Burglaries Cleared Up

The burglaries last week of Marshall Variety Store and the Vardy service station have been cleared up, according to police.

Two youths, ages 9 and 11, were found with the booty in their possession. Police Chief Leon Yeager said they confessed to the burglaries.

Yeager said the merchandise — candy, pens, a "space kit," a baseball, three watches, and a carton of cigarettes. — has been returned.

Both youths were released in the custody of their parents.

Judge Martin stated that he had lectured the boy about the misdeed.

The other boy, according to Judge Martin, is too young to appear before him.

Old County Jail Succumbs

Landmark Had Colorful History

-BY PAT BARRY
Record-Staff Writer

The Mitchell County Jail, age 80, died Wednesday after a brief illness characterized by weak joints.

The jail, born in February, 1882, and rejuvinated in 1915, had been retired since 1953, when a modern one was erected.

Burial was in the Colorado City Bird Sanctuary, on "West Hill," a good site for a cemetary — there aren't any birds there.

The Commissioner's Court several weeks ago decided to tear down the landmark, which was becoming an eyesore, besides being in the way of new developments.

According to Harry Ratliff, a Colorado City museum official, the remains of the jail will be used to build a replica of the original county court house when a suitable location is found.

The rock which made up the jail's 2½ foot thick walls was quarried from two hills west of town close by "West Hill."

Dick Hickman, who was chief of police here for more than 34 years, and who probably knows more about the history of the old jail than anyone else living, told this reporter some of the events in its colorful history.

He named some of the old-time badmen who were at one time or another ensconsed there.

There was Jim Miller. He was a notorious killer-for-hire, and according to Hickman, the man who shot the famous Pat Garrett. Hickman said he had been told this by oldtimers who knew both men.

"Black Jack" Ketchum, a member of the infamous "Hole-in-the-Wall Gang," Jim Lightfoot, Bill Cook, and a character known only as "Broncho Bill," were other unsavory residents of the jail, Hickman said.

The entire crew of a T&P train, excepting the fireman and engineer, were occupants of the jail once, Hickman said.

At that time the only bridge accross the Colorado River made an intersection with the railroad tracks. Hickman said that trains stopping here had an irritating habit of blocking the crossing for lengthy periods, preventing anyone from crossing the bridge.

One day, when the bridge had been blocked for over an hour, and traffic was piled up for blocks, Hickman decided to put an end to the incidents.

He carted the entire crew off to jail. "They never blocked the bridge for long again," Hickman said.

During Prohibition there was a bad accident at the jail. Illegal alcohol was stored on the ground floor of the jail, awaiting shipment to government agencies, Hickman said.

The stuff was being poured into a 50-gallon keg by a deputy and a helper.

Some of the alochol spilled over the top of the keg onto the floor. A match was struck and the alcohol ignited. The deputy was severely injured, and his helper died from burns Hickman said.

"The heat was so intense, it burned the plaster off the walls and ceiling," he stated.

Hickman had, minutes before removed two prisoners from the cell directly above the room where the alcohol was kept, unknowingly saving them from serious injury or death.

There were lighter moments.

Colorado City is probably the only city in the United States where a man fell out of jail.

Hickman said there had been a jailbreak a few days before the incident. The escapers had somehow cut out the bars on the cell's window, and the bars had not been replaced.

A man who had been celebrating a little too much was put in the cell.

Hickman said the man, wanting to look out the window, leaned on the bars for support, but there were no bars to lean on, and he made the fastest escape on record.

Jailbreaks aren't as easy now. The new jail benefits from modern technology, and improved police techniques.

But when the new jail is torn down, there probably won't be much to write about it. No "badmen," either. For some reason, modern criminals don't have the color of the "old West outlaw."

It could, however, be a matter of perspective. Men tend to glorify the past, and downgrade the present, or so it seems.

Still, Colorado City has lost a part of its heritage. It can never be replaced by shiny new buildings with no character, plastic lamp-shades, or parking lots for three-toned cars.

The present and the future are inescapably linked with the past.

Some of it should be preserved.

Report Accidents, Highway Patrol Says

Accidents outside city limits should be reported to the State Highway Patrol unit in Colorado City.

Highway Patrolmen Wendell Rehm and Buddy Hertenburger said Wednesday that 11 rural accidents in Mitchell County during 1961 were not reported to them. Rehm said that the 11 accidents represent 14 percent of the total for that year.

He said that by law, rural accidents involving property damage should be reported to the Highway Patrol so that an immediate investigation can be made.

Rehm indicated that the penalty for failure to report a property damage accident is a fine of from $100 to $200.

Two persons have been prosecuted in this area within the past few months for failure to report, Rehm said.

He further stated that the Highway Patrol would appreciate it if anyone seeing a rural accident reports it.

Two Projects Raise Total

Thursday, building permits filed in Colorado City for 1962 reached an estimated value of $304,888.80.

At the same time last year, permit values were $188,976.65 — or about half of the 1962 total.

This month, 9 permits have been filed. Their estimated value is $139,025. In June, 1961, 6 permits were filed, with a worth of $15,700.

The substantial increase this year is due mainly to two new buildings being erected. The Root convalescent home, and the Lone Wolf Electric Building.

The Root home is estimated at $125,000, and the Texas Electric project at $88,000.

There were 28 permits filed by June, 1961. There have been 32 filed so far this year.

Most of the permits filed this year have been for residential construction.

A few have been for commercial construction.

