Ask Us

Q. — Why did school bus drivers not receive a pay raise and how long has it been since their salary was adjusted?

A. — School officials say bus drivers last received a raise two years ago and that it was felt the current rate — ranging from $258 to $455 per month for routes ranging from 1½ to 5 hours per day — is still adequate.

Local

Near perfect

The tied football game between Ira and Cristoval stopped two entrants in last week's SDN football contest from receiving perfect scores.

Using the tie breaker to determine a first place finish, Thomas Bullard of Rt. 3 Box 66 was deemed the winner of the $12.50 first prize. Debra Perez of 2218 Sunset will pocket $5.

Another contest appears in this issue.

Cof C today

Reports are expected to update such chamber projects as the leadership class, cultural affairs committee, AJRA, business development, White Buffalo Days and an October chamber luncheon.

Trustees meet

The construction project begun at Ira Schools this past summer is continuing on schedule and is expected to be finished around the end of October. Gary Donaldson, project architect, and John Thompson, project foreman, updated trustees during the regular September meeting held Monday night.

In other action, trustees approved a contract with Anderson, Anderson and Vestal for accounting and auditing services and approved two student transfers.

Set tax rate

Hermleigh trustees set the 1984-85 tax rate at .671 per $100 of valuation Monday night during the regular September meeting.

They also approved the purchase of five classroom computers from Computer Case in Snyder at a cost of $971 each. The computers are part of Apple's educational program.

Weather

Snyder Temperatures: High Monday, 87 degrees; low, 63 degrees; reading at 7 a.m. Tuesday, 64 degrees; no precipitation; total precipitation for 1984 to date, 7.43 inches.

Snyder Area Forecast: Tonight fair and cool with lows near 60. Wind less than 10 mph. Wednesday fair and warm again with highs upper 80s. Wind southeast 5 to 15 mph.

Motel's city fee adjusted

City council members Monday adjusted the billing procedure for city sewer fees to be charged Snyder motel owners.

The change came at the request of local lodging industry representatives and was in response to what they called an unfair aspect of how sewer fees are calculated.

Such services are billed according to the number of bathrooms in a structure. Motel owners admitted they had the bathrooms, but they pointed out they were being charged for facilities not used.

Regarding this, they estimated local motel occupancy rates are normally at 50 percent or less.

After almost one hour of discussion, the council addressed their request by instructing the city staff to alter the billing procedure for motels.

Effective with the October billing, such businesses will have the sewer rate charged as initially proposed for the first five bathrooms.

After the five-bathroom cutoff, motels will be charged based upon 60 percent of their actual room total, however.

The change was approved by a unanimous council vote following a motion by Don Osborn.

It was noted this approach will more closely follow "actual use" of the city service.

Nine representatives of local motels met with the council Monday after an initial session with the city Sept. 10. The special meeting was called at that time to discuss their objections further.

At Monday's called meeting, the council also approved on second reading the proposed water, sewer and sanitation rates. Only the sewer aspect of the new rate system had drawn criticism from motel owners.

Effective in October, the following rates will be charged:

—Water: A $4 base fee for a single family residence, a charge that guarantees the customer a minimum of 2,000 gallons used. If this amount is exceeded, the rate will be 95 cents for every 1,000 gallons. The current rate is $4 for a guaranteed 3,000 gallons.

Mock emergency slated Wednesday

A mock emergency drill is planned here Wednesday as activities continue in connection with Cogdell Memorial Hospital's observance of Emergency Medicine Week.

Times and places for the drill are being withheld to maintain the element of surprise for groups participating.

Locals are advised not to be alarmed by sirens and emergency vehicles in motion, however.

As the week continues, free medical exams will be given at Cogdell in addition to the poster contest scheduled for local school children.

Regarding the poster contest, hospital personnel say they are hoping for around 25 entries. Youngsters may pick up materials for the contest at the Emergency Room desk.

Entries must be submitted no later than Friday at 3 p.m. and posters should have an emergency medicine theme.

Health-related medical exams to be offered free of charge for the remainder of the week include testing for sight problems and blood pressure and a second session to test for the compatablity of prescription drugs.

Life-saving training classes in CPR are due Thursday and Friday and staffers said Tuesday some class space still remained for both sessions. Completion of the classes will enable class members to become certified in CPR.

Locals wishing more information about any of the week's activities should contact Elissa Clay, ER supervisor, at 573-6374.

The following is a complete schedule of events planned after Wednesday:

—Thursday: A basic CPR life-saving class will be offered free of charge from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. It will be taught by in-service director Yvette Sickler, a registered nurse. Also Thursday, local firemen will demonstrate the "jaws of life" extrication device at the Kmart parking lot

Jury given assault case

A nine-man three-woman jury — selected Monday to hear the felony aggravated assault trial of James Roy Wolf of Snyder — began their deliberations shortly before 11 a.m. Tuesday.

The 33-year-old Wolf was indicted in July for aggravated assault in connection with a complaint filed May 26 by his ex-wife.

Both Pete Greene, district attorney for the 132nd District Court, and defense attorney Steve Payson presented testimony Monday afternoon. Both sides rested their case before court was adjourned for the night.

The jury returned to the courtroom at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday. Morning court action included final arguments.

As of noon Tuesday, the jury was still deliberating.

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Some after-dinner speakers are so windy they should be called gusts of honor."

Every now and then we see one of those TV guide ads that announce, "Uncontested Divorces $60."

We've never heard of many uncontested divorces. Even though the cases are dead serious to those involved, here are some classics in the area of tragicomedy of human relations.

Consider these actual cases:

"While he never actually struck me," explained one woman, "he would go around slamming his fist against the doors and say, 'I wish it were you!'"

One man divorced his wife because she took his false teeth and held them for ransom.

One gal charged her husband hurled a prickly cactus plant at her while she was in a stooping position. Despite the sticky situation, the woman is said to have won an uncontested plea.

Another wife testified that her mate had knocked her out by hitting her on the head with a live chicken and then, finding that the impact had killed the chicken, revived her and ordered her to fix it for dinner.

A striptease dancer filed suit for divorce because "She resents the fact that her husband doesn't resent the fact that she is doing that kind of work."

In Paris a woman sued for divorce on the grounds that in six years of marriage she had six children.

Things have changed since Will Rogers declared, "Give an American a one-piece bathing suit, a hamburger and five gallons of gas and they are just as tickled as a movie star with a new divorce."

There are lots of political jokes going around, but this actually happened. Ferraro aides sent two ambulances to "rescue" reporters stranded in a press bus during a St. Louis traffic jam.

The ambulances, with sirens blaring, led the bus through the red lights to her campaign rally. Pity the poor soul who might have actually needed one of those emergency vehicles.

Motorgrader bid accepted

Scurry County commissionrs accepted the low bid of four submitted Monday for a new motorgrader for Pct. 1.

The bid contract was awarded to Treanor Equipment Company of Abilene, bidding $71,999.

Other bids were submitted by Associated Supply Co., Lubbock, $73,000; Yellowhouse Machinery, Lubbock, $86,624; and Plains Equipment, Odessa, $83,000.

In other court action Monday, commissioners:

—Passed a resolution supporting formation during the next state legislature of Irion County Underground Water Conservation and Supply District.

—Asked County Attorney Gary Terrell to determine if an offer for computer maintenance is still in effect for the system used by the county attorney's office. The agreement was tenured prior to Terrell assuming the office.

Agency considers state-run lotteries

AUSTIN (AP) — As state governments continue having budget problems, the idea of a state-run lottery seems to become more appealing, a Texas state agency says.

"Lotteries have become an intriguing option to state governments, which view them as a relatively 'painless' revenue source when compared to tax increases," according to Bruce Wright of the state comptoller's office.

"State lotteries are controversial, but indisputably, they enjoy considerable public support. Opinion surveys in lottery states have consistently shown that most people favor their continuation," Wright wrote in an article in the latest issue of Fiscal Notes, published by the comptroller.

Wright said estimates done for the last legislative session indicated that a Texas lottery, currently prohibited by the state Constitution, could gross $200 million a year for the state.

Wright said lotteries are among the most popular new sources of money to finance state governments. Gross revenues have increased tenfold in the last decade, totaling $5.2 billion in 1983.

