Texas' Population Expected To Pass 6,000,000 After Decade Of Growth

STATE MAY GO TO 4TH PLACE IN '30 CENSUS

Rapid Strides in Every Section Reflected in County Reports

MUST PASS OHIO

California Expected to Again Trail Texas in Final Totals

DALLAS, June 13. (UP)—With Texas' population expected to total more than 6,000,000, the Lone Star state is one of the fastest growing sections of the country and may become the fourth largest in the United States.

A decade ago, Texas' population was 4,633,228, an increase of 20 per cent over the official census count of 1910 and, if the 1930 total should pass the 6,000,000 mark, an increase of approximately 30 per cent will be registered for 1930.

Fifth in 1920

Texas was the fifth largest state in the country in 1920, trailing Ohio and leading California by 1,250,000. While the Ohio count has not been announced, census officials here predicted tonight that the Lone Star state may go into fourth place.

The growth of Texas may be attributed directly to increase in the population of the cities. Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, Fort Worth and El Paso all have populations of more than 100,000, showing increases of from 30 to 110 per cent. El Paso, listed in 1920 as the only Texas City in the 50,000 to 100,000 class, stepped up while Austin, Waco, Beaumont and Galveston, increasing from 17½ to 47½ per cent, went into the division held by the border city.

Urban Migration

Preliminary census announcements show a definite migration of Texans from the country into urban centers. Although most of the counties in the state have registered inceases, they have not kept pace with the growth of cities and towns.

Besides Texas, California and North Carolina will show large increases, preliminary reports indicate.

Texas' growth, attributed as it is to development of natural resources and advance of agriculture and the petroleum industries as reflected in the increased populations of the cities, is substantial, chamber of commerce officials here pointed out. They said Texas probably will take a place among the three largest states in the country within the next half century.

Quota Law Not Needed To Keep Mexicans Out

WASHINGTON, June 13. (US) — Mexican immigration to the United States has decreased to such a low point that there is no longer any need for legislation putting that country on a quota basis, Secretary of State Stimson today informed congress. He furnished statistics for the first five months of the year.

Immigration has been reduced so drastically that it is no longer a problem, Secretary Stimson said. The result has been accomplished through strict law enforcement and refusing to grant visas to aliens likely to become public charges, contract laborers, illiterates, or physical or mental defectives, it was stated.

Peace Descends Upon Public And Private Affairs Of King Carol II

BUCHAREST, Rumania, June 13. (AP)—Rumanian affairs, upset since the proclamations of former Crown Prince Carol as king Sunday, straightened out today with the formation of a government and indications that the family affairs of King Carol II have finally been made harmonious.

Queen Mother Marie today visited Queen Helen, who has been ill with a cold, and it was announced after the recovery of Helen, who was divorced from Carol when he was a crown prince in exile, the entire royal family will hold a reunion at the palace of Queen Marie.

Persons well informed in court circles said the reunion probably would bring the reconciliation of King Carol and Queen Helen, who then would await cancellation of the divorce decree granted the wife two years ago because Carol eloped with another woman.

Until yesterday Helen was merely Princess Helen, mother of the former boy king, Michalen, but by royal decree King Carol proclaimed her his companion on the throne. He annulled all laws and ordinances enacted from the time of his banishment more than four years ago until the present, and considered that the divorce decree was among them. Queen Helen was understood to have held that the divorce still stood, but indications today were that she was relenting and that the family party at the home of Queen Mother would bring peace to the royal family.

The government problem was solved with the formation of a cabinet by former Premier Maniu, leader of the peasant party and strongest political leader in the cabinet.

NEW THREAT?

LONDON, June 14. (AP)—The Daily Mail carried a story from Berne, Switzerland, this morning which asserts that Mme. Magda Lupsecu, who was King Carol's companion in exile, is on her way to Bucharest escorted by two of the new Rumanian king's most trusted officers.

Declaring that Mme. Lupescu aspires at least to retain the king's close friendship, the dispatch added that she now is staying with friends at Baden, near Vienna, and will be in Bucharest Sunday night unless she changes her plans.

SAN ANGELO, Texas, June 13. (UP)—Heavy rains, flooding the Concho river and smaller streams to overflowing, claimed their first victim here late today when an unidentified man was drowned as his car was swept off the highway and into the raging waters.

Neither the body nor the car had been recovered tonight.

More than 100 persons, living and camping along the river bed, were warned to move out of the path of the rising river.

Sixty Boy Scouts tonight were marooned on a hill top near their summer camp, 16 miles northwest of here. The Concho river washed over their camp site. The boys were safe and reported they had plenty of provisions.

"Peaches" had alleged that Browning organized a holding company for the real estate so that she could not share in it. But Justice Frankenthaler said the testimony showed this holding company was organized in 1921. Four years before the marriage of the Brownings.

Victory for 'Grundyism' Seen in Passage of High Duties

By FRASER EDWARDS

WASHINGTON, June 13. (US)—The ill-omens of Friday, the 13th, were disregarded by 39 Republicans and five senators listed in the congressional directory as Democrats.

These 44 senators furnished the votes by which the senate today placed the stamp of approval on the Hawley-Smoot-Grundy tariff bill, which will add $1,000,000,000 annually to the cost of living in America.

In opposition to this "economic monstrosity," which they charged will increase the cost of food, shelter and clothing, stood 42 senators —30 Democrats, 11 Progressive Republicans and 1 Farmer-Laborite.

Four Democrats and one Progressive Republicans were "paired" against and five Republicans for the measure over which a titanic struggle has raged for more than 17 months.

House in Accord

Only the ratification of the house which is a foregone conclusion before nightfall tomorrow, and the signature of President Hoover, which is confidently predicted, remains to put the Grundyized bill in force and effect.

The president has 10 days in which to affix his signature or veto the measure, which increases the duties on sugar, butter, shoes, clothing, lumber, cement and bricks, after it is delivered to his desk. But he is expected to act before the end of next week.

It was virtually a joint session of congress which saw the bill scrape through the senate by the scant margin of two votes. For a substantial majority of house mem-

Body Of Toy Spence, Killed In Tragic Auto Accident, To Rest In Burk Cemetery

Funeral services for Toy Spence, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam B. Spence, 2210 Taylor street, who was instantly killed when she fell from an automobile Thursday evening, will be held at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon from the First Baptist chuch in Burkburnett with Dr. O. L. Powers, pastor of the First Baptist church here, and Rev. Miles B. Hayes, pastor of the Burkburnett church, officiating.

Active pallbearers for the services will be Mike Anglin, George W. Anderson, A. C. Estes and Dick Williams of Lubbock. Mr. Anglin and Mr. Anderson are assistants in the office of the district attorney. Mr. Williams arrived here Friday.

William E. Young, choir director at the First Baptist church here, will lead the song service at the rite. Interment will be in the Burkburnett cemetery.

Mrs. Spence, who was under the care of a physician at the Wichita General hospital during the night following the tragic accident, was taken to her home Friday afternoon. It was not known whether her condition would be sufficiently improved Saturday to permit her attendance at the funeral rites in Burkburnett. Mr. Spence is district attorney here.

Mrs. Kuntz Driving

The accident occurred about 7 o'clock Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Earle Kuntz, 1902 Tilden street. Mrs. Spence and Mrs. Kuntz were assisting in the preparation of dinner when it was found that several minor articles were needed, making necessary a trip to a nearby grocery store. Mrs. Kuntz started for the store in her automobile, taking her 3-year-old daughter, Gloria, playmate of Toy. Toy asked her mother to let her go with Gloria and consent was given with the instructions that she was "not to ask for candy" from the grocery store.

The two children were put in the rear seat of the sedan and the door on the side which they entered was shut. With Mrs. Kuntz at the wheel, the car was backed from the drive. The door opposite that through which the children entered was apparently not fastened shut and as the machine went down the sharply inclined portion of the drive into the street, Toy, supposedly leaning on the door, fell outward as the door flew open.

Both Women Stricken

The child struck the pavement upon her head as the wheels of the machine were turned in backing into the street. Death was almost instantaneous. It was at first reported that the turned wheels of the car passed over the child, but investigations Friday apparently revealed this was not true. It was also reported in the excitement following the tragedy that Mrs. Spence had been driving the car. Her immediate appearance on the scene and the fact that Mrs. Kuntz and Mrs. Spence are somewhat alike in appearance probably led to this first report. Both women were stricken by the tragedy and a statement from them Thursday night was impossible. Mrs. Kuntz was confined to her home Friday.

The child's body was first taken in charge by the Hines mortuary and later transferred to the Owens & Brumley Funeral home at Burkburnett, taken to that city Thursday evening.

Relatives Here

Before coming to this city several years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Spence lived in Burkburnett, where he was manager of the chamber of commerce for a number of years. He was appointed special prosecutor for the district attorney's department and moved with Mrs. Spence to this city, later becoming assistant district attorney. Two years ago he was elected to the office he now holds as head of the department.

Mrs. Lura Griffin of Denton, mother of Mrs. Spence; Mrs. L. C. Griffin of Graham, a sister; and Mrs. George Green and Homer Moore, a sister and brother, both living in Oklahoma, were in Wichita Falls Friday after having received word of the tragedy. A brother of Mr. Spence was en route from Albany, Ga., and was expected to arrive Saturday for the services.

Major Sir Henry Segrave, British sportsman and driver of the fastest automobile in the world, was killed in a speedboat accident in England Friday. Major Segrave set a world's record for automobiles, driving his Mystery-S 231.36 miles per hour, at Daytona, Fla. He had set a new speedboat record when he and a mechanic met death yesterday.

SEGRAVE DIES IN SPEED TEST

Famous Driver Attains New Boat Record

WINDERMERE, England, June 13. (UP)—Major Sir Henry Segrave, fastest automobile driver in the world and one of Britain's most famous sportsmen, set a new speed boat record today and gave his life attempting to exceed it. A mechanic died with him and another was injured.

"This boat is an absolute experiment and anything may happen," said the Baltimore-born speed king as he started tests on his new 4,000-horsepower "mystery" craft, Miss England II, on Lake Windermere.

He made two record test runs, averaging close to 100 miles an hour, over a measured mile course. Then he swung his white-painted boat, which the British air ministry had helped him build, back to the course again and the noise of its engines chattered the air.

Wife Watches Test

Hundreds of spectators, including Lady Segrave, watched breathlessly as the racer bore across the lake, tossing up spume on both sides and churning the waters in the rear. It seemed to them that this was the best trial of the day. Then suddenly they gasped as a tremendous cloud of spray enveloped the craft. Miss England dived beneath the surface, the thunder of its motors ceased, and in an instant the boat reappeared, floating upside down with a hole in its bottom. Then slowly at sank, the reason for its accident a mystery.

Seagrave, thrown out by the crash, was pulled to the safety of a rescue boat. Though both his arms

Ships Flounder Helplessly When Fog Darkens New York Waterfront

NEW YORK, June 13. (AP)—Fog lay so low and heavy off shore and in the lower harbor today that liners crept in and out like snails or dropped their anchors and waited for hours. One boat went aground, two others collided, and an airplane crashed when the pilot could not find the field he sought.

Among incoming liners delayed for hours by the fog were the Aquintania, the Europa, and the Siboney. The first to nose through the gray wall into the clear sunshine that bathed the upper bay and the city itself were the George Washington, with a delegation of gold star mothers, and the Santa Maria.

The Paris left its pier last night for France but had to anchor below quarantine until this morning. Then it moved outward and presumably to sea although the fog was so dense it was not sighted from Ambrose lightship.

The craft that went ashore was the Norwegian freighter Stavangeren which grounded in mud and sand off Fire island.

Lieut. Donald Drowner of Wright field, Ohio, was flying to Miller field, Staten island, but could not find the field because of the fog. He set his ship down in a street about 300 feet from shore front and escaped with minor injuries.

The tanker Gulf of Mexico collided 11 miles south of Ambrose light with the Franklin K. Lane, a freighter, but both proceeded under their own power.

C. E. DELEGATES TO VISIT LAKE

Outing at Resort Planned For Saturday

Millan, Tehaucana, Methodist Protestant; Rev. H. R. Allen, Dallas, Cumberland Presbyterian; Rev. B. A. Hodges, Waxahachie, Presbyterian U. S. A.; Mrs. L. C. Majors, Dallas, Presbyterian U. S., and Rev. C. E. McStravick, Corsicana, United Presbyterian.

Winners in the oratorical contest were Maurine Swinney, Fort Worth; L. D. Herbert, Wichita Falls; Franklin Morris, Sherman; and Mildred Watson, Dallas. These four will compete before the general assembly Sunday afternoon in a final contest. Miss Velma Lois Dulin of Brownwood was presented with a Christian Endeavor pin as first prize for winning the sharpshooting contest conducted Friday morning by Mrs. Myrtle Morris. Other winners were Miss Ruth Lowrance, Wichita Falls, second, and Miss Pauline Phillips, Panhandle, third.

Following a preliminary service conducted by Mrs. Pattye Horn Gilmer, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Shepherd had charge of a song service. Rogers Brown read the Scripture after which Rev. H. T. Wood, pastor of the First Christian church offered a prayer.

Mrs. Myrtle Morris, in her talk on "What the Crusade Means to the Juniors" discussed several points that the members are required to fulfill before becoming crusaders.

"The Junior Christian Endeavor is to train children for Christian service," she said. "Christian Endeavor does not have to wait until the child has reached the high school age before it can begin to train them properly for a good Christian life."

The speaker stressed the fact that the teacher must be spiritually minded before teaching the children.

Miss Ruth McSpadden, of Greenville, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. L. L. Davis of Wichita Falls gave a vocal solo after which Harold Singer, mid-West secretary of the international society talked on "World Peace-Missions". Mr. Singer visualized the cost of war in money and in life and said "if we must have war, we must look at the picture painted with the blood of the youth of the land." In closing, Mr. Singer said, "to every age comes the supreme moral task and to our age, this task is to rid the world of war."

The meeting was closed with an impressive devotional conducted by Otto R. Neilsen.

Denominational conferences featured the Friday afternoon meeting. Following a song service which was conducted by Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Shepherd, Rev. E. F. McGaughey, pastor of the East Side Presbyterian church discussed "Graded Christian Endeavors."

"The essentials of a good Christian Endeavor are for well planned programs, varied programs and striving for a goal," Rev. Mr. McGaughey pointed out.

