bales of cotton, although some dealers believed part of the authorizations will be against past purchases on which shipment has been held-up, pending payment for the cotton.

Cotton closed steady.

Sun Has Peculiar Effect On Family

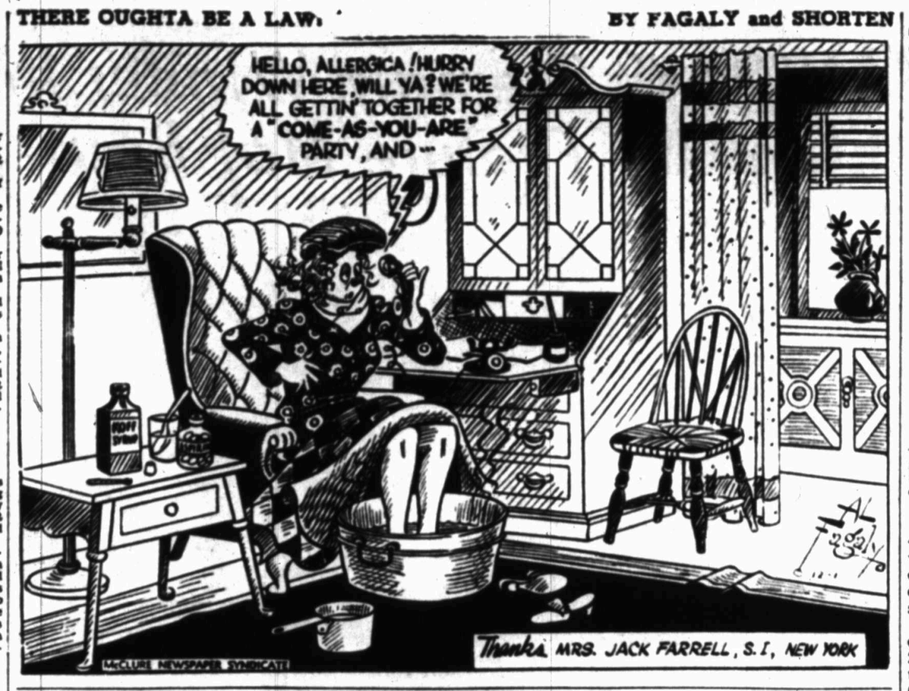

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 1 (U.P.)—The sun has affected people in strange ways but probably none the way it bothers the Allisons of Milwaukee.

James L. Allison sneezes three times every time he goes into the sunlight. His father was affected in the same way and his grandfather before him. Allison's two brothers also sneeze three times when they step into the sunlight.

Carrying on the family quirk is Allison's four-year-old son, Jamie, who has started sneezing when the sun's rays shine on him.

Contract Let For New Mexico Plant

LOVINGTON, N. M., Dec. 1. (Special) — Construction contract for a $181,158 power plant building for the Lea County Electric Cooperative, Inc., has been awarded to Lembke Construction company of Albuquerque, subject to approval by the Rural Electrification administration in Washington, R. B. Moore, manager, announced today.

The power plant, representing a total investment of nearly $1,000,000, is one of the first to be erected in the Sotuhwest by an electric cooperative.

It was designed by a Lubbock engineering firm, Continental Engineers, operated by H. N. Roberts, J. B. Payne, Edward P. Price and Cecil M. Hawk.

Large generators were purchased some time ago by the cooperative and it is expected that actual construction can begin shortly.

Mine Strike

Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Fourth This Year

The strike that began at midnight was the fourth in the coal industry this year.

Soft coal miners quit work promptly as the three-week truce expired.

Some jumped the gun and failed to report for the 10:30 shift last night.

A UMW local official at Benton, Ill., said: "We thought it was going to be settled before midnight. But we're out even though a lot of us don't want to be."

Body Blow To Miners

The walkout, if protracted, would have been a body blow to 400,000 United Mine Workers and their families.

Already the diggers, their wives and their kiddies face a bleak Christmas. The government estimates the three previous walkouts have cost the miners $300,000,000 —around $750 a man.

The usually fiery UMW chief simply had no comment.

Two hours before the truce expired, some 200 miners failed to report for the overnight shift at the No. 4 and 5 mines of Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation at California, Pa.

There was no indication a sympathy walkout would spread to the UMW's anthracite miners.

For months, Lewis has been trying to get a new contract to enforce the demands he's never publicly announced. He's merely said they would add 30 to 35 cents a ton to the cost of coal.

The miners' basic wage is $14.05 for an eight-hour day. Average weekly earnings run about $70.

But the operators pay millions of dollars to the miners besides wages. Through a 20-cents-a-ton royalty they finance entirely the cost of a $100-a-month pensions for retired miners and a health and welfare fund.

The last strike started September 19. It began shortly after Lewis announced the welfare and pension payments had to be suspended because he said southern operators stopped contributions when the contract expired last June 30.

No note was found.

Miles was a transfer student from Allen academy in Bryan.

His death was the second violent death at the university in less than two months. Edward Graydon Grounds, 19-year-old sophomore, jumped to his death from the university's tower observation platform Oct. 15.

ing for trouble."

"Lewis has got a lot for us. My old man used to work 14 hours a day and our family still starved. He changed that—but he sure slipped up some place this time. He promised us a contract, but we haven't got it yet."

William Bell, one of the few miners who allowed himself to be quoted, blamed the operators for taking advantage of Lewis.

"Lewis brought the miners back to work to show the public he wants to do the right thing—and then what happened?" Bell asked.

"The operators and the union don't get together. Maybe there's something wrong on both sides, but it looks to me like the operators are trying to bust our union."

John Cobena supported Bell's contention that the miners will not go back this time without a contract.

"If Lewis says we go back to work, back we go. If Lewis says quit, we quit," Cobena said. "But I don't think we'll go back without a contract. Not even if it takes six months."

Deep In Debt

The miners didn't know just what Lewis was asking the operators to do. They didn't think that was important.

"He's trying to get something for us and that's all we care about. He's fighting for us—and we'll fight for him," a Library miner declared.

Most of the miners agreed that Lewis knew what he was doing. But they were angry nonetheless, that he called them out so soon before Christmas.

"Even if it weren't for Christmas," said one, "we'd still be in a hole. I could work from now until the end of April and never draw a cent over five dollars a month. That's how much I owe the company store."

Along with his son, Stech found that he had three grandchildren. He left Germany after a divorce from his first wife, leaving his son in care of his mother and maternal grandparents.

Experts Have Catalogued 1,932 Species

Ancestry Of Termites Traced To Era 25,000,000 Years Ago

By ARTHUR EDSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1—Proud people who trace their ancestry to the Mayflower got a rude jolt today. A termite, who rarely gives himself airs, can trace his ancestry back 250,000,000 years.

This tidbit comes from the Smithsonian institution, which has just completed cataloguing 1,932 different species of termites.

When it turned out that the cataloguing chore had been done by a Department of Agriculture man who has been studying the termite—and ways to control it—for 40 years, I promptly called Dr. Thomas E. Snyder to find out what's new in the termite world.

Family Split

The answer is, nothing much. Termites have been calmly chomping wood and developing a complex social organization for 30,000,000 years. And their ancesters, Dr. Snyder said, go back 250,000,000 years.

"Somewhere along the line," he said, "the family split, and one group became the cockroach."

Dr. Snyder has a certain admiration for the cockroach. ("He's very adaptable. He was on earth long before man, and I suspect he'll be here long after we're going.") But his real love is the termite.

Some Are Larger

Dr. Snyder met up with the termite quite by accident. Some telephone poles had been damaged, and he went ou to look at them. There he saw his first queen termite—and he's been looking at termites ever since.

In this country termites measure only a quarter of an inch, with the winged adults measuring a half inch.

We got off lucky.

"I have seen a tropical queen termite," said Snyder, "who was four and one half inches long and nearly two inches in diameter."

Termite Kings

It has been during only the last few thousand of its 30,000,000 years that the termite has given man any trouble. That's when man moved out of a cozy cave into a house, and termites moved in to chew on the house.

Dr. Snyder says there's one difference between the ant and bee kings and the king termite.

"The ant and the bee kings die after mating," he said. "The termite king lives on. If you're going to be a king, a termite king is much the best proposition."

I said I'd keep that in mind.

Chiang Kai-Shek Takes Over Nationalist Command Again

By SPENCER MOOSA
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHENGTU, China, Dec. 1. — Chiang Kai-Shek was back today in command of Nationalist China's fight against the Communists. He took over shortly after arriving in this new refugee capital from fallen Chungking.

The confused, travel-weary Nationalist government still was trying to set up shop in its fourth capital this year when the generalissimo announced he was resuming direction of operations against the Reds.

Chiang made the move, his office said in a statement, as head of the Nationalist emergency council. The statement said he had no intention—at the moment—of resuming the presidency he gave up last January. But high sources predicted he would do that, too, before long.

Measures Discussed

One of the Generalissimo's first moves was to call in other Nationalist leaders to discuss measures for checking the Red tide flooding into southwestern China.

The Communists took Chungking yesterday. The takeover apparently was swift. The signal that the Reds had completely occupied the city of 1,000,000 persons came at 6:30 last night. This was a formal announcement by the telecommunications bureau that service to Chungking was suspended.

