Great Damage Is Caused By Rain Torrent

Water Still Waist To Shoulder Deep In Some Sections

(By The Associated Press)

Flood waters at hard-pressed Alice, Tex., began dropping about 3 a. m. today.

There was good news also from the U. S. weather bureau: The rain belt is moving slowly eastward.

Meanwhile, two deaths were attributed indirectly to the Texas floods and the torrential rains which caused them.

Alvin Creech, 37, Premont, was killed late yesterday when he was struck by a train while clearing driftwood from a railroad trestle in Kleberg county.

Plane Pilot Killed

Dwain Harwell, a pilot, was killed in a plane crash near Freer while trying to take food to a marooned oil field tester.

The flash flood from San Diego creek coursed through the streets of Alice last night, shortly after the same creek had completely isolated San Diego, Tex., upstream.

About 200 people spent the night at the county courthouse in Alice after being evacuated from their inundated homes. Hotel Alice also was full of refugees.

The National Guard, a posse of mounted sheriff's deputies and volunteers had cooperated in the evacuations. The water still was waist to shoulder deep in some low-lying sections of Alice this morning.

Red Cross In Action

Volunteers erected a sandbag bulwark which protected Alice's city waterworks from damage. The Red Cross set up emergency kitchens to feed the evacuees.

The plane crash which killed Harwell also resulted in the injury of N. E. Sears. Both were Alice men, employed by the Halliburton Oil Well Cementing company. They were dropping supplies to a group of Halliburton men marooned on the Duval ranch near Freer.

The weather bureau said a definite end to the near-cloudbursts is likely by tomorrow. This morning practically all of Texas was cloudy except the southwest — the Big Bend country, around Guadalupe Pass and westward to El Paso. Points reporting light rain included Bryan, Houston, San Antonio, Austin, Junction, Waco and Fort Worth.

Altogether, about 400 families had been evacuated by boat, horse,

Jury Selection Starting Today

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—Picking of a jury in the Judith Coplon espionage trial was ordered today following an unsuccessful defense move to throw out the indictment.

The 12 jurors selected will decide the fate of the 27-year-old former Justice department employe, who denies all guilt. She has been charged with copying and removing data from Justice department files "with intent and reason to believe" that it would be used to injure this country and aid "a foreign nation."

She Will Take Stand

Selection of jurors of New York, Miss Coplon's attorney, announced that the defendant, a tiny brunette, will take the witness stand in her own behalf.

During arguments on a defense motion to dismiss the indictment, Palmer said that Miss Coplon "has an explanation to make."

Later, during the questioning of prospective jurors, he said "this girl never gave a single thing to anyone connected with any foreign government."

This brought an objection from John M. Kelley, jr., a government prosecutor, that Palmer was making an argument and that this should wait until his opening statement after the jury is seated.

Indicted In New York

Miss Coplon also is under indictment in New York along with Valentine A. Gubitchev, suspended Russian employe of the United Nations, on espionage conspiracy charges. They were arrested in New York March 4 while keeping al alleged rendezvous on Third

Houston Man Killed In Fall

HOUSTON, April 26. (UP)—T. J. Bettes, head of one of the southwest's largest mortgage and loan companies, stumbled down a flight of stairs to his death in his home early today.

He was pronounced dead from brain concussion shortly after his body was found sprawled at the foot of a 12-foot staircase leading to the concrete basement of his home in the exclusive River Oaks section.

Body Found By Wife

Police believed Bettes intended to walk up to the second floor, and instead entered the door to the basement by mistake. His body was found by his wife, who heard the crash at 4 a. m.

Mrs. Bettes said the basement door was four feet from the door leading upstairs from the hallway. She believed that, in the warkness, her husband was confused and chose the wrong door.

Bettes, 60, was president of the T. J. Bettes Co., and served as vice president of the Paramount Fire Insurance Co., of New York. His mortgage firm employes sev-

Secretary Of Navy Resigns In Protest

Scrapping Of 65,000-Ton Carrier Said To Have Brought Disagreement To Head

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 26—Navy Secretary John L. Sullivan resigned today in protest against scrapping the 65,000-ton super aircraft carrier.

A White House announcement on Sullivan's departure was understood at noon to be in preparation.

Sullivan is known to have submitted his resignation in a talk with the President yesterday.

His action, which had been expected, is based on his belief that the Navy is not being given proper consideration in defense policy.

Secretary of Defense Johnson's order Saturday to stop work on the $189,000,000 carrier was just one of a series of incidents against which Sullivan is protesting, associates said.

Top White House aides expressed belief Sunday night that the torpedoing of the carrier project was "the straw that broke the camel's back" so far as Sullivan

REDS PUSH DRIVE FOR SHANGHAI

American Warships Leave Danger Zone

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, April 26—Heavy U. S. naval vessels moved out of Shanghai today as two Communist spearheads rolled toward the Shanghai-Hangchow area.

The Communist radio in Peiping boasted two Nationalist armies, the 20th and 99th, had been wiped out. Two towns, Ihing, 85 miles west of here, and Chingtai, 60 miles southwest of Nanking, were captured, the radio said.

The Communist broadcast said the Nanking-Hangchow highway had been cut.

The American ships went down the Yangtze estuary from here to avoid involvement in the civil war.

The British followed the American lead and withdrew warships of their Shanghai force. Movement of the ships into the Yangtze estuary will put them out of artillery range when the Reds arrive in the world's fourth largest city.

No Resistance Planned

When the Communists would come no one knew. But Shanghai appeared ready to receive them without resistance. Most of the city's 5,000,000 inhabitants expect the Reds to walk in and take over as they did the Nationalist capital at Nanking.

No one seemed to know how far away the Communists were. Neither did anyone appear to know the whereabouts of Nationalist forces that had retreated south from Nanking and the others that were to defend Shanghai.

The Shanghai garrison command banned publication of all war news except what it put out.

U. S. Bombers Go To Britain

LONDON, April 26 (U.P.)—Thirty American B-29 Superfortresses which specialize in atomic bombing will arrive in England Saturday and put the United States in position to drop the atom bomb anywhere in Europe on short notice, it was learned today.

Air Force officers said the planes of the 509th "atom bomb" group would fly to this Atlantic pact base for training. Included in their specially-trained and specially-equipped crews, one Air Force source said, are at least two veterans of the history-making missions which obliterated Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Racks Not Installed

(An Air Force spokesman in Washington said the planes would arrive in England as part of the Air Force rotation plan and that their atom bomb training had no connection with the visit. The 509th is going over "because its turn came up," the spokesman said.)

It was learned that the group's planes will not be equipped with the special racks needed for carrying atom bombs. But an Air Force source said it would "take only five and one half hours to install the racks once the planes are here."

The three squadrons of the 509th

French Forces Major Barrier To Red Attack

Britain Is Second And Italy Third In Military Plan

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 26.—France was reported in line today for the biggest share of the proposed American military aid program for western Europe.

Diplomatic officials who reported this said France would get top priority because of its highly strategic location and because its 10 divisions of troops are in sore need of equipment.

The administration plans to ask Congress for $1,130,000,000 to rearm its 11 Atlantic pact allies during the next year. An additional $320,000,000 will be requested to bolster the defenses of other "friendly countries."

Britain Is Second

Britain stands second and Italy third, officials indicated, among the nations tentatively due to get American arms, equipment and raw materials under the program.

The Allied strategic plan is to build up the French army and air force as rapidly as possible because it would be the major obstacle to any Russian invasion of western Europe.

Top government officials said some details of the military assistance program are so confidential that not even Congress, which must appropriate the money, will be told about them—a statement which drew prompt fire from Capitol Hill.

These "top secret" matters include how much each country will get in American arms; the types and amounts of weapons to be supplied and the exact status of their armed forces.

No Blank Check

Rep. Cannon (D-Mo), chairman of the House appropriations committee, served notice that "Congress won't write a blank check" for administration officials on the arms program.

"We will have to know how much they will spend for each country and what the purpose will be so we can determine if it is effectively used," Cannon told a reporter.

He added that he considers the $1,450,000,000 asked for the program "too high." He said he is certain it can be cut down without endangering American security.

Senator McKellar (D-Tenn), chairman of the Senate appropriations group, took a somewhat similar attitude toward the official desire for secrecy.

McKellar said he has not been formally notified of the State department's view. But he said he will demand "very full and complete information" before recommending appropriations.

Government officials working on the arms-for-Europe program said

Amarillo Man Held On Forgery Count

AMARILLO, April 26. (AP)—Lynn A. Boykin, 32, Amarillo commercial photographer, was held today under federal charges in connection with an allegedly forged bank draft for $188,844.61.

Bond of $5,000, returnable in Dallas, was set at his hearing before the United States commissioner here. He did not make bond immediately.

Boykin was arrested Monday afternoon by state highway patrolmen at Groom, on highway 66 east of here. Federal authorities broadcast his description and automobile license number after failing to locate him at his place of business.

The complaint signed by U. S. Marshal William S. Lampe charges Boykin with transporting a falsely made draft in interstate commerce. The draft, drawn on the Fernando Cattle company through the Bank of America in Los Angeles, was deposited in the Mercantile National Bank of Dallas.

Braniff Will Fight To Retain Service

Vigorous Opposition To Suspension Of Lubbock Line For Five Years Promised

A move by Civil Aeronautics Board to suspend trunk line air service in and out of Lubbock will be "vigorously opposed" by Braniff International Airways, The Evening Journal was informed today by Charles E. Beard of Dallas, executive vice president.

The board in Washington has started an investigation "to determine whether Braniff's certification to serve Lubbock should be suspended for a five-year period." If Braniff service were suspended, Lubbock would be left with only "feeder" airline service.

A statement by Beard this morning said, "With respect to the investigation initiated by the Civil Aeronautics Board to determine whether or not our certfication to serve Lubbock should be suspended for a five-year period and Lubbock left with only feeder line service, Braniff Airways intends to vigorously oppose such suspension.

"A community of the size and economic importance of Lubbock is entitled to trunkline service and we feel confident that when the facts concerning Lubbock and its traffic development have been placed before the board they will justify continuance of our trunk line service."

It appeared this morning that Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and other agencies would rally to the aid of Braniff in maintaining service.

Usual procedure in such a case is for the CAB to hold a "pre-hearing" and then a public hearing before taking action.

The pre-hearings, scheduled for the latter part of the month in Washington, would be a conference of officials of the carrier concerned, the hearing examiners and public counsellors. At this meeting the parties involved

BIG THREE AGREEMENT REVEALED

New German State Given More Power

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 26—German political leaders were promised today that the United States, Britain and France will hold only a loose rein on the new west German federal state.

The State department made public the full terms of a big three agreement on what controls will be retained. The department said the occupation powers will limit themselves mostly to a supervisory role after the provisional government is set up.

Way Is Cleared

The way was cleared for creation of the new state yesterday when western German leaders settled differences which for months blocked final drafting of a constitution. This seemingly removed the threat of collapse for the whole plan to give self-government to the 45,000,000 western Germans.

Such a collapse would have been a hard blow to the west in the struggle with Soviet Russia over Germany's future.

Gratified at the break in the deadlock, the State department decided to publish the text of an agreement reached here April 8 by Secretary of State Acheson, British Foreign Secretary Bevin and French Foreign Minister Schuman to merge the three occupation zones and substitute civilian control for military rule.

Retain Supreme Power

"While the occupying governments will retain supreme authority, it is intended that military government will be terminated and that the function of the occu-

LAFB Details To Be Studied

Representatives of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and the City commission will go to Barksdale Air Force Base within the next few days to confer with Maj. Gen. Robert Harper concerning details attendant upon the opening of Lubbock Air Force Base, it was announced here shortly after noon.

Decision to send a committee to Barksdale, near Shreveport, La., was reached after a meeting in mid-morning of the City commission, other city officials and members of the Chamber of Commerce Committee on Air Force Affairs.

All members of the commission and the committee were present for the meeting, held in the Commission chambers at City Hall.

Problems Are Discussed

The 16 man group discussed use of Lubbock Municipal airport as an auxiliary field by LAFB; paving of Fourth street to the base and various minor problems connected with LAFB's approaching reactivation. Decision to send the committee to Barksdale was prompted by need for discussion with General Harper of the extent of use to which Municipal airport may be put.

Members of the committee to talk with General Harper have

It was believed rainfall had loosened the rock.

United States Says Way Now Appears Clear

Allies Say Terms Listed By Russia Are Acceptable

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The United States said today "the way appears clear" for lifting the Berlin blockade provided the Russian terms actually are those published by Moscow.

The State department got out a 1,200-word statement of the American position. It was understood the United States, Britain and France had discussed the published Soviet terms and found them acceptable.

The only reservation appears to be whether the Russians intended to propose any further conditions.

Conferences Are Held

The formal State department pronouncement came after a round of top-level government conferences. One of these was a report to President Truman from

The terms are, first, that the Soviet blockade of Berlin and the western counter-blockade of the Soviet zone of Germany should be lifted simultaneously.

Second, that a date should be fixed ahead of time for a meet-

Doctor Claims McGee Insane

By EDWARD WELSH
Journal Staff Writer

The testimony of Dr. Roy C. Sloan took up the entire morning session today in the trial of Richard W. McGee, 24, charged with the murder of R. L. Allston, 42, on the afternoon of July 7, 1948.

With but one interruption Monday afternoon, Dr. Sloan has been on the stand continuously. Examination and cross-examination has taken almost eight hours.

During the course of the cross-examination Special Prosecutor George Dupree said:

"Now here is the $100 question."

Objection Is Sustained

Col. E. A. Simpson, Amarillo, one of the defense attorneys, leaped to his feet and objected strenuously. Judge Dan Blair sustained the objection and ordered the remark stricken from the record. He also instructed the jury not to consider the remark.

Another objection to the method and phrasing of the questioning came after Dupree handed Dr. Sloan the Bible which belonged to Richard McGee and which has been introduced as evidence by the defense.

"How many books are there in the Bible, Dr. Sloan?" Dupree

Endurance Fliers End Record-Setting Flight Today; Say They Might Need Walking Lessons

(By The Associated Press)

FULLERTON, Calif., April 26.—Two tired fliers come out of the sky today after remaining aloft so long they've probably forgotten how to walk.

Bill Barris and Dick Riedel plan to land their Sunkist Lady at 11:44 a. m. PST (2:44 p. m. Eastern Standard time) just six weeks to the minute after taking off from here on their fourth quest for a world endurance flight record.

"We're so tired we don't talk to each other any more," Barris reported between yawns as the last long hours droned by.

They fully expect to need walking lessons. Forced down after 568 hours in their third try, they required several days to acquire their "land legs." And this time they've been up nearly twice as long.

Practically the entire population of this community will be on hand to greet them. In the crowd will be Bob Woodhouse and Woodrow Jongward from Yuma, Ariz., grounded Sunday after 74 hours in their attempt to beat the Fullerton airmen's mark. The Yuma boys plan to try again.

The most jubilant members of the welcoming committee will be Mrs. Betty Barris and Mrs. June Riedel. Each family has two youngsters. One of them, Dick Riedel, jr., is bedridden with arthritis. He will watch the landing via

CHIEF KITTRELL SAYS HE'LL TAKE THE RAP FOR ORDER

Angry Car Owners Protest As Police Pass Out Hundreds Of Tags Here For Overnight Parking

Approximately 500 automobiles were tagged by police early today in response to orders of Mayor W. H. Rodgers to Police Chief Lewis Kittrell to enforce an ordinance which virtually had been disregarded for years.

Immediate reaction was confusion and anger on the part of car owners.

Phones in the police station rang steadily. Calls protesting the action were received at The Avalanche-Journal office, as well as persons who wished to state their grievances in person.

The ordinance (Section 4 of Article IV, which relates to stopping, standing and parking) prompting the action reads:

"All night parking prohibited: No person except physicians on an emergency call shall leave parked a vehicle on any paved street for a period of time longer than 60 minutes between the hours of 2 a. m. and 6 a. m."

Despite knots of motorists who gathered at the police station to ask what it was all about, or to protest the action, only one bond had been posted for a jury trial of the charge, Solon Lea, city recorder, said at midmorning. Several persons had paid their $1 assessment. The predominant number charged, however, had not put in appearance.

Kittrell declined to disclose identity of the city official who allegedly ordered him to enforce the old ordinance.

"I'll take the rap on this," he told newsmen. "After all, I gave the order to the department."

Filmtown Finds Diamond Mine In Numerous Baseball Movies

HOLLYWOOD, April 26 (NEA)—What with "The Babe Ruth Story," "Take Me Out to the Ball Game," "The Stratton Story" and now the forthcoming film about the Bill Veeck's nine little Indians and how they grew into a world's championship team, Hollywood seems to have beep doing some intensive prospecting in diamond mines.

Speaking of "The Stratton Story," the film's advertisements all stress the love angle (don't they always?), but fans will recognize the opus as one of the best baseball movies ever made. It looks like a natural at the box office, and if it clicks as predicted, it will go a long way toward killing the old Hollywood superstition that "a baseball picture never made any money."

HIS OWN STORY

If you want some inspiring reading, curl up with Harold Russell's "Victory in My Hands," recently published by Creative Press. Russell, you'll remember, is the war veteran who lost both hands when a two-pound charge of TNT, in which he was inserting a detonator, exploded.

After the war he was starred in the Goldwyn production, "The Best Years of Our Lives" and walked off with two Academy Awards, the first actor to cop a deuce for one picture. The story of his comeback is, as mentioned above, inspiring.

But his recital of the financial shenanigans he underwent at the hands of the studio's smart business office boys is something less than that. They seem to have given him the business—if only half of what he recounts is true.

They started Russell off with $500 a week. After his outstanding performance the contract juggling started and when the merry-ro-round slowed down, the veteran found himself with a peanutty $120 a week and a commitment for personal appearances that forced him to give up his plan to return to college.

"Victory in My Hands" should be an inspiration to disabled veterans—and a face-reddener for certain Hollywood gentry.

Maybe the mothers of Hollywood moguls were all frightened by pretzels. At any rate, said moguls seem under inescapable compulsion to give everything a new "twist." For instance, there's United Artists' forthcoming "Home of the Brave."

Originally written as a slashing attack on anti-Semitism, the script has been given the old Hollywood twist so that when it comes out on the screen, it will blast anti-Negro bigotry.

It's all very hush-hush, the lid has been clamped on publicity, but the WORD is that the film is a very daring presentation of the highly controversial subject. Incidentally, it is said the picture has no outstanding stars.

You'll soon be seeing George Raft again—all dolled up in a French Foreign Legion uniform in "Outpost in Morocco." Maybe they ought to re-title it "Deadpan in the Desert." Funny thing, though there may be wide differences of opinion over Georgie's histrionic ability, there's general agreement on the fact that "the guy's pictures make money."

"NOTHING TO SAY AS YET"—Movie star Ingrid Bergman collects a few flowers plucked for her by Italian director Roberto Rossellini during a recent visit to the Etruscan ruins in Rome. Now they're on film location on Stromboli Island off Italy; both silent on reports she'll divorce her doctor husband and wed Rossellini. The director insisted he "had nothing to say as yet."

Tech Graduate Will Return To Alaska

Miss Ruth Henry, who has stayed in Lubbock several weeks during illness and death of her father, left Monday night for Anchorage, Alaska, where she is link trainer operator of Pacific Northern airlines.

Her father, Stockton Henry of 2307 Ave. M, died April 9. She had come to Lubbock in February. Her mother died Feb. 12.

Donald Henry of La Salina, Venezuela, left after attending funeral services for his father. He also had been here in February. Stockton Henry, jr., of Pittsburg, Calif., also has returned home.

Miss Henry has been in Alaska about two years, training pilots in instrument flying. She was link operator in the Navy and after she left service received training at Spartan School of Aeronautics in Tulsa. She was a civilian link trainer mechanic for the Army before entering the Navy.

She is a 1941 graduate of Texas Technological college.

Thousands Of Shanghai's Younger Set Go On Last Spending Spree; Prices Soaring

SHANGHAI, April 26. (INS)—Thousands of Shanhai's younger residents went on a "last fling" spending spree today in anticipation of Communist seizure of the city and imposition of austerity rule.

Young Chinese men and women jammed movie theaters, cabarets and restaurants spending money which steadily decreased in value.

Numerous red flags, symbols of Chinese weddings, appeared on automobiles of those who had arranged hasty war marriages.

Prices Are Soaring

The price of most commodities kept soaring. Old Chinese—housewives and their men—began buying up food supplies and storing them away for even more difficult times.

Meanwhile, the stream of refugees from the west continued, as government officials poured out of the city by air enroute to points south.

Guards checked the new arrivals at entrances in the long, ten-foot wooden wall at the city limits.

