Ford trumpets 'good swan song'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pausing briefly in its preparations for the administration of Jimmy Carter, Congress heard "an old friend," President Ford, bid an emotional farewell in a State of the Union address that looked back with pride and forward with hope and prayer.

"Touching ... a nice eulogy ... a good swan song," were the comments from members of Congress, Democrats and Republicans alike, at the conclusion of Ford's Wednesday night address.

Throughout the day, delegations from Congress held meetings with Carter, who will be sworn in as president a week from today.

Acknowledging that "the people have spoken," and the new president would outline his program in his inaugural address, Ford said, "I will not infringe on that responsibility, but rather wish him the very best in all that is good for our country."

Rather than present Congress with a list of legislative requests, Ford chose to emphasize accomplishments of his 30-month presidency.

Ford entered the House chamber where he served for 25 years and was greeted by prolonged applause. House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., introduced Ford as "an old friend, the President of the United States."

The President-elect had no immediate comment on the Ford address.

"It was a nice eulogy by a nice man," said Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Tex. "It was a good, fair administration by a man who did his level best to improve the country, with some success and some failure."

Senate Republican Leader Howard H. Baker of Tennessee called the speech "magnificent, the most touching State of the Union message I've ever heard."

"It was a good swan song," said Sen. Ted Stevens of Alaska, assistant Senate Republican leader.

His voice breaking, Ford closed his speech with a prayer that "God guide this wonderful country, its people, and those they have chosen to lead them."

Earlier, he told the joint session of Congress that "the state of the union is good ... today we have a more perfect union than when my stewardship began."

Ford recalled that when he took office Aug. 9, 1974, "our nation was deeply divided and tormented. In rapid succession, the vice president and the president had resigned in disgrace.... In January 1975, I reported to the Congress that the state of the union was not good.... A year ago, I reported that the state of the union was better — in many ways a lot better — but still not good enough....

"Now, after 30 months as your President I can say that while we still have a way to go, I am proud of the long way we have come together."

He cited the fact the nation was at peace and no Americans were fighting anywhere in the world.

Turning to domestic concerns, Ford said his administration had "successfully cut inflation by more than half.... We have created more jobs."

But the continuing high level of unemployment, he called "my greatest regret as I leave office."

Speaker keeps grip on top panels

AUSTIN (AP) — Speaker Bill Clayton is keeping old hands at the wheel of the three top House committees, but said today he is deposing three other major committee chairmen.

Reliable sources said he is returning Rep. Tom Uher, D.-Bay City, as chairman of the State Affairs Committee, Rep. Bill Presnal, D-Bryan, as head of the Appropriations Committee; and Rep. Joe Wyatt, D-Bloomington, as chief of the Ways and Means Committee.

But Clayton said he is replacing Rep. Fred Head, D-Athens, as chairman of the Higher Education Committeee; Rep. Craig Washington, D-Houston, as chairman of the Criminal Jurisprudence Committee; and Rep. Luther Jones, D-El Paso, as head of the Elections Committee.

Rep. Lyndon Olson, D-Waco, will be higher education chairman; and Rep. Lynn Nabers, D-Brownwood, will head the criminal jurisprudence panel.

Washington was appointed chairman of the House Committee on Social Services, a vacant chairmanship because Rep. Lane Denton, D-Waco, did not return to the House.

Clayton said Rep. Tom Massey, D.-San Angelo, will return as chairman of the Education Committee; and Rep. Jim Nugent, D-Kerrville, again will head the House Committee on Transportation.

Head obtained his chairmanship in 1975, after dropping out of the speaker's race and swinging to Clayton the votes he needed to win the election as speaker, but Clayton has made no secret of his dissatisfaction with Head's performance as chairman.

Jones is a liberal with views on such things as presidential primaries that are out of step with Clayton's own.

Washington, a black criminal defense lawyer, is believed to disagree with many of the key provisions of Clayton's package of anti-crime legislation.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby released his committee appointments Wednesday, moments after the Senate had rejected an attempt by Sen. Oscar Mauzy to allow senators to elect their own committees.

"It's easier to curry one man's favor than 30," said Sen. A.R. Schwartz, D-Galveston, in protest of Mauzy's proposed rule change.

Hobby reappointed Mauzy, D-Dallas, chairman of the education committee and chose Schwartz again as chairman of the jurisprudence committee.

Both the Senate and House worked on rules for the 140-day session, which convened at noon Tuesday.

Senators voted to put price tags on nearly all local bills despite protests that it would bog down the legislature and give local officials too much power over a senator's legislative program.

They rejected Mauzy's attempts to restrict filibusters to 24 hours and to open Senate debate on the governor's nominees to the press and public.

Sen. Kent Hance, D-Lubbock, sponsored the rule requiring that fiscal notes be attached to most bills requiring the expenditure of local funds.

Schwartz said the rule would give city councils and county commissioners and judges "almost absolute veto power over your bills."

Local officials, he said, would be supplying most cost estimates and if they didn't like a bill, they could damage its chances of passage by submitting a high estimate.

Hobby's committee choices, as he promised, had no major changes, although he created a three-member energy subcommittee and named Sen. Peyton McKnight, an independent oilman who once led a fight against unitization, as chairman.

Lack of birth record kept help from Cathy

The wheelchair-bound woman who hitchhiked for three months from Trenton, N.J. to Big Spring on her way to California, was apparently never officially born.

Miss Cathy Pine, 36, told local Salvation Army workers that her birth is not recorded in New Jersey and that the lack of a birth certificate has prevented her from receiving welfare.

She said here that her mother, who had migrated to American from Czechosovakia, apparently delivered Cathy without the aid of a physician.

The woman said, "She took care of me as best she could after I was born crippled. She died a long time ago and I've been on my own."

Apparently, hitchhiking by wheelchair in an ice storm was not the first obstacle that Miss Pine has run up against in her lifetime.

Because of financial difficulties, she was forced to contact an aunt who lives in Los Angeles, Calif. for aid. The aunt told her she would help her if she could get to Los Angeles, but that she didn't have the money to send her for fare.

So, Cathy began hitchhiking across country in her wheelchair.

She told local Salvation Army workers that people were reluctant to pick her up. She guessed that drivers just couldn't believe that a crippled woman in a wheelchair was seeking a ride.

After hitchhiking three months, she was stranded at a local truck stop by 14-degree temperatures, sleet and ice. She made friends at the truck stop and they contacted the Salvation Army here.

The local unit of the Salvation Army placed her in a Greyhound bus Monday and she was due to arrive in Los Angeles on Tuesday. Brig. R. S. Ball became distressed at her plight after she stayed overnight at the local unit and then attempted to leave in her wheelchair the following morning.

"She slipped and slid around and seemed determined," the Salvation Army social worker said. "But in all my years of dealing with weary on the road, this was one of the most unusual cases I ever came across."

Efforts are being made by the Big Spring Herald to determine if she has reached her destination in California.

Police thwart robbery try

Police thwarted an armed robbery Wednesday, and later picked up two local suspects.

According to reports, Victor Sharp, manager of the Town and Country Store, 3204 Parkway, was locking up and heading for his car, 12:14 a.m., when he was approached by a man with gun in hand.

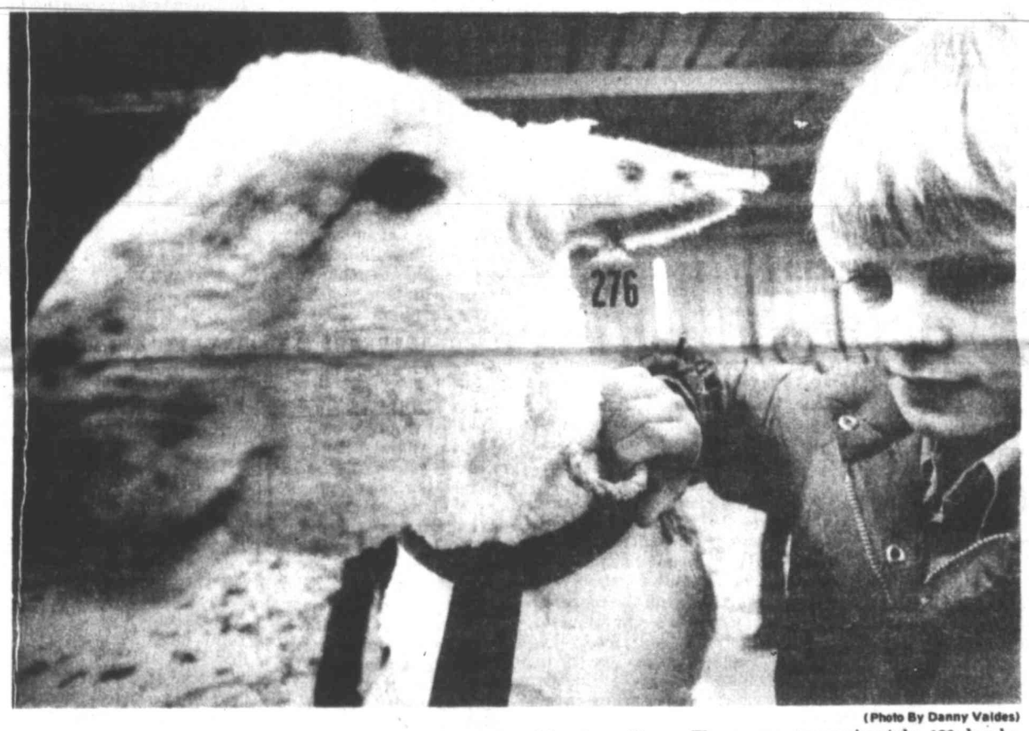

The man demanded that Sharp reopen the store and clean out the cash register, but Sharp glimpsed a patrolling officer across the street. Apparently the armed robber did too. He jumped into a car, and he and an accomplice fled the scene.

Later that day, the police received the robbers' possible identification from an unidentified source.

Calvin Dean Brown, 22, 1110 Main, was arrested 2:35 p.m. at 105 E. 15th by Detective John Burson and Officer Robert Sims.

Kerry Don Fletcher, 20, same address, was arrested 3 p.m. at his home by Detective Burson and Sgts. Mike Pearson and Jimmy Wallace.

Both were charged Wednesday in JP Bob West's office with attempted armed robbery. They are each being held under $50,000 bond.

Local legislators go along with governor

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Big Spring area legislators joined most of their colleagues Wednesday in expressing general agreement with proposals made by Gov. Dolph Briscoe in his State of the State address.

Rep. Mike Ezzell, Snyder, said the governor "listed the major problems we have." The second-term house member said, "There was nothing new. He said what he has been saying that this program would be."

Ezzell said that he feels something has to be done about the highway problem, but he isn't sure that the governor's proposal that "we take it from general revenue and dedicate that money" is the proper approach. "We'll be needing that money someday soon," he said.

Sen. Ray Farabee, Wichita Falls, said his reaction to the speech was "very favorable." He felt the governor "covered the major areas although he might have been more specific."

The only surprises for Farabee were an indication that Briscoe favors condemnation power for coal slurry pipeline and a stress on solving the medical malpractice insurance problem. Medical malpractice is high on Farabee's legislative goals list.

Farabee was reappointed to the Finance, Jurisprudence, and Natural Resources Committees by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby in committee assignments announced Wednesday. Farabee will be vice-chairman of a Jurisprudence subcommittee on civil matters and a member of the new subcommittee on energy of the Natural Resources Committee.

Around 180 entries due in junior stock show

Around 60 steers and 120 lambs were expected to be judged today at the Howard County Junior Steer and Lamb Show being held in the county show barns.

The annual premium sale will be held at 7 p.m. Friday. Official weigher for the show was Ken Dawson, district conservationist with Oliver Werst, Glasscock County agent, over classifying and sifting.

Judging of the lambs will be done today by Fred Wilkinson, Crane County Extension Agent and the steers are to be judged by Kenneth Cook, Lubbock county agent.

Auctioneer Friday will be Col. Al Stephens of Gibson's Discount.

Aubrey Lankford is president of the livestock association with Gene Perry as vice president and M.A. Snell as secretary-treasurer.

Directors also include Howard Armstrong, Rodney Brooks, Jack Buchanan, Sammy Buchanan, Jerry Currie, Pat Gaskins, Jerry Hall, Esco Hamlin, Bob Hunt, Ovis James, Woodie Long, Lon McDonald, Dick Nichols, Bruce Parker, Richard Parker, Raymond Phillips, J.E. Peugh, A.D. Reed, Lloyd Robinson, Jon Scott, Ed Seay, Larry Shaw, Horace Tubb, Truett Vines, and Ralph White.

Offbeat: Fixing up Mack for lady friend

HILLSBORO, N.H. (AP) — Dick Kemp gives his lady friend an old Mack truck instead of jewelry. Instead of taking her out to dinner, he invites her to his garage to sand and paint the truck.

Kemp collects old trucks, tractors, cranes. On his lot here sit nearly 70 snow-covered trucks, most of them Macks, models from 1916 to 1953.

"I do it strictly for a hobby," says the 45-year-old bachelor. "I just love old trucks, I guess. I hate to see them destroyed, cut up."

His pride is a 1937 Mack Junior that was classified as junk. He is fixing it up for his lady friend, Lorraine, as a showpiece.

"She does all the sanding and the painting and I do the body work," he says. "She's crazy over them."

World's trouble spots tackled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first weeks of the Carter administration, as mapped by the President-elect, promise a flurry of diplomatic activity with an emphasis on the world's trouble spots.

Carter said Wednesday that his negotiators, whom he would not name, will be at work around the world soon after he is inaugurated next week and that he will be receiving foreign leaders in the United States to discuss international problems.

His emphasis on foreign affairs during his final pre-inaugural Washington trip continues today with an all-morning briefing by the Joint Chiefs of Staff at Blair House, the government guest house where he is staying. It was to be followed by two other Defense Department briefings.

He had no immediate comment on President Ford's final State of the Union address delivered Wednesday night.

Carter planned to fly back to his home in Plains, Ga., tonight. He will return to Washington next Wednesday, one day before he is inaugurated.

In the past week, Carter has begun a highly publicized concentration on foreign affairs, first announcing that Vice President-elect Walter Mondale would visit Western Europe and Japan.

Then, on Wednesday, Carter said there is "a fine opportunity for dramatic improvement in the Middle East."

He spent eight hours Wednesday discussing foreign policy with Democratic and Republican leaders from the House and Senate and his own top international affairs advisers, among them Secretary of Statedesignate Cyrus Vance and Secretary of Defense-designate Harold Brown.

Carter planned today to speak by telephone with several foreign leaders whom Mondale will visit during his tour that will begin just days after the inauguration.

He sharply criticized the French decision to release suspected Arab terrorist Abu Daoud, accused of plotting the 1972 attack on Israeli athletes at the Munich Olympics. Carter said he was not likely to discuss the subject while speaking with French President Valerie Giscard d'Estaing by telephone today.

Peddling racy bloomers

BOSTON (AP) — When Tiffany James visits groups of housewives in their homes, it isn't Tupperware she brings — it's sexy bikini panties and see-through brassieres.

"I believe there's a little bit of showgirl in everyone," said Mrs. James, owner of a Boston lingerie shop, the Undercover Boutique.

She said she started peddling her wares in Boston sitting rooms after her store accumulated a batch of cut-out bras and crotchless panties. Four of her mother's middle-aged friends asked if they could sell the racy bloomers in their own homes.

Whitmire buys aircraft firm

John L. (Tooter) Whitmire III, a Borden County rancher, has acquired the interests of Big Spring Aircraft Inc., from Bill McClendon, Guilford L. Jones and Jack Cook.

Whitmire will present a copy of his financial condition to the Howard County commissioners court Jan. 31, seeking formal approval of his operation.

Howard County Judge Bill Tune said he anticipates no problems in the transfer although attorney Bob Miller said he has no plans to abandon a suit filed against the firm to collect personal property taxes on behalf of the Big Spring Independent School District. Miller was commissioned by the school board to collect delinquent taxes for the ISD for a fee and has initiated numerous such suits here.

Included in the acquisition were three airplanes, two of them Cherokee Warrior Pipers used for instruction and the third a PA-32-300 Piper Cherokee retained for charter service. The latter plane can be used for emergency medical transfers, although its oxygen equipment is limited.

Big Spring Aircraft Inc., also maintains a fixed base operator's license, one of two authorized at Howard County Airport.

TOOTER WHITMIRE

The big Piper hangar at the airport is managed by Big Spring Aircraft.

Whitmire has lived in this area all of his life and has been active in aviation circles for about ten years. He raises cattle and sheep on a 5,000-acre spread in Borden County. Some acreage devoted to raising cotton has been leased out, he said, in order that he can devote his full time to Big Spring Aircraft.

Whitmire's chief pilot is Leon Anderson, an instructor in commercial instruments, who is qualified to offer students private lessons. The firm's office manager is Lynn Doss.

Whitmire said that his company was in a position to offer hangar space to outside concerns.

Whitmire himself was licensed as a pilot last summer and has logged about 168 hours while working toward his commercial operator's license. He said his firm's services would be offered to the public seven days a week.

Whitmire is married to the former Paula Bobo, whose father, James Paul Bobo, was chief of police in Lamesa at one time. The Whitmire have two children, Tami, age 7, and John Paul, who is five months old.

McClendon, Jones and Cook acquired Big Spring Aircraft Inc., in 1969 from a group of local business and professional men, among them Clyde McMahon Sr., Dr. P.W. Malone, Fred Kasch, Herb Keaton and K.H. McGibbon.