Various states run different games. Lotteries generally give players a chance to win large sums of money — multimillion-dollar prizes in some cases — for a single-ticket price of 50 cents to $1.

Seventeen states and the District of Columbia run lotteries for about 40 percent of the nation's population. At least two dozen more states are exploring the possibility of starting lotteries, Wright said.

Despite their popularity, he said, "a Texas lottery could be expected to encounter opposition from groups that have traditionally been opposed any form of legalized gambling.

"To a certain extent, objections based on personal conceptions of morality are unanswerable. But, as tight budget situations and popular resistance to higher taxes cause more states to create lotteries, it seems certain that interest in a Texas lottery will increase."

Wright noted that lotteries are a U.S. tradition. "They were conducted in the original 13 colonies and helped finance the American Revolution," he wrote.

"Lottery proceeds were used in establishing Harvard, Yale, Princeton and other universities. Thomas Jefferson was an eloquent and enthusiastic supporter of lotteries, which he called a 'tax laid on the willing only.'"

Today, the Maryland lottery is the third largest source of general fund revenue for that state.

Heart spasms are hard to diagnose

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I feel sorry for the people who write you about their paroxysmal tachycardia. I went through those heart spasms while trying to play college football for two years. Impossible! When I complained to anyone, I was labeled a goof-off or given sidelong glances by teammates. Doctors gave me perfect health grades, but they never saw me during an attack.

I joined the Army in 1942 and was honorably discharged two years later — labeled a psychoneurotic with chronic anxiety tendencies, simply because the board of doctors didn't understand paroxysmal tachycardia.

Then, in 1945, I met a good family doctor in the Veteran's Administration and was introduced to quinidine. This changed my life. And today we have the beta blockers — in my case, Inderal. I take it if I feel a palpation or two and have had no problems. I am 69 and have not had an attack in 15 years.

DEAR READER — Thank you for your words of encouragement for others. Your story points out that a person can have recurrent attacks of paroxysmal tachycardia (sudden rapid heart action) and live a full life. Such attacks do not mean a person is incapacitated in any way between attacks.

It is quite true that little was known about such problems during your college days. Doctors still have a problem making a diagnosis without seeing the attack, or without having recorded it with the Holter monitor or by some other means.

Quinidine is very useful in controlling such irregularities and was the main medicine available when you were first treated for this disorder. There are now many different medicines that help to prevent such attacks and other types of heart irregularities. Almost all such problems can be controlled so that people don't have the problems you experienced.

There are many things besides medicine that can help control some heart irregularities. These are discussed in The Health Letter 6-12, Heart Irregularities, Skipped Beats, Tachycardias, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am female, 22, and in good health, or so I thought until recently. I took a free colon-cancer test and the results came back positive. Now I am in the process of taking the test over again so they can test the specimen more thoroughly.

Could this be due to something other than cancer? I know I have a mild case of hemorrhoids and I wonder if that could be what the test showed.

DEAR READER — You have asked a question that is important for many people. Those tests for colon cancer are very important, because colon cancer is one of the top three causes for cancer deaths in both men and women. The tests help to find the cancer early, which makes it more likely that it can be cured.

But the test is a screening test: It identifies people who need further testing and does not make a diagnosis. The test only identifies blood in the stool, and blood in the stool can be caused by many other things that are not related to cancer at all. So if a person has a positive test, it does not definitely indicate cancer and there is no reason to panic, but it is important to find out where the blood is coming from. If it is due to hemorrhoids and your colon is clear, you are OK as far as cancer is concerned.

Your Birthday

This coming year large rewards could come to you from ventures that appear to offer little promise at the start. Sow your seeds and envision a bountiful crop.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A hope can become a reality at this time if you start now to take the practical measures to bring it into being. Develop a definite plan. The Matchmaker wheel reveals your compatibility to all signs, as well as showing you to which signs you are best suited romantically. To get yours, mail $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your material prospects look encouraging today but the conditions might not persist. Don't delay in attending to matters that could add to your resources.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Quite a bit can be accomplished today once you set your mind to it. You can be especially effective in advancing your personal interests.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You may be the recipient of some important confidential information today. Although you'll be tempted to tell others, it's best you keep it secret.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) An opportunity may develop today to reinforce a friendship that requires a little shoring up. Use this chance to prove you're loyal and reliable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Conditions will make a change for the better today. A goal that you thought was too difficult to achieve is now within the realm of possibility.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) The proper philosophical attitude today will help you make molehills out of mountains and enable you to handle testy situations in stride.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) A family problem that has caused everyone a degree of frustration can be resolved today by an earnest discussion with a no-nonsense approach.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be realistic, yet brighten your perspective today. If you lighten your attitude, you'll see hopeful possibilities instead of just dark outlines.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be sure to square away in advance what you think you're entitled to if you perform work or service for another today. Ask a reasonable price.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Try not to take social situations too seriously today. Your two prime considerations should be to have fun and to enjoy the company of others.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your commercial dealings are likely to be more successful today if they are conducted in private. Don't leave the door open so outsiders can peek in.

PUBLIC NOTICE

BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

GENERAL ELECTION

NOVEMBER 6, 1984

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 29 proposes a constitutional amendment that provides to state-chartered banks the same rights and privileges that are or may be granted to national banks of the United States domiciled in this state. For example, if national banks become authorized to maintain branch offices, this amendment would extend the same privilege to state banks.

The proposed constitutional amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment to provide state banks the same rights and privileges as national banks."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 19 proposes a constitutional amendment that restructures the Permanent University Fund to provide: (1) for the expansion of the institutions eligible to participate in the bonding capacity of the fund to include the components of The University of Texas and Texas A&M University systems that have been added to those two systems of higher education since the Permanent University Fund was last restructured by constitutional amendment; (2) for the expansion of the purposes for which bond proceeds can be expended from new construction to include major repair and rehabilitation projects and the acquisition of major capital equipment (e.g., computers and laboratory equipment) and library books and materials; (3) for an increase in the bonding capacity from 20% (⅔ for The University of Texas System and ⅓ for the Texas A&M University System) to 30% (20% for The University of Texas System and 10% for Texas A&M University System) of the value of the assets (exclusive of real estate) in the Permanent University Fund in order to provide sufficient bond proceeds to care for the addition of 10 new institutions to those authorized to participate in the Permanent University Fund bonding program and to care for the expanded purposes for which the bond proceeds can be spent; and (4) for the dedication of the dividends, interest, and other income from the Permanent University Fund remaining after payment of principal and interest due on bonds and notes issued, to the provision of support and maintenance (over and above normal legislative appropriations) for Texas A&M University in Brazos County, Prairie View A&M University, and The University of Texas at Austin.

House Joint Resolution 19 also annually appropriates $100 million in each fiscal year, beginning September 1, 1985 (from the first money coming into the state treasury that is not otherwise appropriated by the constitution) for the use of those agencies and institutions of higher education which are not included in The University of Texas or Texas A&M University Systems and, therefore, not eligible to participate in the Permanent University Fund bonding program. The amount of this appropriation could be adjusted every five years by a ⅔ vote of the Legislature, but could not be adjusted in such a way as to affect outstanding bonding indebtedness. Each institution of higher education that is eligible to participate (i.e., those institutions of higher education outside The University of Texas and Texas A&M University Systems) would be authorized to expend directly its share (such share to be determined pursuant to an equitable formula) of the $100 million appropriation for the purposes of acquiring land, constructing and equipping buildings or other permanent improvements, major repair and rehabilitation of other permanent buildings or improvements, and acquisition of major capital equipment (e.g., computers and laboratory equipment) and library books and materials. Additionally, each institution would be authorized to issue bonds backed by a pledge of up to 50% of its share of the $100 million annual appropriation for the purpose of land acquisition, new construction, and major repair and rehabilitation projects.

Except in the case of fire or natural disaster and in other extraordinary cases, verified by a two-thirds vote of each house of the legislature, all institutions of higher education would be precluded from receiving appropriations of general revenue funds for the purposes of land acquisition, new construction, and major repair and rehabilitation projects.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment to create from general revenue a special higher education assistance fund for construction and related activities, to restructure the Permanent University Fund, and to increase the number of institutions eligible to benefit from the Permanent University Fund."

