RED 'VOICE'? — A man claiming to be Capt. Ambrose Nugent, above, of Nashville, Ill., was heard broadcasting anti-American propaganda over the North Korean Red radio from Seoul. Nugent's wife, Olga, a Bavarian war bride now in Nashville, declares her husband, who is missing in Korea, "must have been tortured" if he made such broadcasts.

C. Of C. To Ask County Bond Ballot

The Highway Committee of the Chamber of Commerce will request the Midland County Commissioners Court, at its next scheduled meeting July 24, to submit to the voters as promptly as possible, a $1,000,000 bond issue proposal.

The bond funds, if made available, will be used to match a Texas Highway Commission appropriation of $17,200 for the proposed widening of North Front Street from east to west city limits, and for the proposed Big Spring Street grade separation and drainage projects. Some of the bond money also would finance the acquiring of additional right-of-way for the proposed widening of U. S. 80 Highway to the east county line.

Members of the Highway Committee, meeting Friday afternoon, voted to request the court to call a bond election as soon as possible. Chairman John P. Butler advised his committee members of the State Highway Department appropriation, which will be available when and if local agencies provide unobstructed right-of-way and gutters for the Front Street project. Under the existing plans, Front Street would become a dispersal route for traffic through the city. Adequate facilities also would be provided to relieve a critical drainage problem in downtown Midland.

State To Participate

The State Highway Department, it was pointed out, has agreed to do the engineering and construction of the Front Street highway from curb to curb, and to participate in the Big Spring Street grade separation project. The T&P Railway also has indicated it will participate in the grade separation job.

Chamber Manager Delbert Downing said the Highway Commission appropriation was approved after commission members had inspected the traffic and drainage situation here during their visit to and annual Midland Rodeo early in June.

The Highway Commission members, after considering the matter, authorized Butler to request the Commissioners Court to call the bond election as soon as possible.

Others attending the Friday meeting were Robert L. Wood, C. of C. president; Fred Frohman, M. C. Ulmer, County Judge; C. Keith, Jack Wilkinson, M. W. Conley, Jr., Ralph M. Barron and Downing.

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce previously had endorsed proposed bond issues for expansion and improvement projects by both the county and the city.

All-Time Vote Mark May Be Set Saturday

Politics will warm up in Midland and throughout the state this week as candidates for state, district, county and precinct offices wind up their vote-getting campaigns before Saturday's Democratic primary.

The stepped-up campaigns also are expected to stimulate voter interest, which has lagged generally in this section.

Louis A. Bartha, Midland County Democratic Executive Committee chairman, said Saturday voting places and judges have been designated, the ballots are printed and everything is in readiness for Saturday's election.

A total of 117 absentee ballots had been cast in the county clerk's office here Saturday noon. The absentee voting ends Tuesday midnight.

Seven Voting Places

Midland County this year has seven voting precincts, more than in the 1948 elections. The voting places are listed elsewhere in this issue of The Reporter-Telegram. Six thousand three hundred forty-two poll tax receipts and exemption certificates an all-time high, were issued here this year.

Democratic precinct conventions also are scheduled at 10 a. m. Saturday, when delegates to the county convention to be held the following Saturday will be named.

Although many of the offices attracted lone candidates, Midland County voters still will have the opportunity of doing considerable "scratching" since the names of 80 candidates for the 33 state, district, county and precinct offices appear on the ballot.

The lieutenant governor position is sought by 12 hopefuls, while eight persons are seeking the post of Judge of Court of Criminal Appeals. Seven candidates are in the governor's race.

Air Force Still Keeps Pyote Base

PECOS—Pyote Air Force base has received no word about being reactivated because of the Korean crisis, but it is not being taken over by any civilian firm.

Lt. Col. Clarence J. Inabinet, Jr., base commander, has just released a base memorandum, informing the military and civilian personnel that the Air Force would continue to operate the base. For the last four months the future of the base has been in doubt.

Following is the memorandum released by Colonel Inabinet:

"Pyote Air Force base will continue to operate under Air Force supervision, and Air Force and civilian personnel will perform work as required."

Some Controls

"Occasionally, contracts are made with civilian aircraft firms for removal of stored aircraft to various points for conversion and modification to meet U. S. Air Force's requirements."

"No drastic change is anticipated in the number of military or civilian personnel now located at the base. Any personnel displaced in the near future will be replaced by persons having skills particularly suited to the current program."

Colonel Inabinet, in his release, did not specify what companies were on the base at the present time. However, his office announced on May 22 that 50 employees of Curtis Wright Aircraft Corporation of Columbus, Ohio, were removing several B-29's from storage at Pyote.

The planes were being readied for "one-way" flights to specified points. No other announcement has been made about plane removal.

★ LATE NEWS FLASHES ★

TOKYO (AP)—General MacArthur's headquarters said at 2:45 p. m. Sunday (Tokyo Time) U. S. counterattacks had smashed at least two Communist attempted crossings on the Kum River, inflicting "heavy casualties."

TOKYO (AP)—General MacArthur announced Sunday that U. S. Naval planes have begun aerial reconnaissance of the South China Sea coast and Nationalist Formosa.

TOKYO (AP)—General MacArthur Sunday told Tom Lambert of The Associated Press and Peter Kalischer of The United Press, barred from the South Korean front Saturday, to go back to the war. He said he was lifting the ban because both were old friends of his.

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—An oil barge exploded Saturday night at the Hudson River docks of the Esso Oil Company five miles south of here. The blast split the barge in half. First reports did not indicate whether anyone was killed or injured.

RED FLANKING MOVEMENT—A Red beachhead on the south bank of the Kum River near Konju (1) had been expanded early Sunday as Americans fought to hold their 15-mile defense line (jagged symbol) in front of Taejon. North Korean flanking movements continued on the west coast, north of Kusan (2) and registered gains on the central front between Andong and Hamchang (3). On the east coast, the situation remained unchanged, with the bulk of Red forces between Uchin and Wolpo (4), threatening a drive (open arrow) toward the U. S. base port of Pusan.

Truman Said Ready To Ask Mobilization Of Men, Production

WASHINGTON (AP)—High Administration officials said Saturday that President Truman will send Congress a special message by mid-week asking funds and authority to carry through a partial mobilization program.

The program, covering both men and production of war materiel, will be adequate to meet the Korean crisis and the broader Western Russian emergency, it was said, but will not put the country on a full war footing.

Final decisions on the precise steps to be taken will be made by Truman by Tuesday at the latest, some responsible informants said, and the message to Congress will go forward immediately thereafter. It will be the President's first such pronouncement on the crisis which broke upon the world three weeks ago.

Information vital to the final decisions was given the President and other leaders Saturday by Gen. J. Van Fleet, who returned after Saturday morning from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters and the Korean battlefield.

New Weapons On Way

Collins, at a news conference later, said U. S. forces will be able to hold an "extensive bridgehead" on the Korean Peninsula, and later will be able to launch an attack from there that will throw out the Communists.

He said new weapons are being rushed into the battle area. This confidence contrasted with a statement by Rep. James E. Van Zandt, a member of the House Armed Services Committee, that the (Continued On Page 11)

Cisco Man Faces Mail Theft Charge

ABILENE (AP)—Federal charges of theft of a registered letter containing $2,000 in currency were filed here Saturday against Charles Earl Owens, 29, of Cisco.

Postal Inspector G. W. Morrow of Abilene, who arrested Owens Friday, said he was accused of taking the money from a letter sent from the Dallas Federal Reserve Bank to the First National Bank of Throckmorton July 7.

Navy, Marines Ask Women Vets To Volunteer Now

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy and the Marines Saturday asked their women veterans to volunteer for active duty.

The Marines asked the former female Leathernecks in and out of the reserve to apply for "extended active duty" in this country to relieve men in no-combat jobs.

A little later the Navy sent out a call for enlisted women in the Naval Reserve to volunteer for 12 months' service. The Navy didn't say where the volunteers would be placed, but in such fields as personnel, accounting, storekeeping, aerography and hospital and dental work.

The Navy said it wants women in all petty officer grades to take over jobs in communications, as yeomen, and in such fields as personnel, accounting, storekeeping, aerography and hospital and dental work.

4,020 In Texas To Hear Call

AUSTIN (AP)—State Selective Service Saturday asked local boards to funnel 4,020 young Texans into a draft examination pool from which the September quota of 1,005 will be taken.

The 4,020 will take examinations in August.

Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state draft director, told the 137 local boards by mail of their physical examination quotas. These calls should be delivered by Monday. Processing will begin immediately.

"We must keep in mind at all times that we are not dealing with Selective Service numbers, but with the sons of our neighbors and friends," Wakefield said in his letter.

Wheels In Motion

"Our government has not yet gone through the Democratic ritual of making a formal declaration of war, but the wheels of the Selective Service System are already in motion. The ability of the Texas state headquarters to deliver its quota is almost entirely dependent upon the alert and proper functioning of the system at the local board level."

"As horrible as war is to those who have felt its fire, the loss of liberty is a far deeper wound. We propound the obvious to remind ourselves of the countless noble deeds of self-sacrifice by Texans from Pearl Harbor through V-J Day and beyond. Now, in this new emergency x x x Texans of all ages are feeling and conducting themselves as they have in all past crises—that is, putting love of country before self-interests."

Inductions In September

Texans sent up for physical examinations will go to centers at Shreveport, Amarillo, Dallas, El Paso, Houston and San Antonio August 7-11. Whether they pass or not, they then will be returned to their local boards.

Inductions will start in September. Following are local boards in the Midland area and their quotas: Board, Dawson, Gaines Counties—16; Ector, Andrews Counties—28; Howard, Martin, Mitchell Counties—24; Nolan, Fisher, Scurry Counties—10; Pecos, Reeves, Ward, Winkler, Loving Counties—28; Upton, Reagan, Crane Counties—8; Midland, Sterling, Glasscock Counties—12.

Midlander Killed In Highway Crash

SAN ANGELO—Landrum W. Payve, 22, of Midland was decapitated at 7:35 p. m. Saturday when the truck he was driving collided with a passenger car on U. S. 87 Highway.

State highway patrolmen who investigated the accident said Payve apparently was alone in the truck. He was driving north toward San Angelo and patrolmen said his truck was weaving from side to side on the highway. The right front part of his truck collided with the right front part of the automobile which was headed south.

The car was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Moore of Littlefield and their daughter-in-law, Mrs. James L. Thomas. They were enroute to Camp Hood to visit Mrs. Thomas' husband, who is stationed there.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Thomas were brought to a San Angelo hospital where attendants described their conditions as critical. Payve's body was brought to a San Angelo funeral home.

Officers Probe Store Burglary

The Midland Police and Sheriff's Departments Saturday were investigating the burglary of Furr's Food Store here in which about $200 was taken. Several suspects had been questioned late Saturday.

Police Chief Jack Ellington said the money was in 1940 dimes when the store was taking in a special sales promotion feature.

Navy Landing Party Spikes Coastal Drive

TOKYO (AP)—U. S. infantry, supported by around-the-clock bombing, Sunday checked the North Korean lunge across the Kum River near strategic Taejon in heavy fighting.

Field dispatches said the Communists attempted to build up their forces south of the river, but a number of patrols were thrown back by an alert American defense.

The North Koreans were acknowledged earlier to have enlarged their bridgehead on the south bank of the Kum about 20 miles northwest of Taejon. Field dispatches indicated the Communists have advanced five miles from this river and are about 15 miles west of Taejon.

A headquarters spokesman with the U. S. Eighth Army described the Communist attack as "strong." Presumably, he referred to Red attempts to break out from the bridgehead and overrun Taejon and its air field.

There still was no evidence that the Northerners had moved tanks across the Kum, said Associated Press Correspondent William R. Moore. Tanks have spearheaded the North Korean invasion from the outset.

Intense aerial assaults were believed to have disrupted enemy attempts to bolster the bridgehead, Moore said. Another front dispatch said U. S. air strikes on targets along the north bank had touched off 15 fires.

Flying Boat Limps Home On One Wing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The 82 1/2-ton Caroline Mars—world's largest operational flying boat—won a dramatic 480-mile flight against disaster over the Pacific Saturday night, arriving at 6:17 p. m. from Honolulu on only one engine. Both were on the right side—and one of them was faulty.

Her nerve-rattling arrival at Alameda Naval Air Station meant safety for 15 crewmen and three Navy passengers who only 80 miles out faced the risk of going down on a Pacific with a five-foot crest.

That was at a time when the third engine, put to a strain to help make up loss of both 3,000-horsepower engines on the left side, began to sputter.

It was a harrowing experience for those aboard the behemoth of the airways which only recently drew nationwide attention by flying 144 men over the slightly longer distance of 2,600 miles from Honolulu to San Diego, a record load for such an engine-driven flying boat.

Rescue Planes Alongside

As the 200-foot wing dipped ever lower from an original altitude of 7,000 feet to one of only a scant 1,000, near the Golden Gate, it looked like Lt. Cmdr. A. C. Snyder and his men could not make it.

Rescue planes, prepared to drop life rafts by parachute, flew alongside. Below, a Navy cutter appeared. (Continued On Page 12)

Man Falls 87 Feet From Derrick, Caught By Fellow-Workman

ENID, OKLA. (AP)—J. J. (Buzzy) Branham fell 87 feet down an oil well derrick Saturday but a fellow-workman caught him in his arms below.

Branham, 32, was hospitalized here with broken ribs, a broken leg fractured nose.

Floyd Matlack, 42, suffered only a sprained shoulder and returned to work later.

Matlack, on the derrick floor below, braced himself and caught Branham.

Another 'Saucer' Spotted In Midland

Midland had another flying saucer story Saturday night.

Oliver Haag, 1702 West Kentucky Street, called The Reporter-Telegram to report a "saucer" flying northeast at about 1,000 feet altitude.

The object was aflame, Haag said. He was sitting in his back yard when he spotted the object. Johnny Speir reported seeing a bright object while watching a movie at a drive-in theater.

Speir said the object came over the flatland of the theater and began to get brighter. Then, he related, it broke up into several pieces.

Stalin Message To India's Nehru Stirs Peace Speculation

MOSCOW (AP)—Prime Minister Stalin Saturday made his first statement on the Korean fighting in a personal message to Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru. Contents of the note were not disclosed.

Nehru, who has announced his willingness to serve as a mediator in the Korean conflict, said in a personal note to Stalin Thursday. The reply was handed to Dr. S. Radhakrishnan, Indian ambassador to Moscow, by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

The Indian Embassy issued a statement Saturday afternoon saying:

"The Indian ambassador was requested to call at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs at 3:30 p. m. Saturday. Mr. Gromyko delivered to him a letter from Generalissimo Stalin to the Prime Minister of India."

There has been a growing belief in foreign circles here that the Soviet Union would discuss the entire Far Eastern question. This would include Korea, Formosa and Indochina.

Foreign diplomats said Russia's price for such a settlement probably would be the withdrawal of American troops and any other foreign troops from the Korean Peninsula. The Russians also were said to want general elections in both North and South Korea to pick a single government for the whole peninsula.

FIRST METHODISTS WILL HOLD REGULAR SERVICES

Regular morning worship services will be held Sunday in The First Methodist Church, although night services will be dismissed so that members may attend organization services in the new St. Mark's Methodist Church Sunday night. The Rev. Howard Holloway, pastor, announced.

A previous announcement concerning the schedule of Sunday services was confusing to the public, Mr. Holloway stated.

MacARTHUR RECEIVES UNITED NATIONS FLAG—Army Chief of Staff J. Lawton Collins, left, shakes hands with Gen. Douglas MacArthur after presenting him with the United Nations flag at MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters. The United Nations flag will fly with the Stars and Stripes over MacArthur's headquarters in Tokyo during the Korean conflict.

Arkansas Sheriff Confirms Blind Man's Robbery Tale

MONAHAN — (P) — A blind man's tale of a bank robbery was confirmed by an Arkansas sheriff. The sheriff at Havana, Ark., said the bank there was robbed in 1931 of $900 and that the two men who did it never were caught. Stanley E. Hedrick, who said he had been blind for 13 years, on July 12 gave himself up to Ward County officers. He said his conscience had been bothering him for 19 years.

A post office inspector was due here Saturday to question Hedrick about his statement that he and another man robbed the post office at Quitaque, Texas, in 1932.

Second Mineola Duel Victim Dies

MINEOLA, TEXAS. — (P) — The second victim of a gun duel between two peace officers died Friday. He was Mineola police chief Wesley Taylor.

Taylor and constable Will Whittle Wednesday shot out their differences over the handling of a minor accident. Whittle was killed instantly.

Taylor had refused to book an out-of-state motorist for running a red light. The constable disagreed. There was a scuffle and about a half hour later they met and shot it out in front of the justice of the peace office.

Jewel P. Lightfoot Dies In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH. — (P) — Jewel P. Lightfoot, the attorney general that made an oil company pay a multimillion dollar fine in cash, died Friday.

The 77-year-old lawyer and prominent Mason died after an illness of six months.

As an assistant attorney general in 1905 he directed prosecution of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company. This anti-trust suit resulted in a fine of $1,784,000 and Lightfoot demanded it be paid in cash. Company's attorneys and officials piled $10,000 bills, smaller currency and $50,000 in gold upon a table of an Austin courtroom.

Lucille Ball Voluble In Discussing Screen Auditions

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — Lucille Ball slipped me the lowdown on her failure to pin to the canvas the dumb chick role in "Born Yesterday" and makes it holler uncle. She's got a touch of Francis the mule in her soul when it comes to auditions.

Instead of scolding me for the role with Evelyn Keyes, Judy Holiday, Marie Wilson, Shelley Winters and Jan Sterling, Lucille went bolting the other way.

The "let's-see-if-you're-it" boys played and cajoled. My knees gave way. I did the whole audition in scrubwoman position. Selznick laughed and said thanks a lot.

"I figure if they want you, they want you," Lucille plainspokenly. "If you've got to read and test for it to heck with it."

It isn't chronicled in Hollywood history, but once, badgered by her RKO bosses, Lucille went tripping over to David O. Selznick's office for a whack at the Scarlett O'Hara role in "Gone With the Wind."

That's what curdled her in the first place.

"It was awful," Lucille shudders. "I was shaking all over when I hit Selznick's office. My knees gave way. I did the whole audition in scrubwoman position. Selznick laughed and said thanks a lot."

Judy Holiday landed the junkman's doll role and Lucille grabbed a railroad ticket for a personal appearance tour with hubby Desi Arnaz.

She strutted to Latin rhythms, swung a glittering purse in a manner dear to the hearts of runaway girls and wise-cracked for the customers.

Mimics Oscar Winners. At the last moment she nixed a dancing and singing routine. The star with the forest-fire hair shrugged.

"I decided it would be silly to compete with Grable."