Title for the three airplanes involved in the transfer passed directly from McClendon to Whitmire. Jones said he preferred that all information relating to the transaction come from Whitmire but did state that if Miller saw fit to pursue the tax matter he personally, as an attorney, would represent McClendon in court.

The inconsistency with which taxing agencies operate in the collection of personal property taxes could conceivably become an issue in such a trial.

TEC names administrator

AUSTIN — The Texas Employment Commission has named Ernie W. Tullis its new administrator to succeed Henry Rothell, who retires Jan. 31.

Tullis, an attorney in the agency's legal department, joined the agency in 1952 as a temporary clerk while attending the University of Texas. Admitted to the bar in 1962, Tullis worked as an appeals referee with the Commission before joining the legal department in 1967.

"My job will be to carry out the policies and directives of the three commissioners," said Tullis. I want to operate the agency as a professional organization to serve the public and to be responsive to the needs of all segments of our population."

Bandit jams woman's head into dough unit

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—Two Amarillo detectives were in Albuquerque, N.M., today questioning a 19-year-old woman in connection with the Tuesday night slaying of an Amarillo restaurant manager.

Police said the woman's husband, a 23-year-old New Mexico man, is wanted for questioning in the case. They said a small blue foreign car sought in the investigation was spotted outside an Albuquerque motel about 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Albuquerque police said they took the woman into custody about two hours later as she left the motel.

She is being questioned in connection with the robbery-slaying of Mrs. Mary Janette Powers, 30. Amarillo police said they found the dead woman beside a bloody dough mixing machine in the restaurant late Tuesday. Four other employes told police a short, stocky bandit armed with a small caliber pistol entered the restaurant about 11:30 p.m. and ordered them into a walk-in cooler. They said he took Mrs. Powers with him to open the store safe. Minutes later, the employes said they heard Mrs. Powers screaming.

A preliminary autopsy report from the Potter County Medical Examiner said the woman died of massive head injuries, apparently after the bandit jammed her head into the dough mixing machine. She also had her throat cut.

"We have no way of knowing why he shoved her head between the paddles, but we are going on the theory that he thought he would get more money during the holdup and felt she had hidden other cash," said Detective Capt. E.N. Smith.

Moisture recorded

The slow mist which fell over most of the country Wednesday brought approximately .2 of an inch of moisture in most of the area.

Big Spring Experiment Station only recorded .19 during the day. Forsan reported .2 and Sands had .3. Elbow reported .2 and out on the Wilkinson Ranch, the rainfall was heavier with .75. Out at Luther a report showed a total of .8 during the past three days.

Any moisture recorded in Howard County during January and February is helpful to range conditions prior to spring growth.

Family Service Center lauded

Lawrence E. Agle, field consultant for the Family Service Association of America, liked what he saw on his inspection of the Howard County Family Service Center Wednesday.

AGLE

"I was very impressed with the desire to support families at the center and in the community. The lay leadership here is very strong," said Agle.

Family is the key word in Agle's vocabulary.

"Probably the main purpose of our agency and our member agencies such as the service center here, is the preservation of the family," he said. "People here are very conscious of how the family situation works."

Agle explained that the center is prepared to provide a neutral ground to work out family stress situations such as a first child, loss of a job by a family member, divorce and many others.

"The center provides a place to find counseling and an opportunity to talk things out," said Agle. "With the possibility of a major employer (Webb AFB) leaving here, the potential for stress in many families is great. And the longer the threat of a job loss hangs over a family the worse it gets."

This was a preliminary visit to the center by Agle, and local center officials hope it will lead eventually to the center's accreditation by the national association.

"The whole process takes about six months. But Cal (Wilfrid Calnan, center director) knows what our standards are, and has followed them closely," said Agle.

Agle also explained another function of the association.

"We have a large lobby in Congress and we are pushing for a national policy for families. In many cases we feed information and listen to requests from our member agencies such as the center here. We then work for legislation that will benefit families across the country," he said.

Agle has personally supplied background for members of President-elect Jimmy Carter's transition team. His first contact on the team was Vice President-elect Walter Mondale. In 1969 Senator Mondale sponsored legislation to provide federal funds for children's services.

Agle and the FSA convinced Mondale to responsor the bill to include funds for family services, not limited to children.

"We figured that children are part of a family and that preserving the family unit is very important," said Agle. "The bill passed in Congress but it was vetoed by President Nixon."

The association has advised the Carter group that some of the national Social Security policies need to be reexamined. He cited instances where older couples were forced to live together rather than get married and take a cut in their Social Security payments.

"In some cases the policy is forcing people, for financial reasons, to do something they feel is morally and ethically wrong," said Agle.

The association will also push for state legislation to regulate licenses for social workers.

"It is very important that those who practice counseling and social work of any kind be qualified to do so," he said.

Dixy you've come long way

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — Washington state has become the land of Dixy — Gov. Dixy Lee Ray, that is.

"Baby, you've come a long, long way!" Lt. Gov. John Cherberg told the former head of the Atomic Energy Commission and assistant secretary of state as she was inaugurated Wednesday.

Miss Ray's Fox Island compound was bustling by 6:30 a.m., with all four of her sisters, plus 27 other family members, on hand to see the ceremony. A caretaker will live in the Ray home and take care of the governor's goats and chickens.

Connecticut's Ella Grasso is the only other woman elected governor whose husband had not previously held the post.

Didn't get fair crack of whip?

AYLESBURY, England (AP) — Rolling Stones lead guitarist Keith Richard, accused of two drug offenses, didn't get "a fair crack of the whip" from police, his attorney says.

Richard, 33, has pleaded innocent to charges of possessing cocaine and LSD.

Police said they found 130 milligrams of white powder that turned out to contain cocaine and other drugs inside a silver tube attached to a necklace around Richard's neck when he was stopped while driving his automobile. Officers said traces of LSD were found on a piece of folded paper in Richard's jacket pocket.

Sir Peter Rawlinson argued in a packed courtroom here Tuesday that Richard was singled out by police, who didn't even take names, addresses or statements from two girls or another man in the car.

Cancer workshop plans

The local unit of the American Cancer Society set plans for a Crusade Workshop to be held at the Hilton Inn in Midland on Jan. 29 when the board of directors met at noon Wednesday at the Spanish Inn.

Mrs. Fran Bordofske, president, pointed out that the local unit hoped to send a delegation to the workshop. Dave Morrison will serve as chairman of the local crusade in April. His committee was to meet tonight to set up plans for the event here.

In regular reports Wednesday, Mrs. Elizabeth Stewart reported that memorials during the past year have totaled $2,398 up from the previous year. They may be sent to Box 2121.

The results of the Bike-a-Thon headed by Al Valdes, in charge of special events were $1,606.44. The board heard a report from Mrs. Bill Wilson that the "Reach to Recovery" program should get underway in the near future. The board is also discussing plans for the possibility of an "I Quit" clinic.

The board accepted the resignation of Dr. Glenn Allen with regret. New board members welcomed include Lt. Col. John Wickman, Maj. Edward Morton, Mrs. Sid Hanslik and Don Skeel.

Jerry Alexander, ACS representative from Midland, spoke in connection with the forthcoming crusade.

Board members present included Mrs. Ann Fairchild, Bob Zellars, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Clark, Mrs. James Coates, Dr. Jim Dave, Mrs. John Currie, Mrs. Herb Smith, Mrs. Marj Carpenter, Lt. Col. Wickman, Maj. Morton, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Bordofske, Valdes and Morrison.

Four attend Austin event

Four Big Spring civic leaders were among the persons attending the opening session of the state legislature Monday in Austin.

Purpose of the visit was to strengthen ties with Gov. Dolph Briscoe and state senators and legislatures who may be called upon during the coming months to assist Big Spring with obtaining new industry and state projects or other avenues of activity.

Going from Big Spring were Mayor Wade Choate, Roger Brown, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Harry Nagel, city manager and Jack Redding, manager of Texas Electric Service Co.

Chamber sales pushed

Letters went out this week to members of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce and to members of the Ambassadors and their wives, to reserve tickets for the banquet, scheduled for Jan. 24.

Ticket sales are going at a brisk pace for the event which will be held in the high school cafeteria at 7 p.m. with Dr. Don Newbury of the University of Texas at Arlington as the humorist speaker.

Tickets are for sale for $7.50 at the chamber office or by any member of the Ambassadors.

Moms to march Jan. 31

The Caprock Chapter of the March of Dimes board of directors announced at its board meeting that the annual Mothers March in Big Spring will be Jan. 31.

The march will be for funds to fight birth defects. The entire week of Jan. 24-31 will be proclaimed as birth defects week in Big Spring and the nation.

Posters showing Jonathon Whitehead, formerly of Acklery and now of Colorado City, will be distributed around town this week. He is a candidate for national poster child next year.

Mrs. Rose Teems reported on the march which will be headed by Mrs. Carol Reeves here. She also reported that Mr. and Mrs. Bob Johnson will head the March in Snyder; Lisa Martin will be in charge in Ackerly and there will also be one this year in Lamesa.

The board members changed their meeting time to the first Thursday in each month with the next meeting on Feb. 3.

Barry Stephens was elected the new financial secretary of the board. Special events in the spring were discussed with a Tennea-thon planned for mid-May and a Walk-a-Thon in late March.

Attending the board meeting were Craig Fischer, local president; Mr. and Mrs. Stepehens, Mrs. Mattie Watson, Mrs. Cissy Mann, Mrs. Charlotte Furquon, Mrs. Sandy Sibelski, Cindy Knight, Donny Knight, Donna Carpenter, Kirk Mancill, Lisa Martin, Steve Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Teems.

Energy goal unrealistic?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Energy self-sufficiency in this century is probably an urealistic goal and the incoming Carter administration should face up to this, suggests Sen. Edward M. Kennedy. One of the basic flaws of President Ford's approach was his insistence that the nation could become energy self-sufficient by the mid 1980s, Kennedy said at Wednesday's session.

FPC considering emergency

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Power Commission is deciding whether to allow emergency natural gas sales to two pipelines that are short of gas and that have cut back service to customers in a number of states. The action by the commission is being watched closely because the way could be cleared for gas-starved pipelines to buy fuel from sources not subject to federal price regulations.

Demand expulsion

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Families of the 11 athletes killed at the Munich Olympics meet today with Foreign Minister Yigal Allon to press their demand for the expulsion of French Ambassador Jean Herly in retaliation for the release of Palestinian leader Abu Daoud. Allon also scheduled a meeting with advisers to discuss what other protest his government might make over the French government's refusal to hold the man accused of commanding the terrorist attack on the Israeli team at the 1972 Olympics.

Thief grabs money bag

A sneak thief grabbed a money bag from the counter at Chuck's Surplus, 904 W. 3rd, sometime between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The blue, State National Bank bag contained $136 in cash and $478.92 in checks.

Burglars broke in through the back door of the home of Paul Smith, 1604A Virginia, sometime between 12:30 and 5 p.m. Wednesday.

Once inside, the intruders gathered up a variety of coins from the top of the bedroom dresser. Included in the collection were two silver dollars, four silver halves, eight silver quarters, 50 silver dimes and 600 to 800 pennies. Total value of the coins has not been estimated.

Mrs. Jesse G. Adams, 1906 Goliad, reported that vandals threw a rock through the window of her trailer Wednesday. Loss was estimated at $30.

Only three mishaps were reported Wednesday.

Vehicles driven by Julian B. Fisher, Gail Route, and Madeline Trees, 607 W. 17th, collided at Thirteenth and Scurry, 2:11 p.m.

A vehicle driven by Fred D. Null, 904 Aylford, collided with a concrete culvert at 1800 W. 3rd, 10:31 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Henry Ortega, 817 W. 6th, and Dora Hernandez, 710 N.W. 8th, collided at Lamesa and Northwest Ninth, 4:45 p.m.

Deaths

Hazel Joiner

Services for Mrs. J. L. (Hazel) Joiner, 71, who died Tuesday in Sterling County Hospital in Sterling City, were at 2 p.m. today at the River Welch Funeral Home Chapel, and the Rev. Guy White, pastor of the E. 4th Baptist Church, presided.

Burial was in Coahoma Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Monro Copeland, Guy Hodnett, Charles Linderman, Delbert Joiner, Jackie Joiner, and Weldon McMillan.

T. J. Lynn

Services for T. J. Lynn, 96, who died Tuesday in a local hospital, will be held at 4 p.m. today in the River-Welch Funeral Home Chapel.

Rev. Larry D. Holmes, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene will officiate.

Burial will be in Mt. Olive Memorial Park.

He was a retired farmer who lived in Howard County for 40 years. He was married to McKinley Yardley on July 21, 1920.

Pallbearers will be Carroll Coates, B. C. Coates, F. B. Hodges, Mickey Don Coates, Don Crawford, and Bill Boling.

Gasoline flows down street

A Fina Truck pulled into the Seven-Eleven, 8th and Gregg, at about 10:50 a.m. today to fill up the gas tanks.

One of the tanks suddenly overflowed, and gasoline ran freely across Gregg and down 8th Street.

The driver of the truck, Ronnie Gaskins, estimated that approximately 50 gallons of gas were lost.

Big Spring police and firemen were on the scene and hosed down the area, so the risk of fire would be avoided.

NAACP official raps Bell

WASHINGTON (AP) — If blacks had known that Jimmy Carter's election would place Atlanta lawyer Griffin Bell at the head of the Justice Department, they would not have backed the President-elect's campaign, according to an NAACP spokesman.

Bell ended two days of testimony before the Senate Judiciary Committee on Wednesday after announcing that the new Carter administration will replace FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley.

Then Clarence Mitchell, speaking for the NAACP, urged the committee to delay action on Carter's nomination of Bell until a full hearing can be held after next week's inauguration.

Mitchell argued that Bell was a chief architect of former Georgia Gov. Ernest Vandiver's efforts to resist court-ordered school desegregation in the 1950s and he accused Democrats on the committee of asking "gentle" questions of Bell in an effort to make him look good.

If Bell had been nominated by a Republican president, Mitchell said, the Democrats "would have given him the kind of going over that would have convinced the country he should not be confirmed."

A civil rights lobbyist for more than 25 years, Mitchell was the first opposition witness after Bell ended some 11 hours of testimony.

Bell admitted that as a legal adviser to Vandiver, who was elected in 1958, he had helped to fashion some school segregation bills. But he said his primary objective was to keep Georgia schools open.

Mitchell countered by saying: "He left out the most important words — to keep them open on a segregated basis."

Nearing the end of his two days of testimony, Bell disclosed that FBI Director Kelley will be replaced. He did not say when Kelley would be ousted, but said, "I think it would not be long."

He said he has not selected a successor and promised to consult with Senate and House judiciary committees before doing so.

"It's too serious a thing for one person to do," he said.

Mitchell and the NAACP's general counsel, Nathaniel Jones, were sharply critical of Bell's civil rights record, both as a judge and as a legal adviser to Vandiver.

Bell was appointed to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court by the late President John F. Kennedy in 1961 after managing Kennedy's presidential campaign in Georgia. He resigned from the court last March.

Texas Ranger assigned here

Thomas E. Almond has assumed the duties of a Texas Ranger, assigned to the Big Spring office.

He replaces George Frasier, transferred recently to Eastland by the Texas Department of Public Safety. A former state trooper, Almond formally became a Ranger Jan. 1.

He and his family are making their home at 3703 Hamilton. His wife, Linda, seems particularly glad to be here, since she is not too far removed from her home town, Clovis, N.M.

There are three children in the Almond family, the eldest of whom is Lisa, 17, who stayed behind in Sulphur Springs until she can graduate from high school in May. The two children accompanying their parents here are Mark, 13, and Edwin, 5. The family is affiliated with the Baptist church.

Born and raised in Antlers, Okla., Almond is a military veteran and a college graduate who is well on his way toward earning his master's degree.

He entered police work as a patrolman in the Lubbock Police Department in 1965. He remained there until April 1967 when he went to work for the THP as a patrolman trainee. He was assigned to Grand Saline at the time.

For the past 8½ years, he has worked out of Sulphur Springs.

He met his wife, the former Linda Arnold, when he was stationed at Cannon AFB near Clovis.

THOMAS E. ALMOND

First in the Army reserve and then in the Air Force, Almond spent 4½ years in military uniform, during which time he had brief tours of duty all over the world.

When President Kennedy was assassinated, he was in Saudi Arabia. He has been to the Pacific theater six times and on four occasions was sent to bases either fronting on or in the Atlantic Ocean. He was an electrician in the military.

His tours of duty took him to such places as Korea, Japan, the Philippine Islands, Hawaii, Turkey and Iran, among other places.

Almond holds his degree in Criminal Justice from East Texas State in Commerce and has completed two courses toward his master's degree in the same field.

His hobbies are hunting and fishing.

State revenues up 11 per cent

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Comptroller Bob Bullock said Wednesday state revenues climbed 11 per cent in September, October and November, compared with the record-setting figure for that same period last year.

Revenue totaled $1.6 billion during that period, Bullock said. Sales tax collections jumped 15 per cent, and natural gas production tax zoomed 36 per cent, he said.

"Meanwhile, state expenditures during the first three months of fiscall 1977 totaled $1.7 billion, only $4.5 million more than was spent during the first three month os fiscal 1976," Bullock said. "Partly as a result, the state closed out its books at the end of November with a cash balance of $1.4 billion."

