New Wave Of Terror Opens On Patriots

Gestapo Presses Vicious Campaign

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 31. — The German Gestapo pressed a ferocious new wave of terror in France, Holland and Belgium today with mass shootings and arrests of the patriots on whom Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has called to assist his coming liberation armies.

This ruthless blood-letting, reported by the French press service in London, offered new evidence of possible jitters within the armed fortress of Europe and contrasted sharply with the calm confidence evidenced in this invasion base. The British press gave prominent headlines to the WPB report that the United States was producing a plane every five minutes and to Navy Secretary Forrestal's announcement that there now were enough landing craft to carry the entire invasion Army over the waters to Hitler's Europe. Both articles were significantly noted by the public.

Area "Completely Ravaged"

The French underground reported the "complete ravaging" of the Dordogne department when the Nazis surrounded the town of Riberac and "piled into trucks 100 Frenchmen from whom nothing more has been heard."

"All inhabitants found on the road leading to Rieberac were shot on the spot," the report said, "and the Germans set fire to a forest where many people were gathering wood. They burned alixe."

The same day the account contained, 26 hostages were shot at Brantome and the bodies were left in the public square 24 hours. At St. Quentin 27 persons were slain in reprisal for shooting the collaborationist mayor. In Belgium, 20 were slain for an attempt on the lives of two Walloon Quislings, the Belgium News agency reported.

Dutch Executions

The number of Dutch patriots executed by German authorities in occupied Holland in the last week reached a total of 18 today with the reported execution of two more persons for "sabotage."

The pre-invasion traffic jam on England's narrow winding roads was reflected in a highway casualty report which showed a more than 10 per cent increase of persons killed and injured in April over the same month in 1943, which itself was 10 per cent above the last pre-war April. Casualties for April totalled 10,497, which were 1,743 more than April, 1943.

VICTORY'S CONTRIBUTION—Victory, a registered Red Polled cow and the quads she recently produced, are bringing cattlemen from a wide area around Clinton, Okla., to the farm of Martin Chitty, jr., Victory's owner. Big Shot Fascists Avoiding Capture

Mussolini Moguls Flee Ahead Of Allies Largely From Fear Of Their Own People

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY IN THE LEPINI MOUNTAINS, May 31.—Not a single important Fascist has been captured in the current Allied offensive for the simple reason that the local moguls of Mussolini's Fascist "republic" are going northward well ahead of the German Army.

If the conduct of these dignitaries runs true to form, not many will be found in Rome when the Allies enter.

It is not that they are so afraid of what the occupying Army might do to them, but rather that in these mountain towns they have been more worried over the possible interim between the departure of the Germans and the arrival of the Americans, giving the towns people a brief opportunity to settle scores.

Forced Into Fascism

"Oh, yes, we find Fascist officials in these towns, but we never find important Fascists," said an Allied Military government officer who has inaugurated a new regime in half a dozen Lepini mountain towns, "and the ones we find say they were Fascists only because they had to be Fascists to hold their jobs."

The hilltop town of Cori offers one of the most serious present problems in this area. It was the center of considerable German military activity and was therefore bombed eight times by the Allies and badly wrecked. Its own population, which fled to the countryside to live in caves, has not yet returned.

Refugees Are Fed

But 10,000 refugees from the Artena and Velletri areas, where the battle is raging, are in Cori. They were fed by the AMG today —each got flour and dried pea soup with canned milk for the

Miller Freed In Capital Slaying

Jury Out Little More Than Hour

WASHINGTON, May 31. (AP)—A jury acquitted Robert I. Miller tonight of a charge of murder in the "love triangle" slaying of Dr. John E. Lind, noted psychiatrist.

The eleven men and one woman on the jury deliberated one hour and seventeen minutes before returning the verdict which held the 67-year-old attorney blameless when he shot Lind last February as the psychiatrist sat in an automobile on a downtown street with Mrs. Miller beside him.

Shows No Emotion

The white-haired defendant received the verdict without any show of emotion and gravely thanked the jurors. Mrs. Miller, who was a witness for the defense, was not in the courtroom when the verdict was returned.

The court had left open to the jury any verdict from first degree murder with the death penalty, to acquittal or acquittal by reason of insanity.

The case went to the jury after closing arguments in which the defense pictured Miller as a man broken by his wife's infidelity, and the prosecution described him as a calculating kidder who plotted coldly how to slay and go free.

Slain Man Called "Sadist"

H. Mason Welch, attorney for the lawyer described the slain man, who was 57, as a "sadist" who "used his God-given talents strictly and solely as tools of the devil." He said Miller was driven to distraction by failure to break up an affair between his 42-year-old wife and the psychiatrist. The latter, he said, "Knew more how to seduce a woman than any other creature walking on God's earth."

United States Attorney Daniel B. Maher asserted Miller's reactions to the offense was that "he wanted to be the judge and the jury, and his own executioner."

Only One Thing Wrong

Asserting Miller plotted the killing for days, Maher said the only thing that went wrong was that Miller did not have time to remove from its envelope the pistol found beside Lind's body.

The Psychiatrist was shot in his automobile on a downtown street Feb. 21, just after Mrs. Miller had entered the car. The government charges that Miller planted the second weapon to back a sel defense plea. Miller's defense claimed Lind threatened to shoot him and made a gesture as though reaching for a gun.

Strauss Named Deputy By K. C.

AUSTIN, May 31. (AP)—Gus J. Strauss of Austin was unanimously re-elected state deputy of the Knights of Columbus and Amarillo was selected as the site for the next convention by the organization here today.

Taylor also bid for the next convention.

At the closing session, Pat Tynan of Port Neches, chairman of the special projects committee, urged war bond buying upon the membership as an act of "Christian charity and war service," and characterized blood gifts as "invasion donations."

Other officers elected were George A. Nicoud of Dallas, secretary; Herbert Muerer of Muenster, treasurer; William M. Ryan, of Houston, state advocate; J. C. Farmer of Waco, warden.

Convention Delegates

Insurance delegates named to the supreme convention in Toronto were: the Rev. Paul Charcut of Pilot Point; San Liberto of San Antonio; L. N. Landry of Port Arthur. Associate delegates were the Rev. James P. Gibbons and James P. Nash of Austin.

Past State Deputy F. J. Kinane of Austin and Strauss were ex-officio delegates and alternates in the various categories were:

C. K. Walsh of Wichita Falls; Al Lopez of Galveston; J. M. Fisher and Jose Ontiveros of Corpus Christi; John Peninger of Austin; C. A. Townsend, jr., of Mission; William P. Higgins of Fort Worth.

Greetings in behalf of the hierarchy of Texas were brought to the convention by the Most Rev. M. S. Garriga, bishop of Sienne and coadjutor bishop of the Corpus Christi diocese.

Coal Mines Go Back To Owners

WASHINGTON, May 31. (AP) — Secretary Ickes today returned to private ownership coal mines producing 60 per cent of the nation's bituminous coal.

He declared that management and labor "are now on trial to prove to the nation that they can fulfill wartime responsibilities under their own power."

Today's action left in the government's possession only the anthracite mines, the mines of the Southern Coal Producers' association, and certain scattered operations on which word is awaited as to execution of new wage contract recently approved by the War Labor board.

Seized 13 Months Ago

The turnback came thirteen months after 3,000 mines were seized by the government because they were paralyzed by a strike.

The bituminous mines restored to their owners will put the new wage contract into effect immediately.

Release of the anthracite mines awaits ratifications of a new contract by special convention to be called by the United Mine Workers.

Ickes said that during the 13 months of government possession all previous production records were broken; half a million miners attained the greatest pre-man productivity of all time; bituminous coal production reached 1,500 tons per man, compared with 1,270 in 1942.

Extensive Sweeps Made On Kuriles; Carolines Lashed

Fighting On Biak Settles Into Patrol Skirmishes After Japs Repulsed Twice

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

AMERICAN bombers took up the gauntlet against Japan's defenses, with the most extensive sweeps ever made against the Kuriles and a triple blow at the Carolines, as fighting for new air bases on Biak island in the Southwest Pacific dwindled to artillery exchanges and patrol activity.

South Pacific bombers swept Truk, Woleai and Satawan islands on the Caroline Central Pacific road to the Philippines while Army and Navy bombers hit the northern approaches to Tokyo in the Kuriles.

Japs Repulsed Twice

Two more stiff Japanese counterattacks were repulsed on Biak before action lapsed into a consolidation of positions. Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today that 679 dead Nipponese had been counted up to Memorial day. He did not mention American casualties. On Biak they have run into the stiffest opposition in the Southwest Pacific campaign.

Four Kurile islands were bombed Monday—the most that have been attacked on the northern invasion route in a single day. The raids ranged from Shimushiri, 1,000 miles from Tokyo, to Shumushu, northernmost of the island chain. The Paramushiro naval base and Matsuwa also were hit.

Attack Near Yellow Sea

Tokyo radio reported two P-51 fighter planes attempted to attack Japanese installations northwest of Peiping, within 75 miles of the Yellow Sea. If true, this would be the longest fighter stab on the continent toward Tokyo.

Chungking conceded new gains had been made in the newest Japanese drive to cut off American air bases near Japan and to slice China in two.

Enemy columns advancing down the Hangkow-Canton railway breached Milo river defenses and prepared for another crossing. The Milo river is the second line of defense for Changsha, 45 miles to the south and the main obstacle in the Japanese path.

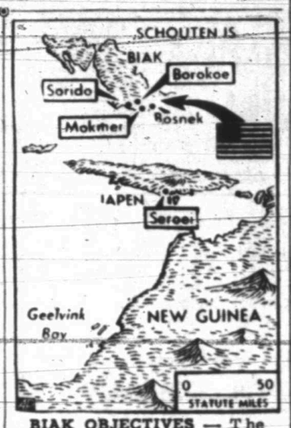

Troops protecting the main body's eastern flank pressed 11 miles beyond captured Tungcheng. On the western flank the Nipponese seized Kuingan, on the northern fringe of China's central "rice bowl."

To the north a Chinese counter-drive, Chungking said, carried into the outskirts of Paofeng in Honan province, overrun by Tokyo's soldiers in their first recent push to remove potential air bases nearest to Tokyo.

War of Supply

American planes were active over the southwest China and Burma fronts where a war of supply was being fought between monsoon rains. Both planes and Chindit jungle fighters returned to harassing the Mandalay-Myitkyina railway. An Allied spokesman said it was inconceivable that Tokyo could use the rail line to supply any of its three isolated North Burma bases — Myitkyina, Mogaung or Kamaing.

Chinese troops seized a village in the southwest China mountains as they resumed their drive toward Waiten and the Tengueh base guarding the Burma road. The road itself, now used as a Japanese supply line, was blocked by Liberator bombs.

BIAK OBJECTIVES — The battle for three airdromes on Biak island, in the Schouten group off New Guinea, settled to patrol activity Tuesday, after Monday's tank battle when the Japs were defeated. A showdown for the three bases—Mokmer, Sorido and Borokoe, is expected soon.

Army Social Diseases Said At Lowest Ebb

JUAREZ, Mexico, May 31. (AP)—Dr. J. R. Heller, assistant surgeon-general of the United States, said today that social diseases in the American army are at the lowest ebb in history and the lowest of any army in any country in the world.

Speaking before the annual meeting of the United States-Mexican Border Health association, Dr. Heller said that "much of the success in controlling these diseases is due to cooperation of civilian groups with the Army in repressing prositution."

Striking Drivers Return To Jobs

(By The Associated Press)

Striking bakery drivers decided yesterday to return to their job in Detroit, while back-to-work efforts took shape in other labor disputes that had affected approximately 50,000 men and women.

James Hoffa, international representative of the AFL Teamsters union, announced the men had voted to resume bread deliveries in Detroit, where about 1,000 of them walked out a week ago to support demands, for increases in their base pay and commissions.

Lumber Industry

Earlier, the War Labor board appealed to Philip Murray, president of the CIO, to assist in bringing about a quick resumption of work in the lumber industry in the Pacific Northwest. Approximately 14,000 CIO adherents remained off duty there, while some of the estimated 26,000 AFL members who had been idle began to return to their tasks.

The WLB also sought to end a strike of 1,900 CIO unionists at Parke Davis and company in Detroit, where the dispute has hampered production of medical supplies for more than a week.

In addition, the WLB directed striking Pennsylvania Greyhound Bus line workers to report for duty immediately. The controversy has involved personnel in the Washington - Baltimore - Scranton section.

Martin J. Walsh, New England director of the United Steel Workers of America (CIO), urged members to go back to their jobs at the American Steel and Wire plant in Worcester, Mass. The unit, employing about 9,000 war workers, was closed.

Strikes of an estimated 450 bakery employes in Toledo, Ohio, and of about 400 others in Cincinnati crimped the bread supplies in those cities.

The bureau of labor statistics in Washington reported the 435 strikes in April represented the highest total for any month since the war began. The May figure was expected to be larger. Mandays idleness during the first four months of 1944 showed an increase of 48 per cent over a corresponding 1943 period, while the number of workers involved rose 16 per cent.

FEPC Dismisses Charge At Dallas, News Not Satisfied

DALLAS, May 31. (AP)—The Dallas News was informed tonight that a complaint filed against that newspaper for publishing a want ad in which it was specified that a colored man was wanted for a job to be filled has been dismissed by the president's committee on fair employment practices.

The FEPC in Washington, considering the Dallas case today, decided that Leonard M. Brin, regional FEPC director at Dallas, acted without authority in citing the News for publishing the ad.