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 65 proposes a constitutional amendment which authorizes the legislature to provide for the payment of assistance to the surviving dependent parents, brothers, and sisters of officers, employees and agents of the state or its political subdivisions, including members of organized volunteer fire departments and members of organized police reserve or auxiliary units authorized to make arrests, who die in the course of performing hazardous official duties. Payments to surviving spouses and dependent children of such officers, employees, and agents are already authorized by the Constitution.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to provide for payment of assistance to the surviving dependent parents, brothers, and sisters of certain public servants killed while on duty."

PROPOSITION NO. 4 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 20 proposes a constitutional amendment which abolishes the office of county treasurer in Bexar and Collin counties if a majority of the voters in each of those counties vote in favor of abolishing the office of county treasurer in a local election to be held on the issue. All the powers, duties, and functions of the office of county treasurer in each of these counties would be transferred to the county clerk.

The proposed constitutional amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment to abolish the office of county treasurer in Bexar and Collin counties."

PROPOSITION NO. 5 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 22 proposes a constitutional amendment which provides a new method of filling a vacancy in the office of Lieutenant Governor. The amendment requires the President pro tempore of the Senate to call together the committee of the whole Senate within 30 days after a vacancy occurs in the office of Lieutenant Governor. The committee would be required to elect one of its members to perform the duties of the Lieutenant Governor until the next general election. This individual would continue his duties as Senator at the same time that he performs the Lieutenant Governor's duties. If the Senator who is elected ceases to be a Senator before the next general election, another Senator must be elected according to the above procedure to perform the Lieutenant Governor's duties. The President pro tempore would be required to perform the Lieutenant Governor's duties pending the election of one of its members by the committee of the whole Senate.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the state senate to fill a vacancy in the office of lieutenant governor."

PROPOSITION NO. 6 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 73 proposes a constitutional amendment that permits the use of public funds and credit for payment of premiums on non-assessable life, health, or accident insurance policies and annuity contracts issued by a mutual insurance company authorized to do business in this state. The constitutional prohibition against a grant of public money to an individual, association, or corporation or against becoming a stockholder in a corporation, association, or company has limited life and health group policies of political subdivisions to non-mutual insurance companies. The amendment would permit mutual insurance companies to bid for those policies.

The proposed constitutional amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: The constitutional amendment to permit use of public funds and credit for payment of premiums on certain insurance contracts of mutual insurance companies authorized to do business in Texas."

PROPOSITION NO. 7 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 4 proposes a constitutional amendment to change the membership of the State Commission on Judicial Conduct to include one Judge of a Municipal Court and one Judge of a County Court at Law, who shall be selected at large and appointed by the Supreme Court with the advice and consent of the Senate.

The amendment also provides additional grounds for removal from office of judges or justices of Texas courts, and provides additional disciplinary actions that could be taken in lieu of removal or censure. The amendment would extend the Commission's disciplinary authority to masters, magistrates, and retired or former judges who hear cases by designation. The amendment creates a tribunal to review recommendations of the State Commission on Judicial Conduct for removal or retirement of a judge or justice. The review tribunal would be composed of seven (7) Justices or Judges of the Courts of Appeals selected by lot by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. The amendment also provides for appeal of the review tribunal's decision to the Supreme Court of Texas and grants an accused judge the right to discovery of evidence.

The proposition will appear on the ballot as follows: The constitutional amendment relating to the membership of the State Commission on Judicial Conduct and the authority and procedure to discipline active judges, certain retired and former judges, and certain masters and magistrates of the courts."

PROPOSITION NO. 8 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 22 proposes a constitutional amendment which increases the per diem of members of the Legislature. The amount of per diem allowed during a calendar year would be equal to the maximum amount set in federal income tax statutes as of January 1 of that same year as a deduction for ordinary and necessary business expenses incurred by a state legislator. Current per diem is $30; the maximum deduction is now $75.

The proposed constitutional amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment to provide a per diem for members of the legislature equal to the maximum daily amount allowed by federal law as a deduction for ordinary and necessary business expenses incurred by a state legislator."

Wool welcomes fall designs

NEW YORK (AP) — Fall and winter's wearable new designs are in exaggerated but simple silhouettes, many in luxurious pure wool fabrics like jersey, gabardine, covert, flannel and twill, the fashion industry reports.

With proper care, these new additions to the clothes closet, as well as wool suits and separates that serve as the basics for a classic wardrobe, can last for years and always look good, experts at the Wool Bureau point out.

"Before you decide which of this year's great fashion buys to add, you'll want to take your wool clothing out of storage and review what you already own," says Carl Freeman of the bureau's Technical Center.

If the garments were properly cleaned before storing they should need no special treatment before wearing, he points out. But if clothes were stored with moth balls all summer, he advises that the garments be hung up properly to air out, rather than cleaned just to remove the smell.

"The biggest mistake people make caring for their wool clothing is drycleaning it too frequently," says Freeman, who explains that unnecessary cleanings break down the wool fibers and shorten the life of a garment.

"Since wool is a naturally wrinkle- and soil-resistant fabric, all that's usually needed to refresh a garment is proper hanging and a soft clothes brush," he adds.

Freeman offers these suggestions for keeping wool clothing in good condition:

—Hang your clothes where they can breathe. Wool needs air to help it spring back into shape, so leave plenty of space between wool garments in the closet. Jackets should be hung on wooden or plastic-contoured hangers, skirts by the waistband on skirt hangers.

—Give your clothing a rest. A 24-hour rest period between wearings will help clothes last longer.

—Steam away wrinkles. After wearing or unpacking, hang wool garments on a shower rod over a tub of hot water, to steam away wrinkles and refresh the fabric.

—Brush after every wearing. A soft, firm-bristled brush removes dirt that may be lodged in the fiber. Shake out wool knits, however — don't brush them or hang them. Instead, fold gently and store in a dresser drawer so garment will maintain its shape.

CWC speaker found peace in adversity

Ladies attending the Sept. 12 luncheon meeting of the Christian Women's Club heard Linda Schwob, a preschool teacher and former model, tell how living through the uncertainty of her child's disease led her to become a Christian.

Raised with three brothers in Chicago, she attended an women's college in Davenport, Iowa. She met her husband, a Rodeway Inn executive, in Iowa and they moved to New York City.

She felt like her life was going just the way she wanted it until their four-month-old son was diagnosed with hydrocephalus, or water on the brain. "I became very angry at God. I thought that I had done something wrong and that God was punishing my son as a result," she said. "I told God that I would never go to church again, but I changed my mind thinking that He might take my son from me."

After Linda and her husband moved back to Chicago, her mother-in-law invited her to a CWC meeting. At that meeting she learned that God did indeed love her.

She was set free from her misconception of God when she attended a Friendship Bible Coffee sponsored by the CWC women and heard the story of the man blind from birth.

After Jesus told the story, his disciples wanted to know who sinned, the man or his parents, that made him blind. Jesus responded, "It was neither that this man sinned, nor his parents; but it was in order that the works of God might be displayed in him." John 9:1-3 (NASB)

Her son is now a healthy 13-year-old. Other than attending some special education classes, he is like other boys his age. "Many people have told me that they see Jesus in my son," she remarked.

In addition to Schwob, the women heard a presentation on quilting by Jean Smith, assistant director of the Scurry County Senior Center. Nina Jones provided music.

If you got it, keep quiet

By James Jacoby

When you're holding very bad cards, it is a comfortable feeling to have the opponents bid to six in a suit in which you have Q-J-10-8. Although you will usually set the contract, don't double. Two bad things can happen. First, the contract may be corrected to six no-trump, which might be unbeatable. Second, your double may cause the declarer to play just carefully enough to make the contract.

South won the diamond ace and led a heart toward dummy's K-9-7. West split his Q-J-10 and dummy's king won. A diamond was trumped and the A-K-Q of clubs were cashed. South then led a spade to dummy's ace and trumped another diamond. He led another spade to the king and ruffed the third spade in his hand. This left South with A-6 of hearts and the five of clubs, West with the Q-J-8 of hearts and dummy with the 9-7 of hearts and a small spade. Now South's play of the five of clubs left West helpless because he could not take more than one trick.