"In considering a well planned program, it is necessary to take into consideration the adaptation of the program to the general scheme of the church, Rev. Mr. McGaughey said. The speaker explained methods used by the six Christian Endeavors now functioning in the East Side Presbyterian church. "The varied program must be planned to create interest and hold the attention of the young people," he declared.

Allegiance to Church

In his talk on "Christian Endeavor's Allegiance to the Church," Rev. Everett B. King, pastor of the Hemphill Presbyterian church at Fort Worth, emphasized the fact that "loyalty can convert defeats into victories and wherever you find loyalty, you will find that it can grip, hold and challenge the Christian Endeavor is the call of loyalty to the Jesus Christ. Christian Endeavor issues the call of human heart. The call of the loyalty to Christ but at the same time it issues a call of loyalty to the church."

Denominational conference leaders included Rev. Charles M. Ross, Christian; Fred B. Porter, Presbyterian, (U.S.); Dr. B. A. Hodges, Presbyterian (U.S.A.); Rev. H. R. Allen, Cumberland Presbyterian; and C. C. Hamilton, general conference leader for those not attending other meetings.

Following the group meetings, denominational dinners were held for those belonging to the Christian church, Presbyterian (U.S.) at the First Southern Presbyterian church and Presbyterian (U.S.A.) at the First Presbyterian church.

$60,000 PAID FOR OIL LEASE

King Royalty Co. Buys Newcastle Tract

Special to The Record News

NEWCASTLE, Texas, June 13.—King Royalty company of Wichita Falls today purchased a 40-acre tract in the Newcastle pool from G. A. Terrell and E. H. Remington for a consideration of $60,000, one of the largest trades made here since the field was brought in.

The tract is the north 40 acres of section 2249, T. E. & L. survey and is part of the Graham farm. It contains one producing well, pumping 185 barrels daily from the prolific 690-foot sand.

Terms of the trade call for payment of $24,000 in cash and the remainder in oil, it was reported here. The lease offsets the big Riggs producer.

With excitement still running high, trading is maintaining a brisk gait and other sizable deals are reported pending. Eighteen rigs are running in the pool, which has attained unparalleled producing proportions since the discovery well was completed.

SEGRAVE DIES IN SPEED TEST

were broken and a fractured rib had punctured one lung, he asked if his companions were safe. Then he lapsed into coma and died nearly three hours later.

Mechanic Drowns

M. J. Willcocks, one of the mechanics, was pulled up with blood streaming down his face. One of his thighs were fractured. He waved to the rescuers to attend to Segrave first.

E. Halliwell, the other mechanic, a specialist for the Rolls-Royce engines installed in the boat, had been swallowed in the waves. His body was not recovered until after nightfall.

As the only survivor, Willcocks tried to explain the crash to newspapermen later but could not.

"I haven't the slightest idea what happened," he said. "The boat was right on top, going faster than ever before. All I know is that there was a suden shudder and the next thing I remember was finding myself lying in someone's boat and later in a bed ashore."

Segrave made today's test, in violation of the Friday 13th superstition, in hopes of exceeding the previous speed boat record of 96.3 miles an hour set by Gar Wood in the Miss America last April. Later he expected to defeat Wood and recapture the British international trophy for Great Britain in races to be held on the Detroit river.

Sets Record

The official time for his first mile test was 96.41 miles an hour. For the second it was 101.11 miles an hour. For the two tests he averaged 98.76 miles, faster than any man had had skipped over water before. Still, he was not satisfied, and in the third and fatal attempt he was believed to have traveled at a speed well above 100 miles an hour.

The British had come to regard Segrave as an invincible speed driver whose luck was good. They had counted on him to win and hold the water speed mark as he did the automobile racing record. They recalled he had been shot down as an army aviator in the war, and survived, and that he set an auto speed of 231.36 miles an hour on the sands of Daytona Beach, Fla., March 11, 1929—a mark which Lee Bible gave his life to beat three days later.

Segrave was knighted for his effort at Daytona. He was a director of the Portland Cement Selling company but a few months ago helped form the Hillman and Humber company to design and build British motor cars capable of capturing foreign markets.

Tall, blue-eyed and still youthful appearing at 34, he captured the British imagination and received every government aid in designing his Miss England II. First the engines were built, capable of 12,500 revolutions a minute. Then the 28-foot hull was constructed around them. With a substructure or chassis of wood and metal, and each joint tested to withstand many tons of twisting strain. The bottom of the craft was seven-ply mahogany, constructed around a framework of light alloy metal. The whole boat weighed 4½ tons, and special care was taken to give it such delicate balance that light obstructions would not swerve and upset it.

SOAP AND SALAD OIL

OFF-HAND, you might say there isn't much connection. But between White King Granulated Soap and the better brands of salad dressing there is a close relationship.... For both are made from the finest vegetable oils obtainable.

Shifting Arizona Sand Dunes Reveal Ruins of Ancient City

PHOENIX, Ariz., June 13. (INS)—Ruins of an ancient civilization partially uncovered by shifting sand dunes were found in an unnamed desert in southwestern Arizona, near Palomas and Aztec, 120 miles west of here by W. J. Hanna, federal land inspector, he announced today.

Bronze and pottery household ufensils, "city streets," and an elaborate irrigation system led archaeologists to believe that Hanna accidentally had stumbled upon one of the "seven cities of Cibola," legendary cities constructed of gold, for which Coronado in 1540 hunted in vain.

Hanna said the ruins which cover a large area under the restless sands of the desolate desert south of the Gila river near the Mohawk mountains in Yuma county would be extensively investigated in September when the desert cools.

AIR COMPANY RAISES RATES

S. A. F. E. Passangers to Ride at 7 Cents Mile

Fares over the Southwest Air Fast Express out of Wichita Falls were increased from 5 to 7 cents a mile by officials of the company Friday, their experiment to determine whether "fare or fear" kept travelers from using the air lines having eliminated fear from the question, according to an announcement from Earle P. Halliburton, president of the company.

The 5-cent fares were adopted several months ago when passenger lists on the air lines failed to show expected increases and the question arose as to whether the lack of increase was attributable to the excessive rates or to man's fear to leave the earth. The experiment was inaugurated and now, after several months of operating at a loss, company officials have concluded that the fare was the thing which held back the traveler, Mr. Halliburton said.

The 2-cent increase, however, he pointed out, is based on air mileage between points, which is considerably less than mileage by road or rail. A table showing comparatime figures on the old and new rates out of Wichita Falls follows:

	Old Fare	New Fr.
To Fort Worth	$5.00	$7.00
To Dallas	7.50	9.10
To Abilene	7.25	8.75
To Sweetwater	9.50	11.90
To Oklahoma City	6.50	7.70
To Tulsa	12.00	15.40
To Kansas City	23.50	30.80
To St. Louis	30.00	40.60

Mrs. Hines Honors Guests With Lovely Luncheon

One of the prettiest events closing the whirl of social activities in the current week was the luncheon given by Mrs. Harry Hines Friday at her home on Berkeley, honoring her sister, Mrs. S. L. Robinson of Kansas City and her friend, Mrs. M. E. Holmes of Kansas, buth of whom are her house guests.

The handsome residence was brightened throughout with a luxuriant display of spring flowers and the shining dining table, gleaming beneath exquisite real lace doilies, was particularly lovely with pastel blossoms in shining bowls and tall candles in pretty holders emphasizing the dainty color motif.

Courses served in the luncheon carried out the pastel shades and covers were laid for Mesdames Robinson and Holmes, honorees, Mesdames E. G. Steele, R. E. Shepherd, T. A. Bradley, W. P. Killingsworth, Ola G. Hamlin, Grady England, T. M. Conrey, Wayne Holmes, L. E. Trout, H. T. Wood, Ross Duke, H. B. Dudley, R. E. Strange, Porter Oakes and Mrs. Hines.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

One thing of which we are certain is that no matter what "Journey's End" may be, the sign advertising it is startling. The red letters hit one's eye almost as hard as the local fire plugs. Nothing can equal those. The name in red isn't ghastly like the hydrants; it is merely fiery.

The color scheme on the streets seemed bent toward the loud tones Friday. An extremely broad lady in a brilliant flowered gown carried a bird cage of bright red.

A gentleman who wore cowboy boots with high heels and a shirt that was not pastel in shade, wore also a mustache—one that was luxuriant in its growth and that had been tinted to a nice darkness.

A lady in black, just as broad as she was long, located her waist line for the public with a red velvet ribbon. She also wore red slippers.

In a local cafe ria, there was a tray full of corn and a gentleman had the girl waiting on him try them one by one. He finally settled on a young and tender one. We could tell she was out of patience, but she could not help laughing when he made some remark, pointing to his mouth.

It's a brave man who dares wear his new false teeth, instead of carrying them in his pocket.

Speaking of teeth, people have so much prettier teeth in general than they used to have. We are not speaking of the sound teeth Indians and prehistoric people sometime possessed. We mean white, shining, even teeth.

Tooth brushes and tooth pastes have done their work—and dentists. We saw not so long since, a set of teeth in a woman's mouth that equalled any natural ones we know. And they were made in Wichita Falls.

And we liked their looks better than those of one gentleman we remember who boasted that he had never had a toothache nor a tooth pulled, and showed his proudly, worn down almost to the gum. We wondered where his nerves were.

We are like Charles Lamb about teeth. We don't see why one should be so proud of a bit of bone. And when it comes to shopping, with all due respect to dentists, it is much more fun to shop for other things than teeth.

Right now people seem to be shopping for holiday clothes — clothes to wear to various ends of the earth.

And from what we hear, Wichita Falls is to be represented in all corners of the globe. Oh well, so far as that goes, it seems almost as if all corners of the globe were represented in Wichita Falls.

Edgar Robertson Weds Miss Frances Cooper

SEYMOUR, Texas, June 13.—The marriage of Miss Mary Frances Cooper of Seymour and Edgar Robertson of Durant, Okla., was solemnized Wednesday morning, June 11 in a beautiful home wedding at the home of the bride which was beautifully decorated with cut flowers. Before the ceremony Mrs. Lee Coy softly played "Traumerei" and accompanied Miss Margaret Jones who sang "O Promise Me." The wedding party was preceded by little Misses Martha McMinn and Juanita Robertson bearing large bows attached to streamers which marked the path of the bridal party. The bride was attended by Miss Mildred Ballew as bridesmaid, Mrs. L. J. Bates as matron of honor and Miss Imogene Ballew as maid of honor. The groom was attended by W. T. Humphreys as best man and Roy Langford as groomsman. The rainbow color scheme was carried out in the dresses of the attendants. Permanent Membership in C.-C. Urged at Business Council Meet

C. W. Snider Heads Committee to Study Need of Trust Fund Board for City

Operation of the new chamber of commerce business council as a deliberative and advisory forum for community development began at the semi-monthly meeting held Friday noon when movements were instituted for making memberships in the chamber of commerce permanent instead of annual, and for undertaking the establishment of a community trust fund here.

Following a brief address by J. Wilkie Talbert in which he pointed out the time and money expense of annual membership drives, discussion of the matter resulted in its being tabled for the ensuing two weeks with the provision that it constitute the first business to be considered by the council in its next meeting, to be held on June 27. Mr. Talbert stated that conditions several years ago, with a rapidly changing population, justified an annual membership campaign, but that memberships should now be considered permanent until resignation is tendered. Half-year memberships for persons coming in between ends of the fiscal year were recommended.

Trust Fund

C. W. Snider was appointed by Paul G. Putty, chairman of the council, in compliance with a unanimous vote of that body, as head of a committee to study the needs and possibilities of a community trust fund here such as functions in numerous other large cities. Mr. Snider was asked to select members of his committee, and to report to the council the committee's recommendations at the earliest feasible date. The community trust fund idea, as established in other cities, places a board of prominent business and professional men in charge of such bequests as may be received for civic, educational, religious, charitable and similar enterprises in the community, it was said.

Frequent cases of inefficient direction of such funds through unbusinesslike handling, and miscarriage of donors' purposes because of changing conditions, were said to have given the greatest stimulus to the organization of boards for the administration of such matters.

Action on the proposed community trust fund organization followed an informal talk by Charles I. Francis, in which he expressed the opinion that many citizens of this community, conscious of their obligation to its further development, would make considerable bequests for philanthropic application if a competent, reliable board of trustees were established to direct the use of such funds.

College Tax Opposed

Mr. Francis also discussed the problem now facing the Wichita Falls school board with reference to the Junior college here. He expressed his opposition to any county-wide bond issue for support of the college, declaring his belief that state institutions provide ample facilities for higher education, and that additions to the county tax, if any were made, should be for the purpose of improving grammar and high school educational opportunities here.

Members of a program committee appointed by Mr. Putty Friday were asked to plan a discussion of the Junior college problem for the next meeting. This committee consists of R. D. Kennedy, chairman; A. E. Kelly, R. J. Irvine, B. B. Greever, and C. C. Kirby.

A second committee which will receive all complaints and appeals originating with citizens of Wichita Falls with reference to community projects was appointed, consisting of Jim Gant, chairman; Charles P. Stephenson, J. C. Hunt, Harry Gray and Gene Liepold. For the purpose of making reports and recommendations to the board of directors of the chamber of commerce, and to confer with them when desired by either group, Mr. Putty appointed the following committee: J. F. O'Donohue, chairman; Milo Connelley, J. E. H. Railey, Charles I. Francis, and Dr. Everett Jones.

Eighty-three members of the business council attended Friday's meeting.

Healthiest!

"My little daughter is about the healthiest girl I know," says Mrs. Wm. L. Pieper, 1043 Drexel Ave., San Antonio. "And I want to give credit where it is due.

"Elaine was constipated several years ago and I gave her California Fig Syrup. It helped her so wonderfully that I have used it ever since for all her upsets or colds. It has kept her strong, energetic, rugged."

Children suffer when bowels are not regular. Breath becomes fetid; tongue coated; eyes dull. When these symptoms are neglected, biliousness, feverishness, lack of appetite invariably follow.

The first dose of California Fig Syrup relieves these symptoms and activates sluggish bowels. Successive doses help tone and strengthen weak bowels; improve appetite; encourage digestion and assimilation. Try it with a bilious, headachy, constipated child and see how it helps!

The pure vegetable product, endorsed by doctors for 50 years, always bears the name California. So look for it when buying.—Adv.