Turner joins Little Sooper

COAHOMA — Robert C. Turner has been named the new assistant manager at the Little Sooper Market in Coahoma, according to James and Lonnie Anderson, owners.

Turner formerly was a clerk at Piggly Piggly in Big Spring for three and one half years.

He resides in Coahoma with his wife, Wanda Jean and their daughter, Kerri Jean, 19-months-old.

Weather

Fog noticeable in Hill Country

By The Associated Press

Gray and gloomy weather enveloped Texas today, and it was damp except down the west side of the state.

Light rain, drizzle and fog were the rule along and east of a line running from Childress and Plainview in the Panhandle south to Marfa in the West Texas mountains. For the second day in a row, Dalhart in the northwest corner was the only station reporting clear skies.

Fog was particularly noticeable in the Hill Country of Central Texas and in the Permian Basin of West Texas, where visibility shrank to less than a mile.

Temperatures were relatively mild in early morning with Dalhart's 22 degrees the only freezing mark reported. Readings at most other points ranged from the middle 30s into the 50s, staying as warm as 64 in Corpus Christi on the coast.

More rain was in prospect for Central, East and South Texas into tonight. It was expected to be clear and cooler in West Texas, turning warmer with other sections Friday.

FORECAST

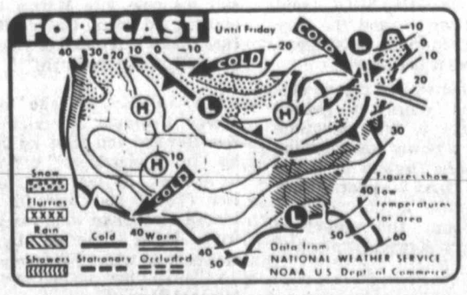

WEST TEXAS: Clear and cooler tonight. Sunny and warmer most sections Friday. Low tonight near 20 north to mid 30s southeast. High Friday near 50 north to near 60 south except near 70 Big Bend valleys.

EXTENDED FORECAST

WEST TEXAS: Variable cloudiness and continued cold with no significant threat of precipitation Saturday through Monday. Highs 30s and 40s. Lows teens and 20s.

CITY	MIN	MAX
BIG SPRING	41	28

Sun sets today at 6:02 p.m. Sun rises Friday at 7:47 a.m. Highest temperature this date 83 in 1957. Lowest 9 in 1963. Most precipitation .09 in 1960.

WEATHER FORECAST — Continuing cold weather is forecast today. Fair weather is expected from the central Rockies to the Pacific coast. Rain is forecast on the North Pacific coast and snow is forecast from the northern Rockies to the upper Great Lakes. Rain is expected from the central Gulf to Ohio Valley changing to snow into the Northeast.

Officers elected by county tax unit

The Howard County Tax Appraisal Board met Wednesday in the Howard County Courthouse. New board officers were elected, with Tom Ferguson replacing Don Crockett as president, Harold Davis replacing Tom Ferguson as vice-president, and Zirah Bednar remaining secretary.

Oliver Nichols of the Forsan school district will replace Mrs. Woodrow Scudday as representative. Mrs. Scudday will remain on the board as an alternate.

Carleton Harry, head of the tax appraisal office, made his progress report to the board. Harry said that real estate evaluation was continuing on schedule and promised to concentrate heavily on personal property evaluation.

Crockett asked Harry to include in his future reports specific figures concerning the work done. Harry agreed.

The Board is embarking now upon an eight-month session designed to put contract renewal discussion and ideas for renovation of the Board at the slowest time of the year rather than the busiest.

Not much demand for specialty

I recently received a telephone call from an old friend who lives back East whom I had not heard from in some time.

"What are you doing way out there?" he asked, meaning in Big Spring, I suppose. "Aren't you afraid you'll take one step too many and fall off?"

IT WAS JUST his idea of ribbing a native West Texan, but many of those pompous Easterners think anything west of Baltimore is provincial, and any point west of the Mississippi River is hopelessly remote.

I assured him that I had lived in Big Spring for a year and had not tripped over the edge of the earth.

In fact, I had been all the way to Stanton and the end of the planet was not yet in sight.

"Do you wear a safety rope just in case?" he joked.

Listen, I scolded him, there was a time when being in the wide Southwest was a disadvantage to a community. Everyone wanted to leave; no one wanted to come.

But not any more. We're now called by the affectionate term "Sun Belt," and more and more people are finding that they want to be here.

In fact, so many people and firms are leaving the East for this corner of the world that there has been talk of making the exodus against the law.

ANOTHER 10 OR 15 years more of flight from the big Eastern cities, and we could sell them back to the Indians.

What's the temperature like up there? I asked.

"Snowing, windy, kind of mushy, drifts up to three feet, 10 degrees. It's a pretty good day."

You see, I said.

"Do you suppose," he inquired, "that I could get a job in Big Spring?"

Sure, I was certain. What was he doing for a living these days?

"I am on the staff of the city's Red Alert Pollution Warning Team," he replied.

Better stay in the East, friend, I advised.

Labor, defense

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — The split inside the labor movement over defense and detente has deepened in the battle for control of the United Steelworkers union, reflecting the true nature of that bitter election fight and perhaps affecting its outcome.

Edward Sadlowski, insurgent candidate for union president to replace retiring I.W. Abel, recently published a remarkable commentary writing off defense spending as wasteful, excessive and a subsidy for incompetent corporations. Nowhere does he relate it to the massive Soviet arms buildup, the true explanation for U.S. arms spending. The cost of U.S. arms, though finally rising, is a much smaller proportion of the economy than Soviet arms spending.

SADLOWSKI'S COMMENTARY has now become an unexpected dividend for supporters of Lloyd McBride, his Abel-backed opponent. Sadlowski's venture into foreign policy, they feel, buttresses their claim that he is the candidate of the far left and of "new politics" liberals and one who takes a position on defense offensive to union's rank-and-file.

Sadlowski echoes foreign policy views of liberal union chiefs who clashed with and defeated the AFL-CIO hierarchy on picking President-elect Carter's Secretary of Defense. Whereas few if any of these liberal labor leaders support Sadlowski's steelworkers' [illegible] elevation to so powerful a union would immeasurably strengthen their viewpoint in the labor movement.

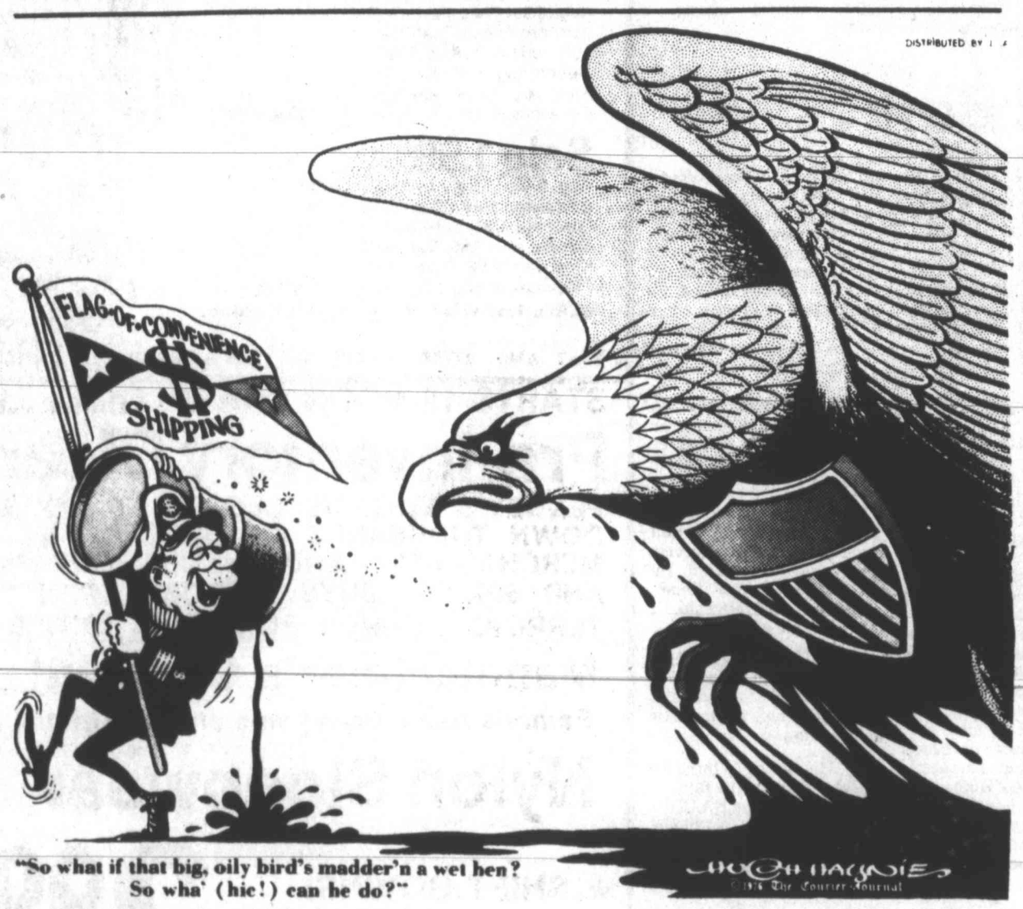

Superficially, Sadlowski's campaign has been the traditional insurgent's claim of bringing greater militancy to the collective bargaining table. In response, McBride has tried to paint Sadlowski as not the usual bread-and-butter insurgent but an ideologue whose philosophies clash with the average steelworker's.

In particular, Sadlowski's opponents have hoped that disclosure of his soft-line views on foreign and defense policy would offend his substantial following among fiercely anti-Communist steelworkers of Eastern European origin. But until recently Sadlowski had frustrated that hope by steering clear of this dangerous territory.

ONE SMALL exception was his interview with Penthouse magazine when he called AFL-CIO president George Meany "simply terrible" on foreign affairs, adding: "On detente, Meany was absolutely incorrect. I'm not against detente . . . there's nothing wrong with Russians or Chinese or Arabs or Jews." Fuzzy perhaps, but hardly damning.

Consequently, McBride's campaign was delighted to discover Sadlowski's column appearing on the opposite-editorial page of the Dec. 14 Boston Globe, a piece that broke his silence on national security issues. Declaring that labor leaders "cannot mindlessly defend unnecessary and exorbitant programs like the B-1 bomber simply because it will generate some jobs," Sadlowski charged the defense budget contains "hidden subsidies to incompetent big businesses like Lockheed."

"Wasteful expenditures for defense" must be slashed to permit "labor-intensive and socially constructive" federal spending for a "humane economy" and "socially useful" goods and services. Sadlowski proposed converting defense plants to "more benign and labor-intensive uses," but never suggested that the purpose of defense spending is national survival in a world becoming more dangerous.

"So what if that big, oily bird's madder'n a wet hen? So wha' (hic!) can he do?"

Biofeedback may help in stroke

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is biofeedback helpful in restoring muscle use in a stroke victim? Just what exactly does biofeedback mean, anyway? — Mrs. T.H.

There are some reports of success with this relatively new technique.

Dr. J.V. Basmajian, an authority on rehabilitation, writes about it in a recent issue of "Modern Medicine." He was one of the early researchers in the technique.

To understand biofeedback you have to realize that various bodily functions (heartbeat, muscle contraction, brain waves, etc.) can be measured electrically. The electrocardiagram is an example of this.

By placing a pair of electrodes at precise points in a leg, for example, it is possible to record the degree of muscle contraction electrically and show it on a special television screen. In biofeedback the patient views the read-out and attempts to "will" a change in it. And, indeed, patients can. The result can be improved muscle function.

Dr. Basmajian reports success in about a third of cases of foot drop, a common post-stroke problem which hampers the patient's gait. Similar uses of biofeedback are being explored in such areas as control of hypertension. For additional reading see my booklet, "Stroke — Hope and Help." If you'd like a copy, send 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Biofeedback is a form of therapy and, as Dr. Basmajian points out, one to be used in conjunction with conventional therapy. It is relatively new, and I cannot say whether the method is in use in your area. You should inquire at a local rehabilitation center.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: For several years I have noticed blood in my stools. When I had a physical recently I reported this to the doctor. He gave me a proctoscope exam and reported everything okay.

I still noticed the blood so went to a clinic for an examination. They told me to forgo meat, fish, and fowl for about 10 days, then bring in a specimen. That proved negative. Yet is persists. I feel fine. I am a male, 36, and six feet tall, weighing 155 pounds.

I'd appreciate your comments. This is not a thing that is easy to ignore. — W.F.S.

Then why did you ignore it for several years?

The negative reports from the tests means that the bleeding is apparently not in the bowels. Flesh foods particularly red meats can produce blood in the stool, but that would not be obvious to you, only through chemical examination. This is why the clinic wanted you to avoid fish and meat for a period, so that any blood in the stool noted at the examination would have to be your own.

Chronic internal bleeding of this kind would have produced pretty definite symptoms after several years, chiefly anemia. But you say you feel fine.

One possibility is internal hemorrhoids, and I'm surprised you do not mention this. Has it been suggested? These can produce bleeding, often fairly profuse, especially when straining at stool. Internal hemorrhoids would not necessarily protrude from the rectum as other hemorrhoids will, so they could go unnoticed. You should at least ask your doctor if this possibility has been considered.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I operate a copying machine where I work. Sometimes the light is strong and bothers my eyes, especially if I leave the cover open. Is this injurious to my eyes? — R.A.

These machines use a regular light source. Nothing to do with X-rays or anything of that sort. If the glare affects you, try wearing a pair of lightly tinted glasses, or close the cover.

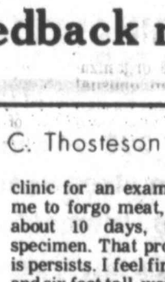

Hemorrhoids can be cured! If troubled with this or other rectal problems, write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "The Real Cure for Hemorrhoids." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I experience gastritis and have daily for years. I've tried remedies the doctor has recommended, but without results.

How can I tell if it could be from gall bladder or from ulcers? My doctor says an X ray would tell, but that costs $100. I'm not covered by Blue Cross for this service and don't have funds for it. Even drinking water can give me a stomach ache. I'm 60 years old. — Mrs. V.

Depends on what you mean by gastritis? Is that your phrase? Is it heartburn (an acid problem) or gas? Do you have nausea or vomiting, or both? Gastritis actually means an inflammation of the stomach (gastric) lining.

X rays are essential to determine the cause of such chronic distress. Could be gall bladder disease, peptic ulcer, hiatal hernia (a gullet problem), even a malignancy. If you don't have funds for these examinations, there are agencies in most areas that can arrange for them at a reduced cost or free. Ask whether you are eligible for Medicaid.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: How can we Americans possibly justify our big cars and color televisions, when millions of people are starving? What do you think Christ would tell us to do? — D. B.

DEAR D. B.: God has richly blessed our nation with abundant material wealth, but I believe Christ would condemn our selfish, pleasure-seeking attitudes and actions. We would do well to reflect on our enormous wealth and the responsibilities we have to others in the careful use of it.

I do not believe we are all called automatically to renounce our wealth; the New Testament gives some examples of wealthy people who used their wealth to support the ministry of Jesus (e.g. Luke 8:3) or Paul (e.g. Philippians 4:15-16). But we are called to use wealth responsibly, not selfishly. In some cases this may be giving most of what we have to those in need and adopting a more moderate style of living.

The story of the good Samaritan (Luke 10:30-37) shows the attitude we should have toward those in need. We owe it to all men to meet human need wherever it is found, in whatever way we can. We should be thankful for what we have, but we should also pray for ways to help others. Perhaps you could ask your pastor for the names of Christian organizations that seek to meet human needs (such as hunger or disease) in the name of Christ.

Remember also that God is concerned about every part of a person's life — physical, mental and spiritual We should have that same concern, and should seek to minister to the total person in the name of Christ.

My wife no longer buys the line, "Well, dear, I'm just like a grizzly bear, I have to store my fat for winter."

My parents visited recently and my mom, right after saying how great it was to see me again, slapped me in the gut and commented on its proportions.

It's a horrible thing; this process of slowly turning to lard. It has been slow too, like a sloth climbing into my midriff.

WHEN I WAS IN high school I could eat a whole bag of potato chips and wash it down with two peanut butter sandwiches, and the scales wouldn't waver from 145.

Then came college, and beer, and steak-and-onion heros. But the pounds still came aboard in ones and twos. This was normal I told myself.

My college years waned, and exercise became a thing of the past. "Sure you weigh 160, but you can shed those unwanted ounces in no time flat by eating nothing but a bowl of chili a week," I said to the now chubby face in the mirror (which seemed to be sipping still another beer).

Now even those years are history. With just a few more second helpings it will be, "Look out Orson Welles, here I come!"

My biggest nightmare (and my wife's) is that I will become one of those guys whose breadbasket precedes him around corners and hangs a good arm's length over his belt buckle. He's the guy who says, "I have a 36-inch waist if you can find it."

But I have started to toe the line; grapefruit for breakfast, chili dogs only twice a week, something less fattening than beer (martinis?), diet cola, fewer potato chips, no dessert, and more exercise.

More exercise! Lord save me now. The guy who invents a fun way to do a sit-up will make a fortune.

FLYING A DESK AT The Herald offers few opportunities for exercise of anything but the typing fingers (some argue the mind). At any rate, the local YMCA seems to be the best place to exercise unobtrusively.

Colleague Burton and I played a strenuous half hour of racquet ball there the other day. My face turned orange, and the legs felt like mush.