A special dispatch from Washington to the newspaper said that FEPC ruled that newspapers cannot be classed as war industries and that the executive order setting up the FEPC specifically limited the jurisdiction of the committee to war industries.

Malcolm Ross, chairman of FEPC, was quoted as making public the statement of policy adopted by the commitee as result of the News' case, the first of its type to reach the committee itself.

In an editorial, the News will say tomorrow:

"This reply does not touch the real issue as it was raised by the News after receiving the order from the local office of the FEPC. In its first editorial statement, the News said that its own individual case was of small amount. The News spoke for the war industries of Dallas. There are about 75,000 employees in these industries. These industries, Mr. Ross insists, must (1) not mention race or color in advertising for workers, and (2) must not discriminate

Allies Drive Into Rome's Outer Walls

Bitter Struggle Rages At Velletri

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, May 31—American and British troops drove into Rome's outer defenses with increased fury today and smashed through to a point west of Velletri, a key fortress in the Nazis' powerful new mountain line before the Eternal City.

The German radio said "dramatic street fighting" was raging in Velletri itself as Nazi shock troops fought American doughboys for possession of the stronghold, loss of which would seriously disrupt the enemy's plans to make a lengthy stand in the Alban hills.

Near Pope's Summer Home

Allied troops were reported to have reached a point within six miles of the pope's summer home at Castel Gandolfo and within approximately 16 miles of Rome.

British forces driving up from the south, on the coastal flank of the 25-mile battle line before the Italian capital, were edging forward through thick mine fields south of Pescarella Nuova, which is 14 miles due south of the edge of Rome.

Nazi forces entrusted with the immediate job of stemming the Fifth Army's assault until the bulk of Field Marshal Albert Kesselring's 10th Army could be withdrawn from the broken Hitler line, continued to offer desperate resistance all the way from Valmontone to the sea.

Enemy Intends To Hold

An Allied communique said, "it is now clear the enemy intends to hold this line at all costs."

Edward Kennedy of the Associated Press wrote from the fighting front at 6:30 tonight that the Germans were "delaying the Allies as long as possible and making them pay dearly for every inch gained in Italy."

In today's fighting, Kennedy said, American troops broke into Nazi positions between Velletri and Valmontone and occupied points threatening Velletri.

All four key strong-points in the line — Valmontone, Velletri, Lanuvio and Campontone, Velletri, been under fierce assault for several days and fast are being turned into smoking ruins by massed Allied artillery.

Allied officers believe the Germans are prepared to retreat well north of Rome if their present defense line is broken.

Ship Founders; Hundreds Saved

SAN FRANCISCO, May 31. (AP) —More than 1,000 Navy men were rescued from a stricken transport and surrounding waters today after the SS Henry Bergh crashed aground in rain and heavy fog on the Farallon islands 30 miles west of the Golden Gate.

The 12th naval district said there were no reports of casualties.

The 10,500-ton Liberty ship was in-bound from Pacific war theaters when it ran aground just before dawn. The Navy said tonight the ship was badly holed and was breaking into pieces rapidly.

Hundreds In Water

Hundreds of men took to the water in life jackets and on rafts; others made the rocky shores of the small islands visible from the Golden Gate bridge on a clear day. Most of those in life jackets were picked up within an hour. Destroyers and patrol boats under the western sea frontier were busy picking up rafts all day.

By late afternoon, most of the "more than 1000" aboard were at the Navy's receiving station on Treasure island in San Francisco bay.

Distress signals from the Bergh were first heard at 7 a. m. cwt and shore-based craft were dispatched to the scene immediately. The skipper and a skeleton crew remained aboard the ship.

Survivors said the abandonship order was obeyed in orderly fashion.

RAF Smashes Coastal Area

Thunderous Finale Given To Record Allied Month In Air

By W. W. HERCHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Thursday, June 1.—Following up a tremendous daylight aerial assault on Hitler's Europe from the west and south by possibly 3,500 Allied planes, RAF night raiders smashed at the French coast from Calais to Cape Gris Nez early today with its heaviest bombing of the war.

The mightiest blows yet struck at the Nazis' vaunted west-wall reverberated across the channel like an earthquake, echoing through the night with great, repeated blasts.

The targets appeared to be the German long-range guns which often have shelled the Dover district.

Attack Short and Sharp

The noise of this barrage seemed to die as the bombs dropped, touching off great blobs of fire one after another.

The attack, like the four which preceded it in the same region, was as short as it was sharp and a little more than 15 minutes after the blasting began the planes began streaming back to their bases.

Although there was scarcely a breeze over the channel the backfire from the blasts miles away at times felt like giant puffs of warm wind upon the faces of observers.

The newest night assault on the Germans' anti-invasion offenses gave the Nazis an ominous introduction to a new month's aerial campaign within a matter of hours after the Allies had completed a record-breaking sustained air attack in which 148,000 sorties were flown.

Double Blow

The climax to the May operations was another combined maneuver in which bombers from Britain hit German railway centers while planes from Italy struck again at the Ploesti oil fields of Romania.

In skies virtually clear of the enemy and at a cost of one bomber and four fighters, from 750 to 1,000 American heavyweights from Britain pounded crowded railway yards at Hamm, Osnabruck, Schwerte and Soest—transport centers just inside Germany which feed the coastal defense zones.

No Opposition Found

For the fourth consecutive day more than 1,200 fighters flew escort but finding no opposition in the air they swooped down and shot up more than 35 locomotives and aircraft parked on airdromes.

Late in the day Thunderbolt and Lightning fighter-bombers attacking two western German airdromes struck the first sizeable fighter opposition, 30 FW-190s and shot down five without loss to themselves.

There were indications that British night bombers were following up the daylight attacks both from Britain and from Italy.

Russians Report Thousands Slain

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Thursday, June 1 — Large German forces continued to attack fiercely Russian lines north of Iasi in Romania yesterday but were repulsed without advancing "even one step" and left "thousands of dead" on the battlefield, Moscow announced early today.

The enemy's losses were enormous in the series of attacks and counter-attacks which raged throughout the day, the Russians said in the broadcast supplement to their nightly communique.

122 Tanks Knocked Out

Giving an indication of the intensity of the furious air and tank battles which started Tuesday after a six weeks lull on the main eastern front, Moscow reported knocking out 122 German Tanks and shooting down 164 enemy planes in two days of fighting.

The full meaning of the assault, which broke a six weeks lull on the main eastern front, remained obscure. Associated Press correspondent Eddy Gilmore in a dispatch from Moscow said the Soviet press and radio had carried no stories from the front lines and gave no elaboration on the communique.

A Berlin broadcast declared the aim of the German attacks was to improve the German-Romanian positions in the area and this obviously attested to the enemy's intention of making every effort to hold the high Ploesti and Danubian oil fields against an impending Russian drive.

Called "Large Scale"

Berlin called the attacks a "large-scale operation" fully supported by bombers and planes and said the Russians had been driven back from strong fortifications onto the river plain. The Germans did not identify the river by name.

The Soviet communique last night declared that 27 German tanks and 58 planes had been destroyed during the fighting on the second day of the battle and increased the Russian count of the damage inflicted Tuesday to 95 tanks and 106 planes.

The Russian bulletin said there were no changes on other sectors of the front.

German Sub Is Sunk In North Atlantic

LONDON, May 31. (AP)—Sinking of a German submarine in the North Atlantic by the combined action of several Canadian escort vessels was announced today by the admiralty.

The submarine was forced to surface by a series of depth charge attacks and then was engaged in a surface gun duel in which the raider finally was sunk by the destroyer Icarus, the announcement said. A number of submarine's crew were taken prisoner.

Many Workmen Held For Fraud

BOSTON, May 31. (AP) — More than 100 shipyard workers at the Bethlehem-Hingham plant, where vessels are being constructed for the Navy, were arrested today on charges of conspiring to defraud the government.

Federal Bureau of Investigation men termed it "the most extensive war fraud racket of its type uncovered by the FBI."

The arrested men included counters and welders. Boston FBI Chief E. A. Soucy said the former agreed with piece work welders to record false credit while the latter kicked back a share of the wages received for work not done.

Total Half Million

In some cases, Soucy added, individuals received as high as $75 a week extra and government officials believed overpayments would total more than $500,000.

Some of the workers were taken into custody by FBI agents and deputy U. S. marshals as they left the plant this morning. Others were arrested as they reported for the next shift. And still others were taken at their homes.

All day, in small groups, the 137 men arrested so far were taken for arraignment before U. S. Commissioner William C. Rogers and were released in bail ranging from $500 to $1,000 for hearing later.

An extensive investigation of several months preceded the arrests, which were conducted with the cooperation of yard officials.

Story Of Junction Catches Many Reporters Off Guard

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH THE AEF ON THE ITALIAN FRONT, May 25.—(Delayed)— This offensive, moving forward so swiftly that Army intelligence has been hard put to supply sufficient sectionalized men for the various outfits, caught a lot of reporters somewhat off balance today—but their recovery was quick.

No one expected the junction between the beachhead and the southern Fifth Army forces until tomorrow at the earliest.

Consequently, early this morning newsmen of the southern front were standing around the bivouac area, calmly discussing which would be best spot along the combat lines to cover during the day.

Suddenly somebody said the word—"junction!"

It had the same result as if someone had shouted "fire!" in the old newspaper sitting room back home. One minute the area around the tents under the trees was thick with reporters. Next minute there was not a single newspaperman in sight.

The sprint for the junction site was on.

Others More Surprised

There were others nearer the scene who were even more surprised. A mechanized reconnaissance outfit which intended to make the junction from this side was almost there, but the combat engineers who were fixing a crossing for them where the Germans had blown a bridge, had other ideas.

Just before the crossing was ready for the reconnaissance outfit a few of the engineers pushed on ahead—and became the guys who made the historic meeting.

There are rumors along the front that what the reconnaissance said to the combat engineers when they arrived a few moments later would not make good reading for young and innocent ears.

Day Long Remembered

I will remember today for a lot of reasons. For one thing, there was ah almost indescribable atmosphere of acceleration along the entire front.

Lt. Louis E. Ramsey, 21-year-old artillery observation Cub pilot, agreed to fly me up to the junction site and back—"low enough to get a good look at the soldiers."

We went down the main street of Littoria (which wasn't even listed as officially captured until 24 hours later) low enough to look into the second story windows and Ramsey had to lift the Cub's right wing to miss stopping a statue in the city square.

At one point the Mussolini canal paralelled the road. It was about four feet wider than a Cub's wingspread, so with all that space to spare Ramsey never hestiated to fly right down. The result was that we were buzzing along lower than the soldiers on the jeeps on the road.

Everywhere the delighted doughboys cheered and yelled and waved, jerking their arms up and down like engineers yanking the whistle cord of speeding trains.

That's what the Allied offensive in Italy seemed like today, and regardless of the tough times which undoubtedly lie ahead the soldiers everywhere seemed to sense that the train was building up steam.

Two Americans Taken From Portuguese Ship

PHILADELPHIA, May 31. (AP)—A German submarine stopped the Portuguese passenger liner Serpa Pinto carrying refugees in mid-ocean last Friday, took two American citizens prisoners and threatened to torpedo the vessel, the Fourth Naval district announced today.

The submarine crew took all 385 passengers and crewmen off the vessel and then, after they had spent seven to nine hours in lifeboats decided against torpedoing and permitted the vessel to continue to Philadelphia.

The refugees—Europeans bound for Canada—were traveling under the sponsorship of the American Joint Distribution committee.

Three persons lost their lives in the transfer between the Serpa Pinto and lifeboats.

A 16-months-old baby, Beatrice Trapunski, daughter of two refugees from Poland, was one who died.

The others—whose names were not immediately announced—were the ship's doctor and a cook.

The American citizens taken prisoner were Virgilio Magina, 22, New Bedford, Mass., a barber, and Manuel Pinto, 22, Waterbury, Conn., listed as a farmer. Both had been in Portugal for a number of years.

Government Eggs To Be Placed In Feed

WASHINGTON, May 31. (U.P.)—War Food Administrator Marvin Jones said today that government egg purchases have reached such volume that some stocks will be diverted to livestock feed because of inadequate storage facilities.

WFA has bought more than 90,000,000 dozen eggs to prevent a collapse of the market and to support prices at 30 cents a dozen. Jones said the government intends to continue buying but will divert an undisclosed number to feed channels.

Production Of Red Cross Chapter Past Year Is Outstanding

Lubbock County chapter of the American Red Cross closed another year of production activities Wednesday, one of the most successful in the chapter's history. Thousands of surgical dressings, garments and various other items for use by the men in service were prepared and shipped by the chapter.

Hundreds of workers have given their time in making the year's production a record. Generous support financially by the county's citizenship and augmented the production efforts.

Perhaps the most outstanding record was made in surgical dressings and the May quota was completed on May 25 and work has already begun on the June and July quotas.

In the knitting, a total of 1,482 knitted garments were made and shipped by the Lubbock production center. A total of 44 quilts were made and donated to the Red Cross and distributed locally by headquarters. A total of 1,741 kit bags was made and filled by the local center. The bags are sent to ports of embarkation to be given to men embarking for overseas duty.

The sewing room made a total of 18 complete layettes which were distributed to needy cases. Convalescent robes totaling 305 and 305 bedside bags were bought and made during the year. The sewing room also made 32 Red Cross flags which were used in the war fund drive this spring.

A total of 242 pounds of junk jewelry was sent to service men in the Pacific during the year.