Without the double, declarer still might have made the contract. West will hold all four hearts about 5 percent of the time, and so at rubber bridge it is reasonable for South to play toward the K-9 in dummy and simply cover the eight. But if you are today's rash doubler, ask yourself: "Would declarer really do that if I didn't double the contract?"

CORN SCRAMBLE

3 large fresh ears of corn
3 tablespoons butter
Medium onion, diced
2 cups diced celery
½ cup diced green pepper
1-pound can stewed tomatoes
Salt and pepper to taste
Cut corn kernels (without scoring) from cobs; run dull side of knife down cobs to release pulp. In a 10-inch skillet in the hot butter gently cook onion, celery and green pepper until wilted, stir in corn, tomatoes, salt and pepper. Simmer until juices are as thick as you like — 10 to 20 minutes. Good served in side dishes. Makes 6 servings.

Tiger girls take aim at Lake View tonight

SAN ANGELO -- You might think going up against a winless opponent should bring an easy victory, but Snyder Coach Penny Bane said that won't be the case when her Tigers take on the Lake View Maidens here tonight.

"It's always hard going to someone elses gym. They are up and looking for victory and those are the ones you have to watch out for," said the coach, whose Tigers are locked in a three-way tie for first place in the District 2-4A race.

Snyder is officially 2-0 in district play, though a forthcoming UIL district committee is expected to announce a forfeit by Fort Stockton, giving the Tigers a 3-0 mark. Monahans and Pecos are also 3-0.

Other teams are Sweetwater, 2-1; Andrews, 1-2; Fort Stockton, either 0-2 or 0-3; and Lamesa and Lake View, both 0-3.

Snyder played Lake View in the San Angelo Tournament earlier this season and won in two games, but Bane noted, "I expect them to be improved quite a bit. They didn't play real well when we played them."

Lake View has played Sweetwater, Pecos and Monahans.

While Snyder takes on the Maidens tonight, Pecos tries Andrews and Monahans challenges Fort Stockton.

Tonight's varsity match is set for 7:30. A junior varsity match will be held at 6:30. Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Cats advance record to 4-1

The Cats won 15-11 and 16-14. They will try for their fifth victory here Thursday, when they entertain Seminole at 6:30 in the high school gym.

Serving for points were Meredith Goodwin, 9; Yolanda Rivers, 7; YoYo Anderson, 5; Paula Caldwell, 3; and Jennifer Alarcon, Melinda Tucker, Lafon Williams, Denise Overton and Patricia Casias, 1 each. Also playing were Kelly Walker, Michelle Garcia, Rachelle Everett, Brinda Gonzales and Barbara Chapman.

The Cats will also play in the Big Spring Tournament, Saturday at the Big Spring High School Gym. Snyder takes on Big Spring at 9 a.m.

Jackson smashes his 500th; Detroit earns a tie at least

by The Associated Press

A few hours before Reggie Jackson smashed his way into baseball history with his 500th home run, Detroit edged closer to re-writing Tiger history by clinching at least a tie for the American League East title.

Seventeen years earlier to the day, a 21-year-old Jackson made the circuit at Anaheim after his first major-league home run.

The only complaint a 38-year-old Jackson had about his 500th homer was that it came with the score 7-0 and provided the California Angels' only run in a 10-1 loss Monday night to the Kansas City Royals.

"I would have liked to have won the game," he said. "The fact that we didn't somewhat tarnished the home run. I wish it could have been a seven-run homer to tie the score."

Combined with the Minnesota Twins' 7-3 loss to the Chicago White Sox, the Royals' victory left them alone atop the AL West for only the second night this season.

"We won and he got his 500th," said a satisfied Royals manager Dick Howser, who also managed Jackson in 1980 with the Yankees.

Earlier in the night, a 7-3 victory by the Tigers over the Milwaukee Brewers clinched at least a tie in the East for Detroit. The Toronto Blue Jays rallied to win 5-4 in Boston and keep the champagne on ice in Detroit for another night.

In other AL games, New York beat Baltimore 12-7, Oakland topped Texas 5-3, and Seattle went 11 innings in downing Cleveland 3-2.

Jackson's 22nd homer of the season was one of only three hits allowed in eight innings by Kansas City starter Bud Black, 16-11.

Jackson became the 13th player in major league baseball history to hit 500 career home runs. Eleven of the others are in the Hall of Fame and the 12th - Willie McCovey - has not been retired long enough to be eligible for election.

Gary Berkowitz of Anaheim, Calif., caught the ball and gave it to Jackson. In exchange, Berkowitz received a video recorder, a shirt and a year's supply of cereal.

Tigers 7, Brewers 3

A solo homer by Lance Parrish and a grand slam by Lou Whitaker keyed a six-run Detroit sixth as the Tigers roared to victory. Another Detroit win or another Toronto loss will administer the coup de grace to the Blue Jays.

"It was a big hit and I'm happy about it," Whitaker said. "I don't care what Toronto did. That just means we can win it tomorrow. I've been thinking about Detroit all year and not looking over my shoulder."

When the Blue Jays won, the Tigers missed a shot at the night's second anniversary encore. The last Detroit champions clinched the pennant on Sept. 17, 1968.

A's 5, Rangers 3

Dave Kingman's 35th homer of the year, a two-run blow, was part of a tie-breaking three-run sixth inning that sank Texas. It was the 377th of Kingman's career.

Dolphins edge Buffalo, 21-17

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. (AP) - The Buffalo Bills lost their third straight National Football League game Monday night 21-17, to a Miami team that has won their first three games.

As has been the case in all three Buffalo losses this year, the Bills found themselves behind quickly. Miami quarterback Dan Marino threw his eigth and ninth touchdown passes of the year in the game's first 20 minutes to Mark Duper and Mark Clayton.

Marino finished the day with 26 completions in 35 attempts for 296 yards.

Western intramural rodeo here tonight

The show will give local fans a chance to see the rodeo team in action. WTC begins the rodeo season Thursday in Portales, N.M.

Tonight's rodeo, for any WTC student who wishes to enter, will include regular events as well as chute dogging, calf tying, calf dressing, novice bull riding, girl's steer riding and men's goat tying. Regular events include calf roping, team roping, bareback riding, steer wrestling, bull riding, saddle bronc riding, goat tying, breakaway roping and barrel racing.

No admission will be charged.

MOVIN' -- Snyder's offense is showing improvement after two ballgames, and Coach Dennis Tomlin is looking for even better production in the future. Tomlin sees improvement; ready for Brownfield Cubs

By BILL McCLELLAN
SDN Sports Editor

Ragin' Tiger Coach Dennis Tomlin, unhappy but not discouraged with Snyder's 28-7 loss to Lubbock Dunbar last week, kept his positive outlook heading into this week's home game with Brownfield.

Tomlin, who said the Tigers' effort was good again, also praised those fans who made the trip to Lubbock.

"We were very excited about the crowd...all the balloons and everything. It was just great. We can't say enough."

He said despite the loss, the team was showing improvement.

"We thought we improved quite a bit offensively. I think that showed with the stats. Justin Webb had 114 yards rushing and James Powell had 83," said Tomlin, whose Tigers ran for 211 yards and passed for 46 - a total of 257. Snyder had 161 against Big Spring a week earlier. "I felt like our offensive line play had improved again."

Despite the extra yardage, Snyder gave up 253 yards and 28 points. But 132 of those yards were on touchdown plays.

"Take away the big plays and it's a different ballgame," mused Tomlin. "Other than that, we improved defensively, too. As long as we can keep improving, we're moving in the right direction."

He said the staff is anticipating even more improvement from the Tigers this week.

"We're looking forward to it. The only way you can make up wounds (losses) is to go out and try again and we believe our kids are going to try and give the best effort they've given all year. I think if we can put together an offensive game like we did against Dunbar and a defensive game like Big Spring, we can come up with a good ballgame."

A few Snyder players suffered minor injuries in last week's game, but none were expected to miss the game with Brownfield.

Both Snyder and the Cubs come into the game 0-2 and unless the contest ends in a tie, it will break one of the longest losing streaks in the area, and keep another one going. Brownfield has lost 24 straight games; Snyder 18.