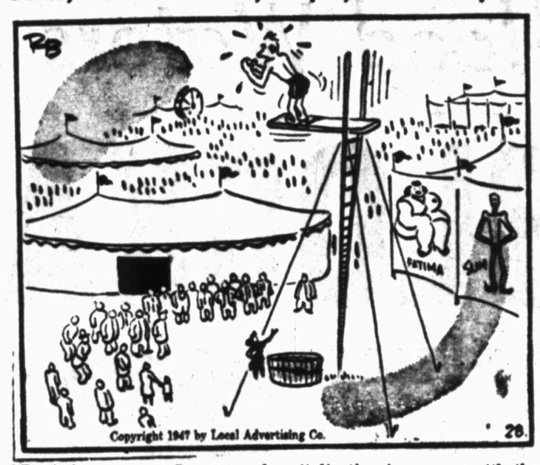

Most of the new arrivals, fleeing before advancing Communist troops, entered on foot.

All brought along clothing, and cooking utensils. Some had extra supplies of food, and even furniture.

The refugees choked Shanghai streets and slowed traffic. A heavy rain did not help matters.

World Envies U. S. Women For Husbands

Today's American Male More Talented Than His Grandpop

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 26.—There is a new All-America male on the scene.

He isn't exactly the kind of man his father was. And certainly he isn't the woman his mother was. But in many ways he is like them both, and in some ways he is more talented than either.

Half a century ago father, quite often, was a tobacco-chewing, independent rooster who ruled his wooden castle like an Army top sergeant. About all he did around the place was eat, sleep, grunt behind the daily newspaper he read in his easy chair, and carry out coal aches in the winter.

Old Saloon Hand

His spare time he spent at a saloon arguing about the government. He didn't talk much at home, because what was there for him and the old lady to talk about? He was interested in sports, business and politics. Mama was interested in raising the kids and running the manor.

All this is changed.

The modern husband is a real All-America male. There has been no husband like him in history. And the American woman is the envy of the women of every other country in the world—for having him.

Daddy takes an interest in everything about the house now. He insists on going with mama to the store to pick out the drapes and furniture.

Kitchen Invaded

The cookstove is no longer a feminine empire. Once they put gadgets in the kitchen and cut down the hours papa spent at his job, he was bound to turn to cooking.

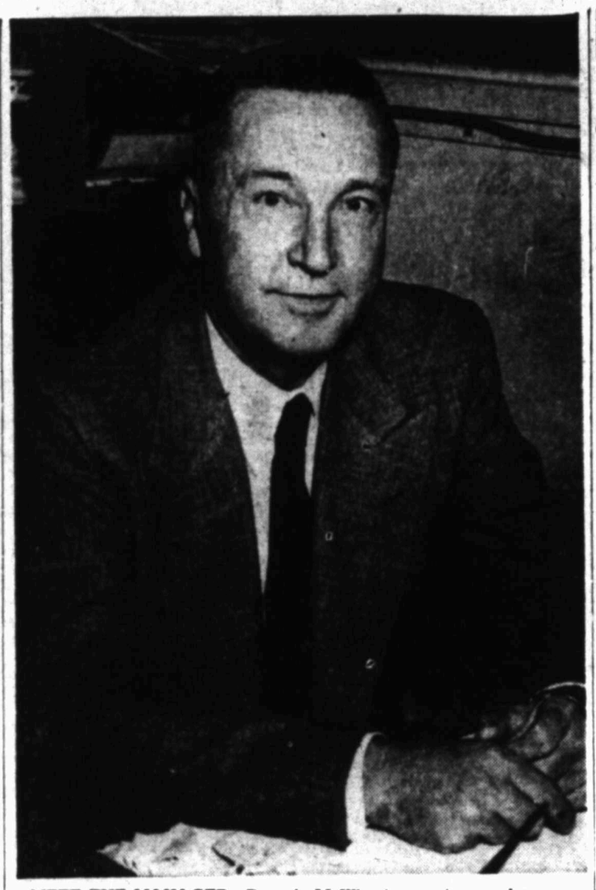

He not only brags he bakes better rolls than his dear old mother did. He's insulted if you don't think his kartoffelklosesse are better than any the Kaiser ever ate.

And mama no longer can raise the baby without papa's helping hand. He knows all about formulas, how to ease out an infant's burp, how to tie a running bowline knot in a diaper.

But sometimes mama feels she's overeducated her man. This All-America male can get underfoot.

And that is when mama has a yearning to sally out to the nearest saloon—and talk politics.

Saying: "New Zealand's a wonderful place but it hadn't what I needed for happiness—no friendly faces, no bowls, no local pub," George Turtle, 57, with his wife, after they had spent their savings of $1,000 to make a new start, returned to England after 10 days in New Zealand.

MEET THE MANAGER—Ross A. McWhorter, partner and manager of McWhorter's, Goodyear and Westinghouse dealer, was born in Hale county Feb. 23, 1901 but has lived in Lubbock county since infancy. He was educated in Lubbock schools and graduated from Lubbock High school before attending the University of Texas, from which he received his degree in 1923. He was engaged in the clothing business here until 1930, when he became wholesale agent for Magnolia Petroleum company. In 1935 he became store manager for Goodyear Tire and Rubber company at the former location, Thirteenth and Texas. In 1939 he and his brother Pat purchased the Goodyear franchise and opened the store and service station at Tenth and Texas. Both brothers entered the service and Clint Keith, the third partner, operated the business during the war years. Mr. McWhorter went into the Army Transportation corps in August, 1942 and served in North Africa, Italy and France, with the Fifth and Seventh Armies. After two and a half years overseas he returned and was released in August, 1945, with major's rank. He is a member of First Methodist church and Lubbock Country club, and is a 32nd degree Mason. At various times in the past he has served on boards of the Red Cross and other welfare agencies. Mr. and Mrs. McWhorter and a daughter, Jonanne 16, live at 2712 Twentieth. (Staff Photo).

Divorcee Held After Slaying

RIVERSIDE, Calif., April 26 (AP)—Mrs. Agnes E. Garnier may be arraigned today on a murder charge in the slaying of her boss, John E. Owen, millionaire friend of actress Irene Rich.

Mrs. Garnier, 53-year-old divorcee who had been Owen's confidential secretary 12 years, was charged Monday with fatally shooting him last Friday night at his luxurious ranch near here.

Owen, 68, was president of the National Apartment House Owners association and led a recent fight against rent control legislation in Washington. He owned several ranches and apartment houses.

Inquest Held

The murder complaint was filed minutes after a coroner's jury found that Owen "died of gunshot wounds inflicted by a gun in the hands of Mrs. Agnes Garnier."

Mrs. Garnier appeared at the inquest but refused to testify on constitutional grounds. Deputy Dist. Atty. Lloyd Poller, who signed the murder complaint, said arraignment probably will be today.

Chief witness at the inquest was Edna Austin, Owen's maid who rushed to his side after the shooting.

Miss Austin testified that late that afternoon Owen and Mrs. Garnier engaged in a heated discussion. Later, she said, she heard the word "glasses" mentioned several times.

In an earlier statement to police, Mrs. Garnier said the discussion started over a set of cocktail glasses Miss Rich had given Owen. Miss Rich's name was not mentioned at the inquest.

Heard Conversation

After dinner, Miss Austin said, she could hear loud conversation downstairs. "Mrs. Garnier used the word 'gun' once or twice," she added.

Once, she said, Mrs. Garnier told her Owen was drunk. Asked at the inquest if she thought he was, Miss Owen replied "I don't think so. I couldn't tell." She added, though, that Owen had been drinking.

Sheriff's deputy Gilbert Crowell, who arrived at the ranch in response to Mrs Garnier's call, quoted her as saying:

"I had to do it. It was either him or me. He was drunk. He hit me several times and knocked my earrings off."

Long Membership In Legion Recognized

Arlo Farmer, of 2323 Twenty-fifth, was presented a recognizance card, marking his thirty years of continuous membership in the American Legion, at Monday evening's regular legion meeting.

"Child Welfare" and recreational progress in Lubbock were discussed by A. C. Hamilton, superintendent of the city recreational department. Mr. Hamilton praised the Legion's junior baseball program, which, he said, has been very successful.

Mrs. Riley Duff, of the Legion Auxiliary, presented a musical program by Mrs. Floyd Roan, Miss Ruby Dollar and Miss Carolyn Roan.

Post commander J. R. Eagan, who presided, urged that all Legionnaires, entitled to receive cards for 10, 20, 25, or 30 years membership, contact Legion Post officers.

Old Kissing Custom Revived In Village

HUNGERFORD England, April 26 (AP)—An old village festival was revived today, and as a consequence quite a few girls got kissed.

The quaint ceremonies, suspended in the war, commemorate the granting to citizens of fishing rights in the Kennet river about 600 years ago.

The town crier started proceedings with blasts from a horn, whereupon commoners assembled and elected a number of men, who got a kissing concession.

They got the right to kiss any girl in town—even could pursue them by ladder through second story windows if they wanted to. Many did, too.

Women's Societies Meet In Homes, Churches Monday

Women's church groups held teas, program and business meetings in various churches and homes Monday afternoon.

PORTRAIT RECEIVES FIRST SHOWING

An oil painting of Dr. H. I. Robinson had its first public showing at a tea given Monday afternoon by members of First Methodist Woman's Society for Christian service at the church. The event was attended by 95 persons.

Mrs. William G. Dingus presented the first of a series of four lessons on "On Our Doorstep." (Frank S. Mead). Mrs. E. F. Alford brought the devotional.

Based on a Hawaiian theme, the program included a brief question and answer period led by Mrs. G. P. Callan on, "The Background and Historical Importance of Hawaii." Jimmie Whiteside and John Vickers, veterans of service with the Navy on Hawaiian islands, gave their opinions on the importance of the islands as a future military base the effect of war on prospective island statehood, and the religious needs of the islands. Hawaiian string music was featured on the program.

Decorations carried out the Hawaiian theme, with the serving table holding a replica of a beach, and another table bearing a display of souvenirs from the island. India circle was tea hostess.

ASBURY WSCS HEARS PROGRAM

Mrs. H. M. Hilliard led the third of a series of lessons on American geographical frontiers at a meeting of Asbury WSCS Monday afternoon in Fellowship hall. Her discussion was concerned with the Panama Canal zone, Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico. Mrs. J. E. Walter, vice president, was in charge of the business meeting.

Final lesson in the series will be heard at the meeting at the church Monday afternoon.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN HEAR REPORT

Mrs. Ben White presented a report on the World Council of Churches conference held last summer in Amsterdam, Holland, at a meeting of First Presybterian Women of the Church Monday afternoon. Circle one was tea hostess for the meeting, attended by 40 members in Fellowship hall.

WESTMINSTER WOMEN HOLD MEETING

Westminster Presbyterian Women of the Church met Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. D. L. Zacharias. Mrs. W. L. Hester led the opening prayer and Mrs. C. C. Galbraith presented the devotional. Mrs. George Dupree talked on the Amsterdam conference. The meeting was attended by 25 members.

FIRST BAPTIST WMS CIRCLES REPORT

Chairmen of 21 circles of First Baptist WMS spoke briefly on their group activities at a First Baptist WMS meeting at the church Monday afternoon, attended by 50 members.

Nominating committee members appointed by Mrs. A. E. Cook, president, include Mrs. Gradie Bownds, chairman, Mrs. R. S. Wilkinson and Miss Marie Jackson. Mrs. Cook was in charge of part of the business session, and her "shadow," Miss Joyce Worrell, presided over part of the meeting.

Mrs. R. M. Armstrong led the devotional. The musical program was by Mrs. Fred Stanley, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Dalton Blevins.

MRS. HECK SPEAKS TO CALVARY WMS

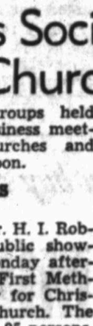

Mrs. Henry Heck of Idalou taught the lesson on, "Things We Should Know" and reported a trip to the Baptist Mexican Orphanage in San Antonio at an all-day meeting of Calvary Baptist WMS Monday.

Covered dish luncheon was served at noon. Mrs. J. A. Giles, president, was in charge of a brief business session. The meeting was attended by 30 women, including guests from Idalou and Myrtle Drive Baptist churches, and 13 Sunbeams.

FIRST CENTRAL WMS HOLDS MEETING

Mrs. J. A. Burns, president of First Central Baptist WMS was in charge of a business meeting attended by 27 members at the church Monday afternoon. Mrs. Boyd Crooks led the closing prayer.

One Sees What He Looks For

Gondola Trip Through City Is Taken By Light Of Moon

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Margaret Turner, Woman's editor of the Avalanche and Journal publications, is on an European tour and today she writes about Venice. She is to return to Lubbock the middle of next month.)

VENICE.—Someone has written that Venice is made of "stone, sun, gold and love." We had been told that it was a place of sights, sounds and smells. We think you see what you look for. We were looking for beauty and that is what we saw in our three days visit to the city built on a marshy spit of land.

We came to Venice after night had fallen, riding all day through a picturesque Italy that would set the writer of a guide book searching for a new vocabulary. After parking the car at Piazza Roma, the garage built to accommodate motor visitors, we turned our baggage over to a porter who engaged a gondolier. It's said you should see Venice when it is properly gilded by the moon and that is what we did; riding along in a gondola and noting the buildings, former palaces and other dwellings bathed in shimmering silvery tints.

Our hotel was the Royal Danieli, former Dandolo palace. Built in the fourteenth century, the modernization has not detracted from its original beauty. Electric lights shine through dazzling chandeliers and the simple marble stairs lead to an ornate balustrade. As Mrs. Lynch expressed it, "One can really dream that she dwelt in marble halls at the Danieli."

Venice is the perfect setting for a Renaissance painting. It is a city that has inspired artists, musicians and writers. Thomas Mann wrote a book entitled "Death in Venice;" Wagner wrote "Tristan and Isolde" and the famous "Liebestod" here and died at the Palazzo that is now the Casino. It was at Rezzonico palace that Robert Browning lived and died. The great artist Titian has his last resting place in the Church of the Franciscan Friars.

KNOWING that we were to spend the morning shopping in St. Mark's square, we asked for a more substantial breakfast than continental rolls and coffee and after an American meal of orange juice, ham and eggs, in addition to the Italian breakfast, we set out. The life of Venice revolves around St. Mark Basilica. It is much, much more than "just another European cathedral." It was erected about 827 and is rich with mosaics in Byzantine style which cover the walls. Over its doors are pictures in mosaic that appear to be painted in rich oils at first glance, and inside its cool interior one muses on the far past as she views mosaics and statutes that are as old as time.

WE didn't dwell too long on the glory that once was Venice's because we wanted to join the group feeding the fat and sassy pigeons in St. Mark's square. Before leaving the hotel we had converted travellers' checks into lire. For twenty dollars we received 12,000 lire which seemed a lot of currency at the time but which didn't go very far when we entered the shops. For 100 lira we bought four tiny sacks of corn to feed the pigeons and after a walk about the shops we sat at sidewalk cafe tables in the sun and watched the hundreds of persons milling about.

Hawkers came by, entreating us to buy strings of cheap beads, post cards, cameos, booklets and what not. No one seemed in a hurry. When the hour sounded, we turned to watch the two figures on the Clock Tower strike their gongs, a duty they have performed for five centuries, come rain or shine; war or peace.

ONE afternoon we boarded a little launch, dubbed a Venetian "street car," and went over to Lido beach, which formerly was a favorite spa for International cafe society and of Herr Goebbels. It was a perfect day. Sailboats dotted the horizon; attractive mothers played on the sand with their dark-eyed, beautiful children and there were sounds of laughter everywhere. It was hard to believe that the dozens and dozens of tiny bath houses had been closed during the war and the roads enclosed with barbed wire.

Although the hotels are not operating at present, they are being readied for what is expected to be a record breaking number of visitors this summer.

We pulled off shoes and hose and waded a bit in the Adriatic and then sat on the white, soft sand and turned our faces to the sun. That night we sported "Lido tans."

SECRETARY — Mrs. Alvin F. Hamm of Lorenzo, pictured above, is corresponding secretary of Fourteenth district, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, which will hold an annual conference in Lubbock Thursday and Friday. Headquarters for the meeting will be at O. L. Slaton Junior High school, Thirty-second and Ave. Q.

ALUMNAE TO MEET

Mrs. O. B. Haught and Mrs. Bruce Ferrell will be hostesses at a dessert-bridge party of Las Vivarachas Alumnae association at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Ferrell, 3301 Twenty-second.

Mary Haworth's Mail . . .

Young Wife Who Is Happy In Home Life Has Fear Of Guests, Relatives, Friends

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a young mother of two small children who are very active, and we have a small two-room home that is very crowded, yet cozy and pleasant. I work pretty hard to keep things orderly and clean, but I don't mind that.

I have a very nice husband who is ambitious and kind to us. His folks and mine all live close by. John's folks are quiet people, but mine are two-faced and jealous of each other, each trying to be a little "bigger" than the other. It may be that I also am one who is jealous or tries to be "big," but I dont think so. I don't think that is my problem.

WOULD FINER HOME EASE HER TENSION?

I AM afraid of people. If a salesman or neighbor, or even my sister or mother comes into my home I tremble and feel ill and do silly things. I blush, put things in the wrong place, look at them like I want them to leave immediately, etc. I don't want to be rude and I try very hard to hide my discomfort, but it can't be done.

Once in a while I let down and enjoy company, but soon my interest fades and I feel shaky again. I appear very happy when I am outdoors, but I get this tight nervous feeling indoors. I tell my family and any others—if they seem interested—that a bigger house is what I need to calm my nerves. But I honestly think that is just an alibi to excuse my actions.

What do you think? Would it help if I had a bigger house with more conveniences, or maybe lived in another environment? Please help me understand myself, or give me some advice.

Signed E. A.

CHILDHOOD HURTS UNDERLIE ANXIETY

DEAR E. A.: You describe your folks as being two-faced and jealous, each trying to make a bigger showing than the other, which is another way of saying that they all suffer from inferiority feelings.

In trying to build themselves up, they tear the next fellow down, and in the course of this struggle they knocked all the fight out of you long before you were grown. That's why you are afraid of people—salesman, neighbor, mother and sister included.

It is my impression that you are sensitive, openhearted, eager to please; that your instincts are finer than your family's, more civilized; that you are in all probability the nicest person on your side of the house, and consequently just never could stand up to their harsh hurtful aggressive attitudes.

A child's experiences in relation to family determine his expectancy of life in general. He expects to get from the world at large the same treatment his family dealt him. And if you were conditioned to fear derogatory remarks and other rude trampling of your personality, in the bosom of your family, it is inevitable that you would feel unstrung in facing "company" as time went on.

NEEDS EXPERT HELP IN GETTING GROWTH

YOUR nervous reaction to guests is shamefaced as well as fearful; as if you felt (in your bones) unfit for social interchange—unable to speak with others on equal terms, or to make any move without becoming a target of scorn or ridicule. In short, you feel threatened and stymied—wanting to be friendly and not daring to try.

Your hunch is correct: a bigger home, better furnished, isn't the cure for your distress, although it might give you more pleasure on the side. A home in another environment, far removed from your family, might ease your anxious tensions somewhat—but only temporarily, while the family stayed away. Their visits would be as frightening as ever.

You need two forms of psychological help, namely: 1. Help in arriving at a valid appreciation of your really superior self. 2. Help in outgrowing childish dread of what others may think or say. Then you'll be free within, free to enjoy life in the simplest circumstances.

M. H.

Wedding Anniversary Observed In Home Of A. J. Phillips

A family reunion was conducted Saturday and Sunday in Ropesville in celebration of the 64th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Phillips of Ropesville.

The couple was married April 23, 1885 in Floyd county, Virginia.

Mr. Phillips celebrated his 85th birthday Sunday. The family attends an annual reunion in celebration of the wedding anniversary and birthday.

Gifts were given to the couple. The couple has seven sons and daughter, 26 grandchildren and 26 great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips recently won a prize at the Breakfast in Hollywood party in Lubbock sponsored by Acqui-Pri class of Asbury Methodist church for having been married the longest of any couple present.

Sons and daughters attending were G. F. Moore, Hollis, Okla.; Mrs. B. F. Hawkins, Oklahoma City, accompanied by her husband; J. S. Phillips, Dallas, and his wife and grandson; Rev. Noah Phillips and family, Lake Jackson; Mrs. Elmo Jones, Hollis, Okla.; Mrs. E. P. Barbee, Lubbock, and her husband.

One son, W. A. Phillips of Amarillo, was unable to attend. Edward Barbee, jr., of Lubbock, a grandson of the couple, and Mrs. Barbee and children, Eddie and Mary Jean, attended.

Friends attending were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Staggs, San Angelo; Mrs. Tom Williams, Levelland, and several friends of Ropesville.

Mother-Daughter Party Is Planned

Junior GA of Calvary Baptist church met at the church Monday afternoon. The session opened with a song, "Trust, Try and Prove Me." Mrs. J. H. Puckett conducted sword drill.

The meeting was attended by five members and Mrs. R. S. Hobgood, councilor. The group will hold a mother-daughter flower party at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the home of Mrs. Hobgood, 3601 Thirty-fourth.