Burton, no fence post himself, stood there (barely) saying, "Breathing (whew-ha-whoo) aren't you."

I guess I just have to start living cleaner. There is no excuse for going to fat, and besides, I have to look sharp for when I first squeeze into my bathing suit in February.

America is a land of fatties with many different excuses for being that way. Brother Bill is still trying to get with the old, "Well, I have big bones," excuse.

If I manage to shrink, however, I promise I won't be one of those people who say, "Why don't you take care of yourself? I can eat anything I want and still stay in shape. It's so easy if you just use self-discipline."

Mismanaged empire?

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — Deep in the Pentagon an unknown communications czar directs an empire of more than a thousand radio and television stations around the world.

He is John C. Borger, a dapper, determined man with a walrus mustache and an evangelical zeal. He controls the flow of news to our far-flung soldiers and sailors through the newspapers, magazines and radio-TV stations of the armed forces.

THE PRIVATE world of John C. Broger is populated with good guys and bad guys. The good guys are conservatives, anti-Communists and Christian fundamentalists who believe in the God-given, American right to make a buck. The bad guys are liberals, hippies and Communists, although sometimes he has trouble distinguishing one from the other.

For a time, Broger was active in the Far East Broadcasting Company, which beamed right-wing, anti-Communist propaganda to alien lands in the guise of evangelical Christianity. He was brought under pressure in 1960 to disassociate himself officially from the organization he had helped to found. Yet last year, his name mysteriously appeared in official license applications submitted by the company.

As late as 1974, the born-again Broger used his Pentagon position to arrange a two-day seminar in "Christian Counseling" at the Ft. Belvoir army chapel. The featured revivalist at the seminar was theologian Dr. Jay E. Adams.

Broger dispatched one of his military technicians to record the entire two-day event and then delivered the tapes to the National Association of Evangelicals. The enterprising reverends reproduced, packaged and marketed the tapes commercially for $34.95 per set.

The technician, of course, drew his salary from the taxpayers, who also paid for the tapes and audio equipment. Broger gave the project quasi-legitimacy by offering the package also to the chaplains. Although the chaplains routinely announced the tapes were available, there is no record that the armed forces made much use of them.

Citizen Broger rules a vast communications empire, which resembles an Egyptain puzzle on the organizational charts. Its principalities are designated, in the way of a bureaucracy, by letters.

BROGER HIMSELF commands the IAF. Spelled out, this is the Office of Information for the Armed Forces. His most important principality is the AFRTS, which, in longhand, is the Armed Forces Radio and Television Service.

Broger's domain is connected by a tenuous political umbilical cord to ASDPA. This is the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Public Affairs. The office was occupied last year by Wiliam Greener, who was beseiged with complaints about Broger.

It seems that Broger sometimes became so absorbed in evangelical activities that he neglected the administration of his empire. He concerned himself principally with the content of the broadcasts and articles that were disseminated by his worldwide communications network. Indeed, his subordinates charged that he used the network to promote his fundamentalist views.

Greener told us he was amazed by the plethora of allegations against Broger, including charges of mismanagement, malfeasance, corruption and conflict of interest. Greener responded by ordering an immediate financial audit of Broger's operations.

As the charges multiplied, Greener called in the Defense Dept.'s general counsel and the Air Force's special investigators. A summary of their findings was forwarded to the Justice Dept., which found no evidence of criminal culpability. We have learned, however, that some of the most damaging facts were strangely omitted from the report.

ONE SHOULD BELIEVE IN MARRIAGE AS IN THE IMMORTALITY OF THE SOUL, said Honore de Balzac — and the way people keep on marrying must mean that people agree with Balzac.

Alyce Falk, the wife of actor Peter for years and years, is getting remarried today to their longtime family friend, widower and building contractor Harry Derleth in L.A.'s Church of the Good Shepherd. They say that in time Alyce's divorce settlement from the generous "Columbo" star will reach as much as $4 million.

TOGETHERNESS: The David Jansens reconciled and he bought a $400,000 Malibu house for Dani. But the TV star went home with the understanding that he can continue his extramarital songwriting stints as a lyricist with Carol Connors (she wrote the title music to "Rocky") . . . Rich, rich, rich Jim Randall wants to become a movie producer and is said to be looking for a script tailored to star his new wife Marisa Berenson and his old friend George Hamilton. How about a remake of "Ma and Pa Kettle Down on the Farm?"

ITS LOVE: Chicago columnist Margo Coleman interviewed actor Ken Howard and after writing about his "broad shoulders," one thing led to another. So now it's Margo and Ken. (This is good news for the John Lindsay lookalike who was smarting from being deserted by Donna McKechinie when the dancing star of "A Chorus Line" up and wed director Michael Bennett.

Incidentally, Margo is the person who changed Ann Landers' mind about the issue of divorce. Margo is Ann's daughter, you see, and though mommy has always been morally opposed to divorce, when Margo got her first one — well, not long after Ann got one, too. Who says parents don't listen to their children?

Judge gets Ma Bell's attention

HOUSTON (AP) — A state judge has ordered Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. not to charge customers for certain directory assistance charges.

State District Court Judge William N. Blanton ruled Wednesday the telephone company may not charge "where a number is not available in the most recent directories."

The order signed by Blanton also prevents Southwestern Bell from charging for information calls "where no telephone number exists, the telephone has been disconnected or where the number desired is unpublished."

Blanton said he suspected he did not have jurisdiction "to do this but it is sometimes very difficult to get a message across to a bureaucracy."

"It is like getting a mule's attention—sometimes you have to hit him over the head," the judge said.

Byran D. Coleman and Marion Ackerman, both Houston lawyers, had filed the suit on behalf of all residential and commercial customers of Southwestern Bell.

Private line customers will be given 10 free directory assistance calls a month, but then charged 20 cents for each additional such call. Businesses and customers with multiple lines will have a limit of 35 free calls each month.

James M. Shatto, Bell's attorney, argued that the judge's order was contrary to a recent ruling by the Texas Public Utilities Commission (PUC).

"The complete jurisdiction in this matter comes before the Commission," Shatto said. "Everyone was given an opportunity to appear at the hearings. Apparently the plaintiffs in this matter chose not to."

The two attorneys had asked for the temporary restraining order pending a hearing on a temporary injunction. A hearing on the injunction will be held Jan. 21.

Betty Ford's big regret

WASHINGTON (AP) — Betty Ford says her biggest regret in leaving the White House is being parted from the staff, who, she said, "have become so close and so meaningful and so helpful to our family."

Mrs. Ford was saluted Wednesday by the American Newspaperwomen's Club and the American Women in Radio and Television for her efforts on behalf of the Equal Rights Amendment.

AN ICY TRIP — The tug-barge bulk carrier, Presque Isle, was covered with ice as it arrived to an ice-covered Port of Milwaukee Wednesday. The 1,000-foot-long carrier, largest on the lakes, will spend the rest of the winter berthed as unusually bitter cold weather may cause Lake Michigan to freeze from shore to shore, a distance of 75 miles. The cross-lake freeze happened last in 1963.

Ex-pro football player admits he killed son

GILMER, Tex. (AP) — Forrest "Chubby" Grigg, former Cleveland Browns football player and East Texas restaurant owner, has received a five-year probated sentence after pleading guilty to charges he killed his 20-year-old son.

State District Court Judge Virgil Mulanax pronounced the sentence Wednesday night after Grigg pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of voluntary manslaughter in the shooting death of Mike Grigg last Oct. 19.

Grigg earlier had pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity to murder charges.

A jury deliberated about four hours before reporting it was hopelessly deadlocked.

Martin show under way

STANTON — The annual Martin County Junior Livestock Show begins today and will last through Sturday at the community center in Stanton.

According to Martin County Agent Preston Faris, the chamber of commerce-sponsored show will have more entries in the steer show but fewer in the swine and lamb divisions.

The livestock show committee this year has raised more prize money so that entries who place lower in the show will receive prize money for the first time.

Competitors in the show include FFA members from Stanton and Grady as well as county 4-H members. Martin County junior livestockers traditionally do well in the big state livestock shows.

Today entires will be sifted, weighed and ready for judging. The lamb show gets underway at 9 a.m. Friday. Breed champions for Finewool, Finewool Cross and Medium Wool Cross will be named with champion and reserve champions selected

The swine show starts at 1 p.m. Friday with breed champions in Duroc, Hampshire, Crossbred and O.P.B.s with a grand and reserve champion named.

The steer show is at 9 a.m. Saturday with breed champions in American, European and English divisions along with a grand and reserve champion.

The sale starts at 2 p.m. Saturday followed by the Buyers Appreciation Barbecue.

There will also be showmanship awards. Judges this year include Jerry Swift, El Dorado, lamb show; Marcus Phillips, Hereford, barrow show and Bob Benson, Colorado City, steer show.

A grass judging contest will also be held sponsored by the Mustang Soil and Water Conservation District. It will last from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. Saturday with adult and junior divisions.

Mike Black is geneal chairman of the event, assisted by Stanton Jaycees.

TFB adds Loop farmer

A Gaines County farmer is now serving on the board of directors of the 195,571-member Texas Farm Bureau.

Heips Vester Smith of Loop who grows cotton, milo and peanuts on 2,700 acres. He owns 700 acres and rents the remainder. He also owns a cotton gin with nineother men.

The new board member from TFB's District 6 succeeds Bill R. Reid of Lamesa who was ineligible for re-election due to the six-year limitation in TFB's by-laws.

Smith was elected at the recent TFB convention in Fort Worth.

Born at Quemado on the South Texas border, Smith graduated from Loop High School in 1952 and attended a business college in Lubbock.

He was president of the Gaines County Farm Bureau in 1971-72, and has served as secretary-treasurer for the past four years. He was a member of the first TFB Young Farmers and Ranchers Advisory Committee.

Smith also served one year as chairman of the TFB Cotton Advisory Committee and on the American Farm Bureau Federation Cotton Committee.

A member of the Church of Christ, he is married to the former Irene Burnett and they have four children: Mrs. Brenda Ables, Timmy, Dane and Michille.

Counties in TFB's District 6 include: Coke, Concho, Culberson, Dawson, El Paso, Fisher, Gaines, Howard, Hudspeth, Martin, Menard, Midland, Mitchell, Nolan, Pecos, Reeves, Scurry and Tom Green.

Sessums suspended

Ray Sessums, Abilene, Tex., has been suspended as a registered market agency for violating bonding requirements of the Packers and Stockyards Act, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has announced.

Sessums purchases livestock in west-central Texas.

Sessums consented to issuance of the order and waived oral hearing. He neither admitted nor denied the charge in an administrative complaint filed by USDA's Packers and Stockyards Administration.

Administrative Law Judge William J. Weber suspended Mr. Sessums' registration as a market agency until such time as he has complied with bonding requirements under the Packers and Stockyards (P&S) Act. He may not operate as a market agency or dealer during that time.

Sessums was also ordered to cease and desist from operating as a dealer or market agency without filing and maintaining a reasonable bond.

The cease and desist order — like a permanent inunction — was issued to insure future compliance with the P&S Act.

The P&S Act is a fair trade practices law. It promotes and maintains fair and open competition in the marketing of livestock, poultry and meat.

Bale count in Mitchell

COLORADO CITY — The bale count in Mitchell County has climbed to 48,293 bales with 40,000 of those bales estimated as produced within the county.

About half the China Grove bale count is produced out of Mitchell County and about one-third of the cotton ginned at the two Loraine gins is produced out of the county.

The last report shows bales tagged including Buford Co-op, 6,386; China Grove, 5,750; Colorado Gin Co., 1,840; Farmers Gin, 3,766; Loraine Co-op, 12,640; Mitchell County Gin, 4,663; Poanters Gin in Westbrook, 3,477; Producers Co-op, 9,771. Most stripping has been completed but there are still some cotton trailers waiting and still some ricked cotton in the fields

Cotton loans comments asked

WASHINGTON — Comments on proposed determinations for the 1977 cotton loan program for upland and extra long staple (ELS) cotton were called for today by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

The Department proposes to make determinations relating to:

—premiums and discounts for grade and staple length of upland cotton;

—base loan rates by warehouse location for upland cotton;

—loan rates by location for eligible qualities of ELS cotton;

—micronaire differentials for both upland and ELS cotton; and —detailed operating provisions necessary to carry out the price support programs for lint cotton and seed cotton. This includes the specifications for bale packaging materials and whether such specifications should be amended if revisions are recommended by the Cotton Industry Bale Packaging Committee.

Additional details concerning these provisions will be published in the Federal Register soon.

Prior to making determinations, consideration will be given to any written comments received by the Director, Grains, Oilseeds and Cotton Division, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, USDA, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013. Comments must be received no later than Jan. 28.

All written submissions will be made available for public inspection in the office of the director, Room 3741 of USDA's South Building, during regular business hours.

Farmers must file, pay tax

Farmers who have not filed their 1976 declaration of estimated Federal income tax must file and pay that tax by next Monday. The sole exception to this rule is if they file their income tax return and pay the total tax due by March 1, the Internal Revenue Service said today.

Farmers are defined as those persons who earned at least two-thirds of their 1976 gross income from farming.

IRS Publications 225, "Farmer's Tax Guide," and 505, "Tax Withholding and Declaration of Estimated Tax," provide additonal information and are available free at local IRS offices.

Grand champions at Westbrook

WESTBROOK — Grand champions in the swine and sheep divisions of the Westbrook Stock Show were shown by Jane Miller in the swine division and Bobby Matlock in sheep.

Jane Miller also showed the reserve champion.

Military

Foreign training program lauded

Recognition has been given to Webb's Foreign Training office as having one of the "outstanding" Security Assistance informational programs by Maj. Gen. James E. McInerney Jr., director of military assistance and sales.

The accolades came during a workshop for foreign training officers at Randolph AFB, Tex., in October. Capt. Leon E. Perrow, director of the base office, attended for Webb. "The effort and ingenuity put forth by personnel of Webb AFB in giving the foreign military trainees a perspective on American life and institutions through the Security Assistance Informational Program are noteworthy," the general said.

"Captain Perrow's enthusiastic efforts in recruiting local participation and encouraging significant contributions from interested citizens and civic organizations, provided an unusual opportunity for the foreign trainees to observe and study our government, our people, and our institutions," General McInerney said in a letter to Col. Harry A. Spannaus, wing commander.

Perrow was appointed in July as a member of the Prestige-Public Relations-Hospitality-Good Citizenship Committee of the Base-Community Council. His contacts generated many invitations for the allied students.

Weldon arrives in Germany

LANDSTUHL, Germany — U.S. air Force Senior Airman Richard A. Weldon, whose parents are retired USAF Senior Master Sergeant and Mrs. Robert M. Weldon of 4132 Cherry Lane, Panama City, Fla., has arrived for duty at Ramstein AB, Germany.

Airman Weldon, an aircrew egress systems specialist with a unit of the U.S. Air Forces in Europe, previously served at Webb AFB.

The airman is a 1970 graduate of Rutherford High School. His wife, June, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alford Taylor of 631 Tulsa, Big Spring.

'Claudine, Claudine, Claudine'

Singer says her lover cried out

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — With ex-husband Andy Williams weeping in a hushed courtroom, Claudine Longet told jurors that her lover cried, "Claudine! Claudine! Claudine!" as he fell dying to the bathroom floor after a gun went off accidentally in her hands.

Williams, a television and recording star, wiped his tears with a pink tissue Wednesday as Miss Longet — holding the fatal pistol as she spoke — decribed how champion skier Vladimir "Spider" Sabich died last March 21 in the $250,000 Rocky Mountain chalet they shared.

"Spider called my name three times, and he sort of slid down, and I told him I would call the hospital, not to move," Miss Longet testified, biting her lips to hold back tears.

Both defense and prosecution said they expected the reckless manslaughter charge against the 35-year-old entertainer to go to the jury today or Friday. If convicted, she faces a maximum 10 years in jail and $30,000 fine.

The prosecution doesn't claim she intended to shoot Sabich, but says she was criminally reckless in handling the gun.

The tiny state district courtroom was packed for the diminutive, dark-haired defendant's testimony. At one point, spectators peering over library shelves in the rear of the room were asked not to stand on law books to watch her.

"I saw he was sort of fainting," Miss Longet said. "So I tried to give him mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, but I didn't know how."

Sabich died of a single bullet wound in the stomach from a .22-caliber pistol modeled after the German Luger.

Miss Longet said she had asked Sabich how to use the gun because she was frightened for the safety of her three children by Williams, who lived with her and Sabich.

"I was holding it with both hands," Miss Longet said, gingerly taking the pistol from a defense attorney and holding it flat between her palms.

It was then she began crying. She had not held the gun since the night Sabich died.

"I raised the gun, and I said, 'When that lever is on the red spot, is it safe, it won't fire?"

The dozen jurors leaned forward to hear the soft-spoken defendant, whose accent still shows strong traces of her native France.

"He said, 'Yes, it won't fire. You've got it. You have it,' or something like that... I went back to holding it, and it just went off ...

"I ran to the bedroom, and I called the hospital and told someone to send an ambulance right away. By the time I came back to Spider, my children were standing there, and I sent them out.

"I told them to go to the bottom of the hill to look for the ambulance so they wouldn't go the other way."

During cross-examination, prosecutor Ashley Anderson questioned Miss Longet closely about the testimony of two law enforcement officers.