"A (area) coach told me Brownfield has improved 150 percent over last year," said Tomlin, whose statement can probably be backed up by the fact the Cubs lost to Lamesa 34-0 last year and 14-8 this season. "They lost 21-14 to Andrews on an interception and had several chances to beat Lamesa. They are a lot like Snyder in that their program has been down and they've got a lot of people and a lot of enthusiasm this year. It should be a very good ballgame."

Kickoff is set for 8 p.m. in Tiger Stadium.

No confrontation is planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ronald Reagan and Walter F. Mondale have settled on a presidential debate format that prevents a direct confrontation between the two candidates but opens both to lengthy questioning by a four-person panel.

The League of Women Voters announced Monday that two 90-minute televised presidential debates would be held, on Sunday Oct. 7 in Louisville, Ky., and on Sunday Oct. 21 in Kansas City.

A third matchup between the two opposing vice presidential nominees, George Bush and Geraldine A. Ferraro, will be held in Philadelphia on Oct. 11, the league said.

Public announcement of the debates followed tough, behind-the-scenes negotiations for nearly a month between White House chief of staff James Baker and Mondale campaign director James Johnson, and their top aides.

Under the format, Reagan and Mondale will face a moderator and four panelists, probably all journalists, who will question the candidates in the first debate on the economy and other domestic issues, and in the second on defense and foreign policy.

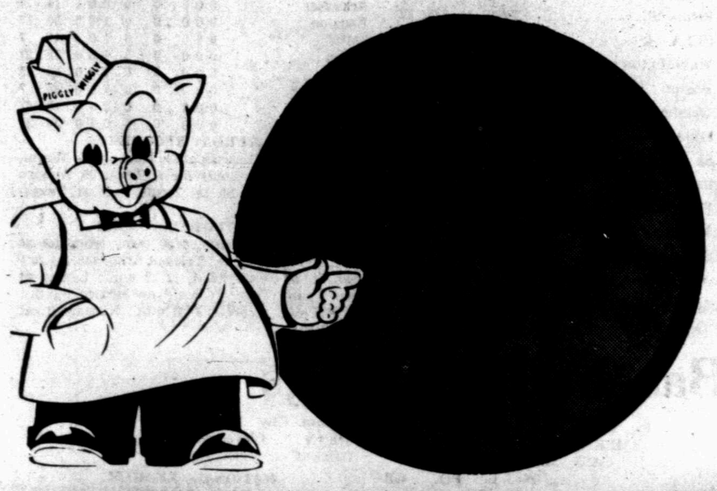

Mondale had sought a format under which the candidates would have questioned one another. But Reagan's aide Baker said no.

Campaigning in Dearborn, Mich. Monday, Mondale said he had hoped for as many as six debates but that two were "all that we could get."

Of his thwarted effort for a direct faceoff, Mondale said, "I think it's a part of the president's candidacy to try to get re-elected by answering as few questions as possible."

White House deputy press secretary Marlin Fitzwater said Reagan "looks forward to these debates." "He has said from the beginning that he supports the principal of debates and that presidential candidates should debate the issues," Fitzwater said.

Committee wants harsh restrictions

AUSTIN (AP) — A committee viewing a "smokeless teen-aged society" by the year 2000 has tentatively recommended raising the age at which people can buy cigarettes and other tobacco products.

State Health Commissioner Robert Bernstein said Monday the executive committee of the Legislative Task Force on Cancer had voted to recommend raising the age for purchasing tobacco products from 16 to 21.

"We thought tobacco's bad stuff — 30 percent of cancer comes form smoking tobacco, and we think we ought to try to do something about that," Bernstein said.

"If we can get people to change their habits, that's the first target," said Bernstein. "School health programs should be more forceful in this area."

The committee also would further restrict places where smoking is permitted.

"There is no cookbook way for the cessation of smoking," Bernstein said. "Different folks are influenced different ways."

The committee's recommendations on smoking were among several suggestions to fight cancer that Bernstein said would be presented to "the powers that be." The preliminary price tag is $13.6 million in new state funds and $10.2 million in local government and private funds.

The committee also voted Monday to send word to the Legislature that it wants lawmakers to do whatever it takes to establish an official statewide list of cancer cases to help in the fight against that disease.

The preliminary recommendation would provide $1 million in new state funds for a cancer registry.

Rep. Mike Millsap, D-Fort Worth, first suggested to the committee that legislators consider "sanctions of some kind" against hospitals who do not report cancer cases or "absent that, full funding."

At Wit's End

by Erma Bombeck

With sexual promiscuity running rampant, I could not believe a letter I received from a woman this week who said she could not get her coat hangers to reproduce.

"I know how much success you've had and wondered how you did it," she said. "I've tried everything from hanging Burt Reynolds on the wall to spraying sexy perfume to hanging a nightie from Frederick's of Hollywood on a hanger. Nothing. Since you are obviously a sex therapist for inanimate objects, maybe you can tell me your secret. The future of my closet hangs on your answer."

Good grief! Didn't your mother tell you anything?

Sexually active coat hangers are at their peak when they are in a small closet. The smaller the closet, the better. We once lived in an apartment with a closet so small it couldn't support a rod ... just two nails. Within a week (the shortest gestation in the history of coat hangers) we had 37 of those little suckers.

Don't look for fertility among satin-covered hangers or sturdy metal skirt hangers with the clamps. The rich hangers that can afford to produce never do. It's the lower economic hangers (like the wire ones that bend over double when you put a silk blouse on them) that are bearing.

The ones that do best in my closet are the ones with no visible means of support ... the ones with the top made out of piano wire and the bottom of rolled-up cardboard. I call them one-night stands. They're totally useless, but who has the heart to throw them out?

Hangers left in cars do well. Especially the ones that take lodging under the brake pedal or hook over the seat belt and flap out the window.

You have to know that hangers in captivity never reproduce. You know, the ones that are welded to the rod in posh hotels. I don't know how it works, but I think they're neutered when they affix them so you can slide them out of the groove, put your jacket on them and fit them back into the slot.

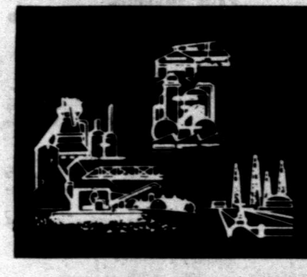

Some people have tried to trick hangers into reproducing by installing hooks and putting as many as 26 garments on the doorknob. Most coat hangers are too smart for that.

If you're looking for a hanger orgy. Just open your closet and announce, "I'm moving next week." You'll get a population explosion you won't believe.

I've told you all I know. The rest you'll have to get from the gutter.

BUSINESS AND INDUSTRIAL NEWS

Construction Unlimited's 3 owners are experienced

Construction Unlimited is a new business, but the owners Willie Bogle, Edwin Davis and Bill Bogle are not strangers to the Snyder area nor to the field of construction.

Willie Bogle has been involved in all phases of construction for 34 years and is very well versed on all the new products and proceedures.

Edwin Davis has been involved in the construction business for 21 years. He too, is familiar with all phases of the construction field such as small and large metal buildings, add-ons, remodeling, repair work, formica work and new homes and business structures.

Bill Bogle is also experienced in all aspects of the construction field including concrete work, home or business repairs, painting, blowing on acoustical ceilings and welding and has 14 years of experience.

They will be glad to help you with the planning of your next construction need, whether it be small or extensive repairs, remodeling, an add-on or an entire new construction. With their wide and varied range of construction experience, they are well qualified to help you in all areas of construction.

Willie, Ed, and Bill can do the whole job from the foundation to the finishing touches. Whether your need is small or major, from hanging a door to a complete structure, Construction Unlimited is the place to go. They can also give you advice on structural designs and have available a wide selection on paneling, paint and formica samples, etc.

If you have the need for any type of construction work give Willie, Ed and Bill of Construction Unlimited a call at 573-6459 for an appointment. If no answer, call 573-7486 or 573-2958. Estimates are free and references will be supplied if requested.