A lot of movie queens laid in fresh supplies of smelling salts, ice cream and coffee. My knees gave way. I did the whole audition in scrubwoman position. Selznick laughed and said thanks a lot.

She's a blister-raiser from way back and the air was shrill with ouchees about a year ago when she whipped up an impression of an Academy Award winner.

But the girls can go back to worrying about other things—like shrinking from larger-than-life to television screen size.

Lucille didn't let any "furriners" see the routine.

"It's for Hollywood only," she said. "I should take radio-active material on the road."

Her Oscar-grabber routine is strictly for unreal anyhow, she says, and no blood relation to Bette Davis, Olivia de Havilland, Ingrid Bergman or any other Screen Duse. She insisted.

"She's any movie star, even me. This character has to go up on that stage and act surprised. She's only been rehearsing what she's going to say for eight weeks. So she says, 'Y. Gads, me? But I'm so unprepared. Really, I didn't dream...'"

Lucille generally is as unflinching about the movie queen business as Pearl White was about outrunning trains.

But her knees executed some wobbles that aren't in Arthur Murray's rhumba dance book when she checked into her first vaudeville dressing room.

"Those stages—they're so big," she gasped. "Hey, I'd hate to get caught in the middle of one of those stages without bread and water."

Lucille didn't take any chances with out-of-town press interviews, either.

"I once did a personal appearance tour with Maureen O'Hara and had to show up at a press party," she grinned.

"My sinus—I just die from it—was acting up. The reporter next to me didn't understand my puffed eyes and cold sores. He called Maureen a lady in his story. But he referred to me as a whisky tender with red-runny eyes."

Lucille's brain cells work on direct current and she's not one to make like Sonja Henie with the figure eights when a straight glide to home base will get her there quicker.

They still laugh about her exit line to Louis B. Mayer when she left MGM.

Mayer always referred to her as a thoroughbred and sometimes compared her to his famous horses.

"Yes, and like your other nags, I'm leaving your stable," Lucille told Mayer when she decided to bow out of her contract.

She has high hopes for her new picture, "The Fuller Brush Man." Not that she enjoyed it.

"Honey, the ones that I don't enjoy turn out to be the best ones. This one put me in the hospital. My feet are still bandaged up. I'm a mess. No more physical type pictures for me."

Hello, Folks...

I'd like to tell you about a picture we've made at M-G-M, "Stars In My Crown". It's what a newspaper friend of mine calls a human interest story... it's not the story of one man or one family—it's about all the folks in this town or any town... the good and the bad... the dramatic things and funny things that happen to them.

Like pretty Ellen Drew—she's my wife in the story. She sort of runs the whole shebang from the sidelines. And there's young Dean Stockwell as John. Watching him is like growing up all over again. Then there's Alan Hale, a man who loves a fight or a prank, and Lewis Stone who's the old Doc and handsome James Mitchell who's the young Doc. And well, there's characters like Uncle Famous and Chloroform and the bully—every town has them, for better or for worse.

Me, I play the Parson, the kind of man who says "Either I speak or my pistols do!" I've never played a role like this one before. It's different and it's real. And I sincerely hope you like it.

Election Cost To Set All-Time High In Midland County

It costs real money to hold a Democratic primary election, and the candidates for the various county and precinct offices must foot the bill.

Louis A. Bartha, county Democratic chairman, said Saturday the July 22 primary will establish a new high in election costs in Midland County. Two additional voting precincts have hiked the cost, along with higher prices for supplies.

And the cost per candidate is higher than usual due to the fact there are fewer candidates for county and precinct offices this year.

Labor constitutes the major expense in conducting the election, Bartha said. A total of 56 persons, 44 in the city and 12 in the rural precincts, will be used in holding next Saturday's election. The labor cost will total $961.50.

Ballots, supplies and other miscellaneous items will cost an estimated $184, bringing the total election cost to $1,145.50.

McCAMEY—Petitions are being circulated in McCamey asking the Upton County Commissioners Court to call a $200,000 bond election for the purpose of establishing an Upton County Hospital. The project for the 17-bed hospital is sponsored by the McCamey Women's Study Club, with Mrs. Bill Van Atta as chairman. Approval of federal aid in the project has been approved by the Texas State Department of Health.

City Attorney Jim Langdon announced the purchase of 50 acres of land South of McCamey for the new sewage-disposal plant at the meeting of the City Council. The land was a part of the Burleson and Johns Estate. In other action, the council approved seal-coating of McKinney Avenue and Fifth Streets; reported that the new city water well had been drilled and that foundation steel for the 250,000 gallon overhead water storage tank had been shipped; received a report from Joe B. Tharp indicating the new city hall and fire station should be completed in August and unanimously agreed to become a contributing member to the McCamey Chamber of Commerce.

The McCamey Independent School District Board of Trustees recently tabled all bids on the proposed primary, gymnasium and shop buildings, as bids were far in excess of preliminary estimates. The board indicated that final action on the project will probably be taken at the Monday night meeting.

The work of dismantling the old Shell Service Station at the intersection of Fifth Street and Burleson Avenue has begun by C. W. Brown, owner. No plans have been announced for the site. E. P. Halimick is constructing a new building across from the location.

School Board Action
The Board of Trustees of the McCamey Independent School District acted to establish a Dunbar High School. The group voted to purchase the old city hall building and provide necessary improvements to make it into a three-room school, with work to begin immediately. At the same time, E. M. Hale of Eagle Lake was hired as band and choral director of McCamey High School for the coming year, a 48-passenger school bus was purchased and it was voted to install water cooling units in the school buildings.

Carolyn Simpson of Robert Lee was a guest of Sandra Nelle Welch two weeks. During the visit the girls attended the Junior Methodist Camp in Kerrville. Carolyn returned home Monday.

EAT PLENTY AND TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Many people have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drugstore and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic, from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

LOST 40 POUNDS
"Before taking Barcentrate, my weight was 250 pounds. After taking seven bottles my weight is now 210 and I feel so much better, thanks to Barcentrate." Signed, Mrs. L. M. Robinson, Seabrook, Texas.

Midlanders Called Upon To Buy Bonds To Meet Quota

Calling upon all Midland County residents to rally to the cause in meeting this county's quota in the Independence Savings Bond Campaign, Chairman John P. Butler said Saturday the drive ends Monday night and that unless citizens invest heavily in Series E Bonds, the county will finish far under its $187,000 goal.

A report issued Saturday from state campaign headquarters in Dallas shows that Midland has attained only 38.20 per cent of its quota, on sales totaling $71,430.56. Butler said with the Korean situation as it is, it now is more important than ever to purchase U. S. Saving Bonds. Midland never before has failed to meet a bond quota, he stated.

He called attention to the fact that Dawson County has attained 447.66 per cent of its $16,000 quota on purchases totaling $71,625. Andrews County also is "over-the-top" with $2,723.75 purchases against a $2,000 quota, or 136.19 per cent. Howard County last week hit the 102.43 per cent mark on sales totaling $121,886.25 against a $119,000 quota. Scurry County also has exceeded its $48,500 quota on purchases totaling $61,087.50, or 125.95 per cent.

The Public Information Office at Davis-Mountain Air Force Base made the announcement. Bodies of the men, and that of a fourth crew member whose death was revealed earlier, were returned to the base.

The dead are: S. Sgt. Harold G. Martin, 27, Shamrock, Okla.; S. Sgt. Robert R. O'Daniel, 26, Azusa, Calif.; Cpl. James P. Adcock, 21, Birmingham, Ala.

First Half Of '50 Sets Building Mark

WASHINGTON —(P)—More new homes were started in the first half of 1950 than in any other six months of American history. The number was 887,000.

Also, June rolled up the highest monthly total of homebuilding "starts" ever recorded, 142,000.

Those preliminary estimates were announced Saturday by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics. They showed that homebuilders have kept right on breaking records as the great 1950 construction boom continued.

Solon Says U. S. May Be Evacuating Korea In 'Next 72 Hours'

HARRISBURG, PA. —(P)—Rep. James E. Van Zandt (R-Pa.) said Saturday the United States "may have to evacuate Korea in the next 72 hours."

Van Zandt, a member of the House Armed Forces Committee and the Joint Atomic Energy Committee, made the statement in a speech before the Pennsylvania Convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

It is possible we may stand up and fight for the Port of Pusan, or Normandy will be repeated," Van Zandt declared. He referred to the amphibious operation necessary during World War II when U. S. and Allied armies returned to the European continent.

Later, Van Zandt told a reporter he based his opinion on the grounds that the Kum River is the last natural barrier against the Communist troops.

At the same time, he said his prediction of the imminent evacuation is entirely his own thinking and is not based upon recent information from Washington.

Agreed In Capital

It was generally agreed, however, in Washington last week, Van Zandt said, "that if the Communists crossed the Kum River in force we would have to get out of the country (Korea)."

Van Zandt, three times national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and a veteran of both world wars, said General MacArthur has given congressional leaders assurance that if an evacuation is necessary it will be "an orderly retreat."

"South of the Kum River are only rolling hills and plains which are not at all suited for defensive action," Van Zandt said. "It will be just a matter of days, once the Communists get rolling, that they will over run the whole country."

He added that the American force in Korea "just doesn't have the manpower" to halt the North Korean drive.

In his speech before the VFW convention, Van Zandt declared that as a result of "American lack of preparedness we are in a hell of a fix."

The Department of Defense, he said, has not used the appropriations that Congress provided and in the manner Congress wished.

Van Zandt also predicted that "possibly" on Monday the National Guard and organized reserves will be alerted for action.

New Rambler Station Wagon Is Displayed By Midland Dealer

Ace Motors Saturday announced it has on display the completely new Nash Rambler custom station wagon of all steel "Airflyte" construction. It is the lowest priced custom station wagon on the market, Manager Malcolm Brenneman said.

Including about $300 worth of custom "extras," the car is priced at $1,808. Custom equipment offered at no extra cost includes: radio, Weather Eye conditioned air system, directional signals, foam cushions, chrome wheel discs, electric clock, courtesy lights, custom upholstery and trim, and other features, Brenneman said.

Cargo Space

The new station wagon is a five-passenger, two-door car, and is designed to meet the needs of owners requiring ample passenger and cargo space. It is the second member of the new Nash Rambler line. The Rambler convertible sedan, introduced earlier this year, also is the lowest priced car of its type, the Midland Nash dealer said.

The new Rambler is the first station wagon built with "Airflyte" construction. Built like a Nash Statesman and Ambassador models, its body and frame are welded into one strong single unit. "Airflyte" construction is stronger, more rigid, safer and eliminates squeaks and rattles, Brenneman said. It also eliminates useless weight, resulting in outstanding fuel and operating economy.

Egypt Turns Down Request For Troops

ALEXANDRIA, EGYPT —(P)—Mustafa Masrat Bey, Egypt's minister of war and navy, declared Saturday Egypt will not send troops to Korea in response to the appeal Friday by Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations.

Egypt abstained in the Security Council vote on the decision to intervene in Korea.

NEW RAMBLER STATION WAGON—Here is America's newest and lowest priced custom all-steel station wagon—the Nash Rambler. Standing a road-hugging 62-inches, it is a five-passenger, two-door utility car, with ample space for extra passengers and cargo. The new station wagon now is on display in the showrooms of the Ace Motors in Midland.

Albanian Note Says Slavs Have War Aims

PRAGUE, CZECHOSLOVAKIA —(P)—Albania has sent Yugoslavia a note charging her with border violations "aimed at starting a war," the Soviet news agency Tass said in a dispatch published here Saturday.

The dispatch, from the Albanian capital of Tirana, said the Albanian legation handed the note to the Yugoslav Foreign Ministry in Belgrade Friday.

The communication was quoted as saying that in June "the Yugoslavs were guilty of seven provocations on land and two in the air against the Albanian People's Republic."

George Ochoa Says He Won't Return To U. S. Voluntarily

MEXICO CITY —(P)—George W. Ochoa told reporters Saturday he refuses to return voluntarily to the U. S. to face two murder charges in Laredo.

This means a long legal fight to extradite him. Ochoa, who insists his real name is Jorge Guillermo Ochoa Vidal, claims Mexican citizenship although he had been a customs broker, licensed by the U. S. in Laredo, Texas, for several years.

At Laredo, district attorney E. James Kazen said he has a certified copy of Ochoa's birth certificate showing he was born Jorge Guillermo Ochoa, Laredo, on July 3, 1913, and listing his father as Alfonso P. Ochoa and mother as Luz Vidal Malo.

Guy A. Belzons, assistant district customs collector at Laredo, said Ochoa still is a licensed U. S. customs broker—and that Ochoa had to satisfy U. S. investigators that he was a U. S. citizen in order to get that license.

Ochoa is held in the Mexico City Penitentiary temporarily, although he will be returned to Lower California, where he was arrested, for the extradition hearing.

Speaks Good Spanish

Mexican reporters said he speaks good Spanish but with a slight U. S. accent. He received reporters in the prison yard, wearing a white knitted silk sport shirt and light gray trousers.

Ochoa said he was born in Reynosa, Mexico, on the frontier in 1914 and that he has both his birth certificate and his voting papers showing he voted in Mexican elections in Nuevo Laredo.

"What happened in Laredo, Texas," the newspaper Excelsior quoted him as saying, "was that it was better for my customs brokerage business to be known as a North American and I never denied this belief. But my great grandfather founded Laredo when it was part of New Spain."

Questioned about the fatal shooting of two men in a Laredo hotel, he said:

"Until my lawyer, Telesforo A. Ocampo, comes I won't say anything. I only want to insist that I am innocent, that my wife is in Mexico, and had nothing to do with this matter. If I fled from Laredo, despite being innocent, it was because the rumors there made me fear for my safety."

Man Who Wounded Four Persons Is Declared Insane

GOLDTHWAITE, TEXAS. —(P)—Tom Fuller, who wounded four persons and terrorized downtown Goldthwaite with a shotgun last May, has been declared insane.

A district court jury late Friday said Fuller, 46, was insane at the time he wounded the four persons and still is insane. He will be committed to mental hospital.

Fuller, who lived three miles from Goldthwaite, went on a shooting and shouting spree May 3 after he had received a small delinquent tax notice and feared the school board was going to take his property.

His shots from the door of a hardware-impliment store wounded bystanders R. L. Cockrum, 55, a farmer, Luther Booker, 65, a painter, and two other persons. He was charged with assault to murder in the shooting of Cockrum and Booker.

Deputy Sheriff Clyde Cockrum felled Fuller with a shot in the forearm after the man had harangued a crowd of several hundred, shooting occasionally into the street and store.

City, County Voting Precincts, Election Judges Announced

A complete list of city and county voting places and presiding judges in the July 22 Democratic primary was announced Saturday by Louis A. Bartha, chairman of the Midland County Democratic Executive Committee.

Midland County this year has four city and three rural voting precincts. The city voting precincts are 1, 5, 6 and 7. Precincts 2, 3 and 4 include the rural sectors. Precincts 6 and 7 were created in 1949 because of a large population increase in the corporate limits of the City of Midland.

The city voting precincts, judges, and area included are as follows:

Precinct 1—Basement of Midland County Courthouse, Frank True, area east of Big Spring Street and north of Wall Street.

Precinct 5—City-County Auditorium, C. J. Kelly, area east of Big Spring Street and south of Wall Street.

Other Voting Places

Precinct 6 — West Elementary School, J. L. Kendrick, area west of Big Spring Street and south of Wall Street.

Precinct 7—Youth Center, George Vannaman, area west of Big Spring Street and north of Wall Street.

The three rural voting places and judges are as follows:

Precinct 2—Greenwood School in East Midland County, Palmer Evans.

Precinct 3—Frank Midkiff ranch home in South-Central Midland County, Mrs. Frank Midkiff.

Precinct 4—Fire Station at Midland Air Terminal in West Midland County, Mrs. Leo Manning.

Commodity Index Shows Sharp Gain

NEW YORK —(P)—The Associated Press commodity index made its sharpest gain in more than four and one-half years last week as traders eyeing the Korean war developments rushed to buy raw materials.

The index of 35 important wholesale commodity prices soared to 178.81 on Thursday—highest since Dec. 7, 1948. Then it dropped off slightly to close the week at 178.73, compared with 174.94 a week ago and 152.90 a year ago.

The index base year of 1926 equals 100.

Midland Lions Club Delegation Arrives In Convention City

By LARRY TRIMBLE Special Correspondent

CHICAGO, ILL. — The Midland Lions Club Band arrived "a-playing" in this windy city at 1:30 p. m. Saturday on a 12-car Texas special train, which brought 162 Lions and their ladies to the annual convention of Lions International opening here Sunday.

The Midland bandsters attracted much comment and applause as they played a brief concert in the railway station before going to the Stephens Hotel, Texas headquarters.

The 29-member Midland delegation, which includes the wives and children of several of the band members, left Midland at 8:40 a. m. Friday. Concerts were played in Big Spring, Abilene and Fort Worth. The Midlanders also provided plenty of music on the special train.

The Midland group is headed by President C. Ed Prichard. Duke Jimerson is the band director. District Gov. and Mrs. James L. Daugherty of Midland arrived here Saturday by automobile.

District Gov. Elect Roy Carter of Kermit is whooping it up for his West Texas district. J. R. Todd, secretary-treasurer of the Crane Lions Club, and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Bruhert of Sundown have been adopted by the Midland group.

Lions by the thousands from all parts of the world are gathering here for the annual convale. More than 1,300 delegates are expected from Texas alone.

The band members were to take it easy Saturday evening before opening up strong as an official Texas orchestra Sunday. The Midlanders will visit the recently established Lions International city near Chicago Sunday.

NE Terry Slated For 10,000-Foot, Pennsylvanian Wildcat

Champion Refining Company of Midland and Enid, Okla., has staked a 10,000-foot wildcat in Northeast Terry County.

The proposed venture is Champion's No. 1 B. F. Hegler, to be 660 feet from north and west lines of section 48, block E, EL&RR survey. It is one and one-half miles southeast of Seaboard Oil Company No. 1 Hinson, discovery well of the two-well Mound Lake-Pennsylvanian pool.

Auld Made Deal
The No. 1 Hegler is the culmination of a deal worked up by Dan Auld of Kerrville, who arranged for Champion to be the operator.

For the drilling of the wildcat, Auld gave Champion section 48, the south half of section 45, the north half of section 55, the west half of section 47, all in block E, EL&RR survey.

Seaboard contributed to Champion leases on the northeast quarter of section 45 and southeast quarter of section 54.

Operations on the No. 1 Hegler are to begin by October 1.

the Llano River. The slotted 1,950-foot cable tool test will begin operations by July 18.

Amerada In Terry Tests Cored Zone

Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1 N. W. Willard, Central-South Terry County flowing discovery from 8,458-8,507 feet, is testing on 40 feet of new hole at 8,507-47 feet. That section was cored after the zone at 8,458-8,507 feet had flowed 144 barrels of 43-gravity oil in four hours through a five-eighth inch bottom hole choke. Gas-oil ratio was 431-1. No formation water developed from the test.