Outstanding work was done by the Idalou and Slaton production rooms in surgical dressings. Mrs. W. R. Knowles is to continue as production chairman at Idalou. Mrs. T. A. Turner is to continue in a similar post at Slaton.

The Slaton production room made 160 kit bags and filled them at an approximate cost of $1 a bag. Material was bought and the women made 30 convalescent robes and 30 bedside bags.

Mres. C. P. Carlock is retiring chairman of production of the Lubbock center. She is to be succeeded by Mrs. R. A. Mills.

Funeral Set Today For Farwell Youth

Funeral services will be read for Otis Hurst, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hurst of Farwell, this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Oklahoma Lane community Baptist church, near Farwell. The boy died early Tuesday in the Lubbock General hospital where he had been taken four days before for treatment of meningitis. Rix Funeral home is the director in charge.

The child had suffered the disease 10 days before its admission to the hospital, and was in "extreme conditon" when taken there, a physician said.

Survivors are the parents and five brothers and sisters. The family had lived in the Farwell section 22 years after moving from Oklahoma.

Have a "Coke" = Eto Zdorovo
(HOW GRAND!)

...or making foreign flyers friends

To visiting Russian and British allies it's good news to see fighting planes pouring out of American plants. And it's good to see our flying friends respond to the everyday American invitation Have a "Coke"—a way of saying We're with you. Coca-Cola wins a welcome from those who come from Moscow or Manchester. And in your home, there's always a welcome for "Coke" out of your own refrigerator. Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—has become a symbol of friendliness in many lands.

Father, Two Sons Charged In Bizarre Slaying Of Youth

TULLAHOMA, Tenn., May 31.—(U.P.)—Murder charges were filed today against Roy Yates and his two sons for the slaying of his daughter's schoolboy sweetheart after Yates had brazenly offered a reward of $500 for the slayer.

W. C. O'Lee, chief of the middle Tennessee division of the state highway patrol, said that the girl's story which she told seven hours after the slaying, of a man who killed her companion then raped her was "too fantastic," and caused them to look for someone she was trying to protect.

Clings To Her Story

State police took Yates and his sons, Harold and Dennis, into custody quietly yesterday. The daughter, Ruth Yates, 17, was held as a material witness. After hours of questioning, the father and sons refused to make any statement and the daughter clung to her story.

Officials declined to disclose what discoveries caused them to take the three men into custody. The three were not allowed visitors in the county jail at Nashville.

The three men were whisked to Nashville for "safekeeping," although the threats of mob action which had rippled through this small town while citizens joined in the search for a man answering the girl's description of the slayer vanished when her relatives were arrested.

The girl, held in jail here, sobbed on her cell bunk and refused to talk.

Never Posted Cash

The father had never put up the cash to back his offer of a reward during the 13 days civil and military authorities searched for a soldier, but under prodding by police told them "I'll have the money ready when you get the man."

The girl appeared at police headquarters seven hours after Robert Sherill, 17, a high school senior, had been shot to death on a country road. She said that a scare-faced man stepped out of the darkness as they sat in an automobile, killed the youth with two shots from a pistol, then ravished her several times before forcing her to help conceal the body and drive to a point near an Army camp.

The girl gave a vivid description of all the details of the slaying and attack. She said the scar-faced man was dressed in kahki and wore an overseas cap, but insisted she could not identify him.

Mysterious Auto

Bobby Jernigan, a schoolmate of the slain boy who had accompanied the couple earlier to a motion picture show at nearby Manchester, told police of a mysterious automobile with three occupants that had followed them.

A physician said that the girl might have been intimate with someone in the hours immediately preceding her examination, but that she had not been raped.

Recreational Sports Main Feature Today At Training Course

Important discussions of playground and recreational sports will feature this afternoon's session of the three-day training course for leaders in the summer parks recreational program which gets under way in the American Legion home, 916 Texas avenue, at 9 o'clock this morning, according to Mrs. Grace Dyess, city recreation superintendent.

Playground sports will be discussed by A. C. Hamilton, assistant superintendent, at 1:15 p. m. and recreational sports by Miss Julia Wilbanks, director of women's activities, at 3 o'clock.

The discussions will be followed Friday morning by actual demonstrations in Pioneer (Seventh street) park, starting at 9:15 o'clock. Sessions then will be returned to the Legion home and the training course will be brought to a close at noon Saturday, Mrs. Dyess said.

Anyone interested in volunteer leadership is invited to enroll, she added.

Mrs. Dyess reminded that the formal opening of the summer recreation program is scheduled the morning of Wednesday June 7. The all-day program will include basket picnics and special events in all parks. Attempts are being made to arrange a night program for that day, perhaps a band concert, but whether this can be done still is uncertain.

Texans Rack Up Triple Air-Kill In Dogfights

LONDON, May 31, (AP)—Capt. Robert Becker, Hollydale, Calif., scored a triple air-kill yesterday as American fighters — battling Nazi airmen in dogfights raging from 35,000 feet to the "deck"—knocked 58 German planes out of the sky.

Becker is a member of an Eighth Air Force Mustang group led by Major Irwin Dregne of Viroqua, Wis., which reported the day's biggest bag—17 aloft and one on the ground.

Single air kills: Lt. James Scott, 411 Sixth street, Brownwood, Texas.

Two planes were claimed by: Capt. James Noble, Howe, Grayson county, Texas.

Berlin Claims Allied Convoy Is Attacked

LONDON, May 31. (AP) — The Berlin radio asserted today that German planes had attacked an eastbound Allied convoy off Algeria last night, sinking one transport and two freighters totaling 23,000 tons.

The broadcast also declared that six other vessels totaling 50,000 tons were heavily damaged.

There was no Allied confirmation of the attack or the German claims.

Smith's Slaying Case Reversed

AUSTIN, May 31. (AP)—Because the state failed to establish that Mrs. Hazel Weeks of San Angelo was slain by Charles Edward Smith, 46-year-old itinerant painter, the Lampasas county conviction and 38-year sentence againts Smith was reversed today by the court of criminal appeals.

Mrs. Weeks' body, decomposed and with the head severed from the torso, was found in a ravine adjacent to a roadside park near Lampasas on Oct. 21, 1941. The state alleged her death occurred about Sept. 24, 1941.

The appellate court said trial testimony showed that Mrs. Weeks was infatuated with Smith; that their views coincided on religious questions; that Mrs. Weeks left her family which included several children and joined Smith and his wife, refusing to return to her own family.

Woman Died In Jail

Mrs. Smith was also indicted in the death of Mrs. Weeks but Mrs. Smith died in jail.

Smith made two statements to officers before his trial. The appellate court said that considering the two statements and to "put the state's case in its most favorable light," it proved only that Smith struck Mrs. Weeks "with his fist pretty hard," but when she was left at the roadside park she was alive and sitting on a park bench.

The opinion added:

"Bearing in mind, that the state introduced these statements, the burden was upon it to either disprove the fact of Mrs. Weeks being alive when the appellant left her or that she died thereafter from such blow and we are of the opinion it failed to discharge such burden."

Brief Bits Of Local News

Upon hearing of the critical condition of their daughter, Mrs. Allan Trussell, who was injured in a car crash near Selma, Ala., Tuesday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Pressley, 1627-A Avenue Y, left for Selma Tuesday night. They were joined in Abilene by their son, Bob Pressley, and by their daughter, Mrs. Jesse Thornham, in Dallas. They were to fly to Selma Wednesday morning. Mrs. Trussell, the former Miss Lois Pressley, and her husband are former Lubbock residents and their home is in Meridian, Miss.

A workshop in art will be conducted for public school teachers at the Lubbock Senior high school under the direction of Miss Claudia Neelley, coordinator of art of Lubbock schools. Classes will begin June 19 and continue through July 8. The hours will be from 9 a. m. to 12 noon six days a week. The workshop will deal with practical and creative classroom art based on fundamental art principles and actual needs. Miss Neelley said such topics as, how to avoid waste and how to teach art with other subjects and apply it to those fields will be studied.

Promotion from the rank of second to first lieutenant was announced Wednesday at LAAF for seven flight instructors and one ground school instructor. The officers promoted are Travis H. A meeting of the executive board of the South Plains council of the Boy Scouts of America will be held at the home of the president, Dr. F. B. Malone, 2435 Twenty-first street, at 8 o'clock this evening. Summer camping and activities are to be discussed in addition to regular council business.

Capt. Wilburn H. Stone, former signal officer at Lubbock Army Air field thought he was very fortunate in finding a place to live in San Antonio and in being able to get leave to return here to move his household furnishings, but while he was here word came that his promotion to Major had been announced at Brooks Field where he has been stationed since April.

Another change in county jail officials was announced Wednesday night by Sheriff Tom Abel. Austin Yeats, former chief of police at Slaton and day jailer several months, several weeks ago had announced his resignation effective Wednesday night. He will return to Slaton, where he owns a residence. Deputy Sheriff Edgar E. Gray, who has been bailiff in the courts, will replace him; L. E. Madden, formerly of Slaton, will continue as night jailer, and J. A. Wright, police patrolman, will become deputy sheriff today, replacing Gray in waiting on the courts.

Bond of $1,500 was posted Wednesday afternoon by D. J. May, about 19, in connection with a charge of assault with intent to murder Ed Foreman, about 31, of near Idalou. Foreman Wednesday was released from Lubbock General hospital after overnight treatment for slash and stab wounds, physicians said. The complaint, reciting malice, was signed by W. F. Foreman and filed in the court of J. T. Inmon, justice of peace. Examining trial was waived. A grand jury will investigate charges.

Bertha Wilson Bell, 20, a negro woman, Wednesday afternoon pleaded guilty of forgery and was assessed a penitentiary sentence of five years, suspended, in the 99th district court of Judge J. E. Vickers. She was indicted Tuesday, for forgery and passing.

ICED COFFEE

HOT DAYS seem to call for tall glasses of iced coffee and, even if some people are like a friend of ours who said he had rather have a glassful of atmosphere than a spoonful of iced coffee, many summer sippers already are enjoying it. To get best results pour fresh, hot, double-strength coffee right over ice cubes!

Make the hot coffee by your favorite method in taking all your usual precautions of measuring coffee and water accurately into a very clean pot. Use four level tablespoons of coffee for every cup of water. Pour the hot, freshly-made coffee into tall glasses filled with ice. The double-strength coffee will make up for the dilution caused by the melting ice.

SUMMER RECREATION

ANOTHER summer is now at hand and like other summers since the war began travel will be restricted. Not only will it be difficult to go away for the usual two weeks vacation, but it will be impossible to take the usual week end trip or Sunday afternoon drive.

All of which means that Lubbockites this summer will have to find their recreation at home and parks and other recreational facilities will be in demand much more than in normal years.

In preparation for this demand the city parks summer recreation program will exert efforts to make the parks more attractive. We hope the proposed bus route will be realized, making Mackenzie State park more accessible to families who would like to eat their suppers in the open but who have no way to get to the park.

FOR TOLERANCE

HARLEY SADLER, showman and legislator whose friends drafted his name on the ticket for re-election in the 117th district after he announced he would not be a candidate, made a little talk last week to the Abilene Rotary club. His "minute sermon" text was inspired by a quick visit to the state Democratic convention in Austin and he delivered a few terse words on the theme of unity among Americans.

After pointing out that by comparison our lot is much better than that of any other people, Sadler made a plea for unselfishness. "We first must overcome our selfishness toward each other and then, as a people, toward other nations," he said. "We should try to be tolerant in our daily lives in every way."

Those who have the fortune to be included in Mr. Sadler's list of friends know that the speaker was sincere in those words. Moreover he practices what he preached to the service club. If all Texans at that convention or anywhere else were as unselfish and as tolerant as Mr. Sadler, we could set other states a good example.

HOW TO RUIN DRESSES AND LOSE FRIENDS

It's tragic how some girls lose their friends and ruin their dresses because of perspiration odor and stains. And there's no excuse for it! It's easy to save dresses, it's easy to save friends.

Use Arrid, the new cream deodorant that helps keep your armpits dry and removes the odor from perspiration. Arrid is safe and dependable for these 5 reasons:

1. Does not irritate skin. Does not rot dresses or men's shirts.
2. Prevents under-arm odor. Helps stop perspiration safely.
3. A pure white, antiseptic, stainless cream.
4. No waiting to dry. Can be used right after shaving.
5. Awarded Approval Seal of American Institute of Laundering — harmless to fabric. Use Arrid regularly.

Arrid is the largest selling deodorant. Sold at all stores selling toilet goods — 10c, 39c and 59c a jar.

Announcement Tea Is For Tahoka Girl

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Grace Montgomery to 1st Lt. Paul K. Kiser of Sylvester was announced at a tea given by the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Will Montgomery of Tahoka, and Mrs. Fred Higbee of Lubbock Tuesday. Miss Montgomery is Mrs. Higbee's niece.

Guests called between 4 and 6 o'clock.

Garden flowers decked the rooms. Pastel shades were carried out in the table decorations and refreshments. The centerpiece was a miniature airplane embanked with flowers. Placed in the cockpit were airmail envelopes bearing the names of the betrothed couple and their wedding day, June 9.

Miss Montgomery and her fiance are graduates of Texas Technological college. He recently returned from New Guinea where he spent 14 months on patrol duty, flying 150 missions with the air corps.

Contingent Of WACS Arrives In Naples

NAPLES, May 31. (AP) — The largest contingent of WACS ever sent to the Mediterranean theater — 32 officers and 357 enlisted women—has arrived in Naples direct from the United States.