AFTER TESTIFYING — Claudine Longet and ex-husband Andy Williams leave the Pitkin County courthouse in Aspen Wednesday after a day in court which saw her take the witness stand to testify in her own behalf. Ms. Longet related the incidents surrounding the shooting death of Spider Sabich, while Williams sat in court after appearing as a witness on her behalf.

Beauceant, commandry hold joint installation

The joint open installation of Big Spring Assembly No. 211, Social Order of the Beauceant, and the Big Spring Commandry No. 31, Knights Templar, was held in the Masonic Temple, 221½ Main, at 7:30 p.m, Jan. 6.

A dinner for members and guests from Midland and Odessa preceded the service and, afterward, a reception was held in the banquet room. The invocation was by Lee Porter.

Officers of the Supreme Assembly, Social Order of the Beauceant in attendance were Mrs. A.G. Coots of Amarillo, supreme second vice president; and Mrs. C.W. Winterrowd of Odessa, supreme president's aide, District 24.

MRS. W. PARISH

TONY PARSONS

BEAUCEANT

Issuing the call to order for the Beauceant was Mrs. Alden Ryan, with color guards being O.L. Nabors, Wright Vickers and C.R. McClenny.

The installing officer and her team included Mrs. Jack Alexander, Mrs. W.C. Fryar, Mrs. Escol Compton, Mrs. Richard Mitchell, Mrs. Porter Hanks, Mrs. Hal Burnett, Alpine; Mrs. A.G. Coots, Dalhart; and Mrs. Sam E. Hilburn, Midland. Music was by Mrs. Mitchell.

Those installed were Mrs. Wayne Parish, president; Mrs. Ryan, oracle; Mrs. George Glenn, first vice president; Mrs. M.A. Parsons, second vice president; Mrs. Steve Baker, preceptress; Mrs. Lee Porter, recorder; Mrs. Ralph La Londe, treasurer; Mrs. Eugene Gross, marshal; Mrs. O.L. Nabors, assistant marshal; Mrs. R.L. Lee, chaplain; Mrs. L.R. Mundt, music director; Mrs. Willard Sullivan, standard bearer; Mrs. Lowell Brown, wardrobe mistress; Mrs. E.A. Fiveash, daughter of the household; Mrs. Ervin Daniel, inner guard; and Mrs. Homer Thorp, outer guard.

Following the new president's address, there was a presentation of pins between Mrs. Parish and Mrs. Ryan.

COMMANDRY

Calling the commandry to order was the eminent commander, George C. Glenn.

The installation was performed by Hal Burnett, past grand commander of Texas and past grand master of Masons of Texas; Arthur G. Coots, past grand commander of Texas and past department commander of South Central Department, Grand Encampment of U.S.A.; and Sam Hilburn, past grand commander of Texas and grand junior warden of Grand Lodge of Texas.

Assuming their new posts were M.A. (Tony) Parsons, eminent commander; S.D. Faulkenberry, generalissimo; Willard L. Wise, captain general; John J. Jones, senior warden; Roger Foster, junior warden; Charles T. Clay, prelate; C.R. McClenny, treasurer; Willard Sullivan, recorder; Richard E. Mitchell, standard bearer; Denver Pettitt, sword bearer; R.L. (Bob) Lee, warden; Grover Wayland, sentinel; and L.R. Mundt, Wayne Parish and Oscar Nabors as first, second and third guards.

After a brief address by Parsons, the benediction was pronounced by Sam Hilburn.

Instruction in 'inking' available

The YMCA will offer a beginning inking class, starting Monday. This craft form can be done on glass or wood. Mrs. Nada Jannoun, who will teach the class, will demonstrate technique and show some of her work at the first class session.

There will be six two-hour classes in the course. It will run through Feb. 21 and will meet each Monday from 7 to 9 p.m. The fee for non-Y members is $14.00 and for Y members $8.00. Call the YMCA for list of basic materials to be brought to the first class session.

District meet here Jan. 18

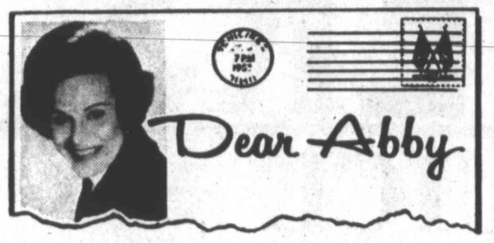

An estimated 50 women from District 6, Texas Home Demonstration Association, are expected to attend the district training meeting here Jan. 18 in the Men's Bible Class Building, First United Methodist Church, according to Mrs. W.N. Norred, district director.

Those attending from the 17-county district will include extension agents, council chairmen and THDA chairmen from each county.

Mrs. Norred will preside, and Mrs. Robert Johnson of Fort Stockton, district agent, will speak. Coffee will be served during registration from 9:30 to 10 a.m., followed by the training session.

Mrs. Norred, who attended the state board meeting in Dallas at the Baker Hotel Jan. 5-6 announced that the state theme for the next two years will be "Home, our Hope in a Changing World." Mrs. Harold Preston, Llano, is state president.

The District 6 meeting is slated April 19 in Midland, and the state meeting will be Sept. 21-22 at Galveston.

Don't Take Chances With This Sickness

DEAR ABBY: Reading about the father who molested his daughter has given me the courage to write.

Quite a few years ago, when my daughter was 12, I learned that her father had been bothering her. (She finally got scared and told me.) It happened over several months. It was only serious foreplay, but I felt it would lead to the final act sooner or later.

I confronted her father, and he admitted it. I told him he was sick, and he had to either see a doctor or leave. He refused to see a doctor, so needless to say, he is not with us any longer.

I should have realized something was wrong sooner because my daughter never wanted to be left alone with him. She begged to go with me everywhere I went.

My daughter feels that I did the right thing in giving her father an ultimatum. However, my doctor told me I handled it badly. He said that sort of thing is quite common and had I let it go, it probably would not have gone any further. He said most mothers just put a lock on the girl's door.

I would like your comments on this.

NO NAME, NO CITY

DEAR NO: I think you handled it exactly right. I disagree with your doctor. Your husband is SICK! And for you to have "let it go," or simply put a lock on your daughter's door, instead of insisting that your husband either get help or get out, would have made you as guilty as he, had his molesting continued.

DEAR ABBY: How would you define old age?

GETTING THERE

DEAR GETTING: To recycle an old cliche, old age, like beauty, lies in the mind of the beholder.

But I would say that you've reached it when:

You need your glasses to find your glasses.

You walk into another room and wonder what you went there for.

People start telling you you're looking good, but no one says you're good-looking.

You pass up a romantic encounter because you're worried about your heart.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Volunteers will give booklet

A new service for Malone-Hogan Hospital was introduced by Mrs. Wade Choate, president of the hospital's volunteers, during a general meeting Monday.

An information booklet provided by the state will be given to each maternity patient. The free booklet contains instruction in caring for children from the time of birth to the age of six years. Orientation of volunteers for the program is slated at 2 p.m., Jan. 17-18 in the hospital classroom.

A program on communication skills and body language awareness was given by Ms. Caroline Rekoff. Discussed were nonverbal communication methods to make the patient feel more comfortable in the presence of the volunteer. Awarness of communications skills were tested in various exercises and games.

Craft class rescheduled

Due to weather conditions, the macrame class at the YMCA scheduled last Monday at 7:30 p.m. did not meet. The class will begin Jan. 17 at the same time and will continue through March 7. For information call the YMCA, 26-78234.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JANUARY 14, 1977

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are likely to have some delay in putting in motion a creative plan of importance. Later in the day you have an unusually beneficial afternoon and evening, for some sudden and unexpected circumstances arise giving you a chance to plan a campaign of action which will be very beneficial.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) After a frustrating morning you can trust your hunches later and get ahead faster in your career. Handle responsibilities intelligently. Placate the one you love who is in a poor humor.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have to exercise patience at home and elsewhere because nothing seems to be working out well during the day. By evening everything clears up. Happiness is possible then.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Wait until afternoon to keep an appointment or have business dealings since the morning would yield you little. Get busy at statements and correspondence. Take it easy tonight.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't be depressed over finances in the morning since you see how to improve them easily in the afternoon and on into the evening. You can consult a good adviser before the sun goes down. Be clever.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) If you do not argue at home during the day, you find that all goes well and that you can entertain there happily in the evening. Study into new projects that can be lucrative for you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Instead of worrying about any problems you have, get busy and do something constructive about them. Late afternoon is best for visiting with others. Avoid work that is too strenuous for you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Late afternoon is best for searching out the data you need. Take time to visit with relatives later in the evening.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A good day to make those changes that will help you have a smoother running life in the future. Steer clear of irate persons in the morning and then the afternoon can be a happy one.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You may feel stymied in the morning, but don't get impatient or you will lose out on fine benefits which favorable planets can bring you. Solve some problem early.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Any new beginnings are best handled in the morning. Evening is best time to make needed changes. You may find a friend very trying early but later all works out fine.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You tend to be confused during the morning hours, so get hold of yourself. Later you can make up for lost time. Be sure to use tact in handling a credit matter.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Listen carefully to what new contacts say and later you can use your own good judgment, too. Seek out the information you need regarding a new venture and then it can become successful. Take no chances with your reputation.

Teachers residence decision

STANTON — Teachers employed by the Stanton Independent School District will no longer have to live in Stanton. This decision was made by the school board in action this week.

The decision was made because the district often can take advantage of teachers who reside in Big Spring and Midland.

In other action, the board opened bids on a new pickup and accepted the low bid of $6,477.89 from Roadrunner Chevrolet. It was the lowest of three bids. It will be used for the vocational agriculture department by Nolan Parker, insturctor.

The board also reviewed a new student handbook for the junior high prepared by Roddy McIver and Bill Young.

Supt. Russell McMeans' contract was extended an additonal year giving him a two-year contract. He is currently in his 11th year in the system.

FIRE-FLY — A "first" in the daredevil world of stuntmen took place recently in Hollywood as television stuntman Dick Ziker, his asbestos suit aflame plunges down six stories onto an air bag and comes up smiling. The stunt was part of a Stuntmen's Competition and Awards show to be telecast Jan. 22 on CBS.

Kidnapers ignore $100,000 ransom

DE SOTO, Tex. (AP) — Kidnapers who kicked in a locked door to abduct a 77-year-old East Texas woman from her daughter's South Dallas County home were still at large today.

Lilly Kirkland of Joaquin, in Shelby County, was held for $100,000 ransom for more than 10 hours after being kidnaped shortly before midnight Tuesday.

She said two men bound and blindfolded her and left her wrapped in a sleeping bag in a wooded area near De Soto.

Criminal investigators from four agencies swarmed the ransom drop area where Mrs. Kirkland's son-in-law, Ted Dunagan, left the money in a field after he received a final call from her abductors.

"The kidnapers were quite convincing. They said they would kill her if he didn't pay off," said FBI agent Gene Rosenquist.

The money was never touched.

Mrs. Kirkland was found Wednesday about three miles from the drop site. Rosenquist said it was possible the abductors realized the danger in picking up the money and got cold feet.

Mrs. Kirkland was reported to be "tired and sore and cold," but unharmed.

Rosenquist said Mrs. Kirkland had been watching television late Tuesday night when two men knocked on the door. She opened the door and then quickly closed and locked it when she saw the two men wearing ski masks, Rosenquist said.

Guitarist fined $1,275

AYLESBURY, England (AP) — Keith Richard, 33-year-old lead guitarist for the Rolling Stones rock group, has been fined $1,275 after being convicted in Aylesbury Crown Court of possessing cocaine.

But Richard, convicted on the cocaine charge Wednesday, was found innocent of possessing the hallucinatory drug LSD.

The charges had been brought after police alleged they found the drugs in a search of him and his car last May 19.

Stamps Quartet booked here for Sunday show

Tickets for the Sunday afternoon show at the municipal auditorium featuring J. D. Sumner and the Stamps Quartet are being offered for sale by several local merchants and businessmen. The tickets are $4 each.

The tickets can be obtained in advance from A. K. Guthrie, Downtown 66 Station, Western Glass and Mirror, Trim's Body Shop, Cosden, Gray's Jewelers, Arrow Co., and Mort Denton Pharmacy.

The event is being sponsored by the Big Spring Jaycees, who maintain an office at 210 W. Third St. The telephone number is 263-1066.

The Stamps Quartet specializes in gospel music. Sumner is credited with originating the idea of using buses for groups to travel throughout the country to concerts. He was also the man who engineered the idea of using four microphones on stage for a more perfect balance of sound, thus making the standard mikes shared by four singers obsolete. In addition, he was responsible for organizing the National Quartet Convention — a major event in the gospel industry today.

Sumner originally was a member of the Blackwood Brothers.

The Stamps Quartet has served as a backup group for Elvis Presley and appeared with Elvis at both Las Vegas and Lake Tahoe. The superstar also tapped them for a role in his newest movie, "Elvis — On Tour." The Stamps sang two gospel songs on the show.

The Stamps Quartet invariably sell out the house wherever they go and often are held over for second and third shows.

Ohio River frozen over

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — It took one towboat captain an hour to move his vessel a mile on the Ohio River on Wednesday. His boat may not move at all today.

Ice has formed "from bank to bank" over many areas of the Ohio, says the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, and there's a good chance the river, one of the top five navigable waterways in the world, will freeze over for the first time in almost 30 years.

On the Mississippi, the Corps and the Coast Guard have urged that a 180-mile stretch between St. Louis and Cairo, Ill., be closed to barge traffic because of heavy ice and low water.

"Anyone would be crazy to operate in that stretch until conditions improve," said a towing industry spokesman who helped with the plan.

The Mississippi's problems are aggravated by low water levels caused by last summer's drought. The river stage fell to minus 3.1 feet at St. Louis Wednesday.

The Coast Guard said 10 ships ran aground between St. Louis and Cairo on Monday.

To the north, unusually bitter cold is forming ice at a near-record rate on the Great Lakes. Lake Erie is frozen almost solid, Lake Huron has ice extending about 15 miles from all shores, and Lakes Superior and Ontario, so deep they never freeze completely, report solid ice along some shorelines.

Ridin' fence

All those lines

with Marj Carpenter

Back in 1951, when it first became apparent that television was here to stay and that it really was going to become a reality, the movie industry panicked.

They carried on and on and on about how they were going to be ruined by television. Then when television actually moved into every home in the land, they reacted by producing increasingly violent and increasingly naked movies.

Thank goodness the pendulum has begun to swing back. As they realized more and more people were watching the old movies on televison they leaned a little bit more toward the type of subject matter that was involved.

Whatever has been the reason, the movie industry has not suffered.

Wherever there are lots of people — especially young people, the lines at the movie houses are longer than they ever were in the pre-television days.

Perhaps only because it's the easiest place to go on a date. But whatever the reason — they're there.

I became really aware of this during the Christmas holidays. All three of my own young people were home. We went to "Marathon Man" at a local theatre. Then one night they wanted to go see "A Star Is Born." The closest place was Odessa.

They thought nothing of that and away we went. When we got into the mall, there were two long lines. One line was for those who had purchased tickets when they didn't get in the previous performance. The second line was for those without tickets.

We stood in the second line awhile and finally the attendant came to make an announcement. From two people in front of us, he drew a line like Jim Bowie drew at the Alamo. "Everybody behind this line probably will not be able to get a ticket where they can sit together," he entoned.

We left and went across town to see the less popular movie, "Nickelodeon." We enjoyed it. I don't know when I've seen so many movies.

Then when I took No. 1 daughter back to Austin where she will visit briefly before flying back to London, we decided to go across town and see "Seven Per Cent Solution."

We went over hill and over dale and through much traffic to get to the movie. The line was out of the lobby onto the sidewalk and around the corner and out into the rain. People stood.

We stood. Then here came the attendant. I thought, "Uhoh, here comes the line." He stopped and drew a line and said, "Everybody behind this may purchase a ticket for the next performance, but there will be no more available for this showing."

We waited and purchased the tickets. We went home and ran some errands and returned. As we returned, a train intervened and we drove around several blocks along with other frustrated picture show viewers.

We finally arrived and were allowed inside the lobby where we all stood shoulder to shoulder waiting for the next performance.

Earlier in the day, Dr. R. A. Montgomery, head of special education at the Texas Education Agency came up behind me in a shopping center and said, "Can you tell me the way to Andrews?" He died laughing when I turned around to discover the former Andrews school superintendent, an old friend.

Down on Congress Avenue as we crossed at a traffic light, Robbie LaRue, another former West Texan who works for the state insurance board, lunged forward and hit me with his newspaper and said, "Marj Carpenter, how are you?"

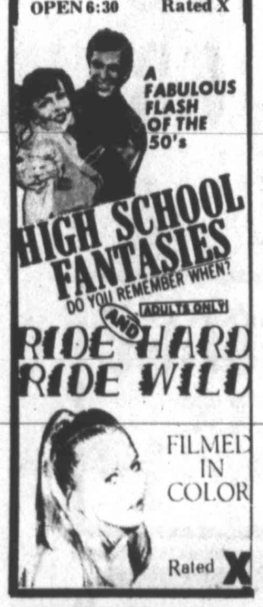

So it was no surprise when in that massive crowd, Charlie Rogers, another former West Texan, reached his hand across the crowd around me and said, "Marj Carpenter, what are you doing?"

Nearly everybody in the place was college age or at least less than 30. They may have been shocked when the only sweet-looking little old lady in the place said, "I'm waiting in this d- line. That's what I'm doing."