The commercial permits filed this year are: John Bright, Inc. for a 33,000 square foot addition to the Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative, at $88,721. W. C. Cunningham, to convert two garages into living quarters at the White Way Motel, at 2,000. Matlock Butane Co., to remodel their present building into a service staton, at $700. Hale's Construction Co., for a 13,524 brick veneer nursing home addition to Root Memorial Hospital, at $125,000.

Residential permits — new homes, and additions to homes — for this year include the following: Bill Herlson, for 2280 square foot brick residence, at $21,550. Wayne Matlock, for a two-room addition to his residence, at $2,000. Tom Keeling, for a carport at $22.

Silvania Valdez, for a garage and storeroom addition, at $400. T. A. Welch, for moving a home, no price. Brown Lumber of Sweetwater, for a carport and utility room, and an addition to a residence, at $750. Travis Pritchart, for a room and basement addition

City Attempts to Eliminate Flies

Colorado City has been infested with flies during the past month, a situation which has caused the city a great deal of concern.

The sanitation department has provided a city-wide spray twice a week for the past two weeks, a program which will continue throughout the remainder of the summer, Earl Keaton, City Manager, said Wednesday.

The street department will be fogging streets and alleys about twice a week also. These two public service programs will help to extinguish disease carrying flies and insects.

The garbage truck also makes use of a portable sprayer when it makes rounds in the city. This too will aid in protecting the health of Colorado City residents, according to Keaton.

ON CLASSROOM PRAYERS

Schools View Court Ruling

The Colorado City Schools are waiting further developments before estimating the local effects of the Supreme Court's decision on classroom prayers, Superintendent Frank Wilson said Friday.

Wilson stated that he was hesitant to try to determine possible effects until further interpretation of the decision is made. We want to see just what the decision means and how far it goes first, he said.

If it does not forbid voluntary type prayers, he said, then we anticipate no change in our routine here.

The high court ruled 6 to 1 Monday that a prayer drafted by New York's Board of Regents and recommended for recital at the beginning of each school day was "an establishment of religion" forbidden by the First Amendment.

C-City Invited To Participate In Program

A new public service type program entitled "High Noon" will be telecast from noon to 12:30 on KOSA Television, Midland-Odessa, each Monday through Friday.

This program, which will begin July 1, will enable Colorado City to publicize its civic activities, civic leaders, tourist spots and community projects.

The Odessa-Midland station has also announced an interest in the citizens of Colorado City also in their work, their travels, their hobbies and other personal experiences.

Another feature of the program will be the appearance of youngsters with unusual pets and hobbies.

Anyone interested in appearing on this program is requested to call FE7-8301 for Ken Dunnagan or write "High Noon," KOSA TV, Odessa.

Man Fined For Assault

Pete Lujan, charged with aggravated assault, plead guilty Monday and was assessed a fine of $50 plus court cost and 30 days in jail by Mitchell County Judge Elmer Martin.

Lujan, according to officers, had resisted arrest when they attempted to seize him after a complaint had been filed on the charge of drunkeness and disturbance of the peace.

Rites Held For Mrs. Andrews

Friends here learned early this week of the death of a former Colorado City resident, Mrs. S. A. Andrews. She was the mother of Mrs. Iowa A. Jones who taught school here for a number of years.

Mrs. Andrews, about 90, died in Kerrville Monday night. Widow of a druggist who at one time was pharmacist for W. L. Doss, Mrs. Andrews moved to Kerrville with her daughter shortly after World War II.

Mrs. Jones, a former teacher of second grade in Colorado City schools, served with the WAC overseas after her enlistment here. She is now librarian at Veterans' Hospital and lives at 1801 Lang Drive in Kerrville.

Funeral for her mother, Mrs. Andrews, was held Tuesday. Burial was in the cemetery at Gatesville, a former home-town of the family.

She was a member of the Presbyterian Church.

FOR MITCHELL COUNTY

Oat Support Rate Announced

The price support rate for 1962-crop oats in Mitchell County will be 71 cents per bushel for Grade No 3 oats, Orrion J. Linam, Chairman, agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee has announced.

This is the same rate that was in effect for the 1961 oat crop.

Oats eligible for support must grade No. 3 or better, or No. 4 on the factor of test weight only. Premiums and discounts which are applied for grades and quality to determine individual producer support rates are unchanged from the 1961 program.

The premiums are 1 cent per bushel for Grade No. 2 or better, 1 cent for heavy test weight, and 2 cents for extra heavy test weight, for grade No. 4 on the basis of test weight only and 3 cents per bushel for grade No. 4 on the basis of test weight for garlicky oats.

The chairman said that participation in the 1962 feed grain program for corn, grain sorghum or barley will not be a condition of eligibility for price support on 1962-crop oats.

Discount 1 cent per bushel price support eligibility.

Participation in the 1961 feed grain program was required for 1961-crop oats.

As in previous years, price support on 1962-crop oats will be carried out through farm- and wearehouse-stored loans and purchase agreements, according to Linam.

Oats produced in violation of leases restricting production of surplus crops on federally-leased lands will not be eligible for price support in 1962, he indicated.

R-R-Rip!

A crane tears down a section of a wall of the old county jail Tuesday morning. The 80-year landmark was torn down Tuesday and Wednesday by the city. The huge wall-stones, 2½ feet thick, are being preserved on county property. They will be used to build a replica of the first county court house as part of the city museum's historical attractions.

