A Plymouth Boy Comes Home

Mayor of Las Vegas Speaks at Norwood Reunion July 6

When Oran Gragson ran the mile in Collingsworth county track meets thirty-odd years ago, he was never beaten. Today he runs the fabulous and indescribable city of Las Vegas, Nevada, as its firm-handed mayor.

But on Saturday, July 6, he will come back to the Plymouth community, where he chopped cotton and go-deviled feed, and he will come as the guest speaker at the big Samnorwood Ex-Students Reunion.

Mayor Gragson will speak at 3 p.m. Saturday afternoon in the Samnorwood gymnasium. This part of the reunion program is open to the public and anyone wishing to attend may do so, according to J. L. Alexander, who is helping with the plans. Supt. Orville Cunningham will be master of ceremonies.

This is one part of the reunion that gets under way with registration at 1 p.m. Other highlights will be the barbeque at 5:30 and ex-students dance at 9 p.m. Saturday night in the VFW building in Wellington.

Friday, July 5 is the deadline for buying barbeque tickets and these may be had for $1.25 for adults and 50¢ for children.

Schoolmates of Oran Gragson recall that he was one of seven children. His mother was dead and his father rented a farm that joined the Plymouth store.

Friends here believe the schooling he received at Plymouth, which ended at the 10th grade, is all the formal education he ever had.

"But he had horse sense," they add.

In the early 1930's, Gragson and the Oldham boys went to New Mexico to work at a dairy. The latter returned and Gragson went on to Las Vegas, Nev., where he worked in a furniture store.

He began repairing used furniture, and pretty soon, he had a second hand furniture store. From there he went on to new furniture and Gragson now owns the largest furniture business in Las Vegas, according to reports received here.

There is another facet of the career of this former Plymouth farm boy.

Last year he won the Republican nomination as governor of Nevada and lost out in the general election only by a narrow vote.

Politically, in Nevada he is referred to as "battle-wise" and he is nationally recognized for the manner in which he handles the problems as mayor of Las Vegas.

Wellington Leader Wins Two Awards

The Wellington Leader was winner of two awards in the state-wide Texas Newspaper Contests sponsored by the Texas Press Association and announced Saturday, June 22, at the annual convention in Fort Worth.

The newspaper won second place in its category in the Appearance Contest and third in the News Pictures Contest.

Mr. and Mrs. Deskins Wells and their son, Henry, attended the convention and Mrs. Wells received the awards on behalf of the paper.

The appearance award takes into consideration the manner in which the newspaper is presented to the reader, and it gives recognition to the outstanding work of the mechanical department in makeup and printing, as well as to the advertising department through the effective layout of ads, and to the editorial department. It is an award in which the paper as a whole is considered.

First place in this contest went to The Hamilton News-Herald and third to The Olton Enterprise.

The judge was W. F. Wood of The Hazen (Ark.) Herald.

The news pictures contest considers the subject matter shown, the manner in which it is presented, and the quality of the pictures.

First place went to The Olton Enterprise and second to The Friona Star. West Texas newspapers consistently are award winners in the Texas Newspapers Contests.

The Board of Equalization, composed of members of the Commissioners' Court, will convene Wednesday, July 10, and again Friday, July 12, to determine the value of properties concerned with oil and gas production in the county.

One week later, Wednesday, July 17 at 10 a.m., the board will convene to determine, fix and equalize the value of all taxable property situated in the county.

Notice of this was published this week by Lorene Jenkins, county-district clerk.

The July 10 meeting will concern oil and gas properties; the July 12 meeting concerns royalty owners' properties; and the July 17 meeting general taxable property, according to the legal notice.

These are open meetings and anyone interested can attend.

Bishop DeFalco on First Visit to Wellington

His Excellency, the Most Rev. Lawrence M. DeFalco, the new bishop of the Amarillo Diocese, made his first visit to Wellington when he was a guest Saturday night, June 22 at St. Joseph's Hospital.

He was accompanied by Msgr. Richard Vaughan, who said Mass at St. Joseph's Hospital Convent chapel Sunday morning.

They went to Childress where Bishop DeFalco confirmed a group of children Sunday morning and later he said Mass at the Catholic Church at Paducah.

St. Joseph's is the first hospital the bishop has visited in the Diocese, Sister Adele, administrator, said.

Bishop DeFalco succeeds Bishop Morkowsky, who became Auxiliary Bishop of the Galveston Diocese.

He was consecrated in St. Patrick Co-Cathedral in Fort Worth May 30. Attending from here were three members of the St. Joseph's Hospital staff, Sister Teresita, Sister Dominicus and Sister Perpetua.

An episcopal consecration is the most splendid ceremony in a Catholic Church, and the magnificence of the occasion reflects the importance that the church attaches to the elevation of a man to this place.

West Avenue Church Opens Building Fund

West Avenue Church of Christ this week announced plans for a new church building and the opening of the building fund drive.

Plans were outlined by Min. Auther C. Jones, minister of the church.

"No goal as to time has been set, and the tentative fund drive is between $50,000 and $75,000. The definite figure will be set later," Min. Jones said.

The building style and plan has been chosen and the new church will be of what the minister termed "a conservative style."

The new location has not been chosen, and this will not be done until the fund drive is farther along, Min. Jones indicated.

The new church will seat approximately 300, and in addition to the auditorium there will be 11 class rooms, an office and nursery.

The drive will gain impetus after the fall crops are in.

"In the meantime, we will not curtail any of the present work of the church," Min. Jones said.

