Saving Bookmobile Is Object Of Hearing

"The Bookmobile is dead," declared Lamb County Judge Don Joyner, presiding over a special meeting of Lamb County Commissioners Court held in the agriculture building in the city of Olton Thursday night.

"Then let's get busy and revive it," was the hue and cry of teachers of the local and surrounding schools, of parents, grandparents and great-grandparents effected by the recent loss of the traveling library upon which they had depended for some 16 years as an adequate supply of reading and research materials.

At issue was a late August or early September decision of the Commissioners Court to delete the cost of the Bookmobile from the 1981 Lamb County Budget. This decision was not made known to users of the traveling library. Olton library card-holders pointed out to the Court they had not been aware of this situation until reading of it in an out-of-County paper, else they would have requested a hearing at an earlier date.

A request was made of the Court for a place upon the agenda of the most recent session of the court, but had to be denied since the agenda had already been published. The Judge, however, generously offered to bring his Court to the city of Olton for the requested hearing Nov. 6.

The meeting opened with a statement from Dolan Fennell, Commissioner representing Springlake Earth area, defending his position in initiating the motion for deletion.

When the meeting was thrown open for questions and opinions from the protesting group gathered, a short history of the Bookmobile revealed that in 1963 four Counties, Bailey, Parmer, Cochran and Lamb, had formed a collective plan whereby they would share a traveling library. Bailey County, who first proposed the idea, offered to furnish a warehouse to be used as the book depository and to house the motor driven library. The State Library bore the expense of the venture for three years and added the privilege of the loan of any book in publication to its users, through the facilities of the Extension Loan Library service.

At the end of this trial period the four Counties assumed payment of this expense. Lamb County has since borne the greater financial burden of the project since it is based upon a per capita basis, and serves a greater number of people.