AT ROOT-MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

Candy Stripers Give Vitality To Regular Hospital Routine

Visions of cheerfulness dressed in red and white striped jumpers over snow-white blouses have brought new pep into hospital procedure at Root-Memorial this summer.

They are members of the candy stripers, general hospital aides who help serve trays at mealtime; straighten rooms, keep hospital supplies, such as linen, in good shape, deliver messages to patients and nurses, groom patients, administer manicures and read to patients.

The girls are working on a volunteer basis this summer to receive a credit in Home Economics. They also have a chance to become familiar with nursing and to find out if they are interested in going into nursing training after school. Many of the girls are planning on careers in nursing and this summer job shows them what to expect from such a career.

The girls are between the ages of 14 and 16 and are accepted by the hospital after they have signed a pledge and after their parent's written consent is given.

The girls work in shifts. The shifts are: from 7 a. m. to 10 a. m. from 10 a. m. to 1 p.m.; and from 1 p. m. until 6 p. m. One group of the girls will work for the first month, then another will take over and the stripers will all be given a chance for duty before the summer is over. Each girl will work for 30 hours, and if she desires, her time at the hospital may be lengthened.

The candy striper program has been in effect in larger hospitals for many years, but this is only the second year the program has been practiced at the local hospital. The program is under the direction of Martin Weaver, hospital manager; Mrs. Caddo Matthews, Home Economics instructor and Mrs. Carl Bell, registered nurse and superintendent of nurses.

Mrs. Bell said that the hospital staff and the patients were very pleased with the work being done at the hospital by the young ladies. She expressed hope that this program will be permanent for the local hospital.

NOW THAT SUMMER HAS OFFICIALLY ARRIVED, everyone's interest turns to the beach. Whether it be by lakefront or poolside, this summer's beach fashions debuted with a dazzling splash.

For the fun-loving miss, swim suits are now fashioned in the free, loose, chemise style with detachable string belts that may be tied at the waist or hips. The suits do double duty by serving as both swimsuit and playsuit.

Bathing caps have taken such a beautiful turn this summer; they look attractive enough to wear on the street. They are no longer just molded heaps of rubber, but delectable creations that feature piles of flowers, feathered shreads or ruffles. One of the summer's most beautiful is a dainty white cap with row upon row of white net starched ruffles marching around the head.

Sun glasses have kept up with the changing world of summer fashion. The frames are now not the only part of sun glasses that can be purchased to match or harmonize with a beach ensemble. The lenses themselves now are available in an array of soft summer shades of blue, green, amber, purple, pink and yellow . . .

JAPANESE-BORN MRS. WILKERSON

Wife Of C-City Native Enjoys Show Business Success

Marvin N. Wilkerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Spivey, 333 Pine St., will be arriving here this summer with his wife and daughter for a vacation visit.

Wilkerson met his wife, Masami Saito, while he was on duty with the U. S. Army in Japan. They met in Masami's home town, Kobe. The cople was married in Japan the day before he was due to be sent back to the states.

The family lives in Houston, where Masami is a singer and dancer in some of the city's plushiest night spots. She sings in all moods, from Japanese traditional tunes to opera to popular American tunes and even dips into rock n' roll. Two of the most noted spots she has appeared are the Poly Asian and the Twin Pianos.

Masami's father was an actor for many years in Japan before his retirement. Her sister is a ballet dancer, her brother is a writer, her uncle is a symphony director and her cousin is a well-known pianist.

The 24 year-old Japanese-born Texan is 5 feet tall and weighs 100 pounds. She finds many problems in her new role, but so far, has conquered them all. One of the most pressing problems she has faced since her arrival here is the preparation of food. She has burned beans while trying to cook them slowly and has not had much luck in frying sardines.

On the subject of her husband's lunches, Masami said, "I fixed him chopped beef and rice sandwiches to take to work with him. I saw that he brought them home uneaten, so I checked with other wives in the neighborhood. Now I fix him peanut butter and bologna sandwiches."

Her mother helps some with the food problem by sending her Japanese specialities of seaweed, dried fish, dried mushrooms and rice candy.

Another problem Masami has found is not the English language, but what she calls the Texan language. Her most harrowing problem has been trying to remember to say 'Howdy' instead of 'How do you do?'

The Texas weather has proven to be a reason for confusion for her. She says, "Most of the time it's too hot and you never know what to expect next. One day snow, next day sunshine, next day balls of ice."

Masami studied for a year at Takarazuka, a Japanese school exclusively for girls who plan an 'artist's' career in show business.

Wilkerson is a chemist for Shell Oil Company in Houston.

Their 4 year-old daughter, Ingrid Rene, was born in Sweetwater. She reflects the oriental beauty of her mother with a trace of western features.

HOW to pick a TURKEY in 3 MINUTES

It's not done with mirrors . . . it's done with electricity. After a scalding bath these birds are picked clean as a whistle with special flailing paddles that operate electrically. After the bird is packaged he is sent immediately to the freezer for quick chilling and freezing. This turkey processing plant is just one of thousands of commercial and industrial plants established in the rural areas of Texas where an abundant supply of dependable electricity is furnished by 77 electric cooperatives. Owned by the people they serve, these rural electric systems offer first rate service to more than a million Texans. They are serving these areas dependably today, while building a brighter tomorrow.

News From The Library

The following is a list of new books received at the Colorado City Federation Library. They are available by request from Mrs. Boyd Dozier, librarian.