RECIPES

Pea Waffles

Pour one cupful of scalded milk into one cupful of pea pulp. Add one tablespoonful butter, one tablespoonful sugar and one teaspoonful salt. Cool, add two eggs, yolks and whites beaten separately, and two teaspoonfuls baking powder sifted with one cupful flour. Cook on waffle irons that have been brushed with melted butter or crisco. Serve garnished with buttered asparagus tips, broiled bacon curls and parsley.

Maryland Chicken

Clean and cut a fowl in pieces. (The difference between a chicken and a fowl is the age. If you cannot distinguish one from the other by the appearance, feel the end of the breast bone, between the legs. If this bone is soft, the bird is a chicken, if stiff and hard it is a fowl.) Put the pieces in a kettle and almost cover with boiling water. Simmer until tender, adding two teaspoonfuls of salt when half done. Six peppercorns, a sprig of parsley, a slice of onion and four slices of carrot may be cooked with the chicken to give flavor to the stock. When the chicken is tender, drain; dip in flour, in egg, beaten with two tablespoonfuls water and roll in fine soft bread crumbs. Cook in frying pan until brown or bake, basting every five minutes with melted butter or chicken fat. If the chicken is cooked on top of the stove saute in butter or crisco. Serve with white or cream sauce, corn fritters and strips of broiled bacon.

The sauce may be made of two cupfuls chicken stock or of one cupful chicken stock and one cupful milk, four tablespoonfuls chicken fat, four tablespoonfuls flour, salt, pepper and two teaspoonfuls parsley. Melt the fat, stir in the flour until smooth, add the stock or stock and milk; cook until it is the consistency of medium white sauce and season to taste with salt and pepper. Sprinkle the sauce with chopped parsley just before serving.

Place the breast in the center of the platter, drumsticks crossed at the end of breast, second joints and wings opposite each other on either side of breast. (The meat from the backbone and the chopped cooked giblets may be added to the sauce or used in some other way.) The sauce should be served over the chicken. Paper frills, placed on the ends of the drumsticks, add to the attractiveness of the dish. Garnish the platter with broiled bacon and parsley.

Chiffon Pie

Three eggs, one cupful granulated sugar, juice and rind of one lemon. Separate eggs and beat the yolks until creamy. Add two-thirds of the sugar, then the juice and grated rind of lemon (yellow part only). Cook in double boiler until thick, stirring constantly. Beat whites until very stiff and add remaining sugar; beat until well mixed and fold into the yellow mixture. Put into a baked pie shell and bake very slowly until brown on top. This makes one pie.

Sweetbread, Mushroom Patties

Sweetbreads are especially suited to summer serving. They are convenient too, for they may be partly prepared in the cool of the day and finished quickly just at serving time. Soak the sweetbreads in cold water for half an hour, then boil for about 30 minutes or until tender in water that is slightly salted and acidulated with vinegar or lemon juice. This keeps the sweetbreads white and brings out the flavor. Blanch in ice water, drain well, cut away all sinews and membranes and set aside to cool.

Cut half a pound of fresh mushrooms (or one can of canned mushrooms) in small pieces and simmer in one and a half cupfuls of milk for half an hour, adding salt and pepper to taste. Melt a tablespoonful of butter in a skillet and stir into it a tablespoonful of flour, cook to a paste, then add the mushrooms and milk; simmer to a thick creamy sauce and add one pair of sweetbreads, prepared as directed above and cut in pieces for serving. If these sweetbreads are to be served at a very fine affair add half a dozen truffles sliced or as many ripe olives, cut in quarters lengthwise. Fill heated patty shells with the mushroom mixture and serve very hot garinshed with narrow strips of pimiento.

Cherry Parfait

One cup sugar
One-third cup water
Three egg whites
One pint double cream
One bottle maraschino cherries.

Boil sugar and water until it forms a hard ball when tested in cold water. Pour syrup slowly over the beaten egg whites, stirring constantly. When cool add to cream which has been whipped until stiff. Add cherries and pack in ice and salt for three hours.

Frozen Salads

Frozen salads are very popular during the warm months. They may be made early in the morning when it is cool. Frozen salads are more elaborate and need careful preparation. The dressing alone may be frozen or it may be added to the other ingredients and then frozen.

The freezing itself is a very simple matter. The salad mixture may be placed in the trays of an electric refrigerator or in a mold which is suitable for packing in ice and salt. The variety and kinds of ingredients in each recipe determines the length of time for freezing. In using an electric refrigerator without a cold control, allow the full time indicated in the specific recipe and longer if the box is opened frequently. In using ice and salt, seal the edge of the lid with an inch-wide piece of cloth which has been dipped in melted fat or parafine and bury the mold or baking powder or coffee can in finely chopped ice, sprinkling with an equal quantity of ice cream salt.

Frozen salads may be used as the main course at luncheons, receptions, or suppers accompained by hot or cold tea, coffee or chocolate, as well as the salad course of any meal. They may be served in place of dessert with crisp crackers and cheese and, of course, a small cupful of coffee.

There are innumerable recipes for frozen salads but the following are especially delicious.

Frozen Fruit Salad

One tablespoonful butter
Two egg yolks
Three and one-half tablespoonfuls flour
Three tablespoonfuls sugar
One-third teaspoonful pepper
Two-thirds cupful milk
One-third cupful vinegar
One-quarter cupful candied cherries
One tablespoonful lemon juice
One-quarter cup orange pulp
One-quarter cup pineapple cubes
One-quarter cup bananas or grapefruit
One-half cup cream whipped
Two tablespoonfuls pineapple juice.
Lettuce.

Melt butter; add egg yolks slightly beaten and the dry ingredients which have been mixed; then add gradually while stirring milk and vinegar. Cook in a double boiler until the mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Cool, add cut fruits and fruit juices and fold in whipped cream. Pack in a mold to overflow and cover. Dip a piece of cloth an inch wide in fat and seal mold and pack in equal parts of ice and salt or place in an electric refrigerator for four hours. Remove from mold;

FROZEN SALADS FOR SUMMER

Mrs. Dawson Gives New Recipes

cut in slices or cubes and serve on lettuce leaves; garnish with mayonnaise to which a little whipped cream has been added and whole candied or maraschine cherries.

Frozen Mellange

Heat one-quarter cup of orange juice with two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice and dissolve in it a tablespoonful of gelatin which has been softened in two tablespoonfuls of cold water. Stir this into a cupful of gingerale and add one-half cup each of pineapple cubes, quartered maraschino cherries, and diced peaches, fresh or canned, a tablespoonful of preserved ginger cut fine and two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar. Pack in ice and salt or in the pans of an electric refrigerator for four hours. Serve cut into oblong pieces and garnished on one side with fresh mint sprigs and on the other with whipped cream dressing. For whipped cream dressing whip one cup of cream until stiff and fold in a tablespoonful of lemon juice, two teaspoonfuls of powdered sugar and a quarter of a teaspoonful of paprika. Chill almost to freezing before serving.

Pear Glace

Rub a cake of cream cheese to a smooth consistency and add half a cupful of whipped currant jelly and a tablespoonful of lemon juice. Season lightly with salt and paprika and fold in a cupful of stiffly whipped cream. Pack in ice and salt for four hours and serve a rounded tablespoonful in halves of chilled pears. Garnish with lettuce leaves and accompany with whole wheat nut bread and butter sandwiches. Pear glace gives a party atmosphere because of its delightful pink color.

Frozen Pineapple Salad on Tomato Rings

Use one cupful of shredded pineapple, fresh or canned, half a cupful of blanched and shredded almonds, and a cupful each of shredded celery and cabbage, freshened in cold water. Add one cupful of whipped cream folded into one and a half cupfuls of stiff mayonnaise and pack in ice and solt for three hours or in the pans of an electric refrigerator for five hours. Meantime make a tomato jelly salad and chill in a round mold. When ready to serve, cut into one-half inch slices and place on each one a piece of pineapple salad and garnish with lettuce leaves. The tomato jelly salad may be molded in a ring mold and the center filled with cubes of pineapple salad.

Tomato Jelly Salad

One pint canned tomatoes
One slice onion
One-quarter cup celery, coarsely cut
Four whole cloves
One tablespoon vinegar
One-quarter teaspoonful salt
Dash af cayenne
One package lemon Jell-O.

Combine tmatoes, onion, celery, and cloves and simmer five minutes. Strain, add vinegar, salt, cayenne and enough hot water to make one pint liquid. Heat to boiling and dissolve Jell-O in it. Turn into individual molds or a ring mold; chill until firm. Serve on crisp lettuce garnished with lettuce and frozen pineapple salad.

Frozen Cream Cheese Salad

One small can shredded pineapple
One small can white cherries
One-quarter lb. cream cheese
One-half cup cooked salad dressing
One-half cup double cream
One tablespoonful gelatin
Three tablespoons water.

Soften cheese by stirring with a fork and add the fruits. Soften the gelatin in the cold water and place over hot water until it is dissolved. Whip the cream and add it to the salad dressing, add the dissolved gelatin and fold in the fruits. Pack in molds and freeze. Serve on lettuce garnished with olives or pamolas.

Frozen Roquefort Salad

Press one-quarter pound of Roquefort cheese through a sieve and work into it a teaspoonful of vinegar, two tablespoonfuls of cream cheese and a tablespoonful of finely minced chives. Season with paprika and fold in one cupful of whipped cream and one cupful of finely shredded cabbage. Pack in ice and salt for four hours or in the pan of an electrict refrigerator and freeze. Serve in family or buffet style, so that the guests may help themselves according to taste. This is a favorite with many men and is best when accompanied by some of the coarse dark breads.

Frozen Apricot Salad

Heat in a double boiler one-quarter of a cupful each of apricot and orange juice, two tablespoons of lemon juice and a pinch of salt. Beat two egg yolks with half a cupful of sugar and stir the hot juices into them; then cook over hot water stirring until thick and smooth. Cool and fold in the stiffly beaten eggwhites and one cupful of cream which has been whipped, and one and a half cupfuls of canned apricots cut in quarters. Pack in ice and salt for four hours or in the pan of a mechanical refrigerator until frozen. Serve on mint leaves, garnished with a green mint cherry or the new green seedless grapes now prepared for this purpose.

HOUSE TO PASS TARIFF BILL

Grundy and Reed Turn Tide in Senate

bers were banked in a semi-circle around the chamber. The galleries were jammed to capacity and even the little used diplomatic gallery was well filled.

Watson in Assault

A dramatic climax was given to the long debate by Senator Watson of Indiana, Republican leader, in a fiery assault upon the attempt of "foreigners to dictate the American tariff policy." For some of the listening diplomats represent the nearly two score nations which have protested against the bill and threatened reprisals against American goods.

Just before the final and fateful roll call was taken at 2 o'clock, Senator Blaine of Wisconsin, withdrew his motion to send the bill back to the finance committee. He said the vote on the conference report would serve the same purpose of protesting against the measure.

Only the votes of senators Reed and Grundy of Pennsylvania, gave the administration the margin of victory for the bill, despite the Republican majority of 15 in the senate. And both of the super-protectionists from the great industrial commonwealth voted for the bill with reluctance and misgiving.

Grundy's Victory

The fact that "Old Joe" Grundy, the erstwhile ace lobbyist, who was chief of the wrecking crew when the coalition bill was ripped to tatters, voted for the measure clinches the issue of "Grundyism" in the congressional campaign. And this issue will be used by Progressive Republicans as well as Democrats.

Since the announcements of Reed and Grundy yesterday, ended all doubt about the senate's action, the three hours of debate which preceded the roll call was not expected to change a vote but merely to make the "record."

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader, Senator Simmons of North Carolina, Senator Borah of Idaho, Senator Connally of Texas and Senator Schall of Minnesota, all poured maledictions upon the bill and warned of the disaster that will follow its enactment.

In an old-fashioned, rip-snorting, Republican tariff speech, Watson answered all these direct predictions and pictured the protective tariff system as the fount from which all the blessings of American prosperity flow.

Bankers and Insurance Men Discuss Cooperation in Handling Estates

Moving toward a closer cooperation between bankers and life insurance men in the creating and conserving of life insurance estates through the banking trust departments, officers of the Wichita Falls banks and leaders in the local life insurance companies held a joint meeting at dinner at the Wichita club Friday evening.

The meeting was sponsored by the Life Underwriters association and was attended by about 35 leaders in the Wichita Falls institutions. Although no set schedule was adopted, the sponsors indicated that similar meetings would be called from time to time in the future.

J. T. Harrell, president of the City National bank, presided at the meeting Friday night. O. R. Hartt, of the Life Underwriters association, spoke for the insurance men. A. B. Culbertson, trust officer of the First National Bank of Fort Worth discussed the importance of cooperation between the two groups in handling insurance estates. Claude Allen, manager of the Fort Worth office of the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance company, approached the same subject from the insurance man's side and emphasized the importance of more complete understanding and wider mutual information to further the interests of the clients as well as the companies. He gave concrete examples of the advantages of cooperative work and understanding in handling the insurance estates.

One Known Dead and 15 Reported Hurt

ELMIRA, N. Y., June 13. (UP)—At least a score of persons were thrown into a cellar excavation here late today when a temporary sidewalk collapsed alongside a building under construction at a busy downtown corner.

Three hours after home-going passersby had been dumped into the pit and partially buried under concrete, wood and iron girders rescue workers still were digging in the debris.

Water District Sued For Damage to Crops

Crops ruined by overflow alleged to have resulted from stoppage of natural streams by irrigation ditch embankments were made the basis of a $6,160 damage suit filed in the 30th district court here Friday against the Wichita County Water Improvement district No. 2 by Mrs. Iva D. Cameron.

Mrs. Cameron's petition states that Buffalo creek and two other smaller stream beds run through a 240-acre tract belonging to her and that these streams have been virtually dammed up by embankments constructed in digging the irrigation canals. The streams formerly drained off all rain water from the land, the petition states, but a heavy rain on June 15, 1928, and another after acreage damaged by the first had been replanted was not drained off. The overflow covered more than 100 acres, it is alleged, destroying cane, alfalfa, sudan grass, sweet clover and pasture grass.

Mrs. Huff is said to have suffered fractures of the arm bones when she was thrown to the pavement after the crash.

80 SIGNED FOR SCOUT CAMP

Creighton Gives Plans for Summer Outing

With more than 80 Boy Scouts of this community already signed up for the first seven-day period which opens next Monday, June 16, plans have been completed by Frank B. Creighton, director, for the annual two-week summer training session at Camp Ephraim Griffin at Diversion dam, it was announced Friday.