FEMININE LOOK. . . Pin-striped worsted in pink, ivory and russet makes a suit with plastron yoke and a pocket in the sleeve.

Sorority Pledges Present Program

Mrs. Eugene Nail and Mrs. William Sasser, pledges of Kappa Gamma sorority, presented a program for the organization Monday night in Friendship classroom of First Methodist church. The program included songs, skits and readings.

Individual programs prepared by the pledgees were decorated with the club seal and were placed at each refreshment plate.

CAPT. HEDRICK HERE

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hedrick, 2406 Main, were their son Capt. W. R. Hedrick, jr., who flew home from Washington, D. C., and their niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Linwood Bailey of Big Spring. Capt. Hedrick works for the Secretary of Air in the Pentagon building.

Picnic Is Planned

The annual picnic given by Ko Shari patronesses for the active club members and pledges of Tech will be held May 11 at the barbecut pit in Mackenzie State park, according to plans made at a patroness meeting Monday night at the home of Dr. Agnes True. Mrs. A. B. Strehli and Mrs. Robert Wright were co-hostesses.

A report of the Ko Shari traditional Easter trip to Santa Fe, N. M., was made by Mrs. W. G. McMillan who accompanied the girls.

Mrs. H. F. Godeke, organizing vice president of the patroness group, was voted an honorary member.

Senator Says Reds Hold Key To Peace

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 26—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich) says the leaders of Russia could assure world peace by announcing this program and backing their words with deeds:

1. That Moscow seeks to heal the breach between East and West;
2. "That Communism is ready to drop its plans for external conquest and subversion;
3. "That the Politurbo is truly ready for mutual, good-faith efforts to create a livable world in which free self-determination shall decide any nation's accepted ideology;
4. "And that effectively disciplined, adequately supervised, universal disarmament shall be the world's progressive goal on a new agenda of hope for the people of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and for all the other people in a friendly world."

Vandenberg said last night the Russian leaders hold the key to world peace as he gave a blueprint of a method by which they could assure it.

He said that if the Russian chiefs were to announce what he proposed, they would produce an effect more powerful than "our whole storehouse of atom bombs."

Vandenberg declared, however, that such a statement from the Kremlin must be "backed by deeds to give it some belated semblance of reality." He said that "even to lift the Berlin blockade would be startling sunshine in a dismal sky."

Heart Ailment Kills Brownsville Newsman

BROWNSVILLE, April 26 (U.P.)—Morris P. Moore, 44, editor of the Brownsville Herald and president of the Brownsville Herald Publishing Co., died Monday night of a heart attack.

Moore collapsed at the El Jardin hotel after a dinner and was dead upon arrival at Mercy hospital.

Moore's newspaper career included some 20 years service with the Oklahoma publishing Co., publishers of the Oklahoma City Times and Daily Oklahoman, and several months as secretary-manager of the Oklahoma Press association.

IN CAPSULE FORM

News Briefs

J. A. Fortenberry, of Levelland road, today was said to be resting well in Lubbock Memorial hospital, where he has been a patient since suffering a heart attack April 4. A hospital attendant said his condition still is serious, but no longer critical.

Shirley Ann O'Donnovan, 14, of Sundown, today was reported to be recovering satisfactorily from bruises and mild shock suffered Monday afternoon when a car in which she was riding overturned near Sundown. She is being treated in West Texas hospital. Two other youths, a boy and a girl whose names were not listed on hospital records, also were treated for minor injuries sustained in the mishap. Both were released.

Everett (Bubba) Kaine, Lubbock Hubber outfield-infielder, today was reported in satisfactory condition in Lubbock Memorial hospital. Kaine was taken to the hospital Monday night after being struck in the forehead by a thrown ball during the Lubbock-Albuquerque game. His injury is not thought to be serious.

Mrs. J. H. Kimmel, of 2115 Broadway, today was said to be in satisfactory condition by an attending physician at West Texas hospital. She suffered a fractured hip late Monday in a fall at the home of her son, James H. Kimmel, jr.

J. W. Wills, 67, of 2205 Sixth, today was reported to be "resting well" in West Texas hospital. He was admitted to the hospital Monday after suffering a heart attack. An attending physician today said his condition remained uncertain.

The second of a series of eight meetings of Lubbock junior high school faculty members for the purpose of studying the modern junior high school was to be held at 4 p. m. today in the O. L. Slaton Junior High school library. Miss Evelyn Jones was to be in charge of the meeting. Scheduled to attend were Carroll R. Dale, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Wilhite, Mrs. May Belle Gowen, Fred Brown, and Mrs. Pearl Watson.

Services for Mrs. Ben F. Boswell, 34, of 2622 Twenty-fifth, were scheduled for 2 p. m. today in University Christian church of Fort Worth. Burial was to be in a Fort Worth cemetery. Mrs. Boswell died Monday in All Saints hospital in Fort Worth, where she had been a patient the last two months.

Mrs. E. Dobkins, of 2224 Twenty-seventh, will depart early Wednesday for Guatemala City, Guatemala, via Pan-American Airways with a stop-over in Mexico City. She plans to spend the next year in Guatemala City, where her son Glen and her daughter Joyce are in business.

Mrs. J. P. Davis, teacher in Mc Whorter school, left West Texas hospital, where she has been ill with pneumonia, Monday to return to her home at 2314 Ninth.

Sheriff Herman Crockett, of Morton, reported to law enforcement officers here last night that while in Lubbock visiting his father, Nathan Crockett, also of Morton, who is in Lubbock Memorial hospital, he lost his entire chain of keyes. The Morton sheriff said the string included keys to the jail, his office, his auto, and others.

Trustees of the Lubbock Independent School district will hold their regular monthly meeting at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the school business and tax office, 1107 Texas avenue.

Delta Theta Chi sorority, Texas Nu chapter, will meet tonight at 7:30 in Lubbock National Bank cafeteria for a regular meeting. Mrs. Betty Rice and Miss Vicki Martin will present a program on Giovanni Bernini, Italian architect, painter and sculptor. His statue "Apollo and Daphne" will be discussed. Plans for rush week activities and a spring dance will be completed during the business session.

Mrs. Dale Elms, of 1302 Twenty-sixth, has returned from Riverside, Calif., where she has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Harvey Cook, and her niece, Miss Patti Gale Cook. Mrs. Cook is the former Zelma Collins of Lubbock.

Tidelands Issue Termed Step In Growth Of U. S. Socialism

Socialism is creeping up on us day by day under the guise of both political parties and the tidelands question is one of the segments which fit into the pattern, James O. Cade, Lubbock attorney declared in a talk at the Lubbock Lions club.

The tidelands move is an effort on the part of our government to socialize the oil industry, Cade said.

Court Reversal Needed

Cade declared the national farm and housing programs as evidence that the people "had sold out for a mess of pottage." "We're putting socialism into effect inch by inch," he said.

Only a reversal of the Supreme Court's stand from the California case will prevent loss of Texas tidelands, which rightfully belong to the school children of Texas, Cade said.

"We should pray to Almighty God every day to give strength, wisdom and courage to the Supreme Court of the United States," he said.

Donation Is Announced

Cade was introduced by Leon Harris, program chairman. Travis Shelton was introduced as a new member.

President Wayne Henly announced the donation of $2,733.52 to the negro nursery project; and sponsorship of the T. C. U. Glee Club in presentation of "H. M. S. Pinafore" at Lubbock Senior High school auditorium Wednesday night, May 4.

D. M. Duke of Abernathy was an out-of-town visitor at the luncheon.

Optimists Addressed By Chamber Official

A talk on organization and functions of the chamber of commerce by Jim Crook featured today's Optimist club luncheon program in Hotel Lubbock.

Crook, assistant manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, briefly traced the development of the chamber from its origin in 1768 in New York to its position of today.

He defined the chamber as "the place where business pools its money and means."

Benefits derived from the chamber of commerce are not direct, Crook pointed out, but often considerable indirect benefits result from its work.

He closed his talk by citing a number of statistics illustrating Lubbock's growth and development during the last decade, stating that 50 new industries have been located here since 1945.

Crook was introduced by Billy Davis, Optimist program chairman. Out-of-town guests introduced included J. D. Strickland of Plainview and Frank M. Condray of Paris.

G. C. Stewart presided at the luncheon, with invocation by Roy Carnes.

ROSES ALL GONE FROM RUTH'S CHEEKS

*Maybe Ruth's got a Borderline Anemia

There are thousands like Ruth—women whose pale faces and listless, languid ways make them wallflowers at dances, duds on a date.

These pale, tired people seldom know what's wrong but, in many cases, faded red blood cells are holding them back. They may have a Borderline Anemia, due to a ferro-nutritional blood deficiency. Medical studies show that up to 68% of women—many men and children—have this tiring blood condition.

Weariness and pallor have many causes — always consult your doctor regularly. But if you have this Borderline Anemia, remember: Ironized Yeast Tablets can help you reclaim your vitality and healthy good looks. They are specially formulated to help build up faded and fagged-out blood cells. To feel better — look better — act alert and alive—try IRONIZED YEAST TABLETS!

Hunger And Inflation Facing Shanghai As Red Army Nears

By FRANK H. BARTHOLOMEW
United Press Staff Writer

SHANGHAI, April 26—The twin specters of hunger and economic collapse threatened besieged Shanghai today as Nationalist armies stood and fought on the city's approaches.

The American dollar, once the most highly prized currency in this teeming city of 6,000,000, was virtually worthless today. No worker would accept it in payment for labor and the government refused it for customs duties and exit visas.

The Communist fifth column was responsible. It threatened vengeance on anyone found in possession of American currency when and if the city fell.

Dollar Drops

The gold yuan, valued at 25 American cents when it was introduced last Aug. 19, opened at 400,000 to $1 this morning. This afternoon it was 800,000 to $1. Printing presses could not keep up with the demand.

The gold yuan fell so low that the paper it was printed on was worth many times more than the value it represented as a bill.

By late afternoon, workers were refusing any payment except in silver. Employers were unable to provide hard cash and a wave of strike threats resulted. Continued operation of utilities and waterfront facilities was imperiled.

Stores announced that the prices quoted at the opening of business each day would be good for the morning only, and would be revised upward during the noon hour.

Army Takes Money

The Nationalist army requisitioned much of the gold yuan currency being thrown out by printing presses, adding to the steady rate of inflation.

Many workers presented demands to their employers that they be provided at once with a six-months emergency salary advance in silver.

Americans and Europeans speeded up their plans to flee the city. Shanghai's famous Bund was piled high with the trunks, suitcases, bales and boxes of departing foreigners.

Many American governmental organizations were dismantling their offices and preparing to move to Canton. The ground control approach radar system reportedly was removed during the day from the International airport outside Shanghai.

The movement of military vehicles and soldiers through Shanghai's streets increased as the sultry day progressed

News Centers Jammed

Large groups of quiet Chinese clustered around all newspaper bulletin boards throughout the city, their faces reflecting anxiety and deep interest but no panic.

Hunger also began to be felt in the city as the surrounding areas of food supply were cut off or abandoned.

The problem of feeding the multiplying millions was made increasingly grave by the influx of refugees which has swollen the city's normal 6,000,000 population to the bursting point.

Hundreds of thousands of refugees converged upon Shanghai during Monday night alone, clogging the network of roadways leading into the city from every direction.

All appeared to be seeking safety in numbers. Roads, streets and bridges were jammed with carts loaded with tattered household supplies and what food the owners could bring with them.

Traffic Blocked

Often the carts carried an additional liad of children perched precariously on top, with the father and elder sons pulling in the traces.

Ancient trucks added to the congestion by breaking down at strategic points and blocking the roads.

American and European news agencies made preparations during the day to send out the wives of correspondents and also attempted to arrange alternate communications channels in case Shanghai should be cut off from contact with the outside world.

Former Actress To Serve Prison Term

LOS ANGELES, April 26 (AP)—Red-headed Madge Meredith, 27, former screen actress, has lost her fight for freedom.

She is in the county jail today, awaiting transfer to the state women's prison at Tehachapi to serve a five-year to life sentence for the kidnap-beating of her former manager, Nick Gianaclis.

She and three men were convicted Dec. 11, 1947, of luring Gianaclis and his bodyguard, Verne Davis, into a lonely canyon and beating them. The three are Albert Tucker, Damon Klinkenberg and James a Hatfield. Tucker received a five-year to life term and the others 30 days each.

The abduction stemmed from a dispute between Miss Meredith and Gianaclis over ownership of a mansion.

She had been at liberty under $15,000 bond pending appeal. April 15 the state supreme court refused to review the case. Yesterday the former actress surrendered to the court.

Peace Meeting Ends With Attack On U. S.

PARIS, April 26. (AP)—The Communist-backed World Peace congress has ended its Paris conclave after six days of frenzied attacks on the Atlantic pact, the Marshall plan and American leaders.

Before folding their tents, the participants voted to establish a permanent organization to fight the United States in a propaganda war. The vote of the 2,000 delegates was unanimous.

They also adopted a manifesto demanding outlawing of the atomic bomb and condemning military alliances, colonialism and "rearmament of western Germany and Japan."

It is estimated that there are 120,000,000 cats in the United States, and that 80,000,000 of them are strays.

Stubborn Rooster Is Beheaded, Lives On

RUSHVILLE, Ind., April 26 (AP) — A Rhode Island Red rooster which had its head chopped off Monday was a very lively patient of a local veterinarian today.

Verlin Coons, 19-year-old son of Mayor Russell Coons, who operates the Coons Poultry Market, beheaded Red and tossed him into a barrel with several others. He was amazed some time later to find Red walking around in the barrel.

Coons said the rooster strutted and shook his neck when he took him out of the barrel. He took Red to Dr. James Mull, veterinarian. Mull said he would try to keep him alive as long as possible.

Argentina's purchases of aircraft in Britain last year aggregated over $16,000,000, but both British and Argentine sources declined to say whether the aircraft were military.

DP's Crowd Italy For Resettlement

ROME, April 26 (AP)—Tousands of European refugees are streaming through Italy this week in one of the biggest mass migrations since the war.

The International Refugee organization (IRO) said a record 5,000 men, women and children will leave Naples and Genoa within three days aboard five ships and one plane. They are headed for new homes in Australia and Brazil.

Some 15,000 more are due to leave Italian ports next month. More than 9,000 have left Italy in the first three weeks of April.

Most of the refugees and displaced persons are from eastern European countries, including Poland, the Ukraine, Yugoslavia and the Baltic states. They prefer resettlement abroad to returning to their Communist-controlled homelands.

All have spent varying periods in IRO camps in Germany, Austria and Italy.

Gym Bond Issue Is Okayed At Morton

MORTON, April 26. (Special)—The board of trustees of Morton Independent School district Monday night canvassed returns of a Saturday election which will pave the way toward construction of a new $100,000 gymnasium.

As a result of recent consolidations the school district voters were asked to ballot on three issues. A uniform maintenance tax proposal carried 113 to 12. A $100,000 bond issue to finance a gymnasium also carried by a vote of 112 to 14. The third question, whether to assume indebtedness of the new territory, carried by a vote of 114 to 13.

Haynes and Kirby, Lubbock architectural firm, to design the new gymnasium, which will be located near the high school.

Present at the meeting were Raymond C. Ross, president of the board, A. R. Lindsey, secretary, L. H. Drum, B. R. Stovall, Truman Smith, Elmer Gardner and Gene Thompson, board members; and Carl Macon, superintendent of schools.

Wichita Falls Seeks Early End Of Strike

WICHITA FALLS, April 26 (U.P.)—The situation for foot-weary residents wasn't looking much brighter here today.

As the strike of bus drivers turned the corner into its fourth day, little prospect was in sight for an early settlement.

Mayor Harold Jones said yesterday that the city council may study the advisability of taking over the bus company and operating its lines under police powers.

Wichita Falls Woman Rescued From Blaze

WICHITA FALLS, April 26 (U.P.) Mrs. Clova Miller, 31, was the heroine today of a fire saga in which her mother and son participated.

Awakened by screams yesterday morning, Mrs. Miller and her 12-year-old son rescued Mrs. Dora Stevenson, 49, her mother, from her flaming bed.

The NEW 54 COTTON PLANTING SEED NOW AVAILABLE

The NEW Paymaster "54" is now available for the 1949 planting season — ready for farmers who want more profit from Cotton. This quick-maturing, high-yielding, better-staple-producing planting seed answers the demand for a variety that is tested and proved for West Texas growers. It is the result of scientific selection and painstaking experiments to develop a seed that will produce more money per acre planted.

Here's why the NEW Paymaster "54" is a money-making Cotton . . .

- EARLY MATURITY — Of 25 varieties tested recently . . . "54" was first in percentage of crop harvested in a four-month period.
- HIGH YIELD — In this same test, "54" was third among all varieties in yield per acre.
- BETTER STAPLE — "54" ran 15/16" to 1 inch throughout West Texas, assuring a better price.
- TESTED FOR DRY LAND — "54" has been proved successful for dry land farming as well as for irrigated Plains areas.

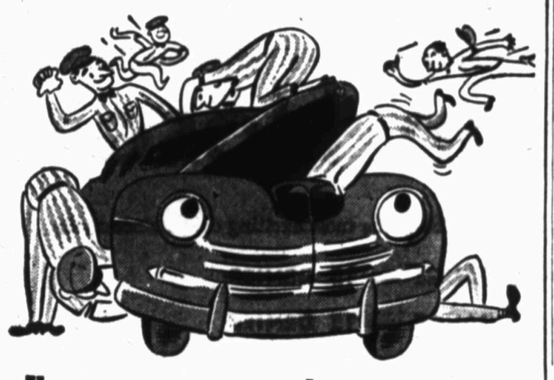

Be among those profit-minded farmers who demand a money-making Cotton planting seed—the NEW "54"; order your supply of the improved, state-registered "54" NOW.

IT PAYS TO PLANT PAYMASTER "54"

Aged Man Claims His Ex-Wife Tried 3 Times To Murder Him

George Dether, 75-year-old Damascus, Va., tool and die maker, tells in the following story about his married life with Inez Brennan, accused with her son of two lonely hearts murders in Delaware. Dether also recounts how she tried to kill him three times for his insurance).

BY GEORGE DETHER
As Told To International News Service

DAMASCUS, Va., April 26 — I met Inez Brennan almost 30 years ago through a "lonely hearts" ad in the Philadelphia Enquirer and married her three years later. We have been separated for several years.

I'm the father of her two sons, but still she has tried to kill me three times for my money and insurance. I've never understood why my sons have preferred her to me.

Six months ago, I divorced her, and she used the $1,500 settlement money to buy the farm in Delaware where the alleged murders took place.

Had Lived Happily

We lived happily for several years after marrying in 1922. I owned the Keystone Metal Stamping company in Philadelphia.

It was later that I found out Inez had been lying to me when she said her first husband — William Brisam — was dead. I learned he was very much alive and living in New Jersey.

One day she offered me a bowl of vegetable soup for lunch. It tasted funny, but I finished it anyway.

I geban to get mighty dizzy in a few minutes and the pupils of my eyes got so big that everything was blurred.

I knew she was trying to poison me and I took some sweet milk and salt water to get rid of it. It made me sick enough and I recovered.

Made Second Attempt

Her second try at poisoning me came about six years ago after we had separated. I came home and found my two boys in the house. They said their mother had been there and left.

It was cold out so I mixed myself some whiskey and coffee to warm up. There was some white stuff in the bottom of the cup and then I noticed some of it in the whisky bottle. It was arsenic. The boys said they didn't know how it got there.

Another time, I was clubbed unconscious when I came into my darkened home.

I woke up in time to see a car drive off. In it, I saw my wife and Harvey Drummheller, whom everyone said Inez was living with.

I looked around the house and found that my safe was open and some money had been taken.

I know Inez wanted my money and was after the insurance I carried with the Philadelphia Bulletin.

Inez told me at the divorce proceedings six months ago in Philadelphia that Drummheller was dead. I told this to Delaware police.

Instructed Verdict Given In Title Suit

An instructed verdict for the plaintiff was returned Monday afternoon in Judge G. V. Pardue's 99th district court, in the title and possession cause of J. G. Wilkerson against Floyd Henry.

Affected was lot 14, block 25 of the original town of Lubbock.

Henry's answer to Wilkerson's suit claimed the defendant had held peaceable and adverse possession of the property more than 10 years during which time he had enclosed it. He pleaded that the claims of Wilkerson were barred by statute of limitation for 10 years. In the trial, however, he presented no proof to support that contention, Attorney Robert H. Bean, of the law firm of Klett, Bean, Evans and Justice, said in urging the instructed verdict.

The verdict was signed by Fred H. Schmidt as foreman. By agreement of sides, Elmer D. Godwin, another juror, was excused after learning of the serious illness of a relative.