This new pay opener is 14 1/2 miles south of Bayfield, about the same distance north and east of Seagraves, one mile west of the Adair-San Andres field and 660 feet from north and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 6, block C-37, psi survey.

Seminole Extension In Gains Indicated

R. W. Fair of San Antonio No. 1 Argo-Oil Corporation-Ed Hyde, in Central Gaines County, is showing a one-half mile southwest extension to the Seminole field. It topped the San Andres line at 4,930 feet and the first pay in the San Andres at 5,140 feet. Total depth is 5,215 feet and elevation is 3,304 feet.

After drilling the plug it swabbed at the rate of 12 barrels of low gravity oil per day natural. It was shot with 150 quarts of nitro glycerin and on the last report it had cleaned out and had flowed 45 barrels of new oil in three hours. Operator is now building storage to take potential test and complete. This well is a little higher than the nearest producers about one-half mile to the northeast on the south side of the Seminole field, and may bring on an extension to that field.

The venture is located 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 192, block G, WTRR survey.

Discovery In Borden Draws East Offset

Standard Oil Company of Texas has scheduled an east offset to the discovery well of the East Vealmoor-Pennsylvanian field of Borden County. It is the No. 1 W. F. Hechler and others, 644 feet from north and 658 feet from south, block 15, section 15, block 27, H&TC survey, five miles west of Vincent.

Operator plans to commence rotary operations to 7,500 feet July 19.

C-E Midland Tester Cuts In Spraberry

Forest Oil Corporation, Houston Oil Company of Texas, Robert S. Brennan, Jr., and others No. 1 Pio Crespi, Central-East Midland County wildcat, eight miles southwest of the city of Midland is drilling in sand below 7,654 feet.

Two drillstem tests failed when total depth was at 7,666 feet in the Spraberry lime and sand of the lower Permian.

This prospect is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 17, block 38, TP survey, 8-2-S. It is slated to go to at least 7,800 feet, unless it develops commercial production before reaching that depth.

Humble Oil & Refining Company's No. 1 Lillie Midkiff and others, wildcat 25 miles southeast of the city of Midland in Midland County, is drilling below 1,764 feet in shale and anhydrite.

Exact location of the 13,500-foot wildcat is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 46, block 38, T-4-S, T&P survey, 15 miles due east of the Pegasus Ellenburger area.

Strawn Extension In Scurry Is Completed

Herman Brown has completed his No. 1 G. E. Parks as a one and one-half mile north extension to the North Snyder-Strawn field in Central-North Scurry County.

It potentialized for 175.26 barrels of 38-gravity oil and 18 per cent water daily on the pump from perforations between 7,226 and 7,311 feet. The pay zone was treated with 4,000 gallons of acid.

Pay was topped in the B zone of the Strawn at 7,292 feet. Hole is bottomed in the C zone at 7,478 feet. The lower zone was non-productive.

The No. 1 G. E. Parks is 467 feet from south and east lines of the lease in section 442, block 97, H&TC survey.

North Snyder Strawn Adds Dual Producer

Standard Oil Company of Texas' No. 2-5 Martin, located on the northeast edge of the North Snyder-Strawn field in Scurry County, has been completed as a dual producer from the B and C zones of the Strawn.

It potentialized for 1,703 barrels of 39-gravity oil and no water daily from a perforated section of the B zone between 7,363 and 7,419 feet. Top of the pay was reported at 7,357 feet with a total depth of 7,517 feet.

The upper potential was based on a natural five hour flow through a one-half inch choke.

It potentialized for 224.8 barrels of 43-gravity oil and no water daily from the C zone on a 24-hour test. Flow was natural through choke of unreported size. Pay was topped at 7,499 feet.

Diamond M Failure
The No. 2-5 Martin is 467 feet from west and 1,980 feet from north lines of section 386, block 97, H&TC survey.

SW Martin Wildcat Below 11,695 Feet

Gulf Oil Corporation's No. 1-E-B George W. Glass, 13,500-foot Ellenburger wildcat 12 miles north of the city of Midland in Southwest Martin County, is drilling in unidentified shale and chert below 11,695 feet.

Last drillstem test was taken in the Pennsylvanian from 10,520 to 10,570 feet. Operators recovered 120 feet of drilling mud with no show on a one-hour test.

Surveys Being Run On Stonewall Test

Electrical surveys were being run in the Columbian Fuel Corporation of Amarillo No. 1 Calloway, wildcat in Central - North Stonewall County.

Drillstem test of the Ellenburger, topped at 6,273 feet and drilled to 6,286 feet, developed salt water.

Exact location is 1,979 feet from north and 677 feet from west lines of section 43, block F, H&TC survey, 15 miles north of Aspermont.

Drilliste is on a farmout from Honoluli Oil Corporation which, with Barnsdall Oil Company and Ohio Oil Company, is supporting the project.

Rocker 'A' Outpost In C-S Garza Fails

I. Weiner and C. H. Hayward have plugged and abandoned their No. 1 J. S. Henderson, attempted south extension to the Rocker 'A' San Andres field in Central-South Garza County.

Operator had planned to drill to 3,700 feet to explore the San Andres reef line. The hole was abandoned at 1,650 feet. Observers believe the location is low to producers in the Rocker 'A' San Andres field.

The No. 1 J. S. Henderson is 330 feet from north and east lines of section 47, block 6, H&GN survey, and three miles west of Justiceburg.

East Reeves Wildcat Plugged, Abandoned

Morris & Scherck No. 1 Hoefs, East Reeves County wildcat, has been abandoned at 5,378 feet in the Delaware.

Recovery on a two-hour drillstem test from 5,359-78 feet was 180 feet of oil and gas-cut mud and 60 feet of salt water. Open flowing bottom hole pressure was 250 pounds, shut in pressure after 15 minutes was 500 pounds.

With ground elevation 3,014 feet, No. 1 Hoefs topped the Delaware at 5,380 feet. It was 660 feet from north and east lines of section 58, block 13, H&GN survey.

The failure bottomed at 7,412 feet in dolomite, after testing through the upper portion of the Clear Fork.

On the last drillstem test reported at slightly above 7,355 feet, recovery was 241 feet of sulphur water.

The No. 1 Riley is 660 feet from north and west line of section 415, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, and 20 miles northwest of Seminole.

Oil Man Dies When Ambulance Plane Bursts Into Flames

HACHITA, N. M., (AP)—An ambulance plane burst into flames as it landed here Friday and the patient it carried—a Texas and Oklahoma oil man—died strapped to a cot.

Burned to death was Levi H. Prichard, 42, Oklahoma City and San Antonio oil operator and landowner in the Texas Rio Grande Valley. The pilot of the plane was burned, but two others aboard escaped uninjured.

Prichard reportedly was ill with pneumonia and was being flown from California to San Antonio. U. S. border patrolmen said the plane made a "perfect landing" at the Hachita Airfield and burst into flames immediately.

Pilot J. P. Jones, Van Nuys, Calif., was burned about the face and hands as he scrambled from the plane. A. J. Ford, Los Angeles, a medical attendant, was unhurt. Dr. Andrew S. Tombs, Victoria, Texas, physician, also escaped without injury.

Commission Boosts August Allowable

AUSTIN—(AP)—More Texas oil will flow next month as a reserve against military needs.

The war-cautious Railroad Commission Friday ordered August allowables increased 107,523 barrels to boost the state's permissive flow to 2,580,328 barrels daily.

The action followed dozens of pleas from industry spokesmen at a statewide hearing for more credit to cushion possible sudden demands.

All of August's increase will come from return to the wartime formula of permitting fields to operate at their most efficient rate of production. Twenty-one operating days were allowed the state in general with the big East Texas pool kept on its present 19 days.

Five West Texas fields were excepted from the general pattern. They were the "Diamond M" Canyon lime, Kelly-Snyder, Sharon Ridge Canyon, Cogdell and Reinecke, all in the Scurry County area. That area was given 25 producing days, four more than present, but daily allowable was held down by use again of the current yardstick formula. That pattern was aimed at keeping daily production in line with pipeline capacities for moving crude out of the area, commission spokesmen said.

Permissive production of natural gasoline and distillate during August was set at 302,800 barrels daily. It would boost the state's total daily flow of all petroleum liquids to 2,883,137 barrels.

The allowable is 643,137 barrels a day above the U. S. Bureau of Mines estimate of August demand for Texas crude.

The next statewide oil hearing was set for August 17 in Austin.

August allowables, by districts, compared with July:

- 1. Southwest Texas, 31,827, up 44.
- 2. Southwest Texas, 143,981, up 561.
- 3. Gulf Coast, 449,493, up 39,398.

McCutchin Named Area Exploration Manager For Bay

John A. McCutchin is the new division manager of the West Texas exploration office of Bay Petroleum Corporation, which is located in Midland.

He has been transferred to Midland from Calgary, Alberta, Canada, where he had been manager of the Canadian operations of the Bay concern since September, 1949.

McCutchin lived in Midland from March 1948 until he went to Canada for Bay in 1949. He came here as district manager for Sohio Petroleum Company.

He resigned from that company to become an independent operator and spent approximately a year in that work prior to joining Bay.

John H. DeFord continues as Texas exploration officer.

John C. Martin, Jr., formerly of New Orleans, La., succeeds McCutchin at Calgary.

Chaves, Roosevelt Sites For Widespread Leasing

More than 475,000 acres have been put under oil and gas leases during a recent intensive and extensive play in Chaves and Roosevelt Counties in Southeast New Mexico.

This widespread buying was caused primarily by the discovery of flowing oil from the Devonian in Central-East Chaves County at the Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 Lightcap.

That well, located about 40 miles east and a little north of Roswell, and at the center of the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 6-36-30e, was completed during May for a daily initial potential of 492 barrels of 32.4-gravity oil, flowing naturally through a one-quarter inch tubing choke.

The production was through perforations in the casing between 7,980-76 feet.

Since the discovery was completed three outposts to it have been started. None of them are down to the pay section yet.

Some of the leasing play started about four and one-half months ago, before the Magnolia 1 Lightcap was completed. That early activity was begun when geological reports from the wildcat indicated that it was apparently on a structure.

The real active leasing started after the Magnolia well found its first oil in the Devonian, about the first of May.

Most of the leases which have been bought in the play have gone to major companies or to large independents. The buying has been particularly "hot and heavy" in Northeast Chaves and in West Roosevelt County, and it has lapped over into the east side of Roosevelt County.

Acres Compared
Informed sources estimate that at least 160,000 acres in Northeast Chaves, about 265,000 acres in West Roosevelt and approximately 50,000 acres in East Roosevelt County have been bought during the recent play.

Bonuses ranging from $5.00 per acre to as high as $40.00 per acre have been paid for the ten-year commercial leases which have been taken. Lease rentals have been either 50 cents or $1.00 per acre. So far as is known, none of the buyers have carried drilling obligations.

However, it is likely that several wildcats will be started in those regions during the next 12 months.

Informed operators calculated that the average per acre bonus paid during the Chaves-Roosevelt play is about $12.50 per acre.

Lease Buyers Listed
Among the larger lease buyers in this latest buying have been Sinclair Oil & Gas Company, Tide Water Associated Oil Company, Hancock Oil Company, Deeprock Oil Corporation, Cities Service Oil Company, Skelly Oil Company.

The Atlantic Refining Company, Magnolia Petroleum Company, Lion Oil Company, Spartan Drilling Company, Honolulu Oil Corporation, H. L. Hunt, Phillips Petroleum Company and Mid-Continent Petroleum Corporation.

A large group of brokers worked in the leasing play, as well as a number of company land and lease men. Most of the brokers were buying on order for various companies.

Among the individuals who are credited with doing extensive order buying were George W. Littlefield of Portales, A. C. Holder and Charles B. Reed of Lovington, Ralph Nix and Jerry Curtis of Artesia, Raymond Jones of San Angelo, and A. A. (Pooley) Jones, Jack Potocky, George Byrne, Floyd O. Boles, C. R. Gaylord, and Mann Rankin of Midland.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON—

House Passes Measure To Permit U. S. Entry Of Texan's Jap Bride

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Those pulp "romance" magazines have nothing on the slick paper, fine print report issued by the House Judiciary Committee in recommending passage of a bill to permit legal entry into the United States of Hisea Kawachi Kelly.

The 33-year-old Japanese young woman was married in a Christian ceremony to Cpl. Richard C. Kelly, about 28, of Dallas. The bill was passed by the House without opposition and is expected to go through the Senate soon and on to the White House for President Truman's signature.

The story of the romance is told by Corporal Kelly in a letter asking the help of Rep. J. Frank Wilson of Dallas in getting immigration laws amended so he could bring his wife home some day.

"Our meeting was accidental," he said. "The letter was published in the committee report."

"A buddy of mine was taking his girl friend to the opera, and he asked if I would like to join them. Since I had been in Japan for only about two weeks, of course I jumped at the chance to see an opera in Japan."

"Neither my buddy nor I knew that his girl friend would bring Hisea. Since then we have been together almost every day. I guess the first thing we had in common was the same love for good music."

"I would like to say now that Hisea and I are plain, unpretentious people. We love the simple things of life. We have bridged the difference between our lives by patience and a real desire to learn of each other's ways. She could only speak a few words of English when I first met her, so most of our conversation came out of an English-Japanese dictionary. However, she now has a good working knowledge of English and is improving every day."

Just Good Friends
"At first, I was not allowed to be with her alone. I went with her about two months before I could take her out alone. All this time we were just good friends; just two young people who found enjoyment in each other's company. Shortly after we began going places alone, we knew our relationship was beginning to mean more than just a casual friendship. We also knew that there could never be anything between us except love of the highest and purest kind."

"At this time I was asked to meet her parents, which I did, and I spoke in their home many times, and they gave their approval. Knowing Hisea's age, you may think it rather strange when I tell you she has never been married or had courtship before."

He then told how Hisea had lost her job with a chemical company because she was keeping company with an American soldier. She had the choice of giving up one or the other.

Indians Edge Broncs 4 To 3

Blair Hurls Five-Hitter; Same Teams Here Sunday

The Midland Indians play host to the Big Spring Broncs at 3 p.m. Sunday in Indian Park for their final game in a six-game series. John Dodson or LeRoy Jari will hurl for Midland. Amor or Gonzales will go for Big Spring.

The Midland Indians broke out for four runs in the sixth inning Saturday night in Indian Park and Ralph Blair hurled five-hit ball at the Big Spring Broncs to earn a 4 to 3 decision for the home club. The win brings the series count to three for Big Spring and two for Midland and the finale will be unreeled Sunday here.

The Broncs pecked away at Blair in the early innings and capitalized on four Midland errors to take a 3 to 0 lead with single runs in the second, third and fourth frames. Blair settled down after the fourth and the Midland infield did likewise, the two units combining for shut out work the last five frames.

A single by George Lopez and two Midland errors let in the first run in the second. Scooter Hughes hit center fielder Scotty to center fielder Scotty. Hughes hit center fielder Scotty. Hughes hit center fielder Scotty.

Two Midland errors in the fourth allowed the final Big Spring marker to dent the plate.

Roof Falls In

Jesual Uley had a one-hitter up to the sixth but the roof caved in on him.

Mike Bellone opened the frame with a triple to center. Scooter Hughes hit center fielder Scotty. Hughes hit center fielder Scotty. Hughes hit center fielder Scotty.

Lou Dawson walked to load the bags. Bob Phillips got good wood on one that backed the outfielder up to the fence and Prince scored standing up after the catch. That proved to be the winning tally.

Blair allowed the Broncs only one single after that and it did no damage. Bert Bass tapped a pinch-hit single to right field.

Potato Pascual worked the last two frames for the Broncs and was clocked for three singles.

Bob Cramer made one fine out-field catch that kept the Indians from the Midland infield whipped off two double plays to aid Blair's cause.

Arkansas U Trainer Accepts Florida Post

Lankford is a personal friend of Bob Woodruff, athletic director at Florida.

Israel Is Up Against Kosher Meat Problem

JERUSALEM — (AP) — The chief rabbi of Israel is insisting that all meat imports must be "kosher."

Non-kosher meat usually sells at about 60 per cent cheaper than the kosher variety. That's because it's much easier to get, for in many sources of imports these days there are no longer any qualified kosher butchers.

Good Jewish butchers usually are graduates of rabbinical colleges. With mass immigration to Israel, many countries which could supply meat to Israel lack qualified slaughterers. Israel's badly need meat. Their monthly ration now is little more than 1 1/2 pounds per month. Many Jews would eat non-kosher meat, if they could get it.

The ministry of supply and rationing recently bought a big quantity of American war surplus canned non-kosher meat. As a result, the minister of religions threatened to resign.

Arabs In Protest To Military Zones

JERUSALEM, ISRAEL — (AP) — Arabs living in the Upper Galilee sector of Israel want the government to abolish military zones. A delegation called upon the deputy speaker of parliament. It reported 12,000 Arab residents had signed a petition saying they were suffering economically because it was almost impossible for many to move from village to village because of military restrictions.

Israel has an Arab population of 165,000. Of these, 120,000 are Moslems, the remainder Christian Arabs.

MISSISSAUGA, ONT. — (AP) — A 10-year-old boy, forgetting to take his gun into his room, did not know three dark men would soon be entering his life. They came around lunchtime—with guns. The fortune-teller was so shaken by the experience he was unable to estimate the value of the money and jewels the gunmen took away.

Wine, Women, Bets Cause Few Frauds

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Wine, women and gambling are seldom the real cause of embezzlement, says Dr. Ronald R. Cressey, University of California sociologist.

This finding is contrary to the popular beliefs on the subject, he says. He thinks embezzlement usually starts when a man gets into financial trouble he cannot talk over with others—usually because he is ashamed of it. He usually thinks of his frauds as "borrowing." Then he suddenly realizes it is stealing. Then he frequently gives himself up, Cressey says.

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Wine, women and gambling are seldom the real cause of embezzlement, says Dr. Ronald R. Cressey, University of California sociologist.

This finding is contrary to the popular beliefs on the subject, he says. He thinks embezzlement usually starts when a man gets into financial trouble he cannot talk over with others—usually because he is ashamed of it. He usually thinks of his frauds as "borrowing." Then he suddenly realizes it is stealing. Then he frequently gives himself up, Cressey says.

Hayes Hurls Tribe To Win

BIG SPRING—The Midland Indians salvaged their final game of a four-game series here Friday night as Lefty Hayes elbowed a five-hitter at the Big Spring Broncs and won a 4 to 2 decision.

Hayes, who just arrived here Thursday night to join the Indians, was the master all the way. He struck out six and walked only three.

The Indians were behind 0-2 going into the sixth inning and rallied to knot the score.

Hayes walked and Mike Bellone singled. Scooter Hughes doubled to drive them home.