Members of troops in Wichita Falls and nearby communities will make up the personnel of the camp during the first period, Mr. Creighton said. Scouts living in Paducah, Crowell, Knox City, Munday, Childress and Quanah will take the second period from June 23 to 30, it was announced.

Troop Two Goes Free

Prominent among the 80 registrants for the first period will be 20 members of local troop No. 2, in charge of Bill McClure, scoutmaster, all of whom will be given the entire week of camp training without charge by virtue of their work during the past six months. Free summer camp was offered to members of the troop first qualifying 20 boys as first class scouts, and troop two was declared winner of that contest.

Aside from a full week of outdoor life and intensive scout training, the camp which opens next Monday offers another incentive to scouts of this area. Those attending the training session at Camp Ephraim Griffin will be eligible for membership in the "Gypsy tour" to be taken by scouts of the Wichita Falls area beginning Aug. 10. The trip will be made in a large motor bus accommodating about 35 boys, will entail 1,600 miles of travel to Denver, Santa Fe and return, much sightseeing in the Rocky mountains and considerable study in nature lore en route.

As a further inducement to discipline and diligence at camp, any boy elected as honor camper during the two-week period will be given a reduced rate for the gypsy tour in August, being eligible to secure a ticket providing transportation, meals, and sleeping accommodations for the entire two-week tour for $26. This same rate will be made to honor campers of past years who attend this year's session at Camp Ephraim Griffin.

Boys who do not win honor campers' classification will make the trip for $30. Sight-seeing expenses, incidentals, etc., are not included in the announced trip rates, Mr. Creighton said.

The gypsy tour will include stops at Amarillo, Trinidad and Colorado Springs, where trips will be made to Pikes Peak, the cave of the winds, and garden of the gods. From Denver, after a one-day visit in that city, the party will go to a point on the divide 60 miles west of Denver, for a five-day stop. From that camp, daily trips will be taken to points of interest in that vicinity. The return trip will be made by way of Leadville, Alamosa, Salida, and Santa Fe, N. M.

Periods Planned

Scoutmasters Al Fitts, Kenneth Erwin, Russell Cunningham and Bob Tinsley of Wichita Falls will be assisted in the first period at Camp Ephraim Griffin during the coming week by scoutmasters from Burkburnett, each of whom will serve one day. Information received from E. S. Burnett, scoutmaster at Seymour, indicates that a quartet of scouts from that city will be on hand for the first period. Thirty-five Burkburnett boys will be included in the first period personnel also, according to R. D. Cunningham, in charge of the work there. Reports from J. G. Galloway, scoutmaster at Benjamin, promise four scouts from that city, while Rev. John Mullen of Childress, scoutmaster, stated that 15 boys from the Childress troops will attend the second period.

The periods planned for the two weeks beginning next Monday are designed as intensive training sessions rather than purely fun-making vacations. The daily afternoon program will be in the nature of a tournament, such as a field meet, swimming contest, competition in archery, treasure hunt, or battle of flowers. The program provides regular swimming hours from 11 to 11:30 a. m. and from 4:30 to 5:15 p. m. daily. Each council ring, at night, will present a different program under a staff of competent leaders, Mr. Creighton said. After supper each evening, the entire camp membership will participate in baseball, washer pitching, horseshoes, volley ball, etc., it was said. Winners of the different competitions will be awarded prizes, as in the past.

Handicraft and scout tests will be given two hours of each day for all campers, according to plans announced for the camp. Belt awards will be offered, as in past years, for various accomplishments.

Among the pursuits to which the boys will give this period regularly are swimming, life saving, beadwork, whittling, archery, model boat building, airplane construction, leathercraft, astronomy, bird lore, tree study, campcraft and game direction.

On one night next week, Mr. Creighton said, about 25 Wichita Falls business men will be invited to attend the evening meal and frolic. Games pitting the campers in competition with their visitors will be arranged for the evening, it was said.

Condemned Slayer Asks Rehearing of Case

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., June 13. (AP)—Ralph Fleagle, whose conviction and death sentence was upheld by the supreme court, will make one more legal move to escape penalty for the murders committed in the holdup of the First National bank of Lamar in May, 1928. A petition for a rehearing in his case will be filed with the supreme court within a statutory period of 15 days from the decision handed down last Monday, his attorney, L. W. Cunningham said today.

Nationalists Refute Reported Peace Move

SHANGHAI, June 13. (AP)—Repudiating suggestions it sought a truce with rebel armies, the Nationalist government military headquarters today declared unrelenting warfare against northern and southern forces challenging its existence. President Chang Kai-Shek, far from yielding to rebel demands for his resignation, has taken command of Nationalist forces at Hankow. Government military authorities said he would smash the Kwangsi province rebels from southern China within ten days.

TWO MARYLAND WOMEN IN RACE

Socialist and Independent Seek Governorship

BALTIMORE, June 13. (AP)—The likelihood that two women would be in the race for governor of Maryland in the November election was indicated today when the announcement of Mrs. Millie D. Nicholson, of Montgomery county, that she would enter as an independent candidate, on a bone dry platform.

Miss Elisabeth Gilman, a socia worker, daughter of the first president of Johns Hopkins university is the Socialist party nominee, and already has begun her campaign.

Governor Albert C. Ritchie is unopposed thus far for the Democratic nomination for a fourth term, and Mayor William F. Broening of Baltimore, also is unopposed for the Republican nomination.

Royalty's Privilege
Happy Mr. Bamberger
Barring the Divorcee
Radio's Mistake

By EMILE GAUVREAU

Poets have always declared that a beautiful woman is worth an empire. Crown Prince Carol of Rumania went the poets one better; he proved it by sacrificing a throne. After five years of love in exile with a junkman's daughter, he returns to Bucharest, admitting his error. He thinks being a king will be much more fun.

To be born royal is the questionable privilege of a few. There are some obligations with royal birth that may not be evaded. Carol comes home to fulfil an obligation. His beautiful mistress in Paris, heartbroken and desolate, approves it.

"It blesseth him that gives and him that takes."

Louis Bamberger, retired head of the Bamberger store in Newark, who gives $5,000,000 for scientific research, will understand that. His donation is doubly blessed since it is given in the cause of human progress. The announcement that Dr. Flexner will be director of the new Institute for Advanced Study is an assurance that "him that takes" will likewise come in for the benediction.

In England a divorced woman is "persona non grata" at court. Mrs. Christopher Courtney, who was to have been presented to their majesties on May 14, was denied the royal welcome because, previous to her marriage to Captain Courtney, she was the divorced wife of Alexander Arnold Rayson. On the same grounds, she can be barred from the royal enclosure at the Ascot races.

The ban is unfair. Divorce is no crime and should not be penalized. An Englishwoman of social ambitions might, because of this stricture, when faced with an honorable divorce, be tempted to avoid it in favor of continuing a dishonorable union, so as to be within the law of St. James's. An old-fashioned ruling always works more harm than good.

Professor Einstein is on the verge of correlating all physical phenomena into a unified, homogeneous system or universal law, which, he thinks, will explain away many of the so-caled mysteries and paradoxes of nature. His main tenet is that space is the primary thing, and that all other manifestations of life and activity may be derived from it.

Man has yearned for an all-embracing principle of physical motivation ever since Thales, the first Greek philosopher, began to cogitate about the cosmos. Will Einstein give us this principle?

A novel way of blocking publicity, which has serious implications, is tried out over the radio. A mysterious SOS purporting to come from a ship in distress, shuts off ex-Senator James A. Reed's speech against the radio trust. Broadcasting service is resumed when Reed reaches the end of his address.

Freedom of speech over the air is as vital to the public as freedom of speech guaranteed to the press. Anyone guilty of infringing upon it should be classed as an offender and punished.

A false patriotism will sooner make a nation ridiculous in the eyes of the world than anything else. Mexico orders all text books and films carrying censorious references to that country's history or affairs banned. This is as much as to say, "Don't tell the truth about us; we won't read it. We are patriots, and no matter what our country does, it is above criticism. If you have something complimentary to say about us, we'll let it come through."

"I jest had the time o' my life," said Mrs. Em Pash on return from her aunt's funeral at Tulip. The old time brewery, with all its machinery, expert chemists, an' laboratory, could have saved a lot of expense if it had just known how easy it is to make beer.

A proposal has been made in London that publishers make their books waterproof for bathtub reading. As though the stuff we get nowadays isn't dry enough as it is.

Now that more than a score of middies at the Naval academy have obtained marriage licenses, the navy department need not worry about first mates.

Starting a Long Cruise

ANY AMERICAN who tries to figure out just what the shooting is all about in connection with the London naval treaty can be pardoned for getting dizzy and giving the thing up as a bad job.

The most noticeable thing about this treaty is that the big-navy men in each of the three chief naval powers are assailing the thing with every gun they can bring up.

In Japan, the navy men complain that the treaty leaves the mikado's kingdom comparatively defenseless for attack by this country. One high naval officer has even committed hara-kiri because of his despondency over it all.

In England, staunch patriots like Winston Churchill insist that the British navy will have no chance at all against the American navy if the treaty is accepted. Britannia, far from ruling the waves, will have to ask permission to go in swimming unless the treaty is killed.

And in America our big-navy men are telling us that the treaty makes us permanently inferior to England and leaves us defenseless for attack by Japan in the far East.

Now then—what's it all about? Obviously one lone treaty can't make each of three nations inferior to the other two. What is biting all of these admirals, senators, sea lords and statesmen, anyhow?

If you study the situation a while you begin to understand. What all of these people are objecting to is not the particular provisions of this particular treaty. It is the mere idea of naval limitation. These three big-navy groups—in England, in Japan and in America—cannot stand the thought of any sort of treaty that limits the size of navies. For them, nothing but the sky can be a satisfactory limit. You could not possibly devise a naval treaty that would satisfy them.

Looked at in that light, the thing becomes more clear. These admirals and jingoes understand the naval treaty better than we do. Of course it is a weak document, a compromise—but it is a first step toward disarmament. It sets a precedent. It will be followed by more treaties, as time passes, each one more stringent than the one before. The battle fleets of the world are starting on a long cruise from which they'll never come back—and the admirals don't like it.

That's why the treaty is under attack simultaneously in three countries. And—if you stop to think about it—you'll see that those attacks are the very best recommendations the treaty has yet had. It is a more effective instrument, a better step toward peace, than we had supposed. If it weren't it wouldn't rile the big-navy crowds so.

When the Thrill Goes

THE GRAF ZEPPELIN has finished her triangular flight from the old world to the new. The big airship's performance in the air is so taken for granted now that the average American probably did not bother to pay much attention to it. The thrills of the earlier flights were missing. No one doubted but that the Zeppelin would get safely to wherever she was going, with all of her passengers unharmed, no matter how bad the weather.

That fact—the fact that a big airship carrying upwards of two-score people could cross the ocean twice without stirring the public to any unusual pitch of excitement—is the most encouraging fact, for the air-minded, that aviation has yet developed.

Once mankind gets so used to a new invention that it refuses to get excited about it, that invention is about to be given steady employment.

As long as it is new and unusual and a little bit fear inspiring, an invention makes a lovely toy but a poor business proposition. But when the newness has once worn off so that people won't pay much attention to it, the time for serious work has come.

That's what makes it look as if the dirigible is at least about to begin a period of real service to mankind.

Every new device has to go through that "toy" stage first.

The early railroad trains were looked on as mechanical wonders, highly diverting to watch in action—but the railroads didn't become paying propositions until people had got over the first wonder.

Big crowds lined the waterfront to see Fulton's steamboat make its first trip. They cheered, waved flags and agreed it was a great show; but it wasn't until people got so used to the steamboat that they hardly bothered to look at it that the steamboat established itself as a commercial venture.

And the automobile. Remember how children—yourself among 'em, maybe—would run five blocks just to see one? They were great sights, then; but the automobile magnates didn't become multimillionaires until that newness had all worn off.

That's the way things go. Already people are getting so that they will hardly look up when an airplane passes overhead—and the commercial airplane lines are beginning to prosper, at last. If people are getting used to dirigibles in the same way, these projected transatlantic companies might just as well open for business.

Radio Sets in Prison

IT IS interesting to read that radio sets have been installed in the 1,000 cells of the Illinois penitentiary at Joliet. They are tiny sets, and they gave the prisoners programs that were selected by prison officials, so that the convicts were not able to exercise their own selection; but they brought in outside programs, just the same, and put the convicts in touch with the world they had left behind.

Doubtless there will be the usual number of long-eared critics to protest that this is "coddling the prisoners"; but one would suspect that these radio programs might make prison life even less tolerable than it was before. Would not a broadcast remind a prisoner with renewed force of the freedom he had lost? Would it not emphasize more painfully than ever the bars and walls that surround him?

The radio is doubtless a boon to these convicts; but it isn't an unmixed blessing, by any means.

"SHEILA"

Love and Mystery
Humor and Tragedy

A Story of Wichita Falls
By GORDON TURNER

Sheila had seated Edna between Sheridan and Andy.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Mazie Brown writes this story, for practice in a story-writing correspondence school course, never intending it to be published. She intersperses it with notes to her instructor. She is confidential secretary of Frand Sheridan, wealthy young lawyer, whose hobby is the solving of crime mysteries. Sheridan is called in by Joseph Hedley, assistant prosecuting attorney, to find a burglar who has robbed a safe in the home of William Oliver Wilber. Hedley is engaged to marry Wilber's daughter, Sheila, whose cousin, Andrew Masters, is a frequent visitor at the Wilber home. A diary of Wilber's wife, now dead, was stolen from the safe. The diary holds a secret of Sheila's birth. Sheridan inserts a $500 reward want-ad in The Record News for its return. Andy Masters wants to marry Edna Rogers, Sheila's chum, but is entangled in a love affair with Mercedes Riverton, a stenographer employed by his friend, Homer Menton, an unprincipled criminal lawyer. And has run through much of his money and now, dabbling in the stock market, finds himself facing financial ruin. He appeals to Homer Menton for a $3000 loan to tide him over. Menton demands security, and Andy turns over stock in his uncle's company. Menton reveals he is in possession of the diary stolen from Wilber's safe. He tells Andy that he, and not Sheila, is Wilber's legal heir. By playing cleverly upon Andy's resentment against his uncle who once had been his stern guardian, Menton persuades Andy to join him in a conspiracy to blackmail Wilber. Menton then calls in Riley "Ratface" Morgan, the burglar who robbed the Wilber safe, and orders him to repeat the burglary, this time stealing an electrical invention of Wilber's believed to be worth a fortune.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVI

Note by Mazie Brown to her correspondence school instructor:

I want to impress upon you again, Mr. Instructor, the absolute necessity of destroying this manuscript after you have read and criticized it. It is painful as well as indiscreet to narrate the love affairs of my employer, and I do it only because it is a part of this never-to-be-published story.