* * *

"Return to Japan," Elizabeth Gray Vining. The remarkable American woman who was tutor to the Crown Prince of Japan now tells her personal story of the pecedent-breaking romance of the young man who will someday rule Japan. As the only foreign guest at his wedding, she gives an exclusive account of the royal marriage.

With warmth and insight, she re-explores the unique charm of Japan.

"Spanish Missions of Texas," Walter F. McCaleb, Ph. D. A vivid account of the State Historic Buildings. An excellent guide for all Texans who really want to know their history and also to visitors to the Southwest. These historic old buildings played an imporant role in the development of the Southwest.

"The Big Laugh," John O'Hara (Random.) A story about Hollywood. It's about an unprincipled but accomplished and magnetic actor who tries to make up for his earlier life.

"Dearly Beloved," Anne Morrow Lindbergh (Harcourt.) This new novel takes off from a June wedding ceremony. As the first grandchild of a New England family is married, the actual ceremony kindles memories, hurts, fears, love — the gamut — among friends and relatives who are attending. Skillfully done.

"Woodrow Wilson," Alfred Steinberg (Putman.) A sensitive biography of our 28th president, Woodrow Wilson, champion of reform and individual rights. In the Lives to Remember series.

"Wicked Lady," Inglis Fletcher (Bobbs.) In the final months of the American Revolution ,the North Carolina town of Edenton is disrupted by the arrival from England of the beautiful and predatory Lady Anne Stuart and her new German husband, Baron Von Poellnitz. For while the Baron is interested in land and liberty, Lady Anne's interests are romantic and subversive, and soon her stories into the field of love and espionage involve her in dangerous entanglements from which there is no escape. A new addition to Inglis Fletcher's popular "Carolina" novels.

"My Thrty Years Backstairs At the White House," Lillian Rogers Parks. Here are the memories that made national headlines and brought a hush to 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue — the candid reminiscences of Lillian Rogers Parks, for 30 years a White House maid and seamstress.

Since publication of the delightful footnote to history, Mrs. Parks has become a national celebrity and her book a runaway best seller. Readers and reviewers were quick to applaud these tasty — and tastefully presented — tidbits of White House lore: Mamie Eisenhower's penchant for pink, Coolidge's pranks, FDR's frugality . . . and what happened when love came to the austere Woodrow wilson.

"A Bridge For Passing," Pearl S. Buck. This lovely book is woven of three distinct strands: the making of a moving picture in Japan, an encounter with grief, and the gradually revealed portrait of a man of heart, vision and integrity. Each strand is separate yet from the weaving there emerges a firm fabric with a pattern of the whole . . . All who know the aching loss of a beloved person who read here their own story.

CONVERSATION CORNER

By RUTH COFFEY

There's a time to remember, a time to forget,
There's a season of drought, a season too wet.
There's a time to be sleeping, a time, too, for eating,
And now is the time for TV repeating.
There's a time to be whistling, singing, or humming,
There's a time, every summer, when company is coming.
There's a time to be reaping, a time, too for sewing,
And now is the time for coming—or going.

* * *

GOING to school in the University of Hawaii, at Honolulu, is one of our most glamorous co-eds, Judy Bilberry, second daughter of Henry H. and Luna. Judy just completed her sophomore year at the University of Oklahoma. With five of her Alpha Delta Pi sorority sisters, a college friend from Stamford, Elsie Medlin, and 95 other college girls, she left San Francisco by boat (President Cleveland) June 15.

Judy flew from Big D to 'Frisco by jet June 11. After a stop there and in Los Angeles, the 100 college girls in her party set sail, landing in Honolulu June 20. She is a member of the famous Howard Tour and is one of 200 girls living in Wilcox Hall on campus at the University of Hawaii.

* * *

Later, during her six-weeks stay, Judy will enjoy the two-day Big Island Tour for a visit to Rainbow Falls, the orchid gardens, Volcano House, a Hawaiian show by the Halli choir, Kapoho Beach, the Kona Inn, the Parker Ranch, and other fascinating island paradises.

* * *

HER PARTY will swim, surf-board, and sun daily at the beautiful beach near the famous Reef Hotel—where Dorothy Patton is a guest just now, by the way. The two plan dinner together.

Between beach parties, island tours, feasts, and leitime, our Judy will be studying several university subjects. Enrollment was formally set for June 26.

* * *

AUGUST 7, she'll land again in San Francisco to be met by her parents. The Bilberrys plan to vacation at that time and to take their traveling daughter with them to see the World's Fair at Seattle.

* * *

GOING to the West Coast, leaving July 7, is a quartet of our B&PW gals! Reservations for the chartered bus tour to National Convention at Anaheim, California, have been made by Lena Porter who's a state officer in the B&PW; her sister, Lona Pritchett; Anna Mary Morgan, and Tommy Verner.

Their bus jaunt will take them via Abilene, Lubbock, Clovis, Albuquerque, Flagstaff, the Grand Canyon, Las Vegas, Nevada, Reno, San Francisco, Los Angeles, and on to the Disneyland Motel where they'll all stay for the five day convention. The tour has been arranged with stops at all the most famous or picturesque spots and the whole trip lasts two weeks, with three week-ends on the planned agenda!

* * *

COMING home for a visit here this week were Lt. Commander Bob Post and his family. Bob, his wife Ila, son John, who's eight, and daughter Susan, six, arrived last week-end by car from New York City. This week-end, they'll depart again for Dallas where Ila and the children will spend the summer. Lt. Commander Post will rejoin his ship, the Constellation. He's first son of the R. E. Posts, Bob and Mary. of Chestnut St.