Infestation Unusual

Swift Damage Comes As Web Worms Move in Cotton Fields

Garden web worms moved into the cotton fields of this area Thursday and Friday, June 20 and 21, in the first major infestation of recent years. Early this week, almost every field checked had damage. In some, the cotton was completely destroyed. In others, the damage was light.

It varies from community to community and field to field. In some, the worms are limited at present to the turnrows and weed patches.

Adding to the seriousness of the situation is the fact that this county is sitting on the deadline for replanting cotton, and the yield of any cotton planted from now on will depend heavily on the date of the first frost.

Young cotton is suffering the heaviest damage, and in these fields, the worms are working just below or at the surface of the ground, according to County Agent Cecil Regier, and Sparkman, FHA supervisor.

Notice

A meeting on the web worm situation has been called for Thursday at 8 p. m. in the District Court room, County Agent Cecil Regier announced.

"The worms vary in size from microscopic to around an inch in length," Regier said. "The web worms can be identified by the three little dots that form a triangle on the side

New Equipment

Joint Commission Again Accredits St. Joseph's

St. Joseph's Hospital has again received accreditation by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, Sister Adele, administrator, announced this week.

The accreditation is for a 3-year period, and the hospital's designation follows the official inspection made by Dr. John Irwin, inspector for the commission, on April 1.

St. Joseph's is the only hospital with this rating between Amarillo and Wichita Falls. It was first accredited in 1960.

Sister Adele explained that the 20-man joint commission that approves hospitals for accreditation represents the American College of Surgeons, the American College of Physicians, the American Hospital Association and the American Medical Association.

At the same time, Sister Adele announced the addition of two new pieces of equipment in the hospital.

One is a temperature recorder for the blood donor bank, which gives a constant temperature reading.

Bikes Must Have Lights

The sheriff's department this week warned bicycle riders they must have lights if they ride at night.

"It's hard to see a bicycle on the road ahead, especially if you are meeting another car," Sheriff John Rainey pointed out, adding that bicycles are legally required to have lights.

He suggested the inexpensive type lights powered by flashlight batteries that farmers use on cotton trailers.

"We've had quite a few complaints about bicycles without lights," Rainey said.

Deputy Sheriff Kenneth Hodge said that he has sent several groups of bicycle riders home at nights because their vehicles had no lights.

The officers reported that in recent weeks there has been an upswing in bicycle riding in groups of six or eight, not only on the streets but on the highways near town.

Scholarship to Mrs. Welch

Mrs. Bernice Welch has received the Cora M. Martin Scholarship to North Texas State University, offered by Delta Kappa Gamma, honorary fraternity for teachers.

Mrs. Welch has elected to attend an English workshop later this summer, studying in the field of literature and literature application.

She holds both bachelors and masters degrees from NTSC.

The Cora M. Martin scholarship is awarded annually, but Mrs. Welch is the first Wellington teacher to receive it.

Rev. Michael Much Improved

Rev. J. F. Michael is making such rapid progress after his recent surgery that he is able to be down town having coffee with his friends.

Mrs. Michael reports that he is able to be up all the time and is feeling fine.

THESE MOVED INTO COLLINGSWORTH COTTON

These are the common garden web worm, sometimes called careless worms, that moved into the cotton fields the middle of last week, and by Monday, June 24, practically every field in the county was infested. This is almost unprecedented, for careless worms usually are almost harmless to crops. The three dots in triangular shape on the side of each segment of the worm are its identifying mark. The sizes of the worms working in the cotton are indicated in this picture, as they were laid against a ruler. The picture shows enlargement of more than four times.

Farm Program Provisions for 1964 Wheat Crop Reviewed

COLLEGE STATION.— The wheat program for 1964 under provisions of existing law are reviewed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in response to questions that have arisen since the referendum on May 21.

Price support will be available to producers who plant within the acreage allotments which have been established for the 1964 wheat crop. Allotments were announced in April. The national average support price will be 50% of parity. (The present parity price is $2.51 per bushel.) There will be no marketing quota penalties for planting in excess of acreage allotments. However, the statute provides that producers who overplant their allotments will receive "history" credit only in the amount of their allotments.

Farmers who have Conservation Reserve contracts agreed to plant within their farm acreage allotments, and this means that the 1964 Conservation Reserve payment for the farm is dependent on compliance with the wheat acreage allotment.

Wheat that was grown in excess of marketing quotas in the past will be subject to the original penalty provisions until July 1, 1964. After that date stored excess wheat may be released without penalty. The amount of such wheat in storage on farms and in warehouses is estimated at 45 million bushels. This could be increased from the 1963 crop, which is subject to marketing quotas and excess wheat from this crop may be stored by the producer to avoid payment of the penalty. On the other hand, underplanting or underproduction of 1963 crop wheat could result in the early release of excess wheat that had been stored from previous crops to avoid payment of penalty.

Other items of interest to growers in administration of the 1964 wheat program without marketing quotas include:

- ASC county committees will hear appeals of 1964 farm wheat acreage allotments. Farmers have 15 days from the date of the county committee decision to appeal to the ASC State Committee if they do not agree with the county committee decision.

- Hearings on appeals of farm normal yields will not be scheduled because the yield figures will not be applicable for 1964. Where producers wish to furnish proved yield data, such data will be filed in the county office with other records of that farm.

San Juan is the capital of Puerto Rico.

Miss Grain Sorghum of the Nation, Sandra Sue Stargel from Memphis, Texas, welcomes grain sorghum seed from Argentina.