Mr. Sheridan, as you will see, gets a crush on Edna Rogers. I don't think it is the real thing, because he is a confirmed bachelor and never has been a lady's man, but it would be just awful if he knew I had said or written anything about his personal affairs.

Another thing: I've found out you are wrong in some of your teachings about story-writing. In one of your lessons you say: "To write convincingly, an author must have experienced personally the outstanding situations in his story. None can write of love who never has known love. None can describe temptation who never has yielded to temptation."

If that is so, this story is not one bit convincing! I hope you haven't the idea that I vamp men and attend wild parties. Some authors may have to do so to write about them, but then they haven't had the advantage of close association with a man like Mr. Sheridan. He could construct a whole novel out of the scratch of a pin on a polished table top. It's from him, in his imaginative reconstruction of every detail of the mysteries he investigates that I get my "experience." He would be the greatest novelist in the world if he ever thought of writing. Or he could be a great actor. He puts himself in the place of the people he is investigating. He talks as they talk, he acts as they act, and when he talks about them to me I sometimes have to pinch myself to remember he is not the actual person he is impersonating. It is so realitic. When I sometimes exclaim in wonder, he says, "Dreams, Maizie, are more real than reality." I hope this explanation has cleared my character with you.

Frank Sherdian met Edna Rogers for the first time at the dinner party given by Sheila and her father in honor of the representatives of the Demorel Electric Co., who had come to Wichita Falls to investigate Wilber's invention.

Sheridan was a man's man; women were outside of his interests save as psychological studies. He was not attracted by social functions and seldom attended them except in the pursuit of his bobby. Despite these infrequent contracts he had remarkable insight into feminine traits and reactions—more than most men—due to his constant study of human nature. But in the gay social world he was looked upon somewhat as a recluse, and Sheila felt quiet triumphant in persuading him to be her dinner guest.

Sheila had seated Edna between Sheridan and Andy, with Mrs. Rogers at Sheridan's right. He was won at once by the old-fashioned charm of the handsome, motherly, elder woman and equally attracted by the modern vivacity of her pretty daughter. Edna was a girl of the type he most admired, a well-balanced mixture of the new and old, quick witted, given somewhat to piquant slang and not overbound by conservative conventionality, but adaptable to any company, her speech and manner under control of a clever intelligence.

The attraction was mutual. Though retaining the nerve of youth spiced with a whimsical humor, Sheridan possessed a more mature outlook than the boys with whom Edna had been associated. A normal girl of 29 and a man of 28 or 30 usually are nearer an equality of understanding than a boy and girl of the same age. Edna found that she could be herself with Frank Sheridan and not be misunderstood; their thoughts seemed to follow the same grooves.

Toward the end of the dinner, Sheridan was neglecting Mrs. Rogers shamefully and Andy was throwing jealous glances in the direction of the man who was absorbing Edna's attention so fully.

However, it was only Andy's vanity that was wounded; his interest in Edna was not so much of the heart as of the pocketbook, and he was carrying on an aggressive flirtation with the girl at his other side. Sheila had invited several of her friends as dinner partners for the surplus men.

Nor did Mrs. Rogers feel neglected. At her other side was Sheila's father and, as Sheila had predicted, the two took to each other "as ducks to water." As older folk will, they found common ground and interest in discussing and comparing the past present. To them the glories of the "gay 90s" far surpassed the present era of jazz. They were as old friends in a few moments.

How strange are the ways of destiny! Here at this little dinner party four lives found new turnings that were to carry them into undreamed-of realms. Long afterward Frank Sheridan looked back upon that night and pondered on the trickery of fate!

The dinner was served by a caterer. Out in the kitchen, Clara, the Wilber cook, had been dispossessed by the caterer's chef, but Lena, the maid, was assisting two soft-footed, black-clad waiters in the dining room service. Clara refused to retire from her domain. Seated in a stiff-backed kitchen chair, she glared upon the intruders and commented upon their operations with unconcealed contempt. Lena, as opportunity offered, slipped out to the kitchen veranda with choice tidbits from the feast which she passed on to "her steady," who was seated in the deep shadow of a cluster of vines awaiting Lena's leisure at the conclusion of the dinner.

James Westervelt, one of the Demorel company experts, gave an exclamation of surprise when Lena made her first entry into the dining room.

"How do you do, Mr. Westervelt," she said rather tremulously, noting his startled recognition.

"Lena Swartz! How did you get here?" he replied. Addressing Sheila across the table, he continued, "Lena was a maid in my Utica home for several years. She left us—let's see—how many years ago was it, Lena?"

"Almost seven, sir."

"My, my! It doesn't seem that long. I am glad to see you so well situated, Lena."

Following the dinner Westervelt found an opportunity to speak to Sheila alone. "It may not be a charitable thing to do," he said, "the girl may be all right now, but she left our employ under a cloud, and I think you ought to know. Small sums of money and little articles of value had disappeared, and she was dismissed after the thefts were traced to her."

"She has been with us several years and there has been no cause for complaint," Sheila replied.

"Perhaps she learned a lesson in her experience with us," said Westervelt, and the subject was dropped.

The other Demorel expert, Samuel Enderby, was accompanied by his 9-year-old son, Dick, a bright-eyed, tow-headed lad, who was pounced upon by Sheila and seated at her side at the dinner table. She mothered him to such an extent that Hedley, on her other side, jokingly pretended to be jealous.

"Dick is an unusual boy in some ways," Enderby confided to Sheila. "He has lived all his life in an atmosphere of electricity and is keenly interested in all electrical developments within the capacity of his juvenile mind. When he heard I was coming to Wichita Falls to look into Mr. Wilber's discovery he begged to accompany me. A doting father could not deny him."

Sheila led her feminine guests back to the living room when Wilber proposed that the men accompany him to the laboratory for a demonstration of his invention. Hedley demurred.

"I am familiar with it; I'd only be in the way," he said. "With your permission I'll remain with the ladies."

Sheridan, who was beginning to feel that he could not see too much of Edna, was also about to decline when Wilber said:

"You mustn't desert me, too, Mr. Sheridan. There is something new in the laboratory I want to show you."

Little Dick Enderby eagerly followed the men when Wilber unlocked the door leading from a narrow hallway into the laboratory. Wilber switched on the lights and, taking Sheridan's arm, pointed to one of the two windows.

"That's what I wanted you to see," he said. "This place ought to be burglar-proof now. They were installed today."

Heavy iron grills extended from top to bottom of both windows. Wilber went to the safe, opened it, took out the small metal cylinder and placed it between the clips on the bench. Dick Enderby excitedly had crowded close to him. Wilber looked down, smiled and, taking the boy in his arms, stood him on the bench.

"We'll let this young man pull the switch," he said. "You know how? That one over there." He pointed to one of a row of large knife switches. The boy nodded. "Turn out the regular house lights as soon as the new lights go on, will you, Mr. Sheridan?"

Dicky reached out a hand. At the instant the switch points met the room was flooded with a brilliant light, many times stronger than the previous illumination from a large cluster of incandescent bulbs.

Q.—How can nicotine stains on the fingers be avoided?—T. S.

A.—Do not permit the smoke from the cigaret to rise through the fingers. It is the smoke and not the cigaret which causes stains. Soaking in soapy water, then a scrubbing with a nail brush, usually removes these stains. Lemon juice will help with stubborn stains, or a light rubbing with pumice.

Q.—What proportion of the people in the United States pays income taxes? What proportion in Great Britain?—N. T.

A.—A recent analysis of the tax in the two countries showed in the United States only one in 44 pays an income tax, while in Great Britain one in 10 of the population pays.

Q.—When was the Koran written?—B. M.

A.—It was divulged in 616. It was first published by Abu Bekr in 635.

Q.—Please tell how to make a good furniture polish.—A. P. H.

A.—The bureau of standards recommends a simple kind of furniture polish made by mixing one part of raw linseed oil with two parts of turpentine and adding a little melted beeswax.

Q.—When was the importation of slaves into the United States stopped?—L. P.

A.—After 1808 importation was prohibited by the constitution but the smuggling in of Africans continued up to the time of the civil war.

Q.—Please give the history of Vincent Panormo, violin maker.—W. C.

A.—Vincenzo Trusiano Panormo of Paris and London was born in Monreale bei Palermo, 1734, and died in London, 1813. Like Lupot and Aldric, Panormo was one of the cleverest imitators of Stradivarius violins. Of a wandering disposition, he often changed his residence and worked in London, Paris and also in Ireland. Some of his instruments have a marvelous finish and his red varnish is of exceptional quality. His instruments are scarce and sometimes branded.

Q.—Why do some paper bills have a star before the serial number?—E. G. W.

A.—Paper currency is printed and finished in sheets of 12 subjects. The finish includes imprinting the numbers in series. It occasionally happens after a serial number is imprinted that the bill is discarded because of some imperfection. A bill discarded is replaced with a perfect bill, which has been prepared for such an emergency and bears a number not in the regular series, but which is distinguished by a star preceding the number.

Tragedies That Might Have Been Averted

The most tragic feature of many drowning accidents every summer is that the victim might have been saved. The presence among those on the scene of one or two persons instructed in how to effect a rescue or how to revive apparently drowned people would have done this.

Such instruction is but one of the sections in the First Aid booklet now available to readers of the Record News, which tells what to do in any accident emergency or case of sudden illness. No more valuable booklet on the subject has ever been issued, because it is authoritative, clear and concise.

A copy should be in every home and in every traveling kit. The need for it may not come often, but when it comes the need will be great.

In ordering, use this coupon.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Enlarged Pores

Question: E. M. B. writes—"Would like to know what to do to reduce enlarged pores."

Answer—The enlarged pores you write about are probably those which appear on the nose and face. Such enlarged pores may be gradually reduced through using daily applications of ice. The ice should be held for several minutes directly on the affected part. The effect of the ice is to contract the pores and also the muscles of the face, improving tone and increasing the circulation of blood.

Albuminuria

Question: Reader asks— "What sort of diet would be effective in curing albuminuria" Is there any medicine acting on the kidneys that one should take along with the diet to assure a positive cure?"

Answer—The diet should be so regulated as to cut down on the foods of high caloric value, such as starches, sugars and proteins. Alubmin in the urine may be due to mapy different causes which impair health. Albuminuria is merely a sympton which goes with a number of different disorders. The complete treatment for each case would depend upon a careful diagnosis, where all the causes can be considered. There is no single remedy which may properly be called a kidney medicine.

Coughing and Weakness

Question: H. H. writes—"I am a man 53 years of age, cough frequently, and have lost about 15 pounds. Whenever I walk four or five blocks I get so tired I have to retire. My legs seem very weak, and when I take a drink of water I get a cold chill down the right side of my back. I have a good appetite."

Answer—You should surely have a good diagnosis made of your case. Your symptoms are those which appear at the start of tuberculosis. Be sure to go to a doctor who will take X-ray pictures of your lungs.

SPUDDERS MAUL BUFFS WITH 20-HIT ATTACK TO WIN FINAL

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

Today's Pome

I will go down to the sea in ships.
The famous poet thundered.
Just what he'll travel in after
He's on it, I have often wondered.

The Sharkey-Schmeling fight was a decided disappointment to fight fans of two nations especially, and to fans the world over in general. Here was a chance to wipe out the Sharkey-Scott disgrace at Miami and show the world that there were men left who would fight. And the chance went the way of the Scott bout, the foul route.

Yet if the fans are disappointed, it must be said that the two boxers are also disgusted at the manner in which the fight turned out. According to the dispatches received the day after the fight, Max Schmeling is loathe to accept a world's heavyweight title won on the strength of a foul, and the German press is likewise peeved that its favorite fighter should be acclaimed the heavyweight champ after winning in such a manner. Sharkey is also far from pleased, but Sharkey pulled a bonehead stunt when he issued a formal statement after the fight saying he did not foul the Teuton. That was a useless statement. All of the boxing experts saw it, the referee saw it, and, what is more important, a crowd of about 75,000 fans, eager to see a good fight, started booing when they saw the foul blow. Their booing must have been pathetic in addition to being derisive. There they were, expecting to see the gladiators battle to the end, and then came the foul blow, a lick that is getting to be all too common on these shores.

There is talk of a return match between Sharkey and Schmeling. Such a return match in all probability would be a flop. The public has stood enough. It wants to be through with the mess. It is disgusted. It is tired of spending hundreds of thousands of dollars for relatively nothing. It is like a child who has eaten too many green apples. A dull ache writhes through its anatomy at the very mention of another fight between Sharkey and anybody. What does it want? What does it really crave? You guessed it. It wants DEMPSEY. It wants somebody who will stage a real fight!

And this desire is not only felt in America. The German sports writers, dispatches advised, wrote freely on the subject of matching Schmeling and Dempsey for the final say-so as to who will be champion.

If we recall rightly, Dempsey said some time ago that should Sharkey lose the title he would start training immediately for a return to the ring. It would be a terrific strain on the Man Mauler, for he's getting up in years, so far as boxing is concerned. But there is no doubt but what the public would cheer his return madly.

It seems hard to belabor Mr. Sharkey in such a manner, especially when he undoubtedly gave the German a good licking in the three rounds which preceded the foul in the fourth. On the other hand we have the statement of Schmeling that he was being outboxed, but that he wasn't being hurt. Schmeling claimed he was just "warming up" to Sharkey and feeling out his methods, and was on the verge of starting his attack when the foul blow interrupted him. That sounds logical enough, if true.

Eddie Brown, the tall, gaunt shortfield and outfield artist of the Houston Buffaloes was not good enough for the Dallas Steers, you remember, and the Herd bosses fired him. He was just one of the victims of the Steers' insane policy of firing a boatload of players every time they lost a game. The day after Eddie was released he signed with the Buffs. With the Steers he had played more in the first base position than anything else, but the Buffs landed him in left field. In the first game Houston played at Dallas after Brown's dismissal by the Herd, Brown bungled one and great rejoicing went up in the Steer camp that they had gotten rid of Eddie in time. You remember this story—it has been told here before.

Well, all Eddie needed was to get in the right atmosphere. Indeed, he scarcely needed that. Even with the turbulent and shifting Steers he hit in about 34 consecutive games.

