Paris Junior College Offers Financial Aid

Paris Junior College offers three programs of financial aid to students to attend college beginning in September, 1968. The programs are as follows:

Work on campus where the student works up to 15 hours per week at $1.25 per hour and earns up to $600 per school year depending on the need of the student.

Long-term loan up to $1,000 per year with repayment and payment of 3% interest commencing up to 9 months after student terminates his college work or graduates. One-half of the loan may be cancelled for students who become teachers.

Grant of tuition and fees if the parents of the student earn less than $4,800 per year and if the student is in the upper 25% of his high school graduating class.

Request for admission for September immediately to the Registrar at the college. Pre-registration commences August 1 with the Counseling Department in charge.

Homecoming Held At Fulbright

Annual homecoming for Fulbright residents and former residents was held Sunday at the Community Center with more than 350 people registering.

The day was spent in renewing old acquaintances and a picnic lunch was enjoyed at noon. Mrs. Will Rogers of Clarksville, eldest lady present, was crowned homecoming queen; Rufus Storey, 90, of Paris, was eldest man present, and Lynn Chessir came farther distance to attend. He is from California. Mrs. John Temple of Milton had largest family in attendance. They numbered 28.

Perhaps the most enjoyable feature of the day and the best conversation maker were old pictures of residents and former residents of Fulbright, hung on walls for exhibit.

Airman 1c Leonard G. Fail, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Fail of Talco, is a member of a unit that has earned the U. S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award. Airman Fail, a food service specialist in the 21st Composite Wing at Elmendorf AFB, Alaska, will wear the distinctive service ribbon to mark his affiliation with the unit. His unit was cited for compiling outstanding records in both combat readiness and training in some of the most severe weather to meet the urgent requirements for direct support of the Southeast Asian effort. The 21st was also cited for its participation in insuring the defense of Alaska and the North American continent. The airman is a 1965 graduate of Talco High School.

AT NUCLEAR CONFERENCE — Among the 500 high school science students and teachers from all parts of Texas who attended the 8th Annual Nuclear Science Symposium on the campus of the University of Texas at Austin June 4-7 were two residents of Talco: Susan Gage, 1968 graduate of Rivercrest High School; and her mother, Mrs. Bonnie Gage, a member of the Rivercrest faculty. They are pictured with one of the featured speakers, Dr. John R. Bradford, dean of engineering, Texas Tech. Conferees heard talks and saw films on various phases of atomic theory, application and research, and toured science laboratories on the campus. The students and their teachers were guests of Community Public Service and nine other investor-owned utilities who support the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation.

Austin. — Sitting in special session to approve appropriations and tax bills for the fiscal year beginning September 1, the House and Senate began deliberations on how to distribute some $2,500,000 in appropriations.

When that little problem is taken care of, the Legislature will worry about one that's potentially more disastrous politically. Raising taxes or passing new ones comes next. They must raise the $125-130,000,000 difference between what the state will have and what it will need.

Gov. John Connally's special session opened on schedule June 4 in a storybook setting: The newly-elected Democratic nominee for governor, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, presiding over the Senate, and the newly-elected Democratic nominee for Lieutenant governor, Speaker Ben Barnes, held the House controls.

Governor Connally spelled out basically this tax program:

- A one-per-cent raise in the state sales tax rate to three per cent with the bulk of the increase going to cities. Sales tax base would be extended to cover cigarettes, other tobacco products, and such services as haircuts and beauty treatments, laundry and dry cleaning, repairs, telephone and telegraph, and auto parking ($76,800,000).

- A $3,200,000 cut in taxes on the gross receipts of telephone companies was incorporated in his recommendations, same being more than offset by the inclusion of telephone service in the three per cent sales tax.

- A boost in the auto sales tax rate to three per cent ($30,600,000).

- Legalization of liquor-by-the-drink in small bottles, with each bottle individually taxed, and private clubs assessed a 10 per cent gross receipts tax ($14,500,000).

- Transfer of $7,500,000 from the operators and chauffeurs license fund to the general fund spending pocket.

- A realty transfer stamp tax ($1,000,000).

Initial reaction to the $127,200,000 package was generally cool or downright unfriendly, although many legislators were plainly waiting to see what the folks back home thought of it. Outlook was dimmest of all for the mini-bottle bill. Even many liquor-by-the-drink advocates didn't like it, but they admitted that from their standpoint it was "better than nothing." Hearings on it were started this week by committees of both the House and the Senate.

House revenue and tax committee is considering Connally's omnibus tax bill. Speaker Barnes, who is not committed to the Connally proposals, apparently will put them to a floor vote in the House next week unless something better is substituted.

Barnes warned that $150,000,000 in new revenue may be needed if a federal income tax surcharge is passed by congress, slashing state purchasing power and thereby cutting the state's sales tax take.