(Hong Kong newspapers gave the picture of Chungking's transfer to Communist rule. It was in the classic pattern of many a Nationalist city, including the former capitals of Nanking and Canton.

(The Nationalists pulled out. A local committee was set up. It met the Reds when all was clear and welcomed them to the city.

(In Chungking's case, the pro-Communist Hong Kong press said, the committee was made up of four businessmen, including the director of the chamber of commerce and the managing director of the Szechwan Silk Manufacturing co. It preserved peace and order until the Reds were ready to enter. Then it greeted them at the banks of the Yangtze.)

The Nationalist government was groping its way into the business of running what it left of its country. Many key officials weren't around. There was confusion at every hand.

Already people were wondering how long Chengtu would last as the seat of government. One month was an optimistic estimate. In that time, many said, the Reds would have covered the 170 miles that separate Chengtu from Chungking.

(Hong Kong press reports said the fast-moving Communist troops of Gen. Liu Po-Cheng already were streaking out from Chungking to take Hochwan, 35 miles northwest toward Chengtu.

(Another column was reported rushing westward from Chungking in an attempt to sever the highway to Chengtu and trap Nationalist stragglers. Many retreating troops were said to be bogged down in the heavy flow of refugee traffic toward Chengtu.

(Some 20,000 men were reported in the Chungking occupation force.)

Political Crisis Issue

Even amid the hammer blows of another defeat the Nationalists' political crisis remained a burning issue.

Chiang's political course hinged on whether Acting President Li Tsung-jen would return from Hong Kong as the generalissimo has requested.

The statement from Chiang's office said that in the absence of two emissaries he sent to appeal to Li, the generalissimo had not considered resuming the presidency.

High quarters here expressed belief Li would resign as acting president and Chiang would then step back into his old spot. This would revert Li to the vice presidency and in that capacity he might be allowed to visit the U. S.

(In Hong Kong, however, the English-language Standard said a Li spokesman reiterated Li plans to make a 45-day trip to the U. S. as acting president. The starting date was set at about Dec. 4.

(The paper quoted the spokesman as saying Li "really needs better environment and medical care for his sickness. However, if the acting president could obtain moral and material aid from our American friends it would be a random harvest to our country.")

Temperatures Slide Near Normal In U. S.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1. (AP)—Temperatures slid toward normal readings today after some abnormal marks.

The U. S. Weather bureau reported the two coldest spots in the early reports were at Duluth and International Falls, Minn., where readings of 14 and nine above were recorded.

There were a few snow flurries in Minnesota, Iowa, and Michigan with a promise of some other flurries further south later. Rain was reported in Arizona and on Tatoosh island, Wash.

"One inch of rain fell on Tatoosh," the forecaster said, "but since they have 100 inches a year there, one more or less doesn't make much difference."

Elsewhere skies were clear. It was scheduled to cool off over the Lakes and Ohio valley.

Revival Services Continue In City

Revival services at Calvary Baptist church, Eighteenth and Ave. T, are continuing each day this week, with a concluding service to be held Sunday night.

Rev. Elven Boles of Granite, Okla., is directing the music for the services. Rev. W. E. Grindstaff of Mangum, Okla., is preaching the services.

His subject for the Wednesday night service was "Sinners Seeking Christ."

Rev. Grindstaff's subject for today's 10 a.m. service will be "The Essence of Christianity," and for the evening service at 7:30 o'clock tonight "The Plan of Salvation."

His subject for the Friday night service is to be 'How to Become A Christian."

Ladies Night will be observed at tonight's service. Friday night will be Family Night, and Saturday night is designated as Youth Night.

Guatemala Holds Out On Coffee Shipments

GAUTEMALA CITY, Gautemala, Dec. 1 (U.P.)—Two hundred and fifty Gautemalan coffee growers voted recently to delay their deliveries to the United States for 15 days to get higher prices, it was disclosed today.

Newspapers reported that growers in Central America and Mexico were trying to get higher prices for coffee which U. S. importers contracted for before the recent sharp rise in prices.

La Hora said some importers had agreed to the increases. It added that if all other importers also agreed the Central American countries would get an additional $80,000,000 for their coffee crops.

Lexington Merchant Found Shot In Head

GIDDINGS, Dec. 1. (AP)—Fred Woodward, 35, Lexington, Tex., businessman, died early today of a bullet wound in the head.

Woodward was found wounded, apparently by a small caliber bullet, at his farm home near Lexington about 5 p. m. yesterday. The weapon was not found.

No inquest verdict had been returned early today.

Super Airports To Relieve Plane Traffic Are Considered

Costly Plans Receive Study

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics administration, plagued by growing air traffic congestion, is exploring the feasibility of "specialized airports" to relieve the jam.

Officials said a more adequate spacing of aircraft in flight may be needed to minimize the danger of collisions in large metropolitan areas.

One Every Minute

CAA records show that the the nation's busiest airport—Cleveland—an average of one plane takes off or lands every minute. At the 160 other airports where CAA employes man control towers, the average is one plane every three minutes.

In some fields, giant passenger airliners, commercial freight carriers, military aircraft and itinerant civil craft are all funneled onto the same runways. Traffic is heaviest in the daylight hours.

A statistical breakdown of landing and takeoff operations under CAA control reveals that 11,300 big air carriers are handled at the nation's 161 principal airports daily. They share the runways with 173,000 air force, 84,545 navy, and 1,018,000 other civilian planes.

Knotty Safety Problem

The CAA said his "mixed traffic" presents one of its knottiest safety problems.

The CAA has three types of airports in mind to reduce the hazards of congestion:

1. Super fields with 8,000 foot runways to accommodate large passenger and cargo planes used by commercial airlines.

2. Medium-sized ports for carrier service, plane maintenance, flight testing, sales demonstration and flight training.

3. Small ports to furnish civil flying facilities to private flyers.

Officials admit such a program would be costly and could be achieved only through close cooperation of federal, state and local agencies.

A program designed to bring civilian airports up to a required 6,000 units, they said, might cost more than $800,000,000 over a period of years.

JOAN PROUTY

THE QUESTION

Will there be more or less land to rent in 1950 under the farm acreage cut program?

THE ANSWERS

MRS. RUTH JOHNSON, 2820 Forty-first, secretary at Lubbock County PMA office: "I think that there will be less to rent out. Since we have cotton acreage allotment, the land owners are going to either operate the land themselves or have plain hired labor to operate the land."

LOWEL CADDEL, 1709 Ave. N, clerk for PMA: "I don't think that it will have much bearing on the rentings. I think the farm program will not affect rent. If a man wants to rent his land, he's going to do it anyway. Most everyone that rents either doesn't farm himself or he is working all the land he could handle anyway. If it does affect it all all, there might possibly be a little less land for rent."

M. L. SHEPHERD, 3111 Twenty-first, farmer: "there will not be more land to rent, in my opinion, because the landlord would receive little if any income from the land put to conservation. If he operates the land himself, he can benefit by livestock operation."

G. G. WOODS, Abernathy, farmer: "I think things will remain about the same. Everybody is going to hold on to all the land they can anyway."

H. P. MUSGROVE, Idalou, farmer: "That's kinda hard to say. It could be either way. Some people would rent more land to get the number of acres in cotton they want. It's doubtful whether they could rent the land at all. In this part of the country it's kinda hard to rent land."

W. E. ALLEN, Route 7, farmer: "I wouldn't think it would make a great deal of difference. Most of the people that own the land aren't going to the expense of buying equipment for someone else. If they already have the equipment, they will farm the land themselves."

Soldier Is Held In Shooting, Robbery

TEMPLE, Dec. 1 (AP)—Sheriff E. G. (Buck) Ray said a 21-year-old soldier confessed early today he shot a Temple filling station owner and robbed him of $386.86.

W. W. Eldredge, 53, was shot three times late last night by an assailant who fired from concealment as he was closing his station. After an operation early today, hospital attendants said he had a chance to live.

Ray said he and Texas Ranger Truman Horton arrested the soldier, stationed at Camp Hood near here, on a bus at Killeen. He said the soldier made an oral confession and led the officers to a .38 caliber pistol which had been thrown in a shrubbery in front of the Temple municipal building.

Ray said he would file charges today.

Court To Ask Road Change

Lubbock county commissioners will request that the State Highway department designate the Acuff road as a state farm to market route, a special business session's minutes filed for recording Wednesday showed.

The proposed designation would affect a stretch from the east end of the present Acuff road to the Crosby county line, and would make it possible for free right of way deeds for Lubbock county, it was explained.

Other business announced:

The court ordered $1,600 paid to J. O. Ruth, W. H. and Allie B. Long as a balance on right of way contracted for.

The petition of Bryan B. Dillard and others to close part of East Ave A was denied. The pleadings and evidence were heard by the court at a former session, Nov. 14. Appeal for a district court review was announced by petitioners.

Bonds of H. P. Williams and V. K. Hays as public weighers were approved.

The court ordered that alleys in blocks 18 and 23 of Country Club addition be closed.