The Broncs had picked up their two in the second as Gabe Castinedo singled home Pat Stasey and Danny Conception.

Big Ninth Frame
The ninth inning was the big one for the Indians. Gil Guerra walked Lou Dawson to load the bases after Tex Stephenson and Jim Prince had reached base.

Guerra then walked Bob Phillon to force in the winning run. An error by Castinedo on a grounder led in the other tally.

Hayes downed the Broncs without damage in the last of the ninth to notch the victory.

The Indians gave Hayes errorless support in the field.

Longhorn League—Oilers Trip Roswell To Boost Loop Lead; Tribe, Vernon Win

By The Associated Press
The Odessa Oilers stretched their lead to four and one-half games in Longhorn League play Friday night as they edged Roswell 2-1 in 10 innings.

Midland whipped Big Spring 4-2, and Vernon defeated Sweetwater 3-2 in 11 innings. The San Angelo-Ballinger game was rained out.

Bill Hoover's single drove Leo Eastman across with the winning run for Odessa. It was the second night that a hit by Hoover had given the Oilers a victory. Al Monchak homered for the Oilers.

Two hits, two walks and an error gave Midland two runs in the ninth and that was enough to beat Big Spring. Leon Hayes held Big Spring to five hits, and the Indians got only six off Big Spring's Gil Guerra.

Cotton Russell singled Lou Enlinger home in the 11th for Vernon and sacked up their victory. The Swatters had tied the game at two-all in the ninth on two hits and a walk.

Leahy headquarters announced Friday that infielders Larry Roach of Vernon and Wayne Wallace of San Angelo have been added to the East roster for the all-star game Wednesday night. The pair are to replace Tony Guerrero and Ken Ko-walk of San Angelo who are out with injuries.

NAVY FIGHTER PLANES UNCRATED—Navy F4U fighter planes, stored for more than two years at San Diego, Calif., are uncrated for combat use in Korea. The storage crates are special boxes designed to remove humidity from the air, thus leaving the planes ready to fly at any time. These planes are being shipped aboard the carrier USS Badoeng Strait.

Governor Claims Texas Civilian Defense Setup Ready To Operate On Short Notice

By The Associated Press

If war comes, how soon would the Texas civilian defense system be in operation?

"Almost immediately," says Gov. Allan Shivers. By that, says the governor, he means three or four days.

A world conflict would flip the switch on an immense preparedness plan which is the result of months of intense study.

Long before the Korean War on April 14—the governor told the citizenry the broad outlines of the system. A few days after the Korean fighting started, a letter went out from Shivers' office to every county judge and mayor. The letter described state plans and made "preliminary recommendations" for local preparations.

The Texas plan was made up with the help of the National Security Resources Board in Washington.

That board, of course, is concerned about what would happen to Texas' great industries—the B-36 plant at Fort Worth, the vast oil and chemical plants at Houston, the newly-important rubber plants at coastal cities, and many others.

Besides measures to protect such facilities, the plan includes provisions for emergency shelter, food, clothing and medical supplies throughout the state. Of Texas' 254 counties, 251 have disaster relief organizations.

Routes Are Planned
 Routes have been planned should it be necessary to evacuate citizens from any area. "Emphasis will be placed also," said the governor's April memorandum, "upon rapid enrollment of many more lay citizens in courses on first aid and home nursing."

The Texas Disaster Control Center would be in the new million-dollar Public Safety Building in Austin. But there are "alternate" sites—unpublished.

Texas doctors have been offered courses in medical aspects of atomic warfare.

There would be four principal divisions of the state civilian defense organization. They are military affairs to be handled by Selective Service, Texas National Guard, Texas State Guard Reserve Corps; Transportation and communication; civil protection (fire control, aircraft warning service, defense police mobilization, evacuation, emergency medical service, emergency sanitation and radiological service); and resource and production (mobilization of natural, industrial and human resources).

Those responsible for areas of industrial concentration already have acted.

W. F. Heavey, director of Port Houston, has set up a coordinated program to protect the plants concentrated along the Houston Ship Channel.

Texas Completions Above Last Year's

AUSTIN —(P)—Texas oil companies are a little better than 200 ahead of the same date last year, the Railroad Commission reported Saturday.

Total completions thus far are 5,613 compared with 5,394 last year. Gas well completions were down: 417 this year and 462 in the same period last year.

Wildcat wells completed this year totaled 308 compared with 299 in 1949.

In the fiscal year 1949 two of every five applications for Farmers Home Administration loans were by veterans.

Truman—

United States "may have to evacuate Korea in the next 72 hours."

Called to the Blair House to hear General Collins and Vandenberg report to the President were the following:

Secretary of Defense Johnson, Deputy Secretary Stephen Early, the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force: Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, chief of Naval operations.

More Men, Material
 The session lasted 45 minutes and produced no announcements. Secretary of Defense Johnson told newsmen "Nobody will have anything to say."

It was learned that the buildup of American military power on which top Administration leaders have been planning will cover:

1. Men and weapons needed to gain the offensive in Korea and roll back the Red forces out of Southern Korea.

2. Reinforcement of the American military position in the world outside of Korea on the ground that this nation must have power somewhat in line with the total responsibilities it bears.

3. A stepped-up program of assistance to the countries of Western Europe.

At the moment, no final decisions have been made on the program, highly placed informants said, but they may be completed even by late Monday. There is speculation among informed officials that the President may tell Congress:

1. He needs an increase of several billions of dollars in military appropriations. The figure has not yet been worked out—it awaited Vandenberg's and Collins' return—but is estimated to range between $2,000,000,000 and $8,000,000,000.

2. He plans to call up between six and nine National Guard divisions as well as a number of members of the Organized Reserve Corps and to reactivate two or more Regular Army divisions.

3. He needs greater mandatory power for placing armaments orders than that contained in the draft law which in general makes acceptance of orders compulsory only by those firms known to be able to fill the orders without difficulty.

4. Possibly he also may ask or forecast a future request for authority to allocate scarce materials or materials which become scarce in a stepped-up arms production program.

Ecuador Revolt Is Ended Quickly

GUAYAQUIL, ECUADOR —(P)—A revolt broke out here Saturday morning but its leaders were quickly arrested by government troops.

The rebels cut communications in a swift move before dawn. They also distributed leaflets claiming the revolution was nationwide. The government telegraphs here announced, however, that Quito, the capital, and the rest of the country are quiet.

Carlos Guevara Moreno, interior minister in the regime of deposed Pres. Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra, was the revolt leader, an Army announcement said. Guevara and other revolutionary leaders were arrested by government forces.

The Army statement said, Capt. Hugo Gavilanes of the Army Legal Department said Guevara and others detained had been lodged in the headquarters of the Guayas Army battalion.

Casco Cuts Down $25 Offer, Claims Shivers Frame-Up

DENISON —(P)—Casco March says he would come here Saturday to give $25 to an aged woman who says she's going to vote for his opponent in the governor's race, Allan Shivers.

March said recently he would give $25 to any old-age pensioner who'll vote for Shivers. Mrs. Millie H. Hill, who read about the offer, told the Denison Herald she was and figured March owed her the $25.

March told the Denison Herald four others also had taken up on the offer and said he would pay them all. He did not name the others.

After Saturday, March said, his offer would be reduced to $1.

This offer has been open for two weeks," he said at Athens Friday, "and out of 250,000 old people in Texas only five of them—as hungry as they are on $33 a month—would admit voting for Shivers for $25."

"I'm reducing my offer back to $1 because the Shivers gang is trying to gang up on me on that phase of the campaign."

Texas Electric Show Closes Three-Night Midland Engagement

Playing to another record crowd of interested and enthusiastic spectators, the Texas Electric Show of 50 Friday night concluded its three-performance stand in Midland after establishing a new total attendance figure.

The Friday night crowd was one of the largest, the show visitors mixing and mingling under the big top, which housed the many attractive electrical appliances, and on the "circuit" grounds. Red Woodward and his "Home Town Dandies" again attracted crowds of spectators to the bandstand as they played dated selections ranging from the "Gay Nineties" era to the "Roaring Twenties."

The electric appliances were displayed and demonstrated by Midland dealers. The display booths were crowded each night.

Texas Electric Service Company officials Saturday expressed appreciation to all those who contributed to the success of the show, including those who attended one or more performances.

Midland Men Attend Washington Hearing

Stanley M. Erskine, chairman of the Aeronautics Committee of the Midland Chamber of Commerce and Delbert Downing, C. of C. manager, will leave by plane Sunday morning for Washington, D. C., where Monday they will represent Midland at a Civil Aeronautics Board hearing. They plan to return Wednesday.

The Midland representatives will present testimony showing the need for continued air service to Midland by American and Pioneer Airlines.

General Collins Says U. S. Units To Hold Bridgehead

WASHINGTON —(P)—Gen. J. Lawton Collins predicted Saturday that American forces will be able to hold an "extensive bridgehead" in Korea and ultimately throw back the Communist forces.

The Army chief of staff said new weapons and ammunition, including tanks, are being moved into Korea. Collins and Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, talked to reporters after reporting to President Truman on their aerial inspection trip to the Korean front.

Each said he was completely satisfied with the performance and morale of American ground and air forces.

Collins said the first U. S. troops thrown into action were new and green, since they came from an occupation mission in Japan.

But he said that they have done a "relatively fine job."

"It isn't going to be an easy task," the Army chief said. "But I haven't the slightest doubt in the world we will hold an extensive area in South Korea."

General Impressed
 The general said he was impressed by the calmness and confidence of the American troops.

There is no question, he said, that they are up against a tough, well-trained enemy. But he said he is confident "the situation can be stabilized before very long" and the invading Reds driven out in time.

He gave no estimate of how long that would take.

Collins said the United States has flown in weapons and ammunition which he said were new and green, since they came from an occupation mission in Japan.

Two Correspondents Barred From Going Back To War Front

TOKYO —(P)—U. S. Army authorities Saturday abruptly told Associated Press correspondent Tom Lambert and United Press correspondent Peter Kalischer they could not return to the South Korean war front.

Lambert was notified as he was about to board a bus at the start of a return trip to the war front in Korea. He had been here briefly on leave.

No explanation was given to him at the time. He was told merely that he could not make the trip.

Later Col. M. P. Echols, General MacArthur's public information officer, told the Associated Press Bureau here some of Lambert's dispatches had been objectionable because "they gave aid and comfort to the enemy."

He cited as an example a quotation from a frontline soldier that "This is a damned useless war."

Echols was reminded soldiers on all fronts in World War II made the same comment. He agreed.

Colonel Echols said there was no question of security or no factual inaccuracies in Lambert's dispatches.

"Comfort To Enemy"
 The United Press office in Tokyo said Colonel Echols told it that Kalischer was being prohibited from returning to Korea because his stories gave "aid and comfort to the enemy" and because "they made the Army look bad."

The bureau said it was told by Echols that it was his opinion General MacArthur's headquarters had taken action against Kalischer in a move to get all foreign correspondents to soft pedal the stories of the American defeat.

At no time had Colonel Echols charged Kalischer with violating security, of writing stories which were not true, the United Press Bureau spokesman said.

The news bureau spokesman said the news bureau's stories were correct but the Army did not like the way they were written, contending they were "sensational."

Lambert, whose dispatches have won wide acclaim in newspapers all over the world, was threatened with expulsion from South Korea a few days ago.

No Security Question
 In this instance, too, military authorities said there was no question of security or inaccuracy in his dispatches.

The action was dropped, however, when correspondents appealed to the commanding general and the incident was believed closed.

An officer high in MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters disclosed Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, the American field commander, has been given authority to apply military censorship in Korea if he considers it necessary.

The officer, who declined use of his name, said the question was being studied at Walker's field headquarters.

A number of correspondents long ago had requested censorship as a means of guidance, since they found the definition of security was so loose among Army officers that no individual could judge accurately for himself.

RED GUNS ARE BIG ONES—Resembling a Daniel Boone squirrel gun is this 20-mm. anti-tank rifle captured from North Korean Red troops "somewhere in Korea." Sgt. Hal Gamble, left, of San Francisco, and Capt. James Constantine of Knoxville, Tenn., look over the unique weapon. The anti-tank gun fires the same size bullet as some U. S. fighter planes.

Renewed Air Attack Helps U. S. Troops Hold Defense Lines

TOKYO —(P)—Another around-the-clock Allied air attack helped American troops hold defense lines in Korea Saturday night and early Sunday.

Associated Press Correspondent William R. Moore reported that North Korean efforts to expand their bridgehead on the south bank of the Kum River were believed disrupted by intense aerial strafing and bombing. He said night bombers hit concentrations of Red tanks north of the river.

Sunday dawned with a high overcast under which Allied planes, together with constant shelling and blowing of bridges by the Americans, probably are slowing the Reds south of the Kum, the spokesman said.

Moore did not further specify the aerial action or identify the type of planes involved.

Probably Slowing Reds

Rocketing and strafing of Red concentrations from the air, intense aerial attacks on any river point where they show activity, together with constant shelling and blowing of bridges by the Americans, probably are slowing the Reds south of the Kum, the spokesman said.

Moore did not further specify the aerial action or identify the type of planes involved.

Friday the Far East Air Force spokesman in Tokyo said F-80 jet fighters have "accounted for 85 per cent of North Korean vehicle and material losses."

Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer praised the speedy fighters in a statement following battlefield reports that the jets were too fast for ground strafing or coping with the Russian-made Yak fighters used by Communist North Korean forces.

"Rockets and machinegun fire from P-80s has blown up more tanks, trucks and other equipment than all other types of air attack combined," Stratemeyer said.

He credited the jets with having flown "70 per cent of all the combat sorties."

Three Children Die When Range Blast Burns Frame Home

HUGO, OKLA. —(P)—A kerosene range exploded here Saturday and three children—including twins—were killed. The explosion, which burned to death a mother and her three children, occurred when the range was being used by a family.

The victims, children of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Poindeux, are: William Earl and James Harold Poindeux, 13-month-old twins, and their four-year-old brother, Thomas Anthony.

The explosion's cause has not been determined.

Mrs. Poindeux and another son, six-year-old John Raymond, had just walked to a neighbor's to borrow some aspirin for her illness when the kitchen stove exploded.

The flames were out of control when Mrs. Poindeux, John and the neighbor, Mrs. M. A. Middleton, rushed back to the building.

Brownwood Business Man, W. A. Bell, Dies

FORT WORTH —(P)—W. A. Bell, 74, well known Brownwood business man, died early Saturday of coronary occlusion at the home of a son, Joe Bell, Fort Worth Star-Telegram reporter.

Bell had stopped in Fort Worth enroute to Brownwood, where he was returning his wife, who underwent major surgery at a Dallas hospital July 6.

Arrangements were incomplete Saturday at a Brownwood funeral home.

Most of the modern buildings on the Chinese island of Formosa were built during 50 years of Japanese occupation.

IT'S STILL A GI'S WAR—You heard 'em, Joe. They talked about the "push-button" war. Infantry was out. It's guided missiles now. Who needs infantry when all you have to do is puff an atomic cloud at the enemy and make him swallow his bubble-gum? Who needs the slogging infantry? Well, nobody much except everybody on our side in this hot, shootin' war in Korea. Air power was going to knock those North Korean Reds right over the flagpole on the Kremlin. But the Communists didn't knock so easy. What to do? Well, Joe, they did what they always do. They holler for the infantry, the foot-slogging, pack-toting, ever-grousing infantry. And finally they got 'em. Here they are—picking 'em up and laying 'em down on a Korean road, headed for the fighting. You can tell they're heading for the front because that's where the refugees at right are going away from. (Photo by Ed Hoffman, NEA-Acme staff correspondent.)

Census Supervisor Fired As Houston's Count Still Missing

HOUSTON —(P)—Houston's lagging census report became more confused Saturday night as District Supervisor George Findlay said he had been relieved of his duties.

Findlay said the order relieving him of responsibility for populous Harris County's census came from Area Supervisor James W. Stroud of Dallas.

A telegram from Stroud, Findlay said, advised him Stroud will leave Monday to take charge.

Findlay declined to discuss reasons for Stroud's action but said he and Stroud "are not friends."

The new census figure for industrial Harris County is the only thing needed for completion of the preliminary 1950 Texas total.

Figures already have been released on the state's 253 other counties and have been totaled unofficially at 6,883,238. Harris County is expected to show the state beyond the 7,500,000 mark.

South's Largest City

Houston city officials for weeks have been waiting to stake a claim as being the South's largest city.

Last week Findlay said Houston has estimated Houston's population at 609,000 compared to the 1940 federal census of 384,514.

Unofficial Harris County estimates have ranged from 700,000 to 800,000.

American and Australian fighters and U. S. light bombers swept low in repeated strafing runs. Planes knocked out at least four Red tanks and possibly ten more, the Army said.

North Koreans responded with 76 millimeter artillery fire, apparently from self-propelled units north of the river.

An American spokesman said Saturday night U. S. tanks had been observed south of the Kum River but some were seen on two north-south roads west of Taejon.

This meant Red tanks had not been able to cross the shallow river barrier to reinforce the main North Korean bridgehead, but were swinging from a point farther west.

Defenders Outnumbered

AP Reporter William R. Moore reported from an advance American headquarters there was "no reason to believe the invaders have lost the power to keep their tank column in motion when they are ready to do so."

The North Koreans still outnumber the defenders by long odds. Enemy strategy appeared to be one of spreading out wide to thin the defense line, then pressing in from both left and right flanks.

The Communists may try to overrun Taejon's defenders, or bypass the city of more than 100,000.

The left flank, held on the west by American forces, was turned by disguised Communist soldiers who infiltrated across the Kum Friday night. They caused some loss of U. S. artillery positions.

The defense dropped back, blowing bridges and dynamiting roads. The crossing apparently was near Samgyo, 20 miles northwest of Taejon.

On the right, north of Taejon and the Kum River, South Koreans nearest to the American sector were forced back.

Speedy jets and Mustangs supported the defenders, slashing in for low level attacks on Red armor.

Several U. S. pilots reported running into wire cables strung across narrow valleys.

Along the coast, MacArthur said, warships "materially assisted" in keeping enemy activity on a small scale.

The Reds strengthened their anti-aircraft defenses at Kimp'o Airfield, near Seoul.

A number of Russian-built North Korean planes have been reported on Kimp'o's runway. Troop movements were noted in the same area.

Communist aircraft meeting Allied planes avoided American-flown jets to concentrate on the bombers.

Democrat Leaders Express Opposition To Wartime Control

WASHINGTON —(P)—Democratic opposition arose in Congress against any action to clamp wartime price-wage and rationing controls on the country as a result of the Korean fighting.

Senator George (D-Ga.), who heads the Senate Finance Committee, told a reporter he believes it would be "a very serious error" for the Administration to seek either impose sweeping controls now or to ask for standby authority to put them into effect later.