In past years seed has been exported by the U. S. for planting in Argentina. During the 1963 season, the active demand for certain varieties prompted the shipment of top quality Argentine produced seed to the U. S. This seed was recently harvested and quickly sent to Lubbock, Texas. After grading, treating and re-bagging it has been moved into the distribution channels. Although the seed is grown in Argentina it is genetically the same as that produced in the United States. Look for the tag "Grown in Argentina," in your shipment this year. It is an example of greater agricultural cooperation between American countries.

Miss Stargel is a Freshman at Texas Tech in Lubbock, Texas.

July 1 Final Date on New Farm Wheat

July 1, 1963 is the final date for filing an application for a new grower wheat allotment for the 1964 crop. The same eligibility requirements of past years are still in effect. Any farmer that can meet the eligibility requirements may file an application to try to get a wheat allotment, according to Millard Brown of the ASC office.

Even though marketing quotas were voted down for the 1964 crop, allotments are still in effect and will have to be complied with to be eligible for price support, which will be about $1.25 per bushel.

Under the present program a farmer may plant all the wheat he cares to, disregarding the farm allotment, without incurring a marketing penalty. However, those who exceed their allotment by any amount will suffer a reduction of about 6% in the allotment for future years. Also, on farms with a soil bank contract the farmer will lose his annual C.R. payment each year his farm allotment is exceeded.

Phosphorus Needed by Range Cattle

Beef cattle which have been on dry ranges for six months or more may face serious nutritional deficiencies, says U. D. Thompson, extension animal husbandman. Of major importance is the lack of high quality range grass or forage.

Phosphorus is likely to be deficient under drouth conditions, and should be fed free choice. Vitamin A may or may not be deficient, depending upon the forage available.

Ceremony Unites Gayla Courtney and Wade Readnour on Sunday

First Methodist Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Gayla Courtney and Wade Readnour of Gage, Okla., at three o'clock Sunday afternoon, June 23. The Rev. Davis B. Edens performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Courtney, while the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Travis Readnour of Gage, Okla. He is also the grandson of Mrs. S. B. Jackson of Wellington.

Decorations for the church were an arch covered with fern with wedding bells at the center. Behind this was a sunburst arrangement of white gladioli and candelabras holding lighted tapers were at the sides.

Wedding music was presented by Miss Mary Graham, organist, and Miss Sylvia McQuary, vocalist.

Mr. Courtney gave his daughter in marriage.

She wore a gown of alencon lace over peau de soie, with a sabrina neckline and long sleeves pointed over the hands. The full skirt was floor length. Her elbow length veil of French silk illusion fell from a tiara of miniature pearls and crystal beads, and her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. She carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with yellow roses atop a white Bible.

Miss Betty Courtney was her sister's maid of honor, while the bridesmaids were Miss Linda Readnour and Miss Barbara Readnour of Gage, sisters of the bridegroom, Miss Pat Stepp of Gage, and Miss LaQuinta Hollingsworth.

Their dresses, in the colors of the rainbow, were embroidered pima, and their headpieces were of white tulle, held by a bow. They carried white carnation nosegays with pastel streamers.

Dale Readnour of Gage, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and ushers were Max Courtney of Canyon, brother of the bride, Louis Wilkerson, Art Nine of Gage, and Bobby Hudson.

The flower girl was Darla Readnour of Gage, sister of the bridegroom, while the ring bearer was Chris Clothier of Sayre, Okla., cousin of the bridegroom.

Lighting the candles were Lynn Derryberry of Wellington and Bart Clothier of Sayre, Okla., while the bridal carpet was rolled by Keith Derryberry. They are cousins of the bridegroom. Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Courtney were hosts at the reception in the fellowship hall of the church.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Clayton Dunning of Arlington, Miss Alice Clothier and Miss Beth Clothier of Sayre, Okla., cousins of the bridegroom, and Miss Anne Coleman.

As the couple left on their wedding trip to Oklahoma City the bride wore a sand schiffli embroidered pima dress, and her carriage was of yellow roses.

Teacher-Student to Science Symposium

C. A. Crawford, science instructor in Wellington high school, and Danny Martin, a junior, recently attended the Texas Nuclear Science Symposium at the University of Texas, Austin.

This was sponsored by the power and light companies of Texas, of which West Texas Utilities Company is a member.

Approximately 250 teacher-student teams attended from Texas high schools.

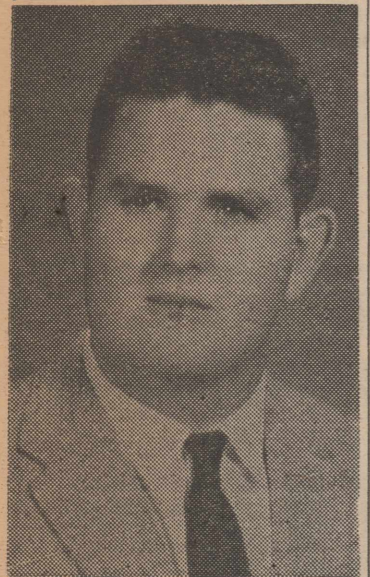

Outstanding teachers in the field of nuclear science were the speakers, and the symposium concerned principally nuclear fusion.

Concerning the symposium, Crawford said: "Eventually we are going to run out of oil and coal for power, and nuclear fissionable or splitting material would last only for a certain period of time.

"But the oceans contain heavy hydrogen, which is what the scientists are working on in the field of nuclear fusion. This would last for literally millions of years," Crawford continued.

"The power companies think that 10 years from now we will need 10 times the electric power we are using now."

July Fourth Is a Day for Flags — Let's Wave Ours Proudly

Before many of you read the next issue of The Wellington Leader, July the Fourth—Independence Day—will be passed.