Consolidation of Estacado Independent school district with Lorenzo Independent School district, hereafter to be known as Lorenzo Consolidated Independent School district of Crosby and Lubbock counties, was ordered.

The court allowed a net sum of $8,000 to W. T. McClure Machinery company for one HD-10 tractor Baker bulldozer, a net $9,000 for one AD Ford motor grader. Worn machinery was traded in on the equipment.

Goal Of $3,250 Set By Officials

Salvation Army's Christmas Cheer Fund Drive Is Opened

Today marks the opening of the Salvation Army's annual Christmas Cheer Fund campaign. A goal of $3,250 has been set to provide Christmas dinners, baskets of food, toys, gifts, fruits and nuts for the less fortunate families in Lubbock, it was announced Wednesday by Captain W. Tom Gregory, commanding officer of the Salvation Army in this area.

The familiar tripod and kettle will be located in front of Kress Store on Broadway, Penny's, First National bank, Citizens National bank, and in front of the Post office.

To Cover 400 Families

It is expected, that more than 400 families will be provided for this Christmas through The Army's Christmas program. Last year, 369 families received baskets for Christmas day.

In addition to providing food baskets and dinners, The Army will operate a toy shop where new toys will be distributed to families for their children. Approximately 450 dolls were purchased by the Army and members of the Home Demonstration clubs as well as other interested groups and individuals have undertaken the task of dressing the dolls for distribution.

The Salvation Army is a charter member of the Lubbock Community Chest, which supplies funds for its year-round program. However, the Christmas program of the Army is an extra activity and money must be raised by the Salvation Army to support this program.

The Community Chest does not undertake to include this item in

MAN DOOMED TO ELECTRIC CHAIR

Slayer Of Girl To Pay With Own Life

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Dec. 1 (U.P.)—Franklin Click, 30, was sentenced early today to death in the electric chair for the 1944 sex slaying of a 17-year-old high school girl in the most complicated criminal case in Indiana history.

A jury of nine men and three women deliberated 10 hours before finding Click, a celery farm worker, guilty of murder in the first degree for the slaying of Phyllis Conine on Aug. 4, 1944. The verdict recommended the supreme penalty, making the sentence mandatory.

He Is Impassive

The jury also could have recommended life imprisonment.

Click, awakened and brought from his cell before dawn, stood impassively at the bar as Circuit Judge William H. Schannen sentenced him to die "on March 27, 1950, before the hour of sunrise."

The case was the most tangled in Indiana's legal history, however, and Click's attorneys were almost certain to fight the verdict with appeals and motions for a new trial.

The judge had retired for the night and was re-called from his home to the courtroom to hear the verdict and pass sentence on Click.

Father Of Five

Click, the father of five children, had confessed the slaying in a letter to his wife in hopes she would get a reward.

At the time of the confession, he was under arrest for a kidnap-rape on which he pleaded guilty. He is under sentence to serve a life term in prison for that crime.

Click, however, complicated matters immeasurably by also confessing to the sex slayings of Anna Kuzeff and Wilhelmina Haaga here in Fort Wayne in 1944.

Those killings had been confessed by Ralph W. Lobaugh, who also admitted the slaying of Mrs. Dorothea Howard in 1945.

Sentenced To Die

Lobaugh was sentenced to be executed. Subsequent events, however, caused Gov. Henry Schricker and the courts to give him nine

Food Rationing For France Nearing End

PARIS, Dec. 1. (AP)—France neared the end of food rationing today.

The French cabinet last night voted to take sugar and rice off the control list today, leaving only coffee distribution controlled by the government. The government said the normal coffee ration would be doubled this month.

The cabinet, which recently derationed cooking oil, also voted to abolish the national food control board on Dec. 31.

To keep the price of sugar at its present rationed level of about 13 cents a pound, the government plans to allow sugar imports from Algeria and Tunis. Similar imports of cooking oil also will be permitted.

Krug To Leave Cabinet Today

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Julius "Cap" Krug bows out of President Truman's cabinet today, still silent about his reasons for leaving and his plans for the future.

Into his place steps Oscar L. Chapman, 53, his undersecretary for the 3½ years Krug has been in office.

Krug was to present Chapman to Supreme Court Chief Justice Vinson for the oath-taking ceremony at the Interior department auditorium.

This was a reversal of the situation in March, 1946, when Chapman—acting secretary for six weeks following the resignation of Secretary Harold L. Ickes—introduced Krug to Supreme Court Justice Rutledge.

Reception Arranged

After taking the oath of office, Chapman arranged an informal reception in the auditorium for cabinet members, government officials and Interior bureau chiefs.

hen he was to go to Krug's sixth-floor office to present the departing secretary with the department's highest award, its distinguished service medal.

In the 16½ years since Chapman came to the Interior department, he has come to know many department employes by name.

Chapman will hold a reception at his office Monday for all his workers who choose to or find time to call. By contrast comparatively few Interior department office workers have ever seen Krug.

Krug, who observed his 42nd birthday a week ago, announced unexpectedly Nov. 10 that he had informed President Truman he wished to resign not later than Dec. 1.

Once a favorite of the President, he had not been close to administration leaders in recent months. Nor did his manner of announcing his resignation further endear him to Mr. Truman. Through a mixup, the press knew Krug's plans before the White House did.

Two weeks ago Krug had indicated he would hold a news conference before quitting. The plans were cancelled, however. Aides said Krug still has "something on his mind" but does not yet wish to divulge it.

STATE DEPARTMENT SPECULATING

Russia Is Expected To Take Troops From Germany In '50

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (AP) — The State department bulletin said today Russia may make a German peace treaty with withdraw its occupation troops from Germany sometime next year.

The treaty would be made with Russia's new satellite "German democratic republic." The Soviets sponsored this set-up in October, paralleling the ceration of the new western German state under American-British French sponsorship.

The bulletin is an official publication of the State department. This is the first time that speculation on dramatic new moves by the Russians in their play for Germany has gained such official recognition.

The speculation was set forth in an article by Henry B. Cox, a State department expert on German political affairs. The article reviewed the establishment of the Soviet-supported East German state.

"Soviet authorities have announced the transfer of administrative functions heretofore handled by the Soviet military administration to the newly created people's chamber," it said. "The 'Soviet control commission's now replaces the Soviet military administration.

"Indications also point to the Soviets" concluding possibly a separate peace treaty with their newest satellite and with-drawing Soviet occupation troops within a year."

Actually State department officials have expected a Russian move on the occupation troop issue —a hot political issue in Germany —for many months.

Security Involved

It was one of the possibilities considered before Secretary of State Acheson attended the big four foreign ministers meeting in Paris early this year.

At that time speculation was concerned with a possible Soviet proposal that all four occupation powers should get their troops out of Germany.

Acheson decided that he would simply oppose any such proposition, together with the British and French, on the ground that the security of western Germany and western Europe required occupation and that the German people understood that requirement.

With the creation of the Communist "German democratic republic," which claims to be the government for all Germany, new opportunities have arisen for the Soviets to act by themselves.

Russian In Key Spot

There are several factors supporting the belief of officials here that the Russians may sign a peace treaty with the red-fostered government and that the treaty may provide for getting the troops ou of eastern Germany.

Perhaps the most important of these is the recent appointment of a high Russian army leader, Marshal Constantin K. Rokossovsky as defense minister in Poland.

With their own man in control of the Polish military and a dominant figure in the Polish government, the Russians could withdraw their troops behind the Polish borders without materially changing their strategic position in central Europe.

In the opinion of American officials this is a consideration of utmost importance. They are convinced that in the present balance of power in Europe the Russians would not voluntarily weaken their position even as part of a major propaganda offensive for support throughout Germany.

Another factor underlying the "indications" mentioned in the bulletin article is this propaganda play which the Russians would be able to make in Germany and elsewhere in Europe: they could argue that while they were removing their troops in a gesture of "peace" the western powers were holding on to their positions in western Germany.

Dutch Meyer Plans War On Grid Cards

DALLAS, Dec. 1 (AP) — Texas Christian university's head football coach says he's going to make war on football bookies.

"I'm going to fight them up and down the nation and try to stop this card playing on football games," Coach L. R. (Dutch) Meyer told the Temple Emanu-El brothrhood last night.

He chided fans who criticize boys for making mistakes on the playing field. "I'm afraid we are losing sight of the boy and taking the game too seriously," he said.

"I hope before I die I can see one game when the entire crowd cheers a kid when he makes an excellent play, regardless of what side he's on."

Meyer said this year's Texas Christian team was "the greatest I have ever seen in courage and spirit." He said Texas might be the strongest team in the Southwest conference next season.

Meyer said Southern Methodist has only "a remote chance" of beating Notre Dame Saturday. "When you play Notre Dame you play not one but three teams," he said.

Wanted Slayer Chooses Trial Instead Of Blackmail Payoff; Charge Dropped

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1. (AP)— A former Detroit man's dislike of blackmailers and faith in American court justice has paid off.

Wanted for a 1916 slaying in Detroit, Thomas Karakatsianis came here 33 years ago. He changed his name, married, raised a family, and started what proved to be a successful business.

Everything went well with him —until a stranger came and demanded $1,500 to keep quiet about the 33 year old killing.

Karakatsianis decided he would rather face trial than submit to a blackmailer.