Senator Connally (D-Texas), who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he doesn't believe such controls are necessary now.

"If we need them later, I assume that we will put them on," he said in an interview.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) already has announced his opposition to granting the President standby powers. The attitude of the Democratic senators made it apparent that the Administration will have to move slowly on the subject of mandatory controls or face a possible congressional setback.

US Planes—

was believed every new crossing attempt was crushed.

The Reds, who launched their invasion of South Korea three weeks ago Sunday, were using every trick, including night-striking guerrillas in American fatigue uniforms.

Bridgehead Intact

The situation in the main sector west and northwest of Taejon was described as "fluid" by General Mark Arthur's communique early Sunday. Headquarters conceded the North Korean bridgehead, west of Taejon, "remained intact despite heavy losses."

Field headquarters said the Reds had pushed back the American left flank "somewhat west of Taejon" in hard fighting.

U. S. artillery and mortars pumped fire into the invaders.

Grocer Repudiates His Confession In Woman's Death

DETROIT —(P)—A 42-year-old grocer-butcher Saturday coolly repudiated his earlier confession in the strangling of his married woman friend after leading officers over the route they traveled.

Sam B. Sampson, who Friday admitted he put his belt around the neck of attractive Mrs. Vivian Stanley, 37, declared Saturday:

"I didn't kill her myself."

The husky father of three children came up with his new account after police took him to the weed-choked lot where Mrs. Stanley's beaten, strangled body was found Thursday.

He said Saturday he had parked in the valley near the vacant lot, thinking it was near her home. There, he said, he helped her out of the car.

"I said I was sorry and she said she was sorry. Then I drove off."

Sampson, in his signed statement, had told of quarreling bitterly with Mrs. Stanley over her employing a private detective to follow him.

Detectives were skeptical of Sampson's new story. Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien said a first degree murder charge will be asked against him Monday.

Postgraduate School Voted By TU Board

AUSTIN —(P)—Immediate establishment of a postgraduate school of medicine at San Antonio was voted Saturday by the University of Texas Board of Regents.

The regents also advanced plans for buildings at the M. D. Anderson Hospital for Cancer Research at Houston, and at the dental school there.

Approximately $9,000,000 will be spent on the Houston projects.

Convair Changes To 10-Hour Shifts

FORT WORTH —(P)—Convair Aircraft Company here is going on two 10-hour shifts Monday to meet B-36 delivery schedules.

Vice president Ray O. Ryan said the schedule will be Monday through Fridays and replaces the present two eight hour shifts and skeleton grave yard shift of six and a half hours.

Lee McKinzie's Sister Dies

ANSON —Mrs. A. S. Womack, 70, resident of the Pleasant Hill Community since 1908, died here at the home of a daughter Friday.

Funeral services were held Saturday in the Anson Church of Christ, Interment was in Mount Hope Cemetery.

Survivors include a brother, Lee McKinzie of Midland.

Picture's Theme Reversed By Lion

FORT LAMY, FRENCH EQUATORIAL AFRICA —(P)—French cameraman A. Manuzier wanted some shots of a hunter killing a lion. He got just the opposite. When his safari finally cornered a lion Marcel Vincent, the hunter, fired and wounded the lion. He had then two bullets left in his gun. He went closer and fired into the air to frighten the lion out again. This left him one bullet.

Vincent fired his last shot and missed. He then lunged away his rifle and ran for the nearest tree. He didn't quite make it and the lion was on his back. The rest of the safari turned up then and finished off the lion, but two hours later Vincent died.

Thief Gets 50,000 Pennies At Vernon

VERNON —(P)—The loot a thief got from R. W. Dorey's parked automobile at the roundup grounds at Olney Friday night would fill a lot of piggy banks—50,000 pennies.

Dorey, a Vernon gum machine operator, was watching the rodeo when his pennies disappeared.

IT'S STILL A GI'S WAR—You heard 'em, Joe. They talked about the "push-button" war. Infantry was out. It's guided missiles now. Who needs infantry when all you have to do is puff an atomic cloud at the enemy and make him swallow his bubble-gum? Who needs the slogging infantry? Well, nobody much except everybody on our side in this hot, shootin' war in Korea. Air power was going to knock those North Korean Reds right over the flagpole on the Kremlin. But the Communists didn't knock so easy. What to do? Well, Joe, they did what they always do. They holler for the infantry, the foot-slogging, pack-toting, ever-grousing infantry. And finally they got 'em. Here they are—picking 'em up and laying 'em down on a Korean road, headed for the fighting. You can tell they're heading for the front because that's where the refugees at right are going away from. (Photo by Ed Hoffman, NEA-Acme staff correspondent.)

Hungarian Commies Learn To Say Joe

VIENNA —(P)—Hungarian Communists are going to school to learn the proper way of saying "Josef Stalin" in a speech. According to reports from Budapest, the intonation and inflection must be just so. Moreover it is never just plain Stalin. He must be referred to as "The Great Stalin."

Likewise it is always the "glorious" or "liberating" Red Army. Russia is always referred to as "the world's leading power."

Dorothy Smith, Brad McQuerry Marry In Home

In a quiet ceremony Dorothy Lee Smith became the bride of Bradley McQuerry Friday night in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reeves B. Smith, 1308 South Big Spring Street.

McQuerry is the son of Mrs. R. A. Bell of Midland. F. I. Stanley, minister of the Southside Church of Christ, officiated at the ceremony. The couple stood before a white archway with vases of daisies on either side.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon McQuerry, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom, were the couple's attendants.

The bride wore a blue organdy street length dress. It was fashioned with a high neck outlined in blue satin ribbon and buttons, cap sleeves, a blue satin belt, and a full skirt. Her corsage was of white carnations.

The matron of honor wore a pink eyelet dress and a white carnation corsage. The mother of the bride wore a green floral kimberly dress with green accessories.

A reception was held following the ceremony. The table was covered with a white lace cloth and an arrangement of daisies centered the table. Mrs. Richard Davis, sister of the bride, Mrs. Calvin Smith, sister-in-law of the bride, and Polly Dyess served.

After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home in Midland. Mrs. McQuerry was graduated from Midland High School and is employed by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company. McQuerry was graduated from Van Horn High School and is employed by the Mid-West Paint and Glass Company.

The Rev. Robert O. Tomlinson read the double-ring ceremony before an archway covered with plumos. The arch was flanked by six candelabra tied with white satin bows. The chancel rail was covered with plumos. Two large arrangements of white daisies completed the altar decorations. Pews were marked with bouquets of white flowers and plumos.

The tiered skirt fell into a train.

She wore a cap of Venetian lace brought from Italy by the bridegroom's sister. A finger-tip veil of illusion was caught by the cap. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid with a cascade of stephanotis and lilies of the valley.

For Fall Days Choose A Slim Dress

Important style points in fall dress collections are seen in these designs. The jersey dress in curly yellow (above) by Brigrance has black velvet trim.

Talking points in this red wool jersey dress (center) are beaded pocket and side panel. Beige chiffon wool makes a coat dress (above) by Eisenberg.

By GAIL DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—These are some of the things to watch for in wool daytime dresses for Fall: little touches of velvet, a great deal of chiffon wool and wool jersey, generous pleating and tucking, sloped shoulders, and everywhere, the slim look.

Wherever fullness is used, which is often, it is made to look slim through panels, pleats or draping.

Red, from ruby to flame, is important in all Fall dress collections. The orange tones are stressed, as are the soft blues, purple, violet, the spice tones and pumpkin, brown and charcoal.

A worsted jersey dress in curly yellow is given a dress-up look by Brigrance. This dress has sloping shoulders, narrow cuffs and neckline shirred and banded with black velvet. The skirt, which achieves fullness through unpressed pleats, appears slim when not in motion.

Beige chiffon wool fashions a one-piece coat dress with all-over tucked bodice and club collar in an Eisenberg design. Below-the-

Vacation Togs Do Double Duty

By GAIL DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—A capsule wardrobe for a summer weekend vacation is one which fits neatly into a small travel bag, packs well, and doubles itself according to need. Thus, a single dress comes out into the sun in the afternoon and appears again at dinner as an entirely different costume.

In the hands of designer David Crystal, a simple white pique dress tells two stories. The dress has a modified V neckline and large hip pockets. For daytime wear, this designer gives it a shrug sweater in bright red (right) and matching belt.

By night, the dress wears another look (left) through subtraction of sweater and belt and addition of a black cotton eyeliner skirt which ties on. Worn with simple black suede pumps and light jewelry touches, this dress can go many places after dark.

Apartment Premium Is Coconuts, Cash

LONDON—(P)—Nigerian student Obabunmi Alina got himself a six-room apartment in crowded London because he had plenty of coconuts. Alina told a rent tribunal he paid his landlord, a grocer, 80 pounds ($324) and 3,200 coconuts as a premium for the apartment.

The coconuts? Alina asked his folk back in Nigeria for some and they sent him two tons.

Select Baby Sitter With Utmost Care

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE
AP Education Writer

After taking care of Junior these hot days almost all of us jump at the chance to get out of the house for an evening—that is, if we can get a baby sitter.

To the mother of young children, says Dr. Alice Sowers, professor of family life education at the University of Oklahoma, the baby sitter is her passport to the outside world. Since the sitter's role, then, is really that of substitute parent, she needs the kind of knowledge that will enable her to play that important role both with confidence and skill.

Writing in National Parent-Teacher Magazine, Dr. Sowers says that despite the fact parents do everything they can to keep their children healthy and safe, invariably they will bring into their homes girl baby sitters about whom they know practically nothing—nothing about their health, their backgrounds, what they do to keep children quiet, what threats and bribes they will use to control them. In short, they know little about their baby sitters except that they are willing to stay at the house for so much an hour.

What's the answer? "In our present manner of living," she says, "a sitter is usually a necessity. Only a comparatively few homes have the blessing of a relative or servant who can be counted on to stay with the children and who knows the family and the way parents handle problems arising in the home."

Usually there are two types of baby sitters. One is the one who sits in the house when children are in bed and the one who stays with the children during the waking hours. "Any responsible person of good health and character can do the evening kind of sitting satisfactorily," believes Dr. Sowers.

The parents who go off for the evening, she says, should leave all the information the sitter will need—telephone numbers of the family doctor, the fire department, the police, and the place where the parents themselves can be reached. If the parents will not be near a telephone, they should leave the name of the person who can be called in an emergency.

They should take care to answer the sitter's inevitable questions in advance by telling her about the child's habits of children, such as sleeping with toys and going to the bathroom; what to do with pets at bedtime; at what hour the parents expect to return; and what the sitter may make of the telephone for personal calls. A young sitter may want to entertain a friend, if so, tell her the rules about this and likewise what, if any food in the refrigerator may be eaten.

But finding the proper sitter for a child's waking hours is another story, she says. When children are labeled "brats" by sitters, a mother may find it increasingly difficult to find a sitter available when she needs one. Children must respect the authority of the sitter. Otherwise it is unsafe to leave them with her, no matter how fine she is.

Know Personally. Parents, says Dr. Sowers, should by all means know the sitter personally. Says she: "How else can you find out what the children are learning from her in the way of stories, facts, ideals, and superstitions? What radio programs are tuned in when she is there? What methods of discipline does she use? Do the children impose on her, take advantage of her position as an out-

Husband - Training Hints Bring Angry Yowls From Men

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

The American woman is well used to the idea that the solemn words of the marriage ceremony don't automatically turn her into a perfect wife.

But let anyone even hint that the American man isn't always a bargain as a husband, or that he might need a little tactical training to turn him into the kind of considerate human being a woman can live happily with for life—and the man holler for the cops.

A recent column of mine advising brides that the first year of marriage is the time to train a husband in the way he should go sidler? What does the girl say and do during the parent's absence? Who comes into the house when the parents are gone?

What can be done to safeguard both sitters and families as this business continues to become an ever more important part of home and family life? Dr. Sowers says that in some schools and colleges, there are courses in baby sitting which outline rules of pay and rules and provide a form of training. These schools also maintain an employment agency where calls are received and sitters supplied.

Prospective and active sitters learn something about children and child development at different ages. They discuss their relationship with the family and their responsibility to the parents. They develop a code regarding their personal behavior and their job.

brought loud squawks from the men.

One critic, who was a little more sarcastic than the others, even fell back on that old threat that if a wife tries to turn a man into a husband who treats her like a human being she'll lose him to "something cute and fluffy who flatters his ego."

Wearing Pretty. This. That's an old, old chestnut that men have been holding over women's heads so long they've come to depend on it as their main means of keeping wives in line.

But the truth is that if Mama lets that old threat, spoken or implied, intimidate her so that she doesn't dare to stand up for her rights or expect to be treated with as much consideration as she gives her husband, her marriage isn't any bargain anyway.

It really does seem as though men would be a little bit ashamed of having to end every man-woman argument with the threat that if a woman isn't willing to spend her life making a man feel big and wonderful and important—however far from the truth that might be—he can always start looking around for some bird-brain who will.

Just his speed.

It sounds such an awful lot like the childish threat: "If you won't play what I want to play, I'll go home."

An attractive way to serve melon is to cut it into round slices and then pare off the rind from each slice. Place melon rings on dessert plates and fill centers with berries or other fresh fruits. Or use the melon rings for a salad and fill centers with creamed cottage cheese and garnish with sprays of watercress; serve with salad dressing.

Your Summer Song Is Cologne

Movie Star Doris Day has discovered the freshening effect of sponging her forehead with cologne-dampened cotton squares on hot days. These processed pads, which absorb moisture without matting, may also be sprayed with toilet water and inserted in cuffs (left) or pockets (right) to serve as inexpensive sachets.

By DORIS DAY

Written For NEA Service
During the Summer, I keep my exotic perfume for evening wear alone. And even then, I use them lightly.

For daytime use in hot weather, I like cologne or toilet water. The light floral scents are best. In my profession, I must look and feel well-groomed at the studio and on personal appearances, so the scent I wear becomes part of the "face" I present to the public.

When I am under heavy studio lights for hours, even my hair wilts. So, whenever I have a few minutes' break, I make a quick trip to my dressing room to freshen up. I use cotton squares dampened with cologne to touch up my neck, hairline and even the part in my hair. This routine has an instantly refreshing effect.

After each shampoo, in the summertime, I use a few drops of cologne in the rinse water to keep my hair fresh longer. The alcohol tends to remove oily traces.

For Summer evenings, I put one or two drops of my expensive perfume on small cotton squares and fasten them with a sparkling pin to the pocket of my dress or pin them to the hem of my evening slip. Thus, the perfume doesn't actually touch my skin. Perfume used this way lasts longer.

The same trick can be applied to cologne. I apply my cologne to the small cotton squares and slip them into the cuff of a tailored Summer suit. They go into the bands in my Summer hats, too, and give the final touch to each costume I wear.

I've worked out my own methods of applying cologne and perfume because I don't think it's efficient just to dab them carelessly on earlobes and throat. I find that scents which are applied with care linger much longer. And any form of perfume is just as important as make-up in making a woman look and feel attractive.

RETURNS FROM VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gibson returned Wednesday night from a 12-day trip to San Diego and Riverside, Calif., and a sightseeing tour of Grand Canyon, Ariz.

A quick and easy luncheon dish for hot weather is to add finely diced celery to canned kidney beans along with a little chopped pickle and salad dressing; serve on lettuce or romaine. Rinse the beans with cold water, after taking them from the can, and drain before making the salad.

Lawrences Are At Home In Midland

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Lawrence are at home at 707 North Carrizo Street, Apartment 6, after their marriage July 6 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Russell.

Mrs. Lawrence is the former Ella Simmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Simmons of Bon Wier and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Lawrence of Quitman.

The double-ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Howard H. Hollowell, pastor of the First Methodist Church, before a fireplace fronted by a green screen covered with pink gladioli. The mantel was covered with arrangements of pink gladioli and large white daisies tied with pink satin ribbon. Pink tapers of varied heights were interspersed with the arrangements.

Pink Organdy

Soft, recorded music was played during the ceremony. Mrs. Russell was the bride's only attendant. J. C. Lawrence, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride, given in marriage by R. L. Burke, wore a pink organdy dress with a round collar outlined with tiny white daisies with yellow centers.

She carried a bouquet of white daisies tied with pink streamers and a white Bible and wore a band of daisies in her hair.

Mrs. Russell wore a white dress and green accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with the traditional bride and bridegroom figurines.

Wedding guests were Mrs. Burke, Mrs. J. C. Lawrence, Mrs. R. C. Noble and Mr. and Mrs. James Seago.

Blankets should be freshly-laundered before they are stored for Summer. After they are folded lengthwise in thirds, they should be wrapped in clean, heavy paper and sealed with gummed or cellophane tape to keep out moths. They should be stored in a dry closet on a separate shelf where heavy objects will not be piled upon them.

Coats Run the Gamut

Their Trend for Fall: Variety

The coat story for fall is told in terms of great style variety. The all-important great coat is done by Philip Mangone in smoky yellow and gray wool plaid. Collar and cuffs are highlighted by self-fringe. The coat has sweeping lines, huge patch pockets. A fitted town coat from Brigrance is curly yellow deep-piled duvetyne, double-breasted, with shawl collar and very full skirt.

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—This Fall, women will find truly new fashion and great style variety in coats. They are fitted, wrapped, or flared. They are narrow, full, or semi-full. They are short, medium and long, or so short as to be mere jackets.

They are, furthermore, tailored in tweed, in plaid, in cheviot, in fake fur, in fleece, in almost any wool fabric you can name. They come with and without fur trim. Their color is bright and it is also subdued.

Typifying the handsome fitted town coat is one by Brigrance in curly yellow deep-piled duvetyne. This coat is double-breasted with a fairly deep shawl collar and a very full skirt which falls into unpressed pleats. The waist is shaped in exactly the same hourglass silhouette used for suits. The lining is crisp black taffeta.

Representing the important great coat, shown in all Fall collections, is a virgin wool plaid in smoky yellow and gray by Philip Mangone. The lines are sweeping and details few but dramatic. The large cuffs are given six rows of self-fringe and the collar has three. The only other details are huge patch pockets and a single large button.

His lecture and demonstration, entitled "The Inside Straight," will be presented at 8 p.m. in West Elementary School under the sponsorship of the Midland Stamp Club. This will be his only appearance in Texas.

There will be no admission charge. A two-hour performance is to be given. A fully-equipped crime laboratory will be on display and in full operation. Crime will be detected in full view of the audience, the criminals will be caught, and the audience does the deducing.

Stamp collectors, peace enforcement officers, and the general public are invited. There are more than 10,000,000 stamp collectors in the United States and it is estimated that one person in every 15 is a stamp collector.

With 350 pounds of scientific equipment and projection equipment, the Midland club is presenting a never-to-be-forgotten performance. Step by step, the audience will be taken through an actual counterfeiting crime from start to finish.