Other jurors were: Julian M. Joplin, J. C. Reynolds, L. D. Rogers, J. T. Tarkington, C. T Agnew, B. S. Montgomery, I. F. Wallace, A. D. Burress, H. P Watkins, and Joe S. Walker.

Reburial Rites For Cpl. C. L. Mills Set

Reburial services for Corporal Charles Lester Mills, of the Coast Artillery, will be held at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday in Haskell Methodist church.

Burial will be in Goree cemetery.

Cpl. Mills was killed in action, while on duty with the Coast Artillery in the Philippine area, in 1942. He enlisted in the army in January, 1941, and received training at the Lubbock training center before being assigned to overseas duty.

Survivors include the step-mother, Mrs. F. L. Jennings of 3104 Maple; one sister, Mrs. J. J. Pace of Fort Worth; three half-sisters, Miss Mary Mills and Miss Jeanette Mills, both of 3104 Maple and Mrs. T. Z. Goodgion, jr., of Lubbock route 3; and one half-brother, Tommy Mills of 3104 Maple.

TB Association Has Meeting In Lubbock

The seriousness of the tuberculosis situation in Lubbock county was discussed Monday noon by Mrs. M. L. Ailes, executive secretary of the Lubbock County Tuberculosis association.

Mrs. Ailes' speech was before the regular meeting of the Lubbock Social Welfare association which was held in the Hilton hotel.

The official pointed out that tuberculosis is seventh on the list of killers.

Seal Sales Supply Funds

The local association is affiliated with the state and national organizations. For funds, it depends entirely on the annual Christmas seal sale. The 1948 seal sale produced about $10,000 for Lubbock county association work. Ninety per cent of the funds raised locally are retained here.

The Lubbock tuberculosis office does only diagnosis. Chest X-rays are made for it by the three Lubbock hospitals and the Slaton hospital.

"The greatest local need is for a county sanitarium," declared Mrs. Ailes. She said that the usual survey showed about 15 per cent of school age children with some type of chest difficulty that required further check-up.

Mrs. Ailes emphasized the desirability of using the services of a state mobile X-ray unit whenever possible.

Mobile Unit Desired

Miss Robbie Warren, TB nurse, also discussed a problem. She explained the instance of tuberculosis in this county. She also explained the inadequacy of state facilities for treatment of this disease.

These talks were illustrated by a sound motion picture: "You Can Help." The program was in charge of Rev. Claude Canterbury. Mrs. Rosa A. Settle presided at the meeting.

Condition Of Actor Reported As "Fair"

BURBANK, Calif., April 26 (AP) —The condition of Dana Andrews, ill with a virus infection, is described as "fair" today by attendants at St. Joseph's hospital.

The actor collapsed on a studio set Saturday and was taken to a hospital yesterday. Andrews' studio said the actor's temperature had been above 104 degrees. But his physician, Dr. William Evans, declined to discuss the case.

The studio said the doctor described Andrews' condition as "semi-critical."

Andrews and his wife, Actress Mary Todd, have four children.

Lazarus, The Frog Who Spent 1,250 Years In Glacier, May Enter Famed Jump Match

ANGELS CAMP, Calif., April 26 (AP)—Betting was running 5 to 2 today that a frozen frog named Lazarus won't go to the post in the Calaveras county jumping frog contest.

Lazarus was chipped out of a Yosemite glacier by Dr. D. L. Albasio and entered in the famed jump next month. He's still frozen stiff in a chunk of ice stored in Dr. Albasio's refrigerator.

Using all available data about the glacier, the doctor computed Lazarus went into a deep freeze about 1,250 years ago—give or take a few centuries.

When he entered Lazarus he announced he'd thaw the frog out and put him in training in ample time to answer the starter's gun.

But how long can a frog take that sort of thing?

People recalled stories of frogs hopping briskly about after being confined for years in stone walls or wells. Scientists, however, took a dim view. They predicted Lazarus is deader than a mackerel.

Undaunted, Dr. Albasio contends Lazarus is just dormant and will snap out of it itching for some leg-work.

He had no answer for this one: If Lazarus couldn't jump far enough to elude a glacier 1,250 years ago, how could he win a jumping contest against modern-day frogs?

Gun-Toting 'Desperadoes' Turn Out To Be Hungry Cop, Friends

HAMILTON, O., April 26 (AP)—The Hamilton police department was thrown into a dither Monday night on a report that "three heavily armed desperadoes were heading toward Hamilton in a car bearing license number 274-RD."

Within a few minutes eight city policemen and four deputy sheriffs, armed with machine guns, rifles, revolvers and tear gas guns, roared away in search of the men.

They quickly caught the "fugitives." They turned out to be Henry W. Snow, an Elmwood Place police officer, and Vernon H. Hofford and Fred McNeely, Elmwood Place maintenance department employes. Here's how it happened:

Snow's automobile broke down in Eaton Monday. Hofford and McNeely took him to get the car. When they had the automobile running again, they stopped to eat and when snow pulled back his coat to reach his pocketbook the restaurant employes saw his gun.

That's how the report of the "three heavily armed desperadoes" originated.

Albuquerque Dukes Bounce Back To Trounce Hubbers, 11-3

Protest Is Filed By Lubbock; Loss Charged To Bill Grafton

Manager Jackie Sullivan finally uncovered a pitcher who could go the route, but when he did, the Hubbers promptly got their ears pinned back.

The Albuquerque Dukes bounced back from their 12-6 humiliation Sunday afternoon to lambast the Hubbers 11-3 last night at Rosenthal Field. It was at the expense of Right-hander Bill Grafton, who only Sunday reported to the Hubbers from Greenville.

Elsewhere around the West Texas-New Mexico League, things remained about normal. Abilene was rained out for the fourth time in six games, the moisture keeping the Borger Gassers, who were scheduled to play there, in first place.

Lefty Leon Hayes of the Lamesa Loboes became the first WT-NM pitcher to hurl a shutout, blanking the Clovis Pioneers 5-0. Hayes only allowed four hits in whitewashing Paul Dean's gang, with Mel Kramer taking the loss.

Pampa broke loose with a base-hit barrage that drove Amarillo to cover, 18-2. It was one of the worst lickings hung a club so far this year.

The steady twirling of Hayes was the brightest spot in the league last night. He gave up four singles in as many innings, fanned five and only two Pioneers reached third. He faced only 34 batters in hurling Lamesa to a clean sweep of the two-game series with Clovis. In addition, the Loboes wound up their home stand with four victories against two losses.

Umpire Is Scored

The umpiring in the league reached a new low note here last night, with Rookie Kermit S. Cran joining such immortals as Bill Brockwell, Odom and others. It was his ruling on a play in the second inning that caused the Lubbock Baseball club to file a written protest with League President Milton E. Price.

The protest was written last night, with copies going to Price and the Albuquerque Baseball club. George Schepps, Hubber general manager, declared that if the account was correct, the umpires apparently were in the wrong.

Here's what happened. Nelson Davis singled and went to third on Bubba Kaine's single. There was one out. Grafton hit to Second Baseman Babe Furrmann, who threw to Shortstop Frank Okrie, forcing Kaine. Okrie threw to first to complete the double play, but the ball hit Kaine in the forehead and bounced over to the wire fence along the third base line.

Attyd Blasts Homer

Umpire Cran called interference on Kaine and apparently ruled it a successful double play, since Kaine could not be called out for interfering; he already was out. Manager Sullivan protested the decision to no avail, then lodged a formal protest with Umpire Harold Gatlin, umpire-in-chief last night.

Third Baseman Len Attyd, something of a pain in the neck to the Hubbers, sounded a warning note in the first inning, driving the first pitch over the leftfield fence. Sunday afternoon Attyd hit the second pitch of the game out of the park.

With that kind of example set for them, the Dukes went to work and piled up a long lead that kept getting longer. But the Hubbers, concerned over Kaine's condition, did not appear too interested in the game and played lethargically.

The club goes on the road today, playing two games at Clovis, two at Albuquerque and two at Pampa. They return next Monday to play two games here against Pampa.

Lubbock Golfers Cop Second In Tourney

Local golfers won second place in the first meet of the Men's Panhandle Golf team play Sunday at Amarillo's Ross Rogers Municipal golf course. First was Amarillo with a low score of 479. Lubbock had 498, and Phillips of Borger had 500.

Placing fourth was Huber of Borger with 511; Pampa Country club had 512; and Plainview Country club had 547.

Approximately 250 golfers participated, and the low scores of seven golfers from each course were used to obtain the team total. The local golfers making the team were Dave Lawson, who shot 74 with a six stroke handicap for a total of 68. Jeff Jeffries had 80-12-68. Jack Trammel had 77-6-71. Manse Allen had 75-3-72. Burl Pigg totaled 84-12-72. Bob Ewerz had 78-5-73. And A. B. Holton shot 80-6-74.

The next match will be June 5 at the Huber course in Borger. Daily prizes are given for the first place, and the team with the low score after the different tournaments at each course for six months will receive a trophy.

Westerners To Meet Cub Nine Wednesday

The Westerners go after their fourth win in the south half District 1-AA baseball campaign tomorrow when they go to Brownfield to play the Cubs.

Lubbock leads the south half of the district after the first week of play, defeating Plainview, 11-6, and Brownfield, 19-3 and 12-1, in a doubleheader here last Friday. The Westerners have another game scheduled with Plainview Saturday at Plainview.

In the north half a real battle is going on with Borger in the lead at present. After dropping their first tilt to the Sandies, Borger bounced back to defeat Amarillo and Pampa in that order.

That leaves Borger on top with two wins and one loss, Amarillo with one victory and one defeat, and Pampa with one loss against no wins. Amarillo plays at Pampa today in a doubleheader., and Pampa invades Borger Friday.

Coach Fred Taylor is emphasizing hitting and fielding this week in preparation for the two district tilts. The boys had an extensive batting practice Monday between fielding stints, and the workout was climaxed with infield work.

The locals will probably be without the services of Bob Brown, shortstop, this week. He reinjured his ankle on the Altus trip and has been told to take it easy awhile.

Seven Westerners have improved their batting in the past few weeks. In district competition seven boys are above the .300 mark.

Jaycee Card Slated At Chapman Field

Bill Henderson Battles Jean Mougin In Top Bout Tonight

Chapman fieldhouse will be the scene tonight for the return match of Bill Henderson and Jean Mougin, lightweights, with preliminaries starting at 8 p. m.

All 2,500 seats are expected to be filled for the Jaycee sponsored fight program which brings the two fighters together the second time. Before coming to this country, Mougin lost the lightweight championship of France. He has had a successful campaign over the United States, principally in the Southwest and Pacific Coast regions, including the ninth round knockout of Henderson in El Paso last month.

Both Weigh 134

Both fighters are expected to weigh in at approximately 134 pounds, and they are reported to be in top shape. Mougin arrived here Saturday and has had two light workouts. Henderson began tapering off for the match Saturday after sparring the latter part of the week.

Since losing to Mougin, Henderson has had one fight, and he won a TKO over Paul Guerrera of Juarez, Mexico, after the Mexican fighter failed to appear for the sixth round.

Twenty-eight rounds are scheduled for the enjoyment of the boxing fans tonight—three four-round bouts, one six-round semi-final event, and the main event for 10 rounds.

Galvan To Fight

Sammy Galvan of El Paso is matched against Chino Alonzo of Douglas, Ariz., in a featherweight match in the semi-finals. Both Galvan and Alonzo have winning records. Both sparred against Henderson last week. Henderson won twice over Galvan via the TKO route in previous fights.

In a four-round heavyweight bout Lubbock's Gene James goes against Dickie Brown of Amarillo in his second professional fight. In 1948 James pounded out a decision over the Amarillo fighter when both were amateurs. James won his first fight from another Amarilloan, James Wortham, with a TKO in the final round of their match on the same card with Henderson a few weeks ago.

Olivas Is Carded

Two featherweights, Tony Olivas and Bobby Malacarh, are scheduled for four rounds. In his first Lubbock showing last summer, Olivas was disqualified in his fight with Jose Andres of Fort Worth, but he was ahead of the Cowtown boxer at the time on points. Both boys are speedy and should put on a fast fight.

The opener is between Freddie Marquez of El Paso and Ruben Salazar of Mexico City. Neither of the feather weights has fought in this area before, but they are experienced in the professional ranks.

Referees for the bouts will be O. J. (Bo) Sexton and LaVern Roach. Tickets are on sale at Hilton hotel.

Tickets also will be on sale tonight at the Chapman fieldhouse box office, from 6:30 p. m. until fight time.

Shooting Exhibition Set Here Wednesday

The kind of shooting must hunters dream about will be demonstrated Wednesday at 3:30 p. m. by Herb Parsons, internationally known marksman, free of chare at Lubbock Gun club at the North Air base.

His shooting activities are sponsored by Winchester guns and ammunition, and he will use 12 guns in 52 different ways to fire 700 times in less than an hour.

A former winner of the Pacific International trap shoot, he cracked 399 of 400 clay targets to win the title, and in addition to shooting at clay pigeons he has a large collection of stuffed animals which includes a Javalina boar, a deer, a bobcat, a brown bear, and a black bear.

He borrowed one trick from the cowboys—that of bouncing a tin can on the ground. But Parsons does the trick one better by splintering a wood block thrown into the air and shooting the pieces in two.

Directions to the scene of the shooting will be posted at the south gate of the air base.

Jim Leonard, Villanova's new head football coach, also is an asparagus farmer. Leonard has a large farm in New Jersey.

South Grid Squad Members Revealed

BEAUMONT, April 26. (AP)—Schoolboy footballers who will represent south Texas in the annual North-South game Aug. 5 have been selected.

Twenty-four boys were named by the Texas High School Coaches associations all-star committee.

The North's players for the game which will be held here were named previously.

Half of those selected for the South are all state players.

Class AA all-state boys named include Charles Saxe, end, South Park, Beaumont; Bill Athey, Waco, guard; Claude Kincannon, Waco, back; Tom Stolhandske, Baytown, back; Hugh Reeder, Port Arthur, center; and Gahlen Dinkle, Marshall, back.

City conference players include Donald Carpenter, Milby, back; Dick Self of Brackenridge; and George Pontikes, Lamar, end.

Class A players chosen were Connie Magourick, New London, back; Milby Sexton, Aldine, end; and Robert Zotz, Cameron, tackle.

TKO Features Fight Card At Abernathy

ABERNATHY, April 26 (Special)—One TKO resulted in the 11-bout fight card here last night which featured fighters from Abernathy, Lubbock, and Clovis, N. M.

In the top fight of the evening Johnny McWhorter 160, of Lubbock defeated John Kelly of Abernathy with a technical knockout in 1:50 of the second round when Referee Charlie Neff, Lubbock, stopped the fight. The two boys put on a good show, and both were fighting fast and hard.

J. D. Williams, 170, Lubbock, punched out a decision over Charles Painter, 210, of Clovis, N. M., in another good fight. Gilbert Anayo, 132, Clovis, decisioned Wayne Driver, 134, of Lubbock, and Charles Odom 132, decisioned John Davis. Both boys were from Clovis.

Mel Parnell Hurls Red Sox To 2-0 Triumph Over Washington

By CARL LUNQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 26—Mel Parnell, the lefty who might have pitched the Red Sox into last year's World Series, was making it his personal project today to see that they don't miss out this year.

When the Red Sox wound up in a pennant tie with the Indians in the 1948 race everybody expected Marse Joe McCarthy to pitch Parnell, a 15-game winner, in the playoff game. Instead, McCarthy chose Uncle Denny Galehouse, an elderly soul who hadn't won a game in three weeks, and who had an unimpressive lifetime record of nine victories and 18 defeats against Cleveland.

So while Parnell chafed in the dugout, the Indians massacred Galehouse and they, not the Red Sox, wound up in the World Series.

Yesterday, Parnell pitched his second straight shutout, beating Washington, 2 to 0, on seven hits to run his string of scoreless innings to 18. He is the only Boston pitcher to complete and win a game and he's done it twice. Bobby Doerr tripled and scored on an infield out for one Boston run and Johnny Pesky got the other by doubling and moving around on an infield out and a long fly.

In New York, Vic Raschi of the Yankees pitched a 3 to 2 five-hitter over his favorite opponents, the Athletics, scoring his ninth victory over them against one defeat since coming into the league.

The Braves also got a well-pitched game from Bill Voiselle who blanked the Dodgers in Brooklyn, 3 to 0 on six hits. Duke Torgeson hit his second homer for the Braves and Jim Russell sent home the other two tallies with a single.

Clint Hartung won his second game, scattering nine hits as the Giants came from behind to beat the Phils at Philadelphia, 6 to 3. A four run rally in which errors by Ralph Hamner and Eddie Waitkus were the big factors, put the Giants went ahead to stay in the eighth.

Rip Sewell, 41-year-old blooper ball specialist, continued his "hex" over the Chicago Cubs last night by pitching Pittsburgh to an 8 to 2 win. It wis the second victory for Sewell over Chicago within a week and the veteran hurler was aided by Wally Westlake, who drove in four runs with two homers and a single.

Harry (The Cat) Brecheen of the Cardinals chalked up his first victory by beating Cincinnati, 9 to 3, in another night contest. Stan Musial put the Redbirds in front with a first-inning homer and St. Louis fashioned 14 more hits off Ken Raffensberger, Hank Perkowski and Frank Fanovich.

Accuracy Of Iron Play Is Stressed

By BEN HOGAN
CHAPTER VI

IRON SHOTS FOR ACCURACY

Pride will inspire most golfers to do a certain amount of practice work on their tee shots and their putting, but the same gents will let their iron play deteriorate without giving it a thought. Yet, iron play is every bit as important to them as an ability to hit a tee shot straight and to putt accurately because iron shots are the accuracy shots of golf.

By that I don't mean to imply that you don't have to be accurate with your wood clubs. You do. The difference lies in the fact that the margin of error for iron shots is less than for your wood clubs.

Iron shots are also the offensive shots of golf. That's because it is impossible to score a course consistently well without hitting good iron shots. I say that in spite of the fact that I have seen many low scores posted without the aid of good iron play.

Whenever that has happened, however, it has invariably been done the hard way by means of phenomenal putting. Maybe you can offset your errors in iron play technique with good putting for an occasional round or two, but never over a period of time. Ability with a putter is a great asset, but it can't compensate for faulty iron play indefinitely.

Attack Course Early

Good golfers attack a golf course right from the first tee shot in order to put themselves in command of the situation as soon as possible. On the other hand a faulty iron player must immediately go on the defensive, avoid as many errors as he can and rely on his short game for any help at all in cutting down his score.

Hitting a good iron shot is more difficult than hitting a good wood shot. The reason for this is the ball must be contacted properly with a blade of the club and the blow struck with a sharpness of impact that is never experienced with a wood club.

If there is any great difference between an iron shot and a wood shot it is that an iron shot is definitely a sharp hit while a wood shot is swung and the ball swept off either the tee or the turf. Since the iron swing is shorter than that used in playing a wood shot, because the length of the shaft of an iron club is shorter than that on a wood and because the ball must be contacted on the downswing, the action of the body and the hands must be speeded up considerably.

Summing up the approach to iron play, let me say that the only variations you will have to concern yourself with are the stance and the legnth of the swing.

Naturally, while you are playing the various iron clubs your stance varies. A good key to the amount of this variation is to remember that as the numbers of your irons increase the width of your stance decreases and also opens. Stances won't be discussed here in relation to iron play, however, because all of the stances are discussed at length in the chapter Stance Gives You Balance

When you are using an iron club the swing automatically becomes more upright because of the length of the club shaft. The length of the swing is graduated. For instance, you take a longer swing with a one iron than you do with a nine iron.

While playing iron shots you have to be extremely careful in judging the distance and straightness of the shot required. You must also remember that you have a maximum, medium, and minimum range with each iron from the four iron down to the nine iron, particularly from the six iron down, and play each shot accordingly.

The reason it is important for you to realize the limitations of your irons is that if you took your irons back on the backswing as you do the driver, for instance, you would have too much sway. In iron play the wrists are broken much sooner on the backswing than they are when you are playing wood shots. This enables you to hit down and through the ball.

How To Hit Turf

To accomplish this the weight is shifted to the left side faster on an iron shot than it is when you use a wood club. This brings the lowest part of the swing in front of the ball, enabling you to hit down on the ball and take turf in front of it, not in back.

Let me digress here a moment to say that a question I am asked quite frequently is, "Why do novice golfers take turf in back of the ball on iron shots instead of in front of it as the professionals do?"

Of course, it is difficult to answer that question accurately and completely without having a chance to study the individuals involved, but generally the novice golfer takes turf in back of the ball because he has started with most of his weight on the right foot at address and on the backswing shifts the remainder of his weight to the right foot and on the downswing fails to shift his weight over to his left foot. As a result he will continually hit in back of the ball and take turf there instead of in front of it.