But what I meant to say, folks, is don't worry when you think something ending will ruin everything. Television failed to hurt the movie industry. Big Spring certainly needs to know not to panic if we face a sudden change in economy. We can just work at something new and we'll soon have people standing in line — out where I'm riding' fence.

Midland College prexy demands resignations

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP)—Midland College President Dr. Al G. Langford, charging a basketball player now at Oklahoma State was given an "A" in a three-hour physical education course he didn't take, has demanded the resignations of three school employes including the athletic director.

OSU is currently investigating the matter.

In a copyrighted story Wednesday the Midland Reporter-Telegram quoted Langford as saying Athletic Director Chester Story, assistant basketball coach J.D. Menasco and tennis coach Neill McClung were involved in giving Ricky Daniel the needed grades and credits in order to be eligible to play basketball at the Big Eight school.

The newspaper said Daniel played for Midland College last year. He was recruited from Kentucky by Oklahoma State and sent to Midland for a year before going to OSU. But it was discovered that Daniel didn't have the grade point average to play at the NCAA school.

"When we found out Ricky didn't have the required grade point average, I called Oklahoma State and informed them," Story told the Reporter-Telegram. "They decided to send him to summer school here so that he could raise his grade point average and paid his way. At first, I thought he was going to come on and get his three one-hour courses. Then, Oklahoma State asked if he had to come. I said no. He enrolled and received credit for the courses."

The Reporter-Telegram said since McClung and Mensaco taught the courses Daniel needed, their resignations were sought as well.

"It was wrong, very wrong judgment on my part," said Story. "I didn't think of the ramifications. I thought we were helping a kid but it wound up costing three men their jobs."

The newspaper quoted Harvey Griffin, assistant athletic director at Oklahoma State, as saying he knew nothing about the arrangement Story alluded to in his account. Griffin said there would be no official comment by school officials until they had time to study the matter. He added that whatever games Daniel played in would probably have to be forefeited if the charges are true.

Story and Menasco will take the basketball team to Clarendon Thursday for a Western Junior College Conference game. But it will be their last as coaches. Story indicated someone else will be appointed to coach the team by the time the Chaparrals go to South Plains for a game Monday.

Daniel won't be able to play OSU roundball

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Guy Strong, basketball coach at Oklahoma State University, said he talked with Oklahoma State sophomore basketball player Ricky Daniel Wednesday and "told him he would not be able to play any more," after allegations were made about falsified academic records.

Strong said he has never talked with the athletic director at Midland, Tex., Junior College about the alleged falsification of Daniel's grade reports.

Strong said if allegations about the falsification are true, Oklahoma State would have to forfeit any games in which Daniel has played.

A story in the Midland Reporter-Telegram Wednesday quoted Midland athletic director Chester Story as saying someone at Oklahoma State asked if Daniel had to actually attend three one-hour summer term physical education courses he needed to bring up his grade point average to allow him to transfer to Oklahoma State.

Story said in the article that he told whoever it was he talked to that Daniel need not attend.

Daniel reportedly received an "A" in each of the three courses and transferred to Oklahoma State last fall.

Swim team in Odessa

The Big Spring Steers Swimming Team is traveling to Odessa today for a duel swim meet with Odessa High School at 5:30 p.m.

Competing for the Steers are freshmen: Rondell Miller and John Turk; sophomores: Maynard Colkin, Bill Hart, Jerry Holten, Derek Horton, Mark Madigan, Kim Spence, and Randy Stukel; juniors: Kevin Crenwelge, Mark Spannaus, and Laura Robbins; and seniors: Lucy Holten, John Martin, Anne Mathews, Doug Mays, and Mollie Ray.

The next scheduled meet is the Midland College Invitational with the prelims beginning Friday, January 28th.

'I vant to be alone'

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

NEW YORK (AP) — Hey, what are they doing to our Dorothy? What is happening to the little figure-skating miss who was everybody's sweetheart in the Olympic Games?

They've turned her into a piece of delicate china. Don't touch. Don't speak to her. She might break. She is a golden ice princess in a gilded cage.

She is no longer the outgoing, effervescent, easily accessible personality who stole the hearts at Innsbruck. They're trying to give her the Hollywood image. She has even become the subject of gossip columnists — the sweet young thing now smoking two packs of cigarettes a day and swinging with Dino Martin Jr., and the movie jet set.

That's okay. Little girls have to grow up. But why try to turn our Dorothy into a Greta "I Vant To Be Alone" Garbo?

Dorothy made her Madison Square Garden debut in the Ice Capades Tuesday night with what critics called an exhibition of "power and precision," but when newspaper friends sought to learn first hand how a professional career has changed her life the scene shifted to the ridiculous.

DOROTHY HAMILL
piece of China

The first call was made to Solters and Roskin, a Manhattan public relations firm handling accounts for both the Ice Capades and Miss Hamill.

"I am sure an interview can be arranged," a representative said. "I will call back."

Approximately an hour later, the call came.

"Very sorry. Miss Hamill's time is completely booked. She will not be available — no, not even for 15 minutes.".

A call was placed to Madison Square Garden, which is very hep on public relations matters.

"No luck," the Garden spokesman said. "We have been trying for days to set up some sit-down interviews for Hamill. The papers and networks have been pressing. We run into a stone wall. They tell us Dorothy is too busy, can't be bothered."

Dorothy's manager is Jerry Weintraub of Los Angeles, who also handles Frank Sinatra, Elvis Presley and John Denver.

Ma Bell got hold of Weintraub's office right away. Weintraub wasn't in, an aide said, but maybe you could leave your number.

"Don't call us," he added stiffly, right out of the movies, "Mr. Weintraub will call you." He didn't.

In New York, Ed Mosler, patron of sports and benefactor of Olympic figure skaters, said he hadn't seen Dorothy since Innsbruck.

Her family — mother, dad, older brother and sister — has had little better success.

"We saw Dorothy for about 45 minutes after one of her shows," her father, Chalmers Hamill, a business executive from Greenwich, Conn., said.

THROUGH the fieldglasses

By Danny Reagon

Finally a few minutes to sit down and pound out a word or two about what's been coming through my fieldglasses lately.

This is definitely old business, but let's get it out of the way, okay? Let me be the 423rd sportswriter in the general area to say "Super Bore". Never would I have dreamed that looking through old family pictures with my mother-in-law would beat watching the second half of Super Bowl XI, but that's the way it went down, to use the terminology of "Fran the banned man" (from a Super Bowl victory, that is.)

Perhaps if Oakland would have been Dallas I would have soaked in every dominating moment, but for anyone other than a die-hard Raider fan (Oakland-type that is), the game had to be as boring as that place where ice cream melts in the winter.

There have been only two Super Bowls that would rank anywhere close to exciting. Number one for sheer thrills and quality football would have to be last year's Super Bowl X, that could have only been better if the Pokes would have won. The other game worthy of being called a football championship would have to be Super Bowl III, when Joe Namath disproved all the "experts" and led his team to an exciting upset victory.

WELL, LET'S GET US A WITCH DOCTOR

"I thought a mojo was some kind of mysterious power that they have over in Africa," said Steer basketball coach James Griffin, "but I believe someone sprinkled a little of that mojo-dust on the rim of the basket last night."

"Griff" was speaking philosophically Wednesday morning following his teams' battering by the Permian Panthers 90-56 Tuesday night.

"I'm going to worry about this until noon and then forget it. We have to think about Midland Lee and getting ready for them," said the coach.

Griffin noted that the fans, band and cheering section for Permian made for a distinct home-court advantage.

"You know, at the first of the year our band came out, and the Golddiggers dressed up in their uniforms and really supported us. That made our boys really catch fire," Griffin recounted.

The turn-out lately for Steer home games has been pitiful. Last week's Midland game seems indicative of the current trend. If the Midland crowd that traveled here didn't out-number the home crowd, then they should have, because the visitors were more vocal than the Steer supporters.

Coach Griffin said that he had a few surprises for the Midland Lee Rebels this Friday night in Steer gym. I just hope the student body and townspeople have a surprise for the Steers . . . they'll show up and support them.

RESURGENCE OF HAWK POWER

"Who lit the powder keg under them?" said one fan at last Monday night's over-powering 105-88 Hawk victory over New Mexico Junior College.

The Preybirds seemed to have come into their own in their last three games. The only answer revolves around the phrase "team effort." As a team, the Hawks have never played better than they have in recent outings. With 13 games remaining in the WJCC season, the Hawks are one game out of first place. There are six teams tied for first, and anything could happen from here on out.

One "slight" factor in the resurgence of Hawk power may be Mike Little. Earlier in the season Mike voiced disappointment, or maybe a better word for it is "anger" over the way he was performing, even though he was and still is the leading Hawk scorer.

The Hawks' two-point loss to Cisco in the ABC Olympic Basketball tournament last weekend, in which Mike pulled a ligament, seemed to bring Little's frustration to a head. He sat out the following night's game with Southwestern Christian and came back on Saturday to play his guts out, injured ankle and all.

And come Monday, the T-birds from New Mexico didn't have a chance. Unappreciably slowed down by the injury to the foot, and jersey noticably stained with blood from a recurring back wound from the district 5-4A wars, Little played one of his best games since the start of the season.

It was infectuous, as the rest of the Hawks played inspired roundball as well. If this "disease" is lasting, let's hope it lasts at least for 13 more games. If so, no amount of doctoring by the other nine teams in the Conference will be able to combat it.

RETURNS TO THE CELTICS — Dave Cowens, who abruptly walked out on the Boston Celtics more than two months ago, laces up his sneakers Wednesday night in his Boston apartment to be back in practice Thursday. Cowens agreed Wednesday to rejoin the defending National Basketball Association champions. Cowens said, "My enthusiasm has returned and I'm anxious to get started playing again."

They shoot Bears, don't they?

By The Association Press

Southern Methodist dodged a last second bullet and the Baylor Bears caught one smack between the eyes Wednesday night, giving the Mustangs the Southwest Conference basketball leadership by a half game over Arkansas.

SMU outlasted Texas 74-73 as the victorious Mustangs watched helplessly as the Longhorns missed a free throw and three field goal attempts by the losers in the last six seconds.

Baylor Coach Carroll Dawson suffered what he called "the hardest loss I've had since I've been a coach here (four years)" when Texas A&M senior Steve Jones canned an arching 30-foot jump shot with two seconds left for a 60-59 victory.

SMU is now 4-0 just a shade ahead of 16th ranked Arkansas which is 3-0 in league play and idle Wednesday night.

Baylor tumbled to 3-1 while the defending SWC champion Aggies improved their ledger to 2-1.

In other games, Houston (1-1) blasted cross-town rival Rice 106-56 behind Otis Birdsong's 25 points and Texas Tech (2-2) stayed alive in the league race with an 87-68 victory over Texas Christian.

"It's tough on the coaches when it goes down to the wire like it did tonight," said SMU Coach Sonny Allen.

T. J. Robinson made a free throw with 17 seconds left for a 74-71 lead but Texas' Gary Goodner was fouled as he sank a basket with six seconds to go. Goodner, a poor free throw shooter, tried a jump shot for his charity toss and it missed everything.

However, Texas stole the inbounds pass and shot three times and missed before the final buzzer.

"Goodner hadn't made a free throw all year why did you think he was going to make this one?" queried Texas Coach Abe Lemons. "He tries but he just can't shoot free throws."

Asked why he didn't go to his bench in the latter part of the hard fought game, Lemons replied "because I'm a rookie and I don't know a player when I see one. All I know is our first team beat our second team 47-12 in a scrimmage the other day."

Dawson had the post-game shakes after the Aggie victory.

"I still can't believe Jones made those last two shots," said Dawson.

Besides the winning 30-footer, Jones, the only senior on the A&M team, canned a 20-footer with 1:02 to go.

"The smartest thing we did was make Steve look like that last shot was lucky so the other teams won't point for us," said a delighted A&M Coach Shelby Metcalf. "Steve is our only senior so he knew he had to lead us."

Asked if A&M was championship material, Metcalf said "No, we're too young. We're starting three freshmen."

Mike Russell scored 29 points in Texas Tech's romp over TCU which Red Raider Coach Gerald Myers graded "good, because we've been on the road."

Allen said "I remember a couple of years ago when Texas went 1-11 and still won the championship. I hope the same thing holds true and we can win the conference after going 1-7."

In games Saturday night, Arkansas is at Rice, Houston is at TCU, SMU is at A&M and Texas Tech is at Texas in the television game.

'I'm ready to play ball again'--Dave

BOSTON (AP) — "I'm ready to play basketball again."

With that simple statement, Dave Cowens, the Boston Celtics' All-Star center, ended a 63-day unpaid leave of absence Wednesday, agreeing to rejoin the National Basketball Association's defending champions.

"You're back on the payroll as of right now," Celtics President and General Manager Red Auerbach said.

Cowens, who walked out on his reported $280,000 job on Nov. 10, did a sudden turnabout, admitting that he had wanted to remain away for the remainder of the season.

However, he announced his decision to rejoin the club after a one-hour huddle with Auerbach and Celtics owner Irv Levin. The 28-year-old veteran from Florida State University stayed away from Boston's game against the Indiana Pacers Wednesday night, but promised to be at practice today.

Cowens said jokingly that "I may not be in shape until next September." However, he will be in uniform Friday night when the Celtics meet the Portland Trail Blazers at Boston Garden.

Alternating seriousness with jest, Cowens said he has been working out lightly, weighs about a normal 225 pounds, but "I'm not in playing shape."

"I left for personal reasons and I'm coming back for personal reasons," the 6-foot-9 Cowens said in hedging on why he decided to return.

"When I left, it was for personal reasons which I don't want to reveal," he said. "The reasons still are personal, but I don't have any regrets. I don't want to seem like a wishy washy person. I'm going to play and that's it."

A lack of enthusiasm and inability to play to what he felt was 100 per cent of his ability generally were considered the reasons for Cowens' departure. "My enthusiasm has returned and I'm anxious to get started playing again," he said.

Cowens emphasized that the Celtics did not apply pressure on him to return. However, Levin and Auerbach talked with him often in recent weeks.

It was learned that Cowens, Auerbach and Paul Sann, executive editor of the New York Post, had dinner together in New York Monday night. Sann, Auerbach's biographer and long-time friend, urged Cowens to return, calling him "one of the all-time great ones" and noting that the big center was second in the All-Star balloting although not playing.

Kuhn and Finley press suit again

CHICAGO (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn says he received conflicting advice from some of the game's top officials on whether to void the sales of three Oakland A's stars for $3.5 million.

Kuhn testified Wednesday in U.S. District Court in a $3.5-million suit filed by Oakland owner Charles O. Finley after Kuhn blocked the deals last June.

Finley was expected to return to the stand today. The trial is expected to end this week. Judge Frank McGarr then will consider his decision.

During a conference call last June with baseball's Executive Council, Kuhn testified, American League President Lee Mac-Phail and National League President Charles Feeney recommended that he let the sales stand. But Walter O'Malley of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Ed Fitzgerald of the Milwaukee Brewers told him something should be done.

Kuhn decided to disapprove the sales of pitcher Rollie Fingers and outfielder Joe Rudi to Boston for $1 million each and pitcher Vida Blue to the New York Yankees for $1.5 million.

He said he was attending a White Sox' game in Chicago last June when he was notified of the sales.

"I asked the White Sox to get Mr. Finley on the phone and we had a conversation. I said 'Charlie, these deals are disastrous to baseball. They are troublesome and I don't know if they can stand.' His response was strong. He said 'Commissioner, you shouldn't be butting in' and suggested we get together. We later met in the lobby of the Pick-Congress Hotel.

"Finley argued vigorously against the wisdom of my doing it (possibly negating the deals), but he never mentioned that I didn't have the authority," Kuhn testified.

"I said Charlie had created a disastrous situation and he told me he had difficulties signing the players and that he also had financial problems. He told me about the difficulties he had getting his team's games on radio and had to pay $300,000 to do so."

During a hearing June 17 with Finley, the Red Sox, the Yankees and Marvin Miller of the Players' Association, the commissioner said, no one questioned his authority to negate the sales.

"My decision was to disapprove the assignments of the three contracts," said Kuhn, "because of the integrity of the game and maintainance of public confidence. It is vital to us that the public have confidence in our business."

NBA roundup

Good news and bad

By The Associated Press

It was a banner day for the Boston Celtics — then they went and spoiled it by playing a basketball game.

The good news came from Dave Cowens, the all-star center who had taken a leave of absence Nov. 8, saying he would not return to the team until next fall. Wednesday, Cowens announced he had a change of heart and would be back in uniform as soon as possible.

"It's great, just super," was the reaction of Celtics Coach Tom Heinsohn, whose team has stumbled to a 15-15 record without Cowens and who knows that the big center can mean the difference in the fight for a playoff spot.

Then the Celtics showed up at Boston Garden for a game against the Indiana Pacers, and the rosy picture took on an ashen tone.

In the opening minute of play, high-scoring guard Charlie Scott tumbled to the floor under the basket, landing on his left arm. He was taken to University Hospital, and moments later the Celtics got the bad news — two broken bones in the forearm.

The rest of the game did not go much better for Boston. Billy Knight, Indiana's scoring star, poured in 33 points, including eight in a row during the second half.

76ers 102, Rockets 97

Lloyd Free scored a careerhigh 39 points and Julius Erving added 25 as Philadelphia erased an early 15-point deficit and beat Houston, despite 40 points by the Rockets' Rudy Tomjanovich.