Weiss is a national authority on counterfeit detection work. Midland is his first stop on a tour of the West Coast and back. His performance has been given in the largest cities throughout the country.

Due to Weiss's acquaintance with a stamp club member here, he has consented to give his show in Midland. Weiss goes to Phoenix from Midland, and then to Los Angeles and San Francisco. Collectors wishing to have their stamps expertized free may present them at the performance.

Pastor Gets Slug From Drink Machine

PORTALES, N. M.—(AP)—The Rev. Therman Harris, pastor of the Methodist Church, is wondering what to do with a slug he took out of the soft drink machine in the church basement.

Apparently good enough to get results from the church's machine, the slug bears an inscription saying it is good for five cents at a Cleveland, Ohio, bar.

Mr. Harris has no immediate plans to visit Cleveland, and he wonders what a nickel would buy there, anyway.

Use a pall of clean, dry sand as a storage place for small garden tools. This will retard rust.

Lions Crippled Children's Camp To Open Next Summer

KERRVILLE—Clusters of ranch-style bunk houses, filled with the laughter of physically handicapped youngsters, should dot the neighboring hills by the Summer of 1941 if present plans of the Texas Lions League for Crippled Children materialize.

Jack Wiech, president of the league which was organized to raise funds for the construction and operation of the Melvin Jones Camp for crippled children, said he has hopes that the $500,000 camp will be in full operation by next Summer.

Among the committees which he has appointed are the membership development committee, camp improvements, advisory and camp awards.

The membership development committee, under the chairmanship of J. I. Moore of Kerrville, is charged with contacting individuals for the purpose of raising funds for the construction, maintenance and support of the building and property at the proposed camp.

Midlander Is Listed

Others on that committee are C. N. Hilscher of Bryan; Joe Fisher, Jasper; James L. Daugherty, Midland, and Bryan Sparks of Cooper.

Reagan Smith of Conroe is chairman of the camp improvements committee. Serving on the committee are G. S. McCreless, San Antonio; Sam Furr, Olney; Pat Jackson, Nacogdoches, and Curtis Dyer of Borger.

The camp will be open to crippled boys and girls from the ages of seven through 18.

"No fee shall ever be charged or collected for the admission or maintenance of any children at the Melvin Jones Camp," Wiech explained. "Any person or organization interested in the welfare of any particular crippled child or children," he added, "shall have the privilege of making a contribution to the work of the league."

The camp will be constructed on a 504-acre tract of land, three miles from Kerrville, which was donated to the league by the federal government.

Children at the camp would come from various parts of Texas, assisted by local Lions clubs.

There's Glamor For Short Hair

Short hair-dos which limit coiffures to one-way styles may be glamorized with summery, easily-made accessories. Velvet-bound veiling (left) is used for dressy effect with afternoon wear. For important evenings (right) flowers add extra allure.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Many women with short hair-dos are resigned to looking exactly the same at all times—cool and casual but not glamorous—regardless of the occasion.

There is an answer, however, to this problem of creating special hair allure for important engagements. It has been supplied by Bernard Az Guro, noted hair stylist, who recommends leaving the hair as it is—soft and natural—and turning to hair accessories for that extra touch of glamor.

Net veilings lend themselves to a variety of uses. They can be used alone or combined with velvet ribbon. This year they are stylish when worn close to the forehead as eyelash or nose-tip veils, or projecting outward in a visor effect. They should be chosen to contrast with the hair. Dramatic blacks accent blonde tresses, and whites or pastels point up dark locks.

For evening wear, Guro suggests flowers. They add color and fragrance in addition to changing the silhouette of the hair-do. Flower arrangements should not be stuck on as an after-thought, he warns, but should be planned in advance as an integral part of the coiffure.

When wreaths are used they should follow the natural line of the wave. Other ideas for integrating flowers with hair include dotting small flowers among curls to fill sparse spots, and using large single flowers to conceal bare spots above the ears.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written For NEA Service

"May I have your ruling," asks a New York reader, "on the following situation. I held three aces, three queens, three sixes, and two fives. The discard pile was quite large and finally a five was discarded by the player at my right."

"This gave me the required count of 120 points for my first meld. However, it was necessary for me to use up my entire hand to make that meld. The opponents claimed that I could not take the pile since the meld left me with no cards in my hand. My partner and I claimed that taking the pack and melding were one and the same transaction; and that since I would have the pile left, I would have plenty of cards after my discard."

"Who is right?"
The meld is perfectly legal. It is quite all right to use every card in your hand for your initial meld when you take the discard pile. The only requirement is that you have at least one card in your hand after you have made your discard.

In this case, the player had the right to put down his entire hand, add the five from the top of the discard pile, and then pick up the rest of the pile. With the pile in his hand, he would then have the right to consider further melds, and so on, just as in the case of

The delegates were elected at a meeting of the Midland County Home Demonstration Council Friday in the Assembly Room of the Midland County Courthouse.

Mrs. B. L. Mason, council president, was elected Texas Home Demonstration Association chairman. Mrs. L. H. Moncrief presided at the meeting in Mrs. Mason's absence. Other members attending were Mrs. J. C. Stephens, Mrs. I. J. Howard, Mrs. H. A. Palmer, Mrs. J. D. Bartlett, Mrs. Joe Heidelberg and Pauline McWilliams.

OUT OF PRACTICE

CHICAGO —P— Walter Karakuska, 50, who hadn't owned a car in 25 years, bought one this Spring. He noticed that automobile engineers had made quite a few changes. But that didn't faze him. He got behind the wheel and rode off. His machine caromed off another auto, bumped across a sidewalk and smashed into a tavern window.

Homeless Children Under Care Of Midland Child Welfare Unit

By FRANCES HAGAMAN

Sue is thirteen years old. She is an attractive, normal girl who will be a junior high student in the fall.

Her mother is dead; her father physically unable to care for her. Sue is without a home.

She is but one of the children under the care of the Midland County Child Welfare Unit.

Charles Laughton Will Be Presented Here By B&PW Club

Charles Laughton, world-famous star of the screen, stage and radio, will make a personal appearance in Midland at 8:30 p.m., December 14, under the sponsorship of the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Charles Laughton

The program, "An Evening with Laughton," will be presented in the Midland High School Auditorium. It will consist of a group of readings by the well-known actor. The readings, given by Laughton throughout the United States, vary from the Bible to James Thurber and often include selections from Thomas Wolfe and Shakespeare.

The popular actor will come here direct from Austin to present the program. Only one performance will be given, and sponsors expect a capacity attendance. Final arrangements for the function will be made at a meeting of the B&PW Club members scheduled this week.

Officials said proceeds from the attraction will be used by the B&PW Club in financing its civic and benevolent projects.

Mrs. Berryhill Will Be Star Study Guest

Mrs. Essie Berryhill will be the guest of members of the Star Study Club this week. Mrs. Berryhill, who lives in the Eastern Star Home in Arlington, Texas, has been adopted by this club as its "mother."

She will arrive in Midland Sunday and remain through the week, visiting in the homes of various club members. Mrs. Berryhill will be a special guest at a covered-dish dinner Wednesday night in the home of Mrs. E. B. Pay, 1811 West Kentucky Street.

The dinner is for all club members and their families and women who attend the night study group are especially asked to attend.

Today, the unit needs foster homes for two boys and the girl we have called Sue.

Within a short time two other Midland children will be without permanent residences.

The number of children the unit is being asked to care for is constantly increasing. They are children of all ages from all kinds of homes.

They may be runaways who stay with the unit for several days. Sometimes, like the 16-year-old boy who is here now, they are homeless orphans without a place to go.

Often, because of the illness of parents or other children in a home, Child Welfare needs foster homes for children for a period of days.

Mrs. Willie Harding, secretary of the unit, is seeking a permanent home for an eight-year-old boy. He does not live in Midland but an appeal has come to Mrs. Harding from another welfare unit.

The boy's parents are divorced. He is a strong child with superior intelligence. He has no home.

Primary Function

The primary function of the Child Welfare Unit, as outlined by Mrs. Harding, is to offer protection to children and to plan for them.

Psychological and emotional neglect, abuse and exploitation are the three things against which a welfare unit protects children of its area.

It plans for them under its foster home program. The five types of foster homes approved by the unit are adoptive home, institution, work or wage home, boarding home and free home.

Children the unit is asked to care for most often fall into nine categories.

There are orphans with no relatives to care for them and foundlings with no known relatives. Close to these types are the children whose parents have abandoned them.

Child Welfare also finds many children whose mother or both parents are ill or otherwise handicapped. Examples of these cases are the children with tubercular or mentally ill parents.

Motherless children whose fathers cannot secure a housekeeper or care among relatives are taken by the unit, as are children who have been removed from unfit homes by court action. In the latter cases, a unit worker attempts to improve the home situation and make it fit for the return of the child.

Spastic Children

Children of unmarried parents are, in some cases, cared for by Child Welfare. This, however, depends on the family plan and physical and mental conditions.

Spastic children, serious heart cases, feeble-minded children and others with certain serious health problems often are under the supervision of the unit.

Occasionally, Child Welfare is asked to take children who present certain conduct or habit problems with which parents are unable to deal.

It is part of the job of Child Welfare and its workers to find homes for these children. They must be happy homes where the wounds of past experiences can be healed.

Good foster parents are people who are happy and comfortable in their own personal lives. They love children, but are not disturbed if their love is not returned.

They are firm, insist on obedience and get it. They can punish without a spirit of revenge and can quickly forget misdemeanors.

And they have a sense of humor and are versatile in discovering talents in every child.

Such persons as these can be trusted to work with an agency. They will report situations that should be known. They do not fear failure because they know the agency will not reject them if they fail.

Autumn Fashions Follow Natural Lines

These three designs forecast the shape of things to come this fall. Monte Sano picked patterned fleece for his "little great coat" (left), which has deep-cuffed three-quarter length sleeves and convertible chin-tie collar. Soft-draped beige wool lace (center) is used by de-

NEW YORK—The fashions from which women will assemble their wardrobes this Fall are characterized chiefly by their charm and wearability. Gone are extremes. Here, in their place, are designs which women will find flattering. The Monte Sano conception of the "little great coat," which is destined for stardom this Fall, features modified fullness. He's cut patterned fleece into a promenade coat with deep cuffed three-quarter-length sleeves which unfold to a shorter cuff for full length.

The new "saucer-in-the-sky" collar buttons to the tip of the chin, or rolls down, or is perfectly flat. This designer's collection emphasizes the new darks—smoke gray, plum and blueberry—and the vivid jewel tones such as emerald and topaz.

Fragile dresses with simple lines place importance squarely on texture and trim in the collection of designer Charles Lang.

One outstanding dress eminently useful in nearly any wardrobe is softly-draped beige wool lace, set off by a single sparkle of the rhinestones which outline the belt buckle. Sleeves stop just below the elbow and are touched up by the same dark beige wool used for the square-ed portrait neckline. The skirt fits smoothly, with sleeves deeply inset.

Though it's given different names by different designers, one suit silhouette is important in nearly all Fall collections: a line that's softly rounded above and below the waist.

Monte Sano calls this silhouette "dresden vase." One such suit from this designer is short-waisted, double-studded with flashing costume jewelry buttons. The abruptly flaring abbreviated peplum places emphasis on rounded lines. The skirt is slim, with peg-top treatment gently modified. The color for this suit is a jewel tone—sapphire blue in virgin wool flannel.

DO NOT THROW AWAY THE KEYS to TRUE FREEDOM!

The longer a sick man refuses to face the truth, the less chance he has to get well. Just waiting to see what will happen, or doing nothing about one's personal health until serious damage is done, is as unreasonable as locking yourself in a room and throwing the key out the window.

Your Doctor cannot get you well without your cooperation. Give your Doctor the facts that will help to open the door. Vital health is worth working for.

Some wise man has said, "you do no good by helping a man up—if he cannot stand on his feet. It is innate that man must do for himself."

The two most important keys to true freedom are: HEALTH that will fully free your brain and body for achievement; WORK, as a free man or woman, to pursue the opportunities so rich at hand.

Put forth the personal effort to make and keep these keys your own.

KOLLEGE KIDS' KAPERS

By BETTY BOBO

July to most Midlanders does not mean too much. Of course, there is the everyday routine—the daily trek to the office; the traffic jams at 12:05 and 5:05; the crowded downtown drugstores at 10 and 3; an occasional swim or game of tennis; the constant vigil many of us keep for the postman; the loafing; the long, hot days; the short, hot nights and for the lucky ones, a wonderful long-awaited vacation.

Then, of course, the glorious Fourth! But did you know that the Japanese are having a Festival of the Dead? Yes, they are too! They hold the belief that the dead return once a year to visit their living relatives. This festival takes place in July. In the temples and private shrines, fruit and tea is placed upon the altars and tapers are lighted each evening.

Dominion Day
A good Canadians celebrate Dominion Day, July 1. This commemorates the formation of the Dominion which took place in 1867 in accordance with the British North America Act.

The Paris Mob, goaded by the memory of centuries of tyranny and persecution, stormed the Bastille on the morning of July 14, 1789. In 1880, July 14 was declared the National Festival of France by the National Assembly. This day corresponds with our own Independence Day, July 4.

Next, there is the marriage of the Adriatic. When the Venetians defeated the Imperial Fleet in July, 1177, Pope Alexander III sent to Venice a gold ring as a symbol of the city's dominion over the sea. Today, in Venice, there is an annual picturesque ceremony commemorating the marriage of the city and the sea.

July Happenings Here
Enough of July happenings in other lands. Things have been popping around Midland too. Springfield, Ohio, was the destination of Bernal Pemberton this week. Bernal flew to Yankelind to visit his sister.

Royce Rae McKee, Alex Oates, Joe Mabey, Dicky and Johnny Jackson and Guy McMillan are happy that O. J. C. has ended its Summer season.

Edwina Hood, Shirley Winter, Elizabeth Ann Cowden, Wilbur Yeager and Buddy Anguish are home from Texas University. Jimmy Olsen decided to stay at Tech another six weeks.

Lloyd Henderson and Harry Loscamp are working for a seismograph crew in Stanton.

Laverne Estes was a bridesmaid in the wedding of her childhood chum, Patsy Young, in Mineral Wells the latter part of June.

Joan Montgomery is working at The First National Bank. The new Midland Memorial Hospital seems to be an attractive environment for working collegians this Summer. Kay Matthews, Dorothy Wolfe, Ruby Goins, Swan Hagler and Martha Scharbauer are employed as nurses' aides.

Visita Baylor
Polly Pullen went to Waco last week to visit friends at Baylor. Lynna Dell Moore is employed as secretary at Laughlin and Simmons.

Guess what is taking up Ed Prichard's spare time? A pianist Ed is taking lessons from Wallace Wimberly.

Joan Boykin is working at the Midland County Health Center. Pat Pryor is home from Camp Mystic where she has been head counselor in Arts and Crafts.

Sarah Lew Link has gone to the ranch at Strawn for a few days. Peggy Whitson and Mary Thompson are in Abilene this weekend attending a reunion.

Maurine Denton is working for the Magnolia Oil Company. "Teeny" also has been spending a lot of time on the tennis courts.

Bill Hill, formerly of Breckenridge, is a new resident of Midland. Bill attends school at Hardin-Simmons in Abilene.

Guess that's all! All the cooperation received in the writing of this column certainly is appreciated. Thanks a lot!

Autumn's Suits Hold Femininity

Suits will be feminine this fall, with longer torso, arched hipline and pinched-in waist. A slim gray fannel suit (left) from Philip Mangone has notched collar, longer torso, and wrap-around skirt with back panel. The rounded hipline and narrow skirt are displayed in a gray wool gabardine suit (center) by Paul Parnes. Revers and cuffs are charcoal velvet; strap closings are studded with rhinestones. The tiny waist and curved hipline appear again in a soft blue wool suit (right) designed by Martini. The suit has pocket flaps trimmed in blue mole and is worn with a blue mole stole.

By GAIL DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK — Autumn's suits are molded to the feminine figure. The waist is nipped and the hipline is rounded. This rounded effect is achieved by padding and by unusual, shaped pockets.

Skirts are very slim and are shorter than last year's. Most of them measure 14 inches from the floor.

While the waist is sharply defined, waistlines generally are longer than they were last fall. Blouses or belted jackets often have belts which dip at the back.

The horseshoe-neck jacket, which has a place of importance, also serves to point up the longer torso. Here, the buttons frequently start at the waist since the collar curves down to the waistline.

Tweed and flannel both are prominent in fall suit collections, with the tweed trend extending even to accessories. Color is strong for deep violet and plum, for charcoal gray and for the spice tones: curry, ginger, mace and cinnamon. Brown is coming back, typified by the new "oxford brown," which is a dark heather brown.

Smoke silver - gray flannel is fashioned by Philip Mangone into a slim suit which gains tuxedo lines through its notched collar. This suit has its own costume blouse of two-toned silver-gray silk, with a matching lining for the jacket. The skirt is wrap-around, closing with a wide panel at the back.

The rounded hipline is apparent in a gray wool gabardine suit by designer Paul Parnes. The waist is minute and the skirt, straight skirt is offset by a walking pleat in the back. Charcoal velvet revers and cuffs pick up the gray of the suit and complement the rhinestone-studded horizontal strap closings.

The tiny waist and new hipline appears again in a mole-trimmed wool suit from Martini. Both suit and fur are a soft blue, with the fur topping pocket flaps which are designed to aid in curving the hipline. The waistline is pointed up by a flaring peplum. The jacket has a wide, notched collar and the skirt has narrow lines.

Democratic Precinct Meets Will Be Held Next Saturday

A schedule of Democratic precinct conventions to be held next Saturday has been announced by Louis A. Bartha, Midland County Democratic Executive Committee chairman. All meetings are scheduled at 10 a.m.

The precinct conventions will elect delegates to the county convention, which will be held at 10 a.m. the following Saturday, July 29, in the district courtroom in the courthouse.

Precincts 1 and 7, formerly Precinct 1, will meet jointly in the district courtroom, with Herbert Marshall, Precinct 7 chairman, and Francis Kingon, Precinct 1 chairman, serving as co-chairmen. The joint convention is allowed 64 delegates to the county convention. Precincts 5 and 6, formerly Precinct 5, will hold a joint convention on the mezzanine floor of Hotel Scharbauer to name 62 delegates. W. A. Yeager and W. E. Pigg, chairmen of Precincts 6 and 5, respectively, will be convention co-chairmen.

The Precinct 2 convention will be held adjacent to the Greenwood School in East Midland County, with Chairman B. T. Graham presiding. The precinct is entitled to three county convention delegates.

Other Meetings
Chairman J. C. Franklin will preside at the Precinct 3 convention, which will be held adjacent to the Frank Midkiff ranch home in South-Central Midland County. One county convention delegate will be named.

The Precinct 4 convention will be held adjacent to the Fire Station at Midland Air Terminal. Three delegates will be elected. Chairman J. R. McCarter will preside.