The new arrivals — half of whom are scheduled to continue on to stations in the Middle East, brought the WACS' strength in the Mediterranean to nearly 3,000.

Additional Students Register At Tech

Forty-three additional students registered at Texas Technological college for the first six-week term of the summer session Wednesday, bringing the total to 865 students registered so far for this term. Of this total, 552 are women, and 313 are men.

Friday is the last day in which a student may registerer without paying a late registration fee and carrying a reduced load. This summer's complete total should closely correspond with last summer's which was 980.

INDIANAN NOMINATED

WASHINGTON, May 31. (U.P.)— George M. Barnard of Indiana was nominated by President Roosevelt today to be a member of the interstate commerce commission, succeeding the late Joseph B. Eastman.

News Briefs

Promotion of Lt. J. T. Watt, jr., graduate of Lubbock Army Air field, to the rank of captain has been made at Childress Army Air field, where he is now stationed. His wife, Mrs. Watt, is the former Miss Jane Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rogers, 2318 Twentieth street.

Members of the Lubbock Rotary club were addressed Wednesday noon at a luncheon by Bruce Craig, of the advertising department of the Avalanche-Journal and an executive officer of the 39th Battalion of the Texas State Guard. Craig, a captain in the guard, explained the purpose and work of the Texas State Guard, and how the guardsmen are trained to meet home-front emergencies. Virgil Miers, Avalanche-Journal reporter and Tech student, performed feats of magic assisted by Miss Jackie Wilkison, also a Tech student and beauty. Chas A. Guy was program chairman. Out-of-town guests included Dr. Ben Blackwell, Amarillo; Percy Ralls, Ralls; H. R. McKee, Slaton; Artie Forehand, Levelland; H. G. Barber, Floydada; Stilwell A. Russell, Sudan; Elbert J. Carr, Dallas; and Brace Helfrich, Wichita, Kas.

Agricultural experts wisely suggest that at least we grow these "Big Six" vegetables in our back yards this year and get the most for our money and effort. They're the "Big Six" because they have been selected for their high nutritive values, ease of culture and volume of yield. Since food is vital to winning the war, let's plan our Victory Gardens now and help to hoe the Axis under.

Leaders Highly Optimistic On World Security Outline

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The four leading Allied powers are believed by informed officials here tonight to see eye to eye already on many points of postwar world organization—including particularly the assurance of an adequate voice to small nations.

This is a major factor behind the apparent feeling of confidence in high quarters that the forthcoming Washington conversations among the United States, Britain, Russia and China can make progress toward an effective world organization to secure peace.

Application Of Force

The Big Four meeting probably will be held in the late summer or fall. Such differing views as do come up may be focused initially on the question of how to draw upon an apply the force of the United States, China, Russia and Britain and of other participating nations for suppressing future threats to world order.

The British in the past have indicated a greater willingness to delegate final authority to an international agency than the United States government has shown any intention of doing. The American plan for an international agency provides a consultative formula under which the final decision on the use of any country's forces would be up to that country's own government.

This plan, covering five main points, will be submitted to big-four representatives in its simplest and most concise form.

Plan Subject To Change

President Roosevelt says the American program still is subject to change and capable of vast improvement. Hull has told reporters he would welcome all new ideas that people may send him in preparation for the forthcoming meeting.

Nonetheless, it can be reported that the five main provisions of the American draft are:

1. United Nations council to be created with membership of Russia, Britain, China and the United States and three or four small nations to be elected by the assembly for fixed terms on a sort of rotation basis.

2. United Nations assembly to be composed of all 35 United Nations and eventually to include all other countries also. In the assembly small nations would have equal voice and sovereignty with the large.

Use Of Police Power

3. Police power consisting primarily of the military forces of the four big nations which would retain their separate identities but would be used only in accordance with United Nations assembly or council decisions. (The idea of a single international police force any time in the near future has been pretty generally discarded.)

4. A world court organized to handle all legal questions among nations and to have the moral and military backing of the United Nations although it might be outside the framework of the council and assembly.

5. Mediation machinery to handle disputes outside the jurisdiction of the court because they do not involve questions of law. It is hoped that eventually the mediation procedures, functioning under the assembly, would build up a new body of international law so that more and more problems would pass into the jurisdiction of the court.

Return Of Used Flags To U. S. Is Proposed

WASHINGTON, May 31. (AP) — Tattered American battle flags would be returned to this country and presented to veterans organizations, Boy Scouts and other such groups, under a plan proposed by Rep. Worley (D-Tex).

The Texan said today he had made such a suggestion to the War department, and that the matter was now under study.

Observing that scores of flags constantly are being replaced at innumerable fronts where battles have raged or are still in progress, Worley expressed the opinion that the presence of these worn banners after serving their original purpose would help bring the realization of war closer home to those in this country.

The Army's oldest jeep, named "Gramps," has been turned over to the Smithsonian Institution.

British Interested In Trade Positions

LONDON, May 31. (AP)—In advance of the peace-making, Britain's European policy appears to be aimed at consolidating her trade position from the Arctic to Africa and at developing mutual aid and economic relations with the Mediterranean seaboard countries as well as with her continental neighbors.

This objective has been reflected in Prime Minister Churchill's foreign policy review last week, demonstrated in behind-the-scenes differences between the United States and Britain over steps to take with the Axis and in dealing with neutrals, and acknowledged privately by high-ranking empire officials.

Spain Good Example

Spain perhaps has been the clearest example of British policy. There, after tenuous negotiations, Generalissimo Francisco Franco's government agreed to curtail wolfram shipments to Germany, in a compromise to which the United States agreed only after making it clear that it did so under British pressure.

Since the turn of the war in favor of the Allies, the United States has been calling for a "get tough policy toward all countries selling goods which might cost lives. Britain, meanwhile, has been insisting that each country be treated in "the light of separate considerations.

As explained by one empire official, there are two sides to the argument for a stiff policy in dealing with neutrals. He acknowledged that a tough policy might bring immediate results, but said that it would be accompanied by a danger to relations after the war, producing economic ill will which might sow the seeds of future conflicts.

Mexican Senator Gets Bid To Visit Texas

MEXICO CITY, May 31. (AP) — An invitation to Senator Ramiro Tames to visit Texas with some of his colleagues and see that there was no discrimination there against Mexicans is receiving favorable comment in the Senate.

The invitation, from Publisher William Prescott Allen of the Laredo Times, came as confirmation of a telephone conversation with Senator Tames and said in part:

"Since we are of the same opinion regarding discrimination, which is an act of cowards and in no way represents the feeling of our people, I hope that you will let us know what day you will arrive in Laredo, so that we may arrange a luncheon in honor of yourself and your colleagues and confirm most cordially the good relations which happily exist between the peoples of Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, and Laredo, Texas."

Senator Tames discussed with Senators Aguirre and Prado the advisability of the Senate's sending a commission to Texas in response to the invitation. It was thought that the Senate would take action on the matter during the present week.

Class 44-G Has Begun Training

Another new class of student flyers is getting acquainted with Texas, with Lubbock, and with Lubbock Army Air field. They are members of recently arrived Class 44-G and most of them are from the New England States and the Middle West with smaller representations from other sections of the country. Of the 22 Texans in the class only is from this region. He is Lt. Sherrahl D. Smith, student officer, who was a resident of Lubbock for four years prior to enlisting in the field artillery in July, 1941. He was commissioned in that branch and entered flight training in the fall of 1943.

Former Louisiana Colonel

It isn't often that an aviation cadet reports here who was a former lieutenant-colonel. A/C Charles R. Unsworth held that honorary title on the staff of the governor of Louisiana while he was a student at Tulane university.

Several member of 44-G have seen overseas service. A/C Russell E. Bollen was with Pan-American airways in Africa during the crucial year of 1942, working under Army supervision to perfect important air bases there. Lt. Kenneth I. Zeigler, student officer, was a motor transportation officer with out forces in the Middle East and Lt. Roscoe B. Tuft was with a tank destroyer outfit in Hawaii before he returned to this country for flight training.

One Set Of Brothers

The class includes one set of brothers, both aviation cadets, Charles E. and George A. Meketa of East St. Louis, Ill. Lt. William L. Westvang is a former professional boxer who won 58 out of 65 bouts on the West coast. His brother, Pvt. Robert Westvang, is a prisoner of war in the Philippines. A/C Stanley T. Stawasz is particularly anxious for the invasion of Europe to start. His brother, who was in the Polish army, is missing in action and no word has been received from him or from a sister, also in Poland since that country was invaded by the Nazis. Sgt. Charles G. Robinson, brother of A/C George F. Robinson, was an aerial gunner on a B-24 shot down over Germany and Lt. B. F. Smotherman of Ft. Worth, brother of A/C. J. D. Smotherman, was an AAF pilot shot down by the Germans.

A/C Albert J. Monica of New York City is only one of many members of 44-G who have several brothers in the service. Two of his brothers, however, have been decorated for bravery, one for fighting off submarine and aerial attacks as a ship's gunner aboard a merchant marine ship in the North Sea and the other for boarding and helping to sink a fully loaded ammunition ship burning in New York harbor.

There are only two members of the Makin family but both of them are in service, A/C J. B. Makin having just reported here while his mother is a member of the Women's Army Corps.

New York state mines and quarries yield materials valued at more than $80,000,000 a year.

Detroit Woman In Lead With Husbands; One Claims 'Only' Seven, And Both Charged

DETROIT, May 31. (AP)—Fifteen husbands since 1926 is the record, FBI Agent Robert A. Guerin said today of red-haired Mrs. Arion Stankowich, held here on a federal charge of fraudulently receiving benefits under the servicemen's dependents allowance act of 1942.

Guerin, in charge of the Detroit FBI office, said the government charges she received allowance benefits on only four of the fifteen.

Memory Is Hazy

Relating that her memory was hazy regarding some of the marriages, Guerin said Mrs. Stankowich, 35, gave a record of marriages in Michigan, Indiana, Texas, Colorado, New York, Ohio, Arizona, and Florida.

Mrs. Stankowich has waived examination on the federal charges and is awaiting federal grand jury action.

LURE OF TRAVEL IS IMPELLING MOTIVE

DENVER, May 31. (AP)—The lure of travel, says Mrs. Dixie Rose Lane, impelled her to marry seven men in 14 years.

Thirty and stoutish, her matrimonial road led to the county jail where, charged with bigamy, she reflected in an interview:

"I was always restless and I wanted to travel. I didn't always love the men I married, but I usually did like them. But they gave me the chance to travel around. And after the first two or three marriages it seemed so easy that I didn't even think about getting a divorce."

Rubbing her arm, the one with a heart and "love" tattooed on it, she told how her mates had taken her to many places in Texas, West Virginia, Kentucky and Colorado.

Light-hearted Dixie Rose freely admitted that she had not divorced any of the men, that one of them died and one marriage was annulled. One of the husbands (she called him Homer) is a prisoner of the Germans—"and he's the only one of them all that I really loved."

Husband No. 7, Franklin Lane, found papers among her belongings that prompted him to notify authorities of his suspicions that she was practicing bigamy, Deputy District Attorney Frank A. Wacob said.

Held in lieu of bond, Mrs. Dixie Rose Belle Hugher Morris Gettel Edgar Sims Dickerson Smith Lane wants "to really settle down with Homer."

"BAD HABITS" COSTLY

AUSTIN, May 31. (UP)—"Bad" habits of Texans brought more than $2,000,000 to the state treasury during May. The report today on stamp tax sales showed receipts of $2,083,358. All but $88 paid on prescriptions was from cigarettes, liquor, wine and beer.

Fighter Group Hits "Jackpot" In April

WASHINGTON, May 31. (AP) — The Army reported today the one-month box score of a single P-47 Thunderbolt fighter group in the Mediterranean theatre which won two messages of congratulation from Maj. Gen. John K. Cannon, commanding the 12th Air force.

In the 30 days of April, the group flew 131 combat missions comprising 1,702 sorties totalling 3,541 operational hours. It expended 583,899 rounds of ammunition and dropped more than 670 tons of bombs.

In these operations, the group cut enemy rail lines in 201 places; destroyed six tunnels, a viaduct, an overpass, ten railroad bridges and two highway bridges; destroyed 178 railroad cars and damaged 411; set afire 226 motor transports and damaged 121; destroyed two motorcycles, two staff cars and damaged three tanks; blew up 17 ammunition dumps and an oil dump, destroyed a radio station and a high-tension tower, silenced four anti-aircraft posts and three machine gun positions, set afire 29 buildings and five warehouses, destroyed nine enemy planes in the air and 11 on the ground, sank two barges and damaged six landing craft.

In more than two centuries of Spanish rule (1540 to 1750), Bolivian mines produced gold valued at two billion dollars.

Better than a breakfast bell... MOUNTAIN GROWN FOLGER'S COFFEE

Mrs. Estelle Wade of Irving, Texas tells what Folger's Coffee means to folks on American farms—"world's greatest war plant."