* * *

BACK HOME from a two-weeks stay in Houston as guest of her son Dick (Marion) Hardison and daughter Ruth, Mrs. Ross Glover, our Mrs. U. G. Hardison is still cherishing the remembered fun of fishing in the Gulf from a cabin cruiser. She caught six, herself! Other members in the fishing party were the Dick Hardisons, their 15-year-old son, 13-year-old daughter; Ross and Ruth Glover and their six-year-old Ross Jr.

* * *

GOING to Houston—the date was June 11 — Mrs. Hardison encountered a familiar looking gentleman on the Santa Fe dining car. It was Jack Selcraig, returning from the Southern Baptist Convention held recently in San Francisco.

The Rev. Mr. Selcraig, former First Baptist pastor here, sent by her his greetings to friends here—and they are numerous.

He also told her how happy the Selcraig family is in Houston where he pastors a big and growing new church.

"This is to be a year of firsts for us," he told her gaily. "It will be Marilyn's first year in Baylor; Elaine's first year in high school; Jimmie's first year in junior high school; and Bruce's first year in any school!"

* * *

HERE overnight from Long Beach, California, where they live, were the O. C. Coxes and son Mike, who is 15 now. The Coxes had been visiting relatives in Iowa and in Oklahoma. Here, they were guests Sunday night of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jones Sr., parents-in-law of O. C.'s brother Jack who is the husband, you remember, of Gladys Louise Jones Cox. The O. C. Coxes are former residents here, too, and he's a CCHS grad.

* * *

LOCAL SEEN LATELYS were the John M. Worrells, recently returned from Austin where daughter Betty Jean is enrolled at Texas University for the summer . . . Mrs. J. W. Hill just back from a ten-day visit in Paris, Tennessee, where she, her husband J. W., her son Merrill Johnson, and Merrill's son Jimmy, all visited the J. W. Hills Jr. . . .

Rena Brown (Mrs. Ruel Sr.) driving a new blue Cadillac . . . Jimmie Ruth of Safeway force, coffee breaking . . . Cute Cheryl Turner cuddling baby sister Elizabeth while parents Dewey and Vicki did the grocery shopping. Company was coming! Cousins enroute home to Dallas from a visit to Carlsbad Cavern!

* * *

There's a time to be working, a time to be sad,
There's a time for vacation, a time to be glad.
There's a time to relax, and to rest in the shade,
And now is the time when most visits are made.

One of the finer attributes of a guy like Charles Root is his faith and concern for his hometown.

And his new project—the modern convalescent home addition to Root Memorial Hospital—is more evidence of this characteristic. It is an investment in the future of Colorado City, at the same time building a new asset for the good of the whole community.

How about joining me in best wishes for wonderful success in this new project for Charles . . . a fellow who has a habit of doing good things for his town.

PRE-ENROLLMENT AGREEMENT

Hillhouse Signs With A&M Team

Steve Hillhouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hillhouse of Colorado City, has signed a pre-enrollment agreement with Texas A&M College.

The 1962 graduate of Colorado City high school, a left-handed pitcher, won all-district honors for three seasons at Colorado high. He has one perfect game and three no-hitters to his credit.

This past year, Hillhouse had an average of 14 strike-outs per game and an earned run average of 1.18 while compiling a won-lost record of 13-2.

He struck out 18 batters in a single game this past spring and sent down 19 by the same route during the 1961 campaign.

Hillhouse and Billy Cain of Houston Bellaire have both signed pre-enrollment scholarship agreements with A&M, according to Chandler.

Hillhouse began work Saturday with the city recreation department in Brenham, according to his mother.

She said he will be working with youngsters, teaching them the fundamentals of various sports.

Mrs. M. M. Iglehart, 521 Vine St., her granddaughter, Patricia Iglehart and Mrs. Ivy Key returned last Friday after a 15-day vacation to Grand Prairie, Paris, Beaumont, Galveston, Tulsa, Okla. and Marine.

FOR CHILDREN AND TEENS

Library Offers Summer Program

BY JANE DOBBS
Record Staff Writer

Children and teenagers now have an opportunity for an interesting summertime hobby, as well as a chance to learn more about subjects pertinent to their education and careers.

The Federation Library is providing a local reading program for children in the lower grades and a state-wide library extension program for those in the higher grades in school.

The younger children will be allowed to read whatever they choose in the local vacation reading program, Mrs. Boyd Dozier, head librarian, has announced.

The state program, however, requires that a person read two career books, two American history books, one biography, one book on a foreign country and six others according to their option.

Each member of the Texas Reading Club will be issued a certificate by the Texas State Library in Austin, provided the member completes 12 books on his reading level before August 31.

Those participating in the local reading program will be issued a certificate by the local Federation Library.

As this will be the first year for the "state-wide" program to be held in Colorado City, it is necessary that extra effort be made in making it successful.

The local program, provided in 1960 for the first time, had a record of 74 children enrolled and 24 adults. Books read during that year numbered 618.

Perhaps the most important requirement in this year's state program is that each student read two career books. This provision will enable students to acquaint themselves with the career fields best suited to their abilities and preference.

Some of the books include Your Future as an Airline Stewardess by Patricia Rudolph; Your Future in Advertising by Jules B. Singer; Your Future in Real Estate by Seymour B. Durst and Walter H. Stern; Find a Career in Law Enforcement by Lt. Henry F. Whaley and Tom MacPherson; Find a Career in Engineering by Irwin Stambler and Gordon Ashmead; and Find A Career in Agriculture by Clyde H. Duncan.