Name Not Revealed

He turned himself over to local police. They checked with Detroit. Karakatsianis was wanted all right—for shooting and killing one Mike Hadjopoulos in a brawl in February of 1916.

But Detroit police reported everybody connected with the case —detectives, witnesses and other officials—are all dead. Even the scene of the crime has been rebuilt.

Consequently the officials declined to bring Karakatsianis back for trial.

In telling the story Police Inspector Tom Cahill declined to reveal Karakatsianis present name.

LAMBEAU KEEPS POST

GREEN BAY, Wis., Dec. 1 (U.P.) —Curly Lambeau, who has piloted the Green Bay Packers longer than many National Professional football league fans can remember, took a new, firm grip on the helm today. He won a new two-year contract as advisory coach and general manager of the Packers at a director's meeting last night, soundly whipping critics who had demanded his scalp.

RICE CAGERS WIN

HUNTSVILLE, Dec. 1 (AP)—The Rice Owls whipped Sam Houston State 74-65, to open the basketball season for both teams last night.

LABOR GOVERNMENT IS DEFEATED

Australian Conservatives Get Boost From New Zealand Vote

By GORDON TAIT
Associated Press Staff Writer

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 1 — Some of Australia's Conservatives were heartened today by the defeat of New Zealand's Labor government after 14 years in office. Others adopted a "wait and see" attitude.

The question was: would Australia's voters follow the lead of their island neighbors and end the Labor government's program of government controls and socialism when they elect a new parliament Dec. 10.

In Britain, where the British commonwealth's third and youngest Labor government also faces a general election before next July, mixed reactions were reported.

The Conservative Daily Mail said the New Zealanders had been "weary of socialist regulations and restrictions" and added, "what New Zealand does today, Great Britain may do tomorrow."

New Trend Seen

The independent London Times and the liberal News-Chronicle thought Labor's defeat in New Zealand resulted chiefly from what the Times called the "long, slow swing" of the "pendulum of party politics."

Leaders of Australia's opposition were not so cautious.

Liberal chief Robert Gordon Menzies commented in Melbourne: "The socialists were brought to power in New Zealand, Australia and Great Britain that order. This dramatic (New Zealand) result seems a happy omen that they will go out in the same order."

Arthur Fadden, leader of Australian Labor's other big opponent, the Country party, termed the New Zealand results "the collapse of the first leg of the socialist tripod — New Zealand, the United Kingdom and Australia."

But other observers pointed out that New Zealand unseated the Laborites after 14 years of office. Labor has led Australia only since 1941, and Britain only since 1945.

Vote Meaning Considered

New Zealand's voters, Australian political observers believed, removed the socialist, Laborites from power because they were tired of rules and regulations on what they bought and sold, how much they paid, and what they could import or export.

The New Zealanders, said these sources, were tired, too, of government spending, high taxes and increased living costs. And they wanted to see less, not more, business run by a government which in New Zealand already has nationalized transport, radio, coal, electricity, communications, hospitals and some housing.

They elected an opposition national party that promised to review taxation, to see what could be done about cutting living costs. The Nationalists promised to encourage free enterprise and cut out many controls. But the Nationalists also promised to continue social benefits.

The issues in Australia's current general election campaign are much the same as in New Zealand. Labor is standing on a past record of full employment, prosperity and social benefits.

National Party Gains

Labor has said litle about nationalization. Its major project along that line, the taking over of private commercial banks, was turned down by the commonwealth high court and the privy council.

Like their counterparts in New Zealand, the opposition here has campaigned for free enterprise, reduction of government controls, and lower taxes and less government spending to cut high living costs.

New Zealand's voters yesterday awarded 46 of the 80 seats in the lower parliamentafy house to the National party. The Labor party, which had enjoyed a 42-38 edge in the old house, regained only 34 seats, including the four Maori (native) candidates elected in separate voting Tuesday.

Labor has had a bigger margin in Australia, holding 43 of the 74 seats in the last parliament. In the coming election 121 representatives will be elected. An increase in parliament was voted last year.

Lobsterman's Skunk Bait Condemns Catch

BOSTON, Dec. 1. (AP)—The entire catch of a lobsterman who baited one of his traps with a dead skunk was condemned yesterday.

State Fish Inspector Frank H. Harrington said he took the action after noting an offensive odor while inspecting lobsters being processed for market.

Harrington also condemned all the lobsterman's equipment after he admitted using the skunk bait.

Soviet Ukraine Says Livestock Increased

MOSCOW, Dec. 1. (AP)—The Soviet Ukraine reported today it had already exceeded the goals of the 1949 plan for increasing livestock.

The report printed in Moscow papers said there were 1,000,136 more cattle and 368,000 more pigs on Ukrainian farms than there were in 1940, before the start of the war. Total figures were not given.

Navy Secretary Hits Burden On Taxpayers

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 1. (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Matthews thinks government expenses, including military items, must be pared because the taxpayer is "burdened beyond endurance."

"The taxpayer cannot be further squeezed for revenue without dangerously impairing his productive capacity and gravely threatening extinguishment of the nation's economic life," Matthews said last night at closing sessions of the annual meeting of the Navy league.

Despite cutbacks in the Navy program, Matthews said this country is still "much stronger than all the rest of the world in its seapower." He added, however, that the Navy could use more aircraft carriers "in the opinion of many of us."

Solons Believe Thomas Should Quit In View Of Sentencing

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (AP)—Fellow House members said today Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) ought to resign now that he is going to be sentenced on charges of cheating the government on his payroll.

And people on capitol hill who know Thomas well expect him to do just that.

Thomas faces up to 32 years in jail and a $40,000 fine. This is the result of his backing down completely and suddenly in his fight against charges he operated a salary kickback scheme with three women he put on the congressional pay list.

He changed his plea yesterday from "not guilty" to what the lawyers call "nolo contendere." That meant he wouldn't contest the government's charges.

Sentencing In Week

Federal Judge Alexander Holtzoff ordered him to come back a week from tomorrow for the sentencing.

That wound up a swift, two and a half day trial.

In it, the government contended thousands of dollars were paid out for work that never was done. This money, it claimed, turned up in Thomas' bank account. Furthermore, the government produced testimony that Thomas kept relatives on the payroll who did no work—one of them a 71-year-old bedridden woman.

Thomas doesn't have to resign, even if he goes to jail. If he doesn't, the House could expel him. Thomas still has a year to go on his seventh term.

The few House members now in town agree that Thomas ought to hand in his resignation.

"I should think he would have to resign," Rep. Wickersham (D-Okla) told a reporter. "That would be best. I think all the other members would feel that way."

"Absolutely he should resign," said Rep. Blatnik (D-Minn.) "It would make it very embarrassing for the House if he didn't. I certainly would resign if I were in his place."

Another member who didn't want his name used had the same idea. In addition, he remarked:

"The House certainly couldn't keep on its membership list anyone who has been sentenced as a criminal."

A Republican member, who also asked that his name not be used, said, "if it were myself, I would resign immediately."

Thomas himself was saying nothing, except that he was going home to Allendale, N. J., and come back next week. The attorney general of New Jersey ruled yesterday that if a vacancy occurs in the post now held by Thomas, it is the duty of Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll to call a special election to fill it.

Thomas' lawyer said the decision to place the congressman at the mercy of the court was made out of consideration for Thomas' health and his family. Thomas has been ill with a stomach ailment that resulted in two long postponements of his trial.

Indictment Withdrawn

His pleading no contest doesn't necessarily mean he will get a lighter sentence than he would have if the jury had found him guilty.

The 54-year-old congressman was a subdued man as he heard the government pile up evidence against him. He sat in court unsmiling, occasionally frowning, cupping chin in hand or chewing his glasses.

There was nothing of the tough-talking, gavel-banging little man who used to bark at witnesses while presiding over spectacular hearings of the House un-American activities committee. Thomas was committee chairman in the last Congress. He still is the senior Republican member.

His prosecutor was U. S. Attorney George Morris Fay. In the past, Thomas has been on Fay's side, as a witness in trials of Communist leader Eugene Dennis and Hollywood figures accused of contempt of the House committee.

Fay pulled no punches against Thomas.

He did agree to tear up an indictment against Thomas' former secretary, 64-year-old Miss Helen Campbell.

Thomas and Miss Campbell were accused together of conspiring to set up a kickback plan under which:

1. Miss Campbell got her niece, Myra Midkiff, and her maid, Arnette Minor, to put their names on Thomas' office payroll—for kickback but not working purposes.

2. The Midkiff and Minor pay checks were deposited in Miss Campbell's bank account here.

3. Miss Campbell in turn deposited her own checks for the same or similar amounts in Thomas' account at Allendale.

Thomas alone was accused on three counts of listing Mrs. Jacqueline Hill as an employe of the un-American activities committee and taking kickbacks from her.

Farm To Market Road In Garza Is Okayed

Construction of a $50,000 farm to market road in Garza county was authorized Wednesday by the State Highway commission along with 15 other projects, the Associated Press reported from Austin.

The Garza county project was designated from the end of farm to market road 1313 at Graham west, south and west to the Lynn county line—a total of six miles. A dustless two-lane surface design road is to be constructed under the county and state 75-25 cost sharing plan. The $50,000 figure was an estimate of total cost.