It is a day indeed to fly our flags, the bunting of red, white and blue that almost every business house owns. They make a beautiful sight around our square. They are a mark of our civic pride. It is also a day to fly our flags figuratively, . . . to attest our faith in our way of life, to give notice that we value our freedoms just as did those who make this flag possible.

For almost 200 years, it has been the symbol of freedom and liberty. It spoke the language all men understand.

Call this flag-waving if you will. It well may be we need to wave our flag more vigorously. In recent years, this has been somewhat out of style. Avowed patriotism seemed a bit old fashioned. The thrill that tingled down our spines as Old Glory went by marked one as a little gauche.

But is it? On one of these hot afternoons, perhaps we should take a long look at the state of our freedoms.

We in Collingsworth live a comfortable life. There is little to upset our days. We face few dangers as we go from activity to activity. But never has there been greater organized effort to destroy the freedoms of democracy than the West now faces. Churchmen high in the circles of all Christian faiths and Judaism say that not through all the centuries has there been such persecution of the church. It is not mass persecution, but a bit here, more there, an incident somewhere else. We read of these and then they pass from our minds.

This July Fourth is the best of all days to begin considering these things well and to act, each of us in our own position in our community.

It is said that love makes the heart light and the living room dark.

A sweater is something a child wears when mom feels a chill.

The expression "dirt cheap" has sort of lost its meaning what with the price of top soil.

Late Business News Highlights

Two giants—the steel industry and the United Steelworkers Union—reached a unique contract settlement giving the industry 21 more months of peace without labor difficulties. The plan calls for extended vacations for certain employees but no straight wage increase.

Lone Star Producing Co. began construction of a $20 million East Texas nitrogen fertilizer materials complex.

Rail freight carloadings climbed for the seventh straight week above 1962 levels, up 4.4% for the week ended June 15.

Industrial output, personal incomes, and housing starts all hit record highs in May.

A couple of California savings and loan associations bucked the trend to lower interest rates and announced they will raise their rates paid to savers fractionally.

Car production for the past week slipped slightly under the record rate of the previous week, but was still well ahead of the similar 1962 week when output totaled 107,406 units. Last week's was scheduled at 169,571. • The Civil Aeronautics Board "tentatively" rejected a proposed merger between American Air Lines and Eastern Airlines. • Retail sales for the week ended June 15 rose to $4,926 billion, up 6% from the year-earlier week and up 2% from the previous week this year. • Durable goods orders fell 1.5% in May from April, the first decline after four consecutive monthly rises. • And major home appliance dealers reported brisk sales, said 1963 appears it will be a better year than 1962.

A revolutionary steel contract settlement between management of 11 major firms in the giant industry and the United Steelworkers Union injected a healthy dose of enthusiasm into the stock market last week. Prices rallied strongly late Thursday and Friday on increased volume.

The contract settlement, insuring the steel industry of 21 more months of labor peace, came on the heels of a reported raid on Cuba which tossed Wall Street into an uproar temporarily. When the air had cleared on that issue and steel-labor negotiators made their announcement, the market responded briskly higher. Volume on the New York Stock Exchange was around 22 million shares during the week, off slightly from the previous week's 22.8 million.

Despite the strong advance of Friday when the Dow Jones Average of 30 industrials gained 1.93, the index closed below the week's opening of 722.03 because of a rather sharp sell-off on Monday when it dropped 3.82. Trading volume Monday during the drop was a very light 3.5 million shares. The Dow Jones 30 Industrials now are at 720.78, about 15 points below the all-time high set Dec. 13, 1961.

Several bright economic reports during the week—increases to record levels of industrial output, housing starts and personal incomes—bolstered the market confidence. Another plus factor was the short interest on the New York Stock Exchange. The interest dropped 85,488 shares to 5,711,130 shares on June 14, but the dip was much less than the 225,647 share drop registered in the previous month.

Many brokers consider the short interest a factor of potential demand for stock because stock represented in the short interest is stock which has been borrowed and sold and which must be purchased back at a later date. Chrysler stock again led the short interest positions with 265,186 shares. Short positions in Tennessee Gas Transmission rose to 84,013 shares, up from 2,097 on May 15.

During the week airline stocks jumped around in response to a Civil Aeronautics Board "tentative" rejection of the proposed merger between American Airlines and Eastern Airlines.

Eversharp bounced up to 41% after it announced plans for a 2-for-1 stock split and an increase in the annual dividend rate. Bank issues in the over-the-counter market were mixed in reaction to a Supreme Court decision affecting bank mergers. Auto stocks continued active.

Ling-Temco-Vought advanced to 15 Friday after it was announced the firm had received a $10 million Air Force contract. Companies reporting higher earnings includes Andrew Jergens, Billups Western Petroleum, Van Waters & Rogers, Jim Walter Corp., and Mobil Gas Service. Continental Telephone Co. common stock was listed on the American Stock Exchange.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

My trepidatory neighbor is afraid the Boy Scouts are fixing to get classified as a right-wing extremist outfit, like the John Birch Society.

On account of Scouts can now work for merit badges on Thrift, which clearly subverts our official national doctrine of Progress through Deficit.

Says anyhow training the young about economy is a waste of time, because after they have to start paying on the public debt we have run up, they will learn plenty about thrift and frugal living.

I see where some picayunish types are griping because the U.S. is spending $13,837 tax money for the Investigation of Information Contained in Echoes.