Other books available are Find a Career in Education by Frances Smith; Secretarial Careers by Ruth I. Anderson; Architect by Robert W. McLaughlin; Lawyer by Talbot Smith; Careers in Research Science by Theodore Wachs, Jr., and So You Want to be a Social Worker by Helen Harris Perlman.

Keep Holiday Deaths On Downgrade

The same statewide traffic safety team that brought the Texas traffic mileage death rate to its lowest level in history during 1961 will be back in action for the Fourth of July one-day holiday in an effort to hold the toll below the eight deaths predicted.

Governor Price Daniel said Monday that the estimate of eight traffic deaths for the Fourth, issued Sunday by the Texas Department of Public Safety, was the lowest on record.

"I hope everybody in Texas will do his best to see that the Fourth of July toll is also the lowest on record," the governor said, "and I believe this can be done if as many Texans give as much attention to safe, sober and legal driving as they did last year."

The 1960 one-day Fourth of July toll of six lives lost represented a reduction of nearly 50 per cent over the estimate that 11 lives would be lost.

The fact that estimates of traffic deaths for the one-day Fourth of July holidays have been coming down in recent years is an indication of the cooperation and understanding given the safety program by a great majority of Texas motorists.

In view of this, the Department of Public Safety and all of the sheriffs, chiefs of police and other law enforcement officers will keep a close check on those comparative few who will not obey the law. Officers have been instructed to maintain steady pressure on the two violations which contribute most to Texas fatalities—speeding and driving while drinking.

Both the Fourth of July and Labor Day Traffic Safety campaigns will tie in closely with the nation-wide "Slow Down and Live!" campaign, which opened Memorial Day and closes Labor Day. This special summer-time traffic safety project is coordinated in Texas by J. O. Musick, general manager of Texas Safety Association.

On the Fourth and over Labor Day, Texas Association of Broadcasters will again promote its "Drive Lighted and Live!" campaign, in which motorists will be asked to burn their headlights during daylight hours as a signal that they are driving safely and legally.

Texas Council of Safety Supervisors and the Texas trucking industry announced that some 750,000 trucks will join in this phase of the holiday observance. Governor Daniel said the "Drive Lighted and Live!" idea, originated by Victoria Businessman R. B. Roos in 1959, had attracted such wide attention that he was glad it was being continued.

The Governor's Office has mailed many thousands of pieces of traffic safety material to several thousand Texas traffic safety supporters, newspapers, radio and TV stations in preparation for the holiday campaign. Texas radio stations will broadcast special Fourth of July messages from the Governor.

One-day Fourth of July death tolls since 1946 include seven in 1946, seven in 1950, eight in 1951, 12 in 1956, 15 in 1957 and six in 1961.

Democratic Government in A Nutshell

The Saturday Evening Post recently published an editorial that was printed at a fortuitous time—just before Memorial Day. And it contains fundamental statements which every American should remember, with pride and gratitude.

In part it says: "America is not a perfect society, and its people are not required to pretend that it is. Our newspapers, magazines, pundits and commentators constantly criticize the Government. The President of the United States reads an astonishing amount of this criticism. Sometimes he gets mad, and sometimes he accepts the advice of his critics. But although this country is by no means perfect, it is constantly changing for the better. The change is sometimes slow, but it happens without bringing up the tanks or purging our political leaders.

"All things considered, we believe that our system of government has enabled its people to achieve a better life than any other system on earth. This may sound like an immodest claim, but what other great nation has combined such a high standard of living with such a high degree of individual freedom? Communism? The Communists have murdered freedom in the streets of Budapest and East Berlin. They have promised a workers' paradise on earth, and they are unable to provide their people with enough to eat.

"We believe that government is not an end in itself. It exists solely to provide a climate in which the people may make the most of their abilities and live their own lives in security and peace. This means that government must be vigilant, and it must be the servant of the people and not their master."

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

Texas Rates Best Ever In Traffic Safety Record

BY VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Texas has something to brag about: The best traffic safety record in Texas history.

The National Safety Council "grades all states on traffic safety. Of a possible 100 points, Texas got 84 for its efforts to solve traffic deaths and injury-during 1961. A big share came from the second lowest traffic death toll since 1949 —"only" 2,314 killed on he highways in 1961.

California had the best score with 86. Michigan was second with 85. Texas tied with Illinois and Ohio for third place among the "big traffic" states.

Gov. Price Daniel said that holding down the death rate despite steadily-increasing traffic made a real record—fewer deaths per 100,000 miles traveled than ever before.

NEW INDUSTRY —Every Texas city is looking for new industry. But they aren't alone. Every state has some sort of industry-attracting program.

In May, Texas tied with Illinois for fourth place in the number of new industries opened for business. Each had 30. New York's 49, California's 35 and Pennsylvania's 32, led Texas.

Some states allow public supported bond issues to finance plant buildings. The Texas Industrial Commission thinks this should be done by private finance, but it asked the Texas Research League to make a study to see which approach is best.

Texas Industrial Commission is running ads this month in Business Week, Wall Street Journal, Dun's Review and American Bankers, magazines and newspapers, inviting industry to look at Texas for new plant sites.

CARLA'S COST — Hurricane Carla, which hit Texas last September, struck a delayed blow this week.

After insurance companies paid more than $110,000,000 in insurance claims, the State Board of Insurance ran up the statistics in setting new rates for extended coverage insurance — which includes windstorm damage.