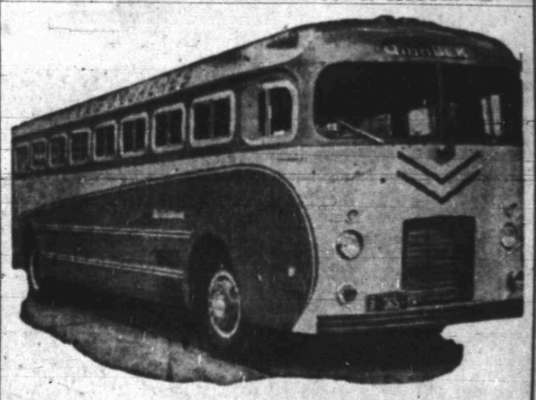

"Dear Folger's Coffee:
We are farming folk and feel as much on the "assembly line" as airplane workers. We need and like our coffee strong and often, but never thought we could afford Folger's until rationing went into effect. A neighbor told me it was stronger and would last longer.
We tried it—and did we like it! Folger's is really helping to win the war, for it gives us the extra stimulation needed for the farm work and many chores.
Its delightful aroma is a surer call to breakfast than a breakfast bell, and its wonderful flavor starts the day off right.
Mrs. Estelle Wade

Why Folger's Makes Friends on Farms
Mountain Grown Folger's Coffee has the kind of flavor that makes folks come rushing to the table. Flavor so good it's something to look forward to—and a lift so stimulating it's depended on three times a day!
No other coffee in the world has a flavor quite like Folger's. It's a special kind of coffee—a blend of rare precious coffees from a region known as the World's Coffee Growing Paradise.
And the very goodness of Folger's makes it a real economy in the long run. For women write they use ¼ less of Folger's than of ordinary weaker flavored brands and get the best coffee they've ever tasted! There's a mountain of flavor in every spoonful of Folger's.

Pinch Hitter Homers With Bases Full To Beat Yanks

DETROIT, May 31. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, always a nemesis to the world champion Yankees, won their third straight from the New Yorkers today, when Al Unser hit a pinch hit home run in the ninth inning with the bases full and two out, to give the Tigers a 6-2 victory.

It was the fifth straight win for Detroit and the Yankees fourth consecutive loss. It also marked the fifth time the Tigers had beaten the Yankees in six games this year.

A wide throw by shortstop Mike Molosevich on York's grounder started the eventful ninth. Pinky Higgins followed with a double and Jimmy Outlaw was purposely passed. A long fly by Chuck Hostetler scored the tieing run. After another out, Paul Richards walked to fill the bases and pinch hitter Unser ended the game with a towering 375-foot belt into the left field stands.

Walter Dubiel went the whole way for the Yankees to be charged with his third loss, and Forrest Orrell, who entered the game in the ninth, was the winner.

BROWNS TIE FOR TOP

ST. LOUIS, May 31. (AP) — The St. Louis Browns jumped into a first place tie with the New York Yankees tonight as they won their third straight game from the Washington Senators on an unearned run in the last half of the 11th inning. The score was 4 to 3.

The Browns staged a movie-thriller uprising in the last half of the ninth inning to score two runs and tie the game. Al Hollingsworth who took over the mound duties from Jack Jakucki in the ninth received credit for his first victory of the year.

Alex Carrasquel, Washington relief pitcher who replaced Roger Wolff in the 11th, was the loser.

GAME RAINED OUT

CHICAGO, May 31. (AP) — A heavy thundershower drowned out the Chicago White Sox game with Philadelphia after three innings today. The Athletics led 2-0, on two unearned runs scored in the first inning on a hit batsman, a scratch hit and two Chicago errors.

Bums Trade Pitchers For New Outfielder

NEW YORK, May 31. (U.P.)—The Brooklyn Dodgers traded pitchers Bill Lohrman and Fred Ostermuller to Syracuse of the International League yesterday for outfielder Goody Rosen.

Rosen, who is hitting .340, played with the Dodgers in 1938.

The Dodgers also announced that Arky Vaughn, hard-hitting shortstop, had decided definitely to stay on his farm at Potter Valley, Cal., and would not report for the latter half of the season.

Boston Hands Lanier Year's First Defeat

BOSTON, May 31. (AP)—Homers by Max Macon and Connie Ryan forced southpaw Max Lanier to accept his first setback in seven starts today as the Boston Braves defeated the pace-setting St. Louis Cardinals, 5-1, behind righthander Red Barrett.

Barrett got off in unsteady fashion and the Cards nicked him for three of their seven hits to score their first inning run, driven in by Whitey Kurowski.

After Macon put the Braves into the lead by poling one out of the park with Ryan aboard in the last half of theopening frame, Barrett settled down to win his fourth triumph of the season.

Ryan's circuit blow came in the sixth and the Braves gained a 4-1 lead in the seventh when Mike Sandlock beat out an infield hit after Chuck Clemens tripled. Chuck Workman's double drove in Macon with the final Boston tally in the eighth.

KID PITCHER WINS

BROOKLYN, May 31. (AP) — Calvin McLish, 18-year-old graduate of Oklahoma City's American Legion nine, hurled his first major league victory tonight by holding Pittsburgh to five hits as the Brooklyn Dodgers knocked out an 8-4 decision.

Dixie Walker boosted his league-leading batting average to .436 with three hits in the Dodgers' 15-blow barrage off Nick Strincevich.

The victory sent the Dodgers into fourth place tie with the New York Giants and was their fifth in six starts.

Nova Discards "Cosmic Punch"

GALVESTON, May 31. (AP) — The "cosmic" punch? what's that? asked Frank Pacassi, manager of Lou Nova today as the Californian slammed along the comeback trail with 11 straight victories.

The 204-pound Nova, erstwhile publicized Yoga Man, hammered Jimmy Webb of Galveston into submission in seven rounds last night and looked forward to his next and probably toughest fight with Buddy Scott at Oklahoma City Friday.

But there'll be no mystery about the punches thrown by Nova as he lays claim to the rank of No. 1 heavyweight in the country.

When Lou was readying to fight Joe Louis in 1941 there was much said about Nova, the Yogi, and the cosmic punch. Both definitely have gone with the wind which blew them in, says Frankie. "What is a cosmic punch?" he asked. "Do you know? I don't and I haven't found anybody else who can tell me."

Nova's manager says Lou is a farmer when he isn't fighting, and nothing more except a fellow who like clean living and sports.

Sheppard League Is Paced By Detroiter

WICHITA FALLS, May 31. (AP) —Private Chester (Whitey) Patelzky has pitched three shut-outs, one a no-hitter, in as many appearances in the Sheppard Field Post League and has averaged 13 strikeouts, but this kind of twirling is nothing new for the young man from Detroit.

Patelzky, whose windup resembles a fast-spinning windmill, started pitching when he was only 13. Six years later—in 1941—he tabled 16 victories without a loss in city-wide tournaments in Detroit. The next season he duplicated the win total, but dropped two games.

Tigers Serve Notice With Good One-Two Mound Punch

DETROIT, May 31. (AP)—When the Detroit Tigers throw their one-two punch, they deliver a hard left in southpaw Hal Newhouser and then come up from the floor with a right-hander in Paul (Dizzy) Trout, former Beaumont, Texas, hurler.

In Trout and Newhouser, the Tigers have the most effective right-left pitching combination in the American league and one to be reckoned with in the currently tight pennant fight. The two hurled seven-hitters against the New York Yankees Memorial day, each gaining his second victory over the champions.

Won 13 To Date

Newhouser's record is seven victories and three defeats, and Trout has won six and lost four. The only other big Detroit winner is Johnny Gorsica, giving the Tigers a three-man pitching staff.

Both Trout and Newhouser are 4-F in the draft, and their major league careers are strikingly similar. In four seasons with Detroit, Trout was a notorious non-winner, but last season he became a 20-game winner with a fifth place club. Only Spud Chandler of the Yankees matched that total.

Southpaw Improved

Newhouser's first four seasons in Detroit uniform likewise failed to show a winning record, although he won nine and lost nine in Detroit's 1940 pennant year, his first full campaign in the majors. Last summer he won eight and lost 17, going nearly two months without a victory after pitching in the All-Star game.

The 23-year-old Newhouser, product of Detroit's sandlots, attributes his fast start to improvement in control, development of a new slider pitch and the constant guidance of Paul Richards, veteran backstop, of Waxahachie, Texas.

Even with his big 1943 season, Trout is short of a .500 lifetime mark with 59 victories and 60 defeats. Newhouser now has won 41 and lost 55. Together they have just 100 victories, but they seem destined to accumulate many more in 1944. Both are good bets to become 20-game winners.

Kid Baseball Loops Formed At Amarillo

AMARILLO, May 31. — Junior baseball loomed on the horizon here with the announcement at the Maverick Club would sponsor the game for the youngsters of the city.

Seven clubs have entered in the class for 15 old kids and under, but so far only one team has entered the group for 12 years and under. Captains have been named for all but one of the older teams.

Sled Allen, a well known baseball figure of West Texas, will meet with the boys at various times to teach them the fundamentals of baseball and help the teams get organized.

RACING PERMIT

LOS ANGELES, May 31. (AP) — The California Horse Racing Board today granted 36 days of racing this summer for Bing Crosby's track at Del Mar, near San Diego.

Subject to approval of United States Army authorities, the board assigned the Del Mar track July 1 to August 19, with five days of racing weekly.

San Angelo To Lose Only One On Grades

SAN ANGELO, May 31. (AP) — The San Angelo Bobcats, defending state schoolboy football champions, do all right in the class room, too.

A check-up today showed only one squad member had failed to pass the required work to be eligible for the team next fall.

Thus Coach Jewell Wallace will start the campaign with six starters from last season's eleven and ten others who earned their letters.

Ray Mueller, who caught 141 games for the Cincinnati Reds last season, appeared in 166 for Sacramento in 1942 and drove home 102 runs while batting .297.

LAAF Softball Sets Openers For Friday

The Lubbock Army Air Field Post Intra-Mural Softball League will officially get under way Friday when the ten participating teams pair off for five games, it was announced by 1st Lt. Anthony Ferri, physical training officer. Members of Post headquarters will be on hand to toss out the balls for the opening games, scheduled to start at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. The softball games for the season are extra-curricular and will be played on Mondays and Fridays.

One of the games will match last year's two outstanding pitchers against each other when Flight A of Section C, captained by Sgt. Hunter Hollis, who pitched his team to victory, meets Flight B of Section C, with Pfc. Howard N. Hayes, runner-up to Hollis last year, as captain.

The schedule for the other four games is as follows:

Members of the Hangar team of Section C, under T/Sgt. Adrian Huey, captain, will play the Section F colored team, captained by S/Sgt. Odis C. Turner.

Section B's team, with T/Sgt. Milton Campbell as captain, will clash with the Flying Officers' team, led by Maj. Albert G. Arnold.

Section E's nine, under Capt. John T. Pewters, medical officer, will be paired off against the Administrative Officer's team, the captain of which is Major Thomas M. Potter, commandant of cadets.

And the team for Section A, with Pvt. R. L. Bartley as captain will match the Finance Dept.'s players with S/Sgt. Edward L. McNally, captain.

Tenorio Makes Good Start In Southern

ATLANTA, May 31. (AP)—Shortstop Blass Tenorio of Amarillo made his debut with Little Rock's Southern Association club here last night by belting a triple and a single in three times at bat.

He played three years in the West Texas-New Mexico League but was out of baseball in 1943.

OUR PLEDGE

WE pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands; One Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all.

Important To All The World

PROBABLY no subject is more involved or more difficult of understanding than that of international finance. If the so-called experts understand it, they have not proved it by achievement.

However, it is not necessary to understand anything so complicated in order to appreciate the potential importance of the international conference to discuss world financial problems which has been called by President Roosevelt for next July 1.

People are very few who can pretend to understand just how or why the gathering might be of utmost importance. They can't pretend to know what the solution to the problem of international finance may be.

But they can understand that it is important to them, and to every other person upon earth, that everything within reason be done to stabilize the currencies of the individual nations so that one can buy from the other. They know that it is important that everything possible be done to enable the people of other nations to buy the surpluses such as cotton, produced in the United States. They appreciate that a great many nations haven't been able to buy from Uncle Sam in the past because the values of their currencies were so low as compared with the American dollar.

As a consequence, even those to whom the subject of international finance is so much Greek will watch the approaching conference with keen intensity because of their realization that the discussions and decisions there may have a great deal to do with prosperity and economic stability in the post-war world.

It's All In The Future

THOSE who criticise, even condemn, Prime Minister Churchill for his remarks recently about the Spanish government may discover in good time that they have tried to make a mountain out of a molehill.

From the criticisms, one might imagine that Mr. Churchill gave his endorsement and blessing to Francisco Franco, Spain's pigmy dictator. Actually, the British prime minister did no such thing. During an address of one and one-half hours, he devoted less than 30 seconds to Spain. He did not mention Franco by name at all.

Only by negative interpretation could the remarks be construed as have been favorable to the Spanish dictatorship. He said nothing good about Spain's government. He merely refrained from saying anything bad.

The substance of his remarks was that he had no "sympathy" for those who think it "clever, even funny," to 'insult and abuse the Spanish government." Continuing, he expressed the view that the internal policies of Spain are matters for the handling of Spaniards alone.

No logic will support the supposition that Mr. Churchill could have any real sympathy for Franco, who has given the Axis all the support he could short of actual military alliance. He even has sent Spanish divisions into Germany to fight against Russia. He represents exactly the type of tyrannical, dictatorial form of government which brought on this war.

But, no matter how much the Allies may detest everything symbolized by Spain's half-pint prototype of Adolf Hitler, they prefer that he continue on the sidelines. The job immediately ahead of the Allies could be made more difficult, more costly in lives and require longer if Franco should cast his lot with the Axis. And it is conceivable that Franco might do just that if he became convinced that Allied victory surely would mean curtains for him. He might conclude that he had everything to gain and nothing to lose by such a step. He might reason that, if he could not escape his fate indefinitely, he might at least postpone it by joining the fight on the side of the Axis. If the Axis offers hope and the Allies do not, he might seize upon hope.