But my disarrayed neighbor says with science burying so many old folk ideas, these researchers may prove it's not true that you only get out of an echo what you put in. Says anyhow he is in favor of this study, as he has noticed here lately about the only thing he has heard that made sense was his echo.

I see where the British are somewhat embarrassed to find out a vocational party girl has been keeping their War Minister's mind off War.

Seems like us people want our public celebrities, like our war ministers, our movie stars, our governors, etc., to be true to us all the time and not ever get any recreation at all.

And our faith falters when we discover that one of them has been two-timing us with a red-head or a golf ball.

Savings Bond sales in Collingsworth county totaled $2,456 during May, according to John Forbis, chairman.

GENERAL TELEPHONE TOWNS ON THE MOVE

How

Perryton

Population figures more than double . . . 30 new industries added . . . all since 1950! That is the miraculous record of Perryton in the Texas Panhandle wheat growing area.

When oil was discovered in the early '50's, an aggressive, long-range program was launched by the Chamber of Commerce. An 84-acre industrial tract was secured and plotted; its streets were paved and a railroad spur was built.

So successful was this community development that today a second industrial tract has been acquired and plotted. Perryton, former population 4417, is now known as The Oil Center of the Anardarko Basin, with 9400 citizens. It is another reason we say big things are happening in General Telephone towns.

These towns are on the move. Community improvements are under way, local resources are being developed, new businesses, new industries are coming in. If your town seeks additional information about expansion perhaps we can help. Just write our Community Development Department, Box 1001, San Angelo, Texas.

IN EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

These girls are in the food educational program of the Collingsworth 4-H Clubs. Not only do they learn to cook, they also learn about nutrition, and the food requirements of the individual. At left is Deborah Peters and Susan Coffee is at right.

For County Girls

Foods Study a Major Part of 4-H Program

A major part of the girls' 4-H Club program in Collingsworth county is the work in foods, in which those as young as 9 learn simple cooking.

They progress to the point of preparing a fairly elaborate meal and serving it correctly, Mrs. Kathryn Barjenbruch, home demonstration agent, said. Some of the girls may compete in the foods contests on the district level and even the state level.

Approximately 70 girls are participating.

The girls learn more than how to cook, Mrs. Barjenbruch pointed out. "They come to understand nutrition and the value of food in relation to good health.

"They study buying and ways of utilizing food products. In the advanced work, they come to know about the interrelation of science, food preparation and nutrition, and they gain the ability to teach it and pass it on."

Four-H girls have the opportunity to demonstrate their skills.

In Collingsworth county, there is the Favorite Food Show in the spring, with the winner of the senior division competing in the District I event.

The 4-H Bake Show comes later in the year, and this time it will be held in connection with the county Fair Sept. 6 and 7. The girls will focus the attention of the county on this event.

The dairy foods demonstration contest is another event in a specialized line.

Another major event in the foods program, in which girls will work with women, is the management and nutrition workshop, an all day and evening program Sept. 26. Conducting it will be Miss Maeona Cox, extension specialist in food and nutrition and Mrs. Eula J. Newman, specialist in home management, both from College Station.

"The girls work in groups, according to their ages," Mrs. Barjenbruch said.

"They come into the program when they are nine years old, and most of them have not helped their mothers cook.

"First they learn to measure. Basic nutrition comes later, and this is followed by cooking, etiquette and the pro-

LETTERS from the People

June 23, 1963
Dear Mr. Wells:

I am the 14 year old son of Maurine Hunt Carman and Capt. Ken Carman, who is an Aircraft Commander in a B-52 Wing here at Robins AFB.

I have visited with my grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Hunt, 1301 Arlington St., in Wellington, many times. While there I always had fun watching the horned toads which are so plentiful there.

Here in Georgia there are no horned toads and most people have never seen one. I would like to start a business selling them. If the kids in Wellington will catch them my grandfather will pay them a dime for every one that they bring him.

I think this would make a nice and profitable hobby for any boy or girl that is willing to catch them.

Thank you.
Sincerely,
Kenneth Carman

Rummel Named to Extension District Post

COLLEGE STATION.—Donald R. Rummel on June 16 was named area entomologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service with headquarters at Lubbock. He replaces John G. Thomas who has been transferred to the state staff as associate extension entomologist.

Extension Director John E. Hutchison said Rummel would serve 82 counties in west and northwest Texas from the Lubbock headquarters including all counties in Extension Districts 1 and 2 and parts of Districts 3, 6 and 7. His responsibilities the director added, will cover the broad field of entomology but for the immediate future, cotton and grain sorghum insects will get major attention.