The number of delegates to be named at the various precinct gatherings is based upon the number of votes cast for the party's candidate for governor in the last election, Bartha said.

Two additional voting precincts have been carved out of the two former precincts since the 1948 election, necessitating the holding of the two joint conventions this year.

The 133 delegates to the county convention, July 29, will elect 11 delegates to the state Democratic convention scheduled September 12. Bartha urged all party members to participate in the precinct conventions.

Abundant Living

By
E. STANLEY JONES

John 10:10; II Cor. 12:7; Luke 13:11-17.

SALVATION IS WHOLENESS. God has provided for health and not for disease. The fact is that health is stronger than disease. A cancer expert tells me that cancer cells are more susceptible to being killed by radium than healthy cells—the differential susceptibility is lower in healthy tissue. That difference makes it possible, by the proper use of radium, to kill the cancer cells, but not injure the healthy tissues.

Health then is written into the constitution of things. God wills it. If we do not have health, then some law has been broken somewhere, either by our ancestors, or by ourselves, or by society, or by environmental factors. We cannot be responsible for the body we begin life with, but we are responsible for the one we die with. For the body can be improved no matter how handicapped it may have been in the beginning. I have lived for 35 years in one of the worst climates of the world—India, a land poverty-stricken and disease-ridden, "the white man's grave." And yet I have come out of it at the end of these years with a better body than I had when I went in. I have missed only about two single engagements in 25 years: one from a flu germ—the gift of America—and one by a war regulation in Ceylon. Someone said recently, "You look 10 years younger than you did five years ago—that is real religion." I was interested in the linking of real religion—with health and vitality. They are linked, and they are going to be increasingly linked. Jesus defined salvation as health. Wherever He uses the word, "be saved," in the margin it is translated, "Be whole." Salvation is wholeness, health—health in total personality, body, mind, and soul. The time is coming when we shall be ashamed of a lack of health in any part of our being, knowing that some law has been broken by somebody. If through ignorance or carelessness we are unhealthy, still the condition is not hopeless, for both nature and God are redemptive.

My gracious, healing Father, I come to Thee with this body of mine. Forgive me for the sins I have committed against it and thus against Thee, its Creator. Help me to work with Thee to make it the perfect expression of Thy will. Give me insight into the laws of my body and help me to obey them when I see them. Amen.

HUGE HOSPITAL GIFT—Mrs. Mabel Harle, worthy grand matron of the Order of the Eastern Star of Texas, presents a check for $4,500 to Judge Towne Young, president of the Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children in Dallas. The charity institution is supported by contributions in the form of trusts, bequests and individual gifts. Other persons on hand for the gift presentation, left to right, were: Asher Mintz, secretary of the hospital board; Mrs. Olsey Shirley, Grand Martha of the Texas OES; Dean Gauldin, worthy grand patron, OES; and Mrs. Irma Mitchell, hospital superintendent.

Shades Of Wheaties-Coats Match Coffee

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK—(P)—A food processor is muscling in on women's haute-couture—fashions, to you. It's not a matter of calories and curves, either—but of dressing up a new color and new styles from the skin out, or from hat to shoe.

The sponsors even lay claim to having induced 1,800 mink to provide enough fur for the first "pilot" coat in the new shade. The thought of promotion and profits undoubtedly lurks somewhere around.

But the food and fashion liaison isn't the only one in this topsy-turvy business world of ours where war scares and sales promotions trip over each other at every turn.

For instance: A mattress maker and a brewer have joined hands with a beauty contest—the question of curves isn't mentioned here either.

The perfume industry is tying its advertising kite to the nation's tea bags, in a way not too easy to grasp without help.

Fabric mills are coming out forthrightly for health—especially if you seek health by buying swimming suits.

And the jewelry makers have sighted a great need and prepared to fill it—a longer necklace to go with the new horseshoe neckline. Also, they're bringing out an above-the-elbow bracelet designed especially as the jewelry industry council says, for "the upper arm, which has been left suddenly bare."

General Foods Corporation is the one who is launching a new color for women's wear. You'll get the idea when you learn that the new color is to be called "Sanka." Now, Sanka is a General Foods product. It is coffee with the caffeine extracted.

In the fond hope that America's womenfolk will all take to wearing "rich dark brown, just off black" this Fall, General Foods has lined up an impressive list of top-flight French and American fashion designers, hat makers, furriers, shoe makers, lingerie, blouse, stocking, negligee, trousseau, glove, handbag and perfume makers, and a list of textile houses. They've turned out new Sanka designs in their specialties.

New Color
The new color was unveiled at a fashion show last week for the edification of some 160 fashion editors of newspapers from all parts of the country.

The 1,800 minks, nicely lined up in a "dark, sultry" coat, led one of the visitors to exclaim: "Isn't that cute?" It sure was, and expensive, too.

International Silver Company got in on the act by announcing a new spoon pattern, "designed for stirring Sanka coffee." And a new perfume was exhibited. It's brown, as you might expect, and is supposed to be put on the mink.

More Perfume

The perfume people are already working hard to promote wider use of their products. They've formed a Fragrances Foundation, Incorporated—since they prefer the word "fragrance" to "scent"—and are gunning for $500,000 for a promotion fund from members.

They hit on this figure as a minimum, they explain, because their "Retail volume runs to around $150,000,000 a year, roughly the same as total retail sales of tea." The tea industry raised $1,500,000 to promote the use of tea. And Fragrances Foundation says its starting at a third that amount but plans to work up.

As for the beauty queen and the beer and mattress—the contest is for the title of Mrs. America. Among those sponsoring state contests is a brewery (The Griesedieck Western) is back of the quest for Mrs. Missouri. Among those contracting to use Mrs. America's name and photograph in their promotion campaigns is the Simmons Company, makers of Beautyrest mattress. The why and wherefore of the tie-up will probably appear later in the ads.

Expert On Traffic Thumbing His Way

VANCOUVER—(P)—A Dutch prosecutor—a specialist in traffic cases, Hans Bredius—is hitch hiking his way around the continent studying North American traffic systems. He started his tour in New York City.

Because of foreign exchange regulations, he could get only $150 for the trip and he has to make it last more than three months. Han's hitch-hiking formula is simple. If he wants to get to Hollywood, say, he chalks on cardboard "Holland to Hollywood." With a Dutch flag under the sign he parks by the highway to wait—usually not long.

Mold cucumber and pineapple sauces in lime-flavored gelatin for a delicious and cool hot-weather salad; this tastes particularly good with slices of leftover cold lamb and hot fluffy mashed potatoes.

New Texas School Laws Have Desired Effect Of Providing Better Educational Program

AUSTIN—Texas' new school laws, in force one year, have had the desired effect of providing better education and of bringing more children into the classroom.

Average enrollment skyrocketed more than 100,000, L. P. Sturgeon, state associate commissioner of education, said recently.

"A renewed interest among educators in getting children into the schools, plus more attractive programs offered the pupils have had the desired effect," Sturgeon said.

"The spotlight of publicity thrown upon the schools while new education laws were being studied by the public and enacted by the last legislature has caused Texans to take more interest in their schools than ever before."

"An illustration of this is the fact that in some districts members of civic clubs have designated themselves as attendance officers. They have been extremely helpful to the school administrators in urging attendance so that Texas children can have a better education."

Every district in the state has waged intensive campaigns to get children in school and keep them there, Sturgeon said.

Schools have expanded or instituted classes in shop work to interest older children.

Classes for handicapped children have increased 50 per cent. They, like many other special school services, were made possible by allocation of state funds under Gilmer-Alkin school laws.

Visual aid facilities have been augmented, Sturgeon said, increasing the interest of children in school work.

School terms of six weeks to two months during the Summer are popular in many sections of the state, according to Sturgeon. These make it possible for students to complete their annual scholastic work and yet allow schools to be dismissed during cotton picking time.

Sturgeon also reported that inroads are being made on the problem of regular attendance of Latin-American and Negro pupils. Itinerant workers are prone to leave their children in school only two or three months of the year, at most, Sturgeon pointed out.

Some districts which have heavy Latin American and negro populations reported gains in attendance of 15 per cent and more during the last school year as compared with less than five per cent state-wide gain.

But even with the increase in attendance, there still are approximately 150,000 children of school age in Texas who are not enrolled, Sturgeon said. These are children whose parents are starting them in school a year late or older children who do not enter high school.

One of the most serious problems confronting school districts is lack of classroom facilities, according to Charles H. Tennyson, executive secretary of the Texas State Teachers Association.

Surveys by that organization and state school officials show that 50 per cent of the school districts this year increased their classroom facilities. Many others will add classrooms during 1960 and '61, Tennyson said.

"These necessary additional facilities will be made available due to increased revenue obtained by the schools through the new and equitable laws which produce more funds, from both state and local taxes," Tennyson said.

Surprising Where Bees Make Honey

PECOS—It's surprising to what length a few bees will go to find a place to store their honey and to make their combs.

But Jimmie Strong, who works for a Pecos barber shop, knows West Texas bees will go anywhere seeking a home—even into the pipes of a kitchen stove.

Strong had bought the range about three months ago, and the still-enclosed stove had been stored in a partly enclosed store room at Monahans. Having moved to Pecos, Strong had the stove and his other furniture moved over here.

A utility man started to work, connecting the stove. After working on the stove all morning, the man brought out some assistance, and the work continued.

The repairmen tore out the trays and shelves. They removed the burners and other connections. Before they had finished, the stove was torn completely apart. And finally they found the source of their trouble.

Inside one of the gas pipes, they found about a glassful of honey and two or three dead bees. The origin of the bees is unknown.

Bandeon Resigns WTCC Managership

ABILENE—(AP)—D. A. Bandeon, for 30 years general manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, resigned Friday afternoon. He gave health as the reason.

The WTCC executive board accepted the resignation and voted to offer Bandeon an advisory post.

D. A. BANDEON

at a minimum salary of $300 a month. His present salary, which Bandeon says is "about $10,000" a year, will continue through September.

Raymond Lee Johns, manager of the WTCC Panhandle-Plains office at Plainview was appointed immediately, after Bandeon's resignation was accepted, to assume temporary managership of the office here. Johns formerly was manager of the Lamesa and Plainview Chambers of Commerce.

WTCC President J. M. Willson of Floydada said the executive board hoped permanent successor in mind, and it would be some time before one was named.

Bandeon said he was finding it "increasingly impossible" to discharge fully all his duties as manager of the WTCC, the West Texas Domestic Water Association, the Freight Rate Equity Federation, and the West Texas Resource Museum Institute.

Bandeon served 10 years as manager of the El Paso Chamber of Commerce before joining the West Texas Chamber.

Gilmer-Aikin Laws Offer Many Special Services To Schools

AUSTIN — The smaller public schools of Texas now have available many special services which have raised the standards of education throughout the state, Waurine Walker, president of the Texas State Teachers Association, declared here Saturday.

Increased state funds for districts, after they have met state requirements as to financing on the local level has made available teacher supervisors, student counselors, librarians, visiting teachers, nurses, physicians, itinerant teachers, more vocational teachers, home economics and trades and industries courses, distributive education, and more training of exceptional, or handicapped children, Miss Walker pointed out.

"The time is past when children in rural areas cannot have an education as good and in as many fields of endeavor as students in the centers of population," Miss Walker commented.

State aid to schools is offered on a variety of bases.

Schools are allowed funds for a supervisor or counselor on the basis of one to every forty classroom teachers. Supervisors work with the teachers to improve education. Counselors devote their time to guiding and advising children. Librarians, health nurses, doctors and visiting and itinerant teachers are provided for on the basis of the school districts having their choice of one of those for each twenty classroom teachers.

Benefits Of ACTH In Rheumatic Fever Control Reported

SAN FRANCISCO — The effectiveness of ACTH, the new hormonal substance, in reducing the harmful effects of rheumatic fever, and of penicillin treatment in preventing recurrences of this disease were discussed in papers presented before the recent Twenty-Third Scientific Session of the American Heart Association. The Scientific Sessions were held in conjunction with the association's annual. Reports outlining current research and studies in diseases of the heart and circulation were presented at four sessions by outstanding authorities in the cardiovascular field.

Further evidence was disclosed by Dr. Benedict F. Massell and his associates working at the House of the Good Samaritan, Boston, that prompt and adequate penicillin treatment of streptococcal sore throats and other "strep" infections can prevent recurrences of rheumatic fever.

In studying the effects of ACTH (adrenocorticotrophic hormone) on rheumatic fever, Dr. Albert Dorfman and associates of the University of Chicago and La Rabida Jackson Park Sanitarium observed in detail a selected number of patients with long standing active rheumatic fever. Administration of ACTH was found to show a striking clinical effect on the disease process during therapy including reduction in the pulse rate, temperature, and sedimentation rate. However, all evidence of disease activity returned when therapy was discontinued.

It was concluded that ACTH, through the stimulation of the secretion of active adrenal hormones, may bring about changes in connective tissues which prevent the development of destructive lesions of rheumatic fever.

Bascomb Giles Will 'Report To Texans' In Radio Broadcast

AUSTIN—State Land Commissioner Bascomb Giles will report to Texans upon the development of the state public school and university lands at 7:15 p. m. Thursday. His address will be broadcast over a special network of 22 stations.

Giles, under whose direction the two school funds have passed the staggering total of $250,000,000, seeks reelection to the office he has held since 1938.

Giles' radio report also will discuss the "tragedy of the Tidelands," the fight by Texas to retain possession of oil-laden submerged lands adjacent to the Texas coast.

In his radio address Giles also will report on the development of the $25,000,000 Veterans' Land Program, which he originated and sponsored, and will discuss his plan to expand the present program.

One of the few state elected officials to "come up from the ranks," Giles has spent 30 years in the General Land Office.

Guglielmo Marconi got the inspiration that resulted in his development of wireless telegraphy while on a vacation in the Italian Alps in the Summer of 1894.

Cotton Insects Are On Increase Here

A cotton insect which has been absent from the Midland area for several years has made an appearance.

County Agent Charles Green Saturday said he has found the leaf worm in damaging numbers on cotton crops in the eastern portion of the county.

Damp, cool weather during the last week has brought about the hatching of several other cotton insects, Green said. Flea hoppers are making appearances in large numbers.

Green cautions farmers to keep a close lookout for the insects. He will be available to help with infestation counts and control methods.

DADDY RINGTAIL

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And Enie Meanie Bug

The Great Forest, as you know, is a wonderful place to live. Most of the animals and birds and bugs and fish—most of the time—are nice and kind to everyone. You know that is true.

Oh, but you mustn't forget about Enie Meanie. He was never nice and kind to anyone. I wouldn't even talk about him, except—one day he got exactly what he deserved.

Enie Meanie was a very little bug with a big, big voice. He lived in a hollow tree, not far from Daddy Ringtail's monkey house. But he had never looked up to the top of the very tall tree where Daddy Ringtail lived until the day I'm going to tell you about.

"Aha!" said Enie Meanie in his great big voice. "A monkey house!"

And then Enie Meanie was very quiet. He didn't want anyone to know that he was anywhere near. He wanted to cause some trouble, and he didn't want anyone to stop him.

He began to climb up the very tall tree—up to Daddy Ringtail's monkey house. It took him a long time to climb that far. He was such a little bug. But he was big enough to be really mean. At last he crawled in the window of the monkey house.

"Now what can I do," Enie Meanie whispered to himself. "That will make these monkeys most unhappy?" He began to look around, looking for mischief, there in Daddy Ringtail's kitchen.

That's where he saw the plate of cookies—up on the table. He began to climb up the table leg, laughing and chucking a mischievous chuckle as he went. Oh, he wasn't really hungry. He wanted to take a bite of each of the cookies on the plate so that no one else would want to eat them. That's how mean this Enie Meanie was.

Said he: "I'll take a bite of this one! I'll take a bite of that one! Until no one else will want to take a bite of any of them!"

But Daddy Ringtail came into the kitchen just then to get some cookies for the family. Daddy Ringtail picked up an enie meanie swatter. Kewzack! And that was the end of Enie Meanie for another day. I hope you'll do the very same thing if you ever see an enie meanie bug. Happy day!

Dirt, Squirt and Quirt

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —
By DALMON McNAIR

The market was active and very strong on 350 head of cattle Thursday at Midland Livestock Auction Company sale. Prices ranged from $1 a hundred higher on cattle and jumped to $2.90 on choice hogs.

Fat calves and yearlings sold for $25 to $29; medium grades went at $22 to $25. Fat cows brought $20 to $22 and medium cows cashed at $18 to $20. Canners and cutters moved for $14 to $18. Bulls were in demand at $10 to $12.25.

Stocker steer calves were bid from $28 to $31 and stocker heifer calves from $27 to $30. Stocker steer yearlings auctioned at $26 to $28 and stocker heifer yearlings at $24 to $27.

Auction manager Don Estes said 90 good dehorned heifers, all of the same brand, already were consigned to the next sale.

Midland area cattlemen at the sale included Bill Moore, Sam Preston, W. D. Coates, W. M. Long, Mrs. W. D. Rayburn, J. W. Blocker, Marion Glynn, Roy Williams, Gus Covert, H. M. McReynolds, B. J. Welch, Glenn Morrison, M. W. Farrington, W. H. Wilson, Tom Lineberry.

H. L. Hoover, Wesley Williams, Jr., Frank Olson, J. L. Daniels, Vernon Brewer, Jack Ton, F. A. Bird, H. S. Foster, J. C. Lane, Willie Jackson, Andrew W. Jones, J. W. Anderson, J. A. Jones, Claude Edwards, Thomas M. Poteet, D. E. Lawson, Floyd Winstley, Jack E. Wallace, A. Emmett Pittman, Robert M. Turner, Edgar Standefer.

Cattle prices are high in West Texas and indications are they may go even higher, according to well-informed observers.

Topping the season's trading in so far as DSO is able to determine, is the report that the Scharbauer Cattle Company of Midland has contracted 1,600 to 1,700 head of mixed Hereford calves to George Porter of Amarillo for Fall delivery at 29 1/2 cents for the heifers and 30 cents for the steers.

Sales recently have been reported ranging all the way from 25 to 28 cents, but it now is reported that 28 cent orders are being declined in some quarters.

Toots Mansfield, Troy Fort, Sonny Edwards and Walton Poage, four of the best calf ropers in the business, will be here Labor Day, Sept. 30, to take part in a big celebration to be sponsored by Midland Fair, Inc.

Port, current world champion roper, and Mansfield, former king, will range on 10 calves each in the feature end of the program. Edwards and Poage, two ropers of wide reputation, will rope and the six calves each. Poage recently cap-ured top money in the big West of the Pecos rodeo. Mansfield took second money.

The acreage of cotton in cultivation in Texas on this year is estimated at 7,200,000 acres by the Crop Reporting Board of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This acreage is about one-third less than the 10,988,000 acres planted last year and nine per cent less than the 10-year (1939-48) average of 1,887,000 acres.