All 16 projects authorized called for a total of $2,717,932. Largest chunk was $2,180,450 for a federal, state and county program of 23 farm to market roads in Hunt county.

Soldiers Choose Officers Over Enlisted Men For Courts Martial, Report Shows

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (INS)—Fifth army headquarters released a report today which showed that the peace-time GI Joe prefers officers to enlisted men on his courts-martial board.

Although under a law passed 10 months ago a GI can have an enlisted man hear his case and set his punishment, he seems strangely reluctant to do so.

A report made by Col. Robert M. Springer, Fifth army judge advocate, showed that during the period the law has been in effect only 15 out of 330 accused men in his area requested other enlisted men on the court.

Figures Check

The Fifth army figures check closely with those recently released by the European command. In that theater, only seven per cent of the cases tried utilized enlisted personnel as board members.

While Joe's reluctance to have his fellow GI's pass judgment on him isn't founded on the premise that all officers are gentlemen, it comes close.

The manuel for courts-martial stipulates that only "experienced enlisted men of good judgment be picked for the courts."

This means, nine times out of ten, that the selected man will be a hardened old-time sergeant whose ideas of justice were formed on a sun-baked drill field.

Lt. James Percival, who has served on numerous courts-martial since the law went into effect Feb. 1, commented:

". . . High ranking non-coms with many years of service are not inclined to be lenient with offenders. Therefore, the accused seem more willing to take their chances with an all-officer board."

The new law was one of the changes in military procedure advocated by the American Bar association, several veterans organizations and the House Military Affairs sub-committee.

At the time of its passage, it was hailed by military officials and civilians alike as a major step forward in democratizing the "antiquated military judicial procedure."

GI Joe seems to feel that the law may be democratic enough, but the sergeants who fill its provisions leave something to be desired.

This Is The Story Of Mister Red

IT'S a peculiar sort of thing, perhaps, but about this time every year, when there's a snap in the early morning and evening air, we get to wondering whatever happened to Mister Red.

In all probabilities, he's dead now, because he was around 35 when we knew him back in 1910. But if he is dead, it's a good bet that he didn't die prosaically, like most people, in a bed, attended by doctors and with loved ones sorrowing nearby.

No, if Mister Red died somewhere along the last 40 years, he must have died as he lived, with complete abandon and either gloriously, or—if you want to call it that—sordidly.

It was in Lawrenceville, Ill., back about 1910 when Mister Red first came to our house to wash the windows and help otherwise with the Fall housecleaning and fixing up against the coming assault of the Midwestern Winter.

We never knew him by any other name except "Mister Red." He wouldn't tell his real name and, anyway, "Mister Red" was good enough.

He was what we now call an "itinerant worker," or, maybe, a "hobo." But he was a very different sort of itinerant worker, or hobo, because he not only had innate charm and a polish which comes from careful upbringing, he also had formal education, much superior to that of the average person who has wandered through four years of college and finally has come up with a B. A.

MISTER RED was quite a guy. He had been Wintering in Lawrenceville for several years—ever since Hell's Half Acre blew in between Lawrenceville and Bridgeport to turn those pleasant little farming area county seats into rip-roaring oil towns—and he was a prime favorite with the families for whom he did odd jobs whenever he needed a little money in his kick.

As polite as Lord Chesterfield, himself, and a good worker when he chose to work, Mister Red was in considerable demand for all sorts of odd jobs.

There wasn't anything he couldn't do, from washing windows and waxing floors, to mending broken locks and putting up extra shelves.

Scrupulously clean, although roughly dressed, he went about his odd jobs softly whistling or humming a tune—unless there was a small boy nearby. When there was, Mister Red was telling the small boy about the great world outside the Illinois countryside; of jaunts across the country with circuses, large and small; of the big cities dotting the nation's map from coast-to-coast—in short, of all the joys of the open road.

Never was there a more interesting—or more understanding—fellow to a small boy than Mister Red.

Underneath the man's native charm and almost unlimited ability to work with his hand there was, of course, an Achilles heel.

In the case of Mister Red it was Strong Drink.

Today, we would know him for what he actually was, an alcoholic; a frustrated man who periodically sought to escape his frustration by way of the bottle; a sick man, in all truthfulness.

But in those days, he was a "periodic drinker," a "rumpot," a "drunken bum."

Oh, he never turned up on a job with even the smell of a drink about him. He was the sort of fellow who, when he drank, did nothing else—and when he wasn't on a binge was as completely sober as any judge.

But the thing that made this natively cultured and highly educated, charming man a hobo was the cup which first cheers, then heartlessly jeers.

AS a little boy, we didn't know about such things as periodic drunks, or how otherwise brilliant, well educated and intelligent men could be thrown for a loss by the way of the jug.

To a little boy, it didn't seem incongruous, at all, for a man with Mister Red's unquestioned culture and charm to be washing windows.

He was a pal, an understanding pal—and a very great man, indeed. After all, hadn't he ridden elephants and fed tigers? And hadn't he been just everywhere in the wide, wide world?

It never occurred to us that there was anything "wrong" with Mister Red, or with the way he lived when we didn't see him.

Then, one day, somebody stole our dog, Jack.

A brindle bull that could whip his weight in wildcats and often did whip several times his weight in other dogs, Jack was the apple of our eye. And, suddenly, one day, he was gone.

Since it was fairly certain that somebody had stolen Jack, Dad turned to Mister Red. He knew everybody and everything around town. If anybody could find that dog, Mister Red could.

Well, a few days later, Mister Red found Jack.

But, unfortunately, he found him at a time when he had been looking upon the wine when the wine was very red. So he pulled up the post to which Jack was chained and brought the dog—chain, post and all—back home.

That was the first time we'd ever come into contact with a drunken man and Mister Red was very, very drunk.

He must have been sleeping in a barnyard and he wasn't staggering—he was reeling.

We raced to meet him and Jack, only to be dumfounded because we couldn't understand what Mister Red was saying or, in fact, what was the matter with Mister Red, that he couldn't stand still on his own sturdy legs.

Fortunately, Dad was around and took charge of the situation—but that was the last time, except one, that we ever saw Mister Red.

Nothing thereafter would bring Mister Red to come back to work at our house. Nothing would make him accept the reward for bringing Jack home. Nothing would bring him anywhere near "Casey Jones," which was the nickname the town gave the little boy who had sung the then popular ballad at a big, community program at the school.

We missed Mister Red, even during the intervening weeks of warm weather when he would have been out, anyway, with a circus or a carnival.

SOME months later, we were with our parents on a train heading to Tulsa.

In the railroad yards of some now forgotten division point just East of St. Louis, our train stopped alongside a circus train, where roustabouts were unloading.

On a circus flat-car just even with our own Pullman was Mister Red, heaving on tentpoles and other equipment—working along with a non-descript crew in the early morning sun.

Our window was down and couldn't be raised, but joyously we whooped and hollered and beat on the glass. "Mister Red! Mister Red! Hey, Mister Red!"

Mister Red couldn't possibly have heard us. But some motion must have caught his eye, for he looked over and saw us.

A grin spread over his broad freckled face and he began waving both arms.

Just then the passenger train lurched—then slowly got under way, and that was the last of Mister Red, except, of course, in the memory of a little boy.

Somehow or other, the memory of Mister Red has clung to us, down through the years—to be recalled in the Fall days which somehow went along with him.

Whatever happened to him, wherever he may be—in this world or the next—he was an extra-special personality; he was, despite his Achilles heel, a very great gentleman.

BY DREW PEARSON: NEW SECRETARY OF INTERIOR HAS SELDOM RECEIVED CREDIT DUE

Oscar Chapman Helped Clinch Truman's Election

(ED. NOTE — The brass ring, good for one free ride on the Washington Merry-Go-Round, today goes to Oscar Chapman as he becomes secretary of the interior).

WASHINGTON.—A young navy veteran stood outside the juvenile delinquency court in Denver, Colo., back in 1922. He had tried eleven times to get an appointment with Judge Ben Lindsay, the famed juvenile expert, and each time Lindsay's secretary had said no.

PEARSON

But the young veteran persevered. Finally he caught Lindsay as he went out to lunch, and shortly thereafter became his assistant probation officer.

The young veteran was Oscar Chapman. And if he had not persevered both in Denver and in Washington, he would not be taking the oath as secretary of the interior today.

Chapman has been a member of the "little cabinet" longer than anyone else in Washington. He became assistant secretary of the interior in the first months of Franklin Roosevelt's bright and shiny new deal back in 1933, and he has patiently stuck it out for 16 years since. Cabinet shifts have been made, new appointments have been sent to the Senate, but Chapman has quietly kept on working.

And just as he finally saw Judge Lindsay after having been rebuffed eleven times, Oscar has now come into the reward long overdue. When he takes office today, he will probably be the best qualified and experienced new secretary of the interior in history.

Bull Moose Bosses

It may show a trend of the times that the three men Oscar Chapman worked for most of his life have all been Teddy Roosevelt Bull-Moosers. And of recent years these progressive Republicans have been among the pillars of the Democratic party.