BILL BOGLE, WILLIE BOGLE, AND EDWIN DAVIS invite you to call Construction Unlimited at 573-6459 and let them help you with all your construction needs. If no answer call 573-7486 or 573-2958. (SDN Staff Photo)

Dali's health said improving

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — Surrealist painter Salvador Dali's improved health prompted doctors to move him out of the intensive care unit and into a room at the Pilar Clinic, following a skin graft operation to treat burns.

The 80-year-old Spanish artist "a very quiet night," at the clinic, one day after leaving intensive care, attending doctors said Sunday.

Although Dali's condition has improved, doctors said his condition was still serious.

Dali underwent a skin graft operation nine days earlier in an effort to stave off infection after he was burned in an Aug. 30 fire in his castle north of Barcelona.

Fingerprinting is no answer

WASHINGTON (AP) — As Congress considers fingerprinting day-care workers to screen out sex offenders, experts argue that parents, not laws, "are the first line of defense" against child molesters.

"Fingerprinting day-care providers and running criminal checks on prospective employees may catch an incidental individual who should never have been allowed into a child-care program," Bettye M. Caldwell, president of the National Association for the Education of Young Children, told a congressional hearing on Monday.

"To impose new requirements or standards without paying at least as much attention to issues of staff training, salaries, and benefits; staff-child ratio; and mechanisms for parent involvement is like putting Band-Aids on a broken leg," she said.

She urged parents to make a special effort to look for quality day care programs.

"Parents are the first line of defense when it comes to preventing occurrences of abuse and they are the adults to whom children most likely turn when they are troubled," she said.

She noted that her organization's guidelines for accrediting day-care centers require that parents be allowed to visit the facility any time they wish and that parents be notified of this right.

In some recently reported cases of abuse, children have been taken from day-care facilities to other locations to pose for pornographic pictures or to engage in sexual co,tct.

The hearing was prompted by criminal charges that children as young as two were victims of rape and sodomy at the McMartin Pre-School in Manhattan Beach, Calif. It is estimated that 11 million children are in day-care programs nationwide.

Rep. George Miller, D-Calif., chairman of the Select Committee on Children, Youth and Families, acknowledged that the fingerprinting plan would require careful consideration because it would put new financial burdens on child care centers.

"You don't want to harm the system more than you help it," Miller said. "You can go after a few bad apples and cause a lot of well-meaning people a lot of trouble,"

Jury decides against giving baby to mom

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A 20-year-old unwed mother has lost a battle for custody of her 8-month-old baby girl after signing adoption papers and then deciding she wanted the child back.

Patricia Ellen Breeding of Shreveport, La., signed release papers on Jan. 23, three days after the birth of the child, terminating her parental rights. The child then was placed in a licensed foster home.

Later, she changed her mind, contending that officials of the Edna Gladney Home pressured her into giving up the child and that she never was told of any alternative to adoption.

By an 11-1 vote late Monday, a Fort Worth jury decided the woman voluntarily signed the papers and then left the baby behind when she went to Louisiana with no intention of returning.

Richard Alley, Miss Breeding's attorney, says he will appeal the ruling.

The Edna Gladney Home of Fort Worth had requested that Miss Breeding's parental rights be terminated without a jury trial.

Attorneys for the home contended that the girl had no means to support the child.

But state District Judge Frank Sullivan granted the young woman's request for a jury trial, even though he said earlier that he could find no evidence that Miss Breeding signed relinquishment under fraud, duress or coercion — the only reasons termination papers can be revoked in Texas.

Since June, she has lived with her parents in Shreveport, La., where she works in a restaurant.

Alley had contended that "reasonable people could differ on the same question" and wanted a jury to decide the question of relinquishment as well as what was in the best interest of the child.

Miss Breeding is the second unwed mother to challenge the Gladney Home in the placing of a baby for adoption.

Bread making classes slated

The techniques of successful bread making will be taught in Dr. Gil Fleer's "rolling in dough" class set to begin Oct. 11 at Western Texas College.

Fleer welcomes beginners or persons with experience in baking and each class member will be encouraged to try different recipes and techniques. Class members will bake dinner rolls. sweet rolls, coffee cakes, and holiday stollens and will compete in a class bake-off at the final session on Nov. 15.

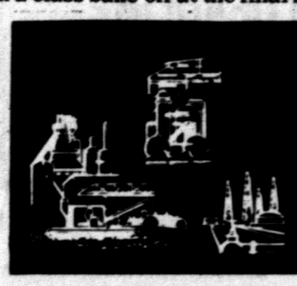

Classes will meet from 7-9:30 p.m. on Thursdays in the fellowship hall of the First United Methodist Church. The $30 fee will include the cost of all ingredients to be used in the six class meetings.

Additional information about the course can be obtained by contacting Fleer at his office at WTC. Persons wishing to enroll are to call 573-8511, ext. 240.

Duraclean will deep clean your carpeted areas safely

Did you know that you can actually damage your carpeting by cleaning it? It's true! Steam, shampoo and do-it-yourself machines can saturate your carpets with water, causing shrinkage, mildew, odor and rotting.

Have you ever wondered why carpets re-soil so soon after being cleaned by these methods? It's because the soil isn't completely removed--it's merely forced deep down into the pile, creating a muddy swamp in the carpet backing. The soil left there soon works its way back up the fibers to re-soil the surface again.

But when the soil is thoroughly removed, your carpet not only looks cleaner, but it stays clean much longer. And that's what DURACLEAN does! Duraclean's patented foam absorbent process gently lifts out dirt, grime, spots and stains, without harsh scrubbing or overwetting.

Independent tests have proven that DURACLEAN removes up to twice as much dirt as shampoo or steam cleaning! This process is so thorough and effective, it's been awarded the American Research & Testing Laboratories seal of approval.

And to protect your carpets from spills, ask for Duraclean's exclusive DuraShield Plus treatment. It's made with Teflon, for an extremely durable shield against soil and stains.

ARLIE AND BARBARA EICKE invite you to give them a call at 573-9036 and let them give your home or office that "flower fresh" feeling with carpets cleaned by DURACLEAN. (SDN Staff Photo)

Your independent DURACLEAN dealer in Snyder is Arlie Eicke, 573-9036. For a free estimate, call today. There's no obligation. You'll love the "flower fresh" feeling of the home or office brightened by DURACLEAN.

Erwin Russo, a former New York City high school teacher, drew on his experiences in that position to write "Teachers," a movie that is slated for release this fall. Events in the film, which stars Nick Nolte and Judd Hirsch, turn on a lawsuit brought by the mother of a youth who graduates from high school without knowing how to read or to write.

Abilene's Vid Kid begins book tour

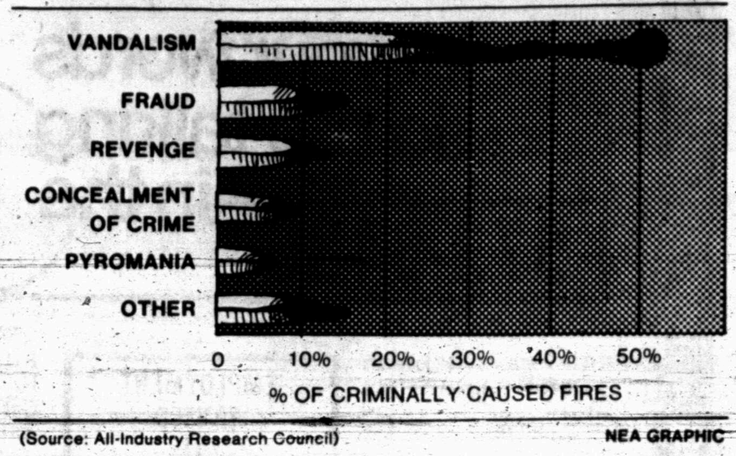

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — The only thing as dear to the heart of a true video game fan as playing any kind of video challenge is reading about games.

Talking and reading about video games can bring a genuine glow to the face of the avid player, regardless of age.

Twelve-year-old Rawson Stovall of Abilene, syndicated "Vid Kid" columnist, has published a book that is sure to delight readers of all ages.

"The Vid Kid's Book of Home Video Games" contains many of his columns about his favorite games spanning his two-year career with the newspaper.

THE MOTIVE FOR ARSON

(Source: All-Industry Research Council) NEA GRAPHIC

Fires that are deliberately set take a heavy toll in the United States. Each year arson causes $1.4 billion in damages nationwide. More than half of those blazes are set by vandals.