After all tax items are taken care of, Connally has promised to open the legislative hopper to such other issues as the lawmakers desire — if there's time left in the 30-day special session.

LIQUOR - LAW REVISION — Core of the Legislature's revision of the Liquor Control Act pro-

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Tony Anschutz Tuesday at Titus County Memorial Hospital. She weighed 9 lbs. 12½ ozs., and was named Kelley Monette.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Newman and daughters of Ft. Worth, are spending this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Hanks. Their son, Mr. and Mrs. Orren Hanks and Sally of Mt. Pleasant visited the Hanks Sunday night.

Mrs. Jewel Easterling visited her grandson, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Wayne Smith of Mt. Pleasant, Monday, to get acquainted with her great-granddaughter, Callie Lee, who was born Wednesday at the Titus County Memorial Hospital. She weighed 6 lbs. 14½ ozs.

The names of Ronny Presley and Mona Roberts were inadvertently omitted from the list of those who sang specials at the dedication of the First Baptist Church, June 2. Ronny was an invited guest and eight year old Mona Roberts was the youngest member of the group.

bably will be the recommendations of the liquor-law revision sub-committee of the House State Affairs Committee. Speaker Barnes turned the problem over to the sub-committee during the LCB controversy.

Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria, chairman of the sub-committee and the full committee, reported to the committee on the first day of the session, and the reaction indicated that one major problem could be whether to allow possession of alcoholic beverages and private clubs in dry areas.

Rep. Jake Johnson of San Antonio, a supporter of liquor-by-the-drink, asked the committee to reject the sub-committee's report because it did not include those prohibitions, which he thinks would provide incentive for liquor-by-the-drink.

Cory, however, closed the meeting before Johnson could get the record vote he sought.

Committee report included 31 points, many of them recommendations to change the law.

Main recommendations included prohibiting legislators from practicing before the LCB; opening all LCB records on violations and complaints to the public; a minimum of 50 members for a private club; a fine for parents whose children are convicted on liquor violations twice; immediate sale of confiscated liquor; increasing license and permit fees; increasing LCB agents' salaries; and providing graduated penalties for repeated liquor violations.

NEW LIFE ON DEATH ROW — The 26 men on death row in Huntsville, and others around the state, now have a new chance at life.

U. S. Supreme Court has ruled that the death penalty cannot be imposed by a jury from which persons opposed to capital punishment have been excluded. Under the Texas system a potential juror may be excused if he states that he is opposed to the death sentence in a capital crime. Under this new ruling, however, such persons can't be excluded, and according to State Attorney General Crawford Martin, "it will probably do away with the death penalty." A jury must unanimously agree on capital punishment in a case for it to be imposed.

It is presumed that the court's decision also will permit those people now under sentence of death to appeal in federal court. Ruling, however, did not specify whether the decision would cover persons already sentenced. "I seriously doubt," Attorney General Martin commented, "if the courts will let a man be executed until the question is decided."

EDUCATIONAL SPENDING BELOW AVERAGE — Texans spent, on the average, $127 less per child in its public schools last year than did the rest of the nation. That, according to Texas State Teachers Association, is the size of the state's "education gap."

Texas spent $492 on the average for each public school child while the national average stood at $619.

State's spending has increased 61 per cent in this area over the last ten years, but across the nation it has increased 91 per cent, says TSTA, yet Texas' population has grown one-third faster than the rest of the country.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Miller during the week end were their son, Mr. and Mrs. Rayburn Miller, Raynell, Charles Rayburn and their great-grandson, Kevin Joseph Moore, all of Houma, La., and their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hollis, Carol and Sherron of Irving.

Marine Pvt. Sammy Lee Hanks called his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Hanks from San Diego, Calif., Sunday night. The 3rd Platoon, of which Pvt. Hanks is at member, won a phone call home for being better in their basic training than the other platoons.

Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Drury of Lawton, Okla., visited Mrs. Drury's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Goffrey Gieger, during the week end. They left Monday to attend the HemisFair in San Antonio and to tour the Padre Island. Their son, Bill, who had spent the week with his grandparents, joined his parents for the trip. Miss Patricia Stephens of Lawton, Okla., accompanied her aunt here for an extended visit with her grandparents.

THE TEXAS NUCLEAR SCIENCE SYMPOSIUM...

Where youth experiences the challenge of science

Each year, Community Public Service Company is privileged to send a number of high school students and teachers from the areas we serve to the Texas Nuclear Science Symposium. The Symposium is co-sponsored annually by the member companies of the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation (TAERF) and the University of Texas. One of its primary purposes is to give youth a challenging look into the field of science.

The young students also are brought up to date on the progress being made by investor-owned utilities in developing a method of generating electricity directly from thermonuclear reaction. This long-range research project is privately financed by Community Public Service and nine other electric companies in Texas. Its aim is the eventual discovery of a more economical way of generating electric power.