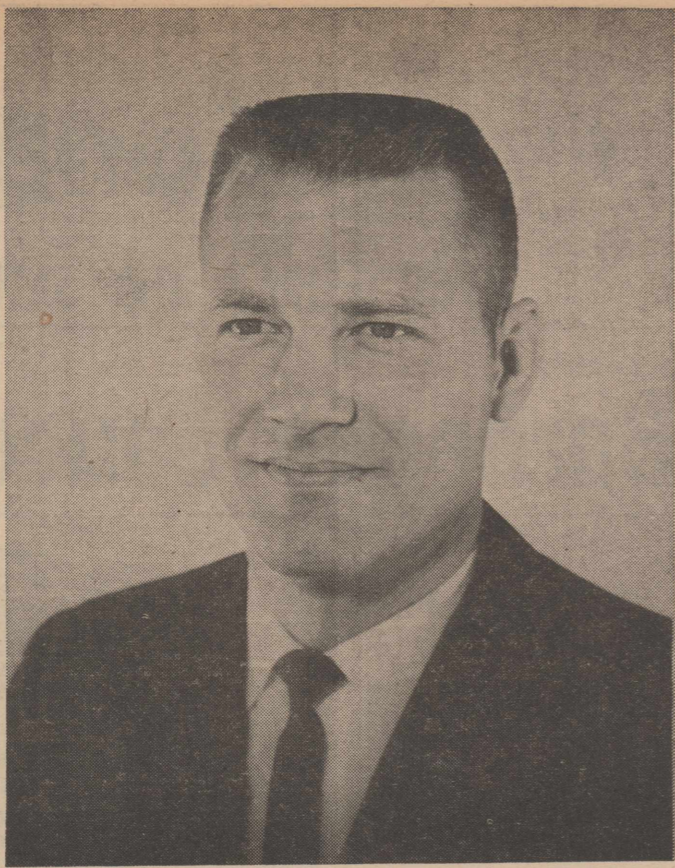

Rummel is a native of Collingsworth county, where his parents still reside. He is a graduate of Wellington high school and received a B.S. degree in entomology from Texas A&M College in 1960 and has completed all work for an M.S. degree in the same field except his thesis. His minor subject has been plant pathology.

The new entomologist holds the Lone Star Farmer degree for his outstanding achievements in FFA work and for the past several summers has worked on entomology projects including one summer on the South Plains.

ZIP CODE EXPLAINED FOR DODSON POST OFFICE

Dodson's five-digit Zip Code is 79230, Postmaster Howard A. Hunt announced today.

"Everyone in Dodson will use this Zip Code on all their correspondence to speed mail deliveries and reduce the chance of missent mail," Postmaster Hunt said.

Zip Code, the Post Office Department's revolutionary new system of improved mail dispatch and delivery, goes into effect nationally on July 1.

Postmaster Hunt stressed the importance of all citizens of Dodson learning this city's Zip Code and using it in their return address on all correspondence. In answering mail, he said, Zip Codes taken from return addresses on incoming mail should be used.

"The Zip Code is literally the last work in mail addressing," Hunt said. "It should FOLLOW the city and state in addresses."

He cited this example of the proper use of Zip Code:
Howard A. Hunt, Postmaster
U.S. Post Office,
Dodson, Texas, 79230.

The new Zip Code plan, said Hunt, for the first time will permit the Post Office department to short-cut repeated address reading.

"The address on mail must often be read as many as eight or ten times by postal employees, to get it to the proper destination," Hunt said.

"Each handling slows the process of mail dispatch and adds to the opportunity for human error.

"With Zip Code, a clerk needs only to glance at the code to know immediately what national area, state and post office the letter is destined and to speed it on its way, cutting up to 24 hours off the time between deposit and delivery."