The result — a 27 per cent increase in dwelling rates in the "seacoast territory" and a 5.3 per cent increase in the inland territories.

"Seacoast territory" comprises all counties on the Gulf of Mexico, plus a tier of counties adjoining them.

In those counties, where $100 worth of extended coverage insurance cost 35 cents this year — it will cost 44 cents after July 1.

This is just the dwelling rate. There are dozens of other variations in the complicated business of setting insurance rates.

But it's all based on statistics. When insurance companies have the biggest losses in history in 1961, it raises rates for a number of years to even things out.

ROAD MEN —Texans who work for better highways came to Austin for their annual convention.

They named Leslie Neal Sr. of San Antonio as president of the Texas Good Roads Association for the coming year.

They voted to increase speed limits to 70 miles an hour, and to let the State Highway Commission zone highways for speeds up to other purposes. But he warned that the cities need help on their street construction problems, too.

Wes-Tex Talk

A Look At West Texas Through Editorial Page Excerpts From It's Leading Weekly & Semi-Weekly Newspapers.

All important to seekers of plant locations are the attitudes of the people of a community.

No man or corporation wants to invest money in a city where civic pride is low and residents go about in a gloomy state of mind grumbling about this or that.

Employers know that the contentment and efficiency of their workers depend in large degree on community pride and contentment.

The following editorialized account from the Winfield (Kans.) Daily Courier emphasizes the penalty a city may pay for the pessimism of its citizens:

"A group of men came into a small Iowa town, and started wandering around, talking to residents. These men did not seem to have anything particular on their minds, but were just visiting with people they met.

"As a result that Iowa town lost an industrial plant which would have employed 1200 persons the year around.

"Why? Just because a majority of the people these men talked to were running down the town. The people were pointing out the bad side of life and the things they didn't like. It was a costly deflection of progress for every resident of that city—and only those who were residents of the city were to blame. The "howlers" brought it upon themselves.

"For these men visiting were from a big Chicago industry which had selected this town as their best location (provided that town was one where people were happy to live.) It didn't measure up on the last and greatest need for the personnel of a large plant—at least the howlers gave that impression. The plant went to another Iowa town 40 miles away.

"This is a true story, and can be found in the records of a certain Chicago firm which used members of its board of directors to make the final survey—just visiting with the people of the town. They wanted no part of it after meeting the "town howlers."

HEALTH AND SAFETY TIPS

Whiskey No Good For Snake Bite

Editor's note: The following was prepared for the Record by the American Medical Association.)

The advent of summer brings most of us out of doors to soak up some sunshine and get out in the fields and woods on a week end. At this same time of year the snakes also are getting out for the spring sunshine.

Fear of poisonous snakes is common. Snake bite can kill, although it seldom does. Snake bite deaths each year in this country are perhaps 10 to 20. Possibly as many as 3,000 people are bitten. Every bite is a medical emergency.

There are 35 species of subspecies of poisonous snakes in the United States. Most of these are pit vipers, which include the different types of rattlers, the copperhead and the cottonmouth moccasin. The coral snake, found in the South, is related to the cobra.

When a snake strikes, it uses its fangs as hyproder mic needles to puncture the skin and inject venom. Immediately, there is intense burning pain. The flesh around the bite swells and becomes discolored. The victim is pale, weak and nau seated. He must have help immediately.

First: kill the snake. Next have the victim lie down and remain quiet to slow circulation and retard absorption of the poison. Tie a tourniquet above the fang marks to dam off the poison from the rest of he body. Be careful that the tourniquet does not cut off circulation of blood, and be sure to remember to loosen it for one minute at 10 to 15-minute intervals.

Sterilize a knofe tip or razor blade with a match flame and make a cut lengthwise of the limb through each fang mark. Press the wound to encourage free bleeding.

If you have a snake bite kit, use the suction cup to draw out poison. If you have no kit, suck it out with your mouth and spit it out. You will be in no danger, unless here is a cut or sore inside your mouth. Continue the suction treatment for half an hour.

Keep the injured person warm. Use blankets, and give hot tea or coffee. Do not use whiskey. It can be harmful.

After first aid, it is highly important to get the injured person to a doctor or hospital for antivenin. Do this with as little movement on the part of the patient as possible. If he must walk out of the woods, have him walk slowly. Use a stretcher if you can.

As soon as you can get to a phone, call the doctor and let him know you are coming He may have to get the antivenin from a distance. He will need to know the size of the snake to know how much to order. The bite of a big diamond-black rattler in a small child may taxe six or eight tubes.

Most important: don't panic. Remember that few persons in the United States die of snake bite. Keep the patient quiet, give first aid, and get him to a doctor.

LOCAL BUSINESS

Increase Wealth by Advertising

BY MADGE BELL

It is difficult to show concretely how advertising helps to create wealth.

We do know that a demand-production cycle operates which has been constantly raising the American standard of living. We also know that advertising plays a major role in increasing the demand level.

But we may wonder how and why increased production follows new demand.

One economist recently gave a simplified explanation of the cycle: "When a want is firmly created the public finds the means to fill the want."

The means for satisfying the desire for a new product comes from both the producer and the consumer. The consumer strives harder to obtain the necessary wealth for acquiring the new product. The producer, recognizing mass demand for his goods, discovers more efficient means of production.

Thus, cost of production is likely to go down as demand increases. The modern business man ignores the classic rule that demand raises prices. He knows that profits and great fortunes are built on volume.