The three men are Judge Lindsay, Sen. Ed Costigan of Colorado and Harold Ickes. The latter two were delegates at the Republican convention which nominated Taft in 1912. They walked out in protest and later drafted Teddy Roosevelt.

It was through Senator Ed Costigan that Chapman happened to meet FDR and enter the new deal. Chapman had managed Costigan's campaign for the Senate in Colorado in 1930, and despite the fact that Costigan was a Bull-Mooser, Chapman elected him on the Democratic ticket. Later Costigan visited Franklin Roosevelt, then governor of New York, and took Chapman along. They talked about conservation.

"We must keep young men like this in government," Roosevelt said, referring to Costigan's assistant and also having in mind the probability that he, Roosevelt, would be the next president of the United States.

After his election, FDR did not forget. He notified Costigan that "a man named Ickes from Chicago" would be the new secretary of the interior; and that marked the beginning of the hookup between Ickes and Chapman—a hookup that has continued to this day.

OLD-TIME observers say there are two kinds of politicians in Washington—those who watch to see which way the wind is blowing, and those who stand up and buck the wind no matter how hard it's blowing.

Chapman is in the latter class. And his battles—wind or no wind—have always been on the liberal side. However, he has worked so quietly and keept himself so much in the background that few have given him credit for the many things he has accomplished. Chapman for instance, has been pushing the production of synthetic oil and gasoline, working behind-the-scenes with Sen. Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming.

It was Chapman who months before the oil crisis in the winter of 1947-48 warned the industry that they faced a shortage. Later, the big oil companies were actually running advertisements urging consumers to use less oil.

Early in the new deal it was also Chapman who led the fight against child labor in the beet-sugar fields. As a boy he had worked in the tobacco fields of Virginia, and knew child labor first hand.

Chapman was also sent to the far west as trouble-shooter when the grazing act was first passed in 1934. Ickes and Roosevelt had persuaded Congress to regulate the public domain in the Rocky Mountain states, where big sheep and cattle men had fenced in large areas of government land.

Irate groups of cattlemen greeted Chapman wherever he went; but after listening to his persuasion for half and hour, one cattleman got up and said:

"We're all used to having the government in Washington crucify us; so this is nothing new. But it is new to have someone come out and consult us about the way we want to be crucified. This man Chapman is at least good enough to come and listen to our side. So I'm for him."

Smart Politician

When Harry Truman became President of the United States he scarcely knew the young man who today enters his cabinet. Probably the first time he came to appreciate him was when Harold Ickes resigned and Chapman accomplished the miracle of keeping all interior department executives from resigning in protest with their old chief.

Later, Truman came to know Chapman even better when his whistle-stop campaign in the summer of 1948 got off to a miserable start At Omaha, Truman spoke to a half-empty house. Crowds along the way greeted him with less than lukewarm enthusiasm.

Suddenly Oscar Chapman was rushed to his home town, Denver, then on through the far west ahead of the President's train.

Chapman knew the west. Thanks to this knowledge and his political sagacity, the presidential trip which started like a funeral dirge, ended like a bandwagon. Playing his par backstage, as usual, Oscar had quite a bit to do with the political miracle that confounded the pollsters in November 1948.

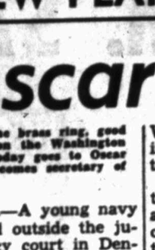

Added support of the theory of evolution: "It is extremely difficult to get a monkey to concentrate," reports an animal trainer.

Santa Comes To Germany

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

I WISH I could get my wife interested in sports," a lonesome looking young man at a football game confided to me.

That man's wife just doesn't know what she is missing while she passes up the chance for fun and companionship with her husband.

It's not only the fun of going to games together that a couple misses when the wife says flatly she just isn't interested in sports. It's more than that. Every interest outside the home that a wife and husband share together makes their marriage that much more stimulating and companionable.

MILLETT

The wife whose interests are strictly feminine: bounded on the north by the house; on the south by the children; on the east by her bridge club and on the west by herself, her clothes, her looks, and so on, becomes less and less companionable as the years go by.

If she can't talk to him about anything but feminine interests she'll come to bore him in time.

It isn't often that at the time of marriage a wife shares all of her husband's interests.

WISE WIFE SHARES

BUT a wise wife starts in to make his interests her's from the outset. Why? Because she knows that only to a very limited degree will he make her interests his.

So if she wants a real companionship through the years with her husband she'll go out of her way to get interested in anything that interests him.

It's easier for a woman to say "I'm not interested" than to make herself get interested in something her husband is enthusiastic about.

But that way leads to sitting home and sending the husband off alone to enjoy the pastimes he would rather share. It leads to a woman's growing duller with the years, rather than growing more interested, alive and alert.

It leaves her sitting alone in a feminine world, a narrow world in which no woman with a husband needs to stay put.

"Next to eating, smoking is the hardest habit to break," says a columnist. He's mistaken. A person may stop smoking 60 days and still want to smoke, but if he were to stop eating 60 days he would never want to eat again.

Laff-A-Day

"Address, please! Can't find your chimney without an address."

By Bennett Cerf

"Try And Stop Me"

A LAWSUIT that actually reached the courts, and will cause many a headache before it is settled, concerns a man who had decided not to pay more premiums on his hundred-thousand-dollar life-insurance policy. It was due to lapse at midnight of a certain day. Four hours before the moment of expiration, the man boarded a train for Boston, and retired to his drawing room. The next morning the porter found him dead in his berth.

Did he die before midnight? If so, his estate could collect a hundred thousand dollars from the insurance company. If he died after one second past mid-night, however, his policy was worthless. Both sides lined up doctors willing to testify in their favor. None of them could be certain, of course, of the exact moment of the man's death.

Possibly a professional detective story writer—or the reader of these lines—could offer a satisfactory solution!

More Drastic Punishment Of Sex Offenders Is Advocated

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1 — The recent wave of horrid slayings of children by perverts finally has touched off a demand, long overdue, for more drastic punishment of habitual sex offenders.

RUARK

It has been pretty well proved that this kind of loathesome abnormality makes a potential killer.

California parents, since this last rash of fiendish killing was culminated by the rape-murder of an 18-months old girl, are almost afraid to allow their children out of sight, and justly so.

The newspapers have joined in a frank campaign to make perverted approach to children something more than a misdemeanor by a maladjusted creep. They want to rewrite the extremely lenient laws to put effective restraints on habitual offenders.

Almost invariably a look at the record of perverted killers shows a long list of "minor" offenses — peeping, exposure, molesting of children. Yet in the case of a 32-year old Los Angeles man, who admitted four criminal attacks against an 11-year-old girl, this gay fellow received a sentence of only four years—despite the fact that he is an ex-convict with tendancies in both San Quentin and Folsom.

He gets out again, possibly with time off for good behavior, to remain the same menace so long as he is loose.

Murderer Jumps Bail

In one of the recent Los Angeles slayings of a six-year-old child, the murderer had been at large for six months after being arrested for molesting another child. He had jumped bail and no arm of the law seemingly cared enough to gather him in again.

We had here in San Francisco some time back the case of a man—a 49-year-old carpenter—who attacked a six-year-old girl and was identified by a woman who saw him entice the child into his car. This man had a record of three previous imprisonments for sex offenses.

YET THE San Francisco police chief refused to charge him with rape, saying, "how can you prove rape on a six-year-old girl?" It was the bitter assumption of the local press that the fact that the baby had contracted a veneral disease was proof enough.

In this state a previously convicted sex offender is guilty only of a misdemeanor if he is found loitering near a school, yet his presence near that school is as clear a specification of felonious intent as if he were found parked in front of a bank with a machine gun in his hand. There are life imprisonment penalties for repeaters in other categories of crime—possibly criminals who are less potentially dangerous to community welfare than he drooling degenerate who gets off with a reprimand.

Crime Wave Underway

According to the FBI, the nation's worst wave of sex crimes is underway, with a grim prospect of gaining momentum, unless some sharper teeth are grafted onto existing statutes. J. Edgar Hoover is on record as advocating medical and psychiatric treatment for early offenders, with permanent isolation for repeaters.

Mr. Hoover places a heavy share of blame on the courts and parole boards for the current upswing in pervert-inspired crime. Generally the courts set ridiculously low bail on apprehended sex criminals, and parole requirements are so slack as to be almost non-existent.

The business of prosecuting such degenerates has been doubly difficult because of the admissibility of a child's testimony as sworn evidence, and from some parents' natural revulsion against bringing their children into court to prosecute.

In past the law has expediently sought to convict known perverts on lesser charges, with the result that they are soon free to prowl again, their abnormal appetites whetted by a short jolt in the pen.

HEALTH INSURANCE WARNING

Paul R. Hawley, one of the leading figures in the hospitalization insurance field, is waging a vigorous campaign for reductions in the cost of this form of protection.

He said the other day that the insurance companies are in danger of pricing themselves out of this lucrative market. He pointed out that, although 61,000,000 Americans carry hospitalization insurance, 34,000,000 surgical insurance and 13,000,000 medical insurance, a great many more would like to have these safeguards. Mr. Hawley said many are not protected because they feel they can't afford it.