Shift your weight to the left foot at the top of the swing as you would when using your driver. But be sure to make a conscious effort to do it much sooner and faster than you do when using the wood clubs. This shifting of the weight rapidly brings the lowest part of the swing in front of the ball. You are thus sure of hitting down on the ball. And when you do that you will take turf in front of it and not in back of it.

Just as with the wood clubs the clubhead, hands and shoulders must all start back in one motion. Going back there is a very slight lateral movement of the hips. Remember that the backswing is one continuous rhythmic motion.

Hitting Down Important

The first movement in the downswing for the long irons is, likewise, just as it was with the woods, the turning of the left hip to the left. When the hips are turned to the left there is enough lateral movement to put your weight on your left foot.

Hitting down is an important part of iron play. With the exception of the putter and the driver remember that you hit down on every other shot in golf.

The reason hitting down is so important on iron shots is that it is the only way that you can hit the ball squarely while still imparting a degree of underspin to it. You have to have a greater degree of underspin on iron shots than you have on any other shots because this underspin is absolutely necessary for control and control is more important on iron shots than anything else.

Mention of underspin recalls to mind the fact that much has been written and said about hitting a golf ball with overspin. It has been the subject of discussion for some time, but I contend that there is no such thing as overspin on any shot with the possible exception of one that is topped.

The reason I contend that there is no such thing as overspin is that in order to get any ball up into the air you have to impart underspin on it. Otherwise it hit the green and run for a considerable distance. Perhaps you have been under the impression that such a ball has overspin on it. Take it from me, it hasn't.

Actually, it has what can be best described as a minimum of undervariations somewhere in between the two. Underspin is also sometimes referred to as backspin.

Whether you use a minimum of underspin of a maximum should depend on the situation you are confronted with. For instance, a minimum of underspin is called for on a tee shot. The farther the ball goes the better most of us like it on tee shots, particularly if the tee shot is straight and we manage to keep out of trouble. On the other hand, on shots to the green a maximum of underspin, or backspin, is required or the ball wouldn't hold the green.

Must Have Underspin

A maximum of underspin must be imparted to the ball for extreme efficiency on most iron shots. Without a maximum of underspin an iron shot can't be controlled as to length, direction or height. Underspin is imparted by having the blade of the club contact the ball first in a downward motion and, of course, taking turf afterwards as the blow is continued on down.

There must also be a sharpness to the blow struck. By that I mean that the ball must be hit hard with the hands during the course of the swing. Hit the ball as if you were driving it forward, letting the loft of the club blade itself provide the necessary height to the flight of the ball.

There are times of course, when a soft shot is required. This is accomplished by slowing down; especially the hand action and the body movement for a lob shot. This type of shot is only used on short shoots around the green when the ball must rise quickly.

Tomorrow: Hitting To The Green.

Baltimore with 43, New York with 37, and Chicago with 28 completed the 1948 All-America Conference season without missing a point after touchdown attempt.

Between The Lines...

By Joe Kelly

Bubba Kaine is said to be in good condition at Lubbock Memorial hospital, after trying to see how far he could bunt a ball with his forehead last night. We're glad that he is recovering from the blow, which could have done considerable damage, possibly have maimed him for life. The young infielder - outfielder is popular with his teammates and they felt deep concern over his condition. By the time word was received that he was all right, Albuquerque had the ball game wrapped up.

Kaine gained consciousness on the diamond and, outside of a big knot on his forehead and an ache, said he was all right. But club officials insisted on his going to the hospital. When he learned where he was going, he asked to be put in the same room with Joe Wisniewski. Joe had a single room, but they took care of that; they moved Misniewski out and put the two in a double room. The pair listened to the remainder of the game over the radio. It's great to be young and healthy.

The Hubbers have filed a protest on the decision at second base by Umpire Kermit S. Cran and should have an answer within 36 hours, or not later than Thursday. Cran and James Welch, who worked third base, actually had no business here last night. When the Abilene-Borger game was postponed, they decided to come here — unfortunately. This is Cran's experience, as taken from the release issued by Milton E. Price, league president:

"Born December 28, 1912. Rutland, Iowa. Residence: Rutland, Iowa. 5' 10", 190 lbs. Single. Athletic background: college baseball Iowa State Teachers), semi-pro, Humboldt Merchants (Iowa), Watertown Waves (South Dakota) and Cedar Falls Merchants (Iowa). Umpiring background: Iowa High school umpiring association, 1935-1941, Iowa Amateur association 1946-1948. Attended Lefty Craig's umpire school 1949. Professional umpire record: None."

We searched the record books for some clue as to how Kaine could have caused interference. He had a right to the base path. He did not stray from it. Running at top speed that way, he could not have turned off easily. And if he was called out for interference (after having been forced out), why wasn't the batter safe? You can't have a double out like that. Moreover, if he wasn't called out for interfering, wasn't Cran assuming a great deal that his interference prevented the double play at first? And even so, haven't runners always tried to break up a double play by knocking down the baseman, "interfering" with them? Looks like Lefty graduated a candidate without a degree.

Jake Broyles, who recently competed in the River Oaks tennis tournament at Houston, reports that some wires (AP, UP and INS) got crossed in chronicling the events that transpired. The wire services said that Billy Talbert, fourth-ranked nationally, beat Broyles 6-3, 6-3. Broyles states flatly that Talbert beat him 6-0, 6-0. He thinks the discrepancy probably arose from the fact that Talbert is a fine sportsman. At River Oaks, the victorious player turned in the report, no one else. Apparently Talbert turned in the 6-3, 6-3 scores, for that was what was carried.

Broyles describes Talbert as "A swell fellow and unquestionably the finest player I've ever met in singles." But whatever the explanation, Broyles says that he wants it known that he didn't win a game from Talbert, although approximately half the games in the 12-game match, did reach deuce scores. Broyles wasn't an easy mark for Talbert, despite the six-love scores. Jake has high regard for the West Coast star, Earl Cochell, considering him the steadiest and most stylish performer at River Oaks. On the other-hand, Jake says that Cochell lacks the aggressiveness and power of "Pancho" Gonzales, Ted Schroeder and other high-ranked players.

Fourteen Killed In Political Disorders

BOGOTA, Columbia, April 26. (U.P.)—Fourteen persons were burned to death over the weekend in political disorders in Boyaca state, the liberal newspaper El Tiempo reported today.

The newspaper said the 14 dead were conservatives whose houses were set afire by liberals.

Some 33 persons were killed earlier this month in the same state during riots between conservatives and liberals.

Civil Rights Issue Bobs Up In Federal School Aid Bill

WASHINGTON April 26 (AP)—The civil rights issue bobbed up again today in Senate work on bills providing federal aid for education and school health programs.

Both bills were given right-of-way in the Senate with the school health measure coming first, after a House-passed appropriation bill for the Labor department and federal security agency has been taken care of.

The health measure would permit the federal government to give the states $35,000,000 a year to help finance medical and dental examinations and other health care for all school children.

Federal grants of $300,000,000 a year would be authorized for teacher salaries and other school operating expenses under the education bill, which was introduced by a bi-partisan group of 14 senators.

Amendment Planned

The civil rights issue was brought into the education bill by announcement of Senator Lodge (R-Mass) that he will offer an amendment that would bar aid to public schools not open to pupils regardless of race color or creed.

Senator Taft of Ohio, the Senate Republican policy chief and a sponsor of the bill, said he would oppose Lodge's amendment. "It would kill the bill," he told a reporter.

Also lined up against it were Senators Elbert Thomas (D-Utah), chairman of the committee which brought the bill before the Senate, and Senator Hill (D-Ala), one of the authors.

Hill predicted the amendment would be defeated. Lodge said he has "not the slightest idea" of how much support it will get.

As the education bill is written, the federal grants would be made on the basis of each state's annual income and the number of its school children. Alotments would vary from $5 to slightly over $29 per pupil, with the poorest states receiving the highest amounts.

Lodge Opposes

(Lodge opposes this too. He said it "makes for rich-state, poor-state discrimination.")

It would require a minimum total annual expenditure of $55, from federal, state and local funds, for each pupil in the public schools. A floor of $50 was set in last year's bill, which was passed by the Senate but died in the House.

Funds in the school health bill also would be allotted to the states on the basis of their school papulation and per capita income. Unlike the education measure, however, the health bill requires state contributions.

The wealthiest states would have to provide from state and local funds an amount equal to the federal contribution, while the poorest states would have to put up one-third as much as they received in federal funds.

U. S. Ships

Since it was impossible to get anything from headquarters, there was virtually no news in Shanghai newspapers.

Evidence Of Panic

Meanwhile Shnaghai, which had taken the situation with relative calm, was beginning to show evidence of panic. Shanghai's commerce seemed grinding to a halt. The securities exchange was open but there was little business. Many offices failed to open. The money market was so chaotic as to be meaningless. The U. S. dollar fetched 700,000 gold yuan. The prewar Chinese silver dollar soared until it cost $10 to buy six of them.

Reports that the Reds were getting close were none too reliable.

Possibly the Communists had some vanguards near the outskirts of the city, but the only information which seemed definite was that the Reds had taken Wusih and were there in fair strength.

It was still anybody's guess whether the Communists would strike first to seal off the Nationalist escape route by taking Hangchow, 100 miles southwest of Shanghai, or hit for Shanghai itself and close the government's largest potential evacuation port. It was possible they would try to do both.

Naval Ships Moved

The flagship Eldorado of Vice Adm. Oscar Badger, commander of U. S. naval forces in the western Pacific, moved from the No. 1 buoy on Shanghai's famed "battleship row" at 11 a. m. It was followed down the muddy Wangpoo river by the troopship Chilton carrying one battalion of marines.

The British heavy cruiser London, shelled by Communist shore guns on the Yangtze above Shanghai last week, also moved out. So did the destroyer Constance.

Withdrawal of the American and British naval craft came less than 24 hours after the Communist radio demanded that the "aggressive military forces" of the two "imperialist" nations get out of China.

Palmer called the indictment here "double jeopardy," "terrorism." and a "travesty on justice." and said it should be dismissed because nine of the 17 grand jurors who returned it were government employes. He said the indictment here is the same as the one in New York "except for the Russian."

"There was no necessity outside the terrorism to indict her all over again," Palmer said. "This young woman was not properly indicted. This unnecessary indictment, this double-up, should be dismissed."

Stock Market

BUYING INTEREST BETTER

NEW YORK, April 26 (AP) — Buying interest in stocks picked up a bit today but the demand lacked any real vigor.

The market closed with a majority of gains running from fractions to around a point. Numerous issues, at the same time, either remained at Monday's closing levels or even backed down a trifle.

The volume of trading increased a little as prices moved up. Turnover was at the rate of around 900,000 shares for the full day.

Chrysler Corp. advanced more than a point at one time but later fell back. Richfield Oil, which made a strong showing late last week, rallied after yesterday's small setback.

Lehigh Coal & Navigation dropped more than a point to a new low for the year after the company's president said he would ask the board to defer voting a dividend next week.

Marked up were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Goodyear, Douglas Aircraft, Consolidated Edison, Westinghouse Electric, Dow Chemical, American Tobacco, Skelly Oil, Standard Oil (NJ), and Twentieth Century-Fox.

Commonwealth & Southern reached a new high for 1949 at one time but the advance was later trimmed.

Holding back were Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, United Aircraft, Western Union, Allied Chemical, Union Pacific and Gulf Oil.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 26 (AP) — Cotton futures were steady today in early dealings, with old crop May and July deliveries making new highs for the season but the market subsequently turned sharply lower under pressure of commission house profit taking.

Persistent buying by shippers against sales of cotton to Japan was a sustaining influence and when this was completed the market proved vulnerable to selling. The reaction was encouraged partly by indications that more than half of the Japanese sales have already been covered in fugures.

There were three May transferable notices issued today on first notice day for that delivery, and they were believed promptly stopped by a leading spot firm. There was considerable switching May to later months.

Futures closed 80 cents a bale higher to 70 cents lower than the previous close.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, April 26 (AP) — Grains pushed upward toward the close of today's board of trade session. Wheat and corn at times were more than a cent higher, in fairly active trading.

Reports of dust storms in southern Canadian provinces gave new crop wheat contracts a lift, nad the May contract, which had been easy most of the session climbed above yesterday's close.

Corn followed the lead of wheat, with the May contract making the best showing.

At the finish wheat was 1¼ to 2¼ higher than yesterday's close. May $2.24½. Corn was ⅜ to 1 cent higher, May $1.35¾-¼. Oats were ⅛ to ⅜ higher, May 66¾-¾. Rye was 1¼ cent higher, May $1.27½. Soybeans were 2¾ to 3 cents higher, May $2.26¼. Lard was 20 cents to 48 cents a hundredweight higher, May $11.90-12.00.

Red Blockade

ing of the Big Four council of foreign ministers (the western powers plus Russia) to be held after the blockade is lifted.

These conditions were revealed in the Russian announcement in Moscow as made through the Soviet news agency Tass.

In its statement, the State department declared:

"If the present position of the Soviet government is as stated in the Tass agency release as published in the American press this morning, the way appears clear for a lifting of the blockade and a meeting of the council of foreign ministers."

But the statement added that "no final conclusion upon this can be reached until further exchanges of view" between Jessup and Malik.

Jessup went to the White House with Undersecretary of State James A. Webb.

On leaving, Jessup said the President had asked him for a report on the talks with Malik.

Both Webb and Jessup were smiling, buoyant and animated.

Webb told reporters:

"The President has been informed of the steps which have been taken and has approved them."

MEETING OF BIG FOUR IS ASKED BY RUSSIA

LONDON, April 26 — Russia said today she has offered a deal to end the Berlin blockade, main point of friction in the cold war.

The proposal, announced by the official Soviet news agency Tass, would call off the blockade in advance of a meeting of Big Four foreign ministers, if the western powers will set a date for the meeting acceptable to the Soviet union.

Tass said the proposal already has been given to Dr. Philip C. Jessup, U. S. ambassador-at-large, by the Soviet United Nations delegate, J. A. Malik.

No Comment By West

There has been no comment by any of the western powers.

If the offer is what Tass reported, it would mark a major concession by the Russians.

Negotiations in the past have broken down, both in and outside the United Nations, on the subject of timing. The western powers have insisted that the blockade be lifted before any Big Four session.

As Tass described the offer, the Russians now propose that their blockade and the western powers' counter-blockade be lifted, and that the four nations' foreign ministers then meet and discuss all outstanding German problems. They had been adamant against such timing in past negotiations.

Agreement Reached

The western powers and German leaders in their zone reached an historic agreement last night to set up a west German republic, completely divorced from the Soviet zone and operating under its own constitution. Presumably this would be among the preblems to arise at a four-power meeting, since the Russians have opposed that plan.

The Soviet union, Tass said, specifically offered to leave until the four-power meeting the subject of restoring a single currency in Berlin, one of the big subjects of discord. The Soviet sector has a Russian-backed mark, inferior in value to that of the west mark, backed by the western powers. The currency issue is tightly woven into the whole controversy over three-or four-power rule, which has torn the conquered nation into the equivalent of two separate countries.

Made In Discussions

The offer was made in discussions between Malik and Jessup between Feb. 15 and April 10, when they had their last meeting, the Soviet news agency said.

The big rupture between East and West came last June 19, when the Russians clamped a blockade on the west-occupied sectors of Berlin amid a clash over which should control German currency.

Western-occupied Berlin became an island surrounded by the Soviet occupation zone, but American and British know-how established the airlift which has amazed the world by keeping Berlin's millions supplied with food, fuel and raw materials for industries.

television from home.

There will be a big welcoming parade this afternoon, with the Sunkist Lady herself in the line of march.

Beforehand, the exhausted pilots will be checked by doctors and will receive attentions from masseurs and barbers. And they'll take a long bath.

Tonight the airmen and their wives will go to a beach hotel for a quiet week's vacation before returning here for a testimonial dinner.

Nearly 12 days ago Riedel and Barris broke the old endurance record of 726 hours, set 10 years ago over Long Beach, Calif. The six-week flight of 1,008 hours is the original goal they set.

Statistically, the flight adds up this way:

They've traveled more than 75,000 miles, or three times around the world. Each spark plug has fired 65,016,000 times; each piston has traveled 15,884 miles; the 145-horsepower motor has turned over 130,032,000 times.

They've taken aboard more than 6,500 gallons of gasoline, by can from a jeep traveling 75 miles an hour, averaging 11.5 a gallon.

New Home Gin Meet Scheduled Tonight

Approximately 400 persons are expected to gather at the New Home school in northern Lynn county tonight at 7:30 o'clock for the annual meeting of the New Home Co-Operative Gin, Wilmer Smith, president of the board, said here today.

Smith, accompanied by J. M. Johnson, gin manager, visited in Lubbock today on business incidental to tonight's meeting, which will be preceded by a barbecue supper.

Report on the annual audit, issuance of stockholders' checks and annual election of officers will feature tonight's meeting, Smith said.

trucks and cars from Alice homes. But the greatest damage was believed suffered by stores and business buildings. Their ground-floor stocks in many cases were subjected to water damage.

Creek Waters Falling

San Diego, ten miles upstream from Alice, also reporting the creek waters were falling.

Creech, killed when he was struck by a train in Kleberg county, was an employ of the Thomas and Ratcliff Construction company. He was clearing driftwood from a railroad trestle over the swollen Santa Gertrudis creek two miles south of Bishop. The was struck by a southbound Missouri Pacific train.

In Laredo early yesterday many residents fled their homes after a flash flood following very heavy rains. Governor Jester and his family were temporarily marooned on a bottomland ranch near Martindale yesterday while enroute back from Jester's historic meeting with Mexican President Aleman at Matamoros.

New Dam Breaks

A new dam built to form a lake on the Laredo Country club grounds broke early today. The lake had spread over an area a mile wide and five miles long as a result of torrential rains. The huge volume of water was too much for the newly-constructed dam, which began weakening last night.

Water released by the dam break coursed into a creek which empties into the Rio Grande.

Webb County Judge M. J. Raymond said that as soon as the great volume of water built up in the lake has receded, repairs on the dam will be started. The dam and lake were being built by Webb county at a cost of about $800,000.

pation officials will be mainly supervisory," the State department said. "The German authorities will be free to take administrative or legislative action, and this action will be valid unless it is vetoed by Allied authority.

"The fields in which the occupation authorities reserve the right to take direct action themselves, including the issuance of orders to German federal and local officials, will be restricted to a minimum, and it is expected that, with the exception of security questions, the exercise of direct power will be of a temporary and self-liquidating nature.

"After the German federal republic has been established the Economic Cooperation administration will assume the responsibility for supervising the use of funds made available by the United States government to the German economy for purposes of relief and recovery.

"It is envisaged that the German federal republic will become a party to the convention for European economic cooperation and will also conclude a bi-lateral agreement with the government of the United States.

"When the German republic has been established and military government has been brought to an end, the strictly military functions of the occupation authorities will be exercised by a commander-in-chief and all other functions by a high commander, who will direct each of the Allied establishments in Germany other than the occupation forces.

"It is intended that the size of these staffs to be maintained in Germany will be kept to a minimum. The major objective of the three Allied governments is to bring about the closest integration, on a mutually beneficial basis, of the German people under a democratic federal state within the framework of a European association."

Ford Price Cuts Now Effective In Mexico

MEXICO CITY, April 26. (UP)—General price cuts in Ford, Mercury and Lincoln passenger cars and trucks went into effect today in Mexico.

The decreases run from about $10 on some Ford trucks to about $315 on some Lincolns.

Prices start now at $2203 (U.S.) for the 6-cylinder Ford commercial coupe.

SENATOR IS NAMED

HARTFORD, Conn., April 26. (AP)—U. S. Sen. Raymond E. Baldwin (R-Conn) was named to the state Supreme Court of Errors today by Democratic Gov. Chester Bowles.

Brother Of Lubbock Residents Is Dead

W. B. Godwin of Ardmore, Okla., brother of Luther Godwin and Elmer Godwin of Lubbock, died in a hospital in Ardmore at 7:55 o'clock this morning, following several months' illness.

Services will be at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday in Ardmore.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Godwin and Mr. and Mrs Luther Godwin were in Ardmore at time of the death.

W. B. Godwin had visited in Lubbock numerous times.

McGee Trial

asked.

"I don't know," Dr. Sloan answered.

Col. Simpson objected again on the grounds that Dr. Sloan did not consider himself an expert on the Bible. The objection was sustained and the question and answer removed from the record.

Much of the testimony dealt with the functioning of the human brain and the effects of injuries to the brain on a person's thoughts and actions.

When questioned again on the report of his examination of Richard McGee on January 27, 1947, Dr. Sloan admitted that he had signed the report in which the statement, "did not find where McGee had ever suffered a permanent brain injury," was included.

Dupree asked Dr. Sloan if he had ever been visited by Mrs. Ethel Allstone, widow of the slain man.

"Yes she came to me to see if I would examine Richard McGee," Dr. Sloan stated.

Does Not Recall Fee

"Do you recall whether or not you asked for a fee of $300 at that time?" Dupree asked.