But what we were leading up to is this: We wish the management of the Steers had been down at the foot of Seventh street Thursday afternoon and seen Eddie back up against the left field fence and snare Storti's line drive that otherwise would have been good for a double, to say the least. The drive looked, if anything, like a home run. No one thought Eddie could spear it. But Eddie backed right up against the fence, and stretched his left paw up in the air a fer piece and Storti's drive landed right square in his glove.

And in addition to that, Brown smote a home run for the Bisons.

These two feats gave him two sound rounds of applause from 2,000 fans. If the Steers' boss could only have been present!

Personally, we're for those Bisons, as long, of course, as they keep their place and remain below the Spudders. They're powerful hitters, darned near every one of them; and we like the pitching of this young fellow Allyn Stout. Stout was routed Thursday, but he gave a creditable performance, nevertheless. Little Allyn has a manner about him that we like very much. His persistent smile is one thing. He never blows up. He's steady. He grins through all his trials and tribulations. His arm may play out and start delivering fence balls now and then, but so do the arms of all of them. Hal Wiltse, who beat Stout Thursday, has been routed as often as Stout. But Stout and Wiltse have this one thing in common: they never get downright mad and start frothing at the mouth. They do their best. And both of them smile, or grin. We like Wiltse and we like Stout. So derned much, in fact, that if we had the dough we'd invite them to a big dinner, because somehow we're in that golden mood that sometimes afflicts us all, when we'd shell out our last dime to buy a friend a present.

And Eddie Brown would be invited, too!

RIOT ENDS IN 15 TO 2 SCORE

Williamsmen Make Nine Runs in First

By FRED D. THOMPSON

In coming from behind to defeat Houston 13 to 6 Thursday afternoon, the Spudders apparently completely demoralized the rampant second-place Buffaloes. For Friday afternoon's game was a complete riot, practically from beginning to end. The expected battle to the finish did not materialize. The Buffs had lost the game after the very first inning, in which every man in the Spudder batting order scored a run, and the result of Houston's loss, coupled with Shreveport's victory over the Waco Cubs, was to let the Bisons down into a tie with Shreveport for the honor of being second to the Williamsmen in the league standings. The Spudders went into an eight-game lead by winning.

Get 20 Hits

The final score of Friday afternoon's amazing slugging festival was 15 to 2. The Spudders smacked Lingrel and Reinhart for a total of 20 hits, while Earl Caldwell let the Buffs down with 10 knocks, one of which was a home run by Mishken in the fourth inning. The other Houston run was tallied in a fitful rally in the ninth inning when E. Brown doubled to left and was driven in by Lucas' double in the same direction.

The Spudders, in their last home stand before taking off on a protracted road trip, drove Ray Lingrel from the box after only one-third of the first inning had passed. To do it they clouted him for six hits and seven runs. Reinhart then came to Lingrel's rescue, and was greeted by a continuation of the attack in which the Williamsmen got three more hits and two more runs, to square matters off for the inning with nine hits, nine runs, and no errors.

The remaining Spudder runs came later in the game three of them being driven in with home runs by Fitzgerald and Storti.

Such Wallops!

Levey opened the momentous first inning with a single to left. Storti grounded out, second to first, and Levey took second. Fitzgerald doubled to right, scoring Levey. Kloza doubled to center, scoring Fitzgerald. Burns singled to right, scoring Kloza. Bettencourt strolled. Burns taking second. Crouch singled to right, scoring Burns and sending Bettencourt to third. Euller doubled to right, scoring Bettencourt and Crouch. And then Lingrel decided the water was warm and slipped off to take a bath. Reinhart came to the box and walked Caldwell. Levey flied out to left. Storti singled to center, scoring Euller and sending Caldwell to third, and took second on the throw-in. Fitzgerald hit his second double of the inning, scoring Caldwell and Storti. Kloza singled down the third base line, sending Fitzgerald to third. Then Kloza stole second. But Fitzgerald and Kloza were left on the paths when Burns finally made the third out of the inning by grounding out, second to first.

Such walloping! But that was not all. The second somehow managed to slip by scoreless. But not the third. Caldwell, first up, singled to second. Levey and Storti flied to the outfield, but Fitzgerald sent one sailing over the scoreboard in center field, scoring Caldwell and himself. Kloza popped out to first to close the frame.

Burns opened the fourth with a single to right. Bettencourt sent one behind second base, and when Hunt failed to handle Selph's throw-in Bettencourt overran second and was thrown out second to short. Burns got safely back to second. Crouch singled to right, sending Burns to third. Euller sacrificed to center, scoring Burns, and Caldwell popped out to third to close the inning.

Storti Hits Homer

Storti, second up in the fifth, lined a home run over the left field for the next tally. The remaining two came in the eighth. Crouch opened it by popping out to second. Euller doubled to center. Caldwell doubled to left, scoring Euller. And Levey singled to center, scoring Caldwell. Storti struck out, and Fitzgerald flied out to center.

FANS WANTED WINNER

ST. LOUIS, June 12. (AP)—With small crowds attending baseball games here the first two weeks of the season, Cardinal officials began to wonder if the fans were losing interest. The recent Cub-Cardinal series, however, proved that only a winner was wanted. With the Red Birds in the midst of a winning streak, 31,959 paid to see a Sunday double-header, the largest crowd at a game here since the world series in 1929.

Senators Take Rubber Game From Sox, 6-2

CHICAGO, June 13. (AP)—Ad Liska limited the White Sox to four hits today and Washington won the deciding game of the series 6 to 2. The Senators, taking a lead in the first inning and holding it throughout, reached Weiland and Walsh for 11 hits.

BOXING HEADS DEFER RULING

Committee to Make Choice Next Tuesday

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 13.—After sweeping Max Schmeling into the world heavyweight championship by unanimous consent, despite his feeble showing and the delirious ending of his battle with Jack Sharkey, the fight writers, donors of trophies, masters of boxing commissions and the common customers swept him right out again today.

There was an almost complete change of opinion manifest among those who at first declared, that, despite his victory on a foul in four rounds, the German youngster won the official decision over Sharkey before a multitude of the faithful in the Yankee stadium last night and therefore was entitled to the heavyweight championship.

Calmer judgment, in the cool and quiet of another day switched the fistic leaders to the view that no one was entitled to any honors on the basis of what happened in the stadium ring.

All Agree on Foul

On one point there was unanimity of opinion—Schmeling was incapacitated by a left hook that landed fully six inches below the beltline and the punch was unintentional. That blow destroyed what promised to be a fine heavyweight fight, tossed Referee Jim Crowley into the middle of one of the most confused muddles that ever attended the finish of an important contest, and added another to the already long list of unsatisfactory endings that threaten to choke boxing to death in New York state.

William Muldoon, aged member of the state athletic commission, declared that Schmeling's name would not be engraved on the Tunney-Muldoon trophy, emblematic of the heavyweight championship because of the foul. Other members of the committee agreed with him. The commission deferred action on the situation until the regular meeting Tuesday, but Chairman James A. Farley indicated the young Teuton would not be recognized as the successor to Gene Tunney. Stanley Isaacs, president of the National Boxing association, decided on a poll of members before settling Schmeling's status.

Another Bout Sought

Despite the clamor and general opinion that Sharkey, because of his lack of control against both Phil Scott and Schmeling in his last two fights had disqualified himself from title consideration, Madison Square garden set out early to arrange a return engagement. Sharkey was eager but the Teuton decided he would not fight again until next June except for a possible bout in Germany. He will leave for the homeland in August after an exhibition tour.

Official figures disclosed gross receipts of $749,934 and the net $711,668. In the total attendance of 79,22 were 74,153 paid admissions. Schmeling and Sharkey each received checks for $177,917. Adding in moving picture and radio the garden and the milk fund, twin sponsors of the show, profited by about $144,500 apiece.

MOVIE OF TITLE BOUT SHOWS FOUL

NEW YORK, June 13. (AP)—The Schmeling-Sharkey bout, with all its boos and squawks, was moved today from the Yankee stadium to a Seventh avenue theater, but even the clear cut pictures and new fangled sound recording devices could not disguise it. It was the same old bout.

Crowds thronged the theater all day, most of the customers with a question, "was it foul?" After looking at the reproduction of the closing scenes of the fourth round a great majority of the crowd voted in the affirmative.

Action Is Clear

The pictures showed the action of the abbreviated bout in clear cut style. A person who had not attended the muddled affair at the Yankee stadium probably would conclude from the pictorial reproduction that Schmeling was palpably fouled and hurt, for a time at least.

The voice of the crowd of nearly 80,000 was preserved in quantity. From the opening clamor, when a resounding chorus of boos drowned the effort of the iron throated Joe Humphries to introduce Sharkey, to the closing indiscriminate razzing of the wild Sharkey and the incapacitated Schmeling the crowd said its say in great volume.

If two audiences attending the theater today are typical, the attitude of the public at large is one of "what of it?" The demonstration was conspicuous by its absence. When the screen showed the face of Schmeling in a smiling close up, half a dozen persons applauded. When a caption said, "Sharkey rains a right and left on Schmeling's chin and takes a left to the body," three persons feebly applauded.

Wild Scenes Shown

The film version was brought to a conclusion by a graphic reproduction of the wild scenes following the announcement of Humphries.

"The decision of the official referee is that Max Schmeling wins this contest on a foul."

"That judge says it was a foul," Joe Jacobs said over and over again from the stage, as he did from the ring. Johnny Buckley was heard in rebuttal all day and half the night, "no foul, no foul."

The pictures seemed to agree with the official verdict.

Irish Bet Close to $40,000,000 Yearly

DUBLIN, June 13. (AP)—The Free state derives a revenue of approximately $1,000,000 a year from its taxes on betting. From the detailed figures of receipts it is estimated that every year Irish citizens invest over $40,000,000 in bets, mostly on horse races and dog races.

The betting business is operated as soundly and openly as any other business. There are in every town regular betting houses conducted under government licenses, and all classes of people use them. This freedom has led to abuses, and legislation is contemplated to restrict the use of the betting shops by children and women.

LIL LETS ONLY ONE GET FIRST

Fort Worth Wins 'Jinx Day' Contest, 2 to 0

FORT WORTH, June 13. (AP)—Friday thirteenth may be jinx day for some folks but not for Lil Stoner. The stocky right-hand hurler stepped out Friday and pitched a no-hit, no-run game. Only one Tribesman reached first base as Fort Worth blanked San Antonio, 2 to 0, and he got there on a base on balls. The Indians didn't come close to making a hit as Stoner turned in this practically perfect game.

Bill Hargrove, twirling for the losers, didn't turn in a bad game himself, keeping the eight Fort Worth blows pretty well spaced aside from the first inning when three were made. One of these three was a four base clout by Joe Bonowitz, accounting for half the local runs. Score:

Indians Take Lead in American League Race With Victory Over A.'s

CLEVELAND, June 13. (AP)—The Cleveland Indians delivered the Athletics a terrific 15 to 2 wallop today and replaced them in first place in the American league.

They drove their southpaw Nemesis, George Walberg, to cover under a veritable barrage of base hits. Eddie Rommel, who followed Walberg, was as unsuccessful. Connie Mack sent in five substitutes in an effort to stop the onslaught.

Wesley Ferrell pitched one of his ordinarily good games for the Indians. It was his tenth victory of the season.

Three of the Indians runs were scored on a slashing homer by Dick Porter in the seventh with two on bases.

The game concluded the series with the Athletics, which the Indians won, 3 to 0. Score:

Canary Birds Cheep Regardless of Play

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 13 (AP)—The Lookouts have one set of fans whch doesn't give the club "the bird" when things go bad. It is made up of canaries, perched in gilded cages throughout the stands.

It has been found that the weather and the birds' temperaments have more to do with their chirping than the performance of the Lookouts afield. Nevertheless the fans enjoy the twitterings. The birds were installed by Joe Engel, club boss.

Max Carey of the Pittsburgh Pirates lead the National league in stolen bases for 10 seasons.