As director of the Blue Cross-Blue Shield prepayment plan, Mr. Hawley is in position to know what he is talking about.

And he might have added, as an unchallengable truth, that the surest way to head off government insurance of this kind is to put private protection within the reach of all. Those who carry private policies are not likely to look with favor upon the payment of additional taxes to provide government insurance of this typ

Soviets Charge Lowell Thomas Was American Envoy To Tibet

MOSCOW, Dec. 1 (AP)—The Soviet weekly New Times says American Radio Commentator Lowell Thomas was sent to Tibet by the U. S. government to try to tear that country away from China and turn it into an Anglo-American colony.

The publication, devoted to foreign affairs, said Thomas was given a "very important role" by the U. S. government when he made his recent visit to the high lama of Tibet.

(Thomas, still on crutches with a hip injury he suffered in a fall in Tibet's Himalaya mountains, commented at his Pawling, N. Y., home that his trip had "nothing to do with any government."

Ordinary Travelers

(He said he and his son had gone to Tibet as "ordinary travelers" and had left the U. S. so quickly they had even forgotten to ask the President if he wanted to send gifts to Tibetan leaders, according to ancient custom.

("The Russians," Thomas said, "and perhaps the Chinese Reds, are trying to find excuses to invade Tibet. They may be using us as an excuse.")

The New Times said despite U. S. and British plans Tibet would be "liberated with the remainder of Chinese territory by Chinese liberation (Communist) forces."

Wore His Home-Grown Beard During Wedding And Honeymoon

Actor's Wife Finds Out What He Looks Like For First Time As He Gets Whiskerless Role

By VIRGINIA MacPHERSON
United Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 1. — Marshall Thompson's wife, Barbara, who's been married to the young actor for almost a year, found out for the first time today what he really looks like.

"Not half bad," she reports. "But he does remind me a little of a peeled grape."

Barbara got initiated early into the no. 1 complaint of Hollywood wives: home-grown beards for movie roles. Up till now, she says, she's never seen her husband without chin-whiskers.

Bearded Honeymoon

"When I met him he had long hair and sideburns for 'Roseanna McCoy'," she said. "When we got married he was growing a beard for 'Battleground.'

"You should see our wedding pictures! I guess, a few years from now I'll be showing them to my children and saying: 'Here, kids, (ugh!) is your father."

MGM made him wear the beard on his honeymoon, too. It was, Barbara shudders, scratchy.

"But I got used to it. Except when we'd go out to dinner. People used to stare at us and then start laughing. They couldn't figure out whether he was an actor or a screwball."

Bought A Dog

After "Battleground" came "Devil's Doqrway." More whiskers and sideburns. Three months more of the things.

"We were on our way to Aspen, Col., for location," Barbara said. "And some kids on the train kept nudging each other. Finally they asked me: 'What's that? A boy or a girl?'"

In Colorado the honeymooners bought a husky dog. The pooch liked the whiskers fine. Didn't seem to bother him that Thompson's hair was blonde and his beard black.

"It did me, though," Barbara added. "He always looked like a patch-work quilt."

Given Bare-Face Role

But today was a big day in the Thompson love nest. Marshall reported for work in "Mystery Street." The first role in a year he plays with his bare face hanging out.

They made a big ceremony out of his first shave in the year 1949.

"It's amazing," Barbara giggled. "My family's beginning to think maybe I didn't do so bad, after all. Marshall's even handsome, kind of. I'd never seen any of his movies before I met him, so this is the first time I found out what I'd married.

"But the dog doesn't know him. I'm not even sure he'll let him in the house tonight."

Portugal's olive and fruit trees have been suffering badly from the 1949 drought.

Communist Attempt To Tie Up Italy With Strike Faltering

By PHILIP CLARKE
Associated Press Staff Writer

ROME, Dec. 1—Italy's Communist labor leaders tried to paralyze the nation today with a general strike but the demonstration appeared to be heading for a flop.

The 24-hour strike, called in protest against the death of two farmhands in a clash with police, was backfiring in its early hours at Rome and several other Italian cities.

Thousands of non-strikers ignored the order by the Communist-led General Confederation of Labor (CGIL) and went to work in makeshift transportation. Many stores were open in Rome.

Full effects of the strike had yet to be assessed. Reports from outlying districts were unavailable in the morning hours.

But in Rome only half of the city's transportation system was stalled by the strike. The strike, which began at 6 a. m. (Rome time), was scheduled to end at 6 a. m. Friday.

Bologna Factories Close

Rome radio said anti-Communist workers were manning special buses and about a third of the main streetcar lines.

Most Italians shrugged their shoulders and grumbled about the inconvenience caused by what non-Communist observers called a "purely political" demonstration.

Sidewalks in Rome were crowded with people walking to work.

Factories in Bologna, in Italy's strongly Communist industrial north, were closed, however, as were printing plants and the city's transportation system. There was no makeshift transportation in that city.

But Bologna's shops and officers were open and newspapers were being sold.

In Milan, another northern industrial city which has often been considered a Communist stronghold, stores and the commercial life of the city were nearly normal. Transportation and all but essential public services were generally idle, according to CGIL's directives.

Strike Power Test

First reports from Palermo, capital of Sicily, said the strike was only partly effective there. Transport was reported almost normal.

Banks, stores, and cafes were open in Rome. Two years ago, when Communist power was at its height, most shopowners did not dare roll up their shutters so early in a stike for fear of having their windows smashed by roving Red vigilantes.

Today it was different. Strike-defying workers and shop owners got police protection.

"Your right to work is guaranteed," proclaimed Interior Minister Mario Scelba.

The CGIL had ordered its 5,000,000 members to stop work in all activities except the most vital public services. The nation's trains were supposed to stop for two hours, but, if effective, this would snarl traffic for several hours.

The strike was a crucial test of power for the big union.

Many newsstands in the city, defying the strike, opened this morning to sell morning papers. Some of the papers denounced the strike. The big conservative Il Tempo said this strike would only serve to speed government drafting of a law banning political strikes altogether.

Communist leaders of the CGIL had ignored a request by Scelba to hold off from any demonstration until government investigators got a full report on the police-peasant clash which caused the deaths.

A government report said a caribinieri (state militiaman) had fired a burst from his tommy gun "only when in danger of being overwhelmed" by an angry mob of demonstrators near Bari on southern Italy's Adriatic coast.

A strike already had been underway in that district—one of Italy's two most poverty-stricken areas—in agitation for land reforms which would give landless peasants ground to cultivate.

The CGIL had called an eight-hour general strike Oct. 31 to protest the deaths of three other peasants in Calabria during a clash with police. The peasants had tried to occupy untilled land belonging to one of the big landowners.

Thus, the Communists have taken advantage of growing unrest over the government's delay in effecting a long-demanded change in its ancient feudal land system. Generally the Communists have been the leaders of groups of landless peasants, urging them to move in rather than wait for the government action.

Land Reform Promised

Premier Alcide De Gasperi has promised the land reform, but he says it is a costly operation which will take considerable time to put into effect.

As things stand, less than one per cent of the nation's 77,000 landowners hold almost half of the property. Many vast estates are untilled or only partly farmed and some areas are set aside as baronial hunting grounds.

The government plans to redistribute some 3,700,000 acres among the poor peasants but says it will cost more than $800,000,000.

In the midst of the general strike Rome university's 50,000 students neded a seven-day strike of their own after winning demands for mid-year examinations.

During the strike numerous clashes with police brought injury to two policemen and more than a dozen student sympathizers including two parliament deputies.

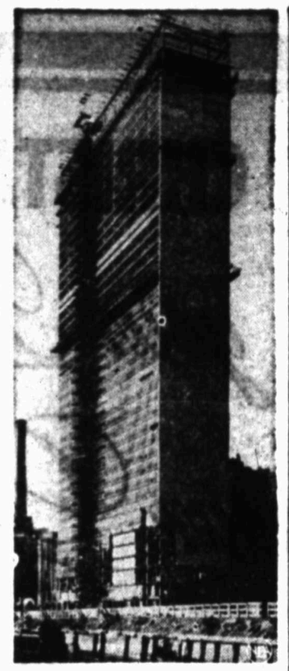

The students had demanded mid-year exams to allow hundreds to finish their courses and graduate then rather than wait until the end of the term.

stays of execution while he alternately affirmed and denied his confession. He now is under sentence to die next May 26.

One of the items that caused authorities to delay Lobaugh's execution was the conviction of Robert Christen, Denver, Colo., for the slaying of Mrs. Howard. Christen was sentenced to life imprisonment. His conviction threw the entire case against Lobaugh into doubt.

its annual campaign. Captain Gregory pointed out that Community Chest funds which are allocated to his agency are used in meeting the basic needs of transients, non-residents and some emergency needs of local families.

The Army's Christmas program is an extraordinary activity and funds must be raised elsewhere.

"At this time of the year, it is our hope to make the Christmas season something besides just another day or another meal," Capt. Gregory said. "We want to provide as much Christmas among the less fortunate as possible.

Lubbock Day Will Be Designated At Show

Special invitation has been extended to Lubbock to have a day designated in its honor at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show which will be held in Fort Worth, Jan. 27-Feb. 5.