"I do not recall the amount of the fee or whether it was discussed," Dr. Sloan answered. He also stated that he did not tell Mrs. Allston that he had previously examined the defendant.

When Col. Simpson continued with the re-direct questioning he summed up the case to ask Dr. Sloan if, in his opinion, McGee was sane or insane, if he knew the difference between right and wrong, and if he knew the nature and the consequences of his acts.

"Richard McGee is insane, he does not know the difference between right and wrong, nor does he know the nature and consequences of his acts," Dr. Sloan asserted. "He is unfitted for industrial application."

When court recessed for the lunch hour Dr. Sloan was excused by both sides but was subject to recall for further questioning by the state.

Shows Alert Interest

The defendant has resumed the gum chewing which was so noticeable last week. He continues to sho wthe same alert interest in the proceedings as he did yesterday and converses frequently with Defense Attorney Burton S. Burks or Chief Deputy Sheriff George Eubank who sits behind him. He spoke to relatives he recognized who were sitting in the audience.

The trial also continues to attract a large crowd. There is still no unoccupied space during the time the trial is in progress. The spectators are generally attentive and listen to the manner in which Attorneys Dupree and Col Simpson present their questions to draw out testimony for their case. Attorney Burks and District Attorney Lloyd Croslin have been reserving their arguments and have been taking a large quantity of notes and offering timely suggestions to their colleagues.

The defendant's mother, Mrs. H. H. Stull, Pampa, and the widow, Mrs. Ethel Allston, both of whom have been in attendance since the trial opened last Monday, April 18, follow the trial carefully but with no emotional displays.

There has been no hint as to when the trial would come to an end but before the jury can render a verdict there are a few more witnesses to be heard by both sides, Judge Blair must prepare an intricate charge to the jury and the final arguments of the attorneys for both sides must be heard. Conservative estimates are that the trial will continue for the balance of the week and possibly up into the first few days of next week.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the armed services committee was applauded in the House today when he said "Secretary Johnson is to be commended" for cancelling the carrier contract.

If war comes, Vinson said in a one-minute speech, "it will be a struggle with a land power."

"We cannot afford the luxury of two strategic air forces," he said, adding that strategic bombing is an air force job, while the navy's duty is to control the sea.

TWINS ARE STILL ALIVE

DORTMUND, Germany, April 26. (AP)—Siamese girl twins, born here April 18, are still alive, Prof. Georg Meyer-Zu-Hoerste said today.

The twins are said to have two heads, two hearts, three arms and two legs.

Mexican Held In Rape Case

Domingo Gonzalez, 25, a Mexican, today was charged with rape last June of a 14-year-old Mexican girl who since has become a mother, A. W. Salyars, assistant district attorney, said.

Bond of $1,500 conditioning the defendant's appearance before the next grand jury here was set by C. E. Lynn, justice of peace. It had not been posted at 1:30 p. m., it was said at the sheriff's department. The arrest was by Raymond Land and Tom Cannon, sheriff's deputies.

Held For California

Police said they were holding Santos Romo, 53, of 109 Ave. P, for Ventura county, Calif., authorities who had telegraphed in the night that they held a felony theft warrant naming him. The arrest was within 20 minutes of the telegram's receipt.

Extradition was waived by the suspect.

The following judgments were filed by County Judge Walter Davies: $75, county court costs and revocation of driver's license six months for Richard Cooper Monk, 43, of Lubbock, and M. L. Tyer, a 19-year-old Brownfield girl, each of whom had pleaded guilty of drunk driving. Bond of $500 had been posted by Robert L. Hagan, 33, of Lubbock, charged with drunk driving, officials said.

Youth Is Fined

Police said they fined a 20-year-old Lubbock man $15 for disturbance after he had been arrested when in possession of a rifle and a slingshot and after, their reports said, he had threatened to "shoot his way through" a cafe he had been asked to leave.

Another Lubbock man, 24, who allegedly sped through two red lights after having been warned by the police to "watch the red lights," and who police said used abusive language toward them, was fined a total of $30.

Jess Hall of 304 Ave. W told police that two table cloths and eight aprons, valued collectively at about $12, and credit cards were taken from his car parked in 100-block Ave. S.

Bond of $750 was set by C. E. Lynn, justice of the peace, in binding Leonard C. Bogard, 24, over for grand jury investigation on a charge of wife desertion. His wife, Waunia, swore to the complaint, which was prepared by assistant District Attorney A. W. Salyars.

not yet been chosen. However, it is expected that Mayor W. H. Rodgers will be one member and Spencer Wells, chairman of the chamber's Air Force Affairs committee will be another.

To Enlarge Committee

The seven-man Air Force Affairs committee, which has been working since war's end to bring about reactivation of LAFB, will be greatly enlarged in the immediate future, it was agreed this morning. Chairman Wells outlined a plan to bring into the committee citizens from all walks of life, so as many as possible may have a hand in arranging for the Air Force's arrival and also with the reactivation.

Present at Tuesday morning's meeting were Mayor Rodgers, Commissioners W. B. Price, Clarence Whiteside, John Spikes and E. K. Hufstedler; City Attorney V. E. Wilson, City Manager Steve Matthews and City Airport Manager Ed Colby; Chairman Wells and Air Force Affairs Committeemen L. E. Davis, Don Davis, Earl Collins, Homer Maxey, Homer D. Grant and Chas. A. Guy, A. B. Davis, manager of the chamber of commerce, acted as secretary.

Trackless Trolleys Said Safety Hazard

BOSTON, April 26 (UP)—Because they run so quietly, trackless trolleys in Dorchester constitute a safety hazard, the city council warned today.

The council ordered the Metropolitan Transit authority to install a buzzer on each trolley "to warn pedestrians while the machine is in motion."

Rent Controls Will Be Discussed Here

A mass meeting to discuss the alternative of decontroling rent or maintaining the status quo here has been called by a committee of T. E. (Chief) May, J. F. Hankins and C. H. Scales for 8 p. m. Thursday night in the courthouse.

May, spokesman, said the committee was named at a meeting of approximately 20 persons a week ago.

He said the Thursday meeting would determine whether a hearing on the matter would be asked before the city commission.

The general public is invited to attend the meeting.

Parking Law

Journal's city hall reporter that City Manager Steve Matthews knew nothing about the order until phone calls of protest began pouring into his office this morning.

The ordinance was passed years ago, before there were many cars here, to provide clearance for city street sweepers. But, during the war and afterward, the city began spreading under a heavy influx of population. Suddenly there was an insufficient number of garages and drive-ways to take care of the number of automobiles here Of necessity, many cars had to be parked on the streets or else left on unpaved streets where they would be at mercy of car-strippin gthieves, or driven up on lawns.

Police relaxed enforcement of the ordinance except downtown, where some exceptions were made, for example, around hotels. Hotel guests were allowed to leave their cars parked all night where hotels would assume the duties of sweeping under the cars. When the hotels failed in their contract, cars were tagged.

Numerous apartment houses have only a small fraction of garage space needed for their tenants.

As one policeman put it: "Looks like a good way to run a lotta people outa this town. I mean enforcing that parking ordinance. And this town needs those people to keep it growing."

Kittrell, between the fire and the skillet, said his own recommendation would be to refund money collected this morning and let the other tickets "serve as a notice to the public that the ordinance will be enforced."

He said he hoped "some sort of schedule" might be worked out so that "the people will go along with us and keep cars out of the way so that we can sweep the streets."

He had no definite recommendation on how that should—or could be done.

HST Says Price Drop Means A Cheaper ERP

WASHINGTON April 26 (AP)—President Truman today informed Congress that price declines will make it possible to finance the European aid program for $157,800,000 less than Congress has authorized.

The President made that statement in a formal request to Congress to "speedily appropriate" $5,272,200,000 for the Economic Recovery administration for use until June 30, 1950.

Of that amount $1,074,000,000 would be used between now and June 30 of this year and $4,198,200,000 during the twelve months starting next July 1.

Former Ring Champ Tony Zale Retires

CHICAGO, April 26. (AP)—Tony Zale, former world middleweight boxing champion, announced today his voluntary retirement from the ring.

The retirement of the Gary, Ind., slugger, a veteran of 15 years in boxing, will cause cancellation of his return engagement with the new middleweight champion, Marcel Cerdan of France This bout was scheduled for the Polo grounds June 21.

Zale, who will be 36 next month, was champion from 1942 to 1948, with the exception of a brief period in 1947 when he lost the crown to Rocky Graziano.

Bond Proposal Lacks Support

AUSTIN, April 26 (AP)—A proposal which would set up a $200,000,000 bond issue for financing Texas water conservation projects cleared preliminary hurdles in the Senate today but lacked enough support for final passage.

The measure, by Senator John Bell of Cuero, was passed on second reading 19-to-10—two votes short of the two-thirds majority needed for final action on the proposed constitutional amendment.

"It'll take a rotary rig to find that thing now," said Senator R. A. Weinert of Seguin, who had opposed the measure on the grounds it might give the federal government a chance to gain some control of Texas river projects.

Another Attempt

Bell indicated he would attempt to bring the proposal up for final passage later.

The House refused again to pump new life into a natural gas tax bill by Rep. Deno Tufares of Wichita Falls. It rejected 73 to 54 to send his revenue-raising measure to the committee on public lands and buildings. Tufares complains it has been stuck in the revenue and taxation committee without action.

The House also refused to re-refer a bill calling for reorganization of the state optometry board to the committee on public health, from state affairs. The vote was 81 to 27.

House and Senate for the second successive day hacked at mountains of legislation that have stacked up in recent weeks. The get-to-work move started Monday in earnest.

that under it the United States would send military missions abroad to teach the use of American weapons and materiel.

Such "capital equipment" as guns, tanks, ammunition, artillery, transportation and armored equipment would make up the largest part of the program, they said.

They estimated that American money would furnish 10 to 20 per cent of the entire sum to be spent on rearmament by the European nations.

The present plan is not to arm new divisions but to bring old ones up to fighting trim.

The necessary supplies would be given away by the United States—not lend-leased under a program calling for a later settlement. The conditions under which the arms could be used would be specified, however.

Meanwhile, Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate foreign relations committee disclosed that Henry Wallace, vigorous critic of both the pact and the arms program, has asked to be heard when the treaty hearings begin Wednesday.

Secretary of State Acheson is scheduled to lead off the hearings for the administration. About 100 witnesses are scheduled to be heard during the four to six weeks following.

British Monarchs Have Anniversary

LONDON, April 26 (AP)—King George, who proposed three times to his best girl before she accepted, celebrated his 26th wedding anniversary with her today.

Their happy marriage is one of the pride-and-joys of the British people, who love lovers.

George and Queen Elizabeth had a quiet family luncheon at Buckingham palace, presumably with Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret, although the palace wouldn't say. Otherwise there were no great festivities.

The monarch still suffers from a circulatory ailment in his legs, but he walks a little every day. He stayed at the palace Monday while the Queen went to the ballet.

The Queen ,who was Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, seems to like her job well enough, but it was the possibility that she might someday become queen that made her think thrice, according to intimates, when the then Duke of York was asking for her hand.

Soldier Sentenced For Fatal Knifing

HONOLULU, April 26 (U.P.) — Pvt. Everett Bowser of Oklahoma City was sentenced to eight years at hard labor by an Army court martial today for the fatal stabbing of Pfc. Alvin Watson of New York City.

Bowser was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter. The court, sitting at Fort Shafter, said it had considered a previous conviction against him in the non-fatal stabbing of another soldier before passing sentence.

Watson was knifed during an argument between two soldiers in the barracks of the 242nd Ordnance company.

Battle Over Repeal Of Labor Act Is Moved To House Floor

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP)—The battle over repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor act moved to the House floor today, with both sides saying they are confident of victory.

Rep. Kelley (D-Pa) predicted the administration's labor bill will pass the House by Friday night. This bill would replace the present law with a Wagner act revamped to include some of President Truman's suggestions.

Republican House Leader Martin (Mass) predicted just as flatly that the substitute Wood bill—which would repeal Taft-Hartley in name, but keep many of its features—will get a majority vote in the House.

To Last Four Days

Kelley, second ranking Democrat on the House labor committee, has been assigned by Chairman Lesinski (D-Mich) to be in charge of the administration bill throughout the debate, expected to last at least four days. The bill bears Lesinski's name.

Kelley told reporters that administration forces have enough votes "for sure" to beat off the substitute introduced by Rep. Wood (D-Ga), a labor committee member.

The Wood bill is expected to get strong backing from both Republicans and southern Democrats.

Martin said that if the substitute bill should be voted down, the House would spend at least 10 days, and perhaps as long as two weeks, debating amendments to the administration bill.

Keep Close Track

Even in advance of debate, House leaders of both parties keep close track of prospective votes. Administration Democrats have had a continuous poll in operation for several weeks, and planned to complete a final check today.

Democrats and Republicans alike went into the battle fresh from last-minute strategy sessions.

Kelley and Lesinski conferred for several hours yesterday afternoon with top House Democrats. After the meeting, Kelley said the committee will oppose all amendments to the Lesinski bill, and will demand a record vote on each one.

"I won't concede a thing," he declared.

Labor committee Republicans met with GOP leaders yesterday, then explained the Wood bill in detail to a conference of all House Republicans. Rep. McConnell (R-Pa) said later the measure is acceptable to Republicans, but some minor amendments might be offered.

Monkey Business Is Too Much For Owner Who 'Executed' Pet

CHICAGO, April 26 (AP) — Ray Randall wasn't going to have any monkey pull any monkey business on him and keep living. Not even his own pet monkey, Lyman.

So after Lyman bit him twice, Randall decided to destroy his pet.

Randall took his five year old monkey to Lake Calumet, shot him—dead, he believed — and tossed him into the lake. That was Saturday.

Sgt. James F. Battle of the East Side police called Randall Monday and said a monkey at the station was believed to be his.

The monkey was brought to the station by two telephone workers who had found him walking along a highway near Lake Calumet. Police had traced Randall through Lyman's collar.

"I do not want any part of Lyman," Randall told police in relating events leading up to what he believed was the monkey's execution.

Stiff U.S. Protest Due Reds

Sen. Connally Wants Action

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP) — Senator Connally (D-Tex) said today a State department protest should be "rammed down the throats" of Chinese Communists who invaded the American embassy in Nanking.

"It's a serious affront," the chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee told a reporter. "They've got to learn to respect United States rights and property."

To Lodge Protest

The State department ordered the U. S. embassy to lodge a vigorous protest with Communist leaders yesterday, soon after it was reported that armed Communist troops had forced their way into the building and routed Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart out of bed.

But there was some question whether the Communists would take such a protest seriously.

"I think the State department should make representations and ram them down their throats," Connally said angrily.

News dispatches and a report from the embassy said the troops, after pushing into the building, inspected the second floor and questioned members of the staff

Firm Stand Favored

While they did not harm anyone or molest the property, they reportedly told a servant that Stuart was not to leave the embassy compound. That raised some fears here that the Communists might intend to keep the 72-year-old ambassador a prisoner.

"I think we've got to take a firm stand on this," Connally said.

Although Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn) took much the same position, other senators viewed the incident with less concern.

Some—like Senator Knowland (R-Calif) — felt Stuart should have followed the Nationalist government to Canton to avoid putting himself and his staff in a ticklish situation.

Senator Russell (D-Ga) another of those who felt Stuart should have left Nanking, commented: "I wouldn't go to war over this thing." It was "regrettable," he said, but perhaps to be expected in a combat zone.

"The Usual Action"

Senator Elbert D. Thomas (D-Utah) said he did not think it grave enough "to get excited about." He termed the invasion "the usual action of ignorant soldiers."

Senator George (D-Ga) said such incidents might be expected "under the conditions existing there."

George was confident the Red troops would not "heap indignities" on Stuart or other Americans. "They'll probably adopt a course of action against Ameri-

THE QUESTION

THE ANSWERS

ROY MUNSEY, 1623-A Tenth, traveling salesman for Nunn Electric: "They could treat the soldiers with respect. Of course, they shouldn't cut their throats on prices of renting homes. They should make Lubbock a hospitable place for soldiers by working together, by cooperating with each other and by inviting them into their homes if possible."

FRANK GUMM, 2422 Thirtieth, partner in Gumm and Kennedy: "I would say everybody should get in behind it a hundred percent — civic clubs and other organizations. Everybody should do what they're asked to do and put a hundred per cent effort behind it in anything that it takes."

WINTON (Cowboy) KYLE, 2108 Twenty - third, KCBD employe: "I think that it's quite a responsibility upon the people here in Lubbock to make liberty hours of those in training as pleasant as possible. The war is over and these people will be citizens and part of the community. They should be made to feel that they are part of the community and should be taken in rather than being 'taken'."

M. N. JACOBS, Lubbock hotel, promotional manager at Grollman's: "I would say put out the old welcome mat. By extending small courtesies and helping to devise as far as possible adequate housing for the families when they come in to live or when wives come in for a weekend, the public can help. Residents can invites these trainees into their homes. I think people can do more for our defense preparedness by doing that."

JOHN HALSEY, 2206 Seventeenth, owner of John Halsey Drug store: "It is a matter of each individual cooperating in the united effort of the civic organizations and Chamber of Commerce. It has to be a community effort. Each individual has a responsibility, but it's up to the Chamber of Commerce and civic organizations to plan what needs to be done. The individual should keep up with the united effort and cooperate."

CONRAD WARD, 1906 Ave. O, owner of Ward Printing Co.: "From a business standpoint, Lubbock will be benefitted in that there will be much more money spent here and it will bring more families into Lubbock. People should cooperate in finding a home for military personnel and families. From a recreational standpoint, there should be some additions to recreational facilities."

Little Theater Play Tonight

Reserved seats for the Lubbock Little Theatre season opening next September will go on sale tonight, when the final play of the current season will be presented.

"Claudia" will be presented at 8 p.m. today in Senior High school auditorium. Appearing in the title role will be Miss Betty Furgeson, with Dr. James Reynolds as David, Claudia's husband; Mrs. C. C. Caldwell, as Claudia's mother, Mrs. Brown; Bert McGinnis, as Jerry Saymoure; Mrs. Charles Musson, as Bertha; Don Droppleman, as Fritz; Mrs. G. H. Wilson, as Julia Naughton, and Mrs. Chareen Ketchersid, as Madama Darushka.

May Renew Tickets

Charles Musson, ticket chairman, has announced that those holding reserved seats will have opportunity to renew for next year. More seats will be available, since each play will be given two nights, instead of one. Tickets may be obtained tonight at the ticket office at the high school or may be reserved later by telephone calls to Musson.

Five plays are to be presented next year. Four were given during the current season. A committee of readers is now finishing reading of plays submitted by Little Theatre members and final selection will be made May 3 by the Little Theatre board of directors.

Following tonight's play, a dinner is to be conducted at Mexican Inn in honor of patrons and production staffs for plays of this season. It is to be attended by persons who have had any connection with presentation of plays of the season.

Musician's Wife Asks For Divorce

CHICAGO, April 26. (INS)—Mrs. Frances Foster, 22, charged in superior court today that her bandleader husband, Charles "Chuck" Foster, had been "rude and inconsiderate" and had beaten her.

Mrs. Foster of Lockhaven, Pa., is seeking a divorce from the musician. She said she had waived alimony in lieu of an undisclosed out-of-court settlement.

Superior Judge Joseph Sabath said he would decide about signing a divorce decree within a few days.

New Clues To Opera Singer's Death Sought

ATLANTA, April 26. (U.P.)—Detectives today examined results of an autopsy on the body of slain opera singer John Garris, hoping to find a clue to revive the bogged-down investigation of his death.

Dr. Herman Jones, chief of the Atlanta crime laboratory, completed the autopsy last night.

Jones said the Metropolitan Opera star apparently was shot to death as he crouched on his right knee, his left arm raised. The bullet which brought death to Garris entered under his upraised left arm.

Shooting Reconstructed

According to Jones' reconstruction of the shooting, Garris might have died while fighting off an attacker in the railroad yard here where a special train was waiting to take the Metropolitan troupe to Memphis, Tenn.

Garris' rainsoaked body was found in a downtown alley here early last Thursday morning. Police have placed the time of his death at about 4 a. m. that day.

Meanwhile, Georgia Gov. Herman Talmadge said he would offer a reward for information leading to the arrest of Garris' slayer. He said that the amount would be announced after he conferred with Police Chief Herbert Jenkins.

Have Hot Suspect

Investigators were tight-lipped regarding any possible new leads. But it was understood that they still considered Grover Pulley, paroled murderer held in Clinton, S. C., a "hot suspect."

An examination by the FBI in Washington of Pulley's pistol failed to definitely establish whether the death bullet had or had not been fired from the weapon. But Dr. Jones said he was dissatisfied with the test and would continue microscopic comparisons of the bullets.