Lyons Is Only Rainbow Around Bush's Shoulder

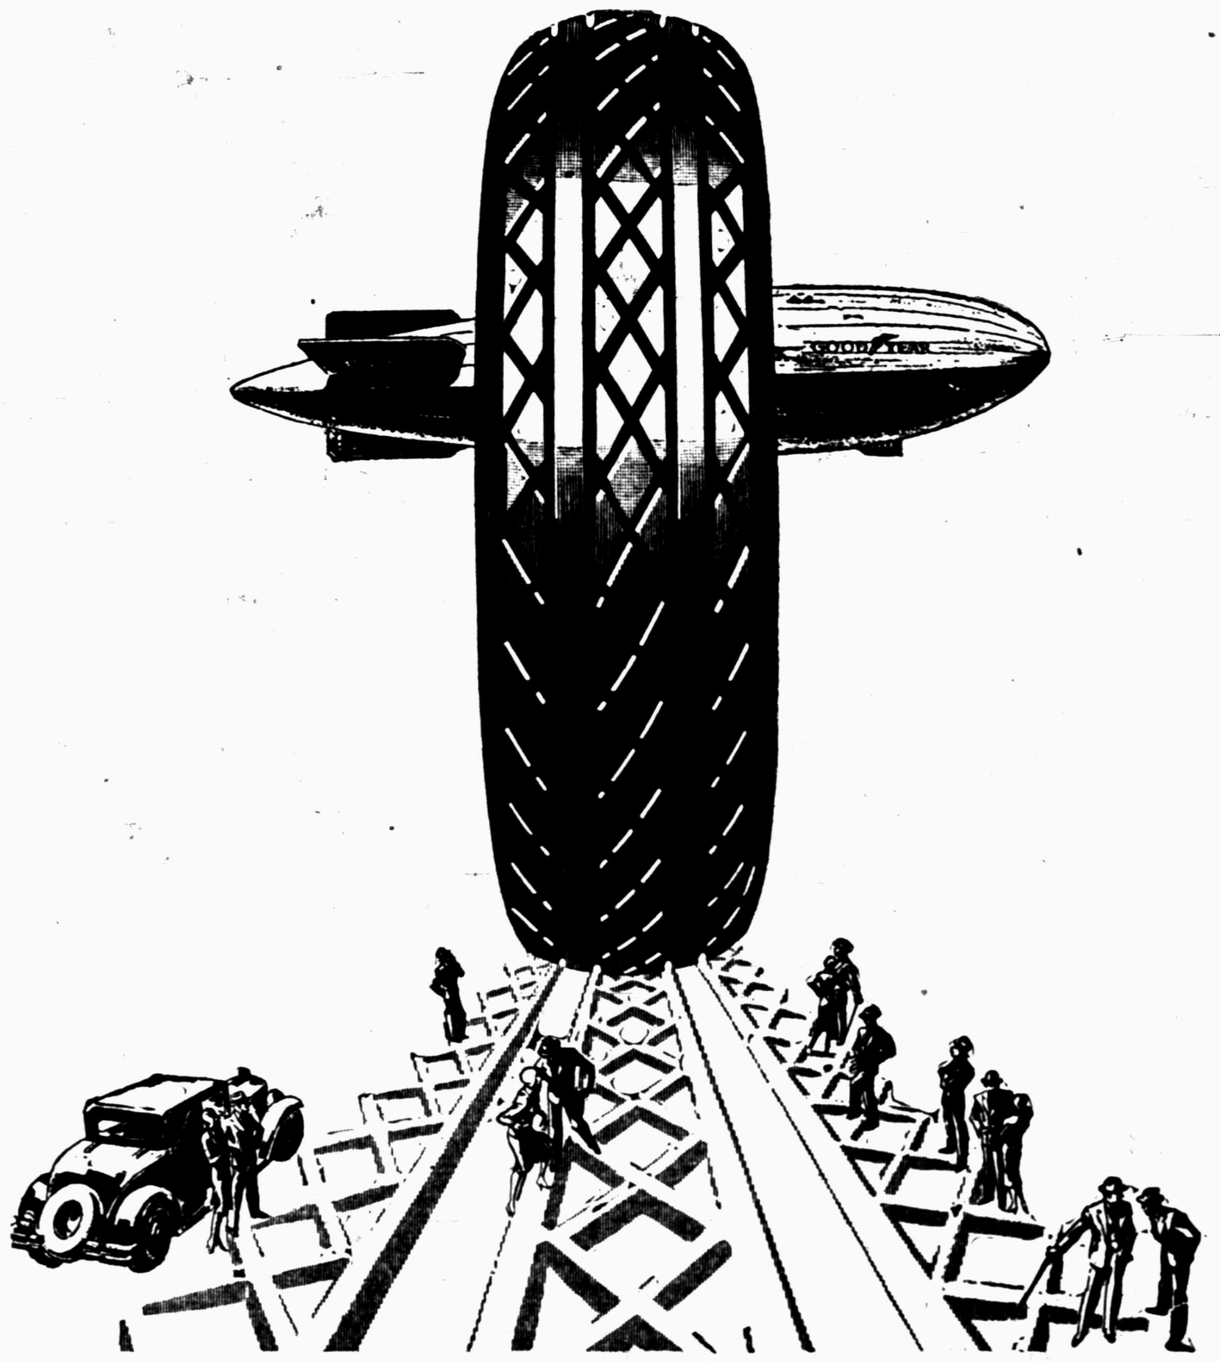

CHICAGO, June 13. (AP)—Ted Lyons is coming back with a rush to the select group of American league pitching aces.

The Texan, formerly a Baylor university hurler, whose effectiveness last year was blighted by a sore arm, stepped out and won eight of his nine starts for the Chicago White Sox this season. He provided one of the few cheerful incidents in the managerial life of Donie Bush, serving his first year as a Sox pilot.

Lyons won three of his games by his hitting.

SANTA MONICA, Calif., June 12. (AP)—Mrs. Violet Sutton Doeg, one of the famed Sutton sisters who helped make tennis history in earlier years, has been appointed tennis instructor at Lake Placid, N. Y., and will take over the duties in the near future. She is the mother of John Doeg, Davis cup team candidate.

BY NO MEANS

"ONE OF THE STANDARD MAKES"

EVERY so often someone refers to the leading tire companies as "the big four," and to their tires as "the standard makes."

Candidly we feel this is a grand "break" for the other three, but something of a hardship on Goodyear.

The fact is, Goodyear builds more tires than any other manufacturer — more than one-fourth of all the tires sold in America, the remainder being divided among some forty other companies.

Goodyear reached this position of world-leadership not by building tires that are "one of the standard makes," but by building tires that are emphatically and conspicuously super-standard!

There is only one reason why year after year "more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind," and that is because year after year Goodyear Tires are better tires to ride on.

They are provably superior — super-standard — and the whole world knows it, which is why you should visit your nearest Goodyear Dealer without delay!

It is only natural that a product so conspicuously popular as Goodyear Tires should be widely copied, but, as is always the case, such attempts to copy its excellence have served only to emphasize the unique value of the original.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, June 13. (AP)—Week-end covering was supplied on moderate rallies from an early decline in cotton today and prices eased again later, with new crop months making new lows for the season under a renewal of liquidation and selling promoted by the favorable idea of crop progress, weakness in wheat, and the failure of a more active demand to develop on the bulges.

July sold off to 14.31 or 37 points net lower and within 10 points of the low level reached yesterday, while the new October contracts declined to 13.38 or 28 points net lower. July closed at 14.40 and the new October at 13.41 with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 23 to 28 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 5 to 13 points but there was a renewal of covering around 13.82 for the old October and 13.70 for the new December.

This demand became a little more active on the outlook for showers in the south with probable rain along the Atlantic and gulf coasts and new crop months just about recovered their earlier losses, with the old October selling up to 13.96, or a point above Thursday's closing quotations.

The demand tapered and the market weakened, reaching the lowest levels of the day in the late trading under a renewal of liquidation and selling which was supposed to include some pressure from the west inspired by the weakness in wheat. The old October sold off to 13.69 and closed at that figure while new December after declining to 13.56 closed at 13.59. The closing quotation for July was 99 points over the new October compared with 102 points at the close of yesterday.

Exports today 16.098, making 3.565.269 so far this season.

Port receipts 6.049. U. S. port stocks 1.705.469.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 13. (AP)—Further liquidation caused cotton to make new low levels today for the present downward movement with spurts of very active trading.

First trades here showed losses of 1 to 6 points. July soon developed weakness, dropping to 14.06, down 20 points. The later months weakened in sympathy, October easing to 13.58 and December to 13.71, down 13 to 14 points.

The market rallied sharply on the forecast for unsettled weather, July recovering 19 points to 14.25 while October made a new high at 13.73, up 15 points to 14.25 while October made a new high at 13.73, up 15 points from the low. There was a renewal of liquidation after mid-session and all months made new lows, July breaking through the 14 cent line to 13.99 and October dropping to 13.44, down 29 to 31 points from the highs. The close was a little up from the lowest, July closing at 14.05, October at 13.45 and December at 13.61, or 24 to 27 points net down for the day.

CHICAGO COTTON

CHICAGO, June 13. (AP)—Cotton closed steady at 24 to 27 points net lower or over 1.25 per bale. Opening prices were 4 to 6 cents down in sympathy with easiness in outside domestic markets. After a break of about 15 points in early trading the market rallied moderately.

Liverpool Closed

NEW YORK, June 13. (INS)—The Liverpool cotton exchange will be closed today and tomorrow on account of the Whitsuntide holidays. The exchange will reopen on Monday.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, June 13. (AP)—Cotton goods markets were again quiet today with an easy tendency on some gray goods priced on the downward movement of raw cotton. Fine gray goods markets were slow with some trading in rayon fabrics. Burlap markets were unchanged to firmer. Raw silk buying was more active following revision of prices by Japanese holders of spot stocks to a basis of 920 yen.

Stock Market Much Improved At Close of Best Session During Week

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, June 13. (US)—In the most satisfactory performance of the week, the stock market today attained virtual stabilization. Efforts to dislodge additional stockholdings met with failure and prices generally were higher throughout the day, closing near the best prices of the session. Trading declined almost to half Thursday's total, aggregating 2,217,000 shares, evidencing that the heavy selling had been completed. The market's action was convincing proof that its recent difficulties were most internal, a sharp decline in cotton and setback in grain prices close to their lows failing to disturb the stock market. The tariff was more or less ignored, although the senate's passage of the bill was not officially disclosed until stock trading ceased. Sentiment was noticeably more favorable.

With the market demonstrating ability to withstand the repeated professional drives, more confident buying of the leading stocks developed. Steel common was a leader of strength advancing two points while other leaders were up as much and more. American Can gained 3½. The buying of the leading stocks was for the account of interests who believe the recent selling had been overdone and that a rally was overdue. Heavy short covering was also taking place as the bears realized their latest endeavors to unsettle prices further had not succeeded. The market firmness was particularly pleasing to important interests who were desirous of a relatively quiet period during which the outlook could be more accurately judged.

Decision on the tariff was in line with expectation of the market for the last few weeks, so that its actual passage exerted hardly any influence on stock prices. The flexibility of the bill was particularly stressed as probably mitigating the fears of those who were concerned over the tariff. In any event, various courageous groups renewed activity market-wise. Yellow Truck and Coach was the particular beneficiary of strong buying, rising over two points on demand reported to be inspired by more favorable trade advices. This subsidiary of General Motors is sponsored in the market by powerful interests who believe that it will prove to be one of the most important contributors to General Motors' income. Yellow Truck has been in process of development for a long time and favorable results are anticipated for the reasonably near future. The picture stocks reflected substantial covering, and were further helped by a highly pleasing report by Fox Film covering the first 17 weeks of the new year, disclosing a sharp gain in earnings, even after more liberal charge-offs than in the same period last year. Railroad stocks again were extremely dull, although the slightest gain was registered by their average price. Utilities were in greater demand under leadership of Consolidated Gas which was in strong demand.

Copper stocks yielded somewhat on further cut in price of the metal but the character of the buying of these issues of late has been impressive. Anaconda's directors meet next week and a reduction probably to a $4 basis is generally expected and discounted in its stock's price. The small increase in copper metal surplus during May failed to take into account the enormous forward buying orders stimulated by the sharp price cut made weeks ago, so that the surplus situation has improved far beyond that disclosed in the monthly figures. International Nickel showed the first sign of important buying in over a week. It is said that an enormous buying order has appeared in the market for nickel, traceable to British interests.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, June 13. (AP)—(U S D A.)—Most of the larger markets reported a stronger feeling in hog trade and values were strong to 15c higher than yesterday's average. Big packers were back in the market today and bought rather freely at the advance. The late top at Chicago reached $10.35 on choice light weights. Arrivals at the eleven markets totaled 58,800 as compared with 83,865 last Friday and 88,734 a year ago.

Sheep were more or less uneven. Chicago had a fairly active trade in fat lambs with prices strong to 25c lower, but most river markets ruled weak to 25c lower and low at the decline. Assorted natives $12.25 at Chicago. Best Idaho and Oregon lambs $11.75 at Omaha and St. Joseph. Matured classes 50c lower levels. Best fat ewes $3.50 bulk at $3.00 down. Offerings 31,100 against 33,911 a week ago and 23,785 a year ago.

Trade in fat cattle was mostly a week-end cleanup affair. Nothing outstanding was offered and the bulk of arrivals were of medium to good quality selling from $12.25 down. Fat she stock was very dull, especially the lower grades, some of which are $1.00 or more lower for the week. Receipts 8,575, as compared 11,365 a week ago and 10,152 a year ago.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, June 13. (AP)—Little demand for wheat was evident on the cash grain market here today. Prices on new wheat were not quoted and dealers refused any commitments along that line. Old crop wheat on track at Fort Worth drew some bids of $1.04@1.05, basis ordinary No. 1 hard milling; but the demand was easily satisfied. Corn and oats were in fair demand at lower values. Trade in sorghums has been checked by the recent advance but demand was said again to be fair. Offers of barley were light, new crop not yet arriving; and prices were nominal, with dealers wanting the grain.

Bids and offers on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn—No. 2 mixed 95@96c; No. 2 white $1.00@1.01; No. 2 yellow 98½@99c.

Oats—No. 2 red, 50@51c.

Barley—No. 2, nominally, 63@64c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100 pounds $2.09@2.10; No. 2 kaffir $1.86@1.88.

Dealers also quoted, basis delivered Texas group one points: No. 2 mixed corn 93@94c; No. 2 white corn 98½@99c; No. 2 yellow corn 97@98c. No. 3 white oats 49@49½c, to which add 1c for delivery Texas group three points.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 13. (AP)—Unsettled by drought breaking in Canada and by auspicious harvest conditions in this country, all grain values smashed downward today. Wheat, rye and oats outdid the season's low price records, wheat coming within ½ cent of touching a dollar per bushel. Contributing to the weakness of grain was selling ascribed to stock market houses and resulting apparently from recent declines in prices for securities and for commodities as well.

Closing quotations on wheat were nervous at ¾@⅞c rally from the day's bottom quotations, but 1⅞@2¼c under yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅛@1c down, oats ¾@1c off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 7c.

Except for one strong rally after downturns at the start wheat showed a general downward trend throughout practically the entire day.

Stop loss selling, however, set in during the last half of the day, and with holders of wheat showing more and more anxiety to let go, the buying support for the market dwindled so that in the final hour about the sole demand was from previous speculative sellers. A new development was that holders of wheat futures delivery contracts gave evidence of increasing fear of undue pressure from hedgings sales in connection with the harvest movement Southwest. The weather Southwest was regarded as favorable for maturing of the crop as well as for cutting early wheat.

Corn, oats and rye gave way chiefly as a result of wheat weakness, weather conditions for the new corn crop were auspicious but undoing of spreads between corn and rye helped to give relative steadiness at times to the corn market.

Notwithstanding that hog values advanced, provisions weakened owing to sympathy with grain.

Closing indemnities: Wheat: July 98⅛c, $1.02⅜; Sept. $1.01¾@⅝, $1.05⅛. December $1.06⅝, $1.09¾@1.10. Corn: July 78⅛c, 79¾@⅞c. Sept. 78⅞@79c, 80¼@⅛c. December 73⅛c, 74¼@⅝c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, June 13. (US)—Conservative traders were not so bearish on wheat at the close tonight, feeling that despite the shortage of buying power a break of the extent which has been sustained the past week ought naturally to be accompanied by some technical rally.

Lower prices have caused a slump in country offerings of corn and meanwhile there is a fairly consistent demand for the cash article for shipment and by local industries. Hence there is more reluctance to press the selling side of this market even with the acute weakness present in wheat.

Rainfall has been sufficient over most of the Iowa corn territory, according to the Illinois Central weekly crop report. However, in some localities precipitation has been excessive, the report states, with the result that field work has been prevented. On the whole color has improved, but growth is slow because of cool weather. Progress in Illinois is called generally fair, although growth is delayed by cool weather and in the southern part by lack of moisture.