The invitation was extended by Mayor Edgar Dean of Fort Worth to A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber of Commerce here has reported receipt of the invitation, and has announced that definite action on the matter will be taken in the near future.

"We appreciate greatly the cooperation you and your citizens have given in the past and we are counting on you again this year," Dean, who is secretary-general manager of the stock show, stated.

On Lubbock Day the Lubock High school band will be invited to give a concert in front of Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum and the city will be asked to designate its "cowgirl sweetheart".

Band memebrs will be admitted to the exposition free and will be given seats for the rodeo performance.

The "cowgirl sweetheart" will ride in the rodeo grand entry and be introduced to the rodeo audience.

Founded in 1896, the Fort Worth exposition is the oldest in the Southwest, and holds the largest indoor rodeo. The show offers cash awards of approximately $112,000, an all-time high.

NICE TO BE BACK

COLUMBUS, Ga. (U.P.) — A. P. Shepperson was glad to get back to the South, even if it cost him extra. The grocer bought a round-trip ticket to Adelanto, Cal., in 1902. He "liked it so much" he didn't return to Georgia until 1949, by which time the stub had long since expired. Shepperson sent it to the railroad company as a 47-year-old souvenir.

Customs Duty Change Made

PARIS, Dec. 1 (AP)—American tourists will soon be able to tote their souvenirs, perfumes and new dresses from one western European country to another without paying customs duty.

An agreement was reached yesterday between 18 Marshall plan countries creating a single uniform list of goods overseas visitors can carry in duty free.

No date was set for putting the list into effect, but it was hoped most of the countries could start by Jan. 1.

The agreement affects all overseas visitors, including Americans, but does not permit citizens from one Marshall plan country to carry the listed goods to another.

Goods Listed

On the duty free list are $400 worth of souvenirs including about a pint of perfume; 400 cigarets or a little more than a pound of cigars or tobacco; the traveller's own new clothing and other personal effects; two open bottles of wine or liquor and a bicycle.

The list will change touring conditions in a lot of countries. Holland has allowed no liquor to come in duty free. Denmark has allowed only 25 cigarets per person. And many an American woman who has bought a new Paris gown has had to pay duty on it when she reached England.

General Completes Inspection Of RAFB

Major General Robert R. Harper, commanding general of the Air Training command, left at 9 o'clock this morning aboard a B-17 bomber for Williams Air Force base, Chandler, Ariz., after completing a routine inspection at Reese Air Force base.

Arriving at Lubbock Wednesday morning, he completed a thorough inspection of the base, was guest at a luncheon at the officers' club and made a tour of offbase housing projects during the afternoon.

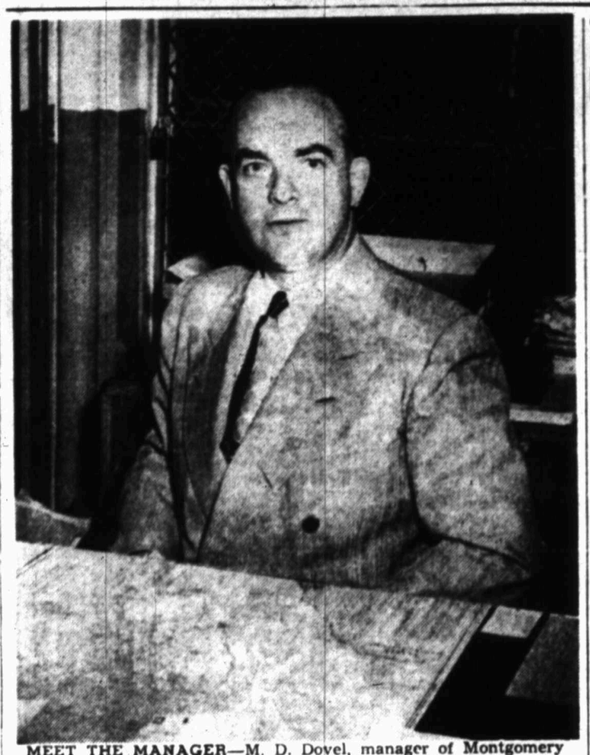

Wednesday night he was honored at a small gathering at the base quarters of Col. and Mrs. George W. Pardy. Among guests were Mayor W. H. Rodgers and Homer D. Grant, president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

He was also guest of honor at a breakfast on the base this morning.

Accompanying Gen. Harper were Major W. F. Shanklin, his aide, and Capt. C. M. Mills, his personal pilot.

ALL IS CONFUSION

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (U.P.)—It's confusing, trying to call the fire department, police, hospital, county jail or a cab in Phenix City. For the hospital, you call 8-7811. One taxi company is 8-8712, the other is 8-8771. The police, jail and fire department numbers are just as close and people calling those three numbers are usually excited enough to mix them us.

MEET THE MANAGER—M. D. Dovel, manager of Montgomery Ward & Co., 915 Broadway, was born in Republic county, Kansas, May 9, 1906. He lived there until he was about 18, attending public schools, high school and then Kansas State college at Manhattan. He started to work for J. C. M., as assistant manager of Ward's store there, following which he went to Denver as assistant manager. He became store manager at Grand Junction, Colo., and after six weeks there he went on the road as a merchandise inspector with headquarters in Kansas City, Mo. He was in that job 18 months, and in 1934 he became store manager at Columbus, Nebr. He was store manager for Ward stores at Clinton, Iowa, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Grand Island, Nebr., Fairmont, Minn., Sheboygan, Wisc., Green Bay, Wisc., during the years between 1934 and 1943. Time For Actress' Baby May Be Near LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Dec. 1 (AP)—Arrangements for film star Rita Hayworth and her husband, Prince Aly Khan, to move to their winter chalet around Christmas time led to the belief today she expected her baby before that time.

Aly and Rita have been in Lausanne for nearly a month and have made secret reservations at Montchoisi maternity clinic here. No word has leaked out as to when Rita expects to enter the clinic.

Rita lives in almost complete seclusion while she awaits the birth of her baby. When she does leave her hotel suite she is always accompanied by Prince Aly or his half-brother, Prince Sadruddin.

Outside the prince's family the couple receives few visitors. Rita made a rare exception when Actress Constance Bennett came to the hotel last weekend. The only other outsiders to come to her suite are her French teacher and her hairdresser.

If given their choice, mosquitoes will drink sweetened water in preference to blood.

No Silver Threads Flowering Among The Gold

American Old Folks Refusing To Finish Life In A Rocker

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK.—The poor man's philosopher presents his annual soapbox lecture on old age:

One of the things that makes the United States great is that it has the youngest-minded grandmas and grandpas in the world.

In other countries a man is as old as his neighbors think he should be. But here he can really act as young as he feels. And people are getting so they feel younger every generation.

Important Financially

This refusal to grow old ranks as a far more important American contribution to global culture than the invention of cornflakes or the all-nylon sock.

It is even more important financially. People are willing to spend more hard cash to keep looking young and handsome than to make themselves comfortable. And this is true of the againg bucks as well as the does.

There is a pension psychology rampant in the land, but the old rocking chair philosophy is gone forever. Nobody is looking forward to getting government lettuce at 65 ust to rent himself a chimney corner. Nope, the old folks at home aren't so anxious to stay at home. They want to buy a sports roadster and tour Florida or California.

No Silver Threads

People are marrying younger today and living longer. They get through the chillun-raising period sooner, but that doesn't mean they want to call life quits. More and more they spend their declining years declining to admit that their only remaining function is to babysit their children.

Look around you and see who's doing the knitting and quilting. Not gramps. All that's too old-fashioned for her. She's taken up painting—like grandma Moses. And grandpa's gone fishing.

Who wants to grow old gracefully? Not them. Granny isn't letting those silver threads flower among the gold, 'cause grandpappy don't like 'em. They make him feel too old. So off she hikes to the beauty shop and buys herself a henna tint.

NO MYSTERY AT ALL

MONTEREY, Cal. (U.P.)—When a mysterious explosion rocked Monterey, the local military was alerted and the people peered anxiously from their doors and windows. However, it was only county officials dynamiting a group of dead sea lions that had washed up close to shore.

WOULD YOU BE INTERESTED?
In buying a suburban tract of around 3 acres at a price of from $1,000 to $2,000 per tract with 10% down and balance in monthly payments?
Owner of 160 acres two miles from City Limits just off Levelland Highway, would like to have suggestions from interested persons in making plans to sell.
Highly productive land with worlds of water. Price of each tract to be governed by location. Electricity on the ground. Gas possible. What kind of restrictions would you want? How much monthly payment would you wish to make? Would you want larger or smaller tracts?
Any ideas and suggestions welcome and no one will try to sell you anything. All replies confidential.

Hamburger Selling For 55 Cents Urged

ATLANTA, Dec. 1 (U.P.)—What this country needs, says George Wensel, restaurant consultant, is a good 55-cent hamburger.

Wensel told restaurant men here to "glorify the hamburger," make a 20-cent hamburger and sell it for 55 cents instead of a 9-cent one selling for 20 cents.

Wensel advocated the use of 14 cents worth of meat, two cents worth of bun and four cents worth of relish.

"Then give it a special name," he urged.