Thus, it seems more than reasonable that Mr. Churchill's passing remarks about the Spanish government might have been intended to try to keep Franco from rocking the Allied boat.

When the proper time comes, the decision concerning what it to be done with Franco will be one for Mr. Churchill to make. Mr. Churchill's voice will be just one, a powerful one, among many. If Mr. Churchill then should be disposed to leniency toward Franco—and he has said or done nothing to indicate he will be—others of the Allies will be present in sufficient numbers to make sure that justice is meted to Spain's bloodthirsty runt.

The government has been trying unsuccessfully to collect $1,580 in back taxes from Sally Rand. We suggest that the government buy Sally a fan and turn her loose on the public.

THE ALTERNATIVE

"WAIT a minute," Link said.

"Hold it. Listen to the rest of this: Courtright has been trying to help us and she's got herself in a spot where she's going to be killed."

"Courtright!" Norma gasped. "Killed!"

"We've got to help her," Link said.

"But I don't understand!"

Link realized he was getting ahead of himself. He would have to go back and straighten out details.

"I know this is the way it must have happened," he said. "The plan was to get you and me and Courtright together in the country and we would realize the meaning of the message and discuss it. Courtright would then tell the Japs what the message meant. That's the way they put it up to Courtright."

Norma said quickly, "But she could have refused to have any part of it, Link."

"That's exactly the point," Link said. "She could refuse. Then they would torture us. Torture me to get the message. Torture you to get its meaning. Courtright knew how tough they would treat us. She knew maybe they would kill us. So she pretended to fall in and help the Japs. Then she was going to tell them there wasn't any secret message. That would save us."

"But Link, why did she push us into finding out about the message ourselves?"

"So we would keep our mouths shut. So we would pretend there wasn't any message. She would pretend there wasn't, too. And the Japs would be fooled."

"Why won't her plan work?"

"Two reasons," said Link grimly. "First, her nerve is slipping. She gave herself away to me, and she may give herself away to Azaraski any minute, and eventually she is sure to. When she tells the Japs there wasn't any meaning to Kip's message, they'll give her hell. I know she can't stand up under that. The second reason is that Azaraski already suspects her, and is planning to kill her along with you and me."

In a voice in which horror began to show, Norma said, "Link! Oh, Link! What will we do?"

"We'll talk to Courtright," Link said. "And try to buck her up. And think of something."

"Right now?"

"Yes. We'll go to Courtright's room now."

They found the door. Then they felt their way with infinite care through hallways and rooms. At last, Norma breathed. "This is Courtright's room."

The door was a sliding one. Link pushed it open a bit at a time. They felt their way inside. And they explored the premises thoroughly by the sense of touch.

Norma whispered, "I can't find her."

"She isn't here," Link said.

* * *

TILDA COURTRIGHT had not re-entered the inn. She had walked to the inn, but had not gone inside. She stood in the dark shadow of the building, where Azaraski and Baldwin could not see her. They would naturally think she had gone inside.

She stood beside the inn but a short time. Not more than a minute. But many thoughts went through her mind in the minute. The thoughts were plunging wild animals.

She knew now that she could not go through with her original plan. She simply did not have the brazen nerve. This thing she had undertaken called for a professional courage, the trained nerve of a soldier. Her business, the profession of teaching, had not equipped her for this sort of thing.

No, she couldn't do it. Her nerves did not have the stamina. She knew the symptoms of a nervous collapse, and she had them. A numbness on the left side of her face, a slight tendency to speak haltingly, a higher pitch than normal in her voice, a generally jangled sensation. All of these were warnings of a bad nervous condition, because once she'd had a nervous collapse of temporary order, and she knew. There was already the feeling that she must do everything slowly and carefully, or she would fly to pieces, and it was an awful feeling.

The Japanese, when she told them there was no message from Kipman Greer, would be angry. They would browbeat her and quiz her about every little thing. She could not withstand the questioning. A few minutes ago, she had not even been able to stand for Azaraski to question her.

Once the Japanese found out the truth, they would shoot her, probably. And they would torture Link and Norma.

Courtright gave up her original plan.

There was only the one alternative. Escape. To try and get away. If they, the three of them, could only reach Monk's fishing boat.

Tilda Courtright worked her way toward the road. She was very careful, and no one saw her. She searched for whatever one of the Japanese soldiers happened to be posted as guard at the road.

Soon a soldier stirred in the darkness near her. He was one of the road sentries.

"Are sa!" Courtright whispered. "Be quiet. And listen to me."

She spoke Japanese fluently. She could even imitate its dialects, the Satsuma, the Ahidzu, the Yonezawa, the dialect of the Nagasaki district.

And she had dissected the minds of too many Japanese boys, trying to find a cranny that would hold some education, not to know how to bribe one of them deftly and surely.

Heinz Heir Charges Wife Posed In Nude

LOS ANGELES, May 31. (AP)—Clifford S. Heinz, 24-year-old packing company heir, has testified that his wife told him she posed for a nude picture at a photo studio in New York's Greenwich village last January.

Heinz and Mrs. Elizabeth Bald Heinz are contesting the custody of their son, Clifford III, 4, in a superior court hearing.

Heinz' attorney also introduced yesterday a desposition by Albert T. Rudd stating that Rudd saw a woman whom he presumbed to be Mrs. Heinz dancing with an unidentified man before extinguishing all lights, a bedroom light last, in her Forest Hills, N. Y., home.

Mrs. Heinz' counsel termed Rudd's statement fakery and declared Rudd was "a trumped up witness."

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

IN Walter Reed hospital in Washington, they are now experimenting with music as a therapeutic factor.

They think that a person will get well faster if he hears his favorite tune or hymn or symphony or jive.

A former opera singer, Miss Frances Paperte, who discovered the healing value of music during the last war is in charge of the experiments, and already good results are said to have been obtained.

Musical theapy has been used for arthritis, insomnia, spastic paralysis, heart cases and other ailments, and if the treatments prove successful, this new method should be extremely valuable to disabled service men.

I don't know anything about the scientific part of this musical medicine business, and our own family doctor is somewhat skeptical about it.

But then, as you know, family doctors are usually rather reluctant to accept innovations.

* * *

However, there is certainly no reason to question the potential value of "O Sole Mio" or "Mairzy Doats" any more than that of cheese mold.

And many a time when I have felt very much down in the mouth, a bit of my favorite music has taken all the orneriness out of me and put me into a mellow mood.

The trouble is only that there is so much difference in musical tastes.

* * *

I, FOR one, have never been able to enjoy symphony or opera, and while I have the greatest respect for Toscanini and Lily Pons, I can very nicely get along without them.

As a matter of fact, I'd rather hear a speech by Harold Ickes than sit through a performance of Tannhauser, and when John Charles Thomas, whom I admire very much, sings "Shortenin' Bread" for the 999th time, I am just about ready to smash my radio into kindling wood.

It is fortunate, indeed, that radios have dials. At last you can turn them off.

So, when musical therapy becomes standardized, I do hope it will be used with judgment and the same care the physician exercises when he prescribes or the apothecary when he fills the prescription.

Music has charm to soothe the savage beast, as you know, but it is also liable to make a savage beast out of an otherwise perfectly peaceful citizen.

The National Whirligig

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE most distinguished victim of the CIO's political purge recently told his Republican colleagues how his defeat was accomplished by the leftist labor annex of the Democratic National committee. He called his brethren together at a Senate restaurant luncheon to warn them against the Hillman-Murray-Roosevelt strategy and to suggest a plan of counterattack.

The CIO fatality was Sen. Rufus C. Holman of Oregon. The 67-year-old conservative was licked by 43-year-old Wayne L. Morse in the Republican senatorial primary. The outcome has been hailed as a great Roosevelt victory because Morse has been labeled a GOP New Dealer.

Fact is that he resigned as a member of the War Labor board in protest against its pro-White House bias. He has been an advocate of FDR's foreign policy.

Nevertheless, his success over Holman was an upset. Many Republicans facing hard primary and election struggles asked the Oregon senator to tell them what happened on the West Coast.

The aged legislator was somewhat sore when he addressed the noonday gathering, and he may have overdrawn the picture of the radical laborites' behavior. But, according to him, Sidney Hillman's and Philip Murray's henchmen hit him with every weapon in the political armory.

* * *

ROB: The Hillman-Murray faction, Holman told his affrighted associates, have an unlimited amount of campaign funds, whereas he was able to scrape up only a few thousand dollars from manufacturers profiting from war contracts. The CIO bought newspaper, billboard and other forms of advertising without regard to expense.

They accused Holman of every crime under the political sun, arousing racial, religious, economic and national passions. He was branded as antilabor, anti-Catholic, pro-Nazi, anti-Roosevelt and a hopeless isolationist.

He was denounced as a foe of the farmers' cooperative movement, although he happens to be a member of one of their organizations. "Mob rumormakers," he continued, assailed his private life. In short, there was no argument that his opponents did not use against him.

The result was that Morse, a fairly high type of man and candidate, won the nomination through the lowest sort of methods. Oregonians, including Republicans and Democrats, are so resentful of the Hillman-Murray invasion that they may seek revenge against the winning candidate.

Tentative plan is to nominate an "independent" Republican for the election itself. It is expected that his entry will rob Morse of enough votes to permit his Democratic opponent to win the final battle.

* * *

DELEGATIONS: Prominent Republican members of the Senate still maintain that Tom Dewey has a long way to go before he achieves the Republican Presidential nomination in Chicago next month. The principal exponents of this theory are the friends of Sens. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan.

In analyzing the Empire state governor's supposed weakness, they go back to the Philadelphia 1940 convention when the trio discussed ways and means of stopping Wendell Willkie. Campaign managers for Taft and Vandenberg backroomed with Dewey's representatives in a desperate attempt to form a coalition against the public utility magnate.

The Ohio senator agreed to release a few delegations to the New Yorker in order to give him a run for a few ballots. So did the man from Michigan. Their main desire, of course, was to stave off the ex-Democratic outsider from Wall Street and Indiana—Willkie. They stipulated that if Dewey could not make the grade he should throw his strength to either Taft or Vandenberg.

* * *

DEADLOCK: But when the bosses got down to brass tacks—or ballots—they discovered that the young racket-buster could not guarantee deliverance of any of his supporters. They were not hogtied for the New York man; they had been rounded up for him by high-pressure methods.

This is the inside story of why these three men, with their recorded delegate strength, did not unite and prevent the nomination of Willkie who was weak on the first ballot.

It should be different this year because in the meantime Dewey has carried New York. Willkie has withdrawn from the race. With the exception of Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, there is no real rival. Nevertheless, if a deadlock develops, place a few fanciful bets on Bob Taft.

* * *

BIRDS: Rep. Claire Luce of Connecticut has a pair of parakeets (lovebirds) in her quarters in the House office building. The author of the striking phrase, "globaloney," has named them "Frankie" and "Winnie."

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

SECRETARY Forrestal, in announcing the reassignments of Admiral Halsey and other high personnel, hints at fresh tasks to be undertaken by our sailors.

The Navy will expand its program of collaboration in amphibious assaults upon Japanese-held territories and will try to inveigle Tojo's skippers into a knockout scrap.

But the prospective collapse of Germany has given our mariners a new job in the Pacific about which nothing has been printed. They are to be watchdogs on a vast scale.

* * *

SUNK: Although Hitler has lost most of his merchant marine and his warships and U-boats are melting away, he still owns approximately 250,000 tons of first-class freighters, hoarded in Nipponese harbors since September 1939. They were the pride of his prewar Pacific commercial fleet, too valuable to expose to roving British cruisers.

So long as he could hope for a negotiated peace, he husbanded this nest egg away from European danger zones. He planned to use it as the nucleus of a peacetime cargo armada in world trade. Now he realizes that upon Axis capitulation title to it will be taken by the United Nations in part payment for submarine sinkings.

If Nippon is still on its feet when the Reich is beaten, the Oriental partner will immediately confiscate the vessels. One of the causes of increasingly strained relations between the two nations is that Tokyo wants to take over Berlin's property to replace steamers and sailing craft sunk by Anglo-Americans.

Der Fuehrer will be behind the 8-ball in either case.

* * *

DESPERATE: Word reaches Allied ears that he plans to load the ships with rubber, quinine, tin and other raw materials and run the blockade, reasoning that if only a few boats sneak through our cordons their cargoes will be worth the gamble.

In the event of total loss, he would prefer to consign them to Davy Jones rather than yield them to either the Allies or his little brown brothers.

It will not be easy for his captains to escape our vigilance. It has always been a maritime axiom that blockade runners can only move when winter, with its long hours of darkness, sets in on the Bay of Biscay, the gate to Europe. But the emergency is so desperate that now craft must risk spring daylight and our keen-eyed patrols.

On the other side of the world our planes, subs and surface ships are tightening the ring. The British Admiralty has just reported the destruction in the Indian Ocean of Axis merchantmen bound for Europe. It is not yet disclosed whether these were part of the oroginal Nazi fleet berthed in Japan or others launched there during the struggle.

* * *

MONSTERS: Swift American and English men-of-war can track down elusive prowlers better than earlier in the conflict. The hunters require frequent repairs of damage occasioned by storms. The removal from hulls of barnacles and other impediments to speed is essential.