Bank of Montreal report indicates condition of 90 for wheat in the prairie provinces compared with 96 of the government report for May 31. On the basis of the Canadian crop reporting system this would indicate a yield of only 350,000,000 bushels for western Canada, according to Russells.

Kansas City wires indicate a good demand for arrivals of both wheat and corn, but note that elevator stocks are decreasing very slowly. Crop reports received there continue very mixed.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW

NEW YORK, June 13. (AP)—Dun's review tomorrow will say:

The main point of interest, in the absence of decisive new commercial trends, has been the recurrence of conspicuous unsettlement in speculative channels. Confusion and uncertainty over the general situation have led to hesitation in many instances, but a period of inertia in the stock market has been succeeded by comparative activity and sharply fluctuating prices. The basis for that movement was not to be found in any important change in the status of trade, although the continued lack of a broad and impressive revival has unfavorably affected sentiment in quarters where the time element in economic readjustment had not been fully allowed for. With summer near at hand, a further deferment of expansion in most lines is indicated and receding manufacturing operations, where they appear now, are in keeping with the usual seasonal tendency. Naturally, restrictive influences are intensified in the present era of transition with the persistent decline of commodity prices still being one of the principal restraining forces. Except in the relatively few cases where needs are urgent, the advantage remains distinctly with the buyer, and the steady easing in wholesale quotations is beginning to be reflected more plainly in retail circles.

Weekly bank clearings $10,355,516,000, a decrease of 3.0 per cent from a year ago.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, June 13. (AP)—Cotton goods markets were again quiet today, with an easy tendency on some gray goods priced on the downward movement of raw cotton. Fine gray goods markets were unchanged to firmer. Calcutta mills agreed to curtail to 54 hours weekly for 18 months starting July 1, with one week's complete shutdown during the year, according to trade cables. Raw silk buying was more active following revision of prices by Japanese holders of spot stocks to a basis of 920 yen.

Expert Flays U. S. Prison Methods

BOSTON, June 13. (INS)—Penal authorities were flayed for their alleged indifference and lack of humanity in the treatment of prisoners by George W. Kirchwey, former warden of Sing Sing prison and now head of the department of criminology of the New York school of social work, speaking this afternoon at the national conference of social workers, he charged that legislatures were partly to blame for the over-crowded condition of the prison.

Pope Pius XI to Leave Vatican on June 22

His holiness will leave Vatican City by the great bronze door of the newly-created domain, and enter St. Peter's church by the front entrance of that edifice.

WIRT FRANKLIN 'CALLS' REPORT

Independent Leader Denies Over-Production

ARDMORE, Okla., June 13. (AP)—Taking exception to the annual report of the federal oil conservation board recently made public, Wirt Franklin, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, has written Dr. Ray Myman Wilbur, secretary of the interior, regarding a statement in the report to the effect that there was an over production of crude oil in the United States in 1929.

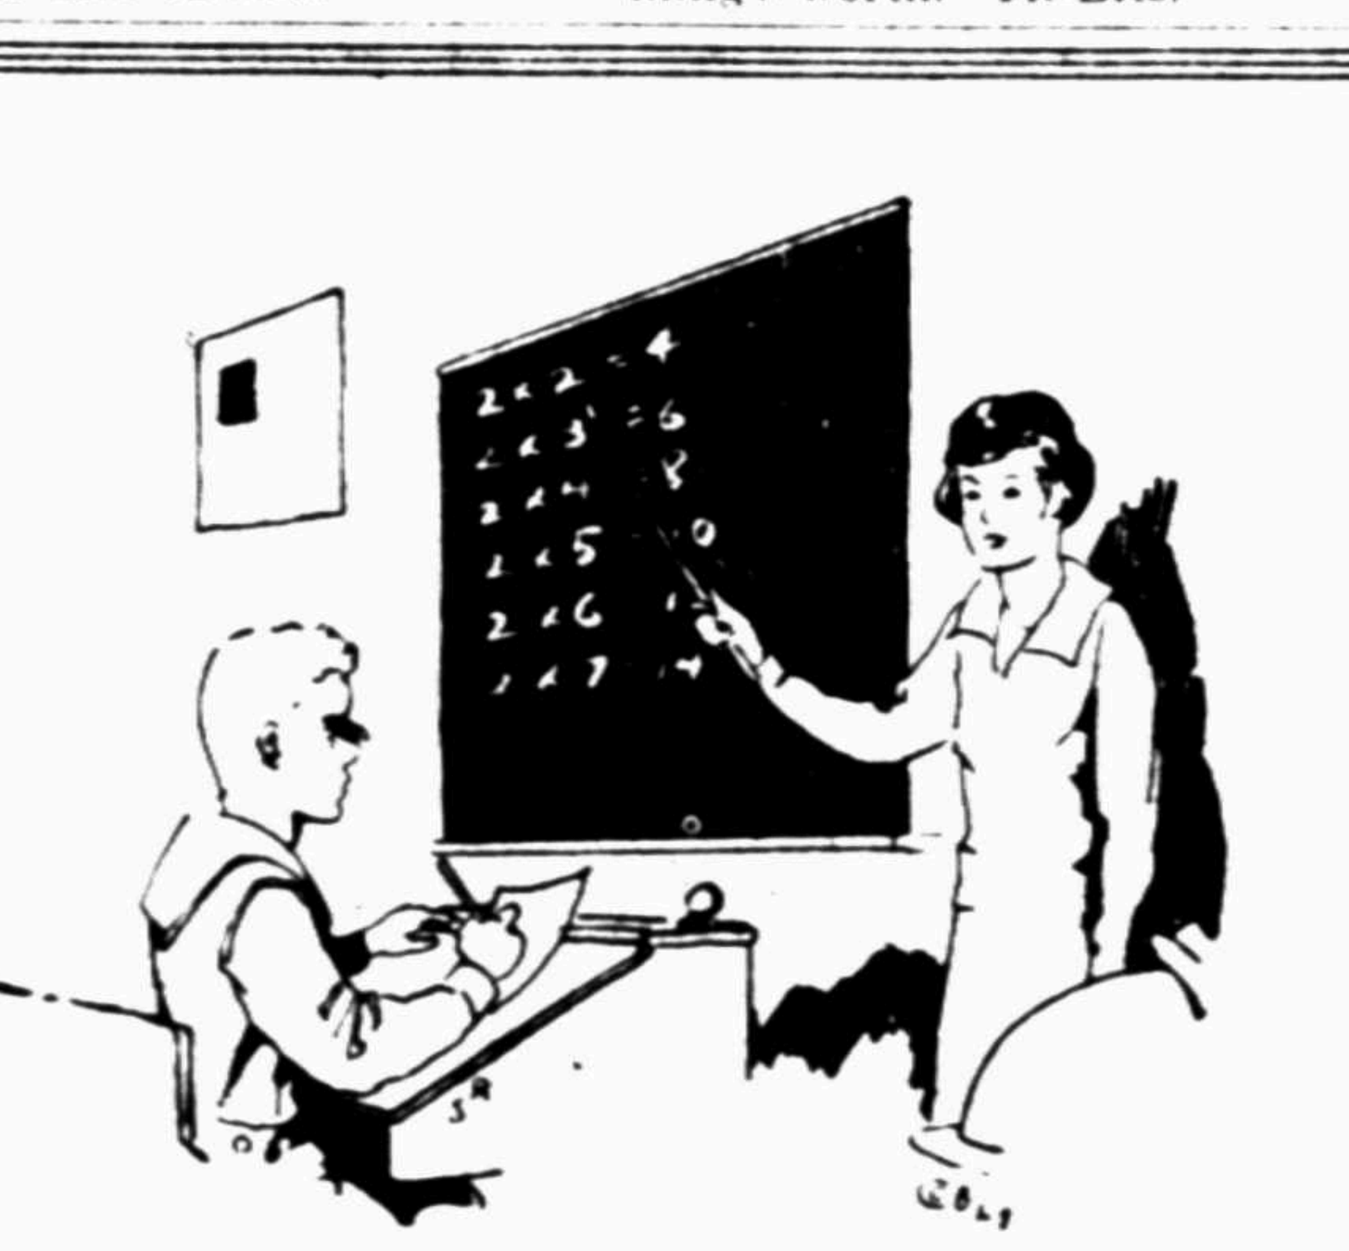

"Inasmuch as the Independent Petroleum Association of America in its recent presentation to congress of the facts relating to domestic production showing the necessity of a tariff on oil made a showing which cannot successfully be contradicted—that there had been no overproduction of crude oil in the United States and no oversupply thereof, if imports are not taken into consideration—I beg leave to submit to you the data from reports of the U. S. bureau of mines and the U. S. bureau of foreign and domestic commerce," the letter reads:

"Taking these data into consideration, while there may have been an oversupply in 1929, due to imports of foreign oil, it is an incontrovertible fact that there was no overproduction in the United States, the curtailment program in the several flush production areas having been successfully carried out by cooperation of the large and small producers alike as to bring about a balance between the domestic production and the demand for oil products."

Lawyer—Yes, yes, I know. But I don't advise you to sue. It would cost you more than the whole thing's worth.—Tit-Bits.

STRAND: "Journey's End," with Colin Clive. Talking shorts and sound news.

STATE: "Clancy of Wall Street," with Charles Murray. Talking comedy, "His Bachelor Daddy." Paramount novelty, "Tide Rises." Graham McNamee in Universal news reel.

GEM: Hoot Gibson in "The Winged Horseman." Fable comedy.

Just as the mercury sizzles up to its top mark, somewhere in the torrid middle of July, Wichita Falls swelterers may drop in a cool theater (the cooling systems will surely be in by then) and take a trip to the Antarctic, according to local theater managers, who promise to show "With Byrd at the South Pole" here in July.

Contrary to the prevalent idea, "With Byrd at the South Pole" is not a travel tour in picture form, a geographical study, a mere newsreel, nor is its educational value its greatest asset. At least so says Victor Lowrey, Majestic manager, who has seen the picture.

Paramount sent a crew of men with Byrd to make a movie that would live up to its superlative advertising. There is a plot, or maybe two or three plots, woven into the picture. There is a scene which is said to be absolutely drowned out by cheering every time it is shown the several hundred feet showing the actual passing of the South Pole.

Judging by titles and stars, "With Byrd at the South Pole" is only one of a long list of productions worth waiting for which are to be shown this summer at the Strand and Majestic theaters. Among the feminine stars, Ruth Chatterton and Claudette Colbert will assume a new prominence as they have already done in the opinions of fans. Chevalier, the Marx brothers, Gary Cooper, Richard Arlen, the two Black Crows, William Powell—it's hard to tell among the men.

One of the best pieces of news of the year is the announcement that Paramount will counteract the present flood of pictures unsuitable for children by producing Mark Twain stories. Jackie Coogan will take the part of Tom Sawyer, and Junior Durkin, favorite juvenile of the Broadway stage, will be Huckleberry Finn.

The third delightful story which will probably be even more entertaining to grown-ups than to children is that of the inimitable "Skippy," Percy Crosby's cartoon creation.

There are far too many probable successes listed as coming for one day's column, but it at least looks as if the theater interest should pick up with the temperature.

C.-C. to Make Awards at Industrial Mart

Zinnias grown by children of the city during the spring in a contest sponsored by the Junior chamber of commerce civic improvements committee will be displayed and judged Saturday morning between 11 and 12 o'clock at the Industrial Mart, 911 Eighth street, as announced earlier in the week in The Record News.

Prizes have been provided for winners of competition in nine classes, the last being for improvement in appearance of schoolgrounds of ward schools located within the city. Seven prizes will be given for best bouquets of zinnias, and one for the best display of assorted flowers. Exhibitors have been requested by the Junior chamber of commerce to have their display on hand at the Industrial Mart by 10 a. m. Saturday, and to provide their own vases.

Mrs. Bert Bean, Mrs. F. P. Timberlake and Edwin Bebb will act as judges. Flowers displayed will be left in position throughout Saturday afternoon and Sunday for public inspection.

Misses Mary Virginia Barron, Marjorie Bright, Retta Barnard, Ruth Moore and Mary Tancred, representing the Junior Forum, will assist in receiving and placing exhibits in Saturday's display.

C.-C. LEADER HERE

O. V. Vernon, general manager of the chamber of commerce at Amarillo, spent part of Friday in this city, visiting both the State Christian Endeavor convention at the First Presbyterian church, and the local chamber of commerce offices. Mr. Vernon conferred with heads of the State Christian Endeavor organization relative to designation of Amarillo as a convention site in the near future.

Well Known Artists Listed on C.-C. Program at Industrial Mart

Vocal numbers by Miss Marcella Martin of Burkburnett and Mrs. O. G. Stephens, 3015 Seymour street, will be interspersed with orchestral selections by Frank Bird and his Bluebirds on the radio program to be presented from the Industrial Mart Saturday night by the Junior chamber of commerce.

Miss Martin was winner of first place in district competition recently in a state contest, and is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Martin. Mrs. Stephens has been heard over stations WBAP and WFAA, it was said. The program has been arranged by T. J. Fitzsimmons.

About 20 birds and several squirrels presented by Dr. O. L. Woodall of Iowa Park to the Junior chamber of commerce municipal museum are now being arranged in a large case, it was said, in which each specimen will be provided a background suggesting his native haunts. A white flying squirrel is included in the group.

A number of new display cases have been completed recently, it was announced, affording effective settings for present and future items included in the exhibition.

Tourist Travel Shows Steady Increase Here

Tourist travel through Wichita Falls to points southwest, west and northwest is multiplying rapidly in volume since the arrival of the world at the point marked June, 1930, according to chamber of commerce officials.

Of the hundreds stopping here daily for road information, it was said, an unusually large percentage have named Carlsbad Cavern as their first objective. New Mexico, California and Colorado also are the destination of many vacation-tourists.

Dome Room, Carlsbad Caverns

In the foothills of the Guadalupe Mountains, but thirty miles from the city of Carlsbad, New Mexico, the World has found an amazing and almost unbelievable spectacle of nature's handiwork.

Here, in Carlsbad Caverns, millions of years have wrought a magic pageant of glittering underground mountains, of mammoth rooms, draped with curtains of brilliant opalescent stone, of chasms and canyons and towering ceilings that dwarf the tallest of modern skyscrapers.