Except for the small acreages grown in the three-year period, 1944-46, when droughty conditions and expanding sorghum acreages curtailed cotton acreage in the northwest districts, the acreage as estimated for this year is the smallest for Texas since 1899.

All districts, in response to PMA cotton allotments, have substantially smaller acreages than last year. American Egyptian cotton, commonly referred to as Pima and Moore, planted in the Pecos area, was planted on a much larger scale than ever before and partially offset the decrease in short staple cotton in that area. The Pima and other long staple cotton is not restricted by the acreage allotment program but is included in the district and State estimates.

Conditions in the Spring as a whole favored planting intended acreages in most of the state, although farmers were hampered by dry conditions in early Spring and later by excessive moisture in the eastern third of the state. Except for a few extreme western counties, the High Plains and Low Rolling Plains areas received rains in time for soil preparation and seeding.

Prospects for most cash and feed crops in Texas cannot be predicted accurately but the outlook appears dim. Dry weather in the very early Spring handicapped farming operations through most of the state and heavy rains in April, May and June slowed crop plantings in many sections, according to C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist for Texas A&M College.

Crop damage from hailstorms and insects has been heavy in many sections of the state and unusually heavy rains in some areas have caused delays and costly replanting of cotton and grain sorghums as well as other crops.

Bates points out that the acreages of the major crops are reduced materially by allotments on individual farms. The reduced acreages coupled with poor yield prospects at this time and with the prices of most crops somewhat lower than a year ago, indicate that Texas farmers cannot expect the returns they enjoyed in 1949.

County Agent Charles Green says the cotton outlook for Midland County is good generally, although most farm operators were required to plant from two to four times before getting off to a start. The cotton insect problem which has been predicted as greater this year than ever before, may have a large influence in the final harvest. However, several meetings and lectures have been held regarding control methods and losses due to the insects may not be as great as it was at first anticipated. An exceptionally mild winter has been blamed for the prevalence of the many cotton parasites.

One hundred thousand 4-H Club boys and girls, Future Farmers and Future Homemakers, the largest gathering of rural youth in the world, is the goal set for Rural Youth Day at the Mid-Century Exposition of the 1950 State Fair of Texas, Rau W. Wilson, manager of the Fair's Rural Youth activities program, has announced.

The group will swarm the grounds of the greatest state fair in the world on opening day, Oct. 7, as guests of the State Fair. The farm youngsters are expected to converge on Dallas from every corner of Texas. They will be admitted free to the Fair and will be furnished with a free lunch, provided by Dallas business leaders and the Dallas Chamber of Commerce. In 1949, 75,000 rural youth attended the huge fair.

Midland County 4-H Club girls now have a brand new candy vending machine, thanks to the Midland National Bank. The Midland financial institution donated $94 for the machine to the girls for the purpose of buying the vendor which will be placed in service in the first floor of the court house.

The machine arrived early Thursday and was to be in operation by the end of the week. Miss Pauline McWilliams, county home demonstration agent, announced the gift from the bank. Ralph M. Barron made the presentation.

More than 250 farm leaders from 125 counties have filed tuition fees for the second annual Institute of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation to be held at College Station July 30-August 4. It has been announced by J. Walter Hammond, federation president. Instructors of outstanding prominence in Farm Bureau and related agricultural fields will have charge of the eight courses which have been arranged for the week's training school.

Instructors will include President Hammond, R. G. Arnold, organization director, Southern Region, American Farm Bureau Federation; Dan Arnold, executive secretary, Oklahoma Farm Bureau; W. P. Sandford, Sandford Sales Service, St. Louis, Mo.; Dave Mier, executive vice president, Southern Farm Bureau Life Insurance Company; Harry Bryson, director of field services, American Farm Bureau; J. E. Stanford, executive secretary, Kentucky Farm Bureau; O. R. Long, field representative, Southern Region, American Farm Bureau; and Carlisle DeLaCroix, director rural youth department, American Farm Bureau.

Korean Fighting Injects Life Into Congress Races

By The Associated Press
The Korean fighting has put life into some of the Texas races for Congress.

It seems some incumbent congressmen voted against Korean aid last January. Now their opponents are demanding why—and hoping the answer won't satisfy voters in Saturday's Democratic primary.

Among those called on to explain are Rep. Ken Regan of Midland, seeking his second full term from the 18th District; Rep. Bob Poage of Waco, after his eighth term, and Rep. J. Frank Wilson of Dallas, who wants a third term.

"Mr. Wilson's conscience must be bothering him," says Jimmy Jefferson, Dallas radio man and Wilson's only opponent. He said Wilson's vote last January "gladdened Communist hearts."

District Judge Paul Moss of Odessa, one of Regan's two opponents, said:

"When South Korea needed help, he (Regan) voted no."

The third candidate in Regan's district, El Paso restaurant man Fred Hervey, hasn't made this an issue.

Incumbents Explain Vote
Poage, ranking member of the House Agriculture Committee, explained he voted against Korean aid because the State Department then stated Korea would not be defended if attacked. Regan says he voted against economic aid because similar help to China proved fruitless and costly.

Of Texas' 21 members of the House of Representatives, only 13 have opposition Saturday. And of those 13, not more than half a dozen face experienced, well-organized and well-financed opposition.

Hottest races are those in the vast West Texas 18th District, now represented by Regan, the 18th (Panhandle) District, where four Democrats seek the right to oppose Republican Ben Gull this Fall, and the Southeast Texas and Coastal Second District, where Rep. J. M. Combs of Beaumont seeks a fourth term.

Three Cities Represented
The 18th's three most populous cities are represented by a candidate each—Hervey of El Paso, Regan of Midland, and Moss of Odessa. Regan accuses Moss of neglecting his court duties soon after being appointed to a bench he was unable to win at the polls. Moss makes a point of Regan's vote against Korean aid. Hervey, youngest of the three, says West Texas needs a young lawmaker who can build up seniority.

Combs' big opposition comes from Price Rogers, stocky Beaumont insurance man who says the former district judge is pro-labor and pro-administration and Worley's hand-picked successor. Youngest candidate in the race, and a political newcomer, is Pete Lamasted of Perryton, who called for American intervention in Korea before President Truman acted. The fourth in the race is J. Blake Timmons of Amarillo, a member of the Texas Legislature and a political veteran though only 33.

One of her opponents, Walter E. Rogers of Pampa, calls Mrs. Clark pro-administration and Worley's hand-picked successor. Truck Drivers In America Have High Living Standard

NEW YORK—The average American truck driver is a solid citizen who enjoys better living and working conditions than truck drivers in other countries, according to Fleet Owner, a McGraw-Hill publication.

In a 16-page article entitled, "The Truck Driver Around the World," appearing in the July issue, it is revealed that American truck drivers not only earn more take-home pay but also have more left over after paying for food and shelter, self-improvement, recreation and things that in other countries are mostly luxuries that truck drivers can't afford.

To get these facts, McGraw-Hill news bureau interviewed average truck drivers in 13 foreign countries.

American truck drivers work week of 40 hours compares with 84 in Germany, 86 in Italy, 60 in Mexico and Sweden, 48.5 in Australia, 52.4 in Japan and 62.5 in Great Britain.

What's left of weekly pay after food, shelter and taxes compares with the American truck drivers' 36.31 as follows: Australia, 19.83; Mexico, 26.34; Great Britain, 9.04; Holland, 4.20; Italy, 1.80; Japan 2.17.

"You can't escape the facts," says Editor Leon P. Banigan. "The American truck driver lives better because he enjoys the dignity of a free individual—the right to bargain collectively with his employer—under a government of his own choosing, dedicated to the principles of freedom and fair play for everyone."

Summer Comfort Is Aided By Home Air-Conditioning

Air-conditioning of both new and existing homes is setting new records. It is a form of home comfort which everyone wants, to make Summer weather more bearable. In 1949, 95,500 room air-conditioning units were sold, as compared with 1,126 in 1945.

Room air-conditioners enable the family living in an older house to get air-conditioned comfort where they want it most—in bedrooms and living-rooms; although as many other rooms as desired can be air-conditioned.

A recommended Summer temperature provided by air-conditioning is 80 degrees F. with 45 per cent relative humidity. A unit maintains the desired temperature and humidity automatically; filters pollen and dust from the outside air before circulating it within the room; makes the air more pleasant for everyone, including hay-fever sufferers; cuts housework by eliminating dust.

greater cooling capacity, serves larger areas, stands on the floor in front of a window.

A unit is operated by simply plugging it into an electrical outlet. The only operation cost is the cost of the current, and does not greatly exceed that of operating an electric refrigerator. The electrical circuit should be checked before installation to see that it can carry the load.

Well-made units operate for long periods without requiring repairs. The exterior finish is designed to harmonize with room decorations. The window type may be removed for storage, or utilized for air circulation or ventilation in cold weather.

New Homes

For air-conditioning newly constructed homes, "packaged" units are installed in the basement. These are capable of cooling a large volume of air to low temperatures and circulating it through ducts to all parts of the house. Cooled air is diffused in rooms through grilles in upper wall areas or ceilings, or through inconspicuous nozzle-type diffusers. Stale air is carried off through baseboard vents. These "packaged" units easily are installed, requiring only an electrical and a water supply connection, since they are water-cooled. Other units are available which operate in connection with an automatic furnace, using the same blower, filters and ducts of the heating system for cooling in Summer.

In new home air-conditioning, the architect designs the house from the basement up with air-conditioning in mind. He eliminates all unnecessary openings, provides tight-closing doors and windows, storm windows for winter, and specifies complete insulation of wall, ceiling and attic spaces.

Features of Modern and Conventional

Modern open planning has given this spacious ranch-style home the same number of living areas found in many two-story homes. Cost is about $15,000. Its 1,200 sq. ft. of space includes a large living room, three bedrooms, two-bath, fully-equipped modern kitchen and attractive dining area. The living room has wood-burning fireplace, distinctive corner picture window and built-in guest coat closet. It opens into the cheerful dining area located in a bright corner between living-room and kitchen. Fitted with built-in china cabinet, it accommodates a full-sized dining table and chairs. The 14'4"x13'4" master bedroom has 2 full 2-compartment closets and a linen closet in the hall approach. Two persons may occupy the duo-bath-and-powder-room in complete privacy. The 3 bedrooms all open into an L-shaped hall, which also gives access to the room housing the heating unit. A radiant oil heating system with hot water coils embedded in the floors provides winter comfort. When walls and ceilings are fully insulated with mineral wool adequate winter heat can be maintained by a smaller heating unit, with consequent saving in fuel costs. The mineral wool also bars summer heat, making interiors up to 15 degrees cooler in hot weather. Exterior walls are of beveled wood siding; roof of stained cedar shingles. An attractive trellis connects the house architecturally with the garage.

Back Yard Can Be Converted Into Family Playground

Making the back yard a family playground during the Spring, Summer and Fall is a new trend which is catching on throughout the United States. A little time and energy directed to sound planning and a few pieces of play equipment can work wonders for the children and grownups.

Sand boxes are a standby that have been available for years and never seem to lose their popularity. Many parents are following the progressive idea of eliminating the expense of a sand box by turning over to the youngsters a corner of the garden and letting them dig to their heart's content.

Another must for every small child is a swing—even if it's just a ragged old tire hanging from a sturdy limb of a tree. Of course there are all types of ready-made swings and combinations ranging all the way from wooden outfits to big and sturdy metal "jungle gyms" capable of standing up under the heaviest punishment by the neighborhood children.

A postwar development which really has caught on throughout the nation is the portable swimming pool. Youngsters can keep cool and splash in their own private play pond that can be set up and emptied in just a few moments. They come in three sizes and have no rigid supports to fall against or trip over.

Portable Shower

Another interesting water toy is a portable backyard shower for small fry that can be connected to the garden hose and set anywhere in the lawn.

Pre-fabricated log cabins complete with picnic bench and table, rustic fence and gate have been introduced this year as a more elaborate entry in the competition for back yard pleasure.

Before attempting to duplicate a miniature city playground, make a survey of your family's needs and don't overcrowd. Plenty of room around equipment is a safety precaution.

Summer Home Repairs Prevent Winter Fires

MINNEAPOLIS — Run-down homes, disorder and improper equipment were the prime mechanical forces that accounted for the 30,500 persons killed and 4,500,000 injured in home accidents last year, according to national statistics.

Hazardous conditions existing in 51 per cent of the nation's 43,000,000 homes which are 30 or more years old may aggravate the tragic toll this year, John E. Haines, vice president of the Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Company, warned homeowners. Falls, burns, explosions and fires—common to over-age homes in need of repair or modernization were the most frequent types of accidents, he said, after studying a report of the national accident fatality toll.

Defective home heating equipment was seen as a double menace since it causes an average of 48,000 home fires annually resulting in heavy property damage and deaths.

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Monroney leads Oklahoma senatorial fight against heavy odds; Voters get wise to Senator Thomas manipulations; Law-maker dabbles in cotton and eggs.

WASHINGTON — One of the most significant senatorial primaries took place in Oklahoma the other day, where, unlike most Southern states, the race issue was not raised. In Florida, North Carolina, South Carolina, the chief issue was who opposed the negro most. But in Oklahoma, young congressman Mike Monroney, who voted against FEPC, refused to use the race issue against elderly Senator Elmer Thomas, who assured negro leaders he was for FEPC. He led Thomas anyway, though Thomas got the negro vote. Even more important, Thomas had the powerful support of the big utilities, which poured money into Oklahoma. He also had the support of wealthy speculating friends in New York and Chicago, plus a federal patronage machine which included every income-tax collector and district attorney Thomas had appointed during his quarter century in office.

Despite all this, and despite the fact that Monroney had little money to spend, he won a healthy lead over Thomas—though he's now facing a run-off.

What broke Thomas' quarter-century hold on the state, however, was that Oklahoma voters got wise to his speculating activities.

For years, Thomas has been using his favored position as a senator and as chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee to get advance information about commodity prices which other taxpayers could not get, to influence prices which other taxpayers could not do, and to speculate in commodities for his own personal profit.

When this column revealed in 1946 that Thomas had been speculating on the cotton market through his wife, the senator's reply was: "Pearson is a liar."

Two years later—January, 1948—

well-laid plan among cotton exchanges, cotton brokers and their clients," Thomas protested. And since he was chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, his word carried weight.

Thomas also threatened further legislation to control cotton prices. But in none of his indignant telegrams did he breathe the fact that his wife, his secretary, his campaign manager, and his own personal brokers had lost heavily in the break in the cotton market.

Actually there was no bear raid, nor anything else wrong with the cotton market, except that the price had soared too high and the Thomas group got caught.

Ten Carloads Of Eggs

Since then the senator from Oklahoma has tried to tell farmers that he was only trying to keep their prices up. What he has not told them is that he also speculates on various other commodities—wheat, beans, eggs, even silver—and that sometimes he has worked just as hard to bring prices down.

In the fall of 1948, for instance, the senator from Oklahoma wanted the price of eggs to come down just as ardently as he had previously wanted the price of cotton to go up. Most farmers in Oklahoma who raise chickens want egg prices to stay up, but not their senator in Washington.

There was a good reason for Thomas' position on eggs, though he did not tell anyone in Oklahoma about it. His broker, Dyke Cullum, had bought 10 carloads of eggs—short. In brief, he was committed to deliver 10 carloads of eggs on the futures market, and if the price went down, the senator and his broker made money.

So the senator proceeded to bombard the Agriculture Department letters and ideas for bringing down the price of eggs; also wrote a letter to Senator Clinton Anderson of New Mexico, chairman of an agriculture subcommittee, asking him to investigate the price support of eggs.

I am taking the liberty of referring two bills to your committee for consideration and report," Thomas wrote Anderson.

"These bills are S 1751, a bill to amend the Commodity Exchange Act and S 2482, a bill to repeal the mandatory price support authority for Irish potatoes and eggs for the balance of the current year, 1949."

Thomas went on to give his own ideas on eggs, but at no place in his letter did he intimate that he and his broker had a personal pocketbook interest in it to the tune of 10 carloads of eggs. In brief, what the senator was doing was using the investigative machinery of the U. S. Senate and his prestige as chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee to influence a commodity in which he had made a personal investment.

He knew, of course, that the mere announcement of an egg investigation by the Senate was likely to send down the price of eggs, following which he and Dyke Cullum could deliver their 10 carloads at a profit.

Thus has the senator from Oklahoma, despite 25 years in the highest legislative body in the world, used that body for his own personal pecuniary profit.

Note — The 10 carloads were purchased through the William Hagerty Grain Corporation in Chicago in the name of the National Commodity Corporation, the concern which Dyke Cullum set up to cover his and Senator Thomas' speculations. Cullum himself appeared on the floor of the Chicago Exchange and placed the 10-carload egg order with broker Ralph Root of the Hagerty firm.

RED PRESSURE—AND LACK OF IT—IN BERLIN—"Hands Off Korea;" water's off in Berlin. These are two aspects of the Soviet-directed campaign of hate and harassment against the Western Allies in Berlin. Above, German boys fill buckets and pans with water, as West Berlin housewives do their washing in the street, after Russian sector authorities cut off the water supply for 50,000 West Berliners. Below, a big Communist propaganda sign, smeared in white letters on a Russian sector wall, reads "Ami (German slang for Americans), keep hands off Korea." Fashionable Specs Let Yqu Look Better

By ALICIA MART

NEA Staff Writer

So many warnings have been written about eyeglasses — about how terribly they detract from your appearance if you choose the wrong kind — that many women regard their spectacles as an affliction rather than the aid they really are. Frames are important. The proper shape can definitely enhance your appearance. Often they give a balance that nature failed to achieve. They can make a narrow forehead appear wider, or focus attention away from a too-heavy jaw. They can add new planes to an over-round face. Many women look prettier in their glasses than they do without them.

Try looking at your glasses for a change instead of just through them. Put them on and study them carefully.

If they fall below par on your beauty scale, if you look better without than with them, it's time to make a change.

Shop for new ones as carefully as you would for an expensive new hat. As with a hat, consider color as well as shape. The shape of your face and the color of hair and eyes are your guides.

Consider your own personality. If you are a little retiring, you don't have to wear extreme styles just because they are the latest thing. Similarly, if you have natural verve and flair, don't squash it with old-fashioned, stick-in-the-mud round lenses.

Finally, keep in mind where you'll be wearing these glasses. Unless you can afford several pairs, don't become intrigued with a shape that will accent only one facet of your life. Spectacles that look terribly studious and efficient around an office may not be just the thing for the dance floor.

Above all, regard your glasses as an incidental accessory, not as the key to your whole appearance. The more you emphasize them in your own mind, and the more you worry about special rules—these included—the more difficult it will be for you to accept your spectacles as the casual part of your life they should be.