Hawks 124, Braves 118

Tom Henderson tallied 11 of his 22 points in the last seven minutes as Atlanta dealt Buffalo its fifth straight loss. Henderson also had 15 assists.

Bulls 95, Bullets 85

Reserve guard John Mengelt scored a season-high 20 points for Chicago, which moved out to a 52-36 halftime lead, then clinched the victory with a 13-0 fourth-quarter burst.

Bucks 127, Spurs 121

Milwaukee trailed by 14 points in the first half before overtaking San Antonio behind 28 points by Junior Bridgeman and 27 by Bob Dandridge.

Nuggets 110, Jazz 99

Denver raised its home record to 20-1, jumping to an 11-point lead in the first quarter, turning back a Jazz comeback in the second period and stretchng the lead to as many as 19 points in the third quarter.

Sonics 121, Pistons 99

Fred Brown scored 20 points, helping Seattle to its fifth straight victory. Detroit was without star center Bob Lanier, who was sidelined with a sprained knee.

'Our objective is to stay off probation'

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist is off probation and football Coach Ron Meyer says that's the way it's going to stay.

"Our objective is to stay off probation," says Meyer. "In fact, it's something that we insist on."

SMU president Dr. James Zumberge got the news in Miami Beach Wednesday that the Mustangs' two-year probation in football and a one-year basketball penalty had been lifted by the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

The probation excluded the Mustangs from post-season and television appearances.

Meyer said "We are quite pleased. It's always good to have a clean bill of health."

Former SMU football Coach Dave Smith gave dollars for tackles which caught the eye of the NCAA. Meyer came from Nevada-Las Vegas last year to replace Smith and then Mustangs, stripped bare of talent, posted a surprising 3-8 record including a closing victory over Arkansas.

The Southwest Conference is in the midst of recruiting a rich Texas schoolboy football crop and the announcement couldn't have come at a better time for Meyer.

Vols fry Kentucky

By The Associated Press

Ray Mears has coached 287 college basketball victories, but the latest one was something special.

"In the 14 years I've been at Tennessee, this has to be one of the biggest victories," said Mears after his Vols invaded 23,300-seat Rupp Arena at Lexington, Ky., Wednesday night and posted a 71-67 overtime upset of No. 2-ranked Kentucky.

The loss is likely to cost Kentucky its high ranking, a third-rated Cincinnati — which trailed the Wildcats by just nine points in this week's Associated Press poll — raised its record to 11-0, routing Dayton 84-61 before the largest college basketball crowd in Ohio history, 17,009, at Cincinnati.

"Anyone who places the University of Kentucky in front of us is not knowledgeable about basketball," said Cincinnati Coach Gale Catlett. "And I said that before Kentucky lost tonight."

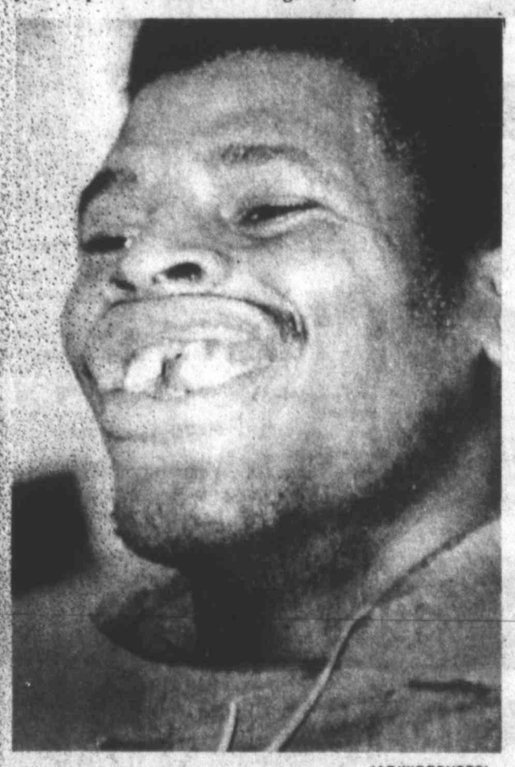

But Catlett was looking beyond Kentucky.

"I'd like to play San Francisco on a neutral court right now," Catlett said of the topranked Dons, who are 17-0. "We beat them last year (89-88 at Cincinnati) with three of our guards sick with the flu."

Only one other Top Twenty team was in action — No. 17 Clemson, which edged Duke 80-73 in overtime in an Atlantic Coast Conference clash.

"This may be the worst game we've played this season," said Kentucky Coach Joe Hall, whose team dropped to 2-1 in the Southeastern Conference and 9-2 over-all. "We shot 26 per cent in the first half, and when you can't buy a basket that magnifies your other mistakes."

Tennessee led 32-28 at intermission, fell behind by seven points with 7:39 to play and climbed back ahead only to have Kentucky reserve Truman Claytor sink a 12-foot jumper with nine seconds to go, tying the score 61-61 and sending the game into overtime.

Area youngsters compete for food show honors

By JO BRIGHT

Soup to nuts? Not exactly, but it was everything from "Rhubarb Cheesecake" to "Mexican Pinata Salad" when Howard County 4-H club members prepared their display tables for the annual food show which was held Saturday in the fellowship hall of First United Methodist Church.

The show, long a tradition with young people involved with the 4-H food program, this year attracted 12 entires; 10 in the junior division and two in the senior group. They entered food in one of four categories, these being Main Dish, Side Dish, Breads and Desserts or Snacks and Beverages.

Following in the path of several other boys in recent years, Scott Underwood, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Underwood, was one of the junior winners with his Mexican salad. Other juniors taking top honors were Shellie Peterson, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Peterson; Paula Kay Allen, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Allen; and Dawn Underwood, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Underwood.

All four of the juniors will go to district competition in March at Andrews as will the two senior winners, Donna James, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ovis James; and Karen Earls, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Earls.

EXPERIENCE

Other 4-H'ers who gained experience from the show (and will probably be back with tasty dishes next year) are Louise Shive, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Shive; Pam Riddle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Riddle; Luanne Bristo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bristo; Sharon Tindol, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Tindol; Tanya Hollis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Estan Hollis; and Robin Ethridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ethridge.

ALL GOOD

Winners this year or not — all proved to the judges that they are fine cooks who are learning to use their talents and imagination to the best advantage.

Th3 4-H foods program is designed to help 4-H'ers develop leadership. According to Janet Sargent, assistant county extension agent, senior members often assist adult leaders with junior groups. The program provides them with an understanding of the interrelation of science, nutrition and food preparation. The youngsters are given opportunities to develop skill in buying foods and in planning, preparation and service of nutritious meals.

JUDGES

Mrs. Judy Germany, Midland county extension agent, and Mrs. George E. Schwartz and Miss Dorothy Schwartz, both of St. Lawrence, judged the dishes on taste, appearance, food quality and the manner in which they were served. The judges also reviewed the contestants knowledge of nutrition.

The earned ribbons and gifts were presented by Mrs. John Couch, chairman of the Howard County Home Demonstration Council.

Here are recipes entered in the show. You might want to see if you can prepare them as well as the contestant did!

THE WINNER !

SPICY TEXAN BEEF DIP
(Karen Earls)

1 lb. ground beef
¾ c. chopped onion
½ clove garlic, minced
½ c. chopped green pepper
8-oz. can tomato sauce
¼ c. catsup
1 tbsp. sugar
¾ tsp. dried oregano, crushed
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
8-oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened
1-3rd c. grated Parmesan cheese

Cook beef, onion, garlic and green pepper in skillet until meat is lightly browned and onion is tender. Stir in tomato sauce, catsup, sugar, oregano, salt and pepper. Simmer for 10 minutes, spoon off excess fat. Remove from heat. Add cream cheese and Parmesan cheese, heating and stirring until it is melted and well-combined. Serve warm. Makes 3 cups.

SAUSAGE CHEESE BALLS
By DAWN UNDERWOOD

½ lb. sausage
2 c. biscuit mix
2 tbsps. water
⅛ tsp. pepper
8 ozs. grated cheddar cheese

Brown sausage in skillet stirring often and drain thoroughly on absorbent paper. In large bowl mix biscuit mix, water and pepper thoroughly. Blend in grated cheese and drained sausage. Form into 1-inch balls. Bake on lightly greased cookie sheet at 375 degrees for 15 minutes until golden brown. Makes 5 dozen.

DANISH SWEET BREAD
By DONNA JAMES

1 cake compressed yeast or 1 pkg. dry yeast
½ c. lukewarm water
1¼ c. scalded milk
¾ c. butter
½ c. sugar
1 tsp. salt
4 c. flour, sifted
2 eggs
¾ c. blanched almonds, halved (optional)
¾ c. white seeded raisins (optional)
Powdered sugar
½ c. brown sugar
½ c. heavy cream
1 tsp. cinnamon
½ c. nuts

Soften yeast in the lukewarm water.

To the scalded milk add the butter, sugar and salt, stirring until the butter is melted. Cool to lukewarm. Add 1 cup of flour. Add the eggs, one at a time, beating after each addition. Stir in the yeast. Add the remaining sifted flour to the mixture and beat hard from 3 to 7 minutes (an essential step because this dough is not kneaded).

Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled in bulk, about 1½ hours.

Butter the pan, sprinkle brown sugar on bottom. Add cream, cinnamon, and nuts. Spoon batter over it. Let rise until doubled in size, about 1 hour.

Bake in a preheated 350 degrees oven for about 50 minutes, or until the top is browned. Let cool about 5 minutes, then turn out of pan upside down. Sprinkle with powdered sugar. The powdered sugar will make an attractive design on the almond-covered top if you sift it first, then lay a paper doily over the top of the bread, shake the sugar through the small holes in the doily, and carefully remove the doily.

OPTIONAL: Place almonds in the bottom of a well-greased mold or tube pan. Stir batter down and blend in the raisins if used. Spoon the batter into a pan or mold. Cover and let rise until doubled in size, about 1 hour.

APRICOT SALAD
By SHELLIE PETERSON

15-oz. can crushed pineapple
12-oz. can apricot nectar
½ c. water
6-oz. pkg. lemon gelatin
1 c. miniature marshmallows
2 lg. bananas, sliced
1 c. chopped pecans

Drain pineapple, reserve juice for topping. Combine apricot nectar and water in saucepan; bring to boil. Add gelatin, and stir to dissolve. Stir in pineapple, marshmallows and bananas. Add pecans. Pour into shallow 2-quart dish, and chill until firm. Cover with topping; refrigerate. Yield: 8 to 10 servings.

TOPPING

3 tbsps. all-purpose flour
½ c. sugar
1 egg, beaten
½ c. reserved pineapple juice
3-oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened

Combine flour and sugar in small saucepan; add egg and pineapple juice, mixing well. Bring to boil over low heat, stirring constantly. Cook and stir until smooth and thickened. Remove from heat; add cream cheese, and beat until smooth. Cool before spreading over gelatin mixture.

RHUBARB CHEESECAKE
By PAULA KAY ALLEN

Crumb Crust:
1½ c. graham or Zwieback cracker crumbs
¾ tsp. ground cinnamon
1-3rd c. sugar
6 tbsps. butter or margarine, melted

Mix till crumbly. Press crumbs on bottom and about 1½ inches up the sides of a buttered 9-inch springform pan. Chill crumb crust thoroughly.

Filling:
3 well-beaten eggs
2 8-oz. pkgs. cream cheese, softened
1 c. sugar
2 tsps. vanilla
½ tsp. ground nutmeg
¼ tsp. salt
3 c. dairy sour cream

In a large bowl combine eggs, cream cheese, 1 cup sugar, vanilla, nutmeg, and salt; beat till smooth. Blend in sour cream. Pour into cooled Crumb Crust. Bake at 375 degrees just till set. 40-45 minutes. (Filling will be soft) Cool.

Topping:
1 c. fresh or frozen rhubarb, cut in 1 in. pieces
1-3rd c. sugar
½ c. water
1 tbsp. cornstarch
Dash salt
2 tbsps. cold water
7 or 8 drops red food coloring
2 c. fresh strawberries, halved (or frozen)

In saucepan, combine rhubarb, 1-3rd cup sugar, and ½ cup water. Bring to boil; reduce heat. Simmer, uncovered till almost tender, about 1 min., being careful not to break up rhubarb. Remove from heat. Drain, reserving syrup. Add water to syrup to equal ¾ cup. Mix cornstarch, dash salt, and 2 tablespoons cold water. Add to syrup mixture. Cook and stir till thick and bubbly, cook 1 minute more. Remove glaze from heat; stir in food coloring. Cool to room temperature.

Arrange strawberries and rhubarb on cooled cheesecake. Spoon glaze over the top. Cover and chill. Makes 12 servings.

MEXICAN PINATA SALAD
By SCOTT UNDERWOOD

1 lb. ground beef
1 med. onion
4 med. tomatoes
1 lg. head lettuce
8 ozs. grated cheddar cheese
1 can (15 ozs.) Ranch Style beans
1 pkg. (6-oz.) tortilla chips
2 lg. avocados
½ tsp. salt
½ c. French dressing

Brown ground beef in skillet and drain thoroughly on absorbent paper. In large salad bowl, chop the onion, three tomatoes and lettuce. Do not toss. Rinse Ranch Style beans through a sieve and drain thoroughly. Add grated cheese, drained beans and one chopped avocado to salad bowl mixture.

Crush tortilla chips, reserving some whole for decoration. Just before serving, add drained ground beef, crushed tortilla chips and salt.

Toss the salad. Pour on French dressing and decorate with one avocado and one tomato cut in wedges and reserved tortilla chips.

Cowboys paid $25,000

DENVER, Colo. — Pro rodeo cowboys kicked off the new year winning nearly $25,000 at the Sand Hills Hereford and Quarter Horse Show rodeo in Odessa and this week they're heading for Denver to compete in the National Western rodeo, which begins Friday.

The Odessa rodeo ended Saturday, and biggest single winner was James Ward of Odessa, who took first in the single go-round of bull riding with an 80 score for $1,425.

Willard Moody of Wynnewood, Okla., won first in calf roping for $1,396. He placed in both go-rounds and emerged first in the "average" payoff with 18.1 seconds on two calves.

Fastest time of the contest was turned in by Tom Ferguson of Miami, Okla., reigning world all around champion in the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association. Ferguson won first in the second go-round with a time of 8.3 seconds.

Byron Walker of Palmer, Tex., took first in the average in steer wrestling with a total time of 9.7 seconds on two runs, winning $1,259. Dan Ackley of Kuna, Ida., posted the fastest time, 4.0 seconds in the second round.

Reigning world champion saddle bronc rider Monty Henson of Mesquite, Tex., won first in his specialty with a 75 score for $924, and Rusty Riddle of Weatherford, Tex., took first in bareback riding with a 74 for $963.

The Denver rodeo offers top contestants from throughout North America, $176,000 in prize money, and will run through Jan. 23.

Also in Denver this week is the PRCA's annual convention, held at Stouffer's Inn. Hundreds of rodeo committeemen and officials began meeting Monday to line up much of pro rodeo for 1977, and will continue to meet through Thursday.

Banker honored at Peking event

TOKYO (AP) — Chase Manhattan Bank chairman David Rockefeller was guest of honor at a banquet in Peking given by the Chinese People's Institute of Foreign Affairs, Peking's official Hsinhua news agency reported.

Hsinhua said Rockefeller arrived in the Chinese capital Wednesday at the invitation of the institute.

HELLO CR FANS — Jana Porter will be the "Hello Dolly" in this year's celebration of ten years in the Campus Review '77. Performances will be nightly Jan. 20, 21 and 22 and again on Jan. 27, 28 and 29. Tickets are on sale by calling the band hall at the high school. All seats are reserved.

Search for grain dealer switches from sea to land

PORT ARANSAS, Tex. (AP)—Nueces County officials said Wednesday they are still looking for a grain dealer who reportedly drowned after falling off a pleasure cruiser, but this time they are searching on land.

Robert Johnson, 41, was reported missing Jan. 3 after several companions gave conflicting reports on how he fell overboard in the Gulf of Mexico near here while returning from a fishing trip.

"We are looking everywhere," said Port Aransas Police Chief DeWayne Matthews. "As you know, at this time, we don't have a body. Normally, it doesn't take this long for one to wash ashore."

Since his disappearence, state agriculture inspectors have discovered that several hundred thousand bushels of wheat stored in Johnson's grain elevators are missing.

Officials also said Johnson had cashed $100,000 in cashier checks a few days before his disappearance. Court records also indicated he had two suits pending against him in federal court in connection with his grain enterprises.

Matthews said the search is still concentrated in the Port Aransas area. However, Nueces County Constable Ben Cash, who has spearheaded the investigation, left town late Tuesday night and is not expected back until late Saturday or early Sunday, according to a member of Cash's staff.

Memorial services for the 41-year-old Johnson have been scheduled for 4 p.m. Friday in the North Central Texas town of Iowa Park.

Lamb County courthouse 'family' discussing $13,000 janitor

LITTLEFIELD — A janitor in the Lamb County courthouse here who is paid $13,000 is the subject of much discussion among members of the county commission.

Several officials in the courthouse say they and their co-workers do much of the janitorial work in their particular areas.

The absence of a spirit of cooperation between the maintenance man and the people who work in the courthouse has been pointed out by several of the officials.

The disparity in pay for the maintenance personnel and office aides is also a bone of contention within the county's "family."

Garden City trustees to eye swim pool plan

GARDEN CITY — The Garden City school board will meet at 8 p.m. Monday and will consider a purchase of property as well as the possibility of obtaining a swimming pool for the district.