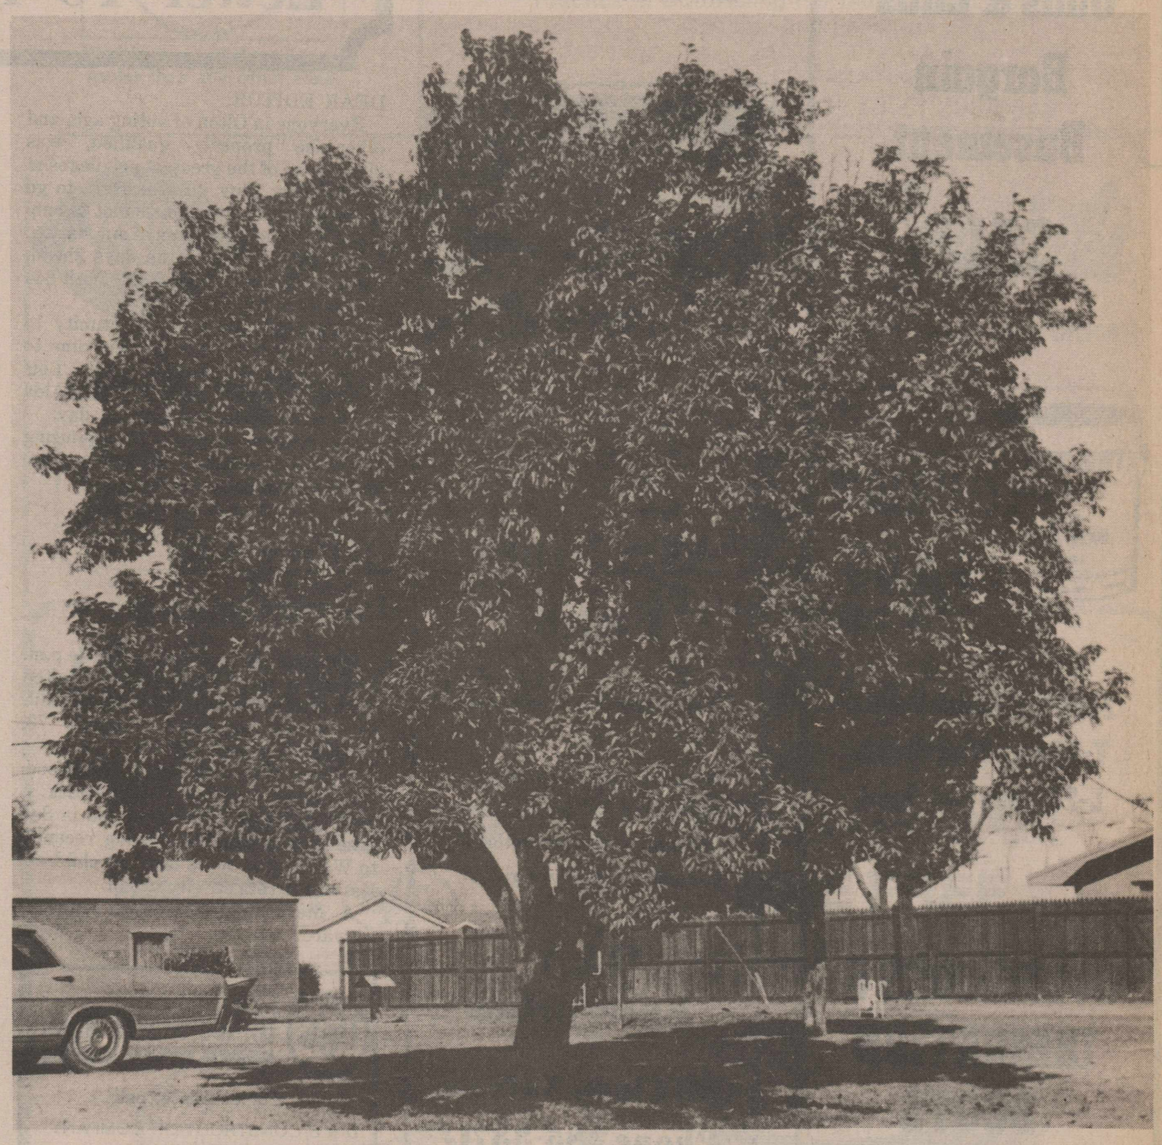

As the hearing progress, many teachers present testified to the value of human life and personality in teaching a child to learn to read during his formative years....and to enjoy it.Mrs. Bobbie Hutson, whose specialty is teaching reading, declared emphatically that all information that comes to her desk points to the fact that we need to get back to the basics in education READING, writing and arithmetic, and that loss of the service of the bookmobile was a defeating blow to schools in outlying areas.

Mrs. Ruth Newsom and Pauline Row, who had driven to the meeting from Bledsoe, had to leave early because of the great distance involved, but they were asked to state their case. Mrs. Newsom stated that their area lies some 36 to 50 miles from any book source, that their school library is less adequate than her own personal collection, consequently the loss of the traveling library had been a tremendous blow to them. They would like to see it restored.

The Court was confronted with a report from the State Library that Lamb County in 1979 paid $8760 for the Bookmobile. During the same period of time, Lamb County had paid into its OWN LIBRARY IN LITTLEFIELD, $14,198. Cancellation of the lesser project was charged to be discriminatory in view of the fact that taxpayers in outlying areas were deprived of a proportionate share of the $14,000 plus tax dollars so used.

It was further pointed out that because of an insufficient payment (27c per capita) the Bookmobile was placed upon probation with the State Laon facilities. And, than an insufficient payment (9c per capita) for the central Lamb County Library to meet required standards, it, too, is placed upon probation. Both lending agencies stand in the second year of probation and may lose the option of borrowing through the State's loan library, an invaluable resource.

The meeting adjourned with a motion that the court give the matter further study....and the sometimes overwrought petitioners hoping that they would soon be greeted with the sight of the friendly, welcome Bookmobile, especially in view of the fact that it is still budgeted for the year 1980.

Ambulance Association Notes Time For Training

Some two years ago the Olton community was faced with a tremendous challenge when Parsons announced the necessity of discontinuing the ambulance service he had operated for several years.

It was imperative that the community be offered ambulance service for the well being of all residents. The dilemna was solved with the acquiring of a new and well-equipped ambulance to be operated upon a voluntary basis.

The ensuing two successful years of voluntary ambulance service has been a truly community-wide endeavor. Involved has been the contribution of monies and other resources by untold numbers of people and organizations to secure proper equipment for the effort.

There followed innumerable hours spent by volunteers in training preparation and thereafter manning the ambulance in cases of emergency or need. Telephone committees had to be secured and trained in the unselfish giving of their time, this in order that drivers and crews might be alerted in case of need. This effort of community service has been very rewarding to all who have participated.

The State Health Department requires that each ambulance attendant be completely re-trained every two years.

That time is almost here. This training will need to be started for our ambulance attendants in January, 1981. The cost of this training will be substantial.

The Volunteer Ambulance Service has two specific needs at this time.

(1) Financial help in deferring the cost of the training of these volunteers. The cost per person will be about $50 per person.

(2) Additional Attendants, to replace some who have moved away or otherwise became unable to serve in this capacity.

Olton Volunteer Ambulance Association is planning a disaster demonstration Friday, Nov. 21 at 7:30 p.m. on the football field at Mustang Stadium.

Immediately following the close of football season, Oltonites are invited to return to this gridiron demonstration to view some "Games That People Are FORCED To Play". Additional details about the disaster demonstration will be given next week in these columns.

OVAA urges that many people attend this demonstration that they may be more aware of what can and should be done in the matter of emergency life saving care.

It is the sincere hope of the Association that a good number of people will see the need and the possibility of serving in this capacity; and that they will join in the efforts of other volunteers now serving. Also, that others unable to perform such service will leave the demonstration with a desire to sponsor some willing volunteer by defraying the cost of his/her training expenses.

The invitation is to all....to come to the football field to see this unusual demonstration.