Sufficient tenders carrying machine, foundries and similar equipment for patching are now available from Ceylon to Hawaii. Mobile depots or supply ships convey spare gear, machine parts, extra guns, etc.

Water Engineers In Texas Keep Eye On State's Dams

By GORDON SHEARER
United Press Correspondent

AUSTIN, May 31.—The Texas Board of Water Engineers looks not alone to the impounding of water for useful purposes but has an eye to seeing that the big and little dams that are built remain safe.

Right to condemn unsafe water storage structures is given to the board in the act creating it and Chairman Charles S. Clark says a watchful check is kept on them.

The board has no staff to go around making regular inspections of dams but seepage from one is usually followed very quickly by notice from some property owner. Perhaps he feels that there is danger of the dam breaking and causing a flood. More frequently the complaint comes from a farmer whose land is being made soggy.

A reported seepage from the dam creating Lake Bridgeport above Fort Worth on the West fork of Trinity river is one of the cases that led to board investigation and assurance that the dam structure was not faulty.

A complaint from the Dallas drainage area now is subject of investigation by the board.

* * *

Spillways Pose Problem

Chief guard to dam safety is in supervision of the plans. Clark found that in effort to save money there is a tendency to fail to provide spillways large enough to carry off sudden volumes of flood water. This has been blamed for early dam failures in the state. Under the board supervision adequate spillways are demanded.

It is a pretty safe wager that most of the dams will silt up and go out of use that way long before they become danger spots, engineers say.

A ONE-MAN chamber of commerce when it comes to boosting his home town is Max Starche of Seguin, general manager of the Lower Colorado River authority.

It was largely because of his ingenuity, good business sense and aggressiveness as mayor of Seguin for 12 years that LCRA directors named him to the Colorado river system's managerial post in 1938. Since then he has lived in Austin.

As mayor of Seguin, one of Sarcke's "pets" was the city water and light department. Not only did he see that the people got plenty of water and lights at low rates, but he also caused a good portion of the revenue to be used for civic improvements.

Named in his honor is the Max Starche park at Seguin. It is one of Central Texas' most beautiful recreational centers, complete with a swimming pool, golf course and picnic facilities. There are other improvements equally as outstanding.

Most of all, however, Strcke is proud of the financial standing of Seguin. He boasts that its indebtedness is about $40,000—which the city easily could cover with the more than three times that amount of U. S. War bonds which it owns.

All For Naught

Secretary of State Sidney Latham was ready to go when the Longview draft board told him he would be inducted May 22. For weeks he had made necessary arrangements. Daily he finished the work on his desk, and, in addition, felt he was just about "in the pink" physically.

He has been taking a self-prescribed physical training course since the announcement months ago that fathers would be inducted. Lathan is 37 and a father.

Part of the program consisted of a five-mile hike at a near-trot each day after official duties.

It was no wonder that Latham said he felt "deflated" when his induction was postponed for six months. However, he still plans to continue the training, because the "call may come again at any time."

GI's at Camp Barkeley were baffled by the riddle of two soldiers who were twins, and yet were cousins and also brothers. To top it off, the pair had different mothers who were sisters.

The answer that enlightened the puzzled GI's was relatively simple.

To begin with Neal W. and Rex C. Freckleton were cousins and were born on the same day. The mothers of the two boys were sisters. When Neal's parents were separated, he was adopted by the Freckletons, making him a brother of Rex.

In addition to looking alike throughout their childhood and youth, the boys were inseparable and made similar marks in school.

The Army treats them as twins because they receive almost identical scores in the Army general classification tests besides having the same confusing, similar backgrounds.

It "Rained Money"

It was more than "pennies from Heaven" the other night when a box fell out of a passing car and spilled bills and change all over the street in front of a family sitting on their porch in Houston.

When the straying money, nearly $600, had been gathered up, E. E. Lang, a filling station operator, dropped and proved the money was his. He noticed the loss several minutes after the box had fallen from his car.

A HOUSEWIFE in Dallas put in a hurried call to police to report, the theft of $700 while she was doing her laundry.

Before police arrived, she sat down and reconstructed her morning's activities and found the money in an empty dishpan.

She told Detective T. S. Connelly, as he complimented her on her sleuthing, that the money fell from her apron pocket while she was hanging out clothes.

Connelly went away wondering if the woman customarily carried $700 in her apron pocket.

USE SEA POWER TO GET HOGS IN A HURRY
FEED STANTON'S 20% PIG RATION
Today, more than ever before, it is extremely important to speed up growth and keep mortality down in young pigs. Feed is too precious to waste on the laggards and pork is too valuable to lose before it goes to market. Stanton's 20% pig ration provides extra protection against both. In hundreds of hog lots, it is working consistently to improve pig health, speed up growth and reduce mortality because it gives little pigs the same kind of boost that chick starter gives to baby chicks. It is being fed widely to sows before farrowing and through creep feeding to pigs from 2-3 weeks of age on up.
MANAMAR
In Stanton's 20% pig ration supplies the hard-to-get essentials—fish proteins, food minerals and vitamins, including the important Vitamin B "complex."
B-G PLUS
Is a patented vacuum concentrated extract from fish. This new and potent product, resulting from ten years of ceaseless research and experiment, supplies extra intact minerals and vitamins in Stanton's 20% pig ration.

NEW FIVE-YEAR PEAK

NEW YORK, May 31 (AP)—Accelerated buying in rail and industrial leaders today lifted the stock market's average price level to a new five-year peak and boosted many of the favored issues fractions to around 2 points.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite advanced .4 of a point to 53.4. Transactions totaled 1,182,810 shares, the largest turnover since April 18, against Monday's 812,360.

Final gains ran to a point or so for U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Case, Deere, Johns-Manville, Eastman, Schenley, Delaware and Hudson and Texas Co. DuPont and Pepsi-Cola each moved up 2. Laclede Gas preferred, up more than 10 points in the first hour finished down 1½. Park and Tilford, up sharply last week on the company's announcement of a whisky distribution to shareholders, broke 10 points under heavy selling.

Rail loans showed the widest gains in the bond market. Chicago wheat closed 1⅜ to 1¾ cents a bushel higher. Rye advanced 1⅜ to 2⅛. Hogs were steady. Cotton futures gained 65 to 80 cents a bale.

Hail Is Reported Around Petersburg

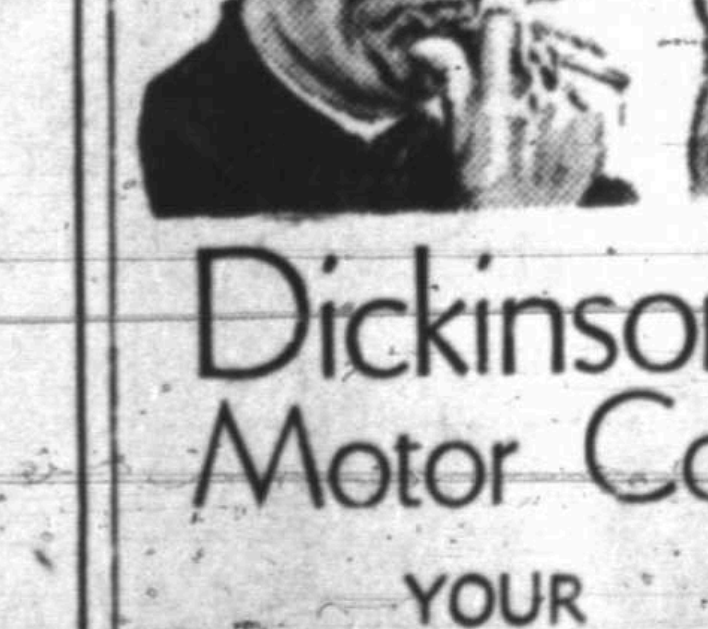

Considerable hail fell early Wednesday night in the Petersburg vicinity, according to reports received in Lubbock.

It was not known last night how large an area was hit, but it was believed that southeastern Hale county and southwestern Floyd county were affected. Hailstones which fell in Petersburg were described as "very large." Moderate rain accompanied the hail, it was reported. Ralls received a shower but no hail.

Yesterday's high temperature in Lubbock was 93 degrees and 4, 5 and 7 p. m.

Drive For Rome

Eighth Army pushed up steadily from the southeast along the Via Casilina and broke into the outskirts of the provincial capital of Frosinone. Increased enemy resistance in that zone showed the Germans still were determined to hold off their pursuers until Nazi troops could be extricated from difficult positions south of the Via Casilina.

French troops surged past Ceccano, five miles south of Frosinone, leaving armor to mop up the town, and Moroccan Goums, speeding across the Lepini hills far out in front of other Allied forces, seized the town of Carpineto, 13 miles almost due west of Frosinone and seven and a half miles north of Sezze.

Eighth Slashes Forward

In the drive through the Liri valley the Eighth Army occupied Fontana Arpino and Strangolagalli, all north of the Via Casilina, and by-passed Arnara, south of the highway.

British Fifth Army troops slugging toward Rome from what formerly was the western edge of the Anzio beachhead crossed the Moletta river all along their sector and took the villages of L'Americano, Lora, Keteno and Ardea.

Allied airmen took a continuing toll of enemy troops and transports withdrawing before the Eighth Army. One RAF wing destroyed 97 vehicles and damaged scores when it spotted a German traffic jam north of Frosinone. Marauder medium bombers made several attacks on bridges over the Tiber river near Rome. In all yesterday's operations the Mediterranean air forces lost five heavy bombers and three other planes while destroying 15 enemy craft.

Mob Lynching Of U.S. Flier Said Confirmed

LONDON, May 31. (UP)—A Berlin dispatch to the Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyether said today that official German circles had confirmed the mob lynching of an American airman shot down in central Germany.

The dispatch also quoted German authorities, in the first official comment on the reported shooting of 47 British and Allied airmen at a German prison camp as denying that any airman was lynched after once becoming officially a prisoner of the German government.

The dispatch said that an "infuriated crowd" killed the one surviving member of an American plane which crashed at an unspecified German village. It added that official German circles claimed the lynched American had been aboard a plane which machinegunned a crowd of church-goers, killing several women, old men and children.

The alleged confirmation of the lynching of the American followed the German propaganda hysteria pace set recently by Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels himself, when he wrote in the Nazi party organ that the government could no longer protect "terror" raiders from the "mad fury" of the German population.

children under seven. They baked a sort of pancake and made soup on campfires along the streets of the town.

Most of them are sleeping in the streets on bundles of rags. Fortunately, the weather is mild.

Tomorrow a bakery will be operating in Cori and the refugees will get bread instead of flour. Advanced warehouses already are established to supply such communities of newly-conquered areas with food.

In Cori and other towns there is plenty of evidence how the departing Germans feel about the Italian population. The German soldiers took everything they could carry off and destroyed much of what they left.

The furniture of many humble homes is thrown about the streets after being axed. All wine is gone and the livestock has been depleted.

"The Germans didn't like us," a townsman said. "They say we stabbed them in the back." He looked very miserable as he spoke.

The following is the issue that the News raised on behalf of itself and its employes only as they represent thousands of other industries and tens of thousands of employes of the city: Does the FEPC have the authority to break down the traditional southern segregation of races in private industry when state laws have been upheld by the United States Supreme court establishing segregation in the public services? If so, by what authority? Its existence is due solely to executive order. It is without statutory authority."

S. O. Boyd Resigns Post With Police

Resignation of Capt. S. O. Boyd, a member of the police department almost 10 years, was announced Wednesday night by Chief of Police Don Reeder.

Boyd, who has been night chief two years, said he had accepted a position as inspector with the city health department. He is to fill the vancancy created by the resignation of George B. Eubanks, who announced no plans for the future.

Reeder said Boyd's successor had not been selected but indicated that one of the day police shift would be elevated to the job. Boyd's resignaion was effective last night.

Air Bombardments

left the air and alerts were sounded at Eger and Szeged as well as in the capital.

(The Nazi-controlled radios at Calais and Luxembourg suspended "owing to the approach of enemy aircraft," the Federal Communications commission reported.)

Smoke Fills Sky

Smoke clouds visible for miles rolled up from the Ploesti fields after upward of 750 Fortresses and Liberators from Italy dropped their cargoes of destruction, hitting at least one major refinery. It was the third straight day of big bomber attack on central Europe from the south.

While the Mediterranean air raiders met enemy fighters and heavy flak, the blows from Britain caught the German Air force with its guard down and met little opposition from the ground or air. Some planes flew through great cloud banks and had to use overcast bombing technique.

Soest and Schwerte were new targets for American bombers, although the former was struck 33 times by the Royal Air force before it left off its attacks in November of 1940.

Distribution Point

Hamm, probably the largest distribution point from Germany to the channel defenses, last was struck May 22 by American heavies that also paid a call on Osnabruck May 13. Schwerte had been left alone since July of 1941, after the RAF had struck it 14 times.

Ploesti had been given a rest by the Mediterranean air force since May 18.

Bomber crews reported the opposition was so slight over Soest that some of the bombers, casually made two runs to be sure of hitting the target.

The Eighth Air force's attack from Britain was its 25th of the month against European targets and the 15th against Germany, equalling March's records. It also was the fifth straight day of heavy bomber attack from Britain, a new record.

Night Attacks Continue

The RAF began May's last day with concentrated night attacks on the French coast, while Mosquito bombers blasted Leverkusen, a chemical center in Germany. In all operations, which included mine laying, no British planes were lost.

The Ninth Air force disclosed that Thunderbolt and Lightning fighter-bombers now carry a 1,000-pound bomb under each wing, equalling the lift of light bombers and half that of the mediums.