Jones explained his interpretation of the autopsy results last night. He said scores of tiny cin-

Plans Expected To Be Ready Soon

Commissioners Pick Location Of Lubbock's New Courthouse

A day-long session of the county commissioner's court resulted in decision to stand by an original plant to set the new $1,500,000 six-story courthouse 117 feet east of the east sidewalk line on Texas evenue.

The building will be 46 feet from the inner sidewalk lines on Broadway and Main.

Completion of plans and specifications for the courthouse project is expected about May 1, and members of the court unofficially expressed the opinion that a special session will be called about Saturday to set a date for receiving bids on the structure.

At a meeting two weeks ago, L. H. Kirby of the architectural firm of Haynes and Kirby said plans would be completed by that time.

The court deemed it inadvisable to attempt to set the courthouse closer to the existing courthouse because of the fact that closing of the Ave. H drive through the courthouse square is impracticable.

They spent a portion of the afternoon with S. C. McCarty, district engineer of the Texas Highway department, regarding the possible closing of the drive.

Also discussed was a contemplated farm-to-market road paving project on which federal aid will be sought.

The morning was devoted to disposal of routine business after the commissioners met in the office of County Judge Walter Davies.

Present at the meeting were County Judge Walter Davies and Commissioners Pat Corley, R. O. Short, George Green and Ottis Isom.

WOMAN FEATURED ON PROGRAM

Washington Correspondent Is To Speak At Journalism Meet

Miss Malvina Stephenson of Washington, D. C. will represent women in the field of journalism during the two-day Southwestern Journalism congress which will be held at Texas Technological college beginning Friday.

Miss Stephenson, a nationally known newspaper and radio correspondent, will be featured twice during the congress of which the Tech journalism department will act as host.

Her present professional activity includes writing a weekly newspaper column, "Mirrors of Washington," which is distributed by the North American Newspaper Alliance, and handling all N.A.N.A. correspondence in Washington concerning women in the news. She is a regular correspondent for the Cincinnati Times-Standard and also the Tulsa Tribune and the San Diego Journal.

Realized Early Ambition

As a member of the American Broadcasting company's stand-by staff for news programs, Miss Stephenson is responsible for programs on the "lighter side of the news."

Last summer she had time for an article, written with a friend, on Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, entitled "Ike's Silent Partner" which was published in the American Magazine.

From a Sapulpa, Okla., high school Miss Stephenson has gradually realized her girlhood ambition, a working place in the Washington press. She started her career as feature editor of the Moccasin Print, a high school paper in a one-time Creek Indian village. After taking a degree leading to a school teaching position, Miss Stephenson decided to train more exclusively for newspaper work. She finished her master's degree in journalism at the University of Oklahoma. Following a short time on a weekly newspaper she was employed as feature writer and reporter for the Tulsa World.

While at Tech Miss Stephenson will speak to the Matrix Table, annual Theta Sigma Phi observance, the evening before the congress officially opens. She will be a featured speaker the opening morning before the first general assembly of the congress. The Tech chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, national professional journalism fraternity for women, is inviting the attendance of all other members from the member school of the congress who will be at the meeting. Several alumnae Theta Sigs from Lubbock will also be invited.

At the Matrix Table Miss Stephenson will discuss the work of freelance correspondents and some of the techniques in covering Washington news. At the general session, which will be open to all student and faculty delegates, Miss Stepheson will go into the mechanics of covering Washington news, and "breaking into journalism.'

Over 200 student delegates from member schools are expected to attend the congress in addition to faculty members. The congress is composed of schools and departments of journalism at the Uni-

GOP Planning Strong Bid To Get Farm Vote

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) suggested today that Republicans broaden a series of regional meetings to include a conference on health and housing.

GOP Chairman Hugh D. Scott, jr., announced yesterday that the party will concentrate on trying to win the farm vote in the 1950 elections. He said the campaign will begin with a regional conference on farm problems in September, probably in Des Moines, Iowa.

Taft, who heads the Senate GOP policy committee, told a reporter he thinks the Republicans also ought to get together to form policy on health and housing questions.

Health Conference

Noting that the Senate has passed a long range housing bill, Taft said there should be party discussion of the health program President Truman has sent to Congress. This program calls for compulsory health insurance, a feature which Taft and other Republicans have attacked as "socialized medicine."

Scott announced plans for a New England conference on industry and taxation which he said probably will be held in Connecticut this fall. The national chairman said a western regional meeting of Republican officials at Los Angeles June 10 and 12 may be turned into a conference on conservation of natural resources.

Senator Brewster (R-Me), a member of the GOP strategy committee organized at one of a series of meetings here, said he thinks the New England conference also should discuss reciprocal trade problems.

He added that western Republicans in their Los Angeles meeting might pass on the question of establishing a GOP Pacific foreign policy, particularly with reference to China.

Strong Bid Planned

Scott told a news conference his party is going to make a strong bid for the farm belt vote in next year's congressional campaign.

"The immediate and first priority of the Republicans will be to show the farmer that he has been regarded as and treated as the biggest sucker in modern times by a gentleman whose first two initials—as far as the farmer is concerned—ought to stand for 'hello, sucker'," Scott declared.

This was a reference to President Harry S. Truman and to the guaranteed income farm program submitted to Congress by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan.

Scott noted that no bill carrying out terms of the Brannan plan yet has been introduced in Congress. He said Democrats were having trouble phrasing a measure even though "it's a wonderful vote catching idea."

Arguments On Truman National Health Plan Aired, Reviewed

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Lift the lid on the argument over a government health program and you find this:

It is not an argument over whether the government should interest itself in health. There is a government health program now.

The problem is how far should such a program, backed with government money and some government control, be allowed to go.

This will give you an idea of how deep the government is involved—in a limited way—in helping the nation's health:

$75 Million To States

1. It is giving states up to $75,000,000 a year to help them build hospitals; it gives states money to strengthen their public health services; it gives states money for mother and child care and to help crippled children; it is spending money on research in cancer, dental, mental, heart and venereal diseases.

2. In addition, 12½ million veterans are eligible for care in government hospitals; every veteran with a service-connected disability is entitled to complete care for that disability at home or in a government hospital; there are 26 government marine hospitals for the care of merchant seamen and the Coast Guard; men in the armed services and their dependents get medical care; and some state governments have their own medical programs. The government operates more than 200,000 hospital beds.

Both President Truman and those who oppose his ideas on a national health program are pretty generally agreed it is necessary to expand No. 1 with even more and wider government help.

Insurance Sore Spot

But it is on the next part of Mr. Truman's program—national compulsory health insurance—that the President and his opponents disagree.

Says the President: "It is no longer just the poor who are unable to pay for all the medical care they need—such care is now beyond the means of all but the upper income groups."

(Forty-five percent of all families in the United States have incomes of less than $3,000 a year. And 22 percent have incomes under $2,000.)

So Mr. Truman wants the people to have health insurance through a tax on payrolls, just as they have their social security benefits.

Who'd be covered? Employes, and the self-employed, and their dependents, pretty completely. How big a tax?

Three percent on a payroll, with 1½ paid by the worker, 1½ paid by the employer, on salaries up to $4,800. Example:

Boss Also Pays

Jones makes $10,000. He'd be taxed only up to $4,800. It would be $1.39 a week for him and his family. The boss would pay an equal sum.

If Jones made only $2,000 a year, the tax would be 57 cents a week on him and the same on his employer. The self-employed would pay the full three per cent. The government would also contribute.

Doctors wouldn't have to take part if they didn't want to. They could choose their own patients. Patients could choose their doctors.

Mr. Truman and his supporters say the program could be carried out with a minimum of government interference.

They argue this kind of compulsory insurance is the only way to be sure all the people get decent medical care.

Too Much Control

But the opponents contend the Truman program would put far too much control in the government's hands. They want people, if they're going to take part in health insurance programs, to go into the voluntary kind.

The Truman supporters argue the voluntary programs are not complete enough. Mr. Truman says:

"Most voluntary plans give only very limited protection. . . only 3½ million of our people have insurance which provides anything approaching adequate health protection."

But Mr. Truman's lieutenants don't expect Congress to pass the health insurance program—at this session, at least.

State Of Siege Is Declared In Panama

PANAMA CITY, Panama, April 26, (AP)—The national assembly has voted to declare a state of siege in Panama, provisionally suspending constitutional guarantees.

The government-sponsored resolution was adopted Monday night by a large majority.

The action resulted from an alleged attempt to overthrow the government last week. Former President Harmodio Arias is under arrest in connection with the alleged plot.

Humble Well Opens Field

The first Ellenburger producer in Scurry county has been completed by Humble Oil & Refining company at the concern's No. 1-B Moore, wildcat in the northwest part of the county.

The well pumped 24 hours to make an initial production of 47 barrels of oil. Gas-oil ratio was too small to measure. Shakeout was two per cent water. Gravity of petroleum was 46.5 degrees.

Production was through casing perforations at 8,200-40 feet, opposite the Ellenburger pay section. Total depth is 8,405 feet. Plug-back depth is 8,350 feet. Top of the deep zone was called on 8,202 feet.

Northwest Of Snyder

This new field opener is about 10 miles northwest of Snyder and 1,880 feet from north, 1,980 feet from east lines of section 492, block 97, H&TC survey.

Production tests were scheduled to be in process at Sunray Oil Corporation No. 1 Brown, recent Canyon - Pennsylvanian discovery in north-central Scurry county.

The prospect has drilled cement plug on 5½-inch casing set at 6,535 feet. Tubing has been run. No gauges have been reported. Total depth is 6,744 feet.

This strike, originally operated by Ryan, Hays and Burke, is located 660 feet from north and west lines of tract 8, section 20, J. P. Smith survey, approximately six miles north of Snyder.

Further testing of the San Andres-Permian in central Gaines county was underway at C. H. Murphy & Son No. 1 E. T. O'Daniel, wildcat two miles southeast of Seminole and 660 feet from east, 1,980 feet from south lines of section 16, block C-44 ,psl survey.

Operator has squeezed off perforations at 5,280-90 feet and 5,310-25 feet, opposite the San Andres, which swabbed sulphur water.

The section of pipe at 5,310-25 feet then was perforated with 60 shots. A packer was set at 5,300 feet and t ehwell was acidized with 1,000 gallons. On last report, the venture was swabbing, recovering acid water.

Humble Oil & Refining company has plugged and abandoned its No. 1-B Edmondson, wildcat failure in the Canyon lime of the Pennsylvanian one and one-quarter miles west of the North Snyder area of north-central Scurry county.

The exploration was plugged on 7,,200 feet, following a drillstem test recovering salt water. No prospects of oil or gas were developed.

It was 760 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 437, block 97, H&TC survey.

Santa Town's First Citizen Is Charged

BALTIMORE, April 26 (AP) — The owner of Santa Claus' Maryland home has been charged with attempted evasion of state income taxes.

He is Harry H. Heim, sr., Christmas tree ornament manufacturer who virtually bought the whole town of Savage, Md., and converted into a picturesque Christmas village. He rechristened it "Santa Heim," German for Santa town.

Heim posted $1,000 bail Monday on a charge that he failed to pay state taxes on a $31,200 income in 1947.

The southern Maryland town was fast becoming a ghost town before the 64-year-old Heim purchased its only industry—a cotton mill—and about half of its houses. He converted the closed mill to the manufacture of tree ornaments.

Mexico's winter vegetable crop suffered but ranges benefitted from heavy recent rains.

Fresh Major Crisis Created By Red Advance Across China

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

The steam-roller offensive of the powerful Red armies in China has created a fresh major crisis in the now-not-so-cold-war of the isms.

The western powers had scarcely finished signing the Atlantic pact, to halt the Communist drive across Europe, when Chinese chieftain Mao Tze-Tung forced the line of the mighty Yangtze. Thus almost overnight the west was confronted with another threat.

The weight of the attack had been shifted from the front defenses to those in the rear.

Is Further Away

True the new thrust in the Orient is much further away than was the drive across Europe. The present danger is less imminent, and in that sense the situation is perhaps not so critical. Time now is with the west, just as it suddenly has turned against the Nationalist forces of China.

It's idle to speculate on how much time may be involved in the Chinese conflict. We know that the Communist resources, both military and economic, are great, while the Nationalist government's resources are terribly weak.

The Nationalists' most powerful defense against the Red forces from the north—the Yangtze—has been smashed. Their capital of Nanking has been occupied by the enemy—a shocking blow to the morale of the nation. A million and a half Red troops are ready for the drive southward through China.

Defense By Zones

What other estimate can be made than that the Nationalist situation is desperate? However, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek is zones as the Reds advance. Many of those zones with their troops are in the hands of war lords and, if they remain loyal to Chiang, the Nationalist defense might give the Communists a surprise. Speculation at this time is idle. We shall have to await developments.

What we can see clearly enough is that a Sovietizing of China, world's most populous nation, would give Communism a powerful base from which to work on all Asia. Neighboring India would be the next great nation to come under pressure, and it might be that she would provide a barrier which Communism couldn't surmount. The Hindus and Moslems of the Indian peninsula are intensely religious—and Communism and religion can't be mixed.

In Red Vise

Britain finds herself in an uncomfortable position as the result of the Communist drive. She has many interests in China, including her big crown colony of Hong Kong on the south coast. Already a British cruiser, a destroyer and two sloops have been pounded by Communist shore guns with considerable loss of life.

The British admiralty is said to be sending two aircraft carriers and a group of submarines to join the British Far Eastern fleet. At present there are two cruisers, eight destroyers and four sloops based at Hong Kong but they have no air cover.

This is a normal strengthening of forces under the circumstances and it's safe to take it for granted that Britain has every intention of keeping out of trouble if she can.

Swanson Not So Old, Just Started Sooner

Yesterday's Film Queen Tells How To Be Young, Even If Old

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, April 26. (AP)—Being old, remarked Gloria Swanson, with perfect logic, merely means that you have lived longer.

"I think it's a crime," the ageless movie queen continued, "that in America age is treated as something distasteful—a burden which people carry on their backs like a bag of rocks. No other country considers age that way; in China, for instance, old people are revered."

Miss Swanson looks a good 10 or 15 years younger than the 50 she admits to. She advertises her age freely. One reason is that most people guess her to be older.

"Often in powder rooms I hear women discussing my age. They usually guess 10 to 20 years older than I really am. Not only that, but a studio driver here told me he had trouble convincing a friend that I was still alive."

Started Young

She explained why she's considered older than she really is: she started her film career at 14½; she never was an ingenue, but began as a siren.

"Age means nothing," she emphasized. "Why, I can name you four top actresses in the movies—and they're not playing grandma roles, either—who come within a year or two of my age. And maybe one is a couple of years older, too." Unfortunately, she didn't name names.

The natural question is: how does she stay so young?

Some of it is mental, she said. A lot of it is hereditary. Her mother is still a good-looking woman at 70 and she recalls her great-grandmother as being apple-cheeked at 84.

Most important of all, she said, is how you eat.

"Too many people kill themselves by over-eating," she explained. "Americans are largely trash-eaters.

"Pig Wouldn't Eat It"

"If you would pile up on a plate what people often eat in an hour at a dinner—including cocktails, onions, olives, scotch, wine, roquefort dressing, chocolate sauce and so forth—even a pig wouldn't eat it. Or if he did, he'd get a tummyache."

She further attacked a typical American lunch of a ham sandwich and milk shake. "Look at it—ham, milk, chocolate, egg—all protein!"

She herself eats largely fruits and vegetables, but will eat meat when dining at cafes "where vegetables are never cooked right," or at dinners, "where it causes too much conservation if you refuse."

She was drinking a strange liquid on the "Sunset Boulevard" set and she explained what it was: "I always cook my vegetables in a pressure cooker and save the juice to drink later."

Yes. She stays young—but at what a cost!

Classroom Teachers Group Holds Dinner

Frank Potter, of Houston, executive secretary - treasurer of the Texas Classroom Teachers association, speaking here last night to members of the Lubbock Class Teachers association, stressed the importance of interpreting schools to the public, and the important part the classroom teacher plays in this interpretation.

The occasion was the annual dinner of the Lubbock Classroom Teachers Association, held in Hilton hotel, which was attended by 146 school administrators and teachers.

Growth Of Group Traced

At the beginning, Potter traced the history and parallel growth of the state association, pointing out that its membership now includes some 10,000 members in all parts of the state.

He also presented briefly the legislative picture as regards the association and its members, pointing out that the outlook from this angle is, at present, favorable.

At the gathering, the invocation was asked by Roy Morris. A. B. Reese, president of the local organization who will also head the group next year presided. He introduced other new officers for the forthcoming year.

A piano solo was presented by Mrs. Lannis Hope, and a vocal solo was presented by J. H. Penn, with piano accompaniment by Miss Imogene Webster.

Potter, a former president of the Texas Classroom Teachers association, formerly taught in the Houston public school system before taking the executive position with the teachers organization.

Princess' Naples Trip May Set Off Monarchist Demonstration

ROME, April 26 (AP)—Princess Margaret's arrival in Naples Wednesday may touch off monarchist demonstrations.

Poverty - stricken Neapolitans are traditionally monarchist. The picturesque city of 900,000 voted overwhelmingly for the crown in the 1946 plebiscite, which ended the rule of the House of Savoy.

Since then Neapolitans have let few occasions pass to show their lasting allegiance to royalty. The 18-year-old British princess is certain to receive a warm reception if not an actual demonstration.

Italian police prepared to take strong precautions against incidents.

Princess Margaret's first stop in Naples will be at the Hotel Excelsior overlooking the bay and Mount Vesuvius. The hotel suffered badly, as did the whole waterfront, in the big American and British air raids of the war. But it and other buildings along the magnificent shore drive show few traces today of the war's destruction.

The princess will leave for the storied little Isle of Capri Thursday, probably in an Italian Navy launch. She will stay there about a week before beginning her tour of the mainland.

Young Fire Heroine Moves To New Home

CHICAGO, April 26. (AP)—Roberta Lee, 14-year-old fire heroine, arranged to leave the Cook county hospital today to go to her new $17,000 home.

Roberta has been in the hospital since Feb. 17 recovering from severe burns suffered when she rescued four younger half-brothers and sisters from a fire which destroyed their old home.

The new home was built in suburban Des Plaines for Roberta in recognition of her heroism from contributions sent by thousands of persons from all parts of the country. Materials and workmanship were donated by Chicago business firms and labor unions. She also has about $10,000 in contributions which is to be used for her education.

Roberta still wears bandages on her neck, right ear and right leg where skin was grafted on the burns. She will return to the hospital three times a week for treatment, said Dr. Ole C. Nelson, hospital superintendent.

THE County of Lubbock has "jumped the gun" and set the City of Lubbock a darned good example in the recent cleanup of the Courthouse Square.

The other day an army of men descended upon the Square and transformed it from a veritable trashpile into a clean, neat, well raked park that it should be.

Old whiskey bottles and beer cans, cigaret packages, newspapers—all sorts of litter—were piled up and taken away. Even the trash which had nestled for months under the shrubs of the Square's park area was raked out and dumped into trash wagons.

That was a fine move.

The Courthouse Square here had gotten to look like a city dump, so littered it had become with all sorts of refuse. It never should have been permitted to get into the shape it was in, but that's water over the dam now since the cleanup has been completed.

Incidentally, now that the Square looks good again, it should be kept that way.

The county jail is always filled with characters eating out fines at taxpayers' expense and there's no reason why they shouldn't be made to keep the Square looking decent.

A little fresh air would do 'em good—and so would a little work.

UP IN Oklahoma, some good church people finally influenced an old Indian to attend Sunday morning services. This particular Indian was influential with his people and they figured that if they could get him interested in their church, other Indians would follow his lead.

It was with great ceremony that the old redskin was herded into the church and placed in a seat directly in front of the preacher. The latter brought into play all of his oratorical powers, replete with pulpit thumping and gestures. He really went to town against sin.

After the services were over, the people who brought the Indian into the fold asked the old fellow what he thought of the sermon.

"Ug," he grunted. "High wind. Big thunder. No rain!"

IT LOOKED like old times here the other day when the bankers of the South Plains held their annual one-day convention.

We were down at the Hilton at noon and got a sort of warm feeling out of seeing visiting conventioneers shaking hands with each other; beating each other on the back, swapping stories, etc. and etc.

Having about 30 minutes to kill, we went up on the mezzanine floor and looked down on the money boys and their wives in the lobby below.

They made quite a group.

All our life we've heard stories about stern bankers; bankers whose one glass eye looked more sympathetic than their natural eye; and about ponderous, dignified bankers who take themselves too seriously.

None of these stories would hold good of the milling South Plains bankers here last week.

They were perfectly relaxed and might have been mistaken for butchers, bakers, or candlestick makers if an onlooker didn't know their business.

THERE was one unusual thing about the bankers, though, that we noted from our vantage point on the mezzanine.

Relatively few of them these days wear the range type hat which almost all males used to wear in this country and which a great many still wear.