NOTICE OF
RATE CHANGE REQUEST
AND
STATEMENT OF INTENT

Notice is hereby given that LONE WOLF ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE, INC. (the "Utility") intends to change rates for electric utility service effective September 25, 1984. The increase requested over test year revenues is $530,626 or 15.76%.

The amount reflected above includes an adjustment of $251,469 for the wholesale power cost increase experienced by the Cooperative during the test year, and net revenue increases of $1,536 as a result of other adjustments. The Cooperative is reviewing the power cost increase described above as a part of the power cost adjustment clause. This increase in wholesale power cost amounts to approximately 7.47% of test year operating revenue.

The changes are applicable to all areas and all customers served by the Utility. The classes and numbers of Utility customers affected are as follows:

Farm and Non-Farm	1,173
Small Commercial	1,458
Irrigation	188
Large Power	493
Cotton Gins	2
Luminaires	494

The Utility intends to change its service rules and regulations including rules relating to service fees.

Implementation of the proposed changes is subject to approval by the appropriate regulatory authority. A statement of intent including the proposed revisions of tariff and schedules and a statement specifying in detail each proposed change is available at the general office of the Utility located on the Robert Lee Highway, Colorado City, Texas. Its mailing address is Post Office Box 793, Colorado City, Texas 79512.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Teachers returning to classroom because of education reforms

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Bethena Hunt was in her 14th year as a schoolteacher when she quit in 1980. She was earning a salary of $14,000.

After four years working as a receptionist, Mrs. Hunt returned to the classroom this fall, following the passage of the Education Reform Act last summer. She will now earn between $23,000 and $25,000.

"Every time I quit, I've always missed it," said Mrs. Hunt, a fourth-grade teacher. "The children brought me back."

But the money was also a factor in her return to the classroom this fall.

"All my education and most of my working experience is teaching, but I never could make very much at it. Now I found out I could make more money teaching; $12,000 is one of the reasons I came back," she said.

Mrs. Hunt is one of several experienced teachers back at school from business and industrial jobs they have taken to make ends meet.

Mike Flanken, a science and math teacher at a local junior high, spent 15 years in the classroom before he left to sell cemetery plots and mausoleums.

"It's not so different," Flankin laughed. "I was teaching algebra and making kids wanna die for years. This was just one step further."

Flankin, the father of five children, said he was "making a little more at sales," but "teaching is steady income and the fact that I can be part of this new wave in education is exciting."

Besides bringing change to school programs, the Education Reform Act, provided increased wages for teachers and set up a Career Ladder program for merit pay.

Under the new scale, the state will pay beginning teachers with a bachelor's degree $15,200 a year, about $4,000 more than starting salaries last year.

Salaries for teachers with bachelor degrees extend to $22,040 annually, depending on experience.

Teachers with a master's degree can earn from $15,200 to $24,320 annually. The state-base salariy wil increase for the next two years.

Allen Itz, manager of the Texas Employment Commission office in Corpus Christi, said that even with the pay hike, many former teachers will probably not return to the profession.

"People who have made a career move — unless they really love kids and love teaching — are unlikely to change again," he said.

"The first thing you'll see is less turnover," Itz said.

He said that until the profession loses its low-pay, low-respect stigma it will continue to have problems attracting bright college students.

For the exceptions, like Flaniken and Mrs. Hunt, the changes brought about by the reform act have been good ones.

"A lot of it was money," Flaniken said. "And I was tired of putting up with the kids' hassling and the paperwork that was put on us."

"I was tired and frustrated," said Mrs. Hunt, who taught intensive remedial reading in a junior high school before she quit.

New discipline guidelines, a new salary schedule and some policy changes regarding the amount of time spent teaching have changed some of the negative feelings, they said.

"The good things about teaching that have been good are still good," Mrs. Hunt said.

Flaniken agreed.

"I enjoy imparting knowledge, whether it's kids or adults," he said. "The Lord gave me a gift to be able to get across information and I enjoy doing it."

Lindsay to head board of directors

NEW YORK (AP) — John V. Lindsay will once again be running the show in the Big Apple, but this time it won't be from the mayor's mansion.

Lindsay, who was New York's mayor from 1966 to 1973, will preside over the board of directors of the Vivian Beamont Theater, which is located at Lincoln Center, the board announced Sunday.

The theater and Lincoln Center had been in disagreement for several seasons over who set policy and who had power, until earlier this year when both sides agreed to a set of guidelines. One was that the board choosef the Richard Tucker Foundation, which sponsors the training of young American opera singers.

Boy was born in parking lot

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Some people are born in hospitals, some at home. But Antonio Perez entered the world in the parking lot of the Wilshire Division police station.

"This is a first," Sgt. Jim Starr said of the birth early Sunday.

Officers learned of the birth when Candalrio Berra, 21, rushed into the station around 3 a.m. saying a woman — Rosanna Perez, 17 — was in labor in his car parked outside, Starr said.

"Officer Sylvia Bielma was there at the time, working the desk," said Officer Gary Lynch. "She ran out and helped the lady, but she had already given birth."

Paramedics took mother and son to the County-USC Medical Center, where both were in good condition, Lynch said.

Lynch and Officer Monique Lebron, toting a large flower bouquet donated by a florist, visited Ms. Perez at the hospital.

"She was happy," Lynch said. "She's the only one in the room with any flowers and a smile came to her face."

George Washington nicknamed New York the "Empire State" in 1784.

Judge again refuses to free jailed parents

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal judge for a second time refused to free a couple jailed for refusing to testify against their teenage son, who is accused of killing a female postal carrier.

U.S. District Judge James DeAnda on Monday upheld a state court's ruling that Bernard and Odette Port must remain jailed on contempt charges for repeatedly refusing to testify before grand jurors investigating the June 7 shooting death of postal worker Debora Sue Schatz.

The Ports' 17-year-old son, David, is accused in the slaying and remains free on $20,000 bond.

The attorney for the couple, Randy Schaffer, said he would file an appeal with the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, probably today, and seek bail for the Ports.

Schaffer said his clients were "understanding and resigned to their fate." But Schaffer said he remained confident the Ports "are not going to sell their principles down the river."

District Attorney John B. Holmes Jr. said of the judge's ruling, "We're always pleased when a magistrate views the law as we view it."

The Ports, who were jailed Wednesday, have argued they should not be forced to testify against their son, citing a parent-child privilege allowed under Jewish rabbinical law.

But DeAnda, who denied bond for the couple last week, ruled the Ports suffered no deprivation of their constitutional rights and said their confinement in the Harris County jail for contempt was proper.

In a 25-page opinion, DeAnda wrote, "We simply cannot discern a constitutional mandate for the parent-child privilege. Traditionally, parents have borne the responsibility for disciplining wayward children in various ways, so that it cannot be reasonably said that parents should be shielded from giving testimony against children who may have committed criminal acts."

If the law were extended beyond the privilege that allows spouses to refuse to testify against one another, DeAnda wrote, "it would be very difficult to stop at the parent-child level."

The family argument "could then be logically extended to brothers, sisters, grandparents, cousins, nieces, nephews, aunts and uncles," DeAnda said, adding other problems could result with stepparents and stepchildren, in-laws and other people related by marriage.

"Such a situation could well present serious impediments to the gathering of evidence in a criminal proceeding," DeAnda said.

The judge acknowledged that a few cases supported the Ports' contention, but called them "extreme departures from the traditional rule." And he said courts have approached any new privileges against giving testimony "with extreme caution."

A Harris County prosecutor and at least one investigator was sent to West Germany to interview a potential witness in the case, Holmes said last week.

On Monday, Houston police spokesman J.C. Mosier said the officials still were in West Germany and were not expected to return for another day or two.

Holmes has declined to comment on what prosecutors hoped to gain from the trip.

But Schaffer said he hoped the witness could lessen the case against his clients.

"If there is such a witness and they can find them and stop trying to put Ma and Pa Port under the gun to testify, it's OK with me," Schaffer said. "It could put a different light on the necessity of their testimony."