A violent thunderstorm with occasional heavy rain beat down on Dover strait early this evening but it brought no cessation of the tactical attacks. Medium, light and fighter-bombers smashed at scores of military targets in France and the Low Countries.

Breakdown Of Sorties

In the record month's operation it was estimated the Eighth Air force's heavy bombers made 12,000 individual sorties and that fighters from the Eighth and Ninth air forces made 16,000 additional sorties in escorting them.

During May's intensive offensive, U. S. bombers and their fighter escorts from British bases destroyed a record number of enemy aircraft—896. The previous record monthly kill was 784 set in October, 1943. A total of 287 heavy bombers were lost in May while 153 fighters were destroyed. The latter exceeded by seven the all-time high of 146 lost last month.

In addition RAF heavy bombers were estimated to have flown during May 10,000 sorties from Britain at night, losing 263 aircraft in a series of crushing blows directed principally at transportation centers in Germany and occupied countries.

Expeditionary Force

Additional thousands of sorties were flown by tactical planes of the Allied Expeditionary Air force.

The record of the Mediterranean Air force's activities during May are not complete here but it is known to have made more than 45,000 sorties with all types of planes, losing at least 171 and destroying at least 176 Nazi planes.

Thus well over 1,000 Nazi frontline fighter planes were shot down over Europe in May.

Wheeler Willing To Drop Radio Proposal

WASHINGTON, May 31. (AP) — Chairman Wheeler (D-Mont) announced today that he had cancelled hearings by the Senate interstate commerce committee on proposals to redraft the federal communications act, including a suggestion of his own for banning commercial sponsoring of news broadcasts.

He told a reporter that, so far as he is concerned, the whole issue is dead. The committee was to have met tomorrow to consider, among other things, the proposed elimination of sponsored news programs.

"I had wanted to revise the communications act in a way that would be fair to all," Wheeler said. "But the industry can't agree on anything. It wants one thing one day and another thing the next."

One thing the radio industry doesn't want, Wheeler added, is "any regulations at all, except regulation of interference with it."

De Valera Has Smooth Sailing In Election

DUBLIN, Thursday, June 1. (AP) With two-thirds of the votes cast in Tuesday's election counted, Prime Minister Eamon De Valera was disclosed to have been reelected by a substantial margin and appeared sure of winning his demand for an overall majority in the dail (parliament).

In a tabulation at 2 a. m., De Valerna's Fianna Fail party had 55 seats, The Fine Gael 17, Labor two, the National party four, the Farmers five and the Independents seven. There are 138 seats in the dail.

At the same time six of De Valera's cabinet members retained their seats on the basis of the incomplete returns.

News Briefs

F. A. Stephenson, 31, a negro, Wednesday afternoon posted bail of $250 returnable instanter in connection with a federal charge of purchasing from Leverne Jones two new passenger type tires for $60 and without surrendering tire certificates. Earlier in the day, Jones had waived an examining trial and pleaded innocent of a charge of selling and delivernig the tires without receiving a tire certificate issued by any war price and rationing board. Bond of $250 returnable instanter was set. P. G. McKinley, 44, Lubbock man who had been charged under federal procedure with unlawful acceptance by transfer of 38 serially-numbered R-1 gasoline coupons that had not been issued by a war price and rationing board, had not posted $500 bail late Wednesday, and was held in lieu of bond, the sheriff's department said.

Funeral services for Ed McCrummen, about 58, who died Monday of a heart attack will be held in the First Presbterian church Friday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock with Dr. J. M. Lewis, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery with Rix Funeral home directing.

Forts Pay Tribute To Fallen Buddies

A BOMBER BASE IN BRITAIN, May 31. (AP)—Enroute to Germany today, where they bombed the Schwerte railway yards, Flying Fortresses of one formation dipped wings in tribute to comrades who had fallen in battle, and dropped a memorial wreath into the channel.

The wreath was placed originally at the base of the flagstaff at this formation's base by the group commander, Col. Thetus C. Odom, of Murfreesboro, Tenn., in a memorial day service.

1000-Pound Bombs Carried By Fighters

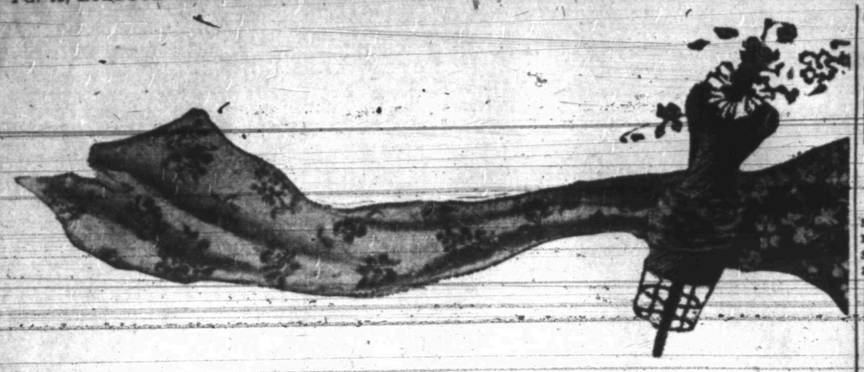

LONDON, May 31. (AP)—Thunderbolt and Lightning fighter-bombers now carry a 1,000-pound bomb under each wing, equalling the lift of light bombers and half of the medium bombers, the Ninth Air force disclosed today.

The former capacity of the fighter-bombers was one 500-pounder under each wing.

IT'S ALL OK, IF

WASHINGTON, May 31. (AP)—The War Production board today issued orders permitting small plants in tight labor areas to increases their employe forces to handle authorized civilian goods manufacture, provided government approval is obtained in each case.

Success In Italy Indicates Hour Near For Other Blows

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Aanalyst

Even without a Berlin admission that the battle for Rome is near its crisis, there is much to suggest that the hour for Russian and Allied attacks on other fronts, keyed in with that first major blow of the summer campaign in Europe, are about to start.

SIMPSON

Moscow has reported a limited German offensive in the Iasi region of Romania which dented the Russian front. Iasi is a probable main jumpoff spot for the impending Red Army offensive aimed at the Galati gap gateway to the Danube valley, at Bucharest and at Ploesti. The Nazi attack apparently is a German attempt to disrupt the expected Russian drive and sap its force.

Russian planes and Allied heavy bombers from Italy have renewed the attack on Ploesti in over-lapping relays. Another oil refinery there was smashed.

Concerned With Ploesti

Russian Army chiefs, however, probably are more concerned at the moment with the Ploesti rail yards than the oil installations. For Ploesti is the primary communications hub upon which Nazi forces guarding the Galati gap must depend for supply or for escape if they fail to halt the Russian armies when they strike.

In Italy, there are indications that the Allied march on Rome is nearing the point set in Russian-Allied war councils for the start of greater assaults from the east and the west. Renewed fighting in the Iasi sector between the Siret and the Prut sound like preliminary skirmishes of the expected battle of Galati gap.

Most military observers, however, believe the main Russian contribution to the summer campaign will not fall in Romania but in Poland.

HOT OVER BRITAIN

LONDON, May 31. (AP)—Flying weather was so hot today that aircraft of the British Second Tactical Air force had to be cooled with pails of water before ground crews could handle them. Pilots flying in a minimum of clothing said the cockpits became so hot metal fittings burned them.

Name Chosen For Private Airfield

Lubbock Aero field will be the name of the airport formerly known as the Dagley field, Bob Walker, manager of the Lubbock Aero Service, announced Tuesday. The Aero Service will operate from the field which is located on West Thirty-fourth street near the Brownfield highway.

Mrs. Betty Schomberg, former Braniff Airlines employe, has been employed as office manager. Her husband, Lt. Don Schomburg, also a former Braniff man, is in service.

Walker said full maintenance facilities for planes would be established at the new airport.

Oil Test Started In Georgia By Stanolind

WAYCROSS, Ga., May 31. (AP)—The Stanolind Oil company, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, has started a test oil well in Mitchell county, in extreme southwest Georgia.

The oil and gas committee of the chamber of commerce, in making the announcement today, said the test well would go to 10,000 feet unless basement rock or oil or gas is struck.

The test is about 30 miles east of the early county test hole drilled last October, which stopped at 7,320 feet.

The Hunt Oil company of Dallas, Tex., had selected a drilling location in Clinch county, five miles southeast of Homerville.

Two Awards Given To Flier From Coolidge

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, May 31 — Capt. Jay Robbins of Coolidge, Limestone county, Texas, today was awarded the Bronze Oak Leaf Cluster to the Silver Star for a brilliant aerial combat in which he destroyed two Japanese planes and saved a fellow flier. Robbins is credited with 18 planes shot down.

The new Decoration, equivalent to a second Silver Star, was won April 1 when 20 Lightning fighter planes battled with 15 Jap zeros. According to the citation, Robbins drove two enemy planes off the tail of one of his comrades, despite the fact that while doing so his own plane was the target of two other Japanese fighters.

The captain then got behind an enemy plane, sent it down in flames, and then chased another Zero through intense ground fire to within 75 feet of the enemy airdrome, riddling the Zero until it crashed.

Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney, Fifth Air force commander, presented the award to the Texas ace.

MOTHER KEEPS TALLY SHEET ON VICTORIES

COOLIDGE, May 31 (AP)—Mrs. Jay Robbins, sr., is keeping an unofficial tally sheet on her son's aerial victories.

Yesterday, advanced Allied headquarters in New Guinea reported her son, Capt. Jay Robbins, jr., was awarded the bronze Oak Leaf Cluster to the Silver Star. Robbins was credited with shooting down 18 planes.

Mrs. Robbins thinks he has downed 19 planes because a photograph received from her son, mailed May 8, showed 19 Japanese flags on the craft.

The parents are engaged in farming and blacksmithing at this Limestone county town.

Mrs. Robbins said her son's boyhood interests ran to cattle and planes.

Capt. Robbins married 1st Lt. Ina L. Priest, U. S., Army nurse, with 28 months of service in the Pacific area, in Melbourne, Australia, last Jan. 22.

Garnishment Ties Up Candidates Fee

DALLAS, May 31. (UP) — Doss Hardin's candidacy for district attorney of Dallas county ran into a stumbling block.

A writ of garnishment after judgment, tieing up $568 of the $1,200 filing fee Hardin paid on his candidacy was served yesterday on Henry Williams, secretary of the county Democratic executive committee.

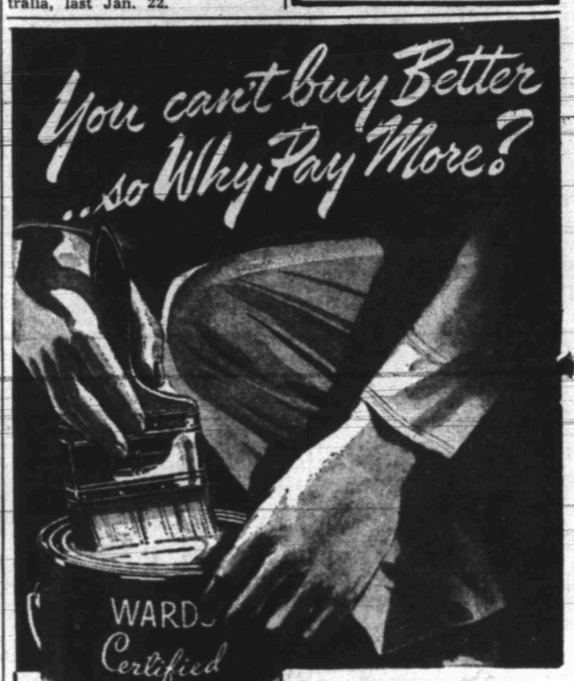

Williams was cited to appear in Hill county district court June 19 when the First National bank of Mount Calm will seek to collect its judgment of $568 against Doss Hardin, Ross Hardin and J. L. Hardin.

PORT DIRECTOR RETIRES

HOUSTON, May 31. (UP)—Capt. Charles W. Crotty, assistant director of the port of Houston, retired today after 40 years. Crotty, 68, was sent to Houston in 1904 by the U. S. Engineer's office at Galveston to spend "about two months" in surveying Buffalo Bayou preparatory ot deepening the channel to 18 feet. "That two month assignment lasted 40 years," Crotty laughed, "but I'm happy about it. In fact, I feel fine."

Wards Famous Super Quality

. . . SAVE 2 WAYS WITH WARDS SUPER

House Paint

3.25 Single Gallon — 3.15 Gallon in 5's

- Gallon covers 400-450 sq. ft., 2 coats!
- Super "cleans itself," stays lovely!
- You can't buy better, at any price!

1 YOU SAVE ON THE COST PER GALLON! Super is top-quality, at a money-saving price. In impartial laboratory tests with the top grades of the 6 best-known nationally advertised house paints (ALL HIGHER IN PRICE) Super proved:—It HIDES BETTER (because of more Titanium Dioxide); GOES FARTHER (gallon covers 600-900 sq. ft., one coat); and LASTS LONGER (because it contains a more expensive Linseed Oil).

2 YOU SAVE ON THE "COST PER YEAR!" In the average house paint job, only one-third of the cost is the paint itself; the other two-thirds is the labor. This labor cost is the same for a low-grade house paint (that will need repainting in a year or two) as it is for a LONG-LASTING top-grade paint like SUPER. That's why the longest lasting paint you can buy will cost you the least per year. So PAINT WITH WARDS SUPER . . . and SAVE!