In addition to encouraging greater productive effort on the part of consumer and producer, the promotion of etter products through adver tising helps to create wealth by pushing the utilization of goods which more than pay their way.

Machines in the modern kitchen can do the work of three servants at much less cost. Machines on the modern farm operate less expensively than the ten men they replaced. The contractor who pays thousands of dollars for earth moving equipment makes the expensive investment in order to save money.

Yet such time-saving, money-saving investments have never been made on a massive scale without the benefit of advertising.

Strictly Fresh

The trouble with some self-made men is that they keep trying to give everyone the recipe.

SHINNERY PHILOSOPHER

Non-Cat-Lovers Pay Taxes Too

Editor's note: The Shinnery Flats Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Bone Hollow Creek may have made a few cat-lovers mad with his tax proposal last week. He completes the job this week by making the non-cat-lovers mad.

Dear editor:

I notice that Congress is trying to raise the Federal debt limit again despite the fact I furnished a new source of tax revenue last week amounting to at least 100 million dollars. If you recall, all I suggested was that all taxing units assess a $5 tax per cat on the estimated 10 million cats in this country.

Some cat lovers I undermuch, but I wasn't trying stand didn't go for this idea to find a popular source of new tax revenue, only a dependable one. The only popular tax I've ever seen is one that has just been repealed, and you don't find more than one or two of hose in a lifetime.

Now I promised to report on another new revenue source, and it too involves cats.

According to a newspaper account I read last night, in one city of 500,000 people there are an estimated 175,000 un-claimed cats, cats just running free, roaming the city, scrounging a living whereever it turns up.

All right. Just as there are millions of people who would pay $5 to keep from giving up their cats, there must be an equal number willing to pay that much to avoid owning one. There you are. If the taxing units are on their toes, they'll gather up these hundreds of thousands of stray cats and give the non-cat-lovers a choice: pay a $5 tax, or accept a cat. The money would roll in.

As a matter of fact, a city wouldn't even have to gather up all the stray cats. Just give them a number, like a non-existent West Texas fertilizer tank, and collect the five bucks from the cat-haters.

Under this system, everybody gets taxed, the cat population remains healthly, all government units have more money to spend, and the people can continue to holler for more government economy in the adjoining states and more government services in their own.

If Colorado City runs short of cats in this program, there are some extra ones running wild out here on this Johnson grass farm they're welcome to.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Large Group Enrolled in Summer Class

The Driver's Education Class this summer has the largest enrollment ever, with 55 students in the class.

The course, carried out on an individual tuition basis, is taught by Coach Sam Christy. It is held for students in the ninth grade and above.

The course requires 30 hours of class instruction which was completed immediately following the close of the spring school term.

Also, in order to complete the course, each student must do six hours of observation and six hours of behind-the-wheel driving.

This program which will continue throughout the summer, is expanding year after year. The first Drivers Instruction class was held in 1958 with only 13 in the class. Since that time, enrollment has increased each year thereafter.

Mike Andrews At Junction

According to H. L. Alsmeyer Jr., A & M. Information department, the campus at Junction, 250 miles west of the main campus, is "possibly the world's most unique."

College training at Junction is combined with camp life. The campus is situated on the South Llano River.

Alsmeyer said that the program is for freshmen. It includes seven college hours of classwork, study, and recreation.

If your water heater is on "borrowed time"...

Replace it now with a modern flameless ELECTRIC WATER HEATER and save $50 with this...

Good for $50 on the retail purchase and installation of a new electric 40-gallon (or larger) glass-lined quick recovery water heater in any home served by Texas Electric Service Company. Certificate available now and for a limited time only from your electric appliance dealer, plumber or electrical contractor.

Only an ELECTRIC water heater gives you all these advantages:

SAFE—NO FLAME. No flame to blow out accidentally, no fuel to leak, no pilot light or flue to worry about.

FAST—EFFICIENT. Immersed electric heating elements put all their heat into the water. No heat is wasted up a flue. You get hotter water faster and it stays hot longer.

SUNSHINE CLEAN. No by-products of combustion to soil walls or ceilings. No unpleasant fumes. No flue to accumulate soot.

LONG LIFE. With an electric water heater, the tank bottom is not subjected to the corrosive action of flames. There are no valves to stick, no burner to adjust.

INSTALLS ANYWHERE. Needs no flue. Can be installed anywhere in the house, close to the point of greatest use. Saves long, heat-wasting pipe runs.

NEW LOW RATE. Only 1¼ cents per kilowatt-hour for all electricity normally used for water heating by the average family. Call our office for details.

Christian Youth Fellowship Committees were appointed to study different methods of youth work.

Local young people who attended were Dois Pace, Roger Richards, Douglas Fite, Skipper Warren, Don Latimer, Jan Williams and Cathy Hill.

The conference was one of the largest conducted with 61 participants. Nine counselors and 2 guests were present, announced Rev. Barnett.

A Senior High School Conference was conducted at Alpine June 13-21 sponsored by the Presbyterians of the Southwest.

Several young people from the local church, accompanied by Rev. John Brand, pastor, were present.

Purpose of the conference was to provide the young people the opportunity for dense study and open discussion.

Each morning, the conference was opened with 2 lectures and 2 discussion periods. The afternoons were used for recreation. Planned recreation and a closing worship were on the night schedules.

Rev. Brand was Bible lecturer for the conference.

There were 90 participants in this year's conference, including 12 leaders.