Less than one-third of the financial lads had on the range type hat. The others are going in for the more effete type of headgear.

Whether that's good, or bad, we wouldn't know. But we hate to think that the hat trend of the bankers is indicative of a general trend on the part of West Texas males.

The range type hat is sort of like the leather jacket and the farm trailer—part and parcel of the real West Texas.

Somehow or another, West Texas won't be West Texas if the range hat eventually disappears.

Incidentally, the bankers' convention brings to mind that Lubbock used to have a lot of good conventions before the war—before the terrific growth of the city during and following the war.

The conventions brought a lot of money into town and, fully as important, they brought here a lot of people who learned about the city and sections and went forth to tell others about the opportunities here.

But big conventions — or many of them—in Lubbock now are out like Lottie's eye. As the boys say, "we ain't got no facilities fer 'em no more."

Hotels are always crowded with conventions and aren't too crazy about fooling with them.

We need more hotel space—guest rooms and meeting places—and until we get them we won't be able to be much of a convention center any more.

Is the chamber of commerce listening?

DEFENSE Secretary Louis Johnson seems to have gotten a start in his new job. He seems to know what he wants. He seems to be tough enough to get it. By and large, he looks like a right guy for the difficult and extremely important task of handling the Army, Navy and Air Force and making the boys in all three branches co-operate.

However, a bit of grandstanding on Secretary Johnson's part the other day shouldn't go by unnoticed. That was his statement that the "brass" of the reserves have gotten their "walking papers," i.e., have been told they cannot ride to and from work in government-owned automobiles.

The Army, Navy and Air Force cars, said the secretary, shall be used for no other purpose save in connection with official business.

We cannot help but wonder if the same "walking papers" also went to the civilian officials of the three military departments and whether or not Secretary Johnson will use his limousine for purposes other than business. If the order applies to all that's one thing. If it applies only to military men, that's another.

We do not believe the taxpayers should shoulder all the transportation problems of all the military. But to be picayunish about it doesn't make sense.

Admirals and generals handle jobs whose importance is far in excess of their pay. They shouldn't be worried by a lot of pee-wee orders regarding use of automobiles, especially when civilian brass hats of the Army, Navy and Air Force ride merrily around at taxpayers' expense.

Orders like the one issued by Secretary Johnson will be cheered only by the envious or the uninformed.

BY DREW PEARSON: POST-WAR CHINA STORY IS A GREAT HUMAN TRAGEDY

Brooklyn Boasting An Ambassador To Washington

WASHINGTON — If and when the State department opens its secret files on China, they will reveal one of the great human tragedies of post-war reconstruction. The files will also tell a story that will make this nation think twice about pouring more U. S. dollars down the of China.

PEARSON

The diplomatic files show that, with most of China's 400,- in desperate need, the Chinese Nationalist heirarchy insisted on controlling supplies, and even discouraged U. S. purchases by other Chinese.

Powerful in this heirarchy were T. V. Soong and M H. Kung, both brothers-in-law of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. Both are also among the wealthiest men in China or the world, and there is little evidence that they have dipped into their own pockets to help their fellow citizens.

The State department's files, so far unpublished, show that at exactly the same time the Chinese government was pleading for ships to import relief supplies, the Chinese government's board of supply, of which T V. Soong was chairman, was actually stopping the delivery and sale of U. S. merchant ships.

Reason: The ships had been purchased from the U S. A. by private firms, thus cutting out any profit for Soong's board of supply.

This caused the U. S. Foreign Liquidation Commission, operating under the State department, to make the following official protest:

"We have had complaints from several prospective purchasers of maritime property that they were unable to obtain permission from the board of supply to purchase vessels from our Manila office.

"In conference with us on 19 September of 1946 it was agreed that private shipping concerns in China would be permitted to purchase vessels in Manila . . . Several interested parties, whom we have notified of this arrangement, have informed us after contacting the board of supply that your organization will not issue certificates but require that all vessels be purchased from the board of supply."

Soong Says He's Gambler

This letter of protest was sent direct to Soong's representative, General P. Kiang. However he did nothing about it. At a round-table conference between Chinese and American officials, therefore, the State department raised the matter again.

The minutes of that meeting are still secret. However, the state:

"The question of the Chinese restriction on ship purchases was next brought up by Mr Stetson (J. B. Stetson of Stetson hats, then FLC field commissioner). He explained that part of our project was to help the economy of China and that individual buyers who wanted to bring in ships should be allowed to do so.

"General Kiang (Soong's agent) explained . . . If there is to be any ship brokerage business done, the Chinese government wants to do it . . . 'I am your exclusive agent for China,' he said."

Meanwhile, Soong's board of supply offered to purchase ships for private companies at the black-market rate and for an additional 5 per cent "handling fee." In other words, the Chinese government was offering to deal on the same black market it had declared illegal.

The situation became steadily worse until Monnet Davis, U. S. consul-general in Shanghai, advised the secretary of State in a secret cable:

"Executive yuan of Chinese government has placed ban on importation of 'American army surplus goods.' . . . Ban imposed to prevent purchase of surplus goods by private firms in competition with the government . . ."

Note — After one conference between T. V. Soong and FLC Field Commissioner B. A. Johnson, the American official wrote in his confidential report: "Dr. Soong then told me that he had been a gambler all his life, but in this deal (surplus property) he was handling very heavy and important money. He was inclined to gamble because the chances to be derived by China from surplus property judiciously bought and correctly sold should be enormous."

BROOKLYN is noted for a lot of things—in addition to the Dodgers. But probably most Brooklyn resident don't realize tht this city has sent an official ambassador to Washington.

He happens et be Dr. Oscar Gans, and although he is Cuban ambassador to the United States, he was actually born in Brooklyn .

Ambassador Gans' father was also a Brooklyn-born American, who went to Cuba during the Spanish-American war as aide to Major Tasker Bliss, later U. S. chief of staff. Young Lieut. Gans liked Cuba so well that he remained on after the Spanish-American war(married a Cuban girl, and then came back to Brooklyn. There the present ambassador was born.

In his youth, Ambassador Gans had the reputation of being about as belligerent as Leo Durocher, late of the Brooklyn Dodgers. At the age of 20 he fought two duels in one day.

"It paid," explains the ambassador, "because after I got the reputation of being quick to challenge, people let me alone.

"Dueling in Cuba is not very risky," says Ambassador Gans, "for the reason that the seconds place you a long distance apart and only let you fire between the counts of 'two and three,' which they reel off so rapidly that you scarcely have time to fire."

The ambassador has served as envoy in almost every country in Latin America and also as secretary of labor, which he considers about the most important post in any cabinet.

"It is time,' he says, "that we think less about machines and more about people That's why the Labor department is so important."

After V-E day with several million G. I.'s restless in Europe, Niederer, who is an executive of the Swiss tourist office, conceiveo te idea of helping the American Army travel through Switzerland, and as a result one-third of a million G. I.'s visited the Alps at the rate of $5 a day.

"They were universally well-behaved," says Niederer. "We had misbehavior reported only in a very few cases."

Niederer is now in the U. S. A. organizing the "Swiss Kilroy club" on the theory that a G. I. who visited Switzerland once, would like to go back with his bride. A lot of them, he finds, do. So Switzerland has become the country labled "Kilroy was there."

The Deal's Off

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

"WE'RE giving our children so many expensive advantages, I can't save anything for our own future security," writes a worried father.

"It's not keeping up with the Jonses that takes every cent I can earn. It's trying to let our children keep up with the Jonses' children. My wife thinks they have to have every advantage their friends enjoy — even though some of their friends' fathers earn three or four times what I do."

MILLETT

What can a father do in a situation like that? Well, he can put his foot down.

He can gather the family together and give them a much needed lesson in simple arithmetic. He can put his earnings on one side of a sheet of paper and list the family expenses on the other. He can show his family with figures just how far his income can be stretched.

And he can let his wife know that whether she regards him as a failure or not, he intends to put aside some money for the family's future security before he shells out money for unnecessary luxuries, and advantages for the children.

FIRM STAND ADVATAGEOUS

IF he doesn't take a firm stand, none of the family will thank him in later years for having been an easy mark.

His wife won't thank him if the money that should have gone into security for their old age was squandered through the years on indulging the children's every whim. His children won't thank him if their parents become a financial burden to them in later years.

So any man whose wife thinks that if the other little girls are taking dancing lessons then Susie must take dancing, and if the other boys are going to an expensive summer camp then Junior has to go, owes it to himself and his family to put his foot down.

The other day I heard a young married woman with a widowed mother say, "It's so wondrful to know that Dad left Mother enough to live comfortably on the rest of her life." And then she added thoughtfully, "But in order to do it Dad and Mother lived frugally for years. I'm afraid the trouble with our generation is that we all want everything for ourselves and for our children during our young married years, so we always live up to our incomes."

Today's Thought

Therefore, shall ye keep my commandments, and do them: I am the Lord.—Leviticus 22:31.

Get all you can without hurting your soul, your body, or your neighbor. Save all you can, cutting off every needless expense. Give all you can. Be glad to give, and ready to distribute; laying up in store for yourselves a good foundation against the time to come, that you may attain eternal life.—John Wesley.

Spring Heralded In New York By Drunken Woman, First Bum

NEW YORK, April 26.—That green and silly season known as spring comes to the individual in varying fashion. For one it will be heralded by a fresh and violent attack for love. For another it is a fresh and violent cold in the head.

Spring comes to my street when the first bum, fat from his winter hibernation, burgeons on the sidewalk. He is generally followed, as the crocus trails the last snowfall, by the drunken lady who screams and curses until she is followed, automatically by a lackadaisooming cop.

RUARK

Spring came officially to Greenwich Village a few nights back. The bum appeared precisely at 6:15. He is an early perennial kind of bum, who risks frostbite to appear before his more timerous confreres. He looked fit and fine, and his manner, after a winter's sojourn in Florida, was hearty and assured. We have a very select class of bum on our street, such as the class-conscious bum I've mentioned before. He's the one who will only sleep in other people's convertibles.

Screaming Woman Heard

Well, as I say, when the first bum put the first bite of the season on me, I knew that the screaming lady was due to appear any minute. And sure enough, about midnight, I heard the first gentle trilling, like pollywogs, coming from a good two blocks away.

Her cries, as with an approaching flock of geese, increased in amperage. The vernal watchers shortly observed her gentleman friend removing himself from the presence of his love, and her words became more and more pungently clear.

She described his ancestry in glowing terms, touched briefly on his profession, which she claimed was somewhat lower than that of a murdered by arson. She dwelt long and loudly on their past relationships, which I gather had been exceptional, and forecast his future in ringing blank verse. She then treated with various members of his family, his friends, and his former lady-loves.

THIS phillipic is remarkable, since it is completely and graphicly distinct to every ear within a square half-mile. This constitutes a neat trick of diction, since the words spring round and plump from an orchestral accompaniment of sobs and hiccups, sniffles and bleats of outraged womanhood. It is never very long before heads pop from windows, and the lady's soliloquy is applauded with remarks such as drop dead, shut up, go home, pipe down.

Then the first cop, his blue breast shining in the lamplight, glides round the corner. He has been expecting the lady all winter, and now he takes her firmly by the wrist and leads her away. But not to the station house, or even to Bellevue—for you see, this is the spring, and the cop's heart is soft and mellow under his winter coat. He lectures her on the impropriety of her declamation, and then cuts her loose.

About one hour and six drinks later, the lady is back, still in robust voice, but with some new and interesting embroideries on her general theme of man's worthlessness. These new pimples on her love's character are pierced, and she keens her woes into the sympathetic night. Again, heads pop from windows, but no cop comes.

This is where the fourth phase of spring sets in. The lady down the way—not the cop-calling lady, or the husband-beating lady, but the water-throwing lady—cuts loose with her first basin of hot liquid. Her aim is not yet sharp, and she misses, but what can you expect so early in the year? She is a hot-weather hot-water pitcher, and it takes summer sun to unkink her throwing arm. By mid-July she will be able to drown a passerby as far away as she can see him.

Woman Is Frightened

But her deluge serves to frighten the screaming lady, and you can hear the inprecations dwindling, until finally they fade to a low and rhythmic moan. All is still, now the night unmarred except for the quarreling of the couple of tom cats and the occasional crash of a drunk falling into ashcan.

But we all know that spring is here, and summer coming. Soon the early-blooming bum will be surrounded by the cat-feeding bum and th polite bum and the honest bum and the whisky-drinking bum who admits it and all the other good fellows who thrive on the street. The crap-shooting and street-fighting-season will open, and the tiny alley will be jammed with squad cars. I will start to play the typewriter with the window open, and the cop-calling lady will do her duty. More squad cars.

It has been said that one swallow does not constitute a summer, but in the vibrant Greenwich Village, it takes only one bum to make a spring.

Israel's diamond trade is slumping.

By Bennett Cerf

"Try And Stoo Me"

HANS WAGNER, all-time star shortstop of the Pittsburgh Pirates, says he once made an inside-the-park home run in the following remarkable manner. He sent a screaming liner out toward the center field fence. The guardian of that territory attempted to make a leaping catch, but unfortunately, his belt got caught on a nail in the fence.

While he hung suspended in mid-air, his feet dangling helplessly, the great Hans circled the bases to the fold plaudits of the crowd.

WHEN Olsen and Johnson went to Hollywood to do the film version of "Hellbapoppin'," a zealous studio press agent arranged for them to throw custard pies at each other for the benefit of the newsreels and the local press. Olsen and Johnson okayed the plan but changed the scenario a bit at the last moment. When the press agent signalled "Go", the two of them seized their pies and smacked them right into the astonished face of the press agent himself. One of the newspapers printed a picture of the gory scene with the caption: "Custard's Last Stand."

Today's Journal Editorial

AN ENCOURAGING EXAMPLE

Suggestive of an encouraging trend were the recent refusals by the Dallas and Wichita Falls governing bodies of requested bus-fare increases.

We do not pretend to know what the merits of the applications in these cities might have been. Certainly it is conceivable that increases of these and other utility charges might be justified in some instances.

But the refusals are indicative that those who propose to raise utility rates of any kind are likely to have an increasingly difficult struggle in getting them. The burden properly will be on them, more so than at any time since the prewar years, to produce proof of the most convincing sort that increases are necessary to survival.

As a matter of fact, the experiences suggest that most utility operators of all kinds should be—and doubtless are—more concerned over the prospect of pressure for reductions in rates rather than the planning of efforts to obtain increases. Many can consider themselves fortunate if they maintain charges as they are.

Compare STRETCH-R DELINTED with ordinary cottonseed:
Goes farther in equal volume.
Germinates 3 to 5 days faster.
Germinates on less moisture.
Needs no extra planting tools.
Keeps planter box clean of lime and lint. Makes cotton chopping unnecessary. Resists seed-borne diseases. Proves its profit in the field.
Order one of our five STRETCH-R Delinted brands . . . they make the crop that makes you money.

Judge Leaves Bench During Hot Argument In Trial Of 11 Reds

NEW YORK, April 26 (AP) — Federal Judge Harold R. Medina walked off the bench for a breathing spell yesterday to end a bitter and noisy argument with a defendant at the Communist conspiracy trial.

The judge declared a five-minute recess after Eugene Dennis, acting as his own lawyer, continued arguing despite repeated warnings by the judge to stop "pushing out propaganda."

Dennis, general secretary of the U. S. Communist party, was left standed in the middle of a long sentence.

Judge Is Attacked

Judge Medina, who has been sniped at by defense lawyers and accused of many things during the three-month-old trial, told Dennis:

"I suppose you are daring me to do something to you. You can be just as disorderly, just as disobedient as you like, but you will not goad me into doing something which will be a source of difficulty later in the trial."

Even that failed to silence Dennis, who remained on his feet—his mouth half open—as the judge walked to his chambers to let things cool off.

Despite provocations, Judge Medina has been careful to prevent anything that could justify a move for a mistrial in the prosecution of eleven top Communist leaders. They are charged with conspiracy to teach and advocate forcible overthrow of the government.

The judge accused Dennis and the defense lawyers yesterday of "disorderly, disobedient and disrespectful" conduct.

The recess—which was followed by comparative peace—came late in the court session after government and defense arguments about whether more Communist literature should be admitted into evidence.

The judge said "books and ideas" are not on trial, and charged the defense with making this contention as propaganda to distract attention from the real issue—the alleged conspiracy.

Defense lawyers said almost all Communist literature would have to be admitted to evidence to "make understandable what is involved in this case."

"I've never heard so much propaganda in a courtroom in my life," the judge commented.

Probe Is Revealed

Defense lawyers took part with Dennis in the argument, as the defense sought to get a Karl Marx pamphlet in evidence.

The clash between the judge and the defense broke out during defense cross-examination of a government witness, Garfield Herron, a Hot Springs, Ark., race track worker.

Herron said the FBI planted him in the Communist party, and he was a member from 1944 to 1947, reporting to the FBI on party activities.

The witness said FBI agents first visited him when he was a wartime worker at the Douglas Aircraft company plant in Chicago. They wanted to know whether there were any Communists working in the plant, he testified, and he did not know for certain.

Herron said he followed the agents' suggestion that he join the party and "find out what the Communists were doing" at the plant.

cans which at least will not be provocative," he added.

The invasion of the embassy and a report that the U. S. military attache's plane at Nanking had been looted before the Communists entered the city raised a cloud of uncertainty over Stuart's scheduled return to this country for consultations.

Was Called Home

The State department had announced calling him home just a few hours before the news that the embassy had been entered.

Connally said he had not plans to call Stuart before the foreign relations committee for his views on the Chinese situation, but Senator Thomas, a committee member, said this should be done.

A number of lawmakers have urged the State department to set up an aid program for the hard-pressed Nationalist government — a move opposed by Secretary of State Acheson.

Acheson has held that it would be "catastrophic" for this country to become involved in any large-scale program of assistance to non-Communist China.

American officials are known to feel that a Communist sweep through the whole Far Eastern nation is almost a foregone conclusion.

Clues Sought

ders were found in Garris' right knee and the right knee of his trousers was ripped and torn.

There were also slight abrasions on the left hand. Jones thought these facts indicated the singer might have been shot after falling into a "defensive position."

His theory that Garris may have been slain in the railroad yard stemmed from the fact that it is the only area near the spot where the body was found in which cinders cover the ground.

In one year, 1923, men flew higher, farther, and faster than ever before in history.

Detention "Insult", Socialist Charges

NEW YORK, April 26 (AP)—An Italian senator, who came here for a speaking tour with Henry A. Wallace, says his detention by immigration officials for more than three hours last night was "an insult to my country."

The senator, Michele Giua, a Socialist, was admitted to the U. S. by the immigration authorities at La Guardia field.

Wallace, Giua and three other Europeans are scheduled to make a 15-city tour speaking for peace, starting here Wednesday night.

The State department has refused entry vists for two other Europeans who were invited to go on the tour.

The agents asked him many questions, Giua said, including one about the relationship of the Italian Socialist and Communist parties.

"There is no reason for this most uncourteous treatment," he said through an interpreter after the questioning.

Lubbock Group Is Attending Seminar

A seminar which is being conducted in Washington, D. C., today through Thursday, with Methodist ministers attending from 38 states and the District of Columbia, is being attended by Dr. H. J. Robinson, pastor of First Methodist church.

Dr. and Mrs. Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. Garland Newsom left Sunday for Washington. Following the seminar, they will go to New York to spend next weekend, returning to Lubbock May 4.

The seminar, theme of which will be "United Nations in the World of the Atlantic Pact," is an annual event conducted by the Commission on Ministerial Training of the Methodist church in co-operation with the American university in Washington. Dr. J. Richard Spann, educational director of the commission, is dean of the seminar. The group was to attend luncheon at the National Press club and hear a speech by Kenneth Crawford, assistant chief of the Washington bureau of News Week, today and will attend a buffet supper at the Yugoslavia embassy tonight and hear a speech by Yugoslavia's ambassador, Sava N. Kosanovic. Wednesday, Baron Silvercruys, ambassador of Belgium, and Maj. Charles Estes of the Federal Conciliation service will speak to the group. The program will end Thursday with an address by Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont.

Brothers Separated 50 Years Reunited

Two brothers, separated for the last 50 years, were recently reunited, when S. O. Wall, 72, of Idalou, located his half-brother L. J. Wall, 59, in Gadsden, Ala.

The brothers were separated when the family returned to Tennessee, leaving S. O. Wall, who had married, in Texas.

Letters were exchanged, but contact had been lost for the last 11 years, prior to the recent meeting.

The reunion occurred when S. O. Wall accompanied neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff McClendon, of Idalou, east on a trip and learned at Fayetteville, Tenn., where the brother was formerly school superintendent, that he had moved to Gadsden, Alabama.

The meeting in Gadsden revealed that only three of a family of 11 children are now living. They are the two brothers and a third brother, J. W. Wall, also of Idalou.

S. O. Wall, a retired ginner, has been a resident of Idalou for the last 30 years.