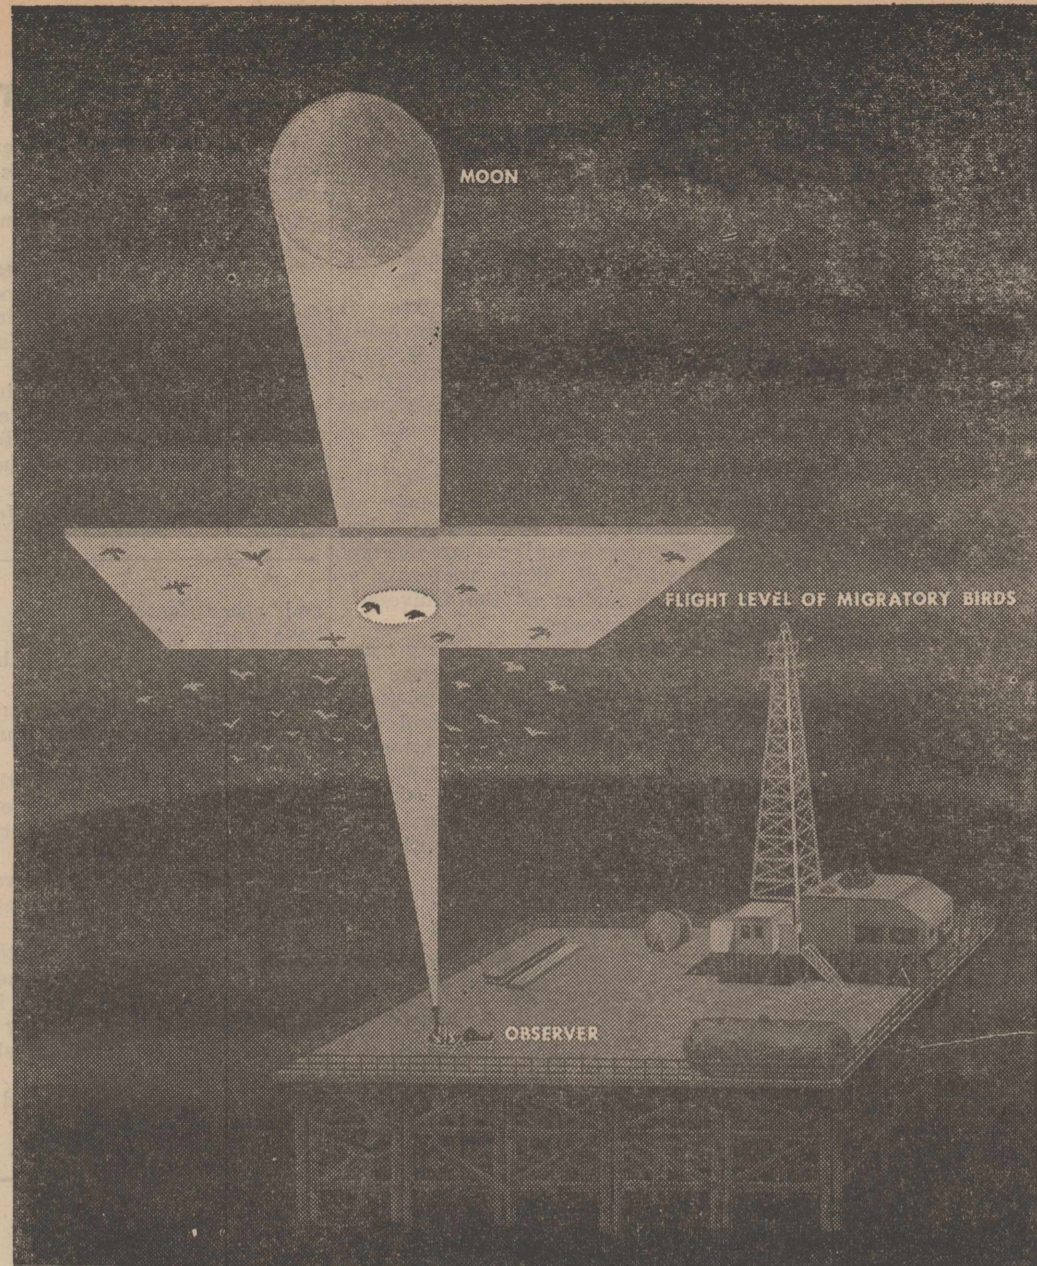

Hunt said that when Zip Code is in full swing, the United States will have "the most modern system of mail distribution and delivery in existence."

Cotton Classing Standards on New Basis

Cotton classing on and after June 15 will be on the basis of the revised Official Cotton Standards of the United States for Grade of American Upland Cotton. These revised standards will be the basis for international trade in American Upland cotton for the coming season.

Delegates from over the United States and the world met with the Agricultural Marketing Service some weeks ago for the purpose of examining and approving about 80 key sets of the revised Universal Cotton Standards. The revisions were approved at the 1962 Universal Cotton Standards Conference.

Standards for cotton classification are a vital factor in marketing the largest cash crop produced on our farms today, points out C. E. Cox, in charge of the Altus Classing Office.

United States Standards, used by all USDA Cotton Division classing offices, assure both growers and buyers of the quality they sell or buy.

"Cotton quality varies widely—not only between varieties, areas of production and season, but also between cotton harvested at different times from the same field. Even cotton fibers within a single boll vary in length," added Cox.

The original standards in physical form are sealed and deposited in a vault at the U. S. Department of Agriculture in Washington. Copies, known as "practical forms" are prepared and sold by USDA to persons interested in cotton classification in this country and abroad.

Conferences on universal cotton standards are held at three-

Phone Rates Down on Late Night Calls

Telephone users in Texas got their second rate reduction in station-to-station late night (after 9 p.m.) long distance rates effective June 15, according to a General Telephone Company spokesman.

The new rates will apply to calls within Texas (intrastate calls). Earlier this year long distance rates on station-to-station calls made to other states (interstate calls) after 9 p.m. were reduced, with some exceptions to a maximum of $1.

When the newest after 9 p.m. rates became effective June 15 the maximum charge for a station-to-station call to any point in Texas will be 80¢; however, generally speaking, the calls will cost less than the maximum. The new after-9 p.m. intrastate rates will not apply to collect calls or calls charged to a third number. The company spokesman emphasized that night rates will continue to be in effect between 6 p.m. and 9 p.m. and that the additional reductions will apply to station-to-station calls made to other points in Texas between 9 p.m. and 4:30 a.m.

The actual savings to customers range from 5¢ to 50¢, depending on the distance of the call.

Listed below are some sample rates which will apply to intrastate after 9 p.m. station-to-station calls for the first three minutes:

Sherman to Brownsville, old night and Sunday rates, $1.20; new late night rates in effect 9 p.m. to 4:30 a.m., 80¢. Brownfield to Corpus Christi, old $1.15; new 80¢. Lubbock to Dallas, old 95¢; new 60¢.

San Angelo to Big Lake, old 55¢; new 50¢.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Trouble often comes from the least expected sources and that is the case with the cotton farmers in the 63 season of late planting. This time it is the lowly garden web worm more commonly called the "keerless" worm because one of its most important sources of food is tender young careless weeds. The little pest has always been with us, but in most years the numbers were such that the damage to commercial crops was light. Due to weather or some condition that caused a population explosion of this particular type of worm, it reached plague proportions before the cotton growers knew he was in their fields. Like other insects, worms and bugs, the worm can be eliminated by poison, but this is expensive even when the pest is discovered in time.

In case you frown on my spelling of "keerless" I would like to say that is the way it should be pronounced and spelled for there is nothing careless about the licurgus bug, flea hopper, leaf worm, boll worm, boll weevil and the other pests that afflict us. They are stubborn, persistent, expensive, troublesome and numerous just like the Kennedy clan.

We have just returned from the annual summer meeting of the Texas Press Association and I am pleased to report that The Leader won two awards for excellence. We had a wonderful time visiting with friends from all parts of Texas in the friendly hospitable city of Fort Worth. This town down where the West begins knows how to furnish whole hearted entertainment and its does it with polish and zest. Louise has been going to enough meetings that she knows more members of TPA than I do although I ran the show for eight years. And Henry has quite a number of young friends of his age. Following are some notes about some of the many of whom you know.

The Aaron Edgars of Munday were asking about Rev. Michael and sent their regards to the preacher who is loved in many other towns just as he is in Wellington. Aaron is president of the Panhandle Press Association and is also a director of TPA.