Letter To The Editor

DEAR EDITOR:

Everyone in Olton of voting age, and otherwise properly qualified, was offered one of the greatest privileges in life Tuesday, Nov. 4,....the right to go to the polls and cast their ballot to help determine the leadership of our Nation, State, and County in the days ahead. Record Numbers turned out, with 844 persons voting.

I want to take this opportunity to thank those who gave of their time to help us with the election locally. Lois Brimhall, Eleanor Sudduth, and Aida Saldivar were at the polls all day.

E.J. Houston helped with organizing the counting of ballots so that we were through counting at 7:15 p.m.

To each of those at the tally sheets, who were numerous, we say thank you also; especially do we appreciate Helen Quigley who arranged a crew at the last minute to see us through the large number of ballots cast.

Last, but not least, THANK YOU to each person who voted; for your cooperation in helping us speed things along....and for making Democracy and Freedom work at the polling place.

Gratefully,
Wendell Potts, Election Judge

Former Mustangs Hold On To Lead

Former Mustang gridsters, Gary Davis and Kevin Workman, continue to share the lead in the Enterprise football contest, a spot they claimed last week. They have 128 points each.

For the week, Dennis Warren out-guessed all other contestants, missing just four games. He claims the week's top win of $5.

Five contestants missed five games each with the Missouri-Nebraska game as tie-breaker. Former coach Tom Duncan was only two points off the actual score with a 14-38 prediction and will receive second place winnings. Third place was claimed by Scott Curtsinger of Lubbock who missed by eight points with 21-35.

Those missing five games who were eliminated by their tie-breaker predictions were Kenneth Williams, 17 points off, 24-29; Mike Williams, 18, 10-26 and David LaDuke, 29, 10-15.

Contestants with 118 points or more are listed elsewhere in this issue. Any of these could still be the possible winner of the season grand prize of $50.

No contestant should drop out of competition, even one who has no chance at winning the top prize. Anyone can be a weekly winner.

If you've enjoyed the contest thus far, don't forget to express your appreciation to the sponsors who make the game possible. They are the businesses whose ads appear on the contest pages - Pay-n-Save Grocery, Olton Equipment, Olton Co-op Gin, Walker Texaco, Olton State Bank, Leon' Grocery, V.A.L.I., Inc. It's True.

"After installing the heat pump in my own home and monitoring it very closely for two or three years, we were so impressed with the heat pump that we're using them in quite a few new homes that we are building. The heat pump is easy to adapt to different types of buildings and homes.
We've run detailed comparisons of other heating and cooling systems and are very satisfied with the efficiency of the heat pump. I feel like the heat pump is the product of the future and the advantage of it is that it is available now."

agri-facts

What do the following events have in common? A Chinese businessman in Beijing decides it's time for a new pair of shoes . . . a housewife in Brussels buys a bar of soap . . . an Italian merchant orders a case of candles . . . and a musician in Venezuela discovers he needs violin strings. The common element in all these events is the strengthening demand for American beef by-products. In it's first full trading year the PRC (People's Republic of China) is buying nearly 150,000 cattle hides. Two years ago when the beef industry had total exports of about 1.6 billion dollars worth of beef . . . over 80 percent of the total dollar volume was from by-products. So as our cattle producers provide us with steaks and hamburgers they also provide shoes in China, soap in Brussels, candles in Italy, violin strings in Venezuela, and thousands of other needed items world wide.

EXTRA PRAYER

When the world falls down around you
And a prayer will see you through,
Say an extra prayer for someone
Who may need it more than you.

For who knows what hearts are breaking
In the silence of the night?
Just that extra prayer you whisper
May help someone see the light!

Everytime you help a stranger
With an extra prayer - or two -
You are building secret blessings
That will all come back to you.

These Pioneer® brand cotton varieties do well in our area.

Certified Lockett 77 — We saw this variety stand up to conditions that saw other varieties deliver disappointing performances in 1980. From emergence through fruiting and on into harvest, Lockett 77 showed its strength throughout the season. It demonstrated its resistance to bacterial blight and the fusarium wilt-nematode complex. And it proved itself in a variety of management programs on both irrigated and non-irrigated land. Fiber quality has been good, too.

Certified PR80 — Seed for this variety is hard to come by, so many of our customers will have to wait for PR80 until next season. But we encourage you to keep an eye on this powerful new variety from Pioneer. You'll like its early maturity. And its yields will make you think twice about planting anything else. Along with resistance to many common cotton diseases, PR80 shows good fiber qualities and high gin turnout. We really like the looks of this one! You will, too!

INSUR-MATION

In recent weeks my wife and I have been discussing the purchase of a new home. However, with the added expenses and responsibilities of a new home, I'm concerned what kind of position my wife would be in if anything should ever happen to me. A friend suggested I talk with an insurance agent. How can that help?

Life insurance can be bought for the specific purpose of paying any outstanding mortgage balance on your home. With the variety of policies to choose from, your agent should be able to find one to fit your particular needs and budget. Also, most companies offer replacement policies which will provide funds for mortgage payments should you become disabled.