Earlier this summer, the couple spent six hours in jail after refusing to testify before the grand jury. On a second occasion, they were kept in custody in a courtroom until attorneys could win their release.

The federal court action in the latest jailing came after the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals denied a motion to grant bond in the case while Schaffer sought other avenues of appeal.

According to transcripts of the grand jury proceedings, the foreman of the panel investigating the slaying said jurors are trying to decide whether murder or capital murder charges should be filed and whether other suspects are involved in the slaying.

Dear Abby

Self-Help Group a Sure-Fire Solution for Smokers' Spouses

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1984 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I take exception with your response to "Mrs. X," whose husband had suffered four heart attacks, was ordered by his doctor to quit smoking, but sneaked smokes every chance he got. (The poor man was not allowed to smoke in his own home.) You weren't much help, Abby. You told her that her husband was hooked on cigarettes, which she already knew. Then you suggested ways for him to quit, saying he could quit if he really wanted to (another needle).

This angry wife needs psychiatric counseling. She's been married to this man for 40 years, during which time I'm sure he smoked, and now suddenly she's developed a holier-than-thou attitude.

You should have told her to get off her husband's back and encourage him to exercise more, reduce his sodium (salt) intake, cut out all saturated fats and avoid sugar. He's in his 60s now, and her continual nagging will only destroy their 40-year marriage and shorten his life.

You should have encouraged her to create an atmosphere of love and understanding and try to make his last years peaceful.

In case you think I'm a smoker, I'm not, but my wife of 42 years is.

SAME PROBLEM, DIFFERENT SOLUTION

DEAR SAME: Your solution makes sense. Read on for another:

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to "Mrs. X," whose husband continued to smoke after having four heart attacks.

My husband had a near fatal heart attack six months ago. Since then, he's made a remarkable recovery physically, but emotionally he's a wreck. Our marriage is on the rocks. I've asked him to seek counseling. He refuses.

A close friend suggested I get in touch with a self-help group through my local American Heart Association. I did, and it has helped me enormously. It's called "SOS"—Support Our Spouses. We meet once a month at a local hospital and learn how to deal more intelligently with our spouses' afflictions. We talk about smoking, diets, sex, personality changes, drugs, etc. It operates much like Al-Anon group meetings.

I've learned to quit nagging my husband about his smoking—that I cannot take responsibility for his actions, and if he chooses to ignore his doctor's advice, I should not feel guilty.

I look forward to those meetings. It helps to spill my heart out to others who have the same problem.

MRS. R., NEW ORLEANS

DEAR MRS. R.: Thanks for sharing. Interested readers should contact their local American Heart Association to learn if there's an SOS group near them. If there is none, perhaps you can start one.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I just started going with a guy who's 23. I'm 21. He told me he's living with a 30-year-old woman, but it's strictly platonic.

He gave me his telephone number, but said if I call him and a woman answers, to hang up. That makes me wonder. He also told me that this woman has a crush on him, so he told her he wasn't dating anybody because he didn't want to upset her. Also, she's been supporting him for a while, so he feels he owes her, but he's in love with me.

What do you think? And what should I do? I don't want to lose him.

NEEDS ADVICE

DEAR NEEDS: I think he's lying to you and he's lying to the woman he's living with. Quit seeing him. You can't "lose" him because you never had him.

Expect Russians to release sailors

MOSCOW (AP) — A U.S. Embassy spokesman said today that the Soviet Union soon will release five American sailors who were seized at sea last week and detained in eastern Siberia.

He said an embassy official met Soviet officials and were told "that the sailors and their ship were going to be released and that the details were being worked out. We were not given a specific time, but we were told that they would be released."

The spokesman, who spoke on condition he not be identified, added, "My understanding was that it would be sooner rather than later."

Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, said in Washington in a telephone interview, "We believe they'll be released within the next 24 hours."

The skipper of the crew said by telephone from Siberia earlier today that their ship had been boarded by armed Soviet soldiers off the coast of Siberia and towed into a Siberian port.

He urged people back home "to continue to pray" for their release.

In another conversation, the skipper said the crewmen had explained "many, many, many times" that they did not deliberately violate Soviet territory, but Soviet authorities were "not satisfied."

Capt. Tabb Thoms, 45, told The Associated Press in a telephone call placed from Moscow to the crew's place of detention in Urelik that he and four crewmembers detained since Wednesday were well but have been told nothing about when they might get home.

"We were on our way to an island," Thoms said when asked to describe how his vessel, the 120-foot supply ship Frieda K, was seized.

"We neared a gray ship to obtain local knowledge of any danger. We were boarded by many soldiers carrying guns and were later towed by another battleship. Hours later they came and towed us to where we are."

"They say we violated a Soviet boundary," the skipper said.

Thoms said Monday when contacted by Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, that the Soviets want the crew to sign papers acknowledging they intentionally ventured into Soviet waters.

The U.S. Embassy in Moscow said Monday the five sailors, all from Homer, Alaska, were at a hotel in the town of Urelik on the Bay of Providence, across the Bering Strait from Alaska. But Thoms said today that it appeared to be a "military installation."

The embassy said that it also talked with one of the sailors and was assured that all were "safe and well."

"The embassy is now attempting to secure the release of the five crewmen and their safe passage home," said embassy spokesman Mark Smith.

In the United States, the other four crewmen were identified by the U.S. Coast Guard as Tate Thoms, Mark Halpin, Robert Miller and Charles Burrall.

Thoms told Stevens that they were taken into custody in the narrow strait between the islands of Big Diomede, a Soviet possession, and Little Diomede, part of the United States.

"They want us to sign many papers saying that we have intentionally and knowingly violated the Soviet border. This is not true," Thoms said.

"Don't tell them you did something that you know you didn't do. That will just get you in trouble later," Stevens said.

Thoms said today that his crew was communicating with the Soviets through interpreters but "they will tell us nothing" about when the men might go home.

He said that their place of detention appeared to be "a military installation."

Asked about the report that the men were in a military installation, U.S. Embassy spokesman Tom Johnston in Moscow said, "what we understood when we talked to them was that they were in a hotel."

The telephone connection to Siberia was extremely poor and it was impossible to obtain from Thoms an explanation of the discrepancy or much news about him and his crew.

Thoms said that they had requested and been denied outside communication. When The Associated Press reached Urelik, however, a man who answered the phone readily handed it to the Americans.

Stevens asked if Thoms had any messages for the crew's families. "Yes, two messages. One, everybody is fine. Two, continue to pray," Thoms said.

Be realistic about modern science miracles

DENVER (AP) — Colorado Gov. Richard D. Lamm says it's time to start being realistic about "the miracles of modern science." For one thing, he says, not everybody can afford them.

"I don't think that we can afford all of the high technology medicine that we have right now, let alone the bionic man that we stand on the threshold of," said Lamm, who once said the terminally ill have a "duty to die and get out of the way."

Lamm, interviewed on CBS-TV's "60 Minutes" program on Sunday, said, "The fact is, if this country's going to survive, we have to be realistic ... We can't afford to give everyone an unlimited right to artificial hearts."

He said the next civil rights movement could be a push to let the dying veto the use of "high technology medicine" to prolong life.

Rifles said stolen

Scurry County sheriff's officers are investigating the theft of two rifles reported Monday morning.

According to reports, T.M. Lockhart of Rt. 3, Snyder, reported at 11:05 a.m. Monday that two antique rifles were missing from the tool room of his residence just north of Snyder.

Investigators reported finding no evidence of a break-in. The time of the theft was placed at some time during the past two weeks.

Wreck injuries reported minor

Minor injuries were reported following a traffic mishap in the city Monday.

Involved in the 6:38 p.m. accident at the intersection of Ave. E and the East Highway were a 1977 Mercury driven by Evelyn Diggs of 1001 Ave. E and a 1977 Ford driven by Denise Marie McConnell of the Royal Trailer Park.

Diggs reportedly suffered minor injuries in the mishap but officers said she declined medical treatment at the scene.

Japanese fugu, also, concentrated in the fish's liver, ovaries, and intestines, has claimed nearly 200 lives in Japan, says National Geographic. But the Japanese continue to eat the delicacy.

The Chinese Communists captured Chungking in 1949. It was the third capital to be evacuated by the fleeing Nationalists during the year.