One evening the Lester Benges came by the Hotel Texas to visit us. Lester is a salesman with Leonard Bros., and Claudia, who started her journalism and advertising career on The Leader, is one of the officials of one of the leading advertising agencies of Fort Worth. She plans and sells the advertising campaigns of some of the big firms of the city. She places advertising with radio and TV as well as with newspapers. Claudia stages some of her TV commercials in person. She had one spot commercial on TV that lasts for 8 seconds and is now costing $87.50 for that time. She was concerned about what would happen to the account because the station has given notice that the rate will be increased to $117.50 on September 1. Can you imagine paying $87.50 for 8 seconds of advertising?

One morning at breakfast I sat beside Bo Beaumier, editor and publisher of The Lufkin Daily News. The vast Southland Paper Mills are located in his city, and Bo is an authority on paper making, lumber and forest conservation. He says there is no need to worry about the forests ever playing out in the United States. The reforestation program of the lumber companies is growing timber faster than it can be used. Taxes, labor and transportation are what make paper and lumber so high in price and not the supply of timber. There is more than enough to meet every need including the many new uses that are being found for pulp and wood.

At Lufkin where the annual rainfall is between 40 and 50 inches, water is the big problem just as it is in all of the highly industrialized coastal region.

J. Claude Wells was presented with a gold card of calling card size, certifying that he had been in the newspaper business for 50 years or longer. He was also given a larger parchment bearing the identical wording. He and his wife not only took in the convention, they also went on every ride at "Texas Under Six Flags" and finally straggled back to the hotel on the last bus of the evening running from this fabulous show place.

On our last evening in Fort Worth we had dinner with the Jimmie Gillentines and their son Buzz at the Zuider Zee which is on West 7th Street. If you like sea food this is one place you must not miss while in Fort Worth. They serve every kind of sea food you can imagine and they make the most delicious cornbread sticks I ever ate. They are about the size of a panatella cigar and taste something like crisp spoon bread or maybe more like hush puppies except they are different from either.

Did you see that cartoon in The Fort Worth Star-Telegram showing the little boy reading the Bible in classroom. He was hiding it behind a huge geography as if it were a copy of "Badmen of the West" or "Lady Chatterly's Lover."

My wife and son bought me a new Bible—King James version, of course—for Father's Day. There is nothing fancy about it, but it is printed in bold 12 point type that I can read. Many thanks, even if I did have to hint for it for three years before I got it.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Melker of Fairview, Okla., are guests in the home of her aunt, Mrs. V. J. Simpson.

Because of his participation in high school athletics, the youngster did not accept the award offered the first place winner.

Second place went to Bill Long and third to Matt Johnson.

650 Phones Out Here After Rain June 11

R. L. Brewer, district manager for General Telephone Co. of the Southwest, reported this week that approximately 650 Wellington telephones were out of service due to the June 11 rain storm. Brewer stated that at 6:30 p.m., when the first indication of trouble appeared, two cable crews were immediately dispatched to Wellington. These crews worked continuously until the trouble was cleared late the following day.

Brewer expressed the company's regrets for any inconvenience caused by the service interruption and stated that the possibility of improving their cable in Wellington and preventing a recurrence of this type trouble is being checked.

The district manager suggested that those persons whose phones go out of operation following a rainstorm contact the repair clerk at Memphis if service is not restored after a reasonable period. This may be done by dialing the operator and asking for the repair clerk.

No trouble was reported from Dodson at the time the phones were out in Wellington, Brewer said.

Web Worms

(Continued from page one) of each segment of the worm." He estimated the worms, often called careless worms, live about 20 days in this stage, then about 10 days longer in two other stages.

Most farmers are using Toxophene and DDT to fight the worms. Sparkman recommended a rate of two parts of toxophene and one of DDT used at a rate of one and one-half quarts per acre if ground rigs are used and a half gallon per acre if the poison is put down by spray planes.

Growers with ground rigs having cone sprays should have one nozzle directly above each cotton row about 6 to 8 inches from the plants, according to Sparkman.

Dodson area farmers are using equal parts of the two poisons, at the rate of a pound to a pound and a half per acre.

Zook Thomas reported that at his farm in the Lillie community, the web worms were in his alfalfa as well as in his cotton. He recalled other infestations of web worms in the county but pointed out that they are infrequent.

Regier said that garden web worms generally are considered a minor insect.

He urged farmers to keep constant and careful check on their fields. Some may need to spray only around the edges.

Crowder pointed out that this spraying will not only control the web worms, but also the flea hoppers, aphids, thrips, Ed Rowland, who formerly lived here, has returned as a mechanic for Johnson Motor Company, Matt Johnson, owner, announced this week.

"Rowland has had 30 years experience in mechanical work. He is well qualified in all lines and is a tune-up specialist," Johnson said.

For the last ten years, since leaving Wellington, Rowland has lived in California. Here he was employed by Clark Chevrolet and Morton Motor Co. His father still lives in Wellington.

and other insects needing to have early season control, as well as any overwintered boll weevil.

Sparkman added that farmers with weevil should spray now and again in 7 days.

Sparkman also reported that some farmers were using methyl parathion, a highly effective but dangerous poison.

He warned users to wear long sleeves, plastic covered gloves, a mask, and avoid all contact with the skin. If they get any of the poison on them, wash with soap and water immediately. If there are any ill effects, such as nausea or skin rash, see a doctor.

Farmers were also warned to stay out of their fields for an hour or so after spraying.