The board of trustees will discuss the possibility of purchasing two houses to be used as teacherages. They also will hear a report on the possibilities of the state funding half of a swimming pool cost for Garden City on a grant which has been approved by the Permian Basin Regional Planning Council.

If obtained, the school would pay the second half and it will be used by the entire community.

The board also is to hear a report from Supt. Don Stringer on the accreditation process which the school is undergoing at this time, and a report on bids for reheating the school gymnasium. The board will also make a personnel adjustment at its Monday meeting.

Ector County births decline

ODESSA — Ector County births last year totaled 1,978, compared to 2,059 recorded the preceding year.

Deaths showed an increase in the county. A total of 714 were recorded in the county clerk's office, compared to 689 in 1975.

Skyriders 4X4 Club to meet

The Skyriders 4X4 Club will have its first meeting of 1977 at the home of Leon Alfano, 187-A Hunter, Friday.

The club, formed for the purpose of promoting and enjoying four-wheeling, has members in Odessa, Midland and Big Spring and alternately meets in each town. Anyone who owns a four-wheel-drive vehicle and would like to join the fun and fellowship is invited to attend. Meetings are on the second and fourth Fridays of each month. Anyone wishing further information in Big Spring can call 263-8950 or write Karen Parry, 185-B Hunter.

Registration at UTPB tips

Off-campus courses of the University of Texas of the Permian Basin will hold registration in Big Spring 6 to 9 p.m. today and again Monday.

Registration in Big Spring will take place at the Howard College Vocational Education Building.

Personnel from the university will be present to assist with the registration.

Governor's wife hurt

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Gale Thomson, wife of Gov. Meldrim Thomson, has been injured in an accident at Lon Mountain ski area in Lincoln.

A governor's aide said Mrs. Thomson broke her shoulder in a fall recently and would have her arm in a sling for about three weeks.

She was treated at Lynwood Medical Center in Lincoln after her fall and was later placed under the care of a Concord physician, the aide said.

Flower of 'reform' blooms

By OMAR BURLESON
M.C., 17th District, Texas

WASHINGTON, D.C. — With this first release of the year and the beginning of the 95th Congress, perhaps it is well to explain again that this is not meant to be a professional effort. The purpose is an attempt to maintain as close as possible a relation between a large Constituency and their Representative in Washington.

Not long ago, the 17th District was composed of 12 counties and 290,000 people. The Congress was not continuously in session as it has been in the last several years and continues to be almost constantly. Today there are 33 counties with approximately 467,000 people which makes it impossible to keep the sort of personal relationship which should exist under our system of representative government.

The purpose of the past has been an attempt to discuss those things not usually a matter of daily mention in the news media. It is intended to be a background of events, either past or present, and opinions of what may occur in the immediate future.

The congress has just opened with its usual ceremonies and, until now, all time has been consumed by caucuses of both political parties and general organization.

Probably at no time does the flower of "reform" bloom more fully in the Washington garden than at the present. The snows seem only to nourish it. Some of the buds which appeared two years ago have faded but others take their place. It seems that the term "reform" is assumed to be for the better, but some might be more correctly defined as just change. At the beginning of the last Congress seventy-five new Democrats were conditioned to the idea that there should be many changes and that experience is an excuse for control and authority. In this Congress just beginning, another 47 new Democratic members have arrived. More changes are demanded — some good — some probably not so good. There are not many things which cannot be improved upon and the best system has some faults about it. Times demand change but not necessarily alone for the sake of change.

The Congress is very much like a corporation. In fact, it is the biggest corporation in the world and represents over 200,150,000 people who are affected by what it does. It should have the most experience and dedicated individuals to be found anywhere to conduct the affairs of the nation. It is called "representative" because members come from every corner of the nation but with wide varying interests. To arrive at legislation those interests many times must be legislatively compromised in order to achieve anything. None can have his own way entirely.

Probably at no time in our history has the Congress faced more challenges than at the present time. The incompatibility of inflation and recession at the same time creates unprecedented problems — coping with one can easily further complicate the other.

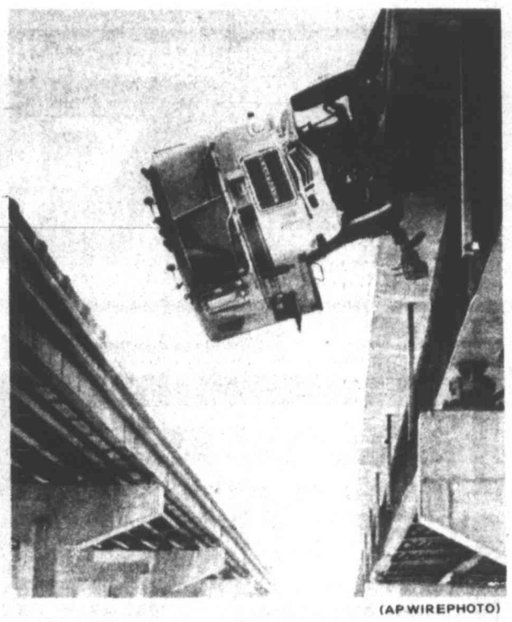

Queen plans Ottawa visit

OTTAWA, Canada (AP) — Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip will visit Ottawa this fall as part of celebrations commemorating the silver jubilee of the Queen's ascent to the British throne, the government says.

The visit announced Wednesday is expected to be in October or November and for a duration of about four days.

It was not immediately known if other members of the royal family would accompany the Queen and her husband.

Prince Charles, who heads the Queen's silver jubilee celebrations, is to visit Calgary in July during the annual Calgary Stampede.

DANGLING PRECARIOUSLY — This was the view from below of a semi-truck that crashed on a bridge spanning the Mississippi River in Minneapolis Tuesday morning and dangled over icy waters until rescued. The city's morning rush hour traffic was snarled with vehicles skidded in sub-zero temperatures, resulting in numerous accidents.

Water unit to hear talk by Hightower

LUBBOCK — U.S. Rep. Jack Hightower will be one of the featured speakers at the 10th Annual Membership Meeting of Water, Inc., scheduled Feb. 19 in Lubbock.

More than 300 Water, Inc., members and guests are expected for the yearly gathering. Hightower will headline a program that addresses the unique water problems of the High Plains as Water, Inc. completes a decade of work toward meeting the area's future water needs.

Water, Inc., President J. W. Buchanan of Dumas said the non-profit organization has served the High Plains well during its 10-year life. "Through the efforts of Water, Inc., residents of the High Plains are acutely aware of our problem and are better educated about water needs than most poeple in other sections of the state."

Water, Inc. is a non-profit organization which seeks alternative water resources for the High Plains area. The organization's public education efforts are supported by donations from more than 2,200 members.

Buchanan said of the annual meeting, "This is the one opportunity for all of our members to gather and show their support for the Water, Inc., cause. With the legislature in session and a revision of the Texas Water Plan likely, it is important for residents of the High Plains to steadfastly exhibit their solid support and unity so that Austin can't help but look favorably upon our needs."

Book smoking, weight class

The Department of Continuing Education will offer a smoking control class and a weight controll class both beginning January 17. The one-hour class will also meet on January 19, 24, 26, 31, and February 7, 14, and 21. The weight control class meets at 7 p.m. on those dates and the smoking control class meets at 8 p.m.

Dr. Wayne Bonner, Director of the Howard College Office of Counseling and Guidance, will conduct the class sessions both employing behavior modification and relaxation techniques. The classes will meet in Dr. Bonner's office in the Howard College Administration building. The cost per each class participant will be $60 for the weight class and $100 for the smoking class. The size of each class will be limited to five persons.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Rosemary Flores or Herb Johnson at the Howard College Office of Continuing Education, phone 267-6311, extension 66. Specific information regarding the group session may be obtained by calling Dr. Bonner at extension 29.

Adult Education class offered

The Howard College Adult Basic Education, English As A Second Language, and G.E.D. are being offered, and registration is in process.

Students who are already enrolled in the classes should report to their usual classes. Those persons wishing to enroll may do so by contacting the Adult Education Office located in the Howard College Administration Building.

English As A Second Language is a class intended for those persons who wish to speak English or increase their English speaking skills. The Basic Education and G.E.D. classes are designed for those students wishing to learn or increase their reading, language, math and other basic skills and knowledge necessary for successfully obtaining a high school diploma by passing the G.E.D. test.

Currently 165 Adult Education students are enrolled at the Howard College Campus, and 168 students are being served at the Big Spring State Hospital. Coahoma has 24 students, Garden City 18, Big Lake 35, and Forsan is serving 23 students.

A number of Adult Education students have successfully passed the G.E.D. enabling them to obtain their High School Diploma.

Students wishing to enroll or obtain more information may contact Herb Johnson or Rosemary Flores at the Howard College Administration Building, phone 267-6311 Ext. 66.

Evel Knievel inks contract

NEW YORK (AP) — Daredevil Evel Knievel has signed a long-term contract with ABC to perform motorcycle jumps and to serve as a commentator for stunts performed by others.

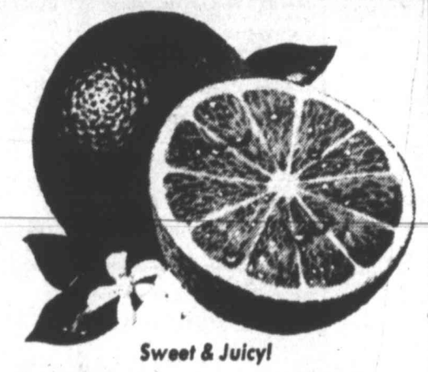

Roon Arledge, president of ABC Sports, said part of the agreement calls for Knievel, 38, to attempt at least one major jump a year to be telecast on the network's "Wide World of Sports."

Another part of the agreement calls for Knievel to deliver commentary on the program for a minimum of three stunts a year performed by others.

'Intolerable' impact in NM

SANTA FE (AP) — Natural gas from old wells in New Mexico's San Juan Basin sells at about 40 cents per thousand cubic feet if it goes out of state, and $1.05 per thousand if it stays in the state.

Gov. Jerry Apodaca has called this regulatory inequity "an intolerable system." It has existed for years, but the gap between interstate and intrastate prices didn't have "intolerable" impact until a Federal Power Commission decision last summer.

Now most legislators coming to Santa Fe for the 1967 session next week agree the state shouldn't be exporting an increasingly valuable natural resource at less than half the price charged its own people.

Further, five times more gas goes out of state at 40 cents than stays in state at $1.05. The interstate pipelines can take it as fast as the sandstone formations release it.

But the utility that buys 90 per cent of the in-state gas, Gas Co. of New Mexico, already takes more than it can sell the state. In warm months the firm dumps gas on the interstate market.

There are enough gas reserves in New Mexico to meet the state's needs for at least 100 years. But everybody agrees trying to put the interstate pipelines out of business would be like trying to secede from the union.

So the state's known interstate reserves will be depleted in 10 years, mathematically speaking.

New Mexicans will still have gas long after that in communities served by intrastate pipelines because Gas Co. has long-term contracts with producers.

Gas Co. has argued for years it must pay more for long-term contracts. Otherwise, the well owners would sell for quick money to the fast-take interstate pipelines.

One thing the adversaries who will argue about gas prices before the 1977 legislature can agree on is this: New Mexico would get a fair deal in a free gas market. But the chances of total federal deregulation or even an end to the FPC's tiered pricing system look slim.

The system benefits the consumers of the politically powerful nonproducing states, and New Mexico is only one of four major producing states.

What the FPC has done is hold down prices for gas from older wells — the basic supply for the interstate pipelines. It has compromised with the producers by lifting the lid on price controls from new wells.

The new price was set at $1.42 last summer with an automatic increase of one cent every three months.

The problem in New Mexico is that Gas Co. contracts are tied to the highest interstate price, which explains the growing inequity.

Oil workers bargaining

DENVER (AP) — With contract settlement of last week with Gulf resettled, the union representing 60,000 oil workers is turning its attention to the rest of the industry.

Hours after a dispute over pensions with Gulf was resolved Wednesday, officials of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union announced settlements on two-year contracts with Atlantic Richfield, including a pipeline subsidiary, and four smaller companies.

"We do feel there is progress being made toward additional settlements," union spokesman Jerry Archuleta said.

Union President A. F. Grospiron emerged from a meeting with members of the union's policy argaining committee to announce the dispute with Gulf, which broke out over the weekend, was over.

"We now have a complete and full understanding with Gulf Oil Corp. on the pension item," he said.

Archuleta said the agreement represented a compromise between the company and the union and would provide expanded eligibility as well as increased benefits while granting a company request that leave and strike time not count toward pension credits.

Hours before a possible strike deadline last Friday midnight, the union accepted a contract offer from Gulf as a pattern settlement for some 400 other contracts. But the dispute over pension caused Grospiron to raise again the possibility of a strike.

"We'll go back to the bargaining tables now," Archuleta said. "We now have a complete and full understanding. This the Gulf contract again is our pattern settlement."

Mexican oil reserves cited

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico announced Wednesday that it has proven oil reserves of 11 billion barrels and will seek to have the figure certified by international experts.

The figure was revealed by Hector R. Lara Sosa, a chemical engineer and deputy director of industrial production for the state-owned oil monopoly Petroleos Mexicanos (PEMEX).

"The current administration has decided that the Mexican Petroleum Institute, in collaboration with a specialized firm that enjoys prestige among the most important banks of the world, will certify the figure of 11 billion barrels that Petroleos Mexicanos has noted," Lara Sosa said in a speech delivered to the Mexican Institute of Chemical Engineers in Monterrey and distributed to the press her by PEMEX.

Lara Sosa did not name the firm which will be asked to confirm the reserves.

Mexican officials have been reluctant to disclose how much petroleum the country has, leading to speculative estimates varying from 6.3 billion barrels to a 75 billion figure that Washington columnist Jack Anderson reported was included in an alleged super-secret Central Intelligence Agency report.

Lara Sosa noted that PEMEX had announced in December that its budget during President Jose Lopez Portillo's six-year term of office would be $45 billion, of which $15.5 billion would go into new investments.

He said this compared with a budget for the 1971-76 administration of President Luis Echeverria of $10.3 billion and $2.88 billion in investments.

"Such a high investment is due to a radical change in petroleum policies," he said, based on the proven reserves, a short-term outlook for increasing them, and recently discovered oil fields.

Dawson wildcat eyed

Oil activity continues to increase in both Dawson and Martin Counties.

A wildcat, a re-entry and two confirmations are slated in Dawson County and a project is scheduled in Martin County.

Reserve Oil Inc., Midland, will drill the No. 1 Cofek-Middleton as a 12,750-foot wildcat ¾ mile northeast of 12,080-foot production in the Wells (Devonian) field of Dawson County, five miles west of Lamesa.

Location is 600 feet from the south and 500 feet from the west lines of 20-4 Taylor CSL.

J. C. Snyder and Tucker and Heath of Midland will re-enter and deepen to 10,500 feet at the former Advance Oil and Gas Co., Inc. and Imperial-American Management No. 1 Graham, 8,500-foot Pennsylvanian wildcat failure in the Felken (multipay Spraberry) field of Dawson County, 16 miles northeast of Lamesa. It is the No. 2-A Graham. It was abandoned Nov. 24, 1969.

Location is 660 feet from the south and 1,980 feet from the east lines of 9-1-J. Poitevent.

It is two miles north and slightly west of Sun Oil Co. No. 1 Dean, a 10,201-foot failure abandoned April 14, 1953 which topped the Woodford at 10,138 feet on elevation of 2,845 feet and 2¼ miles northeast of H. Garrett No. 1 Wright, a 10,618-foot failure, abandoned March 6, 1959, which topped the Siluro-Devonian at 10,315 feet; Mississippian, 10,004 feet and Ellenburger, 10,055 feet on elevation of 2,857 feet.

Miller Exploration Co., Midland, will drill the No. 1 C. L. Turnbow as a ¾ mile south and very slightly east outpost to the two-well Milagro (Fusselman) field of Dawson county, three miles southwest of Patricia.

Location is 660 feet from the north and west lines of 17-262 Borden CSL. Contract depth is 12,200 feet.

Petroleum Exploration and Development Funds, Inc., Midland, will drill the No. 1 Brown, an 8,400-foot Spraberry test, ⅝ mile southwest of dual Spraberry and Mississipian production in the Lamesa, West field of Dawson County, three miles southwest of Lamesa.

Location is 660 feet from the north and west lines of 23-36-5n-T&P. The field currently has six Spraberry wells.

J.C. Williamson and R.E. Williamson, Midland, will drill the No. 1-A Wolcott, a 12,100-foot Devonian test, between the two producers in a 5½ mile northwest extension area of the RK (Devonian) field of Martin County, 10 miles northwest of Tarzan.

Location is 5,192 feet from the north and 660 feet from the west lines of 251-Ward CSL.

TOM SHERRILL

Sherill retires from Exxon

Thomas J. Sherrill retired from Exxon Company, U.S.A. recently with 30 years of service. He was assigned as maintenance foreman in the Midland District, Mid-continent Production Division, and was located in Forsan.

In 1946, he joined the company as a roustabout in Eunice, N.M. That same year, a transfer took him to production field assignments in the Forsan area.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherrill will continue to make their home near Big Spring.

At a dinner held recently in his honor, he was presented retirement awards by District Operations Superintendent Joe Barthel of Midland. The dinner party was held in Big Spring.
